

UNION CAUCUS TO CONSIDER LEGISLATION

The Get-Together Today is Not to Consider Future Policy or Leadership Question.

QUESTION OF INDEMNITIES

May Get Full Airing and an Increase be Recommended by the Government.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, June 21.—The Unionist caucus to be held tomorrow will not, as reported yesterday, deal with the cardinal questions of the future policy and leadership of the Unionist party.

In regard to this latter question, the past few days have brought a noticeable change of sentiment in many quarters. The Government at first felt that, having regard to the need for economy and because of other considerations, mostly obvious, no action ought to be taken this year.

Prospects of prorogation by the end of the present week, which seemed bright on Saturday, have become clouded by the appearance of new legislation on the order paper.

Ottawa, June 21.—Louis Langlois, aged 38, of Whitefish Lake, near Kazubezus, Que., who is charged with wilfully murdering his father, Thomas Langlois, was arraigned before Magistrate Miller in Hull police court this morning.

Indications are that Col. Parkhurst will be the successful candidate by a narrow margin.

Addresses Young Liberal Association in Montreal—Is a Moderate Protectionist.

Montreal, June 21.—(By Canadian Press)—No official statement was contained in the address of Sir Lomer Gouin, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec, before the Young Liberal Association at the Reform Club here tonight, as to his resignation of the Premier's office.

Important statements were nevertheless, contained in the Premier's message. One was that it was not intended to deviate from the policy of embargo on pulpwood despite the attitude of the United States.

MAINE PRIMARIES FOR GOVERNOR

WOULD FIGHT CLOSED SHOP TO A FINISH

Claims it Puts Unionism Above Citizenship and Restricts Freedom of Trade.

WOULD HAVE BANKS REFUSE TO FINANCE

Believes in This Way Evil Could be Remedied—Agitators in Labor Unions to Blame.

By RICHARD SPILLANE. Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co., Philadelphia, June 21.—S. P. Stevenson, a manufacturer of Chester, Pa., has novel and radical ideas on how to combat the closed shop.

In the first place, he asserts, the closed shop is an American. This supposedly is a free country. The closed shop is restrictive of liberty. It denies the right of a man to work unless he first becomes a member of a labor union.

He points out that the power of union labor is out of all proportion to its membership. It numbers only a few million men out of a population of perhaps 110,000,000 persons.

The closed shop, he says, is financed through the banks, as are all other business concerns. These banks handle the money deposits of the vast majority of the people who have no sympathy with the closed shop.

BANKS HAVE MUSH POWER

Mr. Stevenson is director of a bank. He says he does not propose to have his money or the money of a bank with which he does business go to support an institution which intends to deny him if he does not obey its orders.

He says the banks have the power to do much toward correcting the labor evils today, by using the money giving financial support to the closed-shop people at the expense and to the injury of the open-shop people and the public.

These 100,000 do not toil. They talk and agitate. With unionism as a club, he says, they overawe not only their followers, but the whole nation.

They threaten lawmakers and make victims of employers, and all the while they are held up as responsible for they dodge incorporation and cry out about labor being exploited when, as a matter of fact, labor is exploiting the vast body of the American people.

JURY SAID ELLIS WAS NOT GUILTY

Yesterday's Session of P. E. I. Court Taken up With Arguments of Counsel.

Summerside, P. E. I., June 21.—The case against Thomas Ellis, charged with the murder of his wife, was finished today and tonight the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty."

The Chief Justice's charge was in favor of the prisoner.

GOVERNMENT SCHEME TO AID SHIPBUILDING

Sufficient Foreign Orders in Sight to Keep Canadian Yards Busy if Gov't Plan is Accepted.

FRANCE WOULD BE HEAVY PURCHASER

To Build up a Large Mercantile Marine and is Anxious to Place Orders in Dominion.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, June 21.—Sufficient foreign orders to keep Canadian shipyards engaged for two years are said to be in sight, if the Government's plan for encouragement of shipbuilding, announced today, is accepted by Parliament.

The Government's proposal, briefly summarized, is that the Minister of Finance be authorized by the Governor-in-Council to endorse promissory notes drawn by the purchaser in favor of the shipbuilder for fifty per cent. of the purchase price.

Belief that such assistance will bring forth foreign orders to Canada is largely based upon the knowledge that France has decided to build up a large mercantile marine and is endeavoring to place orders in the Dominion.

The Government apparently had the matter in mind in another legislative proposal in mind in amending its legislation. A special clause states: "If the vessel is being built for an alien, and the provisions above mentioned with respect to mortgaging the vessel cannot conveniently be complied with, such security for the amount of the said promissory notes endorsed by the Minister of Finance shall be furnished by the purchaser as may be approved by the Governor-in-Council."

The presentation was made by Thomas Huestis and the address read by Thomas Sands.

FRANCHISE BILL NEGRO RIDDLED WITH BULLETS BY MOB

Brutal Treatment Accorded Man Who Had Confessed to Murder.

LIBERAL MEMBERS OPPOSED THE ACT

Charging the Gov't With an Endeavor to Provide Machinery Whereby They Could Win Election.

Ottawa, June 21.—(By Canadian Press)—Clause 32 of the Franchise Bill, respecting the use of Provincial lists as the basis for Federal lists, occupied most of the time of the Commons today, and was the subject of many amendments before it finally carried on division.

Liberal members charged the Government with seeking to provide machinery whereby they could win an election by having an army of parliamentarians to vote for them. J. H. Sinclair (Antigonish and Guysboro) declared it was the third blot on the history of the Conservative Party in regard to partisan elections.

The clause was amended to provide that in Ontario, where no provincial lists existed, but where a list is in course of preparation, and has been revised by a county judge, it shall be accepted as the basis of a Federal list.

Another amendment gave the chief returning officer power to dispense with some of the machinery in taking the vote under the Canada Temperance Act. Much of the machinery in taking for a Federal election was unnecessary for a temperance referendum.

Mrs. Edwards Gives Splendid Work During The War

Delegate to National Council of Women in Authority on Indian Relics as Well as Upon Laws.

The Toronto Mail and Empire published recently the following article which will be of interest to those who have had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Edwards, who is at present in St. John attending the National Council of Women. The Edmonton Journal draws attention to the importance of this transaction owing to the passing of the original type of Indian and with him the costumes, utensils and ornaments emblematic of his race. These things are becoming increasingly difficult to obtain and should be treasured as a lasting record of the craft and pomp of these past monarchs of the prairies, points out the Journal, and also for the educational benefit of future generations.

The collection represents the painstaking effort, covering thirty years, of Mrs. Edwards and her husband, the late Dr. Edwards who for many years was medical adviser to the Indians of Southern Alberta. It is particularly valuable because Mrs. Edwards has been able to obtain details regarding the use, purpose, and legendary beliefs connected with many of the articles, among which are wearing apparel, ornamental and decorative fabrics, implements, game, gaming devices, instruments of torture, scalp lock, ornamented head dresses, pipes, burlap. There are also 42 colored drawings by the artist, Mrs. Edwards, illustrating the hunting of buffalo, domestic life, courtship, fighting and feasting.

Mrs. Edwards is well known throughout the province of Alberta. Particularly has she been regarded as an authority on the laws pertaining to women.

PROMINENT NEW YORK SURGEON TELLS WHY HE BELIEVES IN NUXATED IRON

SAYS IT IS THE MOST VALUABLE TONIC, STRENGTH AND BLOOD-BUILDER ANY PHYSICIAN CAN PRESCRIBE

"The great strain of the present time should make the public generally realize the necessity of fortifying the blood and nerve cells by means of a strengthening upbuilding tonic," says Dr. Kenneth K. MacAlpine, a prominent New York surgeon and medical authority. "If people would only realize that iron is just as indispensable to the blood as is air to the lungs and be just as particular about keeping up a sufficient supply at all times, there would, in my opinion, be far less disease resulting from anaemic, weakened conditions. For years it was a problem with physicians how to administer iron in a form that could be taken up by the system and increase the red blood corpuscles without upsetting the stomach, blackening the teeth or producing other disorders almost as serious as the lack of iron itself. But the introduction of Nuxated Iron has done away with all the objectionable features of the old mineral salts of iron and gives to every careful, thinking physician a tried and valuable prescription which he can recommend nearly every day with benefit to his weakened and run-down patients. "Nuxated Iron, by enriching the blood and creating new blood cells, strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed energy into the whole system, whether the patients be young or old. In my opinion, Nuxated Iron is the most valuable tonic, strength and blood-builder any physician can prescribe."

