CRITICAL STAGE FOR MR. ASQUITH FEARS SNAP VOTE

Under Accumulation of Troubles Which May End in Defeat.

THE MARCONI AFFAIR

Is Damaging the Liberals, Tho Nothing Is Proved-Lord Murray's Absence Looks Bad.

(Special to The Sunday World.) LONDON, June 7 .- The Asquith Government is passing thru another critical stage of its existence. Great depression and apprehension prevail among the ministerialists in the house of commons, and they hardly conceal trophe may come any day, thru another snap vote, leaving the government in the minority.

an accumulation of troubles. The Unionists are still keeping the Marconi affair open, knowing it is damaging the Liberals. Tho nothing in the nature of corruption is proved, the belated disclosure of another 3000 share deal by the former Liberal chief whip, now Lord Murray of Elibank, in American Marconis enables the Unionists to stimulate suspicion that not all the facts have been brought out. They now suggest, but dare not openly charge, that Murray, who had control of the party funds, paid for these shares out of the party funds.

Absence Looks Bad. Murray, who was made a peer on his retirement, is now in Bogota on a mission in behalf of Lord Cowdray's firm. His absence from England thruout the Marconi enquiry looks bad, and the worst is made of it by the government's opponents. It is also said that Rufus Isaacs' claim to the lord chancellorship. When Lord Loreburn retired from the chancellorship. Asquith was on his way to Gibraltar on a cruiser and Murray sent him this wireless: "Loreburn resigned. Isaacs must Asquith ignored this peremptory message and gave the woolsack to Toronto. Lord Haldane without consulting Murray, whereupon the latter resigned.

Moreover, a campaign against the Insurance Act is being vigorously continued and the Unionists are persuadan alternative scheme which will provide greater benefits without anyone feeling the cost. These desperate expedients of the Unionists are inpired not only by hunger for office, but to defeat the operation of the Parliament Act by getting the government out by any means before home rule and other bills can be passed over the head of the house of lords next summer. A regular system for rushing snap able opportunity has been perfected by the Unionist whips, who know where to find every man on their side at any moment during the sitting of strain on the ministerialists, which is wearing out their patience. Those who are to retire at the next election are getting indifferent Play on Fear. The Unionists continue to play on the absurd fears of their countrymen The aeroplane scare has come to stay Every week it is dished up in new guise to make the public's flesh creep. War Minister Seeley is seriously accused of being a traitor to his country because he does not purchase a thousand aeroplanes right away, altho the type is constantly changing and he has only enough men to fly two hundred. The general parliamentary situation is bad for the government and unless it can carry the war into the enemy's camp it may be overthrown or harried

All Competition Must Go Toronto's First Requirement

British Government Laboring Sir William Mackenzie Has Mayor's Proposition for the Taking Over of Street Railway and Electric Light Plant and Negotations Will Be Resumed In A Week

> "I'm not playing tag, and I'm not bluffing. I'm quite willing to sell to the city at a fair price."

That was the way Sir William Mackenzie put it to Mayor Hocken when an agreement was made to negotiate for the municipalization of the Toronto Railway Co. and Toronto Electric Light Co. systems. Sir William has now in full detail Toronto's requirements in the bargain. He will give his reply in a day or two, and will have a conference with Mayor Hocken when the mayor returns from his week's trip to Baltimore and New York. One of Toronto's requirements is that the city will be swept clean of all competition with rapid transit service and electric light and power service. That means that complete municipal control of those services would be established. What is rather more of a suggestion than a requirement is that the radial lines operate only to the city limits. There each car would be taken over by a conductor of the municipal rapid transit service and by him operated until it returned to the city limits. Thus the radial cars would be operated as a part of the municipal service while within the limits. This would render unnecessary a terminus in the city for the radial lines. It is expected that Sir William will fall in with the suggestion.

RAIN HELPS CROP CONDITIONS SMALLER AREA SOWN TO WHEAT INCREASES IN OATS AND BARLEY

Wheat, Oats and Flax Could Never Be Excelled at This Season Is Report From Saskatchewan and Manitoba -Some Crops Yet to Be Sown in Wet Lands.

Seeding has been finished, or pratcically so. Some flax and a few catch crops may yet be sown in districts where plowing was belated owing to wet ands. As very little fall plowing was done last year, and spring being too backward to enable farmers to make up for lost time, there will be a decrease in the area sown to wheat on old lands that will scarcely be made up by new land that has been cropped this season for the first time; but there will be very considerable increases in oat and barley acreages.

Farmers, in their anxiety to get in their crops, resorted to the expedient of discing in their seed on unplowed stubble. With favorable conditions thruout the season they may get a fair return, but the result of this method of sowing is always uncertain and more often results in failure than other-

However, it is too early to make any surmises or predictions respecting the possible outcome of the crops, sufficient to say, that at the present moment conditions are satisfactory and seasonable, the rapid growth of the past week or so having fully compensated for the lateness and the unusual chilliness of the spring. The wheat in some localities is fully ten inches

More About Those Wonderful Tailored Suits for Women

Jubilee Price $17.60 - They Are Value for $35.00

The item of Women's Tailored Suits at $17.60 is actually the sensation of the hour. One of the big features of our Jubilee Sale, so to speak, and an accomplishment made possible only because of the great facilities at our command, such as the importing of the materials and a thoroughly equipped tailoring organization. Note the details:

Women's Tailored Suits, "Composite" and "Dovetail" models, two new Fall creations of surprising smartness. We are the first to introduce these models in Canada. The originals are over from Paris but a very short time. We have made certain modifications in the original style lines to give the garments the American atmosphere. By all rules of merchandising, taking into consideration the styles, the fine materials and the excellent tailoring these suits should be $35. The originals each cost more than double this figure, but we are featuring the suits for our Jubilee Sale at $17.60. The materials include those smart English mixtures, in grays, tans, blues, which promise to be so popular during the coming Fall.

MINE DISASTER AT SHAMOKIN

Two Killed and Several Injured in Explosion-Workers Declare Other Men Are Entombed.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., June 7 .- Two miners were killed and more than a dozen were injured today in an explosion in the Scott shaft, four miles from here, the Scott shaft, four miles from here, operated by the Susquehanna Coal Co. Officials of the company announce that no men were entombed, but mine workers declared that they believed other men were still in the mine. The explosion occurred in the second lift of a slope, almost a mile underground, and the slope immediately caught fire, John Weir, inside superintendent, and his assistants, organized a rescuing party and within an hour two dead and his assistants, organized a rescuing party and within an hour two dead and 14 injured were brought to the surface. The dead men were foreign-speaking miners and nearly all the injured are also foreigners. Of the injured at least two are expected to die.

Twenty Rescued.

After several hours' work the rescuing party came on a group of twenty men in the burning shaft. They were unhurt and were taken to the surface. It is not believed any more men are in the mine.

United States Ambassador Gives Pleasure in His First Speech in England.

LONDON, June 7.—Walter Hines age, the United States ambassador the court of St. James, is complimented in editorials appearing in the newspapers today on his first speech in England, made last night at the banquet given in his honor by the Pilgrims' Society. The writers express pleasure that he devoted his speech to cementing the bonds of friendship between the two countries. speech to cementing the bonds of friendship between the two countries. The Westminster Gazette says: "Ambassador Page's speech showed that the United States has succeeded in sending an ambassador who is more than capable of maintaining the traditional reputation of his office for public speaking. Nothing could have been happier than the note he struck in this first public utterance."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "We cannot too cordially reciprocate Ambassador Page's pleasant words."

The Evening Standard says: "It is good to see the power of the friendly feeling existing between the two nations thus recognized."

WOOL · MARKET · UPSET

REDUCED AMERICAN TARIFF MAY AFFECT WORLD'S SUPPLY · OF RAW WOOL

Through the revision of the American tariff on raw wool the price of imported weaves is likely to be advanced at any moment. We are naturally in touch with the mills, and at this moment have advices therefrom --- we strongly advocate the purchase of any clothing required at the earliest possible date.

Our customers no doubt are aware that almost the entire world's supply of fine wool comes from Australia, and now that the "wall" has been removed in the United States, prices for this product must surely go up.

In opening the tremendous American market to Australian wool, there can be but one natural result, and though there is no danger of a shortage, wool dealers will naturally take advantage of the situation by driving up the cost to the manufacturers.

Our advice to our customers is to place orders for any clothing they should want at once. We cannot tell what situation might be created by the upsetting of the existing world's supply of raw wool.

CHOICE OF ANY MATERIAL MADE--TO--ORDER

You will require a new Suit for Summer wear-not an "expensive suit," as your wife will assure you, just something that will be cool and yet look stylish.

THE SITUATION.

many items in the Canadian papers on the probable advance in the price of imported woolens, due

It is raw wool that received the most attention in the tariff revision, and it will naturally mean that the price of Australian wool, supply, will be advanced. Through this the cost of fabrics turned out in the mills of Scotland will have to be advanced.

This may come at any time, so we strongly recommend our customers to get in their orders early for any clothing they might require for either the fall or the winter and most certainly for this present summer season.

THE GATLIN DRUG HABIT CURE

MORPHINE, COCAINE, Etc.

The Gatlin, Treatment is now generally recognized as the only satisfactory and permanent method for the cure of the Drug Habit.

The Gatlin Treatment not only supprosses the craving for drugs, but actually creates a loathing for them, and while perfectly harmless, acts as a revivifying tonic, building up the wasted tissues and invigorating the whole nervous system.

ONE OF THE "OLD BRIGADE."

An enjoyable evening was spent at the residence of William Toms, 482 Clinton street, Friday night, on the occasion of his 72nd birthday. The old gentleman has been a citizen of Torento for 42 years, coming from Plymouth, Devonshire, England, in the year 1871, and like a good many of the old pioneers, he came out alone to this country, and worked, and pinched, and saved enough to bring out his wife and family. He very soon after coming here became one of the charter members of Manchester Lodge of the Sons of England, in which lodge he has remained ever since, having passed thru all the offices, and taken all the honors that order has to bestow. He has also been a member of Royal Tamar Lodge, Manchester Unity, O F, for 46 years.

At the dinner provided by his two unmarried daughters, and which was

Highlanders Make Imposing Show at Armories Before the Famous British

"Bonnets off!" "Three cheers for General Hamilton!"

Colonel Currie was proud of his regiment, the 48th Highlanders, on the occasion of its inspection Saturday afternoon by General Sir Ian Hamilton, K.C.B., D.S.O., of the British army. The event was not one of everyday oc-currence, and the Highlanders, who fell into line at the armories shortly be-fore 3 o'clock were determined that tore 3 o'clock, were determined that the regimental reputation for smartness should not suffer.

General Hamilton, who was knighted by King Edward for services rendered at the defence of Ladysmith in 1901, was carried to the parade ground in a limousine, attended by General Ellison and Major Maddex. Colonel the Hon. Sam Huzhes accommanded the English. Sam Hughes accompanied the English party. Colonel Victor Williams and Lieutenant Bassett composed his

TERMS OF YONGE STREET STORE LEASES ARE GETTING SHORTER AS VALUES GROW GREATER

Landlords Chary of Losing Any Part of Enormous Income-Caused by Great Increase in Business — The Lease

Five years seems to be getting the limit for Yonge street lease terms but there seems to be no limit to rentals. There is not a store to be had on the lower part of the street, and offers for stores have to be no limit to rentals. There is not a store to be had on the lower part of the street, and offers for every five years and fortunate lessees. There is not a store to be had on the lower part of the street, and offers for stores have to be pretty high before a lease can be arranged even in advance of one or two years of occupancy. Many Yonge street stores are now leased ahead from existing leases. Merchants who have leases on which several years have yet to run can take a handsome profit if they want to sell so keen is the demand. No merchant would have the least difficulty in finding someone ready to relieve him of his obligations and pay him either a large sum to boot, or an annuity, over and above the lease rental.

The present great demand for stores between King and Queen, more particularly just now between Adelaide and Richmond, is sure to eventually press the big retail business up above Shuter street. The Hydro store seems to mark the limit between the busy part of the street and the section yet to be developed into a district of high-class stores. The down Yonge cars drop the greater part of their shopping passengers in front of the of high-class stores. The down Yonge cars drop the greater part of their shopping passengers in front of the Hydro shop and from there down the sidewalks are crowded and trade thrives. Some people are disposed to class Queen street as the north limit for business that warrants high rents for small stores but Shuter street is today that north limit, something that the completion and renting of the new the completion and renting of the new building at the north corner will embuilding at the north corner will emphasize. Probably before the year is out there will be developments establishing good shopping sections warranting high rents right up to Wilton avenue. The betterment of Yonge street has not been spasmodic, jumping from one part to another and leaving the poor gaps to be filled in, rather has it been steady and even.

