U. S. Senator Washburn Talks
About Trusts.

Times Prosperous, but a Crash Bound to Come—Bryan's Hare-Brained Policy.

New York, Sept. 12. — The Tribune publishes the following interview with former United States Senator William D. Washburn, of Minnesota, head of the extensive flour milling interests in Minneapolis: "The present situation to the good citizen, the good Republican, and the man who loves his country, is really alarming, and it is more largely owing to the rapid formation of what is called the trust than to any other agency.

"Just at present there is a demand for every conceivable thing, and times are elastic and money is plentiful. Everything is floating along prosperously. When the collapse comes, as come it will, it will sweep all naturally nonpaying concerns to financial ruin.

"The natural conditions today are better than ever before. With a large balance of trade in our favor, prosperity should continue for a long time. This prosperity has resulted in inflation and the issuing of millions of shares on wind."

Mr. Washburn then condemned the organization of the so-called flour trust. In conclusion he said: "There is one thing that disturbs me greatly. The Republican party, whether justly or unjustly, is associated with trusts in the minds of the masses. As a party, we have reached a crisis where we have got to call a halt.

"The turning of this country's affairs over to such a man as Bryan would be the worst thing that could happen. No one could measure the consequences if Bryan and his friends once got a chance to try out their hare-brained experiments. If we don't set our house in order, the people will take the control of the nation away from the Repub-

"The Republican party has the brains and courage to tackle this trust problem if the gravity of the situation is brought home to the party leaders. Something should be done at once."

Trial of Petition Against Mr. Breithaupt Opens at Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 12.-The trial of the petition against the election of Louis J. Breithaupt, as member of the Ontario Legislature for North Waterloo, opened before Messrs. Justice Osler and. Justice Meredith. The respondent was elected in May last by a majority of 119 over Dr. Lackner, the Conservative candidate. The bill of particulars contains 169 pages of the usual character, and the trial may last for some days. Charges of corruption were made against a man named Bossard. Half a dozen witnesses deposed that Bossard had paid them sums of money at election time, ranging from $2 to $75. Four of them said that Bossard and a man named Lewis, of London, produced a quantity of money, saying that they had there $20,000, and that there was $30,000 more of government These four witnesses agreed as to the main features of their stories, but there were discrepancies in regard to some of the details. The witnesses, who were German, spoke through an interpreter, and the hearing of the evidence is tedi-

Fred Hawes swore that on the even-ing before the election Bossard said to him that he would give him something if Breithaupt was elected. Three days after the election he saw Bossard in company with August Nahls, who works for the witness. Bossard pulled out two $2 bills and gave one to witness and one to Nahls. The witness said, under cross-examination, that he sometimes roted Grit, and sometimes Tory, but got his team out to haul voters on Conservative side. He never took any money for his vote. He had voted for Breithaupt in other elections. August Nahls swore that Bossard old him two or three days before the election to come in after the election, and when he and Hawes went they were each given $2 and told to do what they liked with it. He did not know what Bossard gave him he money for, and did not know for whom he was working. The witness had no vote, and was working or election day.

The manufacturing of Ready-Make Clothing began in these days. When a man wanted a new suit the wool was spun and the cloth for it was woven at home, and the making was "home made" in the crudest sense. If he happened to be wellto do he bought the cloth at the draper's and took it to the tailor to have his suit made. The idea of selling clothing ready made was not considered practical and the business was looked upon with general distrust. That was less than fifty years ago.

Since then Ready-Made Clothing has earned the foremost hold on public confidence.

You can find the suit you want now all ready to wear. Chapman's have collected and manufactured the most desirable lot of Clothing that can be seen in this community You can see improvements in our Clothing over the best you have been able to find before. Williams not being a resident of Canada is the claim being made.

The marriage act says that marriages may be performed by "ministers and clergymen of every church and religious denomination, being residents of Canada and duly ordained or appointed according to the rites and ceremonies of the churches to which they respectively belong."
Rev. Williams has charge of a con-

Pastor Best believes that Mr. Williams was authorized to perform marriages in Canada. The latter, he says, was the temporary pastor church, under salary, and his two months' stay in Windsor constituted residence in Canada.

