Heavy Damages Paris, May 23.—Not since Burdeau, president of the Chamber of Deputies, won his suit against the Libre Parole have such heavy damages been secured for libel as this week against the Journal for an article by Duval, alias Jean Lorrain, denouncing the character of Mme. Jacquemine Lorrain wrote under the title "Femine Victims" an unutterably scurrilous article, wherein the well-known feminine painter was slandered.

BASEBALL MATTERS

A Picked Team to Meet the Soldiers

Since the probability of the soldiers of Eagle stopping here a day or two on their way outside in order to show the members of the Dawson Baseball League how to play ball has become almost a certainty instead of a guess, one of the leading cranks in the city has picked out what he calls an all star team to meet the wearers of the blue and hand them a walloping they will all remember. He has selected ten men, one a substitute pitcher, and he considers he has taken the cream of the league.

This aggregation he considers would prove invincible and be able to yank a few of the tail feathers out of Uncle Sam's pet eagle. Bennett behind the plate is admitted to be one of the best all round men in the league with an absolute cinch on second when it comes to catching a ball and when it comes to catching a ball and when it comes to catching a ball.

The confession relating to the club fire is as follows: "On the Monday night the club was burned, I was at work there. When I went into the kitchen I saw a gunny sack on the floor near the wood box. I put it under some small pieces of wood and set fire to it and then I got into the elevator and went down stairs and read the paper. I waited until the department came and then I helped them. There was no intention on my part to have the building burn down."

The boy was employed by the club as elevator boy and was in the club's new quarters when arrested early this morning. The club building was the handsomest and largest structure of its kind in the northwest and the club had entertained some of the foremost personages in the United States.

DOUBLE CROSS

Is What Billie Barrett Gave Himself Saturday.

Billie Barrett, the commission man gave himself the double cross last Saturday and now he is lying awake nights trying to think of some way to square himself. His tribulations originated in the ball game between employees of the two big companies.

Barrett has extensive business relations with both concerns so as a matter of policy he decided to show no favors but to divide their respective colors and wear a portion of each—tote water on both shoulders, as they say in the land of magnolia, yellow jessamine and alligators.

He got along very well until the game was half finished when his voice broke down and went out of commission in the middle of an inning with the result that he could not even up on his footing. The players noticed this and the slighted team was visibly affected.

That night members of the team that had been slighted found Barrett in a restaurant and it is said that respect for the house is the only thing that saved him from being horribly mutilated. As it was his mixed colors were ruthlessly torn from his heaving breast and he was otherwise misused and tossed about.

The next time the company teams play Barrett will have business at Grand Forks, Gold Bottom or Moosehide.

Had no Crown London, May 23.—Herr Richter's triumph in the production of "The Ring of the Nibelungen" was maintained steadily at Covent Garden last week, and the performance of the second cycle was the finest ever seen in London.

I set fire to the house because I wanted to see the horses run, and I wanted to help at the fire. From as long as I can remember I have liked to see horses at races, and I did not at the time that I set the barn on fire want to do any one any injury."

Charges Withdrawn

The charges against Messrs. Abbott, Dorien, Evans and Tampiere for trespassing on the Klondike toll bridge on April 30th, since which time they have been enlarged from week to week, were finally withdrawn this morning, the prosecution not caring to go on with them.

For Big Salmon

Consul Walter Wensky will leave today on the steamer Tyrrell for Big Salmon (Cassiar bar). He is going to superintend some special work on the Baldane concession belonging to the Klondike Consolidated Gold Fields, Ltd.

TYRRELL TONIGHT

The Tyrrell made a trip to Forty-mile last night and will return early this evening. She will sail for Whitehorse at 10 tonight. About 25 passengers have been already booked for the trip.

One of those women who have an antipathy for tobacco entered a street car the other day, and inquired of the man sitting near her, "Do you chew tobacco, sir?" "No, madam, I do not," was the reply, "but I can get you a chew if you want one." —Lippincott's Magazine.

IS OUT OF COMMISSION

Steamer Monarch to Remain Tied Up

Captain Green Receives Telegraphic Instructions From Her Owners in Seattle.