Rerouting of Traffic.

However, at the present moment

Changes in traffic routings may cause alterations in Yonge street revenue values. The Wilton avenue crosstown line, which should be under construction by the end of the year, will probably mean an adjustment in incomes that will be quite welcome to contiguous owners, But, as an example of the feeling of some merchants, take Woolworth's (Knox's); they always pay very high rents to be in the busi The experience is that once a new merchant is lucky enough to land a lower Yonge street lease his success is assured. No one has ever heard of any failures among the men paying the highest rents in the city and, excepting for people who have made all the money they care to make in the long hours of Yonge street selling, or people who take a short tenancy just to sell out some old stock, few leave the street. The stores get smaller as rents go up, but most of the old firms are still there doing a prosperous

What Taxes Mount Up To. Another thing, people read about a merchant taking a lease at $10,000 a year and taxes. They never realize that the taxes that the 'storekeeper must pay would run about $2000 a year on a 20-foot front. The people south of Ouenn may more in taxes. south of Queen pay more in taxes than many of the merchants north a half dozen blocks pay in rentals. This system of making the tenant pay all taxes is an outgrowth of the last decade. coming most hato prominence in the last two years. Under it the landlord sits back and enjoys the steady rise of values without contributing toward running the city which is making him richer daily. Besides taxes, the tenant pays water rates any special improvement levies, and repairs south of Queen pay more in the tenant pays water rates, any special improvement levies, and repairs and alternations to buildings. There is not an intance in recent years where a Yonge street landlord between King and Queen has expended a cent in new buildings. No endeavor to improve the appearance of the street has been made except by lessees, and some of them have specific pretty large sums on making old buildings modern and useful. Huylers spent $25,000. Holt Renfrew, $30,000; Hennessey's, $10,000; Hawley Walker $10,000; Liggett's, $15,000; Dunfield, $39,000, and manify others equal sums on making buildings, better. SHOW SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT

Some of the individual increases are interesting. London, for instance, shows an increase of 241 per cent. for May and 146 per cent. for the last five thur beats its 1912 figures by $436,320, or 82.7 per cent. Winnipeg has failed as yet to reach its 1912 level, altho in May it showed a higher total than Toronto.

The following table of permits granted to date this year shows a little improvement over the standing at the end of April. Returns have not yet been received from a number of the most distant cities, so that it would be incorrect to consider the following tabulation by The Financial Post as final, as the cities not yet reported may materially alter the standing.

While the eastern cities show a small decrease in May, over the five months period the increase is $3,672,893, or 22,9 per cent. The western cities show an increase for the month and also for the five months.

While the topography of the land largely dictates physical development, regulations controlling the growth of our suburbs relative to the size and character of public utility mains. As to general city planning that is provided by ordinances governing diagonal 86-foot streets and continued thorofares. From the home buyer's standpoint, serious consideration should be given to the question as to whether the public utilities being installed in scattered areas being developed around sewers, water, gas, etc., are installed. On investigation, however, the service installed, was found to be in such small pipes that a building operation of any extent necessitated larger mains and heavy careful.

Restrictions on Property. example, a restriction in a certain sec-tion permitting no house to be erected under a certain price is a serious mistake, unless supervision over the character of the architecture is held, and such communities may prove very disappointing. Again, the character of a suburb by reason of its growth may change in future years, and restrictions should always be subject to change by the majority of the residents joining together in amending them. POINTS FOR HOME BUYERS IN NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Prospective Suburban Dwellers in Sections of Outskirts Being Improved Should Consider Many Things.

A real estate man of experience in building up outskirt property, in making some suggestions for the suburban home buyer, has drawn up the following points, which he advised prospective suburbanites to consider in looking around for a favorable home site:

Transit facilities-Realizing that 40 minutes in comparative comfort is better than 30 minutes on a strap. Environment-It takes an average to determine the character of a neigh-borhood. One or two families cannot create a standard.

The sensible buyer realizes that modern life demands every city convenience and public utility before land is really usable. In the suburban belt about Toronto are all types—the lakeshore, the hills, the wooded sections—all within easy distance. When the buyer has definitely decided what is the most important feature to promote his happiness, a selection becomes easy. One demands the shore, and another cannot live there, and vice versa.

it is unfortunate that there are no regulations controlling the growth of cattered areas being developed around Toronto, are adequate to meet the growth of the section in future years, and whether these public utilities must be maintained by a community, or by general taxation. SWIFT CURRENT has profited by the mistake of other cities, and has set aside a large tract of land to be used for industrial purposes, manufactures, factories, etc., at a very nominal figure. Population now over 5,000, with 1913 promising to be the banner year in the town's history. Conditions are healthy, and business stability is apparent on every hand. Immigration is pouring into the vast agricultural territory tributary to Swift Current at a rate that will positively transform this small Western city into one of the most important wholesale and industrial centres of the entire West.

SWIFT CURRENT is the centre of one of the largest wheat belts in the world-2,000,000 acres of tillable wheat land tributary. 2,500,000 bushels of wheat passed through her elevators in 1912, and 3,500,000 bushels is conservatively estimated for 1913, making her the initial wheat-shipping point of the world.

THIS COUPON OFFER WILL NOT APPEAR AGAIN

Aside from her wonderful natural farming location, Swift Current, it has been proven, is also in the Natural Gas Belt.

THIS IS A POSITIVE FACT

By favorable vote of the citizens of Swift Current $30,000 is to be appropriated from the city treasury for the purpose in the near future of boring a gas well. When gas is struck, and there is no reason but what it will, as proof of that is history, Swift Current will become one of Western Canada's great manufacturing centres, and lots bought to-day in NORTH SWIFT CURRENT for a mere song will double and treble in value over-

SWIFT CURRENT'S railroad position is assured, the C.P.R., now operating four lines, and is also a divisional point; the G.T.P. will build $450,000 having been guaranteed by the Saskatchewan Legislature; the C.N.R. from the southeast, and the G.N. from the United States. This assures Swift Current's railroad supremacy for all time. Look at the C.P.R. railroad map, and you will readily see Swift Current's position on the main line and C.P.R. branch lines.

As a direct result of this activity the growth of the city has been NORTH.

NORTH SWIFT CURRENT is in the line of this natural development, and our advice is that you buy all of the NORTH SWIFT CURRENT lots that you can prudently carry. The Swift Current district only needs to be known in order to be great.

IS BUSY PLACE

That Swift Current is one of the livest towns in the West is the opinion of C. E. Witham, who has just returned from a visit to that town.

"The C.P.R.," said Mr. Witham, "are raising their tracks four feet in the east end of the town in order to make a better entrance to the Soo Line. This line is also being double-tracked from Swift Current to Calgary. The International Harvester Co., who have purchased a site, will spend $150,000 in the erection of a warehouse and a small foundry. The foundry will be used for the manufacture of the smaller castings for which there is a great demand, and it is designed to save the time now occupled in sending east for such materials. The Massey-Harris firm have the material on the ground for a building which will cost $100,000. The Winnipeg Paint & Glass Co. are building an addition 40 feet x 100 feet to their aiready large plant, and a large store building 100 x 130 feet is being erected by the Swift Current Grocery Co. Two hotels are at present under construction, one of 60 rooms, which will cost $30,000, and one of 120 rooms, which will cost $30,000, and one of 120 rooms, which will cost $30,000, is also being erected. The Royal Bank is having removed the buildings st present occupying the bank's new site, and as soon as this is done work will be commenced on a 50 x 90 three-story banking house. Other buildings which will be erected this year include a Court House, a postoffice and an armory. A new high school, costing $100,000 will also be erected, while the city is spending $10,000 on a race track, $10,000 on a fair ground $10,000 on street improvements. Bonds have been sold smounting to $125,000 for extension of the water and sewer systems. The residences being built are of a very high class, the average cost of those erected last year being in the neighborhood of $10,000 each. Although there are five hotels in the town more accommodation is urgently required, and anywhere from 29 to 100 people nearly every night find themselves unable to obtain rooms."

Senator Townsend Must Give Names

Investigating Committee Will Not Take Up Charges of Lobbying Against Wilson.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Senators on the lobby investigation committee were of the opinion today that Senator Townsend's sensational charge that President Wilson himself virtually had been lobbying for the tariff bill, would not be taken up by the committee as an issue unless some specific charges were made. Senator Townsend, testi-fying last night, while declaring that "White House influence" has been exerted on certain senators, declined to give any names. Unless those are preted the committee is not likely to

Proves Animals Are Kind to One Another

Lyman H. Howe, Lover of Beasts, Has Pictures That Are Indisputable Proof.

Lyman H. Howe, the moving p ture genius, wnose "Travel Festival" comes to the Grand Opera House for an indefinite engagement, is a source of great pleasure to thousands, is a great lover of animals. Mr. Howe has taken pictures of animals in nearly all of the important zoological gardens in the world, and while engaged in this pursuit at the Zoo in Stockholm, Sweden, his camera caught the mount. Sweden his camera caught the mountain foxes deliberately throwing pieces of meat out thru the bars of their cages to the grey crows waiting out-

The weather at the time was bitterly hard—it was in February—and the crows were half starved. Two of the animals were seen to feed the crows on two different occasions, and it hardly seems possible to doubt that the well-fed foxes had some sort of desire to help a hard-up fellow creaon another occasion Mr. Howe was taking pictures in Scotland, and he came across an old gentleman in a rural community who had some goats, also a pet monkey. The latter had struck up a friendship with one of the goats, and the two had become great chums. On the day of Mr. Howe's visit the goat, wadering far afield in search of food, got among a patch of prickly pears, and when it came out its nose and coat were full of the needle-like spines.

its nose and coat were full of the needle-like spines.

The poor beast was in misery. Mr. Howe soon afterward saw the goat lying down, while the monkey, with the utmost care and patience, pulled out one by one all the hundreds of spines. Mr. Howe lost no time in catching this episode with his camera. Not so many years ago, the idea of Not so many years ago, the idea of one animal being kind to another of quite different sort would have been laughted at, but Mr. Howe has discovered indisputable evidence that some animals exercise the virtue of charity and unselfishness.

Windsor's Great Industrial Awakening

The greatest industrial awakening in the history of Canada has just taken place in the Windsor District. The heretofore quiet County of Essex will soon be Ontario's greatest industrial section, with Windsor as the heart of this manufacturing district. While western cities are praying in vain for factories, hundreds of industries are literally forcing themselves into and around Windsor.

Windsor is the nucleus of what, in the near future, will be one of Ontario's largest cities.

100 Industries Now in Windsor---- A New One Comes in Every TWO Weeks

The number of industries that are locating in and around Windsor is attracting the attention of investors from all over the country. They have found that Windsor possesses one of the best locations in Canada for the maufacture and distribution of goods. It has a deep water connection with the Atlantic Sea Ports of Montreal, Quebec and New York City, and with Port Arthur, Fort William and Duluth, at the head of the Great Lakes. Gigantic barges can haul both coal and iron into Windsor from the point of supply.

Windsor is one of the best railroad centres in Canada. It is connected by tunnel and ferry with Detroit, a city of 600,000

It has the cheapest natural gas in Canada and it will soon have the Hydro-Electric System, as orders have just been given for the running of the wires from Chatham to Windsor.

The large number of industries coming into Windsor and the rapid expansion of the city has accentuated the great need of a high-class restricted residence district where the city's fine homes could be erected without danger of encroachment by buildings and cheaper houses which would lower property values. We have selected this fine old estate, Thornfield Place, as the site of the homes of the best citizens in Windsor, Sandwich, Ojibway, the "Steel City," Walkerville, etc.. We are developing this property and have placed on it such restrictions which we believe will enhance its value and encourage quick building.

No Property in or Near Windsor Offers a Better Homesite or Investment Opportunity Than

Windsor's Most Beautiful Residence District

The charming situation of Thornfield Place makes this one of the most desirable of residential properties, it runs back from the river, and commands a fine view of both the Detroit River and the city on the other side.