Attorney A. R. Bartlet, however, says that Rev. Williams, with a congregation in Nebraska, was clearly not a resident of Canada within the meaning of the law and that the marriages performed by him are illegal. Police Magistrate Bartlett also says that Rev. Williams had no authority to perform marriages during his stay A similar case was brought to light

"What a difference in the suffering at time of childbirth when Dr. R. V. Pierce's medicines are used," writes Mrs. Edmon Jacobs, of Bargersville, Johnson County, Ind. What a weight of confirmatory evidence there is in those six words. The neighbor had tried the "Favorite Prescription" and recommended it. Mrs. Incohe has also recommended it. Mrs. Jacobs has also tried it and proved its wonderful properties and now she recommends it. Beside such testimony as this its maker's words are un-important. Mrs. Jacobs' experience is a fact. Her neighbor's experience is a fact. The written experiences of 250,000 other women are facts. There is no theory about it. There can be no question about it. In every neighborhood in this broad land there are women who have been cured by the "Pavorite Prescription." The Dreyfus Infamy.

The verdict in the Dreyfus case has sent a thrill of indignation and sorrow through the civilized world, though the world has not been taken by surprise In the attitude of the presiding judge, the result was foreshadowed almost from the beginning of the trial. Prisoner's counsel visibly renounced all hope, and doubtless prepared the un-hope, and doubtless prepared the unhappy victim for the climax, enabling him to bear it with the iron self-control with which he has striven to suppress his agony throughout the whole ordeal. In the judgment of humanity, Dreyfus is innocent, and France stands consistence of the demand for various lines of staple goods throughout the country is keeping the factories and mills try is keeping the factories and mills pusy, and labor is well employed. Wages are generally higher than for a number of years, and retailers are prepared to for aid. Jas. Bland number of years, and retailers are prepared to for aid. Jas. Bland and Harry Heinsheimer responded with a ladder, and descending, were sufforced by the gases. The bodies were cated by the gases. The bodies were demned. It may be pleaded that the ing in the market, and the sorting busi-judges at Rennes were under the com-very firm for nearly all lines of staple Toronto, Se pulsion of their military superiors to goods. To call France a republic is a bitter cynicism. In no monarchical country, not even despotic Russia, are the people in such bondage to military tyranny as are the French. Not only is the army a menace to society, but the whole military system is a festering mass of corruption. A republic is even more exposed that will keep them fully employed to the vices of militarism than a monarchy. A monarch is the visible head, the symbol of authority, over both the civil and military branches, but under a republican form of government, as in France, the president is usually a man without influence or power, a mere figurehead, and there is no sovereign instrument imposing respect and obedience. Parliament, in theory, represents the national will, but when the statesmen of France prostrate themselves before the generals, it is not surprising that the generals grow contemptuous of civil authority, and become a law control, a little clique of officers has run the army to suit itself, and as favoritism and not merit is the ruling principle, good character is of no account, and the whole organization is The scale of remuneration, too, is miserably low, and puts a premium on treason. The demoralization of the service is seen in the caliber of the members of the general staff, who have stooped to every villainy to encompass the ruin of poor Dreyfus and trample justice under foot. The Dreyfus case makes a telling argument for the Peace Society, and the lesson should not be lost on true patriots in all countries. All the great powers, except Great Britain and the United States, are inoculated with the virus of militarism which is destroyng France.

It remains to be seen whether the present Government of France, which has shown some moral courage, will rise to the occasion and demand that justice shall overrule the powers of evil. If not, the nation will have to reckon with the conscience of the world, which is even now crystallizing into a resolve to boycott the Paris Exposition.

If France should succeed in driving out the Jews, Franch would be a much poorer country than she is today.

In practical results the sinking of the Merrimac in Santiago harbor was not a patch on the sinking of the Houghton in St. Mary's channel.

In a contest of liars General Mercier would probably get first place, Esterhazy second and Ananias would receive honorable mention.

Ten thousand persons were added to the staff of the British postoffice last year. Imperial penny postage no doubt had something to do with this.

Lieut. Peary has just returned from his latest Arctic expedition, having lost seven of his toes, through freezing. A few weeks ago Walter Wellman, the journalist explorer, came home from the same regions crippled for life. It will not do to call them foolhardy, for Arctic expeditions have added much to scientific data. Peary and Wellman are actuated by the same spirit of adventure that drove Columbus across the Atlantic and Captain Cook around the globe. This spirit is not to be derided in this matter-of-fact age.

