CHAPTER XIX.

Mr. Austin Ambrose walked back to Lee with a step that had regained its usual elasticity, and with hope again beaming in his eyes.

Few men would have been sharp enough to notice, in the midst of such excitement, so trivial a fact that Mrs. Day's shawl was dry; but Mr. Austin Ambrose was not an ordinary man, and in an instant his acute brain was hard at work.

If Mrs. Day had been out in the boot all night, as she would have then believed, then her shawl would have been still wet; but as it was dry, then Mrs. Day must have been somewhere to dry it, and Austin Ambrose felt, with that kind of conviction which is more a matter of faith than reason, that Margaret had been with her.

He felt as certain as that he was walking along the road that the Days had rescued Margaret from the rock, and had taken her to some place of safety, and that for some reason, best known to themselves, the Days had agreed to conceal the fact, and lead the public to believe that Margaret had perished.

"That woman wasn't crying," he muttered to himself as he walked along; "her eyes were as dry as the shawl! No; Margaret is in hiding somewhere, and those Days know where. Now, if Blair will only kindly pull round, I am all right."

When in the Holme, he learned that "Mr. Stanley" was still unconscious, and that there had been no change in his condition.

"Get some one from London," he said to the old doctor with an energy which surprised him. "Get the best man—the very best; we must save him!"

"You can send for Sir Astley," said the doctor, quietly; "but if we send for the whole college of physicians, they can do no more than we are doing. It is concussion of the brain, and the poor fellow's magnificent constitution will fight for him far more effectively than we can. He shall have every attention, trust me."

Austin Ambrose acquiesced. Sir Astley might have seen Blair, and recognize him, and, in any case, might talk about the affair when he got back to London, and cause inquiries to be made.

So the days wore on. No man could have received more attention than Blair got at the hands of the old doctor, whose interest in the case increased as it became more critical.

Austin Ambrose, too, watched over him, as the people of the house declared, "like a brother!"

The case still puzzled the doctor, and he went one day and looked at the spot where Blair had been found; but the feet of the people who had searched for him had blotted out the impression of the struggle between Pyke and Blair, and there was no trace left of the murderous assault.

Change had worked hard in Austin Ambrose's behalf, and if Blair should only recover, all might yet go well with his plans.

On the eighth day, toward evening, the doctor, who had been bending over the bed with his fingers on Blair's pulse, looked up suddenly, and motioned to the nurse and Austin Ambrose.

"Shut out the light," he said in a low voice.

They drew the window curtains, and Austin Ambrose stepped up on tiptoe.

"Is—he coming too?" he asked breathlessly.

"The doctor nodded."

"I think so. Let no one speak to him but me."

They waited, and presently Blair opened his eyes and looked round with a dazed inquiry.

"Margaret!" he said.

"The doctor held up his hand warningly to the others.

"Madge! Where are you?" he said again, almost inaudibly.

"Your wife cannot come to you at present," replied the doctor quietly.

"Do not speak just yet."

"Where am I? Have I been ill?" inquired Blair, knitting his brows, as if trying to remember. "Ah, yes; the horse! Is the horse all right?"

"The horse is all right," said the doctor. "I will tell you all about it after you have had a good sleep. You have been very ill, and will be worse if you do not sleep."

"All right," he said, with a sigh.

"Madge, my wife, is asleep, I suppose? Have I been ill long? Don't wake her or distress her; I shall be all right! Stop!" he exclaimed; "the paints and things, they are in my pockets, and the easel will be sent on to-day. Give them to her! I hope they haven't come to harm!"

"They are all safe," said the doctor, soothingly.

"I'm glad," said Blair, with another sigh; "and the horse is all right! Well, it's not so bad! I thought I had settled me, confound him!"

The doctor thought he referred to the coat, but Austin Ambrose's cheeks paled.

He stepped forward noiselessly.

"I am here, Blair," he murmured softly. "Take the doctor's advice, and don't talk yet."

"You, Austin, old fellow!" exclaimed Blair, trying to hold out his hand.

"Why, how did you hear of it? To come the same night. That's kind. But how did you get here? and Madge—have you seen Madge? Don't let her be frightened, Austin, I shall be up in an hour or two. Tell her—no, don't tell her anything; leave it to me."

"Very well," said Austin; "and now get some sleep, old fellow. I shall say another word."

Blair closed his eyes, and presently the doctor looked up and nodded.

"He is asleep, and is saved, please Heaven!" he said in a grave voice.

All that Austin Ambrose had accomplished was as nothing to the task that loomed before him.

The time must come when Blair would ask for Margaret, and insist upon seeing her.

Many men would have shrunk from such an ordeal, but Austin Ambrose was not the man to allow sentiment, leant upon his arm and looked at Austin with horror and despair.

Then, without a cry, he sank back upon the pillow and closed his eyes.

"He has swooned," said Austin. "It was too soon."

The doctor shook his head.

"No; better now than later."

"After a moment or two Blair opened his eyes."

"Have you told me all?" he demanded, and there was something in the tone and the wild glare of his eyes that smote Austin Ambrose and made him quail.

"Yes," he said, after a moment's pause, "everything has been done, Blair. Everything. I think you will know that without my saying it. There is no hope—there was none from the first. She was not seen after the tide reached her—she will not be seen again. Blair, you will play the man for—for all our sakes," and he pressed the hot hand clutching the quilt.

Blair looked at him and withdrew his hand; they saw his lips move once or twice, and guessed whose name they formed; then he spoke.

"Austin, did you ever pray?" it was a strange, a solemn question.

"If so, pray now, pray that I may die!"

Over the weeks that followed it will be well to draw a veil; enough that during them the strong man hovered between life and death, at times raving madly and calling upon the woman he had loved and lost, at others lying in a stupor which was Death's twin sister.

As soon as he was able to walk with the aid of a stick, Blair got out of the house unnoticed and made his way to Appleford.

Pale and trembling, he stood on the beach and looked at the rocks where Margaret had been seen—looked until his eyes grew dim, then he crawled back to the cottage.

