CHINESE
ENVOY TO GERMANY.

Prince Chun's Appointment Gives Satisfaction.

Viceroy of Southern Provinces Are Paying Indemnities for Mission Property Destroyed.

Peking, Jan. 13.-Prince Chun, brother of the emperor, paid a visit to the German legation today. His appointment as Chinese envoy to Germany to make apologies for the murder of Baron Von Ketteler has been approved. It is probable that Prince Su will accompany him.

PAYING INDEMNITIES.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 14.-The Chinese viceroys of the southern provinces are paying American, English and French indemnities for destroyed mission property. The French have received $275,000 for the burning of Catholic missions in the Canton prefecture. The claims are being paid with money raised by special assessments on rich gentry and by the leasing of gambling monopolies.

Captain Chou, who participated in the Chu Chou massacres, has been sentenced to death.

SIGNED THE NOTE.

Peking, Sunday, Jan. 13.-The joint note of the powers has finally been signed by the Chinese peace commissioners. Prince Ching signed yesterday and Li Hung Chang, who is better, signed it today.

FLAT DENIALS.

The foreign office declares that the report of the session of the new Chawm Shan Hai Kuan railroad to Russia by Lord Salisbury is unfounded. It points out that Great Britain has no power to cede it, as the railroad is Chinese property. Moreover, it is stipulated that it shall not be mortgaged to any foreign government or company. There have been reports that Russian agents are endeavoring to buy out the British interests, but the British government is not connected therewith. Representations have been made to Russia in behalf of the English bondholders, as the action of Russian officials is considered to have exceeded the military requirements, and the question of compensation will come up when the line is restored to its owners. A convention on this subject is now under discussion.

M. De Giers, the Russian minister to China, denies the current report that Russia is endeavoring to make a special agreement with China irrespective of other powers. I do not believe that Russia has any intention of keeping Manchuria.

The Russians say they will formally turn over the railroad to the Germans immediately.

M. De Giers objects to the British attitude in refusing to permit the Russians to distribute rice and wheat to destitute Chinese in the British section.

CALL TO MISSIONARIES.

New York, Jan. 12.-Robert E. Speer, one of the secretaries of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, received a cablegram today from the Rev. George F. Fitch, who is at Shanghai. The message consisted simply of the code word "Forward," which, being interpreted, means that all missionaries destined for work in the Central China Presbyterian mission, should start for China at once. This includes both missionaries home on furlough and also some who go to a foreign land for the first time.

A THOUSAND BOXERS KILLED. A French force is reported to have defeated a body of Boxers west of Pao Tiag Fu, killing a thousand.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Shanghai, Jan. 13.-The Italian consul at Shanghai, in explaining the presence of Italian warships at San-Mun Bay, says they went there for target practice.

It is again reported here that the allies are preparing to enter the Province of Shan Si.

THE INVADERS
BEATEN BACK!

British Subject Who Acted as Peace Commissioner Flogged and Shot.

Absurd Estimate of the Boers' Strength---Excellent Work of Howard's Scouts---Canadians Chased Boers Five Miles, Taking Prisoners.

London, Jan. 14.-The war office has received this dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"Pretoria, Sunday, Jan. 13.-About 1,400 Boers crossed the line, attacking both Zurfontein and Kaalfontein stations, but were driven off. They are being pursued by a cavalry brigade."

Lord Kitchener reports also several skirmishes at different points, with trifling British losses, and adds:

"Three agents of the peace commissioners were taken as prisoners to Dewet's laager, near Lindley, Jan. 10. One who was a British subject, was flogged, and then shot. The other two burghers were flogged by Dewet's orders."

STRONG INDIGNATION EXPRESSED.

The brief report of the fate of the three members of the peace committee who were sent to Gen. Dewet, excited the deepest indignation on all sides. Some papers express the hope that Lord Kitchener has been misled by false Kaffir reports, but it is generally felt that he would not have reported the matter to the war office without undoubted evidence.

The Daily Mail bases the report with the word "Murder," and declares against any further attempt to coax the enemy into submission. "Dewet has placed himself outside the pale of humanity," says the Daily Mail, "and not proclamations, but large reinforcements must be our safeguard."

The Morning Post says: "This marks the point where the guerrilla phase ends and the bandit phase begins."

All the papers appeal strongly to the government to hurry forward reinforcements, since it is evident that the Boer leaders have now become desperate, and attempts at conciliation are useless.

THE BOER ATTACKS.

Details of the attacks upon Kaalfontein and Zurfontein stations show that there were only small garrisons of about 120 men at each station. The British had excellent trenches, which enabled them to withstand the attacks until the Boers, having ascertained that reinforcements were coming to the garrison, retired.

At Zurfontein a party of Boers in khaki succeeded in capturing a British patrol of eight men, whom they subsequently liberated.

A Pretoria dispatch, dated Saturday, Jan. 12, says: "Last night the Boers cut the wires between Irene and Olfantsfontein stations. Early this morning 800 Boers under Commandant Beaver, invested Kaalfontein station. A hot rifle fire and shell fire with two field pieces and a Maxim was maintained for six hours. An armored train and reinforcements were sent from Pretoria, but before they had arrived on the scene the garrison had driven off the Boers, who retired with a transport train half a mile long. The Boers blew up the line half a mile beyond Kaalfontein, compelling the mail train to return here. It is supposed their object was to obtain supplies, a great quantity of which are stored at Kaalfontein. The British had no casualties."

DARING RAIDERS.

Pretoria, Jan. 12.-The Boers have been making some daring raids in attempts to seize cattle near the British outposts along the eastern line. Gens. Babington and Gordon are having skirmishes daily with the Boers south of the Magaliesburg. These are believed to number about 1,000.

Commander-in-Chief Botha is reported to be organizing a series of attacks in the east, at which those at Belfast and other places on Monday night and Tuesday morning were the beginning.

THE BOERS' STRENGTH.

Veteran officers who have followed the war closely, laugh at the absurd estimates of the strength of the Boers still in the field. 8,000 with Botha, 4,000 with Delarey, 3,000 with Dewet, 5,000 in Griqualand, 5,000 in Cape Colony, and 5,000 scattered here and there. As there are 15,000 Boer prisoners and at least 8,000 and possibly 10,000 have died from wounds and disease, these estimates make up an aggregate which is utterly irreconcilable with the census.

EXCELLENT WORK OF CANADIANS.

London, Jan. 13.-A special dispatch from Pretoria, dated Jan. 11, and describing the fight of Jan. 9, near Comandoo Nek, dwells upon the excellent work of Howard's Scouts, a new corps composed of Canadians who remained in South Africa and re-enlisted. These scouts chased the retreating Boers a distance of five miles, harassing their rear and taking some prisoners. One of Delarey's horses with wallets containing the commandant's papers, was also captured.

NOT CONFIRMED.

London, Jan. 12.-Nothing is known here to confirm the Paris report, published in the United States, that ex-

President Kruger is seriously ill and in great danger. He had practically recovered from his illness Jan. 9, when his physicians ceased issuing bulletins regarding his health.

The Pretoria correspondent of the London Daily Mail announces the return to Pretoria of Mr. Pretorius, a former president of the late South African Republic, from a futile endeavor to persuade the Boer leaders to surrender.

The Chamber of Mines, at Cape Town, has finally arranged with the military authorities for the formation of a guard for the protection of the mines. A thousand men will shortly leave the coast towns for Johannesburg for this purpose. Fifteen men will be detailed to each mine.

Sir Alfred Milner writes to a correspondent in England: "It would be useless for me to notice the wholesale lies that are spread about concerning me. If I attempted to do so I would have no time for anything else."

BOER HOPES.

London, Jan. 4.-The Daily Telegraph publishes a three-column dispatch from its correspondent in Brussels, giving a conversation with Dr. Leyds and Mr. Abram Fischer. The general purport of the statement of the Boer representatives is that "Great Britain is still under false impressions concerning the war, as she always has been," and that "the Boers are fully resolved to continue the struggle and are as hopeful now as they were a year ago of preserving their independence."

Home-Coming Canadians.

WARMLY WELCOMED.

Woodstock, Ont., Jan. 14.-The town was aroused to a state of enthusiasm again Saturday night upon the arrival of Trooper Thomson from South Africa. He was met at the C. P. R. station by a large crowd of citizens. From there he was conveyed to the town hall, where an address and a gold watch was presented to him by the mayor. The hall was packed to the doors and the enthusiasm was intense. Trooper George Thomson participated in over 40 engagements, and was decorated with the best men of the regiment.

SERG. COLTER.

Sergt. Chas. Colter, who returned to his home in Petrolia Saturday, got a tremendous reception. The train on which he arrived was met by upwards of 2,000 people. Sergt. Colter was carried through the town to his residence, headed by the brass band. The Petrolia Cadets and carriages followed. The town was gaily decorated. Sergt. Colter was presented with an address and a solid gold watch and chain.

AT PARIS.

E. Hume and A. Flannigan, members of the second contingent, were given a grand reception. They were met at the station by the mayor and council, the Paris band and an immense crowd of people, who with flags and other decorations escorted them to their homes. At night a torch-light procession, with fireworks, paraded in honor of the event. The men will be sent with gold watches.

AT WINDSOR.

Trooper Edward Allen, of Windsor, and the Kingsville soldiers from the South African war did not arrive in Windsor in time for the thanksgiving service at St. Andrew's Church. Allen stopped over in Toronto for the reception to the returning soldiers, and will arrive in Windsor today (Monday). The Essex Fusiliers will turn out to receive him and the Kingsville boys who accompany him. Allen writes his father, Customs Collector Allen, that he has traveled over 3,000 miles on horseback during his absence. He participated in all the battles under Lord Roberts.

AT HAMILTON.

About twenty-five of the Hamilton artillerymen who went to South Africa arrived home Saturday afternoon, and were right royally received by fellow-citizens. Thousands gathered on and around the platform, and the cheering was deafening. The warriors were met by the Fourth Field Battery, 13th Battalion and band, and were escorted to sleighs. A procession was formed, which marched to the drill hall. Here Mayor Teetzel, mayor-elect, Major Hendrie, Major McLaren and others made brief addresses of welcome. In the evening the returned artillerymen were banqueted and later on will be presented with gold watches, suitably inscribed. Among the Hamilton men who failed to return were James Porous, who lost one of his feet, and was invalided to England; W. H. Hamill, invalided to England; John McNab, enteric fever, in Pretoria hospital; E. Hudson, fever, Pretoria hospital; A. Goodbrand, fever, Pretoria hospital; Corp. Anderson, killed, and W. E. McDonald, who joined the South African Scouts.

BRANTFORD'S SEVEN.

Seven of Brantford's South African contingent arrived here Saturday evening. They were met at the station by the Dufferin Rifles Band, Dufferin Rifle Regiment, members of the Burford cavalry, the citizens' band, and an immense crowd of citizens were also present to welcome them home and escort them to the hall, where addresses of

GUNNER GRIFFIN.