CURE FOR SAN JOSE SCALE. St. Thomas, Sept. 12.-J. K. Laird, of Guilds, township of Harwich, has been experimenting on some peach trees badly affected with the San Jose scale and has succeeded in finding what he considers to be a sure remedy for the pest. He used a 20 per cent emulsion of coal oil, which destroys the scale and restores the tree to a healthy condition. Mr. Laird says that by this method the scale can be easily and cheaply treated and destroyed without injuring the tree to any great extent.

A DINNER PILL — Many persons suffer exeruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a hearing nutriment. It becomes a poison the stometh, and instead of being a healing nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. MUST ANSWER TO MANSLAUGHTER

Coroner's Jury Finds That Geo. Harding Did Feloniously and Willfully

After deliberating two hours and a quarter last night, the coroner's jury in the Gowanlock inquest, returned a unanimous verdict, charging George Harding, who struck Andrew Gowanlock, with manslaughter.

The evidence was reviewed before the jurymen by Dr. Piper, who conducted the inquest, after which they discussed the statements of every witness very fully. The verdict was that Harding "did feloniously and unlawfully kill and slay Andrew Gowanlock."

Mr. R. H. Dignan was present on behalf of Harding, who will be tried at the fall assizes. Harding, who is one of the quietest and best-behaved prisoners in the county jail, is confident that at his trial he will be acquitted. His many friends are of the same opinion. A brother of Harding's, who has been working on a government ditch near Woodstock learned for the first time of the tragedy on Saturday, having come to London during the day. It was been several months since the brothers met, and the scene at the jail was a touching one Troubled for years. Sore All Over. Could not use them. Spread over Arms, Neck, and Face. Smarted Like Fire. Physicians no Benefit. Tried CUTICUEA. Impediate Bellef. Permanent Cure.

I had been troubled with tetter for several years. At times my hands would be sore all over, so that I could not use them at all, and were so tender that clear water, even, smarted like fire, and it spread over arms, neck, and face. I had been treated by physicians, but without benefit, when I began the CUTIOURA remedies. I found relief before I had taken the first bottle. I used three or four bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one box of CUTTOURA (cintment), and it has never troubled me since. ELLA CURZON, March 10, 1893. Eppingham, Iil.

BLOOD POISON CURED By Cuticura Resolvent

One of my children ran a rusty nail into his foot, which was most painful. His blood got out of order, and sores broke out on his hands and feet. I gave him one bottle of CETICURA RESOLVENT and used one cake of OUTGURA
BOAR, principally as a salve, and the child recovered.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT Begins with the Blood and Ends with The Skin and Scalp.

That is to say, it purifies the blood and circulating fluids of Humon Germa, and thus removes the cause, while warm baths with Cottours Soar, and gentle anointing's with Cuttours (clattent), greatest of emollient skin cares, cleane the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, allay itching, burning, and inflammation, soothe and heal. Thus are speedily, permanently, and economically cured the most torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin, scalp, and blood, with loss of hair, when the best physicians and all other remodies fail.

EUROPE'S WHEAT SHORTAGE.

(Special Cable to Roath Bros. & Co.) London, Sept. 11 .- The shortage in the European wheat crop is estimated at 166,000,000 bushels, of which 56,000,-000 falls on Russia, and 32,000,000 or France. Spain, Germany and England all fall more or less short of average, and Roumania is famine-stricken. Prices would rise but for the weight of American Markets.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.-Trading in wheat, dull for weeks, was even further curtailed today by the influence of the forthcoming government crop report, and in no case was the range over half a cent. Bearish foreign crop re-ports and heavy receipts gave the market a downward tendency. December closed at 1/8c decline. Corn closed unchanged for December, but 1/3c to 1/4c lower for September. Oats advanced %c to %c and provisions closed unchanged to 5c higher. Liverpool show-ed a decline of %d, and world's shipments were 6,810,000 bushels, or about 200,000 bushels over estimated weekly requirements. Minneapolis and Duluth received 1,236 cars, against 1,445 cars a year ago. Chicago receipts were 145 cars. Total primary receipts were 1,-439,060 bushels, compared with 1,644,000 bushels last year.

