MURDER IN VICTORIA COUNTY

Jealousy Over a Woman Said to Be Cause of Row Among Italians

SLAYERS AT LARGE

Fugitives Are Well Armed and Capture Will Be Difficult

A little more than a month ago a party of fourteen Italians arrived in New Denmark, Victoria Co., to work
on the Transcontinental Railway. About three weeks later another seven arrived from Plaster Rock and among their number was a woman who is said to have been the cause of the trouble. This woman is married but her husband did not accompany her at the time. He remained at Plaster Rock.

One of the Italians who professes to be a cousin of the woman, was one of those who came to the settlement
with her, and has been, it is said, paying some attention to her. On Monday
last a party of four other Italians arrived from Plaster Rock, one of them
supposed to be the woman's husband.
They sought work at the same camp
but the other Italians did not want
them, so they left, after staying all
night, to seek work with Messrs.
Johnson, a few miles nearer Grand Falls. As they were on the way to Johnson's they met four of the Italians whom they left at McDonald's camp, among whom was the supposed
cousin of the woman.

These Italians were all armed, three
having a revolver and one a shot gun.
After passing the others going to Johnson's they are said to have turned
round and deliberately fired at them,
killing one instantly and injuring another. The two others escaped.
The Italians who fired took to the woods and have not been arrested.
Jealousy on account of the woman is said to be the cause of the tragedy.

The international character of the
entries, no fewer than eleven nations
being represented, gave peculiar importance and interest to the championship meeting, which was held in the stadium. A big crowd was in attendance. There were nearly 300 competitors, among them many men who have entered for the Olympic contests.

Bobby Kerr won the sixth heat of the 220 yards flat race. Time, 24 seconds. Kerr looking round from the start, won by fully four yards.
In the second round he again won his heat easily in 22 3/5 seconds. The final was a very easy victory for Kerr,
who is now entitled to call himself
the 100 and 200 yard champion of Great Britain. His time in the final was very fast, 22 2/5 seconds. He is regarded as a very dangerous man in the Olympic sprints.

H. B. Archibald the Canadian pole
vaulting champion, won the pole vault
which is now entitled to call himself
the British pole vault champion, and he should be right in line for the Olympic championship.

The Conservatives accept the back-
down on the Hodgins scandal with poor
grace; but they have to face the facts
sometimes, and this is only one of the many times this session. "Eating the
leek" is not pleasant but it is the penalty of embarking upon a "scandal"
crusade when one is not sure of one's facts.

LABOR CANDIDATE

FOR WESTMORLAND.
Moncton Times—It is said to be the
intention of the Trades and Labor Council to put an Independent Labor
candidate in the field in every constituency in Canada which offers any chance whatever for the success of
such a candidate in the approaching
general elections for the Dominion Parliament. There is talk of a Labor candidate running in Westmorland.

TRAGEDY AT DROMOCTO

Oscar Case Stabbed in Side by Garrett Ward of Shirley Settlement

NO QUARREL

Ward Was On Bad Terms With
A Brother of Young
Case

Fredericton July 6.—A young man named Oscar Case, belonging to Burton, Sunbury county, is lying at the point of death at his home as a result of a knife wound inflicted by another
young man named Garrett Ward in Alexander Burnett's store at Dromocto
Saturday night. The victim's condition is very serious, it seems that young Case at eleven o'clock strolled
into Burnett's store and asked for a plug of tobacco. He had been in the place less than a minute when Ward
entered, walked over to where Case
was standing, plunged a knife into his side and was off in an instant. Bur-nett's back was turned at the moment
but he looked around in time to see
Case sink to the floor and his assailant
dash out from the shop.

It was nearly two o'clock when Dr.
Camp arrived, and he found the patient quite weak from loss of blood. He attended to his injuries and afterwards
had him removed to his home at Burton.

It was found that the knife blade
had penetrated only a quarter of an inch below the heart, and but for the fact that it had struck a rib and glanced, death would have ensued
almost immediately. Ward, in his haste to get away, dropped the knife
and it was picked up by Burnett. It is an ordinary pocket knife with a blade about three inches long, which had been recently sharpened.

It is quite evident that Ward struck
to kill, and the only motive that can be assigned for the deed was he had quarrelled with an elder brother of Case about a week ago and got a severe trouncing at his hands.

He is said to have threatened at the time that he would even matters up at the first opportunity. So far as can be learned, there has been no
quarrel between Ward and the victim of the stabbing. Both are young men
in the neighborhood of twenty years
of age and have good reputations.

SPECIAL MEETING TOWN COUNCIL.

Granolithic Sidewalk For Armory
Front And Adjacent Section
Pleasant Street.

CONSTABLES APPOINTED.

Mayor And Finance Committee
Authorized to Sell
Bonds

Town Council met in special session
Friday night. Mayor Miller in the chair, Aldermen Doyle, Falconer,
Morrison and McMurdo were present.
A communication was read from A.
A. Davidson re claim of T. W. Elett
against town for damages to carriage
sustained one night last fall when he drove into an unlighted hole in Pleasant Street.

It was referred to Public Works Committee who were instructed to secure from Mr. Davidson an itemized claim.

The mayor read a letter from Col.
Elliott of the Militia Department,
stating that the Department was willing to pay expenses of laying granolithic walk in front of armory
property.

Public Works Committee were authorized to have said sidewalk constructed.

In a general discussion as to whether
since no money was specially voted
for permanent sidewalks this year,
the granolithic walk should be continued from armory to Sargeant's corner, Ald. McMurdo said that he considered that the Public Works
committee had the power, without special authority from the council, to devote part of the regular public works appropriation to building permanent sidewalks.

The Board of Health bill for $88.81,
properly certified, was ordered paid.

R. A. Lawlor's enquiry as to whether town wished to claim him as council
in re Anderson Company liquidation
was on motion, referred to next meeting of council.

The Mayor and Finance Committee
were empowered to sell $2000 worth
of supplementary bonds second issue,
at highest price obtainable.

The following were appointed constables for circus day: Wm. Condon,
Wm. Ingram, John Gallah, Wm.
Gallah, John Jardine, Allan Johnston,
Harry Graham, Arthur Petrie.

The following were appointed school
auditors: P. J. McEvoy and John Barron.—Adjourned.

CONSERVATIVES

MUCH DISQUIETED.

At Applause Received By Doctrines of Karl Marx at Pan-Anglican Congress.

LONDON, June 27.—The applause
that greeted socialist utterances at
the Pan-Anglican Congress has greatly disquieted ultra-conservatives. Clergymen of the Anglican church admit
now that the work of saving the masses religiously must have regard to their temporal aspiration. In a word the congress has given forceful impetus to a social revolution. Had the English bishops foreseen such a result they would not have promoted
the congress, that is certain.

The speeches prove, too, that socialism has taken deep root among clergymen.

