RECIPROCITY WITH THE BRITISH N. A. PROVINCES.

The people of this country generally have but little idea of the extent, importance, or advantages, of the trade and reciprocal interests which for the few years past have been springing up between the United States and the bordering dependencies of the United Kingdom of Great Britain. When, taking the Province of Nova Scotia alone, and then only a portion of it, it is stated, that through a single st ait which separates one part of the province from the other, of ten thousand vessels which annually past through the Gut of Canso, more than one half consists of American tonnage, some adequate estimate may be formed of the magnitude of the interests involved in the existence of amicable commercial relations between the Governments of the Provinces and the States.

The extensive fisheries of Nova Scotia, prosecuted with so little enterprise by its inlabitants, offers a tempting, and in many cases a richly renumerating reward to the more energetic efforts of our adventurous fishermen.

Nova Scotia forms the western boundary of the mouth of the Gulf of Sain Lawrence. The waters of the Atlantic wash its southern and western shores, and in a northerly direction, the Bay of Fundy shoots up to within twelve builes of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and by means of a contemplated casial, will soon mingle its waters therewith. This Province, placed by nature in such a commanding position, and whose commercial and maritime advantages are already beginning to be felt and acknowledged, can boast not only of its facilities of water communication and envisible site, but draws its richest treasure from the broad deep, by which it is almost arrounded. RECIPROCITY WITH THE BRITISH N. A. PROVINCES.

bast not only of its facilities of wafer communication and enviable site, but draws its richest treasure from the broad deep, by which it is almost surrounded.

Its unackeref fishery is not only unsurpassed, but not equalled by any in the world. While fisheries of asimon, cod, herring and alewives, form staple and remunerating articles of export.

On the coast of Nova Scotia, and that too within the limits by which they are forbidden by the Treaty of 1818 to enter, are taken the greater quantity of mackerel, by which they are forbidden by the Treaty of 1818 to enter, are taken the greater quantity of mackerel, by which they are forbidden by the Treaty of 1818 to enter, are taken the greater quantity of mackerel, by which our Fishermon draw that bounty the Government so beneficently affords them as an inducement to their hardy and enterprising efforts. The Government of Nova Scotia has hitherto done but little towards the protection of its valuable fisheries, and our fishermen have actively and industriously profited by that circumstance. Were it likely that this state of things would continue for any length of time, we might fold our arms and reap the fruits of our present advantageous position; but if the time is near at hand, when the privileges we now onjoy, are to be questioned, it behoves our people and government to ascertain the extent of our fishing and maritime privileges, and maintain them.

The subject of reciprocity of trade in certain articles of agricultural produce both manufactured articles and raw materials, between this country and the British North American Provinces, has occupied the attention of their several governments for two or three years. Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, have not been thoroughly considered, or the advantages to this country property brought out. It is shot my intention at present to enter into the consideration of the general subject, but I may observe, that the non-acceptance by Congress of the proposition from the Provinces, has been received in the Provinces consideration of the general subject, but I may observe, that the non-acceptance by Congress of the proposition from the Provinces, has been received in the Provinces in a spirit that will likely produce measures, hostile in some respects, to the interests of this country.

The shutting up of the St. Lawrence by Canada against our citizons has been threatened; and during the next sitting of Parliamont in the country.

The shutting up of the St. Lawrence by Canada against our citizons has been threatened; and during the next sitting of Parliamont in the country of the consideration. What the result may be, I will not now venture-to-predict; but invite attention to what has been done in Nova Scotia. Our Government would not likely accede to the propositions of the British Provinces, unless upon fair terms of reciprocal advantage; and it is necessary that the subject should be well understood on both sides. The British Provinces would send us fish and agricultural produce and raw materials, and take back our manufactures to be admitted duty free, were we to admit the fish, agricultural produce, &c., of the Provinces free of daty. The Provinces, must, however, levy a daty for revenue upon all manufactured articles, whether coming from England, this, or any other country. We are now allowed to enter some of the Provinces with our manufactures, by paying this revenue duty, (in the large majority of classes not over six to seven per cent.), whilst we levy a protective duty of from twenty to thirty per cent,, and that upon agricultural produce, raw materials, &c., which we absolutely require, and which this country cannot supply in sufficient quantities at fair rate. To protect our manufactures, has always been our policy; but I cannot understand, why we should lay a protecting duty upon raw materials, and when the imperation of that duty is calculated to restrict the exportation of our manufactured goods. Our proximity to the Provinces, gives us largely the advantage of any exporting country in Europe, and if with the by destroying or damaging our fishery, we would be jositified in preventing such being done, by the most effectual and cheap process.