THE WEATHER TODAY-Fine.

This Store Is One of the Leading Attractions in London That They Shouldn't Miss, Open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Evenings.

There will be many strangers and visitors in London during Fair week. Some may never have been here before and some may never come again. To all we extend a hearty invitation to see the sights of a big Drygoods Store with modern equipment. Don't stay away because you don't want to buy. Some day you will, and what you see here will help you to do it. If you are out at the grounds all day come here during the evening.

-Slightly imperfect, but otherwise just as good. We bought these at a great reduction direct from manufacturers, because they would not permit them to leave their works as perfect goods.

OBITUARY

Postmaster William Porte, of Lucan, Dead, Aged 76 Years. William Porte, for 38 years postmaster of Lucan, died at 6:30 this morning, aged 76 years. Deceased was born in King's county, Ireland, in 1823, and was a son of James and Mary Porte, natives of the same country. He in company with his parents came to Canada in 1837, landing at Culbertson's wharf (now Deseronto). In 1839 the family settled in Biddulph. William was the eldest child, and resided with was the eldest child, and resided with his parents until 22 years of age, when he went to Belleville. In 1856 he returned to Lucan and succeeded his father as township clerk, which office he filled for ten years. He held the position of postmaster continuously since 1858, and served as a member of the town council for seven years. October 22, 1851, he married at Belleville, Miss Catharine Murphy, and they had nine children. Deceased was a charter member of Irvng Lodge, No. 154, A., F. and A. M., G. R. Success In business comes when thorough satisfaction is given the public. That's why Nerviline sells so rapidly. Toothache is cured as if by magic. Pain, internal or external, finds a prompt antidote in Nerviline. Try it.

The resignation of Mr. Theddews W. The resignation of Mr. Thaddeus W. H. Leavitt, one of the customs department special staff, has been accepted. Mr. Leavitt is to become a Conserva-tive organizer in Ontario.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly, and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

An official report from the Ontario bureau of mines states that the Golden Star mine has not fallen in value, but rather that it will continue to yield good returns as exploration of the vein proceeds. Mr. Bow took out 177 samples, and the assays of the whole lot, taking rich and poor together, give an average siderable excitement, and an immerse crowd gathered. The firemen were summoned, but their services were not required. A leaking gas-pipe filled an apartment with gas, and an employe lit a match. This is the supposed cause of the explosion, which shattered a number of large lights of glass, and tore a hole in the ceiling of the room. The report was heard a considerable distance away. AT THE GRAND.

"Who Is Who" was presented at the greatly delighted a large audience. It is a musical farce-comedy of great popularity, and since the appearance of the company here has been reor-ganized and strengthened. There are now 24 mirth-makers of exceptional merit in the cast. The most notable addition is Mr. Tom Ricketts, formerly in "Brian Boru," with the Tivoli Opera Company, and last season with the "Circus Girl." The plot of "Who Is Who" is just definite enough to sus-tain an interest in the laughable dilemmas of the leading characters and at the same time admit of frequent vaudeville interruptions, all of which are remarkably good. Charles A. Pus-ey, who, with Tom Ricketts, takes a leading part, was leading comedian with Corinno. It is a strong, wellbalanced company and should prove a great attraction at the Grand tonight, tomorrow night and Thursday night.

THE CROWDS ARE HERE

Tuesday's Railroad Business Bigger Than Last Year.

Over the Grand Trunk Railway this morning 5,000 people traveled to this main building. city. This total is in excess of the traffic for the corresponding day last year, and in view of the fact that the railway rates were then much cheaper than now, is remarkably large.

On the London, Huron and Bruce branch alone there were 1,158 passengers, and the Stratford trains brought 1,700 to the Fair. These figures are an indication that the attendance at Queen's Park tomorrow and Thursday will be exceptionally large. The grounds were crowded today.

> Good Natured Vocal Warfare Carried On-Lively Scenes at the Corner of Dundas and Richmond Streets.