At Kemptville hundreds of enthusiastic citizens assembled at the depot to welcome home Gunner T. N. Griffin. Reeve Ferguson read an address of welcome, the band played "McKenzie Sweet Home," and the warmest of handshakes were extended the returned soldier.

EIGHTEEN AT ST. KITTS.

Eighteen of the South African heroes arrived home on Saturday and were given an enthusiastic reception. Lieut. Col. Gregory, of the Second Dragoons, met them at Toronto, and escorted them home. Their names are: McGaughey, Hallett, Van, Every, Clendenning, Loosen, Martin, Edwards, Gare, St. Catharines, Bennett, Chippeva, Baldwin, Oakland, England, Stamford, Taylor, Guelph, Palmer, Speck, Niagara Falls and Greenfield.

PRIVATE SEMPLE.

A monster procession took place at Tottenham to celebrate the return of Pte. W. C. Semple, of the second Canadian contingent. The town was gaily decorated, and a procession of 50 teams, including a handsome four-in-hand, in which the hero was placed, drove to his home and then back to the square, where he was presented with a magnificent gold watch and a purse, in all over $300. The town went wild. A patriotic concert in the evening was largely attended.

LOOKING OVER THE OLD WORLD

Cabled Comment on Current Topics—Complete Bewilderment Regarding South Africa—But Britishers Have Not Lost Their Grit—Work Cut Out for the Cabinet—The Chinese Problem—Brilliant Affair at Chatsworth.

London, Jan. 13.—The single week of wintry weather, after a mild and debilitating season, is followed this morning by one of the densest and blackest fogs ever known in London. From Westminster Bridge there is only the blackness of night, and in the streets there is neither color nor poetry in the fog, and naught but stern, dismal prose. All the street lamps are lighted. Wagons lead their horses, hansom and omnibuses crawl foot by foot, and men are seen as dense indoors as without, and as depressing as a wet blanket wrapped tightly around London, symbolizing English ignorance of what is going on.

COMPLETE BEWILDERMENT.
After fifteen months of arduous and wearisome campaigning so complete is this bewilderment that men have lost their courage and nerve, and are well nigh persuaded that the complete possession of the two Dutch states, has been held up by scattered bands of raiders, and that Cape Town is protected only by the guns of the fleet from capture by the Boers, with several hundred followers and a pair of Maxims. There is no clearness of vision or sense of proportion, or sobriety of judgment.

HAVE NOT LOST THEIR GRIT.
The situation in South Africa is a mystery of great darkness, and the outcries of timorous journals for the dispatch of 30,000 reinforcements and the warnings of pro-Boer sympathizers that peace must be made while there is time, are like the shrieks of the waders and cab drivers in today's fog. The public is prone to over-estimate the dangers of the situation in Cape Colony, where Hertzog and his desperadoes in reality are pushing south as they may be the British lines, with something of the swaggering air of Falstaff and his followers. The British have not lost their grit, but are determined that the war shall end in the complete subjugation of the Boers. The weary, homesick soldiers in the Transvaal have repulsed every attack with their old-time vigilance and valor, and the English people, depressed as they may be at times, have the same indefatigable temper. The white man's burden is not yet too heavy to be borne.

UNFOUNDED ALARM.
The meagre dispatches received from South Africa show that the Lindley affair was confined to Lord Roberts' bodyguard and tend to strengthen the conclusion that the current feeling of alarm is not well founded. The strategy of the guerillas is not followed easily, but it has apparently failed in two points.

The main lines of British communication have not been broken by the series of sympathetic and well planned night attacks, and the invasion of Cape Colony has not been followed by a rebellion of the Cape Dutch, whose sympathies are now divided between the Boers and their own pockets.

KITCHENER'S PLANS WORKING OUT.
Gen. Kitchener, by establishing laagers where the unarmed Boers can be adequately protected, and by concentrating the British forces on the lines of communication after clearing the intervening spaces of horses and cattle, foodstuffs and arms, has forced the commandos to alter their tactics and take the offensive against fortified posts in the Transvaal. He is also releasing his mounted force for continuous service against Dewet, Delarey and Botha. He has not allowed his general plan of campaign to be thrown into disorder by the small parties of raiders moving southward into the disaffected districts of Clan William and Piquetteburg, and while the danger of insurrection is not yet averted the loyalists of Cape Colony seem fully prepared to defend themselves against insignificant forces.

DESERVES CREDIT.
Gen. Kitchener deserves credit for adhering tenaciously to his own scheme of operations and in allowing the districts in the south to be cleared by themselves, just as Lord Roberts, in advancing to Pretoria, was indifferent to what was going on on his eastern flank. Military men assert that the lines of communication have been shortened, and that many posts have been supplied with provisions for six months and released from dependence upon the railway and convoys. Kitchener's plan is working out.

ASTOR'S BIG PARTY.
William Waldorf Astor entertained a big party at Cliveden Thursday. A few Americans were invited, and no very great ladies were present. This is the first time Miss Astor has taken up her home. She performed the duties of a hostess with grace and was dressed in white and gold gauze. The Countess of Devonshire was also present.

THE DAILY HABITS OF MINISTERS.
The daily habits of ministers are conducive to constipation and itching piles. More clergymen have indorsed Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment than probably any remedies on the market. The following extracts are from letters of leading ministers of the Gospel, who speak for the benefit of fellow-sufferers. For more particulars regarding these surprising cures write to these parties. They will gladly make known to you the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist minister, Concession, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and thoroughly cured me of a very severe and aggravated form of itching, bleeding piles. The large lumps and abscesses have entirely disappeared."

Rev. J. J. Johnston, evangelist, Wilton, Ont., writes: "I believe Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be an

atloport, for example, is no longer elected with the further west, such as Machadodorp and Belfast, but is provisioned for a long period and isolated. Other important posts are garrisoned in a similar way, and the line of communication are compactly arranged.

FRIDAY'S CABINET MEETING.
The cabinet meeting next Friday will be the first sign of revival of the sense of ministerial responsibility since the adjournment of parliament. Lord Salisbury, Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Lansdowne, Mr. Arthur Balfour and his colleagues have been spending the midwinter holidays in the country, and while their secretaries are with them to answer letters little work is done. Several questions will come up at the cabinet meeting. Lord Kitchener's demand for a 20,000 additional mounted force will be brought up afresh, with Earl Roberts' advice as reported by Mr. Brodrick.

Lord Lansdowne will have the last of his Chinese tangle to unravel, and the text of the United States Senate amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to submit to the judgment of his colleagues. It is not likely that he will refer to the Duke of Norfolk's attack upon the Italian monarchy and nation, as it was simply an evidence of the individual nobility to the Vatican of the powerful nobleman, who has been a minister of the crown.

THE CHINA SETTLEMENT.
Which is satisfactory in Berlin, will be sanctioned by the foreign office. If Russia persists in holding territory through which the continental must run to the open ports, and if Germany also increases her holdings on the mainland, England will acquiesce. Already Americans are rated by the weekly journals for their sympathy in supposing that Russia would stand by professions which were at variance with her ambitious and settled policies. The fate of the canal treaty still hangs in the balance. There is a hopeful feeling at the American embassy that the amendments may be accepted, but there is no sign from Lord Lansdowne of the ultimate action of the British Government.

THE CHINESE PROBLEM.
German political circles opine that the Chinese problem is still a long way off from a definite solution, as the question of damages will occupy much time in Peking. Nobody, however, believes that Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee or the German troops will be withdrawn by March. The opinion rather inclines to another year elapsing before that happens, although it is true that the Russian strongly desires Von Waldersee's retirement and that of the German troops. An official of the German foreign office states that those who are thoroughly acquainted with the Chinese hold that while they are most crafty, still when the need is signified they will consider themselves bound. The foreign office also hopefully considers the dowager empress' case, remembering that she showed Prince Henry of Prussia unusual courtesies. It believes that while the dowager empress is still more or less under anti-foreign influences, she will eventually change her attitude and return to Peking with the whole court, probably at the end of March or the beginning of April.

BRILLIANT AFFAIR AT CHATSWORTH.

The visit of the Prince of Wales to the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire at Chatsworth was one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever known. Earls and countesses and other members of the nobility bowed each other in the spacious halls. The women were magnificently dressed, wearing their family diamonds. The private theater was transformed into a veritable grotto of beauty. Miss Muriel Wilson was generally conceded to be the handsomest of the performers, who, with the taste so often curiously noticed in English amateurs, elected to play "The Fantomine Rehearsal," a burlesque of the shortcomings of amateurs themselves.

ASTOR'S BIG PARTY.
William Waldorf Astor entertained a big party at Cliveden Thursday. A few Americans were invited, and no very great ladies were present. This is the first time Miss Astor has taken up her home. She performed the duties of a hostess with grace and was dressed in white and gold gauze. The Countess of Devonshire was also present.

THE DAILY HABITS OF MINISTERS.
The daily habits of ministers are conducive to constipation and itching piles. More clergymen have indorsed Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment than probably any remedies on the market. The following extracts are from letters of leading ministers of the Gospel, who speak for the benefit of fellow-sufferers. For more particulars regarding these surprising cures write to these parties. They will gladly make known to you the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist minister, Concession, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and thoroughly cured me of a very severe and aggravated form of itching, bleeding piles. The large lumps and abscesses have entirely disappeared."

Rev. J. J. Johnston, evangelist, Wilton, Ont., writes: "I believe Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to be an

atloport, for example, is no longer elected with the further west, such as Machadodorp and Belfast, but is provisioned for a long period and isolated. Other important posts are garrisoned in a similar way, and the line of communication are compactly arranged.

FRIDAY'S CABINET MEETING.
The cabinet meeting next Friday will be the first sign of revival of the sense of ministerial responsibility since the adjournment of parliament. Lord Salisbury, Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Lansdowne, Mr. Arthur Balfour and his colleagues have been spending the midwinter holidays in the country, and while their secretaries are with them to answer letters little work is done. Several questions will come up at the cabinet meeting. Lord Kitchener's demand for a 20,000 additional mounted force will be brought up afresh, with Earl Roberts' advice as reported by Mr. Brodrick.

Lord Lansdowne will have the last of his Chinese tangle to unravel, and the text of the United States Senate amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to submit to the judgment of his colleagues. It is not likely that he will refer to the Duke of Norfolk's attack upon the Italian monarchy and nation, as it was simply an evidence of the individual nobility to the Vatican of the powerful nobleman, who has been a minister of the crown.

INTENSE SUFFERING

From Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble

Instantly Relieved and Permanently Cured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A New Discovery, But Not a Patent Medicine.

Dr. Redwell relates an interesting account of what he considers a remarkable case of acute stomach trouble and chronic dyspepsia by the use of the new discovery, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

He says: "The patient was a man who had suffered to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach. He had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder blades and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night."

"I gave him powerful nerve tonics, and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment, I finally bought a 50-cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store, and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given, and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances fully cured."

"There was no more acidity or sour, watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he had gained between 10 and 12 pounds in weight and good healthy flesh."

"Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies as they are perfectly harmless and can be given to children or invalids or in any condition of the stomach, with perfect safety, being harmless and containing nothing but fruit and vegetable essences, pure pepsin and Golden Seal."

"Without any question they are the safest, most effective cure for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and all derangements of the stomach, however slight or severe."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are made by the F. A. Stuart Company, of Marshall, Mich., and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

ARISTOCRATIC SWIMMERS.
Aristocratic swimming circles in England are suffering from a sensation and a grievance. Ladies have taken up this form of sport keenly, and championships for women are being instituted all over the country. An amateur swimming association has caused a 'thunderclap' by sending out the announcement that in future female competitors will only be allowed to wear black or dark blue costumes. The reasons given are the danger to the skin from the shades of red which are so popular. But the action was taken in New York, London and Paris.

DEATH'S DOINGS.
There died in London this week, in poverty, a character once well known in New York, London and Paris, Henry A. De Lille, who married Olivia Logan years ago. He was connected with several New York newspapers. While in London he greatly aided in a confidential capacity Napoleon III. One of his sons was formerly constable at Sheffield, and he was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor by Napoleon. Poverty and illness made his closing days distressing.

THE FOG IN LONDON IS COSTLY.
Expense in One Day as Much as $500,000.
Prussian Diet Asked to Approropriate 389,000,000 Marks for a Canal—Cause of the Russian Wreck—A Happy King.

A DEAR DITCH.
Berlin, Jan. 14.—The canal bill has been introduced in the Prussian Diet. The sum required for carrying out the project explained by Count Von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, a few days ago is 389,000,000 marks.

LONDON'S COSTLY FOGS.
London, Jan. 14.—It is estimated that the dense pall of smoke and fog, such as overhung London today, costs the city from $250,000 to $500,000 daily in the matter of bills for gas and electricity. The embargo on railway traffic and other expenses makes up a huge bill.

GIVING A CHILD LIQUOR.
London, Jan. 14.—A new point in cruelty has been raised in a test case before the Wolverhampton magistrates. A laborer was charged with "giving a five-year-old child by giving him intoxicating liquor." He had given the child drinks in two public houses. He was sentenced to a month's imprisonment.

A HAPPY KING.
Nisch, Servia, Jan. 14.—The National Assembly was opened Saturday by King Alexander. In the speech from the throne his majesty declared his marriage has set the seal on his life's happiness. He emphasized the split with his father, the former King Milan, saying Milan had left the country for ever, therefore he hoped for better service from the present ministry than from the last.

A casket containing medals bearing the portrait of the pope was placed beneath the door, together with many souvenirs sent by individuals and Catholic societies.

CAUSE OF THE RUSSIE WRECK.
Marseilles, Jan. 14.—Capt. Jouve, of the wrecked steamer Russie, confirms the statement that the grounding of his vessel was due to confusing the Farman and Clamier lights. The Clamier light gives three white flashes separated by red. The Farman light gives two white flashes during storms. The Farman light used oil instead of electricity. The oil makes a light which looks like red in a fog.

In connection with the wreck of the Russie, questions will be asked in the chambers regarding the insufficiency of the French life-saving apparatus.

Subscriptions have been opened for the benefit of the fishermen who rescued the passengers and crew of the vessel. The first subscription has reached 11,000 francs. It is also proposed that they should receive the decoration of the Legion of Honor.

Several passengers have made complaints as to the conduct of the crew of the Russie. The Marseilles correspondent of the Echo de Paris says there were revolting scenes and riotous orgies while the ship was in peril. The officers had to threaten to use their revolvers on some of the sailors before they would obey orders.

SWALLOWED HIS TEETH
And Did Not Know It Till He Was Examined by a Doctor.

Corry, Pa., Jan. 14.—Supposed to be dying from laryngitis, doctors removed false teeth from the throat of Andrew Burlingame, aged about 63 years, and they now expect him to live.

About a week ago Burlingame became ill, and rapidly became worse, and no hopes were held out for his recovery. During the first day of his sickness the old man remarked that his false teeth, the upper set, were gone, and he must have left them in the barn. Search was made, but no trace of the teeth could be found.

Today Burlingame said that he felt a lump in his throat, and felt certain that his teeth were there. To humor him physicians were summoned, and an examination made, and there they found the teeth lodged firmly in his throat. When the teeth were removed he at once felt better. It is the first case ever heard of where any one survived a week with false teeth in the throat.

MIGHTY GUSHER!

An Oil Well in Texas Flows Fifteen Thousand Barrels a Day.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 14.—J. M. Guffey has made the most important oil discovery in the past ten years. Thursday noon he drilled in a mighty gusher in Southeastern Texas, located on a 3,800-acre tract 18 miles from Sabine Pass, on the Sabine River, and 14 miles from Port Arthur, Jefferson county. The well is flowing at a rate estimated at 15,000 barrels a day. The oil was reached at a depth of less than 10,000 feet. Mr. Guffey stated that he thought 15,000 barrels a day would be a conservative estimate of what the well is producing, and thought it would reach 20,000, which would make it the largest in the world.

IT IS A LIVER PILL.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

BICKLE'S ANTI-CONSUMPTIVE SYRUP stands at the head of the list for all diseases of the throat and lungs. It acts like magic in breaking up a cold. A cough is soon subdued, tightness of the chest is relieved, even the worst case of consumption is relieved, while in recent cases it may be said never to fail. It is a medicine prepared from the active principles or virtues of several medicinal herbs, and can be depended upon for all pulmonary complaints.

Great Sufferings Ended—Painful Operations Avoided—Chronic and Aggravated Diseases Cured—Grateful Testimony from Well-Known Ministers.

The daily habits of ministers are conducive to constipation and itching piles. More clergymen have indorsed Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment than probably any remedies on the market. For more particulars regarding these surprising cures write to these parties. They will gladly make known to you the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Rev. S. A. Duprau, Methodist minister, Concession, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Ointment saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation, and thoroughly cured me of a very severe and aggravated form of itching, bleeding piles. The large lumps and abscesses have entirely disappeared."

Rev. J. A. Baldwin, Baptist minister, Arkona, Ont., writes: "For over twenty years I was a great sufferer from itching, protruding piles. I underwent three very painful surgical operations, all without obtaining any permanent relief. Dr. Chase's Ointment has cured me, and I believe it will cure any case of piles."

Rev. Chas. Fish, 292 Dunn Avenue, Toronto, states that Dr. Chase's Ointment cured him of eczema on the head and hands, from which he had been a great sufferer for ten years, and from which even specialists on skin diseases could give him no relief.

HEAVY SNOW STORM

Blockades Electric and Country Roads in the East.

Melrose, N. Y., Jan. 12.—A heavy snowstorm prevailed throughout Northern New York. About a foot of snow has fallen in the last twelve hours.

Cornwall, Jan. 12.—A heavy snowstorm prevailed here. The electric road is blocked completely. Railway trains are all late.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—A heavy snowstorm has prevailed here since last night, and reports received this morning show that the storm is general throughout the Ottawa Valley. From six to twelve inches of the "beautiful" has fallen, and the result is the almost complete blocking of the country roads in certain sections. The trains are all running more or less behind time. The weather is mild.

WAR ON FAITH HEALERS

New York Doctors Propose to Bar Them From Practice.

New York, Jan. 14.—The board of censors of the Medical Society of the county of New York has addressed a circular letter to members calling attention to the fact that there are many persons practicing medicine in open defiance of the law providing that before one may practice medicine in this state a certificate of proficiency shall be obtained from the board of regents in the university of the state. This is granted only after a satisfactory examination. The purpose of the society to begin an active crusade against these illegal practitioners is announced.

C. S. Andrews, who has been retained as counsel, said: "There is one kind of a quack we cannot touch, and yet who does more harm than all the other illegal practitioners put together. I refer to the Christian Science healers. Through their religious professions they have a clientele of patients which it would be impossible for an ordinary quack to obtain. The court of appeals has practically decided that the practice of the art of healing consists of the prescribing of medicine. This purely technical definition puts the faith healer charlatans beyond the

LONDON SUPPLIED WITH GOOD MILK.

Average Quality Over 4 Per Cent of Butter Fat—One Dealer Disqualified.

Following is Health Officer Hutchinson's semi-annual report upon the quality and condition of London's milk supply:

The Chairman and Board of Health-Gentlemen,—I herewith submit my semi-annual report upon the inspection of herds, dairies and market milk for the half-year ending Dec. 1. As heretofore, the herds, byres and dairies are classified according to milk, A, B and C, and the milk 1, 2 and 3. One vendor whose percentage was 3.75, protested, and was given 3.80 by the public analyst. The average percentage of all the market milk, exclusive of that with cream added, was a fraction over four.

The quality of milk supplied the city is still good. The average percentage of 213 samples of market milk examined during the year, exclusive of 13 samples examined for private persons, was over 4 per cent. The samples were cleaner than in former years, and to this and the good quality may be attributed the small number of deaths of infants from derangement of the digestive organs.

Nine thousand quarts are sold daily in the city. Two samples had been watered, one had cream added, and one byer was unfit for dairy purposes by reason of uncleanliness. One hundred and forty persons are employed in supplying the city with milk.

A Food Cost of Five Cents Per Day.

The following is the scale of dietary employed in the Middlesex jail:

Breakfast—One pint of gruel made from oatmeal or Indian cornmeal, and eight ounces of bread, with syrup.

Dinner—Five ounces of cooked meat, without bone; eight ounces of bread and eight ounces of potatoes on three days in the week; eight ounces of bread, one pound of potatoes and one pint of gruel, on two days in the week; a pint of soup and eight ounces of bread on two days in the week.

Supper—One pint of gruel, and eight ounces of bread, with syrup.

In the case of those who are sick, or inmate, there is a little addition made, namely, milk, sugar and tea. There is also a little additional strength of food given in the case of those who are subjected to hard labor.

The total cost of each person is 5½ cents a head per day; omitting the allowances for the sick, the total cost would be 5 cents each per day. It is evident that Governor Boston has expenses down to a pretty fine point, and we would be glad to hear from our contemporaries, of any other jail which can do as well or better.

The foregoing looks like a meager diet, but Governor Boston says the ordinary prisoner goes out into the world after a few months of this regimen, practically made over, as much so as if he had been at a sanitarium.

What light does this throw on a greater simplicity and less expensive-ness of ordinary life? It is generally recognized that people eat a great deal more than the exigencies of good health demand. A greater simplicity as regards both quality and quantity of diet, and we would have fewer dyspeptics.

Suggestions For Consideration by the Ontario Government.

11. The passing of an act making the law relating to loan corporations similar to the act passed by the Dominion Parliament.

The principal difference between the Dominion and Provincial acts is in the powers conferred on such corporations to make investments.

