READ WHAT THIS MOTHER SAYS ABOUT IT.

Mrs. Geo. Bowman, of 906 Selkirk Avenue, Winnipeg, says:—
 "Pimples and sores broke out all over my little girl's face and hands. They spread, and set up inflammation. In the end her face was one mass of sores! We tried ointment after ointment, but there was no noticeable improvement.
 "A neighbor advised my trying Zam-Buk and leaving off all other remedies. I did as she advised. Frequent applications of Zam-Buk soothed the pains and allay'd the inflammation, and before long the sores began to look healthier. Gradually every scab and pimple disappeared and the sores were healed completely, leaving the child's face smooth and white as possible.
 "Since then, while using an old pair of scissors, they slipped, cutting my left thumb badly. Inflammation set in and I feared blood poisoning, but began to apply Zam-Buk. The pain was soothed directly, and within a week the wound was nicely healed."
 Use Zam-Buk for all skin injuries and diseases. 60c. box, all stores or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

WON AT LAST.

CHAPTER VIII.

"Not yet," replied Nat, returning her effusive kiss.

"A lucky escape for you, my dear. Father is dezing over next Sunday's sermon in his study. He has been engaged at it for a couple of hours, and has written only two lines, and scratched them out again—I peeped in to see how he was getting on—and mother is as sound asleep on the couch in the drawing-room as most of us will be by the time the sermon is preached. She has got half a dozen new symptoms since the beginning of the week, and they are all original too. So in those circumstances I thought it more prudent not to disturb her, and had tea taken out on to the grass under the sycamore. You are just in time for some, Nat. We were commencing it."

"We?" I echoed.

"Yes," said Alice. "Major Constable is there. He came over to tell father something or other, but hearing that he was busy, said that it could wait. Why, you both know him, you?"

But no—neither Nat nor I knew him. We had heard of Major Constable often enough since the evening when Roger Yorke had leaned over the little gate in the park palings and told me about him; but he had not called at Chavasse or so far come in our way elsewhere. I said so, adding:

Schoolgirl's Exhausted Nerves

Headaches, Dizzy Spells and Weakness Overcome by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Miss Gallop.

At about the age that most girls are working hardest at school studying for examinations there are important physiological changes taking place which are an additional strain on the nervous system.
 Mrs. Gallop has had experience in the cases of her daughter and granddaughter, and for this reason her letter is particularly interesting to parents.
 Mrs. J. A. Gallop, 135 Victoria Street, St. John, N.B., whose husband is a carpenter, states:—"We have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in our family for nervousness, headaches, dizziness and nervous dyspepsia, and have found them satisfactory in every particular. My daughter Beale was going to school, and became quite run down in health. By the time she had used three boxes of this remedy her nerves were steady, her general health was excellent and she was entirely free from headaches and dizzy spells. We are more than pleased with the results of this treatment.
 "More recently we used the Nerve Food for my granddaughter, who was out of school for nearly a year from nervous trouble, and noticed improvement in her condition at once."
 Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 5c. a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"Do you like him, Alice?"

"Of course I do. I like everybody and everything but Fraser Froude and mustard-plasters. Come along, and I'll introduce him to you, Nat. You will be able to help me to entertain him."

"I didn't know you ever wanted help at that sort of thing," Nat said, laughing, as we followed Miss Deep-ling's green-and-white muslin skirts round the corner of the house—for the rectory grounds lay chiefly at the back.

Alice's gypsy tea-table was placed among a cluster of rustic chairs under the huge sycamore in the centre of the smooth lawn, and Major Constable stood there, his right hand resting upon the head of a great mastiff and his left empty coat-sleeve slung across his breast.

"A battle-scarred veteran," Yorke had called him, and the title did not appear to me to be an inapt one. Certainly the major could not be classed among feather-bed soldiers if he looks went for anything. He was not very young—thirty-five, I should think, with a fine figure and a fine face too, although bronzed and a good deal lined. His dark hair and thick black beard and mustache were slightly streaked with gray, and across one temple was an ugly scar, as of a saber-cut. But, although his expression was grave and a little stern, I took fancy to Major Constable even before I had heard his deep kind voice, or seen how his eyes and face lighted up when he spoke.

Five minutes after Alice's introduction, we were chatting away as we tipped our tea, the liveliest of quartets. Even Nat forgot to be shy, as he usually was at first with strangers, and let her tongue run almost as fast as Alice's own. Those beautiful golden-black eyes of hers cast so many awed and sympathetic glances at the major's empty coat-sleeve that he broke off presently in something he was saying, and asked her if she was scared at it, and if she would like to know how he lost his arm.

"Nat said 'Yes' eagerly, and so did I, although I had not been asked.

Major Constable had been through a good deal, all sorts of dangers, escapades, and adventures, and he knew how to relate them. He had been through the Ashantee War, too, where he had been wounded twice slightly and once almost to death, and had lost his arm in the bargain.

Listening to his graphic talk, the time sped away upon wings, and I do not know which of us, three listeners started the most when the church clock struck seven. The major laughed, said his dinner would be waiting, and, bidding a kindly farewell to us all, went off across the garden with his enormous mastiff. He had previously asked me to come to the Lodge whenever I felt inclined, and I had asked him to call at Chavasse.

The two girls lingered a minute or two by the gate, laughing about the bugbear mademoiselle, Alice saying that she meant to come up to the Mount the next day to see her. Then she ran in-doors, and I put Nat up on her horse again.

A very serious little face she had as we rode slowly along in the High Street, so serious that I presently asked her what was the matter.

"Thinking of mademoiselle, Nat?"

"Mademoiselle?" she repeated, starting. "No, why?"

"You looked solemn enough to be thinking of a dozen governesses."

"Did I? I was not then. Do you like Major Constable, Ned?"

"Rather!" I said, heartily. "He's a jolly fellow, I think—as jolly in his way as Yorke himself. Don't you like him?"

"Very much. But what a pity it is about his arm!" said Nat, pityingly, staring meditatively between her horse's ears.

"Yes; but I suppose he is used to the loss. He doesn't seem to miss the arm. It's lucky it's the left one."

"Oh, yes; still I was not thinking of his exactly! But there—I dare say Alice won't mind."

"Alice!" I echoed, astonished.