If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

AIR TRAVEL IN EUROPE COMMON

Three Passenger Planes Daily from London to Paris and Return—Rates Rapidly Coming Down.

(Cross-Atlantic News Service, Copy-right.)

London, June 21.—Air travel is reaching the plane of the commonplace in Europe. Air routes from London to Paris and other continental points are now regularly patronized; and the once prohibitive cost of travel by air is rapidly decreasing to land travel levels.

Three passenger planes leave London every day for Paris now and three cross the channel from the French capital to London. Not only passenger but freight traffic is developing, and freight planes ply their ways over the Paris-London air route.

Aside from regular schedule flights, special trips can be arranged to any point in Europe at an average charge of thirty cents a mile. The Paris trip takes two and a half to three hours as against ten hours for the water and rail journey. Each passenger is allowed thirty pounds of personal luggage, excess luggage being carried at thirty-six cents a pound.

Many Americans, especially commercial representatives, are taking advantage of the new transportation. Recently Captain Mann, representing a Boston steamship company, flew to Copenhagen in an Alro machine in nine hours, including stops at Amsterdam and Hamburg. The surface journey would have taken several days.

IS A BIT PEEVED AT HAMILTON

General Maxwell Replies to Statements Made in "Gallipoli Diary" About Kitchener.

NEITHER IN GOOD TASTE OR ACCURATE

All Assistance Possible Was Sent from Egypt to Aid in Gallipoli Campaign.

(Cross-Atlantic News Service. Copyright.)

London, June 21.—Challenging certain statements in General Sir Ian Hamilton's latest book, his Gallipoli Diary, General J. G. Maxwell says: "Knowing as I do the delicate internal situation of Egypt in 1914-15, the proximity of the Turks in Sinai, the growing truculence of the Senussi on the Western frontier, and the anxieties of Lord Kitchener on these heads, I do challenge such statements reflecting on the administration of the greatest soldier-administrator of our time, and deplore that Sir Ian Hamilton should have elected to publish them under the guise of a Diary."

Following is the quotation to which General Maxwell takes particular exception:

"Old K. is as right as rain here, but a bit after the shower. Had he and Maxwell tumbled to the real situation when I first saw the lie of the land instead of the lies on their maps, and had they let me have the brigade of Ghurkas I asked for these months about the urgency of seizing Achi-Baba would be beside the mark, seeing we should be sitting on the top of it. In the matter of giving K. is built on the model of Pharaoh, nothing less than the first-born of the nation will make him suffer his subjects to depart from Egypt, and Maxwell sees eye to eye with him—that is natural."

"If this means anything," General Maxwell says, "it means that the action of the late Field-Marshal and myself in refusing him the Brigade of Ghurkas I asked for, and our reluctance to allow troops to leave Egypt, prevented Sir Ian from taking Achi-Baba, and thus contributed to his ultimate failure. Lord Kitchener, alas! is dead. He cannot reply to such ungrateful and untruthful reflections. His reputation is safe in the keeping of his countrymen."

General Maxwell states that he had instructions from Kitchener to place all troops, consistent with the safety of Egypt, at Sir Ian's disposal, and that Major-General Cox's Indian Brigade forming the garrison of El Kantara, on the Suez Canal was sent him and subsequently all Ghurka battalions and practically all Sikhs serving on the defence of the Canal.

"I cannot recall Sir Ian's demand for a Ghurka Brigade, or that either the late Lord Kitchener or myself refused it, for the very excellent reason that there never was a Ghurka Brigade in Egypt. But to meet Sir Ian the Indian Brigade organization was broken up and the Ghurka battalion of our Brigade was sent him." Maxwell says.

COMMONS DELVES INTO COST MEN'S CLOTHING

(Copyright 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Bradford, England, June 21.—A good deal of attention has been given to a statement made in Commons last week about the price of all fancy worsted suitings, which were said to be costing from 40s to 45s per yard. Also whether such prices must obtain for next winter, and whether suits will cost 25 guineas, compared with the pre-war charge of from 5 to 8 guineas. No necessity can be seen for men's suits to cost anything like the price named. It is true thousands of pieces have been sold by manufacturers at from 25s to 32s per yard for eighteen to nineteen-ounce cloths. If those are retailed at anything like 40s per yard

THE DREAD PYORRHEA BEGINS WITH BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhoea infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this. Diseased conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhoea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anaemia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhoea infection.

Don't let Pyorrhoea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection.

And watch your gums yourself. Pyorrhoea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base. Forlan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhoea—check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forlan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forlan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Olsen Has Thrown Crutches Away

Halifax Man Was Unable to Walk for Rheumatism When He Began Taking Tanlac.

(Copyright 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

"I had quit work, was unable to walk and thought the rheumatism had laid me out for good, but it's a fact, since taking Tanlac I have thrown my crutches away and simply feel like a new man entirely." The above remarkable statement was made recently by John Olsen, 44 Dresden Row, Halifax, who has been a suffering man for the past forty years. "For three years now I have been troubled with about as bad a case of rheumatism as any man ever had. My legs ached all the way from my knees down to my feet and for weeks at a time I was unable to walk a step. My knees were so swollen and stiff I could hardly move them at all and at times my legs were as stiff as a board. Even my ankles and feet would swell up so bad I couldn't get my shoes on. The muscles and tendons in my legs felt like they were tied in knots. I had sharp, shooting pains all through my lower limbs that felt like a thousand needles sticking in me, and a good night's rest was simply out of the question; why, sometimes I couldn't sleep a wink. When ever I was on the ship they had to lift me out of my bunk and carry me around like a child. I was almost as helpless as a baby and thought I would lose the use of my legs entirely. Last September when we arrived in Sydney I realized I couldn't work any more, so I had them carry me ashore and put me on the train for Halifax. When I reached there I couldn't walk a step and had to be carried from the depot to the house in a cab."

"Well, while sitting around the house all the time, I took to reading a good deal and each day I noticed statements about Tanlac. So finally, I decided to try it myself. The first few bottles didn't seem to help me much, but I realized my case was stubborn and I stuck to Tanlac. And I want to say right now it was a lucky thing for me that I did. The swelling and stiffness soon began to leave me and I was able to walk with the aid of two crutches. I kept right on taking Tanlac until now I have thrown my crutches away, and walk as good as I ever could in my life and the pains and aches have all disappeared. My appetite has improved and I have picked up several pounds in weight, and altogether I am feeling better and stronger than I have in many years. Tanlac is certainly a great medicine, and I take pleasure in recommending it."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co., and P. W. Munro under the personal advice of a special Tanlac representative.—Advt.

SAYS ARABS WILL NOT HAVE MANDATE

Will Fight Until Full Independence Has Been Granted, Says Hadad Pasha.

(Cross-Atlantic News Service. Copyright.)

London, June 21.—A continuation of the present allied policy in the near east will bring about a state of chronic revolt and set up this part of the world as a permanent seat of political intrigue and unless something is done the increasing Bolshevik agitation may convert the present acute unrest there into a serious menace to all Asia. This was the grave warning to the allied nations uttered to me in an exclusive interview here tonight by General Hadad Pasha, special envoy of Emir Faisal the new King of Syria.

Hadad said: "I cannot put it too strongly that the principle of mandates by England and France over Syria, Mesopotamia and Palestine must be abandoned if there is to be peace in the east. The Arab nations wish freedom and will not accept foreign domination. They were one with the Allies in the war and were partly responsible for Allenby's victorious campaign. They have done nothing since to warrant the taking of their liberty from them and by the principle of national self-determination, the Allies are bound in honor to grant them freedom. If this freedom is not granted the Arab nations will be in constant rebellion. Soldiers can crush us for a time but as soon as the soldiers are withdrawn the struggle will recommence. In Palestine we are willing to grant the Jews equal rights with ourselves, but we are unwilling to allow the Jews, who are ten per cent of the inhabitants, rule the Arab ninety per cent."

