PARIS GETS READY FOR SIEGE

BRITISH PEOPLE ARE WILLING AND HOPEFUL-- MEET ISSUE BRAVELY

Last Drop of Blood Will be Shed-- Campaign as Planned is Being Carried Out--Many Families Have Losses.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 3.—The British people continue to accept with stoicism the lack of news concerning the operations of the British army on the continent. The government has repeatedly assured the public that all news consistent with the nation's interest would be given out, and the people are accepting that assurance.

The French official reports throw further light on the operations than those of the British. The French reports say the action on the right of the northern wing has resulted in checking the Germans for a time. The inference plainly is that the Germans are employing all their force in an enveloping movement against the allies' left wing. That that part of the allies army is retiring to the south and west indicates that the Germans have not yet outflanked them.

Apparently the Germans have abandoned the west of Belgium to pour all their forces toward the road to Paris. Reports that they are preparing to attack Antwerp were not believed here; there seems to be no dominating strategic reason for such a move. Military experts agree that the Germans are unlikely to waste more than a screening body to prevent a serious Belgian sortie against their line of communication.

The occupation of Brussels probably was a demonstration for its moral effect, but an assault on Antwerp, it is considered, would be a side issue with so little effect upon the main plan of campaign that it would be a useless expenditure of men and energy. There may be a strong method in the allies' policy of gradual retreat and compelling the Germans to make repeated costly attacks while the allies keep a compact front before their last line of defences.

Three million Frenchmen are under arms to defend Paris. They still have confidence in the ultimate outcome of the war.

The list of killed wounded and missing British forces from the crack regiments which were engaged in the four days' battle of last week brings mourning to many noble and aristocratic homes. This, however, is the price of war which the country appears willing to pay.

The Prince of Wales' fund for the relief of suffering is now over $2,000,000.

Recruiting in Great Britain has received an impetus from the events of the past fortnight.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES ARE REAL AND BERLIN IS NOW A POSSIBILITY

A Death Blow to the Austrian Defence Has Been Dealt--Servia Hears That Vienna Will be Occupied by Czar's Army.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Petrograd (St. Petersburg) correspondent of the Post sends the following on the operations on the Russian front.

"Russia is scoring success after success against Austria and is momentarily expecting news of a signal victory.

"The commander-in-chief of the Austrian front apparently plans to drive in strongly with one army from the east, starting from the Russian provinces adjoining Rumania, and in the meantime merely aims to restrain the Austrian advances into the Polish provinces, thus keeping Austria on the alert along the line of two to three hundred miles.

"While pushing temporary advances in South Poland, the Russians were forcing their way westward from Podolia and Bessarabia upon Lemberg. When the Austrians finally realized these plans they attempted to turn the Russian left flank near Halicz, near the junction of the Gnila Lipa river with the Dniester, and a sanguinary fight took place there two days ago. The Austrians were signally defeated, losing 5,000 killed and many prisoners, including one general, 32 guns, a standard and quantities of supplies.

"Apparently the progress of the southern Russian army from Podolia in Galicia has been a series of fights on an increasing scale until a third river known as Foul Lipa was reached. The fight for the possession of the valley of the Foul Lipa was severe. The Austrians had realized the strength of the Russians and had strongly fortified a naturally formidable position. This was carried after an obstinate fight. The Austrian force, a whole army corps, lost about half of its strength.

"These actions occupied the Russian left, her right still being in Russian territory. It is evident that all the actions were part of a concerted movement with the surrounding of Lemberg as its objective, thus dealing a death blow to the Austrian defence.

CONTINUE OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Petrograd gives the following official announcement:

"The battle on the east front in Galicia was participated in by the twelfth Austrian corps, which had only been transferred from the Rumanian frontier on August 25. The Austrian army has been reinforced by numerous bodies of the Landsturm.

"Our troops continue the offensive increasingly, and our cavalry division has penetrated far into the interior of East Prussia, destroying means of communication. They have also occupied a station in the Koerschen region and Solda and Sensburg. The German forces remain inactive."

WILL OCCUPY VIENNA.

ROME, Sept. 2 (7:15 p.m.), via Paris, Sept. 3 (2:39 a.m.)—News received here from Durazzo, Albania, says that the insurgents have again bombarded the town. Two projectiles fell near the royal palace, which is still guarded by Italian sailors. A report re-

HISTORIC RELIC OF ANCIENT LOUVAIN DESTROYED BY THE GERMANS

THE HOTEL DE VILLE OF LOUVAIN.

The Hotel de Ville, a historic relic of ancient Louvain, Belgium, was destroyed when that city was burned and wiped out of existence by the Germans as a military measure. The city, which had a population of 42,000, was burned in reprisal for alleged hostile acts on the part of the Louvain residents. It is reported that the city is now a heap of ashes and twisted ruins. The beautiful buildings, many of them of great historic importance, were not spared.

PAINFUL STEP IS TAKEN

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
LONDON, Sept. 3.—1.50 p.m.—The decision of the French Government to withdraw from Paris, while proving a momentary shock to the men in the street, is reported both by politicians and strategists here as being as wise as it is painful.

To retain Paris as a centre of the government would, it is held, be incompatible with the supreme necessities of France at the present moment. These are to keep the government free to act and to keep the army an unbroken force which neither can be captured in detail nor shut up in the fortresses.

"ON TO CANADA" SAY BUFFALO GERMANS NOW

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 3.—Scout Commissioner Hemming, an ex-alderman, who is busily engaged in organizing a home guard here, told a startling story this morning of a small army of German reservists at Buffalo. "The feeling in the German section there is intense," he said, "and we have information that there are 7,000 armed Germans in Buffalo alone, who are better equipped than the New York state militia. The cry is often heard in German quarters in the States, 'On to Canada.' Every city in Canada, he said, should have a home guard to make up for the shortage that will be felt in militia circles when the second call comes for troops to cross the water.

ADRIATIC SAILS

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The presence of four six inch rifles mounted fore and aft on the White Star Liner Adriatic was regarded as no bar to her sailing for Liverpool at noon today. Custom officials announced this morning that they would make no attempt to prevent her departure.

Osgoode Hall Rifle Association began drill with 112 lawyers in attendance.

POSITION OF ALLIES IS REPORTED GOOD-- HOW ARMIES STAND

If Paris is Besieged it is Certain That British Troops Will Do Their Share in Defending the City From German Attack.

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A cable from London to The Tribune says:

"The Daily Mail publishes a despatch from its Paris correspondent which contains the following story related by one of the motor car drivers in the service of the general staff who has been touring all around the theatre of operations of the British troops.