Bishop Spalding, of Utah, whose vehement advocacy of the principles
which Karl Marx expounded was loudly applauded by the congress, he said,
"The warm reception of my socialistic speech surprised me. I did not believe socialism had spread so widely among the English churchmen. It is the breakdown of the present social system that is driving people to socialism. The labor question is now a question of emancipating slaves. We socialist churchmen demand a social revolution because we think, first of all, of preserving human life."

Said Silas McKee, editor of the American Churchman: "The force of the inspiration sent out by the Congress
will be tremendous; great results must follow. Socialism alone is needed to heal all the dogmatic breaches in the church."

It is to be hoped that the bumper harvest which we are promised will not find our manufacturers with short stocks. The prospects seem good enough to warrant a loosening up of the money bags and an oiling of the wheels of industry to be prepared for the big rush which will come, if all goes well, between now and September.

References must disappear when it comes to the recognition of a great national movement like the Macdonald College
at Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

In restoring the parish church at Fordington, Dorchester, England, there
was found a slab of Purbeck marble
with a Roman inscription on it that is supposed to be part of the tombstone
of Aristobolus, the first recorded apostle to Britain and said to be one of the 70 ordained by Christ.

QUARRY CO'S ANNUAL PICNIC

Successful Outing at Indiantown
On Dominion
Day

THE SPORTS

H. McAlear Won Thirteen Prizes
But the President Won the 10
Yards Dash

The Miramichi Quarry Co. held its annual picnic on the Company's grounds at Indiantown on Dominion
Day.
The combination of grassy lawn,
shady paths, leafy dells, babbling
brook, and near by river make it an ideal picnic ground, and the hours
spent walking, running, jumping,
swinging and reveling among the
beauties of nature were fully enjoyed
and gave all a good appetite for the refreshments which were served in a shady nook.

The athletic sports were well contested; the following is a list of the winners:

No. 1.—Swimming race, 150 yds won
by M. Shanny; 2nd, Shields 2nd.

No. 2.—50 yds race, Boys under 10
years, Lloyd Oak, 1st; Raymond Com-
mings 2nd.

No. 3.—50 yds race, boys under 15;
Harvey Oak, 1st; Millage Oak, 2nd.

No. 4.—100 yds race, open, H. Mc-
Alear, 1st; V. Prodano, 2nd.

No. 5.—50 yds race, girls under 10
years, Jennie Holt, 1st; Agnes Stewart 2nd.

No. 6.—50 yds race for young ladies,
Susie Gerrish, 1st; Ella Stewart, 2nd.

No. 7.—Running high jump, H. Mc-
Alear, 1st; R. G. Hood, 2nd.

No. 8.—Putting light shot (12 lbs)
H. McAlear, 1st; Herbert Holt, 2nd.

No. 9.—Putting heavy shot (24 lbs) H.
McAlear, 1st; Herbert Holt, 2nd.

No. 10.—Three legged race, V. Pro-
dano & T. Wegen, 1st; J. Shields &
A. Landry, 2nd.

Mr. McAlear who won the 100 yds
dash, the high jump and putting the shot competition, is a first class all round athlete, having successfully
competed in important events in England, South Africa and India. His fellow workmen at the quarry feel proud of their champion.

One of the most interesting events
of the day was a foot race between
Mr. McAlear and the President of the Company. After winning the 100 yds dash, Mr. McAlear challenged the competitors to another race offering a ten yd dash. None accepting the challenge. The President of the Company greatly amused all present by
offering to run the champion himself,
and a little later surprised the champion and on lookers by winning the race. He, too, is no novice in athletic competitions.

The tug of war in which Greek met
Greek was won by Mr. Herbert Holt's team.

All agreed that they had a good time
and the picnic was a success.

Dominion Day Well Celebrated

Brilliant And Successful Parade, And
Good Program of Manly Sports

Speeches Appropriate to Canada's Natal
Day Made By Our Legislators

Newcastle, was in gay attire Dominion Day. Flags and bunting were flying from the business and private residences and the whole town was decorated in honor of the great day. The day was fine and thousands of persons crowded the streets from early morning until late at night. The parade held in the morning is voiced by many to be equal to those held in the large cities. The sports in the afternoon were well patronized, and in the evening the fireworks in the square and regatta of steamboats and yachts on the harbor added very materially to the day's program. The several committees are to be congratulated for the manner in which everything was carried out.

Chatham, our sister town, is complimented on their nice floats, and several of their business men were present and took part in the celebration.

The parade started at 10.30 from the Farrell field and marched down Prince William street to Pleasant street, preceded by the school children who formed up in the square, and sang several appropriate songs, while the parade continued up Pleasant street, along Falconer street, and then returned to the square by way of the King's highway, Thomas and McCallum streets. At the square the floats formed a circle and the bands played, after which short speeches were delivered by Mayor Miller, Mayor McLachlan of Chatham, W. S. Loggie, M. P., Hon. Donald Morrison, Hon. John Morrissey, Hon. John P. Burchill and Judge Wilkinson.

MAYOR MILLER.
Mayor Miller said that as Canada needed only to be known to be great with Miramichi. The celebration reflected great credit upon the management upon Newcastle, and upon the rest of the country. He especially thanked Chatham for its assistance. Newcastle would willingly recognize its obligation whenever Chatham had a similar demonstration, which would be, he hoped, next year.

D. P. MACLACHLAN, M. P. P.
Mayor MacLachlan reciprocated Newcastle's good wishes. All were proud of Canada. And we were proud of Britain. Whether our present relations continued with Britain or not, we shall always reverence her. We are building in Canada one of the greatest nations of the world.

W. S. LOGGIE, M. P.
W. S. Loggie, M. P., had come from Ottawa especially for this celebration. It gave him much pleasure to congratulate Newcastle upon its magnificent demonstration. Canada was rapidly becoming a nation. Wonderful had been the progress in the last 41 years—more marked in many ways than that of any other country. We have the greatest wheat belt in the world, and will soon be able to supply the mother country with bread. One hundred years ago the U. S. A. had no more people than Canada has now. Though the former had more diversity of climate, Canada had much more valuable water power, forests, etc.

In 41 years we had grown from four provinces to nine, doubling our population, and increasing our trade by 600 per cent.
It may appear that in the East we are not progressing as rapidly as in the West, but we are making substantial headway here. We are now reaping results of the great work of Hon. Peter Mitchell, Hon. J. B. Snowball and others. Our future is bright, with the great wealth of the Miramichi still only partly developed and the great deposits of iron lying near Newcastle is the

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold—you should always treat it, and use the Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Don't blindly suppose it with a supposing poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has been constantly warning people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for this very reason, mothers and others, should insist on having the Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—and note in the medicine, else it must be laid to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take to chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Cautiously ship it, Dr. Shoop packages with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding open up new avenues of trade. He hoped to soon see a time table by which Boiestown people could come to Newcastle or Chatham, transact business and return home same day, instead of having, as now, to trade in Fredericton.

