

VICTORIA HOSPITAL NURSES IN PETITION TO TRUSTEE BOARD ASK FOR BETTER CONDITIONS

Twelve-Hour Shift Is Too Long, Claim Made—Opportunity of Attending Church Also Demanded.

As the result of spirit of dissatisfaction which is alleged to have existed among the nurses of the Victoria Hospital because of the lack of harmony existing between the heads of that institution and the nurses, a petition will be presented to the board of trustees at its next meeting in an effort to secure better relations between the two bodies, that the petition has been signed by practically every nurse in training and working at the Victoria Hospital in sympathy with the movement.

Perhaps the greatest trouble standing between the nurses and the hospital is the long hours which they are forced to work. It has been ascertained that the nurses of London that the three-shift system and consequently an 8-hour shift system was introduced some months ago. It was pointed out by one of the nurses that the Victoria Hospital system was introduced it did not last long, because of the great scarcity of nurses. At the present time the nurses are working twelve hours a day.

It was further ascertained that the nurses to attend even one church service on Sunday during the past, so the nurses of the Victoria Hospital petition asking that this privilege be granted them. The nurses in training are in an opportunity to sign even them of attending the theatre at least once a month.

It was further said was brought to the head by an alleged injustice that was visited upon the head of one of the nurses. It was alleged that the system was forced to give up her cap for a slight infringement of one of the rules.

An effort was made by The Advertiser this afternoon to secure a statement from the head of the Victoria Hospital concerning the matter, but nearly every member of the board of trustees was out of the city with Sir Philippertin Heard of Victoria Hospital also failed.

VETERAN ELECTED TO MANITOBA HOUSE REFUSES TO RESIGN C.N.R. JOB DESPITE PRESIDENT'S ORDER

A. E. Moore, President of Winnipeg G. W. V. A., Demands That Government State Attitude With Regard to Hanna's Recent Instructions—Deputation of Returnees Men Will Interview Premier Meighen.

Winnipeg, Nov. 12.—President A. E. Moore of the Winnipeg Command of the G. W. V. A. from the chair of last night's meeting of the command gave out his first statement on the order of President Hanna of the Canadian National Railways, under which he was given the alternative of resigning as a member of the Manitoba Legislature or oust his position with the railway.

Mr. Moore stated that he had been an employee of the railroad for 12 years, and has never heard of such an order being in existence. He believed the head of the Canadian Northern Railway

There are both big and little offenders under the income tax administration. In one instance, a man who was only assessed 68 cents delayed payment until the addition of penalties had run the amount which he finally paid up to quite a few dollars.

In other instances offenders have sought to evade payment of hundreds of dollars of taxes by making reports which the department in checking up found to be away under the actual total of taxable income received.

Of course, one gets quite a handful of notices before he is finally haled into court. Yes, it pays to pay your taxes on the dot.

The rearrangement of departments to make room for the display of holiday merchandise is now going on. Some stocks are already located in their new quarters and the many sales on Saturday will facilitate the condensing of stocks for other changes to follow. This is an absolute necessity, as the immense stocks of Christmas goods carried by this store would for their proper display require one entire floor. It is, therefore, necessary that each department sacrifice all space possible to accommodate the display of Christmas goods.

KING WINTER GIVES OFFICIAL WARNING

Icy Blasts and Carpet of Snow
Greets Londoners Today.

A foretaste of the return of winter was afforded London people yesterday and last night, when low temperatures prevailed. With the gloom and dreariness of yesterday, the temperature dropped to only 20 degrees minimum, and during the day attained a maximum of only 40 degrees. Two degrees nearer zero were registered last night, when the minimum temperature was 18 and the maximum only 32.

An ample covering of snow carpeted the streets and sidewalks, and this morning pedestrians and horses, alike taken by surprise, were slipping and sprawling at many icy sidewalks. Bright sunshine streaming from a clearer sky, and rising temperatures, had, however, dissipated all the snow by noon today.

FEAR MEN ARE LOST.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Capt. Harry Colter of the tug Nellie put into Port Colborne last night and reported that he had been compelled to abandon two derelict scows six miles off port when the tug's tow lines parted in a storm. Each scow carried two men. All were from Cleveland.

The tug Georgia, with a lifesaving crew sent out from Buffalo was reported early today several miles off Port Colborne, and it was feared there that they had capsized.

J. W. BRUCE TO SPEAK AT FORUM MEETING

Veterans' Council Asked to Appoint Members for Labor Organization.

John W. Bruce of Toronto, general organizer for plumbers and steamfitters, and a member of the labor appeal board, and formerly a member of the industrial relations commission, will be the principal speaker at the next meeting of the Labor Forum to be held on Friday, November 19, in the Labor Temple, 288½ Dundas street.

Mr. Bruce will have as his subject one that is of general interest to all workers, "Housing and Health for the Workers." He will deal with the conditions as they are in Canada, and will advance many plans for the betterment of the social conditions of the workingmen.

The Central Veterans' Council has been asked to appoint three members to the Labor Forum, to represent the veterans, as soldier questions will probably be dealt with at the Labor Forum meetings.

A strong and stringent constitution has been prepared by the committee, which deals mainly with the subjects and the speakers who will be asked to address the gatherings that will be held monthly.

The powers and functions of the committee shall be as follows:

To choose speakers for the meetings of the Labor Forum. No speaker can be selected for any meeting of the forum whose views on current topics are, in the opinion of the committee, of such a character as to rank that speaker as unfriendly to the interests of organized or unorganized labor.

To select or approve of subjects which are to be dealt with at meetings of the forum. As the purpose of the forum is to assist in the education of the industrial workers, only topics conducive to this end may be chosen for public treatment. All subjects, the discussion of which might lead to racial or religious animosities or might tend to bring about a dismemberment of the ranks of labor, are strictly debatable from consideration at meetings of the forum.

To prepare rules of procedure for the meetings of the forum. These rules must be drawn up in such a fashion that free and open discussion will be allowed to all persons who are members of the audience. The committee shall have the right to appoint a chairman for each meeting of the forum to whom it will give instructions relative to the conduct of the meeting. All other questions connected with the program for each forum meeting shall be arranged by the committee.

To authorize the collection and disbursement of such funds as are necessary to meet the incidental and extraordinary expenses of the Labor Forum.

The powers and functions of the committee shall be as follows:

To choose speakers for the meetings of the Labor Forum.

NEW MUSICIANS FOR PRINCESS PATS BAND

Will Take Part in Farewell
Concert at Grand Opera House Sunday Night.

Several new musicians have arrived from England during the past week to join the Princess Patricia's Band and will be heard at the band concert to be given in the Grand Opera House on Sunday evening under the auspices of the I. O. D. E. The collection to be given to patriotic purposes.

Among them is Sergt. F. Tucker, assistant solo cornet. Sergt. Tucker joined the Royal North Lancashire in November, 1918, and was made band sergeant in 1918 owing to his great ability, and had the distinction of being the youngest band sergeant in the British army. He went to France with his regiment in August, 1914, as bandmaster, and is one of the "Old Contemptibles." In 1918 he was recalled to England to form a band for the Tank Corps, in which position he remained until the end of the war. He was then recalled to England to form a band for the Tank Corps, in which position he remained until the end of the war.

Another new member is Bandman A. Leamy, double bass. Leamy was a member of the West Yorks and went to France in August, 1914, and is also one of the "Old Contemptibles." He was recalled to England to form a band for the Tank Corps, in which position he remained until the end of the war.

Still another is Bandman A. E. Gamble, E. Flat clarinet. Gamble was a member of the Essex Regiment Band, and also went to France in August, 1914. He obtained a Knighthall certificate for clarinet and also violin.

These additions to the excellent band of last Sunday will make the program of the coming Sunday evening, still more delightful.

The program over which Mayor E. S. Little will preside, includes: Supper, beautiful overture, "Morning, Noon and Night," "Recollections of Gounod," arranged by Morrell; "The Wee MacGregor," a Highland patrol, by Ames; "La Cinqumaine," Marie; a Spanish Suite by Lacombe, and Rossini's "Grand Military Tattoo." There will also be a solo number by Sergt. R. W. Everson, "The Trumpeter," Airle Dix.

WORKING DAY FOR MAYOR IS EASILY OVER EIGHT HOURS

E. S. Little in Favor of Chief Magistrate Devoting Entire Time to City.

Mayor Little is quite in sympathy with the move to require the chief magistrate of the city to devote his whole time to civic duties and to receive a salary for his services.

"As anyone who has been in the mayor's chair will know, anything like that would make very little difference," he said. "Presumably, as this idea is said to have originated with organized labor, the mayor's working day will be fixed at eight hours. If mayors could be certain their working hours would be limited to eight hours they would hail the change with joy. The aggregate time devoted to city business by whoever is in the mayor's position easily averages eight hours a day and considerably more."

The hard work of the Yale "vars" ended yesterday, and only signal practice was to be carried through today.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 12.—Undergraduate Yale will move as a body from the college precincts to the railroad station tonight as a token of confidence in the football team upon its departure for Princeton. The parade will be of old-time proportions and enthusiasm, if expectations are realized. Class formations will be marshaled by "Y" men, and the university band will lead off. The college will be cheered as the column winds around the buildings before the start, and as each player will get a salute upon arrival at the station. There will be a series of volleys for the team as the train pulls out.

The local drill of students yesterday was taken by more than a thousand at the bowl. Every night for a week hundreds have been singing Yale songs in mass, and at the Harvard game next week a mighty volume of sound will come from the Blue section. Hundreds of Yale men will be in Princeton tomorrow.

BENEFIT OF DOUBT GIVEN TO DRIVER

Taximan Saved From Fine by Companions.

Therefore, Lesser Degree of Drunkenness Established in Eyes of the Law.

As there are degrees of drunkenness and it is therefore hard at times for an officer to decide just at what point a man becomes incapable of caring for himself or driving a car, the benefit of the doubt was given to a local taxi-driver when he appeared before Magistrate Graydon this morning charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor. The case was dismissed after the driver had received a lecture from the magistrate.

Along with two other taxi drivers the man was arrested on Thursday night, while he was driving north on Richmond street, by Sergt. Thomas Noonan and P. C. Thomas Fish. The three men were taken to the station, but as the other two men were not considered drunk enough for a charge to be preferred against them they were allowed to go.

Sergt. Noonan swore that the three men came out of a local cafe and started north before he could stop them. The first man then called to P. C. Fish, who was down the street, to stop them. The driver of the car refused to get out when the officer requested him, so he was taken out. Sergt. Noonan said that there were many evidences that the man was very drunk.

P. C. Fish corroborated the story of the sergeant.

The accused said that he had nothing to drink since 4 o'clock in the afternoon. At that time he had taken three little drinks at the home of a friend. He denied that he was drunk, and claimed that he was well able to drive his car.

E. W. Flock, appearing for the prisoner succeeded in establishing the fact that the man started and stopped the car in the most approved style. The two companions of the accused were called as witnesses of the defence and corroborated his story.

THE GOOD SHOE SHOP

On October 30, after eight years' of residence here, in which he gained a reputation as a solid citizen. In his wake came bankruptcy petitions against him, and charges that he had duplicated mortgages on his home. With the departure of the father, his son, John, went to the county authorities with the story which, he said, he had kept secret under threat of death by his parent.

The family was originally named Don-little, according to the son, and lived at Madison, Maine, where the mother died. The father was charged with passing a worthless check, is son said, and, calling his children to him, told them he was leaving for the west, and that their names thereafter would be Whitney. He went to Montana and lived there several years, returning east in 1912 with a second wife, and settled here.

For the rest of the season would cost very little and would perhaps save you thousands of dollars. Let us explain to you.

RESERVOIR COMPLETED BY SATURDAY NIGHT

Few Finishing Touches Yet To Be Made.

OFFICIAL CEREMONIES
Will Mark Completion of the Undertaking Before End of Month.

Concrete work on the Springbank reservoir will be completed Saturday night, General Manager E. Y. Buchanan said today. Only a few more sections remain to be finished and the work on these is being rapidly carried through.

A few finishing touches will then be required before the huge basin is ready to become part of the city's water supply system. A concrete rim will be placed around the top and other minor details added.

Pipes connecting the reservoir with the pump-house have not been connected. This work will require several days. It is expected that by that time the concrete will have "set" in spite of the low temperature, and that it will be ready for the water.

Pumping will be commenced during the latter part of next week. Plenty of water is available. The reservoir is full to the brim and some of the pumps are not running. When all of them are in operation the new reservoir can be filled in a very short space of time. Official ceremonies to mark the completion of the work likely will take place before the end of the month.

MEMORIAL METHODIST

Issues invitation to Rev. J. H. Johnston, Parkhill, to succeed Rev. B. H. Robinson.

The quarterly board of the George Robinson Memorial Church has issued an invitation to Rev. J. H. Robinson of Parkhill to succeed Rev. B. H. Robinson, who goes to Leamington next June. The invitation has not yet been accepted.

Mr. Johnston was a former resident of Fingal, Elgin County, and before going to Parkhill was pastor of the McDougall Methodist Church in Edmonton.

Cronyn Memorial Church.

Armistice celebrations had more than usual significance for the Rev. G. Q. Warner, rector of Cronyn Memorial Church. While he was attending a banquet in the parish house in commemoration of the day, his brother, Major D. V. Warner, who has been overseas since 1914 as a chaplain with the Canadian forces, arrived in the city. They met for the first time in six years amid the rejoicing marking the second anniversary of the war's end. Major Warner, after being introduced to those present at the banquet, made a short address.

At the outbreak of the war he was at Shelburne, Nova Scotia. He resigned his charge and went overseas with the first Canadians. After the signing of the armistice he remained in England until a short time ago. He will visit for a few days with his brother here and will preach at the morning service next Sunday. He will then proceed to Montreal, where he will be rector of St. Matthias Church.

Washington, Nov. 12.—The committee of one hundred investigating the Irish question announced today that it had accepted the offer of Mrs. William B. MacSwiney, widow of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, to come to the United States to testify in the hearings which the committee plans to begin November 17. Mrs. MacSwiney, the committee said, had been asked to reach the United States, if possible, not later than December 6.

New Hampshire Youth Declares Father Killed
Stepmother.

Langdon, N. H., Nov. 12.—An abandoned well on the farm of William B. Whitney, which had been filled with rock and debris, was reopened today by county authorities in a search for the body of Whitney's second wife. The search was ordered by County Solicitor Henry N. Hurd, as a result of a declaration made to him by John Whitney, 15 years old, son of William B. Whitney, by a former marriage, that he saw his father strike down his stepmother in their home four years ago, take her body to the hay mow and later bury it in the well.