"What has Major Constable's arm or lack of arm to do with Alice?"

"When they are married, I meant," said Nat, looking at me seriously.

"Eh?" I ejaculated, bewildered.

"What are you driving at, Nat?"

"Only that I should think you could see—I can. It's rather odd, isn't it, for Alice, who is always laughing and chatting, to fall in love with a man so grave as Major Constable? But I suppose it does happen so sometimes. I don't wonder a bit that he is in love with her," she concluded, warmly.

"I believe you are wool-gathering," I said, not able to take in the idea at all. "What put such a notion into your head? I couldn't see anything, as you call it."

"Of course not!" She broke into a light little laugh, and gave me a patronizing touch on the shoulder with her whip. "You're a dear boy, Ned; but you're a goose. I suppose, if you weren't a goose, you wouldn't be a boy. You will see how things turn out. Mind you don't say anything."

I did not say anything even in reply to her. Alice and Major Constable could not so understand it, and yet I knew by experience that Natalie's eyes were keen eyes. Quick as thought, came to me the memory of Roger Yorke, and the gossip with which Whittleford had been amusing himself. "Poor old boy, I thought—poor old Roger! It would be hard with him if he were really in love with the rectory's daughter. I do not think we had spoken a dozen words more when we reached Chavasse."

Natalie ran up to her room, at once, and I to mine, knowing that there was barely time to get ready for dinner—and to be late at that meal was a crime never condoned at Chavasse. Hastily changing my coat and hurrying down stairs again, I found Nat had been as quick as I in catching sight of her little figure in its pretty gown of pale cream-color slashed with poppy-red standing at the drawing-room door. She came tiptoeing toward me, and slipped her hand within my arm, making an impressive embrace.

"Come in with me, Ned," she whispered, eagerly. "I've been waiting, hoping that you would come. You haven't seen anything of her, have you?"

"Mademoiselle?" I whispered back.

"Hush! Yes."

"Not a glimpse. Perhaps she hasn't come."

"Oh, yes, she has—Virtue told me! She says she looks old. That means horrid, in plain English, of course. Ugh! I do wish it were over!"

"We shan't get it over, as you call it, by standing out here on the mat like a couple of children waiting to be put in the corner." I suggested, practically. I was not particularly nervous, after all; and, since there was no getting rid of her, I was rather curious to see Miss Lucille Val-dini.

Nat shrugged her shoulders and gave her favorite little pout.

"Oh, it's all very well for you, sir! She isn't going to plague the life out of you! Well, there is no help for it, I suppose; so here goes!"

We went in to find that we had tormented the den when the lion was not at home. Only madame's stately gure turned toward us as we entered. Nat threw a rapid glance round, and regained her courage with marvellous celerity.

"Oh, madame, isn't she coming down to dinner?" she cried. "How jolly! 'd and I have been trembling on the mat."

"My dear, hush!" madame said, admonishingly. "You may be heard. Mademoiselle is coming; and indeed as she spoke, there was a rustle of trailing skirts across the hall, a little pause, and then the door opened slowly and Miss Lucille Val-dini entered the drawing-room."

CHAPTER IX.

Many as are the portraits which I have had to sketch since I commenced my story, I must certainly add one more before my gallery is complete. As well as I can I wish to describe what Miss Lucille Val-dini looked like as I saw her on that first evening when she entered the drawing-room at Chavasse. I shall have to be careful, for she is not an easy figure to sketch.

Looking at her, it seemed to me that she was made up, so to speak, of negatives. She was neither tall nor short, neither stout nor thin, neither fair nor dark. Her features were commonplace; her brown hair was of an ordinary tint; her complexion was neither noticeably pale nor noticeably tanned. A figure with a certain trained style and grace, clad in a plain dress of exquisite taste, a pale, grave, composed face, and a manner neither too assured nor too diffident—that was the formidable mademoiselle as she appeared in my eyes, as she responded with an easy, almost deprecating grace to madame's introduction of Nat and myself.

Something was wrong in the kitchen, I suppose—Baterbin's rheumatism perhaps; but at any rate, dinner was nearly a quarter of an hour late. Nat moved off to the fire, after her somewhat ungracious reception of the stranger's greeting, and stood there, looking down into it, and now and then stealing a glance at me over madame's point-face; head-dress-glances expressive of intense despair,

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped By Common Sense Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. which I was not very able to reciprocate; so I went over to the window, and, standing there, pretending to look out, listened to the conversation between my mother and the new governess—a very polite and charming conversation, and most gracious upon madame's part. The excellent manners and unobtrusive style of mademoiselle had evidently appealed to the fastidious fancy of the mistress of Chavasse.

Had mademoiselle had a pleasant journey? Mademoiselle had found it hot. And dusty? Oh, yes, and dusty of a certainty—even very dusty? Was mademoiselle familiar with England? Mademoiselle was not—in fact, this of to-day was her first experience of it. Had it so far made a favorable impression? Ah, altogether charming! Mademoiselle failed to express the delight with which—the heat and the dust notwithstanding presumably—her first day's experience had filled her. Mademoiselle had made up her mind, in fact, to drop from her vocabulary the term "La Belle France," and to substitute in future the phrase "La Belle Angleterre." Nothing less could possibly express the extent of mademoiselle's admiration. And Chavasse? Madame hoped that mademoiselle had reserved a special quota of enthusiasm for Chavasse. Ah, surely! Of all places it was the most beautiful, the most truly enchanting, if mademoiselle was charmed with England in general, with Chavasse in particular she was more than charmed. It is true, there were French chateaux; but—Ah, bah—mademoiselle would not presume to talk to madame of French chateaux!

This tribute to Chavasse and, by implication, to the possessors of Chavasse brought us to the announcement of dinner, and sent the two elder ladies off to it in the best possible humor with each other, leaving me as I followed with Nat, pretty sure of two things and undecided as to a third—first, that Miss Val-dini knew how to play her cards, and had certainly started by making the best of her hand; second, that, but for the occasional French "turn" of the words, I had never heard better English in my life; third, that I was not by any means sure whether I liked mademoiselle or the reverse.

