

ST. THOMAS NOT ASKED TO PAY SINGLE CENT

Although If Electrification Is to Have Any Benefits Railroad City Would Share Equally With London Is the Claim Advanced.

If electrification is to benefit London, is not St. Thomas smiling up its sleeve at the present time, delighted with the idea and not expecting to pay one cent of the cost?

One of London's leading financial managers advanced this side of the question to The Advertiser today.

He also wanted to know whether or not St. Thomas would share in the sale of power to the old tree upon which one man thinks he can grow golden fruit.

DOES ST. THOMAS PROVIDE POWER?

It happens that when the London and Lake Erie Transportation Company wanted power, the hydro-electric interests saw to it that although the road was a London institution, St. Thomas received a good share of the power, and at a higher price than was paid to the city of London.

A gentleman connected with hydro-electric affairs, stated that he did not think that any of the power for an electrified line would be taken through St. Thomas, although he was not certain on the point.

DIED OF HEART DISEASE AS SOUGHT AID AT NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Adelaide Belton, Widow of Late Joseph Belton, Succumbed While She Was Out For a Walk—Was Strolling in the North End.

The death of Mrs. Adelaide Belton, widow of the late Joseph Belton, a former pop manufacturer in this city, occurred suddenly last evening. Mrs. Belton succumbed to an attack of heart disease at the residence of Mr. E. F. Landreville, 261 Piccadilly street, to which she went for assistance. Mrs. Belton had left her home at 189 John street, and was walking in the north end when the attack came. Dr. Sheobotham was summoned, but death had taken place before his arrival. Coroner MacLaren conducted an investigation, but concluded that an inquest was unnecessary.

EVANS IDENTIFIED AS THE KEYMAN OF EAST LONDON

York St. Resident Recognized City Hotel Thief as Burglar Wanted Here.

PRISONER PLEADED GUILTY TO BURGLARY

Was Arraigned in Police Court Before P. M. Judd Today—Identification Perfect.

A resident of York street east, whose name was one of those visited by the East London "keyman" about eight months ago, was taken to the county jail this morning by the city police officers and was able to positively identify Charles Evans, who today pleaded guilty to burglary, as burglarizing the residence of Mrs. Wm. Tierney, of 155 Albert street, and stealing a watch from Miss Mollie Currie, an employee of the City Hotel, as the individual who operated so successfully in a number of East End homes.

No charge will be laid against the prisoner in connection with the East London keyman case, that attracted the widest interest in the summer of 1911.

A Clever Thief. His operations of the time were so cleverly guarded that his cunning was really to be admired. The keyman then entered a dozen houses, and it was different valuables were stolen, it was never found possible to get a direct line on the culprit. Finally cornered by the detectives in his operations, and fearing that he would be taken at any time, he left the city hastily.

When Evans was arrested in connection with the charges on which he is now to be sentenced, the detectives recognized the fact that the place was the description of the keyman, and the description of the citizen was accordingly taken to the cells to make the identification positive.

The manner by which the citizen in question met the police is interesting, and sheds some light on the methods of the modern sneak-thief.

Plan of Campaign. The keyman's plan of campaign was to pick out a certain house that might contain some valuables and observe carefully until he had reason to believe that practically all of the occupants had gone out. He would then approach the door and ring vigorously a couple of times, in this manner, assuring himself that the place was unoccupied. He would then enter if a door happened to be left open, and he necessary would make use of skeleton keys.

The York street man, shortly after the first cases were recorded in the newspapers, was in his house when the doorbell was rung sharply. He responded after a moment, and met a rather flustered and excited individual, who quickly excused himself by saying that a person bearing some fictitious name lived in the neighborhood. He left, and crossing to his den, he attempted to make a search of the same person. However, as he did so, the thought of the keyman occurred to the York street resident, and he started after the stranger, who ob-

BRAKEMAN TRACY SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES

Former Londoner Fell Beneath Wheels While Coupling Cars at Cayuga.

[Special to The Advertiser.] St. Thomas, Nov. 22. — James P. Tracy, the Wabash brakeman, who was injured while coupling cars at Cayuga yesterday, died while being brought to the hospital here last night. Tracy was born in London, Ont., and was a son of the late Thomas Tracy, who was the proprietor of a barber shop where the Smallman & Ingram store is now located. The mother and three sisters reside in Windsor. Tracy was 23 years of age. Two brothers, Chester and Harvey, are also Wabash brakemen. The body was taken to Windsor, and from there to London, where on Monday a funeral service will be held in St. Peter's Cathedral.

GALE ON SUPERIOR TIES UP NAVIGATION

Hundred Vessels at Whitefish Head Until Storm Abates.

[Canadian Press.] Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 22. — A terrific northwest gale has tied up navigation on Lake Superior during the last 24 hours. Nearly a hundred vessels are lying under Whitefish Head until the storm subsides. The captain of the Filbert said, when he reached the Soo this morning that the storm was the worst he had experienced this year. Very heavy snow was blowing from Lake Erie ports this morning. She had been detained, putting a patch on her starboard bow to cover a hole made by striking the upper northwest pier of the canal. She has on board a cargo of 250,000 bushels of grain, taken on board at Duluth and consigned to Buffalo.

A JUVENILE FAKIR CHASED FROM HOUSE

Caught in a South London Residence He Boldly Tried a Flim-Flam Game.

A juvenile flim-flammer, possessing the boldness of a J. Rufus Wallingford, visited six houses on Elmwood avenue, South London, two days ago. At the first place he rang the bell, and when no one responded, walked into the house and started upstairs. He was halted by the lady of the house. "Your husband informed me that I was to collect fifteen cents from you," he stated. The lady disbelieved the story and told the boy to leave the house or that she would call the police. He went directly to the house next door, where a single lady resided, and described the same demand. He started to describe her husband and was quickly chased out. Then he attempted to find a sympathetic audience in four other houses, but failed in each case.

SATURDAY IS TAG DAY FOR BOOTH MEMORIAL

London To Be Asked To Do Its Share Toward Raising Funds for the Proposed "University of Humanity" To Be Erected at Toronto.

The officers and members of the Salvation Army in this city will conduct a tag day campaign tomorrow to raise funds for assisting in establishing a branch of a "University of Humanity" in Toronto.

One of the last requests of Gen. Booth was that if a memorial be erected to him, it take the form of a university, where consecrated men and women could be instructed how best to serve their fellow men and women. Gen. Booth stated that in all countries there are universities and colleges where men and women are taught how best to make themselves a help to a community and a grace to society, but there is no university of humanity.

Already the Salvation Army has schools in different parts of the civil-

Prof. Angus' Report Will Not Be Ready for Some Weeks

Pressure of Business to Blame for Delay in Finding of Cost of the Street Lighting of This City—Annexation Petition Scrutiny.

Ald. Richter and City Clerk Baker returned last evening from Toronto, where they attended the meeting of the executive of the Ontario Municipalities' Union. There was not much business to dispose of, and the session was rather brief. What was to be dealt with was referred to committees.

While in Toronto, they interviewed Professor Harry Angus, who is preparing a report on the cost of street lighting in London, and asked him when the document will be ready. They were informed that owing to pressure of business it could not be presented to them until some time.

"I am much behind in my work," said Mr. Baker. "I cannot touch this until next week, but I will be able to get through with the work then."

LADY WHO SAW THIEF GAVE POLICE FULL DESCRIPTION

Officers Made a Record Catch of Man Who Stole Valuables From a Local Hotel and Also From a Residence on Albert Street.

"The house next door has been robbed! Please send an officer at once!" called an Albert street lady over the telephone to the police station at 2:40 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

"Is there anyone who could identify the robber?" asked Detective Down.

"Yes, I saw him leave the house not ten minutes ago," replied the lady. She then gave a description of the man, mentioning a brown, knitted vest she had noticed.

"We've got him," exclaimed the detective. Fifteen minutes after a diamond ring, a gold watch, and other jewelry had been stolen from the home of Mrs. Tierney, the articles were again in the possession of the owners for identification.

The London police have made many important arrests, but it is known that this one made a new record.

Saw the Thief. Mrs. J. S. Cheney was the lady who telephoned the police. She had seen Charles Evans, the alleged thief, standing in front of her home. When he saw a young lady leave he went to the front door and rang the bell. Mrs. Tierney, upstairs, thought that one of the young ladies, who live at her home, was downstairs, and would answer the bell. When Evans got no answer he went to the back door, observed by Mrs. Cheney, and entered. She thought he was an inspector of cars, and he was not alarmed.

One of the young ladies who lives limited.

BULGARS DEMANDED MORE THAN WANTED; WILL MODIFY TERMS

Plenipotentiaries Appointed at Sofia to Discuss Situation With Turkey.

BULGARIAN TROOPS TO STAY PASSIVE

The European Powers Informed of No Attempt Being Made to Enter Constantinople.

Sofia, Nov. 22. — Drs. Daneff, president of the Bulgarian Parliament, Gen. Savoff, Bulgarian commander-in-chief, and Gen. Ritcheff, the chief of staff of the Bulgarian army, have been appointed Bulgarian plenipotentiaries for the negotiation of an armistice between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies. They will proceed immediately to the Tchataldja lines to meet the Turkish plenipotentiaries there.

[Nov. 22.—Come and take them," the defiant reply of the Turks to the demand made by the allied Balkan nations for the evacuation of the line of fortifications at Tchataldja in front of Constantinople, is not believed in diplomatic circles necessarily to mean the end of the negotiations for an armistice, even though fighting has been resumed.

May Modify Demands. From Sofia comes word today that the victorious invaders are likely to modify their demands. The European powers at the same time are exerting themselves to induce the nations composing the Balkan League to bring their terms more into line with the facts of the situation and to arrange a treaty which will give them all they have conquered, but will leave out that which has not been conquered.

Bear Rush Weakens. Compared with its earlier disastrous experiences the Turkish army evidently now considers itself in a relatively favorable position. Military experts here see in the at least temporary failure of the projected Bulgarian rush into Constantinople, signs of a reversal of the fortunes of the past month. Sustained efforts of the recovery of the fact that the Ottoman capital, even if captured, must ultimately be evacuated in accordance with the decree of the great powers, it appears that the allies have nothing to insist on the surrender of the lines, which forms virtually the backbone of the city. Hence the hope expressed by diplomats that this depressed by the withdrawal, in which demand will be withdrawn, recognizing that she has no prospect of recovering her lost territory, would quickly conclude that she has nothing to gain by continuing the conflict. She would perhaps agree to enter into negotiations on the basis of a surrender of all, but on a reasonable strip of territory at the back of Constantinople, the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

The announcement from Sofia this afternoon of the appointment of Bulgarian plenipotentiaries to discuss the terms of an armistice with the Turkish envoys, tends to confirm the contention of diplomats that the Ottoman rejection of the first terms proposed by Bulgaria has not barred the road for further negotiations. Even the Ottoman embassy here agrees that the "extremist" demand for the evacuation of the famous Tchataldja lines of fortifications is not a serious one.

TRADE BRISK IN ALL LINES; LONDON IS FORGING AHEAD

Mr. J. Grant Henderson Points Out That Conditions Are Excellent in the Business Life of the City—Men Are in Demand Everywhere, The Advertiser Is Informed.

The prosperity of London is increasing daily, and men are in great demand everywhere in the city. Businessmen report trade brisk. Theatrical men state that the patronage of attractions here is ahead of other years, showing that the people have money. In fact, everywhere there is a spirit of optimism prevailing.

A number of the manufacturing establishments have increased their plants, and others are contemplating further enlargements. The city is going ahead provided it keeps to its present safe methods of expenditure.

Mr. J. Grant Henderson, commissioner of industries, stated that business everywhere was excellent.

All Going Ahead. "London is growing rapidly," he stated. "There is a very healthy tone in every line of business, and I feel greatly encouraged. This is evidenced by the demand for real estate, which is being turned over at high prices very frequently."

Industrial concerns are adding to their plants. Mr. J. Grant Henderson, the London Rolling Mills, Geo. White & Sons, the Toasted Corn Flake Company, the Empire Brass Company, the Hobbs Manufacturing Company, and others, are adding to their present large plants. This is indicative of increasing business and prosperity.

Some of them tell me that it is impossible even with their increased accommodation to meet the demands of the growing west, and the development of the Dominion as a whole.

"Retailers and wholesalers are increasing their output, and people are buying a better class of goods."

Want New Industries. "I find that the people are in favor of the industrial bylaws to be voted on in January. They are anxious to help in further developing the city, and making it more and more an industrial centre."

"Men are exceedingly scarce. It is almost impossible to get men to do any kind of work, and we have had many demands for help. London is growing at a lively rate. I can tell you."

Mr. Grant Is Optimistic. Assessment Commissioner Grant, who is in touch with changes in reality, is also optimistic, and sees a much greater era of prosperity and development than has been the case in times past.

"We cannot keep up with the growth of the west," said Mr. A. W. White. "We are constantly increasing our plant, but we can scarcely keep pace with the demand for machinery in the west."

MR. CHAS. W. LEONARD DIED VERY SUDDENLY

Member of the Firm of E. Leonard & Sons Passed Away Most Unexpectedly at His Residence on Park Avenue—Death Due to Heart Failure.

The death occurred suddenly this morning of Mr. Charles Weston Leonard, of the firm of E. Leonard & Sons, and third son of the late Hon. Elijah Leonard. Mr. Leonard attended to business as usual yesterday, and was apparently in good health when he retired last evening. Death came most unexpectedly, due to heart failure. Mr. Leonard spent his entire life in London. As a boy he attended the public schools here, and later Upper Canada College. He entered the present partnership in 1873, and had been identified with the business ever since.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. J. G. Fitzgerald, of Berkeley, California; also by one brother, Mr. F. E. Leonard, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. W. C. Barron, of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. (Judge) McKillop, of Quebec.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

THE FREE PRESS AND HYDRO-ELECTRIC

Some time ago the London Free Press twitted The Advertiser because this newspaper did not use hydro-electric power.

The Advertiser, like the Free Press, buys power in the open market at the cheapest price it can secure.

The Advertiser called the hydro-electric offices today and asked if the Free Press used any hydro-electric power.

"No," was the reply that was given.

Real Estate Sales Totalled $156,717 for Month of October

A Healthy Movement in Realty in the City. Says Assessment Commissioner Grant—A Slight Decrease as Compared With a Year Ago, But Figures Are Very Satisfactory.

The real estate transfers for the month of October are slightly less than for the same month of 1911. However, they are in advance of October's returns in 1909 or 1910, and slightly lower than in 1911. Some rather large deals were put through the month.

One of the most important transfers was the sale of the Beattie Bros., of establishments to the Beattie Bros., of Pergus. The land comprises two portions, one 50 by 161 feet, and assessed at $2,500. The other portion is 253 by 157, and it is on this lot that the factory is built. The company enforces a fixed assessment of $25,000 on this. The consideration is not given in the transfers, but it is understood that a very good price was realized for the plant.

Several other parcels, ranking in value from $5,000 to $8,300, changed hands.

The Figures. The number of transfers during the month were 99. The assessed value was $128,752, while the consideration was $156,717. The assessment was 82.1 per cent of the consideration.

In October, 1911, there were 107 transfers. The assessed value was $115,220, while the consideration was $159,547. The assessment was 72.2 per cent.

