STORMED A BOER CAMP

Pigeon Post Despatches From Ladysmith Tell of the Fight.

London, Nov. 6.—The war office issued the following at 11:40 p. m. yesterday: "Buller to the secretary of state for war:

"Cape Town, Nov. 5, 8:40 p. m.—The commandant at Durban sends the following, received from Ladysmith by pigeon post, dated Friday, Nov. 3:

"Yesterday Gen. French went out with cavalry and field artillery and effectively shelled the Boer laager, without loss on our side.

"Lieut. Egerton, of the Powerful, is dead. Gen. Joubert sent in Maj. C. S. Kincaid, of the Royal Irish Fusiliers, and nine wounded prisoners. Eight Boers were sent out in exchange; no others being fit to travel.

"Col. Brecklehurst, with cavalry, field artillery, the Imperial Light Horse and Natal mounted volunteers was engaged to-day with the enemy to the southwest of Ladysmith. The fighting lasted several hours. Our loss was very small.

"The bombardment of Ladysmith continued yesterday and to-day, many Boer shells being pitched into the town.

"Our troops are in good health and spirits, and the wounded are doing well." (Message ends.)

I think that Gen. French's name is given by mistake for Brecklehurst.

BOER CAMP CAPTURED.

A special despatch from Ladysmith, describing Thursday's fighting, says: "The artillery duel at dawn, in which the Boer guns were silenced, was intended to occupy the Boers and to enable Gen. Sir Stewart White to achieve his chief purpose—the capture of the Boer camp behind Bester's hill. For this purpose the Lancers, Hussars, Natal border rifles started under Gen. French at sunrise and got within striking distance before the enemy was aware of their presence. A field battery was also sent and it secured a good position commanding the enemy's camp, which was a large one, laagered with army wagons and other vehicles.

"Bester's hill was well fortified and provided with good guns. At nine o'clock the British opened fire, the Boers replying with spirit but bad aim. The British quickly sent a 42-pound shell into the camp inflicting terrible loss and spreading panic among the enemy. Our cavalry then stormed the position, the Boers fleeing precipitately, leaving many wounded, as well as the whole camp and equipment in the hands of the British. This success will upset the plans of the Orange Free State commanders and, possibly will prevent them giving the British further trouble from the west."

A SANGUINARY BATTLE.

This Times publishes a despatch from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, dated Nov. 3, which says: "The British residents have received news of a sanguinary battle fought yesterday (Thursday) probably between Ladysmith and Colenso. A large number of the Boers were killed, many being relatives of the Dutch residing in this place. This likely refers to the foregoing."

WHY THEY ARE WAITING.

London, Nov. 6.—The general belief in London is that the Boers are now waiting for more guns from Pretoria before attacking Ladysmith. The fact that Sir Redvers Buller appears to have ordered a retirement from Stormberg, Colenso and other places relieves to some extent the public mind, which otherwise would have been further alarmed.

Transports have just been secured for the Woodville Howitzer brigade, which will be hurried to the Cape. The brigade has 10,000 rounds of 5-inch lyddite shells awaiting it. According to the estimates a single shell, falling to a compact body, will kill 300 men. It was demonstrated in the battle of Omdurman, which destroyed the army of Khalifa Abdullah, a large number of dervishes were killed by suffocation, while hundreds of vultures and eagles fell upon the battlefield from the same cause.

COMPLETELY SHUT OUT.

The correspondent of the Times at Ladysmith under date of November 2, confirms the report of artillery exchanges. He says: "The investment of the town is now practically complete. Last night the enemy tapped the wires in our rear. He can therefore cut our communications whenever he pleases. It is suggested, however, that the Boers believe that Ladysmith is in their power and that they are therefore anxious to have us get up all our military stores before they attack us."

Another special from Ladysmith describing the engagement at Bester's hill, says the Boers were completely routed and suffered heavy loss. Their entire camp was captured. The correspondent goes on to say: "An artillery duel is in progress. A British shell struck a Boer 40-pounder and completely wrecked it."

