Will Pork Come Back

By Chas. M. Flatt

Recent fluctuations in the hog markets have caused deep concern among the breeders in Canada. Particularly is this true of those who have just started in the business and have invested heavily in breeding stock. The present state of affairs is not a new one, although it has never occurred in just the same manner before. A few days ago a cable from Great Britain to the effect that no more Canadian hogs would be required for some time caused a drop of $2.75 a hundred in such a short time that for a while it looked as if the bottom of the market was not in sight. Later it was found that although the cable was not official, yet the supply of pork in England was so great that no Canadian pork would be needed for some time.

Now let us see what caused this glut in the Old Country markets. The armies in the field have been consuming immense quantities of pork, most of which came from the United States or Canada. The return of large numbers of men from the field has lessened the requirements there. At the same time the United States has been pouring into England great quantities of pork to the almost entire exclusion of Canadian pork. Consequently a surplus has accumulated to the amount of some 180,000 tons. How long it will take to reduce this surplus and create a demand for pork again is what interests us as Canadian breeders.

In the first place, American pork has never found a large market in England, compared to Canadian bacon. The present large shipments of American pork are the direct results of the necessity of feeding the armies in the field on the best food. The civilian consumer in America has been economizing on meats to allow a greater surplus for export. Now that the armies are being returned home the demand in America must gradually increase again. Indeed, it is not improbable that Canada will be called on for pork to replace that exported from the United States until the breeders there can make up the amount exported.

Now what about the future of the Canadian bacon trade in England? Will the United States be a strong competitor in the British market? To answer these questions we must consider the type of hogs bred in the States and why we find that type. Every American breed is of the lard type, that is, bred for the production of short, thick carcasses in great bulk. This is the natural result of the great production of corn in some of the hog-producing States. The continual feeding of corn to any breed of hogs will in a few generations tend to the production of short, thick hogs.

The demand on the British market in normal times is practically all for bacon in the form of Wiltshire sides. A Wiltshire side is a half of a carcass with head and legs removed. The carcass is split lengthwise and should have even layers of fat and lean meat interspersed. Canadian bacon has always been in demand on British markets and is popular with the British consumer.

So as long as corn is the main product of these hog-producing States, American pork can never compete with Canadian bacon. Of course, in time there will again be competition in the British market, but at present Denmark, our keenest competitor, is not in a position to supply much bacon. So it is merely a matter of hanging on until the present surplus in England is used up, a matter of only a few months. In the meantime it must be remembered that the man who is in and out of a business all the time can never be successful. He is generally going in when prices are high and is forced to come out when prices are low.

There were, perhaps, never better prospects for any line of production than that before the bacon producers of Canada to-day. Now is the time to stay in the business, while the short-sighted in and out is coming out.

Soldiers' Letters

Letters of Appreciation to the Knotty Knitting Klub

Germany, Jan. 3, 1919.

Dear Friend:—

Received your parcel and letter of September 23rd the other day, and needless to say was very glad to get them. It had sure been a long time on the road.

We are always very glad to get these parcels, and especially when there is a letter inside, because correspondence is our main pleasure over here.

This has been a dandy Christmas, knowing that the war is over and that we will soon be back home again. It hardly seems possible.

The weather over here has not been very good lately. It rains nearly every day. Quite a difference to what it is over there at present, I guess.

Thanking you again very much for the parcel, I think I will close, hoping that I may get a reply to this note.

I remain, yours sincerely,

H. A. McKAY.

Siegberg, Germany,
Jan. 2nd, 1919.

Dear Friend:—

Please convey to "The Knotty Knitting Klub" my hearty thanks for the parcel I have just received, and must thank you personally for the cheerful letter from yourself.

When you wrote that letter you did not expect it to be delivered in Germany, but such is the case. We are now ten miles on the German side of the Rhine, keeping Fritz where he belongs.

The German civilians do not use us bad at all, in fact, I was surprised at their friendliness. The house in which we are staying is very comfortable (more so than the trenches) and the fact that the lady who lives here has lost two sons in the war is enough to make her dislike us, but on the other hand she is like a mother. She gives us all we want to eat and the other night I was coughing considerably, and she got up and made a hot drink for me. You can imagine how one would feel in a case like that.

We were in the line the day hostilities ceased and there was no one any more pleased than I when 11 o'clock came that morning. He took his final smash at us, but we were very fortunate and lost only a few. One poor lad was here since early in 1915 and was killed the last few hours of the war. Our battalion lost over 700 killed and the wounded runs into the thousands.

I think you quite understand I appreciate the work of the Klub and the socks will be worn on the march out of Germany. On our march into Germany we covered over 250 miles, and believe me, our supply of socks on arrival here was limited.

Although my home is in Prescott, Ontario, before joining up I was a telegraph operator on the Grand Trunk at Niagara Falls, not so far from your abode.

Would be very pleased to hear from you when you find it convenient. We will not be out of France for at least three months.

Again thanking you and the Klub for the parcel, and wishing all the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours very sincerely,

SIG. T. F. ALLEN.

On motion the council adjourned to Monday, Mar. 10th at 8 p. m.

Annual Meeting of the West Flamboro Agricultural Society

The annual meeting of the West Flamboro Agricultural Society was held at Freedon on Monday, January 20th. There was a good attendance and all were well pleased with the financial statement as presented by their Secretary-Treasurer, Jas. A. Gray. The society intends this year to hold a Field Crop Competition on Oats and Potatoes.

The retiring President, R. G. Reid, was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. The following are the officers and directors for 1919:

- Chas. A. Newell, President.
- Fred Smith, Vice-President.
- Alf. Purnell, 2nd Vice-President.
- John A. McDonough, Supt. of Grounds.
- Thomas Jones, Supt. of Hall.
- Geo. McCuen and H. P. Widdowson, Auditors.
- Robert Stewart, James Cook, Wm. Dwyer, Ed. Hamilton, M. J. McPherson, H. P. Widdowson, Wesley McCuen, Alex. McEdwards and Wm. Beaton, Directors.

In addition to these several others were named as committee of management. Jas. A. Gray was again elected Secretary-Treasurer by the Directors.

A new method of making a non-actinic light for photographic use has been worked out by J. Bardin in France, who makes use of the principle of platinum sponges, which is first heated in a flame, and then preserves its heating power when exposed to vapor of alcohol, ether or gasoline. The inventor makes use of this property by employing a small round tablet made up of a platinum salt, a lithium or strontium salt, asbestos, magnesia and alumina. A small bottle or lamp holding alcohol, etc., is provided with a wick with flat top upon which is based the tablet, and after lighting and then blowing out, the tablet glows with a red of other non-actinic light which can be used in the dark room.

eral was impelled to inaugurate an elaborate organization, both in number and plan, to take care of any mental disturbances detected in the camps or among the soldiers during the war. This is a distinct innovation in the medical army work, for the subjects of mental hygiene and of mental and nervous diseases in general, as occurring among soldiers in wartime, were for many reasons either slightly treated or neglected altogether.

For all fruits and flowers only three coloring substances are furnished by nature. One of these is the familiar "chlorophyll," which paints the beans and peas, the watermelon and the leaves of the trees so vivid a green. Another is "xanthophyll," which exhibits its intense yellow in the carrot, for example. The third is "erythrophyll," which shows its rich red in the beet. The last two are only modified "chlorophyll," however. But is it marvelous to realize that all the varied hues of flowers and fruits are due to these substances, mixed in different proportions.

Tale of a Pig.

A Chicago packer was deriding the lack of ingenuity in England as compared with the inventive aptitude of his own countrymen.

"Why," he said, "they tell me a man down in New Orleans has invented a sausage machine. It's a big sort of tool, driven by steam. All you have to do is to drive a pig up a plank, through a hole in the machine, and five minutes later out come thousands of sausages."

"What becomes of the hide?" queried the solitary Englishman in the audience.

"The hide, sir," retorted the Chicago man. "Oh, that falls out of another slot in the machine, and out come Gladstone bags, purses, or, if you like, shoes or saddles—merely a matter of turning a screw."

