BOMBARDED.

Japanese Cruisers Pounding Vladivostok.

Vladivostok, March 6.—A fleet of five Japanese battleships and two cruisers appeared off this port at 1.25 o'clock this afternoon and bombarded the town and shore batteries for fifty-five minutes.

The fleet approached from the direction of Askold Island, the entrance to Usuri Bay and about 32 miles southeast of Vladivostok. Entering Usuri Bay, the enemy formed in line of battle but did not approach to a closer range than five and one-third miles. They directed their fire against the shore batteries and the town but no damage resulted as most of their 200 lyddite shells failed to burst.

The Japan fire ceased at 2.30 p. m. and the enemy retired in the direction of Askold Island. Simultaneously, the torpedo boat destroyers appeared near Askold Island and two more near Cap Maldeid. The Japanese ships were covered with fire.

The attack resulted in no loss to the Russians but cost the enemy two hundred thousand roubles ($100,000) in ammunition. Most of the projectiles were six and twelve inch shells.

The population of Vladivostok were warned this morning of the presence on the horizon of hostile fleet and of the prospect of an attack during the day, but it remained tranquil.

St. PETERSBURG, March 6.—Official despatches received here concerning the bombardment of Vladivostok by a Japanese fleet this afternoon do not mention any Russian losses, but private advices say that five were killed, four sailors and the wife of an engineer. It is apparent the Japanese were afraid to risk exposing their ships to the plunging fire of the land batteries and it is considered probable here that the attack was really for the purpose of drawing the fire of the Russian forts, compelling the Russians to disclose the position and calibre of their guns and also for the purpose of ascertaining whether the Russian squadron is in port. If this was the object of the Japanese, it is believed to have failed signally, as the batteries did not fire a shot and if the squadron is in port it could not be seen from the Japanese position in the bay of Usuri on account of the high land which rises from the coast on that side, obstructing the view of the harbor.

The opening of the local legislature at Fredericton was of more than ordinary interest to Restigouche people in as much as that H. R. McLatchey one of our members moved the address in reply to the speech from the throne. His many friends are congratulating him on his able address, which appears elsewhere in this issue.

H. R. Emmerson's special passed through here Friday evening en route to Moncton. He was accompanied by Mr. Pottinger. They remained here a couple of hours and the Minister was interviewed by a delegation from the town council comprising Mayor Murray and Councillors Murray, Vautour, McDonald and Bruce. The nature of the interview is as yet private.

An interesting hockey match was played between the Dalhousie team and the Rouge team Friday evening. The result was a victory for the home team with a score of six to one.

Four curling rinks from Moncton visited Campbellton last Tuesday and played two games with a victory for the visitors of 14 points. After the game they were entertained by the home team and other members of the club at Sharpe's restaurant. Following are the rinks:—

JAPANESE SCORE AGAIN!

They Have Destroyed Part of Siberian Railway

Cutting Off Russian Communications, Port Arthur May Be Abandoned to the Enemy.

TOKYO, March 2.—A telegram was received here today in official quarters stating that the Trans-Siberian Railway between Harbin and Nikolisk has been destroyed for the distance of a mile and a quarter. The telegraph service to Vladivostok is also interrupted. The work of destroying the Siberian railway at the points indicated in the despatch was probably the task assigned to a force of Japanese which was reported to have landed at Possiet Bay a week or ten days ago. This cutting off of the Russian communications between Vladivostok, Russia's chief Siberian port, and Harbin, where the Russian army and supplies have been concentrating, is a severe blow to the Russian cause. The reported appearance of the Japanese fleet off Vladivostok recently was also probably for the purpose of keeping what Russian troops are there guessing, and diverting their attention from the Japanese who landed at Possiet Bay.

LONDON, March 3.—The Express prints a despatch from Shanghai in which its correspondent has just arrived there from Kobe, where it is impossible to break through the most rigid censorship he ever experienced. The correspondent adds he had an interview at Kobe with V. J. Lippe, an American furrier, who was forced to quit Vladivostok on Feb. 29. Lippe described the city as then being in complete panic. No news had been received since the war began. The telegraph line was wholly devoted to the transmission of official messages to and from St. Petersburg. Private messages were refused. The people were terror-stricken and all their thoughts were bent on escaping. There were pitiable scenes at the railway station, whence the authorities allowed 110 persons to leave daily by empty troop trains that were going west. People fought and scrambled to reach the ticket office. Many who were unsuccessful for knelt and prayed aloud, beating their breasts and offering any sum for a ticket. After the third day traffic was stopped, and many started to walk inland. Government offices, banks and hospitals have been removed to Nikolisk. All shops are closed. Prices have risen fabulously. The garrison, numbering about 7,200 troops, is victualled for four months. The cruiser Squadron, left Feb. 9th to attempt to dash around northern Japan and join the Port Arthur fleet, but the Japanese were patrolling the seas between Saghalien and Tsugaru and the cruisers were forced to return. They are now practically bottled up. When Lippe left there was still the wildest disorder, and constant false alarms of bombardment added to the terror of the people. Thirty-two searchlights were nightly flashed seawards. The military was constantly on the alert. Artillery men in the forts slept alongside their guns. One hundred and seventy-five Japanese disguised as coolies were caught on Feb. 11, while attempting to blow up a bridge and the railway.

LONDON, March 3.—According to a correspondent of the Times, Gen. Dragonmoff, former governor of Kieff, has been summoned to St. Petersburg. During the deliberations he severely criticized Russia's war policy, and insisted that both the fleet and army should evacuate Port Arthur in order to avoid greater disaster.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Ominous rumors, says a cable to the Herald from St. Petersburg, have spread through business circles that Port Arthur will be abandoned to the enemy after sinking the ships, as was done in the Crimean war. Baron Suymatsu, son-in-law of the Marquis Ito and formerly minister of the interior in Japan, arrived here yesterday from Yokohama on his way to London. Baron Suymatsu spoke unofficially about the far eastern war, saying his country was not seeking territory, but that it was a matter of national existence for Japan. Regarding reports of interference by France, he said that so far the action of that so far the action of that government had been scrupulously correct, but if France saw fit to send warships to fight Japan, his country having vanquished one fleet, would not mind fighting another. Baron Suymatsu denied that Japan had violated international law in beginning the war. The policy of Japan in Korea and Manchuria, he said, would be to secure the same trade privilege for all nations. The baron said he was going to England for his health.

CHINA WAKING UP.

An Englishman who has spent six years in China and is now in New York en route to Liverpool, tells a New York paper some astounding things about rapid development in China. If his statements are correct, the average American and Canadian idea of China must be revised. He says:—

Although I have been but a few days in America I have heard enough and read enough in the newspapers here to convince me that yours people have the impression, generally, that the Chinese are standing still. Never was a greater mistake made, as both America and Europe will one day find to their cost. Chinese behind, indeed! Why, they are turning out in their arsenals over there rifles and all sorts, up to monsters of forty-five tons, all of the most modern design, too, including machine guns perfect in design and construction. That is the secret of Japan's great Naval and military strength just now. China has for years been contributing to Japan's armament. The Chinese arsenals are located in Fagasaki, and they are of immense size. All the labor, too, is Chinese, with Americans and Englishmen at the head. China is also reorganizing her army and navy; railways are being constructed, mainly by German, French and Belgian companies; motor cars are being used in their cities, electricity is growing in favor, and thousands of Chinese ride the bicycle. Here, you thing the Chinese are beneath contempt, but you mark my words they will have to be reckoned with in the near future, whether Japan wins or not in her fight with Russia, as one of the races that will control the world.