The powers conferred by the Dominion Parliament are set forth in section 20, chapter 41, of the Statutes for 1899.
They may lend money on the security of or purchase, or invest in (a) morgages or hypothecations upon freehold or leasehold real estate or other immovables, (b) the debentures, bonds, stocks and other securities of any government, or of any municipal corporation, or school corporation, or of any chartered bank or incorporated company if incorporated by Canada, or any province of Canada, now forming part of Canada, but not including bills of exchange and promissory notes. They may take personal security as collateral, but not lend on the stocks of other companies, and lend up to 10 per cent on their own.

The powers conferred by the Ontario Parliament are set forth in section 17, R. S. O., chapter 205. They may lend on the security of real estate, or of the public securities of Canada, or of any province, or terminating debentures of any municipality or school or building society, or terminating debentures or debenture stock of any company, in which trustees may by law invest.

The other sub-sections direct what powers may be exercised with reference to these securities, and they may hold real estate of the annual value of $20-000. It will be seen that the powers conferred by the Dominion act are wider than those conferred by the provincial act, and we think they should be similar. It is not wise to have two sets of laws for the same purpose. As the Dominion act relates to the whole of Canada, and their act is wider than the provincial, it would be better to adopt it.

Evolution.

If there has been one word more prominent than another during the nineteenth century it is the word "evolution." It has played a great part in all realms of thought, and has even been regarded by some as the supreme, unique and final word in the explanation of the world and the life of man. We cannot now attempt to sketch the various theories of evolution as applied to the world of nature and the life of man. We simply have to admit now that this word represents the idea which in the course of the nineteenth century has come to dominate varied spheres of thought.
The New York Sun, dealing with "The Passing Century and Its History in Great Subjects," naturally placed "evolution" the first in the series, and it did well in securing for this article Alfred Russel Wallace, who, in his own way, propounded the theory of the origin of species by the process of natural selection about the same time that Darwin brought his great discovery before the world. Mr. Wallace's article of eight columns cannot very well be summarized, as it is an historical sketch and summary of results. But we may note its spirit and its characteristic features. This statement with which he begins shows the view that is taken of the evolution theory by the great body of scientists:

"Among the great and fertile conceptions which have either augmented or become firmly established during the nineteenth century, the theory of evolution, if not the greatest of them all, will certainly take its place in the front rank. As a partial explanation (for no complete explanation is possible to finite intelligence) of the phenomena of nature, it illuminates every department of science, from the study of the most remote cosmic phenomena accessible to us to that of the minutest organisms revealed by the most powerful microscopes; while upon the great problem of the mode of the origin of the various forms of life—long considered insoluble—it throws so clear a light, that to many biologists it seems to afford as complete a solution in principle as we can expect to reach."

Dr. Wallace then goes on to point out "the nature and limits of evolution." It does not deal with the infinite past or the remote future, but explains the existing conditions of things by showing that it has been derived from some pre-existing conditions through the action of known forces and laws, so we can never make any approach to the absolute beginning of things. "Yet the explanations that the theory of evolution gives are none the less real and none the less important, especially when we compare its teachings with the wild guesses of the total ignorance of the thinkers of earlier ages." The essayist then goes back to the early philosophers to trace the rise and progress of the idea of evolution, and shows that in the poetry of Lucretius there was a strange mixture of philosophic insight and baseless speculation. Indeed, it is one good thing in this comprehensive article, that the distinguished naturalist recognized that the long previous wrestling of thoughtful men prepared the way for the nineteenth century statement and solution of the great problem. After the long space of what we popularly called "the dark ages," Dr. Wallace finds the first real steps towards evolution in the works of the great astronomers, Kepler, Newton and Laplace.

The next point considered is the evolution of the earth's crust. Although Pythagoras (500 B. C.) believed that sea and land must often have changed places, and a few other observers at different epochs came to the same conclusion, yet till quite recent times the earth was generally supposed to have been always very much what it is now; people spoke of the "eternal hills," and the great mountain ranges, the mighty ravines and precipices, as well as the deep seas and oceans, were believed to be the direct work of the Creator. One of the most earnest students in the latter half of the eighteenth century was Dr. Hutton, of Edinburgh, who published a great work on "The Theory of the Earth," which was not sufficiently appreciated at the time. After this came the work of the eminent naturalists and geologists, Cuvier, Lyell and Buffon. At the beginning of the nineteenth century La-marck propounded a general system of evolution for the whole animal world. Those who read the scientific literature of that period may learn with regard to Lamarck—how wide was his knowledge, how ingenious his explanations, and in his many important points he interpreted the views both of Lyell and Darwin. But he was half a century in advance of his age, and his alleged causes of modification, changed conditions, use and disuse, habit and effort, were wholly insufficient to account for the vast phenomena presented by the innumerable minute adaptations of living organisms to their conditions of life." Dr.
Wallace at this point shows that Darwin's work was more special. It consisted of the observation of a great variety of facts and the setting forth of a theory to explain those facts, and remembering how small was the effect which had been produced by Buffon, Goethe, Lamarck, the author of "The Vestiges of Creation" and the earlier writings of Herbert Spencer, we can realize the marvelous work that he accomplished.

The general principles of evolution were accepted by many scientific men before Darwin, and in 1852 Herbert Spencer had published a masterly essay on the "Development of Hypothesis," but the exact method of evolution was left untouched. So that the publication of Darwin's theory of "The Origin of Species by Means of Natural Selection," marks a definite epoch in the history of this great idea.
"The struggle for existence" and "The survival of the fittest" have since that time not only been technical phrases of science, but have passed into popular literature and common speech.
This writer thinks that the investigations and experiments made since Darwin's death have tended to confirm the development hypothesis as to its main and essential features. Natural selection has thus supplied that motive power of change and adaptation that was wanting in all earlier attempts at explanation, and this has led to its very general acceptance, both by naturalists and the great majority if thinkers and men of science." He then closes this able review with the following clear statement. The brief sketch now given:

"The brief sketch now given of the progress of human thought on the questions of the fact and the mode of the evolution of the material universe indicates how great has been the progress during the nineteenth as compared with all preceding centuries. Although the philosophical writers of classical times obtained a few glimpses of the action of law in nature regulating its successive changes, nothing satisfactory could be effected till the actual facts had been ascertained by the whole body of workers who, during the last five centuries, have penetrated ever more and more deeply into nature's mysteries and laws. By their labors we became possessed of such a body of carefully observed facts that, toward the end of the last century such thinkers as Laplace and Hutton were enabled to give us the first rudiments of theories of evolution as applied to the solar system and the earth's crust, both of which have been greatly developed and rendered more secure during the century now passing away."

CRUSHED
TO DEATHCry of "Fire" Causes a Fatal PanicAmong 800 People Who Were Attending a Hebrew Play in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Seven people were crushed to death and as many more seriously injured in a panic which followed a man's cry of "Fire" Saturday afternoon in West Twelfth street Turner Hall. About 800 people were in the place, gathered to witness the performance of a play entitled "The Greenhorn." The following were killed and injured:

THE VICTIMS.

Rebecca Lidsley, Annie Goldber (aged 7), Regina Millenbach (aged 4), Annie Salomon (aged 37), George Shaffer (aged 5), Mrs. Samuel Mendelsohn, Birdie Xidman.

Missing—Samuel Mendelsohn and two children.
The play was in Yiddish. The audience, comprising for the most part women and children, were all Hebrews.
The hall stands in the center of a district densely populated by Jews. The play was nearly over, when the cry which caused the panic was raised, and within five seconds after it rang through the hall the entire audience was converted into a frantic mob, every member of which was fighting for the safety which lay beyond the doors of the building.

A WILD RUSH.

The hall is frequently used for dances, and when a theatrical performance is given chairs are set for the spectators.
As soon as they had rushed towards the doors began, chairs were knocked down in every direction, the aisles disappeared, and the excited people ran, climbed and stumbled over the chairs in the way towards the doors.

TRAMPLED TO DEATH.

Around the upper part of the hall extends a balcony, which is open only at one end. Here were seated 150 women and children, and the women at the further end of the balcony, away from the stairway, seeing that the rush toward the exit was blocked, began at once to throw the little ones over the railing to the floor ten feet below. The children fell into the midst of the maddened throng and were at once trampled under foot. It is known that three of the dead were children who were thrown from the balcony and were trampled by the crowd, with not a chance for their sivers.

Following the children, many of the women sprang from the balcony upon the crowd below, and others swinging over hung by their hands before they dropped. The rushing and the mad rush was broken through in half a dozen places by the pressure brought to bear against it by the maddened crowd.

On the main floor the crush was much worse than on the balcony. The main exits from the hall, and the only ones known to a majority of those who frequent the place, are two doors in the south end of the main auditorium, that open upon winding stairs, which, eight steps down, unite into one broader flight, leading to the main floor.

FRANTIC MASS OF MEN AND WOMEN.

Around these two doors, a frantic mass of screaming men, women and children was packed, all struggling fiercely to force their way down the stairs. At the landing there were two flights of stairs winding down from the main hall unite, a woman stumbled and fell. In an instant a score of people were down and before the rush was over, four lives had been lost. The crowd in a space four feet by six feet long.

Within five minutes after the beginning of the panic it was all over, and the police and firemen who came hurrying to the scene of the disaster were called upon to do nothing beyond carrying away the dead and injured, and keeping back the thousands of people who tried to force their way into the building.

FOUGHT WITH THE POLICE.

As soon as the news of the panic had spread through the district, which seemed but a very few minutes, all the Hebrews from that part of the city rushed to the place, bent on learning the names of the dead and wounded.
Men and women fought desperately with the officers in their efforts to enter the building and learn if any of their loved ones were among the dead. The crowd was so great, so excited, and so overmanaged that the police were compelled to call in additional officers and firemen before it could be restrained. The alarm of fire was false, there having been no blaze at the time. The furnace in the building is somewhat defective, and at times allows sparks to pass up through the registers. It was the sight of these sparks rising into the room that frightened the man who raised the cry of fire.

The hall has several times been the scene of panics, and it is only a few months since that a number of children were hurt in a rush for the doors which occurred during a juvenile party that was given in the place.

THREE ARE MISSING.

It was found a most difficult task to secure the names of the dead and in-

THE PRESBYTERIAN CENTURY FUND

Amount Actually Subscribed, $1,130,000—More Needed to Make Up the $600,000 for General Church Work.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada some time ago resolved to put forth an effort to raise a century fund of one million dollars, the period named for the closing of the effort being May 1, 1901.

The committee to which the matter was entrusted met a few days ago to consider reports regarding the work to the 31st of December, 1900. The amount actually subscribed to this date was $1,130,000. The congregations reporting estimated that over and above the subscriptions already received, another $100,000 would be got from them, making a total of $1,230-000. In addition a large number of congregations have said to report. For various reasons the work in these has not yet been completed, and in some cases not yet commenced. It is hoped, however, before the close of the effort on May 1 next every congregation in the church will have done its share of the work. The present indications are that the total will reach $1,350,000.

In the scheme of the General Assembly $600,000 of the $1,000,000 was to be for the missionary and educational work of the church, and $400,000 for church indebtedness.