W. B. Whitney disappeared from town after the murder.

Whitney's disappearance was reported to the sheriff's office.

PROTECTION POLICY REGARDED AS BEST

Tariff Commissioners Take Evidence At Sherbrooke, Que.

Sherbrooke, Que., Nov. 12.—The city, local manufacturers, and the board of trade were represented at the session of the tariff commission, which opened its hearings here in the courthouse this morning, and endorsed the continuance of a policy of protection as being in the interests of the city and the surrounding districts. In the absence of the mayor, who is not in the city, Pro-Mayor Tetrault presented the brief on behalf of the city, in which it is pointed out that Sherbrooke's "value" is phenomenal growth in the past few years to this number of manufacturers located here. This is the means of supplying a great part of the population with employment and generally improving conditions. The markets owe their success, in turn, to the fortunate working conditions that prevail. It is pointed out that the customs tariff is responsible for much of this industrial growth and property, and it is said that any difference in the fiscal policy would mean injury to the manufacturer situated here.

IRISH RADICALS EXPELLED FROM AUSTRALIAN PARLIAMENT

London, Nov. 12.—(By the Canadian Associated Press)—President Mahon of the Australian Irish League has been expelled from the Australian House of Representatives for a wild speech, describing the situation in Ireland as a saturnalia of murder, arson and plunder by a foreign army of occupation. The motion to expel Mahon was made by Premier Hughes, who maintained that the speech was incompatible with the oath of allegiance. According to a cable to the Times, Mahon, who was elected as a Labor member, had previously told Premier Hughes that he could "go to the devil," and the House could do what it liked.

Eighty MEN APPLY FOR WORK SEVENTY-SEVEN RECEIVE JOBS

Government Employment Bureau Is Doing Good Work in Finding Situations For Those Out of Work.

Eighty men applied for employment at the office of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau last week. Seventy-seven were placed in positions. There were 47 returned soldiers in the number placed. Men placed in agricultural employment were 15, as laborers 22, as building laborers 11, as shop laborers 3, the remainder of the number placed accepting work as textile workers, bushmen, molders and machinists. Reports sheets giving the names, occupations and positions obtained are available at the office of the Ontario employment department, corner of Talbot and Dundas streets, showing that there is no padding of the figures given out regarding the work of the bureau. While other agencies and individuals are taking a pessimistic view of the labor situation, the Ontario labor department here is kept busy actually placing the men.

So far as this office is concerned, it demonstrates a sample election under the "P. R." system. Mr. Ross has for many years been studying and writing on the subject of electoral reforms and systems, and has achieved quite a reputation along these lines. Suggestions will also be received from the members of the chamber of commerce in the discussion tonight as to the form the next meeting should take in view of the approaching municipal elections.

Salvation Army OFFICERS HERE ARE PROMOTED

Major and Mrs. John Crichton Are Now Brigadiers.

Word was received at the local branch of the Salvation Army Thursday morning, that in the new promotions made by General Bramwell Booth, the local command, had been promoted to brigadiers. At present Brigadier and Mrs. Crichton are in Kingstonville attending the opening ceremonies of a new branch there. They were not informed of the promotion until Thursday afternoon. Brigadier and Mrs. Crichton have only been commanders here for about two months. Previous to coming to the city they were at headquarters in Toronto. Brigadier Crichton has been in the Salvation Army work for 28 years. During that time he has served in Toronto, Quebec, Vancouver and Halifax. He was stationed in Halifax during the disaster, and was head of the relief committee.

ONE CASUALTY.—Only one casualty resulted from all the bombardment to which the city was subjected last night. Eddie Locke, 13 years old, an Empress Avenue school cadet, was slightly burned when the face of a Roman candle which exploded prematurely. He was cared for by the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

COMMISSION TO VISIT WESTERN UNIVERSITY ON THURSDAY NEXT

Investigators Will Ask Universities For Financial Information.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—At the first meeting of the provincial commission which is to investigate university finances, held today in the office of the deputy attorney general, it was decided to send formal invitations to the University of Toronto, Queen's University and Western University to present full information as to their finances and allied subjects to the commission early in December. It was agreed that the commissioners should visit the University of Toronto on Thursday and Friday of next week respectively, and Queen's University on November 22.

All the members of the commission were present. They are: Hon. H. J. Cuddy, this city, chairman; Sir John Wilson and A. Russell, Toronto; Col. A. P. Deroche of Ottawa; C. R. Dismerville of London; and J. A. Wallace of the town of Simcoe.

28 BAGS OF SUPPLIES FOR CHILDREN'S AID

Union Sunday School of Newberry Remembers Youngsters With Generous Donation.

Just how keenly residents of the surrounding district are interested in the orphan children of London was indicated today, when the Children's Aid Society received from the Union Sunday School of Newberry, Mo., Township, one of the most generous donations of supplies in its whole history. Twenty-eight bags of apples and vegetables arrived all at once by prepaid freight.

The shipment included, seven bags of potatoes, three of carrots, three of beets, five of cabbage, one of turnips, one of parsnips, one of onions, and seven of apples.

NO DISCUSSION.—No discussion of plans for high school accommodation was held at the meeting of No. 2 committee of the board of education this afternoon. Under procedure rules of the board, no business can be initiated and nothing has been referred to it concerning the situation.

WESTERN FAIR MEETING.—At the meeting of the Western Fair board which was held in the Western Fair offices, Dominion Savings Building, Saturday, at 2:30 o'clock, all business relative to the fair's exhibition will be completed. Secretary A. M. Hunt stated this morning that the attendance at the exhibition is not known, but the gate receipts were much higher than in previous years. It is impossible to ascertain exact attendance as changes were made in the admittance prices on different days.

RECOGNIZED AT LAST.—Recognition of the gratuitous service in the behalf of thrift on the part of London school teachers was made in the form of a vote of appreciation by the board of education at a social evening to be held in the Ryerson School, University, manager of the bank, is expected to be present, and Hamilton Cassels, the president, may also be here.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE. New York, Nov. 12.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Gains outnumbered losses at the opening of today's trading on the stock exchange, short covering resulting from the moderate rally in foreign exchange and prospects of easier money conditions. Within the first half hour, however, a sharp reversal occurred, pressure proving especially effective in the equipment, steel and shipping groups. American Car, General Electric and Bethlehem Steel fell 2 points each. Atlantic-Gulf reacted 1½ points, and American International lost 1 point. Early gains in Mexican and American Petroleum and some of the investment falls were forfeited, and food and tobacco issues featured the heavy specialties.

1:30 p.m.—Liquidation assumed heavy proportions at midday with many new low records for the year and a new low in United States Steel for several years at 23½. Over-night losses among the equipments, shippings and motor specialties, notably General Electric, United Fruit, Atlantic-Gulf, American International and Kelly-Springfield extended from ¾ to 1½ points.

15 WOMEN POLLING CLERKS EMPLOYED

City Clerk Baker Has Complete Staff Engaged for Municipal Elections.

Preparations for the election in January are well under way. City Clerk Baker said today that he had signed on his complete staff of deputy returning officers and polling clerks. Women will play a prominent part this year. Fifteen of them will act as polling clerks. A number of others are on the substitute list. In the event of some of the male clerks failing to put in appearance the number of women on duty will be increased. Several of those employed are married.

Next year there are certain to be at least two women deputy returning officers. Mr. Baker said, as the ones returning the best service this year as polling clerks will be promoted.

Several of the women are local school teachers. Mr. Baker said he believed there would be no objection to their acting in that capacity, as the Christmas holidays would be in progress, and they would not conflict with their school duties.

In addition to being of financial assistance to them, it was also a good training for them in civic affairs, and enabled them to impart knowledge of this nature to their pupils from first-hand information. One teacher who acted as a poll clerk last year with great success, as she wanted the holiday, but in a letter to the city clerk she stated her experience of the past year had been worth several weeks' schooling.

WHAT WAS CONTENT OF BLACK BOTTLE?

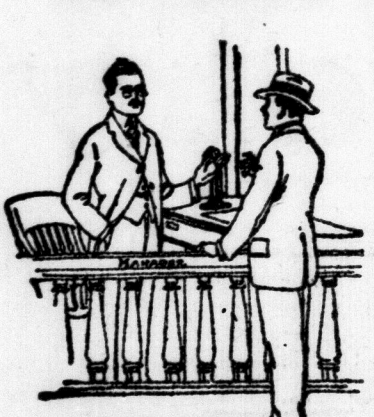

Intallible Nose and Intallible Tongue of Chief of Police Refuse to Register.

The police officer said it was whiskey, the owner of the bottle claimed it was cider, the usual intallible nose of the chief of police was not sure, his tongue, assisted by a finger dipped within the contents, failed to register a conviction and so the Institute of Public Health will be asked to decide just what a certain broken bottle produced in a court today as evidence against a local man charged with having liquor in his possession contrary to section 41 of the Liquor Act.

In addition to being of financial assistance to them, it was also a good training for them in civic affairs, and enabled them to impart knowledge of this nature to their pupils from first-hand information. One teacher who acted as a poll clerk last year with great success, as she wanted the holiday, but in a letter to the city clerk she stated her experience of the past year had been worth several weeks' schooling.

As P. C. Tomlin was proceeding north on Richmond street, near Maple street, at 1 o'clock this morning, he saw a man standing within a doorway. The man in the rear had a bottle to his lips, and apparently was about to take a drink. The policeman made a dive for him, and in the struggle which ensued, the bottle was smashed on the pavement. The officer gathered up some of the remnants of the bottle, and carefully replaced the cork within the broken neck. When the pieces were produced in court today a small quantity of liquor was still in the bottom part of the bottle. The man swore that he believed it contents to be cider. He had secured it at a friend's place in South London. He had not tasted the liquor because the police officer had interfered. The second man was produced. He said that he knew nothing of the bottle. He and the other chap had stopped light a cigarette and pipe when they were accosted. A. M. Judd, appearing for the defence, thought that an analysis should be made. The magistrate agreed with him.

Cause and Meaning of the Republican Avalanche

Now that the smoke of the political battle has cleared away, it is interesting to survey the battlefield through the eyes of the editorial spokesmen of the various parties engaged in the struggle. "The nation has emphasized its disapprobation and disgust of the way in which the Wilson oligarchy made war and muddled the making of peace," says the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Rep.). Moreover, "it has branded Burlesonism with the biting condemnation that it deserved; it has punished Democratic inefficiency, waste, sectional partiality and personal favoritism." The Minneapolis Journal (Rep.) avers that "a representative government has been ordered restored in the United States, and one-man government has been ordered cast out." The Democratic Norfolk Virginian-Pilot advances these reasons for its party's defeat: "The stunning Republican majorities in New York, New Jersey and Boston can be best accounted for by wholesale Irish, Italian and German desertions. The Republicans succeeded admirably in rounding up the hyphenates. The Democrats succeeded only indifferently in attracting organized labor. Neither party scored a particular victory with the women. The women, several millions strong, and big with potentiality for making and unmaking elections, entered as Madame X, but marked her ballot overwhelmingly as Mrs. John Smith."

Do not miss reading THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, November 13, the leading article of which tells in the words of the editors of American newspapers of the different political parties how the sweeping Republican triumph was accomplished and what it portends for the future.

DUNDAS AND ELIZABETH STS., LONDON EAST

$6,530,559. During the examination conducted at Osgoode Hall by Mr. Hallmuth, it was admitted by Mr. Gaby that this line, owing to increased costs, etc., would necessitate an expenditure of a million dollars or more.

Included in these figures are represented various changes which municipalities may regard as a considerable departure from what they understood when they voted.

As to whether the increases, both in cost of construction, equipment and operation, and certain changes in engineering plans, terminal facilities, rolling stock, etc., are justified in the light of later experience, and the advanced cost of labor and material, makes little difference if the provisions of the act governing the whole matter are strictly carried out by the hydro commission. In the hydro-electric railway act it is set forth in the form of an agreement with the municipalities that the commission may, without municipal consent, issue bonds to an amount not exceeding 10 per cent of the sum authorized by vote, for the purpose of making extensions to the road, supplying new equipment, etc. But in his evidence Mr. Gaby admitted that where the capital cost of a road exceeded by more than 10 per cent the amount voted by the municipalities, it was understood that the matter should be resubmitted to the interested municipalities for sanction.

It is not only because of these facts that an agitation has started for a resubmission of by-laws. It is also because, in all justice, electors should say whether they want to become included in a program so different from that outlined in 1916 and 1917, and different, indeed, from what was laid before the Government as late as June of this year.

It is held even by those sympathetic to the scheme that the fullest support and confidence of the municipalities is necessary, because they have to put up their apertures. If the new conditions, brought about by the nationalization of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Northern

Railways, the greatly advanced cost of labor and material, etc., mean anything the municipalities should be given an opportunity to take this into consideration.

If the financial troubles of electric as well as steam railways all over the continent, as shown in Government, railway, public utility commission, and other authentic reports mean anything they suggest caution.

If Mr. Gaby's estimates of earnings per mile for the radials are sound, and they are very much higher than the earnings of any other road in Canada, and higher than all similar single-track roads in the United States, if all this money is to be taken in, then there should be no hesitancy in letting the electors endorse the project under the revised costs.

If they are not sound it would be a serious blow if the lines were built under the old by-laws and agreements, even though they have been validated by legislation, for which there is no parallel in British history, it would do the hydro cause an irreparable damage in Canada.

Two Curlers To Be Selected Yet For the Old Land Tour

Col. McKenzie, Sarnia, and Dr. McKendrick of Galt Cannot Make Trip.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—Five members of the Ontario curling team, who will accompany the Canadian team on the tour of Scotland in January met at the Victoria Club yesterday, when they chose a grey uniform with Norfolk jacket, grey sweater and peak cap to match. Each curler will wear a very prominent and quite distinctive Canadian badge, a beautiful creation of silver and enamel that says "Canada" to all beholders. They will also carry 100 small counterparts of the larger badge for distribution among their Scottish friends. Transportation and other arrangements were completed at yesterday's gathering.

Col. McKenzie of Sarnia, and Dr. McKendrick of Galt, announced that they cannot accompany the team. Dr. McKendrick is expected to fill one of the vacancies. There are still two to be filled, the president of the O. C. A. not having yet made his selection. Those in attendance yesterday were: R. Williamson, Detroit; Alex. Fells, Stratford; H. J. Sims, Waterloo; W. J. Robson, and Dr. Porfir, Toronto Lakeview.