Considerable good-natured excitement prevailed all day at the corner of Dun-das and Richmond streets, and at the G. T. R. depot on the arrival of train-A gas explosion at the London Print-ing and Lithographing Company's, A rivalry between the strikers and the street railway company for patronage to the Fair grounds was lustily carried on. Shouts of "Take the union 'bus! Right to the Fair grounds!" and "This way to the street cars!" etc., were heard continuously. The strikers and their friends worked industriously, and the 'busses were liberally patronized. The non-union employes of the street railway proved good shouters, and the noise seldom subsided.

There was an interesting legal move in the fight between the company and its old employes yesterday. The move was made by Manager Carr, and for a Grand Opera House last night, and time things seemed to be strongly in greatly delighted a large audience. It the company's favor, as a result. A counter-move was made this morning by the men, which entirely changed the complexion of affairs.

Mr. Carr's move was to obtain an injunction restraining the street railway union from operating unlicensed 'busses in the city. This he got from Judge Edward Elliott.

This morning at a meeting of the police commissioners, attended by Mayor Wilson and Magistrate Parke, the street railway strikers were granted special licenses for this week for 26 busses at $1 each. Previously licenses were obtained for 5 'busses, so that with 31 operating, the men are equipped for handling an immense crowd of passengers. 'Busses left for the Fair grounds every minute during the busiest part of the day.

slow-moving river through the aisles of the main building at the Western Fair, sees much that is amusing, interesting and profitable. The rivers of humanity converge and swirl back in eddies about the Oak Hall's display of clothing. The observer will notice one thing in common to the great majority of the men, women and boys who press close to the plate glass pavilion, which protects the fine fabric of the smart, stylish garments in the Oak Hall's display, from the dust. That common feature is that the interested spectators are quite noticeably the best dressed and most prosperous-looking people in the crowd. That is the class of people the Oak Hall caters to—people who are particular about their clothes-people who demand the best in quality, style, fit and manufacture. Men who want a stylish fall suit or overcoat stop and look at the Oak Hall exhibit. Mothers who like to see their boys in well-fitting, up-to-date clothes that are made of warranted material with a special view to the rough and tumble treatment a suit has a right to expect from a boy, stop to look at the Oak Hall exhibit. Mr. Alfred Taylor, the courteous manager, makes lor, the courteous manager, more visitors welcome at the Oak Hall store, 154 Dundas street.

THE STANLEY PIANO. The display of Stanley pianos in the main building is attracting proportionately as much attention as it did at the Toronto Exhibition. That is saying a good deal, because at Toronto the Stanley received more attention from expert musicians than any other instrument. This was particularly noticeable on American Day, when many visiting American musicians expressed unbounded admiration for the wonderful HEALTH OF one quality of the Stanley, and urged the manufacturers to enter the American market. The Stanley piano was one of the biggest successes of the Toronto Fair, and it is proving one of the biggest successes of the Western Fair. Mr. H. Wellington Burnett, of Toronto, a former Londoner, well known here, is assisting Mr. James Keenleyside, the Stanley's local representative, in giving information and

BLUE RIBBON TEA. The enterprising manager of the Blue Ribbon Tea exhibit at the Western Fair have made themselves popular with the ladies. The following letter received by them this morning speaks for itself. "The Women's Home Defense League desire to thank the man-agers of the Blue Ribbon Tea exhibit at the Western Fair for their liberal donation of Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea to the Union dining room on the grounds. The ladies in charge of the tables are pleased to say that their many patrons seem highly delighted with the fragrant Blue Ribbon Ceylon."

PANY'S FINE EXHIBIT. Every farmer taking in the Fair is particularly interested in the exhibit of the Consumers' Cordage Company, who have a practical demonstration of the manner in which their superior product is fitted for the market, various machines being at work. The exhibit suggests a few thoughts in connection with the binder twine interests. As everyone knows, there is no duty on American binder twine entering Canada, but the United States shuts out the Canadian product by a tariff of 45 per cent. Thus is a jug-handled arrangement, which the binder twine manufacturers of this country consider unfair to the Canadian industry, in which several millions of capital are invested, and which, under fair conditions, would give increasing employment to Canadian wage-earners. It is claimed that the American article is sold in Canada cheaper than in the United States, the evident purpose of the American makers being to crush out Canadian competition so as to control and monopolize the market of this country, and eventually raise prices. In that event the placing of binder twine on the free list by the Dominion Government will have signally failed to achieve its object-the cheapening of twine-and the farmers would severely feel the pinch. The circumstances are such that the Canadian binder twine interests appear to be warranted in asking the government to think over the matter with a view to giving the native industry a fair opportunity, especially as this can be done without injustice to the con sumer.