It shows at once where the leakage occurs. Even 32s per yard is a colossal figure, but with 2-4/8s at 21s 6d, at which big quantities have been disposed of by spinners, there is not a great deal left at 32s after paying weavers' wages and the cost of dyeing, finishing and other charges.

It takes three and one-half yards to make a man's suit, which at 23 per yard would mean that the cloth would cost 27. The best tailor in the land should be able to make up that suit for 25, and if anything like 23 per suit is charged, then there is something radically wrong. That is the problem that needs solving, for where do all the extras come in, and how is the money spent when the cloth leaves the manufacturer?

It does seem ridiculous on the face of it to find all attention fixed upon fine cloths, and the wonder is that members of Parliament, and even the daily press, do not become fabric mages out of medium creased cloths, when a good-wearing suit can be made out of them at much less than half what a fancy suit costs.

JAPAN CONCILIATORY IN SHANTUNG NOTE

Withdrawal of Guards Proposed in Railway Zone When China Sends Replacements.

(Copyright 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Peking, June 21.—The Japanese legation submitted a third Shantung note to the foreign office on the 15th. The tone was liberal and conciliatory. It states while China's recent reply to the Japanese offer for direct negotiations is not entirely acceptable, yet Japan is willing to accept China's proposal for withdrawal of the Japanese railway guards in the Shantung railway zone whenever China is able to furnish satisfactory replacements.

Japan's original Shantung note offering the withdrawal of guards after the commencement of negotiations now is modified to read "before the commencement of negotiations." According to railway agreement of September, 1918, reaffirmed in Paris in May, 1919, Japan retains the right to garrison Tientsin with a small detachment. Tientsin and Peking are favorably impressed.

ONE IMPORTANT V... IS INTERNATIONAL

Creates the Enthusiasm of Millions of Sums Have Been Spent Which Cost Only 100 Guineas Racing for the "Blue Ribbon"

New York, June 21.—It is an undoubted fact that one of the most important events in the world of sports is an international yacht race for the America's cup. There may be world series in baseball, international polo matches, tennis contests for the Davis cup and other forms of sports, but few of these events create more interest than is excited in a race for the "blue ribbon of the seas." What creates the enthusiasm on the part of millions of people who do not know a boom from a gale is now one of the wonders of the sporting world. Still it is the case and must therefore be accepted without comment.

The only solution to the mystery lies in the fact that the lay mind is astonished by the tremendous sums that have been spent in races for the America's cup. That men are willing to spend a million dollars to defend a battered piece of silver that originally was worth only 100 guineas appeals to the popular fancy. To make the situation even more unique, the money is gone forever. Not one penny comes back in the way of "gate receipts." Again, once the series is ended, the yachts that raced are worth what they will bring in junk. Nothing is more useless than an America's cup boat when the series is ended.

When Commodore Stevens and his associates originally gave the "100 guineas cup" to the New York Club to be a perpetual trophy for international racing, they never dreamed that a race for the bit of silver would cost a fortune. The ever-increasing cost is just the result of circumstances. That a cup race was too much for one man to finance first became apparent after Canada had tried unsuccessfully to capture the cup with the schooner Albatross.

It was in the fall of 1881, after that unsuccessful attempt, that the officials of the New York Yacht Club first began to take account of the cost of defending the trophy. It was the first time that a yacht had been built for the special purpose of defending the cup, although the new craft, Pocomah, proved to be a failure and was not used for the purpose. The boat was built by the flag officers of the club and the cost of construction, added to the cost of running her during the trial period and with the incidental expenses of the club in managing the contest, made a total of $20,000.

This, in the eyes of the sailing officials, was a large sum to be expended for the purpose and they concluded that something would have to be done to reduce the cost of the cup races. Something was done, in the way of amending the deed of gift in such a manner, as to prevent small Canadian boats from challenging thereafter.

At present, the cost of defending the cup in one contest is considerable more than 20 times the $20,000 of a generation ago and more than 100 times the cost of earlier races. When James Ashbury came over in 1870 with his schooner Cambria, he merely verified his summer programme of existing and incurred a comparatively small outlay for some extra fittings and a slightly enlarged crew. If he had not come to America to challenge, but as it was generally known that he would do something a little better than Cambria.

Major Gifford, in whose behalf the Royal Canadian Yacht Club issued a challenge in 1876, was the first to build a boat especially to race for the cup. She was the schooner Countess of Dufferin. She cost probably not less than $25,000 and not more than $35,000 to build and race. It was the beginning of the building of specially designed craft for America's cup races.

Both the Genesta and the Galatea were built especially to race for the cup. The former came in 1885, and in that year, the heavy expense of defense began, although the beginning was a matter of small importance compared with the expense of today. The cost of the building of Puritan in 1888, added to the cost of her management for the season figured up to about $38,000. It cost almost as much for the building and operating of Priscilla, Puritan's unsuccessful rival. Maiden cost about $42,000 to race in 1888. The club's expense and the management of the race was about $2,600 more. There was a second boat in 1888 by a syndicate of members of the Atlantic Yacht Club at the probable cost of not less than $30,000. This boat was called the Atlantic and subsequently sold to a yachtsman for a considerable portion of her cost. Still it was "found money" for her original owners.

That is, the Scotch challenger and the American defender volunteer "set back" their respective owners about $50,000 each, when they raced in 1887. The New York Yacht Club had an extra expense of nearly $3,000 in the management of that series of races. The real heavy expense of defending the cup began in 1893, the year Lord Dunsraven issued his first challenge. In that year, four candidates for the honor of defending the trophy were built. Vigilant finally was chosen. It was stated after the series that Vigilant cost something like $150,000 to build and race. This sum was reduced to possibly $100,000 through the sale of the yacht, after the races, to George and Howard

ONE IMPORTANT WORLD'S EVENT IS INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACE

Creates the Enthusiasm of Millions of People — Tremendous Sums Have Been Spent in Races for America's Cup Which Cost Only 100 Guineas—Interesting History of Racing for the "Blue Ribbon of the Seas."

New York, June 21.—It is an undoubted fact that one of the most important events in the world of sports is an international yacht race for the America's cup. There may be world series in basketball, international polo matches, tennis contests for the Davis cup and other forms of sports, but few of these events create more interest than is centered in a race for the "blue ribbon of the seas." What creates the enthusiasm on the part of millions of people who do not know a boom from a gale is now one of the wonders of the sporting world. Still it is the case and must therefore be accepted without comment.

The only solution to the mystery lies in the fact that the lay mind is astonished by the tremendous sums that have been spent in races for the America's cup. The ever-increasing cost is just the result of circumstances. That a cup race cost so much for one man to finance first became apparent after Canada had tried unsuccessfully to capture the cup with the steam Atlantic.

It was in the fall of 1881, after that unsuccessful attempt, that the officials of the New York Yacht Club first began to take account of the cost of defending the trophy. It was the first time that a yacht had been built for the special purpose of defending the cup, although the first race, between horses, proved to be a failure and was not used for the purpose. The boat was built by the flag officers of the club and the cost of construction added to the cost of running her during the trial period and with the incidental expenses of the club of managing the contest, made a total of $20,000.

If he had not come to America to race for the cup, Mr. Ashbury probably would have taken a cruise in European waters about the same duration.

Mr. Ashbury built the schooner Livonia, with which he challenged in 1872. Possibly he might not have built a new boat that year, if he had not contemplated challenging, but he doubtfully he would have built one within a year or two in any event, as it was generally known that he wanted something a little better than Cambria.

Major Gifford, in whose behalf the Royal Canadian Yacht Club challenged in 1876, was the first to build a boat especially to race for the cup. She was the schooner Countess of Dufferin. Queer Ruling By Jamaica Stewards

Suspend Jockey But Fail to Disqualify Horse for Foul- ing.

