A CARD FROM

The American Watch Company, OF WALTHAM, MASS.

THIS Company beg leave to inform the citizens of the new dominion of Canada, that they have made arrangements to introduce their celebrated Watches to their notice. They are prepared to prove that their watches are made upon a better system than others in the world. They commenced operations in 1850, and their factory now covers four acres of ground, and has cost more than a million dollars, and employs over 700 operatives. They produce 75,000 Watches a year, and make and sell not less than half of all the watches sold in the United States. Up to the present time, it has been impossible for them to do more than supply the constantly increasing home demand; but recent additions to their works have enabled them to turn their attention to other markets.

The difference between their manufacture and the European, is briefly this: European Watches are made almost entirely by hand. In them, all those mysterious and infinitesimal organs when put together create the watch, are the result of slow and toilsome MANUAL processes, and the result is of necessity a lack of uniformity, which is indispensable to correct time-keeping. Both the eye and the hand of the most skillful operative must vary. But it is a fact that, except watches of the higher grades, most European watches are the product of the cheapest labor of Switzerland, and the result is the worthless Ancres, Lepins and so-called Patent Levers—which soon cost more in attempted repairs, than their original price. Common workmen, boys and women, buy the rough separate parts of these watches from various factories, polish and put them together, and take them to the nearest watch merchant. He stamps and engraves them with any name or brand that may be ordered—whether London, Paris, Geneva or what not; and many a man who thinks he has a genuine "M. I. Tobias, of Liverpool," (whose only fault is, that he can never regulate it to keep very good time), is really carrying a cheap and poor Swiss imitation.

How American Watches are Made.
The American Waltham Watch is made by no such uncertain process—and by no such incompetent workmen. All their operations, from the reception of the raw materials—the brass, the steel, the silver, the gold and the precious stones—to the final completion of the Watch, are carried on under one roof, and under one skillful and competent direction. But the great distinguishing feature of their Watches, is the fact that their several parts are all made by the finest, the most perfect and delicate machinery ever brought to the aid of human industry. Every one of the more than a hundred parts of every watch is made by a machine—that infallibly reproduces every succeeding part with the most unvarying accuracy. It was only necessary to make one perfect watch of any particular style and then to adjust the the hundred machines necessary to reproduce every part of that watch, and it follows that every succeeding watch must be like it. If any part of any American Waltham Watch should be lost or injured, the owner has only to address the Company, stating the number of his watch and the part wanted, whether it be spring, pinion, jewel, or what not, and by return mail he would receive the desired article, which any watchmaker would adjust to its position. The Company respectfully submit their watches on their merit only. They have fully succeeded in overcoming popular prejudice in the States in favor of European watches, and solicit a thorough examination and fair trial for their manufactures elsewhere. They claim to make

A Better Article for the Money
by their improved mechanical processes than can be made under the old-fashioned handicraft system. They manufacture watches of every grade, from a good, low-priced, and substantial article, in solid silver hunting cases, especially adapted to the wants of the farmer and lumberman, to the finest chronometer for the navigator; and also ladies' watches in plain gold or the inset enameled and jeweled cases, but the indispensable requisite of all their watches is that they shall be good Timekeepers. It should be remembered that, except their single lowest grade named "Home Watch Company, Boston," all watches made by them

Are Fully Warranted by a special certificate given to the purchaser of every watch by the seller, and this warranty is good at all times against the Company or its agents.

SATURDAY EVENING, AUGUST 10.

General News.

Mr. Youmans is most successful with his music classes in London.

The Fergus Record is urging upon the people of that village the propriety of putting up a Market House.

The Paris correspondent of the London Herald states that Napoleon I. forming three corps d'armee of 100,000 men each, and making preparations which point to an active campaign.

The Kingston Daily News (Conservative) in an able article, says that "the Confederated union is in danger, but the truth is the danger is from extravagance and corruption."

A farmer in Wisconsin has been poisoned by picking and eating strawberries after killing potato bugs with his fingers. An awful warning to people who don't wash their hands.

The Catholic priest at Northampton, Mass., Rev. Patrick V. Moyce, has sent a petition to the Pope, asking the privilege to use the Protestant version of the Bible in his church.

The Kentucky State election took place on the 5th inst., and resulted in a Democratic majority of 59,000. On the other hand the Radicals have carried Tennessee, electing Governor Brownlow by large majorities.

A telegram from Hadersley, in North Schleswig, has announced that 1,000 families in that district have had notice from the Prussian authorities to quit their homes within eight days, for refusing allegiance to the new order of things.