I was talking with an educated Chinaman, a few days before I sailed, on the future of his country and in referring to American and European people he remarks with the philosophy characteristic of his countrymen. You peoples seem to reckon your rate of progress by the noise you make and the dust you raise. We, however, as you ought to know, do not judge a smith by the sound of his hammer, nor a carpenter by the number of his shavings. It is easy to catch the drift of that fellows meaning.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

RACKING PAIN IN THE JOINTS.
Also every form of rheumatism, neuralgia and sciatica are best cured by Nerviline the quickest relief for muscular pain yet discovered. It's because Nerviline strikes in and penetrates right to the core of the pain that it gives such abundant satisfaction. "I caught cold in my shoulders while driving and suffered great pain," writes G. E. Dempsey of Berlin. "I used Nerviline freely and was soon quite well. I have found Nerviline an excellent remedy for rheumatism and neuralgia as well as for cold on the chest. I recommend Nerviline highly and wouldn't be without it." Price 25c.

The editor smiled broadly.
Good joke, isn't it? said the would-be humorist who had handed it in.
Sure, replied the blue pencil manipulator; I laugh every time I see it.

IS YOUR BACK LAME?
YOU ARE DOUBTLESS SUFFERING FROM DISEASED KIDNEYS—SUREST CURE IS FERROZONE

Unless you want to be stricken with incurable Bright's Disease, don't let your kidneys go without attention. Ferrozone is a special remedy for this trouble, and never fails to give prompt relief and bring about a perfect cure.
Mr. Gordon J. MacFarlane of Brandon was cured by Ferrozone, after being treated unsuccessfully by three doctors for kidney complaint. "My kidneys were in a very bad shape," he writes, "and I had dreadful pains in the back, sides, and was never free from a dull, heavy feeling, that made life miserable. I spent a lot of money on local doctors, but was not benefited to any extent. Then I tried Ferrozone. One box helped me so much that I got six more, and before they were used I was quite well. I never used anything giving such prompt and lasting relief as Ferrozone. It beats all other kidney cures."
People suffering from kidney disorders quickly lose strength, and often die young. Therefore it is important to get Ferrozone at once, and be released from every symptom of this baneful disease. Price 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists, or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

PORT ARTHUR.

Description of the Harbor and the varying Depths of the Shallow Water There.

Port Arthur harbor is formed by an oval inlet of the sea, two miles long from east to west, and a mile from north to sea. It is surrounded by hills and its sole entrance is on the southern side by a narrow channel...

Before the extensive dredging operations were undertaken no vessel of any size could enter owing to the shallowness, and even now there are berths for only three battleships in addition to smaller craft.

The approach to the harbor and basin is very confined. The width of the entrance from Pinnacle Rock on the west to the opposite shore is barely 350 yards, while the three fathom channel at its narrowest is not more than 500 ft. in width.

The basin or east port was excavated primarily by the Chinese as also was the dry dock cut in its northern side. It has an average depth of three and a half fathoms, or 21.2 feet, and can accommodate nearly a dozen vessels.

The western end is devoted exclusively to torpedo craft, though a dock for these small boats is in construction on the eastern side.

The dry dock, repaired and enlarged by the Russians, is 452 feet over all, 370 feet over blocks, 90 feet wide at the entrance and has a depth on the sill at high water ordinary spring tides of 22 feet.

On the Tiger's Tail are placed seven Canon 5.5-inch quick-firers in an open battery at an elevation of not more than ten feet above

Severe Form of Asthma

Mrs. A. A. Vanbuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B., states: "For years I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for my children whenever they take cold. I used it first with a severe form of asthma. We have never tried anything in the way of a cough medicine that worked so satisfactorily. It seemed to go right to the diseased parts and brought speedy relief."

the sea. At the extreme end of the spit is a quai... ship for destroyers from which two lots of four have recently been launched after being sent out in sections.

Ships moored in the inner harbor can lie in perfect safety. It is a moot point whether the dock-ard could be damaged by high air fire. The works and arsenal lie so closely under the Kwong-Chin Hill that any projectiles so discharged would probably range far into the town at the back.

HOWS THIS? We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

A HINT TO THE WORKING MAN. Men who are interested in the elevation and improvement of the condition of working men should impress upon these men, upon all men, that one of the best, one of the most effective, one of the most useful lessons which can be taught is independence.

Independence can best exhibit itself in the faithful discharge of obligation, whether the obligation be to the whole state, to the community or to one's fellow man. The worker in the community, no matter what his term of labor may be, who pays his just debts to his fellow man, no matter what the form of the debt may be, is the man who can look the whole community of his fellows in the

WILL JAPAN WIN? John A. Ewan, who was the Toronto Globe correspondent in Cuba and South Africa, writing in the March Canadian Magazine, states that he believes Russia will lose Manchuria. He says: I am of those who believe that they will be driven out, and that Japan will do the work. The only possible chance that Russia had of preventing that result was by retaining command of the Chinese seas. That she has lost already, and Japan is left with the easiest sort of accessibility to the scene of conflict. There can be very little doubt that she will be able any time within the next three months to place more men on a battlefield than her opponents. The courage of the little brown men is unquestioned; their patriotism is the only thing they have that resembles the fervour of a religion, and an enthusiasm similar in degree to that which in the ages of faith sent men and delightedly nurtured women to the beasts in the arena or to the stake, prompts the Japanese soldier to parallel sacrifices and devotion. It is safe to say that if Russia wins victories they will be costly ones, and one repulse, however severe, will not discourage these active, daring and hardy warriors of the North. The Chinese call the Dwarf Nation.

In this estimate there is no disposition to under value the resolution and the military power of Russia. It is undoubted, without doubt, but it is just as undoubtedly unwieldy. The international expedition for the relief of the beleaguered legations in 1900 afforded an unusual opportunity of contrasting the soldiery of the various nations, and the general opinion of the competent judges who observed the demeanor and conduct of the troops engaged was that the Japanese is the equal of the Russian. The question is, how many are there east of Harbin, for it is in these regions that the fighting will take place. Every circumstance seems to point to the fact that Japan will have more men at the points at which she chooses to strike than Russia will. Korea is already safe from Russian occupation. No Russian army dare venture down the peninsula while Japan's vessels are ranging up and down both sides of it. Having accomplished this without loss of any kind, she will be able to turn her whole energies to pressing the Russian intruders out of Manchuria. It must be remembered that in this work she will have the sympathy of the native population. They will be able to advance leaving behind them the minimum of men to protect their communications, whereas Russia will be beset by enemies on every side.

Bovril in the Kitchen

The object of cooking should be to prepare food in the most nutritious, palatable and easily-digested form. BOVRIL is the embodiment of all these qualities and is therefore of paramount importance in the kitchen where a little of it added to soups, gravies, stews, etc., gives relish and real nourishment to even the most tasteless dish.

NEWCASTLE, MARCH 9, 1904.

PROFITS OF BEING PUBLIC SPIRITED.