"The story that the main body of Germans is within 70 miles of Paris is almost certainly the result of tales of fugitives, who seeing detached patrols of Uhlans in their district, flee spreading, fearing the German army is there. These patrols are really no more than unsupported little bodies of men, scores of miles from the main German force, who are sent out with strict orders never to return to the main body until they are recalled, unless sent back with a definite message."

"The correspondent then says about the struggle on the allies' left:

"The right section of these four corps of the left wing resumed the offensive and thrust back upon the attack made by the tenth German army corps and the Prussian Guard, which lost heavily.

"The left section, in which was a British force, was on the contrary driven further back on (name censored) and its line now runs north and south from (name censored). Encircling this obtuse angle front, in which this part of the allied line has been bent by sheer weight of the enemy, the German army now stretches in a huge concave.

"The enemy has not yet achieved its evident intention to crumple up the left wing of the allied army and drive it back on the right. The allied left has been driven back, but it is by no means crumpled up. There is one circumstance about the position in which the allied army now finds itself which may be regarded as a hopeful one. It is that at the angle of their position they appear to have thrust forward a threatening wedge into the enemy's center.

"The allies will have the benefit in the engagement that will be resumed at daybreak, of moving on the inside of the angle, they can move troops about from one section of their line to another to reinforce at any moment more quickly than the Germans can make the corresponding movements in reply from one part to another of their concave front. There is, therefore perhaps hope that a vigorous counter-attack may succeed in cutting through the German center and splitting their line into two parts.

"We may perhaps see the British troops falling back with their French comrades on Paris by withdrawing under the shelter of the ring of forts which defend the capital. They would be ready to resume the work, and would presumably prevent German cavalry from encircling the city to cut off its supplies and communications on the south."

WAR SUMMARY

[By Special Wire to the Courier]
The absence of official announcements from the capitals of the belligerents is the surest indication that the fighting in the east and west continues without decisive results.

Such news despatches that escaped the censors tend to confirm earlier official claims and admissions. The Germans are pushing their right wing nearer Paris, while their centre and left appear to be held by the French. Russia is pressing forward in the Austrian province of Galicia, after having taken the strongly fortified capital, Lemberg. The Germans are admittedly victorious in East Prussia.

The Japanese are said to occupy three islands near Kiao Chow and to have landed additional troops within marching distance of that German stronghold in the face of protests by China.

The governor and other German officials of Samoa have been made prisoners by the British and sent to the Fiji Islands.

The government of France is now established at Bordeaux. The foreign embassies and legations with the exception of those of the United States and Switzerland have also been removed from Paris to Bordeaux.

A proclamation by the French Government describes the move as precautionary and sets forth that an attack on Paris in the near future is not considered probable.

No data upon which to base a judgment of the general situation over the wide flung battle line in France is available. The retirement of the allies without a defeat and fighting every foot of the way is an expression that has become stereotyped. It is however, about the only official news that has reached London since Field Marshal Kitchener's story was given out last Sunday.

The Russian occupation of Lemberg, the capital of Austrian Galicia, may have a far-reaching effect on the campaign in Eastern Europe apart altogether from the loss of Austrian prestige through the fall of the city.

More than three quarters of the population are Poles and the Russians anticipate that their entry to the city will contribute towards the hoped for Polish uprising against Germany. The uprising Emperor Nicholas contemplated when he promised autonomy to a united Polish kingdom.

The rush of recruits for the British army is phenomenal. No fewer than 60,000 men have joined Lord Litchener's second army in the past few days.

LATEST PHASES OF WAR SITUATION IN ALL EUROPE TO-DAY

Great Battle Which Russians Fought and Won Will Have a Tremendous Bearing on Subsequent Events in the War.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—10.10 a.m.—The battle, whose issue is destined to decide whether history will repeat itself in a second siege of Paris is still in progress, according to the latest official announcement here. Future military historians will write hundreds of volumes about the details of this battle, but all the British public knows officially concerning this titanic struggle—the most momentous one that British soldiers have fought since Waterloo and the fiercest one ever fought—is contained in one sentence of an official report issued last night by the press bureau.

This sentence was that continuous fighting has been in progress along almost the whole line of battle. To this generally, the French official communication adds the fact that the allied forces have fallen back toward the southwest to avoid an action which might have been engaged under unfavorable conditions. How far and to what line the allies have gone is unknown.

There can be no revelation of military secrets, nothing which a patriotic censorship could criticize, in stating the facts, because the German army which is engaging the allies knows precisely where their first line is drawn, and the purpose of the censorship is only to prevent the enemy from getting enlightenment to the enemy.

The brief official bulletin of last night is the first word the British people have received from their government concerning the present battle. The last previous bulletin was Field Marshal Kitchener's statement, issued Sunday night, throwing a welcome light on the previous four days' battle, which ended Saturday and which reflected the greatest credit on the generalship and discipline of the British army.

In spite of the fact that the French capital has been removed to Bordeaux, and that the Ger-

Handsome Grant by Government for Soldiers' Wives

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—The Government has approved of a separation allowance of $20 a month being paid to wives and families of married men serving with the Canadian expeditionary force. This will be sent direct to the wives and families by the paymaster-general's office, department of militia and defence, Ottawa. Rolls of the married men are now being prepared at Valcartier, and as soon as they are received at Ottawa the work of issuing cheques will begin. This allowance will also be paid to the wives and families of those left at Valcartier after the contingent sails. The Government reserves the right, however, of withholding this allowance from any who are in receipt of pay from two sources.

In addition men assign portions of their pay to their wives and families, and rolls of this assigned pay are now being prepared, and as soon as received the assignments made by men to their wives and families will also be issued direct from Ottawa.

This special separation allowance of $20 per month to married men is in addition to the pay of $1.10 per day for a private,

CHAPTER XI. Haying Time.

EVERYBODY in Riverboro, Edgewood, Milliken's Mills, Spruce Swamp, Duck Pond and Modoc, were busy haying. There was a perfect frenzy of haying, for it was the Monday after the Fourth, the precise date in July when the Maine farmer said goodbye to repose and "bayed" desperately and unceasingly until every spear of green in his section was mowed down and safely under cover.

If a man had grass of his own he cut it, and if he had none he assisted in cutting that of some other man, for "to hay," although an unconventional verb, was, and still is, a very active one and in common use, and even though not used by the grammarians. Whatever your trade and whatever your profession, it counted as naught in good weather. The fish man stopped selling fish, the meat man ceased to bring meat, the cobbler as well as the judge forsok the bench, and even the doctor made fewer visits than usual. The wage for work in the hayfields was a high one, and every man, boy, and horse in a village was pressed into service.

