Clearance Sale, HENRY BLAIR'S,

COMMENCING SATURDAY AND LASTING FOR ONE FORTNIGHT ONLY.

THE GREATEST SALE OF THE YEAR.

All Summer Goods are offered at ENORMOUS REDUCTIONS, and besides that, to put the utmost interest possible into SALE, we have made

A Great Reduction on the Price of every article of Dry Goods in Stock—said Reductions being confined entirely to Cash Purchasers. Owing, therefore, to the multitude of bargains thus offered we have found it would be impossible in a Newspaper Ad. to give any sort of a description of Goods Reduced or Prices, and have considered it best to compile a Circular which we are issuing and distributing on Saturday. It will give you a Good Idea of the Value being offered (as also will our windows), and you cannot afford to miss seeing it. If you should not get one in the Distribution ask for one at the store. We can assure you the low prices at which Goods are offered in it will attract more interest to this than to any sale of the year. Anybody who is a keen shopper knows that our prices on many classes of Goods are lower than procurable anywhere else. Our prices Saturday will be much lower even again than usual. If you are wise you will avoid the rush and do your Saturday purchasing early and start early Regatta Week and make your purchases at

THE FAIR IMPOSTOR.

CHAPTER XVI.

HER SOUL SHINES THROUGH HER EYES.

'COME, then, Miss Williford!' said Sir Talbot, fondly, and they entered the gallery.

Dawson Slade shaded his eyes and looked up at the first portrait—a belted knight, in armor, with his charger by his side and his squire in the background, and Sir Talbot began the likeness of the old lady whom he had seen in the cottage if—this was, indeed, Hilda Fane, the actress as well as Lillian Woodleigh the heiress!

In a few minutes all doubts would be at rest. Though the portraits of Lady Woodleigh was, no doubt, taken years ago, still it would—if the old woman whom he had seen were Lady Woodleigh—bear sufficient resemblance to her for his keen, practiced eye to detect and identify.

He longed to turn and look round for it, but kept back the impatient desire; and, forcing back from his face all sign of the excitement which possessed him, turned, instead, and looked at the girl behind him. She was pale almost to the lips—but it was not her pallor that struck him, but a certain look of restraint, of placid, unnatural calm which sat upon her still face and clear-out lips.

Leaning upon Sir Talbot's arm, she looked neither to the right nor the left, but straight before her and through the open panel of the stained window looked as if she were walking in a dream and lost to all sense and sound.

Sir Talbot, noticing nothing of either of his companions, rambled blandly on.

'Men and women of a later date, Mr. Slade. The outer man altereth, but there is still the Woodleigh face, you observe. This—my great grandfather, for instance—has the eye of the knight whose picture hangs first; and this lady—my grandmother—well, look on this living presentment! and he touched the white arm next his heart.

Slade turned and looked—looked straight and scrutinizingly, and still the eyes stared dreamily before them.

"Had Colds in the Head for Years."

CURED BY DR. BOVEL'S MENTHOL INHALER.

Dr. Bovel's Menthol Inhaler gives instant relief in cases of inflammation of the mucous lining of the nose, throat, eye or intestines—in less than a minute after the first application the air passages are freed, and the breathing becomes natural and easy—the most acute attacks of cold in the head are cured in a few hours—cures incipient catarrh in a few days—and will permanently cure most chronic cases in from one to three months—it allays pain—counteracts all foulness of the blood—keeps the ulcers—and in an incredibly short while absorbs and dries up all discharge.

St. Polycarpe, Jct., Que.

Dear Sir— I had been suffering from severe colds in the head for years, had tried all kinds of remedies, but could not get relief. Your menthol inhaler was recommended to me, and after using it freely for a short time I found great relief and now am perfectly cured.

I will recommend it to my friends, as I am convinced it will not fail to cure whoever will use it.

Your truly, ALICE CLEMENT.

'Yes,' he murmured, more to himself than to Sir Talbot, 'there is the likeness undeniably.'

'You see it,' said Sir Talbot, with a little croon of triumph in his voice.

'I saw it the first night—I mean, I have always noted it. Lillian has the eyes of my mother, and my father's mouth and chin. There he stands as in the flesh, Mr. Slade, and here—round this corner—my unworthy self.

Dawson Slade turned, not quickly, but with graceful leisureliness, his eyes rested for a moment on Sir Talbot's portrait, then flew to the next—Lady Woodleigh, the dying woman by whose side Hilda Fane had stood that night, four months ago. And as he looked, a low exclamation of astonishment, of balked curiosity and disappointment almost escaped him.

The picture he longed to see was hidden by folding panels, shut from his scrutiny!

He stood eying it, almost fiercely—stood so long that Sir Talbot was obliged to speak. His voice was low, and trembled.

'This—this portrait—is closed, Mr. Slade. It—it is my wife's Lady Woodleigh. I scarce know why, save that it is connected with a great sorrow. You look curious—'

'Pray pardon me,' murmured Dawson Slade, with lowered head.

Sir Talbot's face was pale, and troubled.

'Yes,' he said, after a pause. 'You shall see it—why should you not? I—the key—and a trembling hand went to the waistcoat pocket.

He fumbled for a moment; then, as if suddenly remembering, he turned to Lillian.

'The key, my darling, you—' She raised her eyes, and confronted Dawson Slade's fixed on her.