In every community there are men who have given the opportunity of their time, thought and effort for the furtherance of the public good. There are others who, while possessed of the talents that would make them highly serviceable to the public, yet selfishly deprive the public of the services they might well render. Which of these two classes is the better off? We frequently hear men criticised as spending so much time in the public interests that they haven't any left for their own business. We frequently hear others commended as sticking "strictly to business." This criticism is not always logical. There are many men who give much of their time to the public and yet succeed; there are many who attend "strictly to business" and yet fail. The devotion of part of one's time to affairs outside of his business is not harmful unless so much time is absorbed that a man does not know what is going on within his own private domain. A reasonable amount of time given in the public interest is really helpful to one's own business—it brings him in contact with other men; it keeps him informed on many things of great concern to himself that he might not be able otherwise to learn of at all; it quickens his faculties; it is more or less of an advertisement to be "in the public eye." In time one's devotion to the public is sure to tell. The time he gives is so much capital invested that comes back to him at length with accrued interest added. The man who serves well in a public capacity wins a way into the confidence of people that he would not otherwise gain, for he has an opportunity to show a bushel by living within himself.—Ex.

SCHOOL FIRE-DRILL.

The advantage of, nay absolute necessity for, having regular fire-drill in every institution or school where a number of children are daily assembled was conclusively proved at a fire which occurred recently in St. Mary's Catholic School at Evanston, Ill.

The children, terrified by the flames and half suffocated by smoke, became completely panic-stricken and started a mad stampede for the doors which, if unchecked, would undoubtedly have resulted in many serious accidents. When the excitement was at its height one of the little girls, Ethel Jennings, whose name should be remembered, hurried to an organ and began playing a lively march. Above the din rose the music and the children, remembering the fire-drill which they had so often practised for just such an emergency, fell mechanically into line and marched out of the building.

Another instance of remarkable presence of mind was shown by one of the boys, little Raymond Schaeffer, the nine-year-old son of Sergeant Schaeffer of the Evanston police. The child ran hatless and coatless to the fire-box a block away, and standing on his tiptoes managed to turn in the alarm.

Thanks to the courage and quickness of these two children, the fire was soon extinguished with no loss of life or limb, and small loss of property.

Two instances have occurred in Toronto this winter where fire broke out in schools, while the children were at their lessons. In both cases, absolute discipline was preserved, and the children marched out without panic, not one of the 1,600 children being injured in the slightest. In one case, they put on their clothing and in the other walked out without it. The fire-drill worked splendidly, because of eight years of continuous practice and because the teachers were level-headed. These cases are in strong contrast to the one above.—March "Canadian Magazine."

A GOOD RESOLUTION.

Russian censorship of newspapers and other literature, native and foreign, has brought more contempt upon the nation than any possible license of the journalists, correspondents and authors could have done. Now it is said that the system will be abolished and that complete liberty of the press will be established. The resolution is somewhat heroic taken at this time, when a restraint on the publication of military intelligence might be expected. But Russia will certainly stand better with the world when her government follows the example of other nations, and takes the consequence of any criticisms that may be published at home and abroad. She will have a more patriotic press of her own, and if the people are loyal to the Empire, they will take care that the newspapers truly represent the national impulse.—Ex.

LOCAL PARLIAMENT.

Continued from 1st page. Another evidence of prosperity is to be found in the development of our mineral resources. The coal areas of Queens county have long been known but until recently they remained undeveloped. All this is now changed and where there was blackness and despair there is hope. The development of the Queens coal field has been greatly hastened by the construction of the railway from Chipman to Minto and coal is now being mined in large quantities and carried over the line to points where it is required. Here we can see the beginning of what will in the end prove to be a great success. In Kent county there is another deposit of coal which the government has assisted to make useful by subsidizing a branch

Loss of Flesh

When you can't eat breakfast, take Scott's Emulsion. When you can't eat bread and butter, take Scott's Emulsion. When you have been living on a milk diet and want something a little more nourishing, take Scott's Emulsion. To get fat you must eat fat. Scott's Emulsion is a great fattener, a great strength giver. Those who have lost flesh want to increase all body tissues, not only fat. Scott's Emulsion increases them all: bone, flesh, blood and nerve. For invalids, for convalescents, for consumptives, for weak children, for those who need flesh, Scott's Emulsion is a rich and comfortable food, and a natural tonic. Scott's Emulsion for bone, flesh, blood and nerve.

We will send you a free sample. Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

This railway has been constructed during the present winter and is now in operation. I am prepared to say that the coal produced at this new mine is equal to any the Nova Scotia or Cape Breton. From 150 to 200 tons of coal per day is being raised at this mine, but it is the intention of the owners to increase the output to from 3,000 to 5,000 tons per day. I need hardly say that this would mean to the county of Kent and the province of New Brunswick. Nor need I refer to the money it would bring into the county. The success of this mine is an ample justification of the mining policy of the government. The province will receive a royalty of ten cents a ton on all the coal produced and when the output amounts to 3,000 tons a day this will mean a revenue for the province of $300 for every day in the week, or $90,000 a year. Now, it is estimated that there are in the coal fields of the province not less than 174,000,000 tons of coal awaiting development. This coal will in the course of time make New Brunswick the hive of industry besides adding enormously to its revenue. A few years ago the total revenue received by the province of Nova Scotia for royalties on coal did not exceed $100,000 a year, now it amounts to from $200,000 to $300,000. I have every confidence that we shall witness a similar growth in this province and that in the next ten years we will be receiving $2,000,000 annually from royalties on coal.

For a long time we have been familiar with the hopes and aspirations of St. John to become the winter port of Canada. The question has now passed the experimental stage and we can confidently predict that in the future the traffic of St. John will only be limited by the facilities of the port. We have now arrived at the point where a contract has been entered into for the building of a dry dock and St. John will soon be equipped with a splendid dock, so that vessels will be attracted to it and it will become the great export city of Canada.

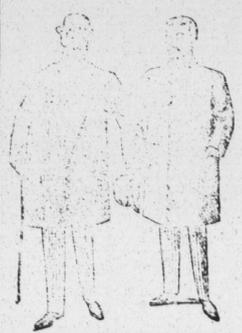

You are all aware that one result of the last census was to show that New Brunswick was likely to lose a member in the house of commons in consequence of a rapid growth of the west. The attorney general holds the opinion that under a proper interpretation of the British North America act we were not entitled to lose a member. To test the matter he took it to the Supreme Court of Canada. I regret that the decision of that court was adverse but so strong were his views that the government has determined to take the matter before the privy council and I believe that the decision of that high tribunal will be in favor of our claim.

The question of the fisheries is another matter in respect to which the government has acted wisely. After consideration the dominion claimed not only the administration of the fisheries but likewise their ownership. From time to time this claim has been made by the highest tribunal in the empire and that the province owes both the sea and river fisheries. This is in fact the case and it is a matter of which New Brunswick its share of the Halifax fishery award.

This award amounted to the sum of $5,000,000, of which Newfoundland received $1,000,000. The balance went to the dominion treasury. By the decision of the privy council it has become clear that the money belonged to the provinces and in a short time I believe that New Brunswick will receive its due share of this award.

The readjustment of the provincial subsidy is another matter of vital importance which I trust will shortly be settled to our satisfaction for it will mean an increase of about $200,000 a year in our revenue. Regarding the asylum for the insane, Mr. Tweedie agreed with Mr. Hazen that there are people there who should not be there. But the difficulty is to risk a making a mistake and turning loose people who may become dangerous. There are cases of insanity that are not dangerous and that should not be in the asylum, but under the law we must receive them. Sometimes people are sent to the asylum by their relatives to get rid of them, it being thought more respectable to go to the asylum than the poor house. We will try to remedy this. As regards the management, for the money expended the provincial asylum yields as good results as any. Mr. Tweedie defended the course of the government in increasing the stampage. The lumber industry is prosperous and why should not the province reap the benefit? The lumbermen are agreed that there should be an increase in the stampage. Lends that a few years ago would not bring $8 a mile are now bringing $400 and $500. The New Brunswick Company has increased their stampage rates from $1.50 to $2, and therefore, an increase of stampage on government land was proper. Touching on the St. John By dock scheme, Mr. Tweedie said he had been assured the other day by a leading banker that with the guarantees which have been obtained there will be no difficulty in financing the scheme. Mr. Tweedie said he received a letter from the premier of Quebec asking him to go to Ottawa with him for

Notice of Sale.