When Ivory Boynton had finished with his own small crop he commonly went at once to Lawyer Wilson, who had the largest acreage of hay land in the township. Ivory was always in great demand, for he was a mighty worker in the field and a very giant at "pitching," being able to pick up a fair sized haycock at one stroke of the fork and fling it on to the cart as if it were a feather.

Lawyer Wilson always took a hand himself if signs of rain appeared, and Mark occasionally visited the scene of action when a crowd in the field made a general jollification or when there was an impending thunderstorm.

In such cases even women and girls joined the workers and all hands bent together to the task of getting a load into the barn and covering the rest.

Deacon Baxter was wont to call Mark Wilson a "worthless, whif-faced, lily handed whelp," but the description, though picturesque, was decidedly exaggerated. Mark disliked manual labor; but, having imbibed enough knowledge of law in his father's office to be an excellent clerk, he much preferred traveling about, settling the details of small cases, collecting rents and bad bills, to any form of work on a farm.

This sort of life, on stage-coaches and railway trains or on long driving trips with his own fast "troflet," suited his adventurous disposition and gave him a sense of importance that was very necessary to his peace of mind. He was not especially intimate with Ivory Boynton, who studied law in his father's office and vacations and in every available hour of leisure during term time, as did many another young New England schoolmaster.

Mark's father's praise of Ivory's legal ability was a little too warm to please his son, as was the commendation of one of the county court judges on Ivory's preparation of a brief in a certain case in the Wilson office. Ivory had drawn it up at Mr. Wilson's request merely to show how far he understood the books and cases he was studying, and he had no idea that it differed in any way from the work of any other student. All the same, Mark's own efforts in a like direction had never received any special mention.

When he was in the hayfield he also kept as far as possible from Ivory, because there, too, he felt a superiority that made him for the moment a trifle disconcerted. It was no particular pleasure for him to see Ivory plunge his fork deep into the heart of a haycock, take a firm grasp of the handle, thrust forward his foot to steady himself and then raise the great fragrant heap slowly and swing it up to the waiting hay cart amid the applause of the crowd.

Rodman would be there, too, helping the man on top of the load and getting neatly buried each time as the mass descended upon him, but doing his slender best to distribute and tread it down properly, while his young heart glowed with pride at Cousin Ivory's prowess.

Independence day had passed, with its usual gaieties for the young people, in none of which the Baxter family had joined, and now, at 11 o'clock on this burning July morning, Waitstill was driving the old mare past the Wilson farm on her way to the river field.

Her father was working there, together with the two hired men whom he took on for a fortnight during the height of the season. If mowing, raking, pitching and carting of the precious crop could only have been done at odd times during the year or at night he would not have embittered the month of July by paying out money for labor. But nature was inexorable in the ripening of hay, and Old Foxy was obliged to succumb to the inevitable.

Waitstill had a basket packed with luncheon for three and a great demijohn of cool ginger tea under the wagon seat. Other farmers sometimes served hard cider or rum, but her father's principles were done against this riotous extra vegetable. Temperance, in any and all directions, was cheap.

and the deacon was a very man, save in language.

The fields on both sides of the road were full of haymakers, and everywhere there was bustle and stir. There would be three or four men—one leading, the others following—slowly swinging their way through a noble piece of grass, and the smell of the mown fields in the sunshine was sweeter than honey in the comb.

There were patches of black-eyed Susans in the meadows here and there, while pink and white hardhack grew by the road, with day lilies and blossoming milkweed. The bobolinks were flitting from every tree. There were thrushes in the alder bushes and orioles in the tops of the alms, and Waitstill's heart overflowed with joy at being in such a world of midsummer beauty, though life during the great heat and incessant work of haying time was a little more rigorous than usual.

The extra food needed for the hired men always kept her father in a state of mind closely resembling insanity. Coming downstairs to cook breakfast, she would find the coffee or tea measured out for the pot. The increased consumption of milk angered him beyond words, because it lessened the supply of butter for sale.

Everything that could be made with buttermilk was ordered so to be done, and nothing but water could be used in mixing the raised bread. The corn-cake must never have an egg; the pie crust must be shortened only with lard or with a mixture of beef fat and dripping, and be on, and so on, eternally.

When the girls were respectively seventeen and thirteen, Waitstill had begged a small plot of ground for them to use as they liked, and beginning at that time, they had gradually made a little garden, with a couple of fruit trees and a thicket of red, white and black currants, raspberry and black-berry bushes.

BORDEAUX IS CROWDED CITY

New Capital of France Has Thousands of American Tourists.

[By special wire to the Courier] TOURS, via Paris, Sept. 3, 5:23 a.m.—Tours is crowded to overflowing with travellers bound for Bordeaux. All the hotels are full and some of the landlords are selling as much as forty francs for a single room.

New York automobilists are sleeping in their cars because of the lack of accommodations in the hotels. An uninterrupted procession of conveyances of all kinds is passing through this city and many Paris taxicabs with cans of gasoline attached are seen everywhere. In fact the city is much more animated than Paris.

The military element is but little in evidence. Here and there some officers and soldiers are seen, but these generally have their arms in a sling or show other evidence of having been wounded in the fighting in the north.

Official communication regarding the progress of the war are received stoically by the inhabitants. All express confidence in the final success of the French arms.

ARRESTED AS SPY LONDON, Sept. 3.—Advices received in London from Monte Carlo contain the following passage: "M. Kurz, one of the four directors of the Casino and who has been very much trusted here and also has an estate agency at Beaulieu, has been arrested as a spy. All sorts of plans were found on him, and with others he is imprisoned in Nice waiting trial."

The Casino is closed.

Miss Margaret Hunks and Miss Irene Craig left this morning for Buffalo where they will spend a few days with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ham, of Nelson street, have returned home after a summer holiday spent in Muskoka.

Miss Dot Roberts, who is holidaying at the parental home here returns to-day to Montreal to pursue her studies at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Messrs. W. V. McBeath and M. Ward, are visitors to-day from Detroit.

Brant Chapter I.O.D.E.

The September meeting of Brant Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, with their regent, Mrs. E. C. Ashton, presiding, was held yesterday afternoon at 7 Dufferin Avenue, the Misses Wye very kindly opening their home to the members for their initial meeting in resumption of the fall work by the Chapter. A record number were in attendance.