A TERRIFIC LUEL.

A special from Ladysmith, dated November 2, morning, says: "During the night the Boers moved closer to the British positions and mounted guns in fresh places. Meanwhile the naval guns have been moved to more desirable positions near the town and commanding some of the Boer batteries. At 6 o'clock this morning Gen. White ordered the bombardment of the enemy and the blue-jackets opened the ball. The Boers replied vigorously. They fired straight and some of the British were hit. A terrible artillery duel has been proceeding for over three hours. So far the naval guns are the only ones that have engaged the enemy."

WAR NOTES.

Troop ships are sailing for South Africa every day. The Kildonan Castle on Saturday carried 3,000 men and a great quantity of equipment. This breaks the world's record.

Gunnery Lieut. Egerton, promoted for bravery at Ladysmith, is dead. He lost both legs.

DAILY AND WEEKLY
Chatham, Ont.

A TOMAHAWK BUT NOT TECUMSEH'S.

Sarah L. Russell, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. E. H. Betts, at 1413 East Sixteenth street, Kansas City, thinks she has the tomahawk carried by Tecumseh when he was killed at the battle of the Thames in October, 1813.

Col. William Russell, the founder of Russellville, Ky., who commanded the Kentucky contingent in the famous battle, was permitted by Gen. Harrison, so it is claimed, to remove the tomahawk from the dead body of Tecumseh and retain it and it has been in the possession of the Russell family ever since.

"Remove the tomahawk" is a nice way of putting it, but if it was "removed" it is tolerably certain it was not Tecumseh's. Reminiscences of men who were on the scene tell us that after the flight of General Proctor and the defeat of the Indians at Moraviantown it is said the Kentucky horse found the body of a big Indian on the floor. From its size they assumed it was that of Tecumseh. They skinned the body and when then they went back home they boasted that their whiplashes were made of the great chieftain's hide. Is it to be presumed that General Harrison was also asked for permission to skin the body as well as rob the corpse?

We know, however, from settlers around here at the time and not long dead, that Tecumseh's body was carried off by his braves and secretly buried and to this day no white man has ever learned its resting place, and probably never will.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

It was on March 28, 1879, after the retreat from Indiana, that Redvers Buller gained the Victoria Cross, says the Westminster Gazette. He had been making one of his intrepid reconnaissances, when his men were suddenly surprised by the approach of a large number of Zulus. It was necessary to retire. But never for a moment did Buller lose his coolness and calmness. The Zulus came down the hill in hot pursuit. Man after man fell before their assegais, or was buried under the dislodged boulders. Capt. D'Arcy was one of the first to fall. Buller rescued him from his assailants, placed him on the back of his horse, and galloped off with him to a place of safety. Scarcely had he returned when Lieut. Everett was dismounted, and once again he snatched him from the ground and bore him to the rear. And yet again, seeing a wounded trooper, whose doom seemed assured, he also carried him off the field when the enemy was within a hundred yards of their prostrate victim. For this almost superhuman feat he now bears the coveted bronze badge.

Sir Redvers Buller, comes of an old Devonshire family, and had he wished it he might have lived the life of a country gentleman. But he early decided otherwise, and was wearing the Queen's uniform at nineteen. "Eagles do not catch flies" is the proud motto of the house. Archibald Forbes, in speaking of Buller's achievements in the Zulu war, says:

"There was a man with some six thousand a year, a beautiful house in fair Devon waiting for his occupation; a seat in Parliament all but secured, and yet for the patriotic love of leading that strange medley of reckless adventurers he was living squalidly in the South African veldt, sleeping in the open for three nights out of the six with a single blanket thrown over his body; his hands so disfigured by cattle sores, the curse of the veldt, that I never saw them not bandaged up. With his intrepid heroism he had saved the lives of so many of his men that in talking to them, it almost seemed that he had saved all their lives. A strange, stern, strong-tempered man, whose pride it seemed to be to repress all his own emotion and to smother its display in others, he would order a man peremptorily back to his duty who came into his tent to ask him to read a letter in which a mother thanked him for saving the life of her son."

