Highway robbery is believed to have been attempted one night recently on the Proof Line road in the vicinity of St. Johns.

While motoring towards the city, a short distance north that village, a member of the London Motor Club saw a new tire, which apparently had been dropped by a passing car lying on the side of the road. He immediately stopped, and then backed his car to the spot. As he was about to investigate, he saw three men lying in the ditch, and so instead of getting out, he stepped on the gas and drove hurriedly away. He believes that if he had walked back to the spot instead of driving on he would have been made a victim of a rob-will be given as prizes for winners in the different sections.

Rabbits Special Feature.

The Fair Board is anxious to make the rabbit exhibit a special feature, as their value for table use and for their fur is just being recognized. In former years rabbits were merely kept for household pets, but now more people than ever keep them for eating purposes, their flesh being very similar in taste and appearance to that of chicken. There will be 24 varieties entered, the entry fee is 25c. Prizes will be $1.75 first, $1.25 second and 75c third. The poultry, pigeons and rabbits will be fed by the association as in former years, but the canaries will be cleaned and fed by their exhibitors.

Entries for canaries will be 25c each. Prizes will be given to pairs only, $1.25 first, 75c second, and 50c third. There will be 15 sections, in which entries may be made.

Big Poultry Exhibits. The poultry exhibits.

The poultry exhibit, as in the past, will be, it is expected, the main feature of the exhibition owing to the large number of fanciers in London and the immediate district. Ex-Ald. J. H. Saunders, who is connected with the board of health, will act as chairman of the department.

minister of highways, and others. Premier Drury recently stated when told of the fines that the actions of the county constabulary amounted to little less than persecutions. The matter was also taken up strongly by Dr. H. A Stevenson, M. P. P. for London, who used it as an argument against the fee system.

Families Co-Operated.

Mother stayed in line at the drygoods store, sister got in with the first rush at the drug store, brother Jack was delegated to snap up the bargains that waited at the shoe store, and little Willie was intrusted with securing the maint and varnish specials at the hard-ware store, while the neighbor's family co-operated, in covering an equal number of stores.

Blocked the Sidewalk,

A men's clothing store had a crowd waiting at 8 o'clock this morning that completely blocked the sidewalk traffic on the north side of Dundas. Crossing to the south side, the hurried pedestrian to the south side, the nurried pedestrial fared no better, for here a shoe store was besieged by a crowd equally as great. The clothing store was a big concern with lots of store space. It soon swallowed up the crowd, and the street became reasonably passable. But the shoe store, although also a big concern in its line, had less store space, as the extens usually do. Right up to hoe stores usually do. Right up noon, the door had to be opened and locked, admitting only as many cus-tomers as there was room for in turn. Hardware Stores Share.

said one observer. "Why, there's two or three men in the crowd! I suppose their wives make them do it."

Joke on Everybody.

Noon hour came, and the very same observer couldn't resist the temptation to investigate the bargains in the haberdashers on the way to the restaurant. In the store he fell in with another office man who told him about a different line of bargains at the men's furnishings store across the road. Alackaday, over there he met more acquaintances who told of the bargains secured at some other stores, and at three minutes to 1 o'clock he reached a crowded restaurant with no place in sight to Rush for Ferns.

A flower store advertised Boston ferns at a dollar each, and got a crowd of customers that would have done credit to a fire sale in a popular-priced drygoods store. In the old days, no body ever supposed that bargain-hunters would get up early in the morning to buy ferns. They would have just as readily been persuaded to tramp six miles out into the woods and dig up wild ferns themselves. Besides the qulet and restful atmosphere that used to go with a windowful of ferns or a flower store in general would have been sacrilegious ly violated by dollar-day posters and a crowd of clamoring purchasers, each wanting the fern farthest to reach in the window. But dollar day has overcome all prejudices.

Jewelers, Also.

Develors, Also.