"You have been to Appleford?" said Austin, who had watched him.

Blair lifted his heavy eyes.

"Yes, I have been to Appleford," he said, in a hollow voice. "I have seen the last—" he stopped, and his breath came and went in quick gasps.

as he would have called it, to interpose between him and a long cherished design; so that when, on awakening from the deep sleep which saved his life, Blair asked: "Where is Margaret?" Austin Ambrose was prepared.

"Blair," he said, laying his hand upon the sick man's, "are you strong enough to hear what I have to tell you? I trust so, for I cannot keep it from you."

"Keep it from me! What is it?" demanded Blair, trying to raise himself. "Is it anything to do with Madge? No, it can't be, of course, but why doesn't she come? Ah, I see—give me a minute, Austin," and he turned his head away. "My accident has frightened her, and she is ill."

"Yes, she is ill!" said Austin Ambrose, watching him closely. "Blair, for Heaven's sake, be brave, be calm."

"What is it? You haven't told me all!" he exclaimed. "Don't turn your face away; tell me. Anything is better than suspense. Let me go to her—bring her to me. She can't be so ill—" he paused, breathlessly.

Austin Ambrose laid his hand upon his shoulder.

"Blair, dear, dear Blair," he murmured; "she cannot come to you; you cannot go to her. She has been very ill—Blair, your wife is dead!"

The sick man looked at him and laughed.

"That's a pretty kind of joke to play upon a man lying on his back," he said. "Go and fetch her, and we'll laugh at it together—perhaps she'll see the fun in it; I don't."

Then, as Austin Ambrose remained silent, Blair looked from him to the doctor, who had entered—an awful look of anguish, fearful scrutiny.

"I'm—m dreaming; that's what it is," he muttered. "Madge—don't leave me. Take hold of my hand. I—I dream somebody had told me you were dead. Don't cry, dear. It's I who was nearly dead, not you; and I'm all right now. Did you find the painting things? They're all right, are they? I told Austin—I told—" he stopped short suddenly, and uttered a cry, a heartrending cry, and raised himself so that he could see Austin Ambrose's face. "I'm not asleep," he moaned; "I am awake. And you are there—and you have just told me, dead! Dead! Austin—don't—keep it from me! Tell me all. Look! I'll be quiet. I won't utter a sound. Doctor, for Heaven's sake make him tell me!"

The doctor turned his face away. It was wet with tears; there was not a tear in Austin Ambrose's eyes.

"Shall I tell him—or wait?" he whispered to the doctor.

The doctor nodded.

"Better now than later," the shock will be less now he is weak. Poor fellow, poor fellow!"

Austin Ambrose bent down, and in a few words told the story. He said nothing of the visitor, who had come, nothing of Margaret's anguish. According as he told it, Margaret had strolled down to the rock and remained there too long, until the tidal wave had caught her and washed her out to sea.

Blair listened, his face pallid as that of death, his wide eyes fixed gleamingly on the speaker's face, his hands clutching the quilt. Every now and then his lips moved as if he were repeating the words as they dropped cautiously from Austin Ambrose's lips and when he had finished he still leant upon his arm and looked at Austin with horror and despair.

Then, without a cry, he sank back upon the pillow and closed his eyes.

"He has swooned," said Austin. "It was too soon."

The doctor shook his head.

"No; better now than later."

"After a moment or two Blair opened his eyes."

"Have you told me all?" he demanded, and there was something in the tone and the wild glare of his eyes that smote Austin Ambrose and made him quail.

Blair lifted his heavy eyes.

"Yes, I have been to Appleford," he said, in a hollow voice. "I have seen the last—" he stopped, and his breath came and went in quick gasps.

"Austin, while I live, my poor darling will be with me in my thoughts, but—but never speak her name to me. Never! I—I could not bear it."

"Yes," murmured Austin Ambrose, sympathetically. "I understand. You will fight your sorrow like a man. Blair, time—time, the great healer—will close over even so great a wound as yours; and you will be able to speak of her, poor girl."

Blair looked before him with lack-luster eyes.

"Do you think that a man who had been thrust out of Heaven could ever learn to forget the happiness he had lost?" he said, in a low voice. "While life lasts I shall remember her, shall I long to go to her! That is enough," he added, sternly; "we will never speak of her again!"

You Can

cure that old sore or ulcer from which you have been suffering for so long, if you will only use a ointment that is capable of reaching the seat of the trouble. Zam-Buk can do this because of its unusual penetrating power. Also, Zam-Buk is a strong germicide—germs cannot live where Zam-Buk is applied, so that the germs are destroyed not only on the surface, but in all the diseased underlying tissue. Then healing commences; new tissue replaces the old and diseased, until the sore is thoroughly and permanently cured.

The case of Miss Frances Dandis, of Somerset, Man., verifies the above statement. She writes: "I suffered for over twenty years with an ulcer on my leg, and all the remedies tried during that time proved ineffective. Several doctors treated me, but I got no benefit. Finally I tried Zam-Buk, and I am thankful to say that after perseverance with this ointment I am now completely cured."

Zam-Buk is also splendid for eczema, abscesses, boils, pimples, ringworm, piles, blood-poisoning, cuts, burns, and all the eruptions and diseases. Best balm for baby's sores. All druggists, 50c. box, 3 for $1.25, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

RESPONSIBILITY RESTS WITH GENERAL NIXON.

LONDON, April 17. Responsibility for the advance of British troops on Baghdad, which resulted in the forced retirement of General Townshend to Kut-el-Amara, where he is still besieged, rests with General Sir John Nixon, who, at that time, was in command of the British forces in Mesopotamia. This statement was made in the Commons today by J. Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for India, who added, "no communications were made to the Government of India or the Imperial Government."

SHIPPING CONTROVERSY IN THE COMMONS.