Sir Redvers Buller, who is just sixty, has, it is said, seen more active service for his age than any soldier in Europe.

The disaster at Ladysmith is not the first in military history directly traceable to mulish obstinacy.

What West Kent aches to know is, what does Archie Campbell think of his political boss, Tarte?

The latest among the boys is, who can eat without liquid accompaniment ten soda biscuits in ten minutes. Try it.

Tarte and Laurier simply misunderstood the feeling in this country. When Britain has a war on you have not to get young Canadians half shot before they are willing to go to the front and risk getting all shot.

THE CHATHAM DAILY PLANET, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1899

THE NAMES THE DEAD.

We're Irish; they said we'd not fight for the Queen. Was that right? Ask for the names of the women who cried For the heroes who charged to the cannon and died—So ask for the names of the dead.

Our brothers are dead in the Transvaal—English and Scotchmen—and is that all? Who died that the whole world might know? That watered by blood, the Empire would grow? So ask for the names of the dead.

We've drunk to the Queen—God bless her! We've fought with the Boers—who curs'd her! And we're Britons! We're true to the flag! When the fighting was on did one of us lag? So ask for the names of the dead.

English, and Scotchmen, and Irish—all Britons yet; When we fall, there'll be rooms in the Empire to let; We have wrongs! We are poor—God knows! but we'll wait Like Fusiliers, not traitors, we'll fight against fate. Go look at the names of the dead.

We'll pray for the names of the honored dead; We'll drink to the Empire the dying has made; It's their blood and our blood the banner has stained; It's their land and our land the dying has gained. Go pray for the souls of the dead.

—W. A. Fraser.

Why does Joubert resemble an American divorcee? Because he has decreed the separation of General White and Ladysmith.

The Londoners presented the volunteers from the west with a $4 knife apiece. There is some question now as to whether they could not have been given something more useful. A friend of ours with experience, says the most useful things he knows of for long voyages are poker chips and decks, whatever those things are.

"As regards the Canadian contingent for the Transvaal, it goes out because you insisted upon its going, and I am very glad you did so."

This is what Lord Minto, Governor-General of Canada, said in a speech to the Montreal Caledonian Society. He knows the facts first hand and officially. So we are to infer that if Canada had not "insisted" the Tarte crowd would have dominated the cabinet.

His Royal Highness Mohammed Tammam Khan lives quite on the other side of the earth, in the Philippines, but he has become an issue in Kentucky and Ohio. Tammy is a rather squat young man, with a complexion like a second-hand saddle, but he's the whole thing over in Zulu. He has 12 wives, 75,000 slaves and almost an equal number of free subjects, besides other troubles. Among his subjects is a band of Mohammedan fanatics, the Juramentados, who consider it a duty to go out and kill a nice mess of Christians before breakfast. In order to keep Tammy from mixing in the somewhat lively game now going on in the Philippines, Gen. John Bates was sent to make terms with him, and the practical potentate concluded that he could afford to be good for the same salary as he had been receiving from Spain, $5,000 per annum. He also consented to the liberation of his slaves at a price of $50 a head and this is construed by the Kentucky orators as a recognition of slavery by President McKinley.

Tammy is called "mountain of light" by his adoring subjects, and although he wears a snowy sort of nightgown for his day attire, it requires considerable stretch of imagination to fit the name to his dumpy figure.

There is a "vibe" and "go" to the play that captures the gallery as well as the elite of every audience. The special scenery is effective, and several strong specialties assist materially in the play. E. H. O'Connor as Charles Mercer, alias Horatio Irving Booth, is very successful in his performance of the tramp, and Mat Schneider as Fritz Grabhold, a section gang boss, assists materially in the fun making by his finished German character work. Gertrude Barnes, a captivating little sourette, assumes the roll of Bessie Reynolds and introduces a number of captivating songs and dances. Cecile Lorraine, and Marguerite Mayfield look pretty and appear to advantage in their different characters. Lon Stevens appears to advantage as James Montague and R. Edgar Vance makes an excellent Judge Pecksniff. Others in the petal cast are W. J. Conlan, and Franklin Smith.