Opening with the National Anthem, the minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, A short report also was given of the special meeting called in August on the breaking out of war, when $100 was voted to Toronto Head Office for hospital equipment, and the call sent out by Brant Chapter to all women's societies to amalgamate on Flag day which followed during Old Home Week and which resulted in the splendid sum $1,800.00 being forwarded from our city through their combined efforts to headquarters for the same purpose. The treasurer's report was then given, various correspondence read, and minor business attended to, after which the work of the chapter along Red Cross lines and affiliation with the Patriotic League was discussed. The proposed 25c membership to the latter was adopted, and many, if not all the members present handing the fee to the treasurer, who in turn will hand it and the names to the treasurer of that organization for enrollment on their list.

Acting on the suggestion of our local officers and executive, it was unanimously decided that refreshments will not be served at any meetings of Brant chapter this season. Active work will commence at once, and sewing meetings will be held every Wednesday afternoon until further notice. The supplies for Red Cross work will be ordered from the general funds of the chapter.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. E. M. Blair, 7 Gay street, at 8:30 p.m. on September 9th, or on the arrival of the 3 o'clock train. All members are reminded that thimbles, needles and thread will be necessary from now on.

Complying with the request from the headquarters of the National Chapter I. O. D. E. at Toronto, who according to circular letter received earnestly hope that the chapter will not encourage the giving of dances or card parties for the funds, while so many of our people are mourning our brave defenders now hourly sacrificing their lives in such numbers for the cause, honor and freedom of our empire. No social function for the purpose of raising money will be given by the I. O. D. E. in our city this winter.

All members are urged to attend each meeting, as there is much to be done, and "many fingers make light work."

E. VANNORAN, Secretary Brant Chapter, I. O. D. E.

Mrs. Joseph Stratford and Mrs. R. H. Reville were appointed a committee to purchase immediately pillow case cotton and pillows; cheesecloth for handkerchiefs having already been bought as per requirements. The first shipment of supplies will be got in readiness for the Red Cross headquarters by Saturday, Sept. 5th.

Donations of pillows will be gratefully received, the size at present required being 17 x 26. Twenty-five have already been purchased by Brant chapter, but many many more are needed.

With the City Police

There was little business of importance to be dealt with by Magistrate Livingston this morning. Stiff Kavalko was fined three dollars for again being drunk and a charge of attempting to procure liquor laid against John Mathewson was withdrawn.

Mrs. J. R. Camp was to be arraigned on an assault charge, but did not appear to answer her name, and a warrant was issued for her arrest and she was subsequently lodged in the cells and will appear to-morrow.

Football

The Football Executive of the Brantford and Paris League held a formal meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night when all went satisfactorily. Despite the weakening of several teams, which have been depleted, owing to the call of volunteers, all the clubs with the exception of the Watlings were able to complete their fixtures.

The games for Saturday and the referees, are as follows: Scots vs. S. O. E.—Goalie; Paris vs. Cockshtts—Farnsworth; Holmedale v. Duffs—Elliott; Tutela v. P. S. A.—Smith.

The officials for the Courier Cup final to be played between the Scots and Tutela, at Agricultural Park have been selected as follows: Referee, Elliott; linemen, Farnsworth and Goalie, T. Hesson and J. Prondfoot were both adjudged eligible to play on Sept. 5th, and thereafter.

W. Budd was released from the S. O. E. and was snapped up by the Duffs for whom he will play on Saturday.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

LONDON, Sept. 3.—1:30 a.m.—delayed in transmission—Prince Frederick William of Lippe took his own life following a mistake of his regiment, according to Lady Randolph Churchill, who has just arrived here from Germany, coming by way of Holland. "The true story of the death of Prince Frederick William of Lippe," she said, "is that he committed suicide. He was commanding a German cavalry regiment before Liege on August 4, when his regiment in the darkness of the evening nearly annihilated a German infantry regiment which had mistaken for Belgians. The prince shot himself fearing to face the anger of Emperor William. His widow, with whom I am acquainted, was informed of his death on August 14."

STORIES FROM THE FRONT TO-DAY TELL OF BRITISH BRAVERY AND ENDURANCE

Germans Show Signs of Wear and Unsteadiness—Ninth Lancers Made a Wonderful Charge Against Artillery.

(By Special Wire to the Courier)
LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Daily Mail's correspondent behind the British lines, describes the charge of the Ninth Lancers, which occurred at an unnamed spot during the recent series of tactical retreats, as a second Balaklava. He says: "Terrible havoc had been caused in our ranks by shells from a battery of eleven German guns posted inside a forest near the Belgian frontier. "It seemed impossible to silence their fire until the Ninth Lancers made their attempt, riding straight at the guns after dashing under the open and charging under a hail of melinite and lyddite. "I have not been able to get reliable figures as to the distance they rode, but they reached their goal. Nothing could stop them. They reached the guns, killed the gunners and put the guns out of action. Then, like their prototypes of Balaklava, they rode back. "On the return they fell in greater numbers still from the attack of other German batteries posted at advantage points around the valley. "Notable bayonet charges were made at the unnamed spot on Wednesday last. Several British infantry regiments occupied an exposed position around which the Germans gradually circled, drawing the noose closer and closer. "The British decided to cut their way through the cordon. So the men went at it yelling and shouting and got through, although the German artillery mowed them down frightfully. "The German machine guns have been tremendously effective in all engagements thus far. Men say the South African war was the hottest firing there was childish compared with what the British troops have undergone since their arrival in France. So far as I can learn, thus far the Germans have lost 26 of these guns. BRITISH SUPERIORITY LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Chronicle's correspondent at the front, writing from an unnamed

A Great Victory

LONDON, Sept. 3, 1:15 a.m.—A despatch from Petrograd (St. Petersburg) dated yesterday, the correspondent of The Times quotes the message of Grand Duke Nicholas to the Emperor on the Russian victory in Galicia as follows: "I am happy to gladden your eyes with the news of the victory won by the army of General Ruzsky. After seven days of uninterrupted fighting the Austrians are retreating in complete disorder. In some cases they are running away and abandoning their guns, rifles, artillery, packs and baggage trains. "Prior to this decisive battle the course of the seven days' 24 guns, a multitude of firearms and a great number of machine guns."

ROAD TO BERLIN. ROME, Sept. 3, via Paris—The Russian embassy has received an official report from Petrograd setting forth that Russian troops are triumphantly marching on Lemberg repulsing the Austrians all along the line. The fighting has been on a gigantic scale, 800,000 Russians being engaged against 600,000 Austrians. If all indications do not fail, the report from the Russian continues, the Russians will be definitely victorious and as a result the roads to Vienna and Berlin will be open to the Russian armies.

PUTTING OUR FAITH INTO PRACTICE.