Nova Scotia has offered, and I believe, is still willing to place our fishermen on a footing of equality with her own; provided her fishermen are permitted to enter our ports with their fish upon the same terms as ours. The advantage of this arrangement to our fishermen would be incalculable. They are now obliged to dedge about from place to place for shelter, and the destruction of life and property is far greater than is at all believed. A great many of our vessels are selzed and condemned, and the fear of estayet keeping them continutly shifting about, obliges them to spend double the the time in making their fare of fish. Were they allowed to land and cure and make their fish, more than troble the quantity might be produced by the same number of vessels, and the dry fish would be of a much finer quality. In addition to which, they might have their regular fishing establishments, and always be on the ground to campete with their provincial rivals.

The assertion of the writer in the Beston paper before referred to, that we might as well prevent foreigners from passing through the "Sound "or any other of our Straits, as the Nova Scotians to prevent our fisherman from going through the Gut of Canso, is in my opinion, incorrect. Foreign commercial vessels coming into our waters should not be deburved the right of any practicable passage; but we might very properly prohibit foreign fishing vessels from de so, when their using the passage would lead to irrespasses on our fishing grounds. Nova Scotia does not the right as against any other class of vossels at the fishery; and I conceive therefore, the write not put a parallel case.

AMERICAN PHONETIC COUNCIL.

This Phonetic Council, says the "Phonetic Advocate," is a body of individuals elected by the Phonegraphers and Spelling reformers of the United States and Caesda. It is made up, mostly, of men of talent and education; and the objects for which they are chosen are, Ist To consider the diversaties of pronunciation in the English language, and, after mature research and comparison, to make choice of what shall be considered the best pronunciation of each and all the words in the language; and, 2d, To devise ways and means for establishing a correct and philosophical orthography of our language, so that words will be spelled as they are pronounced, and thus three-fourths of the time now required in Tearning to read, be aved to children at school.

This is a noble enterprise, and the men who thus liberally devote their time for the public good should receive the aympathy and co-operation of the friends of education and philanthropy everywhere. Watting for a Newspaper.—There are few persons who do not think themselves competent to such an act. Comparatively few, however, are able to write so as to be read. Before writing, know exactly what you have to do, and what you have to say; have the whole compass and detail of your subject in your mind, say it in plain old English, use the most easy words and forms of speech in your power, do not use obselete or out of the way terms. speech in your power, do not use cheelete or out of the way terms, use no exordium, come directly at what you aim, and give the largest possible number of ideas in the fewest possible number of words. Use no circumlocation, and when you have done stop; an article is never too short when the writer has comprehended his subject; any verbose additions only take from the force of an article. We have more than fifty regular or occasional contributors to our paper which is issued but once a week. Wordy articles from all these would fill two daily papers of the size of the Olice Branch. We beg our contributors all to learn to say much in a few words. This is one of the most difficult parts of the art of writing, especially of a newspaper writer. Persons gifted with a concise, forcible, yet graceful and easy style, never fail of success. Daguerrotype your subject and leave your reader to study the picture.—Batton Olice Branch.

APPLES.—The Now England Farmer thinks the crop of applea throughout New-England, will be light this year. The reason assigned is, that it is an odd year. The Editor adds: "We never have large crops in odd years, and seldom a middling crop, but generally a light one. We have our large crop of apples in even years. This is the result of more than, thirty years' observation, Our natural trees bear mostly in even years."

Be CAREFUL or Love Letters.—We give this advice consequence of a pocket-book now is the Post Office, containing great number of billets dosz, all cent to a young man, who, I some mistake, lost the precious treasure is a garden on the oil of the High-street, under the cloud of hight. He seems to have fever than four eweethearts, all desperately in love with him, as breathing out they very soul in the verment expressions of tendences and affection; every epistle, as usual, ending with a "you till death apparate us." One has suspicion that she is formskeen another cets a tryst—and a third desires her letter to be burns and all four seem ready to die. Pour creatures, we pity them, it mone of them can have a true lover in such a gallant; nor can feel true love himself, for divided love was never happy. By

We understand that the captain of the Europa, about was below, consulting his chart, when the accident happened. The Florrence had on bout 360 barrels of mackeral. The total loss of property is about 360 000, on which there is no insurance. The owne question is, we now think, set at rest for ever: Responsible to the mount laving been, as it now appears, granted on that condition.

