"O hear us when we cry to Thee For those in peril on the sea!"

Have you ever been at sea in a storm and seen the clouds lowering, the wind rising and the waves running mountains high, decks treacherous and the crew anxious? Unless you have, you cannot imagine its awful majesty, or the courage it calls up and the spirit it commands in men.

Many Canadians Have Never Seen the Sea-

Yet the sea is Canada's World-Trade highway. The sea and the Merchant Sailors make us prosperous.

But the Merchant Seaman's life is hard and perilous. He wages continuous battle against the forces of nature. The real sailor is not the deck steward or attendant on comfortable ocean liners. His ship is no floating palace. His voyage no pleasure trip.

The Real Sailor's Ship is the Tramp Steamer-

FEEDING SHEEP. Farm Flock Thrives on Material that

Would Be Waste. No matter how short the crop on the average farm, there is always some growth of herbage that goes to waste for want of means to harvest it economically. Where any kind of live stock is kept the amount of this waste is reduced considerably, but where the farm stock includes sheep the waste is reduced to the minimum And yet there are many farmers who refuse to give sheep-raising a trial, even though their farms are well adapted to the purpose. Any excuse is given for keeping out of the sheepraising business, the most common being the dog nuisance, and another the danger of loss at lambing time, yet certain farmers manage to make a success of the business year after year. The most successful sheepmen are to their line, but it doubtless experts in their line, but it is possible for any farmer who is capable of handling other kinds of capable of handling other kinds of live stock to care for sheep so that the fatalities in his flock will not be sufficient to preclude the possibility of a profit on his original investment, labor and feed costs. To be successful in the sheep business, it is not necessary for the beginner to go in for the line of raising fancy pure-breds for sale, as so many seem to think. Such work raising fancy pure-breds for sale, as so many seem to think. Such work is better left to the old hands. There is every possibility of a profit by the straight feeding process. In addi-tion to such rough pastures as only sheep can negotiate successfully, there eixsts on any mixed farm, in the fall, a certain amount of after-grass and stubble that will provide a ration sufficient to keen a flock of a ration sufficient to keep a flock of sheep in gaining order, and it re-quires only a small addition of grain to make the animals fit for market. Nevertheless, sheep, of all classes of live stock, arrive on the stock yard markets in poorest condition, as a rule, and it is obvious that many farmers who now lose the after-harvest feed that remains on their grass and grain fields might with double advantage take up the practice of pasturing these fields with sheep. It must be admitted that the dog nuisance is in many cases a good excuse for keeping out of the sheep business, but, thanks to the deter-mined effort of municipal authorities mined effort of municipal authorities in general the trouble is being grad-ually reduced. Only recently a case of dog-killing in protection of a flock of pure-bred Southdowns was brought to the attention of the Council of York Township, and the farmer who used his gun in this instance was strongly commended by the members of the council. As it happened, the owner of the dog it happened, the owner of the dog took the loss of his pet in good sport-ing spirit, admitting that though he valued the dog highly, it fully de-served to be killed under the circum-stances. In this case, as none of the scheep was killed no claim for dam-ages was made, but the fact remains that the sheep owner was probably the greater loser, as his flock con-sisted of 28 ewes of high-class breed-ing, together with 22 lambs of this scessor? scron Through having here

Death Always Hovers Over the Wheel-

Is it any wonder, then, that the Navy League wants to make life comfortable for our sailors when ashore? After all, Canada is their home; and the home, while they are here, of the sailors of other lands. The Navy League endows, maintains or assists in maintaining every Sailor's Home, Institute and Welfare Society in Canada. And every dollar subscribed for the maintenance of these Homes and Institutes will be money well invested, and redound to our national prosperity.

