Big Ben

THERE is something about Big Ben that opens everybody's eyes. He rings either way you want, steadily for 5 minutes, or intermittently for ten. He rings on time, runs on time, stays on time.

Big Ben is made in LA SALLE, ILLINOIS, U. S. A., by WESTCLOX. He's easy to wind, easy to read, and pleasing to hear. One price, $3.00.

A Millionaire; or, Countess Westerleigh.

CHAPTER XVI.

"Well?"

"Well—where was I?" she laughed softly. "Oh, coming in the train. Well, I got to London, and oh, how frightened I was! I felt as if all the houses were going to fall on top of me, or come crushing in on me. It is a dreadful place to see for the first time, and to be alone in; and she caught her breath. "The horses and the big carriages, and the crowds and crowds of people. Yes, it was all true that you told me. I wonder—I do wonder how people can live and breathe, and why they don't go to some place where there is more room. Yes, I was so amazed at first that I walked into the wrong part of the town. I might have known that, because the streets were so ugly, and the houses and the people were so dirty and noisy; and I might have been sure that, though you were poor, you wouldn't live in such a place as that, or among such people."

She paused a moment and looked round the room, then turned her lovely eyes on him.

"Are you so poor? This room is such a beautiful one, and all the things must have cost a great deal of money."

Vane laughed uneasily.

"Well, they're not really mine," he said—"not all of them, at least. I only rent them. And I'm not so poor now, Nora."

"I'm glad of that," she said, simply. "Not that it would matter, because I've got plenty of money."

"Oh!" he said.

"Yes," she went on, gravely; "aunt gave me some—quite a lot. See," she drew out a new leather purse, and opening it, displayed the contents. "It's all my own—my very own; she said so. So that you need not be poor any longer. Will you take it?"

He forced back the smile; it did not cost him much of an effort, for Heaven knows he felt very, very far from smiles or laughter.

"You'd better keep it for the present, against a rainy day, Nora," he said. "Besides, I've got some money left."

He took the shilling from its warm hiding-place and held it up.

Her eyes glowed, and she drew a long breath.

"Yes," she murmured. "I knew you would keep it."

She watched him put it back with an exquisite satisfaction, and then went on with her recital.

"I found the way at last, after I'd thought that I should never get here; then I was afraid to knock. The houses seemed in such a grand street, and it was so late; and I was just thinking of walking about for the rest of the night—"

"Great Heaven!" he murmured, as he thought of the dangers of the London streets at midnight.

It was difficult for him to realize, even now, that she was playing a man's part, and that every one would have taken her for a boy tramp.

"But just as I was turning away a gentleman opened the door. He was dressed like those other gentlemen who went away just now, but he was smoking a short clay pipe—"

Vane laughed. It must have been Porter, snatching a few whiffs of his favorite pipe in the open air.

"And I plucked up courage and asked him if he knew you. He stared at me first—stared at me so hard that I was afraid that he saw that I was only a girl; but presently he asked me to come up here—and she drew another long breath—and here I am at last—at last!"

"Yes; here you are at last," said Vane, idiotically, as he felt. He got up and poured her out another glass of wine, and got her some biscuits and cake. "Now you must eat and drink, while I think a minute or two, Nora," he said.

Then, while she made a pretense of eating and sipping the wine, he said:

"And are you not sorry you came?"

It was a dangerous, a cruel question, and he would have recalled it when he saw the sudden pallor of her face and the startled look in her eyes.

"Sorry!" she echoed. "Are—ere you?" She set the wine-glass down as she spoke.

"No, no, no!" he made haste to answer. "I was thinking of your aunt, and whether—whether you won't want to go back to her after—after a time."

She shook her head and looked at him with frank sadness.

"No. Why should I? She never cared for me—never."

"No?" said Vane, "not cared—?"

"No," she said, almost inaudibly. "I was always like a burden to her. When I left I wanted to kiss her—"

She stopped. "No; she never cared for me. I think she is glad I am gone. Not that I'm dead; I don't say that." She paused a moment. "I can't go back," she went on. "I am dead—dead. Don't you understand? Everybody thinks that the boat upset and that I was drowned."

"I see," said Vane, suppressing a sigh and a groan. He had thought that she might have expressed some sorrow and regret on her aunt's account—some faint desire to return to her; and if she had done so, he had been prepared to jump up, call a cab, whirl her to the station, and take her back. "Well, then, it's settled that you won't—can't—go back; and—there's an end of it. And now I must think out the whole business."

"Yes," she said, placidly. "No, I couldn't go back; and even if I were still alive, why should I go back—that is, if you still want to have me with you?" she let her eyes rest upon him with sweet gravity and perfect innocence.

"Yes, yes; of course," said Vane. "But look here, you must be tired to death. You must go and get some rest; and to-morrow—that is, later to-day"—and he laughed—"while we are at breakfast, you and I will plan it all out. Yes, that's the best thing to do."

He lighted a candle and nodded toward the door of the smaller bedroom—it was divided from his by a lobby—and tossed her the key. "You get a good night's sleep. I'll call them not to call you till—oh, till midday. Good-night, or rather, 'good-morning.'"

"Good-night," she said. "I shall sleep—oh, I shall sleep for days if some one does not wake me!"

CHAPTER XVII.

Nora went into her room and locked the door. She was very tired, but filled with a peaceful happiness which she neither understood nor tried to understand—only felt.

She looked round the small apartment, with pleased astonishment at its daintiness. It was prettier even than the room she had just left; and never had she even imagined anything so luxurious as the furniture of satinwood, and the delicate china and glass, the gracefully draped bed.

Beautiful Virol Children.

194, MANOR PLACE, S.E. GENTLEMEN.

It is with heartfelt gratitude that I write to express my thanks for the great benefit my children have derived from your wonderful preparation.

One of the twins when born was very weak and had no vitality as a child, and who would have died in her mother's arms as a dead child, and she was so ill she could hardly bear to look at her; she was weak and under 3 lbs. A friend advised me to try "Virol," and I immediately did, and from that time she has got on famously; she is now 9 months old and weighs 19 lbs. After I saw a few good results from the use of "Virol," I gave her the whole child, and she was so happy, and they are all so healthy now.

A man assuring you of my heartfelt thanks, and that I shall always speak of "Virol" in the highest terms.

CHILDLESS WOMEN

These women once childless, now happy and physically well with healthy children will tell how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made all this possible. Here are the names and correct addresses—write them if you want to, and learn for yourself. They are only a few out of many thousands.

"Our first baby is strong and healthy and we attribute this result to the timely use of your Compound."—Mrs. FRANK YOHANN, Kent, Oregon.

"I owe my life and my baby's good health to your Compound."—Mrs. W. O. BRUCE, R. F. D., No. 2, Troy, Alabama.

"I have three children and took your Compound each time."—Mrs. JOHN HOWARD, Wilmington, Vermont.

"I have a lovely baby boy and you can tell every one that he is a 'Pinkham' baby."—Mrs. LOUIS FRASER, 32 Monroe St., Carlstadt, N. J.

"We are at last blessed with a sweet little baby girl."—Mrs. G. A. LA FERRE, Montpelier, La.

"I have one of the finest baby girls you ever saw."—Mrs. C. E. GOODWIN, 1012 S. 8th St., Wilmington, N. C.

"My husband is the happiest man alive today."—Mrs. CLARA DANFORD, 207 Marilla St., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Now I have a nice baby girl, the joy of our home."—Mrs. DOVELA COLE, No. 117 So. Gate St., Worcester, Mass.

"I have a fine strong baby daughter now."—Mrs. A. A. GILES, Dewittville, N. Y., Route 44.