The jury upon the late accident at Thorndale, on the Grand Trunk Railway, returned the following verdict:—"That the conductor of the wood train carelessly ran into the passenger train." Warrants have been issued for the apprehension of the conductor and engine-driver.

The Princess of Wales leaves England in the second week in August. Her Royal Highness will proceed on board one of the royal yachts to Rotterdam, whence she will pursue her journey up the Rhine, on her way to the waters recommended to her.

Englishmen still drink beer! The annual return show that 37,776 persons in the United Kingdom pay licenses as brewers. Nearly 100,000 persons were licensed to sell beer as victuallers. Upwards of 50,000,000 bushels of malt were used in the manufacture.

The enterprising and indefatigable Scotch residents in the English metropolis, have started a new journal for themselves, styled the London Scotsman. The new journal purports to be a "repository of Scotch news and Scotch interests as they ramify all over the world."

The Anherst, N. B., Gazette states that Mr. Sandford Fleming is in Cumberland by direction of the General Government, for the purpose of locating the line of the Intercolonial Railway from the New Brunswick border to Truro.

On Tuesday afternoon last, the barn of Mr. Alex. Stewart, Garafraux, was struck by lightning and the hay set on fire. By the determined and heroic efforts of Mr. Stewart, junr., and sisters, the burning hay was soon extinguished.

The monitor Ontonago recently purchased from the United States by the French Government, had to be towed back to New York on Friday, having broken down on her passage to France like her consort the Dunderberg.

The Fenians at Chicago, on Thursday, had an immense mass meeting in honor of the Union of the I. R. B. of Ireland and the F. B. of America. There was a torch-light procession, and it is said that fully 10,000 people attended the mass meeting which was held at the Court House Square, in the Centre of Chicago. Resolutions were passed calling upon the United States Government to interfere for the liberation of the Fenian prisoners in Canada and Ireland.

Mormonism in England is rapidly collapsing. In Liverpool, where, in 1861, there was a church of 1000 persons, there are now not 20 members. And so it is all through the country. Poverty has settled upon them all. The President of a Conference was once maintained in fine style. But now he is scarcely able to maintain himself. The "Saints" possessed of the means have emigrated to Salt Lake, and no new recruits are being obtained. "There are hundreds of unmarried sisters," writes the apostle, "waiting for the day of their deliverance, and looking to the mountains for help."

Local News.

CRICKET.—A match was played on Friday between the junior Cricket Club of Guelph, and the juniors of Fergus. The latter had two innings; the former only one, yet Guelph beat by 41 runs.

The Foundry of the Messrs. Bricker, of Waterloo, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night together with the greater part of its contents. It was insured for 1000 in the Gore Mutual.

The Galt Reporter says that the wheat crop in that part of the country is much superior to what was anticipated; and it is believed that it has suffered but little from the midge.

SCHOOL OPENING.—The schools in town will open on Monday next—vacation having expired. It is desirable that scholars should not consider it necessary to prolong the time of relaxation.

MR. WARNER'S STORE.—We would direct notice to Mr. Warner's advertisement of his store at Rockwood. He has enlarged his establishment, got a full supply of groceries and hardware, and we are sure that he will be found a most agreeable and upright man with whom to do business.

LUNACY.—Yesterday (Friday) a man named Richard Ward, a resident of Garafraux, was brought to Guelph showing a very violent mania. The cause of the malady is supposed to have been religious excitement. Application has been made for his admission to the Asylum in Toronto.

Mr D. Ormiston has resigned his situation as head master of the Berlin Grammar School, and goes to Cobourg to teach in the Grammar School of the preparatory department of Victoria University. We congratulate Mr Ormiston on his appointment.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—At the inquest, which was held by Dr. Orton on the body of the boy, John Yeats, on Friday, no facts of importance were elicited from any of the witnesses beyond those we have already given in our narration of the accident. The evidence of Dr. Clarke, however, might be interesting, showing the exact extent of the injuries sustained by the unfortunate young man. Dr. Clarke being sworn said:—"I was called to see John Yeats; I found his body in Present's mill; the front bone and ribs were broken into pieces; the heart was lacerated and protruded externally; the lungs were also torn; the bowels were pushed out of the abdomen, and the left arm was frightfully lacerated. All these injuries were likely to be produced by the body being caught in the cogs of the wheel, and were sufficient to cause death. The jury returned a verdict of 'Accidental death,' and as the same time Mr. Present was cautioned against allowing the boys to go bathing by a way in which there was so much danger."