In 1910 there were 76 transfers, assessed $72,830, consideration $101,565, percentage 71.7.

There is a healthy movement in real estate," said Assessment Commissioner Grant. "London is growing rapidly now."

The Transfers. The transfers for the month were: Eva R. Coo to Rev. T. G. A. Wright, 95 Maple street, 26.8x117 feet; assessment, $2,500; consideration, $4,000.

Mabel T. Jackson to Israel T. B. 1st, 765 Wellington street, 48.5x117 feet; assessment, $1,200; consideration, $2,500.

Carrie McGutchon to Samuel R. Moore, 842 Lorne avenue, 34x132 feet; assessment, $1,600; consideration, $2,800.

London and Western Trusts Company to Addie M. S. Clayton, lots 25, 24, 27, 52x122 feet, 12x122 feet; assessment, $1,240; consideration, $1,400.

Elizabeth Hopkins to Richard Johnston, 526 King street, 45x120 feet; assessment, $2,000; consideration, $2,650.

Wm. D. Slater to Samuel Wilson, 216

MORE MONEY FOR POSTMEN OF LONDON

Notice Received in This City of an Increase of 25 Cents Per Day.

MORE MEN ARE WANTED

Major Beattie Says There are a Number of Vacancies on the Outside Staff of Postoffice.

Word has been received here that the salaries for letter-carriers has been increased 25 cents a day, to date from the beginning of the fiscal year, April 1.

This will affect 40 men in London. According to the schedule now, the minimum salary for carriers is $1.75 a day, with the maximum $2.75 a day.

The men are pleased with the increase. As the salary raise is retroactive, the carriers will receive a handsome bonus in their checks at Christmas time.

Efforts will be made to increase the number of outside men. The carriers claim that the inside staff has been added to, but the outside staff has been slightly increased.

That the Government intend doing this was borne out by a statement of Major Thomas Beattie, M. P., who declared that he has places for several additional letter-carriers, but he could not obtain them.

GOVT. ASSURED OF A LIVELY TIME

Bombardment of Vital Questions Will Come From Opposition Members.

CENSURE COL. HUGHES

Borden Will Be Asked To Explain Minister's Wild Statement in Regard to Germany.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—Only three score inquiries of the ministry by private members on matters of both parol and national interest are already on the order paper. The inquisitiveness of the members covers a large range of subjects, and some questions bristle with embarrassment for the Government.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will ask Premier Borden for a statement as to the truth of Armand Lavergne's recent declaration that he was offered a place in the cabinet, and that he had much to do with the choice of Mr. Borden's Quebec ministers. Mr. Lemieux also wants to know as to the truth of Mr. Lavergne's statement that the Premier gave Mr. Monk assurance when the cabinet was formed, that a plebiscite would be taken before any kind of contribution to the British navy was decided by the Government. Mr. Lemieux further inquires as to the authority which Col. Sam Hughes had for declaring at Vancouver last August that Germany had to be taught a lesson, and that Canada must join with Great Britain to help teach that lesson. Other queries from the opposition concern the extent to which the axe has been wielded by Hon. L. P. Pelletier and the latter's intentions with regard to a parcel-post system.

Hon. Charles Murphy asks what the Government is going to do about the Georgian Bay Canal this session, and how many special commissioners have been appointed, and how much money has been paid them since the present Government assumed office.

Mr. Sinclair, of Guyshere, asks information as to the new private cars purchased for the ministers, and as to the delay in carrying out the construction of promised branch lines of the Intercolonial.

There are also numerous questions as to dismissals, appointments, etc., in various constituencies.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson has given notice of a resolution declaring that, in view of the general feeling throughout Canada that express rates are intolerably high, the railway commission should make a thorough investigation of the whole question of express rates, covering the dividends earned by the companies for the past ten years, with a view to remedying conditions now complained of.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, ex-postmaster-general, will bring the question of a Canadian parcel-post system before Parliament by moving a resolution declaring that such a system should be established in the interests of the public.

SNATCHED FROM DEATH

Crew of American Schooner Has Terrific Experiences Off British Columbia Coast.

[Canadian Press.]

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 21.—Five days and nights without sleep, three days without water to drink, wet to the skin during the whole of that period on a helpless, waterlogged, dismantled schooner, and then, when hope had been abandoned, and the crew crowded into the little remaining small boat, with huge seas carrying them on to the rugged shores of Vancouver Island, the welcome smoke of the Canadian fisheries cutter, William Joffe appeared and nine sailors were snatched from the jaws of death.

This was the experience of the crew of the American schooner E. K. Wood, whose members arrived here this morning. The schooner lies an abandoned wreck on Vancouver Island. She had a cargo of lumber out of Bellingham, Wash., bound for San Pedro, California, and sailed Nov. 9.

TO REMOVE CATTLE EMBARGO.

London, Nov. 21.—An influential deputation waited on Premier Asquith in the House of Commons this evening on the question of the embargo of store cattle at British ports. The premier promised that, in conjunction with the president of the board of agriculture, he would consider all the points raised, with a view to removal of the restrictions at the earliest possible date.

A member of the deputation states that it is expected the embargo will be removed within the next month.

PARIS SEERESS SEES BAD YEAR

Predicts All Kinds of Disasters for the World During the Year 1913.

MORE WAR AND TURMOIL

Year of Blood and Great Fires, a New King, a New Pope, and Germany at War.

Paris, Nov. 21.—It was Mme. de Thebes who last November predicted a war in the Balkans, an epidemic, and other strange things. Many have come true. Raoul Aubry, of the Temps, has had a talk with the seeress in relation to her predictions for the coming year, to be soon published.

"In 1911," he says, "Mme. de Thebes, referring to 1912, called it the black year. Now her visions help her to predict that 1913 will be what she terms the aurora year, or a year which will be a prelude to noble awakenings, leading to the highest summits, but a year also of grave perils, which only those of superhuman courage can pass through successfully, for 1913 will be a year of blood and this old world of ours will crack, figuratively speaking, I suppose."

Also the number thirteen is often fatal. In this instance, 1913, she sees the birth of an extraordinary influence, women bending over the wounded. Even beyond the frontier Paris has a special prescient moment. Events of the most tragic nature are predicted. The theatre and music will play an important part in civic life. There will be great tumult. Unprecedented theatrical spectacles will be witnessed. One man will give his entire fortune and surround Paris, thinking to surround the world. There will be many fires. Actors, actresses and sportsmen will suffer, in fact, Mme. de Thebes sees Paris sublime and appalling. A foreign army will be at the frontier and the country in danger.

"Her picture of other countries is no better. She sees a new king in Italy and a new pope. Certainly Germany will stake her all, and she fears war. "Finally," she added, "with courage the people of all countries will pass through these ordeals and a glorious future is assured."

CARNEGIE PENSION FOR EX-PRESIDENTS

Twenty-five Thousand Annually Where Government Does Not Provide.

New York, Nov. 21.—Future ex-presidents of the United States are to be pensioned in the sum of $25,000 each annually, by action of the Carnegie Corporation of New York today.

The grant is provided for with the idea of enabling former executives of the nation to devote their unique knowledge gained in public affairs to the public good, free from pecuniary care. A similar amount is to be paid widows of ex-presidents so long as they remain unmarried.

The pensions are to be promptly offered to the ex-presidents or their widows, so that no application will be required from them. Payment is to be continued so long as the recipients remain unprovided for by the Government.

The announcement followed the second annual meeting of the corporation, held at the residence of Andrew Carnegie here, and attended by the corporation's executive trustees.

A total of $125,000,000 in securities has thus far been transferred to the corporation, which will carry on the various works in which Mr. Carnegie has been engaged, and such others as he may from time to time think it advisable to establish.

LONDON, FRIDAY, NOV. 22.

PROSPEROUS LONDON.

After a quiet spell the city of London is speeding up. A good barometer is the real estate market. Vacant houses have been filled up with a rush, and property is more saleable than it has been for some years. The factories are working full time, some of them overtime. Business is brisk in all lines. It has been a good year in the building trade, which is also an accurate test of general conditions.

The healthy growth of London has never been interrupted, but the pace was faster five years ago than it has been since. Now that it is being quickened again, there is nothing to prevent a long period of prosperity if the municipality itself is ordinarily careful. The various civic bodies should weigh carefully all proposals to increase the debt and should recommend to the ratepayers only those undertakings which they are certain will promote the city's welfare. Some of the expenditures proposed will have to go by the board if the city is not to be fettered by an enormous increase in its liabilities. The municipal loan market is not in a favorable state; it is clogged with securities and money is dear. The request of nearly a million for electrifying the London and Port Stanley Railway is not justified by any known facts. To carry the bylaw at the expense of all the others would be suicidal. Necessities should be given preference by the ratepayers. Any reasonable proposals to encourage new industries will probably receive their support. Storm sewers are badly needed, but the estimated cost is so great that the work must be carried out by instalments, and before the council submits the bylaw it should have the plans checked by the highest engineering authority. Citizens have not yet received the information on this matter that they are entitled to, and it is too bad that the present scheme was not put fully before them months ago. New schools are another need; at least six of the present school buildings are incurably insanitary. There must be a large increase in the annual outlay upon roadways, especially as the city's area is to be greatly enlarged. The municipality must set its house in order first of all. The federal square is a highly attractive project, and one which citizens should not relinquish, even if they feel they cannot afford it at present. Certainly they will not be able to afford it, or even the absolute necessities, if nearly a million dollars is to be spent on the London and Port Stanley Railway, with no assurance whatever that the capital outlay will not be followed by a yearly deficit.

THE BRITISH DOCTORS' STRIKE.

It looks as though there is to be open war between the British Government and the British Medical Association, the doctors' "union." The council of the association persists in its refusal to vote the Insurance Act, although Mr. Lloyd George has offered to find a further sum of £1,000,000 to meet the cost of medical benefit. Under these new terms the doctors would receive 6s 6d (about $1.50) yearly for every insured person, with an allowance of 1s 6d for drugs and an additional fee for maternity cases and for consumptive patients treated at their homes. It is calculated by the committee of seventeen doctors appointed by the Government to administer the act that each medical man would receive £350 yearly for every 1,000 insured persons on his list, in addition to what he obtained for maternity cases. He would be free also to engage in private practice among uninsured persons, the latter being all persons in receipt of $500 a year and more, and their dependents.

The Government's latest offer was unexpectedly liberal, and it is said there are thousands of physicians who would gladly accept it, but who fear to place themselves in opposition to the clique which controls the association, and which is accused of being actuated by partisan motives. A referendum of the doctors may yet save the situation, but the Chancellor has given notice that if his terms are finally rejected he will proceed at once to organize a National Medical Service. He thus described the plan as it would be applied to a city of two hundred thousand people:

"At the head of the service would be a principal medical officer, who would be responsible for the working of the service, and would be not only a skilled clinician thoroughly competent to supervise and appreciate the work of his subordinates, but also a highly efficient administrator. Immediately under him would be a staff of skilled specialists, who would help the general practitioners of the service in any case of difficulty. Then would come the general practitioners of the service, of whom some would be junior practitioners, and others senior practitioners of wide experience. These would work on an organized system, proper provision being made for night calls and other emergencies, and they would be assisted by an efficient staff of nurses. Their work would be done under competent supervision, and they would be able promptly to secure skilled assistance in cases of difficulty. Such a service would naturally work in close co-operation with the public health authorities and the education authorities."

This would be a radical departure, a great experiment in state socialism. It would mean that the health of 14,000,000 people would be in the hands of paid servants of the state. "The older practitioners in densely populated areas," says the Nation, "would find their practices quickly sapped by younger and keener men, appointed under the new service. Well paid, well equipped, and with all the enthusiasm of new brooms, these men would soon carry everything before them." Jan. 15 is the date set for the first payment of medical benefits. The operation of the act would not be delayed by the doctors' strike; the Government would simply pay the benefits to the various fraternal societies and allow these to make their own terms with the doctors until the state service could be organized. It remains to be seen whether the British Medical Association would be powerful enough to keep doctors out of the new department. If not, the association would be beaten and many members ruined. It is a critical time for the profession in Great Britain.

THE GENERAL BOOTH TAG DAY.

The Salvation Army makes an appeal to its sympathizers which is reinforced by the testamentary wish of the late General Booth. He desired to found a great institution for the systematic training of members of the army in all its departments of activity. It was his hope that any memorial of himself would take that form. His son and successor has undertaken to fully realize the general's dream. The work will be decentralized so as to allow for varying conditions in various countries. In Canada the army will attempt to raise $250,000, every cent of which would be spent in Canada upon Canadian aims. An institution is to be erected at Toronto for the training of army members in prisoner aid, social and women's rescue work, and in every sphere in which the army has entered. As a method of raising money the local Salvationists have decided on a tag-day, and citizens should be prepared to respond tomorrow in aid of so worthy an object, and as a tribute to the memory of that great friend to humanity, William Booth.

They may be certain that the money will be economically spent; the Salvation Army has shown efficiency in its financial methods, and no shadow of maladministration has rested on any of its world-wide projects.

Hon. Robert Rogers has taken his place as Mr. Borden's first lieutenant. Would Mr. Borden care to be judged by the company he keeps?

If the Servians, as reported, are butchering women and children, their victories over the Turks are not a case of onward, Christian soldiers.

The new member for Macdonald, Man, was cheered when introduced in the House of Commons. Silence would have been decorous in view of the methods employed to seat him.

Clauses of the home rule bill are being carried by majorities of 150 and over. The snap division has put more snap into the coalition forces.

The churches in England and Germany should not leave it to the socialists and trade unionists in both countries to carry on the war against war.

The Turkish Government has refused the terms of the Balkan allies, and has invited more bloodshed. A word from the Concert of Europe, and Turkey would surrender, but the "great" powers are too jealous of one another, and of the little powers, to act in concert, and the slaughter will go on.

Mr. Stevens, M. P., tells the Canadian Club of this city that Japan aims at a lodgment in British Columbia. But the exigencies of his party require that the German, not the yellow, peril, shall have the middle of the stage. What will Mr. Stevens do about it? Vote with his party or with his own beliefs?

Le Canada, the French-Canadian morning daily in Montreal, advised Liberals to vote for Coderre in Hochelaga. The Nationalist—there is the enemy to combat today at the polls, it said on the morning of the election. "Each elector ought to vote. Vote against Doyon and the Master" (meaning Bourassa). The evening French Liberal daily, and one of the evening English Liberal dailies, took the same course. Yet the Toronto Mail and Empire and the Toronto News interpret the result as a blow to Laurier!

POLITICS TODAY.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]
Politics used to mean the science of government. Politics used to be regarded as defined as the science of human duty. If we are no longer to be allowed to associate politics with morality we may expect to be told that we must keep our ethics and our sense of duty free from morality also. What use are we to make of our politics? Already there is a demand that the tariff be taken from politics, that the navy question be taken from politics, that the appointments to the public service be taken out of politics, and so on. And now the regulation of the liquor traffic must be treated as a moral question, and because of its being so treated, must be taken out of politics. Soon there will be nothing left for the politicians to do but wrangle over questions of no importance and struggle for the spoils of office. To such base uses is the noble science of government descending, if we are to believe all that we hear.

PROGRESS OF SCIENCE.