VOICE.—What about the Tracadie railway?
Mr. Loggie.—Everything takes time and we are working for it.

Mr. Loggie then referred at length to the great lumber and fish resources of the Miramichi. With its womanly women and many men, this county will take its place with any in Canada.

HON. D. MORRISON.
Hon. D. Morrison joined in previous speakers congratulations, and referred feelingly to our great men of the past. Canada was free; the people rule here; the people create and destroy governments. Our government is best in the world. All are treated alike. There is nothing to hinder any young man climbing up to high position.

HON. JOHN MORRISSEY.
Hon. John Morrissey congratulated Miramichi women on their good looks. He was proud of Canada, and of the British flag. In his administration of office he would do nothing to reflect anything but credit on himself and honor on Northumberland.

JUDGE WILKINSON.
Judge Wilkinson spoke briefly along lines similar to the previous addresses.
HON. JOHN P. BURCHILL.
Mr. Burchill's speech was impromptu but vigorous and enthusiastically received. Canada's foundation was well laid. We must continue to work. If our people follow rightness, we are loyal to each other, and faithful to God, Canada will rise high.

PRIZES.
The mayor announced the prize winners which were as follows:—

First prize—Relics of the Miramichi fire, $10.00.

Second prize—Indian wig-wam, two half barrels of flour.

Third prize—Howard Jeffries, log cabin, $5.00.

Third prize, $5.00.—The Jo boat Philip Thibeau.

Best decorated bicycle—Misses Gladys Foley and Nan Creaghan, a camera and scissors case.

Judges—Messrs. R. A. Lawlor, R. H. Gremley and P. B. Wheeler.

Mr. J. R. Lawlor, marshal, headed the parade, while his aides, Ald. Ferguson, Messrs. A. J. Ritchie, A. A. Aitken, Jack Morrissey and Mont Jones did good work in keeping the parade in line. Next to the marshal came the Chatham life and drum band, composed of twenty pieces, followed by several carriages of prominent men, among whom were—Sheriff O'Brien, Hon. John Morrissey, P. B. Wheeler, Mayor Miller, W. S. Loggie, M. P., R. H. Gremley, John Ferguson, Ald. Doyle, and a barouche containing Chatham's mayor and three of their aldermen, followed by the following floats:—

THE SPORTS.

Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 the sports in connection with the grand celebration at Newcastle, were held at Farrell Field.

The first event was the base ball game between the Vistors of Newcastle and The Chatham Stars.

Newcastle played a very snappy game and much credit is due Mr. Percé Lindon and James Murphy the home batteries for the way they handled Stars. Lindon was well supported by the rest of the team. Newcastle rolled up eleven score with an inning to spare while the Stars got four with much difficulty.

The other sports were as follows:—100 yds. dash.—Ferguson of Moncton 1st, Ritchie 2nd, McLoon 3rd. Times 11 1-5.

Running Broad Jump.—Best mark 18 ft 5 in, Woods 18 5, W. Maltby 16 5, Curtis 16 2.

Two Mile Race.—Symonds of Moncton, covered the distance in 13 min. 36 sec. and the track was very heavy; Curtis of Newcastle who was the opponent of Symonds was forced to abandon the race after eight laps owing to his taking a cramp.

Pole Vault.—Lea of Moncton won the pole vault by 3 in, his best vault being 9 ft 6 in. His opponent L. J. McMahon of Montreal making 9 ft 3 in.

Putting the Shot.—Won by L. J. McMahon best put 27 ft 5 in.; B. Hennessy sec, 25 ft 9 in.; Curtis 3rd, 21 ft 8 in.

Small Boys' Race.—Fifteen starters, L. Rowland 1st, Russell 2nd, Rowland 3rd.

Small Girls Race.—Won by Queenie Nevin, A. Comfort 2nd, E. McCafferty 3rd.

220 yds. Dash.—Won in 28 sec. by Ferguson, Moncton, Wood 2nd, Hennessy 3rd. Time 28 1/2.

Race for boys ranging from 10 to 15 years.—McCormick 1st, Morrissey 2nd, Rowland 3rd.

Hop, Step and Jump.—Won by Wood, Moncton 39 ft. 10 in.; Maltby 2nd 39 ft. D. Ritchie 3rd.

440 yds dash.—1st Symonds; 2nd Lea; 3rd Palmer. Time 66 1/2 sec.

Time Keeper.—A. A. Aitken.

Judges—Messrs. Stevenson, Ald. Kelly, St. John, C. P. McCabe, Mayor Miller and R. H. Gremley.

Starters—Allan Ritchie.

Scorers—Harold Ritchie, Osborne Brown and Donald Creaghan.

IN THE EVENING.
The display of fireworks in the Square was magnificent, lasting from 8.30 till after 10 o'clock. The Square was brilliantly illuminated with 500 Japanese lanterns.

BAD ACCIDENT.
About 10.30 Wednesday evening Mr. Basil Savoy's horse became frightened in front of John Ferguson & Sons' store and ran down Henry street, colliding with another wagon which was standing in front of Mr. Bayle's harness shop. Mr. Savoy was thrown out with serious results. He was picked up unconscious and taken to the Comfort House where Dr. Desmond worked with him for some hours. It was Thursday morning before he regained consciousness. The injured man has been taken to the Chatham hospital. Mr. Savoy's wagon was considerably damaged, but the horse was unhurt.

FIFTEEN KILLED.
BOMBAY, Monday.—Fifteen persons were killed and 270 injured in the collision between an express and a freight train on the Bombay & Baroda Railroad near Baroda.

CLARK'S VEAL LOAF.
Will please you—no other can compare with it—Always ready to eat—perfectly seasoned.

IN TWO SECTIONS.
MONCTON, Friday.—There is a report to the effect that I. C. R. division formerly under the jurisdiction of the late G. M. Jarvis, will be divided into two sections, dividing line to be at Spranghill Junction. In this event, J. T. Halliwell, who is acting District Superintendent and H. B. Flemming, Chief Train Despatcher, here, would be appointed to different divisions.

OBITUARY

MISS MAUD FRASER.

The funeral of Maud Fraser, took place from her parents' house, Tabusintac, on Wednesday afternoon June 24, at two o'clock, and was one of the largest ever seen at that place. The clergyman of both local churches took part in the service. Over fifty teams followed the remains to the grave. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Joseph Hierleigh, George Palmer, George Savoy, Henry Palmer, Earl Fayle, Percy Murray.

MRS. J. W. MERSEREAU.

At her home in Blackville, N. B., on June 26th, Mrs. J. W. Mersereau aged 74. She had been a widow 25 years. She leaves three sons to mourn her, Alfred and Burton at home and Hugh in Brewer, Me., also one daughter Mrs. A. Weaver, and an adopted son, Wesley, who resides in Danzig, Mich. Mrs. Mersereau had been for many years a member of the Baptist church at Upper Blackville. After service at the home, the long procession wended its way to that place where the funeral service was held conducted by her pastor the Rev. F. T. Snell, after which she was laid to rest beside her husband and children. The church was packed to its utmost capacity testifying to the esteem in which this lovely woman was held by all who knew her.