The Sea is Our Heritage and Our Strength-

In proportion as we develop this Sea-Conscious Spirit so shall we advance in world civilization and trade. We can only develop our Sea-Conscious Spirit, by making life more endurable to Canadian Sailors. And it is for this purpose that a portion of the Navy League's Fund is set aside. To carry on its work next year, the Navy League must have $760,000. This money must be raised next week. It is not a large amount and borne in proportion from Coast to Coast it must surely be surlargibed. to Coast it must surely be subscribed.

despite the unsatisfactory condition of wool prices. Judging by this rush to take up live stock raising in place of grain and potato growing, which was fore-ed on the British farmer during the war, it would appear that the British-er realizes that other countries will soon produce sufficient to restore the world's grain supply to normal. At any rate, this is the view taken by Mr. McCurdy, the Food Controller, who credits the British farmers with holding optimistic views regarding the future of food and feed supplies from abroad. It must be allowed, however, that the labor situation has a big influence with regard to the form of farm practice followed in Britain. In the existing conditions the big farmers, especially those en-gaged in dairying and vegetable growing, are hard put to find mit-able labor.

Mr. W. P. Macdonald, district rep-resentative, has forwarded a box of Lambton grown corn to a corn show at Albuquerque, New Mexico, open to the world. Local growers will be interested in the results.

YOUR RAILWAYS AND THE COST OF LIVING

BEFORE the Privy Council at Ottawa, protest against the new railway rates has been made on the grounds that the giving of the new rates would raise the cost of living by a percentage many times higher than the percentage actually charged by the Canadian railway.

It was pointed out that the numerous middlemen who act as the distributors of goods would each add his percentage of profit to the freight rate, so that, although the railways might only receive say 40 cents additional freight charge on a shipment, the public would be forced by the distributing middlemen to pay many times that amount.

The management of the various Canadian railways desire, through this their association, to draw the attention of newspaper readers to the highly significant fact that the recent increase in United States railway rates—an increase similar to the increase in Canada—HAS ACT-UALLY BEEN FOLLOWED BY A DECREASE IN THE COST OF LIVING IN THAT COUNTRY. One and one-half cents as against fifteen cents.

We venture to believe that whatever the explanation or the justification may be, the same serious additions to cost by the distributing trades will be found in relation to almost every article of common household use.

This is not to attack distributors. They may themselves be victims of a bad system or of an overcrowded trade. But is to point out that if they add whatever percentages they, as a trade, find convenient ON TOP of the freight rates, the railways cannot help either themselves or the public. The oppressive results of these practices should not be charged against the railway managements, nor cited as reasons for holding freight rates down, merely because railway rates CAN be held down, while other prices soar as the various trades find necessary.

RAILWAY charges always must be a serious item in determining cost of production. But the managements of your railways urge upon your attention this fact, that antiquated, overloaded and wasteful systems, of distributing goods are

Furthermore

A great Canadian manufacturer recently made public—without any solicitation and without the previous knowledge of the railway managements—figures which proved, that the retail selling price of a yard of plain white cloth in Winnipeg, after being hauled from Montreal to Toronto and Toronto to Winnipeg, would be increased only one-half a cent, EVEN AFTER THE WHOLESALER HAD ADDED 20 PER CENT. PROFIT TO THE NEW FREIGHT RATE AND THE RETAILER ANOTHER 50 PER CENT.

He showed that these distributors, whether rightly or wrongly, added 15 cents to his mill price of 16 cents per yard.

Yet the railway carried the raw cotton for this yard of goods from Texas to Montreal, and the finished goods from the mill to Toronto and Toronto to Winnipeg for one and one-half cents. much more properly a subject for public anxiety.

CANADA CANNOT PROSPER WITHOUT RAILWAYS; CAN-ADIAN RAILWAYS CANNOT PROSPER UNLESS CANADA PROSPERS.