THE Canada Business College

CHATHAM, ONT.

Canada's greatest school of shorthand and business training. When our pupils are weighed in the balance of the business public's requirements, they are not found wanting.

The testimony we intend to offer you for the next few weeks, in support of this claim, will be that of business men who have tested our pupils.

It Pays to attend the Best.

Nothing but the Best should satisfy you.

Dear Sir: I consider it a privilege as well as a pleasure, to testify to the excellent nature of the work you are doing in our midst. I can offer no better evidence to the public of the confidence I have in your school, than the fact that four of my sons have taken full or partial courses with you, and others are likely to follow. I have no doubt that you will have a large number of your pupils in my employ, and without exception they have shown themselves to be thoroughly well qualified for office duties. I have never heard of you recommending an incompetent person, and to have done so would have been a disgrace to your school. I am sure that your school is a boon to the business community.

Your school deserves the highest praise. Your graduates are "good." The moral tone of your institution is of high order, and the pupils take a course with you who are daily realizing such a sphere of earnestness as pervades your school, cannot but carry a healthy portion of it away with them, and thus their lives are elevated and benefited by it.

Pleasing you continued success in drawing large numbers to your school.

Yours truly,
H. Stevens

THE SHAH OF PERSIA.

An Amusing Story of the Monarch's Tendencies.

He Made His Unfortunate Ministers do Many Spontaneous Feats on Ice.

A very amusing story is told about the Shah of Persia. It appears that during the winter months the little colony of 60 or 70 English people at Teheran organize concerts for one another's amusement; there is a dance now and then at the legation, and on Christmas night every Englishman in the place is a guest of Sir Mortimer and Lady Durand. When the weather is cold of course there is skating. Skating is the greatest marvel of all to the Persians. A few years ago the late Shah, Nasr-Din, saw 20 skaters twirling and curling and spinning gracefully on the ice. He was amused; he thought it wonderful. The next day he sent to the legation and borrowed a dozen pairs of skates. These he made his Ministers put on and then attempt to skate on the lake in the palace grounds. The poor Ministers were terribly discomfited, but it was twice as much as their heads were worth to refuse. His Majesty was so amused that ever and he nearly had an apoplectic fit from laughing.

Fendalism in Hungary.

Inconceivable as the anachronism may seem to the western mind, the agrarian system of Hungary has not yet issued from the feudalism of the past. The Hungarian farmer of to-day is virtually a serf, bound to his master, the hereditary owner of the soil which the peasant tills, by the tangible tie of personal liability. The Hungarian feudal lord of to-day is entitled to 50 days' labor from the male adult who dwells on his land. The seignior is at liberty to demand this feudal contribution at whatever time may seem best to him, and the frequent result is that the peasant farmer is employed in gathering his master's harvests while his own crops are rotting after a rainfall or are being consumed by an early frost or suffer damage from one or more of the many possible causes which render the slightest delay on the part of the harvester in gathering the fruits of a year's labor.—S. Ivan Todoroff, in Arena.

City to Feed the Babies.

In his annual report, presented to the common council of Milwaukee, Health Commissioner Schulz recommends the establishment of a municipal dairy, where mothers can get pure milk for their babies. He would have the city own its own farm and several head of cattle, which he would have scientifically fumigated three times a week. He would have the city establish several milk depots, where the milk would be sold in nursing bottles to mothers at two cents per pint. At each of these depots he would have in attendance a professional nurse to give advice to mothers about the general care of their children and to periodical examine the youngsters to detect the first trace of any disease.

Easily Cured.