"I have a big, fat, healthy boy."—Mrs. A. BAYLOR, R. F. D., No. 1, Baltimore, Ohio.

Her heart went out in gratitude to the big "brother" who had so completely fulfilled his word; and her last thought was of him as she fell into the deep, profound sleep of physical and mental exhaustion.

As for Vane, he went to his room and paced up and down, trying to realize that she was actually there, and in his care, and harder task still, endeavouring to hit upon some plan whereby he could save her from the consequences of the awful step which, in her perfect innocence and ignorance, she had taken.

That he should take her to any one now was simply impossible. No; the die was cast, and he had to abide by the result.

Would it be possible, he asked himself, to carry on the deception for a time, at any rate—until he could devise some scheme by which he could either restore her to her aunt or place her in the care of some respectable woman?

He recalled all the stories he had ever heard or read of women who had passed themselves off for men, and, to his comfort, remembered that there were proved instances in which women had lived through a long life disguised as men. Why should not Nora be able to retain her assumed character for, say, a week or two longer?

Indeed, there was, so far as he could see, no other course for them than to keep up the deception. After all, who would suspect her? He himself had not detected her, though he knew her so well, and had been thinking of her only an hour or so before. Besides, now he came to think of it, he had already committed himself. He had introduced her to Wally and the rest, and told some sack-and-bull story of her having departed. What was it he had told them? he asked himself, with his hand to his brow.

Never in all his life had he been in such a scrape as this, and he had been plunged into it—and drawn her into it—by a few careless, thoughtless words.

He threw himself on to the bed in his clothes, and tried to sleep, but without success, and he lay thinking and worrying until he heard Porter come into the bath-room with the water. He hastily undressed himself and called, and that eminently respectable individual came in looking as fresh as if he had retired to rest at ten o'clock instead of five.

"What time is it?" asked Vane. "I forgot to wind up my watch last night."

Porter did not smile as he replied: "Half past ten, sir."

A Splendid Revenge.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Once upon a time, some fifty or sixty years ago, there was a little boy who didn't go to the circus.

He saw the circus come to town, and he watched the parade, and he listened to the barker at the tent door, and he read the posters, and he almost ate his heart out with longing to get inside that tent of wonders. But he couldn't go, and that was all there was to it. No, I don't mean that. It wasn't all. If it were I shouldn't be telling about this little boy who didn't go to the circus, because he would be just like all the other hundreds of thousands of little boys who have been cruelly deprived of that inalienable birthright.

No, this little boy who didn't go to the circus was different from the rest of us who agonize over our childish disappointments, and then grow up and think childish longings and disappointments don't amount to much.

The day the circus left town this little boy stood on a hill and watched it out of sight with his little heart swelling with grief, and as he watched he showed what stuff he was made of, by making a vow. He vowed that when he was grown up he'd take every little boy in town to the circus. And last spring the little boy who didn't go to the circus still further showed what stuff he was made of by fulfilling his vow. He took every boy in town to the circus, and as the town is now a middle-Western city, that meant more than two thousand boys.

To my mind, that man is an alchemist. For to want others to possess what you have lacked, to be made tender to disappointment by your disappointments, and generous to other folks' longings by your own unsatisfied longings, is to have turned the deprivations and disappointments of life into the purest gold.

A social worker once asked a self-made rich man to advance the money to send a boy of unusual talent to a technical school. "Why should I?" the self-made man asked, bitterly. "Nobody ever helped me. I had to get along as best I could."

The world calls this man successful. I call him a failure.

Experience has hardened instead of softening his heart, and when all is said and done, it is his owner who suffers most when a heart turns to stone.

Of course we can't all take two thousand boys to the circus. But we can all try, in whatever degree is within our reach, to revenge ourselves on fate for our disappointments and deprivations by keeping her from inflicting the same disappointments and deprivations on others.

Fashions and Fads.

Sleeves are undeniably fuller. Dark, rich colors are emphasized. New tailored costumes are olive green.

There is a marked popularity of the hip tunic. Among dainty footwear, beaded acts appear. There are mantle coats with wide, full raglan hanks. Fur appears in vivid tones of yellow, blue, rose and purple. Waistcoats are in a great variety of embroidered colored effects.

There is a tendency toward wide pocket effects around the hips. Both suit and dress shirts show tunics and three-button effects. The most extensively used furs are lynx, beaver, red fox and sable. An interesting fashion detail is the high poke collar, both on dresses and coats.

There are many simple blouses of chiffon in color matching the skirt, over white. Tartan silks, Scotch plaid linnage and tartan ribbon make a record in popularity. The fall hat is small, while the dress hat and some others may be large later.

Short, mantle, bolero-shaped wraps having loose, sac backs are much shown. Many of the suits for the young girl have kimono shoulder line with the inset sleeves. Loose, sac careless styles in coats and mantles seem a remarkable point in winter fashions.

Scotch checked linnage coats are worn with plain duvetyne skirts and odd-colored waistcoats. Among the smart accessories are purses of moire, with mountings of silver, gold or enamel. A pleated basque having a long, flat paneled back seems a favorite form of tailored coat.

Some skirts have pleats inlet on one side, combined together with a short hip tunic at the back. Small neck boas in two-colored skunk are an attractive finish to many of the latest autumn models. Bows in tulle with diamond button centers made in the color of the robe is a fad of the moment.

Vests are still holding an important place in the autumn modes. Some are trimmed with fluted ruffles. Duvetyne, chiffon, velours, ribbed velours and drap damas have a great success among the new materials. A conspicuous detail of almost every costume are the flutings of sheer-

Your Duty.

Nothing to do with the Custom House, good friend. Its only reference just now is to yourself. Let us suppose that you are a man of family with sufficient of the world's goods to keep them in comfort. Very well. You did not reach this satisfactory state of affairs without care and labour—few men do. Suppose you are awakened some night with shouts of alarm ringing in your ears. Too late then to talk of prudence; too late then to say: "If I had only, etc. etc." That "if" means too much to many forgetful people. Is it not always the duty of a self-respecting citizen to protect his home and thus provide for those within it. Is it any more than his duty to those depending on him to protect them as far as possible? Can you call your property your own when it is not insured? The answer to this argument is to carry insurance with Percie Johnson's agency, the most popular office in Newfoundland and the least expensive.

Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving day is an annual jubilee which is set apart for family reunions and a freehand slaughter of the turkey gobbler. It happens once a year, and leaves good cheer, cranberry-speckled tablecloth and dyspepsia in its wake. Nevertheless, no one but the curable grouch would do away with it.

The most enthusiastic advocates of Thanksgiving day are the small boy and girl, who hop around the kitchen on one leg and decide who shall have the wish-bone. The capacity of the small boy on Thanksgiving day has never been fully determined, as he usually has to be led from the table by the loving hand of a watchful parent and laid tenderly across the prostate form of a hot-water bag. It has been observed, however, that two small boys who are in a good state of health can eat enough on Thanksgiving day to maintain a family of twelve adults for a month.

The best feature of Thanksgiving day is the home coming of children who went away without any beard and return with a full chin-chilla outfit and the appetite of a steam dredge. There is nothing just like coming back after a few years' absence and engaging in a spirited tete-a-tete with mother's cooking. Nobody ever turned out an apple pie with a crust and flavour like mother's and the son who hasn't spunk enough to brag about it in the presence of his wife is a cowardly, hen-pecked ingrate. Thanksgiving day is mother's feting, and a few words in praise of the turkey dressing, uttered between mouthfuls, cause her to look over the coffee pot with a beaming eye.