To Lawrence K. Lloyd, of the parish of Newcastle, in the county of Northumberland, in the Province of New Brunswick, Butcher, and all others whom it may concern:

NOTICE is hereby given that under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain Indenture of Mortgage bearing date the twentieth day of April in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety nine, made between the said Lawrence K. Lloyd, of the first part, and Mary T. Davidson, John M. Davidson and Allan A. Davidson, all of the town of Newcastle, in the said county of Northumberland, Executors and Trustees of the last will and Testament of the late Allan A. Davidson, late of Newcastle, aforesaid, Barrister at Law, deceased, of the second part, duly registered in the Northumberland county records, Volume 15, pages 47, 48 and 49, and numbered 35 in said Volume, there will for the purpose of satisfying the moneys due on and secured by said mortgage, default, having been made in payment thereof, be sold at PUBLIC AUCTION in front of the Post office in the said town of Newcastle, on TUESDAY, THE FIFTEENTH DAY OF MARCH, next at 12 o'clock, noon, the lands and premises mentioned and described in the said Indenture of Mortgage, viz., all that certain lot or parcel of land and premises situate, lying and being in the parish of Charlton, in the County and Province aforesaid, near the Newcastle ferry wharf and bounded westerly or in front by said ferry road, northerly by the Miramichi river, southerly by lands owned and occupied by John McFarlane, and easterly by the Percival lands, so called, by the lands and premises conveyed said Lawrence K. Lloyd by John M. Davidson, by deed bearing date the said day of April 1899, together with the and improvements thereon, privileges, hereditaments and appurtenances thereto in anywise belonging. Dated this thirteenth day of March, 1904. MARY T. DAVIDSON, ALLAN A. DAVIDSON, Surviving Trustees.

the purpose of pressing claims to an additional subsidy on the Dominion government, and he was satisfied that before next session all the claims mentioned in the session will be settled in our favor. Last year reference was made to claim which we had against the Dominion government for appropriating a river in the county of Restigouche. This claim had grown to a large sum of $14,000, and he was glad to be able to announce that the Dominion government has now promised to pay it. He was therefore, he said, amendments to the act should be settled in the very near future in favor of New Brunswick. The premier resumed his seat amid applause, after having made an address of nearly an hour's duration.

Mr. Trimmer followed, speaking for twenty minutes, and mildly criticizing the premier's speech, which, he said, contained no information. He condemned the government for spending $18,000 in building a railway to the Beersville mines. He said he was glad a highway act and a factory act will be introduced. Referring to the insane asylum, he said amendments to the act should be amended and a proper officer should be provided in every district so that no improper persons gain admission to that institution.

Mr. Tweedie announced that he had received a telegram from Ottawa stating that the Dominion government had filed the sum of eight thousand dollars, that being the amount due the province on account of wharves. He was pleased to say that this matter was settled.

The address was then adopted without division. Mr. Hazen gave notices of enquiry with regard to the damage done to the Harris bridge by the tug Sam King, and the amounts paid for the consolidation of the statutes. Mr. Flewelling gave notice of enquiry with regard to the building of piers in the St. John River near Vanburen by the St. John Lumber Company. The house adjourned until Wednesday.

The Country.

An Epitome of Events Gathered by ADVOCATE Reporters.

BATHURST.

The Carquet Railway, which has been hung up for some time owing to the breaking of one of their engines on the eastern end of the line, made a start on Saturday, and has got at the time of writing, the road opened nearly to Grand Anse, and the workmen hope to get to Carquet by Monday. It is reported that a great quantity of freight is waiting to be moved at different points along the line. The Company's Engineers brought in an engine which they received from the I. C. R. on Saturday and are fitting it up in the machine shop to take the place of the one which was broken.

The soft weather of the past few days has enabled travellers to break good roads, and the travelling on the stage roads all over the County is said to be excellent at present. Taking advantage of this large quantity of wood are being brought into town, and the merchants hope to see a revival of business from country sources.

Nearly all the lumbermen have succeeded in getting the bulk of their logs off the yards by this time and the fine hauling at present will be a great help to them.

Considerable quantities of potatoes are being bought by American buyers throughout the county. We notice the veteran buyer, E. W. Ely, of Boston, registered at the Robertson House, and understand he has several men employed loading cars between Bathurst and Dalhousie. Mr. Ely reports that there appears to be considerable quantities of potatoes in Gloucester County and the market abroad is fairly good notwithstanding the crop in Aroostook county and other parts of Maine where potatoes are largely raised, was larger last autumn than for many years before. Butter and eggs and all sorts of farm produce are now in demand in Bathurst both for local consumption and local use. In regard to eggs and fowl, we notice an excellent article in one of the St. John papers lately over the signature of Mr. W. W. Hubbard, who is an authority in such things. Mr. Hubbard advises the raising of fowl by all farmers and claims that nothing pays so well in the line of farm supplies, in New Brunswick particularly. He gives a list of prizes procured by poultry raisers in Carleton and Kings counties and the cost of raising the fowl. The results are certainly surprising, and we should judge that it would be well worth while for farmers and others interested in such things to give this branch particular attention.

Large quantities of Railway sleepers are being put out along the line of the Intercolonial Railway by several contractors and the prices paid appear to be such as should leave good wages for the makers of the ties. This is certainly getting to be a more important industry than ever before in this county, and as suitable wood for sleepers is getting very scarce in Nova Scotia and the southern part of the Province, the North Shore counties will have to be depended on more and more for them.

The March session of the Supreme Court was held in Bathurst last week, J. E. McLeod, presiding. The only criminal case before the court was the stabbing affair from Lukerman Parish. The nature of the case was peculiar. It appears that a boy was severely injured by another with a knife, but the defence brought in evidence in effect that the injured boy fell against the knife and hurt himself. The jury acquitted the prisoner. The case of Smith vs. Smith took up the attention of the court for two days.

On Monday several young men were up before Magistrate O'Brien for stealing liquor from a car at Bellefleur, with the result that they were fined. The men claimed that as the man to whom the liquor was consigned had no license they thought they had a good right to it as he had, a peculiar code of morals.

There appears to be very much sickness in and about Bathurst, nearly every household having one or more members laid up with grippe and other diseases of a similar nature, and the doctors are kept constantly on the go. Among those who are very ill are Mr. Joseph Lunnigan, father of Mr. B. M. Lunnigan, telegraph operator; Mr. Frank McEwen, the veteran blacksmith; Mrs. Landry, wife of N. O. Landry, Esq., Secretary Treasurer was also quite ill on Saturday, and quite a number of children are absent from the schools owing to illness. The disease appears to be of a similar nature to that which swept over the country a few years ago, and when one member of a family is attacked, it generally runs right through the household.

We hear of considerable building activity in the near future, particularly on Water Street. Mr. Henry White proposes building a large addition to his hotel, the White House, and it is said Mr. B. M. Lunnigan and others who were burned out at the fire last fall will put up substantial structures on their lands. We trust they will take into consideration the advisability of using brick and stone, thus saving both insurance and adding to the beauty and stability of the town. Stone can be procured very cheaply in Bathurst as I brick does not cost very much more than wood in the long run, and there are certainly other advantages to the owners of the buildings.