In all sincerity let us suggest that the people of Canada beware of those who would restrict and even strangle the railways SIMPLY BECAUSE CONTROL EXISTS THERE, AND IS NOT SO CONVENIENT IN OTHER DEPARTMENTS OF COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Another year has rolled around Another year has rolled around and we are asked once more to sus-pend our labors for a day to give thanks unto God for His goodness. During the past year, no doubt, many have experienced great joys, while others have had more than their others for our and yet in a land so share of sorrow, and yet in a land so blessed as Canada, he must indeed be forsaken who cannot find much cause for thankfulness.

cause for thankfulness. In Canada Thanksgiving Day has been commercialized by fixing Mon-day as the day of the week upon which it is to be observed. The relig-ious character of the observance has been largely stripped away and the substitution thereof of a day of idling or pleasure. It is a pity that the substitution thereof of a day of idling or pleasure. It is a pity that the object for which it was instituted has been so largely lost sight of, yet it is only natural that at this season we should remember our prosperity and all should turn their thoughts in gratitude to the Great Giver of all good things. son, of Warwick. Rev. Mr. Miller, of Mt. Brydges, in a brief address welcomed the convention to their church. Rev. A. C. Tiffin, Watford replied very ably, after which the morning session was taken up with the business of the conventoin. The various Leagues report a very successful year. The contribution to the Forward Movement amounted to nearly $800.00. Although this is a little below last year's givings yet the Leagues report splendid response to the National Campaign Fund. After a sumptuous dinner served by the Ladies Aid of the church the afternoon session opened, Rev. J. H. Richardson of Kerwood in the chair. Rev. Byron Snell, of Alvinston, gave a very helpful address on "The Young People's Age." He emphasized the fact that this is an age of advance-ment and opportunity, an age when fact that this is an age of advance-ment and opportunity, an age when great things must be attempted. This is therefore the Young People's Age for they will attempt anything, having not yet known failure. The word "failure" is not in their vocabulary. In view of this fact, then, young people should lead young people. Rev. Mr. Reed, of London, also addressed the convention. He spoke of the tendency of parents in these days to allow their children to stay home from the Sunday morning ser-vice, thinking it is not a service for them. This brings before us the nec-essity of making the morning service a family service.

An important feature of the evening was the presentation of the District Epworth League Banner. This was won by the League of the Watford Methodist church. The resolutions of the convention were as follows :--

"We recommend that all our Ep-worth Leagues be urged to organize and prosecute the work of the Meth-odist National Campaign so well com-menced last year and so successfully from financial standpoint and we from financial standpoint and we urge that still greater effort be made to reach the spiritual objectives es-pecially that relating to the increase of membership in the League and of pledged Christian Stewardship." NEW INDUSTRY AT ARKONA

NEW INDUSTRY AT ARKONA Things begin to look prosperous for the village of Arkona and sur-rounding district. Early this spring, three enterprising citizens, Messre. John Harnish, E. Richter and Chas. Herrington, decided to try and grow Havana tobacco, which is used for wrappers for the best grade of cigars-Five acres were set out with plants and as a result they will harvest from 3,000 to 4,000 lbs. of tobacco, which at the present market price is worth about $1.00 a fb. This is the first time in the history of Ontario that Havana tobacco has been successfully grown in the prov-ince, and a representative of the Im-perial Tobacco Co., Montreal, who was in the village recently, is so en-thusiastic about it, that he claims the Company will build a large packing house there which will employ from 50 to 100 hands, if the residents of the district will contract to grow 500 acres of this kind of tobacco next year. A public meeting will likely be called shortly and will be address-about a sa the first man to grow Havana tobacco in Pennsylvania, where it is now grown extensively. and the seed which was grown in Arkona last spring was brought from that State. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Ferguson, of Mosa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Mack-intosh, of Napier. The bride was attended by her sis-ter, Florence M., while Mr. John Fer-guson, of Windsor, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The wed-ding march was played by Miss Annie Ferguson, sister of the groom. Dur-ing the signing of the register Mrs. (Rev.) Mackintosh sang very accept-ably.

The happy couple left on the even-ing train for points east. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in Mosa.