[Tit-Bits.]
Doctor—What? Troubled with sleeplessness? Eat something before going to bed.
Patient—Why, doctor, you once told me never to eat anything before going to bed.
Doctor (with dignity)—Pooh, pooh! That was last January. Science has made enormous strides since then.

GETTING ALONG.

[Home Journal.]
Spratts—Miss Elder is much older than I thought.
Hunker—Impossible?
Spratts—Well, I asked her if she had read Aesop's Fables, and she said she read them when they first came out.

NOTHING TO GO BY.

[Judge's Library.]
Tommy—Don't think auntie will stay; she didn't bring her trunk.
Johnny—Huh! Look how long the baby has stayed, and he didn't bring anything!

BANQUETS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"Po, why do people have banquets?"
"For the purpose of giving men who do not get a chance to talk at home an opportunity to show that they can talk away from home."

BELLS OF BATTERSEA.

[Russell Alexander.]
St. Martin's bells and Bow bells,
O they ring famously,
But have you heard in the mist of night
The bells of Battersea?
St. Dunstan's and St. Clement Dances
How loud they clang and beat!
But O, the bells of Battersea
Are sweeter than the sweetest.
The meadows and the trees are gone,
Where once the birds did sing,
But often I could dream them there
When the old, old peals do ring.

O, they are like the village bells
In the place where I was born,
Where the solemn curfew tolled at night,
And matins waked the morn.

And here afar in London town,
Where many things amaze,
The sweet bells ring into my heart
A chime of other days.

St. Martin's bells and Bow bells,
O they ring famously,
But have you heard in the mist of night
The bells of Battersea?

STARTING IN BUSINESS.

[Judge.]
Pretty Miss—Is this the license bureau, please?
Clerk—Yes, ma'am.
Pretty Miss—Well, I've just finished my first book of poems and I want to take out a poetic license—how much will it be?

NO FOOL.

[Philadelphia Record.]
Mr. Gnaages—I want you to understand, Mrs. Gnaages, that I am no fool.
Mrs. Gnaages—For once I agree with you; a fool and his money are soon parted, and I have never been able to get a dollar out of you.

BOTH LONG.

[Washington Star.]
"Art is long," said the ready-made philosopher.
"True," replied the affable picture-dealer, "but, fortunately, so is the pocketbook of the American connoisseur."

WHY TOURISTS TOUR.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]
"We must go to Europe," said a tourist.
"What's the use? We can buy Stratford postcards in London."
"My friend, one travels for something more than to send postcards. I want to write my name on Shakespeare's tomb."

MAKING GOOD.

[McCall's Magazine.]
In his native town Jimmy had always been popular with young and old, but when he was sent away to boarding school he was for a time too homesick to make friends. His first letter was little more than a wail:
"I'm 'way behind the other boys in everything," he wrote dolefully. "Tisn't only studies, but it's gymnastics and banjos and everything. I don't believe they'll ever have much use for me."

But the second letter, written after a week in the new school, was quite different in tone.
"I'm all right," he wrote to his mother. "The boys say they'll teach me all they know, for they're proud to have me here. I can stretch my mouth half an inch wider than any other boy in school, and my feet are the longest by a full inch. So you needn't worry about me any more."

GARRISH DISPLAY.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]
"Too ostentatious."
"What now?"
"The favors at her dance."
"What were they?"
"Small cubes of real beefsteak."

PROGRESS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"Now, young man," said Willie's father, "I am going to lay down the law to you."
"All right, pa; but don't forget that if I don't like it I may get me to recall your decision."

REMARKABLE, INDEED.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"How well Mr. and Mrs. Grasswid seem to get along together!"
"Yes, it is quite remarkable, the more so because she wears a necklace that was presented to her by her first husband and he keeps a picture of his first wife in his watch case."

Reduction European Prepaid Steamship Rates.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has just announced a reduction of $7.00 on all third-class prepaid tickets from European points to destinations in Canada. This should be an inducement for persons residing in this country to bring out their friends in time to spend the Christmas season with them. This reduction is only effective on tickets via Antwerp, and does not apply on prepaid tickets from the British Isles.

For full particulars and rates from other points application should be made to the Canadian Pacific Railway agent, Mr. W. Fulton, direct, at his office, 161 Dundas street, corner Richmond.

ON READING FOR BOYS

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

There was a time when parents were exceedingly careful as to what books they allowed their children to read. Any book which came from a Sunday school library was supposed to be all right, but a yellow-backed novel or a brightly-bound story from the public library was promptly seized as contraband of war. One of the worst tragedies of my boyhood was the armed intervention of my mother and her capture of Captain Marryat's "Jacob Faithful." I thought that Marryat was a noble writer, but my mother turned the pages rapidly, saw words indicated by the first letter and followed by a dash, and declared with great decision, and with considerable asperity, that the profane author of this book was a son of Belial. Consequently, I was left to mourn the loss of "Jacob Faithful" through a long, bitter summer's day.

Conditions have changed, however, since those stricter days when I was a boy. The parents of today have broader views, and give their boys freer range. A gaudy cover on a Henty book does not signify that the interior is too flamboyant, for the gay-covered stories are even permitted to brighten up the shelves of the Sunday school libraries. We have all come round to the view that it is far better for a boy to wade through a good deal of slushy literature rather than read nothing at all. It is far better for him to read even some of the Cap. Collier stage-coach classics than to sadden and pine over books of the Sandford and Merton types, which were forced upon the unhappy juveniles of past generations. A boy is a young savage, and he requires something adventurous, something to stir his blood. If you allow him to pass through that savage era he will emerge into the civilized E. P. Roe period, and later on will struggle into another stage when he will commence to feed on the best that you can provide. The point is this, that unless you allow him to take that natural path of evolution, you will never make a reader of him, a reader of the choicest and best.

As I have long held to this theory, I have been very glad to come across similar remarks in Prof. Phelps' new book, "Teaching in School and College." "A teacher," he says in an interesting autobiographical passage, "should not be distressed if a boy or girl reads a lot of trash outside of school hours; it is better to read trash than to read nothing. When I was a small boy I read hundreds of volumes that were in themselves worthless—the 'Outward Bound Series' by Oliver Optic (I can remember Lieutenant Shuffles to this day); the 'Army and Navy Series' by the same author, containing the histories of those remarkably successful young gentlemen, Tom and Jack Somers; row on row of Harry Castleman's books, 'The Sportsman's Club in the Saddle,' etc.; the entire series of Jack Harkaway's adventures with the Indians, and in other perils; an amazing number of detective stories—'Macon Moore is on your track'! All of Horatio Alger's exciting and priggishly moral tales. What did I get out of this stuff? I obtained a love for reading. I realized the inexhaustible delight there was in books, the possibility of an instant and wonderful change of scene from my humdrum little existence to the plains of the west, or the snow-capped mountains of the deep. I obtained an enormously increased English vocabulary, the ability to read English with speed and pleasure, and a constant, if crude, stimulation of the imagination. I hope that all parents who read this column will read, mark and inwardly digest this story.

CO-OPERATION IN THE LOCAL FRUIT BUSINESS

Middlesex Association Held an Important Meeting at Byron.

A well-attended meeting of the Middlesex Fruit Growers' Association was held in Byron on Thursday evening, President S. D. Dawson presiding. Mr. I. B. White, of the department of agriculture, was the principal speaker, and in a somewhat lengthy resume outlined the principles of the co-operative movement and advocated its introduction on a more extensive scale in Canada.

Mr. Whales stated that England and Denmark had the co-operative system working to perfection. The latter country was especially well to the front, although it had a much poorer soil than Ontario, and very limited natural resources. He pointed out that a member of the co-operative society in Denmark has to obey its laws and keep his goods up to a certain standard, or he is dismissed from the membership roll and consequently suffers in his business by not having the association's brand and name on his goods. Mr. C. W. Baker pointed out that the fruit grower in Canada, who is not a member of the co-operative society, is at a disadvantage, and that the agricultural industry should be more extensively advertised.

Other speakers were Mr. J. J. Davis and A. E. Hunt, who spoke optimistically on the advantages of Middlesex County for fruit growing.

Billie Burke Says That Ears Are Beauty Spots—
Take Care of Them.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN WANTS TO KNOW

Home Hints for Everyone.
Several Useful Recipes.
Cynthia Grey's Answers.

BILLIE BURKE WHISPERS "TAKE CARE OF YOUR EARS"

THE FIRST WORD—Your ears are beauty spots as well as instruments by which you hear.

With perhaps the exception of the eye, no feature of the human face has had so much said about it by poets and novelists as the ear, yet there is always a vagueness of description which leaves much to be desired and from no source can we gather what it is like without the aid of a photograph. Artists tell us that ears are extremely difficult to draw. Those of the pre-Raphaelite school have rarely painted ears on their women; they arrange the hair to cover the ears, much as the modern fashionable girl of today.

Most poets think when they have described the ear as being like a shell they have said the last word, and yet the ear is not at all like the hard shiny substance of a natural white or salmon pink color. Its greatest charm lies in the marvellously fine skin of admirable texture and delicate pink. It has the quality of blushing; it can turn purple, as a number of powers and qualities common with the face, but it also has one special quality that draws and attracts with magic charm—we all know that it will gather in our words and speed them swifter than a lightning flash to the very citadel of the soul.

However, its appearance is of great importance in the general effect of a woman's beauty and many connoisseurs declare that dainty, pretty ears are the finishing touch which makes or mars a woman's comeliness.

Pink lobes on the ears are of great assistance to the woman who is striving to retain her youthful appearance. They bring out the pink in the cheeks most wonderfully, while a cold lifeless ear reflects its ashy hue on the face.

The up-to-date beauty specialists advise a gentle massaging of the ear, pinching the lobes to make them plump and pink. The first wrinkle of age, comes on the side of the cheek just in front of the ear, and its possessor is, as a rule, the last to notice it. Just behind the ear there is usually a falling away of the roundness of the neck and the hair becomes thin, leaving a bald look on the woman over 40 if she is not careful to remedy these important blemishes.

Massage will do more for these growing imperfections than almost any other facial defect. Some women, also, from lack of care, have ugly blackheads in their ears. These, of course, can be easily obliterated if they will treat them with intelligent care, removing them and touching the places with peroxide of hydrogen and witch hazel to shrink the holes from which they were removed.

The average woman's ear should be two and one-half inches long and one and one-half inches wide. It should be set exactly half way between the front and back of the head. Its top should be on a line with the tip of the nose. It must set vertically without slant and lie flat.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—Don't wear earrings unless you can afford to add 10 years to your looks.

Billie Burke

Useful Recipes

Stale Bread Cakes.

This recipe is a wise one in which to use stale bread crumbs. For an hour soak two cupsful of bread crumbs in a quart of milk. Into this beat a tablespoonful each of molasses and melted butter, a teaspoonful of salt and two or three well-beaten eggs. When thoroughly mixed add half a cupful of flour which has been sifted with a half teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake on a soapstone griddle if possible.

Potato Griddle Cakes.

Twelve large potatoes three heaping teaspoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one or two eggs, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Peel the potatoes, wash and grate into a little cold water (which keeps them white). Then strain off water and pour on boiling milk, stir in eggs, salt and flour mixed with the baking powder. If agreeable flavor with a little finely-chopped onion. Bake like any other pancakes, allowing a little more lard or butter. Serve with stewed or preserved fruit.

Cranberry Tarts.

Make a cranberry sauce. Line plate-pans with puff paste. Fill with the sauce. Lay strips of pastry crosswise over the tops, and bake in a quick oven.

When done, sprinkle with granulated sugar and set away to cool.

Cranberry Cake (Frozen).

Make as for sauce, straining. Add 3 cups of this to a syrup made of a pint each of sugar and water. Freeze partially, then mix in 1 pint of cream (whipped or plain) and complete the freezing. Frozen custards or ice may also be made with the cranberry.

French Pancakes.

To the yolks of three eggs add one cup of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, and one teaspoonful of sugar. Pour one-third of the mixture on one-half cup of flour and stir to a smooth paste; then add the remaining of the mixture and beat well. To this add one-half teaspoonful of salad oil. Pour enough of the batter into a hot buttered frying pan to cover the pan. When brown, turn over with a spatula; spread with butter and jelly; roll up and sprinkle with sugar.

GIRL SWALLOWS A HAIRPIN.

Lily Smith, a girl of fifteen, who resided at the farm of Bridgend, Longside, has died in Aberdeen Royal Infirmary, as the result of swallowing a hairpin. The girl had been holding the pin in her mouth while dressing her hair. Commencing to laugh, she allowed the pin to slip down her throat, and, although removed without delay to the Royal Infirmary, where she was twice operated upon, death ensued, the pin having penetrated the heart.

Duties of a Bridemaid.

Dear Miss Grey: Please state the duties of a bridemaid. In just what way should she assist the bride? I expect to wear deep cream or buff. Please advise, whether you think crepe meteor would be more appropriate than marquisette. J. L. P.

A.—If there is only one maid she immediately precedes the bride to the altar, stands by her side, holds her bouquet, and throws back her veil if she wears one. It is customary for her to stand by her side when receiving, but this is not always done.

I fancy the crepe meteor is softer and prettier for your gown than marquisette.

Write Him a Note.

Dear Miss Grey: For a long time I've read your columns in The Advertiser. How many people you have helped! Now I come asking your aid, for I've no one else I can ask.

I want to write a note to a young man, friend of mine, who lives in a distant state. He recently married a young lady whom I do not know, but I do want to write him a note. Please suggest something for me to say.

Who Is to Blame?

Dear Miss Grey:—I have been going with a fellow for nearly a year. We like each other very much. Recently I attended a party at his home. I did not treat him very well. So the latter part of the evening he paid a great deal of attention to another girl. When I started for home with my brother he came up to us and was very nice and said good-night. I was angry with him and answered him very coolly. A few nights later my brother's friend was at our home and he called up my friend and asked him to come down. He said he would, but later phoned to say he had been called elsewhere. He said he would come the next night, but he didn't. I would like to make up with him because I think a good deal of him. What can I do? Should I let him know I care for him? If so, how? 2. After meeting a fellow a few times would it be proper to ask him to call? E. S.

A.—You seem to have been to blame in not treating the young man nicely when at his home. You certainly should not have accepted the hospitality of the family if you had not intended to be pleasant to him. He probably thought that as you had been so cool to him when at his home, you would treat him similarly if he came to your home. Do not see that you can do anything now except to turn over a new leaf and be agreeable to him when you meet him.

Of course, you might ask him to your home, but it will probably be best to wait and let him ask the privilege, which doubtless he will do when he sees that you are no longer indifferent to him. 2. Let him ask to call upon you. Then you will be sure that he really wishes to come.

Is Beauty Best?

Beauty is a gift that should be appreciated and respected, and the woman who possesses it holds a power for good beyond all her less fortunate sisters, writes Lillian Russell. To be sure, the possession of beauty is compared with the possession of great wealth. It is hard to discriminate when discovering who are your friends.

From the days of extreme youth when little boys chose pretty little girls for their dancing partners in preference to the plainer ones—to the grown-up days when beauty is sought as much for its influence upon others as for the pleasure it gives—beauty has been a target—and the great comfort derived from the possession of beauty is measured by the capacity one has for forgetting it.

To constantly be conscious that you are beautiful to look upon would dwarf any other self-consciousness, and would in time make an idiot of a normally-minded person.