Nobody works on Thanksgiving day except the foot ball players and the ministers. In the morning people go to church to learn about peace on earth, and in the afternoon they go on to the football game and applaud the murder of several visiting guests. Soper is never served on Thanksgiving day except to the children, who have regained their second wind and delve into the dismantled form of the turkey with an ardor which is awful to look upon.

Welcome to Everybody

In Russia newspaper correspondents have a hard time of it. Not long ago a nihilist conspiracy was discovered, and the correspondent of the London Standard went to see the building.

"Can I come in?" he asked the officer in charge. "Certainly," said the officer. The correspondent entered and took copious notes, but when he turned to go the officer barred the way.

"Anybody who likes may come in," he explained, "but he is immediately arrested."

In vain the prisoner pleaded; the officer had his orders. The correspondent walked to the window and saw the London Times man on the street.

"Hello!" he called out. "Here's the nihilist place. Come up." He came up, and when he found himself a prisoner he was furious. Then the two correspondents spent the afternoon inviting other newspaper flies into the spider's web until there was quite a company of furious and cursing correspondents, and there they remained until released the next morning.

PAIN IN MY BACK IS ALL GONE

Since I Got a Box of Gin Pills

CHURCH ST., CORNWALLIS, N.S. (January 23rd).

"About a year ago, I was suffering so much with a dreadful Lame Back and Hips, that I could not stand up straight. I was informed by a friend about GIN PILLS. I got a box. It helped me immediately. I have taken about twelve boxes and the pains in my back and hips are all gone. I cannot speak too highly of the wonderful effects of your GIN PILLS!"

B. C. DAVID. Liniments and plasters won't cure Lame Back—because they never reach the part that is causing the pain. The whole trouble is with the Kidneys and you must cure the Kidneys in order to stop the pain. GIN PILLS cure weak, sick, strained Kidneys standing-up-the-will. HEART TO HEART TALK

What a "Son of Toil" Has to Say to His Fellow Countrymen.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—As your paper is one of the all-too-few publications, that seem to take any interest in the working class, or producer of this almost derelict Colony, we should be thankful, if you would allow us space therein, for a few remarks to bring to the notice of our honest, hardworking toilers the necessity of being watchful and observant between now and Polling Day. Be careful of anyone that appears to take great interest in the welfare of you or your family, or who, in any way, builds castles in the air, from which you are led to believe you will reap advantage.

It appears quite evident that in many places, this Morris-Morison Government, has what we may call "Secret Service men," creatures, many of them, who, for the past four or five years, have been drawing salaries for jobs made specially for them by the politically corrupt Government; jobs of no use whatever to the general public, but only intended to pay these low, contemptible creatures for talking politics, or, perhaps, it would be more correct to say, working politics, for in many cases they haven't the manliness to talk out straight, but prefer to play a double game.

Think of it, fellow-men, the money paid to these creatures, really belong to you, and to your children, money, which shall be badly needed, if we intend to maintain the form of Responsible Government in our poor, but none the less loved, Island Home.

We are prepared, and should be glad, to give credit where credit is due, to any Government, no matter whether a Morris Government or a Turk Government, but when we allow ourselves to think of the terrible squandering and mis-management of the past four years, we consider we should be guilty of almost a crime, if we did not try to prevent our true-hearted, and hardworking fishermen and laborers from being fooled by the soft soap of political creeps.

Think, too, fellow-men, of the enormous amounts of soap-money that has been wasted, in nearly every electoral district, especially during the past twelve months, and then, take a look over the condition of our roads, both main and local, of the railings in dangerous places of our bridges, and other public utilities. Were they ever in such disgraceful, dilapidated condition as now? And is there not something striking in the fact, that, in spite of the enormous sums of money voted and squandered since the present Government assumed control of affairs, things in general, instead of advancing, have been put back years and years. Verily, Mr. Editor, we have a local example of the old phrase: "The stars in their course fought against"—the Morris-Morison clique.

To any thoughtful man, the action of those elected by the people to represent, and try to uplift, in neglecting them during four years of office, and paying attention only to heeled and hangers-on, then at the last moment, as it were, before the election to expend—or, must we say again, waste in many cases—a great deal of soap-money to try and fool, and blind, the people, is nothing more nor less than an insult to the intelligence of the electorate.

Besides, let us consider too, that what is perhaps even worse for us than the wasting of the Colony's finances, and the ruination of her material resources, is the fact that a horrible feeling or spirit of suspicion has been engendered, which has imbued our people in general, so much so, that in many places each man suspect his fellow-man of being in some way, implicated with the getting of government soap-money, and trying to over-reach his neighbor. And this terrible, devilish spirit of envy, avarice, and greed, has struck far deeper than many who love, and are working for civilization and Christianity in Newfoundland, care realize.

Some of the present Government's appointments to responsible and elevated positions in the Colony's administration have created such a low and harmful moral tone, that it will take all the uplifting elements in our midst years to restore. "Pollute the stream at its source, and all its waters become defiled;" so, also, when the highest council of the people becomes corrupt, what must be the inevitable result?

The above is not the ideas of an individual, but is the deep-grounded ideas of the great majority of the voters of the South West Coast.

Again thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation for space in your valuable columns, believe us to be

Yours respectfully,

Fortune Bay, Sept. 18th, 1913.

"Good Luck."

This morning's Daily News says Mr. T. D. MacManus, first teller in the Bank of Montreal, this city, left for Montreal by yesterday afternoon's express, having been transferred to the parent branch. During Mr. MacManus's stay in the city he made many friends. In business he possessed all the qualities that must necessarily go to make a good, reliable bank clerk; and after business the very many attainments that spell gentleman. Socially his company was sought for, and in the general sports—baseball first—that helped to make life less wearisome, he took such a keen interest, that his opinion and decisions as referee counted much. Montreal has much to gain in such a citizen as Mr. MacManus, and St. John's meets a loss. In his new sphere, the earnest wish of his numerous friends in St. John's is that he will meet the success that his capacity calls for, and that his next transfer will take with it the title of Manager.

The "Royals" September Dance.

Last night at Smithville a most enjoyable time was spent at the above dance in connection with the Royal Stores. The ballroom was tastefully decorated and was just comfortably filled, about 45 couples taking part. After the last waltz the whole company joined hands to the singing of Auld Lang Syne, thus concluding one of the most successful and happy times ever spent at Smithville.

POLICE BUSY.—Last evening the police were busy and up to midnight seven offenders of the law were jailed.

Those Salmon Net Rules.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In the Daily News of the 23rd inst., appears a letter over the signature "Fort Louis" wherein he quotes, from one written by me and published in The Evening Telegram of the 13th, the following:

"For hundreds of years our forebears fished for salmon in the waters of both the North and S. E. Arms, but since the present Government came in power the people are forbidden to catch one to eat (he doesn't deny this). Then he says these would be patriotic sentiments and richly expressed if the motive calling forth such expressions were genuine. It is doubtful if the writer is a sufferer, but there is an election on and some disappointed individual with an imaginary grievance grasps at this matter to have a shot at the Government and the Placentia representatives." Is that so now, an imaginary grievance indeed. Did the petition signed by over a thousand people and forwarded to our three representatives on the matter look like an imaginary grievance? If so the writer of the letter signed "Fort Louis" and his Tory friends must have a poor opinion of the intelligence of the people who signed that petition.

Perhaps our representatives thought that the Warden or Supervisor had more intelligence than all the people combined, so took his advice and ignored our petition, for ignore it they did. When the present warden was clothed in a little brief authority he told the people who had salmon nets "out that they should take them in, we were all thunder-stricken and appealed to Mr. F. J. Morris, who was then one of our representatives. He told us to leave out the nets. What was the result; the warden posted a notice near Placentia Gut to the effect that salmon nets were forbidden to be set inside that point, and of course, we had to take up our nets and live or die, it being immaterial to the warden or the representatives, which?