The stewards at the Jamaica race meeting handed down a unique decision recently. They suspended jockey Borel for four days for foul riding, but failed to disqualify King Albert the horse he rode and guided home to third place. The foul was the worst of the season. That several jockeys and horses were not thrown and injured seemed miraculous.

While rounding the first turn Borel shot his mount into a tight space and knocked Anniversary and Bally Bell almost to the ground. Despite the dangerous position Borel continued his wild Western ride and before he got his mount straightened out he was almost at the outside fence and Anniversary and Bally Bell were on the outside of him.

Trapshooting Team To Represent States

New York, June 19.—That the United States will be well represented in the trapshooting events in the Olympic Games is proven by the personnel of the team.

There is a rule in trapshooting in this country that a professional can return to the amateur ranks after a lay off of several years. In no other sport is such a thing possible and those connected with the International Olympic Committee thought it would be best for the American trapshooters and all concerned not to send anyone who had previously been a professional. The inclusion of Henderson and Clark and Bonser as reserves, and were once professionals, might cause the entire team to be disqualified.

Irish Tennis Player Gives His Views

J. C. Parks, the famous Irish tennis player, who has figured in Davis play during the world tour, has issued a declaration of Norman E. Brookes in 1912, is of the opinion that the winner of the first round match next month between Australia and France will be the eventual challenger of the Australians for the famous trophy. Writing in The Manchester (England) Guardian, he says: "The match between the United States and France will be the most brilliant play of the series, and the winner should be the eventual champion. America is very confident but if the Frenchmen strike a happy day the arrangements which the Americans are already making for the team to play in the world tour may not be needed. The British Isles play the winner of this match, and I am afraid the odds will be distinctly against our victory. As for the French players, A. H. Gobert and W. H. Laurentz, the former is the most perfect example of the stroke-production in the world, and in other the big league players has never been better. Laurentz is another brilliant stroke player, and though his shots are not produced with Gobertian ease, still he is a man upon whom any youthful player might readily be depended upon. He is sadly handicapped by the loss of one eye."

BELEATED BRAIN WORK NO BAR TO ERRORS

A spirited discussion among scoring sharpshooters took place in the fourth round of the "Amateur" series at 100 yards, with Ruetter on third, Grob on first and left that Wheat reached and was about to catch when it occurred to him that Ruetter would score from third after the catch. So Zack muffed the ball, and got an error from Archimedes Ryger, Chancellor of the Officers' Score of Brooklyn. Theatistoches Ryger of Cincinnati, where they win pennants once every five years, supported the Ryger proposition, but T. Shakespeare Rice also of Brooklyn, declared it was penalizing head work to give an error to a fielder who purposely muffed a ball in order to keep runners on scoring.

THE RUNNING OF THE DERBY; STORY OF THE GREAT RACE

The Daily Mail's account of the Epsom Derby, run Jun 2nd, is: Spion Kop won the Derby by two lengths in the fastest time on record, 3 minutes 24 4/5 seconds. The previous record was achieved by Leinberg in 1910, when the time was 2 minutes 35 1/5 seconds. Allenby ruptured a blood-vessel, Abbott's Trace involuntarily came near to breaking his neck, and Donoghue's along with it, and Tetraema fell to pieces just about where his detractors vowed he would.

Trapshooting Team To Represent States

Tetraema reached the six stage almost immediately after rounding Tattenham Corner. His rate of descent, or rather was raced to a standstill by Abbott's Trace, and half way down the straight Carlisle had accepted the situation and was easing him up. There is no excuse for his grey, physical or otherwise. Nothing remains but to admit the evil influences of that blotch in his maternal descent and write him down a non-stayer.

Bad Rain Squall Prevented Shamrock IV. and Trial Yacht from Racing Yesterday—Fog and Calm Caused Postponement of Resolute.

Sandy Hook, N. J., June 21.—A bad rain squall caused the postponement today of the second trial race between Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV, challenger for the America's Cup and the 23 meter Shamrock, which was to start at 10 o'clock. The postponement was due to a squall which prevented the race from starting and when it had passed it was too late to begin the race. Both yachts remained at anchor.

Newport, R. I., June 21.—Fog and lack of wind combined to prevent the second race between the cup defence candidate sloop, Resolute and Vanitie today. Postponement was announced after the committee had waited some time after the starting hour for weather conditions to improve.

U. S. NEWSPRINT SUPPLY.

Alaska as a potential source of newsprint supply is being boomed in the United States by Secretary of Agriculture Meredith, who thinks that one-third of the requirements of the United States could be served from this source. However, newsprint manufacturers who have made a study of pulpwood resources are not in agreement, according to the Wall Street Journal. The statement is made by one authority that wood from Alaska will never enter into serious competition with the Canadian product. Admitting the possibility that Alaskan wood for newsprint manufacture might be able to compete successfully in the territory west of the Rockies this authority voices the opinion that the long rail haul across the continent is an effectual barrier against the northern wood entering the market in middle western, southern and eastern states.

It is pointed out that chief known timber resources which are now being utilized in Canada are mainly in the eastern Canadian provinces, Quebec and Ontario. As the rail haul from Quebec to the eastern, southern, and middle western states is comparatively short, it is maintained by newspaper men that Canada could easily underbid the Alaskan paper in the chief American markets. Another fact which seems to dispose of the claims for Alaskan wood is found in the fact that present cut of Canadian wood is far below the annual growth. On this basis, Canada could indefinitely supply sufficient wood, to say nothing of the American output.

According to newspaper authorities, Alaska has not yet been crisscrossed by lumbermen to any extent, and comparatively little is known of the interior forests. The warm Japanese current which touches the coast has added the growth of timber within fifty miles of the coast, but further inland, it is maintained, the forests become sparse and inaccessible.

Labrador, it is believed, offers possibilities for future lumber and pulpwood supply, with a comparatively cheap water haul to Canadian and American ports. At present there are no restrictions on shipments of cut wood. Labrador has not yet been touched to any extent. Only recently, one of the Canadian paper companies crisscrossed the timber limits extensively by airplane, reporting favorably on their possibilities. During the war amount of poles for mines and trenches from Labrador, but this was abandoned after the signing of the armistice.

It is pointed out that the time when it will be necessary to go to Labrador or other sources for pulpwood and timber, if ever, is still far off. Canada, according to present estimates, can supply the needs indefinitely on present consumption, to say nothing of the Pacific coast timber lands. American newsprint manufacturers are hopeful that the time will soon come when proper reforestation laws are put into effect, which will safeguard their remaining timber lands and insure replanting, which should equal the annual cut.

BEER AND WINES.

There is still, we find, a considerable amount of misconception abroad as to the proper manner to deal with the question regarding beer and wines at the coming prohibition plebiscite. There are probably thousands of the people who do not want to vote against prohibition, because they think that if they do they will be helping to bring back conditions that existed a few years ago. At the same time they feel that if people were allowed to have beer and wine it would do away with the bootlegging and other illicit traffic in poisonous liquors that is so rampant today. It cannot be too strongly impressed upon these people that by voting to retain prohibition they do not preclude themselves from voting to have beer and wine also. No matter what their views on prohibition may be, if they are in favor of beer and wine being procurable, they have only to say so, and if there are more people voting for beer and wine than there are against them, the Act will be amended to allow of beer and wine being got. Many people are under the impression that if they vote for prohibition, that ends it also as far as beer and wine are concerned. It does not; they should vote for beer and wine separately.

THE NAVAL PROPOSALS.