The Consumers' Cordage Company have succeded in placing their goods in the front rank, and holding their immense business by the superior character of their product, which is used with the greatest of satisfaction by thousands of farmers in all parts of Canada. company employ nothing but Canadian free labor. The exhibit is set off by artistic banners, bearing the expressive mottoes, "We Lead-Others Follow," "Manufactured with Latest English Machinery by Canadian Free Labor." "Home Manufactures Always the Best." "Canadian Goods Win Everywhere," The exhibit is in charge of W. E. Stanley, Lucan, and James Dow, of Stratford, whose friends are legion through-Despite the fact that last winter was out the entire country.

A Transient

George thought afterwards that he had said that she was quite welcome, which seemed as appropriate a remark as any other. "She's rather a fetching old witch," he thought, "but, by Jove, I should think few women had done such a lot of mischief." There was one other farewell which he had to make. Helena hardly knew what her feelings were or rather she could not gauge their height. Although it was not said that Gerard was in danger, she knew people were anxious, and she recalled with a kind of horror that if, a few weeks ago, she had heard even of his death, a little startled awe would have been all that it would have cost her, to be followed with a tremendous sense of escape and freedom, and now, even now, she was slow to mcknowledge that what she dreaded was personal grief, but "the pity or It" seized on her soul. The destruction, or even injury, of Gerard's vigorous youth and strength seemed so piteous a thing. His right to life, to happiness, was as insistent as her own. Even supposing she wished for freedom, it must not come to her through his misfortune.

When she remembered how unreal the tie had seemed to the unknown cousin, she felt more than ever that all the aspect of the case was changed; and free, in the sense of indifference, she could never be again. On the very morning of the accident, she had received a few lines from Ger-

The words were light, perhaps the hand-clasp seemed no more than that of so energetic a friend. George's face was often eager and full of an expression that seemed to transcend Everything amused him, and he heard more, and noticed more, than ten ordinary people would have done.

But in dreams, and in half-waking moments, or sometimes even in the midst of crowd and stir, a whisper came to him. "Suppose he doesn't get over his accident. What then? Suppose I don't find that he comes out clear, what then?" > Story of Mingled Achievement and Disaster.

Brigus, Nfld., Sept. 12.-Lieut. Peary's steamer Windward has arrived here from West Greenland, having wintered in the Far North. She brings a story of mingled achievement and disaster. Peary's chief work consisted in getting the Windward 50 miles farther north than Sverdrup got the Fram. His disaster took the form of his having his feet badly frost-bitten, and losing seven toes, four off the left foot and three off the right. This occurred on Jan. 6, the very night Mrs. Peary's second baby was born. Peary had got out four days before from Fort Conger, pushing towards Cape Columbia, on the northern extremity of Grinnell Land. The party met a series of accidents, and then had to retreat to Conger. They could not find the Greely House in the night, and had to take shelter in a cave in an iceberg. Here Peary's exertions caused a re-action. His feet became frozen, and

Thus crippled, Peary could do little this spring and summer in advancing north. He made one trip in April, but two days' travel showed that his feet could not stand the trip, and he had to abandon further effort. He therefore made some exploring trips round Grinnell Land, delimiting the western coast, and finding that Buchanan Strait was really a closed bay. Briefly stated, the expedition's work

Etah, Whale Sound, and spent six Etah, Whale Sound, and spent six days working to Cape Durville, 80 miles north. Here she was frozen in for the winter, about a quarter mile from the shore. Peary immediately began preparations to work north. He landed stores, and with his five Estimate families began a series of jourkimo families began a series of journeys northward, making four trips in all, and cacheing 4,000 pounds of pro-visions. At Fort Conger, Greely's old headquarters in Lady Franklin Bay, Peary found the Greely House and contents just as left by his predecessor fifteen years ago. He also found all the property left by Greely's people, including many relies of previous expeditions.

expeditions. After spending April in crossing Ellsmere Land, Peary worked south in May and June, hunting walrus and musk oxen, securing 100 of the former and 16 of the latter. The ship got free in Aug. 2, this year, and steamed south, and just a year from parting with the Hope she met the Diana at Etah. All the supplies landed by the latter were stored, and Peary went to Cape York make unhappy days for you, Paine's in her, gathering dogskins and sleds Celery Compound will speedily drive for his expedition next spring. No other medicine ever given to intelligent humanity has bestowed such showers of blessings on individuals and families. IN THE EVENING. The specialties were repeated in the evening, and were even more effective than in the afternoon. The big 230foot stage was as brilliantly illuminated as a theater.