Now, I would like to know of what use is a representative to the people, if he allows a fishery warden to boss him. When Mr. Geo. H. Emerson was a member, we had some trouble with the warden, and we immediately wrote him, and just as soon as he received our letter, he immediately wired back our nets. I will take all responsibility. Mr. Emerson was a man, and being trusted by us, he took very good care that our interests would be protected. Sports got no soft snaps; all were treated squarely; but now all is for the rich and nothing for the toiler.

"Fort Louis" also mentions Cold Storage. Shame on you, sir. Don't you know that that was one of your party's biggest cards? He also tells me that it is not worthy of any man to take such a position to bolster his political cause by trying to pry on ignorance. Does he mean to say that the people who signed that salmon petition (myself included), were ignorant? We have to thank this Tory supporter for this uncalled for insult and will be sure to remember his masters when marking our cross in November next. Things have come to a pretty pass in this Nfld. of ours, when the people cannot make known their grievances in the public press without being styled ignorant. What could we do; we tried every other expedient; we consulted one of our representatives; sent numerous signed petitions to the three of them without avail. The warden's usque had gone forth, so our representatives (save the mark) were powerless to help us, and because we try to help ourselves and expose their worthlessness, according to "Fort Louis" we have political reasons. Well, if trying to get an honest living for ourselves and families, we are to remember to starve us, is politics, then we are in it to the finish. November will tell the tale.

Yours truly,

S. E. Arm, Placentia, September, 1913.

Twice Proven Cure for Nerves

Irritable, Hysterical, Sleepless, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Restores Health!

There is a message in this letter for thousands of women who are suffering from broken-down nervous systems. Sleepless nights, much irritability over little things, spells of dizziness and nervous sick headaches are among the symptoms.

You may not realize the nature of your ailment until nervous prostration comes upon you. But, in whatever stage you find yourself, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is ready to help you. Mrs. W. J. May, 88 Annette street, Toronto, writes: "Some years ago I suffered from nervous trouble, and took Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which completely cured me." About six months ago I received a shock which again shattered my nervous system to such an extent that I was irritable and hysterical, and could not sleep nights. I began to use the Nerve Food again and was not disappointed. Improvement was apparent from the first box, and now I am entirely well." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 5 for $2.50, all dealers.

The Saddest Place in Newfoundland!

Morris Let Five Years Pass By and Nothing Done.

"The saddest place in Newfoundland," so declared the Grand Jury for the island more than four years ago. The phrase was taken up by the News and Chronicle and served as the text for some of the bitterest vituperations of the Bond Government. In fact McGrath and Robinson used it as one of the severest indictments against Sir Robert Bond.

Four years have elapsed since that sensational statement was made, five since it was used as one of the many false catch cries to stampede the voters. It is time to examine and see how much sincerity the Morris Government and P. T. McGrath, J. A. Robinson and these highly subsidized scribes of Sir Edward Morris had when from hustings, and press daily scathing accounts of the condition of the inmates of the Poor Asylum were forth to the city and colony. If there was any truth in these alarmist assertions how does Morris propose to explain that four years and more have passed while nothing has been done to relieve or improve the condition of the aged indigent in this Asylum. He and McGrath and Robinson sated copious tears over the sad condition of neglect, dirt, squalor and general wretchedness which they asserted were to be found in the Poor House.

True, we heard of extensive plans to erect a new building or to convert the

Old Age is Only a Germ

It seems that according to most recent discoveries old age is not a natural result of years, but is a microbe. At least this is claimed by the scientist Metchnikoff, of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, says the "Chicago Tribune." It is not necessary that people should feel burdened with years and grow feeble and exhausted as the months roll into years. All that is due to a microbe in the body, and when science can once discover the antitoxin which can successfully combat the poisonous effects of the microbe we can live on, perhaps not longer, but without any discomfort until the end comes. He bases his theory on his observations of mammals as compared with birds.

A dog or a horse, for instance, shows distinct signs of senility. It grows feeble and decrepit and breaks down in every way. But birds do not. A duck that is twenty years old shows no signs of advanced age. Parrots remain for long years in a youthful state, and retain their brilliant plumage. In the case of a parakeet, which according to reliable information, is seventy to seventy-five years old it is impossible to recognize old age so entirely normal is its appearance and so easy its movements.

The cause, it is claimed, lies in the difference in the intestines in mammals and birds. The latter are so built that the microbes which are abundant in the intestines of the mammals do not or cannot accumulate in the bird. In the mammal they increase from year to year, and the toxic effect from these intestinal sources produces the phenomenon which we call "old age."

The Handkerchief Trick

At the end of the summer season, when sales of all descriptions are in progress, the shoplifter gets busy. This is his harvest-time.

One trick, now only practised by beginners, is to drop a handkerchief over some small article and then pick them up together.

"Palming" jewellery is a favourite trick. This requires a great deal of practice, and consists in picking up several small pieces of jewellery, and replacing all but one on the counter. The one remains held by the muscles of the palm, though the back of the hand and the fingers appear quite natural and unobtrusive.

Umbrellas are frequently used to drop rings, etc. into, as also are reticules and handbags. The shoplifter sits at the counter, and at an opportune moment pushes jewellery or handkerchiefs over the edge into the open bag.

Handkerchiefs disappear in thousands. When no one is looking the shoplifter takes up a handkerchief, crumpling it into her hand and walks off with it in full view of everyone. A detective would be a brave man who would attempt to prove that the handkerchief was not her property.

Investment News

St. John's, Sept. 25th, 1913.

Nova Scotia Underwear Co.

Its Desirable Location
The mills are located at Eureka, in the heart of the sheep-raising district of Nova Scotia, with a near supply of raw material, excellent water power, and the best class of labor always available.

Its Extensive Market
Nova Scotia has a continent-wide reputation for knitted woolen goods, largely due to the peculiar quality of Nova Scotia wool which makes it particularly suitable for the manufacture of underwear, in which this Company excels. Orders have already been booked which will tax the capacity of its mills for the balance of the year.

Its Exceptional Yield
We refer you to the 7 p.c. Preferred Stock of this Company, which we offer at 98 p.c., to return the very handsome yield of 7 1/8 p.c. As there are no bonds or other fixed charges against the Company the Preferred Stock ranks as an unusually attractive and well-secured investment. Your enquiry for further information, in person or by post, is welcomed.

Minimise The Loss.

Practically farmers may easily minimise the loss, due to a backward and cold season, by the judicious use of Sulphate of Ammonia as a fertilizer.

Sulphate of Ammonia contains over 20 per cent of nitrogen, as against 15 per cent in Nitrate of Soda, and is therefore more than 25 per cent better than nitrate of soda as a means of quickening and increasing the growth of crops.

The use of Sulphate of Ammonia has increased enormously of late years and it is recognized to be the most valuable fertilizer obtainable. By its judicious use the production of root crops per acre may be doubled, and the growth of late crops stimulated. We invite the attention of Farmers to our special pamphlet on the best methods of using Sulphate, copies of which will be forwarded free to any address on application.

The price of Sulphate is moderate, and our terms are accommodating. ST. JOHN'S GAS LIGHT COMPANY, Board of Trade Building, St. John's, July 28, 13

LUNATIC AT LARGE.—Last night Inspector Collins took into custody a young woman who was acting strangely. This morning she was examined by Dr. Campbell, pronounced insane and was taken to the Lunatic Asylum in a cab.