With a slight start, as if she had suddenly awakened, she looked from him to the hidden picture, her eyes dilated slowly, her lips tightened, with an expression of stubborn defiance.

'The key? It is lost,' she said, her voice scarcely audible, but calm and set. 'Have you forgotten, father?'

Sir Talbot looked at her with an almost vacant stare, then said, with marked agitation.

'No, no; it is closed, hidden—the key is lost,' said the old man. 'Come—come—this is Harold!—where is Harold?—It is a good portrait. It is the last—a good portrait.'

'Admirable,' said Dawson Slade, speaking as if nothing had happened. 'But I do not see Miss Woodleigh's.'

Sir Talbot, passing a trembling hand over his forehead, recovered his composure.

'Not yet—not yet,' he said, with a weary smile. 'That is the crowning point of the gallery, Mr. Slade. I have not forgotten it. It shall be done and at once. It shall hang next Harold's.' Dawson Slade bowed and smiled; then, hesitatingly, modestly, he said

'May I ask a great favour of Miss Woodleigh, Sir Talbot?'

'A favour? What 'is it?' said Sir Talbot, smiling.

'It is presumption, I fear, sir,' said the low, musical voice, 'but I should deem it a great—a very great favour—if Miss Woodleigh would allow me to try my mean skill in an attempt, a very poor attempt, I know—to transfer her face to canvas?'

'Eh, eh, Lillian, my dear?' said Sir Talbot, turning to her.

'Pray do not think me presumptuous enough to think that I could paint anything fit to hang beside these masterpieces; I leave that as a worthy task for the greatest artist of the day; but if you would grant—'

'Modest, too modest, sir,' said Sir Talbot, interrupting him. 'This is

Worst Case Of Eczema

Cure only came when doctors gave up and DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT was used.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, St. Catharines, Ont. writes:—'My daughter Mary, when six months old, contracted eczema and for three years the disease baffled all treatment. Her case was one of the worst that had ever come under my notice, and she apparently suffered what no pen could ever describe. I had three different doctors attend her all to no purpose. Finally I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and to my surprise and to my surprise it was immediately begun to improve and was completely cured of that long standing disease. That was four years ago when we lived at Cornwall, Ont., and as not a symptom has shown itself since, the cure must be permanent.'

The record of cures which Dr. Chase's Ointment has to its credit have placed it alone as the standard cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin disease. Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes, 60 cents a box or 100 cents a box or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Yes, but look out that you don't get complacent. That came to me the other day when I was claiming praise for a bit of successful work. Of course it hurt—quite terribly for a moment—but only as the caustic hurts that smarts cruelly for a few moments but cleanses the poison and starts the healing process.

So I pass it along to any who may need it.

Be as jubilant and thankful as you please for every bit of success that comes your way, but "look out that you don't get complacent."

Don't dwell on your successes. Thank God for the opportunity rightly and the brains and the ability to have used the opportunity rightly and then start looking for more opportunities and cultivating more brains and ability.

Don't get complacent. You have passed a road or two beyond some of your competitors, but look what are those tiny dots way, way down in the road to success and attainment. Why those are men who have passed so far beyond you that if your life were to last a thousand years you could hardly hope to overtake them.

Don't get complacent. If you think you are in danger of it, try to meet or read or hear about some of the really great people. That's the best antidote for the disease of complacency.

Someone has well said that prosperity spoils many more men than failure.

In other words, fatal to success as discouragement is, complacency is infinitely more dangerous.

Don't get complacent. Even suppose your success has been something almost worth chortling over, think how little of the credit belongs to you after all.

You think your brains won't it? Well, weren't you born with those brains?

Your steadiness and freedom from dissipation deserve some credit? Well, weren't you born with these tendencies? Do you know what John Wesley said when he saw a drunken man making a fool of himself one day: "There but for the grace of God goes John Wesley."

You deserve credit for your will power in making good use of your natural tendencies and abilities? Well, there you have me. Perhaps we are born with a stated amount of will power and perhaps we develop it ourselves. That's quite too deep for a woman's mind. Suppose we leave that to the scientists and theologians and come back to the original proposition.

Don't be complacent. Even if you have a right to it, it's dangerous. Try instead to attain Milton's ideal which was:

"To be of the great men who are great because they continually compare themselves not with other men, but with that idea of the perfect which they have ever before their minds."

Ruth Cameron

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half a million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

A plain salt gargle is very good for sore throat.

Gasoline is good to clean soft white leather shoes.

Tomatoes eaten once or twice a day will often rouse up a lazy liver.

All frozen puddings are improved by being served with whipped cream.

Use ammonia and water rather than soap and water for washing marble.

Milk is good to wash white paint; cold tea is equally good to wash colored paint.

In buying potatoes pick those that are firm and hard and have the fewest eyes.

Left over biscuits are much better cut in two and toasted than if merely warmed over.

When cooking mackerel or other soft fish see that the skin side is placed uppermost.

To lengthen the life of a tin wash basin, paint the inside with any good quality of paint.

Clean zinc with kerosene, rubbed on with a soft cloth, and follow with boiling water.

A whisk broom that has outlived its usefulness may be shortened and made into a sink brush.

A few chopped almonds, added to a custard or bread pudding will greatly improve its flavor.

A sprig of mint in the water in which potatoes or peas are boiled will add a piquant flavor.