"Oh, is that all?" said the Englishman. "We've used that machine in England for the last 30 years. What's more, we've improved on it. Sometimes we found the sausages were not up to the standard. Well, what happened? All we had to do was to put them back in the machine, reverse the engine—"

"Go on!" cried the American. "What happened?"

"Out walks the pig as fit as a fiddle."

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of babyhood and childhood and unless it is promptly cured will undoubtedly lead to disastrous results. To cure this trouble nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild laxative which instantly regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus banishing constipation, colic, colds, etc. Concerning them Mrs. Eugene Vallancourt, St. Metheux, Que., writes:—"When my baby was constipated I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and am well satisfied with the result. I would strongly recommend them to all mothers for this trouble." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HIS PAL'S PLACE.

"Blind" Beggar's Excuse for His Presence.

Professor Walker was standing at the corner of One Hundred and Tenth street and Fifth avenue waiting for a bus, when his attention was attracted by the rattle of a few coppers in a tin cup held by a blind man who was squatted against the park rail, relates the New York Times.

The professor was fumbling for a small coin when the bus swung round the corner, and in his hurry to catch it he tossed the penny toward the cup as he turned away. His aim not being good, the coin was on its way to the ground when the beggar swung the cup under it with all the skill and dexterity of a ball player.

The professor was so astonished and indignant that he allowed the bus to go and approached the pretended blind man.

"Here," he began, "you are not blind. I saw you catch that penny. You are a fraud."

"Yes, boss," admitted the beggar, "you has it right. I ain't blind myself, but you see this here corner is a good stand, and if the blind man that always sits here was to leave it some other blind man would see the place and grab it. So you see, boss, I'm just holding the place for the real blind man. It's his afternoon off. He's gone to the movies."

WHAT IS B'WELL

B'Well is a medicine made from roots, herbs, barks, leaves, etc. The concentrated extract of these herbs tone up the stomach, regulate the liver, act on the kidneys and is sure death to worms. B'Well is greatly used throughout the Dominion as the testimonials published on another page will show. Many persons suffering from epileptic fits have been restored to perfect health. It expels all poison from the stomach and a cheerful spirit follows. It is a blessing to those who feel life a burden to them and downhearted and unhappy from disease. Read the testimonials on another page and they will convince you. Prof. R. L. Mgrivney is the proprietor of this wonderful medicine. His address is 211 Ossington avenue, Toronto. Write him.

BUSY TAX-GATHERERS.

Imposts In Almost Everything in England a Century Ago.

It is interesting to note that the entertainment tax of the present day was anticipated over fifty years ago by the inventive genius who proposed that all places of public diversion, including playhouses, operas, masquerades, Ranelagh, Vauxhall, Sadler's Wells and Astley's—the famous resorts of the fair and the fashionable of his day—should be taxed, says London Tit-Bits. Another proposal was that the very statues in the gardens—and the lakes and the groves, the grottoes and the temples of those days were thick with statues of heathen gods and goddesses—should have a price put upon their heads.

Time was when taxes were put on the watches attached to the seals that dangled from the fobs of the beaux or hung on the sashes that encircled the waists of the belles. Those who owned clocks were also regarded as fit subjects for special taxation.

The "guinea-pig" tax—the tax a householder has to pay for every person in his household who wore a pig-tail and covered his hair with powder—had its day and passed away. So, too, had a tax on soap—the impost that gave Lord North his nickname of "Old Soap-suds"—and a tax on salt. Gloves and mittens were once taxed, and so also were scores of other articles and the shops in which they were sold.

BRITISH NAVY DEVELOPMENT.

(London Free Press.) With the admiralty censorship lifted, British newspapers are discussing freely the developments of the navy during the war. The Free Press has been enabled to give its readers details in reference to much interesting naval progress, particularly since the conclusion of the war, and was first in this country to tell of the great battle cruiser Admiral Hood, the production of which is the proudest achievement of British naval engineers. The Hood is expected to develop more than forty miles an hour, and as it should when it is stated that the horsepower of the vessel's engines is estimated at 150,000, equal almost to the total production of power under the hydro-electric system at Niagara Falls.

A novelty in British naval progress is the airplane ship Furious. Just why this ship should have been called the Furious is not evident, for in appearance it is the most unwarlike ship one could well imagine. It is even without smoke funnels to belch a challenge to an enemy. The Furious has a length of more than 500 feet and stands high above the waterline. It carries no guns, depth charges or torpedoes. Indeed, it is not designed to fight at all. But it nevertheless is a most powerful factor in naval warfare. Lacking in means of defence, it is capable of great offense. Fifty or more airplanes have their home on the Furious, and it is these that the good ship is intended to send against the enemy. As bombers it is needless to say that these planes delivered from the flush deck of the Furious, just outside of the gun range of the enemy, might swoop down upon enemy ships with terrible effect, while as scouts they would be of invaluable service.

Speaking of the scouts, Britain had produced before the conclusion of the war a small body of zeppelins. These airships had a length over 700 feet and a diameter of nearly 100 feet. They were constructed of an aluminum alloy and held prisoner nineteen huge gas bags. Germany built her zeppelins chiefly as bombers, but found them not of practical use. Britain's zeppelins are adjuncts of the navy. Their work is that of scouting. Proof of the service they can render was given in the effects obtained by the German navy in the Jutland affair. German airships gave the warning to the enemy of the approach of the Grand Fleet and enabled the enemy admiral to escape from Vice-Admiral Beatty's battle cruiser squadron before the Grand Fleet could become fully effective.

It has been already stated in these columns that despite the demand for merchant ships the great Clyde yards were devoted entirely to the production of war vessels. Britain never relaxed her determination to keep the seas. She never allowed herself to suffer anxiety upon this score. Her people might be short of food, as they indeed were. Black bread might be their portion, as it was. But come what might no risk was to be taken in the control of the seas, because upon the warships of Britain the freedom of the world depended.

"30." (The symbol of the close of the day's work for the newspaper man) Let us be mindful of the friends so dear Who have departed. Not only in the silence of grief, But in companionships they loved to share. Let us remember those who go before; Their work is done. The life of each stands forth. Gunners Making Glorious Record.

The gunners of the armed guards on merchantmen have made a record of which we may be justly proud. The contests of the Silver Shell, which sent down the Moreni, on which the men stayed up to the top of the smokestacks on the burning ship; of the Campana, whose gunners fought for hours until their ammunition was exhausted; of the J. L. Luckenbach, which, though under a rain of shells, hit nine times and temporarily disabled, fought a submarine for four hours, before aid arrived, and later managed to reach port under her own steam; of the Armenia, which, though torpedoed, was saved through the courage and resources of its captain, crew and armed guard; of the Navajos, the Mongolia, and Petrolite and a dozen others are notable enough to be recorded in the naval history of the time.—Josephus Daniels in America Review of Reviews.

3 U-BOATS' FATE.

Q-Ship's Bag Thirty Hours Before Armistice.

The story of the "Q" boats, those mystery ships which asked only to be treated as merchantmen by the German submarines, contains few incidents more thrilling than the tale of how the Q-19, H.M.S. Privet, sank what was probably the last of the German U-boats to be destroyed. It was on Saturday, Nov. 9—less than thirty hours before the armistice was signed. Lieut. Percy S. Atkins, the commander of the Privet, was waiting in the Straits of Gibraltar, hoping to intercept four U-boats expected to be making for home from the Mediterranean. A submarine duly came along at 11.40 at night and manoeuvred into position to shell the innocent-looking Privet. Then for 40 minutes the Privet was chased and shelled. One shell wounded 11 of the crew of 60. The top of a funnel was blown off; one of the masts was carried overboard. The Privet's "panic party" rushed for the boats, with shells flying past them as they ran. The submarine was within 100 yards. Then Lieut. Atkins gave his order. Through a periscope hidden in a ventilator the exact range of the U-boat had been obtained. With the drawing of a bolt the mechanically worked blockhouse in the stern collapsed and a 4.7 gun came into position. The crew were at their stations. Seven shells were fired; every one hit the submarine; the commander was blown off the conning tower (his cap was picked up later), and the U-boat sank. The other three U-boats from the Mediterranean were near. One escaped by pretending to submerge, but going only so deep that her conning tower was just above water, with the result that she did not receive the full force of the depth charge. This submarine sank the battleship Britannia just afterwards, and Lieut. Atkins picked up 150 of the survivors. The other two U-boats never reached their base, and their destruction has been claimed.