Tastes And Incomes.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A most extraordinary letter came to me the other day. A woman wrote to ask me to tell her how to spend money. She is a working woman between thirty and forty years old. She is making a little over $20 a week. She has been self-supporting for many years, and during the first part of this time she had to save and scrimp and deny herself so stringently that now when she is earning a comfortable sum and could dress decently and have a few luxuries, she actually doesn't know how to spend her money. Her income has increased more rapidly than her tastes and she wants my advice as to how to spend money like other people. Was ever anything more exactly contrary to the ordinary condition of affairs than this? For every man or woman whose income has increased more rapidly than his or her tastes, I wonder how many there are in this country whose tastes have increased more rapidly than their incomes. Ten thousand would probably be putting it low. Isn't it, indeed, one of the greatest causes of unhappiness and envy, of extravagance and discontent, in this country, that so many of us have gotten the habit of allowing our tastes to race with our incomes and usually win out. Let me take a typical case for example. Six years ago Margaret, a young stenographer, was earning $10 a week, and finding it as ample for her needs as we ever find any sum. At this time she thought $20 a good price to pay for a suit. Four dollars for shoes, $5 for a hat, one dollar or application they are extremely original. Dominant points in the new fashions will be the natural figure line, the seamless cut of garments, the swathing draperies, the use of fabrics embellished in weave and printing and unusual color combinations.

Concert at Branch.

A concert was held at Branch, on New Year's Day, by the pupils of the schools. There was a very large attendance, the school building being filled to its utmost capacity. Too much praise cannot be given the performance and it reflects great credit on the teachers who were so painstaking in training the children. It would be difficult to make a choice of players as all did so well in their different roles. Master A. Roche's acting was free and natural, and was a surprise to many. Master S. Nash played the part of farmer to perfection, whilst Master Joe English starred in the difficult role of a city sport. Miss Rose Power elicited much applause as an Irish girl. Misses Lena Power and Aggie Nash did well under the titles of housekeeper and grandmother, respectively. Miss P. Power shone as Eliza, a school girl, while Miss Ellen English was a favorite as Carrie, a farmer's daughter. Miss E. Roche starred as Aunt Hannah, a spinster, whilst Misses M. Nash and K. Nash did well with minor roles. Miss L. English sang a solo in sweet voice, and the duets by Mrs. English and Miss Sadie Nash were exquisitely rendered. The little girls who were trained by Mrs. L. English delighted the audience with several action songs. "Comin' thro' the Rye" was a great success. Master Dave English in a recitation did remarkably well for one of such tender years. A boy quartette in the song "Sweet Evening Bells" made one of the greatest hits of the evening. The musical selections were rendered by Mrs. L. English and Miss E. Roche. Mr. L. English, Principal, is to be congratulated on the entire performance and in the interest which he has evinced for those under his charge. After the concert a dance and sale of refreshments were held. The proceeds go to the building fund of the new church.

Cascarets Cleanse Liver and Bowels.

The Millions of Cascaret users never have Headache, Constipation, Biliousness or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil. This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DYPHTHERIA.

HOW BLOOD IS MADE.

The liquids and the digested foods in the alimentary canal pass through the wall of the canal into the blood. This process is called absorption and takes place chiefly from the small intestine. After absorption the blood carries the food through the body, and each cell takes from the blood the food it needs. A pure glyceric extract made from bloodroot, mandrake, stone, queen's root and golden seal root, and sold by druggists for the past forty years under the name of gives uniformly excellent results as a tonic to help in the assimilation of the food and in the absorption by the blood of the food it requires. Eradicates the poisons from the blood with this alterative extract which does not shrink the white blood corpuscles, because containing no alcohol or other injurious ingredients. Thus the body can be built up—strong to resist disease. This is a tonic taken from Nature's garden that builds up those weakened by disease. Sold by druggists everywhere. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. CHAR. FAEBER, JR., of 82 Woodlawn Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "I was troubled with my stomach for almost three years. Tried several doctors and most everything anybody recommended to me, but kept getting worse and worse. At times I had no appetite, never well even though, at times, I had no pain. My symptoms were as follows: Always tired, my whole body in a throbbing of gas, pain and soreness in the stomach, vomiting, constipation, could not tell what to eat or what would agree with me, and was melancholy. But after taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with the Pleasant Peppets it has made me a well man which is something to live for."

Fashions and Fads.

Quite a number of large collars are being used on children's coats.

The fancy cottons have come out in velvet stripes; that is, a cotton pile stripe, simulating velvet. Fine lace flounced satin draped skirts will be worn with short, bright colored satin dolman mantlets.

Brilliant scarf neckties are a new feature that will be seen on many of the new suits.

A point to be considered in the new costumes is the development toward belted coat and blouse effects.

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 13. Beginning to-day, every child born in the United Kingdom, whose parents are insured, will bring their parents a bounty of $76.50 under the terms of the new National Insurance Act, and the mother is entitled to a sick benefit during her illness. As there are about 12,000,000 births annually in the United Kingdom, it is estimated that 10,000,000 of these will be entitled to the insurance benefit. One effect of the scheme is to bring about an improvement in the national physique, which is said to have suffered considerably, because so many mothers were denied even bare necessities, and were obliged to resume work before fully recovered from their illness.

Special to The Evening Telegram. CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 13. The Ohio River continued to rise to-day, its stage at 10 o'clock being 61.2 feet. The Government forecast predicts the rise will continue, and the probable maximum stage will be 63 feet. It is estimated that 3,000 people were driven from their homes yesterday. Many factories have been flooded, and hundreds of persons thrown out of work. COULDN'T WORK.—The men who left to repair Leach's Bridge could not work owing to the intense frost prevailing. The water is still very high in the Exploits and work will begin the first opportunity.

Here and There.

HERRING CARGOES.—The schr. Tatler with 2,000 barrels herring; the Goship with 60 barrels and 80,000 lbs. codfish, sailed from Woods Island and Lark Harbour, respectively, for Gloucester yesterday. The Strathcona left for Halifax with 540 barrels of herring. UNDER ARREST.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the stokers who deserted the S. S. Bellaventure which was held up in port from Saturday night until noon yesterday. The owners of the ship intend to prosecute the stokers. Complains Of Delays.

