the opinion that he was somerset. Miss Fallon formerly lived in Woodstock and had ample opportunity of seeing and knowing him. There is only one house behind Miss Fallon's and the swamp where the murder took place, so that in all human probability she was the last person who saw Benwell alive, with the exception of his cold-hearted murderer. Being asked at what time of day she saw the two men, she replied that she was smalle to say exactly, but knew it was shortly after dinner and probably about 1 o'clook. This would harmonize with the testimony already produced. The important points in her evidence may be summarised as follows: She was able to fix the date from the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of there being a ball in Princeton to the fact of t

That the said Frederick Cornelius Benwell came to his death by two pistol shots fired into his head from behind; one at or near the nape of the neck and another a little behind and above the left ear, either of which was sufficient to cause death.
And your jurors have reason to believe that said shots were fired by the hand of Reginald Burchell, alias Somerset, with the deliberate purpose of wilfully and feloniously committing murder, on or about Feb. 17, 1890.

And we are of opinion that Florence Burchell, wife of the said Reginald Burchell, was accessory to the murder direction he had come, east or west along the property of the said Reginald Burchell, was accessory to the murder direction he had come, east or west along the will be said Reginald Burchell, was accessory to the murder direction he had come, east or west along the will be said Reginald Burchell, was accessory to the murder and there are the fact.

The Rheinische Westphalische Zeitung, a Bismarckian organ, asserts on authority that the Chancellor, freely criticising the result of the elections, says: We shall leave the new Reichstag to "cook in its own juice."

The Centrist Westphalische Merkur to-day asserts that the Chancellorship crisis is renewed and that the retirement of Bismarck is imminent. The article discloses the extravagant hopes of the Clericals of the early triumph of the Vatican.

It was their anniversary sermon, and all the city courts were represented. The sermon was preached by Rev. D. V. Lucas.

'No man," said the reverend gentleman, "is truly independent and certainly the rich man is not so. Rather was he independent who went forth into the field with nothing but his muscle, a hoe in one hand and corn in the other. Yet not even he was truly independent, God being above all and all being dependent upon God." The Parkdale Bear Case.

The Chancery Court on Saturday ordered new trial in the action of John Shaw and Matthew Shaw against John and Mary Mc-Matthew Shaw against John and Mary McCreary for injuries sustained by John Shaw by being attacked by a bear on Queen-street, Parkdale, the bear being one kept by the McCreary's on their premises in Parkdale. The judge at the trial withdrew the case from the jury as against Mrs. McCreary, but the court holds that she is equally liable with her husband for the damages caused by the bear.

Wilson H. Sherman Discharged.

The Common Pleas Division Court on Saturday gave judgment, discharging from custody Wilson H. Sherman, who was wanted by the U.S. authorities for an alleged forgery in Buffalo, N.Y. The court holds that the fact charged against him is not forgery but at most fraud, and that he is not extraditable and should be discharged from prison.