INDIAN CLUBS BEAT YOUNG LONDONERS AT RUGBY 2-0

The Indian Club rugby fourteen won a hard-fought clash with the Young Londoners yesterday by a score of 2 to 0. The club were outwitted, but ploughed through the Londoners for the necessary points. Ardel, Wilson and O'Rourke were the stars, and their line plunging was a feature for the winners. Hind was the losers' star.

The Indians meet Knox on Saturday. The line-up:

Indian Club	Young Londoners
Madley	Wings
Arnot	Arnot
Griffin	Halves
Hunter	Halves
Bloch	Outside
Hind	Outside
Logan	Quarters
Rawson	Quarters
Wade	Inside
Smith	Inside

DOES EVERYBODY ATTEND RACES?
MILBOURNE, Nov. 9.—The New South Wales Legislative Assembly has fixed a tax on admission tickets to all race tracks within 40 miles of Sydney. It is expected to yield $1,200,000 annually.

PIMLICO MEMBER MOBBED BECAUSE JOCKEY WASN'T UP

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 11.—Joseph P. Kennedy, a member of the Maryland Racing Commission, today was attacked by the crowd at the Pimlico race track and severely beaten. Both men and women were among his assailants.

A woman, using a folded program, was the first to strike him. Then a man in the crowd hit him a heavy blow behind the ear. Others joined in, but Mr. Kennedy managed to dodge some of the blows. A physician's examination tonight revealed that Mr. Kennedy was suffering with a broken finger, severe bruises on the body and the effects of the blow on his head. He was ordered to bed. Belief on the part of the crowd that Kennedy was responsible for Frankie Keogh riding "Buck" Foreman's horse Manoeuvre, instead of Jockey Carroll Shilling, is thought to have been responsible for the attack. The assault came immediately after Kennedy had a conference with members of the Maryland Jockey Club race officials. J. K. L. Ross and Jockey Shilling, relative to the latter's riding Manoeuvre in the seventh race. Shilling was granted a license to ride today by the Maryland Jockey Club, after the latter was warned by the Maryland Racing Commission that a refusal would bring about the revocation of his license to conduct racing at Pimlico.

The Maryland Racing Commission was prepared to see that Shilling should ride if Ross had not withdrawn his consent. "If any effort had been made to have brought the horses on the track with Shilling on Manoeuvre, we would have stood with the aid of the police. When Ross decided that Shilling should not accept the mount that ended the matter so far as we are concerned. The Maryland Jockey Club abided by our decision. We will be at Pimlico tomorrow to sustain our decision in the Shilling case," Mr. Kennedy added. He has our permission a license and nothing can prevent him from riding if anyone cares to employ him besides Ross. Mr. Guy Pedwell, who trains for Ross, said that Shilling would have the mount on Boniface in the Pimlico Cup race, which is the fourth on the card tomorrow.

$200,000 FOR OLYMPIAD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Based on the official figures that the expense of winning the Olympic championship this year were $145,563, it is estimated that it will cost at least $200,000 the next time we send a team.

$500 MATCHES AT QUOITS.

BEDDINGTON, England, Nov. 9.—Quoits are so popular among miners in Northumberland that ten matches for $500 a side have been scheduled for this fall.

Skeeters Six and Pirates Repeat in City Basketball

Former Given Good Battle by Tigers, But Pirates Double Score.

The Standing.

Team	Won	Lost
Skeeters	2	0
Tigers	0	2
Leafs	0	2

Skeeters and Pirates repeated their win on the opening of the City Basketball League again last night at the "Y" gym. Both games were hard fought, and produced good basketball. Leafs succumbed to Pirates via the 22-10 route, and Tigers made it closer in their clash with the Skeeters by a score of 27-21. The line-up:

Leafs—McGeach, Richardson, G. Young, J. Smith, McCormick, Morris. Pirates—A. Jackson, D. Johnson, L. Thomas, H. Gillies, L. Detwiler, J. Lightfoot, J. Lanton.

Skeeters—L. David, M. Brock, A. L. Taylor, Campbell, L. Harris. Tigers—Bennett, Douglas, A. Gillies, Callaghan, Logan, Talbot.

De La Salle Beaten, But Win the Central Junior O.R.F.U.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—De La Salle College of this city is the winner of the championship of the central section of the O. R. F. U. Junior inter-scholastic group, though defeated in the final home-and-home game here today with Hamilton Collegiate Institute by 2 to 1. De La Salle won the first of the home-and-home games in Hamilton last Monday by a score of 5 to 2, and therefore won the round 2 to 4.

While the score today was close the game was not a very high-class of rugby. There was a good deal of sloppy playing on both sides.

Annual Meeting of Elmwood Bowlers Is On Tonight

The annual meeting of the Elmwood bowlers will be held this evening at the London South clubhouse. Elmwood close this season with a splendid record of silverware won at all the leading tournaments in Western Ontario, and steady growth has marked the progress of the club since its inception. The election of officers, financial statements and general plans for next season is on the order of business.

Peace Meeting To-day Bars Heydler and Ban Johnson

Only Men Financially Interested Will Meet—No Record Will Be Made of the Peace Talk.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Efforts at reconciliation for the purpose of avoiding a baseball war in the major leagues will be made here tomorrow at a joint meeting of club owners of the National and American Leagues. The meeting was agreed upon when the warring factions met in Kansas City, while there to present their respective sides of the controversy before the National Association, which will be chairman of the meeting. The meeting will be held at the Chicago Athletic Club, and will be attended by lawyers, stenographers and other officials who will be barred and only the men financially interested in the new governing body of baseball. It is expected that the meeting will be informal and no record will be made.

Regardless of the outcome of the meeting it has been definitely decided that Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis will be chairman of the new governing body of baseball, if he accepts the offer of the sponsors of the Lasker plan.

JAPANESE REPORTERS QUIT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Several Japanese reporters attended the opening games of the world's series in Brooklyn, but decided they would not go to Cleveland, because they thought Brooklyn would win easily. Now they are sorry.

With Other Olympic Boxers Sgt. Prudhomme May Go Pro

If Bert Schneider, the Olympic welter champion, and Moe Herscovitch, runner-up, decide to turn pro, it is rumored that Sgt. Prudhomme, who is a professional, may, that would be the signal for Sgt. Prudhomme to the pros, to turn pro.

Schneider has been offered $15,000 to fight Johnny Timmon of Philadelphia at a "Y" show, and Herscovitch is undecided what he'll do after rugby is over.

If these two think they are ripe for a cruise after the berries, the local "Pats" man shouldn't waste any time. He has considered the step, but has waited for experience, which he isn't getting at the present time.

Prudhomme shows a tendency to put on weight, in which case he's going to be an abbreviated heavyweight before long. He has speed, ambition and courage, and he should stack up as assets enough for the jump into professional ranks.

If the Hamilton halfbacks fail to defend their end in that line.

As predicted in these columns, Lou Hauser's vindication of knowledge of the substitution of Gannon for Burns against Vaizer in Toronto the other night. Hauser, who wired the story of Smith's alleged statements, apparently was only to ready and willing to attack the Toronto man, whose decision in the Wilde-Wallace fight Regan found so much trouble agreeing with.

U. S. were still at war with the Hun. A baseball war was threatened—Frank Shauschnessy was going to retire from baseball.

Today. They are—It still is—And he will not.

McGill refuses to listen to any talk about Kingston for the play-off with Varsity. Nothing but Ottawa or Montreal itself will do the Double Blue. It doesn't sound very sporting, but, however, the union will have to decide the matter now. Kingston sounds like a reasonable suggestion from here.

FIGHTS DUMMY NOW

Battling Nelson. (That red Nelson as Tompeter Reese said he ought to be named), had to take out a license to box a dummy in New York state recently. The Battling Dane probably absorbed more punishment than any man who ever stepped into a ring and his fortunes have been up and down. He has been battered out of shape so much that the original lines are just

According to George Awey, manager of the intermediates, some of the play intermediates will play the return game with the boys at Looksville. The club have an eight-point lead over Sarnia, but the Western Ontario fans claim that is enough, as the game will be played on a plowed field and the going will not be to the liking of the Hamilton men. But, mind or heart, the club feel that they are far enough in front to win the round, and a grand old game can be looked for. The team will leave by G. T. R. on Saturday morning at 9:15, arriving in Sarnia at 1:22 p.m., and returning, will leave Sarnia on the train which arrives here at 9:15.

THEATRE MANAGERS DISCUSS CHANGES IN BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Erlanger Says the Trouble Is Over-Production—Too
Many Outsiders.

INCREASED COMPETITION

An Old Canadian Showman,
Famed as an Elephant
Trainer, Is Dead.

(By Ben Deacon, Canadian Press Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Where has the New York theatre gone? Or why has it ceased to be? This problem is engaging the attention of the theatrical managers here at the present time. Undoubtedly there has been a serious slump in the theatrical business. They are no longer "turning out" at the Broadway playhouses. Last season there was hardly a play of a musical show so poor, but that it could tempt the "Standing Room Only" sign at the lobby door; this year at most of the theatres, that sign, beloved of the manager, is only a dim light in the distance. It appears that there is only one thing wrong with the New York theatrical situation, and that is a lack of audiences. There are plenty of attractions, but only a comparatively few of them attract the public. The theatres are active, but the public won't produce. There are some sixty "legitimate" productions from which the public may choose, and a large section of the public, it seems, chooses to stay away from all of them.

This does not mean that the well-advertised "Great White Way" is deserted, or that the theatrical profession is in any immediate danger of extinction through starvation. There is a sufficient number of habitual theatre-goers left in New York, added to the army of transients (including thousands of Canadians) who flock to the playhouses while in the city, to keep the box office employees familiar with the monetary system. It does mean, however, that many of the habitual playgoers seem to be gradually conquering the habit, and the occasional playgoers are becoming even more occasional. It means that theatrical prices have to follow the trail of the public, and that trail leads down hill.

The first break in the high prices came this week, when the Seivings reduced the scale at their new Times Square Theatre, where Florence Reed is appearing in "The Mirage." Seats at that house which formerly sold at $5 may now be purchased at $2.50. But Canadians who think of coming to New York to get a bargain seat had better hurry, for their trip so that they will not be here on a Saturday night. There is one survival of the old scale at the Times Square Theatre: on price seats on Saturday nights and holidays will remain at $4. Other managers have so far not evinced any disposition to join in the price-cutting movement. From the office of A. L. Erlanger, who came the information that the general reduction to the $2.50 point had been planned so far. Several theatres under the control of this group already have a $2.50 limit, however.

Mr. Erlanger declares the trouble with the New York theatrical business is merely over-production. In a recent interview he said:

"Lured by the exaggerated stories of the enormous profits made in the business, too many outsiders have entered the field, calling themselves 'producers' and have flooded the market with inferior productions, and there is no more room for inferiority in the theatre than there is anywhere else, possibly less. This increased competition has been accompanied by a corresponding increase in the salary of everyone employed about a theatre, from the man who opens the carriage doors in front to the stage doorkeeper at the back."

Thus Mr. Erlanger has diagnosed the case of the theatre. Meanwhile, now the shows blossom forth at the rate of three or four per week, and plans are out for several new theatres. Evidently, there is not going to be any cutting down of production, or productions in this industry.

"Just suppose that a Bohemian young Prince of Wales—not necessarily the Prince of Wales—should come to America to visit, and one evening, while more or less incoherent, he should meet a simple but very charming little Virginia girl—what would happen?"

This is the hypothetical question which A. E. Thomas poses as a foreword to his latest comedy, "Just Suppose," which opened at the Henry Miller Theatre this week.

The Thomas play holds a particular interest for Canadians, for undoubtedly the playwright has attempted to portray the Prince of Wales, who captivated Canada during his trip through the Dominion last year. When the Prince was in the United States, the newspapers of this side of the line printed many stories about the wholehearted admiration of him by American girls from coast to coast. Possibly some of those stories gave Mr. Thomas the idea for the story of "Just Suppose."

In this little adventure, the Prince finds himself in the course of his itinerary in Washington, but soon tires of his high-browed conventions and slips away with a faithful aide-de-camp to Virginia. There in an old plantation home he finds rest and repose in surroundings reminiscent of his own country.

At this point, of course, the heroine enters. She is Linda Lee Stafford, the daughter of the planter, and of course she and the prince mutually fall in love at first sight. Despite all precautions, the prince's incoherence, the Marquis of Karnaby, who confides to Linda Lee Stafford, the prince's aide-de-camp, hastens to Virginia to interview the freedom-loving prince. The prince cannot tear himself away from his lovely Virginia sweetheart, or from the good people among whom are those who had entertained his equally popular grandfather many years before. A peremptory call from his father, the king, however, brings back immediately the realization of the station of life he has been born to fill. Linda Lee, too, realizes that her prince must leave her and decides that she will honor him more if she obeys the call of duty than she would were he to renounce his royal title and remain. And so the play ends with the parting of the lovers.

The prince is played by Geoffrey Kerr, a young English actor, who has never before appeared on this side of the Atlantic. He served in the Royal Air Force during the war and was a member of the London cast of "Tilly of Bloomsbury," which was seen in Canada last year. He is a fair, rather slim young man and though he bears but little facial resemblance to the Prince of Wales, he is of the same clean-cut, energetic type, the type of distinct impression of the agreeable and ingratiating character of the heir to the British throne. Fred Kerr, father of Geoffrey, plays the role of the British ambassador, and gives a very excellent impersonation of a fine old type of diplomat. The girl is played by Patricia Collins, and very sweet and charming she is.

Two other new productions were added to the already lengthy list of New York attractions this week. In one "The Prince and the Pauper," William Faversham, at favorite with Canadian audiences, is the star. It is an adaptation by Amelia Rives of Abby Sage Richardson's dramatization of Mark Twain's famous story. The prince in the play is Ruth Findlay, who has been playing Miles Hendon, a role which gives him plenty of opportunity for displaying his ability as a actor of the romantic school. The production is an elaborate one from the scenic point of view and is said to be particularly well staged. The other new show of the week is "The Half Moon," a musical comedy produced by Charles Dillingham at the Liberty Theatre. It is just a little more tuneful, little less vulgar, has just as little plot, and is just as amusing as the average mark of the New York musical show.

An old Canadian showman moved off the stage when William Faversham died recently. For fifteen years Faversham had been trainer of the elephants at the Hippodrome here. He was born in Belleville, Ont., and was 50 years of age. He spent his life as a showman, being secretary and treasurer of the Walter L. Main circus at one time and later was with several travelling shows in Canada and the United States before coming to New York. He had a remarkable reputation among animal trainers and was declared to be the only man who ever tamed elephants without the use of a hook or whip. One of his most famous exploits was the stopping single-handed about five years ago of an elephant stampede, which originated in the Hippodrome while a rehearsal was in progress.