When the total will exceed the $1-000,000 by $350,000, it will require vigorous effort during the next six months to make up the $600,000 for the general work of the church. To aid in this the committee took steps at their meeting a few days ago. They have sent out a statement to the session of every congregation throughout the whole church, urging that the canvass be untiringly prosecuted to a completion, and also asking congregations which have largely devoted their subscriptions to the removal of debt, to consider the propriety of increasing the proportion given to the common fund, which at the present time only amounts to about $500,000. The General Assembly aimed at 60 per cent of all that was raised being given to the common fund. In congregations so largely burdened with debt as to seriously embarrass it was desirable that the greater proportion of their giving should be devoted to the reduction of their own debt. It is interesting to observe the spirit manifested by a large number of congregations. Although themselves not free from debt, yet they generously concluded that as their debt did not embarrass them, and as they had not contemplated at this particular time putting forth an effort to reduce it, they would give their whole contribution to the century fund to the missionary work of the church. These are congregations deserving of special honor.

The century fund committee is generally congratulated in that four months before the close of the effort it is able to report that very considerably in excess of the $1,000,000 has already been obtained. It is hoped that the $600,000 for the educational and missionary work of the church may be got within the next three months.

EASTERN DAIRYMEN

Express an Opinion in Favor of the Babcock Test—Quality of Milk To Be Made a Basis of Value.

Smith's Falls, Jan. 12.—The concluding sessions of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention were given up mainly to the reception of reports from inspectors and a discussion of the advisability of paying for milk supplied cheese factories according to quality—equality to be determined by the Babcock test.

Instructor Publow reported finding 36 samples of doctored milk out of 5,275 examined. Inspector Bentley 21 out of 5,000. Inspector Zuffel reported $750 in fines imposed in 65 factories in his district for adulteration. Inspector Lowry found 38 skimmed or watered samples out of 8,211 examined. These were fair sample reports. At the same time there was general unanimity in reporting an improvement in conditions.

There was quite a general expression of opinion in favor of applying the Babcock test as the basis on which payment should be made for milk.
A. A. Wright, M.P., went so far as to say legislative authority should be secured to enforce the adoption of this system in all cases, and the applause that followed was the most vigorous heard during the convention.

There was quite a general expression of opinion that inspectors should visit all factories and that a straight salary should be paid for this work.
At present inspectors go only where they are asked to go by factory owners.

ASTHMA CURED
AFTER TEN YEARS' SUFFERING Physicians Could Not Promise More Than Temporary Relief.
Clarke's Kola Compound Cured

Mr. S. Till, 142 Dorchester street, St.
John, N. B., writes:

"I have been a great sufferer from asthma for nearly ten years. Many months, night after night, I have been so bad that sleep was impossible, and at times I thought I would choke. I used different asthma remedies, and doctored with the best doctors in St.
John, but my trouble became worse each year. About a year ago I purchased three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound; then I took three more, and since completing the treatment with this remedy have not had a single attack. I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Clarke's Kola Compound, which I know has no equal for asthma. Since being cured I have frequently recommended this remedy to others in our city, and they all speak very highly of it."

Clarke's Kola Compound is the only permanent cure for asthma yet discovered. Over a thousand complete cures are recorded in Canada alone. All druggists sell it. Write for book telling all about Clarke's Kola Compound pany, Limited, 121 Church street, Toronto.

and the latter pay a fee for the service rendered. Some expressed the opinion that, in addition to the instructors, inspectors should be appointed by the government to look after those who adulterate milk.

JEFFERSON-McDONALD

William, Son of the Famous "Joe" Jefferson, to Wed an Actress.

Matoon, Ill., Jan. 14.—William Jefferson, son of Joseph Jefferson, the actor, who plays in the east with his father, is to wed Miss Christie McDonald in June.
Such is the admission of the groom-elect's half-brother, Thomas Jefferson.
The engagement is only known to a few intimate friends. William Jefferson, and his father are spending the winter at the latter's cottage at Palm Beach, Fla., where they will remain until April. Miss McDonald is starring with Pete Daly's "Hodge Podge."

Thomas Jefferson says the story that there was parental objection to the match is untrue. "My knowledge of the engagement," he said, "came from Will's mother. He informed her of it and said he was arranging to have the wedding come off in June. Father is very favorably inclined to the young lady. While I have never seen her, I understand that she is a very clever and gifted girl. Ever since they became acquainted, last summer a year ago, we felt that their attachment was a permanent one."

ROBERT MANTELL AND WIFE ILL.
Toledo, Jan. 14.—Robert Mantell and wife are both quite ill. Mrs. Mantell was taken to the Toledo hospital on Saturday, and Mr. Mantell is confined to his room at the Boody House. Their engagements for some time have been cancelled. They were playing "The Free Lance."

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Ia., "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipa-

THEIR ANNUAL TREAT.
Parents and friends of the scholars of the Maitland Street Baptist Church were present last evening in large numbers at their Christmas entertainment. It was of a very enjoyable character. The pastor, Rev. C. S. G. Boone was chairman and had charge of a lengthy programme. Choruses were sung by the classes of Miss Butcher and Mrs. Mills, assisted by Mrs. Leslie and Mr. E. Smith; selections by the London South quartet; recitations, Misses Bella Dwyer, Edna Crowfoot, Minnie Tanton, Masters Geo. Seldon and G. Crowfoot; selections by Sunday school orchestra; quartet, by members of the choir; graphophone selections by Mr. Floyd; dialogue, by Misses Gertrude Freeman, Lucy and Emma Tanton; sword drill by ten girls. All acquitted themselves creditably and were warmly applauded. The accompaniments were played by Misses M. Conway and Lizzie Russell. Each of the scholars were presented with a bag of candy and nuts, the entertainment concluding with the National Anthem.

Meetings were held in the rooms by the Y. W. C. A., the Aberdeen Association and Red Cross Society, and by the Brethren on Monday. The usual monthly business meeting was held on the first Saturday evening of the month. On the first and third Saturday evenings, the Shakespeare Club met for the study of "The Merchant of Venice." The students' Bible class was held on the first, second and third Tuesday afternoons, and the "I Will Club" on the same evenings, the fourth Tuesday being Christmas day no meetings were held.

The educational and sewing classes met each Thursday evening, except on Christmas week. Miss Wyatt provided entertainment for the members and their friends on Saturday evening, by showing them how to make pretty and inexpensive Christmas boxes. Instead of the usual monthly reception, a grab bag and party was indulged in on the Saturday evening before Christmas, and caused much merriment.

The first public lecture arranged for by the society for the season 1900-1901 was given by Prof. Clark, of Toronto, in Crown Hall, on Dec. 21, when a large and appreciative audience listened to his talented lecture on the "Idyls of the King." The association circle of King's Daughters provided a quilt for one family, and Christmas baskets for nine.

Miss Little, the general secretary of the Dominion society, will visit London next week, by appointment of the general society, when it is hoped that all members will take the opportunity of hearing her tell of the work and its various methods.

Death of D. C. Macdonald.

Mr. D. C. Macdonald, manager of the London Mutual Fire Insurance Company, died Saturday morning at Springfield, near Peterboro, where he had gone in November last in an attempt to regain his health. For the past six months or more he had been failing.

Mr. Macdonald was born in the county of Northumberland, in 1835. He attended school at Niagara, and Port Robinson. After studying law for some time he passed as a solicitor in 1861, but gave his attention to insurance, and in 1879 succeeded his father as manager of the London Mutual, which he had founded in 1859. Mr. Macdonald took a prominent part in municipal matters for some years. For six years he served as a member of the city council. In 1875 he was appointed by the council to the position of mayor, and was elected by vote to that position in 1876. Mr. Macdonald was a past master of King Solomon's Lodge (Masonic), and was also a member of the St. George's Episcopal Church, West London. In his early years he was active in military affairs, and had a medal for his services at the Fenian raid. His death will be deeply regretted, especially in business circles, where he was known and loved. Mr. Macdonald was twice married. His wife and child, and one son by his first wife, Mr. Cameron Macdonald, survive him. The funeral will be held on Monday.

JUDICIOUS REFORM
London Likely to Get Large Mail Boxes—Change of Money Order Rules.

While in conversation with an advertiser representative some weeks ago, Postmaster Browne suggested that the public be warned against leaving papers and parcels on the tops of postal boxes. Soon afterwards it was announced that Toronto had been given several large receptacles for such articles. When spoken to about these, Mr. Browne said that he was hoping to get a number for this city. It is expected now that the department will send several here. If so, they will be placed at corners where the most business centers and where, in the opinion of the carriers, who should best know, they are most needed. For instance, at the corner of Richmond and Ridout streets, Richmond and Dundas, Wellington and Dundas, Maitland and Dundas, York and Richmond, Richmond and Piccadilly. The boxes are about the size of barrels, and have hinged tops to protect their contents. Those who have noticed the way that the people allow their mail matter to lie about in the street, will appreciate the value of the innovation. Another change in the postal service that will be quite welcome relates to the money order department. Heretofore, it has been necessary to keep back all payments until the arrival of the ad valorem sheet. It was quite possible for this to be delayed, though not on account of the department's carelessness or negligence. For instance, an order might be bought in the morning, and there is an extra rush of business in the postoffice. Consequently the advice might not go as quickly as the order. The delay to the recipient thus caused, and the money was lost in future, and all orders of $20 or less that are presented by responsible people, the money will be paid immediately.

There is always something back of a shadow.

IS CHINA TO BE CARVED UP?

Lord Salisbury's Alleged Concession to Russia

Creates a Stir in Financial and Political Circles—The London Chronicle's Criticism.

London, Jan. 12.—The Daily Chronicle states the following important statement:

"From a trustworthy source we learn that Lord Salisbury has agreed to cede to Russia the railway from Niu Chwang to Shann Hai Kwai. It is not known what compensation will be received for the concession.

Leading financiers, versed in China affairs, who were interviewed, appeared to think that if the news were correct it indicated that Lord Salisbury recognized the impossibility of preventing the partition of China and that Russia would get the north and Great Britain the Yang Tse Valley.

The original prospectus of the railway company stipulated that the bondholders mainly British, could be bought out at any time at the rate of $120 per cent.

The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial on the subject, taunts Lord Salisbury with having made another 'graceful concession' because Great Britain's entanglements deprive her of the strength to back up her diplomacy.

GRAND JURY'S PRESENTMENT

And the Judge's Reply Thereto at the Assizes.

Winterbottom Case Not Yet Finished—Court Adjourned Till Today.

The grand jury of the Middlesex winter assizes brought in their presentment Saturday. They had visited the jail and found everything neat and clean, 15 males and 3 female prisoners are being confined there. They recommended that four insane prisoners be removed to the asylum. They visited Victoria Hospital, where they found 90 patients. They congratulated the city on the possession of such a well-equipped and well-managed institution. They disapproved of the present location of the boilers, as in case of explosion the results would be extremely disastrous, and they recommended that the means for the removal of patients in case of fire, in the matter of the ventilation of the courthouse, they strongly recommended that the county take steps to remedy the deficient ventilation.