LONDON, April 17. The controversy which has been carried on in the newspapers between ship owners in Britain and certain interests in Italy, charging British steamers with taking unfair profits at the expense of Italian merchantmen, was aired in the Commons today by means of a series of questions and answers. Robert H. Houston, Unionist, a large ship owner of Liverpool, who, in letters to the press, denied the Italian charges, opened the matter by first asking whether Italy had declared war on Germany. The answer by Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, was in the negative. Wm. M. Fringle, Liberal, asked why she had not done so. Lord Robert refused to be drawn out along this line, demanding that notice be given of the question. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, replying to further questions, based on the Italian charges, said, there was no justification for the statements that British shipowners were bleeding Italy in the matter of freights. The discussion closed by the War Trade Minister's statement that the British Government fully realized the importance of providing sufficient shipping facilities for Italy, and is doing everything in its power to ensure ships to be made available at reasonable rates.

NEUTRAL SHIP OWNERS WARNED.

LONDON, April 17. Neutral ship owners were warned by the British Foreign Office, today, that all cargoes or bunkers of coast of German origin on neutral ships would be liable to seizure under the Order-in-Council of March 11th. The Foreign Office advised neutrals to obtain certificates from British Consular officers, showing that the coal in their ships did not originate in Germany.

The Racking Pains of Sciatic Rheumatism

Were Well-nigh Unbearable—After Five Years of Suffering Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Medicines.

I have suffered has been well-nigh unbearable. It would start in the hips and run down the legs to the toes, gradually getting worse. The nerves contract until they are practically useless. My doctor tried many different treatments but could only afford relief for a time.

"For about five years, I was subject to this trouble with severe attacks which would last about two months. The last attack I had was shortened to two weeks by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food. This treatment was continued until I was satisfied that the cure was lasting."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. H. E. Woolley, J.P. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six for $2.50. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25 cents a box at dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Company, for Sciatic Rheumatism. The pain is Ottawa in the course of a few days. The Naval Service Department, meanwhile, states that only seafaring men are required. Recruits' rate of pay, pensions and separation allowances will be the same as those in force in the Royal Navy. While there is no official statement on the subject, it is expected that the Canadian Patriotic Fund will take care of the dependents of the Canadian sailors, and that payment will be made up to the standard of the Militia.

ON THE FLANDERS FRONT.

LONDON, April 17. There was heavy shelling to-day about Voormezele and Dickebusch, also in the area between St. Eloi and the Ypres-Comines canal. There was some artillery activity by both sides to-day about Hebuterne, between Carnoy and River, Somme, and about Souchez and Noeux les Mines. There has been mining activity to-day in the Hohenzollern sector. West of Vimy yesterday there was considerable aerial activity.

FRENCH RAIDS.

PARIS, April 17. Raids by two French aerial squadrons stationed on the Salonika front are reported in the Havas despatch from Athens. One squadron dropped bombs yesterday morning on the Bulgarian forces assembled at Strumitza station. The other attack was on the German positions at Begintzize. Both squadrons returned undamaged.

AMERICAN WOUNDED.

WASHINGTON, April 17. One of the several Americans aboard the steamer Imperator from Gulfport for Marseilles, was wounded when the vessel was fired upon without warning by the Austrian submarine off the Culmbrede Islands, according to official advice to the State Department to-day.

INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY.

NEW YORK, April 17. The Finance Minister presented a statement of his Additional Estimates asking for an extra $82,515, including $20,000, as an increase to the Old Age Pension Fund; $12,475 for Lighthouse construction and repairs; and extra $58,000 for roads and bridges and $1,000 for the institution for the Blind.

FOR THE CAUSE OF HUMANITY.

WASHINGTON, April 17. President Wilson, speaking before the Daughters of the American Revolution here, to-day, decided that the only excuse for the States ever to fight would be in the cause of humanity. His words were enthusiastically applauded by delegates from all parts of the country.

America will have forgotten her traditions, said the President, if she fights merely for herself, and he added the United States must not fight under such conditions as would show it had forgotten her traditions. When America ceases to be unselfish, he said, it will cease to be America. The President declared that the nation was formed for the purpose of serving the rest of mankind, as much as itself, to afford an asylum for all men. These traditions, he said, must be continued.

ANOTHER NARROW ESCAPE.

GENEVA, April 17. A report reached here to-day that the German Crown Prince had another escape from death or injury recently on the Verdun front. Accompanied by his staff and a number of other officials, he approached within range of the heavy French guns, and a shell exploded near the party. It is said that several persons were injured slightly, and that others, including Colonel Mueller, correspondent of the Berne Band, was knocked down.

FINDING OF VILLA UNCONFORMED.

WASHINGTON, April 17. The War Department officials announced that none of the over night despatches or early telegrams brought to the attention of the finding of the body of Francisco Villa.

MORE SHIPS SUNK.

LONDON, April 17. The Norwegian steamer Repelera is sunk. The crew was saved. The sinking of a neutral ship and a British steamer was reported by Lloyds to-day. The Norwegian ship Glendon, was sunk by gunfire. The lost British steamer was the Narrown, which was unharmed.

UNIONS TO DISCUSS MUNICIPAL BILL.

The Executive members of all the city unions will meet to-night at 8.15 o'clock in the Committee Rooms of the Longshoremen's Union Hall. They will discuss the Municipal Bill. Hon. M. P. Gibbs will address the gathering.

LEAVING LIVERPOOL.

The S. S. Tobasco is set down to leave Liverpool on Thursday next for here.

Take "Cascarets" II Headachy, Bilious And Constipated

Best for liver and bowels, bad breath, bad colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue, it causes congestion of that dull, throbbing sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you up by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

At the House.

MONDAY, April 17th, 1916.

Petitions were presented by Mr. Stone, Mr. Targett, Mr. Abbott and Mr. Devereaux on various public matters. The Bill respecting the Companies' payment of whose Capital Stock, or of Interest thereon is Guaranteed by the Government, "Inflammable Substances" and the Act to Amend the Law relating to Patents were read a third time and sent to the Legislative Council for concurrence.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on Supply and the Finance Minister presented a statement of his Additional Estimates asking for an extra $82,515, including $20,000, as an increase to the Old Age Pension Fund; $12,475 for Lighthouse construction and repairs; and extra $58,000 for roads and bridges and $1,000 for the institution for the Blind.