How a number of men who took up profitless mineral claims several years ago on Mullet Island, a tiny volcanic formation protruding above the saline waters of the Salton Sea of southern California, recently found vast stores of mineral paint pigments there, is told by John Edwin Hogg, in Popular Mechanics.

"Gold and pumice were the minerals they were seeking," says Mr. Hogg, and little did they think that the waters which lapped against their rocky shores hid from their view a mineral deposit of another variety and practically incalculable value.

Last year the Salton Sea developed another of its characteristic temperamental streaks. Its surface level dropped four feet, and the sea bed, a dreg of acres of soft silty mud. Presently the attention of the prospectors was attracted to the mud flats by a strong odor of sulphurous gas. The poles which sounded like the fierce boiling of thousands of tea kettles of colossal proportions.

They investigated by providing themselves with long wooden shoes resembling a hybrid ski and snowshoe, and with which they were able to walk about over the silty mud without becoming bogged. At no great distance from the shore they found an uncovered boiling water of the sea, numerous less boiling hot springs, tiny geysers, and mud volcanoes. From these flowed various colored saline waters, some bright red, others green, blue, and yellow, with all the intermediate shades of the rainbow. Great accumulations of the material were soon built up around each of the springs, and samples were soon in the hands of a chemist. Analysis disclosed it to be mineral paint pigments—ochre, carmine, ultramarine, and all the other colors essential in the manufacturing of paints.

"The prospectors immediately began the construction of impounding reservoirs to segregate the waters from the springs of individual colors. The boiling water is drained very slowly through these impounding beds, and the cooling causes the paint pigment to be precipitated to the bottom of the pools."

"After several days of aeration, the water from each spring is diverted into another pool. Then, after drying in the sun for a few hours, hundreds of pounds of pigment are scooped out of each pool. The pigment is first dug out into boxes, trundled onto the island in wheelbarrows, and later sacked for shipment to the paint factories. It comes from the pools practically pure, and requires little or no refining."

"A crop of low-grade salt is a profitable by-product of the newly developed pigment industry."

Tiny Kingdom Buffeted Like Shuttlecock by Its Neighbors.

EXCITING CAREER

Bosomed by Most Every Large European Nation in Past 1,000 Years.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11.—Luxembourg, latest and smallest of the countries of the world to send a diplomatic representative to the United States, has a ruler with a better popular title to her throne than perhaps any other reigning monarch. Though it is relatively insignificant in area, it has a history reaching farther into the past than many of the great nations among whom it now takes a place.

These and other facts about the little grand duchy with which the United States is now more closely linked are recounted in the following bulletin issued by the National Society from its Washington headquarters.

Smaller Than Rhode Island. "Tiny Luxembourg, which is smaller even than Rhode Island, has its national roots far back in the history of Europe, if needed it may be said to have been rooted at all; for it has been buffeted about like a shuttlecock by the countries that hem it in, and at one time or another during the past thousand years has been under the control of nearly every one of the principal nations of the western part of the continent.

"It started as a pretty principality in the Holy Roman Empire, and through it has since lost territory it has gained prestige, being raised first to a duchy and finally to a grand duchy. It emerged with the latter title from the wreckage of the Congress of Vienna in 1815 largely to mollify the king of the Netherlands, to whom it was assigned for the loss of other territory.

"While a part of the Holy Empire, Luxembourg furnished an emperor for the German throne. Count Henry IV. of Luxembourg was selected to that high position in 1308 as Henry VII. Luxembourg later came under the control of Burgundy and then fell successively to Spain, Austria and the first French republic. It remained under the sovereignty of the king of the Netherlands from 1815 to the accession of Queen Wilhelmina in 1909, a testament of the Salic law—that anti-feminist outburst of the old warrior France—brought the Grand Duke of Nassau to the throne.

"Treaty 'Scrap of Paper.' "Even while the king of the Netherlands was sovereign of Luxembourg it was a member of the German confederation, with the city of Luxembourg garrisoned by Prussian soldiers. Retention of this garrison in the city after the division of old Luxembourg between Holland and Belgium in 1831, and especially after the dissolution of the German confederation in 1866, almost caused the Franco-Prussian war to start three years ahead of time.

"The matter was compromised by an agreement for the withdrawal of the German troops, and the demilitarization of the fortifications of the city of Luxembourg—so strong that the fortress was known as the 'Gibraltar of the North.' In addition the grand duchy was set up as an independent state with its neutrality guaranteed, like that of Belgium, by the powers. This guarantee was one of the 'scrapes of paper' of 1914.

"During the world war Luxembourg was practically a prisoner to Germany, but because the inhabitants did not resist, the Germans treated them with a certain amount of consideration. The sympathies of the people were with France, however, and several thousand Luxemburgers served with one or the other of the belligerent armies. This popular sympathy for France and the belief that the reigning grand duchess, Marie Adelaide, had pro-German leanings made her unpopular.

"After the armistice brought about the retirement of the Germans, a bloodless revolution broke out and Luxembourg added another to its long list of sovereigns by being a republic for a few brief hours. Conservative elements managed to rescue the situation by bringing about the abdication of the grand duchess in favor of her sister Charlotte, the present ruler, and by liberalizing the constitution. Marie Adelaide has entered a convent and become a Carmelite nun.

"Grand Duchess Charlotte probably has a more popular title to her throne than any other royal ruler. Suffrage in Luxembourg was made universal in the summer of 1919, and in September a plebiscite was held on whether the reigning ruler should be retained, whether another grand duchess should be chosen, and whether a republic should be established. The vote resulted in an overwhelming majority in favor of the Grand Duchess Charlotte, and it is believed that the votes of the women were largely responsible for the result.

"Luxembourg would have been sold on our occasion to Napoleon III. had not the great Bismarck interfered. Even the area of the duchy seems to have been 'marked down' to catch the eye of some purchaser with a penchant for odd figures, for its area is 999 square miles. It is about the size of Rhode Island with the District of Columbia's area subtracted. A part of old Luxembourg somewhat larger than the present duchy was given to Belgium when that country was created in 1831, and is now the Belgian province of Luxembourg.

"The Grand Duchy of Luxembourg is hemmed in on the west and north by Belgium, on the north and east by Germany, and on the south by France and the recovered French province of Lorraine. The southern part of the duchy is in the basin of the Moselle River. This section is the garden spot of Luxembourg, producing grain, vegetables and fruit. Grape culture is carried on, and considerable quantities of wine are produced. In the tablelands of the interior cattle raising is an important activity. Industrially, Luxembourg is known chiefly for its iron and steel production, which in 1918 was valued at more than $50,000,000 francs, equivalent at par to more than $90,000,000.

Capital is Picturesque. "The capital and chief city of the duchy, also Luxembourg, is most picturesque. It is built partly on the summit, partly at the foot of a cliff-walled plateau, partially encircled by rivers. Impending viaducts lead to the higher part of the city, where most of the public buildings are situated.

"Like Switzerland, Luxembourg has more than one language. Some of the inhabitants speak German, some French and some a mixture of the two. It has no coinage of its own, and the coins of all its neighbors may be found in circulation.

"French, however, has long been the official language, and the franc the official monetary unit. The world war and the unpleasantness of the German occupation brought Luxembourg closer to France, and in the plebiscite of 1919 which ushered in universal suffrage, the Luxemburgers voted for an economic union with the republic, which has since been effected.

AUSTRALIA WILL NOT WAIT FOR CANADA IN NAMING AMBASSADOR

Will Likely Appoint Envoy To Washington To Boost Trade.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—(By Canadian Press).—Recent announcements by Australian statesmen regarding the establishment of an Australian office in Washington have again focused attention upon the proposal for the appointment of a Canadian ambassadorial representative in the United States, and the matter is the subject of much discussion by Canadians resident here.

In an interview given recently to a United States correspondent in Melbourne, Premier Hughes of Australia emphasized the importance of the relations between Australia and the United States and said: "To foster these we are sending a diplomatic representative to Washington and trebling our trade representation."

Another statement on the subject which has attracted attention here is that which was made by Sir Joseph Cook, minister of the treasury, in the Australian House of Representatives last week. He declared it was imperative that Australia appoint a representative to go to Washington to develop trade relations and place Australia's point of view before the United States Government.

It would appear that so far as Australia is concerned the question of appointing a minister to Washington will not be dependent upon any action that Canada may take. It is currently reported that Mr. Mark Sheldon, the present Australian commissioner in New York, will be the first of Australia's ministers in Washington, although his appointment there will likely be of a temporary nature. It is understood that he will not act until his successor to the New York office arrives from Australia.

When the matter of trade representation in the United States was raised by the Dominions some years ago, Australia did not wait for Canada to lead in the matter. A trade representative from Australia arrived in New York more than a year before Canada opened an office in this city. It is now reported that Australia will open other trade offices in the United States, presumably one in Chicago and another at Seattle or San Francisco. There is a good deal of speculation here as to whether Canada will follow suit.

A recent dispatch from Ottawa, stating that the plan for a representative of the Dominion at Washington had been suspended for the present caused regret in Canadian circles here as well as among United States businessmen who are interested in the trade relations between the two countries. In this connection a good deal of discussion has been aroused by a mysterious editorial on the subject which appeared, practically simultaneously, in papers published in different parts of the United States. It was printed in the Patterson, N. J., Press and the Bollet, Wis., News, as well as a number of other papers. This editorial said:

"There will be no Canadian minister plenipotentiary at Washington in the near future. This much was decided on at the present visit of Sir Auckland Geddes to Canada. Geddes will continue representing Canada and other British lands.

"The reason back of the withdrawal of Canadian plans was the British belief that if Canada sent a representative, Australia and South Africa might ask for similar representation, not only in London but in other capitals. Also, it was thought that, granting Canada a minister, the Dominion might want representatives elsewhere.

"British ambassadors will handle British affairs, and it will not be divided among several colonial ministers. No one pretends that this will please the Canadian nationalists, and on the other hand, nobody believes it will put an end to independence agitation in Canada."

There is no doubt that Canadians are anxious to see Canada more fully represented in this country than is now the case. About 100,000 members of the Canadian Society of Philadelphia and the Boston Canadian Club memorialized the Canadian Government in favor of having a Canadian minister attached to each one of the six British consulates-general elsewhere.

BISHOP WILLIAMS WILL OFFICIATE AT ORDINATION

Special Services To Be Conducted in Windsor On Sunday.

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—Nephews of two bishops will be ordained as deacons of the Anglican Church here on Sunday morning. They are A. Wilmington Ingram of Aylmer, Ont., nephew of Bishop Wilmington Ingram of London, Ont., and Carver Halliwell, of Warkworth, Ont., nephew of Bishop Williams of London, Ont. The services will be conducted by Bishop Williams.

At the same time Rev. W. Gordon Craig, assistant rector of All Saints' Church, who is now a deacon, will be ordained a priest, and W. H. Pearson of Paris, Ont., will be ordained a deacon.

The candidates will be presented by Archdeacon Young of London, and Rev. W. H. Battersby, rector of St. Mary's Church, Warkworth, will preach the sermon. All Saints' Church was erected nearly 70 years ago, and this is the second ordination held there. St. George's Memorial Church, Moy Avenue and Niagara Street, a mission of All Saints' Church, will be closed Sunday morning because of the ceremony.

WHIZZED BY COP

Small Boy Makes Corner on "High" When Chain of Bicycle Breaks.

The traffic cop on the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets sees some peculiar happenings and here is the latest. A small boy on a bicycle landed into a predicament Thursday night which caused him to increase speed to such an extent that the cop did not even catch a glimpse of him whizzing by. The young fellow was "pumping her up" to get around the corner from Dundas to Richmond street when, without warning, his chain broke. The rider was precipitated violently astride the crossbar, and his bike leapt forward "Man of War" style, with increased acceleration.

Deprived of the apparatus for applying the brake the bicycle dashed down Richmond street, narrowly missing several pedestrians who were not on the alert. Finally when the bewildered boy stopped his bike near King street he grasped the situation and tried to back in search of the missing chain. This he discovered lying on the street car tracks at the intersection, and by a frantic rush managed to retrieve it just as a Dundas car thundered across the street threatening to add to the damage of the broken chain.

ADDITIONAL DONATIONS TO HOSPITAL FUND

Slowly but surely the War Memorial Children's Hospital fund is growing. Among the latest contributions are: band of the P. P. C. L. I., which, on the eve of its departure from London, gave a concert and generously handed over to the treasurer the entire net proceeds. It was a kindly thought and a kindly act, and is greatly appreciated by the citizens who take an interest in the welfare of the city. Contributions not hitherto reported follow:

When Your Eyes Need Care

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffing, sneezing, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—AD-T.

BE PRETTY! TURN GREY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for Ely's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

WILL ADD TWO MEN TO POLICE FORCE

Kitchener Authorities Taking Steps To Stop Epidemic of Shopbreaking.

KITCHENER, Nov. 11.—At a special meeting of the police commission today it was decided to add two more men to the police force. One will be a plain-clothes detective. The commission also decided that the only way to stop the epidemic of shop-breaking among the boys of the city is to exercise a rigid censorship on all motion pictures being shown here.

PAYING 20 CENTS PER POUND FOR CHICKENS

Buyers Are Making Purchases in District Around Wabash.

WABASH, Nov. 11.—Poultry buyers from Thamesville are going through this district and are making extensive purchases. For chickens they are paying 20 cents a pound, 25 cents for ducks and 16 cents for geese.

When Zeimon Hannon was driving a horse and buggy through Thamesville, a man who was driving a car lost control of it and collided with the buggy, which was badly damaged. A young lady who was with Mr. Hannon was thrown out on the street, but was not injured.

Services in the Wabash Methodist Church will be withdrawn next Sunday, as the pastor will preach at Tupperville. Rev. Mr. Davidson of Tupperville will conduct anniversary services at Dawn Mills.

Mrs. Libby Phillips has gone to Chatham to take care of her mother, Mrs. C. Phillips, who fell and fractured one of her ribs.

A number of Wabash young people went to Turnersville last night and held a surprise shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Duddy, who recently returned from their honeymoon tour.

Mrs. Duddy, formerly Miss Rhoda Neely, was a Wabash girl and organist of the Methodist Church for a number of years.

MOVING TO LONDON

Fergus Maguire Has Sold His Store at Clandeboy to Lucan Man.

CLANDEBOY, Nov. 11.—Fergus Maguire is giving up business and intends to move to London. He has sold the contents of his store to Mr. Ross of Lucan, who is moving the stock to his store in that place.