Murphy Jumps Off Brooklyn Bridge.

New York, Sept. 22.—"Dare Devil Murphy" as Jos. Murphy is known by his high diving feats, took what he called a "practice" jump off the Brooklyn Bridge yesterday, was picked up unharmed by three of his friends in a row-boat and afterwards went calmly to sleep in a police station cell, where he was placed on a charge of "attempted suicide." Murphy made his 135-foot jump clad in a bathing suit, which he wore under his street cloths, discarding the latter on the bridge promenade and leaped off the railing in sight of the Sunday bridge crowds before a police officer who ran for him could get near him.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Sept. 25, '13.
Messrs. J. & E. Atkinson, Ltd., were always famous as one of the best firms of perfume distillers, and some of their odors, especially their incomparable White Rose, are famous throughout the English speaking world. We have not only this lovely perfume, but some others, such as New Moon Hay and Jockey Club, for which this firm is scarcely less noted. If you want a strong sweet perfume that will not go "dead," look through this line of goods at our store. Price 60c., 70c. and $1 a bottle.

At the Military Road Branch to-day: Sweet Peas, Asters, Chrysanthemums.

Personal.

Mr. T. D. McManus, chief teller of the Bank of Montreal, this city, has been transferred to the main branch at Montreal and left by last evening's express. He was well known and liked socially as well as commercially. His gentlemanly attainments made him popular and endeared him to everybody with whom he came in contact. Many of his companions regret his departure but what is St. John's loss will be a gain to Montreal.

Here and There.

BOWING SHIPS.
The Portia left Channel at 7.30 a.m. to-day, coming east.
The Prospero left King's Cove at 5.30 a.m. to-day, going north.

INDECENT ASSAULT.—Constable Nugent was sent to Pouch Cove yesterday and arrested a young man charged with indecently assaulting a girl. The case is being tried in court this afternoon.

Stafford's Phoratoxine Cough Mixture will relieve you of that miserable cough you have had for a long time. Try a bottle. Price 25 cents; postage 5 cents extra.—sep17,13

THE DOGFISH PEST.—Squid are reported plentiful at Lawn. Codfish are also plentiful and operations are favoured by excellent weather, but the dogfish pest is causing the fishermen a deal of trouble.

VALISE FOUND.—At an early hour this morning Constable O'Neill, of the night watch staff, found a valise full of clothes in an archway on Water Street. It belonged to a fireman of one of the ships in port.

Congratulations.

We extend our warmest congratulations to His Grace Archbishop Howley on attaining his 70th birthday to-day. The Cathedral grounds are nicely decorated in honor of the event, and many expressions of goodwill have been received by His Grace. We join with all his friends in wishing him many more years of usefulness in the service of his Church.

Cable News.

Special to The Evening Telegram, NEWARK, To-day.
Supporters of Woodrow Wilson nominated their candidate for Governor at the New Jersey primaries, carrying every county in the State with the exception of two.

ALBANY, To-day.
Governor Sulzer was free to use a $2,500 check given him by Jacob A. Schiff, a New York banker, in any way he chose. The banker so declared on the witness stand at the impeachment trial of the Governor. The designation of a check on its back as a contribution to the Governor's campaign fund, did not restrict its use to that purpose, Mr. Schiff said. Henry Morgenthau, Ambassador to Turkey, and formerly Chairman to the Finance Committee of the Democratic National Committee testified that when he gave the Governor a check for $10,000 as a personal contribution he had placed no limitations on its use. These are two of alleged campaign contributions which articles of impeachment against the Governor charge that he stole. It is possible that it cannot make any difference in this case, but if I were sitting on the case as a criminal prosecution, said Judge Cullen, President of the Court, I should have to charge the jury that if the owner consented to the use in any manner, of money or check given a party to whom it was delivered, such use would not constitute larceny. This testimony and the ruling of the presiding Judge thereon marked the opening of the actual trial of impeached executive.

TOKIO, To-day.
A plot to assassinate the Japanese Minister of Foreign Affairs, Baron Nobukuni Makino, and dynamite the Foreign Office, has been unmasked by the police, and a miner who had stolen explosives for the purpose was arrested.

NEW YORK, To-day.
The will of William J. Gaynor, late Mayor of New York, filed at New York, leaves the widow the Brooklyn residence and five hundred shares in the Royal Baking Powder Company Stock. The remainder of the estate with the exception of minor bequests divided two-sevenths to each of his two sons, and one-seventh to each of his three unmarried daughters. The value of the estate is estimated to be $2,000,000.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
Main failure all along line from officials and directors of New Haven railroad down to its trainmen is held by the Interstate Commerce Commission to have been the cause of the Wallingford wreck, Sept. 2nd, in which 21 were killed and 35 injured. In its report the Commission blamed crews of wreck trains for lapses and scores of officers and directors for inefficiency of management.

A sensation has been caused in New York society by the action of Mrs. Katherine Blake, who is bringing suit for $1,000,000, against Mrs. Clarence H. MacKay, for alienation of the affections of her husband, Dr. Joseph Blake.

LONDON, Sept. 24.
The Campania arrived at Queens-town yesterday. On her third day out an insane steamer passenger, named John Fagan, from County Mayo, leaped overboard. All the passengers were on deck at the time. Every effort was made to save him and a boat lowered, but there were many sharks seen in the vicinity, and when the boat reached where Fagan had been, there was no trace of him.

MONTREAL, Sept. 24.
The C.P.R. steamer Mount Temple, Capt. Moore, ran ashore off Massouche this morning, and is reported badly damaged and filling with water. She left here at 6 a.m. to-day on a voyage to London. She appears to have lost her course in sea. The Mount Temple was laden with grain for London, and general cargo for Antwerp. Ten tugs are helping her.

A mutiny broke out in the ranks of a battalion of the Royal Spanish Guards to-day. At the moment when the troops were leaving Algiers for the scene of fighting in Morocco, a number of soldiers belonging to this most aristocratic regiment in Spain, refused to embark and resisted their officers. Fighting ensued in which the standard bearer of the regiment was killed. The Royal Guard is composed, for the most part of PARIS, Sept. 24.

The French Government, it is understood to-day, indicated to the leading French bankers that it will not consent to any foreign loans being issued on the Paris market until after the French Government has effected its own loan to meet their military requirements. This decision applies also to the Balkan States, whose agents have recently been active in arranging loans in Paris, while Mexico also is included.

LONDON, Sept. 24.
Commenting to-day on the death of Patrick Ford, the Irish-American, the Pall Mall Gazette says that what sane men most desire, is that the tradition represented by the apostle of dynamite shall perish with him, that no successor shall be raised up to the heritage of hate, and that neither in the north nor south of Ireland shall bloodshed and violence return in any way that would reopen old events in Ireland and the States.

DUBLIN, Sept. 24.
The report that Premier Asquith is coming to Dublin, is believed to indicate that the effort is to be made to settle the strike, as the determination of the Trades Union Congress to send supplies to the strikers, in order to frustrate the employers' plan of winning by starving the strikers out, may lead to a reopening of negotiations. Serious riots occurred yesterday at Fermagh, the centre of the farm labourers' strike. The crowd used sticks, stones and bottles, injuring several policemen, who retaliated with a free use of their clubs.

LONDON, Sept. 24.
The Balkan situation is again very threatening. Italy may take strong measures, even to the extent of a blockade of the Piræus, should Greece continue to encroach on Southern Albania; while it is rumored that Austria will force an alliance with Bulgaria to prevent Serbian aggression in Northern Albania. Late advices from Belgrade say that Serbia intends to mobilize a whole division to deal with the Albanian situation, because Albania respects only force, and any delay in negotiations would be fatal to Serbian interests.