The big steamer Monarch which wintered in the slough opposite Klondike City will summer in the same place, a telegram having been received by Captain Green from her owners in Seattle to strip her of all furniture and make her safe in some secluded nook for another year.

Up to the time the wire was received from Seattle Captain Green was getting the Monarch in readiness for a trip to the Tanana and had already engaged considerable freight. He will now follow instructions regarding the care of the steamer after which he will go to Seattle to settle up with her owners having been aboard the craft all winter as watchman.

The Monarch is a large freighter and would have been, perhaps, somewhat heavy for the Tanana run.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Wood of Philadelphia has a story which he tells on the excellent authority of Mr. Booker T. Washington. A negro had a dream in which he thought he visited purgatory. He was telling a friend about it next morning when the friend interrupted him, asking: "Was there any niggers there?" "Yaas, sir, there was lots of them," was the reply. "Any white men?" "Yaas, sir, lots of them." "What were the white men doing?" "Every one of them was holding a sigger 'twen him and the fire," said the dreamer.—New York Times.

PLANS ALL ARRANGED

Swatting Recital Fixed for the 25th

Choynski Wires Approval of Date and Burley is Satisfied and Has Signed.

So well has the committee of three appointed by the D.A.A.A. to arrange the mill between Choynski and Burley performed their duties that today all is in readiness for the go with the exception of the naming of the referee and the official timekeeper and those important personages will not be selected until the night of the swatting recital at the Ringside. The committee having the matter in charge met on Saturday evening and decided that the date of the big thing should be on Thursday evening, June 25. Yesterday Choynski was wired to that effect at Whitehorse and replied that the date was satisfactory. Burley also had no objection to the date and signed the articles of agreement when they were presented.

The articles of agreement, by the way, is a formidable looking document covering several closely typewritten pages. The club has taken every precaution that the go may be a legitimate exhibition of the many art, that it shall be full of ginger and not a fake in any sense of the word. One of the conditions in the agreement permits the club to call the match off at any time it may be apparent that either or both the contestants is not putting up the mill he is expected to. In no manner can a man go out on a fake punch for if he does he forfeits all interest he may have in the gate receipts. Such a happening, however, is not considered for an instant as both Choynski and Burley have the reputation of being as square as any men who ever stepped into a ring, the club simply incorporating that condition as a matter of self protection to themselves.

There will be only one preliminary and that will be a heavyweight contest but little less in interest than the main event. The statement contained in this morning's Sun is entirely incorrect. Howard and Slavin have not been matched for the preliminary nor was such a proposition considered. There has been a go arranged though between Howard and Vincent White, the latter being rather well known around the camp having in times past appeared at the Auditorium, once going against Slavin, also Perkins and one other. The understanding is that if the participants in the preliminary make a sufficient showing to entitle them to be considered the winner is to be taken on by the winner of the Choynski-Burley mill. The preliminary will be six rounds for a decision and a purse to be offered by the club.

The seating capacity of the big athletic building as at present arranged is 3500 and the management of the club expects every nook and cranny to be occupied. The seats have been on sale only a few days yet the demand for them has been very great, particularly from the creeks, one well known mining operator sending in an order for twenty seats. The price of the latter has been fixed at $1, $5 and $7 according to location.

TUESDAY, JUNE 9, 1903.

THE SUN AND TREADGOLD.

Intelligent discussion of the concessions subject is entirely wasted upon the Sun, by reason of the fact that our contemporary has already declared its adherence to the theory that a newspaper must "talk the way it is paid." Following up that idea the Sun, undoubtedly, is prepared to clamor for Treadgold until the last.

Our contemporary professes to deal with the subject as though it were still a matter upon which the people have given no expression of opinion. It seems to forget for the time being that a matter of two years has been given to the subject and that during such time the question has been considered in all its phases, by all classes and conditions of people, with the unvarying conclusion that Treadgold's scheme has been universally condemned.

When the Nugget states that the Treadgold concession has passed beyond the debatable point, we speak by the book. The Sun might just as well essay the task of convincing the people that the 10 per cent. royalty and the alternate claim reservation regulations were passed for the public benefit as to try and induce the people to regard the Treadgold grant as favorable to their interests.