They noted with alarm the manner in which the poultry-raising industry was being jeopardized by the system of petty thieving prevalent throughout the county, and they recommended that the punishment be made more severe.

The presentment closed with a congratulatory reference to the fact that the supremacy of the British institutions in South Africa was now assured.

In reply, Mr. Justice Robertson said that the grand jury had done a dreadful thing that so many persons in Ontario were afflicted with insanity, so many that the asylum accommodation is now overtaxed, and the province is facing the problem of supplying more asylums. In the matter of the petty thieving complained of, the judge said no doubt the government would give ample consideration to the jury's recommendation. He referred again strongly to the matter of courthouse ventilation, saying that the judge, from his elevated position in the courtroom experienced the very quick sense of the foulness of the air. He censured the penurious spirit that seemed to pervade the county council, and said it was a disgraceful thing if the present state of things allowed the present state of things to exist until the law would be set in motion and the county indicted for maintaining a common nuisance, as had already been done in the counties of Oxford, Wentworth, Perth and others. The judge then thanked the jury for the manner in which they had performed their duties and discharged them.

THE WINTERBOTTOM CASE.

The suit of Miss Mary Winterbottom, of this city, against the police commissioners, to recover $2,000 damages for injuries received by being run over by the police patrol wagon on May 16, if last year, was taken up. Eleven witnesses were heard Friday, the first being the plaintiff, Miss Winterbottom. She made no mention whatever of the accident. Her injuries consisted of a sprained wrist, wrenched back, bruises on the body and cuts on the head. She did not get out of her home until the end of July, and is unable to go to work yet.

Henry B. Ashplant, A. Hobbs, Hume B. Elliott, Robert Hobbs, W. J. Portwood, Chas. H. Glines and John Watwood, witnesses of the accident, gave their versions of what had happened. All agreed that the patrol wagon was going at a fast rate of speed, and that in turning into Carling street from Richmond street, it swerved onto the south side of Carling street, on which side Miss Winterbottom was riding.

Dr. English and Dr. Moore, medical attendants of the plaintiff, gave evidence as to her injuries and testified that she would not be able to work for a year.

Chief Williams was called to produce certain minutes of the board of commissioners and certain regulations made by himself governing the running of the patrol wagon. On the resumption of the case on Saturday, the stand was again taken by Chief Williams, who produced certain minutes of evidence. He was the last witness called for the plaintiff.

Mr. Meredith then argued for non-suit, but the judge decided that the case should be made out a case and the defense began.

Drs. Waugh and Eccles gave medical testimony, and evidence was given by Dr. Driver, Walsh, P. C. Woolway, Robertson, Johnston and others.

Court adjourned at 2 p.m. to allow the jurors to go home for Sunday.

A LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson, Cameron, states: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by the physicians. A neighbor advised me to try DR. THOMAS' ELECTRIC OIL, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on his advice, I procured the medicine, and less than a half-bottle cured me. I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

GRIP SPREADING IN VARIOUS DIRECTIONS

New York City and State Report Many Thousand Cases—Outbreaks of Smallpox.

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 12.—Hundreds of people here are suffering from the grip, influenza or some mild species of pneumonia.

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 12.—An epidemic of the grip is raging, and physicians are busy day and night.

IN BUFFALO.
Buffalo, Jan. 12.—A severe epidemic of grip prevails in this city and several thousand people are suffering from the various forms of the disease. The epidemic has been in progress since Christmas, but its existence as an epidemic was admitted only this afternoon by Health Commissioner Wende.

In many instances, the disease manifests itself in a new way for Buffalo. The grip poison produces gastric complications, resulting in violent nausea, that has continued in a number of cases for 48 hours. Thus far there have been six deaths due to the complications.

IN NEW YORK.
New York, Jan. 12.—Bellevue Hospital today was full to overflowing with patients suffering from grip and pneumonia. The number was so great that many patients had to sleep on the floor last night. As fast as could be, patients were removed to the city and metropolitan hospitals, and these institutions also became congested.

Estimates from a large number of physicians indicate that probably there are more than 500,000 cases of the grip in Greater New York today.

SMALL-POX OUTBREAKS.
Albany, N.Y., Jan. 12.—Dr. Curtis, of the state board of health, reports that several additional cases of small-pox have been discovered. The spread of disease in this section of the state is attributed to Schenectady, where there have been 20 to 25 cases of a pronounced type within the city limits, and about 12 in neighboring towns, including Rotterdam, Niskayuna and Sharon Springs.

Toronto, Jan. 12.—Dr. Bryce, secretary of the provincial board of health, speaking of the outbreaks of small-pox in many parts of the United States, said yesterday he greatly feared that from time to time we might expect cases in this province. During the past two months, according to the American health reports, there had been 800 cases in Winona, Wis., of which 400 still existed. During the same period there were 250 cases in Indiana, 100 of which were new in December. There were also 100 cases in Colorado last month. The workhouse in Cleveland has been quarantined on account of small-pox, and those committed have to be kept in the jail mountains. There is also an epidemic in the lumber camps of Michigan, while similar reports come from Missouri and Kansas. During the last week of December, 23,700 persons were vaccinated in New York.

BOWLING.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The Double Century Bowling Club won the five-handed championship which was finished yesterday in the women's bowling tournament, by a score of 148 points, with a score of 1,876 made the first day of meet. The place went to the Modern Bowling Club, with 1,728 points. The Crescents finished up the contest today, secured third place, with the score of 1,688.

In the three-handed contest, the center team scored 1,207 points; the three turkeys, 1,195, and the star trio, 994. This class will be continued today.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 12.—Local bowlers claim the world's record on regulation alleys, believed to have been held for the past five years by a Chicago man. It has been broken here by the performance of Capt. Willingham, who last night won 10 out of a possible 30 points in a game of ten frames.

AT BINGHAMTON.
Binghamton, N.Y., Jan. 12.—An epidemic of the grip has been raging here for the past week, and instead of showing signs of abatement it appears to be increasing rapidly. It is estimated that from 600 to 1,000 persons are confined to their homes with the disease, and the city hospital is crowded with victims.

The Queen's Veil.

The eyes were dark and large, and full of intelligence; the forehead broad and well-developed for one of his age, and the brows, that straight smooth line that was one of the distinguishing marks of the Carlsford race, while there was a strong resemblance in his whole face to that of the older man at his side.

Tina's lips quivered as she looked at the picture of the boy affected her strangely, then with a look of anxiety deepening in her eyes she passed on to the next portrait.

It represented a young man of perhaps twenty years. His hair was of a chestnut hue, and thrown carelessly back from his brow, broader and fuller than that of the youth, but identical in other respects.

The eyes had deepened and darkened a trifle, but the expression was the same, as were also the straight, well-shaped nose and the smiling lips which, however, had a suggestion of pride in their curves.

The young girl fairly held her breath as she gazed, for she knew that her own face was but a refined type of this, and the eyes looking down into hers seemed almost to own a kindred tie and to follow her every movement with a tender, wistful expression.

Tears sprang to her eyes, sobs broke from her quivering lips, and a pain, which, however, was not altogether pain, smote and thrilled her heart. "Oh, speak and tell me all this dread secret!" she cried, with a yearning voice. "I know you, although within my memory I have never seen you before, own you—in my soul I know that you love me being. Ah! if I might but put life into your eyes for one brief instant, to tell me what I wish to know."

Tina started, and a trembling seized her.

Was it her imagination, and the excitement of the moment, or did those lips relax into a reassuring smile. Did those tender eyes soften and gleam into a wistful, yearning look, as if they longed to acknowledge her all his own? Perhaps it was caused by her changing the position of the canvas, but whatever it was her heart thrilled and her pulses bounded with the strongest emotions, and then all at once her eyes fell upon the picture that made her spring close to the picture with a low cry of joy.

CHAPTER XXVII.

Suspended from a curiously-wrought chain which the young man wore was a portion of a cross entwined with a serpent.

"It is the very same!" Tina whispered, almost awestruck by the sight.

With a trembling hand she drew the slender chain from her own neck, and held that curious ornament close up against that in the picture.

It was the exact counterpart.

The fair girl's excited nerves could bear no more. The strength all went out of her as if she had been stricken with paralysis, and, sinking upon the polished floor, she set her candle down, and, covering her face with her hands, sobbed as if her heart was breaking.

"I own my father," she said, after a time, and, looking up again at the picture, her eyes drew her thither by some power she could not control. "But where—oh, where is my birthright?"

"Tell me," she cried, reaching up her clasped hands, beseechingly, her eyes gleaming, her cheeks crimson, "tell me, have I a right to the name you bear? Must I go through life with the brand of shame stamped upon my brow?"

Even while she spoke, a sense of comfort stole into her bruised heart.

Those tender eyes beamed so fondly on her, those handsome lips smiled so kindly, that it was like one of those troubled waters—like a gently spoken "peace, be still," and she began to grow calm almost immediately.

"I believe you to be too noble to be dishonored," Tina said, involuntarily, after gazing long and fixedly at the portrait again.

"Grand nature, that you were kind, and gentle, and true; I will love you—I will cling to you until I know you were false, and until the mystery is solved I will strive to wait patiently, and bear my cross with meekness."

She bowed her head for a moment as if in prayer, then rising, calm and not altogether comfortless, she took her candle and glided from the room as noiselessly as she had come.

Scarcely had she disappeared, when some curtains on the opposite side of the gallery parted, revealing a glimmer with a light shining from a room beyond. The door opened and a dark figure crossed the floor.

There was a slight scratching noise, and then a match blazed up, and was held close to the picture before which Tina had stood so long.

The light revealed the figure to be Louis Arlesbury.

The gallery, as we have said before, led to the state apartments of the mansion, or rather, these rooms opened into the gallery all along on one side, and the young man had been spending a couple of hours in the state drawing-room, examining a cabinet of curiosities which had been sent as a gift to his grandfather from Russia during his absence.

A glass door separated this room from the corridor and over this door were curtains hung suspended from silver rods.

The house was so quiet that when

Tina's cry had rung out at the discovery of the ornament in the picture it had startled Louis Arlesbury like a thunderbolt, and turning, he had caught the glimmer of her light through a crevice of the curtains.

Turning down his light, he had stolen to the door, where, concealed by the drapery, he had watched her until she left the place, and had been much surprised at the way she had conducted herself.

He could not hear what she said when she addressed the picture, but her tears and emotion caused him to wonder not a little as to the meaning of it all.

"I do not understand it," he muttered, lighting a second match, and examining the portrait closely. "What could the little beauty have wanted here at this hour of the night, and what is there about the picture of my uncle that could have caused her to weep and grieve so?"

By Jove! but she is a splendid little piece of humanity, and I don't blame Lord Ernest for liking a walk and a chat with her in the sly. I'll try it myself one of these days, only I'll take care not to be caught by the female gorgons of the house.

He was being quite so brazen about it, might have left her just before turning into the drive-way, and it would have been better for them both. But good gracious! he added, thoughtfully, "how she did cry! there is something about this that I don't understand."

