BOYS SENT UP FOR TRIAL.

The epidemic of thieving which has been going on in this village, and which was alluded to in our last week's issue, proved much more extensive and serious than was ever suspected. It has been known for many months that dishonesty has been rampant among the youths of this village, but there has been a tendency among our people to pass the matter over, hoping for an improvement.

But when the charity box in the Sacred Heart Church was rifled of its contents a couple of weeks ago, the authorities considered that such an act of desperation and sacrilege must not be passed over lightly, and the matter was given into the hands of Constable Briggs to investigate. Mr. Briggs arrived here last Saturday afternoon, and armed with a search warrant, he went to the premises of Mr. Gustave Schnurr, toward whose two sons Jacob and Harry suspicion seemed to point strongly. Mrs. Schnurr, who had been hearing rumors concerning her sons, had the same afternoon commenced a search of the premises, and by the time of the arrival of the constable, she had succeeded in locating a sum of money in the stable, amounting to $93.70. A quantity of tobacco, a camera, mouthorgan, keys and knives were also found, which the constable took possession of.

With the finding of this large sum of money, came the question as to who were the rightful owners of the same. The charity box in the church contained about seven dollars, and it was apparent that their operations had not been confined to the church. The constable made enquiries among the business men of the village, and he ascertained that J. H. Schnurr's shoe store had been entered on the night of Feb. 9th, and a sum of money between ninety and one hundred dollars and a revolver were stolen. He also ascertained that Helwig Bros.' store had been entered on the night of Feb. 18, and the till change, amounting to $3 or $4, and a quantity of tobacco carried away.

With this information, he had a warrant issued for Jacob and Harry Schnurr and Stephen Hinsperger, whose parents gave their assurance that the boys would appear at the court on Tuesday morning.

The accused boys, together with fourteen witnesses, mostly youths, appeared in the court room on Tuesday morning, with Magistrates Tolton of Walkerton and Fischer of Mildmay presiding, and Crown Attorney Dixon conducting the trial. Mr. J. H. Schnurr was the first witness called, and he told the court that his store had been burglarized on the night of Feb. 9th, and about ninety-five dollars and a revolver taken. The burglars had in all probability entered by the front door, having a key to fit the lock, and escaped by breaking the window at the back of the store, as all the broken fragments of glass were on the outside.

Alfred Weiler then was called, and he told the story of the thefts from his grocery last July, in which the prisoners and several other lads were implicated. A considerable quantity of eggs, raisins, salmon and biscuits had been taken from his warehouse, and secreted in a loft above the warehouse to be carried off later, but Mr. Weiler located it before it was all carried away.

George Helwig informed the court that their store had been entered on the night of Feb. 18th. The burglars tried to get in through the warehouse into the cellar, but failing in that, they forced in the small cellar window and crawled in there. Leaving a trail of burnt matches, they made their way upstairs, where they rifled the till of its contents, about $4 or $5, carried away a quantity of Stag and Old Chum tobacco. One plug of Stag tobacco had been torn off, and a part had been left in the container, and the portion of the plug exhibited in court tallied with the fit of that part left in the container, as near as witness could remember.

Stephen Hinsperger was then called, and he gave a clear history of the robbing of the charity box in the Sacred Heart Church. It was on Sunday afternoon, and Stephen had been posted at the window to watch while Jacob and Harry Schnurr unfastened the cash box from the candle stand. Hearing a noise Stephen looked, and saw the two boys at work. After the box had been taken off, Jacob turned it upside down and the money poured out to the floor and was gathered up by Jacob. Stephen was given a part of the money to keep quiet about the matter.

A number of other witnesses were called, and their evidence did not make the prospect any better for the Schnurr boys. Harry Schnurr confessed that he had burglarized Schnurr's store, but both he and his brother denied having robbed the church or Helwig Bros.' store.

After all the evidence had been taken the magistrates summed it up and decided that the case against Jacob and Harry Schnurr was strong enough to warrant them in sending the prisoners up for trial before the Judge, and they were accordingly taken to Walkerton immediately after the trial, and lodged in the county jail to await their trial.

It was a painful experience for Mr. and Mrs. Schnurr, who were entirely in ignorance as to the actions of their sons. The parents did all in their power to help the constables to clear the matter up, and the sympathy of all their friends is extended to them in their trouble.