There is no real beauty without intellect, for a face devoid of serious thought is nothing less than dough. To be sure, temptations are greater

The Birthday Calendar

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Avoid risks. Two natures will seem to struggle in your mind. The advantages offered by each should be taken, but when they conflict your actions should be according to reason rather than impulse. These born today will be positive in character and will lead an eventful life. More depends upon their early understanding of the results of different actions than their unquestioned obedience.

"GOLDIE" JUMPS
QUEBEC TEAM

Both Producers and Oatman Leave For the Coast.

QUEBEC LOSES
TWO GOOD MEN

Trouble in Store For N. H. A.—Coast Teams Are Taking All the Best Players.

Quebec, Nov. 21.—There is trouble in the Quebec Hockey Club, and two of its most prominent members left here tonight for the Pacific coast. The departing men are "Goldie" Producers and Eddie Oatman. Some days ago both of these players signed a contract with the Quebec Hockey Club to play for it during the coming season. Since then the higher salary than they were to receive here. The management of the Quebec club met this with an offer to increase the rate the men were to receive and both Oatman and Producers accepted it and signed the contract with the Quebec club. Since then the British Columbia emissary increased his rate, and the men accepted it.

When it became known today that Oatman and Producers were to leave for the West tonight, the manager of the Quebec club had a canny idea against the two men to have them arrested for money advanced on the grounds that they were about to leave the province. The captain, however, was not put into execution, as both Oatman and Producers paid back the money. The Quebec club had advanced them. Therefore, at 11:30 tonight both men left by the Canadian Pacific train for the West.

It is said there are some doubts whether the contract Oatman and Producers signed with the Quebec club can be legally enforced. This is the position of affairs at present. In the meantime, the two players are speeding towards the setting sun, with visions of a big salary before their eyes.

Producers was formerly with the London O. H. A. Intermediates, and Oatman was a member of the Simcoe team in the same series.

FORMER TORONTO
PLAYER SUICIDES

Jimmie Frick, Member of 1907 Eastern League Champions, Takes Poison in Portland.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 21.—While his wife was down town buying tickets to Klakholma, where he was to go in search of health, Jimmie Frick, utility infielder of the Oakland baseball team, of the Pacific Coast League, last night drank poison, causing his death.

Frick was with Toronto for some years, playing short and third. He was on the champion team in 1907 at Diamond Park. He went from Toronto to Jersey City, thence to New York State.

AMERICANS ACCEPT
LIPTON'S CHALLENGE

San Francisco, Nov. 21.—Sir Thomas Lipton's proposal for an international yacht race here in 1915 was accepted today.

At a luncheon of the San Francisco Commercial Club given in honor of Sir Thomas, the following letter was read to him:

"On behalf of a syndicate yet to be named permit me to accept your challenge for a race in 23-metre class to be sailed here in 1915.

"We will meet you with a boat designed under the universal rule, and sailed by San Franciscans, and may the best boat win.

"(Signed) THOMAS L. MILNER."

It is estimated that the American defender will cost about $75,000 and probably will be named the Nineteen Fifteen.

London Sympathizes With Alerts.

Hamilton Spectator: And what do you think happened last evening? Nothing less than a long-distance telephone communication from London, in which the officers of the London Football Club tendered their sincere sympathy to the Alerts for the manner in which they had been treated. "We have had it handed to us pretty raw," said the London official, "but our deal was nothing in comparison to the one put over on the Alerts." The upshot of the entire bungle is that the London club has expressed a willingness to join hands with the Alerts in an effort to clear house in the O. R. F. U., and as it is known that Father Carr, of St. Michael's College, and vice-president of the union, is also eager for a change, there is no doubt but that the annual meeting will be a warm one.

Manufacturers' League
Adopts Constitution

A meeting of the Manufacturers' Hockey League was held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening for the purpose of adopting a constitution for the league. The constitution had been drawn up by a committee appointed for the purpose, and it was read clause by clause before the meeting. All the clauses were adopted, although a lively discussion occurred over the rule that all players must be signed by the teams by Dec. 12 and the names handed in to the secretary. If a team signs a player after that date he cannot play until he has been an employee of the firm for 30 days. The Empire Brass team raised the greatest objection to this, but the other teams were in favor of it, and after a discussion of nearly an hour, the motion that the clause be adopted as it was was finally carried. The league has not yet located a sixth team, and only five teams have entered so far. Teams were represented at the meeting, but as they have only two players in the whole factory, and the Manufacturers' League will not permit a team to get players from outside, the Ilyman team will probably enter the City League.

Doings in City Hockey Circles

Ally Watts, goalkeeper of the London Intermediates last season, returned to his home in the city yesterday after spending the summer months at Ashtabula, near Cleveland.

The local O. H. A. players will hold a workout at the Princess rink this evening. These preliminary training sessions should be attended by every player wishing to make the team.

The City League may be composed of eight teams. Hymans and Empire Brass will have representatives at the next meeting and the chances are they will enter.

George Chantler, the fast little centre man of the Porritt team last winter, will be missing from the line-up of the biscuit-makers this winter. George is in Winnipeg, having been transferred to the branch of the firm there.

The management of the Empire Brass team have been accused of trying to get good players from the other Manufacturers' League clubs by offering the players positions with the east-end concern.

"(Signed) THOMAS L. MILNER."

It is estimated that the American defender will cost about $75,000 and probably will be named the Nineteen Fifteen.

SIDELIGHTS ON SPORT

By Jinx.

Aviation stunts at Tecumseh Park are no new thing. Why, almost any day last summer, Mr. Hynes or one of his fellow team-mates was endeavoring to amuse the public in this way.

If you are passing through Victoria Park any of these fine evenings and a white, ghostly form noiselessly glides by you, do not raise a big hue and cry, and call a policeman. It is likely one of our demon hockey players getting into shape for the coming season.

This method of having the Carlisle Indian players spanked when they make a mistake during signal practice is sort of getting at the seat of the trouble, as it were.

The uplift of the O. R. F. U. executive to a plane of fair-minded sportsmanship is absolutely necessary, is a Toronto opinion. We were never much in favor of dynamite, but—

HOOT, MON! IT'S A GRAN' GAME. When the first lone snowflake gently falls to earth,

And Indian summer into winter slowly wanes.

The enthusiastic curler forsakes the family hearth

For an hour or two of pleasure heaving stances.

So Al Wogast only does six days of hard training. Adolph apparently leaves his recreation over until Sunday, and is a firm believer in that "Six Days Shall Thou Labor."

The Hamilton papers have discovered that with the addition of the letter, "L," the O. R. F. U. is O—R—F—U—L. This is only a mild way of expressing it.

THE LAW.

This is the law of the O. R. F. U. And over they make it plain. No matter how many games you win. If the others send a protest in. Your winning is all in vain.

FATHER CARR
HAS RESIGNED

Vice-President of O.R.F.U.
Quits That Body
in Disgust.

A SEVERE LOSS TO ONTARIO RUGBY

The St. Michael's College Man
Stands for Clean Sport and Good Sportsmanship.

Toronto, Nov. 21.—"This certainly one lovely package of trouble which the O. R. F. U. executive untied when they cut loose their decision on the Alert-Toronto protest."

As a direct result, Father Carr, of St. Michael's College, vice-president of the O. R. F. U., today resigned from the Union. The resignation of Carr is a serious one, for he is one of the fairest-minded sporting men in town.

Everybody in these parts, who knew the situation at all, called the "turn" yesterday when the dispatches came in announcing that the Alerts would play both games—the exhibition one with the Tigers for the city championship of Hamilton and the play-off over with the Torontos here ordered by the executive.

The Reason.
Father Carr's resignation as vice-president of the O. R. F. U. was forwarded to President Denison today, and is the result of the muddle over the football situation. Father Carr is no relation to Dr. Carr, of Hamilton Alerts, but he is of the opinion that Referee Simpson should be upheld in his decision. The erratic actions of the O. R. F. U. executive disgusted Father Carr and he decided to resign.

O. H. A. EXECUTIVE
WILL MEET DEC. 6

Groups Will Be Arranged and Scheduled For—Meeting Is Earlier This Year.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—The O. H. A. executive will meet two weeks from tonight, Dec. 6, to arrange the grouping of the respective districts. This is earlier than formerly, but the association has grown so large that the executive deem it advisable to get away to an early start.

Had Rheumatism

WAS CONFINED TO HIS BED FOR FOUR MONTHS.

Mr. W. H. Riley, Russell, Sask., writes:—"It is with the greatest of pleasure that I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all suffering with rheumatism. I was so bad with this terrible disease, I was unable to get up from my bed for four months, and nothing seemed to relieve me until a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. I had my doubts at first, but was so desperate I would try anything suggested to me. After taking half a box I was able to get up, and after taking two boxes could get around quite well. After taking six boxes I was completely cured, and able to work for the first time in five months, and have not had a touch of rheumatism since. Anyone who says me then would not know me now, as I am strong and active since taking your valuable medicine."

Rheumatism is caused by the presence in the blood of uric acid, and the kidneys not working properly is the sole cause of this, and unless you remove the acid by flushing the kidneys, there is no possible chance of getting rid of rheumatism.

Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys to flush out the acid and poisonous impurities which have collected, and thus clean out the kidneys, and dispel the rheumatism from the system.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering direct, specify "Doan's."

We're cutting prices again. We told you about getting "cold feet" over this big stock of Overcoats on account of the lack of frost and snow to make them sell. We sold all that last lot of $15 Coats at $10. You'll remember the ones we offered two weeks ago when we had the first attack of chills in the feet. Many of you couldn't get your size then, but it's in this lot.

Here's $15 Coats again for $10, and every size represented from 34 to 46. Blacks, grays, tans, 45 inches long, with silk velvet collars—a fine dressy coat for any weather.

Now don't pick your own pocket of a $5 bill until you see them.

$10 For One Coat

And then that Boy's Coat for a $5 bill. All sizes and styles, and dozens to choose from. Flannel and tweed linings, and worth $2 more.

MUCH SYMPATHY FOR ALERTS
OVER TREATMENT OF O.R.F.U.

R. Y. Cory, of Toronto, Quits
Club in Sympathy With Hamilton Team.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—The Alerts appear to be quite indifferent as to what happens on Friday night at the meeting of the O. R. F. U. executive. In fact, they seem to be courting expulsion, as was threatened. They say that the team which went to Toronto last Saturday and won from Toronto will play here on Saturday next. If this is not acceptable—well, there's "nothing" doing.

Two telegrams were received from President Denison, of the O. R. F. U. yesterday, the first stating that the team which represented Alerts all season must be sent to Toronto, and the second stating that no answer had been made to this and announcing that a meeting of the executive would be held Friday night to take action. Alerts are asked to send a representative to this meeting. Mr. Carr wired that the Alerts would send a team to Toronto. The stand taken by the Alerts seems to be popular, as it appears to be generally thought that they were given a "raw deal."

A message was received by Dr. Carr, Toronto, which was as follows: "Have no sympathy with action Toronto, and am through with club."

TORONTOS FAIL TO LAND PLAYERS

Ottawa Hockey Men Will Stick With Teams in Capital and Not Go to Toronto.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The hockey situation, as far as Ottawa is concerned, is beginning to cool down. Bruce Ridpath, manager of the Torontos, left for the east today, without having secured any players. He made offers to a number of local amateurs, but they preferred to remain in Ottawa. Harry Broadbent, who was counted on by both the Torontos and Tecumsehs, signed this afternoon to play with Ottawa.

Horan and Barragh, who had been offered $2,200 to play at the coast, signed up with the Ottawas this afternoon at $1,500 each. Jack Fournier has decided to play with the Stewarts. Marty Walsh and Albert Kerr have written to Ottawa friends that they intend to play for the Torontos. So the Ottawa team will be much weaker than last season, when the Ottawa officers predicted tonight that one necessary war against the Torontos would be a one-sided race in the N. H. A. and a lean season all round.

Toronto Globe: The withdrawal of Rev. Father Carr from the vice-presidency of the Ontario Rugby Football Union is a sign of the rising tide which the union will do well to heed. Just now it is in popular disfavor because of an apparent concert to direct its affairs towards the progress of one club rather than carry on an impartial administration.

BERT GLOVER WON
ONTARIO HONORS

Captured the Championship and Joe Hill Cup at Pigeon Tournament at Clinton.

Clinton, Ont., Nov. 21.—The annual tournament of the Clinton Gun Club opened today under favorable conditions. The shooting was good, considering the quality of the birds supplied by the club, which were very fast and many brilliant kills were made. The principal event was the Ontario championship, which was won by R. W. Glover, of London, after a shoot-off with J. E. Cantelon, of Clinton. Glover won on the fourth bird in the shoot-off, miss and out, Cantelon's dropping dead over the dead-line. Wakefield, of Toronto, won the high average, Kerr, of Toronto, and Cantelon being tied for second. The scores were as follows:

First event, 15 live birds, for Ontario championship and Joe Hill cup—

R. W. Glover	14
J. E. Cantelon	13
G. D. McCall	13
J. E. Harvey	13
H. E. Taylor	12
W. J. McChane	12
W. Hart	12
K. Nafel	11
P. Coffee	11
P. Wakefield	10
J. Henry	10
G. M. Dunk	9
R. D. Emble	9
S. Webb	9

Second event, 10 birds—Hart 10, Kerr 10, Coffee 10, Wakefield 10, Taylor 9, Glover 9, Day 9, McCall 9, Cantelon 9, Henry 9, Hovey 9, Nafel 9, Dunk 8, Graham 8, Webb 8, Crawford 8, Emble 4.

Third event, 10 birds—Wakefield 10, Crawford 8, Nafel 8, Graham 7, Morrish 7, Rattenburg 7, Dunk 7, Taylor 7, Kerr 7, Cantelon 6, Henry 6, Hovey 6, Hart 6.

The shooting will be continued tomorrow at targets.

LONDON HORSES
AGAIN WINNERS

Sir Edward and Sir Thomas Carry
Off Ribbons at New York
Horse Show.

New York, Nov. 21.—Canadians figured at the horse show today when Hon. J. Adam Beck's two hunters, Sir Edward, ridden by Thomas Smith, and Sir Thomas, ridden by A. Clark, won the blue ribbon for the best performance of a pair of hunters ridden abreast over the jumps. Miss Mona Dunn's Cuban Jay, ridden by W. Williams, and Comet, ridden by A. Naylor, came second, with the pair owned by Lieut. J. Mathon of the Royal Holland Dragoons. Powerful, ridden by Lieut. Mathon himself, and Field, ridden by Lieut. Gellala, in third place. Capt. Kilgour and Capt. Rodden were among the other Canadians whose mounts figured in this event.

The winners of the Third T. S. Field Artillery, carried off the Perseus Cup, offered by the officers of the competition among the officers of the United States army over the jumps, were the Pink and White, ridden by Lieut. S. S. Cavalry, got second place, while Captain R. T. McEachern, with Comie, of the U. S. Mounted Service School, was third.

W. P. Kearney, with his pair of harness horses, and D. Lorne McGibbon, of Montreal, were among the other Canadian exhibitors who figure in the day's events, but failed to land the coveted ribbons.