If two years spent in continual discussion, if the declarations of every party platform written in the territory; if the resolutions adopted by all our political and commercial organizations; if memorials from mass meetings and from the public elected servants; if petitions with thousands of signatures attached; if the enunciations of platform speakers of all shades of thought and opinion — if all or any of the foregoing count for anything, then our contemporary may rest assured that the Treadgold matter has passed the stage for argument as to its merits.

The public is still interested in the subject but only to the extent of seeking ways and means for accomplishing the revocation of the objectionable grants.

If these views as coming from the Nugget are not sufficiently convincing for our contemporary, we suggest a review of the observations of the present commissioner of the territory upon the same subject.

A CLEAR CASE.

The purpose for which the Treadgold investigation commission has been appointed, is to determine as nearly as possible whether the Treadgold and other concessions are likely to prove an advantage or hindrance to the territory. If the commission is escorted to the creeks and made acquainted by personal inspection with the facts which cover the situation there can be little doubt of the conclusion which they will reach.

When they are shown huge tracts of ground, every foot of which is gold bearing and well adapted to placer mining, lying idle and undeveloped, they must see that the long drawn out fight against the concessions has been waged upon sound reasons. It will be pointed out and explained that such ground secured upon affidavit as to its fitness for hydraulic working alone, is directly in the rich mineral belt and contiguous to individual claims which are and for years have been turning out fortunes by ordinary placer methods.

Facts and figures will be adduced to indicate to the commission the probable value of such ground and the number of men to whom lucrative employment would be furnished by opening the concessions to individual staking.

The information which the committee having the subject in hand will be able to bring to bear is exhaustive and accurate, and before any fair-minded tribunal should warrant a decision in accord with the popular wishes.

There is best of reason for belief that the commission will be constituted of men who will be animated by a desire to determine the real merits of the case and to render a report in accordance therewith.

Under such circumstances necessary care and attention to detail is all that should be required to insure the final triumph of the people over the concessions.

Progress is being made in the direction of quartz development, which ultimately should result in the establishment of quartz mining upon a paying basis. It takes time to interest and convince capital in such undertakings, but there seems good reason to hope something substantial in that direction will be accomplished this year. It is an encouraging sign when local money is found ready to go ahead in opening up new industries, and it may be stated as a fact that Dawson capital is now being expended quite freely in quartz development. A favorable showing during the next few months will work wonders for the future.

There are sufficient claims in the Territory for everyone provided the bars are let down. The policy of tying up the public domain in concessions is ruinous, both from the government and individual standpoint.

If communication with Whitehorse is not opened in the very near future butter and meats will become absolute monarchs of the Klondike.

The ice in Lake Lebarge is holding its grip with a strenuousness worthy of a better cause.

Reasons for it.

Paris, May 23. — Apropos of the statement of Prof. Lars, the Norwegian scientist, that the unusually cold spring season in Europe was caused by abnormal conditions prevailing in the Arctic regions, as shown by many icebergs sighted in the low latitudes, as well as an extraordinary number of Arctic whales and seals seen in the same waters, the Herald has received an interesting letter, signed "T. Mertens, Madrid," on the subject. The writer explains Europe's chilly weather this spring as follows:

"Outgoing and incoming vessels from the Atlantic reported during April and early May this year an unusually large number of immense icebergs at extraordinarily low latitudes. These were evidently set afloat by a heat wave which visited this section of the globe in February, March and early April. The appearance of these icebergs in the gulf stream and their melting and cooling of atmosphere was sufficient to cause a current of westerly and southwesterly winds or gales of colder air in the thinner, warmer vacuum reigning over Europe at that time.

"In ordinary springs and summers the movements of icebergs from the north occur later in the season than they did this year, when the sun and ocean are warm enough to melt them before they reach low latitudes and prevent them from exercising any considerable influence on the climate which is regulated by the gulf stream."

BUTTER AT A PREMIUM

None to be Had in the Market

Offers of a Dollar a Pound for All in Sight is Firmly Rejected.