When boiling cabbage the odor will be much less noticeable if the lid is left off the pot.

Cold drawn linseed oil, rubbed on with a soft cloth, is best for cleaning mahogany furniture.

When soup is poor, try the addition of grated cheese. It will give it richness and flavor.

To prevent green vegetables from fading, when they are boiled, put a pinch of soda in the water.

A cloth wrung out in ice water and applied to the back of the head will often relieve insomnia.

Salts of lemon will remove ink stains from wooden floors. Use two tablespoonfuls to a quart of water.

Tea can be given a piquant flavor by the addition of half a dozen cloves to a pitcher of tea.

ASK FOR MINARD'S AND TAKE NO OTHER.

Don't forget to order BOVRIL Better to be sure you've got it in the house than sorry you haven't.

At Last an English Chemist Has Discovered How to Grow Hair.

McMURDO & CO. HAVE IMPORTED IT.

In England the ladies have entirely abandoned wearing hats, which is due entirely to this new discovery.

It has been proven that Henna leaves contain the ingredients that will positively grow hair. That they contain this long-looked-for article is proven every day.

The Americans are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called SALVIA, and is being sold with a guarantee to cure Dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, SALVIA makes a most pleasant hair dressing. McMURDO & Co., your druggist, is the first to import this preparation into St. John's, and a large, generous bottle can be purchased for 50c.

For sale by dealers everywhere.

Oiling the Atlantic.

Pouring oil on the troubled waters will be much more than a metaphor if a plan offered by the U. S. Hydrographic Office is carried out. Its serious proposal is to keep the path between New York and the northern European ports well oiled, so that the waves may be kept down and passengers may cross in perfect comfort.

The Hydrographic Office knows a lot about waves, and claims that nothing is so bad for them as oil. Moreover, oil spreads quickly and thinly over the water, and hence the calming can be done at small expense. A quart of cheap petroleum an hour for each ship would they say, do the work in decent weather, and $5 per trip ought to cover it easily. With the big liners constantly passing, the part carried away by the ocean currents would be restored without delay.

Maybe some day we shall have a wrecking crew to repair mid-ocean washouts in the oil track. Meanwhile the Hydrographic Office will need more than crude oil to calm the storm of ridicule which this plan of theirs has awakened.

"Patrick," Duke of Cannaught.

Appropos of the probable appointment of H. R. H. the Duke of Cannaught to be Governor-General of Canada before very long, though not probably this year, some papers have credited the selection of the name "Patrick" as one of the many borne by His Royal Highness to the personal request of the Duke of Wellington, who acted as sponsor. As a matter of fact, Queen Victoria herself has explained that the suggestion came from a humble but patriotic laughter of Ireland. Her Majesty was out driving with two of her children when an old beggar wife hobbled across her path and cried with high-pitched fervor: "Oh, Queen dear, call the next one Patrick and all Ireland will die for ye!" In the royal family and among his intimates the Duke of Cannaught is always called "Pat," and it is related by one who knows him very well that he can tell the good stories he has collected in his travels and campaigns with a humour worthy of his Irish name.

Lame Back.

To have a lame back or painful stitches, means disordered Kidneys, and the sooner you have the Kidneys and Bladder in a perfectly healthy condition, the sooner you will enjoy life. As far as we know there is only one remedy that is guaranteed to cure you, and that is FIG PILLS. If they don't make you a strong, healthy person in two weeks, your money will be refunded. 25c. a box, at all leading drug stores. McMURDO & Co., wholesale agents.

Wonderful Escape.

Victoria, B.C., July 22.—To fall into one of the large furnaces at the Granby Smelter, to be enveloped for an instant by blue flames and sulphurous fumes, and to emerge alive and practically uninjured, was the thrilling experience of Jack Peak, one of the oldest furnacemen on the works, a few days ago. Two severe burns on his wrists and badly shattered nerves are the only evidences of his miraculous escape from instant death.

A trolley car laden with ore jumped from its cable and carried Peak into the furnace. There were several workmen around the furnace, and to their coolness Peak owes his life. The motorman reversed his lever, and before the car had entered half way into the furnace it had shot out again. Some one shut off the blast of the furnace. Peak caught one of the rails on which the car enters the furnace with both hands. Bill Emerd caught hold of the man's arm, and, with the help of another workman, he was instantly pulled out of the furnace.

Evening Telegram W. J. HERDER, Proprietor. F. LLOYD, Editor. Monday, August 1, 1910.

Go Ahead, Councilor Mullaly. A fortnight ago we expressed the opinion that Mr. Mullaly had something tangible behind his notice of motion for an audit but that an audit was not his proper course, and suggested that so far his objects were reasonable and proper he should pursue them.

Steam Roller Case. Saturday afternoon the Telegram reported the fact that the steam roller had collided with Mr. W. J. Clouston's house on Queen's Road. When it struck the house the inmates received a terrible shock as the building shook with the impact.

Crippen Hard Up. Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, July 30. A special despatch from Brussels asserts that after purchasing his steamship tickets at Antwerp, Dr. Crippen had less than $20 left and that prior to sailing he vainly sought to find a loan office.

Trouble in Thibet. Special Evening Telegram. SIMLA, British India, July 30. The unrest in Thibet due to the continued activity of the Chinese has assumed so threatening a form that the Indian Government has ordered a considerable force of Indian troops to be held in readiness on the Thibetan frontier.