GUELPH EVENING MERCURY.—Guelph now boasts of two daily papers—each of which is a great deal better than the other—in the opinion of their respective friends and supporters. On the 20th ult. the publishers of the Mercury issued the first number of a daily evening edition of that paper, since which time it has made its appearance as regularly as clockwork, to the delight of its friends and the savage chagrin of its coalition-loving opponents. It is a handsomely printed 24 column sheet, of the anti-coalition persuasion, and in point of literary ability will compare favorably with its more pretentious city contemporaries of larger dimensions. Notwithstanding it made its bow to the public quite unexpectedly, it became a general favorite unexpectedly, and is meeting with liberal support from the business men of the town and vicinity. Newsboys are to be seen in every direction urging the sale of the rival papers upon all who come within reach of their voices; and meet with liberal patronage. The success of the new candidate has, so far, fully realized the most sanguine expectations of its publishers. It is intended as a permanent institution (not as a campaign sheet, as many supposed) and judging from present appearances, is likely to enjoy a long and prosperous career. So note it be.—Guelph cor. of Berlin Telegraph.

Base Ball Match in Hamilton.
The Maple Leaf Club of Hamilton, have got a tremendous thrashing in the game they profess to play so well. They have entered for a first prize in the Detroit tournament, but have had it pretty clearly demonstrated to them, that there was no necessity for their going so far to be beaten. The game was between them and their namesakes of Guelph, and was played on Thursday last. It should have commenced at noon, but was kept back some way or other until one o'clock; the consequence was, that as the Guelph boys had to leave at a few minutes past six, only seven innings were played, but in these they distanced their opponents so far, that the latter had not the shadow of a chance of success. The following is the score.

OUT AGAIN.—The Mount Forest Examiner says it is reported that Geo. Jackson, Esq., has signified his intention of again becoming a candidate for the representation of South Grey. Another paper says that exertions are being made to induce Mr. Jackson to come out again, on conditions that the expenses incurred in his election be borne by his friends. His attempts to find some outsider to undertake the hopeless task of contesting the Riding with Mr. Dalglissh, has proved a failure.

Police Court.

Mrs. Lappen appeared before his Worship this morning to answer a charge of being drunk and disorderly, last night, on Essex street. She had raised an awful row, and intruding on the premises of a neighbor, she got a severe thrashing. She had cursed and sworn with a vehemence that would rather have been expected from the proverbial "trooper" than from a lady advanced in years, and still experiencing the effects of crystal. Her yells and curses had created a great deal of excitement on the street, and finally she was arrested while she was in the act of "bating" Mr. Lappen. The affectionate couple perform this conjugal duty by turns. Mrs. Lappen gets drunk and wallops Mr. Lappen, and anon Mr. Lappen gets drunk and returns the kindness. Thus the melancholy of monotony is prevented. Being a little above the common class of offenders, the old lady refused to walk to the lock-up; she was therefore brought in a carriage—that is to say, a superannuated wheelbarrow was brought into requisition, and in it the drunken but by no means passive form of Mrs. Lappen was laid, with due attention to her bodily comfort. One man played horse, while two others held her in the vehicle, and in this manner, amid much applause, she was conveyed to the mansion prepared for her, and "the likes o' her." She was slightly nervous when she appeared in court this morning, and excessively thirsty. One of the constables humely got her a draught of what is an old peasant once called agua fontis.

His Worship—"Guilty or not guilty, Mrs. Lappen?"
Mrs. Lappen—"I was the worse of wine, your Honor, but I never got drunk on bad whiskey."
His Worship—"It does not matter about the kind of liquor used."
Mrs. Lappen—"And was it any wonder that I was in such a state? Would you look, if you please, at the jaw that Simon Fitznoodle left me, and that's the fifth time he's done that same, since I have been in that house."

A witness was examined, who testified to the fact of Mrs. Lappen's disorderly conduct, and she was fined $10 and costs. What touched her pocket so heavily touched her heart, and she wept as she went to fetch the money.

How the Work Goes on.

At the Reform committee meeting, held at Lindsay's Hotel last night, the most cheering reports were received from every Ward in town. In Guelph Township and Puslinch also the canvass is being prosecuted with the greatest energy and success. There never was the slightest doubt about securing a Reform victory, nevertheless our friends should not relax in their efforts to swell the majorities for the Reform candidates, and show their opponents how utterly futile it is for them to congregate on South Wellington two such extreme Conservatives as Messrs. Stone and Leslie.

A meeting of the Committee will be held at the Wellington Hotel on Tuesday night. We hope every member will make a point of attending.

The Crops.