IRISH HOSPITALITY
PLEASES LONGBOAT
LONDON, Friday.—Longboat, the runner, says the Irish are the most hospitable people in the world, and as he says in his own way, everywhere he goes they give him something.

Heading off a Risk

Gas is liable to puff out of the front door of any furnace unprovided for gas escape.

"Sunshine" Furnace Automatic Gas Damper directly connected with main gas pipe. Gas pressure closes damper for it to escape safely (see illustration), but heat doesn't escape.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" Furnace? Means protection to the furnace parts against evil effects of gas.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" household? Means furnace can be operated safely, "puffing" gas; furnace can be left without shut-off to whereabouts of gas.

What does "Sunshine" Gas Damper mean to "Sunshine" customer? It means, instead of owner with "ordinary furnace" fear having to close check-draft indefinitely closed to "let off" gas—when there's too little parts of heat-energy to one part of gas passing up chimney—such a device all safety be opened, and coal saved for another day's day.

Moir's

Our Name on Bottom of Each Chocolate

To make it easy for particular people to avoid deception and to procure, with certainty, the finest flavored, smoothest coated, richest of all chocolate bonbons, we engrave the name MOIR'S on the bottom of each chocolate. None genuine without the name.

Each box is a series of continual surprises—so widely varied are the delightful flavors.

He who brings Moir's is assured "her" sweetest smile.

THE UNION ADVOCATE,

ESTABLISHED 1887.

by The Advocate Publishing Co.W. J. McNEIL, Manager
H. E. STUART, EditorA file of this paper can be seen at the office of Messrs. E. & J. Hardy &
Co., 30, 31 and 32, Fleet Street, London

tions, and advertisements on our behalf.

NEWCASTLE, JULY 8th, 1905.

WHAT UNION ACCOMPLISHES.

Newcastle's successful Dominion
Day celebration is a sample of what our citizens can accomplish when
they work together with one purpose.
In union is strength. Had they pooled together as well last October
we should now have had a pulp
mill within the town limits—an industry that would shortly add very materially to the population and wealth of the place. Our past errors
may yet be retrieved if, forgetting
old differences, we in future hold
together and help each other.

NEW TIME TABLE WANTED.

W. S. Loggie, in his Dominion
Day speech, expressed the hope that as soon as the Indian town Blackville railway is finished—which will be before the end of next autumn—a new time table on the Fredericton-Chatham road will be inaugurated,
by which travellers will be able to leave Boiestown and points to the Eastward in the morning, visit Newcastle or Chatham, and transact
business, and return the same evening. There is no reason why such an arrangement should not be made.
Judging from what Mr. Loggie has already accomplished in aid of the mercantile interests of Northumberland County, we are sure that he will leave no stone unturned to bring about the needed improvement in the
I. C. R. time-table.

DOOMED TO DISAPPOINTMENT.

The Halifax Herald and Moncton
Times, hitherto staunch, leading Conservative journals, are trying, with considerable success, to induce the
working men of those cities to forsake
their allegiance to the two old parties
and run independent candidates at next Dominion election. Possibly the papers in question are really interested in the workingmen's happiness; possibly they, despairing of ever again electing Conservative
candidates in those constituencies,
take this means of weakening the Liberal cause. If, however, they believe that the Labor vote can be delivered to the Conservative party,
they are doomed to disappointment.
The intelligent worker knows that there is no hope for him in the ranks of the party led by R. L. Borden and George E. Foster.

TYRANNY TRIUMPHANT.

Thanks to Russia, the attempt of
the Persians to establish a free parliamentary government has for the time ended in failure. The Shah
has, within two years, sworn to the constitution four times and as often broken his oath. On June 22nd, the parliament sent the Shah an ultimatum demanding an answer within twenty-four hours. They got the answer. It was bombardment by Russian troops called in by the cowardly monarch who is willing to ruin
his country if he cannot rule it otherwise. The Liberal leaders who failed to escape to the British embassy have been put to death with revolting cruelties; and the Shah—
reduced to a mere puppet of Russia—
now reigns over a desolate country
and a sullen and heartbroken people.
It is most unfortunate that the fear of Germany entertained by Britain and France compels those powers to court
the friendship of the Russian government and shut their eyes to its abominable tyranny.

STILL ANOTHER

POLITICAL PARTY.

That portion of the reform element
of Saskatchewan which is dissatisfied
with Liberals and Liberal-Conservatives but not prepared to accept the whole of the Socialist program met
in convention at Regina on the 10th ultimo and after deliberating upon
the political situation organized the People's Political Association, of

which the following is the platform:—

I.—The public ownership and operation of elevators, railways, telegraphs and telephones, waterworks
and lighting, and all other public
utilities.II.—The abolition of contract system
on all public works. That minimum wages be paid for an eight hour day,
subject to local conditions.III.—Equal rights to all, absolutely
no special privileges to any individual,
municipal body or province.IV.—That the public domain be administered by each province in the sole interests of its people, and that
the products of mineral and timber
lands, when needed, be made available to the people under provincial supervision.V.—That all money be issued by the Dominion government, and not by the banks as at present.VI.—Tax reform by taxation on land values.VII.—Restriction of Asiatic immigration.VIII.—Compulsory education up to the age of fourteen years.IX.—Abolition of child labor under 14 years of age in all branches of industry, such as mines, workshops,
factories, etc.X.—Government inspection of all industries.XI.—Direct legislation through the initiative and referendum, with power
to recall representatives if pledges are not lived up to.XII.—Prohibition of prison labor in competition with free labor.XIII.—That settlers who have had no pre-emption be permitted to locate
one upon residence and cultivation
requirements, and the payment of $1
per acre.XIV.—Abolition of property qualifications for all public offices.

XV.—Exemption Act to be retained.

XVI.—The payment of the poll tax
and one year's residence to carry with it full municipal voting powers.The above platform will, upon close inspection, be seen to be somewhat different from, and a little more radical than, that of the Canadian Labor Party, which it displaces in Saskatchewan.Hardly had the echoes of the Regina convention passed away, before
the Independent Labor Party of Winnipeg joined the Socialist ranks
by adopting a plank declaring that its ultimate aim was the collective ownership and operation of all the means of production, distribution and exchange. This practically banishes
the old fashioned Canadian Labor party from the western half of the Dominion and although it has still some influence in Ontario, where it has one member in the Local Legislature, and in Montreal, where it has elected one representative to the House of Commons, its prospects in the East are not at all encouraging.

THE FRANCHISE ACT.

(St. John Globe.)