He managed to worm it out of her before another week is past, and with this worthy resolution, this young cousin of his noble house carefully put out his match and retired from the place by the same way he had entered.

The next morning Tina was reading as usual to the earl in the pleasant sewing-room, when a servant entered in a very gentle manner, and Lady Arlesbury sailed majestically in.

Tina was somewhat pale, for her sleepless night, together with the excitement she had undergone, had robbed her of some of her roses, but she looked extremely pretty with that tender light in her beautiful eyes, and the tremulous smile about her red lips—she could not be altogether miserable, notwithstanding the clouds that were overshadowing her, with the knowledge that she was so tenderly loved by a noble, true-hearted man.

The earl looked up, annoyed at his daughter's entrance. He supposed she had come to give Tina some order, and he did not like to have her reading interrupted. But the young girl knew very well that the storm she had been dreading was about to burst upon her.

"My lord," her ladyship began with unusual staidness, "I would like to see your words with Mademoiselle Florentine."

Then, turning to Tina, she continued, with lowering brow and angry eyes: "After your defiance of my commands, and your improper deportment of yesterday, I have no further use for your services. You will find the sum of your wages with a fortnight's pay in advance, in this purse."

She laid a small porte-monnaie upon the table before Tina, as she spoke, and then continued:

FISTIC.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 12.—The directors of the Saefferfest Athletic Association of Cincinnati express the determination to pull off the Jeffries-Itulin fight here Feb. 15, but the preponderance of public sentiment is to the contrary. The ministers had an enthusiastic meeting yesterday, and the women's clubs and other associations opposing the fight were unusually active and there will be informal meetings of members of the bar. Notwithstanding all the obstructions which confront them, the directors of the Saefferfest Athletic Club still insist that they will hold the fight, and their work is proceeding at Saefferfest Hall.

The attorneys of the Evangelic Association of this city have a warrant for the arrest of Gus Ruhlin, who has an engagement to appear at the Irwin matinee here next Sunday, on the performances during the week, while he is in training here. The Ohio statute makes it a felony to be in training in the state for a prize fight, and under this section the opponents of the purpose to begin with the prosecution of Ruhlin, even to the extent of taking his case before the grand jury, which is now in session.

BASEBALL.

WILL HAVE TEN CLUBS.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—President Johnson, of the American League, announces that the American League will be made up of ten clubs instead of eight. Nine cities already have franchises in the league, and it is intimated that Boston might possibly be chosen for the tenth. Louisville, of course, will be in now in session.

Don't Marry.

Almost everybody remembers the celebrated advice of the London Punch. "To those about to marry. Don't." There is in that advice the expression of the feeling of many a mother who says, "I hope my daughter will never marry and suffer as I have."

In ninety-eight cases in every hundred there's no need for this suffering. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause wifely misery. It dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It invigorates the womanly organism, tranquilizes the nerves and gives the mother strength to give her children.

Do not allow an unscrupulous dealer to sell you something in place of "Favorite Prescription," claimed to be "just as good." There is nothing just as good for women as "Favorite Prescription."

"I am so pleased with your instructions, I hardly know what thanks to give you for your kind favors," writes Mrs. M. Bryant, of Lota, St. Thomas Co., Ga. "You can publish my few statements to the world, hoping all suffering women will know and be healed. I suffered so much with great pains in my back and lower part of my stomach and palpitation of the heart, that I could hardly lie down and could hardly get up in the morning, but after using three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and the pills of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, I feel like a new woman."

be a possibility. Well-informed baseball men do not consider the ten-club circuit feasible, but President Johnson is sanguine it would prove a success should it be tried. The National League magnates proposed the same thing last year, but gave it up. It was considered impossible to arrange a satisfactory schedule, but Mr. Johnson asserted yesterday that this part of the programme would be an easy thing to attend to.

"We have not completed our plans yet," said Mr. Johnson, "but I am ready to state that we have certain conditions. I favor a ten-club circuit. There is a probability that our next circuit will be made up of ten cities. We already have nine—Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Buffalo, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. It would only take one more club to make up a complete circuit, and that city will be easy to secure. I am not prepared to say which of the ten cities will be Boston. Perhaps it will and perhaps again it will not. We can get Boston if we need it. As to the schedule, that will be an easy matter. It would be almost impossible to arrange a schedule for ten clubs as for eight. No trouble will be expected on that score. I expect to see the scheme go through."

HOCKEY.

A FIERCE GAME.

New York, Jan. 12.—With hockey which proved a precursor to the footers, the all New York team tonight defeated the supposed invincible Victorias, of Montreal, by a score of 2 to 1.

The fastest and roughest contest ever seen in the state. One man, Bowie, the Canadian captain, needed a surgeon's assistance because of a wound in his right foot, which was cut through to the bone. Times immemorial the players were bowled over and just as the game was about to be stopped for the night, Howard and Guilo came together, head on, causing the game to be stopped for the night.

Howard and Guilo came together, head on, causing the game to be stopped for the night. The rubber just as the whistle blew announcing the close of play.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—To the lovers of hockey are surprised here tonight would be putting it mild. The fact of the Ottawa's defeating the last year's invincible Shamrocks last night, led to wonder what will happen next. The second half was decidedly in Ottawa's favor, and they had a trouble winning out by a score of 4 to 2.

QUEBEC VS. MONTREAL.

It was 9:16 p.m. before the Quebec-Montreal hockey match was started here tonight. The Montrealers' train being delayed by the snowstorm, Quebec seemed to have it all their own way in the first half, and scored 3 goals to Montreal's nothing.

In the last half Montreal got a goal on and Quebec went completely to pieces. Montreal, scoring seemingly as they pleased, rushing up a total of 7 goals to Quebec's nothing. The final score was thus, 7 to 0.

The game was not what could be called rough, but it was neither tame.

BANK LEAGUE.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 12.—The senior hockey season is about to open here this afternoon, when the Dominion Bank and Bank of Commerce teams played the first game in the bank league, the Dominion winning by one goal to 0.

MONTREALERS AT NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 11.—The crack Victoria hockey club, of Montreal, played the New York Athletic Club seven hockey tonight, and beat them by 8 goals to 5.

VICTORY FOR BARRIE.

CAMPBELLFORD A WINNER.

Campbellford, Jan. 12.—Campbellford and Trent Valley Hockey League series here last night, resulting in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of Campbellford.

PEMBROKE VICTORIOUS.

Amherst, Jan. 12.—Amherst and Pembroke played their first hockey match in the Ottawa Valley League series here this season last night, Pembroke winning after a close battle by 8 goals to 4.

NO GAME AT TILBURY.

Tilbury, Jan. 12.—Tilbury had not given up the contest in O. H. A., and is still in the game, but could not play last night on account of there being no ice here.

CURLING.

DETROIT BONSPIEL.

The fourth annual bonspiel of the Detroit curling club, an event of international character, is scheduled for tomorrow and Wednesday. Among those expected to enter are the Granites of Toronto, the United of Hamilton, the Hamilton Woodstock, Simcoe and Stratford, while entries have been made by the following clubs: Windsor, Glencoe, Ancaster, Embury, Ridgeway, Sarnia, Forest, Grand Rapids, Toledo, Pontiac, the Forest City of London and Saint Ste. Marie.

At the conclusion of the bonspiel, the rinks entered in the Ontario tankard and assigned to group 9 will commence play on the rink of the curling club.

The dates of play and of drawing have not yet been decided, but if the ice holds good there is little doubt that the matches will be played this week. Nearly all of the rinks included in group 9 will be there, and it makes it convenient for the curling club to make another trip to Detroit. The clubs that are included in this group are Chatham, Windsor, Glencoe, Detroit, Toledo, Ridgeway, Grand Rapids and Thamesville.

THE WHEEL.

ELKES A WINNER.

Boston, Jan. 12.—Harry Elkes, of Glens Falls, N. Y., added another victory to his long list by defeating Albert W. Ross, of Patterson, N. J., in a 15-mile motor-paced race, run on the pursuit plan, at Park Square Garden tonight, in 2:15 2-5. He led by nearly half a lap at the end of the race. Albert Chapman, of Paris, France, won the 10-mile straight race from F. A. Gately, Boston, in five laps. Time, 57:1-5 seconds.

NAVY ALL NEW—NO OLD HULKS.

Japan is stronger at sea than the figures show, because her navy list is not inflated, as is that of nearly every other power, with the names of obsolete or worn-out vessels. All her ships are new; all are first-rate and are in date in every respect. She has finely equipped shipbuilding yards at Kobe and Nagasaki; her workshops at Yokosuka employ 3,300 men.

Give her two or three years more and she will have forged a weapon which will be wielded skillfully and as ruthlessly to enforce the will of the Land of the Rising Sun as the forces of any other power. Muncey's Magazine.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW

Says the "Pan-Am." Will Surpass the Paris Fair.

Tells Chairman J. N. Scatterd the Half Has Not Been Told of the Grandeur and Beauty of the Exposition at Buffalo.

"Scatterd, you did not praise it half enough."

So spoke the distinguished statesman and famous after dinner orator, Senator Chauncey M. Depew, as he stood in the center of the grounds of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo and gazed upon the beautiful structures surrounding him on every side and now approaching completion.

Senator Depew had come to Buffalo to deliver an address. His first desire on arrival in the city was to be driven to the grounds of the Exposition. The remark quoted above was addressed to Chairman John N. Scatterd of the executive committee of the Exposition, who had told Senator Depew of the progress made in the building of the Exposition when they had met in Europe last summer. Mr. Scatterd had dwelt long and eloquently upon the success which had attended the organization and construction of the Exposition, and "Our Chauncey's" expectations were high. Nevertheless, anticipations are not equal to realization.

Looking upon the scene before him from the sight of the grand Triumphant Bridge, he saw to his right the stately proportions of the United States Government buildings, to the left, across the spacious Esplanade, the charming architectural effects of the Graphic Arts, Horticultural and Mines buildings, while the vast Machinery and Transportation building, now almost complete, was seen in the background to the left. Opposite it, across the Court of Fountains, was the Manufactures and Liberal Arts building, and the Electric Tower could be seen rising skyward in the distance at the far end of the vast court, with the towers and minarets of other buildings outlined against the horizon.

Later in the day the popular orator addressed an audience which filled to overflowing Buffalo's great Convention hall. In the opening lines of his speech the speaker declared: "Six weeks ago I was at the Universal Exposition at Paris. Today I went through the grounds where your Pan-American Exposition is to be held. I felt that Buffalo is going to do at least twice as well as Paris."

Latin-American and Pan-American.

The press of the various countries of Latin-America show a cordial interest in the Pan-American Exposition. It is recognized that their co-operation is essential to the end that the Exposition may adequately represent the progress of all the states and countries of this hemisphere. As a rule the editors of newspapers and other publications in the countries to the south of the United States display a very favorable attitude toward the enterprise.