It is hoped that the fate of these two boys will act as a strong lesson to all the other village boys. The authorities are determined to keep a close tab on all the members of the "Gang" and it will not be well for them if they fall into evil ways. Parents will do well to pay a little more attention to the upbringing of their children after this.

Farm Crop Queries

Conducted by Professor Henry G. Bell.

The object of this department is to place at the service of our farm readers the advice of an acknowledged authority on all subjects pertaining to soils and crops.

Address all questions to Professor Henry G. Bell, in care of The Wilson Publishing Company, Limited, Toronto, and answers will appear in this column in the order in which they are received. As space is limited it is advisable where immediate reply is necessary that a stamped and addressed envelope be enclosed with the question, when the answer will be mailed direct.

Henry G. Bell.

Question—S. H. (1) How can I best get humus into a sandy soil? I have a field of about 5 acres which is unproductive. Last year it was not even good for grazing. I ploughed it fast fall and have been thinking of sowing it in the spring, and turning it under the following spring. What would you suggest that I sow and get a fair crop the same year, yet improve the soil?

Answer—You would do well in the spring, as soon as the ground will work, to harrow it down to a smooth seedbed, first having given it a dressing of from two to five tons of manure to the acre; then seed it to an early variety of oats, such as O. A. C. No. 72, or Daubeney, using about 1½ bus. of seed to the acre. Seed this with about 10 lbs. of Common Red Clover and 4 lbs. of Alsike to the acre. The oats will harvest early, and the clover should get a pretty good growth by fall. As soon as it has made a satisfactory start in spring, instead of cutting it, plow it under, and you will have enriched your soil by a good addition of organic matter.

Question—(2) What is the best fertilizer to use for potatoes on sandy soil, and what quantity should be applied per acre?

Answer—Potatoes on a sandy soil should receive a fairly high-grade fertilizer. You will do well to use one carrying from 4 to 5% ammonia, 8 to 10% available phosphoric acid, and as much potash (up to 3%) as you can get this year. If you cannot buy a fertilizer with a high amount of potash, you will do well to apply wood ashes, up to ½ ton to the acre, working it into the soil before you apply the fertilizer. If you do apply wood ashes, be sure to treat your seed potatoes with formalin in order to kill the spores of the scab which is likely to thrive where wood ashes have been applied. In applying the fertilizer, if you are putting on 500 lbs. or more to the acre, apply one-half through the fertilizer attachment of the grain drill, if you have a grain drill with fertilizer attachment, or spread it broadcast over the potato field before the last harrowing if you do not have a drill distributor. Thoroughly harrow this fertilizer into the soil and apply the rest of the fertilizer through the fertilizer dropping attachment of the potato planter. It is not advisable to apply more than 300 lbs. to the acre through the fertilizer attachment of the potato planter; hence any excess of this amount should be worked in broadcast when preparing the potato seedbed.

MORE DIVIDENDS FROM GARDEN CROPS

This Year, If Ever, the Opportune Time for Making Money From Vegetables.

Five acres of Ontario soil near a good market can be made to easily support a family in comfort. In potatoes alone the returns would run, under ordinary prices, at from $100 to $200 per acre. From $400 to $500 per acre can be made from cauliflower. Many people will be inclined to regard these figures as exaggerated, but they are facts, and many cases can be pointed out to substantiate our statements.

With proper soil treatment, the average garden will produce at least a half more than it now does. Several things must be borne in mind, however, to make a success with garden crops, such as onions, potatoes, cabbage, etc. The soil must be suitable, cultivation must be thorough, varieties the best for the district and the market, and good salesmanship.

The plot selected for the garden should be well drained, and must not be shaded to any extent. Drainage takes away surface water rapidly, and keeps the soil water away from the surface, thereby allowing the roots to grow deep and the air to enter the soil and aid in decomposing it. Fertility is another most important feature. The need for fertilizer is shown by low growth and pale color in the plants. Stable manure, bone meal, or good commercial fertilizer should be used to renew the elements required by the soil.

Germination.

Crops are often lost through the failure of the seeds to germinate. Don't blame your seedsman for this. It is usually because in planting the soil is left loose about the tiny seeds, and the dry atmosphere penetrates to them, shrivelling them up until all vitality is destroyed. Vegetable crops as a rule are sown in rows, and in every case, as soon as the seed is sown, it should be pressed down in the drill with the foot, then covered up level by the back of a rake, drawn lengthwise of the drills, and again firmed by the roller or back of a spade. For want of this simple precaution, perhaps one-quarter of all seeds sown fail to germinate. Again, for the same reason, when setting out plants of any kind, be certain that the soil is pressed close to the root. We have seen whole acres of cauliflower, cabbage and strawberry plants lost solely through neglect of this precaution.