The lobster and other fishermen are busy getting their supplies forward and otherwise preparing for their busy season.

PERSONALS. Messrs. W. P. Foley and Fred Young drove up from Carquet last week and Mr. Foley sent down several loads by team owing to the railway being closed.

R. A. Bruden, Esq., of Moncton, who is interested in the Maccan coal mines visited Bathurst on Business last week.

Fred Sumner Esq., of Moncton was in Bathurst on business connected with his extensive concern here last Thursday.

The many friends in Bathurst of Mr. L. Cossart of the Peoples' Bank, were sorry to learn that he had been removed to Halifax. The move means promotion for Mr. Cossart, however, we are pleased to report.

Mr. Harry Curran, late of the Peoples' Bank, Shediac, is home on a visit to his parents.

Mr. Fred Comeau of Stouffville was in Bathurst on Monday.

BARNABY RIVER.

Barnaby River, March 4.—Mr. Michael Meagher as the guest of Mr. Joseph Mahony last week.

Commercial travellers are very plentiful here now.

We are glad to welcome our old friend Mr. D. Hay, back to Barnaby.

Mr. Albert Murphy was the guest of Mr. P. Aylward last Sunday.

Mr. Jas. Murphy returned home from the lumber woods Friday and reports it being a very hard winter on horses.

Mr. Robert Aylward who has been breaking on the I. C. R. returned home Thursday.

The road between Barnaby River and Nelson is very badly snowed up and I think it would be a good idea if our commissioner would see to this and get it broken out.

SEVOGLE.

The weather of the last week has been very fine except the rain storm we had on Monday which has done good for the lumbermen.

The lumbering teams have not returned from the woods yet.

We are sorry to say that Mr. Conslis Crow is very ill and is not yet recovering. Mr. James Esty is busily engaged in hauling logs for Mr. Murdoch Sutherland at Redbank.

We must say that division 4 has creditable roads, as a gentleman of another parish had to engage two boys to help him shove the roads that he might pass without danger of his life.

Miss Lillie Esty is visiting friends at Redbank.

Mr. Murdoch Sutherland of this place is done hauling off his logs.

Mr. Herbert Esty was home from the woods with an illness of the throat, but has returned again much better.

We are glad to say that Miss Lizzie Curtis has recovered from her illness.

Mr. Archie Ramsey, our grocery pedlar has not been up here for quite a while.

Mr. William Matchett is done porthauling for Mr. Allison.

Mr. William Comeau came home from the woods on Saturday.

Mr. J. Sapp Whidden is still working at his logs but will soon be done.

There are numerous expressions of displeasure from the friends of the local hockey players regarding the somewhat untidy reports of the games played by the Campbellton boys in Moncton and Chatham as reported in the papers of these respective towns, and more especially at our local papers reproducing these reports without in any way what ever upholding the boys and their efforts to establish a hockey club here. The least that could be done was to tell the public that the Campbelltonians went to these towns with their last men only to expect to get to Ottawa for a piece of misfortune Captain Miles had his shoulder severely hurt and had to retire from the ice ten minutes after the game started at Moncton. A return game with the Moncton team will probably be played here in a couple of weeks when we know the boys will make a better showing.

As the skating is interfering with the curling and making it almost impossible to keep pool ice for curling a movement is being made for the erection of a skating rink here for the next season. This will make a more desirable rink for skating and there can be skating every night of the week. It is a good healthy recreation and should be encouraged.

James Reid, M. P., is slightly indisposed at his home in Charlottetown. He does not expect to get to Ottawa for the opening of Parliament but will be there during opening week.

And had she been so spoiled by the "fast set" of Atlanta during her stay there that she would allow it—even if Miller was a friend of the family? He found a negro porter near the heap of luggage that had been piled from the baggage car and ordered his sister's trunks taken to the hotel. Then he followed the couple moodily up to the hotel parlor. He was destined to undergo another shock, for on entering that room he surprised Miller and Adele on a sofa behind the big square piano with their heads suspiciously near together, and so deeply were they engaged in conversation that, although he drew up a chair near them, they paid no heed to him further than to recognize his presence with a frowning of the eyes.

They were talking of social affairs in Atlanta and people whose names were unfamiliar to Alan. He rose and stood before the fireplace, but they did not notice his change of position. Truly it was wonderful. He told himself that Adele's pretty face and far too easy manner had attracted Miller's attention temporarily, and the fellow was daring to enter one of his flirtations right before his eyes. Alan would give him a piece of his mind at the first opportunity, even if he was under obligations to him. Indeed, Miller had greatly disappointed him, and so had Adele. He had always thought she, like Dolly Barclay, was different from other girls; but no, she was like them all. Miller's attention had simply turned her head. Well, as soon as he had a chance he would tell her a few things about Miller and his views of women. That would put her on her guard, but it would not draw out the poisoned sting left by Miller's presumption or indelicacy or whatever it was. Alan rose and stood at the fire unattended for several minutes, and then he showed that he was at least a good chaperon, for he reached out and drew the old-fashioned bell

He went out on the veranda to smoke and enjoy repeating these things over to himself. The tondres in the street were dying down to red embers, around which stood a few stragglers, but there was a blaze of new light over the young man's head. Along his horizon had dawned a glorious reason for his existence, a reason that discolored every reason he had ever entertained. "Adele, Adele," he said to himself, and then his cigar went out. Perhaps, his thoughts ran on in their mad race with happiness—perhaps, with her fair head on her pillow, she was thinking of him as he was of her.

Around the corner came a crowd of young men singing negro songs. They passed under the veranda, and Miller recognized Frank H. home's voice. "That you, Frank?" Miller called out, leaning over the railing.

"Yes. That you, Ray?" Hillhouse stepped out into view. "Come on. We are going to turn the town over. Every sign comes down according to custom, you know. Old 'Tad Moore is drunk in the calaboose. They put him in late this evening. We are going to smash and let him out. It's a dandy racket. We are going to make him think we are White Caps and then set him in the bosom of his family. Come on."

"I can't tonight," declined Miller, with a laugh. "I'm dead tired." "Well, if you hear all the church bells ringing you needn't mind it's fire and jump out of your skin. We ain't going to sleep tonight, and we don't intend to let anybody else do it." "Well, go it while you are young," Miller retorted, with a laugh, and Hillhouse joined his companions in his chief, and they passed on, singing merrily.

Miller threw his cigar away and went to his room. "Perhaps I ought to tell Alan," he mused, "but he'll find it out soon enough; and, hang it all, I can't tell him how I feel about his own sister after all the rot I've stuffed into him."

She gave Miller her hand.

in the chimney corner. The porter came, and Alan asked, "Is my sister ready?" "Yes, sir, she's ready and warm now, suh," the negro said. "I started the fire on the stove, and she's waiting for you."

Alan and Adele had paused to listen. "You are going to hurry me off to the girl said, with an audible gasp."

"You must be tired after that ride," Adele said. "Yes, you must be," echoed Alan. "Well, if you have to go you must go. I'm going to spend the night here. I'll have a regular room, and I'll have breakfast."

"Yes," said Adele. "You must notice her brother's eyes. He's laughing out teasingly. Miller and Dolly are no nearer than a hair's breadth from each other."

Miller joined in her merriment. "Dolly is next to the door," he said. "Miller laughed at her chatter," he said. "I'll have my supper for early breakfast. You must start soon in the morning. This is the home folks."

Alan was so glad that Miller had a room of his own, for he was not in a mood to converse with him, and when Adele had retired he refused Miller's proffered cigar and went to his own room.