According to the poets, knowledge comes but wisdom lingers. One is reminded of this by the present attitude of the opposition, led by Mr. Mackenzie King, to the Government's moderate naval proposals. Six years ago this same opposition assured the country that war was impossible. Lord Roberts, in their estimation, was a blithering old idiot, the Kaiser was a "great moral force," people who were not pacifists were getting dividends out of armaments, and Mr. Newman Angel, Mr. A. G. Gardiner and Mr. Henry Masseyham, a precious trio of "Little Englanders," were the rocks of wisdom upon whom the world should rely. The war came with pitiless destruction of their reasoning. And because of their folly and false teaching, Canada found herself without a single fighting ship upon the sea, without trained men, munitions or guns. The Ottawa Journal thinks that "people whose common sense was thus so frightfully impeached would now hide their diminished heads, or at least have enough humility and brains to confess their error and endeavor to learn sense." No so, however, with this so-called Liberal Opposition. Although the most profound lesson of the war was that the nation which is not prepared to defend itself is in danger of perishing, although half of Europe is still under arms, although unrest and uncertainty are prevalent throughout the whole world, and notwithstanding that other nations, such as the United States and Great Britain, are spending more upon defensive measures than ever before in their history, Mr. Mackenzie King and his followers are once more shouting the old futile cry of "peace," "peace," when there is no peace, and denouncing "militarism" and "armaments" in the same senseless way.

The Government will do well to ignore this clamor, the country will have little patience with the false prophets of six years ago. This does not mean that Canada should launch blindly upon any gigantic scheme of militarism or navalism. But it means that, as a nation with status and responsibility among the people of the world, with obligations to England and humanity which no sentimentalism or pacifism can obliterate, it is Canada's duty to be prepared on land and sea, not only to defend the heritage which sixty thousand Canadians christened with their blood, but to aid in preserving justice and righteousness among men.

TRADE UNIONS AND EX-SOLDIERS.

And English contemporary, referring to the attitude of some trade unions towards ex-service men in need of employment, describes it as past understanding. It not only suggests selfishness in a very pronounced form, but also indicates the short-sightedness of the unions concerned. That ex-soldiers should be given every opportunity by their fellow-citizens to find employment is a duty which no patriotic service is too oblivious to be in need of argument. They, as Lord Haig said recently, have made their sacrifice, and it is the turn of the trade unions to make theirs—if indeed any real sacrifice is involved. It is melancholy to think of the ex-soldier referred to by Lord Haig who is being prevented by trade union interference from being trained as a boot and shoe maker. In this trade, as in the building trade, there is no lack of employment, nor is there likely to be for years. Increased production in both trades is one of the great needs of the times in the interests of trade unionists as well as of the country as a whole. Ex-soldiers might well contribute to this, and there is too much of the dog-in-the-manger spirit in the refusal of trade unionists to permit them facilities.

The forbidding by the French of the singing of German songs in the occupied area on the Rhine is reported to be creating extraordinary bitterness in Germany. It is the natural thing for the occupiers to issue such orders and it is equally natural for them to be objected to in moodiness and sullenness. There is no sympathy due the Germans in the matter, for they so acted and with greater sternness in Belgium. But Europe is now as of old laying up a store of international bitterness that hodes ill for the future.

"If the League of Nations fails to promote a diminution in armaments," remarks Mr. Balfour, "much of its value will be gone and we will have to admit that it has failed to carry out the great expectations entertained with regard to its future activities." To which may be added that if the nations were honest in their war-time protestations, and if they are wise in their intentions now, there will be a check in the mad race of armies and navies that inevitably leads to war.

A despatch from London says the Sinn Fein has ordered the levying of a tax of 10 per cent. on the value of their properties, to be paid by farmers and shopkeepers. The Sinn Fein war, like others, needs money to keep it going. Perhaps the taxes it collects, or seeks to collect, will make it as unpopular as other governments which bleed their people's purses. Not even the most ardent revolutionist likes to pay taxes to two governments, which is what Irishmen are called on to do.

The Premier of Newfoundland has announced in the Assembly the Government's intention of appointing a commission to consider the question of modifying the prohibition law. There has been an active agitation for several months in the interests of some modifications.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

A Canadian Boy's Adventure (Manchester Guardian.) Sir Hamar Greenwood's fifty years of life have been divided equally between Canada and this country, the first 25 in Canada, the last 25 in England. If in his early years he definitely planned a great career in British politics no one in Canada suspected it. His trip to England as soon as he graduated from college was regarded by his friends merely as the usual visit of a young man before settling down. Tradition has it that he made that trip in a cattle boat, in charge, for a Canadian driver friend, of a consignment of stock on the hoof for the Liverpool market. In those days this was not an unusual way for Canadian college boys who were without financial resources to get across the big pond. Part of the payment for the service was a free trip home, but young Greenwood never used the return ticket.

Motorists and Pedestrians.

"The time is not far distant," said an elderly citizen of Toronto the other day, "I may not live to see it, perhaps, but some of you will, when every pedestrian in the city will be forced by law to wear a red electric bulb in his necktie and carry a red lantern swinging to his cotinine behind."

Nero's Wife Eliminated.

The Congressional Record, like our own Hansard, does not always give a full and accurate report of what has been said in the House. Senator Ferguson, of Florida, opposing the adjournment of Congress, declared that Senators were shirking their work while public interests suffered, and added: "I think it will be another case just like that when Nero's wife fiddled while Rome was burning."

IN THE EDITOR'S MAIL

To the Editor of The Standard, Dear Sir—In the Times of Saturday, June 19, the editor makes the following statement to which I beg to take exception: "The people along the valley who want to come to St. John for the day and return at night cannot do it. The city people who desire to go out in the evening and return in the morning cannot do so."

Now sir, the writer of that article knows perfectly well that for the past eight years the steamer Oceanic has made a daily trip, except Sunday, reaching St. John in the morning and leaving in the afternoon, giving the people who came from the country at least four hours in the city and bringing those back, who went out in the evening at ten or ten-thirty the next morning. He also knows that another service is soon to be started, to serve the Reach, leaving St. John each evening at 6.30 and coming back to St. John in the morning at 8 o'clock.

In view of these facts I think it would be wise for the writer to be more careful in his statements in future.

Yours truly, Riverman.

CANADIAN GROCER

Alcohol Tax is Confusing to Extract Men

There is one line in the retail grocery that is really affected by the tax, and that is extracts, but to what extent, manufacturers are still at sea. For the purpose of getting more definite information on this subject, a deputation composed of extract manufacturers is going to Ottawa to interview Sir Henry Drayton. In one section of the Act it says that a tax of $2.00 per proof gallon shall be applied to alcohol and in another place it says that extracts shall be taxed $2.00 per gallon. Pure extracts contain a large percentage of alcohol. Manufacturers are therefore doubtful as to whether both these taxes are to be applied. "Whether the $2.00 per gallon is added when it is taken out of the bottle, and again added on the manufactured extract, is a point that has to be cleared up," stated Frank Sherwin of the Imperial Extract Co. "The ruling now reads as though extracts have to bear a double tax."

BUSINESS REVIEW AND Maritime Retailer

An interesting sign of the times is that in making their plans for the putting up of favoring extracts Canada Spice & Specialty Mills, Ltd., have in mind the production of a non-alcoholic type extract along with their regular high class line of bottle flavors. The difficulty in the control of the sales of liquor extract particularly has led many retailers to look for a product in which there is no element of danger and a tube extract without alcohol seems to meet that demand on the part of the cautious dealer.

LEMON EXTRACT.

A patrol wagon load of lemon extract was impounded last night by the liquor inspectors and taken to a central police station. It was said that the extract was being used for medicinal purposes as the result of information given by a man arrested on a charge of being drunk.

SACKVILLE PAPER

SELLING OF LEMON EXTRACT IS ILLEGAL

As a result of evidence obtained during the progress of hearing on a charge for having liquor in possession in a place other than a private dwelling, a further information was being given, a local merchant for selling lemon extract, a recent decision of the Supreme Court holding that any extract of that nature, was liquor within the meaning of intoxicating liquors. The merchant, stated fully, and as the offence was a first and the merchants generally were of the opinion that it was not a violation of the law, a conviction of the merchant was imposed, with the approval of Inspector Belliveau, who attended the hearing. The merchant, however, warns all other possiblers that with the knowledge of the law, if a merchant brings home to him, so such leniency will be granted as he is advised; but persons selling these unaltered liquors will be dealt with as severely as if they were dispensing straight booze. He is informed that the sale of this stuff, for drinking purposes, is very prevalent, and a determined effort will be made to put a stop to it. The proprietors of beer shops who permit the mixing of lemon, ginger or other alcoholic extracts by their customers on their premises will likewise be prosecuted. It appears that the decision of the court above referred to, can be made to apply to wholesale merchants, and the stuff liable to seizure. With this case to back up the authorities, it should be possible to measure curtail the rapidly increasing use of extract drinking.