A. Neil has shipped a carload of potatoes to Windsor this week. Mr. Neil had about four acres of splendid potatoes this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bice of Strathroy are spending a week with L. Bice.

The members of the U. F. O. here have shipped considerable livestock to Toronto this season and are quite satisfied with the returns.

SPEEDY ROADSTER IS SOLD AT DELAWARE

SOUTH DELAWARE, Nov. 11.—Alex. McFarlane has sold his road horse, Prince George, which carried off several red tickets at the fall fairs, to Mr. McLachlan of Alton.

Henderson Bros. have shipped their cattle to Toronto.

Gordon Parsons has returned from a business trip to Calgary.

Rev. John Bannatyne of Tipton, will conduct special anniversary services in the Presbyterian Church here on Sunday.

Dr. Gun, Head of London Clinic, and Dr. Downham, Public Health Officer, To Speak At Majestic Tonight.

Men Who Know Are Aiding Splendid Picture in Work of Cleaning Up Health of Society.

You and I may not know of, and most likely will never realize the extent of the worst disease known to mankind. Being naturally selfish and self-centred, we cannot conceive that an evil can become so general that it will affect our own dear ones. But the doctors, the public health officers, the hygienic institutes, they know full well, for daily they are fighting a losing fight against this terrible cancer in society. The picture "Open Your Eyes," which is showing at the Majestic today and tomorrow for the last time, makes us begin to realize how easy it is for our own children, careless through ignorance, may become the victims of a disease which may lead clearly how to combat social diseases, two of London's foremost doctors have consented to give a short address at the Majestic tonight for the benefit of fathers, mothers, sons and daughters, telling us all the picture has done, the peril that awaits our first discretion, our first indulgence, and that it is far better to look up a prospective bridegroom's doctor than his bank balance.

It is up to you—the doctors, the health institution, all the public welfare workers are doing their best—but it is up to you to learn for yourself, to save your sons and daughters learn how to take care of themselves. Will you go on through life from today knowing that you are prepared that your children are safeguarded with knowledge, or will you pass another opportunity by trusting to a capricious fate to bring you through to happiness? You either see and hear and learn or take your chance, and oh, what a terrible chance the ignorant take, not knowing how to safeguard themselves, what unhappiness is thrown away, and what lives spoiled through this terrible fault, ignorance.

GROUP INSURANCE FOR ALL EMPLOYEES

INGERSOLL, Nov. 11.—The presentation of insurance certificates under the group insurance plan was this afternoon made by T. E. Bissell to a number of the employees of the Bissell Company. He announced to the men that they were all protected, the married men for $1,000 and the single men for $500. He considered it appropriate to make the presentation on the anniversary of armistice day. Mr. Bissell stated that a cheque for $500 had been received by the firm for the mother of Melvin Cline, a young man employed by the firm for some time, who died shortly before the expiration of the probationary period. Through a change in this period, increasing the cost to the company, the technical objection was waived and the company paid the amount of the indemnity. The cheque was tonight presented to Mrs. Cline by Mr. Bissell, who was accompanied by four employees of the firm.

BERVIE FARMER IS FATALITY INJURED

KINCARDINE, Nov. 11.—James McLellan, a farmer residing near Bervie, died from injuries sustained when he was run over by a train in his turnip field. He was unmarried.

The death occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John McGaw, of Mrs. James McKenzie, aged 80.

John Cole, who resides near Underwood, sustained a heavy loss, when his barn, together with the season's crops were burned.

BURIAL AT BURGESSVILLE

BURGESSVILLE, Nov. 11.—The funeral of Mrs. Thomas Mollins, held at the Baptist Church and thence to the Baptist cemetery, was largely attended. She is survived by one son, Vernon G. Mollins.

RISH MEASURE PASSES AFTER TAME DEBATE

Vas Boycotted by Labor and Liberal Members As Hopeless.

SQUITH MAKES APPEAL

rges Using Armistice Day Emotions To Find Real Settlement.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Irish home bill passed the House of Commons at its third reading tonight after a motion for rejection of the measure proposed by William C. Adamson, the opposition leader, had been defeated 183 to 52.

The measure passed without any noteworthy incident in a rather tame debate. The Liberal and Labor members who have boycotted it through out its stages as a sign of their rejection of the measure, were again silent today. The final stage was reached in a small and rather listless (thanking of members of the House).

Former Premier Mr. Asquith appealed for advantage to be taken of the associations and emotions to be caused by the anniversary of Armistice Day, which could not be put to further use than an endeavor to find basis for real settlement of Ireland's troubles.

Blames Irish People. Mr. Lloyd George, replying, contended that the present bill was a generous measure, but the Irish people are not in a temper to give it proper consideration and consideration. He declared that documents to be published early date, found in the possession of Sinn Féin leaders in 1918, showing they were involved in a German plot, would show the necessity of England retaining complete control of Irish harbors.

To give Ireland the power to raise a conscript army, he said, would be a dangerous menace to Great Britain, and a warning of the kind in Ireland under all powers of the dominion home rule, ascription in England would become inevitable.

The premier contended that it was quite impossible to allow Ireland to have a navy, which was quite needless for national life, and could only be used at the peril of Great Britain and her own destruction. He argued that it was as fruitless to talk of granting fiscal autonomy to people still demanding a republic.

Has Ferocious Hope. Expressing a fervent hope for the removal of misunderstandings which could make the future so dark, the premier closed his brilliant and emotional speech by saying that it was an Irish soldier who honored today, Ireland has a great and brilliant share in the empire. Some of her greatest and most gallant warriors helped to fight for the empire. Some of her greatest statesmen—the shining wisdom of Burke and the stern leadership of Wellington—all contributed to build the empire.

"All we ask is that Ireland should not in a fit of anger cast away an inheritance which is as much hers as ours, but to join in the empire it helped to build and adorn."

The influence of the armistice anniversary was clearly marked in all the speeches, which showed a desire as far as possible to avoid controversy.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD RE-ESTABLISH WHEAT BOARD, IS CLAIM

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 11.—Asserting that the condition in which the wheat producers find themselves today as a result of the wheat board, and that organized buying abroad should be met with organized selling in Canada, Hon. George Langley, minister of municipal affairs in the Legislature, yesterday introduced a resolution urging the Dominion Government to reappoint the wheat board.

Grain exchange boards, said the minister, were an anomaly and an outrage. He declared the majority of the members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange were simply gamblers and the tools of gamblers.

FOREIGN VISITORS

BELIEVE SPANIARDS CANNOT TELL TIME

Madrid, Nov. 11.—Foreign visitors, after a short stay in Madrid, begin to doubt whether Spaniards are able to tell the time. There are scores of public clocks in Government buildings and on church towers, and nearly every Spaniard carries a watch, which he often looks at, but apparently these do not mean anything to the average citizen.

An invitation to a meal at a certain hour means that the host or the guest will appear half an hour or more late. An appointment for a fixed time and place nearly always finds both parties absent at the hour named. An interview arranged with an official involves usually a wait of an hour in the ante-room. The tailor will not be ready to try on your suit until at least two days after he has promised to do so. Trains rarely start and never arrive at the scheduled hour. These are some few indications of the little interest Spaniards show in the time.

It is either morning, noon, evening or night with Spaniards generally—and, of course, the eternal mañana, which never comes. The exact hour is nothing to them, yet thousands of them will assemble on the Puerta del Sol to watch the fall of the globe on the ministry of the interior at noon every day.

Rheumatic Pains

Quickly Eased By Penetrating Hamlin's Wizard Oil

A safe and effective preparation to relieve the pains of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lame Back and Lumbago is Hamlin's Wizard Oil. It penetrates quickly, drives out the soreness, and limbers up the stiff aching joints and muscles.

Wizard Oil is a good dependable preparation to have in the medicine chest for first aid when the doctor may be far away. You will find almost daily uses for it in cases of sudden mishaps or accidents such as sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as reliable, too, for earache, toothache and cramp. Always keep it in the house.

Generous size bottle 35c.

If you are troubled with constipation or sick headache try Hamlin's Wizard Liver Whisker. It is a pleasant little pink pills at druggists for 35c.

It was finally decided that the department be asked immediately to hold up letting the contracts for the new addition, the tenders now being in Ottawa, and that an inspector and architect come here for a conference with a special committee of the board, composed of Messrs. J. P. Jaffray, Mayor A. W. Mercer, E. O. McCulloch, Chas. Turnbull and President H. J. Bassett, to go more fully into the question.

LOOKS BRIGHTER, DECLARES DRURY ON HYDRO LACK

Premier Says Government Is Negotiating, Not Fighting.

DEADLOCK REMAINS

Question of How To Determine Price Keeps Power From Users.

TORONTO, Nov. 11.—"We are negotiating, not fighting," said Premier Drury this afternoon as he hurried away from the parliament buildings to catch a train. He stayed his progress long enough to add: "It looks brighter."

These remarks had reference to the continued deadlock over the question of the 15,000 horsepower which the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission wants from the Electrical Development Company, and this was all the premier would say on the question.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the hydro commission, when asked what progress had been made in the negotiations would say nothing, but referred inquirers to the premier.

R. J. Fleming, general manager of the Electrical Development Company, after a conference with Premier Drury, declined to give any information on the score that his voice was bad.

In the meantime the users of the hydro-electric commission power have to get along without the extra power promised. The chief trouble, it is understood, is on the question of the method of determining the price to be paid for the 15,000 horsepower. On this Sir Adam and the company seem to be still far apart.

OPPOSE PLAN AS MERE MAKESHIFT

Galt Board of Trade Discusses Postoffice Problem.

GALT, Nov. 11.—The chief question for discussion before the board of trade at its meeting tonight was the decision of the federal government to build a one-story addition to the postoffice to provide much-needed accommodation. This sort of makeshift, it was declared, would not provide the facilities needed and would only be a makeshift, and having in view future needs, was argued that the old Imperial Hotel site should be acquired by the department, and that a new postoffice could be built later.

While the proposed addition would give more accommodation in the mail room, it would not benefit other departments. The customs department has rented a store in another building nearby for an examining warehouse, there being no accommodation in the postoffice.

It was finally decided that the department be asked immediately to hold up letting the contracts for the new addition, the tenders now being in Ottawa, and that an inspector and architect come here for a conference with a special committee of the board, composed of Messrs. J. P. Jaffray, Mayor A. W. Mercer, E. O. McCulloch, Chas. Turnbull and President H. J. Bassett, to go more fully into the question.

ADOPTED PLEA OF SPRACKLIN

"It Was His Life Or Mine," Declared George Collins.

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—Adopting the plea of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, who told the coroner's jury that his reason for killing Beverly Trumble, roadhouse proprietor, was that he considered "it was his life or mine," George Collins, convicted by a jury at the supreme court sittings in session at Sandwich, made a final desperate attempt to gain leniency for the killing of John McKinley by dramatically standing up in the prisoner's box and exclaiming: "As I stand at my trial, I committed the act in self-defence. I considered it was either his life or mine, and I fired."

When sentenced by Justice Rose to a term of five years in the penitentiary, Collins, who is a confirmed drug addict, showed absolutely no signs of emotion. Throughout the trial he has maintained a sullen indifference to developments, except when he went on the stand, and in a straightforward manner told of how he had shot McKinley on Sandwich street east last March, when the latter had chased him with a knife after hitting him over the head with a billy.

The sentencing of Collins brought to a close the trial of one of the most interesting and serious sessions ever held in a local court. Three manslaughter cases, in which Sergt. Burchief of the Walkerville police department and Mrs. Lena Coak were acquitted and George Collins was convicted; two serious charges involving grave assaults on girls, in which Victor Hampden and Joseph Drouillard were the defendants; a breach of promise suit, in which damages of $25,000 were claimed from Michael Meretsky by Mrs. Elizabeth Schwartz; and a damage suit for $25,000 against License Inspector Mousseau and ten other officers by E. Bergerson, were the headline thrillers for the sitting.

ATTACK BOTH WINGS. SEBASTOPOLE, Nov. 11.—The Bolsheviks are attacking General Wrangel's troops in strong force on both wings in the Crimean peninsula. They have succeeded in bringing up their artillery and according to latest advice, Wrangel's forces are slowly falling back.

General Wrangel is taking precautionary steps to safeguard the population and will evacuate the civilians if necessary.

GALT.—The local Mothers' Allowance Pension Board has received a number of applications for financial assistance and will meet on Friday to consider the requests.

WHOLE COUNTRYSIDE SEES UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL AT LUCAN

Patriotic Addresses by Major Graham and Reeve Martin.

PRAISE WORK OF WOMEN

Captured German Field Gun Placed in Prominent Position.

[By Staff Reporter.]

LUCAN, Nov. 11.—The whole countryside turned out this afternoon for the Armistice Day celebration here, and the special services held in connection with the unveiling of a captured German gun sent to the town as a war trophy, and the hoisting of the town flag on a new 35-foot flagpole. The latter was erected by the Women's Institute here as a memorial to the boys who gave their lives in the great war. The ceremonies, which were arranged by Reeve Martin, the council and the Women's Institute, was carried through most successfully, in spite of weather conditions being unfavorable to outdoor speaking.

B.G. Crowd Present. At 2:30 the big crowd gathered at the main business corner, and Major Archibald Graham, senior chaplain from Westminster Military Hospital at London, unveiled the German gun, and Reeve Martin hoisted the flag on the new pole. During the unveiling of the gun the Hurr brass band played "Rule Britannia," and the high school cadets, numbering about 50, presented arms.

"We unveil this flagpole and gun," said Major Graham, "to the glory of God and to the honor of the soldiers who gave their lives in a just and right cause for the whole world."

During the hoisting of the flag all stood with bared heads while the band played "God Save the King" and the cadets stood at "attention."

Many Speeches Made. When the hoisting of the flag was completed three cheers and a cheer were given, and then all proceeded to the Stanley Opera House, where speeches were given by Reeve Martin, Major Graham, George Stanley, Rev. (Lieut.)

Kenneth McGoun, Rev. E. G. Powell and Rev. D. Johnson.

The opening of this part of the ceremonies was marked by all singing "O God, Our Hope in Ages Past," the music being supplied by Mrs. Cabel Hawkins.

Reeve Martin praised the work the Women's Institute did in arranging for the memorial, and also the splendid work they did during the late war.

"Every person should know what that grand old flag stands for," he said. "I don't think there is any person in this audience who would not give his or her life to keep the flag at the top of any pole in any country. We would not be raising that flag today had it not been for the brave boys who died on Flanders fields. We must not let their memory die. We must instill in the minds of the generation coming up that their destiny and the destiny of the world was decided by those boys."