Even the ultra-exclusive jewelry stores have cast off their old aristocratic trade prejudices and had not the least bit of objection to catering to the crowd of bargain-hunters this morning.

Let were crowds, crowds everywhere on the outskirts of the downtown business district, there was as much coming and going to and from little stores as one would ordinarily observe before mornings.

stores have cast off their old aristocratic trade prejudices and had not the least bit of objection to catering to the crowd of bargain-hunters this morning. Set out in the middle of most of the jewelry stores were attractive tables of dollar day specials—vases, hair ornaments, fountain pens, salt and pever shakers, hatpins, brooches, chains, bead necklaces, novelties and souvenirs. And the shoppers parting with their dollars admired the regular lines in the show-cases and decided to come in on a quieter day themselves or bring their friends to look more leisurely at higher-priced goods. Dollar day is good business from the jeweler's standpoint as well as from the draper's standpoint or the grocer's standpoint.

under the municipal act and the municipal franchise act should not be interfered with by the Legislature.

And, whereas, we are of opinion that the price fixed for gas by the gas referee at the recent hearing is excessive, and is in breach of the municipal franchises, which have been entered into and acted upon by the producing companies for many years, and enormous profits made by such producing companies for many years, and enormous profits made by such producing company, while no additional profit has been received by the farmer, who owned the gas, and the Government has interfered through the legislation and the gas referee regarding the matter, viz., natural gas, which the Government did not and does not own, and has allowed franchises and contracts to be broken, without any benefit to the mining industry, Mr. Smith said this action made it virtually impossible to proceed with the negotiations then under way for an equitable distribution of wages and profits. Now, therefore, we protest most strongly against the present in resistation in regard to natural gas and against the recent action of the gas referee in violating the franchises of the township and in raising the price of gas as he has done in his judgment, and by refusing to receive the fruiter evidence offered, to be adduced by the council for the township to show that the figures put in by experts of the union company are absolutely unreliable and incorrect and we request.

How Old Age Comes To Those Who Invite It

THERE are plain rules, well understood, about keeping a piece of machinery in repair and running smoothly.

Is the body as important as an automobile engine or a furnace?

Is it as reasonable to talk about the best ways of sustaining the body as it is to talk of proper care for the engine

the rurnace?

The body is strengthened, warmed, sustained-kept young in a very practical and acientific way.

Some Simple Facts Food is heat and power and renewal for the body.

After all, there's nothing mysterious or magical about what food does in serving human need.

Nothing mysterious, but much that is interesting and important.

Some foods are particularly good for the body. GRAPE-NUTS is such a nature has placed phosphates and lime which go to the making of bone, and the red blood corpuscies.

This may sound like physiology, but it works like health. Hunger Not Cheated

All the richness of the kernel, together with essential mineral elements, are retained in the making of Grape-Nuts. Often, in the manufacture of foods, some of the most vital of nature's provisions are thrown away.

The long baking process (Grape-Nuts is the result of 20 hours continuous baking) partially pre-digests the food substances, develops the starches intodextrin and maltose giving to Grape-Nuts its own natural sweetne and produces a food which, when served with milk or cream, has been found by chemists to be almost perfectly balanced in qualities

The Enemies Within Now, old age begins in the mobile engine. Noneed to go into the particulars-it's enough to say that bran coating of the grain, food which is slow in digesting develop fermentation and other conditions which cause the bodily machine to slow down and wear out sooner

· - "There's a Reason"

Grape-Nuts digests quickly and wholesomely.

Much of this is due to the fact that the long baking has partly pre-digested the nutriment; partly to the fact that there is contained in Grape-Nuts the essential "roughness" to stimulate the action of the intestines.

Health's Splendid Champion

Grape-Nuts is a delightful food, for it is uniquely rich and sweet in flavor, and always crisp. It is unusually nutritious, for it has all the body-building elements of the most perfect food grains. It is a convenient and economical food, for it is ready to eat from the package, keeps in any climate, and is appetizing to the last bit.