McLEISH—MINIELLY An interesting event took place at the home of Reeve McLeish, Spring-bank, East Williams, on the evening of Wednesday, September 29th, when his sister, Isabelle, was united in marriage to William Minielly, of Warwick township. The bride, who was given in marriage by her neph-ew, Mr. John Blakeney, entered the parlor to the strains of the wedding march played by her neice, Miss Jean McLeish, and took her place beside the groom. Rev. Walter Nichol, of Parkhill, performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of the im-mediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was becomingly attired in gray duchess satin, her traveling suit was of brown broad-cloth, with hat to match. After the ceremony and congratulations were over, the guests sat down to a dainty ceremony and congratulations were over, the guests sat down to a dainty repast, after which the evening was spent in social chat, singing and music. The happy couple motored to their home in Warwick amid showers of confetti and good wishes from those assembled. Among the guests present were Mrs. Walter Blakeney and son, John, of Duluth, and Mrs. Henry Deming, of Cass City, Mich. Guests were also present from London, Parkhill, Adelaide and Watford.

WEIRD AND FANTASTIC LOOK

Some Dresses Display Marked Eccentricity; Knife and Accordion-Plaited Flounced Skirts Have Gained Approval.

Although styles at the present time are of such extremely diverse types, observes a leading fashion writer, severst of the French dressmakers have attention ough definite cache to their models. Cheruit with her loops has scored a success; Madeleine of Madeleine with their sashes ind Bioused bodices and Jenny with her platts. At first it was impossible to say to what extent the loop draperies would be accepted. Owing to their somewhat fanciful character and the assembling of two and three colors in one dress, they were inappropriate for street wear. They have, however, been adopted for indoor and evening clothes, and in these they have proved more successful than was expected.

While giving a round silhouette to the skirt, these draperies do not take away the slenderness of line. They are in no wise related to the hip extended skirts, but at the same time they are bouffant, light and airy looking.

Weird and Fantastic Dresses

Cheruit launched the colored chiffon panel or loop drapery in alternating shades of green and blue draped on a foundation of black taffeta. Some of these dresses have a weird and fantastic look as is attested by one having the short foundation skirt cut in deep points and bordered with silver braid. Over this fall the loops and panels of chiffon in green and blue, alternating to cover the full width of the skirt. At the back are two trailing panels of chiffon, one of green and one of blue. The sleeves are made in the same eccentric fashion. This dress seems quite fantastic for general wear. Cheruit calls it robe de diner, tres habille. It remains to be seen if the average woman will consider herself well dressed in such a gown. The same designer makes other loop dresses that are wearable and charming. In these, too, the novel feature is the combination of blue and green chiffon over a black taffeta foundation so that the shadow of a slim silhouette is retained, despite the multitudinous loops of billowy blue and green. A dress of this type has also. the charming semi-fitted, uncorseted bodice so characteristic of Cheruit's style.

Dark Blue Taffeta, Green Cascades. In direct contrast to the looped dresses are draped polonaise or semifitted princess gowns with cascading draperies or levely sashlike jabots of lace or-net flowing from one side. One of the most pronounced novel ties in these is a dark blue taffeta with the flowing cascades of a brilliant green. The entire surface of the

some of the early models which showed a slight change from the vertical to the slanting lines, thus giving the figure a somewhat vaselike proportion. It is most interesting to observe the prominent manner in which this type stands out beside the short balloonlike skirts that have the inlorsement of the best dressmakers and the equally short, scanty ones that do not lack authoritativeness. Dresses With Ribbon Sashes

This season has brought forth nothing more charming than the dresses with big ribbon sashes, the bow of which stands out in bouffant effect almost like a pannier drapery. To Madeleine et Madeleine must be given the Simplicity Wins Signal Victory. Jenny's simple models, with knife and accordion plaited flounced skirts, have gained much approval. These have caught the fancy of both the Parisienne and the American, There is every indication that plaited flounces will be worn for some time to come. Flounces, especially when platted, make a dress or suit appear very youthful. This is no doubt the chief reason why they have become almost too popular. But after all, every thing that is young looking and strikingly becoming is widely copied. So we may take our choice as to whether we shall wear clothes that are pretty, enough to have won perhaps too general favor or be exclusive at the expense of missing much that is appealngly pretty and feminine in dress. ... In comparison with the sumptuousness that has prevailed in dress since the war ended, one views with joy the little tailored suits with plaited flounces. Jenny makes an adorable one with a box jacket held im slightly at the waistline by a narrow belt ending in an Egyptian ornament. It has a plain coat collar and revers and a simple, full length coat sleeve: The skirt has a shallow yoke and two sideplaited flounces.