Mr. Lloyd rose and said that a marked feature of the present session was the response given by the Government to suggestions from the Opposition side of the House, as was exemplified in the Additional Estimates just brought down by the Finance Minister. He (the Leader of the Opposition) pointed out that during the debate on the regular Estimates it was strongly urged on the Government by the Opposition the desirability of providing more old age pensions for worn out fishermen, and it was remarkable that the very sum suggested was placed in the Additional Estimates.

Mr. Lloyd then referred to the additional $1,000 to provide for the education of 20 pupils annually at the Halifax Institution for the Blind. He suggested that that vote had been advocated by him and other members of the Opposition. Another gratifying feature was the provision made to keep the roads and bridges in repair and that was also a matter recommended by the Opposition for the consideration of the Government.

Mr. Clapp congratulated the Government and Minister of Finance in accepting the views of the Opposition. He was glad to see that provision was made for the construction of three lighthouses, which were very essential, at Harbour Deep, Williamsport and Grosis Island, in the district of St. Barbe. He was equally pleased to know that the Old Age Pension vote was increased as there were many fishermen in his district beyond the motor ferry for Bonne Bay and said that any one who travelled from there in the punt to Norris's Point could recognize the inconvenience it is to the people. He pointed out that motor boats are provided out of special grants in other districts, but such an arrangement was impossible in his district, owing to the small amount allocated compared with the population. St. Barbe was a large contributor to the revenue of the Colony but was not getting his proportionate share for main roads. He hoped that the Government would see its way clear to provide $600 for the motor ferry asked for.

Mr. Coaker strongly endorsed the appeal of the member for St. Barbe and said it was most regrettable that a motor ferry could not be operated in that very important settlement of Bonne Bay, St. Barbe district. He added, was not getting the share of the grant it was entitled to and trusted that the Government would consider the matter. He was glad that the Premier had the courage to act on the suggestions from the Opposition and to increase the votes for Old Age Pensions and for Public Works. He wished that the Government Engineer be sent to Twillingate to inspect the construction of the breakwater there and to report on it.

Mr. Hallyard again asked for the tenth time if it was the intention of the Government to provide for a clean water supply at Change Islands to safeguard the inhabitants from disease—such as the outbreak of typhoid fever which occurred there recently as a result of polluted water.

The Leader of the Opposition emphatically stated that this matter was too serious to be passed over in silence, as if people were to exist at all they must have good water to drink. The Public Health Officer's report, he said, was adverse to the conditions of water at Change Islands and showed the necessity of doing something. It was up to the Government to make some reply and say point blank that they would do something, or that they would not do anything, but let the people's health be jeopardized.

The Minister of Finance said there was no necessity to make extra provision and that a water supply at Change Islands could be met out of the Fogo grant for roads and bridges.

The Leader of the Opposition replied that the Minister's answer was unsatisfactory. Fever had already occurred from the bad drinking water, which had entailed suffering on the people and expense on the Government. If the matter was not attended to, there would be another outbreak of fever, which would inflict death and suffering on the people and extra expense on the Government. The conditions were unfavourable to fester water and some special attention and expense were necessarily called for. This was a preventative measure and was deserving of as much consideration and support as a special vote for a consumptive or fever hospital.

The Minister of Finance again stated that there was no reason why the grant for roads and bridges in Fogo could not be utilized for the purpose of a water supply and that he knew it to be done in other districts last year were surpluses were available.

The Leader of the Opposition said that the Minister of Finance knew better than any one in the House that there had been no surpluses available the past two years for repairs to roads and bridges. He pointed out that the regular grants. Dealing with the request for a supply of clean water at Change Islands, he emphasized that it was a proper case for special treatment, as a matter of public health which needed special attention.

The Colonial Secretary said he was inclined to take the view of the Minister of Finance that Change Islands water supply could be brought out of the district's share of the special grant, as it was not good policy to establish a precedent of this nature. In the meantime he promised to have the grievance given serious consideration. Mr. Hallyard intimated that Fogo got a very small share per capita of the special grant. There was no surplus revenues for digging wells there as they were in districts he knew of.

Mr. Coaker ironically remarked that Fogo had got more than its share for public works and incidentally referred to the historic visit of the Premier there just prior to the 1913 election and the many improvements made there, notably the spending of $6,000 on Fogo wharf.

The Premier denied this at first, but by his own statements committed himself. Mr. Coaker and Mr. Lloyd then twitted the Premier, the former, on behalf of Mr. Hallyard expressing the hope that the Premier would again favor Fogo with a visit and with an equally generous hand-out as before.

The Colonial Secretary again spoke on the Change Islands water supply, this time assuming a new role, as he strongly stated that he did not agree with the Finance Minister and promised the member for Fogo that he would have the matter brought under the notice of the Government. The Bill respecting Retiring Allowances went through Committee and the House went into Committee on the Sealing Bill, which was fathered by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who stated that for the benefit of a few Water Street people, he would like to point out to them that the Bill was drawn up by a Committee from both Houses in a right and proper manner and without prejudice.

The Leader of the Opposition supported the Bill and in doing so remarked that last year the Bill was introduced by the Opposition side, passed the Assembly Chamber, but did not meet with the approval of the Legislative Chamber and was thrown out. This year a more fortunate position was arrived at in as much as the Minister of Marine and Fisheries had taken up the matter and it had now become a Government Bill.

Mr. Coaker, he said, was glad to see the provisions which covered the recommendation of the Judges of the Supreme Court who sat as Commissioners on the Marine Disasters Enquiry two years ago. The installation on board of every ship of wireless telegraphy had been provided for immediately and penalties and punishment for sending and keeping out of order at night was taken up in this Bill. The penalizing referred to makes the owners responsible for the consequences of every act of wireless telegraphy that led to a breach of the section resulted in the total disablement of any sealer, such act of a master or officer shall be a misdemeanor and if death resulted it shall be a felony and liable to imprisonment.

