THE BALLROOM.

The pavilion was decorated with bunting, flags and pennants. Across the room were suspended several strings of ensigns of yachts and yacht clubs. On the masts were the names of the various yachts of the club. The platform was fitted up as a retiring room, carpeted and all set with easy chairs and sofas, and enriched by the presence of a fine collection of tropical plants from the adjoining conservatory. The ball-room floor was suitably waxed, while the balance of the pavilion was as trim and neat as the deck of the Oriole when the commodore is expected aboard. In fact everything was taut and snug-like. The music was supplied by the string band of the Royal Grenadiers stationed in the east-ern gallery.

the Royal Grenadiers stationed in the eastern gallery.

The conservatory was dimly, yet pleasantly, lit with Chinese lanterns, lined with seats, nicely heated, and formed a pleasant retiring place from the glare and movement of the ballroom. It was full of quiet couples throughout the night. Along the north side of the ground floor and screened by ags, a commodious supper-room had been improvised. The galleries formed vantage seats from which to view the lively scen below. The stairways, halls and corridors were also utilized as waiting rooms, while the west ends of the two galleries seemed to have been monopolized by the young ocuples inclined to be spooney. Several decided cases were to have been observed.

till there was hardly room for all, notwithstanding the extent of the floor. When the ball got fairly under way the scene was full of movement, full of charm. There were the handsome costumes of the ladies, in all colors, though white predominated; the bright uniforms of the Grenadiers, the black and gold of the yachtsmen with their white vests and black ties, the dark shade of the Queen's Own, and the black coat of the ordinary cit. Nearly every face was beaming with pleasure, enjoyed or expected. There was the flush of the debutante, and the tried smile of the old-timer. The dresses of the ladies were beautiful but the majority of their faces and figures were charming. Those who have seen similar gatherings in the states or Europe will have no hesitation in awarding the palm to Canadian ladies for their freshness. They require very little making up and they are rapidly acquiring the art of dressing in good taste. Not more than two inappropriate gowns were noticed in the whole assembly. Low corsages were rare. The head dress in nearly every case was simple yet pleasing. Wigs were few and bangs generally discarded. Plumes were the exception. Quite a number of the ladies wore the classical filletor colden.

Mr Bell (West Toronto) moved for Mrs. L W Brown of Alleghany, Pa. The last body found was recognized as Emma Hager, a domestic. A most thorough investigation into the causes of the fire and condition of the hotel has been determined upon by the authorities. The district attorney will conduct the examination of the witnesses. James H Earnest, whose name appears among the missing, was a prominent democratic politician of south western Wisconsin.

Mr Bell (West Toronto) moved for a return of the correspondence relative to the frequency of the correspondence between the provincial secretary and the license commissioners of East Huron relative to granting a license to one Conover. Mr Gibson opened with an attack on the government organ which he characterized as given to stabbing in the dark, and said his motion was made to give the license commissioners an opportunity of characterized as given to stabbing in the dark, and said his motion was made to give the license commissioners an opportunity of defending themselves against its malicious and unfounded attacks. Speaking generally on the license law, he said he did not think a single village or county had petitioned for any change in the direction indicated by the opposition.

Mr Bell said that he was prepared to stand to his position that License Commissioner Doherty had been trading on the fears of the license commissioners. He had seen a petition on this matter in the hands of a reformer, but it had been suppressed. He could substantiate this as far as the license commissioners of Toronto were concerned, that the chairman, Dr Ogden, was much in the same position as Mr Doherty. He understood, further, that while Dr Ogden was visiting these people, and charging $2 a visit, they were neither using his advice nor his medicines, but calling in other physicians at the same time. He had a high respect for Dr Oglen, and believed that did he know this fact he would not visit those places. Those appointed by the government to the position of license inspector should be in all cases thoroughly independent.

Mr Balfour (South Essex) and Mr White (North Essex) discussed the charges against the license inspector of North Essex, the former challenging the latter to put up $300 in the proof of his statement, and Mr White offering to do so could he secure a proper guarantee on the ether side.