A correspondent thus tells how a man addicted to the spitting habit was cured: "The captain of an Atlantic steamship was at a loss how to induce a passenger to desist from the filthy habit of spitting on deck. Among the passengers was a gentleman well known in Toronto 40 years ago, who undertook to stop him if quartermaster were placed at his disposal. The captain closed with the offer and the man was directed to fetch a bucket of water and mop, and to follow the offender up and down the deck. The result was completely satisfactory."

A German law prevents proprietors of eating-houses from serving beer to people eating fruit.

ARE YOU FROM THERE?

The emblem of Yorkshire is one of the strangest things in heraldry. It is a fly, a flea, and a fitch of bacon. This year a Derbyshire man told me the significance of the emblem. Maybe you know it, if you will be interested. It is this: A fly will drink with anybody. So will a Yorkshireman. A flea will bite anybody. So will a Yorkshireman. A fitch of bacon isn't worth a continental until it's been hung. Neither is a Yorkshireman.

Many men are interested in believing that to excel in nothing argues aptitude for everything.

Miss Marie Williams of Wichita has organized a society of women who will marry none but men who fought with Funston.

In the second week of June Miss Helen Gould received 600 begging letters, in which the total amount asked for was over $1,000,000.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis is spending the summer near Montpelier, Vt., and it is said, intends to take up her permanent residence in that city.

Miss Florence M. Lyon, fellow in botany at the University of Chicago, has received an appointment as instructor of botany at Smith college.

Dr. Margaret Stanton of Syracuse has recently been elected to the office of president of the Onondaga County Medical college. It is the first time in the history of the country that a woman has been chosen to fill such a position.

The wife of General Miles is a niece of the late General Sherman and a sister of Mrs. Don Cameron. An expert horsewoman, it is said that in some of her husband's Indian fights she has been near enough to hear the shots on both sides.

Mrs. Florence Hall Harris recently completed her 40 years' connection with the Sunday school of the First Reformed church of Jamaica, N. Y., as a scholar and teacher, most of the time as teacher. For the last 20 years she has taught the Bible class, which position she now holds.

Peggy Pendergrass of Anniston, Ala., who was baptized by immersion in the Oaxaca Baptist church the other day, is 28 years old and has been bedridden for some time. She was placed in a chair for the ceremony and immersed in that way. She stood it well and as yet shows no ill effects.

When Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was a small girl in Virginia City, Nev., her brother, who were poor hands at marbles, would a ways call upon their sister when their fortunes grew low to redeem them. She was an expert player and never failed to win back, with interest, all the marbles that had been lost.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Planting under a crop of clover is a good way of manuring the orchard.

A dead limb is a source of disease. It shows also a lack of vitality in the tree.

In pruning make all cuts slanting and smooth, so that they will not hold water. A tree with an open head is not so likely to be attacked by mildew as one that is not.

Arrange in good season to save all the fruit either by marketing, canning or evaporating.

An orchard cannot be kept constantly under the plow. It is better to seed to clover than any kind of grass.

Pruning when the sap is active and the tree growing rapidly promotes forming of fruit buds. Pruning when dormant promotes growth of wood.

In nearly all cases it is best to thin the fruit on all thickly loaded pear trees. The pears left will then grow to large size and will be worth more than if all were left on the tree.

In fruitful years vigorous fruit trees are inclined to overbear, and when so loaded, much of the fruit will be small and inferior in quality and size, besides injuring the tree.

THE KISSING BUG.

The kissing bug has a soft snap on a sure thing.—Chicago Times-Herald.

The kissing bug can never hope to render popular among the girls the manless kiss.—Pittsburgh News.

Perhaps the scientists will be able to trace the kissing bug to the late Hobson epidemic.—Washington Post.

The kissing bug, which is said to be causing so much trouble in Washington, must be something like the kissing bee we used to have in Illinois long, long ago.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The bug which has been disgusting people's countenances in Washington, while they slept, has been identified as the "metanolestes picipes," and is said to deserve even a worse name than that.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE COOKBOOK.

When cooking fresh fruit, add a little salt, as it greatly improves the flavor. This is especially noticeable in pies.

In making a salad bear in mind that the different parts should not be mixed together or with the dressing until serving time.