"Emerson, s Emersonian Exit!"

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Would you kindly grant me a little space in your valued columns for the insertion of a few remarks relative to local public matters.

Primarily I would refer to the agricultural policy of the present administration, as applied to this constituency. The people, the electors of this district, are naturally very grateful to the astute, sagacious, and McGrath-beloved statesman (ye gods!!!) Sir Edward Morris, his placemen, and "agricultural experts" for having given to this locality an hitherto unknown pest, "potato canker," there being six distinct cases on record in Hr. Breton alone, from use, in every case, of Government seed potatoes, thus rendering, in every case, according to those experts' opinions, the soil unfit for the cultivation of potatoes for a number of years. How does this pan out in realization of the Premier's pre-election and manifesto promises of increased value of agricultural products?

The reply to this pertinent query is given in a practical (and we may add severely practical) form; the canker infested land which has been under tillage for two or more generations, now rendered useless, as far as the raising of our local staple vegetable product—the tuber—is concerned.

The above fizzled-out policy and administrative blunder, however, although of general vital importance, has, by no means, done so much to kill this Government (save the mark!) as the treatment accorded by our honourable and esteemed member and the executive, to the people of Garnish (a town with a heavy unit of voters) whose citizens are noted for their industry and push in the face of natural physiographical obstacles relative to their thriving port. The least that may be said of this treatment is that it is simply nothing more or less than an outrage and insult to the people of that vicinity; the reference, of course, being to the action of the Government in sending the dredge Priestman to Garnish and instantly recalling her without conferring any practical benefit whatsoever.

It may be parenthetically added that incidentally to her departure (after having "viewed the landscape over") the worthy shipmaster had the pleasure of hearing some straight Fortune Bay talk, on the duty of Government representatives, senators, and on well other "ticklish matters;" and, personally, I should not be a whit surprised if should a certain responsible gentleman have cheek enough to venture within a radius of five miles of Garnish this fall, to hear, some fine morning, of a dramatic case of the "vulgar recreation" of our fathers to wit "Tar-and-Feathering."

Fizzles and fiascoes, Mr. Editor, seem to be the order of the day, in this electoral district, as witness the lobster preservation and improvement fad (historically known as "Deemism") the result of which has been, practically, the abolition of our local valuable crustacean; and the ridiculous state of affairs of a civilized community paying a brigade of wardens and sub-wardens to superintend (oh ghost of Isak Walton!) the salmon brooks of this bay, out of which, the best season, there has been about enough salmon taken to provide a square meal for three Eskimos and a Newfoundland dog.

Many other instances of blunder and flagrant "heeler-ism" can be mentioned, as examples of the squander carnival, viz., appointments in the mail and telegraphic service ("swansong") sacrificed to an enraged people) needless Government expenditure, appointment of armies of heelers and general distribution of sop-money.

The district, in its entirety, is longing for Sir Robert Bond—our incorruptible, independent and clear-headed commoner and leader—to resume his natural position (and who can fill it better? we ask again who?) as captain of our district to sweep the present crowd of grafters (veritable "buccaneer chiefs") heelers and hangers-on into oblivion, and that this is the natural course of events is the sincere prayer and conviction of—

Yours truly,
FORTUNE BAYMAN,
Fortune Bay, Sept. 18th, 1913.

Dear Sirs,—While in the country last summer I was badly bitten by mosquitoes, so badly that I thought I would be disfigured for a couple of weeks. I was advised to try your Liniment to allay the irritation, and did so. The effect was more than I expected, a few applications completely curing the irritation, and preventing the bites from becoming sore. MINARD'S LINIMENT is also a good article to keep off the mosquitoes.

LUCKNOW DAY, 1857. In memory of those who perished in its gallant defence against the mutineers.

FELICIA HEMANS born 1793. English poetess, whose first book of poems was published in 1808. Her work appears to the heart rather than to the intellect, is marked by taste and elegance, but lacks restraint, vigour, and compression.

WM. MICHAEL ROSSETTI born 1829. English man of letters, who made an excellent translation of Dante's "Inferno," and has prepared excellent editions of many of the leading English poets.

Sweet is the hour of rest,
Pleasant the wind's low sigh
And the gleaming of the west,
And the turf whereon we lie.
—Mrs. Hemans.

Hr. Grace Notes.

On Tuesday, Sept. 16th, a son was born to Constable M. and Mrs. Grouchey.

Lawyer Higgins of St. John's went to Carbonear by last night's train, where he was to defend a case in court to-day.

The fire alarm bells sounded a call for help at about 11.30 on Monday night. The fire was found to be in the stable of Messrs. James and Edward Nell. It was with great difficulty that the dwelling house close by was saved. The stable contained a large quantity of hay, and as there was no insurance the loss is a great one to these poor men.

Mr. Edgar Noseworthy, the harbour ferrymen, was paralyzed twice during the past two weeks. He is not improving much, and his friends are anxious about him.

The Masonic flag is flying at half-mast to-day on account of the death of one of its brethren—ex-Constable John Beckham. The body is being brought from St. John's by train to-day, and the funeral will take place to-morrow.

Mr. George W. Pynn is to-day making coverings for the different concrete sewers made by the Government some months ago. A joker said these sewers had been "waked" by the Road Board for several months (being left uncovered) and they will now be covered and buried.

A number of ladies and gentlemen are holding a concert in the Academy hall, on Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Catholic Cadet Corps. The names of the participants is a sufficient guarantee that a very enjoyable evening is in store for all who attend.

The electric light recently put at the head of Garland Street is a great addition to the town and we thank the Government or whoever put it there, even though this be election year. We have many times shown in the Telegram the great need for a light at this point as well as at the Junction of Military and Carbonear Roads.

The Marcus Stock Co. will present an entire new act to-night, entitled "Fun in a Broadway School," one of the funniest acts yet put before the patrons of the Star Theatre. Baby Queen will sing a beautiful song, "Days of Boys and Girls;" Helen Langdon will render "Who's going to love you when I'm gone;" Shaw and Levene will sing "Oh, Oh, Oh;" Tommy Levene, as the schoolmaster, has plenty of laughs in store for everybody. Marie Girard, of mechanical doll fame, will sing "I'd like to make a date with you;" Louise Arcand, who so delighted her audience last night, will render "I'm the loveliest girl in town;" and Allen Melvin, "Rag time soldier man;" Beatrice Millar, "Pig of my heart;" Dave Harris, as a funny little school boy, is sure to be a scream.

Grand Falls Employees

Say Good Bye to Mr. Sullivan.

On Saturday, the 20th inst., Mr. M. S. Sullivan severed his connection with the operations at the paper mills at this place. From the start of the operations here he had been closely connected with the management, first as surveyor and latterly as Assistant Superintendent of the Mills. It speaks well for him that his departure should be regretted so much and so universally. At the start he did a great deal of the engineering work and after the town had been laid out by him and the mills in operation he was promoted to the position of Asst. Superintendent. It rarely happens that one occupying such a position attains so much popularity from the highest mechanical superintendent under his supervision down to the latest labourer employed at the works. Kind and considerate of those under his charge, never effusive but always courteous he was ever the kindly gentleman who endeavoured to do the best he could and if at all possible the poor man rarely sought labour in vain. That he will be missed is the universal thought of nearly all especially of the labouring classes. That the esteem and I might say affection of all classes was his was evidenced on Saturday evening when a vast concourse of the employees from the General Superintendent down assembled at the railway station to wish good bye. As he boarded the train he was greeted with ringing cheers and cries of "Good luck," "Good luck" that we trust will accompany him through life. While severing his connection with the mills we understand he goes to St. John's as Agent for the A. N. D. Co. and other concerns now or hereafter interested in the development of the resources of the country. That he may have all the good fortune which his energy and affability deserve is the wish of your

Sir Edward Morris's

Opinion of the Liberal Party and Its Leader just before he Rattled.