Mr Hardy quoted Mr Bell's story of the

Mr Hardy quoted Mr Bell's story of the Doherty affair as given by Mr Bell to the conservative papers, reminding the house that these journals had represented three residents of the city, Mrs Mead and Messrs Hanlan and Paterson as corroborating the story. Each of these individuals had come out voluntarily with a distinct contradiction of the story. Mr Hardy stated further that the licensed commissioners at their late meeting had passed resolutions in favor of Mr Doherty.

Mr Lauder (East Grey)—The hon gentleman is making that statement without any authority whatever. what was the substance of the petition, which might only allege that Doherty, being a cigar dealer, should not be a commissioner. He charged Mr Bell further with coming down from the specific to the general in making this charge. The name of Dr Ogden had been mentioned. Mr Hardy asked why the names of the families who employed Dr Ogden, paid him and then sent for another physician had not been given. The charge was one that, if made on the street, would have subjected the maker to an action for slander. Before representing that gentleman as forcing himself upon the families of those persons, the hon gentlemen ought surely to have supplied himself with full proofs.

Mr Bell said he had nover charged Dr

The suggestion is to have in every room in hotels an alarm bell to be connected with some central point by an electric when danger from any source is apprehended many a victim might be saved from a cruel death. Electric appliances are now becoming cheap, and the cost of fitting up an hotel with a number of these alarms would amount to not a large sum at all. The first care in the event of fire is to see that every living being is warned and brought to a consciousness of danger. When everyone is asleep no plan seems of Torbetter fitted to do this than to have an electric alarm at the head of every bed in every hotel. BOOTH AND LANGTRY.

Edwin Booth is now in Germany and he is receiving great approbation at the tinguished gentlemen. Booth is a man of public at large. It is true personal influence, real and solid attainments and it is for this reason that he has been welcomed in Europe. On the other hand, England sends out to America one or two individuals who have gained notoriety, not eminence. They create a sensation for a brief period and keep the papers full of scandal, such as no person of self-respect would wish to have attaching to them. Mrs. Langtry and her Freddie,

Canada there is every prospect of success, there are still objections on the part of some influential members here, and the subject is under the consideration of the council of the association. On Monday a meeting of some members of the general committee was held at the rocms of the Geological society; but there appeared to be no general disposition to oppose or super sede the meeting in Canada. A resolution was however carried by four votes, those who had expressed their opinions not voting, that a memorial should be addressed to the council requesting that the whole matter should be reconsidered by them, and making suggestions hat a meeting shall as usual be held in England, and that a deputation shall be sent to Canada. It is becoming probable that the council will find the means of conciliating all interests by holding a meeting in England, transacting the formal business, and adjourning to Montreal. The Canadian authorities are already canvassing to obtain the presence of leading members, so as to have a strong party to meet their American and Canadian supporters.

Previous to ignoring the world she was a belle in society here, beautiful and accomplished. The groom is Patrick Moore of Washington, and the story of their love and the young sister's life is rather romantic. Shelentered the order of the sisters of charity when about 20 years of age, and during her sisterhood was engaged at different times in teaching music at seminaries in Mobile, Milwaukee, Chicago and Mount De Sales, Baltimore. Several years ago she became seriously ill, and her father obtained permission from the church authorities to mission from the church authorities to remove her home. She was ill for a long time, and on recovering at first announced her intention of returning to the sisterhood. Her father became ill, however, and she nursed him back to health. Then she went to visit a friend in Washington, where she met Mr Moor. Friendship ripened into love. She concluded to leave the sisterhood received a dispensation to that effect, though still remaining a devoted member of the church, and was married by

There was a disposition in some quarters to "give the reformers a show," but it is said that a well known ex-reformer insisted on a straight party deal.