When frying bacon, have an absolutely clean pan, otherwise there will be black marks on the bacon and in the fat that comes from it.

ALASKA'S LIMITS.

The Alaskan question knows no bounds.—Indianapolis News.

Canada insists upon having her own way with the Alaskan boundary, regardless of England and the United States. It has become tolerably clear to impartial observers that Canada is riding for a fall.—New York Mail and Express.

Canada's stubbornness is almost sure to prevent a settlement of the Alaskan boundary dispute at present. The Canadian idea of a modus vivendi seems to be for the United States practically to surrender the points in dispute and then arbitrate afterward.—Kalamazoo Telegraph.

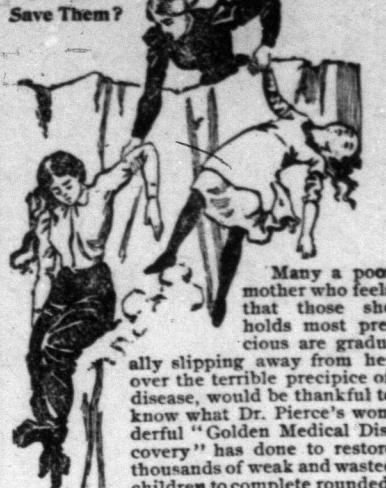

THE GENTLE SAMOANS.

There is nothing left for the Samoan kings to do except settle down and found a Pacific island aristocracy.—Washington Star.

Matana has quit the king business. He says $50 a month and board himself is not enough to pay for the trouble of the job.—Kansas City Times.

Perhaps an order forbidding the importation of feather dusters and paper collars into Samoa would have a good effect. Such articles are great temptations to those natives who are in the least bit disposed to embark in the king business.—Washington Post.

Can She Save Them?

Many a poor mother who feels that those she holds most precious are gradually slipping away from her over the terrible precipice of disease, would be thankful to know what Dr. Pierce's wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" has done to restore thousands of weak and wasted children to complete rounded, rosy, healthy, activity and life.

"My little girl had a severe attack of fever," writes Mrs. Wm. S. Vollmer, of Concord, Cabarrus Co., N. C., in a letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I had two physicians kept on her. She had a very bad cough, raised a great deal, and had wasted to a mere skeleton; only her feet and ankles were swollen. I knew what Dr. Pierce's medicines had done for us before so I commenced giving her 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and a 'Pellee' occasionally.

"In a few days I noticed the fever was less; her cough gradually grew better; expectation grew less; in a few days she sat up in bed, and in a few days she was on her feet, and was improving slowly and after a few weeks the swelling in feet and ankles went down, and she was well and happy as usual. This is more than two years ago.

"Last winter, Lulu (my oldest daughter) had Grippe very badly. Her physician was uneasy; he told me to be very careful or she would have pneumonia. I gave her 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it cured her cough. I will be pleased to have my letter published. If persons wishing to know more about the great benefits we have received from using Dr. Pierce's medicines will write, enclosing stamp, I will gladly answer."

If mothers will only write to Dr. Pierce concerning the ailments of their family he will send them sound and valuable advice in a plain sealed envelope, and without any charge whatever. His remarkably wide experience has qualified him to deal with diseases which baffle the local practitioner.

MILKING TIME.

The sun is low and the sky is red;
Over meadows is rich and mow,
And out of the lush grass over-fed,
The cattle are winding slow;

A milky fragrance about them
Breathes
As they loiter one by one,
Over the fallow and out of the sheaths
Of the lake-grass in the sun.

And hark, in the distance, the cattle-bells, how musically they steal,
Jo, Redpepper, Brindle, Brown, and Barleymeal!

From standing in shadowy pools at noon
With the water under-deep,
In the sleepy rivers of easy June,
With the skies above asleep,—
Just a leaf astir on orange or oak,
And the palm-flower thirsting in halves,

They wait for the signs of the falling smoke,
And the evening bleat of the calves.
And hark, in the distance, the cattle-bells, how musically they steal,
Jo, Redpepper, Brindle, Brown, and Barleymeal!