Hon. Adam Beck again figured among the winners in the evening session, when, riding Sir Edward, he took second place in the contest for qualified hunters, ridden by amateurs. Major Joseph Kilgour, of the Queen's Own Rifles, on Jap, came a cropper over the head of the point, and it took a score of groans and a shout, however, ridden by H. Blake, of Blenheim, Ontario, and ridden by W. R. Abell, won the blue ribbon in this event.

TORONTOS DECIDE TO PLAY SCRUBS

Burlesque Game Will Likely Be Played in Toronto on Saturday.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—At a late hour last night arrangements were completed between the Torontos and the University of Toronto to play the Toronto-Alert play-off, as a curtain-raiser to theVarsity Argonaut game tomorrow at Varsity Stadium.

It has been decided by the Torontos to play the Alerts, no matter what kind of a team the Hamiltonians send down. There was a disposition not to play the scrub aggregation which the Garnet and Gray promised to send, but upon mature consideration it was decided to give the Alerts a battle anyway. If the Torontos win they will be tied with the Hamiltonians for the O. R. F. U. championship. The locals should have no trouble with the Alert scrub fourteen.

At tonight's meeting of the O. R. F. U. executive, it will probably be decided to play a game of games for the championship before next Saturday, so as to have a representative team ready to meet the Argonauts on the 30th, as ordered by the Canadian Union. It may be that a coin toss will be played or whether a sudden death contest shall be staged to decide a winner.

The owners of the Washington club of the American League, are after the Alerts club, of the New York State League as a farm, and if they get it as expected, Germany Schaefer will be made the manager.

OUR BENCH-TAILORED SUITS AND OVERCOATS are drawing trade from every city, town and district in Western Ontario. We are fitting scores of men—the best dressed and most particular men in London—with Evening Dress, Frock, Best Black and Business Suits, and we guarantee their shape-retaining absolutely for one year. You have not to pound them into shape every week with the iron—one pressing each season is all that is required. We are experts, not experimenters, in clothing. Clothing is a full, whole store full of business with us—not a side line or filling of space affair.

EVERYBODY KNOWS WHERE

Going down for Barney Pelly, Baltimore, also put in a bid, but later withdrew it.

Outfielder Big Grogan, of the Zanesville team of the Central League, has asked for his release that he may accept the management of the Ludington team of the Michigan State League. Zanesville, it is stated, has put a stiff price on his freedom.

Instead of going west for his health, as announced, Jack Zeller, who recently sold out his interest in the Springfield club of the Connecticut League, now talks of putting a team in Pittsfield if the Nutmeg circuit is enlarged to eight clubs.

Owner William Grayson, of Louisville, denies that he has any thought of selling his team to a Louisville syndicate. He says he has denied the sale of his club so often that he is getting weary and wishes the newspapers would quit selling him out.

Yankee outfield next year, according to the New York wire men, Lelievre is expected to play centre field, and Wolverton, who has been covering enough ground with a fast man on each side of him, as to his hitting, that couldn't be improved upon.

The St. Paul Club of the American Association, in its changes in its park with much of the reserved seat section. Only 600 reserved seats will be retained, it is said. Owner Lelievre has found that St. Paul crowds prefer to pay less money and take their chances.

The Athletics, on their way to Cuba, stopped at Charlotte, Jacksonville, and other southern cities, for exhibition games. At Charlotte, they found Joe Jackson lined up with the Carolina Association picked team. Joe whaled Plank and Bender for three hits in four times up, a three-sacker being included.

The Silent Barrier

(BY LOUIS TRACY.)

"There is no joke, I act as secretary to a German professor of entomology—insects, you know; he makes beetles a specialty."

The other woman's eye danced. "It is all very funny," she said, "and I still have my doubts. Never mind. I want to atone for earlier shortcomings. I feel that someone really ought to tell you what took place in the outer foyer after you sank gracefully out of the act. Mr. Bower."

A tap on the door leading into the corridor interrupted her. It was Marie, armed with chicken broth and dry toast. Mrs. de la Vere, who seemed to be filled with an honest anxiety to place Helen at her ease, persuaded her to begin sipping the compound.

"Well, what did Mr. Bower do?" demanded Helen, who was wondering now why she had fainted. The accusation brought against her by Millicent Jaques was untrue. Why should it disturb her so gravely? It did not occur to her that the true cause was physical—too sudden change of temperature.

"He sat on that young woman from the Wellington Theatre very severely, I assure you. From her manner we all imagined she had some sort of claim on him, but if she was laboring under such a delusion, it was cured here. He said: 'You are really strong enough to stand a shock.'"

"Twenty shocks. I can't think how I could have been so silly—We all have. Sometimes, if I didn't smoke I should scream. No woman really likes to see her husband flirting openly with her friends. I'm no saint, but my wickedness is defensive. Now, are you ready?"

"Mr. Bower told us, tout le monde, you know, that he meant to marry you."

"Oh," said Helen.

During an agreeable pause neither woman spoke. Helen was not sure whether she wanted to laugh or be angry. Mrs. de la Vere eyed her curiously. The girl's face was yet white and drawn. It was impossible to guess how the great news affected her. The de la Veres were poor on two thousand a year. What did it feel like to be the prospective bride of a millionaire, especially when you were what was it?—secretary to a man who collected beetles?

"Did Mr. Bower assign any reason for making that remarkable statement?" said Helen at last.

"He explained that the fact I suppose it is a fact—would safeguard you from the malice of an ex-coquise. Indeed, he put it more brutally. He spoke of the 'slandorous malice of an ex-coquise girl.' The English term sounds a trifle harsher than the French, don't you think?"

It began to dawn on Helen that Mrs. de la Vere's friendliness might have a somewhat sinister foundation. Was she tending her merely to secure the freshest details of an affair that must be causing many tongues to wag?

"I am acquiring new theories of life since I came to Maloja," she said slowly. "One would have thought that I might be the first person to be made aware of Mr. Bower's intentions."

"Oh, this is really too funny. May I light a cigarette?"

"Please do. And now, it is my turn to ask you to put out the exquisite humor of the situation."

"Don't be vexed with me, child. You needn't say another word if you don't wish it; but surely you are not annoyed because I have given you the tip as to what took place in the hall?"

"You have been exceedingly good—"

"No, I haven't. I was just as nasty as the others and sneered like the rest when Bower turned up a fortnight since. I was wrong, and I apologize for it. Regard me as in sackcloth and ashes. But my heart went out to you when you dropped like a log among all those staring people. I've done it myself, and in my case was worse than yours. Once in my life I loved a man, and I came home one day from the hunting field to read a telegram. It said—missing—in a rear-guard action in Tirah. Do you know what that means?"

A cloud of smoke hid her face, but it could not stifle the sob in her voice. There was a knock at the door.

"Are you there, Edith?" demanded Reginald de la Vere.

"Yes. Go away! I'm busy."

"But—"

"Go away, I tell you!"

Then she jerked a scornful hand toward the door. "Six months later I was married—men who today are married to the Africa don't come back," she said.

"I'm more sorry than I can put into words," murmured Helen.

"For goodness sake, don't let us grow sentimental. Shall we return to our sheep? Don't be afraid that I shall pasture the goats in the hall on your confidences. Hasn't Bower asked you?"

"No."

"Then his action was all the more generous. He meant to squelch that friend of yours—is she your friend?"

low Feels Strong and Vigorous nd Fit for Any Amount of Work as the Result of Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. J. Hurlbert.

It is so easy to overlook the warning given by headaches, indigestion, falling memory, lack of power to concentrate, irritability and worry over little things, that many a man does not realize his danger until on the verge of breakdown.

Like the writer of the letter quoted below, you can call a halt to the wasting process and restore vim and energy to the nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This great food cure has a wonderful record of cures.

Mr. J. Hurlbert, 23 James street, Brantford, Ont., writes:—"I was very much run down in health and as a consequence my nervous system was very much exhausted. Close confinement at my work, I think, brought on the trouble. I started using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by the time I had used up one box I felt a great improvement. The continued use of this preparation has thoroughly restored my system so that I feel strong and vigorous and fit for any amount of work. I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment with splendid satisfaction, and recommend them at every opportunity." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is sold in a box at all dealers or Edmondson Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

QUEER BOOKMARKS AT THE LIBRARY

Love Letters, Postcards, Garters and the Bill for Mother's Hat.

TART MAKES BEST MARK

Because You Can Always Find the Page You Want Beautifully Marked.

There seems to be a determined effort among the book readers of London to convert the public library into a second-hand store, where all kinds of queer trinkets and grotesque articles can be stored until called for. The librarians discover these articles in books when they are returned, said articles serving as bookmarks. Almost anything that is not as big as a house or as heavy as a ton can be used for a bookmark. If books were made big enough perhaps a ton of coal or a cake of ice would be pressed between their pages to mark the spot where the reader had left off reading. But the present size of books will not permit.

Queer Bookmarks. Librarian Carruth and his assistants mark string of a library catalogue look like the inventory of a Salome dancer's wearing apparel. Among the most prominent are postcards, love letters from Willie to Annie and vice versa; bills addressed to father shewing that mother's hat is still unpaid for; receipts for little Alice's new pair of shoes; photographs of Little Mabel at two years of age seated in grandma's lap; cheques of gum, cigarette butts, garters, pieces of rope, and a whole lot of other things too numerous to mention.

Used His Pin. Just recently, some absent-minded bookworm stuck a Shriners' pin in the book he was reading, and the book went back to the library with the pin still securely fastened at the spot where the villain was going to steal the heroine. The book went out again shortly after the telephone rang and a frantic voice wanted to know what had become of that Shriners' pin. Explanations followed and a search began for the missing pin. Records were hunted up and in the midst of the excitement the missing article was returned by the person who had taken the book out last.

Jam Tart Marker. Only about a month ago one of the young ladies was horrified on opening a children's book to find a half-jam tart glued to the pages. A jam tart is a real effective bookmark. It marks the page so completely that it is never any trouble to locate the spot again. It took a lot of persuasion to take that tart out of the book, but the librarians are now more than ready to oblige readers who want to use other edible articles as bookmarks.

Spencer's Name. "I cannot refuse," he murmured. "To be candid, I don't want to refuse. What shall I do?"

Bidding the servant wait, she twisted her hair into a coil and rang for her maid. She called to her and she came, and she tapped on Mrs. de la Vere's door.

"Enter," cried that lady.

"I am in a bit of difficulty," said Helen.

"Spencer wishes me to dine with him. Would you?"

"Certainly. I'll ask him to join us. Reggie will see him, too. Really, Helen, this is amusing. I am beginning to suspect."

So Spencer received a surprising answer. He read it without any sign of the amusement Mrs. de la Vere expected from the situation, for Helen took care to read the whole arrangement.

"I'm going through with this," he growled savagely, "even if I have to drink Bower's health."

[To Be Continued.]

REAL VALUE OF A GOOD BOOK

Few there are who realize the extensive knowledge that can be gained through an occasional reference to what might be termed commonplace books. These are in no sense ordinary books, but those that are common to every home. There is probably not a family in London that does not possess at least one such volume. It is seldom referred to, or it is so completely hidden away in some hiding place where it is not even seen, except at such times as there is a general house cleaning. Run over in your mind the titles of some of these books in your own home. Doubtless you have a copy of the Bible. Do you ever refer to it as a historical work, as a work of reference? You know Abraham Lincoln was a great man—a man of practical learning, whose words of wisdom will be handed down to posterity.

The Bible then becomes a work of more than ordinary educational value to the everyday citizen—to men and women, boys and girls, old and young alike. The Advertiser is now offering the New Bible, a volume that is unique in that it completely illustrates the subject which each picture accompanies. The illustrations are done in a most artistic and beautiful way. It is possible to embellish a book with the actual illustrations. This Bible is not merely embellished; it is truly and accurately illustrated. Other Bibles there are that contain pictures, but they are not so well illustrated as this. The illustrations are so good that they are almost as if they were the actual illustrations of the events themselves. This Bible is a masterpiece of illustration. It is a work of art. It is a work of genius. It is a work of beauty. It is a work of power. It is a work of wisdom. It is a work of love. It is a work of grace. It is a work of glory. It is a work of triumph. TURKEY'S ANSWER

Constantinople, Nov. 21.—The official announcement of Turkey's decision with regard to the armistice is as follows: "The Bulgarian Premier has addressed to the Ottoman Government a document containing conditions for an armistice, which were communicated today to the Council of Ministers, and were considered to be unacceptable."

"Consequently, and likewise in view of the fact that the commander-in-chief has been entrusted in principle with the task of negotiating conditions with the plenipotentiaries of the belligerent States—if these plenipotentiaries are invested with the necessary powers—and has also been directed to communicate the result of such negotiations to us, the commander-in-chief has been instructed to continue military operations, with the help of the Almighty, until reasonable and moderate conditions are proposed to us."

WAR IN BALKANS REOPENS AFTER HALT OF ONE DAY; PORTE REJECTS THE TERMS

Fierce Fighting Resumed Along Lines at Tchataldja, Nazim Pasha Having Been Ordered to Renew Combat With Vigor.

BULGARIA'S TERMS UNREASONABLE IS THE CONTENTION OF THE TURKS

London, Nov. 21.—The Turk has rejected the terms of the allies. The formal suspension of hostilities lasted only for a day. The troops of Nazim Pasha in the Tchataldja forts took up their arms again today. And tonight in Constantinople once more there comes the sound of artillery fire, telling the people of the Sultan's city that the fighting is on again.

The Grand Vizier, Kiamil Pasha, spoke bitterly of the harshness of the terms today. He said that he had received them from the Russian ambassador, Turkey's acceptance of them was impossible, he said.

Now that the terms have been rejected, those who are striving for peace feel that the Bulgars, worn by the strenuous weeks of fighting, may be willing to modify their terms. This is the way the Porte announces the rejection of the Bulgars' proposal.

The terms offered by the Balkan allies for the arrangement of an armistice are "unacceptable" to the Ottoman Government. Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, has been instructed to continue military operations until more acceptable conditions are offered by the allies, but at the same time he is instructed with the future negotiations.

While the Bulgarian conditions—for Bulgaria is acting as the mouthpiece for the allies—were extreme, stipulating the surrender of Adrianople and Scutari, both of which strongholds are making an historic defence, as well as the cession of all the territory except a narrow strip above Constantinople, these conditions were advanced as overtures; in other words, they were apparently put forward as a basis for negotiations. The Porte treated them as an ultimatum, and this perhaps is the Oriental method of beginning negotiations, designed to induce the enemy further to abate his demands. A Balkan diplomat in London pointed out tonight that these terms were submitted merely as an answer to Turkey's pressing and repeated demands for an armistice, and said:

"It is practically certain that their rejection will result in a more active and determined resumption of hostilities. Probably the allied troops will now refuse to treat with Turkey until they are in a position to dictate perhaps sterner terms in the capital of the Sultan."

Even yet it would seem that the Turkish officials have not abandoned hope that the powers will come to their rescue and attempt to dictate a compromise, but Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, announced tonight that the powers had not gone so far as to arrange a general conference after the conclusion of the war. Their only agreement, as far as surface indications go, is to keep their hands off Turkey.

European military officials consider the allies' terms harsh in one respect, that is, they should concede to the garrisons of Adrianople and Scutari the right of marching out with the honors of war, which they have earned, instead of compelling an unconditional capitulation.