""Middle measures are often but middling measures." There are no "middlings" about Kidney-Wort. It is the most thoroughly refined "flower" of medicine. It knows no half-way measures, but radically uproots all diseases of the kidneys, liver and bowels. It overthrows piles, abolishes constipation and treats the system so gently and soothingly as to prove its true kinship to nature in all its phases. It is prepared in both liquid and dry form.

Col. Collier was in the city last night on his way from Port Dover to Ottawa, where he will wait upon Sir John Macdonald and Sir Leonard Tilley in reference to the iron works that a number of Georgia capitalists talk of establishing in Canada. Th colonel's object in interviewing the ministers is to see what prospects there are of affording increased protection to manufactured iron, as the projectors of the scheme

A BASE INSINUATION DENIED The Statement of Clara Porter contradicted-An Abandoned Girl.

The case of the girl Clara Porter, which ems to have been shrouded in a good deal of mystery at the police court yesterwas held last night, Mayor McMurrich in day, will probably be set right by the following letters which were handed to us last issued 575 orders for admission to the hospital. Toronto was the only city of its size on the continent that the mayor knew of, which had not a sanitary or special health department. Of the hospital appropriation of $10,000, a surplus of $673. remained unexpended, or $442 in excess of (To The Editor of The World) remained unexpended, or $442 in excess of the surplus of 1881. The staff at the hospital were complimented for their efficiency. The ambulance service might be greatly improved. He would recombe greatly improved. He would recombe greatly improved. The surplus of 1881 in excess of thumanity on our part, are cruel and unjust. We were in the office at our work between $ and 9 o'clock. The girl Porter knocked at the door, and walking in made complaint that some one had snatched her pital were complimented for their efficiency. The ambulance service might be greatly improved. He would recommend a grant to the hospital to cover the keep of a horse and attendance, so that it might be free of charge on all occasions. Two hundred and nine dollars' worth of passes had been granted to indigent persons; seventy-one paupers were interred by the city at a cost of $280. Eight foundlings were taken care of during the year at the was while she was warming herself that the actory watchman on his rounds observe her. After she had remained some time to get warmed, we endeavored to get her out of the office and offered to pay her expenses of the office and offered to pay her expenses to St Catharines, but she cried so that we had not the heart to force her out, and without the knowledge of the watchman sent, her up to an unoccupied room over the office and left—thinking it best as a huwane act to let her sleep off the effect of her spree. This was done not only as an act of humanity, but as an act of respect for her father. We did not give her either wine or any other drinkable; we had none to give. Our only wrong was in permitting our humane feelings to do what has brought usunder the censure of Mr Livingstone in permitting any one into the place after hours. We accept all the blame attaching to our indiscretion and breach of the rules of the factory.

Will you, as an act of justice to us, kindly give insertion to this and the following from the night watchman.

Toronto, Jan 12. JAMES HAY. I, the undersigned, Fred D Capps, night watchman of the Dominion Bolt company, say, in respect to the allegation that wine was given to the girl Porter in the Dominion Bolt company's premises, that no liquor, as far as I could see, was given to her, nor was there any sign or smell of liquor about the office or any one in it except that arising from her.

that arising from her. FRED. DANIEL CAPPS. Osgoode Hall Notes.

There were no judges in chambers at Osgoode hall yesterday. Chambers adjourned till to-day. Re Atlantic railway company against the township of Cambridge: A motion was made for a mandamus to compel the township of Cambridge to deliver deben cures to the railway company, which the tures to the railway company, which the township refused on account of irregularities in the by-law. Judgment reserved.

The Grand Trunk against Dissette. Upon agreement of counsel it was decided to try the issues upon affidavits, and the case was adjourned for the purpose of putting in further affidavits.