CHAPTER XXVI.

THE next morning as soon as he was up Alan went to his sister's room. He found her dressed and ready for him. She was seated before a cheerful grate fire looking over a magazine she had brought to pass the time on the train.

"Come in," she said, pleasantly enough, he reflected, now that Miller was not present to absorb her attention. "I expected you to get up a little earlier. Those guns down at the barroom just about daybreak waked me, and I went to sleep again. There is no use denying it, Al, we have a barbarous way of amusing ourselves up here in north Georgia."

He went on and stood with his back to the fire, still unable to rid his brow of the frown it had worn the night before.

"Oh, I reckon you've got too civilized for us," he said, "along with other accomplishments that fast set down there has taught you."

Adele laid her book open on her lap. "Look here, Alan," she said, quite gravely. "What's the matter with you?" "Nothing that I know of," he said, without meeting her direct gaze.

"Well, there is," she said, as the outcome of her slow inspection of his clouded features.

He shrugged his shoulders and gave her his eyes steadily.

"I don't like the way you and Miller are carrying on. He hurled the words at her sullenly. "You see, I know him through and through."

"Well, that's all right," she replied, not flinching from his indignant stare, "but what's that got to do with my conduct and his?"

"You allow him to be too familiar with you," Alan retorted. "He's not the kind of a man for you to act that way with. He has flirted with a dozen women and thrown them over; he doesn't believe in the honest love of a man for a woman or the love of a woman for a man."

"Ah, I am at the first of this!" Adele, instead of being put down by his stormy words, was smiling inwardly. Her lips were rigid, but Alan saw the light of keen amusement in her eyes.

"Is he really so dangerous? That makes him doubly interesting. Most girls love to handle masculine gunpowder. Do you know, if I was Dolly Barclay, for instance, an affair with you would not be much fun, because I'd be so sure of you. The dead level of your past would alarm me."

"Thank heaven, all women are not alike!" was the bolt he hurled at her. "If you knew as much about Ray Miller as I do, you'd act in a more dignified way on a first acquaintance with him."

"On a first—oh, I see what you mean!" Adele put her handkerchief to her face and treated herself to a merry laugh that exasperated him beyond endurance. Then she stood up, smoothing her smile away. "Let's go to breakfast. I'm as hungry as a bear. I told Rayburn—I mean your dangerous friend, Mr. Miller—that we'd meet him in the dining room. He says he's crazy for a cup of coffee with whipped cream in it. I ordered it just now."

"The devil!" Alan bit the word in two and strode from the room, she following. The first person they saw in the big dining room was Miller, standing at the stove in the center of the room warming himself. He scarcely looked at Alan in his eagerness to have a chair placed for Adele at a little table reserved for three in a corner of the room, which was presided over by a sleek looking mulatto waiter whose father had belonged to M. Her's family. "I've been up an hour," he said to her. "I took a stroll down the street to see what damage the gang did last night. Every sign is down or hung where it doesn't belong. To fence the owner, an old negro druggist, whom everybody jokes with, they took his wicker to pieces and put it together again on the roof of Harmon's drugstore. How they got it there is a puzzle that will go down in local history like the building of the pyramids."

"Whip it all!" laughed Adele. "That will be the final explanation." "I think you are right," agreed Miller.

Alan bolted his food in grim silence, unnoticed by the others. Adele's very grace at the table, as she prepared Miller's coffee, and her apt repartee added to his discomfort. He excused himself from the table before they had finished, musing something about sewing if the horses were ready, and went into the office. The last blow to his temper was dealt by Adele as she came from the dining room.

"Mr. Miller wants to drive me out in his buggy to show me his horses," she said, half smiling. "You won't mind, will you? You see, he'll want his team out there to get back in, and—"

"Oh, I don't mind," he told her. "I see you are bent on making a goose of yourself. After what I've told you about Miller if you still—"

But she closed his mouth with her hand. "Leave him to me, brother," she said as she turned away. "I'm old enough to take care of myself, and—and—well, I know men better than you do."

When Alan reached home, he found that Miller and Adele had been there half an hour. His mother met him at the door with a mysterious smile on her sweet old face as she nodded at the closed door of the parlor.

"Don't go in there now," she whispered. "Adele and Mr. Miller have been there ever since they came. I really believe they are in love with each other. I never saw young folks act more like it. When I met 'em it looked best like he would to kiss me, he was so happy. Now wouldn't it be fine if they was to get married? He's the nicest man in the state and the best catch."

"I've dropped onto a little news."

"Oh, mother," said Alan, "you don't understand. Rayburn Miller is—"

"Well, Adele will know how to manage him," broke in the old lady, too full of her view of the romance to harken to his. "She ain't no fool, son. She'll twist him around her finger if she wants to. She's pretty and stylish and as sharp as a brier. Ah, he's just seen it all and wants her. You can't fool me! I know how people act when they are in love. I've seen hundreds, and I never saw a worse case on both sides than this is."

Going around to the stables to see that his horses were properly attended to, Alan met his uncle leaning over the

Sick Headache and Indigestion

Nervous System out of order—Health restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Indigestion and dyspepsia, nervous, sick headache and sleeplessness are among the marked symptoms of nervous exhaustion, and on this account are thoroughly and permanently cured by a course of treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Max P. Brown, 19 Queen St., St. Thomas, Ont., and whose husband is a shoemaker, states:—

"I suffered a lot with nervous, sick headache, my digestion was not good, and my nervous system generally was out of order. I am pleased to say that I found Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most satisfactory restorer that I have ever tried. I can fully recommend this preparation, knowing it to be very beneficial in my case."

We Shall Buy a Million Bottles of Ligozone and Give Them to the Sick.

We have purchased for $500,000 the American rights to Ligozone. We thus control the only way to kill germs in the body and end a germ disease. We want the sick to know this product. We want once. So we make this remarkable offer. We will buy a million 50c bottles and give them to a million sick ones. Will you—if you need it—let us buy one for you?

Costs $500,000

We publish this offer in every great newspaper in America. The cost of the offer, we expect, will reach $500,000. We pay that price because it seems the only way to quickly let the sick know what Ligozone does. The greatest value of Ligozone lies in the fact that it kills germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. And no man knows another way to do it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Ligozone is the result of a process which men have spent over 20 years in perfecting. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, wherever they are, and the results are indirect and uncertain. Ligozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

well fence looking admiringly at a young colt that was prancing around the lot.

"Christmas gift," said the old man sulkily. "I ketchted you that time when you got ahead of me," Alan admitted.

The old man came nearer to him, nodding his head toward the house. "Heard the news?" he asked, with a broad grin of delight.

"What news is that?" Alan asked dubiously.

"Young Miss"—a name given Adele by the neighbors and sometimes used jestingly by the family—"Young Miss has knocked the props clean from under Miller."

Alan frowned and hung his head for a moment; then he said: "Uncle Ab, do you remember what I told you about Miller's opinion of love and women in general?"

The old man saw his drift and burst into a full, round laugh.

"I know you told me what he said about love an' women in general, but I don't know as you said what he thought about women in particular. This here's a particular case. I tell you she's fixed 'im. Yore little sis has done the most complete job out o' tough material I ever inspected. He's a gone cone; he'll never make another brag; he's tied hand an' foot."

Alan looked straight into his uncle's eyes. A light was breaking on him. "Uncle Ab," he said, "do you think he is really in love with her?"

