CHAPTER I

A FAMILY JUR.

ONE of the most beautiful places in the State of New York may be found a few miles back of the waters of the Hudson River, and having a delightful view of that beautiful stream,

Upon a green, sloping hillside a wide-roofed, low cottage farmhouse stands embowered in a group of grand old trees-elms-whose loftly heads have bowed before ten thousand storms, and yet they lift them as proudly as ever.

A garden of bright-hued flowers extends from the ivy-covered porch in front of the house to the green buckthorn hedge, and between the hedge of green intervenes, for the cottage stands a little back from the road.

Broad fields, cultivated to their with black and ruffled at the edge. fullest extent, lie all around, and a The sisters were aged respectively there with his toll-hardened hand, he wide belt of woodland bounds the twenty, eighteen, and sixteen. farm upon two sides, extending back upon the hill. ALL DRUGGISTS

The second daughter, May, was of light, graceful form, had clear hazel eyes, and perfectly transparent skin. Her mouth was small, and its expression of great sweetness. If the proud beauty of Belle's mouth expressed her willful, passionate temperament, then the peaceful calm of May's face bore evidence of the angelic soul within her graceful form. Her shining brown hair was put smoothly away from her fair oval face, and gathered in one massive, graceful curl at the back of the head.

May's admirers decided that she was the handsomest, as well as the best, of Farmer Mellen's daughters. But Goldie, pretty little Goldie Mellen, was one of those exquisite little mortals that defy description. She was always beautiful, but her beauty seemed never to be twice alike. Her hair was of that exquisite golden tint so praised in poets' song and copied by the old masters of painting, but which is seen in real hving beauty but once in a lifetime at least upon one head. She was a dear, willful little darling, rowing vexed at everything which chanced to cross her, and flying out of temper at every word not pleasing to her ladyship, but sorry for her naughty temper the next moment, and ready to be forgiven. No person could be vexed with her. She was charming even in her pettish

In form she was scarcely yet developed, but promised to be extremely graceful. Her eyes were sparkling with a purple-blue shade this mornchair, scattering the leaves of the ers. "Come, come, girls! Don't get to quarreling," laughed Mrs. Mellen looking up at the top of the oven to see if the bricks were of a white heat. "They shan't tease Goldie, anyhow, said the farmer. 'If anyone goes t the party, you shall go, sis."

Difficulties and prejudices still obstruct the path of reform. But never was there more hope of reforming them than now. We do not attach supreme importance to convictions for drunken ness as a test of intemperance. Many causes affect the figures, particularly changes in regard to the administration of the law by the police, who are sometimes lax, some and rigorous. Economic causes swell or contract the figures. A period of nigh wages or of frequent fluctuaions in them may falsify the experience acquired in other times. It is nanifest that if there be a doctrine drunkenness it is not universal.

Hezekiah's Tunnel Explored. No more interesting task awaits the twentieth century archaelogist than the systematic exploration of the network of ancient tunnels, conduits, and cisterns which lie under Jerusalem. Three years ago a small party of British investigators set to work upon this task, beginning with the examination of the Virgin's Well and the famous tunnel which runs from it tury B. On clearing the Virgin's Well and breaking through a mass of concrete the explorer's discovered a fresh conduit cut in the living rock, some 6 feet deep, which led to a small cavern. The cavern was choked with debris, whch was removed and examined. It consisted of mud, potsherds, and fragments of jars, all ancient. The pottery found was in no case as late as the ninth century, B. ., and some of it was much earlier. An Israelite lamp of the eleventh cen-

Invulnerable Gibraltar

It Has a Battery Perhaps Unequalled in the World.

It has always been known that Gibraltar, which belongs to Great Britain, is one of the strongest forts for both defence and offence in the world. It is said that an immense eet could be sent to the bottom be re getting within five miles of Gibaltar. Not even a torpedo boat could ucceed in entering the bay unobserved on the blackest night. The most eminent naval experts are of the fortress is almost impregnable

Gibraltar never sleeps. By day and night two perfectly equipped signal stations, proudly flaunting Britain's flag of ownership, sweep the seas around to a distance of fifteen miles on a clear day, instantly reporting th oming and going of each vessel.

Modern "needle" guns, the finest

Surope, are installed on all the mos ominent points. They are unreach ble from the sea, even as they ar ndiscernable, owing to the skill wit which they are planted and draped t match the surrounding vegetation while huge screens drop automatical before them as each shell is fired They have a range of fifteen mile and could drop shells on Ceuta, i Africa, opposite, quite comfortably One gun weighs 110 tons and is cap able of throwing a shell weighin vel of engineering under great difficulties, the galleries, are concealed ouns for every day in the year

All Ends of the Earth

WILL BE GATHERED AT TORONTO FOR TWO WEEKS.

The Zion of Methodists, from al the ends of the earth, will be for the next fortnight the Metropolitan ers in all the popular makes. Church, Toronto. They will require to take much more than their staff in their hand. For two hundred come from beyond the seas and more than twice that number find their way from all their altars on this continent. It will be the "salt" of that great denomination, in both its spiritual and intellectual power. Having just enough minor differences to relieve the monotony of uniformity, they are still "Methodists" Linen Bond Type- of the original mould. And they are coming together not to strive with one another in debate, but to wor-For large va- ship and to wait at their common al-

TREMENDOUS GROWTH.