It builds strength and vigor without taxing the digestion or leaving, within the body, elements whose familiar harm is really the beginning of "old age."

Grape-Nuts has been a favorite food, around the world, for nearly a quarter of a century

London, Ontario, Thursday, August 18, 1921.

THE HUMPTY DUMPTY GOVERNMENT. Presumption goeth before a fall. Ten years ago next month the Conservative aggregation swept Laurier from power by a great majority from ocean to ocean. By hook and crook and the chances of a great war, they still cling to their $4,000 seats. To hold on they have even painted out the old sign and over the width of the whited facade is spread the omnibus title of National-Liberal-Conservative, anything to oblige. But the structure that stood high on the sandy hill of popular favor in 1911 has long been little better than a castle in the air, a phantom and a sham. It totters, and at a touch it will fall. Of over 500 member of provincial legislatures, mardly 70 are now Conservative. Ichabod! The fates of wicked Tyre and Sodom come to mind. The foxes will soon be howling among the ruins of Canadian Conservatism. Such are the wages of deception, corruption and usurped tyranny. No wonder the party clinging at Ottawa has sought a change of name, an alias, like the magician in the Arabian Nights tale who changed himself into everything in turn to evade the avenging

But the people of Canada will be no longer put off. They can hardly wait for the election so unconstitutionally deferred. The mass of the electors are perhaps not very exact in their recollections of all the infamies of this dark decade, but their general impression is and efficiency is as urgent as at any period since the raw and red in the extreme. They remember the rightabout-face of the Bordenites on naval policy, the rightabout-face on reciprocity before the election of 1911, and the right-about-back-again on "truck with the Yankees" a year or two later; the flag-waving of greedy profiteers, the anti-American gabble which Mr. Meighen and others would now claim to be a Tory policy of good-will to our neighbors, the very nasty entanglement of the Bordenites with the disloyal anti-Laurier and pro-German element in Quebec Province. Canadians, have a memory of some bad horse-dealing in Peel County, of a stenographer who got a hundred thousand dollars for her faithful service in a war worker's office, of commissions skating carefully over thin ice and never even cracking through, of Tory rottenness finally unconcealable in British Columbia, Manitoba and New Brunswick, and things only gradually being unearthed ir Ontario timber lands. There were ugly suspicions never quite laid to rest about our nickel in war time, and the Ross rifle business hardly bears looking into. How slow the Meighen Government was to expedite the the United States a home for destitute millionaires. ition requirements of Ontario, and how quick to fly to the aid of the sugar barons. The trickery about how the wind keeps always blowing at Ottawa since no interest. the triumph of "big business" in 1911.

But Humpty Dumpty is just falling from the old wall of privilege. No one will want to put it together again. The country has outgrown the Rogers system, and; sobered by the lessons and cost of the war, seeks clean, scientific and democratic government to float it back into the sun.

ON READING THE DICTIONARY.

Few of those who admired the remarkable knowledge of the English language that was possessed by Sir Wilfric Laurier, evidenced continually in his choice of just the right word, had any idea of the means that he adopted of enriching his vocabulary in the language that was to him an adopted one. It will be recalled that the foundation was laid in his boyhood, when his father sent him to live for a time in the home of a Scotch Protestant family, where, no doubt, there were other things than the English language impressed upon the youthful mind. It will be recalled, too, that, as a young man, he lost no epportunity of taking part in debates and literary discussions in the numerous societies of that type special means of acquiring an enlarged vocabulary that Sir Wilfrid kept up almost to the day of his death for a good many centuries yet. -that was the reading of the dictionary.