One of the German Ambassadors on returning home to Berlin, of course, in the ordinary way came in contact with the Kaiser. The ambassador was relating his adventures of how he entered a certain place. "I was mounted on the very smallest mule in the world," said the ambassador. "Ah!" said the Emperor, "what an amusing sight to be the biggest ass mounted on the smallest mule." "I was your majesty's representative," was the stinging rejoinder.

LEAGUE TO START WITH MODERATION

And With Hope of Development as It Progresses.

TERMS SECRET

Drafting Committee Now Putting Agreement in Shape.

(From Jean W. Dufco, Correspondent of Canadian Government.)

Paris, Cable.—Today the drafting sub-committee of the League of Nations is at work in Lord Robert Cecil's office in the Hotel Majestic putting the covenant in the form agreed upon as the result of the almost continuous sessions of the last week.

There will be meetings of the committee to-morrow to go over the draft and a plenary session will be called for Wednesday or Thursday to consider the completed project. The secret of the result of the committee's labors has been well kept, but it is believed that the view that the league should not spring into being as a virtual supernatural authority with an elaborate constitution, has prevailed, and that it will bring its career upon a basis which will encroach as little as possible, while leaving the way open for the evolution towards a stronger central organization as world opinion favors such development.

The organization at the outset, will be not unlike that of the Peace Conference. It will consist of a general body made up of representatives of all the nations submitting to the league covenant, with a smaller central body upon which the Great Powers will have the chief representation. A secretariat with a permanent home, which will probably be Paris, will be established, and there will be a chairman or president of the league, for which position the names of President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau are being freely mentioned.

There will be special provisions made for the carrying on of the league during the interval which must elapse before the formal ratification of the project by the various national Parliaments can be secured. It has been proposed that the present conference should also constitute itself the first Congress of the League of Nations, but this has not met with favor. The conference will adopt the proposed covenant for carrying on and after the approval of the scheme by the various Parliaments there will be the convening of the first Congress of the League.

The matters of disarmament, nationalization of armament works and limitation of navies will be referred to the League of Nations, but it is not probable that there will be any disposition to deal with them at the outset of the league. Among the things that are certain is that a modification of blockade rights, until such time as the effectiveness of the Security Council is established, is absolutely established.

The discussion of the project of the league by the plenary conference is likely to be something more than perfunctory. Only fourteen of the thirty-two nations represented at the conference have had part in the preparation of the draft scheme and the other nations will be heard from in the conference. There is undoubtedly a good deal of feeling at the concentration of the conference powers in the hands of a small committee of the great powers, and it is also a fact that this feeling is shared to some degree by the Dominions which recognize that the assumption of the right of control by the council of ten has limited their participation in the affairs of the conference as provided for by the original plan of organization. This feeling found expression at the last conference and there is likely to be further evidence of it at the coming meeting.

It is desirable that the discussion on the league by the general conference should be of the freest possible character, and it is predicted that more than one session will be required to complete the debate. The draft will be accepted with possible minor modifications, and President Wilson will be free to return to the United States next Sunday, which is the provisional date set for his departure.

Recognized as the leading specific for the destruction of worms, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has proved a boon to suffering children everywhere. It seldom fails.

Won Fame on its Merits.—The unbounded popularity that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil enjoys is not attributable to any elaborate advertising, for it has not been so advertised, but is entirely due to the merits of this Oil as a medicine in every city, town and hamlet in the country. It is sought after solely because of its good qualities.

Why Not Try B'Well?

It Makes People Feel Well

B'Well is a medicine that assists nature, made from roots, herbs, leaves, etc. The concentrated extracts of these herbs, taken up the stomach, regulate the liver, act on the kidneys, and it contains a harmless worm exterminator that is safe death to worms.

B'Well is not a Tape Worm Exterminator. It is not recommended for that purpose.

B'Well expels Stomach or Pin Worms and in many cases has brought away sections of Tape Worms, and by its use many have discovered that Tape Worms was the cause of their trouble and have purchased my Tape Worm Exterminator and have been relieved of a horrible nuisance, twenty or thirty feet long.

B'Well is restoring thousands of people to health. I am not going to enumerate the different diseases and complaints that people have been relieved of from the use of B'Well, as it would take up too much space. I can simply say that restlessness and desire cannot remain if you take this medicine, and it will surely make you feel well.

It does not contain poison of any form or narcotic, that only relieves pain and the different roots and herbs that regulate the system. It stimulates the stomach, liver and kidneys into healthy action, helps digestion and keeps the bowels regular, expels worms from the system, and takes away the bad feeling around the heart and fearful feeling from the head, depresses spirits and melancholy, simply banishes and completely it takes their place. B'Well is a blessing to those who feel life is a burden to them, that are downhearted and unhappy from disease. B'Well carries the poison out of the system thru the natural channels of health, and, as the poison is carried out of the system, nature restores herself, and a cheerful spirit follows, as there is nothing but good health to make a person cheerful and happy. Many people treated for epileptic fits have been restored to health by its use. Don't ask me if it cures this, that and the other disease. It is different from the most of medicines advertised as cure-alls, and I am not advertising this remedy as such, but simply advising it as a medicine that has and will regulate the system, carry the poison out of the blood, and common-sense must surely tell you the result. Men and women who have been nervous wrecks, with hollow cheeks and sunken brow, have become plump, healthy and cheerful from its use, and I can only say what it has done for countless others, surely to you. Young men and women whose faces were covered with pimples, and a sickening sight to look at, are now free from them from its use. Men, women and children who had eating ulcers and running sores have been healed, and what it has done for them it is likely to do for you. Terrible, itchy, scaly skin diseases have disappeared from those who have used B'Well, and the sufferer made happy and healthy.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is saving thousands of valuable lives, and B'Well is doing just as much for those requiring this kind of medicine.

The letters from people who have used B'Well are sufficient evidence as to its merits.

B'Well is put up in powder form for convenience to send to foreign places by mail, which does away with all breakage. The package of powder makes twice as much medicine for the same amount of money. Full directions for making. Price, $1.25; 6 packages, $6; post free.

Medicine sent parcel post on receipt of price. Take a Dundas car, get off at Ossington avenue.

NATIONS LEAGUE PLAN FINISHED

Preliminaries Apt to Be Concluded To-day.

Prompt Agreement is Practically Sure.

Paris, Cable.—The most important part of the preliminary work of establishing a Society of Nations has been completed," said Prof. Ferdinand Larnaude, Gen. of the law faculty of the University of Paris, and with Leon Bourgeois, a French delegate on the commission on a Society of Nations, in discussing the work of the commission.

"We have reached the fourteenth article," he continued, "and we expect to conclude preliminary discussions early next week. The articles which have been adopted deal with the desire of the society to prevent future wars. What remains to be investigated concerns international transportation, commerce and financial affairs, and we expect the delegates to agree promptly."

Harover, Aug. 1, 1916.
Prof. R. L. Mulveney:
Dear Sir,—We are giving your B'Well to our daughter for epilepsy, and since taking it she has not had one fit. Before every month she had from one to fourteen in an attack.
I am enclosing $6.00 for six packages.
Yours truly,

Montreal, Jan. 23rd, 1916.
Dear Sir,—Will you kindly send me a whole bottle of your B'Well? I got you a letter some time ago and you sent me a bottle on the 20th of December. My boy, 12, passed a lot of stomach worms some of them two inches, and some a little more. The third day after taking it he passed thirty-seven. No wonder the poor boy had such an appetite because you sent me B'Well. I got your medicine, and am waiting for another bottle for my boy, 11 years. I enclose $1.25 for same, and $2.00 for postage.
Yours truly,

Ravenhill, Ont., Feb. 12, 1916.
Dear Sir,—Enclosed please find $1.25 for a package of B'Well. I have used the package and found it the best medicine I ever used. I have been troubled with stomach trouble for years, and I am now about all right.
Thinking you for your medicine, I remain,

THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY OF GERMANY

Dr. David, Social Democrat Leader, Now Said to Be President.