For a number of years past, invariably as harvest approached we were told most appalling tales concerning the ravages that some of the insect tribe were making with the staple agricultural productions of Canada. Had they all been true, to the extent stated, long ere this man and beast in the country must have perished by famine. There is no doubt that there was some foundation for the assertions made, but the prospective evils were always exaggerated by gloomy imaginations. Again this year almost as soon as the wheat was in the head we were assured with all proper solemnity, and every expression of sorrow for the dire calamity which was coming upon us, that the crops were going to be literally devoured. It so turns out, however, that the evil has not been so immense as was anticipated, for the Fall wheat has been put into the barns, having suffered comparatively little from midge, rust, or any other cause—in short a heavier crop than usual, and damaged much less. Spring wheat does not cover the ground so thickly as it did last season; there will consequently be a deficiency in straw, (for which the unusual abundance of hay will make amends) but almost every person knows that when the spring wheat was thrashed last winter that the expectations of farmers were very much disappointed, as the crop promised far more yield than it gave. This is not likely to be the case this year; the head is well filled and the grain of good size, so that there will probably be as much of this grain to take to market next winter as there was last. A great deal of the barley throughout the country has been cut, and promises fair to reward amply the toil of the farmer. Peas are also heavy, oats not so much so. In fact so far as the prosperity of Canada is contingent on the products of the soil—and that is to a very large extent—there is every prospect that her fortune will not be reversed, at least for a season. In this locality the crops are such as should prove satisfactory to any reasonable man, but away to the north and west they have been still more highly favoured. General and seasonable rains were the means of producing greater abundance. And here we might mention that on Tuesday night last, in Eggn, an uncommon heavy thunder shower threw down the grain, and cut up the roads considerably; but it is possible that before the crops ripen, its effects upon them will not be noticed. Potatoes look well, and turnips, particularly in this locality, although retarded in their growth by early droughts, have become fresh and vigorous in consequence of the recent rains, and will be excellent.

South Wellington.

The Globe of to-day says:—"Mr. F. W. Stone, who is at present in England, has been nominated as a candidate for the House of Commons in this constituency, and Mr. Wm. Leslie, of Puslinch, for the Legislature of Ontario, in opposition to Messrs. Stirton and Gow. Mr. Stone, it is thought probable, will not accept the nomination on his return home; but in the meantime he has been started by his party. Mr. Leslie has undertaken to lead the forlorn hope in the meantime. Both are extreme Conservatives, and furnish the most honest ticket that has been started in the West for some time. There is not even the pretence of Reform about them, and they will march under their own colours to certain defeat."

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAM

Special Despatches to the Evening Mercury.

From Mexico.

New Orleans, Aug. 9.—The mailer from Cadiz arrived to-day at H. bringing the new Postmaster General. The Diaro of the 4th says that the government has been a party to discriminate shooting of prisoners in favour of the Liberals, and calls for a re-organization of the European governments in America, in order to cause their rights to be respected throughout the continent. Santa Anna had been brought to Vera Cruz by a Mexican man-of-war, and was to be tried for conspiracy against the government. A reward of ten thousand dollars has been offered for the arrest of Marquez. Everything was quiet at the capital. The trouble from the Indians continues.

From Baltimore.

Baltimore, Aug. 9.—A Democratic session was fired into last night by a mob of men. Two persons seriously injured.

From Louisville.

Louisville, Aug. 9.—Advices from the River parishes of Louisiana and the counties of Mississippi, in reference to cotton crop, are quite unfavorable.

From Mobile.

Mobile, Aug. 9th.—Fourteen men were appointed on the police force by the Mayor. One of them was Lieutenant of the day police.

Cable News OF TO-DAY.

From London.

LONDON, August 9.—The government will immediately despatch a large force of troops to Canada to repel a threatened Fenian invasion from the United States. In the House of Lords last evening a bill to abolish the church rates was rejected by a large majority. Despatches have been received which announce the death of Sophie Amelia, daughter of Maximilian of Bavaria, and ex-Queen of the Netherlands. A terrible railroad casualty occurred Bray Head, Wicklow Co., Ireland, to-day. The express from Dublin, for Wicklow, when at the above-named locality, crossed the track, and eight passengers were precipitated into the sea. The road at that point runs along the top of a high bluff. The loss of life was frightful; only one man out of the train, a man named Morris, escaped. Thirty persons were killed on the spot.

LONDON, August 9.—In the House of Lords this evening, the government admitted the new postal treaty between the United States for reducing the postage between the two countries. In the House of Commons, in answer to an inquiry, the foreign secretary, said that Mr. Bayne, the British minister in Washington, had been ordered to investigate the matter of the death of Capt. Speer, by a United States Right Hon. Gayther, home secretary, in the House of Commons this evening in reply to a question, he said that the Fenian prisoners had better than any of the other prisoners. The Reform bill having been introduced from the Commons, a motion was made to-night in the House of Lords, to consider its action upon the day amendment. After some delay a consideration of the subject was fixed for 12th inst.