O wife, whose wish still lingers and grieves
In the chimes that go and come,
For peace and rest in the twilight eves
When the cattle are loitering home,
How little we knew in the deepening shades,
How far our ways would lie,—
My own alone in the everglades
At your home there in the sky;
Nor how I would listen alone to the old familiar peel—
Jo, Redpepper, Brindle, Brown, and Barleymeal!

—Wm. W. Harney.

AN INFANT'S DEATH.

Across two thousand years of time,
From the far shores of Galilee,
We have the Saviour's blest command,
"Let little children come to me."

Lo! We obey; we give our babe
Responsive to this call of His,
And we forbid her not; we know
Of such the heavenly kingdom is.

We give her, but cannot withhold
The tears that follow to our prayer,
That He will take her to His breast
And guard her with His tender care.

And we, across the shadowy stream,
May see, with faith's discerning eyes,
Our darling in the Saviour's arms
In the green fields of Paradise.

Mr. Tighe's Body Found This Afternoon Under the E. & H. Bridge.

Superintendent Jones, who Discovered it, Thinks There can be no Doubt of the Identity.

Supt. Jones, of the waterworks department, shortly after three o'clock this afternoon found a body believed to be that of W. H. Tighe, the well-known grain buyer, who has been missing since last summer. The remains were under the E. & H. bridge near the east bank, where the missing man was last seen. They were very much decomposed and the features were unrecognizable, but there is little doubt the body is that of Mr. Tighe. The stature is about the same and the clothing is of the color he wore when he disappeared.

Cyrenus Bray was notified of the discovery and decided to hold an inquest.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.
 Toronto, Nov. 4.—The receipts at the western market totalled 45 loads; the absence of odd-finished cattle was again a noticeable feature of the market; the market was steady, and the prices were fairly intact in the export line. Only the best cattle procurable are wanted, owing to the advance in freight rates and the paucity of shipping room. Few choice butchers' were offered, and the demand for this class is brisk. There is no quotable change in prices, though the appended range may not cover some of the sales. On the small meats line the run was a fair one, 750 sheep and lambs being offered. In the hog section 2000 animals were offered; prices unchanged. Export cattle, per cwt., $4 and $4.50; export cattle, light, $3.75 to $4; butchers' cattle, choice, per cwt., $4 to $4.50; butchers' cattle, medium, $3.25 to $4; common, per cwt., $2.50 to $3.25; stockers $2.50 to $3.25. Calves, per head, $3 to $8.

TOOK A POLICE CAMP

Only Boer Success Reported To-day--
Will the Blacks Rise?

New York, Nov. 6.—A despatch to the Herald from London says: The Telegraph's Cape Town correspondent, under date of Nov. 1, cables: The correspondent of the Cape Times telegraphs that a large command of Free State Boers attacked Norval's Pont bridge at 5 o'clock this morning. They then surrounded the camp of the Cape police who, being greatly outnumbered by the enemy, were obliged to yield to the demand for surrender. The telegraph station at the bridge is in the hands of the enemy.

DARKEST AFRICA.
 New York, Nov. 6.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says:—With the war office reduced to the extremity of holding back important information and announcing from hour to hour that there is no news and with the war correspondents, in the phrase applied by Grant to Butler, "bottled up" and tightly corked, South Africa remained until midnight, "Darkest Africa."

There were splinters of belated news regarding Thursday's artillery duel at Ladysmith, in which a Boer 40-pounder was wrecked, and also a suspiciously brief account of a brilliant cavalry sortie by which a Boer camp was surprised at Beiter's hill.

Later came a message by pigeon post, forwarded by Gen. Buller, showing the town holding out on Friday and hard fighting going on.