Editor Evening Telegram. I wish to make a few remarks through the columns of your paper, regarding the manner in which the people of Avondale and vicinity are dealt with by the Railway. For instance, I know of a business man here in Avondale who had a purchase of molasses shifted to the Freight Shed in St. John's on or about Nov. 20th, 1912. He just received it Jan. 10th, 1913. In fact one can have a shipment of goods on the route from St. John's to this place now long enough to have forgotten what their order was. Now let us consider those people that live from two to five miles from the Depot coming every day in the storm and cold and enquiring for their freight. The answer comes, Nothing for you. What is the reason for this condition of affairs? Can it be remedied or can it not? Second, there has been freight in the shed in St. John's now for a week at least for Avondale and there hasn't been one package unloaded for a full week. I do not know who is to blame for this state of affairs. Whoever it is, I would like to see him live around about Avondale and have a shipment of groceries in the freight shed, and be in need of it. It would probably make him sit up and take notice. What I want to know is this: If it is binding on us to sit back and wait until the freight manager get good and ready to ship our freight. WAITING. Avondale.

Oporto Letter.

The Secretary of the Board of Trade has received the following letter from Messrs. Lind and Couto, of Oporto:—"We confirm our last letter of the 6th inst., to which we have very little to add. The Christmas sales, which are now finished, have been less than ever we remember. Stocks carried over to the New Year are not heavy as compared with other years, therefore, if there is a shortage of Large and Medium, as reported, we think good prices ought still to be obtained."

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Gentlemen.—Last winter I received great benefit from the use of MINARD'S LINIMENT in a severe attack of LaGrippe, and I have frequently proved it to be very effective in cases of Inflammation. Yours, W. A. HUTCHINSON.

Posted at Sea.

Mr. James Miron recently received a card conveying greetings of the New Year, from his son, Jim who occupies the post of printer on board the S. S. Byron, which is a large ship running the passenger route between New York and West Indies. The card was printed and posted at sea and is very attractive.

Wrestling

It looks as if the much talked of wrestling match between Otto Oppelt and Jim Smart will not materialize. It is the intention of Oppelt to leave for Bavaria on a visit to his parents a few weeks hence, but if the already named sum of $500 is put up as a side bet he will go into training to meet Smart in a catch-as-catch can bout.

Solway Here.

The S. S. Solway, Capt. Parsons, arrived here from North Sydney yesterday afternoon with a full freight for the Reid Nfd. Co. The cargo has amongst it a deal of goods for the Agricultural Society, consisting mostly of hay which had accumulated at Sydney for some weeks past. The ship had it very stormy going and coming but came through without damage.

The Trains.

The passengers by Sunday's outgoing express transferred to another at Leach's Brook, for Port aux Basques. No express was sent out yesterday evening. An express is due from Grand Falls at 4 p.m. to-day.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. P. J. Summers was in town on Wednesday last, having been at Carbonear on law business. He returned to St. John's on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. R. M. Hall is in town on a visit to her many friends. She was accompanied by a friend, Miss Leslie.

The brethren of the Masonic Lodge will hold their installation of officers on Thursday next, the 16th inst. A number of St. John's brethren are expected to be present. The usual banquet will take place after the installation ceremony.

Merried, at St. Paul's Church, on Thursday evening last by the Rev. Canon Noel, Mr. Charles Crocker, of Heart's Delight, T. B., to Miss Rosabelle Martin, daughter of Mr. Francis Martin of this town.

Two more car loads of hay arrived for the Agricultural Society on Saturday. Mr. Norman Munn has charge of the distribution and, is doing his best to place the hay with those in the greatest need. A large quantity of the 250 tons ordered is thought to be at Port aux Basques, and will be arriving almost daily, so there is no great fear of suffering through shortage.

Miss Nellie Davis, of Messrs. Ruthertford & Co.'s shop, was compelled through illness to go home on Saturday. We are glad to see her so much improved as to be able to be at her place in the shop to-day.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Selby Noseworthy yesterday morning, January 12th.

The schr. Constance, Capt. Noseworthy, arrived from St. John's on Friday night, to Mr. R. S. Munn. The schr. brought a small quantity of coal, which is a good thing for man, people, and will help them along until the Adventure arrives.

The heavy rain last night cleared the streets and fields of snow. The wind, however, was very high and the only damage we have heard of was the blowing down of the electric light wire along the main line somewhere, plunging our town in darkness about 3 a.m. Mr. Gorman was out early and will, no doubt, have the damage repaired to-day.

Miss L. Butt began work this morning as teacher at the Methodist Academy here, taking the third school. The Board are to be congratulated on securing her services.

We had occasion on Saturday to call Mr. Squires, the Relieving Officer, to the telephone, and draw his attention to a sad case in the West End. He was already aware of the condition, partially, and had made some provision for the family, consisting of father (sick), mother (in very delicate health) and four children. The Relieving Officer was very interested when we told him that this poor family, who had been given some food by the neighbours, and other friends were without coal, and were compelled to stay in bed during three of the cold days last week. We were promised that the case would be attended to this morning, for which we thank Mr. Squires. We also wish to thank Mr. James Gorman, of the Electric Light service, for kindness to this family. We are sure that a reward follows kindness to the poor and distressed. In justice to the Relieving Officer we think it right to say that he very thoughtfully made arrangements with a coal dealer last year to reserve sufficient coal to be able to supply the poor that he would give orders to. But we hear that some of the coal supplied to the poor people was very poor, in fact mere dust, and no doubt the thoughtful officer will compel the coal dealer to keep good coal for the poor next year, as a good price is no doubt charged for it.

EDITOR EVENING TELEGRAM. Dear Sir,—Some short time ago, I noticed a letter in your paper, re the police investigation of the shops that sold bulls-eyes, milk and bread on Sundays, asking from Sir Edward, by whose authority the police were sent. I watched eagerly for the answer, and I think that no answer was given. Being a shopkeeper not interested in the CORRESPONDENT. Harbour Grace, Jan. 13, 1913. Suffered Terribly.

Capt. Dillon, of the Rosina, which arrived here Sunday from Pernambuco, was very ill at his residence, Lime Street, when a Telegram reporter called to see him. He is confined to his bed and was attended by a doctor and a priest last night. His physician, Dr. Campbell, thinks however that he will come around all right in time. Capt. Dillon says that for 12 days his ship had terrible weather with hurricanes and snow storms, and though so ill he had often to keep the deck to get observations and suffered terribly while trying to work his vessel along. From Bahia to Pernambuco the ship had very disagreeable weather.