From Paris.

PARIS, August 9.—Despatches have been received here which confirm previous announcements of the death of three provinces of Cochinchina and French Forces.

Hon. Mr. Macdougall in Session.

"Hon. Mr. Macdougall addressed an influential meeting of the elite of Lambton at Sarnia, last evening, enthusiastically received. His was a powerful one, and won over doubting ones to the Union cause. Sandie probably wishes by this to hadn't played political missions to the extent he has done. Mr. Vidal will him perspire before the election over."

The above we find in the London Telegraph of Wednesday,—but why was printed the evening before must have been written and prepared for the meeting took place, or events before they knew any London as to the result. But we note, it is entirely erroneous in fact. Mr. Macdougall's speech, doubt, was a powerful one in the Tories, but as to its "winning many doubting ones" to the Union, this is the merest boast! On Tuesday two to one in favor of Mr. Macdougall, and he was far more enthusiastically received than the gentleman, Protonotary, until quite recently, scribble by no other epithet than "Protonotary" Macdougall. The Macdougall again and again his assumptions, and anxious giving the Ministry a Protonotary and racy, and he was down the house in the morning, and when Mr. Macdougall, he was greeted with cheering as much as the perambulating Minister to some other localities, and get endorsement of the Tories. And instead of Mr. Macdougall's success will be some one else's, somebody's success will be somebody's success. Give unmitigated success. Oversee.

Terry suffered himself to be led in, and with a heavy heart Barney Magee proceeded on his way.

Next morning, as Michael and Terry sat on each side of the fire, bewailing their deep misfortune, the door opened, and Jacob O'Brady appeared on the threshold.

"The top o' the mornin' to ye both," said the factor, as his sinister eye glanced round the well-furnished room. The sneer on his lip gave the lie to the tone of the salutation, and a half-suppressed smile of triumph lurked on his ill-favoured countenance.

"What's yer business here, Mister O'Brady," said Terry, in a fierce tone, his face flushing up to an angry red, and his usually merry eyes glancing with indignation.

"Bless us," cried the factor, with affected astonishment, "is that the manners ye've learned in foreign parts to insult a gentleman when he comes to your father's house on a little business?"

"And he jabbers it's not your fault at all, at all, that my father has a house for ye to come to," said Terry, bitterly.

"Ye're mighty changed since I saw ye the other day," remarked O'Brady. "Ye were in a free and easy mode then, but this morning one does not know how to spake to ye."

"Nobody shall spake to me any but words of civility," cried Terry. "And as I know, Mr. O'Brady, that such a thing is not to be looked for from the likes o' you, I would rather that ye would yer business and tuk' yerself off."

"Do ye now? Well, I don't mind though I do come to the point. The sooner the better. After hearing from your own lips the other day that you had grown rich, I thought as how you might like to pay the debt which your father owes me, and has done for many a year. Says I to myself, Terry Cushaleen has the honest spirit in him, and he'll not see any one come to loss by his father, when he is able to clear off the ould score himself. So I've just come down this morning with the account, and—"

"My father owin' you, ye cheatin' blackguard," roared Terry starting up.

"And well ye know that ye ruined him, robbed him of his all, and turned him into a mud cabin. And yet ye have face to come here and say that he owes you."

"Thirty five pounds seven and ninepence," said O'Brady in a cool, unmoved tone. "That's not worth higgling about to a man that has just come from the diggings with four thousand pounds worth of gold dust."

"And as Jacob O'Brady said this, there was a sneering smile added to the ironical tone.

"If I had ten times the sum you say, you should not finger a farthing of it; but of course ye've heard that I've lost my boxes, and that's why you've come—to have a bit of triumph over my misfortune. But though I've lost my gold, Mister O'Brady, I haven't lost my fists, and if you don't take through the door immediately ye'll find yourself sprawling on the floor."

The factor retreated a step or two and cried 'Larry,' when immediately in stepped a tuncationary of the law, whom Michael and Terry knew only too well, for he had officiated at their ejection from Mountjoy.

"It is likely you are to be wanted here Larry," said O'Brady. "This young blade wouldn't care to show off some of his Californian airs."

"He'd better be quiet and civil if he doesn't want to make the acquaintance of the inside of our Cork jail," said Larry knitting his heavy brows and looking awful.