Thornfield Place is the boundary between Windsor and Sandwich, and is on the Electric Car Line running to Amherstburg.

It is only one and a quarter miles from the Windsor Postoffice, and the Detroit Postoffice, and is much less than that from the centre of Sandwich.

A beautiful wide macadamized boulevard will run thru the property from end to end. This will be Partington Avenue, and will connect the London and Tecumseh roads. Thornfield Place when completed and built up will be practically one long beautiful avenue of the best homes to be found in the Windsor district.

The restrictions are such as to make this property the most sought after as a homesite subdivision of any in the county.

THE U.S. STEEL CORPORATION LOCATING NEAR WINDSOR Initial Expenditure $20,000,000

This giant concern are to build their Canadian plant a short distance from Windsor, they have already purchased 1650 acres of land. They incorporated their property as the Town of Ojibway under a special act of the Ontario Legislature.

Judge Gary, the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the U.S. Steel Corporation, made a public statement in New York at the end of last year, saying that they would erect blast furnaces and several mills on the property which they had already purchased near Windsor.

The choice of the Corporation was no doubt decided by Windsor's unexcelled location, which is the logical shipping point both by rail and water to all parts of Canada and the United States. Its location is proving to be Windsor's greatest asset, and consequently industries are coming in faster than to any other city of its size. Its record for the past year and a half has been one new industry

The initial expenditure of The Steel Corporation alone is $20,000,000.00 in the Windsor District. This means a tremendous impetus to business in Windsor and the surrounding country and an influx of thousands of employes who will need homes. Since the decision of the Steel Company to build near Windsor, a great many American manufacturers, especially those of steel products, have secured locations in and around Windsor.

A thousand homes are needed in Windsor immediately. Thousands of people employed in Windsor are obliged to go to the expense of crossing the river night and morning as they are unable to secure houses in Windsor. The supply of houses is not keeping Windsor residence property is the best investment obtainable, and one that offers the Recent weakness in Peterson Lake is reported to be due largely to the suit in which Broker S. G. Forst was in-volved. Traders expected that a block of stock would be forced on the mar-ket as a result of the suit, and the market was depressed to receive it. Broker Forst has made a complete settlement of all matters in dispute, and the shorts in Peterson Lake stock will have to cover in a way different to that anticipated. This may be responsible for a quick upward movement and which may be reinforced by purchases on the rumor of a dividend declaration.

OUIET UPWARD MOVE FOLLOWS SETTLEMENT

For several reasons particular interest attaches to this present company of men and women, who have devoted their lives to the service of love on behalf of those who sin and suffer. In the first place, the number of this contingent of cadets is higher than anything previously attained by the Salvation Army in Canada. And they have been in training at a time of the south love on behalf of those who sin and suffer. In the first place, the number of this contingent of cadets is higher than anything previously attained by the Salvation Army in Canada. The Salvation Army officer, before The Salvation Army officer, before receiving a commission (says a well-known writer), has to undergo a course of training, of which it is no exaggeration to say that it is at least as good a test of efficiency as that required of the officers entering the King's army. Indeed in some respects the military colleges are but playgrounds where a pretty game is light-

Town.....State

Within the next few days the lighty-five cadets who for the last light months have been in training at the Salvation Army College on Sherveurne street, Toronto, will graduate, or, in the phraseology of the Salvationist, be commissioned and sent out to their appointments, east, west, north and south thru the dominion. For several reasons particular indone excellently in this respect.

Lifework Among the People.

They have been taught by Commissioner Rees and their principal, Brigadier Taylor, that the scene of their forento, in view of the fact that during ing their time the General Booth semoral Scaeme for a new and larger raining college has been launched, and, so far as this city is concerned, carried thru to a successful conclusion. Fittingly, therefore, the departure of these young people from Toronto is to be marked by yet another innovation, in that in addition to the demonstration in which they will, next Monday evening, receive notification of their appointments, they will be solemnly dedicated to their new work in an afternoon service at the Army Temple.

Practical Training.

The training they have received has been eminently practical. They might not pass with honors the usual examinations of the divinity student. But the object of their training is not to fit them to impart information or learnedly to discuss difficult points of theology. They are told by their teachers that the world wants to know on the sure proof of personal everyday experience, how it can be saved from sin, rather than what it should believe concerning this doctrine or that. They are sent out to nurse the sick, to bring comfort to the sorrowing, to feed the hungry, to shelter the homeless, and, above all, to proclaim the Gospel with the earnestness and simplicity of human men and women boring.

"Everything," said Sir Walter Scott. work shop.
Their stay in the Training College has been anything but easy work. From 6.30 o'clock in the morning, when at night by which time their day's work should be over, they are on duty."

"Everything," said Sir Walter Scott, "is moonshine compared with the education of the heart." So the Salvation Army has proved it. The New Testament ministry was a thing of the heart. Fishers, Magdalenes, shepherds, the degenerate, the outcast, the base, with few qualifications, but those of the heart, were His chosen vessels.

So, too, the Salvationist cadets are taught that the most brilliant talents without intensity of spirit will be without intensity of spirit will be worse than useless in their work.

Ships Report Thrilling Experiences-Caught by Gale in Mid-Atlantic.

MONTREAL, June 7.—(Special.)—
Some thrilling experiences are reported by the ships that are coming into port the last two days.

The Westonby, a tramp freighter, in from the Mediterranean for wheat for Great Britain, got mixed up with the Turks at the Dardanelles and had to the up for over two weeks. The captain thought he could run the blockade, but a shot from the forts on shore reminded him of the risk of such a thing. The Fishpool, in ballast from Port Said, was caught in a 75-mile an hour

Said, was caught in a 75-mile an hour gale in mid-Atlantic and was driven broadside before the wind and waves. The Montford missed two other vessels in a dense fog only by the narrowest margin, while the Milwaukee, in from Chili with 11,100 tons of nitrate on a 57 days' voyage, ran into a hurricane in the gulf stream and parted with some of her rigging, rails and ladders in the blow. Her cargo is the largest ever brought to the St. Lawrence.

Port is full of grain vessels today. for the tramps are more numerous this season than for a long time.

This, in spite of the fact that the team still retains the scintillating services of the dashing team, is yividly portrayed in the latter-day history of the Detkit Tigers.

In the box scores show that no matter average of over 440 and has maintainted av honor was finally worked by Kalls and Warwick, to the Tecumseh end. Warwick got an opening, but he was sand-wiched when he tried to shoot. Quarter ended. Tecumseh 1, Toronto 1.

During the intermission some good bicycle races were pulled off. The first heat of the mile open resulted as follows:

1, F. Brown: 2, W. Robinson; 3, G. Wat-

Son.

Second Quarter.

Tecumsehs rushed from the face-off.
Carmichael passed to Smith, who was tearing into the goal. He missed the ball and kept on running, plunging into the nets, The ball went to the other end, but stayed for only a second. McGregor dodged by Powers and Green and got a clear shot, but Holmes saved. The ball then traveled into the Tecumseh territory. Kalls secured behind the nets and passed over to Barnett, who scored. Time 2.53. It was one of Kalls' old tricks. Torontos:

2, Tecumsehs 1.

Torontos rushed from the face-off, but Graydon blocked a shot from Warwick. The Indians took the ball back and Querrie, with a clean shot from way out, tooled Holmes. Time 2.12. Tecumsehs 2, Toronto 2.

Third Quarter.

Collins replaced Carmichael, who was hurt. Torontos rushed on the face-off, but could not penetrate the indians deferee. Querie shot a sizzler on Holmes, who saved. The ball went down to the Tecumsch end, but Graydon Intercepted a pass. Querie got another opening, but Holmes stopped it. Barber replaced Harshaw. The Indians hade things decided, uncomfortable for the Blueshirts. While McGregor was shooting. Powers grabbed him around the neck. The ball was faced off, and McGregor secured and scared. Time 435. It Was Walkover For the Millerites games of the choirmen of St. Anne's Anglican Church were held in St. Anne's gymnasium Thursday evening last. The game was a scene of excitement and 'Millerites' did not have maning within putting away the game, winning within putting away the game, winning without, having to exert themselves by the score of 30 to 7. Hal Fair, the ancient enemy and disher of a vast assortment of curves and gilt-edged balls, did the flinging for the 'Millerites,'' and was given flawless support. Weird fielding by the Norths offset the effective pitching of Hal Fair to the Souths, and in consequence had little trouble in winning the game. The line-up:

keep them company. Harrison and Shel len replaced Harshaw, and Stagg and Lawson Whitehead played McDougall's position.

Tecumsehs missed their chance when they failed to score on several shots. Dandeno carried the rubber down and passed to Kalls, who shot dead on. Roy Kinsman proved his worth in goal, stopping nicely. Donlhee shot, but Kinsman cleared. In a melee in front of Tecumseh goal, the net bulged and the crowd shouted, but the ball was on the outside. The quarter ended without score and evertime will be necessary to decide the game. Score. Tecumsehs 3. Torontos 3.

Overtime.

Tecumsehs had two shots within two minutes after the opening, and one hit the goal post and other was within an ace of rolling in when Holmes dropped it from his stick, and the play was nip and tuck, the ball going from one end to the other in lightning order. Both teams were treated to some real thrills. Both firing lines were practically unable to get inside the defence, the checking was shard and close. Torontos buzzed around the Tecumsehs end, but Yeaman grabbed a loose ball and rushed it back. He passed to Querrie, but Longfellow intercepted and ripped it over to Warwick, who shots Kinsman stopped, but the ball rolled out of his stick, and then there was a scrimmage and the ball was scored. Time 9 min. Tecumsehs 3, Torontos 4.

The first period of the overtime ended a tie.

The second period opened with the indians in possession. Whitehead raced to the Toronto end, but lost when getting ready to shoot. The ball was back at Tecumseh's end. Kalls shot, but Rowntree saved. Tecumsehs carried the ball to about midfield, and then lost it. Warton about midfield, and then lost it.

How we give every inch of the tire equal strength

> TIRE gets its strength from the A fabric carcass. The carcass is the foundation of the tire. Damage to the carcass brings quick ruin to the tire.

Rim-Cutting, an old enemy of long mileage, was put out of the way when we invented the unstretchable base, built up of 126 braided piano wires.

This added strength to the No-Rim-Cut tire by lessening the danger of ruin 23%.

And No-Rim-Cut tires have on the average 10% more air capacity than Clincher Tires of the same rated size. So overloading---another enemy---was wiped out. These features added strength by removing danger of rain. See how we build extra strength into the carcass by guarding against weak spots.

No-Rim-Cut Tires get uniform strength from the Tire-building Machine. They get uniform toughness and avoid hidden flaws by the Goodyear method of curing.

Machine Building No Chance of Weak Spots

We invented the machine shown above to lift Goodyear Tires out of the uncertainty of hand building.

Remember, every roll of duck used in Goodyear Tires goes through a laboratory test. But even the best fabric could not be applied evenly by hand. Some parts of the tire would be stretched more than others. Under air pressure these parts would have to bear greater strain. That would soon mean weak points

The Goodyear machine applies the fabric to every tire under the same tension. Every inch of every layer of fabric bears its equal share of strain. That is why you never hear of a Goodyear Tire "Blowing out" except, of course, through external injury.

This machine builds long life and long mileage into No-Rim-Cut Tires. It makes a tire without a weak spot.

> It's no wonder motorists are getting extra mileage out of No-Rim-Cut tires. Wherever you go there are Goodyear Dealers. They will be glad to fit their extra mileage Tires to your rims.

Cured Under Air Pressure

Goodyear Tires are, we believe, the only tires cured or vulcanized while inflated.

During the cure every part of the tire is stretched by air pressure, just as it will be stretched in actual service.

Curing on an air bag "sets" the tire at every inch of its surface exactly as it should be. The strain is equalized. When the tire is inflated on your rims it has equal strength

And the Goodyear Curing process gives the right toughness to the thick part of the tread without overcuring the thin side walls.

RECORD CROWD AT THE MONTREAL GAME

Six Thousand on Hand to See Nationals and Irish-Canadians Battle For First Time.

1.—(Special to The Sunday World.)-A record crowd of six thousand spectators were on hand this afternoon to witness the first meeting of the Nationals and the Irish Canadians at Victoria Mascotte Park. Both teams were loudly cheered when they made their appearance. At 3.40 the ball was faced. The teams lined up as follows:

Nationals-L'Heureux, goal; Cattaranich, point; Duckett, cover point; Lachapelle, Clement, C. Degan, defence; Degray, centre; Dulude, Dussault, Pitre, home field; Lamoreux, outside; Dupras, inside.