THE NEW SHIPS.—The Reid Nfd. Co. expect, from information recently received, that their new ship for Cabot Strait, the Lintrose, will be launched on or about the 21st inst., while the Kyle, for the Labrador route, will go off the stocks several weeks later.

EPPS'S COCOA advertisement with illustration of a man and child and text: Remarkable Escape from Starvation off Cape Horn. Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Master) of the late barque 'Colombus' of Glasgow. Having lost my ship on Staten Island, on the 25th of July and having saved neither crew nor provisions, we were then compelled to travel over the island for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shell-fish and seaweed. On the 19th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seven men, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship 'Dunskield' of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 23rd of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of EPPS'S COCOA, was washed ashore out of the wreck. These were the only provisions saved except the Cocoa, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were kept alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer 'Mercurio' of Buenos Aires. 'Too much praise cannot be given to this Cocoa. We had a good stock of it there; we used it in a liquid state for drink, we also baked it on the fire, which kept us alive and warm for 6 weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow.'

The New Year.

This brave New Year, before it ends, will bring us heaps of good, my friends. If we should prove deserving, if nobly, cheerfully we pack our burden on the narrow track, and from it do no swerving. The year may bring us gold or fame if we like sportsmen play the game, and do our errands fairly; we'll find much joyance every day, and there'll be roses on the way, as we go forward yarely. If we expect the year to bring us precious gifts, and everything, methinks our hopes are hazy; the year will bring us what we earn—for years, like other creatures, spurn the trifling and the lazy. The best that new years e'er advance to any man is just a chance—that's all that men should wish for; and if they let the chance go by they lose the oysters and the pie, and everything they fish for. Go forth and work with 'sager heart, nor loaf around the village mart with loud and fierce complaining; do everything that should be done while shines the good old cheerful sun, and rest when it is raining. It's work that makes the new years bring of blessings quite a princely string, of prizes and bonanzas; go forth and work and make a splurge, nor wait a pessimistic dirge in fifty tearwet stanzas.

Sunday trade, I will drop it. I would, however, like to know from Sir Edward or his colleagues, or helpers, what price we have to pay for keeping Weights and Measures. We have an Inspector, it is true, and his services are necessary. But if you keep a small store and have a couple of weights and measures, your bill reads thus:—"To testing scales, weights and measures, $1.20." You may talk about the doctors and their visits, who drive in their big things to your door and charge you only a dollar, but why on earth does the Government not get the Inspector something to take him about, and not have the poor fellow and his helper, carrying his valise on foot, and only getting the paltry sum of $1.20. In Sir Robert's time I paid the Inspector of Weights and Measures 75 cents, and he drove to the door and poor cabby got something. But things are changed and so are the people or at least in the West End, and most of the people want to know what salary the Weights and Measures men get; how many shops there are, what he gets from the Government and who hires him. There are lots to do for four or five like him and not much trouble to get men to do it. Come, West End members, give some one else a share in this Klondyke. ANOTHER WEST END VOTER. St. John's, Jan. 13th, '13.

Wedding Bells At Branch.

A pretty wedding took place at Branch on January 2nd, when Mr. P. W. O'Rourke led to the altar Miss Rosella Nash. The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Holy Rosary, Rev. A. Fyfe, P.P., officiating. The bride was attended by Misses Rose O'Rourke and Rose Power. Mr. Thomas Nash, brother of the supported the groom. The bride was attired in blue silk with hat to match and looked charming. After the nuptial knot had been tied the wedding party proceeded to the residence of Mr. Thomas Nash, father of the bride, whilst volleys of musketry rang out. A sumptuous repast was given and a large number of guests assembled. Dancing was held and the wedding festivities kept up till the small hours. We wish the happy couple many blissful years of wedded life.

The Toothache.

BY H. L. RANN.

The toothache is a small, triangular section of the hottest corner in hades, and is used to convert the family circle into a lunatic asylum. One attack of the two-stepping toothache is usually sufficient to transform a sweet-faced, pliant husband into a raging maniac and cause several undress rehearsals of Dante's "Inferno."

The toothache usually starts with a feeling of uneasiness in the left shoulder blade and works its way up gradually until it emerges through the roof with the Comanche war-whoop. When it is about half way up, it will stop and settle in some subterranean passage which cannot be reached with anything short of a cat hook, where it will cut up more capers on a two-inch nerve than a monkey on three thousand feet of grapevine.

There are two kinds of toothache—plain and jumping. The plain, home-spun brand of toothache can always be told from the jumping variety by the look of settled woe on the face of the patient. It is generally accompanied by a large, pink swelling which starts just under the right ear and looks like the silken surface of a toy balloon.

The jumping toothache is a ghastly

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in gualacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

form of 72-point agony which never waits to be introduced. A man may be sitting around home in his slippers, with his teeth perfectly tame and quiet, when all of a sudden the jumping toothache will land in the middle of a deceased cavity and start a bonfire on the inside of his mouth. People with the jumping toothache always wear an expectant look, as if they heard footsteps on the back porch.

Note From T. B. Smith.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—If you'll allow me space in your valuable paper, I would like to make a few remarks which I omitted in the previous article as I thought I was trespassing upon your kindness.

I noted the article which appeared in Saturday's (January 11th) issue of the Daily News, and admit all the facts, which were not new to me, concerning the Nova Scotia Dental Act, and am going to use one of the facts to show the writer of that article how the Nova Scotia Dental Board would treat me if I were to apply for a license to practice in that country.

The basis of my argument you'll find in Section 17, sub-section A, which I will quote, as probably the readers of the article have forgotten it. It reads as follows:

"Every person shall be entitled to have his name registered in the register of the Board and to receive a license to practice from the Board 'who satisfies the Board that he has passed the preliminary examination or equivalent thereto, &c.'"