"Och, that's the way of it, is it?" said Terry, in a tone of disgust. "Well the sooner he and you get out of here the better for us three, for I'll not be after standing any nonsense."

"Sure and it's no nonsense that brought us," observed Larry.

"I should think not," chimed in O'Brady; "I only want what ould Michael owes me, and if I get it I'll walk out this blessed minute."

"Then you'll not get it," roared Terry.

"Och, then, it's not about the same thing, for I'll take it," said the factor carelessly.

"Take it," repeated Terry, "ye'll be mighty clever if you do that."

"I'll try. Do you think I'll make the sum out of that purty furniture, Larry?"

"Och, murder," groaned Michael. "Another turn-out. We must go back to the ould cabin, but ye can't take the furniture, Mister O'Brady, for sure it's not mine—it's Terry's."

"No it isn't," quickly rejoined O'Brady.

"Terry bought it in your name, and the receipts were given in your name, and if you don't mean to pay, Larry will take an inventory."

"It's no use holding out, father," said Terry, in a tone of sad yet fierce bitterness. "He means to ruin us again, and he has got the law to help him."

"Maybe ye should have minded that I had the power to do so, when you boasted and bragged and insulted me the other day. I thought you would have known by this time that I don't suffer anyone to insult me with impunity."

"I know you for the greatest blackguard in Ireland," said Terry.

"You hear that, Larry?" said the factor. "Don't forget that you heard him say so, and now you begin the inventory—there's a purty mahogany table to start off with."

"Stay, cried an authoritative voice, and Hargrave stepped into the midst of them from the adjoining room. He paused for a moment, and bent on O'Brady a look of stern indignation.

POETRY.
WISHING AND WAITING.
A maiden stood in her little room,
As she braided her silken hair,
And seldom has mirror in coat or hall
Reflected a form so fair.
But how often, alas! does the face belie
The state of the hidden heart;
Her bosom heaved with a deep-drawn sigh,
And she cried, while the tears did start—
"O! this wishing and waiting is weary work;
And will he never come,
Who promised to make me his own dear wife,
And the pride of his future home?"

An anxious wife at her window sat,
And her cheeks turned deadly pale,
When she heard the shout of the storm without,
And the shriek of the angry gale,
As it dashed the wild breakers upon the coast
With a hollow booming roar;
With a hallow booming roar:
And she prayed that the husband of her heart
Might safely reach the shore.
"O! this wishing and waiting is weary work,"
She cried, with a quivering lip,
"May he who can silence the rudest blast
Keep watch o'er you storm-tossed ship."

An old man sat by a dying fire,
With a Bible in his hand,
And with eager gaze he scanned the page
Which told of the 'better land';
And his face with an holy rapture glowed,
As the kindly words he read,
That safe on the Saviour's loving breast
There is rest for the weary head.
"O! this wishing and waiting is weary work;
But the time will shortly come,
When, far from the troubles and cares of earth,
My father shall call me home."

Clap-Trap.
This is what the Sarnia Observer calls the cry of "Disunion" with which the Tories idiotically think to bring opprobrium on Reformers. The howl is re-echoed from Sarnia to Gaspe, with no other effect that we can discover, than to prove that the originators of it are lunatics. The paper to which we have referred speaks of it in the following terms.

The Tories of Lambton are not behind their compatriots in other counties in the art of "dodging." Comparatively few of them have the manliness to avow themselves Tories! especially at election times, when the game of securing a portion of the Reform vote for their candidate has to be played, in order to give them the slightest chance of success. Then they call themselves "Liberal Conservatives," "Moderate Reformers," "Union men," or some other captivating title, under which they seek to hide the dirty mass of pure Toryism. The game they have in this way tried to play in the past, they have again had recourse to at the present election. They dub themselves "Union Reformers"; the object being to mislead the simple by the inference that the true, genuine Reformers of the country are opposed to the Union or Confederation of the Provinces. This is the most unfounded charge; one for which there is not the slightest ground whatever. To the exertion of the Reform party we are in a very large degree indebted for the accomplishment of Confederation. Even Mr. Macdougall himself, bitterly opposed as he is to Mr. Brown, had to admit, that to him and his followers the success of the scheme was largely due. It is, then not only the most absurd, but the most dishonest charge which could be made against the Reform party, that they are opposed to the successful carrying out of the Confederation Act. The truth is, that if any portion of the public men of the country are opposed to the maintenance of the new Dominion, on the basis on which it is now established, it is some of those, with their followers, who are making such a determined effort to maintain themselves in the position they have assumed on their own responsibilities, and altogether irrespective of the public opinion of the people of the Dominion. It is well known that several of those who now claim to lead in the affairs of the Dominion were open and avowed opponents of the measure throughout; and do not scruple, even now, to predict that it will be of short duration. Such is neither the desire nor the hope of the Reform party. It costs them a long and an arduous struggle to secure the control of their own local affairs, and a voice in the direction of the affairs of the Dominion, to which, in proportion of their numbers, and their contributions to the revenue of the country, they were justly entitled; and having obtained these long-sought-for, and hardly-earned concessions, nothing but sheer madness could or would tempt them to abandon them.