Unless speedy relief is soon had by the opening of Lebarge so that steamers can arrive direct from Whitehorse, there is one article in the eatable line that every table in the city will soon be without and that is butter. There is not enough of that very essential necessity in the city to last a week and all day yesterday buyers of various houses were skimming everywhere in order to secure enough to carry them over until the arrival of the boats. Price was no object, in one instance one of the big companies offering a dollar a pound for every ounce a small dealer had, but the latter would not part with it, preferring to protect his own customers rather than closing out his supply even at an exorbitant rate. In another instance an order had been taken for quite a quantity of goods for shipment to the creeks and at the last moment it was found impossible to fill it in full as it called for a case of butter, which could not be procured.

All the butter now in the city is the stock that came over the lake ice and down either in scows or the first steamers, which as is well known was comparatively small in amount. The restaurants are some of them in a most desperate straits, particularly if their regular dealer happens to be out. They can not go to another dealer and be accommodated as they will not sell to them, preferring to keep their stock for their regular customers rather than dispose of it to a transient. Should relief not soon be had the camp will have to fall back on the custom of '98 when bacon grease made a most admirable substitute.

Another article which is very scarce and held at a price which is prohibitive to people of ordinary means, and that is fresh beef. Not since the first year of the camp has been seen at such an exorbitant price as it now is, the best cuts retailing at 87 cents. It is said to be not the fault of the retailers who complain that even at those enormous rates they can not pay what they are compelled to for a quarter, cut it up and break even on the deal. The fault lies with the combine which at present has the territory by the throat.

No possible relief can be anticipated until the arrival of the boats from Whitehorse. There is nothing below Lebarge and no way of getting anything below until the ice leaves. Around the lake is an apology for a trail, but to pack supplies around it would increase their cost so much that such a proceeding would be almost out of the question. At the head of the lake and also at Whitehorse loaded on the boats ready to leave at a moment's notice are tons and tons of fresh goods but for the good they are now doing Dawson they might as well be in China. One dealer has estimated that within the first week after the lake opens there will arrive in the city probably 2000 tons of freight, a large percentage of which will be provisions.

The Dawson Amateur Operatic Society held a business meeting in St. Andrew's hall last evening at which it was determined to postpone the date of the concert which had been arranged for Wednesday of this week. It is stated that several of those who were to appear at the concert found it impossible to do so on the date set.

NEW CUSTOM LAW

San Francisco, May 23.—The custom house officials have been unusually busy capturing smugglers during the past two weeks, and the persons who were detected in the act, were in all cases people of education and social standing. All are well to do and poverty was no incentive to law-breaking.

Had any of these attempts been successful only a few dollars would have been saved. No arrests were made.

Collector of the Port Stratton deems that they were sufficiently punished by the exposure and the imposition of fines provided by law, which amount to three times the appraised value of the goods and their confiscation. If the fine is not paid the smugglers are prosecuted criminally.

The new law and regulations of the treasury department, make it difficult for any one to bring into the country dutiable goods without going through the custom house. Under the old law the passenger was obliged to make a declaration of the articles subject to duty. He was allowed $100 worth of personal goods without declaration.

The new regulations, which went into effect six months ago, make many changes. The passenger is required to make a declaration under oath of all articles that he brings to this country, dutiable or otherwise. The inspector then passed on what is to pay duty.

Travelers from the Orient state that the native merchants encourage tourists in their smuggling operations. They offer to pack the goods in such a manner as to deceive the inspector. In nearly all these cases it was shown that the articles had been packed by Japanese merchants. The same manner of packing is noticeable in all cases. The garments are ripped open, and particularly the sleeves of dresses. The fine embroidery and drawn work, as well as objects of art, are placed between the folds. The garment is then sewn up and folded so that the contraband goods cannot be seen.

The rule is that where there is no attempt at evasion by hiding the articles in other packages the goods are assessed and regular duty collected. But if it is shown by the way the articles are packed that it is done to evade payment of the duty the goods are seized and the owner subjected to a fine of three times, the appraised value of the contraband article and the other goods in the package.

When the Coptic arrived on Thursday night it was too late to examine the baggage, and the work was put off until yesterday. One of the first to make a declaration was Crammond Kennedy, of the New York law firm of Conder & Kennedy, who, with his wife, was a cabin passenger. He reported that he had three bronze bells, valued at $7, $4 and $12 respectively; a gong valued at $3; a small vase valued at $5 and a kimono worth $2.