Irish Canadians-Brennan, goal; Neville, point; Cameron, cover point; White, Baker, Aspell, defence; Munday, centre; George, McIntyre, Scott, me field; Hogan, outside; Roberts, forgets that the knowledge gained from books is often a summary of results from the practical work of many agriculturists and scientists whose experience has been much broader than

A definite plan for the "training of young men in the science and art of improved husbandry" was begun by the Province of Ontario in 1874 by the establishment of the present agricultural college on the borders of the City of Guelph. In addition to scientific instruction, it was proposed, as a very necessary feature of the work, to conduct experiments and publish the results. It was expected that the combination of these purposes would result in increasing the national wealth by increasing the quality and quantity of the agricultural products. Without going into the statistics of the matter (which are easily available and prove amply my statements), I may point out that within recent years agricultural activities in many directions have shown that both the quality and quantity of the products can be and have been improved as a result of the dissemination of scientific information regarding agriculture. and the agricultural college has been the fountain head of that stream of knowledge.

Men trained by the college courses and by the practical work on the college farm, as well as by actual farming experience, both before and after their college courses, have demonstrated that proper drainage of farm lands will increase the yield of grain; they have taught scientific methods of caring for fruit trees and fruit and have thus shown the grower how to grow more and to produce higher grades of fruit: they have given instruction in the testing of dairy herds with the result that the production of dairy products in ratio to the number of dairy cows has been considerably increased; they have encouraged the breeding of better the agricultural industry in many other branches. Perhaps the most convincing evidence of the value of this work is shown by the demand for district representatives; this demand is now coming from all corners of the province. In 1907 six of these men (who are graduates of the agricultural college) were placed in six different counties and given a free hand to go ahead and assist in the development of the local agricultural industries. This number has now been increased to forty and there is no doubt that there will soon be several of these men required in every county.

The agricultural college provides for training in all branches of farming as practised in Canada:-general agriculture, animal husbandry, dairying, horticulture, landscape gardening and floriculture. It also gives instruction in the sciences of physics, chemistry, botany, bacteriology, and the like, particularly as related to farming. Other branches such as forestry and manual training are taken up, and we find that the English department has both a cultural and practical side, including not only the study of English authors, but also courses in practical composition and public speaking.

I have seen it contended that this scientific training was not accomplishing the proper results because so many of the graduates did not go back to the farm. It ought to be remembered that the trained agriculturist who goes out a district representative or takes some similar position will do far more to improve and increase the agricultural products of the district under his care than he could possibly do if merely farming on his own account. The president of the agricultural college states that practically all the graduates return to agricultural work and that "the demand has been so great in official positions, in colleges, in experiment stations, as district representatives, agricultural newspaper men, and for men in the departments of agriculture, both provincial and Dominion. that we have not been able to really meet the demand."

But there is another and very important phase of the work of the college which does reach in every case the actual farmer or agricultural worker and does send back to the farm the fruits of scientific instruction. Every winter the college conducts a series of short courses lasting for two weeks and upwards. These are attended by farmers from all parts of the province. During the past term short courses were held on: Stock and seed judging, poultry raising, fruit growing, apple packing, cheese and butter making, cow testing and bee keeping. All the instruction given in connection with these courses is of a thoroly practical nature.

In addition, the college conducts courses in nature study, domestic science, elementary agriculture and manual training for public school teachers. The total attendance in all departments for the past year was 1557, coming from twenty-two different countries, including every continent, every province of the Dominion and ten states of the American Union.

George Christie Creelman, B.S.A., M.S. LL.D., became president of the college at thirtyfour years of age. Despite the fact that he has the great responsibility of conducting this large and important institution without the assistance of any board of trustees or board of control, he loses neither in weight nor geniality as the college terms go by. He is by experience, education and training, as well as by personal disposition, remarkably well fitted for the position he holds. From the farm and the country school to the Collingwood Collegiate Institute. In 1888 he was a member of the first graduating class in agriculture. He was immediately appointed instructor in biology in the agricultural college in Mississippi, where he remained for ten years. He was recalled to Canada by the Hon. John Dryden and placed in charge of the field work of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and upon the appointment of Dr. James Mills to the Dominion Railway Commission, Mr. Creelman was made president of the agricultural college. Under his able and aggressive management the college has spread forth its fame to all corners of the world and given of its graduates to the agricultural uplift not only of its own province but of all the provinces of Canada.

Disputes Between English Speaking Nations

Notwithstanding many occasions of difference between the United Kingdom and the United States, several of serious enough character to provoke settlement by war, all have been settled not always to the entire satisfaction of the parties chiefly concerned. These naturally have been the peoples whose boundaries are coterminous for four thousand miles more than half an imaginary line. The English speaking people are now preparing to celebrate a century of peace and have done wisely by inviting other nations to share in a demonstration of worldwide interest. With France, long the traditional enemy of the British nation, peace has reigned since the hundred days' campaign that ended with the final disappearance of the great Napoleon. No war has left any heritage of trouble for either the British Isles or the German states that federated at Versailles forty years ago. No doubt the last quarter of a century, dating from the rapid industrial and commercial expansion of the German Empire, has witnessed the growth of hostile senti-ment between the two leading Teutonic nations due in part to policy and in part to the influence of the military and armament interests that thrive on international animosity and rivalry. But this last year and specially the earnest co-operation of the two governments in the effort to preserve European peace over the Balkan War, has to a large extent cleared the air. Frank exchange of views and the evidence afforded that Germany's right to a place in the sun is recognized has greatly ameliorated the situation. Even more potent has been the realization that the nations are no longer self-contained. Their monetary interests are now so interlocked and inter-dependent that war without just cause has almost become impossible.

This renders timely an interesting article contributed to the May number of The Yale Law Journal by Mr. Justice Riddell of the Supreme Court of Ontario on the settlement of international disputes by and between the English speaking nations since recognition of the independence of the United States in 1783. The story begins with "Jay's Treaty" of 1794 entered into to settle the controversy regarding the identification of the River St. Croix. To decide what river was the St. Croix one commissioner it was agreed should be appointed by the King and one by the president and that the two should select a third, but if they be one of the most important branches of a could not agree each should propose one and that the lot should then be cast in presence of the commissioners. After the wholly unnecessary war of 1812-14 various matters were by the Treaty of Ghent left to arbitration and these were ultimately arranged either by convention or by the intervention of commissioners In 1842 the northeast boundary line was settled by Webster and Lord Ashburton and in 1853 by another convention a number of outstanding claims by citizens of both countries were adjusted. In 1871 came the celebrated Alabama arbitration which removed one of the most important questions and in 1872 the dispute regarding the Vancouver Channel was decided by the German Emperor. Of more recent dates were the settlement of the seal fisheries trouble, the Alaska boundary and the Atlantic fishing rights. Justice Riddell gives a very clear exposition of these specific cases and reserves consideration of the general treaties for another paper.

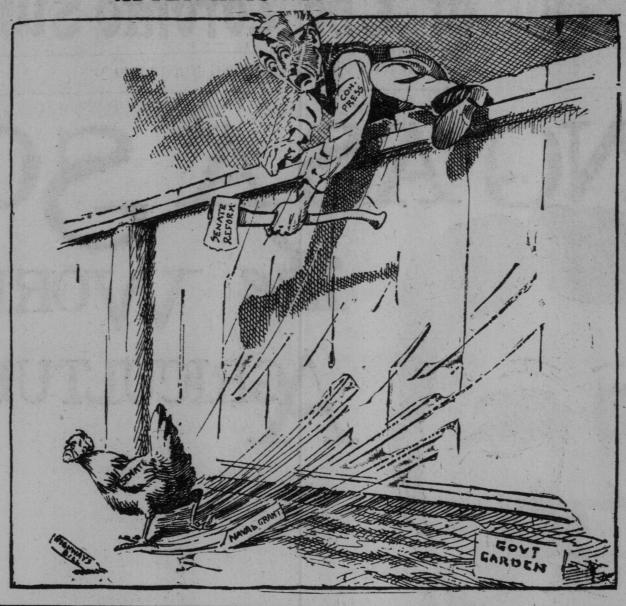

The Britannic Question

Among the many publicists that have devoted themselves to the study of imperial problems none approaches them with greater clarity and breadth of view than Mr. Richard Jebb whose latest contribution to this steadily growing literature has just been published by Longman's, Green and Company of London and New York. It is titled "The Britannic Question, a Survey of Alternatives" and in his introduction the author succinctly explains the purpose of his little volume of 258 pages. Mr. Jebb, to start with, is unusually well equipped for the task of discussing the problem of how to effect a closer and permanent union among the self-governing states of the British Empire. He fully understands the different standpoints from which the statesmen of the Motherland and the statesmen of the Dominions regarding the issue of closer union and he, with equal clearness, recognizes the strength of the national spirit in the individual states and their consequent determination to preserve their right of self-government unimpaired. This leads straight to the root of the question because the two alternatives he considers are those respectively of British Ascendancy of Britannic Equality.

Mr. Jebb's volume treats of so many phases of his important subject that it is impossible, within the compass of a necessarily compressed review, to do more than touch on one or two of them. Perhaps the most important question is whether the Motherland and the Dominions shall be equal partners in a Britannic alliance or whether they, with the Motherland, shall become states in a federation, with limited powers and governed in common affairs by a federal ministry responsible to a federal parliament are the alternatives Mr. Jebb presents. The latter embodies the theories that are more generally held in Britain, the former corresponds with the sentiment conspicuously apparent in the Dominions that each must retain the fullest possible autonomy including control of its naval and military forces. That determination is evidently incompatible with any form of imperial federation. Whatever may be said theoretic ally in favor of the proposal it could only be carried into effect by common consent and this is scarcely likely to be obtained unless a remarkable change in public opinion takes place in the Dominions. In a summary of the position Mr. Jebb remarks that the scheme itself, after twenty years of intellectual effort, remains ill-defined.

In a Britannic alliance or partnership seems to lie the best hope of permanent union. The establishment of a complete understanding among the British States is certainly not beyond the power of their statesmen and the success of the imperial conference goes far to justify the hopes of those who believe in the methods of consultation and co-operation among the practically independent governments. Mr. Jebb observes that, "in general, the difference between the two conceptions of the ideal United Empire may be summarized by saying that, whereas the federal plan seeks to attenuate to the utmost the principle of federation, the autonomist plan seeks to develop to the utmost the principle of alliance. Limited federation, or unlimited alliance? Writen bond or mutual trust? Those are the alternatives to be canvassed." .For an unlimited alliance based on mutual trust "the British Empire, at the present stage of its career offers the only large scale example of that potentiality."

The commissioners deserve every credit for the admirable manner in which they have discharged their duties.

In their recommendations the commission advises that wherever practicable continuation classes should be constituted on a basis of identity or similarity of interests preferably that of occupation. These classes should provide courses for learners in the various industrial, commercial, agricultural and household occupations of the community and also for adult workers desirous of extending their knowledge and increasing their ability. Additional schools or courses are also advised for various grades of continuation scholars and also for highly skilled foremen and managers. For these purposes the commission asks that $30,000,000 of federal aid be granted and urges that the scheme be developed under provincial control. In view of the supreme importance of technical training it is to be hoped that the Federal Government will take the earliest opportunity to submit the necessary legislation to parliament.

The Derby Episode

That was a rash act of the suffragette who attempted to spoil the Derby race at Epsom Downs on Wednesday by throwing herself in front of the King's horse.

The Derby is the greatest sporting event in all England and to have brought about a fiasco would have attracted more attention to the cause than any other method the suffragettes could devise. In all probability Miss Davidson was after the King's horse, which, altho not the favorite, was the most notable entry in the race. If Anmer had been up in the front and had gone down there would have been a spill that would have upset all calculations and resulted in "no race."

The public is at a loss to understand the idea of these enraged women. One day two of them locked themselves in the "Monument" and threw literature down on the passing crowd. This blocked the traffic and caused considerable inconvenience. They have burned stately homes and picturesque churches, annoyed cabinet ministers by petty and violent pected that a scheme of local zones will be work-

Monarchs Who Have Been Dismissed Without Notice.

By Julius Gabs.