Contractors Protest Against City Doing Paving Work on Prince Wm. St.—Telephone Co. Refused Permission to Lay Conduit on City Road.

The common council met in committee yesterday morning. A delegation from the Canadian Building and Construction Industries was headed by J. A. Grant, president of the local branch said they decided J. B. Kane had not been fairly dealt with regarding paving Prince William street, a case they had discussed since the report was submitted on February 23 until Mr. Kane's check was received early in June. Mr. Kane had sacrificed other work because he had been lead to believe he would be given the contract. Commissioner Frink gave details about the receipt of the tenders and noted the prices submitted by the contractors. He told of a communication from Mr. Kane and also a conversation he had with him in which he said he would require twenty-five per cent more if he was to go on with his contract owing to an increase in concrete, and other material. Mr. Frink said that the road engineer submitted a report showing that the city could lay the pavement cheaper than the lowest tender as they had the material on hand. He spoke about the financial condition of his department and said that unless he received money from the council by the end of August the staff would have to go out and it would not be the men who pick and shovel, but also the office staff. It was decided not to grant the Telephone Company permission to lay a conduit in City Road, near Wall and Ritchie streets, as the street had just been paved. John Alexander was granted full pay for his regular holidays and half pay for the remaining weeks he was ill. The N. B. Power Company was granted permission to put a turn out at the corner of Charlotte and North Side of King Square. Commissioner Bullock submitted a report regarding the purchasing of the steamer E. Ross and repairing, amounting to $5,000 of which the county will pay half. Permission was granted Commissioner Frink to purchase 1,250 barrels of concrete for Prince William street paving. A communication from the War Trophies Committee said they were asking the city four German head guns. A communication was read from the Women's Hospital Aid notifying the council that they had nominated Mrs. R. Dunning Smith as a candidate for the vacancy on the hospital commission. A protest was received by North End regarding allowing a circus to show on the Armstrong and Bruce property. The mayor said he had not issued a license for a circus showing there. The contract of John A. Adams for painting sheds 1, 2, 3, 4 at Sand Point for $370 was recommended. A letter from the Trades and Labor Council asked they be given an opportunity to witness the test to the proposed one-man car. Commissioner Frink advised that the big circus is going to show in Clark's field, Lancaster, and that the city was losing $350.

Interesting Address

By Mrs. Ralph Smith

Before the Canadian Club Last Night, in Which She Described Some of the "Human" Legislation That Has Been Put Through the B. C. Legislature Recently.

If all women politicians could—and would—speak as intelligently, argue as reasonably, and make their points as clearly as does Mrs. Ralph Smith, M. L. A. of Vancouver, the last night would be lost to them. She would be a valuable member of any legislative or public body; her body, however, years ago she says "she has been taking an active interest in all matters relating to the public welfare, and the amelioration of the ill that our social system unfortunately abounds in, and the experience thus gained in standing in good stead, and making it possible for her to be instrumental in bringing about the changes which that experience has shown her are essential.

In speaking before the Canadian Club last evening, Mrs. Smith dealt almost wholly with the social legislation that has occupied the attention of the British Columbia legislature during the last three years in the passing of which she has been one of the prime movers. Prefacing her remarks with the statement that now that women had equal voting power with the men, they were of just as much value to the State, and in some respects of even more value. Mrs. Smith went on to speak of the tremendous influence that women can have in bringing about the passage of social—or what she preferred to call human—legislation, the kind of legislation men would not bother with unless they were brought face to face with the absolute necessity of it. Much of this sort of legislation came peculiarly within the sphere of women's influence, and they were in a better position to deal with it than the men were. There were, she said, some things men would not trouble about until public opinion absolutely forced them to do so, whereas women naturally interested in those things and were willing to take them up. Amongst the matters of social legislation that had recently become law in British Columbia were Acts making the mother equal guardian with the father, of their children; thus providing a minimum wage of $12.75 per week for girls, and that which gives protection for deserted wives. Under this last named measure a man who neglects to provide for his wife and family is taken hold of by the State, and forced to work and his wages are paid over to his wife.

Mrs. Smith is a strong advocate for Juvenile Courts presided over by a woman judge, claiming that a woman, particularly if she happens to be the mother of a family, is in a far better position to deal with children delinquents than any man could ever be. In connection with this subject she referred to the education of mentally deficient children, who were largely of the class which the Juvenile Courts were called upon to deal. She strongly advocated such children being put to learn only such things as they could understand, and in preparing them for after life, to devote their attention to such matters as gardening, poultry raising, bee keeping and such like matters. Mrs. Smith was perhaps most enthusiastic about Mothers' Pensions, a bill to provide for which became law at the last session of the B. C. Legislature. Under this law, instead of taking otherwise children from the mother, and sending them to be educated and brought up in some institution, a sum sufficient to properly keep her and them was paid by the State to the mother and they are left with her.

In concluding, Mrs. Smith made a strong plea for greater co-operation between men and women to bring about better conditions. She referred to the honor she left it to be to be called to address a meeting of a men's club, and expressed the view that if men and women would get together to talk matters over a little more often, much greater good would be accomplished than would be the case if each sex went about matters in their own way. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Smith for her most enjoyable address on motion of Mrs. Tiley, seconded by Mrs. Kuhring.

James B. Daly, of the appraisers' staff, Customs house, is reported very ill in Boston and has been removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Miss Hattie Tweedle, of Moncton, is registered at the Royal.

GERMANY IS RUINED AND UNABLE TO PAY

German Finance Minister Says Amount of Indemnity Mentioned is Absurd.

ADMITS HIS COUNTRY RESPONSIBLE FOR WAR

Gives Long List of Reasons Why They Cannot Pay Claims.

By VIGGO TOEFFER, CrossAtlantic News Service. (Copyright.)

Berlin, June 21.—The governments of the outside countries can no more collect from Germany the absurd amounts now mentioned in the press than they can squeeze blood from a stone, Dr. Wittke, the German Minister of Finance said in an interview here today. "But let the demand be reasonable, and the German people will very soon give striking proofs of their willingness to pay," he said.

Declaring Germany stands today financially ruined, Wittke detailed these reasons why "Germany cannot pay": Her young men slain. Her old men weakened and broken. Her soil impoverished. Her great estates and farms divided. Her farm machinery out of repair. Her railroads wrecked. Her factories out of date. Her mines lost. Her coal supply short. Her fleets taken from her.

Accepts Responsibility.

"We no longer deny that the full responsibility for starting the war lies with the late imperial government, and we are perfectly willing to pay indemnities to the very utmost of our ability, but really the amount which is now said to be demanded from us at Spa is too fantastic and it is evident to anyone who knows Germany's economic and financial position that she can never pay anything like it.

"Before the war, Herr von Helfferich published a book which the Paris paper Le Matin has translated into French as a proof of Germany's great ability to pay, but in this book our total national wealth is estimated at no more than from 300 to 320 billions of gold marks. "At that time the industries of Germany were at the full height, while now they are estimated with the war at that time we had a population of approximately 68,000,000 of people which has now decreased to less than 60,000,000 and it should be emphasized that the men we have lost were young and in the prime of their usefulness to industry, while those we have left are only shadows of their former selves, exhausted as they are with the privations of the war and the state of demoralization through which we have all passed.

"Before the war our soil was well tilled and in the highest state of cultivation; now it is farmed out and yields only half crops. Our factories were well planned, up to date, and had the very best of machinery and implements; now they are run down and out of repair to such an extent that they cannot be said to represent more than half of their value in 1914.

No Coal or Ore.

"Before the war we had sufficient coal and a very considerable quantity of ore, while we have now been deprived of our mines and cannot produce coal sufficient for our domestic needs.

"Our merchant fleet is being taken away from us and the war and fear of war has made our railroads almost valueless. We are short of all the necessities of life, such as clothing, and even the simplest domestic articles and implements and all these things which represent a value of many billions of marks will all have to be manufactured and produced again.