As soon as the first shock of the European war was over, manufacturers and merchants in the United States began to ask themselves: "Is it a WORLD calamity? Cannot WE get something in way of benefit to make up in part for the trouble it will cause?"

This is a question the people of Canada might well ask themselves.

The people of the United States are awake already to the fact that many of the necessities of life—meat, and luxuries—that were formerly supplied by Continental Europe must now be produced in the factories of the United States.

Already there are indications that the war spells almost feverish activity in many lines of business in the United States.

This is a time for the manufacturers of Canada to buckle down to work and make and sell right here at home many of the things the people of Canada have formerly imported from Continental Europe.

And the manufacturers of Canada can count upon the people of Canada to respond to their efforts in this direction.

Canadian patriotism is on fire; Canadians never realized until now how deeply they believe in themselves—how strong is their faith in Britain, in the Empire, in Canada.

Now is the time for Canadians to APPLY that abiding faith—to carry it into the BUSINESS of life.

This much is certain: Most of what we eat and wear and use for months to come—perhaps for years—must be produced on this Continent of North America.

Many Canadian manufacturers—already awake to their opportunity—are arranging to get machinery in motion to supply Canadians with those articles they have formerly imported—the dresses and millinery and perfumes from France; the silverware, enamelware and hosiery and countless other things from Germany; the parasols from Austria; the laces and watches from Switzerland.

Soon Canadian manufacturers will begin to tell the people of Canada that THEY—our own manufacturers—have these things for them; soon the merchants of Canada will announce that they are well stocked with these goods—of home manufacture. These announcements will come to the people of Canada in the form of advertisements in the newspapers. Watch for these advertisements and when they appear read them and respond to them. It is a duty the people of Canada owe to their country, their industries and themselves.

Important to Manufacturers and Merchants: If you are in doubt about how to word your announcement, or if you wish advice of any kind, get in touch with the business manager of the Courier.

THE SITUATION.

It is still a case of waiting, as far as the present big battle is concerned. Thus far the Kaiser's troops have most distinctly failed in their efforts to break the lines of the allies, who, British and French alike, are fighting magnificently. Paris is still a long way off with such determined opposition to shake off, and take it—never. As a precautionary measure the capital has been temporarily established at Bordeaux, where Government affairs can be carried on as usual. The place is an important seaport town situated on the River Garonne, and ships of 1,000 tons burden can easily ascend the stream at high-water mark, while it is accessible at all times to vessels of 600 tons. The harbor is also very capacious. It was a very prosperous town as far back as the time of the Romans.

The Russians only received a temporary check in their onward march. They have emerged victorious in what has proved up to date the greatest battle in all history, and when they finally entered Lemberg it was necessary to bury 14,800 dead Austrians, while their own losses must also have been enormous. Lemberg is the capital of the Austrian kingdom of Galicia and is one of the finest centres of the country. It possesses many beautiful synagogues and a very fine university.

ONE OF ONTARIO'S DUTIES

The Ontario Government last session formulated an extensive good roads movement, so much so that it spent each year. Right now is the time to put that into effect—two or three years appropriations in one if necessary. In this regard the following is taken from the Montreal Mail, and it applies equally to this province.

"For two thousand years England has had good highways. When Julius Caesar invaded and temporarily conquered Britain one of his first ideas was the construction throughout that country of a system of good roads.

The character of the construction is today a monument to Julius Caesar. Throughout England to-day there is a network of magnificent public highways, the foundations of which were laid by Caesar, and are known as the old Roman roads.

English intelligence and enterprise have perfected and kept these highways in the finest condition. The notable English characteristics of cleanliness and love of order, combined with a sagacious business instinct, have never permitted the English highways to deteriorate.

England's good roads are a highly important asset to the nation. They facilitate the quick and economical transportation of farm produce to the centres of population.

In time of war they facilitate the speedy mobilization of troops and artillery by the modern high power motor truck and automobile.

In peace and in war England's good roads are a commercial asset. Notwithstanding her good roads of far renown, England is to-day giving work to her unemployed in keeping her public highways in a high state of efficiency.

Canada may profit by the precedent. The country roads leading to Montreal—the Metropolis of Canada—are by no means a credit to the civilization of North America.

Englishmen travelling over the country roads leading to Montreal, shudder.

Would it not be good business for Sir Lomer Gouin to consider the advisability (for the months of September, October, November and December) of putting every unemployed man in the City of Montreal to work on half pay, on rebuilding the roads leading into the City of Montreal?

Would it not be an excellent war measure? That would tide the unemployed over the winter, and in the spring meet the urgent demand from Europe for everything in the way of agricultural products, everything that will keep man and beast alive, every idle man would be rushed into the fields to help till the soil."

STATES SHOULD NOT BE NEUTRAL.

Richard Harding Davis is a well-known American author and war correspondent. He is in Europe in the last named capacity for the New York Tribune and he thus cables his paper: "I have not seen the text of the letter addressed by President Wilson to Americans urging them to preserve toward this war the mental attitude of neutrals. But I have seen the war. I feel very deeply, therefore, that if I did not earnestly try to convince Americans that they should not be neutrals I would be shirking a responsibility. Were the conflict in Belgium a fair fight on equal terms between man and man, then without question the duty of Americans would be to keep to the side lines and preserve open minds. But it is not a fair fight. Germany is fighting foully. She is defying not only the rules of war, but all rules of humanity.

"This is not a war against Germans, as we know Germans in America, who are among our sanest and most industrious and most responsible fellow-countrymen. It is a war, as Winston Churchill, in his interview last Sunday, explained, against the military aristocracy of Germany, men who are six hundred years behind the times; who, to preserve their class against democracy, have perverted every great invention of modern times to the cause of warfare, to the destruction of life.

"These men are military-mad. Their idea of government is a far proposal to our own as are martial law and free speech of our town meetings. Every belief of these high-born butchers is opposed to every principle that is to us most dear."

JUST OBEY THE LAWS

A meeting of the Cabinet took place in Ottawa yesterday, after which the following statement was handed out: "It has come to the attention of the Government that many persons of German or Austro-Hungarian nationality who are residents of Canada are apprehensive for their safety at the present time. In particular the suggestion seems to be that they fear some action on the part of the Government which might deprive them of their freedom to hold property or to carry on business. These apprehensions if they exist are quite unfounded.

"The policy of the Government is embodied in a proclamation published in the Canadian Gazette, on August 15. In accordance with this proclamation restrictive measures will be taken only in cases where officers, soldiers or reservists of the German Empire or of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy attempt to leave Canada or where subjects of such nationalities engage or attempt to engage in espionage or acts of a hostile nature or to give information or other assistance to the King's enemies. Even where persons are arrested or detained on the grounds indicated they may be released, on signing an undertaking to abstain from acts injurious to the Dominion or the Empire.