Some diversity of opinion followed over the section that prohibits steamers over 450 tons not prosecuting the sealishery. Mr. Coaker, Mr. Woodford, Mr. Grimes and Mr. Winsor supported the Bill as it stood, but Mr. Devereaux, Mr. Higgins and Mr. Moulton thought the clause was too drastic and that a better way would be to limit the bigger steel ships to bring in a certain number of seals, say 25,000. The Committee rose at 6.20 till this afternoon.

Woolen voles is likely to be a favorite this spring.

The Municipal Bill

In public life it is strange at times how heat is generated and feelings disturbed when least expected and when least intended. A feeling of resentment was shown last night at the meeting of the Citizens' Committee at the action of the Joint Select Committee of the two houses of the Legislature in casting as it was supposed some slight on the Citizens' Committee, or acting as it was considered discourteously to that Committee. No slight or discourtesy was intended. The Municipal Bill was introduced into the Legislature by the Prime Minister, and after it had been read a second time, it was referred to a Joint Select Committee of the two houses. This motion was made by the Prime Minister and seconded by the Leader of the Opposition, neither accepted the principles of the bill, but advocated the second reading with the object of referring it to a Select Committee who could act in accord with the wishes of citizens generally. The Citizens' Committee met last week and recommended that the bill be not proceeded with this session. That recommendation was accepted by the Select Committee, and further it was resolved that there should be sittings of the Select Committee in the form of a commission to hear from time to time representations of the Citizens' Committee in reference to amendments of the Bill. These two resolutions show that the Select Committee had no intention of ignoring, slighting or acting discourteously to the Citizens' Committee. The points of difference therefore narrows itself very considerably, and the ground of complaint which can be legitimately raised relate to the action of the Select Committee in resolving what to do in the interim which will occur before the new Bill can be put into force. The Joint Committee did not favour the continuance in office of the present Commission. They favoured an election in June and a term of two years.

Citizens' Committee.

Resents Action of the Government—One Member Left the Meeting—Committee Threatens to Call Public Meeting.

The Citizens' Committee of Taxpayers, appointed to consider the new Municipal Bill, held their third meeting, which took place at 8.30 sharp in the Board of Trade Rooms last night. Twenty-seven members were present. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read, and a few questions were asked concerning the same, they were confirmed. General business was taken up, but not where it discontinued at the last meeting. The Chairman informed the Committee that as a result of street rumors, he interviewed the Premier, who intimated to him that the Select Committee of both branches of the Legislature had unanimously agreed to recommend to the Legislature that an election be held in June next and that the system of election be Mayor and Councillors at large for a term of two years. The Chairman had no official communication about the matter, but informed the meeting that a letter dealing with the same, would be sent by the Premier to this Committee to-day (the 18th).

Mr. H. E. Cowan was under the impression that the Citizens' Committee were to work in conjunction with the Select Committee. He considered that the Committee represented the people of St. John's East and West and such, was deserving of more consideration and should have been consulted before any definite action was taken. That to protest against such action on the part of the legislature was to acknowledge that the committee had no authority, and to hold further meetings was a waste of time.

Mr. J. J. Spratt agreed with the remarks of Mr. Cowan and resented the action.

Mr. T. Peel followed in a similar strain.

Mr. J. C. Barter (Architect) strongly resented the action of the Select Committee, as it was a reflection on the committee and asked that his name be struck off the list.

Mr. J. C. Puddister asked that the meeting take time to consider before action would be taken.

Mr. P. J. Gough was of the opinion that the Citizens' Committee should be heard before the Select Committee.

Mr. Spratt wanted the committee to resign and call a public meeting.

Mr. H. E. Cowan thought it undignified to resign.

Mr. Mews asked if there was any communication with the Premier or Select Committee.

Mr. G. Bradley was of the opinion that the government intended to ignore the Citizens' Committee.

Mr. J. P. Crotty, as there is no guarantee for the future, let us have a public meeting and place the matter before the people.

Mr. J. M. Devine also condemned the action of the Select Committee.

Mr. W. O. D. Kelly thought it inadvisable to hold a public meeting until an official communication was read from the Premier or Select Committee.

Mr. Joyce suggested a protest be sent the Premier and if no action be taken, then to call a public meeting.

Mr. P. J. Summers thought it time enough to consider the matter after receipt of official communication from the Government.

Mr. Kelly proposed, and Mr. Devine seconded that this meeting adjourn to meet again at 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

The general opinion is that the committee has been over-ruled by the Government.

Mr Devine's Resolution

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The Daily News of this morning, in reporting the result of last night's meeting of Citizens' Committee, says: "Mr. J. M. Devine moved a resolution condemning the action of the Legislature, and asking that a public meeting be called, but later withdrew it." I wish to state, Mr. Editor, that this report is incorrect. The resolution moved by me reads as follows: "That this Committee resents the very discourteous treatment accorded us by the Select Committee appointed by the Legislature, and pending further action, that a public meeting of citizens be called." I wish to state that I did not withdraw that resolution and that it still holds good awaiting the result of correspondence asking for an explanation from the Select Committee.

You will readily understand, Mr. Editor, the feelings of the whole Citizens' Committee last evening, when they discovered that the Select Committee of the Legislature had met and decided on certain regulations for the government of the city—most vital regulations, in fact, without conferring with or hearing anything whatsoever from the Committee appointed by fifteen hundred citizens in the Casino Theatre.

Kindly publish above and oblige Yours faithfully,
J. M. DEVINE.

Advice From Mary.