THE CONSTITUTION

Provides for National President and Committee of State.

Weimar, Cable.—Dr. Edward David, for many years one of the leaders of the German Social Democratic party, was almost unanimously elected president of the German National Assembly. Dr. David is one of the under-secretaries of state for foreign affairs.

Dr. David's speech was little more than a repetition of the words of Chancellor Ebert on Tuesday, especially when he referred to Alsace-Lorraine and the union of Austria with Germany, both of these references being loudly cheered.

Germany, he said, could earn the confidence of this world only by rapid creative work and must understand now to bridge the gulf to co-operative understandings. His greeting to Alsace-Lorraine and the declaration that Germany would not stop insisting that it have the right of self-determination evoked a great ovation, as did his reference to the Austrians, whom he said, he hoped to be able to welcome as colleagues.

The Clerical member, Fehrenbach, a former president of the Reichstag; the Democrat, Haussmann, and the Conservative, Dietrich, were elected vice-presidents. Fehrenbach and Haussmann received 374 votes each and Dietrich 357.

NEW CONSTITUTION.
The Assembly passed the first reading of the provisional constitution by acclamation. The second and third readings are set for Monday, to which the session was adjourned. The main portion of the Assembly's time today was devoted to a speech by Hugo Preuss, the Secretary of the Interior, who had been engaged in drafting the constitution. The Minister explained the character of the provisions of the instrument, from which the Assembly is to derive its powers as a law-making body.

The provisional constitution empowers the Assembly to adopt a permanent constitution.

The provisional constitution makes no attempt to anticipate or limit the future permanent constitution, excepting as to one vital detail. This is a provision that the territory of the German state shall not be altered without their consent. This is obviously the Government's method of meeting the opposition evoked by the earlier reports that a division of Prussia was contemplated.

Sentiment is fairly crystallized, after various party caucuses, in favor of transferring the National Assembly to Berlin after the Easter holiday. It is probable that there will be an adjournment on April 11, after which the President will call upon the Assembly to reconvene at Berlin. The Independent Socialists favor an immediate transfer, but stand alone in this demand.

Twelve former presidents of Alsace, including Major-General Scheuen, former Prussian War Minister, have arrived in Weimar. They were chosen delegates to the National Assembly by numerous Alsatian refugees, and they came to offset, as far as possible, the French prohibition, against elections in Alsace, having conducted a make-shift election by mail.

Whether these delegates shall have a vote in or be received by the National Assembly had not been decided to-day, but they will in any event have an opportunity to report on conditions in Alsace.

Miller's Worm Powders will purge the stomach and intestines of worms so effectively and so easily and painlessly that the most delicate stomach will not feel any inconvenience from their action. They recommend themselves to mothers as a preparation that will restore strength and vigor to their children and protect them from the debilitating effects which result from the depredations of worms.

Freedom From Asthma.—Asthma is one of the most distressing troubles, sudden in its attacks and prolonged in its agonies. Frequently many things are tried, but nothing seems to give a ray of relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is the one help which can be depended upon. If you have tried other remedies without success, do not fail to get at once a package of this uniformly successful preparation.

Do it Now.—Disorders of the digestive apparatus should be dealt with at once before complications arise that may be difficult to cope with. The surest remedy to this end and one that is within reach of all, is Parrot's Vegetable Pills, the best laxative and sedative on the market. Do not

A MASSACRE BY BOLSHEVIKI

Four Russian Grand Dukes Were Shot

Together With 172 Other Prisoners.

London, Cable.—The first details of the execution of four Russian Grand Dukes show it took place on January 28 last, in the courtyard of Deriabinsk Prison, in a suburb of Petrograd. A Helsingfors despatch to the Times states, "together with the grand Dukes 172 other persons were shot, 144 men and 28 women, who were accused by the Bolshevists of having taken part in the so-called Anglo-French organizations." A reliable report from Petrograd states that all four grand dukes died with dignity.

Grand Duke Nicholas Mikhailovitch, being ill and exhausted by starvation, had to be carried on a hand-barrow into the courtyard and in this position he was shot.

The execution was carried out in the early morning, with the mercury standing at 17 degrees below zero, by a detachment of sailors and Chinese, and in the presence of delegates of the Extraordinary Commission.

DEATHS

MARY COYLER

The funeral of the late Mary Coyer beloved wife of Frank Burton of West Toronto, took place on Thursday afternoon, February 6th to Grace church cemetery. Religious services at the grave being conducted by Rev. H. J. Leake. Deceased had lived the greater part of her life in Waterdown. A few years ago she moved to Toronto. She was previously married to Chas. Smith who predeceased her 34 years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband and one son, Frederick of the Dundas road. The pallbearers were E. Ford and T. Hanson of Toronto, I. Baker, F. Baker, D. Davies and R. C. Griffin of Waterdown.

ELIZA CATHERINE BINKLEY

The funeral of Eliza Catherine Binkley, wife of Samuel Buttrum, took place from her late residence on the Hamilton and Dundas road on Thursday last to Dundas cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Cameron of the Binkley Union church. Deceased was born in the house where she died, but for a number of years lived in the vicinity of Waterdown where she is well and favorably known. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, three sons, Eugene of Vancouver and John and Frank at home, and two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Griffin of Waterdown, and Nettie at home. The pallbearers were six nephews, Orman, Mordon, Howard and Mark Binkley, Frank and John Buttrum.

High School Board Meeting

The inaugural meeting of the High School Board was held on Wednesday, Feb. 5th, as per statute. Mr. Jas. Eager being absent owing to illness. Mr. Geo. Pearson the Public School Board's appointee took his seat for the first time.

Mr. John Mitchell was elected chairman and Wm. Attridge secretary and Treasurer for 1919. Internal Management committee Messrs. Mitchell, Pearson, and Attridge. Finance Committee Messrs Eager and Mullock. Property committee Messrs Gallagher, Flatt and Baker.

The Auditor's report, which certified to the accuracy of the Treasurers accounts, and which showed a deficit of $128.69 at the Royal Bank, was before the Board for consideration, and on motion was adopted. Several small accounts were ordered paid.

As there was only ten days tuition during January, due to the prevalence of influenza, it was decided, on motion of Messrs Gallagher and Baker, to remit one-half the fee of each pupil for February.

Quite a lengthy discussion took place re the internal management of the school and the individual standing of the pupils and the general feeling was that the Board should keep in closer touch with all matters pertaining to the progress and best interests of the pupils than it has in the past, and on motion of Messrs Attridge and Flatt, the Principal was requested to give a report on the work of the pupils at the next meeting of the Board.

The results of the weekly examinations in each form will appear in the "Review" from time to time.

Messrs Mitchell, Pearson, and Attridge were appointed to visit the school during February.

The first Tuesday in March was selected as the date for the next meeting. The meeting then adjourned.

WM. ATTRIDGE,

East Flamboro Council Meeting

The East Flamboro Council met at the Kirk House, Waterdown, on Monday, February 3rd, 1919.

Reeve and Councillors all present. Minutes of last meeting, and of the special meeting were read and adopted.

W. D. Platt addressed the Council, requesting them to do something towards macadamizing the Bay Shore Boulevard. The Council promised to consider his request.

J. C. Harper addressed the Council in the interests of the Township in connection with the Watson Drain. He considered the liability of the Township was over as far as the outlet of the drain was concerned, as it was in a condition to take all the water. He also stated that he, in connection with a committee from Nelson Township, had inspected a portion of the Town line which Charles Newell had improved as an entrance to his property, and they recommended that each Council pay Mr. Newell the amount of $50.00.

The Collector stated to the Council that the Hendrie Estate had not as yet paid the amount of their taxes in full (they had not sent the amount of the per cent.). The Council advised the Collector to refuse to accept unless paid in full.