About three years before he rattled back to the country at the end of the next four years we hope to have a record to show which will still further increase your confidence in us. (Cheers.) The troubles that have surrounded the country have in a great measure disappeared. The decks are now cleared, so to speak, and we will be enabled

To do such a Work as will commend us still further to your approval. The great battle just won was a hard fought one in many districts, and particularly in Mr. Bond's. Day after day we read the telegraph messages with deep anxiety, but we never doubted or were afraid of the final result. We all know that our Leader, Sir Robert Bond, stands for Truth, for Honor, and for High Ideals; and we knew that he would triumph and his high principles be vindicated. You will all agree with me that the victory throughout the entire Colony is largely due to him, and if he were not present here to-night on the platform with me I would like to enlarge on this sentiment and pay a more extended tribute to his WORTHY, HIS HIGH CHARACTER and that strict adherence to LOFTY IDEALS which at all times is his guiding principle and what is more, gentlemen, I know that all who are present in this hall to-night will endorse these sentiments and also agree with me that to him belongs the chief credit and honor of this great victory. Sir Robert is a WORTHY EXAMPLE for all our young men to follow, and I hope all will be encouraged with such an example in outlining their future careers.

The public would do well to contrast the foregoing with the abuse that has been poured out on the Liberal Party and Sir Robert Bond, by the same E. P. Morris and his henchmen since 1907.

At the election just closed the Tories asked the people to allow them to take away the Child of Progress from its legitimate parents, the Liberal Party, and give it back to the stepmother—the Tory party—but the people had no confidence in them, would not trust them, and allowed the Infant Progress to remain with its rightful mother the Liberal Party. We have been returned with a splendid majority, and when we go back to the country at the end of the next four years we hope to have a record to show which will still further increase your confidence in us. (Cheers.) The troubles that have surrounded the country have in a great measure disappeared. The decks are now cleared, so to speak, and we will be enabled Boat Club Meeting.

The C. L. B. Boat Club held a public meeting in the armory last evening, Mr. C. E. Hunt presiding. There was a large attendance of members and the meeting was most enthusiastic. Lieut.-Col. Rendell, who was present, thanked the club, individually and collectively, for their invaluable assistance to the brigade in aquatic matters. When the Colonel finished speaking three hearty cheers were given for him. It was decided to give souvenirs to the crew who represented the brigade on Regatta Day, also to give them a dinner some time next month. After some minor matters were discussed the meeting closed.

Wedding Bells.

COFFEY-KENT.
Last evening the wedding of Mr. J. T. Coffey, of the Daily News staff, and Miss L. Kent, daughter of Mr. M. Kent, Water St. West, took place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. McDermott in St. Patrick's Church. The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly dressed, and was attended by her sister, Miss Gerlie Kent, and Miss Lizzie Higgins. Mr. H. Peddigrave acted as groomsmen. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents. The bridal party drove to Brennan's to spend the honeymoon. The groom's present to the bride was a gold locket and chain, to the bridesmaids gold brooches, and to the groomsmen a gold stick pin. The bride was the recipient of many costly presents. The Telegram joins in the congratulations extended to Mr. and Mrs. Coffey.

Scenes of Childhood.

Here's the place, the same old meadow—
Why, it hasn't changed a bit—
With the tumble-down old stile,
Where the children used to sit.
There's the row of stately willows
Winking down beside the stream—
Which we fondly called a "river"—
On whose banks we used to dream.
Let's walk onward, down towards it,
For it hasn't changed, I'll swear.
Spite of all these years—why, look you!
There are children bathing there.
What'd you say? It's much too shallow?
Pr'aps it would be when you're grown.
But we had the finest gambols
In that pool I've ever known.
There's no greater fascination
Than to visit as a man.
All the sweet, familiar places
Where your lease of life began.
Here's a dear old stony willow,
Let us rest, 'd like to sit
Here and dream—as I was wont to—
Don't disturb me for a bit.

10 Cent "Cascarets" Straighten You Up

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Costed, Tonic or Constipated Bowels by morning.
Get a 10-cent box now.
Turn the screws out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.
Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.
Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.
A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Songs of the Housekeepers.

THE BORROWER.
She borrows my washbasin, she borrows my soap,
She borrows my washboard and starch,
She borrows my clothes-rack and wringer and rope,
And hasn't returned them since March.
She borrows my china, my sugar and tea,
My chairs and my tables galore,
Whatever she wants she just borrows from me.
My affable neighbor next door!
She borrows my butter, and when she pays back
She does it with oleo cheap;
Whatever she needs that she happens to lack
To bake, or to broil, or to sweep,
She borrows from me with a nod and a smile.
I'm too weak to protest, I'm afraid,
Though I dared to refuse, in the courteous style.
When she wants to borrow my maid
She borrows my pots; she's embarrassed to wait
By the cook as she grumbles and frowns,
And if she were sure they'd become her and fit,
I think she would borrow my gowns.
But I have a plan, and my joyful heart jumps
At the thought of my dream coming true:
My little son Joe has contracted the mumps—
Perhaps she will borrow THEM, too!

SIR R. BOND'S Complaint About Mail.

RESULTS OF THE INVESTIGATION. COL. SECRETARY BENNETT TO SIR ROBERT BOND.

September 24, 1913.
Sir— I have the honour to forward herewith, for your information, copy of the correspondence that has taken place and of the enquiry made in relation to the action of the postal officials on the train not taking certain letters tendered to them. The Government directed the Postmaster General to thoroughly probe the matter, and as a result of the report received from Mr. Woods, Mail Officer Cutler has been suspended, pending further enquiry. I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) JOHN R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.
The Right Honourable
Sir Robert Bond, P.C., K.C.M.G.,
The Grange, Whitbourne.

P. M. G. TO DEP. COL. SECY.
September 18, 1913.

Sir— I have the honour to enclose herewith a communication from the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Bond, of the 24th instant, complaining of misconduct on the part of certain mail clerks while in the discharge of their duties at Whitbourne; also the statements made by the latter in reply to the charges preferred against them. Mr. LeMessurier's letter to me and mine to Sir Robert explain the cause of the delay in replying to his letter.
With respect to the charge against Mail Clerk Bradbury I do not consider there is any ground for censure. It is one of our regulations that at all stations where there is a Post Office letters should not be posted on the train, and to provide for letters unavoidably late a box is open on both sides of the mail car. The mail clerk has all that he can do in taking in and putting off the mail and other duties during the short time at the station. In fact it is irregular even for a Postmaster to receive letters through a door or window when there is a box provided for the public to post their letters. In the present instance, Bradbury affirms that he did respond to the knock as soon as possible, but could not open the door and that he directed the man to go to the door in the baggage end of the car, which it seems he did not do.

The second incident referred to by Sir Robert is a serious one. It will be seen, however, from Mail Clerk Collins' letter that so far as he was concerned it was the result of inexperience. It was clearly his duty to accept any mail tendered to him by a Postmaster for any place with which his train made connection. It is true that the Whitbourne mail is always put on board the Shore line Mail Car when the two trains connect there, but he should have known that, on the day in question, his car would be the only one leaving Whitbourne.