"E he ain't an' don't ax yore pa an' ma fer 'er before a month's gone, I'll deed you my farm. Now, look here, A feller knows his own sister less'n he does anybody else; that's been's you never have thought of Adele fellerin' in the trail of womankind. You'd hate fer a brother o' that town gal to be raisin' sand about you, wouldn't you? Well, you go right on an' let them two kill the 'r own rats."

Alan and his uncle were returning to the house when Pole Baker dismounted at the front gate and came into the yard.

"I seed Mr. Miller drive past my house awhile ago with Miss Adele," he said, "an' I come right over. I want to see all of you together."

Just then Miller came out of the parlor and descended the steps to join them.

"Christmas gift, Mr. Miller!" cried Pole. "I ketchted you that time."

"And if I paid up you'd cuss me out," retorted the lawyer, with a laugh. "I don't forget the row you raised about that suit of clothes. Well, what's the news? How's your family?"

"About as common, Mr. Miller," said Pole. "My wife's gittin' younger an' younger ever' day. She she moved in 'er new house an' got to whitewashin' fences an' makin' flower beds an' one thing another she looks like a new person. I'd 'a' bought 'er a horse long ago if I'd a-knowed she wanted it that bad."

"Oh, we put on the lugs now! We wipe with napkins after eatin', an' my littlest un sets in a high chair an' says, 'Please pass the gravy,' like he'd been off to school. Sully says she's a-goin' to send 'em, an' I don't keer of her do; they'll stand head of they go; the'r noggin's look like squashes, but they're full o' seeds, an' don't you forget it."

"That they are!" intoned Abner Daniel.

"I've dropped onto a little news," said Pole. "You know what a old moonshiner can't pick up in these mountains from old pards ain't with lookin' fer."

"Railroad?" asked Miller interestedly.

"That's fer you uns to make out," said Baker. "Now, I ain't a-goin' to give away my authority, but I rid twenty miles yesterday to substantiate what I heard, an' I know it's nothin' but the truth. You all know old Bobby Milburn's been buyin' timber land up about yore property, don't you?"

"I didn't know how much," answered Miller, "but I knew he had secured some."

"Fust and last in the neighborhood o' six thousand acres," affirmed Pole, "an' he's still on the warpath. What fust attracted my notice was findin' out that old Bobby hadn't a dollar to his name. That made me suspicious, an' I went to work to investigate."

"Good boy!" said Uncle Abner in an admiring undertone.

account to draw the money. There was a startled pause. It was broken by Miller, whose eyes were gleaming excitedly.

"It's blame good news," he said, cying Alan.

"Do you think so?" said Alan, who was still under his cloud of displeasure with his friend.

"Yes, it simply means that Wilson intends to build that road. He's been quiet and pretending indifference for two reasons—first to bring us to closer terms, and next to secure more land. Then they all went to find Bishop to tell him the news."

CHAPTER XXVII.

IT was a cold, dry day about the middle of January. They were killing hogs at the farm.

Seven or eight negroes, men and women, had gathered from all about in the neighborhood to assist in the work and get the parts of the meat usually given away in payment for such services.

Abner Daniel and old man Bishop were superintending these preparations when Alan came from the house to say that Rayburn Miller had just ridden out to see them on business. "I think it's the railroad," Alan informed his father, who always displayed signs of almost childish excitement when the subject came up. They found Miller in the parlor being entertained by Adele, who immediately left the room on his arrival. They all sat down before a cheerful fire. Miller showed signs of embarrassment at first, but gradually threw them off and turned to the matter in hand quite as if he were an office man.

"I've got a proposition to make you, Mr. Bishop," he opened with a slight flush on his face, "making some inquiries about land and am more and more convinced that he intends to buy your land, rather—by holding you obliged to sell your land at a lower figure than you could get for it."

"You think so?" said Alan, who was sitting by his side.

"Well, I found out he was usin' Wilson's money an' secretly buyin' for him, an', what's more, he seems to have pulled out a big haul."

HO FOR SUMMER CLIMES. The Grand Trunk Railway System have issued a handsome publication entitled "Winter Tours to Colorado," "California," and which are now in their City Ticket Offices for free distribution. The publication deals with the attractions of the states of Colorado and California as winter resorts for eastern people, and as the present season is the time to visit these winter resorts for pleasure, and to hold for health the publication issued as an opportune time. The publication is handsomely illustrated with views of Manitou Springs, Pike's Peak, and the Garden of the Gods, and the Yosemite Valley, and other interesting points on the Grand Trunk. The publication is a valuable source of information for those who are contemplating a winter vacation in the West. The publication is available in English, French, and German. The price is 10 cents per copy. The publication is available at all railway ticket offices.

CANNED AND EVAPORATED GOODS TRADE.

Mr. A. W. Gridley, Agent of the Department of Agriculture in Great Britain, gives the following information in regard to the trade in canned and evaporated goods during 1903, in addition to the extracts from his annual report published last week.

FRUIT PULPS:—

Their is a good demand for the following fruit pulps which can be put up in Canada:—Strawberry, Raspberry, Gooseberry, Black Currant, Peaches, Pears, Apricots. The above fruits are largely used in jam factories in Great Britain.

Canadian packers of fruit pulps should observe the following point.

- 1. Use a heavy grade of charcoal tin plates for making the cans.
2. Do not use rosin for soldering the inside seams as the least portion imparts a bad flavor to the contents.
3. One gallon tins are preferable to cans holding five gallons chiefly because there is less loss in case of a puncture or other cause of damage.
4. For colored pulps an internally lacquered tin is very much preferred.
5. No coloring matter or preservatives of any kind should be added.
6. Have cases holding cans made strongly and with tight covers, not slats.

TINNED MEATS.

There is a good demand in Great Britain for tinned meats but complaints are made that Canadian tinned meats are often colored next the tin by some acid action. This may be eased by using light grade tin plates for making the cans. These plates are rolled after being tinned and so much of the tin being taken off the iron is exposed in spots and a chemical action exists in which the iron is oxidized and packed. Some British firms who import heavy lines of canned goods from Canada furnish the tin plates from which the cans are made and also have an export representative to supervise the packing of their goods during the season, the result being general satisfaction and increased demand for the brand.

The quality of Canadian beef and mutton is preferred to the imports from other countries the packs of which countries are often filled with meat from which extracts have been taken to make fluid meat preparations.

TINNED LOBSTERS.

There is a good demand for Canadian tinned lobsters if properly put up. Only heavily tinned plates should be used for making cans, the inside of which should be lined with heavy parchment paper and the lobster packed while thoroughly fresh. This requires large packing factories. Small factories do not as a general rule employ skilled labor and as they cannot pack as fast as supplies come in during the packing season the result is that scale or partially stale goods are packed which go off flavor very quickly.

The Baird Company's Wine of Tar Honey and Wild Cherry. A Lubricant to the Throat. A Tonic to the Vocal Chords. The Baird Co.'s Wine of Tar, Honey and Wild Cherry is the best remedy for coughs and colds I have ever used. MARY A. SHAW, Woodstock, N. B.

Miss M. Cartledge gives some helpful advice to young girls. Her letter is but one of thousands which prove that nothing is so helpful to young girls who are just arriving at the period of womanhood as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly, for it is the only medicine I ever tried which cured me. I suffered much from my first menstrual period. I felt so weak and dizzy at times I could not pursue my studies with the usual interest. My thoughts became sluggish, I had headaches, backaches and sinking spells, also pains in the back and lower limbs. In fact, I was sick all over. Finally, after many other remedies had been tried, we were advised to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am pleased to say that after taking it only two weeks, a wonderful change for the better took place, and in a short time I was in perfect health. I felt buoyant, full of life, and found all work a pastime. I am indeed glad to tell my experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for it made a different girl of me. Yours very truly, Miss M. CARTLEDGE, 533 Whitehall St., Atlanta, Ga. $5.00 per bottle. If original of above letter genuine cannot be produced.