Value of Rotation.

In order to secure maximum yields, and to keep down weeds, the systematic rotation of farm crops is an acknowledged necessity. Why not, therefore, plan the varieties of vegetables and their planting time so as to secure a continuous and abundant supply of good, fresh green things? It is just as easy as any other method of garden management, and it is much more satisfactory.

For example a crop of radishes, turnips, spinach or lettuce sown in April, will have ripened so that the ground can be cleared, dug up, and manured, and again used by the first of June, when such crops as cucumbers, peas, tomatoes, or sweet corn can be planted, and so on all through the list.

The crops should be moved around from year to year, so as to give the soil a chance to recuperate. Where a number of successive plantings are desirable, as with peas, it is an excellent plan to plant a third or fourth crop between the rows of the first crop, removing the vines of the first crop as soon as the peas have been picked.

The observance of the foregoing

Captain the Hon. Rupert Guinness, A.D.C., C.B., C.M.G., R.N.V.R., Senior Officer of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, and his wife, Lady Gwendolen Guinness, sailed a few weeks ago for England after having spoken in almost every town of any size in Canada from Sydney and Halifax on the Atlantic, to Vancouver and Victoria on the Pacific.

Their aim was to organize Committees to secure recruits for the Overseas Division of the Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve, and the work which they launched and which was unreservedly helped along by the Hon. Mr. Hazen for the Canadian Government, has already had splendid results, and hundreds of good recruits have joined the Navy under the auspices of the R.N.C.V.R.

Before leaving, The Lady Gwendolen made arrangements to have a specially designed souvenir pendant distributed through the various recruiting centres to the Mothers, or Wives, or Sweethearts whose influence had helped to secure recruits.

This pendant is a very pretty one of silver gilt and bears the motto "I helped to serve."

The badge is now, we are informed, being distributed by the Committees and will doubtless be worn by many women as a badge of honor, as well as a souvenir of their loved ones. The illustration gives some idea of its general appearance.

following prescription is right for a pig weighing about 100 pounds: Santal five grains; calomel, two grains; arca nut, two grains; sodium bicarbonate, one dram. Keep the hogs off feed for about twelve hours and give the dose in a slop of middlings. The evening of the same day give a mass of wheat bran. This will flush the bowels. Gather all worms and burn them.

Worms often are the forerunner of disease.

If hog or pig has a big appetite and thrifless condition, with dry dead hair, it is a good indication of the presence of worms.

Girl's Father (sharply)—What are you driving at?

Nervy Sutor—I don't see why you continue to misunderstand my meaning; I have tried to make it plain enough. I want to marry your daughter, that's all there is to it. Do you follow me?

But there was no need of this question, for as the young man turned to leave, he had tangible evidence that his prospective father-in-law was following him closely.

Letter from L. C. Sammy Miller.

The following is a copy of a letter written by Lance Corp. Sam W. Miller of the 202nd Battalion, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Miller of Wiste, Alberta, formerly residents of Mildmay.

Left Edmonton this morning Nov. 17 at 8 o'clock on the second train with lots of hoots and waving from the crowd. Stopped at Wainwright an hour in the afternoon. The Band played a few songs so everything was lively. About seven in the evening we arrived at Biggar and went for a short route march with the band leading the procession. The boys were hallooing at everybody and saying that they would be all right if they were only a little bigger. Nov. 18th. We had a pleasant day and arrived at Winnipeg after dark and the Battalion went for a march for half an hour. Forbes and I dropped out after they got started and tried to get Harold Moore on the phone but didn't succeed and just caught the train by the skin of our teeth we never noticed them coming back off the march. About 1.20 at night we halted at Atover in New Ontario. My window happened to be just opposite the restaurant in the depot so we had an apple and a blueberry pie. We finished up the good cake you baked for me. Nov. 19th. This is Sunday. We had a dandy out door sermon. The Band played Hymns and the preacher had a dandy text, he pressed every one to write home, and after we got on the train he came through with paper and envelopes. Passed through Crockreave where the big bush fire went through last spring and burnt over 200 people in one town. One would never think we were going to war. Everybody Happy; Nov. 20. Well I can't say much about this day, only rocks and more rocks until we reached North Bay about 7 in the evening, there was quite a bunch at the station, all the girls wanted Badges (a kiss for a badge) and nearly all the boys were without Badges, saying nothing about myself. We branched off at North Bay for Ottawa, we didn't see Toronto as they wanted to make this the fastest trip from the West.