She Thinks Government Officials Should be Content With Their Earnings.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I suppose you heard, Mr. Editor, that we had a sealing steamer in here with a fine load of seals; it was a fine thing for Harbour Grace, and for the seavers as well. The crew made $102.15 each. A very large number of men were employed at the work of manufacturing the fat into oil at the premises of the owners, Messrs. Murray and Crawford. Tom went down full of hope to get a job, but he came home sorely disappointed, as he could not secure employment. He says it is very unfair to give Government officials work at the seals, when other men, like himself, who have not earned a dollar since last fall have to step aside and make room for the men who are employed by the Government. Their pay, of course, is not large, but they are always under pay and should have a manliness enough to be content with their earnings, and not try and take bread out of other people's mouths. No doubt they received permission from their superiors to leave their regular positions during the time the seals were being manufactured. I hope they will be very careful when they return to their respective positions and not have the least smell of seal oil about them, or there will, no doubt, be trouble. That reminds me of a case that came under my notice a few days ago where a prominent Government official remained home from church for several weeks because he got the smell of fish off the person sitting in the next pew. Let me forget I would tell him that fish is the pride of our country, and it is far better to smell fish than to notice dirty pride in any person.

So, Government official, a word in closing, before returning to your good position for another year make sure there is not the least relic of the manufacturing house about you or you may be like the little boy in school: "Sent home to wash yourself."

Yours, etc.,
MARY.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.00 A.M.

SAN FRANCISCO, To-day.

Premier Ryan, Queensland, Australia, who arrived here yesterday on his way to London on a mission, arising indirectly out of the war, would not explain further. He left last night for New York.

MAWSON FOR LONDON.

SAN FRANCISCO, To-day. Sir Douglas Mawson, Antarctic explorer, reached here yesterday from Australia on his way to London, where he will assume duties at the British War Office. It will be impossible to reach Lieut. Ernest Shackleton, supposed to be marooned in the Antarctic continent, until next January, Sir Douglas said.

AIR RAID ON CONSTANTINOPLE.

LONDON, To-day. During the British air raid on Constantinople on Friday evening, two bombs dropped by the raiders burst in the War Ministry, according to a report from Salonika, forwarded by an Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. The despatch adds another bomb burst in a powder factory at Makrakel which blew up. There were numerous casualties.

BUDGET OF WAR NEWS.

NEW YORK, To-day. Again the Germans have launched a powerful infantry attack against the French positions, extending from the River Meuse to Donaumont. Again they have been swept back, except where they obtained footing in a small portion of Chateau Wood. By the guns of the French, heavy casualties were inflicted on the attacking forces, along a two and a half mile battle front. The Germans have kept up their heavy shelling of Hill 204, northwest of Verdun, on the second line of the French in this region, probably with the intention of again throwing their infantry forward in an endeavor to capture these important points, the keys to the Verdun position on the west. Elsewhere along the lines held by the French, there have been only bombardments and mining operations. Numerous German positions have been bombed by French aircraft. On the British front in Belgium and France, heavy bombardments by big guns continue unabated. Artillery activity in the sector between St. Eloi and Ypres Comines Canal have been especially marked. The Germans poured shells on the Russian positions along the Dvina River at Ikskull Bridgehead and about Dvinsk. Vigorous artillery duels have been in progress in the Lake region, south of Dvinsk. In Galicia, along the Stripa River, the Teutons have made several attempts against the Italian front. In the Suggana Valley, the Austrians delivered an attack against the Italians from Lorzanzza Torrent to Mont Collo, but they were everywhere repulsed. In Asiatic Turkey, the Russians on the Black Sea coast have taken the town of Sir-meneh, pushing farther westward against the retreating Turks to Ar-some Koleski, less than 12 miles from the important fortified town of Trebizond. The Russians are anticipating no early conquest of Tifflion, according to unofficial advices from Petrograd. The British Government hereafter will regulate the shipments of American packing houses to all neutral European countries for the period of the war, according to an agreement reached between the Government and packers' and shippers' of the cases arising from the seizure by the British of cargoes of packers' products.

GIFT OF HOSPITAL.

LONDON, To-day. In the presence of a distinguished company, Sir George Perley, Acting High Commissioner of Canada, on Saturday, handed over on behalf of the Canadian Government, No. four Stationary Hospital at Paris, to the President of the French Republic. The hospital was inaugurated by the admission of 155 wounded men from Verdun.

FATAL TRAIN COLLISION.

BRADFORD, R.I., To-day. Thirty or more passengers are reported crushed or burned to death by a collision of trains on the New York, New Haven-Hartford railroad here yesterday. The dead were in the rear car of a four coach local train, bound from Boston to New London, which stopped at a local station, when it was run down by the Gill Edge Express bound from Boston for New York. The Vice-President of the New Haven R.R. declared shortly before midnight that the reports to effect that 30 or more persons had been burned to death in the wreck at Bradford, R.I., were without foundation. Only three were killed, if that many.

WILSON'S LAST WORD.

WASHINGTON, To-day. The communication which he has drafted as the last word of the United States to Germany on the submarine issue, was completed yesterday by President Wilson, and probably will be despatched to Berlin to-day. The document reviews Germany's submarine activities since the Lusitania was sunk, almost a year ago, and makes plain that only an immediate change of German policy can make possible the continuance of friendly relations between the two nations. As the President was putting the finishing touches to the note on which he and Secretary Lansing have been working for nearly a week, official word was received by the State Dept., that the lives of two Americans had been endangered by an attack on the Russian barge Imperator by an Austrian submarine. The American Consul-General at Barcelona, Spain, who sent a report, said the attack was without warning. One American on board was wounded by shrapnel shells fired by the submarine. A full investigation of the incident was ordered at once by the State Department.

ALLEGED BLINDERS OF GOVT.

LONDON, To-day. Yesterday was the day fixed for the Cabinet Council to make a final decision as to whether married men should be conscripted. Attacks on the Government by newspapers, devoted to the cause of conscription, have reached climax of vehemence and all the Government's alleged blunders at Antwerp and in the Dardanelles and Mesopotamia, its alleged mistakes, its delays in connection with munitions and Air Service were reviewed and contrasted with the perfect organization reigning in enemy countries. The Times military correspondent printed an article with an elaborate map, purporting to show the exact dispositions of the enormous forces of German troops massed along the British front in Flanders and France, and drawing conclusions that Britain is still lacking necessary reserves to meet a big attack. These newspapers are openly advocating the overthrow of an inefficient ministry. It is expected that members of Parliament will not lose the opportunity of the approaching election to compel the Government either to conscript married men or resign.