Mr. Kennedy added a note that there were half a dozen things that he did not remember, but they were less in value than $200. He intimated that if the inspectors found any dutiable goods he would be willing to pay the duty.

Mr. St. John refused to accept such a declaration, and Mr. Kennedy proceeded to lecture him on the way he should do his duty. Mr. Kennedy is from Alpine, Bergen county, in the state of New Jersey, and is an attorney of large practice in New York City. To Mr. St. John he declared that he was a particular friend of Secretary Shaw of the treasury and also of Secretary of State Hay. Nevertheless, between the folds of garments were found a quantity of goods on which duty should be paid. Mr. St. John ordered the goods to be taken to the appraiser's store and notified Collector Stratton of the seizure.

There were three trunks, three bags and one piece. In the baggage were one piece of silk crepe, eighteen embroidered linen doilies, one embroidered table cover, two silk embroidered silk center pieces.

Miss Cayce of Richmond, Va., who was a passenger on the steamer Coptic last Thursday, and who is at the Palace on her way home, had some of her baggage seized by the customs officers yesterday on the ground that the things were dutiable and had not been declared by her on landing from the vessel. The goods, which are worth about $50, will be appraised and then Miss Cayce will be called upon to pay three times that amount.

Falls to Pay

Berlin, May 23.—It was recently reported that a big insurance company had struck the name of King Alexander of Serbia off its books because of his failure to pay the premium.

The circumstances which led to this juncture are now made public. Soon after the king's marriage he was induced by the queen to entertain the idea of insuring his life in her favor. He experienced the greatest difficulty in finding a company willing to insure him. Most of the companies feared that he would be assassinated, and therefore declined to take the risk. Finally one company insured him at an abnormally high premium, which the king has evidently been unable to pay.

SULPHUR DOMINION

Much Activity on Both Creeks

Dance to be Given on Friday Night—Several Claims Change Owners.

At the city hall, Granville, on Friday, June 12th, a dance will be given by the Bachelors' club. Supper will be served at the Grant hotel.

Major Wood and Attorney McDougal with their wives, of Dawson, and Messrs. Percy Reed and Dr. Wills of Gold Run, as a pleasure party visited Granville for a few hours on Monday last. They were delighted with the rapid growth and other signs of enterprise of the city.

On Monday, 6th inst., a boxing match was given by Messrs. Slavin and Burley who are touring the creeks. It was a splendid exhibition of the manly art and the skill of these well known performers was highly appreciated by all who were present.

A new butcher shop is the latest addition to the already large number of businesses represented at Granville. The butcher has a large stock of choice meats and is meeting with good success.

Messrs. Wilcox, collector for Ladue Co. and Grey, assistant manager of Ames Mercantile Company, are doing business in connection with their respective firms on this part of Dominion. Mr. Grey is interested in the rich celebrated Mc Graw claim, No. 245.

Stone & Laundre are having some exceptionally good cleanups on No. 242. They are to be congratulated on the richness of their claim.

Another daily stage comes from Dawson to Granville. It is an extension of the well known and popular St. Louis line. The finger of destiny points steadily and unerringly towards Granville.

Mrs. Lindsay, late of Hunker, has opened a first class laundry in Granville.

The baths in connection with the Golden Flgt hotel are now in operation.

Mr. Minnie, foreman of road repair on Sulphur, has leased the beautiful cabin opposite the Dale roadhouse where he has taken up his residence for the summer. His wife and two children will join him in a few days.

Mrs. Dyer offers for sale her roadhouse on No. 3 below. She intends removing to Duncan creek as soon as possible.

Messrs. McMillan & Jones, blacksmiths, of No. 2 below are meeting with success in their new enterprise. In addition to their present business they are opening up a new machine shop at the above mentioned location and will in consequence be enabled to supply a much needed want.

That excellent claim No. 10 above has been sold by Matheson Bros. to Sullivan & Slater of No. 3 below. Samuel Matheson, late manager of the claim, will commence prospecting property on another part of the creek.

Mr. Wm. Williamson of 32 above is busy on the creek taking contracts from the miners for the purpose of extracting the gold from the black sand left after the cleanup of the dumps. He has a chemical process entirely his own by which he can undoubtedly save more gold than can be done by any other process in this country. All the leading miners of the creeks are his patrons and have already secured his services, he having had similar contracts with them last season. The success of this process is phenomenal. Mr. Williamson intends to clean up all the black sand of Sulphur and Dominion this season.