"Before the war we had outstanding accounts in foreign countries to an amount of more than 25,000,000,000 of marks, while now we owe several times that amount to creditors abroad.

"Even if the national assets of Germany are put at a very high valuation, they are certainly worth less than half of their value before the war. It is often said that Germany during the peace negotiations was ready to pay an indemnity of 100,000,000,000 in instalments, but this cannot be used as an argument now, for that offer was made under the supposition that the conditions of peace would have been entirely different. Now we have been deprived of so many of our resources that our ability has been very seriously affected.

"How absurd are the demands which our enemies are about to make becomes most plainly evident when you look at the aggregate value of all German soil and ground. Before the war von Helfferich valued these at 48,000,000,000 of marks, and now we have lost large parts of our territory, while all our soil is impoverished to such an extent that it will take years of laborious work to bring it back to its former condition. All our agricultural lands and all our woodlands today cannot possibly be put down at a higher value than 25,000,000,000.

"Our enemies, therefore, intend to lay upon our shoulders a burden many times greater than the total value of our lands.

"Surely this fact alone ought to prove that it has far beyond our power to fulfil such a demand even if the payments be extended over a long period. It is of no use whatever to demand the impossible.

Gifted Imagination.

"Mrs. Ayres has great gifts of imagination, hasn't she?" "I don't know. Why do you think so?" "I heard her speaking of the fact they live in a 'four-town house'."

British Picture With An Awful 'Punch'

'Twelve-Ten' a Mystery Fiction at Imperial is a Thriller.

A splendid British film production, 'Twelve-Ten,' is the attraction at the Imperial for the first three days of this week. It attracted many patrons yesterday.

The scenes of "12-10" begin in Paris where Louis Fernandez, a poor sculptor and his daughter, Marie, live. The father makes an uncertain living by inventing queer little art figures which he sells to art dealers. Fernandez has fallen into hard times. His little models fail to have the appeal of novelty. He is unable to dispose of them. The climax comes when some one steals his great '12-10' dependent. Fernandez slips away from his daughter. Brooding over his bad luck, he wanders through the streets of Paris to the banks of the River Seine. The swift waters of the river suggest the one way to him to end his troubles.

Marie, disturbed by the long absence of her father, starts out to locate him. Her pathetic figure attracts the attention of Lord Chatterton, an Englishman. He comforts her as best he can and promises to help find her father. They reach the river as old Fernandez hurries himself into the Seine. Chatterton draws the child close to him and turns her head away.

Lord Chatterton adopts Marie and takes her to his home in England. Time passes, and we see her grown up into a charming and beautiful young woman. Stricken with a sudden illness, Lord Chatterton makes his will dictating it to Newton, his secretary. Craved by passion, Newton inserts a clause in the will to the effect that Marie must sit alone with Chatterton's body for twenty-four hours from midnight in silent prayer.

The doctor announces Lord Chatterton is dead. His town house is in mourning. The great man's body is removed to his lonely country estate. Here from midnight his adopted daughter will sit in silent prayer alone with the dead for twenty-four hours. Newton escorts Marie to the room where Chatterton lies in his bed. He looks the girl in the room and leaves the castle. The unearthly silence of the room, the swaying of a branch of a tree scraping against the window, creates an uneasiness that leaves Marie almost a physical and mental wreck. The chimes in the great hall clock peal twelve mournful times. It is midnight, the night following. High overhead among the rafters of the old castle are heard strange noises. Kneeling by the bedside of her adopted father, Marie's nerves are near the breaking point. She stares tearfully at the covered bed.

The bed covers are slowly thrown back from the head of the figure and Newton sits up. One leap and he has Marie in his arms. Screaming, she struggles to free herself from his embrace. She looks over his shoulder, and as she hands on the big hall clock mark twelve, a door opens and—

There this wonderful picture ends, the reader must wait for its presentation.

PULP BY RAIL TO DIGBY, N. S.

Digby, June 21.—There must be money in Pulp just now. Here, in this country of pulpwood areas it is being found necessary, on account of the drives being tied up by low water in bringing pulpwood from Quebec on the railways to be manufactured at Weymouth at the plant of the St. Louis Pulp and Paper Co. This plant is now in charge of Frank Oullett who also has charge of the Pulp mill at Port Clyde.

Here we have suspense worked to the very limit that no one but a Herbert Brenson can do. As for the portrayal of a girl who must face the terrible ordeal suggested by the situation as outlined above, no one but a supreme artist, such as Mario Dora, could play it.

CANADA'S FIRST TRADE EXPOSITION IN LONDON CLOSED

Proved a Great Success— Many Firms Had Samples on Exhibition — Expected Much Business Will Result.

By FRANK TEWSON. Cross-Atlantic News Service. (Copyright.)

London, June 21.—Canada's first exposition in London running at the Royal Agricultural Hall, was closed June 18. The object was the development of Canada's export trade, and Mr. H. Greville Montgomery was responsible for the arrangements.

The exhibition was unique in that it was open to the man in the street as well as to the various trades represented. The casual visitor was able to buy a quarter of a pound of chocolates or give an order for a quarter of a ton.

Some of the exhibitors were G. B. Keeble, Toronto (woodenware); Hill, Seddon & Co., Toronto (textiles); Steel Co. of Canada, Montreal (steel); A. Darnham & Co., Ltd., Toronto (radiators).

At the exhibition, the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Pacific Ocean Service, the Black & White Shoe Co., Toronto; The Bell Piano & Organ Co., Ltd., Ontario; The Hoover Suction Sweeper Co., Ltd.; The Canadian Pacific Railway; Dominion Exporters, Ltd.

BURDENS IMPOSED ON STOCK MARKET

Unfavorable Bank Statement, Hardening of Money Rates and Complications in Eastern Europe Hurt Trade.

New York, June 21.—An unfavorable bank statement, a sudden hardening of money rates, resumption of the railway strike and signs of fresh complications in the Eastern European situation were among the burdens imposed upon today's heavy stock market.

Although the deficit revealed in last Saturday's statement of the Clearing House was primarily due to heavy taxation payments, and, therefore, subject to speedy correction, the loss of reserves was directly responsible for today's money flurry.

The strength of sterling exchange was almost the only development of the session, although still unsupported by evidence of immediate gold imports from London or Par East. Financials, with important international connections, attached little credence to reports that recent accessions to the Bank of England's bullion holdings represented French gold.

Shipments, steels and food issues, as represented by the sugar group, contributed mainly to the occasional upward trend of the market with a sprinkling of chemicals and textiles. A 12 point advance in D. L. and W. was reduced to two points at the close.

TOBACCO HABIT DANGEROUS

Says Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins hospital. Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health today were it not for the deadly drug nicotine.

Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed and lo! the pernicious habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Connor about how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result.

WAYAGAMACK IN SPECTACULAR RUN

Made a Large Gain, Striking New High Ground for the Stock.

Montreal, June 21.—The spectacular trading in Wayagamack was the feature of today's business on the local stock exchange. The issue opened at 2 1/4 points up at 11 1/2, and sold as high as 12 1/4, closing at 12 3/4, a net gain of seven quarter points. These seven general new high ground for the stock.

The general cause of the advance in the issue is attributed generally to pour parlors now rumored to be proceeding which will lead to the taking over of Wayagamack timber limits by prominent paper concerns. Laurendeau was another feature of the trading, selling up to a new high level of 109 3/4 and closing at 108, a net gain of 1 1/2 points.

Among the other paper stocks Brompton closed 1/2 points up at 136 1/2, Riddon gained two half points at 190, while Spanish River stocks were irregular, the common gaining and the preferred losing fractionally. The Utilities were again featured by Quebec Railway which was active, but not particularly strong, gaining on a turnover of 2,180 shares a small fraction at 28 1/2.

The steels and merger stocks were more or less neglected. The principal feature of interest to travellers out of St. John in connection with Canadian National time changes effective June 27th is the inauguration of a sleeping car service from St. John to Campbellton. A standard sleeper will be attached, except on Saturday and Sunday, to No. 10 train leaving at 11:45 p. m., connecting at Moncton with train No. 31 leaving at 3:20 a. m. and arriving at Campbellton at 9:30 a. m.