BOAT MISSING.

LONDON, To-day. Seventeen of the crew of the Harrovia have landed, according to Lloyd's. The remainder in another boat are not accounted for.

OFFICIAL.

April 18, 1916. To Governor, St. John's. Verdun fighting was intermittent and very even at points, but the enemy attacks were repulsed. On the British front there was mine and grenade fighting and the position is not materially altered. The Russians gained a small success in Sipinga and repulsed the Turkish attack. The enemy retreating disorderly. British naval airplanes bombed a powder factory at Constantinople and the railway at Adrianople. The British force are further advanced towards Kut, but the operations are impeded by weather.

At the Kirk.

The Rev. Mr. Sutherland delivered an able address on the words to be found in Matt. 21st-5th verse: "Behold thy King cometh unto thee, meek and sitting on an ass." To-day is Palm Sunday, one which recalls to us all, the last Sabbath day on earth of our Lord. We can condense the meaning of these words surrounded by the facts into "a triumphant entry." Matthew, no doubt is convinced that the prophecy as foretold in the Old Testament has really come to pass. He follows our Lord from the house of Simon the Leper at Bethany, to the house of Lazarus, where a Feast is provided to show how thankful the sisters were to welcome him who had done so much for them. Wherever Christ went good always came out of it. We see him prior to this healing the blind, instructing the young man how to attain eternal life, and how to be perfect. The Jews were incensed over these miracles and in every possible way, tried to keep the people from following Christ, ridiculing and pretending not to believe Him. We see the effect when the news of Christ being at Bethany reached Jerusalem; great crowds resorted thither to hear Him and see Lazarus, whose resurrection from the dead caused many to avow their belief in Christ. The fact being known to the chief priests, a council was convened to put Him to death. Thus we see just when good is gaining there is always some one ready to doubt it. Leaving Bethany our Saviour proceeded towards Bethphage, and He was to make ready for His entry into Jerusalem. The voice of ancient prophecy had declared that his king would come to Zion, meek, and sitting on an ass. Proceeding from Bethany to Jerusalem through rich plantations of palm trees, fruit and olive-gardens and was now crowded with pilgrims making their way to the Holy City. Amongst this crowd naturally would be many who had witnessed His great deeds at Galilee and Bethany. Rushing forward they strewed the way with palm trees, others spreading their garments for Him to pass over, shouting with joy, Hosanna to the Son of David. Meanwhile another crowd had come from the Holy City, meeting the crowd from Bethany they too, turned and swelled the procession into Jerusalem. We leave the enthusiasm of the crowds for awhile and try to understand the thoughts of our Lord. All good which prompts one to speak for Him when emerging from the heart, finds favor in His sight. Thus amidst the loud Hosannas the procession swept along till a nearer approach, the whole of the magnificent city, as if rising from an abyss, burst into view. The procession paused and the hour of triumph became the hour of deepest sorrow. In strange contrast with the excited emotions of the crowd around Him, the Holy One wept over the devoted city. Behind Him could be seen the home of His birth; a little nearer the scene of many happy hours spent amongst the sick. Further ahead He foresaw the Roman legions gathered round his father's wall, still further the distance away, where He was to suffer for

MARSHALL BROTHERS.

That's Gratitude.

RUTH CAMERON.

"He who receives a benefit should never forget it; he who bestows it should never remember it."—Charron.

"I should be," persisted the Author's wife. "Think of all they've done for him!"

"AR!" said the Cynic. "And since when has it been easier to be nice to people who've done things for you?"

Easier To Be Nice To People You've Done Things For.

Yes, it should be," conceded the Cynic, "but, as a matter of fact, it's the hardest thing in the world. It's much easier to be nice to people that you've done things for. You enjoy their society because they stand for your credit instead of your debit account. You've bought the right to patronize them, and who wouldn't rather patronize than be patronized?"

Too often gratitude is only "a lively sense of future favors."

Just the other day I heard a woman who has received much from another woman doing her best by insinuation and comparison and faint praise (never a word of open criticism did she speaking, she is too wily for that) to deprecate the other's generosity.

Generosity Is A Heavy Burden.

The burden of generosity is a heavy one to bear. A man who would return a favor if he had the means and the opportunity, lusting them, will come to dislike his benefactor for keeping him in debt.

Sometimes he shows it, as this woman did, again he hides it under a pretence of gratitude down in the depths of his heart where it festers and poisons his character.

Self-love is one of the strongest human instincts and to be kept under an obligation is painful to it. It puts us in the attitude of looking up, and self-love does not like to look up. It wants to put itself on a level with its benefactor and does so not by raising itself by gratitude but by hunting flaws in the character of the benefactor.

Both Have To Walk The Chalk Line.

The only thing harder than to give gracefully is to receive gracefully.

The relationship between benefactor and recipient is difficult to keep sweet and sane. On the benefactor's side there is the danger of being patronizing or exacting, while the recipient must walk the chalk line between sycophancy and ingratitude.

Friendship is safest in an atmosphere of independence. And yet, true friendship should be capable both of receiving and giving.

Because ingratitude is common does not mean it is any more excusable. And because true gratitude is rare does not mean it is any less light and beautiful. On the contrary.

School Boy Burglar Caught Red-Handed.

Shortly after last midnight Constable John Simmons, who is doing night duty this week, captured red-handed a lad who was attempting to break into the provision and grocery store of James C. Baird, on George's Street. The daring and bold perpetrator was none other than a school boy named George England, aged 16 years. He had been seen in that vicinity for some time previously and his movements aroused the suspicion of officer Simmons, who kept scent of him. When the lad who was near Baird's premises, Simmons, who was only a few yards away, lay in ambush and when he saw his own time pounced on the would be thief, who then had forced an entrance to the store, as fiercely as a wild cat. The lad did not appear to be frightened nor did he offer any resistance and was escorted to the Police Station. This morning he was arraigned before Mr. Hutchings, K.C., J.P., charged with the attempted burglary of the store of S. R. Crocker on Sunday night last and stealing a cash box containing $28 and a revolver valued at $10. Accused was not asked to plead and was remanded pending enquiries being made by the police. Constable Simmons, one of our keenest and cleverest local sleuths, is to be congratulated on his capture, and which, we understand, will help to solve some mysterious thefts and lead to quite a few more arrests.