Wool Embroidery.

In spite of the presence of spring and the coming of summer, one sees wool used in some of the new trimming. Wool embroidery is still popular, and often an effect can be produced by using wool embroidery on cotton that cannot be produced im any other way. Besides, the colors have a different quality when used in wool than in cotton or silk. Sometimes appliqued figures are used to produce a design. They are stitched down with coarse stitches usually in contrasting colors. For instance, charming little slip-on blouse worn recently at Atlantic City was of white with appliqued figures of gray woolen goods stitched down with red. They were used on the peplum and on the shoulders and the neck and sleeves were finished with a little red embroidery.

molds in the dead tissue. In the preservation of such vege-tables as green peas, beans, asparagus and green corn different measures are necessary. These are green and juicy and if stored in the fresh con-dition they will either will or ferment and rot. This fermentation and rot-ting is due to the development of the bacteria which are present on the vegetables. There will be sufficient moisture present in the mass to en-able the bacteria to multiply and feed on the material and thus induce the vot.

So in order to preserve such vege tables in the fresh condition the bac-teria present have to be all killed and all other bacteria prevented from get-ting on the material until it is to be used. In order to accomplish this the process of canning is resorted to. To get satisfactory results from canning vegetables it is necessary to have: list. Good sound healthy vege-tables tables.

give one boiling to the filled scalers for 3-4 hours. This, however, cannot be depended on to give as satisfactory results as the above. Another method is to heat in steam under 15 lbs, pressure for thirty minstes. This is the commercial way for which special strong steamers (autoclaves), that can withstand in-(autoclaves), that can withstand in-ternal pressure, are necessary. A small vessel of this type suitable for household use is now on the market. Another method of preserving vegetables is by drying them in spe-cial ovens. This drying process ex-tracts sufficient moisture from the vegetables to prevent the bacteria present from having the power to multiply unless the materials should get moist before being used. If suf-ficient moisture is not extracted or get moist before being used. If suf-ficient moisture is not extracted or ficient moisture is not extracted or should the dried materials get moist during storage, then decay or rot will rapidly develop, as the bacteria are not killed in the drying process and only require moisture to enable them to develop. In the storing of such fruits as apples and pears it is essential: 1. To have only sound specimens.

Average Owner of Cattle Regards Disease Far Too Lightly.

DREAD LUMP JAW.

Disease Far Too Lightly. I spent several years as a veter-inary inspector for the Department of Agriculture, most of the time at post-mortem work in some of the arge packing houses. Daily I had experience with so-called lump jaw. The head is the first part to receive inspection in the regular routine of post-mortem, and here we find tuber-culosis of the submarfillary and post-pharyngeal lymp glands. I believe intat any inspector will agree with me har more than nine-tenths of these lumps are tubercular. Look at the post-mortem reports of these inspec-tors and see if they do not report these lumps as tuberculosis of the submaxillary or retropharyngeal lymp glands. I do not believe it is possible for these inspectors to dif-Tymph glands. I do not believe it is possible for these inspectors to dif-ferentiate between tuberculosis and actinomycosis of the lymph glands on gross post-mortem, but every in-spector knows that if he finds these throat glands abscessed he must be on the alert for other aliments in the arrans and hody.

the loss is thrown back on the shipper. Now look over the condemnations of any inspector and see how many carcases are condemned for actino-mycosis. I do not believe it will be one in 1,000. The packer would not go to that trouble to save himself on one carcass out of 7,000 condemned, but he knows that by experience that a lump jaw is quite apt to be con-demned by the inspector for general-ized tuberculosis after a thorough post-mortem. The packer loses many cows in a year condemned for septic cows in a year condemned for septic metritis, but he does not insist on a close examination of the tail and vulva, yet his loss from septic metri-tis is far greater than from actinomycosis.
