An Irish Martyr. THE ARCHBISHOP OF CAMEL ON HIS MARTYRED PRIDELESSNESS. At the opening of the new Catholic church at St. Andrew's Rock, in reply to an address, Archbishop-Crook, of Camel, said:—

My dear friends, I have to thank you, and do so most heartily, for the very kind but too flattering words which you have just addressed to me, as well as for the many other acts of benevolence which I have had from time to time to acknowledge at my hands. In this thanking you, the parishioners of Pallas, I likewise desire to express my deep sense of gratitude and obligation to all my other friends who have come to meet me on this historic day to-day, but in a very special manner I wish to make my acknowledgments to the members of the ancient and patriotic Corporation of Limerick headed by their venerable chief, Mr. Lenehan, for having once again done me the honor of gracing our Church ceremonial with their distinguished presence.

Decay of Old Catholicism. Old Catholicism dies hard, because it still enjoys not merely the countenance, but also the material support of the most powerful Government of the Continent. Let once this support be withdrawn from it, and it will come down like a sick man. In the meantime, it is worth noting that the very man who hailed the first appearance of the sect with unbounded joy fourteen years ago, as beginning to feel heartily ashamed of their proteges, not so much because they have any particular affection for the Catholic Church, but because having encouraged the secession of a small and contemptible set from the Catholic Church, they now behold a "dissolving view" in their own body which is very much opposed, indeed, to their interests. We are speaking, of course, of the persons of the Lutheran Church. These people held a conference at Eisenach last week, and passed certain resolutions, in which Old Catholicism is branded as a plague. Let us but quote one of these resolutions, which is rather prospective than retrospective:—"When new sects are formed and apply to the Government for the privilege of being treated as corporate religious bodies, we hold that no such privilege should be granted them, except they prove that their formation answers a public requirement, and that they are not likely to create a factitious discord in existing religious bodies."

Progress of Newfoundland. Newfoundland is in the line of progress. For many years there was a strong feeling against any foreign ideas, such as instance as railways. The railway has now been followed by dry dock, and now it is proposed to make an effort toward developing the agricultural resources of the province. The railway runs through some tracts which are thought to be well adapted for cattle raising and other agricultural purposes. At the last session of the legislature a land act was passed containing most liberal provisions for the disposal of the Crown lands. The price fixed is thirty cents per acre. Parties preparing to improve their land can obtain it free on payment of a fee of five dollars for each 100 acres, for not less than 100 acres, nor more than 6,400 acres, provided to the condition that the licensee shall within two years settle upon the land one family for each 100 acres, and for a period of five years cause to be cleared at least two acres per year for every 100 acres so licensed, and continue the same under cultivation, and continue the same families thereon, or others in lieu thereof, for a period of ten years, from the expiration of the five years, upon the performance of which conditions the licensee shall be entitled to a grant in fee of the said land.

Gen. Butler Will Run. Gen. Butler has been pinned down to say whether he will run for the Presidency or not. Up to the other day he has been simply playing with his friends, refusing to say what his intentions are, and declining to support Cleveland or Blaine. The other night Butler was appealed to for his ultimatum, and the appeal was made in such direct terms that the hero was cleared at least two acres per year for every 100 acres so licensed, and continue the same under cultivation, and continue the same families thereon, or others in lieu thereof, for a period of ten years, from the expiration of the five years, upon the performance of which conditions the licensee shall be entitled to a grant in fee of the said land.

Extraordinary Legislation. Recently a bill passed the House of Representatives at Washington, having for its object the prohibition of importing cheap laborers into the country. According to its provisions it will be unlawful to enter into any agreement or contract with an alien to perform labor in the United States, or to assist in the payment of the passage of any person coming to the country under a labor contract. Any such contract, if made, may be declared null and void. A ship captain bringing laborers on board for the purpose of importation shall be deemed guilty of a crime and liable to punishment. The provisions do not apply to skilled laborers—only

A Victoria, B. C., paper reviews the old question "What shall we do with our girls?" The author, a year or so ago, was "Send them to the North West," but in the absence of reliable information, and in view of the fact that marriage licenses there cost $7.50, it is difficult to say whether the same advice will hold good now.

A Grand Sect Act demonstration is to take place in Toronto on August 18th. Mr. St. John, the prohibition candidate for the Presidency of the United States, will speak. Gen. Gordon says that his soldiers are in good spirits, and that he is waiting for the rising of the Nile to destroy the rebels.