Spread of Cholera. The defence of Tchataldja has entailed terrible losses on both sides, and the positions of the two armies may soon become untenable because of the ravages of cholera, which, in spite of denials by the Turkish authorities in Constantinople, is covering wider territory every day. Apparently the Turkish medical corps is helpless in the face of the spread of the disease. Their efforts are being confined to "keep as many as possible of the soldiers suffering from the disease out of Constantinople." Conditions in the cholera camps beyond the city are described as being horrible. There are thousands of plague-stricken soldiers in the camps at San Stefano and Hademkeul, near the Tchataldja lines.

There is evidently fighting going on in the waters of the Marmora Sea, for the sound of firing could be heard off the southern entrance of the Bosphorus in Constantinople tonight. Another prince has come into this war. Prince Alexander, the second son of the Crown Prince Constantine of Greece, took the oath as an officer in the army at Saloniki today.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, started today for Berlin, where he will go over the whole Balkan question with the German Emperor.

Is Now a "Ghazi." General Shukri Pasha, military commander at Adrianople, has received the title of "Ghazi," which means "victorious recognition" of this splendid defence.

Two more chapters of the war are reported—a naval engagement off Varna between the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh and Bulgarian torpedo-boats, and the occupation of Florina by the Greeks. The Bulgarians report that they did great damage to, and probably sank, the cruiser. The Turks report that they sank two torpedo-boats and the cruiser was only slightly damaged.

By the occupation of Florina, which lies to the south of Monastir, the Greeks, according to the Athens report, have cut off the rear guard of the Turkish army to the number of 30,000, retreating from Monastir.

Fleets in Action. Sofia, Nov. 21.—The reported sinking of the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh by Bulgarian torpedo-boats off the port of Varna in the Black Sea, has not been confirmed. The cruiser was torpedoed 40 miles off shore and signalled to another torpedo-boat for help. The latter fired on the Bulgarian cruiser, which was damaged about the funnels. Darkness prevented the Bulgarians from learning the fate of the Hamidieh.

SERVIAN MARCH
MAGNIFICENT FEAT
Showed Stamina and Excellent Organization in Crossing Mountains.

THE ROUT AT MONASTIR
Turkish Losses in Dead and Wounded Placed at Twenty Thousand.

[Canadian Press.] London, Nov. 22.—The Servian march to the Adriatic receives high praise from the Times correspondent at San Giovanni di Medua, who speaks in flattering terms of the stamina and excellent organization of the Servian army.

Two divisions following different routes to Alessio suffered great hardships for three days. The cold was intense while crossing the mountains and for the rest of the march the troops were soaked to the skin. No meat could be obtained, and bread which had to be brought from the base ran short. A large number of horses died on the way, but there were only four deaths and little sickness among the men. They were so hungry on their arrival that the doctors prohibited meat from being served for a day for fear of producing ill effects.

Army Worn Out. The men were too fatigued to undertake any fresh enterprises for some days. They received no orders to assist the Montenegrins to capture Scutari, although it is believed that if Scutari is to be taken before the end of the war it will only be by their assistance.

A Belgrade dispatch to the Times says that only 5,000 prisoners are in the hands of the Servians, as the result of the fall of Monastir. The scattered remnants of the great Turkish army are being vigorously pursued, and it is reported that a large body

$13.75 Marvelous Overcoat Values

Many Garments Identical in Every Detail With Those Being Shown Elsewhere at $15 to $18

Here they are: Smart, cleverly-designed Coats, fresh from the maker, bought under exceptionally favorable conditions, and passed on to you at like reductions.

Velvet Collar Coats and Convertible Collar Coats, some belted backs, some plain, in both loose and form-fitting models. Browns, tans, grays, mixtures, in handsome stripes and wide diagonal patterns. About sixty coats in all sizes, from 33 to 42. $13.75

$8.75 Special Overcoats

Absolutely the same in two or three designs as those advertised elsewhere at $10.80. Convertible collar and velvet collar Coats in popular colors of brown and gray, in tweed and chinchilla coatings. And in this lot are a few sample Coats worth up to $15.00.

$10.00 for $14.00 Tweed Suits

A dandy chance for the man with a ten-spot to get all the smart style and quality that would usually cost $14.00. These are new brown tweeds in both smooth and rough finish, and the only drawback is the fact that there are only 34 Suits.

$12.50 for Smart Plain Brown Suits

One pattern only in this special purchase, and that one a dandy. A handsome seal brown in the much-wanted neat diagonal weave. Clever three-button coat style and trousers with cuffs or plain bottom. Would be a winner at $15.00.

$14.00 Brown English Worsteds Suits

A splendid weight in a handsome dark brown English worsted in neat overcheck pattern. Smoothly tailored, 3-button coat, in semi-fitting style, trousers with belt loops and side straps, and either plain or cuff bottom. Well worth $16.50.

"Society Brand" Overcoats

It's the same story every day. Men who know give them unqualified approval, and say that there's nothing in London to approach them in smart style and exclusiveness. See the "Kingston," a belted ulster with the new shawl collar, the "Premier," the snappiest double-breasted ulster in town; the "Leigh," a real raglan, and many others. $18, $20, $22, $25

DOZEN AMENDMENTS WERE GUILLOTINED

The Unionists' Proposals to Make Ireland Turn All Revenues, Save Those for Taxes, Into Imperial Exchequer, Defeated by Large Majorities.

London, Nov. 21.—During the committee stage of the home rule bill last night, Mr. Lockyer Lamson moved an amendment providing that all Irish revenues, exclusive of those raised for taxes, should be paid into the Imperial exchequer.

The proposal was defeated by a majority of 177, and an amendment moved by Mr. Worthington Evans which provided for an Irish contribution to the Imperial exchequer equal to the thirtieth of the total expenditure, was also defeated by a majority of 156.

Mr. Hayes Fisher proposed that the imperial grant to the Irish exchequer should be subject to a reduction whenever the Irish deficit in taxation should increase. It was defeated by a majority of 133.

A final amendment by Mr. Hewins was rejected by a majority of 156.

The member for Hereford sought to provide that the cost to the Imperial exchequer of Irish services should be settled by the British Commons instead of by a joint exchequer board, which was an independent body.

Over a dozen amendments were guillotined.

CHANGES LIKELY TO BE MADE IN ONTARIO ASSESSMENT ACT

Mr. Rowell Points Out to Committee That the Public Demands Reform.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—At the close of yesterday's session of the special committee of the Legislature, which is considering proposed amendments to the assessment act and before the committee adjourned till Dec. 19, when it will meet to draw up its report, the following exchange of views took place between the two leaders:

Mr. Rowell pointed out that the principle underlying Mr. Ellis' bill as well as his own was that improvements should be taxed at a lower rate than land, and that the private property should be given to municipalities to do it. In view of the evidence that had been given it was fairly indicated that public opinion was in favor of a modification of the law in that respect. "We might," suggested Mr. Rowell, "report a bill which would provide for a general reduction in the tax upon improvements at a certain percentage, as compared with the tax upon land, and to meet the special conditions of cities like Toronto, Ottawa and other places, and conditions in the newer portions of the province, we might add to that general provision the principle of Mr. Ellis' bill and my own, which would grant local option to those municipalities where they would desire to go further than perhaps the province as a whole would be prepared to go."

"What is running through my mind is this," replied Mr. Hanna. "The feature of these two bills is local option. Can we have local option? The other proposal might not have so much difficulty. It might not be a matter of very much difference of opinion. That is how it strikes me personally. I might go further and say that I had grave doubts when I started, and these have not been lessened regarding the local option features of these bills."

"The committee was favored yesterday by the presence of Mr. Lawson Purdy, chairman of the board of tax commissioners of New York City, and Mr. C. B. Filibrown, assessment commissioner of Boston.

INVESTIGATE THAT ALLEGED R. R. DEAL

Agent of U. S. Government To Probe Books of the New Haven System.

CAN GET AN INJUNCTION

Action Against the Grand Trunk, If Any, Will Be Criminal One, It Is Believed.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Following the offer of President Charles S. Meilen, of the New Haven Railroad, and President Edson J. Chamberlin, of the Grand Trunk, to grant access to their books and correspondence to the Government officials, Attorney-General Wickersham today sent William A. Benheim, a special agent, to New York to go over the records of the New Haven Road. It is probable several other special agents of the Department of Justice will be assigned to the work of going over the railroad correspondence and records figuring in the proposed traffic arrangements. They will operate under the direction of Jesse C. Adkins, assistant to the attorney-general, who has immediate charge of gathering the evidence for the attorney-general. It is expected that their inquiry will last two or three weeks, as a large amount of correspondence will have to be examined.

CORN'S DISSOLVED AWAY

BY PAINLESS REMEDY
No pain, no cutting, no plasters or pads to press the sore spot. Putnam's Corn Extractor makes the corn go without pain. Just apply according to directions and you can then forget you ever had a corn. Just as good for calluses, warts or bunions. It removes the cause and thereby effects a lasting relief. Putnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor—the name tells the story—price 25c per bottle. Sold by druggists.

Join the railroads from carrying the agreement into effect.

It developed, however, that in case the Department of Justice ultimately moves against the roads the action in all probability will be in the nature of a criminal prosecution. Officials are unable to see how such could be accomplished by a civil suit because the Federal Government could not force the Grand Trunk to complete the extensions said to have been abandoned in Southern New England.

Attorney-General Wickersham possesses a copy of the proposed agreement between the two roads, but it is said not to afford any evidence of violation of law.

HAMILTON ALDERMEN OPPOSE HYDRO BYLAW

A Four to One Vote Against Recommendation Being Made at Elections.

Hamilton, Nov. 21.—The legislative committee this afternoon declined to recommend that the city council pass a bylaw providing for the election of a hydro-electric commission in January. The vote was four to one against the recommendation. Mayor Lees stated that the board of control, which was now attending to hydro-electric matters, had enough to do with its own duties, and should be relieved of this responsibility. He stated that the Hon. Adam Beck had informed him that the Legislature would confirm the election of a commission, though it was not at present provided for, but the aldermen on the committee thought the submission of this along with other matters in January would confuse the electors, as there were so many matters to be voted on.

BURGLARS BUSY AT MOUNT BRIDGES

Mount Bridges, Nov. 22.—Burglars visited this village on Monday night and broke into two stores. At Mr. Snelgrove's they broke the lock on the front door, broke the till to pieces, and scattered remnants of the cash and about $1.50 in cash. At Mr. Welch's they broke the lock on the front door, but all he missed was about 25 coppers.

HURON FARMERS WORK FOR MORE PUBLICITY

Organization Meeting, Largely Attended, Was Held at Clinton.

Clinton, Nov. 22.—A convention called with the object of giving more publicity to Huron County was held here today. An organization was formed which selected the following executive: President, Mayor J. C. Greig, Seaforth; vice-president, Reeve Leckie, Brussels; secretary, Mr. James Mitchell, Goderich; treasurer, Reeve C. Muntings, Goderich; executive committee, Reeve Govanlock, McKillop Township; Mayor Spottan, Wingham; Mr. John Ransford, Clinton; Mr. W. J. Heaman, Exeter; Reeve Livingston, of Grey Township, and Warden Stobbers.

Parliamentary representatives of the county, A. H. Musgrove, M. P. P.; W. Proudfoot, M. P. P.; H. Ellier, M. P. P.; E. N. Lewis, M. P.; J. J. Merner, M. P., and J. Bowman, M. P., were named honorary vice-presidents.

Mr. Joseph Elliott, of Goderich, addressed the gathering on immigration matters.

Wants Aid of Council. Mr. John Ransford, who was asked to preside, stated in a brief address that Huron County had lost nearly 1,000 in population annually for a decade. One statesman had estimated that each immigrant was worth $1,000 to Canada, so that the financial loss from the western exodus on this basis was enormous.

He proposed that the county council be asked to give $5,000 yearly for publicity purposes.

Mr. Joe Elliott, of Goderich, pointed out that Ontario has many competitors in bidding for British emigrants, and that Australia is putting up a stronger fight. In the London office of the Ontario Government the speaker himself had given out many copies of Lambton County literature, and while he had none from Huron, and had the experience of hearing from emigrating parties who had selected Lambton as their future home as a direct result of reading this literature.

WILY WHITE SLAVERS. San Francisco, Nov. 22.—The utmost diligence of the Government has not succeeded in breaking up the Chinese traffic in slave girls. On Angel Island today, awaiting deportation, are five Chinese girls, secretly arrested last night. Immigration officers say that they were brought here by Americans who paid $1,000 each and their expenses to visit China, marry there a pretty girl, bring her to this country and then sell her into a life of shame. Search is being made for the husbands.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

HAY IN BRISK DEMAND ON THE MARKET TODAY

Oats Sold at From $1.15 to $1.25 Per Cwt.—Dressed Hogs, $11 to $11.50.

About fifteen loads of hay were sold on the local market today and the average selling price was $16 per ton. The demand was rather brisk, and the farmers had but slight difficulty in disposing of their offerings in a short time. Straw was quoted at $10 per ton, and the couple of loads offered were quickly bought by the buyers.

Oats were sold at prices ranging from $1.15 to $1.25 per cwt. This slight increase in price was due to the small quantity offered during the week.

Dressed hogs were sold at prices ranging from $11 to $11.50, and there is a large offering tomorrow it is expected that the prevailing price will be $11. The drop in the price is caused by the warm weather and also by the drop in the price of live hogs. The fruit merchants had small offerings of grapes today, but the prices remained unchanged and were from 20 to 25 cents per basket.

BULGAR'S DEMAND

Progressives at Meeting Held on Thursday Night Counseled Delay, So That Both Sides of the All-Important Question May Be Thoroughly Gone Into by the Ratepayers.

The inadvisability of rushing the proposed vote on the electrifying of the London and Port Stanley Railway was again shown at a meeting of the East London Progressives on Thursday evening, when that body unanimously stated that they knew nothing about electrification, and counselled delay in the matter. It is their intention to hold a public meeting in the east end, when speakers for and against electrification will be invited to present arguments on the question.

Mr. T. H. Pardon, K. C., and Hon. Adam Beck will be two speakers who will receive an invitation to attend.

When Vice-President Joseph Leah, who was chairman, called for discussion on the electrification topic, absolute silence reigned for some minutes, no one present knowing how to broach the question. Mr. John Hayman finally broke the silence by stating he was not sufficiently versed in the question to discuss it in a proper manner.

Mr. R. Christian agreed with him, but advocated the calling of a public meeting, when those who favored electrification would be allowed to prove, if they could, that it would be a boon to the city.

On a motion by Messrs. Christian and Chamberlin it was decided to call the meeting and invite speakers to explain the subject.

FEDERAL SQUARE INDORSED.

The federal square was heartily indorsed by the association. Several speakers spoke in its favor, and stated their belief that such a square would be one of the best assets for any city.

Evidently the market is a dead issue with the East Londoners. Their favored act having been sold and the arguments of their committee not having met with favor, they have agreed to let the matter drop. The universal feeling prevailed that the less said about their weekly "time-killer" the better.

AGAINST BOARD OF CONTROL.

Abuse of the board of control system was heaped on in large measures by all the speakers. The Progressives believed that a commission would be of inestimable value to the city.