Rev. K. McGoun pointed out that Armistice Day meant too much to be let pass each year with only a two-minute silence. He said that it rests with the people to see whether it is recognized in the way that is fitting. "By a celebration like this each year," he said, "the generation coming up will learn to realize that the war was fought and won for them."

Canada's Great Part.

"Canada was brought to the forefront by the Great War," said Rev. Johnson, "but only through the efforts of the boys who are lying under the poppies in France, and by the boys who are with us in this hall."

He urged that the day each year should be set aside as the National Thanksgiving Day for the Dominion of Canada. He intimated that with this arrangement, thanksgiving ceremonies would be of a double nature. One of thanksgiving to the glory of God, who gave the victory, and one of thanksgiving to God for the harvests of the fields.

Rev. E. G. Powell declared that if the people of Canada wished peace to remain they must get closer to God and follow His words.

"We should," he said, "look to the future and establish the motto, 'Canada for Christ.'"

At the conclusion of these addresses a subscription for the flagpole was taken, and the amount collected exceeded $60.

Major Graham Speaks. When it was announced that Major Graham was to speak next, rousing cheers greeted him as he arose. In his opening remarks he said he was more than glad to get back among the people where he asked for boys to complete the 135th Battalion.

"I came here and asked for boys and they came," said Major Graham. "Some of the boys are here today, but others are in France. If it were not for these boys we would not be here today. We do not want to forget that war, but yet in a way we do. We all had four years of sorrow and some of that sorrow can never be healed. It is no shame to say that you have a boy lying in Flanders fields. I'd rather have my son dead than to say that he never had a part in this war. Those boys who saved their lives, built the rampart and it is up to us as true loyal Britishers to uphold it and never let it be shaken by a power like that of the Germans."

Let Us Forget. "Every time a man passes that flag pole he should doff his cap for the sake of the boys who are sleeping in France. It is part of our debt to them, yet some people think that now the war is over they don't need to pray any more. Just as much prayer and just as much time must be given to God now as during the war. We have just begun the reconstruction of the world and the majority of the people do not realize what a big job that is. There is only one way we can do this and that is by getting together all as brothers and walking in the paths of righteousness. Our testing time is right now. Now comes the question, are we going to do it? It all rests with you. Let us all keep the memory bright of the laddies who fought and died for us."

At 10:30 in the morning commemorative services were held in Holy Trinity Church, at which Rev. McGoun officiated. In his sermon he pointed out that we must not forget what the boys lying in France did to decide the future destiny of the British Empire and the world as a whole.

"On this second anniversary of the cessation of hostilities," he said, "we do not realize what a wonderful hour it was on November 11, 1918, that the mighty armies of the world concluded fighting for the cause of justice. Let us forget, we must continue celebrations in commemoration to the dead boys in France. Those boys have passed out of our sight, but they will never pass out of the sight of the Lord Jesus Christ."

The local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association gave a dance in the opera house in the evening, and this concluded the ceremonies. It is expected there will be a celebration each year.

Mrs. Brydges Only Tipped Beam at 98 Pounds When She Began Taking Tanlac.

"I only weighed ninety-eight pounds when I started on Tanlac, but I now weigh one hundred and thirty and am feeling like a different person," was the truly remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Frieda Brydges of 375 John street north, Hamilton, Ont.

"I underwent an operation four years ago, and ever since then I have been in a very weak and rundown condition. My stomach was so upset that it would nauseate me even to drink a cup of milk, and I could hardly eat a morsel of solid food. I got so thin, people told me I looked like I was starving, and I was so weak that if I attempted to push the carpet sweeper round the room I would have to lie down and rest afterwards. My nerves were so unstrung that the ringing of the doorbell made me tremble all over, and I could get but very little sleep at night."

"That was the state I was in when I got hold of Tanlac, but five bottles of that medicine have simply transformed me. Why, I have actually gained thirty-two pounds in weight, and am feeling simply fine. I have a splendid appetite, and can eat whatever I want and never suffer a particle from indigestion. I sleep well at night, my nerves are steady, and I am so much stronger I can do my housework with ease. It is nothing less than marvelous how Tanlac has built me up, and I take great pleasure in making this statement for the benefit of others."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

CATARHIAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Tells Safe and Simple Way to Treat and Relieve At Home.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach, or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Epsom's (Double Strength) salt. Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one table-spoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh, and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment—Advt.

CHIEF THOMPSON WILL CLEAN UP BORDER CITIES

Former Londoner Is Named Chief of Police At Windsor.

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—A complete re-organization of the Windsor Police Department and a general clean-up campaign in this city is to be instituted by Chief Thompson, who is to be named as the new head of the force. Thompson, who is to assume his duties immediately, is vice-president of the Canadian Police Chiefs' Association and has long been regarded as one of the most efficient officers in the Dominion.

He commenced his training in 1893 as a member of the police department of London, Ont., and served in the Forest City until 1905, when he resigned to enter business. In the following year, Woodstock, Ont., was confronted with a similar position to that of Windsor at the present time, to a less extent, and Thompson was named chief of the Oxford County force, where he completely re-organized the department. In 1910 he was appointed chief at Peterboro and has been in charge of the department there until the present.

One of the striking features of the changes to be inaugurated under the new regime will be the throwing open of police records and police news to newspapers. Open publicity, within a reasonable limit, will be the new order of events here, this policy having the firm support of Mayor Winter and other members of the police commission.

Former Owner of Sandwich Hotel Makes Important Statement.

[By Staff Reporter.]

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—That Beverley Trumble, proprietor of the Chappell House, Sandwich, who was shot by Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, made threats to kill the pastor-inspector, is asserted by Mrs. Frances Chappell, former proprietress of the hotel.

Mrs. Chappell, who lives in a cottage at the rear of the hotel, telling of noises heard by her on the night previous to the tragedy, declared that Trumble, in his last conversation with her, declared he had a gun, and that he intended to kill Spracklin "the first time he entered the hotel," Mrs. Chappell said.

She declared she was sorry she had not the hotel, although the money derived from its sale kept her in comfort.

Mr. Spracklin said tonight he was awaiting the action by the crown before resuming his duties as license inspector. On the table by his side was the .45 calibre automatic from which the shot that caused the death of Trumble was fired.

"While I give up the fight against the rum-runners? I should say not," said Mr. Spracklin. "I will quit now, but I am not of a coward. However, I am taking it easy for a few days. Whatever decision the crown makes, with respect to myself will satisfy me, even though that decision means a charge of manslaughter being preferred."

Promises Action.

Promising action against men, who, he alleged, have "repeatedly slandered" him, Mr. Spracklin made disclosures of alleged methods used by the "higher-ups" in running liquor into the United States.

"These men do not appear in the business," he said. "Dealing in liquor, they consign their liquor to Cuba, via the United States. In transit it is 'lost.' That is how big men work their game, and it will be readily seen that it is difficult to 'knock them off,' as the bootleggers say. Give me first-class men—real detectives—and I promise to land these men behind the bars."

"We will get in full swing again as soon as the four additional men recommended for appointment join us," he said. "To properly cover the border district, however, we would need a small army. Launches can land at scores of points along the river, and it is a difficult matter to prevent an automobile load of whiskey being transferred to a launch under cover of darkness."

Lloyd George Says Arrangements Are Made—Ottawa Mentioned.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(By Canadian Press.)—Premier Lloyd George stated in the House of Commons tonight that arrangements had been made to hold a meeting of prime ministers of the empire in June, 1921.

Mr. Pakenham asked if an understanding could be given that no decision would be taken regarding such questions as Mesopotamia until the premier had met.

Premier Lloyd George replied that such a proceeding would be quite impossible. He said: "The expense, after all is not on the empire, but on Great Britain." The premier said that the question of holding the premier's meeting at Ottawa had been under discussion.

DRAMATIC END TO RIOT CASE; FOUR GUILTY

Preliminary Hearing Closes Suddenly—Court Frees Other Fourteen.

PAY FINES OF $100

Charges Against Remainder Dropped Owing To Lack of Evidence.

WELLAND, Ont., Nov. 11.—Dramatically and unexpectedly the end to the preliminary hearing in the cases of eighteen persons charged with having been implicated in the partial destruction by fire of the town hall in the village of Thorold on the night of August 16 last, and in the attempt to lynch David McNeal, accused of the murder of little Margaret Boucock, came this afternoon at the preliminary here before Magistrate Fraser of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Four of the eighteen pleaded guilty to having been members of an unlawful assembly on the occasion, and were each fined $100 with the alternative of three months' imprisonment.

The following are the names of the quartet: Fred Cowell and Barney Cowell, brothers; Walter Johnson, an Indian, and William Jackson.

The remainder of the party charged with rioting, fourteen of them, were discharged by the magistrate upon the recommendation of Crown Prosecutor Jeffrey, on the ground that there was lack of incriminating evidence against them.

In the riot at Thorold on the night in question, McNeal received slight injuries from flying missiles, including a chair. He finally addressed the mob and was permitted to live. He was then deported to the United States, where he was wanted by the authorities.

Courtesy T. D. Attorney T. D. Spracklin, who assisted in trying to protect McNeal from the mob threatening his life, was badly injured and is still suffering from the effects of the injuries received at the hands of the angry crowd that seemed determined to institute lynch law in Canada.

FEW ATTEND COURT.

Welland, Nov. 11.—As the Magistrate's court opened this morning in connection with the Thorold riot case, Magistrate Fraser adjourned it until this afternoon, at the instance of the defence and in view of the fact that the court had decided to adjourn between the hour of eleven and twelve as a tribute to the Allies' honored dead.

That the interest is waning in the case was demonstrated by the very meagre attendance present when the court resumed.

It is quite probable that Dr. Michael Clark, M. P. for Red Deer, will also go east to take part in the campaign.

COURT APPLICATION

MAY MEAN CLOSING

OF OTTAWA SCHOOLS

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—The promise enforced and early closing down of all the separate schools of the city to the detriment of thousands of children attending them, is heralded in proceedings which have been instituted by the Bank of Nova Scotia before the master-in-chambers, at Osgoode Hall.

To Cure a Cold in One Day. Take Grove's LAXATIVE PROMOC. GENUINE. GENUINE. The signature of E. W. Grove. 30c.

Acting on behalf of the bank, Charles S. Smith, manager of the Wellington street branch, through Messrs. Hill, Green & Hill, has made an application to the courts for leave to issue a writ of injunction on a judgment obtained in the supreme court of Ontario on October 24 by the Bank of Ottawa, whereby it was entitled to recover from the board of trustees of the separate schools of Ottawa the sum of $77,500.25.

MAINTENANCE SAYS FATAL EXPLOSION WAS FROM 18TH IN REVENGE PLOT OF LABOR LEADER

Canadians March Under the Leadership of Gypsy Smith.

DISTRICT CELEBRATIONS

General Currie Was Unable To Make Visit To Woodstock.

WINDSOR, Nov. 11.—Exemplifying the spirit of camaraderie existing between the two nations, Canadian veterans of the great war, 325 strong, under the marshaling of Captain Pat "Gipsy" Smith, swung into the great Armistice Day parade of 25,000 American soldiers which passed the reviewing stand and down Woodward avenue, Grand Circus Park, Detroit, this afternoon. The ovations given the boys who followed Sir Arthur Currie in France and Flanders were no less enthusiastic or abundant than those accorded the doughboys of the Red Arrow division or the "gobs" who sailed under Admiral Sims.

The soldiers of the land of the Maple Leaf acquitted themselves with a military precision that caused the eyes of the little group of Canadians, standing outside the Canadian Government office on Jefferson avenue, to sparkle with pride.

Many a Canadian uniform was soiled and stained, compared with those of the American troops. They indicated, only faintly, the vivid and nerve-racking story of trench warfare, as Detroit's thousands realized.

"These Canadians certainly did go through one hell," remarked a veteran of 1918, who, too late for the parade, stood at attention at Jefferson and Woodward avenues.

The symbolic gold stripe worn on the left cuff was everywhere in evidence in the Canadian detachment.

Veterans of Lieut. Col. E. S. Wigle's 18th Battalion marched side by side with former members of Quebec and Western Canada battalions, drawn to the border cities by the industrial expansion.

Proud of Them.
"I am more than proud to lead these Canadian boys," said Capt. "Gipsy" Smith to Major John E. Roehl, marshal of the parade, when the Canadian columns deployed into the ever-lengthening line in front of the Statler Hotel.

Preaching "peace on earth, good will to men" in peace times, "Gipsy" Smith, the great evangelist, donned the dark felt of the Black Watch and fought through the war, taking part in the historic raid on German guns at Le Cateau, when members of his regiment participated in the memorable stirring charge with the Royal Scots.

"Aren't you proud you're a Canadian?" said Canadian Agent-General M. V. Melnes enthusiastically to his attaches, as Canadians marched past.

MONUMENT TO HEROIC DEAD IS HALF BURIED UNDER FLOWER TOKENS

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Historic Whitehall today Great Britain's newly unveiled monument to her "glorious dead" stood half buried beneath hundreds of flower tokens of the nation's sorrowing appreciation of their sacrifice.

A few hundred yards away in Westminster Abbey amidst the tombs of the realm's great men reposed the body of the empire's "most immortal"—an unknown comrade of those whose deeds the cenotaph memorializes.

Every part of the service, all classes of its citizens, from the king to bereaved relatives of the humblest private, participated in the impressive unveiling ceremonies and the subsequent burial rites in the Abbey. During the ceremony Whitehall and the streets adjacent to the Abbey were jammed with people, most of whose faces were told the tale of lost loved ones. The two minutes' silence which fell over the old concourse as "Big Ben" thundered the hour of eleven seemed to vibrate with the repressed emotions. It was a silence broken only by the hysterical shriek of a woman who collapsed from the intensity of its spell.

King Palls Cord.
On the tenth stroke of the great gong the king pulled the cord, unveiling the imposing monument and, with the others, stood unobscured and with bowed head. Then, after his wreath and those of the Prince of Wales and the official overseas representatives had been reverently deposited at the base of the cenotaph, the field marshal palbearers with their hallowed burden moved off to the Abbey, the king following the flag-draped coffin.

At the conclusion of the services in the Abbey the sound of muffled drums rumbled through the ancient edifice; bugles sounded reveille and the king and members of the royal party filed slowly through the archway. The great lines extended from the cenotaph through the length of Whitehall, trailing a sea of flowers, and swelled the accumulation of flowers about the monument.

Vast and Patient Crowds.
Never before has London witnessed such vast and patient crowds. At a late hour tonight they were still silently filling by the cenotaph, many depositing wreaths, and through the Abbey past the grave of the unknown warrior. The Abbey was to be kept open till midnight, if necessary, for all desiring to enter. Darkness added greatly to the sombre impressiveness of the scenes and many painful incidents were to be observed within the abbey, weeping overcome with emotion, having been helped along by a friendly policeman.