The premier has made some important modifications in the franchise
act, and that measure is now before
the Commons with a reasonable prospect that as amended it will become law. Some of the extreme men in the liberal party do not look
with favor on the changes; some of the extreme men in the conservative
lines think the measure should not be allowed to pass even as amended.
Those who listened to the earlier
debates on the subject could not fail
to note that what was proposed was based upon an endeavor to correct
evils which grew up, not out of the existing law, but out of the machinations of dishonest men. We have not yet reached that high state of civilization in which justice is the rule and guide of all our actions.
Therefore, in making up the electoral lists political schemers do not so much consider what is right as absolutely as what is best for the party
to which they belong. A general
statement of this kind is, perhaps,
more applicable to the newly settled
west than to the east. In the older communities in which men are pretty well known to each other, in which
so many have lived all their lives, as their fathers did before them, the majority of men are disposed to allow their neighbors names to get upon the
electoral roll in the ordinary way;
but in the west, where there is an
ever-changing population, where men
are newly come, are but recently
naturalized, and may move somewhere else at any time, there is a great deal of distrust, and though the franchise act is generous, there is not
generosity in the operation of it.
With one party in power in the province, and another in the Dominion, things are done—according to some of the speakers—in the face of high Heaven well calculated to make men weep. Between all the contestants it is not very easy to hold the scales of justice in equal poise, but Sir Wilfrid is endeavoring to do it.
Hence the concessions which he has made.PRESBYTERY MET

Women and Girls Held by Anaemia

Unless the Blood is Made Rich and Red Health Cannot be Restored.

Throughout Canada there are thousands of growing girls and women held in the deadly clutches of anaemia. Slowly but surely a deadly pallor settles on their cheeks; their eyes grow dull; their appetite sickly; their steps languid. Daily they are being robbed of all vitality and brightness. Their sufferings grow more acute if neglected, until the signs of early consumption become apparent. If your wife or daughter or sister complains of weakness, pains in the side, headaches or backaches; if her appetite and temper are uncertain and she is often low spirited anaemia has her in its deadly hold. What she needs is new, rich, red blood. Give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People without loss of time, for they actually make new, red blood. They make girls and women well and happy, impart an appetite and brightness, bring back the charm and brightness of perfect, regular health.

Miss Carrie McGrath, 26 Fenwick St., Halifax, N. S., says: "I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life. Three years ago I suffered from anaemia in a severe form. I was all run down and as pale as a sheet. I could scarcely eat anything, and what I did take did not seem to nourish me. My hands and feet were much swollen and the least exertion would leave me breathless and my heart beating violently. I seemed to have pains and aches all over. I was so weak I could not even sweep a floor. At different times I was under the care of three doctors, but did not get any better. One doctor said I had dropsy and that my blood had all turned to water. My friends thought I was in a decline and that I had but a short time to live. I was completely discouraged myself, when one day a lady friend called to see me, and told me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured her daughter of anaemia and urged me to try them. I decided to try them, and in the course of a few weeks felt somewhat better. I met the doctor one day and he remarked how much better I was looking. I told him it was not his medicine but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that were helping me, and he told me I had better keep on taking them. I continued to do so until I had taken another half dozen boxes, when my health was perfectly restored. I am more than grateful for what these pills have done for me and strongly recommend them to all weak girls."

"Thousands of men and women now well and strong, praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for having cured anaemia, general weakness, indigestion, rheumatism, neuritis, nervous disease, paralysis and the ailments of girlhood and womanhood. These pills do this by making new, red blood which feeds the starved nerves, drives out disease and strengthens every organ in the body. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

TORONTO, Sunday.—The balloon race which started from Chicago to the ocean Saturday has caused great interest in this province over which the balloonists must pass. So far five have been heard from. Three have come down in Ontario. The first reported was the Columbia in charge of Capt. Peterson, and C. H. Lechleiter, of Chicago. Record-Herald which struck on a wire fence near Clinton, and the occupants were severely cut. The Chicago came down near London and Illinois at Glen Island, near Belleville. The latter, after alighting was carried out into the Bay of Quinte by the wind. The occupants were rescued.

BELLEVEILLE, Saturday.—A workman fell from a scaffold here yesterday and died from injuries received. A Philadelphia man took two girls rowing and rocked the boat whereupon one of them flung him with an oar and knocked him into the water. The girls then rowed away and left him to swim to shore. If that man has any sense he will not take them out again. The Pope will be presented on his birthday with a wireless telegraph apparatus for the dome of St. Peter's. The fruit crop in the Niagara district is all right. The crop killer simply hasn't the heart to do it when money is tight and prices low.

Those present at the last church service of the Pan-Anglican congress in London, put $1,650,000 on the collection plate. That must be a record. An insurance manager in Victoria, B. C., has been arrested for incriminating. On business methods the West certainly has the East skinned to death.

Bain is an excellent thing for crops but many people take the ground that Providence orders it badly not to have it gone between eleven o'clock at night and six next morning.

A Hamilton man has been sent to penitentiary for five years for shooting at street car conductors. The only projectile the law permits one to launch horse racing, but only the most expensive part of it, the ownership of a racing stable. When there is so much luck about it that an Italian peddler can win a Derby winner, Kings can be excused for seeking more exclusive by being impaled on a pitchfork.

HIT THE WRONG BANK

Story of the Man Who Wanted to Open a Small Account.

A WALL STREET EXPERIENCE.

The Would Be Depositor of Modest Means Found Himself in a Place For Millions—An Official's Courtroom. Explanation and Advice.

"When," said the man who writes pieces for magazines and things, "by some strange and unprecedented chance, I had got hold of a matter of $350 all at one and the same time it looked big to me. By an even more curious chance there wasn't anything that I really needed to do with the money, so I decided that I'd bank it."

"Now, I knew in a general way that in order to put money in a bank you've got to be known and give your pedigree and look respectable, and all that, and I hated to approach a bank without any sort of credentials. Therefore I went to the business manager of a certain magazine which occasionally prints pieces that I write and asked him what I'd better do."

"Simplest thing in the world," said he. "I'll give you a note to our bank."

"That sounded fine to me. He wrote me the note, and I started for the bank a good deal tickled over how easy the little depositing proceeding had been made."

"The bank to which I had the note is in Wall street. I asked the uniformed man who was standing around where I'd find the receiving teller's window, and he pointed that window out to me. I got into line and watched the teller take in money."

"I must own that I was a bit stilled to note the great size of some of the deposits he was receiving. Why, fellows were giving the money to him by the sackful. But I had my note in my pocket, and I remained complacent enough with that consciousness."

"When I reached the receiving teller I passed in my note, and the receiving teller, a decidedly civil young man, opened it and read it. Then he looked at me, after which he read the note again, this time with a sort of puzzled expression on his countenance. I didn't see why the receiving teller should be puzzled over such a simple matter, but puzzled he seemed. He rang a bell, and the uniformed man who'd directed me to that window appeared."