BERLIN, June 7 .- King Nicholas of | Montenegro has at last done the great need of his life, and Scutari has fallen. Notwithstanding this tremendous even for little Montenegro, King Nicholas still talks of abdicating, and as Ausria refused to allow Scutari to remain bable that King Nicholas will keep probable that King Nicholas will keep his word. There always seems to be a few disposed or abdicated monarchs knocking around, and tho we seem to have fallen upon peaceful times in the west of Europe, the rest of the world's crowned heads seem doomed to an uneasy time of it. Within the last three years we have seen the rulers of Morocco, Turkey and Persia compelled to retire from business: while among ourselves King Manuel represents the order of the deposed. Certain other monarchs have for some Certain other monarchs have for som time had reason to feel that they are liable to dismissal without notice, and may at any moment have to seek France's Unstable Throne.

Of all the nations, none in modern times has furnished such striking distrations of the instability of thrones as France. There, for 150 years past, but a single monarch, Louis VXIII., has finished his reign with his life. Louis XVI., Charles X., and Napoleon III. were all fercibly dethroned. Louis Philippe, and Napoleon the Great, abdicated, and Louis XVII. never reigned at all, except in name. Yet despite this disheartening record, our Gallic neighbors would not have long to wait, or far to search, should they ever again come to the decision to be ruled by a king, for there are several mon-France's Unstable Throne. by a king, for there are several mon-archs out of business who are anx-lous to be in harness again. Should the line of their ancient Bourbon rulers be preferred, the French could call on Louis Philippe, Duke of Or-leans, who has now been waiting half a century for the "call". Not less will-ing to accept the offer would be such representatives of the Napoleonic dyn-asty as Prince Victor, Prince Charles, or Prince Roland Bonaparte.

swell the list of monarchs whose fur-ther employment in that capacity was dispensed with. The downfall of one ruler has invariably had a disturbing influence in hurling other monarchs influence in hurling other monarchs from their thrones. The downfall of the first Napoleon in 1814 brought about the retreat of quite a host of puppet kings whose realms had been carved out of other people's belongings. Louis of Holland, Eugene of Italy, Joseph of Spain, Jerome of Westphalia, Joachim Murat of Naples, Albert of the Grand Duchy of Warsaw, and Pauline, Princess of Lucca, were all compelled to share the fate of their great patron, and seek a home elsewhere.

Emptied Half the Thrones.

The sudden biaze of revolution which broke out in 1848 emptied half the thrones of Europe, sending into exile the rulers of France, Austria, Prussia, Bavaria, Saxony, Baden, Roumania, and the Pope himself. Their exile, in this instance was, however, of short duration, and in the majority of cases the monarchs were back in power within a few weeks, the most notable exception being Ferdinand of Austria, whose restoration was so little to his taste that he shortly afterwards retired for good in favor of his nephew, the still reigning Francis Joseph, the oldest monarch in Europe. Kings and other royal persons being human, one can readily understand their inability to settle down to new conditions of to settle down to new conditions of life, and to be banished from the land life, and to be banished from the land of their birth.

Plotting to Recover.

King Manuel, for instance, may be justly excused for all his plottings for his lost crown, Queen Victoria, in relation to the schemes of Napoleon III, once said it was perfectly natural for a dethroned monarch to plot for the recovery of his crown. "The lot of a dethroned king, who was born a king, and nothing more, must be dreadful," said Napoleon I. "The pomp of the throne, the gewgaws which surround his cradle, and which accompany him step by step thruout his life, become a necessary condition of his existence."

The Wanderers' Club are making big preparations for their race meet at the Exhibition next Saturday, June 14. The card will consist principally of professional events, and a number of the best speed merchants from the U.S. are coming over to try and capture some of the juloy stakes put up by the club. There will also be several amateur races, open to all amateur riders in good standing with the C. M. C. Bobby Scott, last year's amateur champion, will ride to hold his past honors, and several local riders including Wilf Morrison, Roy Thompson and Miles, as well as riders from London and Hamilton, are expecting to give him a hard tussel. The rolling start will be tried in the professional races, which means that the contestants will be started while at full speed instead of from a standing start as in the past. This will probably eliminate the danger of falls in starting, and will assure better time in these races. Harold Cole, Joe Barribeau, and Ernie McIntosh are to represent Toronto, while riders from Rochester, Buffalo and other towns across the border are expected to make things lively for the local pros.

prepartion for building will be required.

The first building projected is an immense drop forge plant to be situated in the centre of the plot. Lighting and ventilating will be the most up-to-date obtainable, and comfortable working conditions for employes are to be anoother feature.

An immense store house for receiving raw stock also figures in the plans of the company, in addition to many other buildings. Another modern feature will be continuous passages connecting all the unit buildings, and of sufficient size to permit the entrance of the largest motor trucks for the receipt and distribution of material in the shortest possible time.

The answer to this phenomenal era. The answer to this phenomenal era of expansion is found in the tremendous and continuous output in the tremend-ous and continuous output in the com-pany's home and foreign market. Indian motorcycles are being sold in every civilized country of the globe, and large orders are being received almost daily.

Motorcycle "Ramble."

California motorcyclists are making great preparations for the "Sunset Ramble" which is to take place in June, under the auspices of the Los Angeles Motorcycle Club. Two hundred applications have already been received from persons desiring to take part in the ride and there will be riders from San Diego, Riverside, Redlands, Pomona and several other southern California cities join the tour.

You don't need much room for a Preston All Steel Garage. A few square feet is all that is necessary. Think it over—there is plenty of room in your yard for a garage, and yet you pay out from $100 to $150 each year for public garage expenses. This expenditure is dead loss and absolutely unnecessary.

But why a Preston All Steel Garage? There are many reasons: Firstly. They save from $100 to $150 each year; secondly. they are fire, burglar, and weather-proof. The exterior finish of a Preston All Steel Garage makes it suitable for any locality or surroundings. These garages are built on the "solid foundation" principle and will not rattle with the wind.

The first cost of a Preston All Steel Garage is the only cost and it is small.

Some Hints on a Workshop.

The lower cross-pieces, which are yet, from the ground, are mortised into the legs, while the upper cross-bars are nalived into them. A couple of bolts will secure these parts very firmly. The top of the bench would be best made of hard wood, and be treated far more tenderly, and last longer and conduce to better work than if it were merely rough planks loosely nailed together.

If the floor of the workship be tiled or cemented a space of about three feet in width should be boarded or covered with matting round the bench, lathe, and any other tools that are much used. Not only is it more comfortable to stand on such a surface, but also if finished work should fall out of the hand it is not so likely to be bruised or injured on coming in contact with the floor.

In a 6ft. bench the legs ought to be 6in. from the ends. Allowing for the thickness of the legs, this leaves a space of 4ft. 6in. between them. This space should have a tier of drawers 15in. wide next each leg, and an empty space 1ft. 10in. wide between them, as is sometimes seen in sideboards. Four drawers of an average depth of 5in. can be put at each side, but it is bet-

Improvised Grease Gun.

It often happens that the motorist is in somewhat of a hurry to get a given amount of light grease into a certain receptacle and the process of forcing it out thru the ordinary nozzle of the grease gun is a bit slower than he relishes. The writer recently discovered a very simple, but satisfactory substitute for ordinary methods in a case of this sort. The part to be lubricated was the back axle. The cap and nozzle were removed from the business end of the grease gun, leaving the instrument open. A common funmes are as shown herewith:

"So it is no longer necessary to convince a man that a motor car is practicable. The whole selling problem today is one of the greatest value and dependability of service for the lowest price. In the car that combines efficiency, continued service on the part of the company, and lowest price the man of today finds his ideal vehicle. "In the years to come there will be no incredulous persons to convince that the motor-driven vehicle is feasible. From now on the question is slimply one of quality, service and price. Therefore, with this unhampered field the coming years should see the sales of the past largely increased."

"Motor car prospects, or people who are or would be in the market for a car if the matter were called to their list beginning to be car if the matter were called to their attention, are just beginning to be looked after by the representatives of the different companies. Most of the big companies have sold cars they could manufacture without any intensive prospecting for prospects. The Ford Motor Company for the last two years, despite its huge outputs, has sold its cars many months before the end of its manufacturing year, and could have sold many more had it been able to build them. This year the same condition will be true.

For every good road built, automobiles are sold, and with the sale of every automobile the demand for more good roads increasts. Never before in history has there been such a concerted and world-wide demand for improved highways as during the year just passed. Distances measured in minutes not in miles. When that time comes, and it is rapidly approaching, when poorly constructed and maintained roads will no longer be tolerated, all the world will travel by motor car.

Percy Haswell in Pinero's "Amazons"

A Story of Mannish Women to Be Next Offering of Toronto's Favorite Actress.

For the third week of what has been so far her most successful season in Toronto, Miss Haswell will offer at the Alexandra Theatre this week. "The Amazons," by Arthur Wing Pinero. The play was first presented in America by the Daniel Frohman Stock Company at the Lyceum Theatre in New York in 1894. Its triumph was so great as to justify the management in raising the prices of seats in certain parts of the house.

In the original New York cast were such well known players as Herbert Kelcey, Charles Wolcott, Fritz Wilhams, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Georgia Cayvan, Bessie Tyrell and Mrs. Thomas Whiffen. In the recent revival made by Miss Billie Burke in New York; Williams and Gottschalk were in the company. Mr Pinero may Cayvan, Bessie Tyrell and Mrs. Thomas Whiffen. In the recent revival made by Miss Billie Burke in New York; Williams and Gottschalk were in the company. Mr. Pinero may be said to have written the merry and fantastic play by way of relaxation after the more serious mental effort involved in the composition of the famous drama "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," and "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith." It may therefore be regarded as a remarkable evidence of the author's versatility.

In "The Amazons," he attempts no rificism of iffe he sought to salve no registress of the savelt splendidly.

criticism of life, he sought to solve no problem of morality, sociology nor psychology; he merely permitted himbelf to dally with the mannish woman ldea in the lightest, gentlest spirit of satire and in a most whimsical mood of the Visitation in Georgetown, Washof romance. The freshness, delicate humor and unconventionality of the play and the quaint pertiness of the girls masculine attire, captivated the playgoers of London and New York as well as other cities, and "The Arnazons" became the talk of the course.

The announcement that Louis N. Parker's quaint and charming comedy of English life of the time of George III., "Pomander Walk" is to be presented by the Bonstelle Players at Shea's Theatre is doubly welcome. It is rarely that the people of Toronto have an opportunity of seeing this PHOTO PLAYS, SINGING AND beautiful idyll, and this fact, coupled with the fact that the comedy is to be presented by such an able com-pany as the Bonstelle Players have proved themselves to be, ensure this week being the record week of the Walk" has turned out a comedy of such delicate and exquisite texture that it reminds you of some beautiful old lace kerchief which the slightest puff of wind might blow away. But it will be many a week before either a puff of wind or a hurricane can blow 'Poman'ler Walk' away from Wallack's Theatre.

"Watching these gentle simpleminded creatures, living out their little joys and tragedies in 'Pomander Walk' makes you forget for the moment that there are such latter-day ogres as automobiles, stock markets and 'busted' tires. It brings 'The Land That Never Was' right to your doorstep, or rather to your orchestra chair.

Because Holland is a small country, and because it includes no scenery of heroic mould or proportions, it is not usually considered wonderful. That this impression is entirely wrong is proved by the scenes to be presented by Lyman H. Howe at the Grand Opera House, commencing next Monday matines. Those who witness this reproduction will be sure to form an entirely new conception of the real scenic glories of the place. It is true that the country is flat, but it is just this feature which explains its oddity, and gives it a peculiarly pictuesque quality that can be found in no other land. It is exactly this flatness which permits those sweeping perspectives over broad green meadows etched boldly by silvery canals and windmills and which, in turn makes every tree or other object on the landscape stand out in a wonderfully effective manner.