The fireworks given by Messrs. Hand & Co. surpassed all expectations. In brilliancy, novelty and profusion, they have never before been equaled in this city. In addition to a lavish display of bombs, rockets and balloons of endless variety, there was an unusually large number of set pieces, nearly all of them being entirely novel. A golden curtain of fire with a revolving sun in the center covers a space 100 by 24 feet. A terrace of fire has twelve fountains that shoot stars to a height of over 100 feet. An electric tree in the midst of a golden shower is very effective. But the piece de resistance is the battle scene repre senting the joint attack by the British and American fleets upon Samoa. It is wonderfully realistic. The fort and the attacking warships are in plain view. A prolonged cross fire of shot and shell and bursting bombs is followed by a closing in of the fleet on the doomed town, already in flames. A "Good Night" piece concludes the display, which is by far the best pyrotechnica exhibition ever given in London. NOTABLE EXHIBITS. AN EXHIBIT IN EXPERT PIANO-

MAKING. It is not surprising that lovers of the artistic grow enthusiastic over the high-class pianos made by the old firm of Heintzman & Co., and whose London warerooms are at 217 Dundas street. We would like, were it possible, to take the thousands who have admired these instruments a tour through the large factory of this firm at Toronto Junction, a factory that, in the judgment of those who ought to know, is the best appointed piano factory in Canada, and probably without a peer on the contin-ent. It is built and furnished with a view of making a thoroughly high-class instrument. We see this in the materials, whether in the wood for the case, the ivory for the keys, or any other point of detail. There is a Heintzman & Co. principle that has permeated the whole institution. Only the best must be allowed to enter into the manufacture of Heintzman & Co. pianos. A striking illustration of this pianos. A striking illustration of this Heintzman & Co. principle was brought to our notice in talking with a workman at the factory. We found there pianomakers who had been with the firm for upwards of 30 years. This is a good principle with Heintzman & Co. They select only the most skillful workmen, and then, treating them liberally, they have the satisfaction of seeing them remain with them year after year, becoming inspired with the high year, becoming inspired with the high ideals that have ever animated the management during their long history. When this spirit is understood it is easy to realize how distinctive is the Heintzman & Co. when compared with the best that the world produces in a piano. It is not surprising that this words like these, used by the great time.

Alex. Harvey, proprietor of the new opera house on Dundas street, was charged with putting up a fframe addition within the fire limits. Case adjourned until tomorrow.

HEINTZMAN & CO. In these days of cheap frauds and rank imitations people turn with a sense of relief and security to the old and tried firms. In nothing else, probably, is the unsophisticated purchaser so completely at the mercy of an unscrupulous dealer as in the matter of pianos. Knowledge of that fact has something to do, doubtless, with the readiness with which intending purchasers seek out ye olde firm of Heintzman & Co. Eventually and the control of t man & Co. Everywhere in Canada the name of Heintzman & Co, is a guarantee of genuineness and excellence.

Many prominent butchers and cattlemen have been to see this mountain of beef, and acknowledge him to be not only the largest, but the finest in proportion they have ever seen. This is one of the attractions of the exhibition that visitors should not fail to see. The animal is the property of John Black, Fergus.

Dangers of the Fruit Season

Many People Suffer From Diarrhea, Dysentery and Cholera Morbus Through Eating Decayed or Unripe Pruit.

The Only Remedy That Can Be Relied on Is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Every time the fruit season comes round it brings with it cramps and colic, diarrhea, dysentery and cholera

Not that good, sound, ripe fruit is in itself dangerous, but it is difficult to prevent children eating green fruit or fruit that is partially decayed. Grownup people, too, are sometimes indiscreet-eating excessively of cucumber