Now the very first condition to be conformed with would be the stumbling block in my way. The preliminary of Matriculation examination is equivalent to a Grade XI or B high school certificate, and as I possess merely a C I am not qualified to practice dentistry in Nova Scotia. To qualify for a B certificate it would be necessary to pass an examination in the following subjects, viz.: Greek, Latin or French; Algebra, Geometry, Chemistry, Arithmetic, Geography, &c., which have as much to do with dentistry as pigs have with aviation, and, as it is nearly eighteen years since I left school, these subjects are not very fresh in my memory, so it would be necessary in order to pass the examination to do some very hard studying.

By a recent amendment to the Nova Scotia Dental Act, anybody who is a graduate of dentistry from Dalhousie is entitled to the right to practice dentistry in Nova Scotia without having to go before the Board. The reason for this amendment was that it would be inconsistent to turn down a graduate of Dalhousie as seven members of the Board of nine are members of the Faculty of Dalhousie, so anybody can see how foolish it would be to turn down a person whom they had graduated.

We will now draw a comparison between the Newfoundland and Nova Scotia Dental Boards.

The Nova Scotia Dental Board calls for a diploma and B certificate, or equivalent thereto, or a B examination. The Newfoundland Board allows anybody, a graduate or not, the privilege of taking an examination on dental subjects and obtaining a license to practice on passing. I will now leave it to the public to decide which is the fairer Board. Although I hold a diploma from the oldest and one of the best known Dental Colleges in the world, and have had seventeen years experience, yet I'm not qualified to practice in Nova Scotia because I don't hold a B but merely a C certificate. Now which do you consider the more reasonable and fairer Board? I don't think it will need much consideration.

Thanking you again for the space in your valuable paper, I remain,
Yours truly,
T. B. SMITH.

Obituary.

At South River, Conception Bay, on the 8th inst., there passed to his eternal reward, Alphonsus, son of Edward and Catherine Fitzgerald, in the fifteenth year of his age. Generous, kind and of a quiet disposition, he won the esteem and admiration of all with whom he came in contact, and amongst his companions he was a general favorite. In the home circle Alphonsus will be sadly missed, but they have the great consolation of knowing that he appeared before his Maker fortified with the rites of the R. C. Church, hence they have reason to believe that "their loss was heaven's gain." To the bereaved family the writer wishes to be reckoned amongst those extending sincere sympathy.

Not having been heard of for some time she was placed on the overdue list, and recently re-insured at 89¼ per cent. The Times learns that Bulgarian-Roumanian negotiations are progressing satisfactorily, and that an early settlement is expected, which will possibly lead to an alliance. There is no reason to believe, adds the Times, that Bulgaria will make no territorial compensation. The Times' correspondent says the national assembly will be summoned immediately to decide peace or war. If it declares for peace the Cabinet can readily accept the allies' conditions, but if for war the ministers will take a grave decision. It is understood, the correspondent adds, the verdict will be war.

LONDON, Jan. 13.
Sir Edward Grey and the Ambassadors of the Powers are making valiant efforts to bring about a settlement with Turkey and the Allies. They had additional interviews with Dr. Danef and Rechad Pasha, advising moderation on both sides, and warning them that if either party, through obstinacy, should again plunge Europe into war, it would incur a weight of disapproval. The meeting of the ambassadors to-day was the lengthiest yet held. They discussed the note to be presented to the Porte, passage by passage, aiming at meeting every possible argument that will likely be raised by Turkey. The general impression among the plenipotentiaries is that the definite decision on war or peace must come from Constantinople. Much is hoped for here from Kiamil Pasha, the Grand Vizier, towards bringing about peace.

Grateful Testimonial from Tasmania's Captain.

Dear Mr. Editor—
I, Thomas Walters, of Garnish, Master of the lost schooner Tasmania, deem it my duty, and I hereby guarantee the sentiments of all my crew, in giving a plain, truthful statement of kindnesses rendered us after the loss of our schooner.
There is no necessity for going into details as to how or where the schooner was lost, as all that has already been recorded. After leaving the sinking schooner, we rowed seven miles to Renew's, with a part of my crew exhausted, in fact, nearly dead. On landing, the first man I saw was Constable Lynch, and I told him of our condition. He immediately took steps for our care and comfort. He took us to Mr. Jackman's, and there we were treated with the greatest of kindness. The sick man was put to bed, where he was attended day and night with all possible care and kindness. After all my crew were provided for, the Constable took me to the Wreck Commissioner, who did all in his power for us.
After being at Renew's two days, Mr. White, of Ferryland, came to our assistance, and hired horse teams and took us beyond Cape Broyle to connect with the cars there for St. John's. Unfortunately we were just too late to make connection that day, but we had no right to complain. We were pleasantly surprised to see a horse team with all kinds of food stuffs, sent by Mrs. M. P. Cashin from Cape Broyle, of whom I must here say we cannot live long enough to forget her kindness and if the Almighty treat her as she treated us, she will have no cause to fear.
On the following day we arrived at St. John's at 2 p.m. I immediately went to Mr. O'Dwyer, where I expected to find a little trouble, but on the contrary I found him like a father. He immediately made all arrangements for our board and lodgings; also sent a doctor to visit a sick man, in fact made all arrangements for our well-being at St. John's and passage to our homes. He is another man I cannot forget.
After all arrangements were made by Mr. O'Dwyer, I then went to the office of Messrs. A. S. Rendell & Co., and while there the Hon. C. H. Emerson was inquiring by phone for us and our welfare, and offered to wait in his office any length of time until I could call on him, which I did at 7 p.m. Saturday. He then inquired of me all particulars in re our condition. After I told him we were well looked after I left him, and on Sunday he called at our boarding house, staying with us from 2 p.m. till 4 p.m., where he made all arrangements for the sick man to go to hospital, and even promised that Mrs. Emerson (his wife), should visit him and see that everything was done for him.
This is a true and faithful statement of how we were treated, and if I live long or short I can never forget the kindness of the Hon. C. H. Emerson, who apparently could not leave us, and did not until he was fully satisfied that everything that could be done was done. I should esteem it a favor if the Telegram and Herald would kindly copy this letter.
Yours truly,
THOMAS WALTERS,
Master Mariner,
Garnish, January.