A communication was received from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission re the trimming of trees along the Plains Road line. The Council were of the opinion that the ratepayers would not object to the necessary trimming of such trees.

A communication was received from the Hamilton City Hospital stating that Mrs. John Akam was on January 20th admitted as an indigent patient and would be chargeable to East Flamboro while there.

The Inspector of Public Schools sent in a request that the Council again appoint Truancy Officers.

A list of lands in the Township liable to be sold this year for arrears of taxes was received from the County Treasurer.

A communication was received from Chas. H. Gill, Clerk of Toronto Township, in reference to a meeting being held by the municipalities through which the Toronto-Hamilton Highway runs to discuss the advisability of waiting on the Government requesting them to take over the road as a Provincial Highway.

It was moved by Jas. A. Attridge, seconded by J. W. Robbins, and resolved, that the whole Council attend this meeting at Oakville on the 14th.

A resolution was also adopted by the Council whereby the Reeve and Councillor Attridge were appointed as a committee to draft a resolution from this Council to the Government and the Minister of Highways, asking them to take the road over. The following is the resolution formed by this Committee:

Moved by James Attridge, seconded by Wm. H. Easterbrook.

Whereas resolutions were passed about five years ago by all the municipalities between Hamilton and Toronto, including Hamilton and Toronto, asking the Government of the Province of Ontario to assist the municipalities in building a cement highway between these two cities, the Government at that time agreeing to pay 40 per cent. of the cost of such highway.

And whereas the Government has now very wisely arranged to take over all the leading roads throughout the Province as Provincial Highways and propose to pay the sum of 70 per cent. of the cost of building and maintaining the same.

And whereas the present Toronto-Hamilton Highway forms a link in the proposed system of Provincial Highways, and was constructed with the intention among other reasons of relieving the difficult labor situation that existed at that time.

Now, therefore, the Corporation of the Township of East Flamboro respectfully asks the Government of the Province of Ontario and the Honorable Finlay McDiarmid, Minister of Highways, to have the Toronto-Hamilton Highway taken over as a Provincial Highway, on the same basis as all other Provincial Highways, the Government paying 70 per cent. of cost and maintenance, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to all other municipalities between Toronto and Hamilton, asking their co-operation in this movement.

Mr. Wilson, of the Freeport Bank, and Mr. Wiggins, of the Waterdown Bank, each addressed the Council with a view to handling the finances of the Township. This question was left over to a future meeting.

W. R. Platt, Wm. Attridge and W. G. Horning were a deputation before the Council asking for agrant to the Wentworth Seed Fair.

Moved by W. H. Easterbrook, seconded by J. A. Attridge, and resolved, that a grant of $50.00 be given.

It was moved by W. H. Easterbrook, seconded by J. A. Attridge, and resolved that W. A. Emery be appointed by this Council to attend the meeting of the Rural Municipal Association at Toronto on February 19th and 20th.

It was moved by J. W. Robbins, seconded by J. A. Attridge, and resolved, that this Council appoint R. Taafe and W. H. Easterbrook as a Committee to meet W. C. Dickson, one of the Councillors of West Flamboro, in committee as regard work necessary on Town line between the Townships.

Moved by W. H. Easterbrook, seconded by J. A. Attridge, and resolved, that J. W. Robbins be instructed and empowered to fix up guard rails on Centre Road between 8th and 9th Concessions.

A large deputation of ratepayers of the Village of Waterdown and of the Township waited upon the Council, urging the taking of steps to ascertain the feeling of the residents and ratepayers of the municipalities towards uniting and building a Memorial Hall in honor to the memory of our soldiers who enlisted from these municipalities and served in connection with our Canadian forces in the late war with Germany. Every one present seemed to be in favor with the idea, and the Council appointed the following persons, namely, for Div. No. 1, Albert Scheer, Allan Lemon, W. J. Easterbrook; for Div. No. 2, Hugh Drummond, Wm. Thompson, Robt. Platt; for Div. No. 3, John Robinson, Wm. J. Cairns, Thos. Alderson; for Div. No. 4, Burdette Gunby, Alex. Campbell and Chas. Hewins, to act as a Committee in connection with a Committee appointed by Waterdown, these Committees to meet together and discuss the question with a view to finding out the best way to proceed with the undertaking.

Moved by W. H. Easterbrook, seconded by R. Taafe, and resolved, that the Reeve be authorized to issue his order to pay all accounts passed at this meeting. The following were ordered paid:

Geo. B. Long & Son, for milk supplied the Kelley family	1 74
Geo. H. Sinclair, for groceries supplied the Kelley family	8 08
Municipal World, for election and asst. supplies and subscriptions	24 77
Herald Printing Co., for advertising Voters' List	9 00
J. C. Harper, for Committee work on road and drain	2 00
Puellinch Township, for East Flamboro's share of cost on Town line	40 50
George Church, on salary	35 00
Grant to Wentworth Seed Fair	50 00

By-laws appointing a Collector, Fruit Tree Inspector and Truancy Officers for the Township were introduced and passed. Wm. A. Drummond was appointed Collector at a salary of $200.00; Fruit Tree Inspector, Walter Horne; Truancy Officers, W. O. Gastle, P. C. Sheppard and Walter Horne. The Inspector and Truancy Officers to receive 40 cents per hour.

Another by-law was also introduced and passed fixing the Councillors' and Committee fees at $3.00 per day, with mileage to Council at 10 cents per mile, one way.

Council then adjourned to meet again the 1st Monday in March, or at the call of the Reeve.

Weak, Sickly Folks Regain Health Quickly
By New Remedy!

A BLOOD-FOOD NOW MANUFACTURED THAT ACCOMPLISHES MARVELS.

Lots of people that were thin and miserable for years have recently been restored by this simple treatment. All you have to do is to take two little chocolate-coated tablets with a sip of water at the close of each meal.

The tablets, which, by the way, are called "Ferrozone," are in reality a perfect food for the blood. They contain exactly those elements your blood lacks when it becomes thin, weak, and unhealthy.

This is just the time to use Ferrozone; it excites splendid appetite, gives digestion splendid aid, supplies nourishment for the weak organs. At once you feel buoyant and strong. Nutritious blood courses through your veins, supplies strength, makes you tingle with animation and ambition. No more headaches.

None of that tired languor. You feel like doing things because Ferrozone completely renews and strengthens your whole system.

No medicine on earth gives such quick, lasting benefits as Ferrozone. It has raised thousands from downright weakness, brings robust health simply because it contains the fortifying elements that run-down systems require.

One week after using Ferrozone you'll feel like new, you'll appreciate what real robust health means. In a month you'll scarcely credit the push your vigor and spirits have received. Ferrozone is more than a tonic because its work lasts, its benefits remain and are not temporary. It restores health where other treatments fail, and should be used by every man, woman and child. Try it, 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all dealers or by mail from The Catarrh-ozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

Romance of Old London

Three or four hundred years ago London was a very, very much smaller place than it is to-day. What is now almost the heart of the great city was then the outskirts. In those days there was a Maypole in the Strand and butts for archery in the meadows by the river, where the apprentices went to learn to shoot, on Sunday afternoons, as soldiers go to the rifle butts to-day. Then, too, the roads were very bad, and people went so much by water that the Thames was almost the principal street in the city. They called it taking a pair of oars, just as they talk of taking a taxi now. Instead of many bridges, as there are in these days, there was only one bridge across the river, a stone bridge covered with great gabled wooden houses, carved and gilded, some of them four tall stories in height.