The promises to make a direct appeal to the manner. In the manner. It is a study of the study of the study of the study of the sky. first time—they reveal every subtle hue and tint of the original. From a purely artistic viewpoint one particular portion of these scenes is especially noteworthy. It is well known that the windmills of Holland are as typical of the nation's industrial life as the renowned Holland sky is typical in a scenic sense. In order to present these pronounced characteristics in one picture, a number of windmills are shown first at sunset, and then by moonlight. The series also shows a group of Hollanders returning from the fields at sunset. The picturesque effect is intensified to the highest degree by the fact that in the rich but subdued tints of eventide, their figures are outlined in silhouette on the brow of a hill with a rolling sea of clouds overhead. Aside from this and other scenic features of surpassing charm, such as a ride thru the Sinplon Tunnel and the Niagara Gorge, the new program includes other scenes that are of such a thrilling nature as to exceed the expectations of the most sanguine spectator. One of these depicts the narrow escape of three terror-stricken refugees from the jaws of an infuriated lion of exceptional size and ferocity. After being recaptured in a pit containing a cage, the lids of which close automatically when the lion jumps in, the enraged beast makes a second escape and again starts in furious pursuit of human prey.

Another subject which affords thrills of an entirely different nature shows the blowing up of a mountain. A thrill of still another kind—of anxiety for our fellowmen—is imparted by scenes of the amazing daring of structural irron workers on the top-most girders of skyscrapers along Broadway, New York. How close death is lurking at their heels every moment while performing their work under conditions so precarious that a misstep nossible

York. How close death is lurking at their heels every moment while performing their work under conditions so precarious that a misstep possibly of only an inch would mean a tragic fall of over 600 feet, is convincingly shown. Again another feature, and one that promises to make a direct appeal because of its gentle charm and naturalness, is a study of bird life in the exact tints and hues of nature. The birds depicted are chaffinches and tomitts—timid and wary creatures that are exceedingly difficult to photograph because of their shyness and distrust of human intrusion.

Sixty Moving Picture Theatres in Toronto Increase of Provincial License a Hardship

The past five years has seen a tremendous development in the art of producing moving pictures for the entertainment of the public. There are sixty of these theatoriums in Toronto today, and about twenty-five are being built, some of the new places being capable of seating more than one thousand people. In Ontario there are 325 of these places of entertainment, there being no town of any size in the province that does not boast of a "movie" ahow.

Several of the Toronto houses are so small that it is said that within the next few weeks at least ten of them will go out of business owing to their inability to pay the increased provincial license. Last year there was a flat rate of $75 for each machine used. The provincial regulations have been changed so that there is now no the entertainment of the public.

limit to the number of machines, but the rates for large towns and cities have been materially increased. For towns of under 3000 inhabitants, the license is $75 for a booth, from 3000 to 15,000, $100, and over 15,000, $150.

The Moving Picture Association of Ontario, of which Mr. Noel Mandell is the secretary, is opposing this increase, on the ground that it is unfair, and that many proprietors of picture theatres in Toronto, and elsewhere, will not be able to exist, if they have to pay it. It is pointed out that some of them in Toronto have not 15,000 population to draw from. When a theatre is started in a good locality and and makes money, half a dozen theatres will open, and they will all be drawing from the same district.

On Monday last, when the new fees went into effect, one house with a capacity of 150 seats was closed, and there are ten other houses in Toronto who will probably be forced out of business. In addition to the provincial license, these theatres have to pay a local license of $50. Hamilton is limited to nine licenses, which of course are very valuable, and the local fee is $200. Brantford charges a fee of $300, and there are three moving picture theatres there.

A great many people have an

A great many people have an idea, that the "movies" make a barrel of money. It all depends on the location and the capacity of the house, but there are many houses with such limited capacity, that it can be easily understood, that they do not all reap large receipts. They have to pay, in addition to rent, help, etc., high rates for the films, and in some class of entertainment, these figures are quite large.

The bill provided by Mr. G. R. Joy at the Family Theatre, 2173 Queen west, is up-to-date in every respect, and is sure to give every satisfaction to those patroniaing his house. An outstanding feature is the method of ventilation which ensures a continual flow of pure and wholesome air thruout the building.

The Bloor Palace Theatre provides a delightful array of high-class motion pictures, and the management are always anxious to give satisfaction to its many patrons. One of the most pleasing features of the splendid program is the orchestra which certainly adds greatly to the enjoyment of the entertainment.

It is hoped that two new moving ploture theatres will be opened in Wychwood shortly. There appears to be a good deal of protest being carried on, but a good, healthy, clean show is considered by the majority of the residents as desirable, and there is sure to be a good deal of support given to the promoters of these new enterprises.

England figured on the probable winner of the great classic, and they early all agreed that the colt Crag-anour was the best, consequently this one was a strong favorite with the general public and when this colt finished in front by a head advantage of the 100 to 1 shot. Aboyeur, the backers of the favorite were jubilant, but their joy was short-lived as the stewards, after duly investigating the running of the race, disqualified Craganour on account of his jockey's (Johnny Reiff), rough riding, and placed Aboyeur first, Louvois, the second choice in the bottling, was placed second, and Great Sport, third.

Aboyeur, the ultimate winner, is Irish-bred, like Craganour, and they are the sons of the same sire, the St. Simon stallion Desmond, and Aboyeur's dam was Pawkey, which probably suggested his own name, the French for a barker or growler. Last year he ran six races for Mrs. Cundiff and won once the Champagne Stakes at the Bibury Club meeting. This year he ran once, finishing fourth in the Easter Monday Stakes at Kempton Park, Hippeastrum, Roseworthy and Foxglove were in front of him, but behind him were seven others, including Flippant, Rock Flint and Sanguhar, all considered Derby possibili-

Two decades later one of the most tragic episodes in the history of the race was chronicled. This was in the Derby of 1867, which was run in a snowstorm. Hermit, the property of Hon. Henry Chaplin, minister in the last Corrections of the content of the correction of the correction scene of the famous Epsom Downs on he day of the Derby. A not inappro priate setting, considering the tragic climax, is furnished by the weather in the shape of a heavy snowstorm altho it is the end of May. The principals of our play are there. Mr. Chaplin is the owner of Hermit, a forforn looking candidate, that was reported to have broken a blood vesse and that stood shivering in the snow-swept paddock without having had a ands, betting book in hand, and, animated by a singular perversity, man he has already cruelly wronged. The cause of all this ill feeling, the beautiful marchioness, is beside her husband.

Heavy Wagering. The duel begins. The marquis lays thousand after thousand against Hermit, and the horse's owner-the discarded lover—takes each bet as it is offered. The horses go to the post, snow continues to fall heavily while the thirty competitors face the starter.

We who live in the height of prosperity in Canada cannot imagine the privations and tribulations of the poor of merrie England.

And now let us turn to the history of the famous race. To the credit of Britons let it be said that this race is not run for the sum at stake. The honor of winning the premier event all? Could Hermit get up in time? for the sum at stake. The the impossible to be achieved after winning the premier event all? Could Hermit get up in time?

Plans for two of the most important arness racing meetings which have ever been given in this country, or perhaps in the world, were completed perhaps in the world, were completed last week, in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which will be held in San Francisco in 1915. These meetings will be held in June and October, respectively, of the above year, and it has been decided that they will be conducted under the direction of the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, of which E. P. Heald is president and Fred W. Kelley is secretary. The aggregate of the purses to be offered is the enormous sum of $225,000, and they will include a purse of $20,000 for trotters, and another of the same value for pacers. With the exception of the first American Trotting Derby, no purse of such value has been offered for harness horses since the Bonner Memorial at Brighton Beach in 1903, and none for a quarter of a century prior to that. Brighton Beach in 1903, and none for a quarter of a century prior to that. Secretary Kelley is to commence at once the work of promoting these meetings, and working up an interest among the breeders and horsemen. A new mile tack for them has been started, and ng expense will be spared in its construction. The Breeder and Sportsman says: "The meetings have been so arranged that horsemen from the east will be attracted here with their crack trotters and pacers to put in the winter of 1914, so that their charges will be ready for the early races in June. That meeting will not interfere with the horsemen continuing around the Grand Circuit, and they can then return here in October for can then return here in October for the fall meeting. With all the big matters thoroly threshed out, the Breeders' Association will get to work at once making conditions and map-ping out races, so that horsemen can send in their entries."

A dispatch from Washington Cour

The racing during the few days that Belmont Park has been open this season, has been of the highest character and some of the best horses in the country have been seen in competition there, notably the crack Whiskbroom, son of Broomstick, that Harry Payne Whitney raced successfully in England and that won the Metropolitan on the opening day of the Belmont ing well, and unless he makes a quick whitney raced successfully in England and that won the Metropolitan on the opening day of the Belmont's Rockiew, that won the Withers on the second day.

The revival of racing in New York and radical improvement in manners his name will not head any summaries. Barney Gibbs is a-weary of the race's owned by prominent American turfmen away from the Ontario Jockey Club's spring meeting, which closed last Saturday at Woodbine Park and deprived us of an opportunity of seeing Whiskbroom perform in the Toronto Cup, where he was entered, still we had plenty of racing material here and local patrons were treated to a superior class of sport.

The same commercialism that almost put a quietus on the sport in the State of New York is very much in evidence in this country at the present time and more than one race meeting is being promoted with the sole object of making money for those in control and this condition of affairs is sure to bring about trouble on this skle just as it did in New York. Of course, no association will continue to conduct race meetings at a loss and it would be unteresting at a loss and it would be untere Geers. however, is a past master in the art of balancing trotters, and it is almost a sure thing that he will get Zomblack going properly again by shoeing the horse as James had him shod, but to correct the manners of Barney Gibbs may be a more difficult task.

Cult task.

Geers, famed for placidity, easily is peeved by a bad acting horse. He once had a high-priced pacer which was all right except that every now and then he would take a high dive without warning or excuse. After one of those performances, which had caused him to be distanced, Geers gazed fixedly at the steed for an instant and then said:

Wedding Notices

HILL-PEPALL.

At three o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Wesley Methodist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding when the marriage took place of Miss Isabel Beatrice Pepall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pepall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pepall, to Mr. Edwin Augustus Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hill of Port Credit. The ceromony was performed by Rev. C. Sykes, Dr. Gutzeit presiding at the organ. During the signing of the register Mr. Fred Tisdale sang the bridal solo. The brida was given away by her father, and wore a gown of white charmeuse trimmed with rose point lace, the gift of the groom's mother a tulle veil arranged as a cap with wreath of orange blossom. She carried a shower of orchids and lily of the valley and wore the groom's gift, a diamond ring. She was attended by Mrs. Bryce Hunter as matron of honor. Miss Ressie Hunter and Miss Grace Peterson were bridesmaids. Mr. William Hill was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Bryce Hunter, Mr. W. H. Leroy, Mr. Arthur Hill and Mr. Harry Pepall. After the ceremony Mrs. Pepall held a reception at the family residence, 541 Dovercourt road, and was wearing violet satin and black hat with pink roses and carrying pink roses. The groom's mother was in terra cotts silk with hat to match. Later on the bride and groom left for a trip to New York, the former traveling in a suit of cream serge and white hat with king's blue ribbon.

LUMBERS-BLUEGRASS.

A quiet wedding took place on Monday in Holy Trinity Church where Miss Doro-thy McLean, eldest daughter of Mr. and thy McLean, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bluegrass, Laurier, Ont., was united in marriage to Thomas Arthur Lumbers, youngest son of William Lumbers, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. D. T. Owen.

The bride, who was given away by her cousin, Mr. John A. Cooper, wore her traveling suit of king's blue silk and French hat with plumes to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of lilles of the valley and orchids. Little Miss Mabel Lumbers, niece of the groom, acted as ring bearer, and during the signing of the register Miss Marie Lumbers sang "O Perfect Love." After the ceremony the couple left on the 5 o'clock train for Buffalo, Detroit and Atlantic City. They will be at home after June 18 at their cottage, 673 Lake Front, Hanlan's Point.

Biggar, daughter of the late C. R. W. Biggar, K.C., to Mr. H. Eden Smith, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eden Smith of wychwood Park took place very quietly on account of a recent bereavement in the family, at three o'clock Tuesday afternoon in St. Thomas' Church. The ceremony was performed by the rector, the Rev. Ensor Sharp, assisted by Rev. Patterson Smyth of Montreal, who came up for the wedding. Mr. Tattersall, the organist, played the wedding marches and soit music thruout the service. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. George Biggar and wore a beautiful gown of white duchess satin, trimmed with rose point lace, and a tulle veil with wreath of orange blossom. She carried a shower of lily of the valley and orchids and wore the groom's gift, a gold watch bracelet. She was attended by her sister, Miss Geraldine Grantham is visiting in Cobourg.