The perfect flour is the one that combines the good qualities of Ontario and Western wheat. This is exactly what "Beaver" Flour does. Lawrence Byrne who left his home on Sunday last is still missing. He was last seen Sunday afternoon on New Gower Street, but his subsequent whereabouts are unknown, and much anxiety is being felt by his family. He is a cooper by trade and has a wife and four children. It may be possible that he left here on a steamer or some other agency of travel, but if exposed to the weather of the past couple of nights no doubt he may have perished. Search parties have been organized by the friends of Byrne, and together with the police will scour the different country roads to try and locate him.

Red Cross Line Route.

The s.s. City of Sydney, which replaces the Stephano on the Red Cross Line route, and which was expected to be at New York to begin the schedule on the 10th inst., is still at Halifax, word to that effect having been received by the Agents, Messrs. Harvey & Co., last evening. The delay was caused by the ship being on the dry dock at Halifax. The ship will leave the Nova Scotian port on Thursday and begin the schedule from here, leaving the 21st inst.

Treat For Boys

The ladies interested in the Juvenile Society's treat met last night and arranged details for it. It will take place Thursday evening and will begin with a moving picture display in the Casino Theatre, through the kindness of Manager Kiely. Teas will be served after this and then a concert under the supervision of Miss Bates, the whole to conclude with a dance for the adults. The bands of the senior and junior societies will be present, the former discoursing the dance music.

Waiting For The Fall.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Kindly insert the following remarks as a sort of explanation to a few rambling notes of some one from this place to the Daily News of the 9th inst. It can be easily seen that he is an out-and-out Government heeler. He has commended the Hon. John C. Crosbie for building a post office, and promising a block to the contractor. Had he given the readers of that Tory journal an estimate of the cost of that building then the public would have known if Hon. Jack was an economic representative. Not many know the cost of the building but it has been rumored that the contractor is getting $3,800 while the land which is about 35 x 35 feet, is said, cost in the vicinity of $1,200; which makes it, if rumor is correct, a $5,000 building for a small settlement.
Now we come to that promised block. W. & J. Moores were a little incensed because the contractor for the Post Office was not awarded to them and to quieten them, and to make them willing workers in the coming elections, it has been reported that they have been promised a consideration. Then our Hon. member has started in to distribute money to individuals to spend on their own property, building wells, retaining walls, etc., but ask for money for any public service you have to ask some number of times and perhaps take a trip to see the Hon. member himself.

On Second Thought.

Buck Kilby says when a man can think of nothing else to twist you about he advises you to save a thousand dollars.
There recently was an investigation to determine where the widow's money goes. A good deal of it finds its way to a second husband.
If you play billiards, learn cushion carems first and three cushion shots afterward. No other procedure is so effective in keeping the game from dragging.
Unless you desire to become a bore and a nuisance, you probably have no ambition to live to be one hundred years old.
It is suggested in the interest of accuracy that the old saw, "as busy as a bee," be revised to read, "as busy as a fox terrier."

What the People Are Saying.

ONE CUSTOMER WRITES.

Springdale Street, January 9, 1913.

J. M. DEVINE, "The Right House."

Dear Sir—The most impressive feature of your last week's ad. was that you stated your sale was a genuine one. This I found to be quite true. The goods are reliable and the prices are lower than I have been used to paying. In these days of sales it is not easy to get a genuine one, and on account of this I wish you every success with yours.

I liked the Blankets and must try to get another pair before they are all gone. Am still far from well, cannot get out, and must depend upon the children to do my shopping.

Yours,

Last Word.

Every item in this store is a bargain. Hundreds of articles that we cannot find space for in this paper are waiting on you.

J. M. DEVINE, The Right House WATER STREET EAST.

Special to Evening Telegram. ST. JOHN, N.B., To-Day. What may result in a strike, which will tie up St. John and also affect Halifax, in so far as boats bound to or from St. John, are concerned, was launched last night at midnight, when checkers to the number of 250 decided to go out for higher wages. The men have asked for 30 cents per hour and so far the Steamship Companies refuse to meet them.

Special to Evening Telegram. CONSTANTINOPLE, To-Day. The presentation of the Powers' note to the Porte has been delayed, the German Government having made certain comments necessitating a re-submission of the note to the Ambassadorial Conference at London. It is now thought the note will not be presented before Thursday.

Special to Evening Telegram. WASHINGTON, To-Day. Free rough dressed timber, hewn and squared timber, shingles, laths, and fence posts and the retention approximately of the present high tariff on the higher grades of silk, and reduction of the cheaper silks used by the common people, is the Democratic scheme of tariff reform.

REID SHIPS. The Argyle arrived at Placentia at 9:15 p.m. Saturday from the west and sails to-day for Merasheen. The Glencoe left Bellefleur at 2:30 p.m. yesterday bound west. There was no news of the Home's arrival at Port aux Basques to-day. The Invermore left Port aux Basques at 4:30 a.m. to-day. There is no report of the Duchess of Marlborough since she left Lewisporte.

A SENSATION.—It was currently reported in the East End, to-day, that a girl named Sinnott, a worker at the Imperial Tobacco Factory, had been killed by being caught in machinery. The rumor was without foundation, and the alarmist, who created it, should feel well ashamed.

Death of Robert Scott, J.P.

As will be seen by a message, published to-day, Mr. Robert Scott, J.P., of Fogo, died this morning. Messages to the same effect were received by the Minister of Justice and the Assistant Collector of Customs. The late Mr. Scott attained a ripe old age and took a keen interest in his business and in public affairs. He was a Scotchman, hailing from Glasgow, which place he left many years ago. He established a fish business there and was also interested in the passenger and freight service. He leaves a large family, two of his sons now carrying on business in the north. To the family, the Evening Telegram extends sympathy.

McMurdo's Store News.

TUESDAY, Jan. 14, '13. A good steaming hot cup of Oxo is a delightfully appetising stimulant and liquid food during the cold weather, and a most effective "night cap." Many people realize this fact, and many more will find it out, as it is recommended from one to another by their friends. And the convenient way in which it is put up—in the form of cubes, each of which makes a steaming hot cup of strong beef tea—is another point in its favour. If you have not used Oxo, by all means try a tin. Price of Oxo Cubes, 15 and 35 cents a tin.

Became Suddenly Ill.