B. R. Lopez, editor and proprietor of La Correspondencia de Porto Rico, has become so enthusiastic over the Exposition that he writes to the Press Department that he is about to come to Buffalo to see for himself the progress made in the development of the Exposition. He will be accompanied by his family. Many other editors of the Latin-American press have also announced their intention to attend the Exposition, and inquiries are pouring in from these countries regarding steamboat and railroad routes. Many editors and correspondents from Central and South American countries have already visited the Exposition grounds.

Wisconsin's Building.

Commissioners from Wisconsin, who have charge of the exhibits from that state at the Pan-American Exposition, have selected a site for the State building. About 20 acres have been set apart on the eastern side of the Exposition grounds for state and foreign buildings. The site chosen for the Wisconsin building is nearly opposite the large buildings of the National governments just south of one of the mirror lakes and south of the Ohio building. It will overlook the Esplanade, with its wonderful fountains and gardens, and a number of the large buildings will be in full view. The Wisconsin commission are Willard A. Van Brunt and George B. Burrows of Madison, B. E. Edwards of Lacrosse, Charles Reynolds of Sturgeon Bay and George H. Yule of Kenosha. Wisconsin will spend $25,000 on her building and exhibits at Buffalo.

A $6,000 A. O. U. W. Building.

The Ancient Order of United Workmen are planning elaborately to welcome the members of the order to Buffalo next year. The Supreme Lodge has appropriated $3,000 and the State Lodge $3,000 more to be used for the erection and furnishing of a fine headquarters building at the Pan-American Exposition. The Supreme Lodge will meet in Buffalo next year. The building is a handsome pavilion, with rooms for rest, and the upper story a great balcony, with easy chairs, for all members of the order who attend the Exposition.

The final meeting of the board of health for 1900 was held Saturday night. The annual statement concerning the health of the city, and the semi-annual milk report were submitted by Medical Health Officer Hutchinson.

In addition to other matters, the board considered the school board's resolution to enforce the act requiring children to be vaccinated before being allowed to attend school. This might prove a hardship to some people.
It was thought, so the board resolved, in order to facilitate the vaccination of persons not in a condition to pay for the same, whether attending school or not, that the board of health agree to pay to the physicians of the city 25 cents for each of such cases, provided that any physician presenting a claim for such payment shall make an affidavit giving a detailed list of persons so vaccinated successfully, with their addresses, and declaring that in his belief those vaccinated were unable to pay for the same.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Chairman Charles Taylor for the able and courteous manner in which he had performed the duties of his office during the year.

Mr. Taylor replied briefly. Subsequently he entertained his colleagues at the Hub restaurant, where a decidedly enjoyable hour was spent.
Those present were Dr. Campbell, S.
Stevie, Ald. Douglass, Mayor Rumball, Dr. Hutchinson, Inspector Bell and Secretary Bell.

SUCCESSFUL GRADUATION.
Among those who recently graduated very successfully, from the Training School for Nurses, in connection with the Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, after a three-years' course, is Miss Cameron, daughter of Mr.
John Cameron, of this city. The Pennsylvania Hospital is an old foundation, from the times of George III., before the declaration of independence, and is one of the most celebrated and thorough hospitals in the world.

Physicians in Germany Send Patients to America for Food.

Two clergymen who went to Germany last year for treatment by a noted specialist were told that they must use Grape-Nuts, made in America, at Battle Creek, Mich., for the principal part of each meal. This suggestion interested the two divines greatly, for while they knew of Grape-Nuts and that there was a large use made of the food in America, it had never come their way to try it.

A lady in Hedding, N. H., Mrs. Otis Cole, says the after effect of the grip was a serious gastric and stomach trouble. All the following summer she had many attacks of palpitation of the heart, nausea, pain, faintness, insomnia, and all the other ills which accompany impaired nerve force and indigestion.

She began using Grape-Nuts to build her up and found at once that the food created no disturbance and she began to gain in strength and courage. In October she went for a visit and took Grape-Nuts with her to use each day. She gained 10 pounds in weight in about four months and fully recovered her health.

She further says: "While I am now entirely well, I shall probably adhere to Grape-Nuts during the balance of my life. My brother-in-law, a practicing physician, says Grape-Nuts simmered in milk, strained and the clear liquid given, forms an ideal nourishment in cases of extreme prostration, and its stimulating effect is noticed immediately. A friend of mine, a professional reader, carries a package of Grape-Nuts in her hand-bag, for she says the exhaustion after a day's work will not admit of hunching on ordinary food, but Grape-Nuts food always restores her and leaves no ill effects, for the food is so easily digested and is ready cooked, therefore a great convenience."

LAI D'EST.

The funeral of Mr. L. H. Ingram took place yesterday from his late residence, Dufferin avenue, and was attended by a large number of citizens.
The Rev. Dr. Smith conducted the services, and spoke very impressively of the many sterling qualities of the deceased and of the success which had attended him by reason of these qualities. The interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. W. Little,
Chas. Ivey, P. Love, Chas. Elliott, S.
W. Abbott and Thos. H. Smallman.
Among the many beautiful floral offerings was a sheaf by the Canadian Order of Foresters, a spray by the choir of the First Methodist Church, a broken pillar by the board of trusttees of the church, a cross from the Red Cross Association, and a star, crescent and broken wheel from the employees of Smallman & Ingram.

SERIOUS MISHAP.

On Saturday afternoon, as Rev.
Thomas S. Johnson, pastor of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, was proceeding along King street, he fell on the slippery sidewalk, not far from the church, and broke his left arm near the wrist. The accident is the more unfortunate as Mr. Johnson had barely recovered from his recent severe illness, which lasted several weeks.
Rev. W. A. Fortner, the clever young pastor of the Midlandville Baptist Church, Michigan, on being informed of the circumstances (though suffering from a severe cold), kindly consented to preach for Mr. Johnson, both morning and evening, and gave two excellent addresses. Rev. Mr.
Fortner had been given a short holiday by his church in order to rest and recuperate, and took the occasion to visit his brother Mr. E. R. Fortner, of this city.

ST. THOMAS BOY WELCOMED.

Trooper Percy Ermatinger, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, son of Judge Ermatinger, of St. Thomas, arrived home on Saturday, per C. P. R.
There was a large crowd at the station to accord him a hearty welcome home. Mayor Meehan, members of the city council and other citizens drove to the M. C. R. station, where, besides the parents of Trooper Ermatinger, were a large number of prominent and representative citizens of St.
Thomas. As the train pulled in, and the returned soldier alighted, he was given hearty cheers and bugles were blown, and meantime the city hall bell kept clanging. Then he with members of his family and city councill were driven to his father's residence. There were a number of cutters in the line of procession containing South African soldiers, officers of the 25th Regiment, friends of Trooper Ermatinger and other citizens. The city hall flag was flying and the building decorated in honor of Trooper Ermatinger's return. Trooper Ermatinger was a member of the Northwest Mounted Police, and one of that body which joined the second contingent.

LONDON'S SANITARY CONDITION

As Shown by the Medical Health Officer's Report.

The Death Rate 13 in 1,000 of the Population During 1900.

Medical Health Officer Hutchinson, in his annual report to the board of health upon the health of the city, states that the number of deaths in the past year was only 13 in 1,000.
This is scarcely so low as the previous year, although very satisfactory. The slight increase is accounted for by the fact that the hospital accommodation of the city has been largely increased, and as a consequence more people come to London from outside points for treatment.

The report deals considerably with the treatment of consumption, and backs up the idea of a sanitarium, or the fresh air treatment. That the matter is one of the greatest importance is proven by the fact that the "white plague" has again been responsible for a very large proportion of the deaths of the year. The report is interesting throughout, and is as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Health:

Gentlemen, I have the honor to submit my annual report upon the sanitary condition of the city and other matters relating to the public health, for the year ending Nov. 15, 1900.

Five hundred and ten deaths occurred during the year, exclusive of eighteen still-born, which are not counted in mortality statistics.

Consumption, as usual, heads the list with 60 deaths. Pneumonia comes next with 51, and organic disease of the heart, with 23; paralysis 18 and cancer 17, the latter disease being still on the increase in Ontario.

There were only 16 deaths from cholera infantum. Nine deaths were caused by violence, that is, railroad accidents, hanging, lightning, gunshot wounds, and several by poison. Twelve deaths were caused by premature birth.
The very satisfactory number of 41 deaths were due to old age. The ages ranged from 85 to 99 years, being the largest number reaching 85 and over in ten years.

The death rate for the year was 13 in every 1,000 of the population.

This is not quite as low as last year, but it must be remembered that our hospital facilities are better, and a larger number of people from outside the city come in for treatment.

Two hundred and eighty-five cases of infectious diseases, exclusive of consumption, occurred during the year, namely: Scarlet fever 151, typhoid fever

75, diphtheria 59. Of the 285 cases, 212 were attended at Victoria Hospital.
The deaths from the whole number were as follows: Typhoid fever 8, diphtheria 6, and scarlet fever 6. This is the lowest number of deaths from infectious diseases in the city in eleven years, and may be taken as evidence of its sanitary condition.

The number of premises, closets and yards reported unclean is also less than last year, owing partly to the larger number connected with the public sewers, and the citizens more willingly cooperating with the health authorities in keeping their premises clean.

In the spring there were 8,661 places visited by the sanitary inspectors; 1,799 were reported unclean, and the percentage of 2,163 last year, a reduction of the number of unclean premises of 364.
The population of the city is now 39, 050.

In former reports I have referred at some length to the rapid increase in the number of deaths from tuberculosis in its various forms, and endeavored to show the contagiousness of the disease and the urgent necessity, if we desire to lessen and stamp out as far as in our power lies this the most dreadful of all diseases, not excepting smallpox, to insist on complete isolation and more careful sanitation.

It should be a matter of great satisfaction to boards of health, physicians and all thinking men, that in its wisdom the Ontario Legislature, at its recent session, passed an act whereby municipalities may erect sanitarium for consumptive and receive government aid in purchasing lands and the erection of buildings to an extent not to exceed $4,000, and also a promise that towards maintenance the sum of $1 50 per week would be granted for each patient.

It has been already proved in Germany—a country in the van of medical progress—that the only satisfactory method by which this disease can be lessened and as far as possible stamp out, is to erect sanitarium at various centers, and connect them in accordance with the strictest sanitary precautions.

It is a matter for congratulation that

Lord's Day Alliance.

The regular meeting of the executive of the London branch of the Ontario Lord's Day Alliance was held in the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon, the president, Mr. W. E. Saunders, in the chair. A letter from the general secretary, Rev. J. C. Shearer, was read, asking this branch to assist in getting signatures to the petition of the merchants and shopkeepers asking the legislature to enact that all shops close at 9 p.m. on Saturdays.
On motion the president, secretary and treasurer were appointed a committee to arrange for the circulation of the petition.

A complaint was received that some barbers kept their shops open on Sunday, and a list of eight or ten who offended in this way was handed in, and referred to a committee to investigate and report at the next meeting.

It was also stated that some photographers and dentists were not content with doing business on six days in the week.

The secretary was requested to state at the next meeting the number of members as reported so far by the agents in the different congregations.