The Lunenburg bankers Annie L. Spindler, Hiawatha and Clintonia arrived here yesterday evening. The first named has 500 qts. for 3 weeks' fishing, and has 1,800 for 9 dorics; the Hiawatha, which arrived at Cape Broyle Friday from the ground, secured 900 qts. for 3 weeks' fishing and has now 1,900 qts. for 6 dorics; while the Clintonia secured 350 qts. for 3 weeks' work and has 1,000 qts. for 7 dorics. Auto Causes Loss.

Saturday afternoon a man driving an auto turned the corner of Duckworth Street very sharply and collided with Mrs. Power's express, of Middle Cove, upsetting it and spilling a week's provisions around the street, including molasses, sugar, etc. Most of the goods were lost to the woman. The driver of the auto continued at a quick pace up King's Road, never enquiring what damage was wrought and bystanders were indignant. Mrs. Power's little boy had just left the express and had a narrow escape from serious injury, if not death.

The Telonia.

The cable ship Telonia, Capt. Hood, which arrived here yesterday, is at work for the Western Union and Direct United States Cable Co's. Her work is to repair and lay shore ends. She leaves to-morrow morning for Bay Roberts to lay the shore end of a cable there. She is a fine ship of 1,000 tons gross, 439 net and can do 10 1/2 knots. She was launched 12 months ago and is splendidly fitted up, being lit with electric light and has a most modern wireless plant on board. She was built by Wynne and Hunter, the same firm which constructed the Mauretania. She has a crew of 54 men. The officers on board say the Colonia should be at Harbor Grace in a day or so.

Visited the Churches.

Lord Brassey accompanied by the officers and crew of the Sunbeam yesterday forenoon visited the R. C. Cathedral. Mr. Tasker Cook brought the party to the church and Councilor C. Ryan who was present showed them through it and later introduced Lord Brassey and those with him to St. Rev. Monsignor Roche who gave them some interesting details about the edifice. The party then went to see the Anglican Cathedral, the beautiful interior of which they inspected. Lord Brassey and those with him were present at the 11 o'clock service there. His Lordship occupying the pew in which His Excellency the Governor sits. He was delighted with both the churches.

No fish was taken at Petty Hr. last week with hook and line until Friday and Saturday when the boats had 4, 7, or 8 qts on squid which is very scarce. Some of the traps are still out but are doing nothing. Traps range from 200 to 250 and a couple have as high as 400 qts, while still a few others have only 30 to 40 qts. to-date. There is plenty of fish on the ground if bait were procurable.

Stray Bankers.

Two fishermen of the banking school, Hazel, of Burgeo, J. Strickland and J. Buchland, were brought here yesterday by the s.s. Telconia. They were picked up Sunday morning 90 miles east of St. John's, were exhausted for want of food and could not possibly hold out much longer. Mr. Tasker Cook wired their friends at Burgeo of their safe arrival here and also made arrangements with the Commissioner of Charities, Mr. O'Dwyer, to have them sent home. They left the schooner to overhaul their trawls on the 25th of July. They were rowing back to the vessel when a thick fog settled down and they knew not in what direction to row. They waited all night hoping to hear the sound of the Hazel's fog horn, but in vain. When morning came they decided to row for land. They had only one cake of bread and a few small pieces, and with the little rain water that they caught in the sea, they managed to keep rowing on till Saturday, when Strickland gave up and lay down to die. His companion shortly after gave up the work of rowing as his strength had failed him. An hour afterwards the fog lifted and he saw with unexpressible delight the steamer Telconia steaming inward. He put his "Cape Anne" on a paddle and raised it aloft as a distress signal, and to his great joy a few minutes afterwards saw the steamer altering her course and bearing down upon them. The men when taken on board were well treated by Capt. Hoar and his officers. These are the two men about whom a Telegram was received by Mr. H. W. LeMessurier last Thursday and published in the Telegram.

At the R. C. Cathedral.

Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan preached another of his powerful sermons at the R. C. Cathedral last evening, taking his text from St. Paul to the Hebrews, 9-27—"It is appointed to all men once to die, and after death the judgment." The sermon was a most impressive one and brought home to the congregation the realities of death, judgment, hell and Heaven. At the conclusion Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was imparted by Rev. Fr. Sheehan.

Had to Return.

Rene Bergeret who with another French sailor, Rene Sainz, left a Danish vessel at Twillingate owing to alleged ill-treatment, was captured by the captain and some of the crew between Twillingate and Dildo and brought back to the ship, Sainz, it will be remembered, arrived here by the Fogota on Sunday week, and he feared that Bergeret had succumbed on the road.

The Drowning Accident

Passengers by Saturday's express say that the lad, Geo. Sheaves, to whose death we alluded Saturday, was drowned in Mother Lake's Brook, Port aux Basques. He with his two cousins, aged 9 and 10, respectively, were picking berries near the pond when the boy went into the water against the entreaties of his little friends. He was drowned in 5 feet of water and before the eyes of the two children, who ran to the settlement and gave the alarm.

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.
Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Peninsular War, Port Dalhousie Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreads insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dosing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pain and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.
"Though I tried several doctors, I was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. I am simply wonderful what benefit have obtained from this treatment. Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration and paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanston Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes."