"I am against a board of control," said Mr. Christian. "I believe that a commission form of government is the only thing which will make this city progress. In a few years the city will take control of the street railway, and then a government by a commission will be a necessity."

Mr. John Hayman blamed the city engineer for the present condition of the city streets. The streets were being constantly torn up, and there seemed to be no one in authority to stop this destruction. He declared that a capable engineer should be immediately engaged.

THE ADOLESCENT ACT.

The adolescent act, recently legislated by the city council, was also a point of controversy. Mr. A. E. Cook was against sending children to the industrial school, which he declared was a useless institution. They only learned a little of everything there, and in a half-hearted fashion. Children were forced to study courses of business which would be of no practical value to them in after life.

Mr. R. Christian stated that 90 per cent of the people were against an industrial school at night. When children had been at work all day he thought the evening hours should be devoted to recreation and not to study. The adolescent act should be placed before the people and let them have a vote on the question.

A motion to request the board of education to let the question of the school age go before the people was carried.

Ald. Coles, the chairman of the federal square committee, is to be invited to attend the next meeting of the Progressives and speak on the federal square question.

NO JOINT SLATE.

The east end society are also against having a joint council slate with the West London Progressives and Real Estate Association. This featured so strongly advocated by Mr. Jos. Lawrence has been voted down by both bodies and now seems to have become a dead issue. The East London men are considering the advisability of having an independent candidate run for the council, and if a choice is made, Mr. John Hayman will probably be that representative.

THOSE EXCURSION

FARES TO PORT

Pocock's Explanation—But Gabey Has Not Figured on Excursion Fares.

Mr. Philip Pocock, chairman of the water commission, requests The Advertiser to state that he had not asserted that the Gabey report on electrification said that 70-cent fares were to be charged for excursions. The Advertiser did not say that Mr. Pocock had made this statement, but he was of the opinion that the heading of an article might give that impression.

The interview with Mr. Pocock made him say that Mr. Gabey had not taken the 30-cent fare into consideration in his report. Mr. Pocock admits this.

The Advertiser followed Mr. Pocock's interview by quoting from Mr. Gabey's report, which calls for 1 1/2 cents a mile per passenger, and stating that for a return trip to Port Stanley this would figure out at 70 cents the trip.

This might or might not prove to be the case, but the city might possibly charge a 50-cent excursion fare to the lake and return, but it is impossible to see how it could charge as low as 30 cents for excursions and yet figure out an average of 1 1/2 cents for passenger business the year round.

But the point The Advertiser fairly sought to make without involving Mr. Pocock further, was that Mr. Gabey's report failed to make any mention of excursion fares, and that so far as the public might ascertain from it there was no indication that anything less than 1 1/2 cents a mile would be charged.

Police Acting on Behalf of Stranded Girls Seek Information in London.

Detectives from Montreal have been in the city this week investigating the circumstances connected with the visit of "The New Barnard" Musical Comedy Company to this city early in the season. It is understood that a number of young men who made the acquaintance of the chorus girls of the company here were also interviewed.

The story goes that the company brought a large number of girls to this country, agreeing that their fare should be paid back to England no matter whether the fortunes of the production were good or bad. The company returned to Montreal, and it is said, only to be given passage to the old land. A number of the ladies, according to their

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save Your Hair! Beautify It! Invigorate Your Scalp! Danderine Grows Hair and We Can Prove It.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair, and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine, and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

HAPPY THOUGHT

There is One Most Important Thing About a Stove

And that is this,—What heat value will it develop from the fuel you put into it?

Mind you, heat in the firebox does not count for anything. The heat must be in the oven, at the holes—where you need it for cooking.

So, when we say that from every ounce of fuel you put into a HAPPY THOUGHT you get the full return in heat value, we mean that you get something more than you get from other stoves.

A small fire in a HAPPY THOUGHT is equivalent to a big fire in a less efficient stove. It does more work. It saves you the difference in fuel.

That is the kind of saving that it pays you to invest in. A good stove is not a cheap article. It should be carefully selected. It should be chosen chiefly on this one point of greatest importance.

That is why a Quarter-Million Canadian women use the HAPPY THOUGHT every day.

WEAR THE HAIR DOWN

Latest Fad at English House Parties—Makes for Health.

London, Nov. 21.—Yet another new fashion is announced—that of wearing the hair unconfined. It is hardly likely to be adopted in town, but it is said that the idea has "caught on" rapidly at country-house parties.

To let the hair fall over the shoulders and down the back is declared to make for health and long life. This was the advice of a well-known hostess in Scotland, who induced all the women of her house party to follow her example and leave their hair about their shoulders—at least all those who had enough to do so, for in these days of artificial hair some women were afraid of the idea.

One of the house party said: "I was met by my hostess, who was wearing her hair down. She is not a young woman, but she was enthusiastic about the idea. Certainly the freedom of unrestrained tresses caused a certain gaiety in the party. Two engagements were the result of the return to nature's hairdressing." It has been well known that the more loosely the hair is worn the better will be its condition.

PRINCE'S STORY OF HIS HUNTING

Kaiser's Heir Proves To Be Delightfully Modest and Charming Writer.

EXCITING ADVENTURES

Royal Author Gives Vivid Description of a Tiger Hunt in India.

London, Nov. 22.—The German crown prince tells some very good adventures with a delightful modest and charming style in a volume called "From My Hunting-Day Book," published recently. The author disclaims all pretence to literary merit for his "plain, unadorned little sketches. Nevertheless there are passages in the book here and there which reveal a feeling for the beauty of words, and throughout its pages one finds the expression of a youthful spirit, full of pluck, with a bright sense of humor, a comradely affection for all his companions of sport, of high or low degree, and a joy in the healthy fun of life. The crown prince is a good sportsman and a good fellow, and he would not resent that way of describing him.

Elephant Hunt. One of his most exciting adventures was in an elephant hunt at Ceylon, when he came very near to death. As the prince and his party—including two Englishmen—were following the trail through the jungle they heard a loud rumbling noise. It was the snoring of an elephant, and in another moment they saw the colossal brute leaning on one side, gray and massive, with his head turned towards them, fast asleep.

The prince fired first and hit the elephant, but without mortal effect. "The report of the shot was mixed up with a kind of earth and sea-quake, and a fearsome trumpeting from the suddenly awakened brute. Then he turned and crashed away." The prince insisted on following, although one of the Englishmen declared that he would not consent to the prince going a step further, as a wounded elephant is no joke.

They had an exciting thing breaking their way through the undergrowth, where they could see nothing ahead, with a hidden danger threatening them at any moment. Then suddenly the prince jumped forward, in front of him 20 paces away, stood the gray giant ready for the attack, his huge ears stretched out, his trunk rolled upwards. They fired again just as he was about to charge, but once more the giant es. and the chase ended when the crown prince sat in the water of a marsh utterly exhausted.

A very vivid description is given of a tiger hunt in India which ended in the death of a great fierce creature from the prince's own gun. He describes the strain of waiting, the glare of the Indian sun. The suspense had been so great that the prince himself felt quite unnerved. A good drink of whiskey and water, he says, helped to restore him.

The crown prince describes the exciting sport of "pig-sticking," when on one occasion his horse was attacked by a furious boar, the legs and dangers of the hunting in the Alps, of red-deer stalking in Fomerania, and roebuck stalking in Sillesia.

The imperial author gives an idyllic picture of his hunting lodge at Klein-Sieglitz in Sillesia. The crown prince writes a spirited "apologia" of the sportsman, and while denouncing the indiscriminate killing of wild beasts, he points out the character that is required for the physical exertion of stalking, the endurance of the hardships of inclement elements, the matching of his wits with the hunted.

The interest of this book is not only in its record of adventure, but in its revelation of the character of a young man who will one day be called to rule the German empire. To Englishmen it will be pleasant to read his cordial praise and affectionate memories of our own country and countrymen.

GERMAN SCIENTISTS SEE EARLY END OF WHALES

Seals Also in Danger of Extinction Within a Few Years.

Munich, Nov. 22.—The early extermination of whales and seals was predicted at a congress of German doctors and scientists here. Professor Sarasin, of Basle, showed that in 1910 a single seal fishing company had brought back from the Kerguelan islands 4,500 tons of oil made from the sea elephant, while in the same year four ships killed 17,200 of these animals. The seal fishers of Newfoundland killed 322,342 head and 119,947 were killed in the north Polar seas in that year.

This heavy reduction of the seal life of the Arctic and Antarctic oceans has been brought about by the introduction of the system proposed by Otto Sverdrup, the Norwegian Polar explorer, by which whale and seal fishing was undertaken on a new and more profitable system than that hitherto in vogue.

Sverdrup found that whale fishing could be more thoroughly commercialized by sending along with the actual fishing vessels a large steamer fitted up as an oil recovery station, thus making it unnecessary for them to sail to a station on some remote island after securing the whales. This method of fishing has proved so successful that some thirty companies have been organized to operate on Sverdrup's plan.

The vessels are fitted with wireless telegraphy, and equipped with the most improved whale cannon. Seals are also hunted in the same manner.

According to Professor Sarasin, this method of hunting is rapidly exterminating the seal herds, as well as the great species of whales. He thinks the Greenland whale has probably already been exterminated, while the blue whale and the Finland whale are also especially sought after by fishermen. Professor Sarasin appealed to the powers to try to reach an international agreement to establish certain closed zones or regions, which might serve as breeding places for whales and seals.

Wake Up! You Lazy Stomach!

Make Your Stomach Cheerfully Do Its Work. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest Your Food and Assist the Stomach.

People who complain they are worn to a frazzle are nearly always dyspeptic and are recommended to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The stomach gets lazy, food ferments and sours, gas belches up, there are symptoms of bloating, the blood becomes thick and sluggish, the liver is blamed, the head is heavy, the mind a blank, and the dining-room is a chamber of horrors.

One of the greatest evils of our modern life is the quick lunch. To this evil, as much or more, than any other, may be traced the preponderance of the stomach troubles of our times. Instead of taking time to thoroughly masticate the food before swallowing it, the average person rushes through the meal, bolting the food, deglutition taking place while it is only partially mixed with saliva, and only half masticated, thus leaving the stomach to do the work the teeth should have done.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain digestive enzymes, a single grain being capable of digesting 3,000 grains of food, including meats, eggs, grain, vegetables, starches and mineral matters. They prepare every article of food for thorough digestion for ready absorption and assimilation by the lacteal glands, which pass it into the blood, whence it is conducted to all parts of the system, rebuilding and revivifying.

Every druggist has Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in stock, and sells them at 50 cents a box.

LEAVES HER FORTUNE TO LEGION OF HONOR

Not a Legacy for Any Relatives in Will of Rich French Lady.

Paris, Nov. 22.—In the last days of the reign of Louis Philippe, there lived at Melun, near Paris, one Maitre Desprez, a notary, rich and highly respected. He had a daughter, fair to look on, and of a sentimental turn of mind. One day the noble bearing of a lieutenant in the army won her heart. But the officer had not a penny. The notary refused his consent to a marriage, and in those days without a parent's consent marriage was impossible.

Miss Fanny Desprez resigned herself to her lot. She remained a spinster. Her friends derided her fidelity, but she never heeded them. She followed the career of her lieutenant step by step, her only joy being when she read of his promotion. He died, and for fifty years she wore mourning for him.

She died at her house on her estate, Montceaux-les-Provins, near Melun, a few months ago, at the age of 84. Her will was opened, and it was found that she had left nothing to her only relations, some distant cousins. All her fortune, estimated at $560,000, a large estate for France, was bequeathed to the Association of Former Pupils of the Legion of Honor Schools, where children of members of that order are educated, and in case of need collected. The association was directed to save the interest, and every time that a sum of $21,000 accumulated, it was to be devoted to forming a dowry for some girl pupil to be chosen by the governors of the institution. The girl thus selected was to marry within three years an officer who had no fortune and whose family must have no history of Protestantism. If this condition was not fulfilled the dowry would be withdrawn, and any attempt at canvassing with a view to obtaining a nomination was also made a cause for exclusion.

The natural heirs of the old lady have taken legal action to upset the will, but Mlle. Desprez was a true notary's daughter. She took minute precautions to guard against any such attempt, and inserted in her will a clause providing that if for any reason the association was unable to accept the legacy, the Hospital of Melun should inherit, on condition that after taking $400 a year for its own benefit, it should dispose of the remainder according to her original scheme. The Legion of Honor has decided to defend the will. The case is soon to be tried, and it is expected the result will be that every eighteen months or so in future some officer of the French army will perhaps owe the happiness of his life and the tranquillity of his home to a young lieutenant, who about the year 1845 won the love of the daughter of a provincial notary, but could not overcome her father's objection to him.

GREAT FIRE AT PUTNAM

Incendiary Blaze Does $300,000 Destroyed Eleven Buildings. [Canadian Press.] Putnam, Conn., Nov. 22.—The

Constipation and Headache

CURED BY Burdock Blood Bitters.

Various kinds of headache exist; for example, nervous, bilious, congestive, and sick headache, headache from constipation or dyspepsia, periodical headache, etc.

In all cases of headache the treatment should be directed to remove the cause, and with the cause removed the headache vanishes for all time.

It is impossible to find a better remedy for headache of every description than is Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to purify, strengthen and regulate the whole system.

Miss May Bourdage, New Richmond, Minn., writes:—"For years I was troubled with sick headache, and dizziness, and was also constipated. I was advised to take Burdock Blood Bitters, and I only took three bottles when I felt like a new person. I can recommend it to anyone who suffers the same as I did." Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over thirty-five years, and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

seventh incendiary fire within the last few weeks, early this morning destroyed the storehouses, offices and lumber yards of the Wheaton Building and Lumber Company occupying a block in the heart of the town; spreading to adjoining business houses and residences so that in all eleven buildings were burned, causing an estimated loss of $300,000. The fire was discovered under the office of the lumber company, and the boards were found soaked with kerosene. Firemen declare that the interior of the building was also oil-soaked. The volunteer fire department found itself unable to cope with the blaze largely because of the low water pressure and help was summoned from Worcester and South Bridge, Mass., and Denton, Conn. The police are making a searching investigation.

EXPERT WILL CHECK THE SEWER FIGURES

City Desires to Have All Possible Information Before Taking a Vote.

CLEANING OFF THE WALKS

Ald. Blandford Outlines New Area — West London Breakwater Again Discussed.

An independent expert will be engaged by the city to check over the figures of the estimated cost of the storm water sewer system. At the meeting of the board of works Thursday evening this decision was arrived at. The report of the city engineer was not presented, but will be withheld until the opinion of the independent expert is heard. A special meeting of the council will be called for Saturday to authorize the committee to secure the man wanted.

"The opinion is general that we should secure an independent man to go over the maps and figures," said the mayor. "I do not think we should submit prices to the people until we do know that they are right. We have to face this problem of storm water sewerage, and it is of all of it, it is quite certain that the provincial board of health will order the city to construct a portion of it."

The members of the committee favored the idea, and the motion of Mayor Graham was passed unanimously. A bylaw calling for the expenditure of $27,000 for a breakwater for West London will be submitted to the ratepayers. City Engineer Brazier reported that a facing of crushed stone, cement, with a facing of crushed stone, could be built for a cost of approximately $27,000. This would be a sloping wall, and in his opinion as strong as could be made. It would be perfectly safe also. An upright reinforced concrete wall, with a five-foot base, with the necessary piling, could be built for $39,000. At the tender of Mr. W. H. Barney to build an upright wall with a four-foot base for the sum of $48,000 was also submitted.