DESICCATED VEGETABLES.

There is a growing demand for desiccated vegetables in Great Britain not for home consumption, but for Naval stores and the war office.

POWER OF THE PRESS.

How Clifford Sifton Tells the Story of the Rising Success of the Government's Immigration Policy.

The Canadian Club in Toronto had an address from Hon. Clifford Sifton on the work of the Immigration Bureau the other day. Mr. Sifton admitted every disparagement of our country, but he also pointed out an address on immigration might touch controversial points, but he would endeavor to speak of facts only. The question before them was that of procuring a population for Canada and placing it on their vacant lands. Mr. Sifton then described the methods of the Immigration Bureau and its officers in lively, conversational style. The western States were selected in 1897 as the most profitable place to organize a propaganda. The difficulties of an agent who located in a western city and tried to get people to come to Canada caused much amusement. One went away full of hope, and expected to move the whole States over in a short time. In three months he telegraphed his resignation. When Mr. Sifton wanted him to go back he said there was not the slightest use. Nobody over there knew where Canada was. The newspapers would not print an item about it. After two weeks' holiday he was persuaded to go back. After another trial he again resigned, and was again sent back with instructions not to write or telegraph until he was asked. After six months he telegraphed that he had secured one family. This agent has sent 5,000 people since then. The first year only 712 came from the whole States. With eight or nine agents and 200 or more sub-agents it was seen that a new course must be adopted, and a special study of the problem was made at Chicago.

Power of the Press.

Advertisements offering our free farm lands were placed in 1897 with a circulation of 5,800,000, reaching one-third of the United States people. The Editorial Association was invited over and escorted from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The editor went back and wrote appreciative accounts in their papers, which the department promptly collected in the form of a book, and then circulated 300,000 copies of this testimony among the farmers. Agents are now on pretty good terms with the press there, and they refuse to insert matter derogatory to our work. In 1897 it was impossible to convince farmers in Southern Minnesota that wheat fit for the mills could be grown in the West. Last year 10,000 came from the Western States into the Northwest.

In Great Britain the work had been organized on business principles, the semi-diplomatic methods of the High Commissioner's office not being adapted to the conditions. A newspaper devoted to the resources of Canada had been prepared and mailed to 1,500,000 names of practically all the farmers and farm laborers in the United Kingdom. Forty to fifty thousand dollars a year was spent on advertisements in papers reaching ten millions of readers. Half a million books on Canada had been put in the schools, and 25,000 wall maps. To prove their loyalty to the coronation, and incidentally do a little advertising, they built the arch, which it was said the two figures of the coronation were the King and the Canadian arch. They had a business office in the heart of London city, open from 9 till 6, fitted up with Canadian wool set up by Canadian workmen, heated by a Canadian furnace. Business was done sharply and promptly. Last year 50,000 immigrants came from England. Four years ago the total from all countries was 122,000.

On the European continent arrangements were made with the North Atlantic Trading Co. to obtain suitable immigrants, and £1 per head was paid for every acceptable person landed in Canada, 18 per cent of these having been farmers in a small way at home and going directly to the land.

Counting the Cost. A good deal of money was spent, but while in 1898 the expense was $7.77 a head, in 1903 the cost was only $3.25. In five and a half years up to June, 1903, 123,000 immigrants had cost to procure, $5.67 per head, and in return they brought into Canada in settlements, $18,000,000 worth, and at the lowest calculation $25,000,000 in cash. The farmers as a rule take up half or complete sections, and in six years are producing $2,000 per acre, averaging fifty millions a year added to the wealth of Canada.

These settlements made openings for young men. A place where a few years ago there were not a hundred people now had a large and thriving town, with a Board of Trade and all the concomitants of civilization, and no doubt a Canadian club to follow. One man there cleared last year $50,000. "And he made it all out of the farmers' land," said Mr. Sifton. Immigrants were carefully looked after from the time of landing till they were settled. Everything depends on taking hold of them when they arrive. It was said that last year 650,000 went to the United States, while we only got 135,000. But only 13 per cent of the United States immigrants were agricultural, the remainder being of a class of which we could make no present use. It was not true that the public lands in the States were exhausted. More had been taken up there last year than in Canada, and violent opposition was met with from railway companies and others.

The Bureau never assisted any one to come over. "A man who cannot scrape up money enough to come, is not worth having when he gets here." It was said that farmers with money only went to Canada, but it would be just as well to try to run a factory with fortune. Laborers were needed to assist the farmers or the crops would rot on the ground.

The Doctor Leads Him by the Nose. Ninety-nine hearts out of a hundred are falling to do their work. There is no pain there, but it is felt somewhere for some organ is robbed of its proper need of blood by this insidious heart cure, and distress follows. Chase's sense says, cure where the trouble and pain begin. DR. AGNEW'S HEART CURE, because it begins at the blood's distributing organ, healing that rapidly and making it strong and able, quickly sends strength and health to every other organ. It is the only cure that combines science and sense and believes and cures. HENRY ARNEY, of Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I suffered with my heart, nerves and general weakness for some time. The best doctor said I must die. On my wife's advice I used Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure. Relief came. I am fully cured. Weighted 150 pounds." DR. AGNEW'S OINTMENT will drive Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, etc. From the joints, and from the system.

J. A. Valentine, representing the Emporium Cigar Co., Sherbrook, was in town on Monday.

Miss Helen Black leaves to-day for St. John, to attend the Millinery opening.

Married at Seattle.

Married at the residence of the brides parents, at 1 p. m. Sunday January 17th, 1904. Miss Fanny Robertson and Mr. Percy Parks. They were attended by Miss Tot Dick and Mr. Johnny Barwell. The bride was tastefully and daintily attired in cream silk, with all-over embroidered chiffon and carried a bouquet of white carnations and wore a veil clasped with a wreath of the same. Her only ornaments were pearl beads and a pin representing the beautiful order of Maccabees, of which she had the honor to be a member. Miss Dick wore a pale blue mullin de soie, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends by the Rev. Mills of Edgewater Congregational Church. A delicious dinner was served in the home of Mr. Parks, 3625 Aurora Avenue, which adjoins that of his father-in-law, where the young people have taken up their abode, and will be home to their many friends after Feb. 1st. The presents were numerous and beautiful, consisting mainly of silver and china. Those present besides the immediate family were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Robertson, Mr. Ross Robertson and Miss Maud Cole of Tacoma, Mr. and Mrs. H. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. L. Reing, Mr. and Mrs. George Donberger, Miss Freda Stokes, Mrs. J. Dick, Mrs. Olive Mynatt and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bailey, of Seattle, and Mr. Louis Robertson of Dungeness.—Seattle paper.

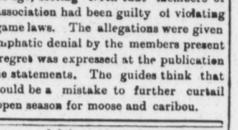

Mr. Herbert Park, also a son of Mr. Robert Parks recently married a Seattle lady.

New Brunswick Guides.

At the meeting at Fredericton of the New Brunswick Guides Association some discussion took place in regard to an alleged interview with a prominent guide a few weeks ago, setting forth that members of the association had been guilty of violating the game laws. The allegations were given an emphatic denial by the members present and regret was expressed at the publication of the statements. The guides think that it would be a mistake to further curtail the open season for moose and caribou.