"Show this gentleman to the office of the cashier," said the receiving teller to the uniformed man, at the same time regarding me with a pleasant smile, and the uniformed man led me down the passageway and took me behind a railing where there was a handsome gray haired gentleman sitting at a desk."

"The handsome gray haired gentleman received me cordially and invited me to be seated. I handed him my note, which the receiving teller had returned to me, and he leaned back in his chair and read it carefully. Then he, too, looked puzzled after he'd read the note a second time. Then he looked at me pleasantly over the tops of his spectacles."

"Ahem," said the handsome gray haired gentleman, not disagreeably, but in a nice, banker-like way. "Might I enquire, Mr. Penphist, without seeming to be unduly inquisitive, as to how—er—large a—er—balance you would usually be carrying?"

"Well, that was a civil enough question, nothing inquisitive about it."

"Why, sir," I said to the handsome gray haired gentleman, "I am opening an account with a matter of some $350, but I shall no doubt make some additions to that within the next two months, and probably I shall carry a balance of—well, say, $500 or $600 right along."

"The kindly cashier with the gray hair fairly beamed upon me."

"—just so, just so," said he, twiddling his thumbs. "We feel complimented, Mr. Penphist, we really do, that you should have come to us. And it is unfortunate—er—really unfortunate, that we are so utterly lacking in facilities for taking care of accounts of such a character."

"You see, Mr. Penphist, our institution is of—of a sort of special character. It is used as a depository by—well, perhaps I should put it in a clearer manner. I say it to you quite in confidence, you understand, Mr. Penphist, but we have only 1,000 depositors on our books, and these 1,000 depositors' aggregate balances amount all the time to a matter of $110,000,000."

"Well, that was about enough. I saw the light then. I'd drifted into a millionaire's bank on the careless credentials of a business manager who'd written me that note no doubt in a thoughtless mood."

"The gray haired cashier acted badly about it. He recommended a fine bank to me—one that combines perfect responsibility with the necessary facilities for handling accounts like—er—yours, Mr. Penphist," he added.

"For all of the cashier's niceness I walked out of there into the cold gray light of Wall street feeling like a good deal of a human caterpillar."

"I didn't go to the bank recommended to me by the cashier; didn't have the nerve to visit any more banks. I've got $350 left now of the $350, but I'm going to use that as a nest egg, and maybe some day even yet I'll have a bank account."

When Ben Sailed In.

By HARRIS INGALLS.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Come on out," pleaded Drakin.

"There is only myself and the missus out there. I'll guarantee that you will not have to speak to any one else."

Ben Hubbard passed irresolutely, then he turned and suited his pace to the shorter steps of his friend. Drakin beamed.

"There's the sensible boy," he said approvingly. "I'll bet that you ask me to have your things sent out in the morning, so you can stay a week or two—the longer the better."

Hubbard shook his head and assured himself that a single night would probably be enough. It was only a year since Tom Drakin had married, and probably he would be bored by their absurd billing and cooing.

It was only for Tom's sake that he was coming out for the night, and only the fact that there would be no other woman there was his reason for going at all. Probably Mrs. Drakin would insist that he come again and would promise him an introduction to some friend of hers who would be just the one he should marry.

Hubbard was used to that. Bessie Grandin's enthusiastic efforts to marry him to a cousin of hers had sent him scurrying off to South America. He had announced that he would write a book on the flora of the Argentine Republic, but his real reason for flight was the fear that Mrs. Grandin would make good her threat to marry him to Helen Wilson in spite of his self.

For years Hubbard had lived in fear of marriage. He was not exactly a woman hater, but an excess of timidity left him stammering and afraid in the presence of a woman. He had come to have a mortal dread of matrimony—so great a dread that more than once he had fled from some enthusiastic matchmaker lest he be led, protesting, but helpless, to the altar.

But he was just back from the South American trip and hungry for the companionship of his fellows. In that frame of mind he had run across Drakin, who had once been the geologist of an expedition of which he himself had been botanist.

They had had lunch together, and Drakin had urged him to spend the night with him that their talk might be continued.

Drakin lived in a small suburban town, and Hubbard regarded approvingly the neat little cottage they approached, even though a woman in something flimsy and white stood on the porch to welcome them. Drakin had gone into the telephone booth at the station to announce their coming and had emerged from the booth very red and confused.

Hubbard hoped that his coming had not been the cause of the confusion. He knew that there were times when things in the kitchen went wrong and when visitors were not welcome. He had suggested as much to Tom, but the offer to return to town had been bootied at, and Tom had laughed immoderately to cover his confusion at the discovery of his embarrassment.

But there was no embarrassment in Mrs. Drakin's face as she made him welcome. There was only interest and cordial friendship, and Ben was surprised to find himself rather enjoying his chum.

Of course Tom had been exceptionally fortunate in finding such a woman, but as Ben tumbled into bed some hours later he told himself that were there two such women he should like to marry the other.

They had sat talking until late in the evening, and when Ben finally woke he discovered a note on his dresser, in which Tom explained that it was necessary for him to go to the city on business, but that he would return in the afternoon and bring with him the trunk Ben had sent to the hotel.

Ben wavered and was lost. He slowly dressed and went downstairs to find Mrs. Drakin sitting in the dining room waiting for her guest to come downstairs.

"You left his baggage," she explained, pointing to the trunk on the stairs. "He had to rise at such an unearthly hour to make the train that we decided to let you sleep. He will be out on the 10:10, and in the meantime I am solemnly bound to hold you here at all hazards, but that he would never forgive me if you should not go before he came back."

"You couldn't drive me away," declared Ben, smiling. "I'll be well content to sit out on the porch and just think how lucky I was to run into Tom yesterday afternoon."

"I'll take my sewing out, and we can chat as I work," suggested Mrs. Drakin, and presently they were established on the broad piazza. To his surprise Ben found himself chatting with his hostess as freely as though she were a man and not one of the breed women.

Tom came out as he had promised, and Ben frowned as he caught sight of his friend perched on the seat of an express wagon in which was his trunk.

"Now you've got to stay," announced Tom. "We shall hold your trunk like they do in the hotels if you try to escape us."

"I think that you would be wise to ship me and the trunk back to town," said Ben seriously, but Drakin hoisted down the suggestion, and when Mrs. Drakin added her entreaties to Tom's he gave in, and the trunk was taken up to his room.

That night when Ben put out the light he did not jump into bed, but long after the rest of the house was quiet he sat by the open window, looking across the moonlit fields and wondering what he should do.

Of one thing he was certain. He was in love, and in love with his friend's wife at that. What was more, it had seemed to him that as she had bidden him goodnight and had told him she was glad that he had decided to stay there was something more than mere friendship in the glance of the tender blue eyes.

Her hand had lingered for a moment in his, and she had passed by the door of her room to look after him. The memory of her smile was with him still, and when he at last flung himself upon the bed to fall into troubled slumber the problem was still unsolved.