Dr. Ryerson's Epistle.
The Barrie Examiner thus speaks of Dr. Ryerson's latest epistle in favour of the coalition government.

"Old 'Leonidas,' of the 'twenty pages of calm reasoning, in the time of Sir Charles Metcalfe, is out with a pamphlet in defence of the General Government and the Local Government, of Ontario. Without saying anything of the ability the worn out politico-religious hack exhibits in his political brochure, it may be set down as the emanation of a driveller, for Dr. Ryerson can be little more now. He won his spurs by a political display in 1846, and has ever since enjoyed a good fat berth, but can hardly, as he says, after half a century of public life, expect any pecuniary reward. That he enters the political arena once more, solely through a desire of benefiting his countrymen, he does not hesitate to declare; and possibly his assertion is worthy of credit, and we must, of a consequence, put down the grave error he has committed, to his over-weening vanity and a desire of keeping his name before the public. People generally can appreciate the value of Confederation without the assistance of the chief Superintendent of Education, and it would have been well if he kept quiet until the elections were over. The reverend gentleman's labored style will hardly have the effect of convincing the public that they err in having minds of their own, and venture to exercise them as they see fit."

The visit of the Empress of the French to England has given rise to very much speculation. Some will have it that Eugenie has gone to express her sympathy with the Queen on account of the execution of her cousin, Maximilian, whilst others say that political reasons have suggested the propriety of her visit, as it will be evidence of an alliance between France and England against the United power of Russia and Prussia.

We find by a comparison of the merchant fleets of all nations that Great Britain and her colonies stand first, with nearly eight million tons, the United States next, with something over four millions, North German States, one million three hundred and fifty thousand tons, France 985,000 tons, Italy 668,000, Netherlands 510,000, Spain 276,000, Austria 233,000, Sweden 276,000, Denmark 140,000.

SOUTH RIDING OF WELLINGTON.
To the Electors of the South Riding of Wellington:
GENTLEMEN,
I am a candidate for the representation of South Wellington in the House of Commons. I have become so at the request of a Convention of Reform Delegates, lately held in the Town of Guelph, and also at the request of many of my political friends throughout the Riding, who, while approving of my public career in the past, have been kind enough to express a willingness to still further extend the confidence reposed in me at the three last general elections.

I regard the new Constitution, so graciously conferred to us by Her Majesty and the British Parliament, as the means by which the British North American Colonies will become firmly bound together, and our connection with the British Empire established upon a firm and lasting basis, and if elected as your representative, I shall endeavor to carry out the duties of a heavy and loyal support to the provisions of that Act.

On entering upon our new state of political existence, many important questions will of necessity engage the attention of our first Parliament, and much will depend upon the ability and integrity of the gentlemen composing it. A good and economical government is what the country most requires. Honesty of purpose, intelligence and ability are among the qualities necessary in the gentlemen at the head of our affairs, and to sustain the confidence reposed in them. I am convinced that they are honestly working for the welfare of the Confederation—I will tender a generous support, but I will oppose any Government, or any set of men, who will attempt to barter the best interests of the country for the sake of place and power, or who will make their public duty subservient to their own personal aggrandizement.

I am in principle opposed to the form of government styled "a Coalition." I believe that the general tendency of such arrangements leads to the alienation or abandonment of principle, the lowering of public morality, lavish public expenditure and general corruption in the management of our public affairs. But while holding those views in all sincerity, I am decidedly opposed to the introduction of anything like a fictitious opposition such as has too often in the past characterized our political history.

The events of the past eighteen months must have convinced you that the present more efficient system of defence is absolutely necessary for the better protection of the country. I believe the Volunteer system of service to be most in accordance with the genius of our people and best adapted to the wants of our country. But the Volunteer system to be kept efficient must be encouraged and supported. Officers and men serving for a number of years do so at much personal sacrifice, and have to be ready at a moment's notice to leave their homes and their business at a call of duty. Therefore, we have men amongst us who are thus ready and willing to make such sacrifices for our protection, we should not hesitate to accord to them in return encouragement of the most generous character. If elected I will do all in my power to foster and encourage our Volunteer Militia system so far as it is compatible with the practice of the Law in this country. I am also in favour of some general scheme which will have for its object the encouragement of rifle practice amongst the young men of our country.