Now not far from the Middlesex end of the great bridge, when Henry VIII. was still King of England, there lived a very famous city merchant, a member of the Clothworkers' Company, who was called Master William Hewett. Now Sir William, as he afterward became, owned a great house in Philpot Lane, within the city walls, where he lived with his wife and one little daughter called Anne. In this house also, after the manner of the times, lived his apprentices, one of whom, Edward Osborne, was, like his master, one day to be knighted, and to be a Lord Mayor of London also, as well as becoming the ancestor of the Dukes of Leeds. Now apprenticeship in those days was very different from anything it has become since. An apprentice came as a boy, almost as a child, into his master's house, and during the seven, or even nine long years that he remained, was practically a member of the family. In the old ballad of "Sally in Our Alley" it will be remembered that the writer makes the apprentice sing of the day when his "seven long years are up," and all that he then intends to do. His pay during all that time was practically nothing; ten pennies, perhaps, for each of the early years, and perhaps, ten shillings for the last. After that he was at liberty to set up in business on his own account. He learned his master's trade, but he was also his master's servant, waiting on him at meals, running his errands, making himself generally useful in the house, and carrying the family prayer books to church on Sunday.

This was the sort of life to which little Edward Osborne came, when he arrived in London, from Kent, to be bound apprentice to the worthy Master William Hewett, clothworker, of Philpot Lane. You may see Master Hewett to-day, in his picture on the walls of Hornby Castle, looking very much as he must have looked when he trod those old London cobblestones, more than three centuries ago. And you may see, in another picture, Edward Osborne as he, too, looked, when he had become a great merchant prince, in the reign of good Queen Bess. In King Henry's time, however, Edward was a young apprentice, learning to be a clothworker by day, and on holidays and Sundays shooting at the butts or dancing at the Maypole in the Strand. One day, whether it was that he had been sent with little Mistress Anne, then a tiny child, and her nurse to one of the great houses on London Bridge, or whether for some reason, the family was actually staying in one, an event happened which changed his whole life.

London Bridge, as Master Hewett and Edward Osborne knew it, passing across it to the archery butts, at Newington, or to the Bear Garden, on Bankside, was the old stone bridge built by Peter of Cole Church, almost four centuries before. It was a tall bridge, lifting itself sixty feet above the water, without the buildings which covered it so completely that it represented an almost continuous street or tunnel of gate-houses, with huge latticed, oriel windows hanging out over the river on either side. It was standing in one of these deep oriel windows, that little Mistress Anne's maid permitted her tiny charge to lean out and fall into the river, rushing between the piers, eighty or a hundred feet below. And it was, then, that Edward Osborne, jumped through the open casement, into the river below, caught and held the tiny maiden until they were both taken on board a passing wherry. From that moment Master William appears to have decided that his apprentice should become his son-in-law, and so his heir, for he had no other children. When Anne grew up he wealth and beauty brought many brilliant suitors to the great house in Philpot Lane. Of these the most important was the young Earl of Shrewsbury. But Sir William, for he had been knighted and been elected Lord Mayor in 1559, would have none of them. "No," he would say, "Osborne saved her, and Osborne shall have her." And so, one day in the year 1562, Edward Osborne was married to Anne Hewett, and became, in due course, himself the master of the great house in Philpot Lane to which he had come, as a boy, to be his father-in-law's apprentice.

Edward became Lord Mayor, he must have gone to Westminster by the river, in the great gilded barge of the Corporation, with the Lady Mayress sitting by his side, over those waters from which he had rescued her as a mere baby in days when he himself was only a child.

Worth Knowing.

When blowing out a candle hold it high and blow upward to keep the grease from running about.

Pieces of old velveten should be washed and used for polishing. They are an excellent substitute for chamol leather and may be washed as easily as an ordinary duster.

Candle ends melted with an equal quantity of turpentine added make an excellent polish for floors, allicoths, etc. This polish costs almost nothing and is often considered superior to beeswax and turpentine.

Table linens, in order to bring out the bright gloss that makes it attractive, should be dampened considerably before being ironed.

When making mush to fry use part milk. It will fry a lovely brown.

Paper First Used in Asia.

Paper as we know that article today, was brought from Asia to Europe by the Arabians. In China paper had been manufactured from an ancient period, from silk. When Samarcand was conquered by the Arabians they employed cotton in the place of silk in paper making.

GOOD DIGESTION A GREAT BLESSING

An Acute Sufferer Tells How She Found New Health.

Very few people appreciate what good digestion means until they lose it. To be able to eat what you want and to properly digest it is a priceless blessing. But if you find that your digestion is in any way impaired you cannot afford to risk experiments by trying uncertain remedies. Strong medicines are hard on the stomach; pre-digested foods only aggravate the trouble. What is needed is a tonic that will so strengthen the stomach as to enable it to do its own work. There is no tonic for the stomach that is not at the same time a tonic for every other part of the body. As the blood circulates through all the body an improvement in its condition quickly results in strengthening any weak organ. Rich red blood is absolutely necessary to good digestion. If your stomach is weak, if you are troubled with sour risings in your throat, a feeling of nausea after eating, pains or fluttering about the heart, try at once the true tonic treatment of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. So many people have been helped by this treatment that every sufferer from indigestion should promptly try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among the many who rejoice in a renewed digestion through the use of this medicine is Mr. William Dale, Midland, Ont., who says: "I suffered for a long time from a severe form of indigestion, and had doctored so much without benefit that I had all but given up hope of getting better. Everything I ate caused me intense pain, and some days I did not touch a thing but a cup of cold water, and even that distressed me. As a result I was very much run down, and slept so poorly that I dreaded night coming on. I was continually taking medicine, but was actually growing worse instead of better. Having often read the cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I finally decided to give them a trial. I have had great cause to bless this decision for by the time I had used a couple of boxes there was no doubt the pills had cured me, and I was again enjoying not only good digestion but better health in every way than before."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HOPE AND REST.
Wouldst hope? Look not behind,
But step upon the past to higher things,
And seek the sunshine. Fortune's airy wings
May soar to you, and Fortune can be kind.
Why not? All life is change.
To all who truly hope
Naught is too strange.

THE SEA.
(By the late Rev. H. T. Miller.)
No complete international account is kept of the men who go down in ships that are lost. The statisticians deal only with commercial values. No barometer in the world finds profit or incentive in keeping count of the thousands of sea workers who are claimed as toll by the sea we reckon tamed. Only this is taken in account, that every day in the year, somewhere on the restless wastes of the seven seas, two—sometimes three—ships are snatched in greed by the ocean's resistless power.
The sailor is the primest of men; on shore we find a job for a man with one arm or one leg, even the deaf and the blind are classified and employed. Look at the death list in every paper. You have the old, the crippled the washed, worn-out men, but the sailor is in his prime for nerve, muscle, bone and brain, courage and power to endure. They are picked, select men, these go to the bottom in early days; they sail on a large sea, they are buried in a large grave. Only the stormy petrel, or Mother Carey's chickens, sing at their funeral.
The ship is always moving, by night and day. Think of gales, collisions, foundering, fire, fog, floating wrecks, icebergs, snowstorms. Error of pilot, master or crew. Each of these represents a vital danger.
In seafaring families there is always a "skeleton in the cupboard," a simple annual in the family life that gathers around the memory of a father, husband, son or brother, who one day went to sea and never came back. Every year some vessels pass down over the horizon into oblivion. Where they went, when they were lost, or how their crews perished, no man knows! Every ocean has its uncharted graveyard—a resting-place for the ships and men that pass beyond human ken. Down in the eternal darkness of the mighty deep the ships lie, side by side, in their last harbor; there they rest where the sea never rolls, and under the hatches sleep the brave crews. The ships that never return are posted as "missing." They leave behind no tale-bearers in the form of smashed boats, floating wreckage on the complacent sea, or mementoes strewn along the beach.
But on shore, in the homes of men who perished, are the heavy hearts, the questioning eyes, the frightened looks of gaunt women, the plaintive cry of unprotected children, and chill poverty in the households of the missing.

"I HAVE PROVED"

Zam-Buk invaluable for eczema, both in the case of my baby and myself," says Mrs. L. Bonin of West Arichat, N.S. She adds: "Baby's skin was badly broken out, but repeated applications of Zam-Buk entirely cured it."
"In my own case, I had eczema on my hands, which made it very inconvenient for me to do my housework. Particularly was this so, as it aggravated the trouble so to put my hands in water. By using Zam-Buk, however, I soon got relief, and it was not very long before every trace of the trouble had disappeared. I really think no home should be without Zam-Buk."
Zam-Buk is equally good for all skin injuries. All dealers 50c. box.