On the 5th of March, 1912, the Board heard an application of the Natural Resources Security Company, the owners of the Townsite of Fort George, for the location of a station on the G. T. P. at or near the Fort George Townsite. No final decision as to the location of a station was reached by the Board at that time, and the matter was, as far as the Board was concerned, permitted to remain in abeyance.

In an application dated 24th January last, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Co. applied to the Board for the approval of its station site and station at Prince George at M.466.3, Prince Rupert East. After the usual investigation by the Operating Department of the Board, the approval of the location was recommended and order No. 18902 dated the March 20th, 1913, was issued by the Board, approving of that station site.

Study the Map---It Tells the Story FORT GEORGE The main passenger sta-ion as ordered by the Do-ninion Railway Commis-tion is located three thou-and feet east of the ownsite and is shown on

At the time that the Order was made the Board was not aware that the Prince George station site, for which the Railway Company had applied for approval, in any way conflicted with the Fort George station, which the Natural Resources Security Company had applied for more than a year ago; and, upon it being brought to the attention of the Board that the Prince George site, approved of by the Order above mentioned, was detrimental to the interests of Fort George, this matter was set down to give all parties an opportunity of being heard. Therefore, bearing all interests in mind, I think the site I have decided upon should be adopted by the Board. Order No. 18902 of the 20th March last should be rescinded, and the Railway Company should be requested to file a plan showing a station at a point three thousand feet east of the Eastern Boundary of the Fort George Townsite.

Mr. George J. Hammond, who made a strenuous fight for station facilities for the new town which he fathered and developed, has won his contention. Fort George remains Fort George, and those who bought land in the Fort George Townsite on the faith of Mr. Hammond's representations, have the satisfaction of knowing that he has been justified in the attitude he adopted. This is a great victory for Mr. G. J. Hammond and for those who have supported him in the four-year-long fight against the campaign of slander and misrepresentation conducted against him and his company, the Natural Resources Company, by short-sighted rivals and the G. T. P. itself.

This decision means that the contentions of Mr. Hammond and those who have supported him have been soundly based from the beginning." (May 12.)

The decision of the Railway Commissioners has been hailed with satisfaction by those in British Columbia who have followed the case. Prominent among them is Mr. George J. Hammond, of Vancouver, the man who placed Fort George on the map. The decision ends a battle covering a period of three years, at a cost which is said to amount to one hundred thousand dollars. In this affair Mr. Hammond represented the interests of numerous clients resident in many parts of the world. The repute of the Province and of the methods followed by its business men was at stake. OCATED at the junction of the main waterways of Central British Columbia, Fort George is on the line of every railway building or projected through this immense territory. Rails are now approaching it from the east, the West, and the South. It has been selected as the main pay-roll centre for the railway construction through Central and Northern British Columbia, and the Peace River District, for the next five years. Beginning at once, a million dollars a month will be distributed in wages at Fort George to ten thousand construction men. Fort George is a live-wire town right now. There are openings for all kinds of business. If you want to help handle the million dollar a month pay-roll, go to Fort George. If you want to start at the beginning of the upbuilding of a great city and country of unparalleled natural resources, delightful climate and magnificent scenery, go to Fort George. A merry little Group went slumming Saturday afternoon. They attended a Ball Game. Loretta had her Chim over the railing and evinced a keen Interest, her only Difficulty being that she never knew which Side was at bat. At dusk she began hanging on the Family Jewels. It was a formal Dinner Party with a list made up by Dun and Bradstreet.

Here she tucked back her Velenciennes and proceeded to cop a little Pin-Money at the soul-destroying same known as Bridge.

At 11.30 she led a highly connected volunteer Wine Pusher out into the Conservatory and told him she did not think it advisable to marry him until she had learned his First Name.

Shortly after Midnight she blew arriving at headquarters just in time to participate in a Chafing-Dish Jubilea promoted by only Brother, just back from the Varsity.

She approached the Porcelain in a chastened mood that Sabbath morning. She was thinking of the Night before and of playing Cards for Money.

She rememocred the glare of Light from overhead and the tense, eager Faces peering above the Paste-Boards. Then she recalled, with a sharp catch of the Breath and a little tug of Pain at the Heart that she had balled herself up at one Stage and got dummied out of a Grand Slam.

The problem was solved. She would build a pier!

And so she did. She donned a very appropriate costume for the occasion and with the assistance of a willing helper, dragged and sawed and hammered and all the rest of it, until there was a substantial tieing place for the boats, jutting out from the stretch of land in front of her house. Naturally, the job took some time to finish, and required infinite patience. And it was necessary to wade out in the cool waves to place the first posts of the pier. But one is unmolested up in that district and such obstac'es seemed nothing to this ambitious jobber and joiner. Some day the snapshot of the pier in the act of construction with be unearthed. When the mere mention of newspaper publicity mere mention of newspaper publicity was hinted at it took a hasty retreat into a hidden cavity somewhere.

when one goes into a certain room of Miss Adamson's home one sees a very comfortable looking couch which stretches out inviting arms and bids the guest defy all laws of convention and sinks into its downy depths. It is piled with cushions and affords a privileus haven for any who may have luxurious haven for any who may have dropped in for a cup of tea. There is almost always sure to be a big, fluffy angora cat huddled up in it. But he is a good-tempored beast, and does not resent being chased away, providing the chasing is done with extreme tact

You would never dream that this comfy couch had its being in the little room with the sloping walls. The ends are made the same as the foot ends are made the same as the foot of the bed, which was in construction, the day I was allowed into the sacred sanctum of jobbing and joining. Probably you would notice this similarity. Otherwise, you could not have the most meagre idea as to the nativity of the comfortable couch. And that is not all. A large chair, equally as inviting as the couch was formed by the plane and saw, and hammer of this attic workshop. Not to forget the brain which ordered the manipulation of the same three implements of manufacture.

Suppose the "young hot bloods" were to blow up St. Paul's (which they probably had no intention of doing the other day), what would happen? Would the vote be brought any nearer? Not by a day, not by an hour. The sole result would be, I imagine, the rapid passing of a law to enforce the electrocution of everyone concerned in such crimes. Also a few of the criminals might be torn to pieces by angry mobs. But as for "terrorizing" the nation, that is a childish thought. "Joyful Heatherby"

"Listen—T am He that liveth and was dead; and behold I am alive forevermore and have the keys of heil and of death.""
"What does that mean to you, Joyful?"
"I think it means that while we can't understand, yet we can trust, for Christ has the keys, the keys that will liberate. I never think that anyone is to be forever in one place; everything moves and changes, and things are transformed—they die and come to life again. I believe even more in spirit than I do in body, Marie. You see what I mean; here is your beautiful body lying all crushed and torn, and you, oh, Marie! you have got to leave it here, and when you have left it, it must be laid away, but you, you, dear, that which shines now in your face, the cruel wheels could not touch it. The you that looks into my eyes, that is real, as real as God. You see God must be, or there would be no you to live, to love me, to go out of what lies here on this bed and leave it to its fate. Listen, Marie, Do you truly love me? Is your love real? Then, Marie, it can't be this crushed, hurt thing that lies here that loves out of your eyes into mine. Love can't exist without a source, and this you that is loving me so will go and find God. Just as your love draws my heart to you, so His love will draw yours to Him. No matter what you have done, He will know the love in you, and you will find God. Oh, I know. Marie; I am not afraid of God, I never have been."

By PAYNE ERSKINE.

Beneath the sunny blue of a May day sky, amid the lisp of leaves and ripple of bird songs, with never a human footfall or a human voice to interrupt the solitude of the wilderness, I read "Joyful Heatherby." This latest production from the pen of Payne Erskine, author of "The Mountain Girl," and "When the Gates Lift up Their Heads," tells the story of a young girl, pure and sweet and lovely, who spent the early years of her life amid just such idyllic remoteness from the world as this sylvan nook of mine, until circumstances forced her, alone and friendless, out into the city.

Now, in this Canada of ours—I know for I have proved it—a girl, alone, young and quite as inexperienced, may sojourn in one of our big cities and meet with nothing there to impair her ideals or shatter her faith in mankind. She may find unfailing kindness and uplifting companionships, and return with the conviction that "the world" is not so black after all as it is painted, Perhaps it is otherwise in New York.

with the conviction that "the world" is not so black after all as it is painted. Perhaps it is otherwise in New York.

A Simple Life.

In a little sheltered cove with the sea in front and the forest behind lived Joyful Heatherby. Her parents were dead, but she was treated with the utmost gentleness and love by her grandfather and grandmother. Mr. Heatherby had been a sailor, and still went out fishing sometimes in his old boat. His son had died on the sea. The only anxiety that ever came to the cove was when grand-daddy stayed out too long. Grandmother always had a "spell" at such times, a harmless little mind weakness of one whom the sea had deprived of many loved ones. Joyful had a few good friends, chiefly Elizabeth Drew, a beautiful and cultured girl whom she designated as "Lady Faire," and Nathanael and Jack Steddard. Nathanael, who had renounced his own ambitions in order that his gifted brother might go to college, now plodded and dreamed on his father's farm.

The girl happily performed her simple household tasks, and unconsidered the cover in the cover have been."

The Artist Enters.

"When a man, starting out in the enthusiasm of youth, has toiled and hoped on into the earnestness of manhood, patiently, perseveringly seeking to maintain his ideals in spite of all that the world offers in exchange therefor, and finds at last he has brought up against a blank wall of in-difference, what is he to do but take the antidote for his suffering that nature benignly gives—to lie awhile on her breast, bathe in her streams, listen to her bird songs and the voices of her woods, revivify himself with her pure breezes, and let his soul become once more enlightened by God's sun-light streaming over all? Mark Thorn, vaguely feeling this instinctive long-ing for the natural cure of his hurt, sought it out, even as a vine trails its length toward its natural support, or a flower seeks the sun."

Mark Thorn was an artist, and the the cold indifference which the public accorded his work, and even worse the lack of appreciation and sympathy in the beautiful girl he was to marry some day. Louise Parsons had as sayed to spur her lover on to success, but he understood perfectly that he must win the world's applause before he could win her love. He knew his work was good, but simply because it was American in theme the public, who demanded foreign art, would have

So Mark left the unseeing, unfeeling city behind and set out he knew not whither. Chance directed him to Woodbury Centre, where the thread of his life was to be so closely woven with other life-threads. Joyful's fresh beauty and simple innocence pleased his artistic nature, and in him the girl found a friend who could understand and appreciate her quaint, romantic views of life. Joyful believed that everyone, like the knights of old, had nsters to fight-trials and temptations to be overcome and wrongs to be set right—before he could amount to anything. Mark found in these

Some people keep a whole stable full of hobby horses (for frequently one hobby is born of another), which which they ride in turn; but the person who has only one is likely to become better acquainted with it.

Hobbies are the lineal descendants of the renowned old steed Pegasus, and are bred in the wild, free places of the earth. They bear their owners far from sordid cares into a blessed region of rest and relaxation from whence the weary, jaded riders return refreshed, to pursue their ordinary vocations.

refreshed, to pursue their ordinary vocations.

He who rides the hobby horse never takes the bediam road; it is the man of one idea who goes mad.

Your hobby may be anything from stones to sters, art to agriculture, beetles to books; a bibliomaniae is greatly preferable to a dipsomaniae, and much less likely to become an inmate of a lunatic asylum. The greatest opstacles in the pursuit of hobbies are the clean or mean housekeepers who object strenuously to what they are pleased to call a "clutter" or to any outlay on articles, that to their narrow vision are apparently useless. One city man, whose harmless hobby was the collection of stuffed birde, was obliged to keep his interesting possessions at a taxidermist's on account of the violent opposition of his wife. Another, who had a great love for live birds was not permitted to keep any. He however got even with his better (?) half, for during her prolonged absence in Europe he turned the drawing room into an aviary. Let us hope she was wiser on her return. Do not discourage your children, oh, mothers, by throwing out what you term their rubbish! The hobbies of the little ones are often dearer to their hearts than the old rocking horse. The collector of pebbles may be an infant geologist.

thorpe in Lancomsanre, on the chart coast of England. For several months the author worked in absolute seclusion in that out-of-the-way spot, which was then not yet overrun by excursionists, and on the wonderful sands stretching miles upon miles coastwise, and here and there as much as a mile out to sea, he tried to live over again the days of Montcalm and Wolfe. Appropriately enough the book was begun in a hotel at Mabelthorpe called "The Book in Hand." The name came from the fact that, in a far-off day, a ship was wrecked upon the coast there, and the only person saved was the captain, who came ashore with a Bible in his hands. There was much trouble in finding a title for the book. At last one day Mr. Grant Richards, the English publisher, who was at that time a journalist, went down from London to Mabelthorpe to interview the author. Gilbert Parker told him of his troubles, saying: "You see, it is the struggle of one simple girl against principalities and powers: it is the final conquest of the good over the great. In other words, the book will be an illustration of the text, "He has put down the mighty from their seats, and has exalted the humble and meek." "Then, like a flash, the title came—The Seats of the Mighty.