Gen. Joubert's object was apparently secured in breaking communication with the coast and preventing the movement of reinforcements to Ladysmith, but some military men were predicting that he would set a large force in motion for Pietermaritzburg and Durban, and complete the conquest of Natal before the arrival of the British army corps. This would be a bolder and more reckless movement than Sherman's march to Savannah, since the British fleet commands the seaboard. The more probable theory is that Joubert has closed in upon Ladysmith, after driving the English out of Colenso, and is making strenuous efforts to overwhelm White's army with his superior force.

THE BLACKS.
 The two warring white races. The Orange Free State is the traditional foe of the Basutos, and those most familiar with the race conditions in South Africa have feared from the outset that minor's agents may not be able to hold this tribe under restraint. Englishmen who are irritated by the war office's contempt for public opinion may fairly be said to be counting the hours before the arrival of the fresh battalions of the army corps. Ten transports are scheduled to reach South Africa during the next three days.

A RISING OF
 London, Nov. 6.—A rumor of a general uprising of Basutos against the Orange Free State had not been officially confirmed at midnight. Their chief has a force of 60,000 well-mounted, well-trained warriors, which is capable not only of placing the Free State on the defensive, but also of rousing the Swazis, Zulus, Kaffirs and other black races, and setting all South Africa aflame as far as the Zambesi river. This black menace adds a new terror to the darkness now brooding over the camps and garrisons of the Orange Free State.

WAS FOUND DEAD.

Michael Lamb Met His Death
From a Fall

According to Appearances—An Inquest is Being Held.

Michael Lamb was found dead beneath the L. E. & D. R. bridge over the creek yesterday about 11 o'clock, by John Franklin. Mr. Franklin notified the railway men and Jas. Winegarden, Albert Striker, Charles Pink, Thos. Farby and Gordon Everitt carried the body to the house of Robt. Monck, King St. east, where Mr. Lamb boarded. Coroner Bray was notified and took charge of the remains. This morning detective McGregor empaneled the following jury: W. E. Hamilton, F. G. Baxter, Orville Dolson, Jas. Musson, Gordon Bales, Thos. O'Leary, Alex. Wilson, Joseph Leguille, M. H. McArthur, and Andrew Northwood. The jury assembled at the office of Coroner Bray and went up and viewed the remains. They then adjourned until this evening. There were found on the body 50 cents in money, a silver watch and a knife. There were no apparent marks of violence, but it was reported around town that deceased's neck was broken. It is thought that Lamb was walking over the bridge and, missing his footing in the dark fell to the ground a distance of some 20 to 25 feet. Michael Lamb was an old resident of this locality and was in his 67th year. He was a brother of James Lamb of Harwich, and John Lamb, of Chicago. J. B. Kelley is a nephew. Two sons survive. One resides near Ridgeway and the other is in business in Bay City.

The Paris papers say the Boers will employ privates. It is reported that the Basutos have risen against the Free State Boers. Colenso has been abandoned because it was untenable in case of attack. The move is of no importance, except as showing General Buller's intention of strengthening his line of defence pending preparations for an advance.

THE POLICE COURT

A Number of Cases Were Heard
But no Conviction Resulted.

Bertie Martin Not Yet Able to Appear as a Witness—A Non-support Case Dropped.

There was a busy session of the police court this morning.

The lady Tickner and Connell, charged with assault upon Bertie Martin, were subjected to another remand for one week, bail being granted.

Judge Houston remarked that the case would not be proceeded with until such time as the injured lad had sufficiently recovered to give evidence.

George W. Neely, alias Lowe, on the serious charge of trying to drug a drowsy girl, was dismissed, having put in many credentials of good character.

In dismissing him the magistrate gave him considerable wholesome advice.

Alexander Edmondson was charged with the non-support of his wife and child. The information was laid by Mr. Edmondson, but when the judge explained that a conviction in police court would probably mean penitentiary for the accused, the case was allowed to drop and the complainant will seek redress in the civil courts.

Frank Tinney, the lad charged with cutting Herbert Darr with a knife, was also given a hearing. He claimed that the injury was accidental and the judge, after hearing the evidence, agreed with him. The case was dismissed.