I know a man who has had a hardfight all the way. There were clouds not of heavenly glory, but of earthly adversity roundabout his childhood; I started in to rain aplenty when he was a young man; the thunderstorms broke round him and the lightning blazed in his maturity; and only now in the last chapter of his years, near ing the sundown, is the rainbow shin-ing. He has made a fortune; he enjoys the spending; he is kind and generous and none begrudges him his innocen pleasures after the many lean, hard

They call him a "self-made" man.
It is true that he was self-reliant,
self-controlled and largely self-taught.
But if you succeed in getting him to speak, his first word and his last are not in praise of his own business acu-men or his own militant persistence. They are in praise of the men who had faith in him, and gave him help when he neded it. One man loaned him money when he was poor; later, the tables turned, he made his benefactor

INTEREST IN THE BLOUSE.

Certain blousemakers are true to belief that georgette and chiffon crepe are the best mediums for the blouse, and that color blendings are best which provide a contrast to the suit rather than a match. One fall collection follows much in the line of this established genre, but others employ crepe de chine and novelty silks.

There is, nevertheless, a sustaining of the season's feeling toward blouses consisting of several layers of the fabrics involved. Her confusion was so great, toounecessarily so! It did seem odd. Maybe she had stolen downstairs for some assignation with that fool Calardin? But no. She was discreet—conventional.

Of course, when a woman was in love—he fervently hoped she did not care for Dick—but if she did, the whole affair might have gone to her head a little.

Carrington Bellairs was naturally of a suspicious turn of mind. But aloud he merely said:

"It's just a trifle late for chatting, so we'll leave that over till the morning."

Mary shook her head.

"Well, that's a pity. No doubt it'll war up in the morning," said the man. A cynical little smile hovered about his lips.

"Good-night!" said Mary softly, still embarrassed over this unexpected meeting. She hurried down the corridor to her room, slipped in and closed the

Phantom Canoe Still Floats On Dark Waves

There is a curious legend in Indian warded to Rusty Co-tradition which reaches far back into for the hospital mite. young man wooed his gentle sweetheart, and they were about to be married. But before the tail lodge had been set up the girl sickened and died. Her lover, unable to sustain the blow of his loss, became insane with grief, and set off in search of her, refusing to believe that she was really dead. His wanderings led him to a dreary place called the Lake of the Dismal Swamp, and standing on its margin he saw the curious "ignis fatus," the false light that has lured many men to their doom. Firmly believing it to be the lamp in the canoe of his dear one, he fashioned a boat from birch bark and pushed off. He was never heard of again, but on dark and windy nights the legend says that the "white canoe" can be seen crossing the lake by the light of a "firefy lamp" just at the hour of midnight. This curious tale has been very aptly expressed in verse, portions of which follow:

Dear Miss Grey,—I am coming to call on you for the first time, and I do hope that you will not be discouraged. I have been a reader of your Page for a long time, but I have never written to you. I see now that Rusty Coat has some clothing to part with, and my mother would be very glad to get them, as my sister is five years old, and my brother nine, but he is a big boy. Mother would make good use of them. I am a girl of fourteen, but I am writing because mother does not feel good. The shoes would come very handy for myself. I hope that we can get them. We will send the money for express when we know how much it will be. I am sending a dime for hospital fund.

The poem continues to tell of the perils which the unfortunate man underwent on his way to the Dismal Swamp, and how he finally found the "dusky lake" where he believed his loved one was. When he thought he saw the "firefly lamp" and the "white canoe" he put off from the shore in his boat of birch bark, and went in search of her. The boat never returned.

TY COBB LETS DONIE BUSH GO

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—Donie Bush, for thirteen years shortstop with the Tygers, soon will leave here for other fields of endeavor.

Waivers were asked on Donie by Preesident Navin of the Detroit baseball club several days ago. Magnates in the majors have until Thursday to exercise the Type Donie his release unconditheir option or put it up to the Tyger boss to give Donie his release uncondi-

It is understood, however, that two clubs have refused to waive on the little Hoosier. President Navin did not go into details in that regard, but he admitted it is extremely likely that the departing player will described by the control of the c form in the American League

OLD BOYS MEET OPENING TODAY

Former Residents Coming From All Parts of the Country.