The cultivation of a hobby prolongs youth by adding a fresh zest to life. The artist walks miles to paint the lovely bit of landscape; the bookworm is never tired of haunting the old book stalls, the antiquarian revels in past ages, the boy who collects his postage stamps or catches his specimens of natural history, has no desire to linger on the street corner.

If you have not a hobby go out and pray the gods to give you one, it cannot be bought, but the possession thereof will afford you many hours of innocent enjoyment.

Icy fringes, violet shadows,
Every roof a creamy sheet;
Ridges of gray broken silver
Up and down the misty street.

One by one Mr. Muddiman brings the Canadian poets before us. Mention should be made of Robert Service, whose poems are well known in this country, where his "Songs of a Sour Dough" attracted much attention. Then, too, of course, Drummond with his "Habitant" poems is not forgotten. He roes are expected to rise from prison life, and his characters are not seriously overdrawn.

Heroes are expected to rise from poverty to affluence in a short time, and James Montgomery is not a bad sort of chap. Mike Tierney of the police is a good character, but the delineation is faulty in the closing chapters. The real Mike would not have displayed any soft spot. Also Bill Hawkins' conversion was rather too sudden and too permanent for Bill's class. Balkans.

The figures are official. They refer to the Bulgarian losses alone, and to this terrible list one will have to add the losses of the Servians, Greek, Montenegrins and Turks. The returns show that there have been:

Killed—350 officers, 29.711 men.

Wounded—950 officers, 52.550 men.

Missing, 3.593 officers and men.

This makes a total casualty list of 86.734. When one considers that the total Bulgarian force cannot possibly have numbered more than 350,000 the total of the dead is apapiling, considering the fact that the war was so quickly over.

Bulgaria has a total male population of some 2.200,000 of all ages, so that one male in every twenty-five in the country is either dead, wounded or missing.

During the two years of the South African War the total British deaths in South Africa were: Officers, 1.072; men, 20.870.

The total British casualties during the war (including sick, wounded, and prisoners), were: Officers, 4,188; men. 93.289.

Karoniawakes Oskenou'on is the name that belongs to a staiwart son of the Mohawk tribe, who has recently been discovered to possess a remarkable base voice. This however is not his sole possession, for he speaks a fluent French, good English and is at present an Arts Student. He also shows spiendid musical ability and his paintings of indian lore could not be surpassed among amateurs. This telented young chief is the discovery of Mr. Stuart Barker, who has undertaken his vocal instruction, and he hopes to present him publicly in recital with other pupils, in the early fall. He will appear in a gorgeous native costume.

Mr. Edgar Fowlston, who has recently arrived from England to join the staff of the Canadian Academy of Music, will take charge of Mr. Francis Fischer Powers' class during the summer months, while Mr. Powers is away on vacation. Mr. Fowlston has a very fine voice himself, a bass-cantanti, with a range from low E, to high A. He sings and teaches the Lamperti method which he acquired from masters of wide repuic. Mr. Fowlston has appeared at several of Mr. Powers' May musicalis, when the beautiful quality of its voice was the subject of much favorable comment. Canada to Have National Opera

Max Rabinoff Will Direct Organization Which is to Succeed the Montreal Opera Company.

With Max Rabinoff as managing director. Canada is to have a national opera company, its first season to open in Montreal on November 17. The organization is supported by some of the Dominion's richest and most influential men which at once puts it on crganization is supported by some of the Dominion's richest and most influential men which at once puts it on a solid financial basis, and the productions are to be of the very highest class. As permanent members of the company Mr. Rabinoff has already secured some of the best known artists in the operatic world, and negotiations are being carried on with some of the great Metropolitan and Chicago singers to become guest artists of the Canadan company. A series of symphony concerts, with instrumental soloists, will be a feature, but the greatest attraction of all will be the "Safson Ballet Russe," with Anna Pavlowa.

In Montreal the season will be eight weeks, and four weeks will be divided between Toronto, Ottawa and Quebec. The company will also go to Cuba, Mexico and Guatemala. The season in all will last twenty-six weeks.

With regard to the enterprise Mr. Rabinoff made the following statement to Musical America:

"My first aim will, of course, be to make the season artistically satisfying in the most rigid sense. The National Opera Company of Canada will not seek to make money, but I shall do my best not to lose any. Above all else we will give the very best opera. Canada is a wonderful country artistically, as well as economically. One has to go a mighty long way to find again the culture, appreciation and love of the higher forms of art which impress one on meeting representative Canadians. Already the guarantees justify the belief that the total will overtop the guaranty given the Montreal company last year. Thru the magnificent generosity of the widely-known music patron, Col. F. S. Meighen, Montreal has already been given opportunity to appreciate opera. The fine pioneer work of Albert Clerk-Jeannotte will also stand the National Company of Canada in good stead. Steps have already been taken to enlarge the stage of His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, where the performances will be given. In a few days I sail for Europe to close contracts with dist tre, Montreal, where the performances will be given. In a few days I sail for Europe to close contracts with distinguished artists and to arrange for novelties."

It was Max Rabinoff who introduced to this country the art of Russian dancing as exemplified by Anna Pavlowa, and he first agitated the quesinto such prominence. He has the confidence and support of the Can-adians generally, in this his latest un-

The New York press estimates that Caruso spends about $50,000 annually in New York alone, where he remains for only a few months of the year. He pays $550 a week for his apartments in the Knickerbocker Hotel. Maintains his brother, accompanist, private secretary and two valets. His laundary is said to cost pearly $20 a week and secretary and two valets. His laundry is said to cost nearly $20 a week and he passes many evenings in cafes where he freely provides native food and wine for dozens of his countrymen, and pays from $100 to $150 a suit for his clothes. He gave from $5 to $25 to each of the hotel employes when he departed, and every Christmas gives $5 each to the one hundred and twenty members of the Metropolitan chorus. He supports French Capital.

The famous Nijinsky-Karsavina Troupe is giving a short season of ballet and opera at the Theatre des Champs-Elysees, Paris. The three Russian operas to be given during the engagement are "Boris Godounoff," "La Khorantchina" and "La Pskovitaine." Other works in the repertuits one hundred and twenty members of the Metropolitan chorus. day:

"Two men stood watching a steam shovel at work. With a clatter and a roar the shovel bit into a steep bank, closed on a few tons of earth, and dumped them on to a waiting truck.

"It drives me wild," said the first onlooker, "to see that monster taking the bread out of good men's mouths. Loot at it. Why, it's filling up those trucks faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels could do it."

"But the other onlooker shook his head, and answered:

Archbishop Ryan was visiting small parish in a mining district one day for the purpose of administering confirmation, and asked one nervous confirmation, and asked one nervous little girl what mairimony was. "It is a state of terrible torment which those who enter are compelled to undergo for a time to prepare them for a brighter and better world," she said. "No. no," remonstrated her rector; "that isn't matrimony; that's the definition of purgatory." "Leave her alone." said the archbishop; "maybe she is right. The Money Wasn't On.

There was an aged Scotsman who by native shrewdness, made a fortune, and he did it without the slightest bit of education. One day he and an acquaintance were talking, when the latter said to old Duncan:

"I tell you you don't know enough to go in when it rains. Why, you can't even spell bird."

"B-u-r-d." said Duncan.

"I tell you you don't know antyhing why, if you had to spell to make a living you'd have been dead year; ago. I'll bet you a hundred you can't spell bird."

"I'll tak' ye," quickly replied Duncan.

After the money was put up Duncan said: "B-i-r-d."

"That ain't the way you spelled it the first time." "I wasna bettin' then."

The girls at Bascom's are not gossips—they are too busy for that—but they may be said to be delightfully well informed. How could they be otherwise when we go to Bascom's for our wedding dresses and party favors and baby flannels. There is news at Bascom's that our daily paper never hears of, and wouldn't dare print if it did.

So when Millie Whitcomb, of the fancy goods and notions, expressed her hunger for a homely heroine, I did not resent the suggestion. On the contrary, it sent me home in thoughtful mood, for Millie Whitcomb had acquired a knowledge of human nature in the dispensing of her fancy goods and notions. It set me casting about for a really homely heroine.

There never has been a really ugly heroine in fiction. Authors have started bravely out to write of an unlovely woman, but they never have had the courage to allow her to remain plain. On page 237 she puts on a black lace dress and red roses, and the combination brings out unexpectedly tawny lights in her hair, and olive tints in her cheeks, and there she is, the in her cheeks, and there she is, the process of the said of the pressed warmly here and eager lips pressed warmly here and e

Men's Clothes More Foolish Than Women's

In the illustrated section we are showing pictures of "Buffalo Ranch." which is without doubt one of the most eautiful ranch homes in the Dominion. beautiful ranch homes in the Dominion.

Some eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Becker and Mrs. Mary Belle Rich. of Buffalo, N.Y., decided that they would adopt the farm for a living, and with this purpose in view formed themselves into a prospecting party, and for three years traveled about the United States and Canada in search of a suitable position. They had decided that three things were being an abundance of water, a sufficient area of suitable land in one block. and within reasonable distance to school and railway.

During his journey Mr. Becker and his party visited Pincher Creek and here found the exact spot they were cured on the east bank of the south fork of the Old Man River, having only about six miles from the Pincher Creek Public and High Schools, and one mile from Pincher Creek Station and elevator. There are some 3200 acres of land included in this ranch. On this site Mr. Becker proceeded to build his future home, surrounding himself with all the comforts and conveniences usually found in up-to-date city residences.

When the gentleman said these things he stood on a platform in a picnic grove in central Illinois—the thermometer was eighty-nine in the shade—and he wasn't in the shade.

There wasn't a sniff of a breeze stirring and the very horses tied to the rack at the side of the picnic pavillion gasped for breath.

The man who was speaking wore, when he spoke, a suit of thick woolen cloth, high shoes, thick socks, a tight high collar, and near hum on the epeaker's table lay his hat, a thick, woolen lid, no more use for summer wear or winter either, for that matter, than a saucepan with a tin handle.

I wonder why he wore those clothes? Was it just because they "happen to be the fashion," or because he thinks them inspired by that divine common souse which seems to believe characterizes the male of the species?

Right behind the man on the platform was the man's wife.

SULGRAVE MANOR.

The above illustration is of special interest in connection with the century of peace between Great Britain and the United States. Sulgrave Manor is the old home of the Washington family. It represents the house as it now stands. This property is to be acquired by the nation as marking the happy event of a hundred years of peaceful intercourse, and will doubtless be visited by large numbers of Canadians during the coming season. The village of Sulgrave is not reached directly by rail, but is situated two miles from Helmdon upon the Great Central Railway Line and but a pleasant run from Helmdon upon the Great Central Railway Line and but a pleasant run from Marylebone Station.

> SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 7 .- Much sympathy is felt in court circles here for the czarina, who is one of the most beloved of royal women. The Czarina, who has done noble and heroic work as a nurse during the Balkan war, had set her heart on marrying her eldest son, Crown Prince Boris, to the eldest daughter of the Czar of Russia, Grand Duchess Olga. But that young lady preferred her cousin, Grand Duke Dmitri, her betrothal to whom was recently announced.

Czarina Eleanora took the matter very much to heart, and srems to find little comfort in the hint that has come from St. Petersburg that the czar has other daughters. The message from the Russian court pointed out to her that her son was only nineteen years old and that there was plenty of time. And now, it apears, that arrangements are being made to marry Crown Prince Boris to the Russian Czar's second daughter, Grand Duchess Tatiana, who is just sixteen.

Boris came back from Adrionople with the measles. His distracted mother was at his bedside night and day. The young prince took his illness in the light of a personal reproach. "How disgraceful it is," said he, "for a soldier to have the measles. There's nothing manly in it. I do wish it were a Turkish builet instead."