Idea Condemned.
"I have discussed Mr. Barney's idea with a number of engineers and they claim it will not stand," explained Mayor Graham. "The mixture of 7 to 1 is not sufficiently strong, and the foundation was not wide enough. I have received another estimate from a contractor. He states that wall will be necessary to put a concrete wall five feet thick at the base tapering to eight or ten inches at the top, 21 feet high, could be built for $45,000. Of course, this does not include any filling at the back of the wall. That could be done at least at no great expense. However, I think the proposition suggested by Mr. Brazier, costing $27,000, should be submitted to the people. In my opinion, it will stand and will give the residents of West London a permanent breakwater. I move that we send it to the ratepayers."

Ald. Moore asked whether or not this work could not be done as a local improvement, with the cost charged against the property in West London. Mayor Graham answered that it could, but declared that the whole of the citizens should vote on it. His motion carried without further discussion and another bylaw calling for the expenditure of $27,000 will be voted on by the citizens.

The Snow Bylaw.
The amendment to Blandford proposed by very briefly by the committee. Mayor Graham asked Ald. Blandford what area he would have the bylaw apply to.
"I would suggest Grosvenor street as the northern boundary. The bylaw would be for the street between Grosvenor street and the southern boundary, Rectory street to the east, and West London to the west. That would practically cover all the area I have in mind. Such a bylaw would not cause any hardship whatever," the mayor said.
"However, I think we had better lay the matter over until next Thursday evening and let the mayor, Ald. Blandford and City Engineer Brazier could go over the city, and if necessary extend or lessen the area."

Ald. Blandford was agreeable to that, and a report will be brought in at the next meeting.

Mr. H. P. Elliott, P.E.C., Toronto, was appointed to install the steam heating system from the incinerator to Victoria Hospital.
The Warren Paving Company notified the committee that they could not repair any pavements until next spring. Mayor Graham thought that better service could be obtained from the paving contractors if a guarantee company were on their bonds. "In that event they will have the guarantee company and the city have the guarantee," said the mayor. "That would work out to our best interests. That would work out in future all contractors be compelled to give bonds from a guarantee company for the faithful performance of their contract."

Some minor matters were disposed of. Those present were Ald. Moore (chairman), Ald. Blandford, Ald. Coles, Mayor Graham, City Engineer Brazier and Secretary Frank Hughes.

LETTERS OF A SLIM-MADE WOMAN TO HER FAT SISTER

Second Letter: On the Heritage of Over-Fatness.

Dear Sis,—You've heard the adage, "Like Father, Like Son." Well, I never before thought of it applying to over-fatness until today. Clara Moore was here with her 18-year-old boy. He is enormous—weighs nearly 300 pounds. She came to ask how I reduced myself to my present slim trimness.

Of course, I told her about Marmola Prescription Tablets—how they contain exactly the same ingredients as the Marmola Prescription Tablets that took off my fat, and assured her they were perfectly harmless. "I said she'd be willing to buy a ton of them if they did any good at all. The boy is a tremendous eater and is too lazy to take any exercise (all fat people are), but you know I stopped starving and cavorting long before I started to take Marmola."

That's the beauty of this wonderful method—it isn't dependent upon any other treatment. And I know I'm doing that boy a favor.

In a few months he'll be as solid and smooth-skinned, with better figure and health than ever before, and he need never again dread the extreme obesity that is now such a family trait. If more parents knew that for 75 cents they could purchase a large box of Marmola Prescription Tablets from their druggists or the Marmola Company, 1191 Monroe Avenue, Detroit, Mich., hereditary over-fatness would be a thing of the past. Don't you think so?

Affectionately, BETTY.

SARNIA ENGAGES WATERWORKS MAN

Mr. Chipman, of Toronto, To Act as a Consulting Engineer.

POPULAR PASTOR CALLED

Rev. Mr. Hawkins Invited to Minister to Baptist Church at Maidstone.

[Special to the Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Nov. 22.—A special and important session of the town council was held this evening. The meeting was practically called to order by a consulting engineer before the sun rose on another day, and notwithstanding fierce opposition from seven of the councilmen, the purpose for which the session was called was attained.

The usual preliminary municipal business was disposed of in short order, after which Dr. Morrison, chairman of the fire and water committee, read letters from three prominent consulting engineers in which they stated the remuneration they would expect if retained by the town on the new waterworks question. Mr. Chipman, of Toronto, however, came in person and appeared to create a favorable impression, besides which his terms were much more reasonable than those of the others. A motion was made to retain this well-known expert by one faction, and the other side made an amendment to consider the claims of the other engineers, first before deciding whom to engage. A vote of the ayes and nays was taken and resulted in a seven to seven tie.

Broke Tie Vote.
Ald. Lawrence, sitting in the chair, then threw his vote in favor of the main motion, and Mr. Chipman was retained.

The next matter of importance occurred over the asking for tenders. The side which lost on the first motion insisted that the consulting expert inspect the plans and specifications before the tenders are advertised. The opposition moved that the fire and water committee be given authority to ask for tenders on the pipe, boilers, machinery, etc., and at the same time that it was not necessary for the expert to pass an opinion until after the tenders are received. Again a vote of the ayes and nays was taken, and the result was another tie of seven and seven, but this time Mr. Lawrence cast his vote in favor of the former faction. In fact, at both stages of the bidding, the majority was to be commended by those who are familiar with the question.

The terms on which Mr. Chipman was engaged consisted of a retainer fee of $1,000, and $25 a day for his services, his expenses also to be paid.

Call for Mr. Hawkins.
Rev. Mr. Hawkins, the well-known and popular minister of the Central Baptist Church, received a call last night to the Maidstone Church. His message came as a surprise to Mr. Hawkins, who is at present preparing to leave for over four years now, and in that time has won the respect and liking of not only his congregation, but the community as well.

LAMBTON WANTS MAN IN INGERSOLL JAIL

Was To Have Been Deported Upon Expiration of His Term.

Ingersoll, Nov. 22.—Sidney Jones, the young Englishman now serving two months in the county jail for the theft of $20 from a farmer for whom he was working, and who is to be deported at the expiration of his term, seems to have got into endless difficulties during his short time in this facility. Word has just been received from the high constable of Lambton that Jones, who was also known as Brown, is wanted there for theft.

After committing the theft in this vicinity Jones quickly departed, and three months later was taken into custody at Orangeville. Chief Fish having sent out notices the Orangeville officer recognized the youth and at once notified the authorities here.

A old-fashioned Dutch supper was the attraction at the Baptist Church last evening, and drew a very large crowd. The ladies having the event in hand provided an excellent repast, typical in every respect of the name and all present fully enjoyed the menu. In addition to the supper a fine program was furnished.

A first-class program was furnished at a concert in the town hall last night by the Courts-Bain Concert Company. The concert was given by the firm and was well attended. Col. J. C. Hegler will address the Boy Scouts at the weekly parade at their headquarters this evening. Now that the scouts have ideal accommodation, arrangements are being made

STORAGE RATES ARE CAUSE FOR CRITICISM

Shippers of London Are Denouncing a Recent Boost by Railways.

The increase of storage charges of freight by all Canadian railways, which was recently decided upon to take effect on Dec. 9, and which has been ratified by the Dominion railway commission, is causing the keenest comment among merchants, manufacturers and all others affected.

Hitherto the storage charges have been 2 cents per hundred pounds per week, but after Dec. 9th 3 cents will be charged the first week and 6 cents per hundred each week thereafter. The days of grace are also to be reduced from four to three.

"This change certainly will make a big difference to shippers," a railway freight man told The Advertiser, "and that is the intention. Business is rushing now and we are handling an exceptionally heavy amount of traffic. Consequently every freight house is crowded and crowded because the shippers will not get their goods away."

"When this new schedule goes into effect we expect that this trouble will be relieved to a great degree, because shippers will not be so lax as they have been in the past."

The complaints of those who have been in the habit of leaving goods in the freight houses at the old schedule rates are well founded, as it is now estimated that the freight transportation and storage charges will sometimes exceed the value of the consignments.

QUAKE TOPPLES CHURCH WHILE MASS BEING SAID

Town of Acambay in Northern Mexico Wiped Out by a Seismic Shock.

[Canadian Press.]
Mexico City, Nov. 22.—The town of Acambay, in the northern part of the State of Mexico, is practically in ruins, as a result of the earthquake there on Tuesday. Fifty-nine bodies have been removed from the ruins of a church and other buildings. Many more are still buried in the wreckage. The injured will number hundreds. Scarcely a house or public building is standing intact.

This news reached El Oro through travellers, who report that the roads have been made almost impassable by rockslides.
Most of the dead were women, who were attending mass. The lower walls fell without warning, and the priests perished with the congregation. The typical in every respect of the name and all present fully enjoyed the menu. In addition to the supper a fine program was furnished.

WYOMING.

At high noon Wednesday, Nov. 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stalker, Newbury, a very pretty wedding was solemnized, when Miss Effie McCullum was united in marriage to Charles Telfer, of Moose. Rev. M. A. Lindsay officiated in the presence of about twenty-five guests. The bride wore a pretty gown of tan silk, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. After the wedding breakfast the happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti via C. P. R. for points east. They will be at home to their friends on concession 1, Mossa, after Dec. 7.

MANAGING A HUSBAND.
[Chicago Record-Herald.]
A Los Angeles woman claims that she has found out how to manage a husband. The principal thing, she says, is to refrain from bombarding him with questions when he comes home late. She is a wise woman. The lady who merely sits in a corner and looks in a peculiar way at her husband when he comes home late soon succeeds in causing him to feel like a criminal. After this treatment has been administered for about the third time the husband who is possessed of any of the finer instincts is ready to increase the allowance his wife demands for running the house and also to give up his job rather than assume the risk of being late again. Try it, ladies.

THE PRIVATE CITIZEN AND PUBLIC HEALTH

Dr. H. W. Hill's Address to the Baraca Class of Talbot St. Church.

A large number of men attended the first of a series of lectures given under the auspices of the men's Baraca Bible class of Talbot Street Baptist Church last evening, when Dr. H. W. Hill, director of the Institute of Public Health, gave a most able address on "The Private Citizen's Duty Toward Public Health."

Dr. Hill spoke for upwards of an hour, outlining the mission of the public health branch of a community. He said that the duties of such a department were often misunderstood. It is a mistake to think the public health department should confine its work too much to a garbage system, the removing of dead animals and the cleaning up of a city's rubbish. The main duty should be to deal directly with persons infected with infectious diseases, to find out the source of all epidemics, and as far as possible to remove the causes of infectious diseases.

Dr. Hill led a very hearty discussion as to the work of his branch of municipal work. The London Male Chorus under the direction of Mr. E. Fowkes and Mr. Fred Dowling, rendered a number of vocal selections during the evening. Mr. A. M. Overholt moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Hill for his kind-

WATER COMS. NOW ASK THE CITY FOR MONEY

Overdraft for $40,000 Exists

Owing to Fact That Debentures Were Not Sold.

At the regular meeting of the water commissioners held on Thursday afternoon, it was decided to ask the city for a loan of $50,000 to carry the board through the year.

Chairman Pocock reported that debentures amounting to $125,000 had not been sold during the year, because of an unfavorable market. As a result the capital expenditure for mains, electrical machinery, etc., had to be met out of current revenue. The waterworks could stand this, as there was a surplus. However, in the electrical department there was an overdraft of some $40,000 in the Molems Bank. The money could be secured from the city, and he advised that this be done. Mr. Pocock also reported that the city had paid but $7,500 for street lighting when $30,000 were due the commission.

On motion of Commissioner Chapman, it was decided to ask the council for the necessary money.

Horton Street Plant Accounts.

General Manager Glauvitz informed the commissioners that the account between Hon. A. M. Beck and the commission relative to the Horton street pumping plant would be closed within a few days, and a statement would be submitted to the board.

Mr. Glauvitz reported that he had received no communication from the city council in reply to his letter to the effect that the commissioners were prepared to take down the extra lights on Dundas street, if the aldermen so desired.

"They do not acknowledge the lamps are up," said Commissioner "Chapman."

Commissioner Marr presented the report of the parks commissions. It was passed without comment.

Those present were Chairman Philip Pocock, Commissioners J. H. Chapman, John Marr, Dr. H. A. Stevenson, Mayor Graham, General Manager Glauvitz and Secretary Ellwood.

BISHOP SPEAKS OF ANGLICAN CHURCH

Two Prevailing Misconceptions in Regard to the Church of England.

A WARNING TO A. Y. P. A.

His Lordship Declares That It was the Church of England That Gave the Bible to the World.

The Bishop of Huron, in a masterly address to the combined gathering of the Anglican Young Peoples' Associations of the Anglican Church, held in the Cronyn Memorial Church on Thursday evening, outlined to the young people what their duty was in breaking down the prevailing misconceptions relating to their church.

The bishop referred to the A. Y. P. A. as one of the most hopeful features in church life, and stated that there were two prevailing misconceptions in regard to the Church of England, which they were to fight against. The first misbelief was that only a paper wall existed between it and a certain other church. In reply to this, he would say that the Church of England had been a hearty vote of thanks to the religious errors of the mediaeval period. It was their denomination which gave the Bible to the people of the world.

The other misconception was that the church was not a spiritual factor in Christianity. This was partly due to the church's attitude toward amusements. Some people thought that religious commandments, such as don't smoke, don't dance, don't play cards, etc.

Religion a Positive Thing.

Instead of this, the bishop stated that the church taught that religion was a positive thing, dealing with the inward man, and those factors which build up a better being, which was developed from all standpoints.

In conclusion, he pointed out that the hope of the Anglican Church was based on the young people. The bishop said that over 500 of the old and young congregated together in the auditorium and spent a most enjoyable social evening.

The Program.

Rev. Mr. Hoakes, who filled the chair for the musical part of the rally, called on Messrs. Ellis, McCutcheon, Taylor, Percy, and Morton, Misses Hoskins and Elliott, and Mrs. Cooke, for solo selections.

All these musical numbers were well received, as was also Miss Lillian McKenzie's recitation. The Sunday school orchestra, under the fine direction of Mr. Hoakes, played a number of selections.

On the platform with Bishop Williams were Mrs. R. W. Norwood and Mrs. Williams, who were presented with fine flowers by the A. Y. P. A. of Memorial Church.

Light refreshments were served at the close of the program, and the rally was dispersed with the benediction, pronounced by the bishop.

LADIES' AUXILIARY GAVE A BANQUET

Husbands and Friends Entertained in the Foresters' Hall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers banqueted their husbands and friends at a splendid oyster supper in the Foresters' Hall, East London, on Thursday night.

Guests to the number of 150 were present, and after all had done justice to the splendid repast, the executive committee carried out a splendid program of music and games. Card tables were scattered throughout the hall, and for several hours each was played, and the winners rewarded.

One of the features of the evening was the raffling of a hand-patched, double Irish chain, quilt. This prize was won by Mrs. Jackson, and the purchase price amounted to $3.50.

Those responsible for the success of the evening are Mrs. Radway, president; Mrs. Carson, secretary; Mrs. J. Cox and Mrs. Porteous.