Memorial Unveiled.
GUELPH, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was celebrated at Guelph Collegiate Institute this afternoon by the unveiling of a handsome brass tablet, erected in honor of the institution who fell in the Great War. The tablet was unveiled by Mr. George Bond, mother of Capt. Fred Bond, one of the most popular students who ever attended the institution, in the presence of the entire student body, members of the board of education, relatives of deceased soldiers, and a large number of visitors.

After the unveiling addresses were delivered by Chairman W. Buskin of the board of education, Rev. Frank Sanders, Principal Davison, Capt. Douglas Crowe, Lieut. E. H. G. Worden, Dr. A. MacKinnon, J. W. Charlesworth, R. L. Torrance, Mr. C. E. Crowe, M.P.P., and Mrs. C. R. Crowe. The fund for the tablet was collected by the students of the college, and the names on it is that of Lieut. Col. John McCrae, author of the immortal "In Flanders Fields."

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Responsibility for the disastrous Wall street explosion September 16, the echo of which was heard around the world in denunciations of "Reds" and "anarchists," today was charged to individual laboring men or labor sympathizers by the New York Evening World. The paper, however, admitted it could not explain presence of threats signed "anarchist fighters" found in a mail-box near the scene of the explosion.

In a three-page story, the paper announced that the mystery of the blast that killed nearly 40 persons and injured 150 more had been "solved." The theory advanced was that the deathly weapon in which the bomb had exploded had not been sent to the financial district to terrorize "the capitalist class," but that it had been intended as a reprisal against Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council, and 85 "Brindell workers" employed in demolishing the stock exchange building annex. Held up on one theory, the bomb was believed by the paper to have exploded before it reached its designated target.

Seeking to link up the explosion with the building trades graft, now being investigated by a joint legislative committee, the paper, naming a householder, said:

"The World here presents proof that 1,800 men nearly all foreign-born, sober, industrious, and well educated, who had, within the space of eighteen months been subjected to an amazing conspiracy of greed and injustice, according to the story, despite the fact that he had 'gone dumb.'"

The story stressed a charge that efforts had been made by unnamed persons to prevent evidence relating to the catastrophe from coming to light. It was brought out that a man who was believed to be the mastermind of the plot had claimed ownership of the horse which drew the death wagon, and who, one of the men, said, had told him to drive the conveyance to Wall and Broad streets, where he was to be shot. The man, who he told him to drive the conveyance to Wall and Broad streets, where he was to be shot. The man, who he told him to drive the conveyance to Wall and Broad streets, where he was to be shot.

STIFFEN'S PENALTIES FOR THOSE BREAKING INCOME TAX LAWS

Government Will Seek Those Who Make False Returns.

OTTAWA, Nov. 11.—Improved methods of collections, coupled with the imposition of penalties for false returns or failure to make returns, or pay amounts assessed will this year much increase the amount contributed for the national treasury, declared the Minister of Finance. Upwards of 150,000 persons will pay the tax, and the amount which will be collected during the year is estimated as $25,000,000. While this is an improvement over last year, it does not yet compare favorably, for instance, with collections in New Zealand, where in 1919 over six millions sterling, or about $31,000,000, was collected. New Zealand has but one-eighth of the population of Canada and on the same ratio Canada should collect $240,000,000.

Next year in Canada it is proposed to still further tighten up the regulations and stiffen penalties. There have been many prosecutions, both civil and criminal during the past year. There will be more next year if it were provided, for instance, that a person who understates his income will be forced to pay the total amount underdeclared, plus the tax on the aggregate, and will, in addition, be subject to prosecution and heavy penalty for false returns. Prosecutions will be automatic and no leniency will be permitted for alleged errors. The books of professional men, where necessary, will be examined and checked up.

The commissioner of taxation reports that the farmers are now making returns much more satisfactorily than before. Among those who have been assessed this year is a "bootlegger," who admits to the possession of an income of $15,000.

ALD. MACK PAUL IS MAYOR CANDIDATE

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 11.—Ald. Mack Paul definitely announced today that he is a candidate for the mayoralty. He is the senior member of the present council, of which he has been a member for eight years.

Woodstock Collegiate girls have organized a club with the following officers: president, Kathleen Williams; first vice, Jean Thornton; second vice, Allen Jones; secretary, Bernice Traill; treasurer, Mary Thompson; councillors, Eleanor Trotter, Helen Stevens, Jean MacKay, Marjorie King, Marion MacKay, Helen Jacques, Marion Wallace, Millie McGhee, Miss Murray, Miss Denison, Miss McKay and Miss Quigley. The club is to be known as the "Mack Paul Club."

TRADE WITH BAHAMAS.
Nassau, Bahamas Islands, Nov. 11.—(By Canadian Press).—A report which has just been issued on the trade of the Bahamas Islands credits Canada with a per cent of the total import trade of the islands.

This is declared to be under-estimated, however, for a part of the Canadian goods sent to this market was shipped through the United States, and in government figures was credited to the latter country. Comparison with reports for previous years show that Canada's trade with the Bahamas has been growing steadily.

FOUND NOT GUILTY OF STEALING RING
Charge Laid Against Young Waterloo Woman Is Dismissed.

KITCHENER, Nov. 11.—A young woman giving her name as Mrs. Wolfe, arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon charged with stealing a diamond ring, was found not guilty by Magistrate Smith. She proved she received the ring from an acquaintance and the evidence showed she sold it to a Kitchener jeweler.

With the lifting of the quarantine on two houses today and the announcement that no further cases have been reported in ten days, Waterloo health authorities are of the opinion that the small-pox epidemic, which has been gaining headway since October 1, is now under control. It is hoped the town will be cleared of contagion before the end of the month.

MONGOLIAN PLOT.
Mukden, Nov. 11.—Major-Gen. Chu Chu-hsiang, commanding Chinese troops in Urga, in an urgent telegram to Gen. Chang Tso-lin, commissioner for the three northern Chinese provinces, reports unrest in Urga, Kobo, and among a few tribes in Outer Mongolia. He alleges that the Mongolians, with foreign aid and encouragement, are plotting to recover their autonomy, and that unless arrears of pay to the troops and reinforcements are forthcoming serious disturbances are likely to occur.

Gen. Chang is accordingly dispatching a brigade of troops.

CELEBRATION AT KITCHENER.
KITCHENER, Nov. 11.—Honours attended the Armistice Day services held here under the auspices of the Daughters of the Empire at St. John's Anglican Church. Addresses were delivered by Rev. G. B. McLennan, of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. P. C. Cameron of King Street Baptist Church. The services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Langford.

HOLIDAY AT TILLSONBURG.
TILLSONBURG, Nov. 11.—Armistice Day was fittingly celebrated here by everyone. The pupils of the public schools, many of them accompanied by their teachers, school trustees and town officials, were gathered in the town hall for a series of speeches were given by Principal Smith and W. T. Crosby of the school board. After the ceremonies the pupils, amidst much cheering, were given a half holiday.

BOOZE IS PLentiful In Spokane, Price Near Old Level

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 11.—So plentiful is the local supply of "high grade Canadian whiskey" that the price has been reduced to $1.50 a quart, or only $2.50 a quart above the "pre-prohibition" price. Captain of Detectives Martin J. Burns declared in a newspaper interview today.

He said that, although Canadian whiskey is being received here "by the carload," the police are powerless to stop the traffic. Attack upon trainmen and car inspectors by alleged whiskey smugglers along the Canadian boundary led to the dispatch of armed guards to Eastport, Idaho.

The whiskey smugglers were importing large quantities of liquor and have declared they would "shoot their way through" if refused access to freight trains.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO SERIOUS CHARGE

Preliminary Hearing of Mount Forest Man Set For December 2.

GUELPH, Nov. 11.—P. A. Melkie, the young Forest man who was driving the car which fatally injured James Scott of Elora, appeared before Magistrate Watt today charged with criminal negligence. Melkie was represented by A. S. Clark of Mount Forest, who entered a plea of not guilty. As the crown was not ready to proceed the case was adjourned one week, and it was arranged that the preliminary hearing would be on December 2.

BRITISH GOVT. WILL CONTINUE TO KEEP MINISTER AT VATICAN

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Government, after full consideration, has decided that it is desirable in the public interest to continue the representation of Great Britain at the Vatican, according to an announcement by Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons today in answer to questions.

The premier added that this representation, which has been an existence since the first year of the war, had been attended with beneficial results. The announcement was greeted with cheering.

Count de Salis is the present British minister to the Vatican.

Was Suffering From INDIGESTION No Fear of Pains Now.

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble, and many people suffer terribly after every meal they eat. The rising and souring of the food, pains in the stomach, heartburn, water brash, belching of wind, vomiting shortly after eating, etc., are some of the symptoms.

There is no need for any person to be troubled with indigestion, dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble if they would only take Burdock Blood Bitters, which contains a combination of nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries; a combination that cannot help but put the stomach right.

Mr. H. H. Collins, Norton, N. B., writes: "I was with the overseas forces for four years and two months, and in October, 1916, I was unfortunately enough to be wounded and taken prisoner. I was a prisoner for 2 1/2 years, and the food they gave us was not good, at times, and after a few months I found I was suffering from indigestion. When I came home in July, 1919, I was nearly a wreck. I was told to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did so and found great relief, and can now eat without fear of pains and sickness. I would recommend it to none for relieving all stomach troubles. Manufactured only by The T. Millburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over forty years, and during that time has made a reputation second to none for relieving all stomach troubles. Manufactured only by The T. Millburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Salts FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We Eat Too Much Meat, Which Clogs Kidneys, Then Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic aches, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulates them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

When the Doctors Disagree.
I am pleased to report progress in the campaign to popularize catching cold.
In the past year I have encountered the word "cold," used as the name of a disease, just once in scientific medical literature of the day, although the term is, of course, carelessly and vaguely employed by some doctors who contribute what are known as squibs to medical publications of low status. The one instance referred to was a contribution by a Boston physician on the treatment and prophylaxis of perennial hay fever by determining the identity of the protein to which the patient is sensitized and administering minute quantities of that protein subcutaneously in gradually increasing doses to establish some degree of immunity. He wrote: "Recurring head colds are frequently coincident with the foregoing sensitization. . . . This type of head cold is probably not due to an infection, but rather a result of sensitization which renders the nasal mucous membrane easily irritable." So you see he did not mean what you mean when you say you have a cold in the head, if you know what I mean. In fact, he did not mean anything. He said "head cold" without thinking seriously of what he was trying to say.
It does not matter who the doctor may be, if he speaks of a "cold" or of "catching cold" or "taking cold," we do not know just what he is talking about. That is why he takes refuge in the use of such a meaningless or indefinite term. Have you ever noticed that when we don't know anything much about a subject we use a lot of vague terms in referring to it? Take occultism. Turn a "psychic" loose and he will make the diabolical groan, yet when he has finished you can't make any sense out of what he has been saying.
No two physicians mean precisely the same thing when they speak of a "cold" or even when they speak of a "head cold." Hence this Boston doctor, a specialist in his field and an authority on the subject of hay fever, phylaxis and treatment, referring to a girl, and particularly good for girls with weak ankles and round shoulders and such like shortcomings of physical education.

RUNNING ALL THE TIME.
What makes a person have a cold all the time?
Query propounded by a new reader.
One doesn't. It just seems all the time. Exaggeration is an inherent human trait. If we lose an hour or two of our regular night's sleep we swear next morning that we haven't slept a wink. If we have an ordinary attack of appendicitis or something, our nurse and doctor assure us a week later that it was the worst case they have ever seen. If one or two rascals give us a bad deal we conclude that the whole world is wicked. If we have more than two attacks of coryza in a season we declare that we are running all the time. If we have such an indisposition in fine warm weather we swear we are much frailer and we say little about it; but if the weather happens to be inclement when we are so indisposed, are so vulnerable about it, hence the popularity of the catching cold delusion. Has anyone ever found out where there are no respiratory infections or where there is less illness therefrom per thousand population than the average? If he has he keeps the secret well.
Coryza is an acute inflammation of the lining of the nose chambers invariably due to infection. Not every alleged "cold in the head" is coryza. It is a chronic or permanent diseased condition of the nose chamber linings or of the several spaces or sinuses (air chambers) communicating with the nose chambers, are abnormally sensitive to and react abnormally to atmospheric changes, temperature changes and changes of clothing. They experience a stuffiness, an engorgement or congestion of the nose chambers and perhaps increased secretion or running at the nose from irritating irritations of external or surface conditions, and they thoughtlessly say, "I'm taking cold" or "I'm catching more cold," although the unpleasant symptoms disappear within minutes or an hour after restoration of the usual surface conditions. Not to be with coryza; when you have coryza you have it good and proper for a few days. The sad part of it is, though, that easy-going folks who think in the channels set for them believe what these misguided chronicers say and conclude that you do take cold from drafts, dampness, change of weather or change of clothing.
Where superstition holds sway reason hasn't a chance.
The stuffiness and running at the nose, which these unthinking chronicers so lightly call a "fresh cold," is purely mechanical. There is no actual disturbance of health—no feverishness, no aches or pains, no malaise, nothing in fact, that warrants the conclusion that drafts, dampness or other atmospheric factors have any causative effect on diseases of the breathing organs. Indeed, no evidence has been found to support the theory that congestion or engorgement of a part of the body with blood favors or predisposes to inflammation of that part.
Some chronic disease condition makes a person imagine he has a "cold" all the time.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Removing Stain From Teeth.
Please tell me what will remove a greenish stain on the teeth near the gums, and also whiten the teeth. (Miss C. R.)
ANSWER—Brush the teeth with two or three drops of tincture of iodine on the wet brush. Follow this immediately with a brushing with a few drops of aromatic spirits of ammonia on the wet brush. Then brush with a few drops of peroxide of hydrogen on the wet brush. Do this perhaps three days in succession, as often as may be necessary.
Onions.
As I am very fond of onions, would like to know whether they are wholesome? Do you think walking outdoors is better for the health than exercising in a gymnasium? (M. H.)
ANSWER—Onions are wholesome, contain food, tonic, antiscorbutic (prevent scurvy). The fancied sleep-producing effect of onions is doubtful. In my judgment walking in the open air is better than any gymnasium exercise for the general health.
Blood Pressure.
What can one do to prevent high blood pressure? Will high pressure return to normal if the cause is removed? (Mrs. C. M.)
ANSWER—Obey the laws of hygiene and so avoid the disease states of which high blood pressure is a sign. High pressure will return to normal if the disease of which it is a sign can be cured. (N. B.—Don't write to ask me what disease high pressure is a symptom of. That is for your doctor to determine.)
The Dear Old Neighbors.
I am a girl 14 years old in high school, and for a long time I have wanted a bicycle to ride back and forth when the weather permits, but mother thinks it would be harmful, because I have very weak ankles. The dear old neighbors have warned her that bicycle riding is very bad for girls. Won't you please express your opinion about this. Mother always cites you as her authority on the subject of hygiene. (H. P.)
ANSWER—Bicycle riding is fine for

MILBURN'S

Success and Health in a box of Milburn's

"FAINT heart never won fair lady," an old proverb, but certainly a true one, and it is equally certain that faint hearts accomplish very little in any other path of life.