"The proclamation, after stating that there are many persons of German and Austro-Hungarian nationality quietly pursuing their usual avocations in various parts of Canada and that it is desirable that such persons should be allowed to continue in such avocations without interruption, directs as follows: "That all persons in Canada of German or Austro-Hungarian nationality so long as they quietly pursue their ordinary occupations be allowed to continue to enjoy the protection of the land and be accorded the respect and consideration due to peaceful and law-abiding citizens and that they be not arrested, detained or interfered with unless there is reasonable ground to believe that they are engaged in espionage or engaging or attempting to engage in acts of a hostile nature or are giving or attempting to give information to the enemy or unless they otherwise contravene any law, order-in-council or proclamation.

"Thus, the statement concludes, 'all such persons so long as they respect the law are entitled to its protection and have nothing to fear.'"

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Turkey recently had so much stuff knocked out of her that there won't be much more to do to her in that regard, even if she does jump in.

The Kaiser and his military-mad advisers entered upon this colossal war for unfair reasons, and they are carrying out the campaign in a like manner.

As for the Kaiser, he's sadder but wiser.

By now the German troops must be commencing to think that the distance to the French capital is about one thousand miles.

There was only one Napoleon, and Emperor William is most emphatically not.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES

ceived here from Belgrade states that the Serbian government has been officially notified that the Russian plan will infallibly lead to the occupation of Vienna. The news from Serbia is also declared that great excitement prevails in that country over the reported Austrian defeat. Men from 15 to 65 years of age have been called to arms.

Servia officially denies the statement made in Austria that 1400 Servians had been made prisoners, saying that the Austrians made only about 50 prisoners at Shabat, but that when they were driven back from Serbian territory they took with them a number of peaceful inhabitants, whom they suspect probably as Serbian soldiers.

(By Special Wire to the Courier) LONDON, Sept. 3—The Antwerp correspondent of the Central News describes the second aerial raid upon Antwerp by a German Zeppelin which he said occurred just before dawn. The bombardment, he explained, demonstrated from a military point of view the futility of German efforts to do any damage of importance. His description of the aerial bombardment follows:

"I was awakened by a rattle of rifle fire from neighboring roofs and the crash of exploding bombs. Hurriedly descending I was just in time to see the airship disappearing southward at tremendous height. There was incessant rattle of shots from rifles and machine guns from the darkened town and a sharp panel could be seen exploding like meteorites in the trail of the flying marauder. All round from points of advantage on top of high buildings, spurts of flames indicated the efforts of the soldiers to bring down the hated Zeppelin.

"It is believed the Zeppelin drifted over the city with the aid of a brisk easterly wind so that with her engines almost silent, she was able to get near enough to the city to begin work unopposed. There was no panic in the city, the people remaining in doors until dawn when they gathered in small groups on the street corners to discuss the outrage."

ENORMOUS AMOUNT BRITAIN CAN RAISE.

The London Statist, discussing the effects of the war upon Great Britain's commerce and finance, thinks the island empire is in a strong financial position, thanks to the wide diffusion of British capital. The writer says in part:

"All that is necessary is that the money we have been lending to foreign countries and which last year amounted to $200,000,000 should now be devoted to war purposes. Should circumstances arise to render so great an expenditure essential, we have no doubt whatever that out of new savings the country will be able to raise some $300,000,000 of money in the year for war purposes, over and above any sums it may obtain by the sale of some of its great holdings of foreign securities. Thus, as far as the financial situation is concerned, the position is one of great strength."

MARCHED FIVE DAYS WITH GERMAN ARMY

By A. J. ASHTON, Special Correspondent of The Mail and Empire and the London Daily Mail

BOULOGNE, Sept. 2.—I have just arrived here after being escorted from Mons a prisoner to the French frontier. I travelled with the German army for five days.

I tried in vain to rediscover the personality of the German civilian in the big felloes, heavily loaded, with dust clinging to their stubble beards, who marched dull-eyed, and occasionally with childlike slyness showed would carry out machine like whatever atrocity was ordered. At noon I was handed over to officers, and got a seat in a char-a-banc full of officers, so I was able to observe the marvelous organization. The pace was a walk, but was continuous. Ammunition wagons, field pieces, carts filled with flour, whole trains or enormous pontoons drawn by heavy horses, great traction engines pulling siege guns, landaus, automobiles filled with doctors, all advanced at the same pace. Some of the vehicles were chattered "Berlin to Paris." Sometimes an enormous grey motor-bus dashed past, and I saw through the glass sides, the staff officers bending over maps. Every driver, and service man carried

RAISE HATS TO INVADERS

We passed crowds of peasants returning to their ruined homes. Old women were being wheeled in barrows, children and women in wagons, many men wading, carrying their boots. It was pitiful to see them humbly raising their hats to the invaders.

We passed many villages in ruins. The locked houses were instantly broken open and searched. The few courageous enough to stay only lost their cottages. The better class of houses were pillaged for wine. Every soldier had bottle necks sticking out of his knapsack.

A French aeroplane flew daintily overhead. German shrapnel burst ineffectively like balls of thistle-down underneath it.

Night came, and detachments prepared to bivouac in cornfields, flattened by the infantry. Some dug holes.

PLENTY OF PROVENDER

Near the French frontier I was set down in a littered marie. At a long table staff officers were busy writing. Great bundles of detailed maps were brought in and distributed for the following day's march. Then the room was left to clerks, who wrote all night.

Broth from a field kitchen, a brick-like chunk of black bread, a bottle of filched Burgundy made an excellent supper. The next morning I got papers to return, and the columns started off again, the infantry moving first, then the cavalry then the guns, and the officers last, leaving afterwards.

The impression left from conversations with officers was that they were angry and surprised at England. One said he was sorry for the Belgians and even for the French, but never could forgive England. Even the superior officers were under the illusion that the war had been thrust upon them.

ATE ON THE MARCH.

The soldiers dipped aluminum cups as they swung along with the other men. In a similar way they helped themselves from biscuit tins and from sweets and prunes and such things, but the march went on.

A fencing class has been suggested for the Y. M. C. A. during the coming winter season. A number of young men are interested in the matter and it is likely that a real live class will be organized. An expert of the foil, who has won championship medals in the States, has promised to take the class in hand and develop the art, following day's march. Then the

"Fruit-a-tives" Healed His Kidneys and Cured Him

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., Aug. 26th, 1913. "About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys were not doing their work and I was all run down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised, I decided to try them. Their effect, I found more than satisfactory.