Steamers Arrive.

S. S. BONAVISTA.
The s.s. Bonavista, Capt. Fraser, arrived from Montreal via Gulf ports at 2 p.m. Saturday after a run of 6 days. She left Sydney Thursday night and had dense fog and heavy sea almost until port was reached. She had about half a cargo including 55 head of cattle and 30 sheep. She sails for Montreal this afternoon.

S. S. FOGOTA.
The s.s. Fogota arrived here at midnight Saturday and demonstrated by her extremely quick round trip her superiority over the ships hertofore employed on the Fogota route. She had splendid weather on the run up and down and called at all the ports on the schedule, but did not call at Trinity going of coming, Saturday night she met dense fog from Cape St. Francis to port. She had considerable cargo consisting of fish in casks, salmon, lobsters, etc., and carried 40 passengers for round trip. Her passengers for here were Mrs. (Capt.) B. Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Percie Johnson, Miss Crowley, Mrs. K. Kneel and several others.

S. S. SHENANDOAH.
The s.s. Shenandoah, of the Furness Line, arrived here at 3 p.m. yesterday from London after a run of 9 days. From the time of leaving the ship had head winds until about half the passage was made, and for about 3 days she had very calm weather, while Friday last for a time she experienced dense fog. She has 500 tons cargo for this port and considerable for Halifax, including a quantity of explosives. She sails for Halifax to-morrow.

S. S. TELCONIA.
The cable ship Telconia, Capt. Hood, arrived in port at 5 p.m. yesterday after a passage of 11 days from Penzance, Wales. While on her voyage she laid the shore end of the cable at Syron Cove, and on the voyage here had strong head winds with fog and heavy sea all through the voyage. She takes a supply of coal here and after going down to Cape St. Francis will pick up the end of the cable and splice it, then taking it to Harbor Grace, where she will land it for the Direct Cable Co., for which the ship is employed.

St. Patrick's Church.

At last Mass in St. Patrick's Church yesterday Rev. Joseph Pippy referred to the repairs now being made to the Church, and thanked the people of the West End for the generous manner in which they had contributed to the final repairs. He paid a well-deserved tribute to the Building Committee, and read a statement of receipts and expenditure of a very satisfactory nature. Father Pippy reminded his hearers that there was yet much to be done, and that a large sum was still required to finish the task undertaken, but he was sure the good people of St. Patrick's would rise equal to the occasion, and the object he knew all had at heart. He asked those who had subscribed sums but had not yet sent in their donations, to do so as quickly as possible, and he felt assured that the structure would have received thorough repairs before the coming of winter. Next spring the work of completing the tower and steeple will be begun.

Died Very Suddenly.

Mrs. James Fitzgerald, of Convent Square, who had apparently been in the best of health last week and up to two hours before her death, died at her home at 10 a.m. yesterday. She was taken ill of an internal malady which gradually became more acute, and died before a physician could be summoned. Mrs. Fitzgerald was well known and highly respected in the community. She is survived by a husband and four children, and Messrs. Thomas, Joseph and Denis McCarthy are brothers. To the bereaved family the Telegram extends its sympathy.

Powerful Searchlight.

The Fogota used her searchlight for the first time during her trip north last week. It is a very powerful light and enabled the ship to pick up buoys and enter harbors with more certainty than if she hadn't it. Saturday night it was foggy and very dark making St. John's, and the light was used with excellent effect, the ship entering port without difficulty.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Shannahan on the Audit

HE HITS "REFORM."

I went up to Tucker's to get Mrs. Tucker's opinion regarding the Municipal Audit, or rather that row which they had at the Council Rooms the other night.

Mrs. Tucker was quite clear in her remarks, and said that she read the report—word for word—in the Telegram. She noticed that there was quite a bit of a tumble on at the meeting, but she'd prefer seeing more accomplished. Mrs. Tucker says she doesn't mind that kind of a row, for as she says herself—"they'll be eating one another one minute and all smiles the next." She recalls lots of old rows that used to take place up in the House of Assembly. The crowd on the galleries would clap on their favourite, and he'd drink a lot of water and crush a lot of paper in his hand and drag on his collar, and call the other fellow everything but a gentleman; but the next thing you'd know there'd be a dance or some kind of a time at Government House, and the two buckaloons who fought on the floors of the House would be smoking cigars out of the one case and touching their glasses, saying "here's a long life to you."

Mrs. Tucker likes Mr. Mullaigh, for he is the kind of a man that you want in a quiet crowd. She notices he has fired off his black bow and settled right down to business. She thinks if he couldn't get the Audit he ought to get a list of the outstanding accounts that are owed by people who can afford to pay, and let us know who they are.

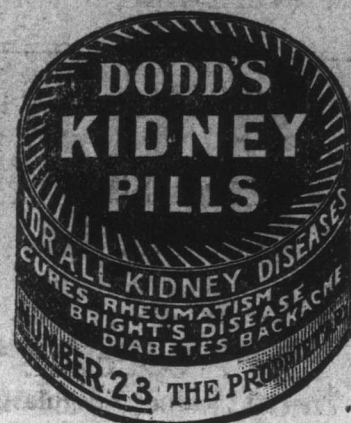

I said that was very uncharitable and she should have more regard for people who one time well off, but now through no fault of their own could not pay their taxes.