I am in favor of a renewal of reciprocal free-trade with the United States of America, such as will be of mutual advantage, and consistent with the honour of both countries.

A general revision and equalization of our Tariff will become necessary under our new Constitution. If elected I will endeavour to secure a measure based upon equitable principles to all interests and sections of the Dominion.

I am in favor of a lower and uniform rate of postage upon letters, the total abolition of postage on newspapers, and I am also in favor of the passing of some measure which will be the means of reducing the exorbitant charges now made for the transmission of messages by telegraph.

The Currency question will doubtless engage the early attention of the Legislature. I am in favor of a uniform currency throughout the Dominion, and I will support any well-digested measure for the removal of the Silver Assurance which we at present labour under.

I am opposed to the re-enactment of the Usury Laws.

Such gentlemen, as a brief outline of the views which I hold on the public questions of the day, and also of the course which I am resolved to pursue, should you again confer upon me the honour of being your representative. It is, therefore, for you to say whether you approve of my principles and can trust in my integrity. To judge of a man's character it is necessary to examine his past life—his record in his actions, and from these draw your conclusions. I have been a resident in the Riding for nearly forty years, and for half of that period a servant of the public, and to that public I now appeal whether I have ever neglected my duty, or attempted to advance my own interests at the expense of the community.

I am, gentlemen,
Your most obedient servant,
D. STIRTON.

DOCTOR DAVIS,

Physician and Surgeon.
OFFICE—Merrick-st.
between the Methodist Church and the Royal Hotel, UP STAIRS, directly opposite the Market. Entrance on Merrick Street.
Can be consulted at all hours day and evening, on all Chronic Diseases, Diseases of Women and Children, Midwifery, &c., &c., together with those of a private nature. He has devoted over thirty years to the treatment of the above named diseases, and the success so far has been invariably a brilliant one, may be seen from the numerous testimonials in his possession.
Private Diseases.
It is well known that this branch of the medical profession has been much neglected, from the fact that it is most represented by quacks, who invariably profess to use an assumed name. Dr. D. has devoted much of his time to the various forms of this disease, and by his improved remedies the most stubborn cases have been cured in from four to ten days. The many ill's arising from Secret Habits in both Sexes permanently eradicated.
No Mercury Used.
Patients at a distance can be treated by corresponding with the Doctor, stating the symptoms of the disease, age, length of time afflicted, &c., and receive his celebrated remedies by express, or as otherwise directed, securely packed under observation. A reasonable remittance on all such applications will be required.
Dr Davis' Celebrated Female PILLS.
For irregularities, Suppression of the Menses, Leucorrhoea or Whites, and all female difficulties, have been before the public for the last ten years, and are universally admitted to be the best remedy for which they are recommended of any now in use. Thousands have used them without single instance of their failing to have the desired effect. Printed directions accompany each box. Sent by mail to any part of the country on receipt of one dollar.
The doctor can be consulted at all times with the utmost secrecy, as his office is so arranged that it is impossible to see each other, unless by consent. No charge for advice when obtained by correspondence, each box sent by Dr. Davis, M. D., Hamilton, and to contain a postage stamp when an answer is required.

Business College and Telegraph Institute.

Express Buildings, 55 Yonge-st., TORONTO.
Established
Connection with
Located in 46 of the largest cities of the States and Canada, under the management of J. D. ODELL, Principal.
A SCHOLARSHIP issued from this College is good for an unlimited time, and entitles the holder to the advantage of instruction and influence in obtaining situations. Each College derives special benefit from all others, the combined experience of numerous teachers, the collection of manuscripts and the publication of text books, beyond the ordinary means of any single school. We have the best system of Penmanship known to the public, taught by experienced, first-class Penmen, for which we were awarded First Premiums in all departments at the late Provincial Fair. Regular class instructions in Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Penmanship, Book-keeping, English Grammar, Correspondence, Composition, &c., &c., with ample black-board explanations, and special lectures to suit individual cases. Actual business is here introduced by the use of Banks, and other offices, as in business houses. The practical method of giving instruction in this institution is the most important feature. Students count their thousands of dollars, buy and sell merchandise, real estate, stocks, &c., with as much interest as our first merchants, thus converting the school-room into a banking house and an exchange, by introducing the actualities of business, as well as the abstract theory of Book-keeping. For further information please call at the College, or send for a College Monthly, enclosing letter stamp.