Their action was mild and the result all that could be expected. My kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old-time vitality. Today, I am enjoying the best health I have ever had."

OGILVIE, LOCHHEAD & CO. New Fall Dress Fabrics WE are devoting this week to an early showing of the NEW FALL DRESS FABRICS, COATINGS, ETC. A window display of these beautiful fabrics is out of the question just now, on account of the extensive alterations to the front. But we assure you that a visit to the different departments showing these beautiful fabrics will amply repay you. Worthy of special mention are the lovely dress and suiting materials being shown in our large dress goods department on the main floor. No pains have been spared, and every market has been visited or represented in order that we might show you the very-newest and best of materials. This, of course, is the most essential part when buying, and there is no doubt a lot of current talk of prices being this and being that, but we assure you that there will be no difference in prices this season—at least, not with us. We were fortunate enough to have all orders placed long before THIS TERRIBLE WAR broke out, and, in fact, most of the materials and goods bought for this season were on their way. Then, again, there are lots of goods that we will not get at all, but, our stocks being so large, we will not feel this to any great extent. New Fall Corset Models One of the most essential accessories to a perfect-fitting gown or suit is for MY LADY to have perfect-fitting Corsets. We are sole agents for the famous "GOSSARD CORSET," the only front-laced Corset recommended by the medical profession. We also carry a full range of all other leading makes. CORSET FITTINGS GRATIS COATINGS! COATINGS! Never have we shown such a beautiful range of FALL COATINGS. The weaver's art has been brought to the very front in these beautiful materials—not only in materials, but in designs also. Of course, checks are the prevailing designs for the coming season, and really to try and describe to you the designs and materials on paper would be an advertising man's delight, but an impossibility. The only other course left is to issue you A SPECIAL INVITATION to visit the department, and, as we have already said, you will be amply repaid by your visit. You will see what is being shown and worn in the fashion centres of the whole world. Prices of the materials range from $1.25 to $5.00 a yard. Special Showing of New Fall Dress Fabrics and Coatings in the Dress Goods Dept. (MAIN FLOOR) ONE AND ALL ARE INVITED TO COME! VELVETS Velvets this season will be more prominent than in any previous season, not only for the full suit and gown, but also as a trimming. In fancy velvet there are some beautiful effects shown in stripes, brocade and two and three-tone effects. Plain velvet, brocade velvet and moire velvet will be used very extensively for suits and gowns, also in combination with plain silk. Visit us when you are down town and let us show you the beautiful effects produced. Ogilvie, Lochhead & Co.

An Auto Accident. An automobile and a buggy collided on Dalhousie street last night, fortunately without very serious injuries to the occupants of either vehicle. A car owned by Jesse Blain was proceeding along Dalhousie when a rig containing Mrs. Acret, her daughter, turned the corner of King Street, in spite of the drivers' swift application of the brakes. Contact was unavoidable and Mrs. Acret was thrown out of the vehicle. Luckily her fall did not seriously injure her, although she was thrown against a telephone pole, was conveyed to a nearby store where she quickly recovered. The rig, somewhat damaged by the impact, but the car was very little the worse.

UNITED STATES SHOULD AGT FOR BELGIUM Will the Appeal to be Made Passed by Unheard?

(By Special Wire to the Courier) LONDON, Sept. 3—The Chronicle, in an editorial on the Belgian mission to the United States makes this comment: "The sending of the Belgian mission to the United States seems a well justified step. It is a definite though difficult responsibility toward the civilized world in its matter. The observance of the international rules of war can only be enforced by the action of neutral states.

"The United States has always professed a special interest in human internationalism. In the face of the German Government's frank violation of nearly every article in the Hague Convention, what is the United States going to do."

NEW POPE IS CHOSEN

Archbishop of Bologna, Italy Receives High Office To-day.

(By Special Wire to the Courier) ROME, Sept. 3.—Cardinal Della Chiesa has been elected Pope in succession to the late Pius X.

The new Pope will assume the name of Benedicte XV. Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa who was to-day elected Pope in the Sacred College in succession to Pius X, who died on August 2, was created a cardinal August 25, 1914. He is the bishop of Bologna, Italy.

He was appointed secretary to the late Cardinal Rampolla. He was appointed substitute secretary of state in 1911, and in 1907 he was elected to this post of advisor to the Holy Office.

In 1907 he was appointed papal nuncio of Madrid in succession to Mgr. Rinaldi, but this appointment was cancelled three days later. This incident had occurred just before he was made archbishop of Bologna, when Mgr. Della Chiesa was given the post of papal nuncio to the United States.

It has been 170 years since the last Pope Benedicte. On his election to the papacy in 1741, Cardinal Prospero Lambertini assumed that title. It is an interesting fact that the new Pope was Archbishop of Bologna while Pope Benedicte XIV. was born in Bologna.

APPALLING GERMAN CASUALTY LISTS

TURN BERLIN INTO CITY OF MOURNING

THE HAGUE, Sept. 3.—German casualty lists which have reached here are appalling. They are published under the authority of the German general staff, and occupy six full pages in the official Reichs Anzeiger.

No attempt has been made to gloss over the terrible details of the disaster which has befallen the German arms. There is no comment on the fact that the men reported killed and missing outnumber enormously those listed as wounded.

Travellers from Berlin inform me that half the city already is draped in black. A conspicuous figure among the mourners is Prince Bernhard von Buelow, formerly Imperial Chancellor, whose brother, Gen. von Buelow, was killed during the siege of Liege. He is the "Princess" who is stopping at the Hotel Adlon.

The great millinery and dressmaking establishments in the German capital are now closed, and give to the manufacture and sale of mourning. They are packed all day by weeping women and children, and queues of mourners are in front of every one clad in sombre shades.

The shadow of the calamitous losses is over the entire city. Princess von Lippe, at the Hotel Cumberland received a telegram at dinner, one of those which tell her that her two young sons had been killed at Charleroi.

In Dorotheen Strasse the general staff has opened an information bureau. Piteous scenes are of hourly occurrence, so much so that Dorotheen Strasse is called "The Valley of Tears."

Despair has seized the city. Unless the general staff can soon announce a great victory, the news is true that all emerge from the horror-stricken depths a revolt such as few nations have known.

LATEST PHASES

(Continued from Page 1) man army of the west is within 30 miles of the outer fortifications of Paris, a strange air of confidence prevails to-day among the allies.