Archie McBride of the firm of Griffin & McBride who operate the hotel and general store at No. 2 below, has sold his interest in the above mentioned business to Frank Mahan of the Sulphur meat market. The firm will now be known as Griffin & Mahan. Mr. McBride and his wife will proceed to the outside on one of the first boats.

On 124 Sulphur near the mouth the large dump taken out last winter by Meace & Co. has been cleaned up. It averaged 50c to the bucket, each of the partners receiving a magnificent reward for the winter's work.

On Sunday evening last at the tabernacle, No. 1 below, Mrs. Rutherford delivered her lecture on the subject of "The Rejected Corsor Stone, or Compulsory Divorce." The lecture was original and philosophical, was entirely non-political and non-sectarian and was both entertaining and instructive. A large audience greeted the talented lecturer and her remarks were generously applauded. By universal request Mrs. Rutherford has consented to deliver another lecture on a popular subject on Friday night next, 12th inst. This lecture will be one of the items in a free entertainment to be given on that night. Recitations, speeches, songs and instrumental music as well as dancing will be other features of the evening. It is the intention of Mrs. Rutherford to make a lecturing tour of the different creeks. Dawson will do well to invite her to deliver one of her popular lectures in the city.

Tour of the West

San Francisco, May 23.—A party of distinguished Germans will arrive here tomorrow. It is safe to say that never at one time has San Francisco been visited by so many titled foreigners. Accompanying them is I. B. Shulte, assistant agriculturist in the experiment station of agriculture, and a member of the German United States department of agrarian embassy at Washington. A prominent member of the delegation is Herr Erich von Plenge of Spec. Pomerania, owner of 12,000 acres and son-in-law of Commissioner Aeschel-tow, president of the Vulcan Ship-building Company at Stettin, which built the Kaiser Wilhelm II.

DEED HAS ARRIVED

For Site of Carnegie Library

Work Cannot be Begun Until the Formal Acceptance Has Been Made by His Agent.

The announcement made in the morning paper to the effect that work would begin in a few days on the actual construction work of the Carnegie library was a little premature to say the least. It is true the deed to the lots arrived from New York on the last mail and is now in the hands of W. H. B. Lyons, the representative of the Ladeu interests in the city, but the document has not been turned over to the city, the money for the lots has not been paid and so far there are none of the Carnegie funds available, the agent of the latter not even having notified the city council of his acceptance of the conditions originally imposed and which are now all fulfilled. Nothing will be done in the matter beyond what has already been done until word has been had from Mr. Carnegie or his agent expressing his satisfaction at the efforts of the council to comply with the stipulations with which he has hedged his donation of $25,000 for the library. Such letter, however, is expected on any mail and it is believed that it will contain instructions to draw upon the donor for sufficient amount to begin the work.

Mayor McLennan was seen this morning and fully corroborated the foregoing. As to the funds to pay for the lots, such are available at once and his worship can sign a check for the needed amount at any time, but as matters of character are not taken up except in council meeting the formal transfer of the property will probably not take place until after the next council meeting on Monday evening, the 15th. Then a bylaw will be introduced and given all its readings authorizing the payment of the sum of $2650 for the two lots, 11 and 12 in block K, being the 100 feet square at the southwest corner of Queen street and Fourth avenue, and the transaction will be complete in every detail.

The matter of drawing the plans, clearing the lots and the beginning of actual work is something that can not be considered until the funds or at least a portion of them are here on deposit so that the city will be compelled to assume no obligations that they are not in a position to meet the moment such are due. As to the plans, it is not even known whether they are to be furnished by Mr. Carnegie or if he will let such be determined by the council through which his money will be distributed. The model of the building has not been thought of except that it will be two story, modern in every particular and possess some architectural beauty which can not be said of many buildings in the city.

There is still a great deal of red tape to be handled before the library exists except on paper, but the members of the council will do everything in their power to hurry it to a completion before fall when the funds from the philanthropist's strong box become available.