[Special to The Advertiser.] SIMCOE, Aug. 17 .- At the first streak of daylight on Thursday the little village of Teeterville, 15 miles from here will see the largest crowd it has ever accommodated. It is Teeterville's ! boys' reunion, a gathering that has Montreal, Aug. 18.—There was no break this morning in the long dullness which has characterized the local stock market. Bids and offerings were many but little trading resulted during the first hour. Laurentide at 66½ registered an over-night gain of ½ while British Empire Steel was also up ½ while British Empire Steel was also up ¼ at the opening. Brompton lost a point, opening at 17, while General Electric was unchanged at 94. Practically no trading took place in other issues.

The market closed dull. The trading during the morning was negligible and price changes small. been planned for more than a year. All roads lead to Teeterville Thursday, and arrangements have been made for spe-cial bus lines and acommodation on the special bus line from the station to the park has been arranged.

The movement has been put on foot not by the present residents of the place, but by the old boys themselves. Their chairman is Pat. Robinson of Stevensonville; vice-chairman, George Omri Teeter, 312 West Twenty-Fifth street, New York City; secretary, Jas. Edgworth, 210 High Park avenue, Toronto, and treasurer, Henry McKnight, Teeterville. The executive committee of twelve includes Peter L. Cantelon of Butte, Mon.; James Cox of Flint, Mich., and others from a distance.

The old boys have undertaken to get together all the living members of the Windham baseball team, which was the champion nine 50 years ago, and all but one of these, it is now assured, will be there. The last man is C. L. Robinson, the first baseman, who is now in British Columbia, and the committee have not given up hope of having him there.

Detroit will send over a contingent of 100, and Buffalo at least 75. Toronto will be represented by at least 200, and "Cal" Lawrence of Ottawa, ex-mayor of St. Thomas, O. E. Tisdale of Calgary, Oscar Slack of California, Mack Malcolm of Saskatoon, and Senator Tuff of Michigan will join the crowd.

Woman Feared Ghost and Surrendered to Police [Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, Aug. 17.-Mrs. Jessie McTellop, aged 27, shot and killed her husband, William, at their home on Cardoni avenue early today and escaped before the police arrived. Three hours later the woman returned to her home and surrendered herself. She told the police she feared that her husband's ghost would haunt her if she did not return to the spot where she committed the murder. Mrs. McTellop said she had lived with McTellop as his common law wife for the past eight years, and admitted no marriage service had ever been performed. A few days ago the couple quarreled, and McTellop left. He returned early this morning and announced his intention of leaving for good. While he was packing his clothes the woman secured a revolver and fired four shots into his body, killing him instantly.

LAST RAILWAY PICNIC. The old and too often hackneyed hrase "Last but not least," used in its strongest sense will perhaps best de-scribe a picnic held by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Victoria Lodge, 120, in Springbank on Wednesday. Many rail-way picnics have been held in the ven-erable old park this year, but without shade of doubt this outing, the las railway picnic of the year, was by far the most enjoyable. It was by no means the largest outing of its kind held this year, but then th of its kind held this year, but then the success of an outing cannot always be judged by the numbers in attendance. It is estimated that at least 150 were present, and this number included a lease anyther of trainment members of and this number included a nber of trainmen, members of large number of trainmen, members of Forest City Lodge, No. 240, of the B.

The rain, which fell during the morn-The rain, which fell during the morning and the early afternoon heavily enough to daunt the stout-hearted Irishmen and the butchers of the city, who were scheduled to hold their annual outing at Springbank, did not dampen the spirits of the women in the least. Their perseverance was rewarded by blue skies and a hot sun which dried the grass before the picnic was well under way.

Forgetting for the moment a splendid uncheon, the feature of the day was a all game between two picked teams, ball game between two picked teams, made intensely exciting by the long up-hill fight of the winners captained by Miss Laura Greene. At one time the winners were ten runs behind the losers, but by a splendid batting rally in the second last inning the long lead was overcome, and the game ended with the