This question of the Engine House is settled for the present. The Captain of the Engine, R. Hutchinson, Esq., received an order from the new Firewardens through their accretary, H. Haszard, Esq., directing him to have the engine removed to Miss Funning's coach bosse, which has been engaged for the purpose; with this order he it seems, and we think very properly, released to comply, but having received his commission from one of this Excellency's processors, he conceived it his duty to wait apon the present Administrator of the Government, and take instructions from himself personally, as to which coarse he should pursue. After some discussion it was settled, that on his Excellency's giving an order to the same offset as that given by the Secretary of the Beard of Firewardens, the engine should be taken out of the place where it was depasted under the sanction of the late administration, and removed to that provided for it by the present. It is a matter of little consequence to the town where the fire engine is deposited, so that it be a convenient and and place—and the place appropriated is, perhaps, as good as the cold one—but it is of the atmost importance to the wall-being of the community that laws when enacted should receive a legal construction. LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.

Does it require a long time, days, weeks, months, and years to enable human beings to love one another? Does the human heart slowly and suspiciously lay up one kind thought after another, till the measure of its affection be full? May geneel words and kindly smiles pass from the lips and eyes, and yet the heart remain cold and untouched—and willingly lose sight of and forget the object of its transitory tenderness? It may be so with many, for the incidents of time teach different learnts; but before human nature has been sorely afflicted, tried or deceived, its temper open to kindness and joy, and attracted by the sympathies of a commion nature, why may not those who are strangers to-day be better friends to-morrow? Nor does the deepest affliction always close up the fountains of love into the human soul. Like light streaming in upon a prisoner through the bars of his dungeon, is the smile of faces not yet dimmed by grief to the man of many miseries; and hugging his sorrows close to his soul, will often lay down that reaful burden to which he has long clang with infutated despoir, at this sight of youth, beauty, and innoceace rejoicing before him in an untamed, fearless and triumphant bliss. There are often, too, sudden revelations of sympathy made between human beings by a word, a tene, a look, a smile; truth is then conveyed suddenly and easily into these spirits, and from that moment, they rest presuming on each other's affections and each other's worth, as if they had been mutually known for years. If there were not those strong and prevailing tendencies in our nature, the paths of human life would be barren nedecd; or the friendships that apring up over them, would generally be sown by the hand of interest and soff love. But nature follows other processes; and love and friendships at first sight, often springs up as necessarily as flowers expand from bud into blossoms in the course of a few sunny and dewy hourr of one vernal morning.

DRUNK.—There is scarcely a word in the English language that seems to be so studiously avoided by every body, as the one at the hand of this paragraph. We wish the thing were as uncommon as the word. The last synonym we have observed is 'tight,' a term which strikes us as rather inappropriate, since a 'tight,' as term which strikes us as rather inappropriate, since a 'tight,' as term which strikes us as rather inappropriate, since a 'tight,' as term which strikes us as rather inappropriate, since a 'tight,' as term which strikes us as rather inappropriate, since a 'tight,' a term which strikes us as a to entime or another, to signify some stage of insbriation:—Over the bay, half seas over, hot, high, corned, cut, cocked, half-cocked, shaved, disquised, jammed, damaged, sleepy, tired, discouraged, anuffy, wipped, how come ye so, breezy, enoded, top beavy, faddled, groggy, tipy, smashed, avipy, shewed, crank, asited down, how are ye, on the lee lurch, all sails set, three sheets in the wind, well under weigh, battered, blowing, boogy, sawed, anubbed, acrewed, nosked, comfortable, atimulated, jug-steamed, tangle-legged, fogmatic blue-eyed, a passenger in the Cape. Cusross.—When railways were first established, every living being gazed a passing train with astonishment and fear; ploughmen held their breath, the loose horse galloped from it, and then, suddenly stopping turned round, stared at it, and at last snorted sloud, But the "raine days" wonder "soon came to an end. As the train now flies through our verdant fields, the cattle grazing on each side, do not even raise their heads to look at it; the timid sheep terrs in no mayer than the wind; indeed, the hen partridge, running with her brood along the embankment of a deep cutting, does not now were crouch as it passes close by her. AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF SCROFULA OR KING'S EVIL.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. J. H. Aliday, 209, High Street, Cheltenham, dated the 22d of January, 1850.

To Professor HOLLOWAY.

Sin,—My ellest sun, when about three years of age, was afflicted with a Ghandular Swelling in the neck, which after a short time broke out into an Ulcer. An eminent medical man pronounced it a very land case of Scrofula, and prescribed for a considerable time without effect,—The disease then far four years went on grundally increasing in virulence, when, besides the ulcer in the neck, another formed below the left knee, and a third under the eye, besides seven others on the left arm, with a timmor between the eyes which was expected to break. During the whole of the time my suffering how had received the constant advice of the most of the time my suffering how had received the constant advice of the most of the time and the disease. In this desperate state I determined to give your Fills and Ointmeet a trial, and after two mouths' preservance in their use, the umor gradually legan to disappear, and the discharge from all the ulcers perceptibly decreased, and at the expiration of eight mouths they were perceptibly decreased, and at the expiration of eight mouths they were perfectly hesized. and the hoy thoroughly restored to the blessings of health, to the attonishment of a large circle of acquaintances, who could testify to the truth of this mirraculous case. Three years have now elepsed without any recurrence of the maindy, and the boy is now an healthy as heart can wish. Under these circumstances I consider that I should be truly ungrateful were I not to make you acquainted with this wonderful cure, effected by your medicines after every other means had faited.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. John Pitt, Dudley, 19th Jan. 1850, To Professor Holloway.