To this she said that she had just as much sympathy for that kind of people as I had. It wasn't that class of customers she was after, but the man who could pay and wouldn't pay.

But, said I, you know Tucker that there are lots of old amounts that can't be collected. This thing happens in every kind of business, and 'tis not unlikely that the same thing applies to the Council.

No one can tell me that, said she, for I know it already, but the idea of people who own property being allowed to go on for years, is too thin. One of the Councilors told me that there are many Water Street people who pay by the year. This is wrong for there should be no different sauce for the goose than the gander. Mullaigh, Ryan and Channings voted for an Audit they knew 'twould cost the town money to have it, but they voted for it and now the public mind will not be set at rest till something is done. All along the line among the middling class people we can hear a grumble. One man said to me, "why should I have to pay taxes and a merchant on Water Street be allowed to go scott free?"

Seventy thousand dollars is a nice sum; every taxpayer is interested. Every man who pays his share of the city taxation is interested, for if this amount was collected in how do we know but our taxation would stop going up. Municipal matters are demanding a great deal of attention. People are becoming interested in the right kind of way. This is a wholesome state of affairs and goes to prove that Mr. Mullaigh's work is not without its bearing good fruit. The day of being "milk and watery" in business, is fast disappearing around here, and every one has the greatest respect for the man or men who have the courage of their convictions and fight for what's right.

Well, madame, said I, you're better able to talk than ever, that 7 days in Lower Island Cove did you a lot of good.

That's true, said she, I knew there was something I was thinking about, that fellow who writes under the name of "Reform" is trying to be dramatic. I know him and I know he couldn't get excited if he tried; move along one leg hauled after the other, never did anything in his life for the betterment of his city; he gets up to tell us the town is filthy. Now I have seen this town worse and he has seen it worse if he coaxed to look down from his perch. It's no use driving a free horse to death, for every one knows our new Councilors are doing their best. Every new broom sweeps clean, we all know that, and we can only hope that our new Council will keep up with the pace that they have started out with. What trouble is it for a man like "Reform" to sit on a pivotal chair and with a good pen and plenty time write his epistle of the day. No trouble at all, simply pastime. But if he were to tell us some new way out of the difficulty then it would be worth while taking him serious, but so far his telling us that this town is not up to date is simply a waste of time. If a fellow asked "Reform" why he didn't stand for Councilor, he'd likely tell us that he hadn't time, a good excuse and very popular, nevertheless he has time to give lectures and attend meetings. People like "Reform" should remember that our Mayor and Councilors do not pretend to be above the average man in intelligence. They don't pretend to know it all, and are all working men. They offered themselves to the people. "Know it all" like "Reform" were either too indifferent or too lazy, or both, to stand. Being elected they have started out to do their duty, everyone can see that who's not prejudiced, and surely we should give them a chance to find out just where they are before we start in grumbling. 'Tis likely the Councilors know the condition that the town is in just as well and a great deal better than "Reform" does, and for him to try to give us palpitation of the heart by saying "our town 'stinks," is as they say in theatricals fallen flat, it didn't take. Try again "Reform" and the next time tell us something less thunderous or we will be awake another night dreaming of a slow, harmless man, who late in life got on a gait and tried to make the natives wonder at the supreme knowledge he possessed.

DR. CRIPPEN Identified on the Montrose

BY INSPECTOR DEW, AND SCOTLAND YARD GETS OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION.

Special Evening Telegram. FATHER POINT, Que., July 31. All doubts as to whether Rev. Mr. Robinson and son on board the steamer Montrose, were Dr. Crippen and Miss Le Neve, the notorious London slayer of his wife, and his paramour, were set at rest this morning, when Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, boarded the steamer Montrose and immediately recognized the pair as the people he had been sent after. They were immediately arrested and kept on the boat as prisoners, continuing on to Quebec.

SCOTLAND YARD GETS OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION.

Special to the Evening Telegram. LONDON, July 31. London is eagerly waiting to get the first news of the identification and arrest of Dr. Hayley H. Crippen and his companion, Ethel Le Neve, through press despatches which were received here announcing the dramatic event. It was nearly four hours before Scotland Yard received an official message of confirmation. Special editions of the Sunday paper were issued by a thousand and were eagerly bought up. It is a long time since the newsboys had such a harvest.

MADRID, July 31. Premier Canalejas describes the recall of Marquis De Ojeda the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican as an indefinite suspension of negotiations. The moment I assumed power, he said, I opened negotiations for a reduction of the Religious Orders. The Vatican replied offering less than was offered to Premier Maurier. We were grievously disappointed, but pressed the issue in a spirit of strict moderation, desiring to advance the question without rupturing the negotiations. We exercised our right of sovereignty by issuing decrees compelling the Orders to register under the law and authorizing dissident sects to display the emblems of public worship. The Vatican replied only with protests we introduced a bill interdicting further orders until the revision of our programme had been accomplished. When the Vatican finally demanded the suspension of the decrees, as a condition for a continuation of the negotiations, the Government in spite of its desire to avoid a rupture decided to consider the negotiations abortive, and to proceed with the issue of our programme by decree and legislation. The King approved of our course. The situation will not retard the visit of His Majesty to England next week as an official communication the Government throws the entire responsibility of the present situation on the Holy See. The liberal newspapers enthusiastically applauded the vitally independent act of the Government.