Grip against Butterfield: An action for injunction brought by the proprietors of Grip to restrain the defendant from using plaintiff's patent. Judgment was given for he plaintiff with costs

An application was made for a mandamus to the council of Penetanguishene to compel the payment of taxes to the public school (which is catholic there) which had been paid to the separate school (which is protestant). The school act provides that in a municipality where the teacher of a public school is a catholic, on the petition of twelve residents a protestant separate school twelve residents a protestant separate school may be established. This has been done in may be established. This has been done in Penetanguishene, and some taxes have been paid to the separate school which are claimed by the public school. The matter stands till Tuesday. D A O'Sullivan for the motion; D McCarthy, Q C, and Pepler contra.

A New Telephone.

Mr R Gray, agent of the Grand Truck railway at Acton, has invented and patented new telephone. The instrument has been n successful operation over a three mile circuit at Acton for some time, and although it has received no greater test so far its it has received no greater test so far its its utility for this distance leaves no doubt as to the possibility of its successful operation over longer stretches. The chief feature of the new telephone is that you can hear a message in an office without putting your ear to the instrument and that it does away with the necessity of using a bell to call the person up with whom you wish to speak. wish to speak.

Catarrh-A New Treatment. From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24. Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has een achieved in modern medicine has been attained the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two nousand patients treated during the past six months fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cures still. No one elso has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Mr. A. H. Dixon, 305 and 307 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for hit reatise on outarrh ths fully ninety per cent have been cured

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by "Medicated Inhalations" combined with proper constitutional remedies for the blood, etc. Nearly 40,000 cases successfully treated during the past sixteen years.

Nearly 40,000 cases successfully treated during the pats sixteen years.

The citizens of Toronto, as well as neighboring lake and inland cities, have observed the alarming prevalence and increase of that dangerous class of maladies known as throat and lung diseases. Year by year is adding to the army of victims, and new types and phases of these affections are also multiplying. The reports of the city undertakers will olisclose to the inquirer a fearth bill of mortality from this cause alone; nor is the gloomy record relieved by a comparison of results in the off-repeated trial of the various prescriptions in common practice. The time-worn customs of by-gone years, calomel, burning, leeching, morphine, iodine and digitalis, have in each new patient awakened fresh hopes of recovery, hopes, alas, to be blighted as were those in the hearts of patients who hoped and ed white using the remedies.

More offectual remedies than those which general-ed while using the remedies.

More effectual remedies than those which generally prevail are called for, and it is to this end and the belief that scientific investigation in one class of complaints will be more certain to attain success in this direction, than by occasional research and observation, while the mind is divided by general practice, that led to the establishment of, the Outario Pulmonary Institute in this city during the year 1881, an institution which does afford the best possible treatment of this class of diseases.

By the permanent establishment of such an institute, invalids can at all times consult the doctor personally—being an advantage that will readily be seen and appreciated by all.

Earnest and persevering investigation and fruitfut experiments with different remedial agents have within a few years been made by imen of eminent scientific attainments, which have been attended with the most gratifying success. By careful research in the paths, opened by these pioneers, and by independent investigation through our systems of practice, we have obtained results well worthy of public attention, and our course of practice has elicited the attention of many of the best physicians of the day, as well as drawn upon us the gratitude of very many persons rescued from disease and death.

The mode of administering remedies by the sys-of the day, as well as drawn upon us the gratitude of very many persons rescued from disease and death.

The mode of administering remedies by the system of inhalation is acknowledged by all te be the most reasonable of any ever adopted, and most satisfactory in its results.

Invalids who have failed to derive benefit from medical treatment, and who have made fruitless trials of noctrums of the day, will find in this practice abundant reason for hope, as numerons instances have been reported even of the entire restoration to health of parties in this city and vicinity who have made thorough trial of the remedies, although they had previously been pronounced in an advanced stage of consumption.

Its particular efficiency is especially noticeable in throat diseases, which, if neglected, end in consumption, masal catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, and diseases of the heart. To this class of cases Dr. Williams gives his individual attention.

Those who desire to consult me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for an examination, but if impossible to visit the office personally, may write for "List of Questions" and a copy of my "Medical Treatise," both of which will be sent free of charge. Address