Capt. Samuel Barbour, of the s.s. Sea Bird, now lying at Steer Bros. wharf, was taken suddenly and seriously ill last night, and a doctor being called, he was taken to the Hospital in the ambulance. Capt. Barbour was about his business yesterday and appeared to be in good health and spirits, but shortly after going on board was stricken. He suffers internally and is very ill.

The King Piper.

One of the best and most beautiful shows ever seen here, was given at Rossley's last night. Both houses were filled to overflowing. Jock, the King's Piper, is the greatest comedy ever put on by those talented performers and our own city girls trained by Mrs. Rossley are wonderful and it shows the care and finish in detail, bestowed on them by Mrs. Rossley, who alone teaches them. The six little fisher maids appealed to the audience, their dancing the Scotch reels and fling called forth cheers of applause, while the bigger girls danced like old-timers, in fact, no one would believe that only four weeks ago not one of those girls had ever been on a stage. The costumes are correct and elegant. It came as a big surprise when Rossley walked out blowing the pipes. It's the most rollicking performance. There are about thirty-five taking part, and when one thinks of it it's wonderful. A big company has often to change two and three times a week to make it go and our own people played in the Glass Slipper thirty-four times to packed houses, and this Pantomime is much superior to either Wittington or the Glass Slipper.

AGAIN JAMMED.—The s.s. Fogota is again jammed at the Eastern end of the Tickle at Fogo, and must await an off-shore wind to get clear.

GETTING REPAIRS.—The Norwegian schooner Castor, which was considerably damaged on her recent voyage here, is being repaired at Davey's premises by Stephen Butler, shipwright.

TRAMP STEAMER LEAVES.—The s.s. Charlois left at 8 o'clock this morning for New York, which port she was bound to in water ballast when she put in here last Friday damaged and short of coal.

TOWING SCHOONER.—The S. S. Euphrates left here this morning with a full freight for Bell Island and other Connection Bay ports, and towed the schooner "Albert Moulton" to Carbonear.

DRIVEN UNDER STEAM.—The Tug Co. had a wire from Capt. Rose, of the Ingraham, this morning saying that the S. S. Earl of Devon which was recently floated from the rocks, is now under her own steam and everything was ready on board to get the ship here. The Ingraham will accompany the steamer to St. John's.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Charles A. Martin, butcher, wishes to thank the Rev. H. Uphill and Dr. Anderson for prompt attention; also, Edward Chaytor and wife, F. Lester and wife, Mr. B. Channing, J. Fitzgerald and many kind friends who helped, and sympathized with him through his dear mother's sickness.—adv.

ENJOYABLE TIME.—The members of the Green Sprig Club and other lady friends had an enjoyable time at the residence of Mr. William Ring, Mundy Pond Road, last night. Dancing was indulged in, a sumptuous supper was served and an interesting toast list discussed. Vocal selections were given by Misses Richards and Roach and Messrs. Hanrahan, Simmonds and Donnelly.

Here and There.

THEFT OF TICKETS.—We learn that a considerable number of street car tickets were stolen from one of the cars recently. Last night the police who are working on the case brought three boys to the lock-up and questioned them on the matter after which they were let go.

PLANS FOR POST OFFICE.—We learn that the plans for the extension of the Post Office were not prepared by the Government Engineer, Mr. Hall, but by Mr. William Churchill, Inspector of Public Works. Mr. Churchill has often done excellent work of the same class.

ALLAN BOAT OFF.—The R. M. S. Carthaginian, which caught fire at sea on her last voyage from Liverpool, sailed to-day for Philadelphia taking one intermediate passenger. All the cargo that was partially destroyed by fire and water has been landed at Shea & Co.'s pier and will be sold at public auction.

We have just opened a very pretty assortment of Silver Deposit Ware. This is glassware consisting of Jgs. Sugar and Cream Sets, Plates, Salts, Tobacco Jars, Vases, etc., having pure silver firmly deposited directly to the glass in beautiful designs by an electrical process. R. H. TRAPNELL, dec23,13

P. O. IMPROVEMENTS.—With the new addition to the Post Office other improvements will be made. There will be a new partition in the front but further at the rear, the present one will be taken down and a number of new letter boxes will be added with other changes. Mr. W. Churchill drew the plans.

TO MOUNT CASHEL ORPHANS. The fourth annual Xmas treat and concert was extended to the orphans of Mount Cashel last night by some thirty members of the B. I. S. During the evening a case of sweetmeats, consisting of oranges, apples, sweets, etc., was distributed equally among the hundred and twenty boys present, who by their joyous countenances showed their pleasure at being remembered by their generous friends from the city. The orphans were also the recipient of a football. Following the distribution a concert was held, consisting of solos and choruses, contributed by the following gentlemen: Messrs. Slattery, Cornick, Moore, Aylward, Halley, Summers, Grace, Ryall, Kent, Crotty and Ryall. Also Mr. M. Comerford and his tiny son contributed some remarkable feats on the horizontal bar, much to the delight of all present. After this item Rev. Bro. Ennis, Superior of the Industrial Home, in a sincere and graceful style thanked all friends present and absent who contributed to the entertainment, and assured them that the prayers of the children would be offered up for them. He then invited the company to supper, which was heartily enjoyed. At 11 o'clock the company left for the city, when they were entertained at the residence of Mr. J. L. Slattery, the promoter of the event. The affair terminated with the singing of "He's a jolly good fellow."

Rendered Destitute.

Mrs. Flynn, the widow of the Goulds, whose residence was destroyed by fire Friday night, is absolutely destitute as a result of the accident. The woman supported herself and her three children by washing for people and as they lost home and furniture in the fire the family are living with neighbors and necessarily are in destitute circumstances. One of her family, a little girl, is a confirmed invalid. Mrs. Flynn's case is one which must appeal to the charitable disposed and we feel assured that the kindhearted, and they are legion in St. John's, will render the assistance which her unfortunate position merits.

An Adventurous Career.

Mr. John C. Daley, of the s.s. Nevada, who wrote an interesting diary of her recent experience off our coast, has had an adventurous career. He has sailed all over the world and has been shipwrecked on several occasions. He was four years in the American Army, saw active service in the Philippines and was wounded by the insurgents in the Island of Luzon. His head and body show the marks of their weapons. He resides at Richmond, Va., but is a native of Queenstown Island leaving there when a young lad.