Special to the Evening Telegram.

MADRID, July 30. The news of the recall of Marquis De Ojeda, Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican, has caused a profound sensation in the capital, though the clerical and anti-clerical forces break. Should the Vatican refuse to mend the rupture, the Government will immediately proceed with its measures of reform including the restriction of religious orders and the general relations of the church and state. As a measure of precaution all religious demonstrations arranged for Sunday have been prohibited. The Vatican Catholics declare that they will march to San Sebastian as a protest against the measure. Premier Canalejas referring to the Vatican's late note which declared that unless the decree of June 11th, permitting non-Catholic societies to display the insignia of public worship were withdrawn, negotiations looking to the revision of the concordat would be discontinued, said the Government would tolerate no imposition. Spain is in a state of excitement over the departure from Madrid of Monsignor Vico.

Special to Evening Telegram.

MADRID, Spain, July 30. The Roman Catholic Press of Spain makes no effort to conceal its joy over the decision of Premier Canalejas to recall Marquis De Ojeda, the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican. The rupture with the Vatican and the prospective fight with clericalism will they predict, result in the downfall of the Premier. The chartering of special trains and measures to carry crowds of Spaniards to San Sebastian, the summer capital, to make demonstrations before King Alfonso is advocated. Premier Canalejas telegraphed the following statement to the press today. Boldly taking up the challenge of Don Jaime, the Carlist Pretender, of a revolution, we do not fear the threat of civil war. The King and the Spanish Democracy support us.

C.C.C. Band Tour.

Several of the members of the C.C.C. band, accompanied by Prof. C. Hutton, arrived from Placentia by Saturday night's train. All enjoyed the trip immensely and were treated kindly everywhere they went. The band gave concerts at Bell Island, Brigus, Bay Roberts, Harbor Grace, Carboneau, St. Pierre, St. Lawrence and Placentia. The concerts were largely attended and highly appreciated, especially in St. Pierre, where the people were greatly pleased and look forward to a more extensive visit next summer. Friday night after the concert at the Star of the Sea Hall, Placentia, a dance was held, the band furnishing the music, and a large number were present and thoroughly enjoyed it. The trip was highly successful, financially and otherwise, and the lads look the better of it. Ten of the members remained till to-day at Placentia.

Fire in a Shed.

Fire broke out yesterday afternoon in a shed owned by Mr. Davey at the rear of his premises on Gower Street. Mrs. John Davey saw the smoke coming from the building and informed Mr. Davey, who on entering the out-house found it filled with smoke and the wood work afloat. He procured two buckets of water and put out the fire in quick time. He saw two boys hastening from the premises when he first came on the scene and believes that they were smoking cigarettes there and that they threw a lighted match which caused the fire. The matter has been reported to the police.

Fogota's Fishery News

By the Fogota we learn that all the traps down around Fogota District have been taken in and they have taken comparatively nothing. There is fair fishing for hook and line at Cat Hr., Fogota, Tilton, Joe Batt's Arm and the Wadham Islands, and when squid bait can be had boats get 2, 3 and 4 qts. per day, so that by the time the fishermen clew up they will have an average hook and line voyage killed. At Pool's Island bait is very plentiful and good work is being done there. Joseph Hodnett in the scho. Transit arrived at Greenspond a couple of days ago from Brandy Harbor in the Straits with 300 qts. a very good voyage. Another vessel from the same place had a very good fare, and as the steamer was coming out of Greenspond another vessel was entering and looking very deep. The vessels reported a nice lot of fish.

Thief Delays Steamer.

Friday last the little steamer Crustacean, owned by Jas. Baird, Ltd., was visited by a thief in the temporary absence of the engineer. The largest valve in the boiler had been taken off to fill it with water and when the engineer came back he found that it had vanished. It was composed of brass and worth about $3, and the loss of it has delayed the ship since while a new one is being made. The matter was reported to the police, and Sergt. Byrne, who took up the case, found that the valve had been broken and sold to a dealer in old brass, iron, &c. The thief will likely be arrested soon. The Crustacean was to sail west Friday to collect fish but could not do so owing to the theft.

Big Gun Defect Cost Lives of 11 Men.

Washington, D.C., July 22.—To the failure of a safety mechanism to operate when a sudden and powerful pull was given by an artilleryman in attaching the lanyard is now laid the responsibility for the accident which cost the lives of eleven men at Fortress Monroe, during the battle practice yesterday. Such is the conclusion of General Crozier, Chief of Ordnance, U.S.A., who attended the practice and who has been in touch with the inquiry made by the investigating board.

Never before in the history of the army had the device failed to work. The possibility of its occurrence was demonstrated, however, by General Crozier himself shortly after the accident, by a test made of all the guns which participated in the practice. In another gun in the ill-fated Derussy battery the device was found defective, when General Crozier applied unusual force such as was never deemed necessary in the tests and examinations. Just before the accident the gun was pronounced by officers to be in proper condition, and in April a coast artillery officer on duty reported that its premature explosion was beyond the range of possibility. Steps will be taken at once to improve the device, General Crozier said to-day.