Still going, reached Ottawa this morning at 6.30, had a march through the city past the Duke of Devonshire. Crossed the St. Lawrence once and it was guarded with fixed bayonets at both ends of the bridge by an Ottawa battalion. The water looked great as we passed, where the Empress of Ireland went down. The Province of Quebec is New Ontario over again, hills, rocks and bush and the towns are nothing but French who can't understand at all. There was one white Jane in the bunch, and I asked her to get me some cough medicine as we couldn't get out of the coach; away she went returning with some pine and tar and wouldn't take a cent so I gave her my hat badge. The boys lost a few more badges while stopping Nov. 23. This is seven days and 6 nights on the train, but we'll reach Halifax this afternoon about 4. Everybody is packing and rolling blankets ready to hit for the boat. The worst was shaying while the train was going, but I managed well only gashing myself once. Reached Halifax at 7: it is sure some burg, dirty and black; we didn't see very much of it as we went from the depot to the boat. One thing we can say—we are crossing the Atlantic on the biggest ship afloat which is travelling 22 knots an hour and is a sister to the Lusitania that was sunk. This is the Mauretania. Nov. 24—Laid in Halifax till 4 o'clock then pulled for the deep. Supper was called quarter 5 and it certainly was exciting; the boat began to roll a bit and talk about seasickness I was jake, only a swell head, so I beat it for the deck and came around all right. Bill Kleinschrauth, Alf Shannon were sure sick, about half were polishing the deck (an awful sight.) Nov. 25. We are away out in the deep, the sailors told me this boat was shot at by submarines over six times, sometimes it only missed the rear end. We haven't had an escort from the start as she depends mostly on her speed. I met Walter Kreig on the boat, he is Seargt. in the artillery. Nov. 26-27. Nearing the danger zone and wearing life belts all the time. All get paraded to their life boats once a day; mine is a raft on the top deck. I was on guard twice last night on the Captains bridge, which has two Lewis guns, 4 men and a Jitney on at one time. A row porpoises passed on Sunday. They are somewhat like fish. Poor Shannon is still seasick and is sure feeding the fish. We are in the Irish Sea, have escorts, saw Ireland this morning and can see Scotland, nothing but rocks and lighthouses. Forbes just located an old cigar and is wrapping some cigarette papers around it so it will draw. Nov. 30. Unloaded at Liverpool this morning and boarded the train which is some looking object; the engines are so small, so are the cars, doors on the side, about six to a car made up in box stalls, but they ramble. Arrived at Whilly camp a few minutes to twelve at night, very tired as we had to walk away and were heavily loaded. Our barracks are dandy, lots more room than we had in Canada. I can hardly believe I'm so far away from home. The last night on the boat sleep was impossible it was so rough but we were all happy because we were in the docks. The 160 Bruce Battalion is in the camp and I expect to see some of our Chesley boys tonight. Rolly Brown and Ben Bigbhauser are here. Forbes brother is in hospital; his battalion is here too. Must close, hope you can make this all out as I mostly wrote it on the train and boat. We are now 40 miles from London. from Lance Corp. S. W. Miller.

Cost of Bad Roads.

A company in Stanislaus, California that buys skimmed milk from the farmer has demonstrated to the rural residents in an emphatic manner the value of good roads to them. This company sends trucks directly to the farms to collect the skimmed milk, but it pays higher prices to farmers living on good roads than on bad roads. On poor roads the company pays 17½ cents per 100 pounds but on good roads it pays 20 cents. Of course, the farmer always has been paying this tax on every hundred pounds he hauled over bad roads and has been relieved of it on every hundred pounds he had hauled over good roads, but that fact has not been brought to his notice as in the case cited. When he measures his distance from town in minutes instead of miles he will realize the profit of good roads.

One of the applications for divorce to come before the Senate this session is from Mr. Abraham of Warton. It is an expensive job to get a divorce in Canada and there will not be much left of $1,000 after Alexander gets a legal separation from his wife, Mary, who is charged with adultery and misconduct.