Sta,—It is with the grenest pleasure that I write to thank you for the benefit I have received from your Pills and Ointment, which have completely cared me of the Rheumatism, under which I suffered for this last four years, at time I was as lad as hardly to be able to walk. I had tried every kind of medicine that was recommended without receiving any benefit. I at last thought I would give your mediciners a frial and purchased from Mr. Hollin, Chemist of this Town two boxes of Pill and two of Ointment, and in three weeks through them and the blessing of God, I was restored to health and strength, and am now as well able to walk as ever I was in my life. I am well known in this parash, having been sixty-five years in it, with an exception of ten years I served in the 2th Regiment of Foot.

CURE OF A BAD LEG OF MORE THAN SIXTY YEARS' STANDING.

Mr. Barker, of No. 5, Graham's Place, Drypool, near. Hull, had nices on his leg from the age of eighteen until upwards of eighty, and although for many years he had esught the first advice in the country, nothing was found to cure them. He very often suffered most excuestating pain for long periods together, which incapacitated him from attending to his bustness. He had given up all hopes of getting a cure when at last he was persuaded to try Holloway's Pills and Omitment, which he dad, and however wonderful it may appear, the leg was thoroughly headed by their means, and by continuing to use the Pills alons after his leg was well, he has become in health so hale and hearty as now to be more active than most men of fifty.

N. B — The truth of this extraordinary statement can be vouched for by Mr. J. C. Reinhardt, 22, Market Place, Hull. February 20th, 1830.

CURE OF A DESPERATE CASE OF RINGWORM, OF SIX YEARLS' STANDING.

Lima, 13th November, 1849.

One of the most emin-at Surgeons in Lima (the Capital of Peru) had a child covered with Rugwurm for more than aix years; in vain he exhausted all his art in his endeavours to effect a cuse. Not succeeding, he consulted among his brethen, the most celebrated medical practitioners of the City, but nothing was found to do the child service. When he was persuaded by Mr. Joseph P. Hague, the English Chemist and Praggest, residing at 74, Calle the Pallacius, to try Holloway's Pills and Ointment, which was done, and after asing ax large Pots of the Ointment, with a proportion of the Pills, the child was radically cured, to the surprise of the whole modicinal profession. The name of the parent, from motives of delicacy is withheld.

The Pills should be used conjointly with the Ointment in most of the following cases:—

Sir;
This is to certify that I was, for this last 12 months, troubled with Fits; and, from their very severe attacks, thought each one would terminate my existence; and, in addition to the Fits, I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and was extremely weak and servous. I heard a great deal about S. P. Townsend's Sarsaparills, for which you are Agent. I was advised to try it. And strange and wonderful to relate, before using the contents of one bottle, was greatly benefited. Indeed, so rapid and effectual was the cure, that it appeared to me to be almost miraculous. And I think that, in justice to the public and suffering humanity, I am bound to make the above statement, and say, that a greater blessing, in my opinion, than S. P. Townsend's Sarsoparilla never came to this Island.

PROFESSOR A. G. BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS or MEDICATED SYRUP—Truth loves an incredulous audience, for if they listen, they are sure to become converts. If there is any man or woman who challenges the statement that Barry's Tricopherous is a specific for cutaneous diseases and injuries, and the best preparation for the hair exists, all that is saked is that he or she will try one twenty-five cent-dottle of the fluid, and read the pamphlet in which it is enclosed. Read and make the trial. Truth will then force conviction upon the mind, that all, and more than all, that has been claimed for the preparation by the inventor, is as palpable a fact as the existence of the sun, or changes of day and night. Referring the reader to the thing itself, and the accompanying treatises for a solution of all his doubts, if he entertains any, we will here briefly state what the Tricopherous will do. It will remove scurf and dendruff; it will restore, pressore and beautify the hair; it will prevent it from becoming harsh or gray; it will dispose the hair to curl and reader it glossy: it will relieve inflammation, itching and all irritation of the skin; it will cure bites and stings of insecta; it will take away the pain of cuts, burns, bruises and sprains; it will allay the pain of rhematism and cure bedache. For these reasons, it ought never to be absent from the dwelling of any family, and no one should travel without it.