The Famous Reil Rebellion

(By Rev. R. G. MacBeth, M.A. In The British Columbia Monthly.)

In the annals of our western courts of law quite the most famous case that has ever come up for trial is that of Louis Reil. This we say with confidence, because the noted leader of two rebellions was a national figure and because the remarkable array of legal talent led to a battle of giants skilled in all the subtleties and swordplay of dialectic argument. The echoes of the trial were heard for years in political conflicts all over Canada, turning the course of many an election, and are still furnishing material for use in some of the provinces of the Dominion.

Reil first saw the light of day on the Red River, across from the present city of Winnipeg. He was a born agitator, because his father, "the Miller of the Seine," so called because he had a mill on the little stream that falls into the Red River at this point, was a man of fiery disposition who assailed the ruling powers of his day with fiercely eloquent invective. So it was that his son, who came back to the Red River country from a short course at the Laval University about the time that the Dominion of Canada was starting to annex the west, found an opportunity for leadership and agitation. There were no railways, telegraphs, or even regular mails then between the east and the west, and in consequence the west only heard in a vague way that their country had been purchased by Canada in that year of grace 1850. Nobody seemed to know whether the rights of the few settlers then in the west would be respected by the incoming regime, and so Louis Reil, the younger, with magnetic and passionate speech, told his French half-breed compatriots that they might even lose half the lands upon which they had built their homes. He had a good deal to justify the position he took, and his inflammatory addresses set the fire of rebellion flaming on western plains. After many months it was suppressed, and Reil escaped across the line, whence he came back

DOCTOR URGED AN OPERATION

Instead I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Was Cured.

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to stay in bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consenting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell my friends who have any trouble of the kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE B. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore, Md.

It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

In 1864 to lead another rebellion in the Saskatchewan country, where the same class of people was dissatisfied over land surveys and other disturbing factors which were changing the old customs of the plainsmen and buffalo hunters. In this rebellion Reil called on the Indians for aid, and thus committed perhaps his gravest crime. It took some months, some fighting and the loss of many lives to suppress the second rebellion. And when Reil's stronghold at Batoche had been taken, the rebel, captured by two scouts, was eventually brought to trial at Regina on a charge of high treason, laid for precautionary reasons by Chief of Police Stewart, of the city of Hamilton, in Ontario. If the charge was proven the death sentence would be the ordinary course have to follow, and it soon became known that his friends throughout Canada, especially in Quebec, would put up a desperate fight for the life of the rebel chief. The gravamen of the charge was, of course, that Reil, being a subject of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, had incited rebellion against her authority, contrary to the statutes in such cases made and provided, and "against the peace of our said Lady the Queen, her crown and dignity."

Friends and compatriots, chiefly in Quebec, provided two of the most brilliant young lawyers in their defence to help local barristers in their defence of Reil. These two were Mr. F. X. Lemieux and Mr. Charles Fitzpatrick, both of whom became very prominent in the public life of the country, the latter being now Lieutenant-Governor of the Province on the St. Lawrence. The Dominion government saw the necessity for securing strong men to face such a combination and so they arranged that in addition to the deputy minister of justice and the local barrister, Mr. E. B. Osler and Mr. Christopher Robinson, the famous Toronto lawyers, should act for the Crown. It soon became known that the defence to be set up for the rebel leader was that of insanity or incapability of distinguishing between right and wrong.

I recall the four noted lawyers in the case. As a law student at that time I took some special interest in the trial for that reason, and also because it had fallen to my lot to be in uniform with the force that suppressed the rebellion. Hence I can see the figures of the remarkable legal quartette.

Christopher Robinson, slender and somewhat delicate looking, with the "pale cast of thought" upon his face, was undoubtedly the foremost all-around lawyer of his day. His voice was not strong, and he lacked the force and passion necessary to the orator. So he did not attempt oratory. His forte was not before a jury, but before courts of appeal, where his marvellous knowledge of law and acquaintance with precedents made their distinct impression on judicial minds. The table before him at Reil's trial was loaded with law books, to which he referred with an almost uncanny precision. He was specially qualified to deal with questions of constitutional law.

E. B. Osler, one of a very famous family, which includes the noted physician, was a somewhat powerfully built man with lofty forehead and a striking face. His voice was clear and he had great power in the examinations of witnesses and in appeal to a jury. With a cool and assured style he made his address, with occasional gleams of humor and sarcasm breaking through here and there. He was a hard hitter, but never gave a foul blow. Lemieux was characteristically dark and good-looking, as a French-Canadian should be, I suppose. He claimed his right to address the court in French, and even though one could not follow closely he would be impressed by that brilliant oratory and force which the Quebec men have so often exemplified.

Fitzpatrick was tall and fair, and made a remarkable fight for the prisoner. Eloquent and pathetic, argumentative and forceful by turns, he showed complete mastery of his case to a degree almost surprising in one as young as he was at that time.

Reil was tried at Regina before Judge or Stipendiary Magistrate Hugh Richardson and a jury of six, selected after much challenging by the defence. Lemieux and Fitzpatrick took court and desired that Reil should be removed and tried by a court of competent jurisdiction either in Ontario or British Columbia. This objection was overruled and the trial proceeded.

There was no difficulty in establishing the general charge of treason that had been laid. The facts of the rebellion were not disputed. But the fight came on the question of Reil's sanity. The leading alienist in Canada, Dr. Daniel Clark, of Toronto, was specially inclined to think that Reil was not of sound mind, and Dr. Roy, of Beauport Asylum, in Quebec, in which Reil had spent some months, expressed the belief that Reil was suffering from megalomania—a sort of Kaiseristic disposition to think that he was some great one. Other doctors claimed that the rebel leader was quite sane in matters that were within the scope of his knowledge, and they rather scored when they were able to show by evidence that Reil at one stage would have accepted a sum of money for himself from the government and left the country.

A curious part of the case was that where the evidence showed how Reil had during the rebellion broken with the Roman Catholic Church, of which he had been a devout member and in whose fold he later closed his stormy life. In this connection nearly all of the alienist doctors said that Reil showed marked peculiarity. But one of the doctors said that barring "purely religious questions having relation to what might be called divine mysteries," Reil was a responsible being. They all agreed that he had hallucinations on political and religious questions, but that he could distinguish between right and wrong. Even at this date, laymen reading over the evidence would have difficulty in deciding on the point of sanity.

But the facts were established, and the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy. Reil then received the death sentence, but his execution was stayed till his lawyers appealed to the full court at Winnipeg and then to the Privy Council in England on the question of the jurisdiction of the Regina court. In both cases they failed in their appeal, and despite efforts to secure his pardon, the rebel leader was executed for the crime of high treason. His body was given to his relatives for burial, and I remember witnessing his tremendously impressive funeral in the famous old cathedral of St. Boniface, outside which his dust reposes under the plain headstone on which is written the one word, "Reil."

Thus passed one of the strange and almost mysterious figures in western history. His place in the record is not yet wholly fixed, but he made such a stir in his day and generation.

Winter Work for the Beekeeper

In many sections of the Dominion bush beans are now recognized as a profitable special crop, and the acreage has been greatly increased during the last few years. Approximately 100,000 acres are planted, yielding considerably over one million bushels. Destructive diseases have accompanied this increase in cultivation, and unless the farmer takes precaution to eliminate disease the crop will not continue to be as popular or profitable as it should. It is safe to say that probably 25 per cent. of the crop is frequently lost through the attacks of one or more of the diseases which might be largely prevented by planting disease free seed. The more important diseases are as follows:

Anthraxnose is probably most destructive in the Maritime Provinces and Quebec and some years in Ontario. It is caused by a seed-borne fungus which attacks stem, leaves, pods

Women in All Parts of Canada

TELL OF THE HEALTH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BRING.

They Made a New Woman of Mrs. John Mortimer, Who Was a Victim of Kidney Disease.