It appears that the gun started to rise to the firing position before the breech block was pushed home preparatory to rotating and locking it, and before the lanyard was hooked, so that the man whose duty it was to hook on the lanyard had to do it while the gun was in motion. Testimony is to the effect that he had some difficulty in hooking, making several passes in his attempt to do so. And he finally succeeded in getting it hooked just as the gun was passing out of his reach, when the explosion immediately took place. It is presumed that he inadvertently clung to the lanyard and gave the sudden pull which, in the case of the neighboring gun with which it was tried later, proved to be sufficient to defeat the safety object of the mechanism.

Mr. Mullaly's Motion. The Way It Was Moved.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—The report of the debate on Mr. Mullaly's motion in the Council last evening, which is published in this morning's News, is humiliating reading. Nobody expected that this debate would evoke the expression of much sound sense by the members, but certainly nobody was entitled to look for such a display of ill manners as the News report testifies to. Mr. Mullaly's position, the more it developed, the more indefensible it becomes. It is quite evident that that gentleman has the most ludicrously erroneous impressions concerning the purpose and effect of an audit. He believes, it would seem, that a new audit would expose peculations on the part of somebody, would effect the payment of taxes in arrears and make it clear whether work contracted for was done according to contract or at too large a cost. Of course an audit would effect none of these purposes. An audit is confined to the books, and it is quite beyond the province of a book-keeper or actuary to pass upon the quality of work done for the Council. As to the water rates in arrears, no audit is necessary for the reason that the facts are easily accessible to any member of the Council, and a synopsis of the arrears was actually in Mr. Mullaly's hands, it would seem, last evening. What Mr. Mullaly wants, it is plain, is an enquiry, and such an enquiry as he wants is particularly within the province of the Council itself or of a committee of its members to conduct. As Mr. Mullaly says, he is not in office as a book-keeper but as a Councillor. If he wishes to be of any service in the latter capacity, let him pursue this enquiry on his own account. I have no doubt whatever that there are several matters in the history of the late Council which would be none the worse for investigation, and I shall have pleasure at a later date in stating some of them for Mr. Mullaly's information and enquiry. But until an enquiry is made it is perfectly indecent to press for an audit or to make rash charges of misconduct against officials whom the public has trusted in the past and sees no reason to distrust now. Let Mr. Mullaly make only one definite statement upon which an enquiry might safely be founded and I have no doubt that his fellow Councillors will unanimously back him up and lend him every facility in his work of investigation. If they refuse, the public will not be slow to awaken them to a sense of their duty. But I repeat that it is cowardly to refuse to make a charge and still press for a proceeding which implies the existence of a charge, and of a very grave one. If he wants the arrears of water rates collected—and undoubtedly great slackness has existed in this matter—let him order proceedings to be taken for that purpose. There is nothing in which an audit can help in this matter, for the books of the Council display in detail the indebtedness of every person in arrears, and Mr. Greene could furnish Mr. Mullaly with a complete return within twenty-four hours after he was asked for it. At a future time I shall have a pertinent suggestion to make to the Council concerning this question of arrears.

But though we may forgive Mr. Mullaly for his want of knowledge and inadequate grasp of the matters dealt with in his own motion, it is harder to pardon the tone he assumed towards his associates on the Board last night. His tone was most unmannerly and offensive. "You don't know what you are talking about," "If the Councillors and officials attended to their duty more and talked less, there would be better results all round." "What's that man talking about?" "You won't keep me, mister." These are expressions of dissent and disapproval which are customary in an alteration at a street corner, but are quite out of place at the Council Board. It would seem as if Mr. Mullaly for the time forgot where he was and imagined he was sitting in the House of Assembly. Which reminds me of a story which G. A. S. used to tell. Two fishwives in Billingsgate Market had a trifling difference of opinion, and one of them had occasion to resent the abusive language of her gossip, which she did in these scathing terms: "I never heard such language. I'm ashamed of you. Do you know where you are?" If Mr. Mullaly persists in making foolish and mischievous motions in the Council it is to be hoped he will at least take a lesson from the lady of Billingsgate and "remember where he is."

Once more, if Mr. Mullaly wants to make an enquiry into any abuses in the late Council's administration, by all means let him proceed. But he must first lay a foundation for his charge, then make a charge, and then set to work and discover the proper way to proceed with his charge. When he does all these things he will have the support of a large section of the public, including

Yours truly,
REFORM.

Child's Narrow Escape.

Just as the people who were at last Mass in St. Patrick's Church yesterday were coming over Patrick Street at its conclusion, a little boy named Jas. Jackman, aged 5 years, son of Peter Jackman, of Angel Place, narrowly escaped being cut in pieces by street car No. 3. The car was coming east when the lad crossed the track from the north to the south side, and becoming frightened when a man gave a warning cry, started to recross the track. As he did so the car hit him and he fell and half his body lay across the track. The hundreds who saw the child uttered a cry of horror and turned their heads, expecting to hear the wheels crush him to death. Motorman Dan. Walsh, instantly he caught a glimpse of the boy and heard the cry of the people reversed his current and putting down the brakes brought the tram to a standstill, while James Walsh, who was the nearest of the spectators, jumped from the sidewalk and pulled the lad from under the car. When it brought up the wheels of the tram were not six inches from the little chap's body. The child escaped with a couple of slight bruises and Walsh bore him home in his arms. Mr. Chas. Andrews was conductor of the car. Had it not been stopped so quickly the child would have met a horrible death. All who witnessed the incident said it was the narrowest escape they had ever seen.