With regard to Cutler, who is said to have kicked the mail off the car to the Platform, no excuse can be offered if the statement made by Postmaster Leslie's messenger is correct. Cutler holds an acting appointment only, and judging from this and other information that I have received concerning him, I do not consider his services are as satisfactory as the train mail service demands.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) H. J. B. WOODS,
Postmaster General.
Arthur Mews, Esq.,
Deputy Colonial Secretary.

ACCOUNTANT LEMESSURIER TO P. M. G.
General Post Office,
September 17.
Sir— During your absence on the West Coast Sir Robert Bond sent in a complaint regarding the Mail Clerks going through Whitbourne.
On receipt of letter from Sir Robert Bond an investigation was at once commenced and letters written to Mail Clerks Bradbury and Facey, who I was informed were on duty at times mentioned by Sir Robert Bond.
Mr. Bradbury replied that he could not get the car door open, and also stated there was the usual letter box in the door through which letters could be dropped. (Letters attached.)
Mr. Facey also replied, but although on duty on the Thursday referred to by Sir Robert Bond he was not on the train when incident connected with the Whitbourne Mail occurred and enquiries had to be made all over again from Messrs. Collins and Facey, the clerks really concerned, and I have not yet seen their reports but they are now on the incoming express due to-day.

When complaints are received, it is usual to acknowledge the communication and to say the matter is under investigation.
In the present instance I deferred replying until the enquiry had been made and submitted to the Postmaster General, then expected daily, and I deeply regret the seeming discourtesy in not sending the stereotyped reply to Sir Robert.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) GEO. W. LEMESSURIER,
Accountant.
Hon. H. J. B. WOODS,
Postmaster-General.

MAIL CLERK BRADBURY.

St. John's,
September 9.
Sir— In reply to your letter re complaint of Sir Robert Bond I beg to say that the cause of the mail in question not being sent is owing to the man who was sent to post it. He did not come to the car when the train arrived, but just as it was about to leave, I was checking up my registers when he knocked at the door and as soon as I put them away I went to try to open it, but could not do so, and as the train started to pull out I told him to go to the other door in the baggage end of the car, but he did not do it. I do not understand why he did not put the mail in the mail box of the car, which is in the center of each door. But to avoid such occurrence again the man should bring the mail to the clerk as soon as the train arrives or put it in the mail car box.

I am yours truly,
(Sgd.) S. BRADBURY,
Geo. W. LeMessurier, Esq.,
Acting P. M. G.

POSTMASTER LESLIE.

Postal Dept., Nfld.,
Whitbourne, Sept. 10

Sir— Yours of the 9th instant re mail refused. My messenger says that on Thursday, August 28th, he handed the mail to the Mail Clerk named Cutler, who kicked it out on the stand and would not take it. Cutler says the other man Collins told him to refuse to take the mail.
The messenger is prepared to make affidavit.
I telegraphed you of this the same day it occurred.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) H. L. LESLIE,
Postmaster-General.
Hon. H. J. B. Woods, Esq.,
Postmaster-General.

MAIL CLERK COLLINS.

General Post Office,
September 18.

Sir— With reference to the report of P. M. Leslie of Whitbourne, that the mail was refused and kicked off the train I had charge of on Thursday, I beg to say that having been only engaged this occasion was the first time I came as mail clerk for about three months, in on Thursday. On other occasions we would meet the Conception Bay train at Whitbourne when offered to us, the Clerk in charge would say "Hand that bag to the other car," which would be behind the cross-country car. After leaving Rantem I remarked to my assistant Cutler, "We will get no more mail, if any comes at Whitbourne we will give it to the other train. I had a good deal of extra work to do in connection with registration work to be ready when we got to Brigus Junction, was busy at the desk and did not know what Cutler said. I did not see him kick the bag off, I do not think he kicked it off, but of course can't understand he would refuse it. Had I been at the door and seeing no Conception Bay train following I would have taken in the Whitbourne bag. I had a bag of mail for Whitbourne which was handed to the courier by Cutler. Cutler said nothing to me about having refused the bag from Whitbourne. I was asked about this on my arrival and gave this explanation and was warned never to refuse a mail again under any circumstances, to take what was offered and exchange it afterwards. There is all ways a good delay at Whitbourne and the courier had lots of time to come into the car and explain. The courier is a young lad and I am sure if he had made any remark at all the bag would have been taken by Cutler.
(Sgd.) ALAN BOND COLLINS,
Mail Clerk.

COL. SECY. TO P.M.G.

(COPY) September 19, 1913.

Dear Sir— Referring to your letter of the 18th instant respecting the complaint of the Right Honourable Sir Robert Bond, I have the honour to return you herewith the said letter with enclosures and beg that you will have Mail Clerk Cutler appear before you and make answer to the statements contained in Mr. Leslie's letter of the 10th inst.
I shall be glad if you will kindly return me the correspondence or Monday morning with Cutler's statement attached so that the whole question may be considered at the meeting of the Executive Council on Monday evening.
Yours truly,
(Sgd.) JOHN R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.
Hon. H. J. B. Woods,
Postmaster General.

September 20th, 1913.

Sir— In reply to your letter of the 19th I beg now to enclose statement of Mail Clerk Cutler with respect to his refusal to take the Whitbourne mail on board the Mail Car for St. John's. He denies having kicked the mail out of the car, but admits having refused to receive it under the impression that it should be conveyed by the Conception Bay train.

Signed,
DR. F. STAFFORD & SON,
St. John's, Nfld.

There is no reason whatever for supposing that these mail clerks had any object in delaying the Whitbourne mail. The incident was the result of their youth and inexperience, and it could not have occurred if one of them had been longer in the service. At the same time there was good ground for complaint on the part of those who were in the car, and it is to be regretted that more care was not exercised in the selection of at least one experienced man to take charge of the mail if such were possible at the time.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your obedient servant,
(Sgd.) H. J. B. WOODS,
Postmaster-General.
Hon. John R. Bennett,
Colonial Secretary.

MAIL CLERK CUTLER.

(COPY) General Post Office,
St. John's, Newfoundland.

I remember the occasion when Whitbourne mail was offered to the car in which I was travelling as Assistant with mail clerk Allan Collins. Before we arrived at Whitbourne Collins said we would get no more mail for St. John's and to tie up what we had.
When the train arrived at Whitbourne, Courier Foley, a young lad, got up at the station, passed him the sealed mail for Whitbourne, and he threw the mail from Whitbourne towards me. I being then kneeling in front of the car door, I pushed it out with my hand and refused to take it. Foley did not come to me afterwards though we stopped at the station for a good while between 10 and 15 minutes. This was my first trip on a Thursday. I had been across once before on a Tuesday.
I did not kick the bag off. I was kneeling down in the car door way. Foley came towards the car door immediately after I pushed the bag out and said, "Are you going to take the mail?" I said "No," as I understood from Collins we were to get no more mail for St. John's. I did not see Foley afterwards.

Cured Eczema Like Magic

Suffered for Years—Tried All Kinds of Treatment—Surprised at Results From Dr. Chase's Ointment.
You can soon tell when people are enthusiastic about medical treatment by the language they use. After experimenting with all sorts of ointments in a vain effort to obtain relief and cure, the writer of this letter was astonished at the quick and satisfactory results obtained by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.
"It worked like magic," she writes. Indeed, it is surprising the healing that is often effected in a single night by this great ointment. The stinging and itching are relieved at once, and cure is only a matter of time and patient treatment.
Mrs. Clements, 13 Strange street, Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have suffered from eczema for years, and after using all kinds of ointments, at last tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It worked like magic and proved a God-send to me. I would advise anyone suffering from eczema to try one box and be convinced." 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