The general feeling seems to be that the German attack is wearing itself out in hammering away at the allied lines, which give yut do not retreat.

President Poincare has issued a proclamation to his people telling them that the military operations have led him to remove his government to Bordeaux. Military experts agree that Paris will soon be the pivot of the hostile armies operating in the area of the west.

Even the downfall of the French capital is not expected to end these operations, as the feeling of confidence was greatly increased by news of the great victory of the Russians in Galicia. Reports from Petrograd (St. Petersburg) tell of the entry of Russians into Lemberg, the capital of Galicia.

These appear creditable, as news of the defeat of the Austrians in that district, has been received from several sources.

The battle of Lemberg was the greatest victory since the war resulted in a decisive and perhaps an overwhelming defeat of the Austrians. The battle line extended over 200 miles, and it is estimated that over 1,500,000 men were engaged.

According to an official despatch received by Emperor Nicholas from Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, the victory was won after six days of fighting.

The names of the British who fell in the four days battle last week will not be announced until they have been commended to the public. The heavy loss of officers in proportion to the men is the story of South Africa over again. It indicates that the officers are being killed as they insist the men shall.

The west coast of Belgium and west coast of France. Many persons are crossing the channel to the continent, determined to see something of the war at any risk.

WILL DEFEND CITY.

PARIS, Sept. 3, 3.05 p.m.—It is officially announced that General Galliene, commander of the army defending the city to-day issued the following proclamation to the inhabitants of Paris:

"The members of the government of the republic have left Paris in order to give a new impetus to the defence of the nation. I have been ordered to defend Paris against the invader. This order will fulfill to the end."

Reasons War Was Declared is Announced To-day

Peace of Far East Was in State of Jeopardy.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.) In the Japanese Diet to-day, Premier Okuma, speaking briefly said regarding the war with Germany, that he believed the world, thoroughly understood the reasons leading thereto. He asked the support of the houses, and said the army and navy were doing their full duty.

The government is submitting an extraordinary budget, and has asked the houses for their approval and support.

Baron Kato's statement to the Diet in part was as follows: "Early in August the British Government asked the Imperial Government for assistance under the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. German men of war and other armed vessels were proceeding to the eastward of Asia menacing our commerce and that of our ally, while Kiao-Chow was being made ready apparently for the purpose of constituting a base for warlike operations in Eastern Asia. Grave anxiety was thus felt as to the maintenance of peace in the Far East."

"As all are aware of the agreement, the alliance between Japan and Great Britain has for its object the maintenance of general peace in eastern Asia, insuring the independence and integrity of China as well as the principle of equal opportunities for commerce and authority of all nations in that country."

"Germany's possession of a base for powerful activities in one corner of the far East was not only a serious obstacle to the maintenance of permanent peace, but it also conflicted with the immediate interests of the Japanese empire, Baron Kato explained. "The Japanese government," Baron Kato continued, "therefore resolved to comply with the British request and if necessary to open hostilities against Germany. An imperial sanction had obtained a resolution was communicated to the British Government and a full and frank exchange of views between the two governments followed. It was finally agreed between them to take such action as was necessary to protect their general interests as contemplated by the agreement of their alliances. Japan had no desire or inclination to become involved in the present conflict, only believing that she owed it to herself to be faithful to her alliance and strengthen its foundation by ensuring permanent peace in the world. Therefore, the special interests of the two allied powers."

"Desiring, however, to solve the situation by pacific means, the Imperial Government on August 15 gave the following advice to the German Government: 'The text of the ultimatum communicated to Germany on that date. Until the last moment of the time allowed on August 23, the Imperial Government received no answer, and thus the Imperial script declaring war was issued the next day.'"

Baron Kato, in conclusion said: "While regretting that Japan compelled to take up arms against Germany, I am happy in the belief that the army and navy of illustrious sovereign will not fail to show the same loyalty and valour with which they have distinguished themselves in the past, that all may be blessed with an early restoration of peace."

ANTWERP IS QUIET

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The Amsterdams correspondent of The Associated Press writes from Antwerp, Sept. 5: "After a visit to Antwerp, I find that the city is quiet."

"Antwerp is marvelously calm though the population has more than doubled by the influx of fugitive General Lefour has issued orders all persons who arrived in Antwerp after August 1, must leave the city."

Rev John McNeill of a Col. Church, Toronto, received a call from a church in Denver, Col. and made a speech.

Peace of Far East Was in State of Jeopardy.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.)

In the Japanese Diet to-day, Premier Okuma, speaking briefly said regarding the war with Germany, that he believed the world, thoroughly understood the reasons leading thereto. He asked the support of the houses, and said the army and navy were doing their full duty.

The government is submitting an extraordinary budget, and has asked the houses for their approval and support.

Baron Kato's statement to the Diet in part was as follows: "Early in August the British Government asked the Imperial Government for assistance under the terms of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. German men of war and other armed vessels were proceeding to the eastward of Asia menacing our commerce and that of our ally, while Kiao-Chow was being made ready apparently for the purpose of constituting a base for warlike operations in Eastern Asia. Grave anxiety was thus felt as to the maintenance of peace in the Far East."

"As all are aware of the agreement, the alliance between Japan and Great Britain has for its object the maintenance of general peace in eastern Asia, insuring the independence and integrity of China as well as the principle of equal opportunities for commerce and authority of all nations in that country."

"Germany's possession of a base for powerful activities in one corner of the far East was not only a serious obstacle to the maintenance of permanent peace, but it also conflicted with the immediate interests of the Japanese empire, Baron Kato explained. "The Japanese government," Baron Kato continued, "therefore resolved to comply with the British request and if necessary to open hostilities against Germany. An imperial sanction had obtained a resolution was communicated to the British Government and a full and frank exchange of views between the two governments followed. It was finally agreed between them to take such action as was necessary to protect their general interests as contemplated by the agreement of their alliances. Japan had no desire or inclination to become involved in the present conflict, only believing that she owed it to herself to be faithful to her alliance and strengthen its foundation by ensuring permanent peace in the world. Therefore, the special interests of the two allied powers."

"Desiring, however, to solve the situation by pacific means, the Imperial Government on August 15 gave the following advice to the German Government: 'The text of the ultimatum communicated to Germany on that date. Until the last moment of the time allowed on August 23, the Imperial Government received no answer, and thus the Imperial script declaring war was issued the next day.'"

Baron Kato, in conclusion said: "While regretting that Japan compelled to take up arms against Germany, I am happy in the belief that the army and navy of illustrious sovereign will not fail to show the same loyalty and valour with which they have distinguished themselves in the past, that all may be blessed with an early restoration of peace."