Girls! Have a Mass of Beautiful Hair, Soft, Glossy, Wavy

25-cent bottle destroys dandruff and doubles beauty of your hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what a pleasure you must will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Banquet to Visiting Chairman.

At McGarry's Cafe, last night, the Chairman of the city entertained Mr. Lee Sue Jan, who arrived by express on Saturday last. This very intelligent stranger was born at Canton, China, came to the United States at eighteen, and was educated at Harvard University; and later was in business in Kingston, Ont., Canada. He has also resided in Ottawa, and talks most fluently of matters in those cities. At a complimentary banquet tendered him by his fellow countrymen, after the bountiful supper had been discussed, he addressed them for an hour in the interest of the New Republic. He is thoroughly opposed to Yuan Shai Kai being an Emperor of an absolute monarchy; and as the whole of Canton and South China is now in rebellion against such a course, with earnest words and all the fervour of a man impassioned by his purpose, he appealed for loyalty to the New Republic. After dessert fruit, nuts, etc., a fund was largely subscribed to assist the movement in China. The only guest of honor was Mr. A. W. Martin, who is pleasantly called by them the Chinese Consul in St. John's.

RETURNED HERO VISITS HIS PEOPLE.—Private P. Flynn who went out on the Trepassey train last night to his home, Goulds Road, returned to town this morning.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X Lamp and GASTHEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.

Hr. Grace Notes

The schr. Maggie U. of Carbonear is now on dock undergoing repairs.

Mr. Albert Spencer, late of the Hr. Grace Boot & Shoe Factory, has accepted a position in a St. John's factory, and left for the scene of his labors on Wednesday.

Mr. S. E. Garland, the popular bookseller and stationer of St. John's, was in town on Saturday, on a short business trip.

Yesterday was one of the most disagreeable days for the winter, owing to the high wind and snow and rain of the previous night. The churches were consequently very poorly attended.

Master Grant Titford, of the Telegraph Office, is still very sick, but all his friends are hoping for a change for the better soon.

The s.s. Euphrates arrived from Bell Island on Saturday evening with men. Owing to the storm raging it was found advisable not to return at the usual hour yesterday, but she sailed at 3 a.m. to-day, bringing the men back to their work.

Mr. E. Simmons' schr. Studland, is loading lumber at the premises of the Horwood Lumber Co., and will proceed to Old Perlican in a few days to discharge.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Terence Kennedy took place yesterday afternoon when the remains of this well known lady were laid to rest in the R. C. Cemetery on the hillside. —COR.

Exhibition of Colls and Calves.

Mr. Harold Macpherson has arranged for an exhibition of colls and calves with the idea of promoting interest in stock raising. The show will take place on Empire Day, May 24th, on the Parade Ground. Only animals bred by Statesman and Covenant will be allowed to compete, both these animals were imported a few years ago especially for breeding purposes. The prizes offered by the owners of Westernland Farm will be $100 and $50 for two year and yearling colls, respectively, and $20 and $10 for calves. The exhibition will, no doubt, prove a splendid success, as there are some beautiful animals to be shown.

LADY DAVIDSON IN ENGLAND.—His Excellency the Governor received word last night in the form of a cable advising him of the safe arrival of Lady Davidson and her fellow voyagers to England. Wealthy Newfoundland Young Woman

Who is Going Abroad as a Nurse.
New York, April 12.—"For the honor of my family the least that I can do is to go abroad to act as a Nurse. I have no brothers and my sisters are too young to do anything to help others. My parents are dead, why should I not do share in the great work?"

So spoke Miss Elsie Doyle, who arrived here yesterday aboard the steamship Stephen, of the Red Cross Line from Newfoundland.

Miss Doyle is said to be one of the wealthiest young women of Newfoundland. She is a niece of the late Hon. John Harris, President of the Legislative Council of Newfoundland.

She is going to London to report at the Queen Alexandra's Imperial Hospital Service, and believes she will be assigned to duty on the firing line in France.

"At least, that is what I hope will be allotted to me," she said.

How to Grow Hair.

The French are now placing on the market a preparation containing the extract from Henna leaves, which is having a phenomenal sale.

This preparation is called Salsia and is being sold with a guarantee to cure dandruff and to grow hair in abundance. Being daintily perfumed, Salsia makes a most pleasant dressing. Sold by your druggist. A large generous bottle for 50 cents.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Should I always see the mother of my friend when leaving after a call?" asked John.

"Having been entertained in the home of a friend, do not leave the house without meeting the mother of your hostess and expressing appreciation of the hospitality," said his sister.

Here and There.

BANQUETS WOUNDED SOLDIERS.—Banquets are being given to-night by various societies in honour of their fellow members and soldiers who were invalided home yesterday.

FIGHTING THE FLAMES.—At the big fire that destroyed Newton Park School, Ayr, our boys played a prominent part in fighting the flames. While saving the books and records of the regiment from the orderly room Corporal Oscar Vaughan was struck by a falling slate inflicting a deep gash in his arm. The slate missed his head by a few inches. Several others received slight burns, but not of a serious nature.

OVER THE ALLOTTED SPAN.—Mrs. Freeman, mother of Mr. T. J. Freeman, Water Street, who has reached the ripe old age of 88, is seriously ill at her home. Mrs. Freeman's maiden name was Grant. She was born in Piacenza. She comes from one of the longest lived families in the country. Her father lived to be 95, her grandfather, 102, an uncle, 97, and a long line of relatives reaching ages of 70 to 90 years. Mrs. Freeman met with an accident five years ago, breaking her hip. Every hope is held out for her recovery.