In ecclesiastical history the name Methodist is found only in its later chapters. In the twenty mile stones of Christian progress all but the last wo are passed ere they join the procession as a distinct church. Yet their rise was similar to that of Christianity itself. From a very humble beginning it has grown tremend ously. Unlearned men played a leading part in both. And finally the "new wine" was found to require new "skins." Nothing could restrain them and to-day this modern organization has 54,207 ministers, 106,000 lay preachers, ministering to thirty million people. Wherever they are established they are a strong power on behalf of evangelical religion and

That Toronto has come this early as the choice of a tabernacle is a tribute to the city herself and to Canadian Methodism. It is to be noted that the great feast is held only after each decade. There have as yet only been four gatherings. The last was in London, England, Hence there is the plainest recognition of the place and power of the Methodist Church in this land. The enthusiasm and sacrifice of the pioneer preachers have indeed become the seed of the church. The circuit rider and his protracted meetings have left an impress upon Canadian life which is one of the great vital forces of the present. The atmosphere therefore will be congenial and during the two weeks conference, there will be great joy within their gates. AN ATTRACTIVE PROGRAMME. The programme is most inviting Evidently it was planned more for the printing press than the platform. For it will take a goodly portion of the next ten years to digest the good things there provided. The benefits have, therefore, been designed for the whole Methodist family, wherever scattered. But those who are permitfellowship of the great fathers and there will be some fine lessons in brethren, will not quarrel with the procedure for every student of the sense they will be sitting at the feet of the masters of Methodist Israel. It is only natural that the royal ribe of Wesleyans should have the acknowledged pre-eminence. The strength of the denomination still appears to come from the loins of its great founder. Their voice will be heard throughout the conference from its invocation to benediction. There are the theologian Dr. G. G. Findlay of Headingley College, Leeds, the great preacher Rev. J. E. Rattenbury of the old Lyceum theatre, London and Rev. H. Haigh, the president of the Ecumenical Conference, as types of the clerical members, and Sir F W. Perks, M.P., Rt. Hon. W. Runcinan, the minister of education in Asquith's cabinet, and Mr. Henderson Weldon's Ladies' Journal, with 6 cut- M.P., a noted labor leader, as representatives of the influential laynen. All of these are Wesleyans.

Why Not be Well and Strong

When weak and run down DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will help you back to health.

This letter tells of two women who have proven this.

Mrs. D. Stott, Cobourg, Ont., writes:
"After recovering from typhoid fover I was left in a very low state of health. I was weak, nervous and not fit to do any work. A friend of mine, Mrs. G. M. Brown, had used DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD and told me that it benefitted her wonderfully. I took courage and began the use of the medicine. After taking the first box I began to feel an improvement in health and now after using tour boxes I am completely cured. I now feel like myself once more and believe that I can attribute the cure to Dr. Chase'e Nerve Food."

Methodist Church. There will be bishops in abundance at the great feast. But they are Puritans nevertheless, with neither mitre nor staff The name, however, testifies to the rock out of which they were hewn. It may also strengthen the path by which the divided brethren may join forces again. The Church in the United States is strongly Episcopal. Dr. Buckley, of New York, Bishop Hoss, of Nashville, and the well known layman who drew the Pope's wrath, ex-President Fairbanks, belong to that powerful section.

Besides these there are the Primi tive, the Independent and the United Methodists and the churches of Ire land, South Africa, Australia, Canada, with the mission churches o France, Japan and other fields. Hon. W. Robson, Rt. Hon. Sir S. J. Way are among the delegates from under the "Southeren Cross." Canada has her due proportion but will not trespass unduly upon the platform. The names of Dr. Carman, Dr. Briggs, Justice McLaren, Dr. Chowan and N W. Rowell are found intersperse with a multitude of strangers from all parts of the field.

THE SUBJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED.

The subject matter of the confer ence has been thoroughly selected. One day they are to estimate the heritage that Methodists own from the past. On another they are not to get frightened at the subject of Biblical criticism. Two other subects could not be left out, namely preacher. In fact no interest has been overlooked. Everything will be honestly faced. There will be discussion no doubt. But the five minute rule is a good safeguard. All will have to obey the hands of the clock. And if the strong array of presidents ted to enjoy the scene and have the do their duty and go by the schedule weight of the programme. In a real art of conduction a public meeting.-Canadian Paper

The Real "Sans-Gene.

Story of Her Adventurous Career French Army.

(From the London Globe.) Every one knows the washerwoma who was so familiar with Napoleon in Victorien Sardou's play 'Madame Sans-Gene,' but the real 'Sans-Gene' who lived at that time was a dragoon in one of the great Corscian's armies and spent twenty years in camps and barracks, in campaigns and battles over Europe. In the Musee de I Armee in Paris a special case has just been installed inside which stands her equestrian statute.

Her real name was Marie Theres Figueur and she was born in Burgun dy in 1774. When 19, at the end o the Reign of Terror, she enrolled i a cavalry regiment commanded by one of her uncles and soon acquired the nickname of 'Sans-Gene Mme. Sans-Gene fought in Germany with the French and Batavian armies, charged at Hohenlinden, took part in the seige of Toulon, was i the Italian, Spanish and Austrian campaigns and fought at Austelitz and in Russia. During the Hundred Days the Emperor conferred the Le gion of Honor upon her and she charged at Waterloo for the last time With the Restoration she left the army to get married. She was then 39. In the course of her martia career Sans-Gene had five horses sho under her and was wounded eight times in different engagements. She died in hospital in 1861.