But with the morning came calmer sense. As he came into the breakfast room there was no mistaking the soft flush that came to Mrs. Drakin's cheek nor the look that flashed into her eyes as she gave him the morning greeting.

Slack at heart, Ben followed his host out to the piazza, while Mrs. Drakin remained behind to see to the disposition of the breakfast things and give her orders for dinner.

"Look here, old man, I've got to be getting back to town," he began.

"Not on your life," was the emphatic response. "Do you suppose that I took all that trouble to lug your trunk out yesterday to have you lug it in today? You are going to stay right here for the next two weeks. By your own confession you have nothing else to do, and I don't promise to let you go."

"But I must," cried Ben miserably. "I must, old man! I—I'm in love! I can't help it, but I've fallen in love with your wife. I must get away before greater harm is done."

"Lola seems pretty fond of you. It was only this morning that she was saying that she hoped to be able to induce you to stay here while you write your new book. I think it would be a great scheme. You can put in the day working on the book and then sit out on the piazza in the evening and gather inspiration for the next day's work."

Ben regarded his friend with horror. It must be that he had gone mad, for now his face was contorted with laughter, and he rocked in his chair. Ben had heard of great shocks turning men's minds, but he had not believed that Tom would take his declaration so much to heart.

His amusement seemed to increase Tom's merriment, and Ben half rose to his feet to go into the house. Tom sprang up and forced him back into his chair.

"It seems a funny sort of thing to laugh at," he said chokingly, "but you see, Lola is not my wife. I know that if I told you the truth and admitted that there was an unmarried woman in the house you never could be induced to come out. I posted Lola from the station when you were worrying for fear it was inconvenient. My wife is visiting her younger sister, who is very ill. That is my sister, Lola, who is keeping house for me until Nell gets back. So sail in, old man, and may luck be with you. Where are you going?" he added as Ben shook him off and made for the door.

"I'm going to sail in," explained Ben as he vanished into the house.

The Judge's Joke.

Henry Keyes of Vermont was a life-long Democrat. Governor Mattacks, or Judge Mattacks, was for a brief period a Democrat also. After he got to be a Judge he soon became a Whig.

While holding court at St. Johnsbury he occupied a room at the leading hotel, which, as was usual during court time, was dull. Late at night Mr. Keyes arrived and wanted a bed. The landlord informed him that every bed in the house had two in it except the one that was occupied by Judge Mattacks.

"Go up and tell him that Henry Keyes wants to sleep with him."

The landlord went up, rapped at the Judge's door and told him his errand.

"Henry Keyes," said the Judge, half asleep—"Henry Keyes of Newbury? Democrat? Oh, yes; I've had it once. Let him in."

A Slave of Habit.

"Mr. Butcher," said the patron with the infant in her arms, "will you please weigh my baby?"

"Sure!" responded the busy butcher, depositing the little human bundle on his scales. "Just sixteen pounds and a quarter, Mrs. Riley."

"But," commented the watching parent, "your scales register only sixteen pounds."

"You're right, madam," said the butcher, looking as he took another look. "Then, turning to the housekeeper behind the desk, he called out, 'Annie, take off that quarter of a pound!'

A STORY OF HEROISM

Showing How Brave Men Can Calmly Meet Death.

WRECK OF THE BIRKENHEAD.

The Way This British Vessel Went Down Off the Cape of Good Hope. Most of the Crew Were Lost and All the Women and Children Saved.

Visitors to the hospital of the old pensioners at Chelsea will perhaps have noticed in the colonnade a simple memorial tablet, placed there by order of the late Queen Victoria to record the heroic constancy and discipline of the officers and soldiers who lost their lives in the wreck of the transport Birkenhead off the Cape of Good Hope on Feb. 26, 1912.

On Jan. 7 in that year, after embarking re-enforcements amounting to fifteen officers and 476 men for the troops engaged in the Kaffir war, the Birkenhead left Ireland for the cape. On board were also 166 women and children, the wives and families of soldiers. All went well till the transport reached Simon's Town, where ten officers and eighteen men were landed. The ship continued her course on the evening of Feb. 25. But the captain in his anxiety for a quick passage unfortunately kept so close to the shore that during the night the ship got among the rocks which line the coast. About three miles off Danger point at 2 o'clock in the morning of the 26th, while all except those on watch were sleeping peacefully in their hammocks, the ship struck with a violent shock. The bulk of the men on board were young soldiers.

The rush of water on the Birkenhead striking was so great that most of the soldiers on the lower troop deck were drowned in their hammocks. The vessel, with all the officers, appeared on deck many only partly dressed, and fell in as orderly and as quietly as on the barrack square. Calling the officers round him, Lieutenant Colonel Seton of the Seventy-fourth highlanders, the senior officer on board, impressed on them the necessity for preserving order and silence among the men. The services of the next senior, Captain Wright, Ninety-first highlanders, were placed at the disposal of the commander of the ship to carry out whatever orders he might consider essential. Sixty men were put on the chain pumps on the lower after deck and told off three reliefs. Sixty more were put on to the tackles of the paddle box boats, and the remainder were brought on to the poop to ease the fore part of the ship, as she was rolling heavily. The commander next ordered the officers' chargers to be pitched out of the gangway. The plunging and terrified horses were got up and cast over, five of them managing to swim ashore. The cutter was then got ready for the women and children, who had been collected under the poop awning, and they were passed in one by one. There being room in the boat for one or two more, the order was given for any trumpeter or bugler boys to be taken. A young drummer standing near was told by an officer to get into the boat, but drawing himself up, exclaimed that he drew man's pay and would stick by his comrades. The cutter then shoved off in charge of one of the ship's officers, and the women and children were safe.

No sooner was she clear than the entire bow of the vessel broke off at the foremast, the bowsprit going up in the air toward the foremast. The funnel also went over the side, carrying away the starboard paddle box and boat and crushing the men on the tackles. The paddle box boat capsized on being lowered, and the large boat in the center of the ship could not be got up.

The men were then ordered on to the poop, where they stood calmly awaiting their fate. Within a few minutes the vessel broke in two, crossing, just above the engine room, and the stern began rapidly to fill. In this extremity the commander called out, "Those who can swim jump overboard and make for the boats!" but the officers begged the soldiers not to, as the boat with the women and children would be swamped. They were young men in the prime of life, with all before them, yet no one moved, nor did any sign of terror or fear escape them. Lower and lower sank the vessel into the deadly sea. The old transport shivered, gave a final plunge and disappeared, carrying with her the band of heroes on deck and those working below at the pumps.

Men of all ages and ranks they were—the colonel and the drummer boy, officers of gentle birth and men from the workshop, the plow and the mine, but all animated with the same heroic resolution, fortitude and chivalry—as cool as though they had been on their parade ground, with as much courage as in action in the field. A few managed to cling to the rigging of the mainmast, part of which remained out of water, while others got hold of floating pieces of wood and were eventually rescued, but of fourteen officers and 456 men no fewer than nine officers and 349 men perished, many falling prey to the attacks of the sharks, which surrounded the ship in shoals, waiting for their victims. Every woman and child was saved.