Returning sleeper will be attached to No. 32 train except on Saturday and Sunday. This train will leave Campbellton at 8:25 p. m. and connect at Moncton with No. 9, leaving for St. John at 2:50 a. m. This means that travellers from St. John for Newcastle, Chatham, Bathurst and Campbellton can leave at night and be at their destination in the morning after a good night's rest on the sleeper. Travellers will also be enabled to make a comfortable night journey from Campbellton to St. John. Passengers from Boston for North Shore points and Gaspe can also make their connections by means of this service.

PLENTY OF LIQUOR.
A refrigerator car containing some 1,500 cases of liquor arrived in the city yesterday, billed to the Dominion Express Company. Dr. Spangler and Thomas Guy led in the Rotary songs. Mr. Porter gave a very clear explanation of the five-fold character of the exhibition, dwelt upon the benefit of the city and to the agricultural and other interests of the province, and showed how business men and householders may help to advantage the fair and give visitors a good opinion of the city and its people. He was heartily applauded. A. M. Bedling urged the Rotarians to attend the Olympic trial and field sports next Saturday. The official will include several Rotarians and at least one member will be a competitor in some events.

KINGS COUNTY MILK PRODUCERS WILL NOT ATTEND MEETING TODAY

This is Report Given Standard by an Official Last Night—Dealers Held Conference Yesterday at City Hall—Situation in City Said to be Growing Worse—Some Solution of Problem Expected This Afternoon.

There was plenty of action in the milk question yesterday but the situation remained about the same, some places were supplied with milk while the private dwellings that have been depending on the King County milk were as usual left without. Grocery stores in most cases obtained a limited supply and no one family could receive more than a half of a pint in many cases. In fact, the grocer was making a small supply to all his customers.

One incident was quite noticeable. In the South end of the city a dealer arrived at a store and left two cans of milk. It would seem that every household in that section was on the lookout, for within a very few minutes women and children made a rush on the grocery store and just as quickly as the milk could be measured out in half pint lots, the two cans were soon emptied.

The "bottle babies" these days are suffering, for instead of the good fresh milk they are in the habit of receiving, hundreds are obliged to partake of condensed milk or some other prepared product or either starve, and the mothers are having no easy time in looking after the little ones.

An Arrest Made
Yesterday morning Deputy Sheriff Campbell of King County, armed with a warrant, arrested Terrance McDade of Lakeside in connection with the holding up of a milk truck on Saturday night and forcibly preventing forty cans of milk being brought to St. John. The prisoner was taken before Magistrate Sprout at Hampton and was liberated on bail amounting to two thousand dollars. It is reported that two other men are under suspicion and their arrests will soon follow.

The criminal action on the public highway as mentioned in yesterday's press has caused no little comment and any person found guilty of the act will undoubtedly receive a severe penalty.

About the City.
There is a number of stories going the rounds, of milk dealers having had their shipments to St. John tampered with. It is stated that in one case a tarpaulin had been placed in cans, and in another, sawdust, while a number of dealers have been refused milk even when they offered to drive to the farms for the supplies.

The ice cream supply was cut down by half yesterday but there appeared to be plenty at that to supply those who wished it. The cream being brought to the city from Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and can be brought from a long distance better than milk.

The Protestant Orphan Asylum was entirely without milk yesterday while this institution was supplied with but one can on Sunday. Hospitals and other institutions are being kept supplied.

Yesterday's shipment received in the city amounted to about 239 cans and came from farms in Sussex and Apohaqui. None came from Norton which is solidly lined up with producers. Several cans came from the St. John River valley districts.

Conference With Dealers
Yesterday morning a conference was held in the Mayor's office between the commissioners and the St. John milk dealers, but nothing in the way of settling the difficulty developed.

The dealers want a wire sent to C. N. headquarters asking for compliance with the request of the farmers that the Sussex train be put back on standard time, the mayor wanted any action deferred until after the meeting, which he had called for Tuesday afternoon, to which he had invited all parties to the dispute, the farmers, dealers and suburbanites, and his view of the matter prevailed.

On calling the meeting to order his worship took exception to a remark made at the previous conference that he had aided and abetted the suburbanites in their efforts to have the running time of the Sussex train changed, claiming he had had nothing to do with the matter. He also contended that the change of time was a matter purely up to the railway. He condemned the farmers for their action in refusing to ship the milk, claiming they had not waited a sufficient time before shutting off supplies.

The speakers for the dealers contended that it was a matter for the city council as they were the body which had put daylight time in effect and this was the cause of all the trouble. About one-fifth of the usual amount of milk was coming into the city and citizens and institutions were suffering because of the lack. One dealer mentioned Protestant Orphan's home which used nearly three cans daily, and he had been able to get only about a can a day for them and this through the kindness of his brother dealers, he himself not having received a can since the embargo was put on.

Mr. Stern stated that he was losing about $200 a day and asked for immediate action to bring about a settlement.

The meeting finally broke up without anything being done and this afternoon the mayor will be on hand at the Board of Trade rooms to meet representatives of all those affected and try to arrange a satisfactory settlement of the matter.

Producers Won't Attend
A Kings County man speaking to the Standard last night said the milk producers of Kings County will not be present at the meeting in the Board of Trade rooms this afternoon, when all the parties concerned in the present milk blockade are called to discuss ways and means of coming to an agreement.

The producers claim that they have done their part and it now rests with the mayor and superintendent of railways to do theirs, and colder restore the Sussex train to her old time, or

FIRE AT McADAM.

Fire at McAdam on Saturday afternoon caused loss estimated at upwards of $3,500, in the destruction of a two story house and restaurant and a one-story dwelling, in addition to damage to an adjoining property. It is reported that the properties were partly covered.

The blaze broke out at 4 p. m. in the rear of a restaurant conducted by King Bros. in a two story wooden building owned by Allan Budd. This property was valued at more than $2,000. The flames spread to a one story dwelling owned and occupied by John Taylor. Both house were burned to the ground and the contents practically all destroyed.

Leater & Emberton's grocery shop was also badly scorched.

Engines and hose supplied by the C. P. R. were used in preventing the flames spreading to nearby structures. The fire was located on the south side of the C. P. R. main line in what is called to the lower end of the town.

Nearly Every Family Handicapped

By the Curse of Strong Drink, But None Ever Benefited from It—Then, Why Hesitate About Supporting Prohibition July 10th?

Let any person of mature years visualize the past, investigate the family closet, and how few there are who have not a member of the family immediate or removed, who has not been more or less handicapped in life by the use of liquor, while so many have been utterly ruined, but while in retrospect how impossible would it be to cite a single instance where indulgence in liquor has ever benefited anyone in even the slightest degree. Then on the assumption that selfishness is a thing to be shunned and despised, how reasonable is it to deprive some to save thousands, and thus make this old world a better place to live in. In our cities, men and women, will be unwell and homesick, get very few votes. Ladies remember that Prohibition Headquarters are in the Congregational Church, Park Street, and that you must register not later than June 24th. Telephone Main 4394.—Adv.

Medical Authorities Give Their Opinion

"Use of Light Wines and Beer Has Much to Recommend It"—100 Per Cent, More Dope Fiends Than Before Prohibition Came Into Effect.

What do the Doctors say of Prohibition as we have it in New Brunswick?

Dr. G. A. B. Addy, the eminent surgeon, at the last annual convention of the N. B. Medical Society, held in St. John, July 16, 1919, said:

"I am prescribing for one hundred per cent more dope fiends today than I did before prohibition came into force. Twenty-five per cent of the 'drunks' are taking liquor and the other 75 per cent lemon extract, etc. The way this act is being carried out in St. John today is a criminal outrage."

Dr. J. S. Bentley, president of the N. B. Medical Society said at the same gathering: "The use of light wines and beers has much to recommend it in preference to the adulterated poisonous liquors which are obtainable at present."

The British Medical Journal says editorially: "So far as we are able to judge, the medical profession as a whole is not convinced of the necessity for 'total prohibition.'"