Business Controllers, Statesmen and Professional Leaders are men of stout hearts. They are careful to repair the waste caused by continual strain upon their mental and physical system.

There are still thousands among our own population who ignore the heart, the most important of all organs. All toilet tables find room for some restorative—many find room for a box or two of Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills. Their users are the wise ones who know the necessity of keeping the heart young—with a well heart there are no nervous complaints or ailments of any kind.

Grateful people all over Canada convey the facts of regained health through the use of Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills. Read this one, chosen at random from thousands:

MILBURN'S HEART & NERVE PILLS

Mr. H. Maxwell, Woodhouse, Alta., writes: "I was in the army when I got heart trouble. The two doctors told me there was little hope for me to get better. I have since had other doctors, but with no relief. A year ago a friend told me to try Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills. I laughed at him at the time, and told him they were only a fake, but as I got worse I thought I would try a box. I have taken six boxes, and can say that they are the first thing that helped me, and I feel as if I were a new man. I sure can thank them, and feel that with a few more boxes I will be well."

To your nearest druggist is but a short distance. He will hand you the key to good health and happiness—a box of Milburn's Heart & Nerve Pills, or send 50c. and they will be mailed direct by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HOME ECONOMICS
MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MACDONALD COLLEGE.

Louis XVI. and Empire Furniture. With Louis XVI. the great period of French furniture came to an end, and in the years of his reign before the revolution, in which so much of French art was destroyed with brutal ignorance, there was a reaction from the extravagance of the Louis XV. toward simplicity and refinement in accordance with the tastes of the king and Marie Antoinette, his Austrian wife. But the mild and well-intentioned Louis and the young queen could not check the disintegration started by his reckless predecessors. The deluge had to come, and for a time swamped French culture.

After the revolution and the brief republic came the time of the great grandeur, in which Napoleon sought to establish his dynasty. He turned out the French furniture of the empire, and encouraged the heavy splendor which we associate with those ideas. Most of the empire art is overweighed with display, but one or two of its ideas, notably the rolled tops of beds and arms of chairs or sofas, are good, and have persisted. Modified by colonial taste, as in the case of the American empire sofa shown, the lines are excellent. Nevertheless, as a whole, the empire left no very permanent impress on French domestic art. After its brief period of popularity, French, like English furniture of a corresponding period, merged during the nineteenth century into a general confusion of styles produced by heterogeneous manufacture.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
Facts about your name; its history; its meaning; whence it was derived; its significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

LYDIA.
Lydia is of Latin origin. She is one of the feminine names derived from places. As Delia comes from the island of Delos, so Lydia became a proper name in honor of the city of Lydia which played such an important part in early history.

Lydia has a deep and reverent biblical significance since the first Lydia was the seller of purple who became converted by St. Paul at Thyatira. Her story is contained in one of the striking passages of the Acts.

Englishwomen, who seem especially given to Scriptural names, adopted Lydia quite early in history. The name flourishes in the pages of English literature and also has extreme vogue in this country. Curiously enough, it seems to have escaped translation into any other than the English language.

Lydia, a name not in common use, but none the less musical, may possibly be a contraction of Lydia. If Lydia is the cause, the name is doubt the outgrowth of personal feminine preference and without etymological sanction.

The yellow jaundice is Lydia's talismanic stone. It will guard her from danger and disease, particularly when she is traveling. The wearer of a jaundice need have no fear of lightning, since the stone is said to be proof against that menacing element. According to an old legend, a jaundice will break as a warning of the approach of evil. Thursday is Lydia's lucky day and 5 her lucky number. Yellow is her color.

BREWRIES FACE RUIN.
BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Economic experts believe that many German breweries are facing ruin as a result of the falling off of the consumption of near-beer. To prevent this the Imperial Council has adopted an ordinance which will permit German breweries to thicken brews by an increase of the malt content.

Mothers! Keep Syrup Pepsin Handy

An absolute household necessity, a wonderful emergency remedy for constipation. Someone may need it any minute!

ALL in the family look to the mother for guidance and advice in the multitude of little disorders that arise almost daily. Chief of the minor ailments are those that precede or follow constipation. The experienced mother will tell this one to exercise more and that one to cut down on certain binding foods, but when these cautions fail she has to advise medicine.

Modern people are getting away from the notion that simple constipation, a headache, biliousness, colds, feverishness, indigestion, require a drastic, weakening drug. They take a teaspoonful or less of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which is but a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. The full formula is on every package. It is a mild, gentle remedy that does not gripe or weaken. The taste is syrupy and pleasant, and as it is free from narcotics and mercurials, mothers have for thirty years past felt safe in giving it to infants. A sixty-cent bottle will last a family month, and it is guaranteed to produce the results claimed or your money will be refunded. You will find nothing better for disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels than this same Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. Every member of the family can use it with safety and freedom of results. Many thousands of families are never without a bottle in the house, and last year over eight million bottles were sold in drug stores, the largest sale of its kind in the world.

These believers in Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin no longer take calomel or castor oil, salt waters, physics or purgatives even if made into a sugar-coated pill, for they have learned that they can get better, safer and more agreeable results with Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. If you will once bring a sixty-cent bottle into your home and take a teaspoonful the next time you feel constipated you will never thereafter be without it.

Try It FREE

There are heads of families who want to prove to their own satisfaction that my Laxative Syrup Pepsin is as effective in constipation, as mild and gentle in action, as pleasant-tasting and safe as I claim. Let such write me for a free sample. It will be sent postpaid. Simply say "Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont.: Send a free trial bottle of your Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to me and give your name and address. I will see that the rest is attended to promptly."

LIVE HOGS TAKE FURTHER DROP

Market Quotation Is Now $15.50 Per Hundredweight—Fowl Scarce on Local Market.

Live hogs fell to $15.50 per cwt. on the local market this morning. Dressed hogs went at $22 per cwt. The demand for both is limited. In many cases Thursday, the farmers took whatever they were offered by the buyers. It is expected that these prices will be the ruling ones for the remainder of the week.

Fifteen loads of hay sold on Thursday eased the demand, but no changes in prices were recorded. Potatoes were slightly easier on the retail quotations when prices were from $2.10 to $2.25 per bag. The wholesale quotation now is $2 per bag. Many farmers are of the opinion that the price will be dearer before the end of the winter. Buyers and market officials claim that they cannot be because the yield this year has been large and they expect them to be lower.

The fowl market is experiencing a decided scarcity at present. For the week there have not been any, and officials are of the opinion that the supply is not as large as was anticipated. One buyer claimed that the farmers would keep them till around Christmas and New Years. Dressed chickens advanced to 35c per pound. The former quotations were from 30c to 35c per pound.

Creamery butter per pound retailed from 62c to 64c, retail, and 53c to 55c, wholesale. Cream butter brought 52c retail and 48c, wholesale. The demand is active.

The market was very small because of the cold weather.

December oats opened 1/4c to 3/4c lower, May 1/4c to 3/4c lower.

November barley unchanged and December 3c lower.

Flax 3c lower for November at $2.25; 1c lower for December at $2.21, and 1c lower for May at $2.41.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—General selling forced all grain today to the lowest price level since 1916. Uncertainty over the financial outlook and industrial conditions were leading bearish factors. Besides, it was said definitely that the British royal commission and the Belgian government were out of the export wheat market this morning. Opening wheat quotations, which ranged from 13c to 14c lower, were followed by a material further setback and then by a rally which, however, was not well maintained.

Corn went lower in sympathy with wheat. After opening 3/4c to 1 1/4c off.

the market recovered a little and then sagged again.

Oats reflected the weakness of other cereals, although only to a relatively slight extent, starting unchanged to 3/4c down, and descending a little further.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Provisions were somewhat easier, owing to grain weakness.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

Toronto, Nov. 12.—Another sensational rise in the price of Atlantic Sugar, with the figure at the noon close representing a loss of more than 130 points since the high mark some months ago, featured the morning's trading on the stock exchange this morning. Sugar was the most active stock on the board.

In the afternoon, the trading was monopolized by transactions of the morning. Opening fairly strong at 41, Atlantic Sugar started an almost perpendicular decline, with the new low mark at 32. A rally before noon sent the price up 1 1/2 points.

Brazilian was in demand, following inquiry for the stock in the late trading yesterday, and went as high as 27 1/2 before profit-taking sent it back to 26 1/2. Other stocks were steady.

THOUSANDS VISIT NATION'S CENOTAPH

Crowds Deposit Flowers At Foot of Monument in the British Capital.

London, Nov. 12.—There has been scarcely any cessation since yesterday's ceremonies in the tramp of pilgrims to the monument to Great Britain's war dead in historic Whitehall, the unveiling of which was the principal feature of the armistice day exercises. During the early hours of the morning, in cold, grey, foggy weather, so many workers on their way to their tasks were anxious to pay tribute before beginning their day's toil that the police had to maintain their four abreast past the memorial.

By eight o'clock many men and women, both young and old, principally of the poorer working population, were depositing their bunches of flowers and wreaths at the monument while other toilers proceeded to work and passing by on the sidewalk reverently bowed their heads to the memory of the fallen.

The crowd increased as the day progressed, necessitating the continuance of the closing of Whitehall to vehicular traffic.

HAITIEN PRESIDENT DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF CRIMES CHARGED

Testifies Before U. S. Naval Board of Inquiry.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Nov. 12.—Sudre Dartignac, president of the republic of Haiti, testifying before the naval board of inquiry, declared he had no official knowledge of the charge of indiscriminate killing of natives by United States marines. Speaking through an interpreter, the president said it was without means of proving the existence of cases of homicide or violence that may have been committed by the marines, adding "they have been accused by public clamor."

M. Dartignac was the only witness testifying and after he had left the chair, Judge Advocate Dyer announced he had no further witnesses or evidence. The court then adjourned to resume upon call by Admiral Henry T. Mayo, president of the board of inquiry, and it is not probable another session will be held before next week.

Walked to Courtroom.

The Haitian president, with demonstration, walked from the palace to the court room, climbing the two flights of stairs. He expressed his confidence in the United States Government, and that he knew, answering a direct question if he had heard of any killing of natives by the marines, that he had not. "I have heard of regrettable acts perpetrated at Hinche, St. Marc, Croix des Bouquets, Grande Nord, and other places," he said, "but I have not heard of any killing of natives by the marines."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Sterling exchange was firmer today, and advanced slightly for demand bills at 33 3/4c; cables, 32 1/2c.

Canadian dollars did not gain any strength during the morning, and were still discounted at from 11 1/2 to 12 1/2 per cent, compared with yesterday's close of 11 1/2 per cent.

CABINET CONSIDERS SUSPENSION OF SCOTT ACT IN COUNTIES

Authorization Is Now Regarded Merely As Matter of Form.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Suspension of the Scott act in the counties of Huron and Perth, Ont., was before the cabinet council today. In both counties, suspension had been approved by the requisite majority and all formalities have been met. Actual suspension of the act is therefore more or less a matter of form.

The effect of suspension of the act will be to bring the counties within the operation of the stricter provision of the Ontario temperance act.

Asked if he had knowledge of any cases where marines who had been accused had not been tried, the president said: "Not having had to report any acts of violence or oppression, I have no interest in finding if persons engaged in the naval service who might be guilty of such acts had been tried by the naval court."

In the people, with a few exceptions, such as may be found in every country, have rejoiced at the coming of the liberty, prosperity and respect for their person and property, but "compulsory labor" has been practiced despite advice by the council of the government. This has given rise to discontent, which led to the revolt of the "Cacoe bandits." Mideeds, however, are always possible in cases of repression.

Difficult To Get Evidence.

QUEBEC EMPLOYMENT

OFFICIALS FEAR GREAT

HARDSHIP IN WINTER

Unemployment Likely To Be

come Serious Problem Is Belief Expressed.

MONTREAL, Nov. 11.—(By Canadian Press.)—It is generally agreed, says a writer in the Montreal Gazette, that the coming winter is to be one of hardship in a more than ordinary degree. As reflected by labor bureaus, both government and private, which are in close touch with conditions, the unemployment situation presents the aspects of a problem which might seemingly develop into one of considerable magnitude. Both skilled and unskilled labor is badly affected, the former by the slump in industrial activity and the latter through the circumstances which follow as a natural consequence. Many plants are running at about a quarter of their normal payroll, while the majority are reduced by at least half. The rest of the card in the main was as hotly contested as the main affair. Alex. Novicky and Johnny Tanner fought eight rounds to a draw. The referee stopped the Randall-Ryan bout.

The Technical School rugby team defeated Knox Presbyterian Church aggregation in a game played at Queen's Park yesterday afternoon, which resulted in the score of 18 to 1. The half-time score was 11 to 0. The Tech boys outplayed their opponents in every stage of the game, and at no time were they in danger of being heavily scored on. The lineup: Tech. School. Knox. EXCHANGE RATE AGAIN SLUMPS AT NEW YORK

Canadian Dollars Drop One Cent To 88.50—Pound Sterling Down.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The foreign exchange market as expressed in terms of the United States dollar was again extremely nervous today. Canadian dollars dropped 1 cent from yesterday's close to 88.50c, as against 90.25c a week ago. Today's quotation is the lowest point reached for some months.

Heavy offerings of grain and cotton bills caused sterling to fall to 83.35c for demand bills, as against the previous quotation of 84.85c. Today's low was 4 1/2c under the recent best, but considerably over the low record of last February, when sterling fell to 83.13.

New minimum rates were made by French, Belgian, Italian and Spanish exchange, and further demoralization was reported in all the central and South American markets.

Exchange on the Scandinavian countries also was heavy, and in some instances dealers declined to quote prices of bills to several new Eastern European war-created nations. Private advices from London were to the effect that no immediate relief from existing exchange conditions in England and France is probable. The same advices attributed the weakness of French rates to heavy purchases of United States cotton.