Glenavon, Sask., Feb. 10.—(Special)—"Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new woman of me." Those are the words of Mrs. John Mortimer, of this place. They are words that have been used again and again by women in all parts of Canada who have suffered, and who have found relief and cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I feel it is my duty to let you know what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me," Mrs. Mortimer continues. "I had a pain in my back, and I could not get out of bed without awful pain. I tried everything, but could get no relief. I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I sent to Toronto for them. The day I received them I took three before going to bed, and I felt a lot better next morning."

"I took them according to directions, and in one week I was as well as ever. I am fifty-five, and am doing all my housework. If I overwork and my back feels weak I take a Dodd's Kidney Pills, and feel better in a few hours. I have recommended them to my friends, and they also have been helped."

If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills ask your neighbors about them.

and seed, producing dark brown to almost black sunken spots on the stem and pods, and a blackening of the veins in the leaves. When severe the plants may be completely defoliated or even completely destroyed leaving skips in the row.

Bacterial Blight is a serious problem to the bean growers of Ontario, and to a less extent elsewhere. The bacteria or germs causing this disease are seed-borne and attack the stem, leaves, pods and seed, producing on the seed light yellow blotches sometimes involving the whole seed. Infected leaves develop small irregular water soaked areas, which later turn brown and fall out. The spots on the stem and pods are of a raised, water-soaked appearance with a yellow to reddish amber color, usually smaller and not so dark as anthraxnose spots.

Rust and root rots of beans occur less frequently, but nevertheless are capable of causing serious loss. In many cases these may also be carried on the seed. Mosaic—This is a new disease which was reported as common in Southern Ontario last year. The leaves on infected plants develop a peculiar mottled appearance. Diseased plants produced a few small pods as compared to healthy plants. Little is known concerning it. Its nature would indicate that seed from affected plants would probably produce a diseased crop, therefore the use of such seed should be avoided.

CONTROL MEASURES.

Plant only disease free seed on soil which has not lately been planted to beans. This can be best accomplished by selecting, at the time of harvesting disease free pods from vigorous high yielding plants. These selected pods should then be immersed for not more than three minutes in disinfecting solution, allowed to dry off and stored in a clean muslin bag or other disease free container. The seed from these pods should be used the following spring to plant a bean seed plot. While this is not sufficient to ensure the obtaining of disease free stock the first year, it will, if practiced regularly reduce disease to a minimum, and thus largely remove the cause for poor yields.

Where pod selection has not been previously practised the first start a field relatively free from disease. This stock should be very carefully hand-selected, removing all spotted or even slightly discolored seed. After this has been done the seed may be immersed in solution of copper sulphate 1.100 for 3 minutes or in a formalin solution 1.300 for 5 minutes, allowed to dry and planted.

Beneficial results might also be obtained by pulling out and destroying diseased plants as they appear from time to time during the growing season.

So far spraying beans has not proven a commercial success, but probably might be used to some extent in helping to prevent the spread of disease in seed plots.

Cultivating, hoeing or picking beans while the foliage is wet should be avoided as the disease is readily carried from diseased to healthy plants under such conditions.

BEEFLESS RECIPES

With Streaky Bacon in Its Place.

To make a savory cabbage dish, trim, wash and boil in slightly salted water a large cabbage. When done, strain off the water and chop the cooked cabbage rather finely.

Cut about six ounces of streaky bacon crossways into fine strips, fry them in a little margarine, add a small onion (peeled and chopped) and fry it to a golden brown.

Next sprinkle in a tablespoonful of flour, stir well and cook for a few seconds, then add the cabbage. Moistened with about half a gill of stock, season with salt, pepper and a little nutmeg; cook slowly for about 15 minutes. Dish up, garnish the dish with fried bread croutons and serve.

Bacon Omelette—Crisp fine one ounce of suet, and mix it with a gill of breadcrumbs and half a teaspoonful of mixed herbs and the same of parsley. Season with salt, pepper and a little milk. The mixture must be moist enough for spreading. Cut about 10 very thin slices of streaky bacon, free from rind; roll in each slice some of the stuffing, roll up and tie with string. Bake in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes and send to table on an oval mound of mashed potato and a dish of carrots with white sauce.

Egg Cutlets with Spinach—Beat four eggs hard, chop them up and add to them three ounces of bacon or bacon, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt, pepper and a little nutmeg. Make some bechamel sauce and stir into it the raw yolks of two eggs, let it bind without boiling, then add the other ingredients. Stir all together, turn out on a plate to cool. Have ready one pound of cooked spinach, which has been rubbed through a sieve, and cut up one small onion and fry in one ounce of margarine until colored; put the spinach into the pan and season to taste. Mix one tablespoon of milk with a little flour and stir into the spinach, cook for 10 minutes. Shape the egg mixture into nice little cutlets, then egg and breadcrumb them. Fry in hot fat, drain, dish up on a border of mashed potatoes, and fill the centre with the spinach and egg cutlets and serve.

AT LAST!

Finds Cure for Rheumatism After Suffering Fifty Years!

Now 83 Years Old—Regains Strength and Laughs at "URIC ACID"

Goes Fishing. Back to Business, Feels Fine! How Others May Do It!

HOW IT HAPPENED. "I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army over fifty years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called cures, and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep nights or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But now I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change."

HOW OTHERS MAY BENEFIT. These statements may seem strange to some folks, because nearly all sufferers have all along been led to believe in the old "Uric Acid" humbug. It took Mr. Ashelman fifty years to find out this truth. He learned how to get rid of the true cause of his rheumatism, other disorders and recover his strength from "The Inner Mysteries," a remarkable book that is now being distributed free by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of this paper wishes a copy of this book that reveals startling facts overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a postcard or letter to H. P. Clearwater, 655-B Street, Hallowell, Maine, and it will be sent by return mail without any charge whatever. Cut out this notice, seal your envelope, if not a sufferer yourself, hand this good news to some afflicted friend.

DINING CHEER.

Keep Things Nice and Bright About the Table.

How many gloomy dining rooms there are in winter! When the windows are closed and the green outside has turned to a sear brown, the housewife must combat dreariness.

A cheerful dining room keeps digestions and temper good and gives happiness a seat at the family board.

Keep the linens gleaming white, the silver shining. Serve things daintily. Have plants on the window sills and flowers or ferns upon the table, pretty white curtains that will admit God's sunshine into the room at the windows, and, if you repaper this fall, let dining room paper be a sunny one—a pale buff is good.

WHEN ALL IS DONE.

We rise in the morning as soon as 'tis light
To strive for such triumphs as others have won;
We toil all day long, and far into the night,
Yet what is it all when our labor is done?
We think to be happy with honors and lands,
So we battle and slave on our way to success;
We wear out our brains and we blister our hands,
And what are they worth when these things we possess?
We think 'twill be fine in great splendor to ride,
And over those we meet our own influence weave;
We puff up ourselves with importance and pride,
Yet what is it all when our point we achieve?
So we worry and fret throughout all of our years,
And sometimes we triumph, and sometimes we fail;
At the end we but sob through the mist of our tears,
What so many have asked: What does all this avail?

The Cause of Heart Trouble

Faulty digestion causes the generation of gases in the stomach which inflate and press down on the heart and interfere with its regular action, causing faintness and pain. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup after meals sets digestion right, which allows the heart to beat full and regular.

THE WORK OF WAR SAVINGS SOCIETIES

To promote the systematic saving of money by groups is the purpose behind the War Savings Society. Experience shows that people through combination often do better work than they do individually, the individual resolution being strengthened by that of others.

Ten or more persons may organize themselves into a War Savings Society. A charter is issued by the National War Savings Committee to each such society, this being official recognition. Once formed, effort is directed towards popularizing saving and inducing as many persons as possible to buy War Savings and Thrift Stamps.

Organizations such as the Daughters of the Empire, Red Cross Societies, the Women's Grain Growers, Home Makers' clubs and fraternal and benevolent bodies generally should form War Savings Societies in their own midst. Schools, factories and large business concerns should do likewise. There is no expense in connection with the work. It costs nothing and pays well.