Perhaps the greatest compliment ever paid to the memory of the brave was the order of the king of France for the account of the wreck of the Birkenhead to be read on three successive parades at the head of every regiment in his army, and it was spoken of in every school in France and Germany.

THE DUCKING STOOL

How a "Scold" Used to Be Punished in Old England.

It is interesting to conjure up a picture of a "ducking" as practiced in England at the end of the eighteenth century.

When the "scold" had been properly tried and convicted, she was escorted by a crowd of her neighbors—in fact, by the whole village—to the nearest pond, and the greener and slimmer the pond the better. A long plank was produced, at one end of which was the ducking stool, and in this the screaming, struggling victim was securely placed.

The chair end of the plank was then pushed far over the edge of the pond, and at a signal it was tilted deep into the green ooze until the scold was completely immersed.

When the dripping, half-drowned woman was raised to the surface again, to the jeers and laughter of the on-lookers it can be imagined that her tongue wagged to some purpose. After a second dose she emerged more subdued, and after a third or fourth she was as penitent a woman as the village contained and was allowed to proceed home a sadder and wiser woman until the next time—London Tit-Bits.

DEFIED THE JUDGE.

A Fine For Voting That Susan B. Anthony Never Paid.

"It has been so many years ago that most people have forgotten that the late Susan B. Anthony was fined $100 or a year's imprisonment for having dared to vote for General Grant for president," said a Chicago judge.

"Miss Anthony was as brave as she was intellectual and asked to be allowed to speak a word in her own behalf. Permission being given, she told the court of the struggle she had in keeping a little newspaper going from which she made her living. 'Your honor,' she said, holding up her right hand, 'I add, my credit was not less than $1,000. This money I expect to live to pay, but I am willing this arm shall wither from my body before I pay the $100 you have so unjustly assessed against me.'

"The court realized the deep seriousness of Miss Anthony's declaration, and though she could have been ordered to jail for nonpayment of the fine his honor did not have the nerve to enforce the extreme penalty. Miss Anthony lived for many years after its imposition, but the fine was never paid."

Cobra's Fatal Bite.

One of the deadliest snakes in India is the cobra, which claims hundreds of victims every year. An English official once saw one bite a fowl, and, being curious to learn how long the venom took to act, he timed it with his watch. The moment the cobra was touched it screamed, but at once ran off to its mates and began picking as if nothing were wrong. In thirty seconds the comb and wattles changed from red to black. In two minutes it began to stagger and fell down in convulsions, struggling violently until it died, three minutes and a half after it had been bitten. On plucking the fowl a wound not bigger than a pin prick was found at the extreme end of the wing. Round this spot the color was very dark, but the rest of the bird's body, excepting comb and wattles, was of a natural color.

The Bribe That Failed.

'Among Father Dempsey's steady boarders was a fellow named Delaney. He was drunk as often as he could get that way. Father Dempsey tried all manner of means to get Delaney to quit drinking. At last he said to him:

"Delaney, my man, if you'll stop drinking for six months I'll give you a check at the end of that time for $50."

"Indeed, if I stopped for six months I could write you a check for $100," answered Delaney, and Father Dempsey in telling of it later added:

"And indeed he could, too, for he's a No. 1 mechanic."

A Rapid Rhyme.

In illustration of the working powers of George R. Sims, the dramatist and poet, it is said that one night a new piece was produced at a leading theater in London. Sims sat it out and returned to his office, where he wrote a column and a half of criticism in rhyme. It was near the time for the paper to go to press when he began, and the boy took the piece verse by verse from him to the composing room, the boy walking continuously from one to the other for an hour.

A Hint to the Old Man.

"I hope you appreciate the fact, sir, that in marrying my daughter you marry a large hearted and generous girl."

EXCURSION TO MARYSVILLE.

No Surrender L. O. L. No. 47 have chartered a train for excursion on July 13th from Loggieville, Chatham, Newcastle and points westward to Marysville. A grand time will be had. Refreshment car on train. Return tickets from Loggieville, $1.75; Chatham and Newcastle, $1.00; other places, cheaper. The Fredericton branch is now in excellent repair, and a trip over it is now a pleasure. A big crowd is expected on the excursion train leaves Newcastle shortly after 6 a. m.

CORNWALL, Saturday.—Thanks to constant night and day work for nine days the 500 foot dike surrounding the break in the Cornwall canal is nearly completed, and if nothing unfortunate happens the water will be let in sufficiently today to admit two dredges and a fleet of scows, by the use of which it is hoped to complete the excavation of a new channel north of the North Shore span of the O. & N. Y. wrecked swing bridge by July 10th at the latest. A good start has been made at this excavation with teams and scrapers, but 12,000 or 15,000 yards of earth yet remain to be removed.

An appropriation of $100,000 has been asked for from parliament. The temporary repairs will cost about one third of this amount.

Hasn't it?

It is the people who make an Exhibition, and there is no doubt, they have made up their minds to make the St. John show, this fall, the best ever held there. The prizes are larger and more complete, the preparation for, and the confidence in the success of the big event greater than ever before. The determinations to please the people, to give them their money's worth, to ensure that the Exhibition shall be worthy of St. John, and but the forerunner of what can be done when the Dominion Exposition is held there is shown on every hand. Everyone should mark the dates, September 12th to 19th, well and leave that much time to visit St. John and its attractions during show week.

OTTAWA, Sunday.—While drawing water from a well on his farm last week, Henry Parent was horrified to see a man's head emerging from the water as the bucket came to the surface. The body was taken out and it is believed the man fell in while trying to get a drink of water.

Amended.

A Pennsylvania divine formed one of a house party in Philadelphia where the younger son, in accordance with what the clergyman observed to be his constant habit, as soon as he had seated himself at breakfast immediately possessed himself of a large slice of bread, the quality of which he proceeded to test by a liberal morsel.

The minister, a stickler in such matters of propriety, gazed blandly at him for a moment or so; then he folded his hands and closed his eyes in preparation for grace.

"For what we are about to receive," he intoned, with painful emphasis, "and for what our young friend has already received, Lord, make us truly thankful."

The Greed For Gold.

"It's a deplorable thing, this greed for gold," said the mournful person.

"Of course," answered Mr. Sirus Barker. "If the greed for gold were not so general you and I might have a chance to get some. It's a case of too many people recognizing a good thing and trying to get in on it."

Phenomenon Explained.

A comparatively young man whose mustache remained jet black while the hair on his head turned white explained the phenomenon by saying it was because his lips enjoyed all the good things of life and his head had to suffer for all the troubles.

The Strange Part.

"Isn't it strange that so few men discover the secret of success in life?"

"Yes, but it's stranger still that the secret is still a secret. Surely some of the men who discovered it must have it to tell their wives."