The deed to the lots bears the signature of E. E. Botsford, president of the Ladeu Company. Accompanying it was a letter from Mr. Botsford saying that after its execution he had taken it to the office of Mr. Carnegie's American agent who resides at Hoboken, across the river from New York, showing it to him in order that he may know the transaction was complete and the title perfect. He seemed very well satisfied with it and there is but little doubt but that a letter will be had

HAY SHORT

Price is High and the Supply Very Limited

Among other commodities that have been soaring skyward during the last few weeks is hay.

The visible supply has now dwindled down to a very few tons which is being sold out to consumers a bale at a time.

An effort was made to maintain a 15 cent price but in spite of the shortage the attempt did not succeed. The White Pass Company had a few tons left over from last season and the whole amount was taken by a local dealer yesterday at something less than 9 cents.

There is plenty of hay at Whitehorse and upper Lebarge but none to speak of in Dawson, and that's where the rub comes.

It is expected that every available pound will be consumed before the boats manage to get through.

Case Enlarged

John Harvey who was recently acquitted in the territorial court of the charge of trespassing on the Klondike toll bridge was again before Mr. Justice Macaulay this morning charged with having on June 6th assaulted John R. Howard and John Laumeister, employees of the bridge owners. Attorneys Walsh and Geo. Black appeared in the case, the former for the prosecution and the latter for Harvey.

As the charge was not what the defense thought it would be and owing to the further fact that the defendant had not been served, the case was enlarged until tomorrow morning.

Old Master Retired.

Toronto, May 10.—The resignation of Mr. J. A. Wismer from the staff of the Jameson Avenue Collegiate Institute occupied the High School Board for a considerable part of their session last night. There was a recommendation from the School management Committee that the resignation of Mr. Wismer be accepted, and that in view of his long service and permanent ill-health a year's salary, $1,800, be granted him, to be paid from June 30 next. A number of the members, while not opposing the payment of the bulk sum, considered that payment should be extended over a period of three years, but a resolution to this effect was voted down. A year's salary will therefore be given to Mr. Wismer. To replace the latter, who was mathematical master, and who also gave instruction in the elementary commercial course, a new master is to be engaged at a salary of $1,000 a year. The offer of Mr. Archibald McMurchy of a collection of educational reports and examination papers, dating nearly fifty years back, was accepted.

A Quick Lunch

"Where can we get a quick lunch?" asked one of the official stenographers of the National Civic Federation who came on from Chicago to report the proceedings of the executive committee of the industrial department of that organization, reports the New York Times.

Before the reporter to whom the question was addressed could tell of the neighboring "beef-and" places which met his idea of a "quick lunch," the Chicago stenographer asked how far it was to a restaurant, mentioning a place where a New Yorker would not go unless he had several dollars to spare for luncheon and a couple of hours to devote to gustatory delights.

The stenographers compromised on one of the best downtown restaurants.

"We had a good, quick lunch," said one of the stenographers on their return. "And it only took us an hour."

"Do you call that a 'quick lunch' in Chicago?" asked the reporter.

"Anything over 15 minutes we call a dinner in New York."

DECISION RECEIVED

Finding of the Supreme Court

Belcher-McDonald Case is Sent Back for a New Trial.

The full decision of the supreme court of Canada in the famous Belcher-McDonald suit has been received in Dawson.

The case has attracted widespread attention owing to the prominence of the parties, and the large sum of money involved.

The matter was taken on appeal from the Yukon territorial court to the supreme court of British Columbia, where the original decision was affirmed. Thence it was carried to the supreme court of Canada by which the findings of the lower courts have been reversed and a new trial ordered.

The attorney for the plaintiff, Mr. C. M. Woodworth and for the defendant the firm of Noel & Noel. The latter state that the case will be carried to the Privy Council.

The findings of the Supreme court are contained in the following:

In the Supreme Court of Canada. In the case of Belcher, Plaintiff, and Alexander McDonald, Defendant.

Present: Sir Edwar Tschereau, C. J., and Sedgewick, Davies, Mills and Armour J. J.

On appeal from the supreme court of British Columbia, sitting in appeal from the Yukon territorial court.

Judgment of the court delivered 5th May, 1903.

Armour J.—This appeal should, in my opinion, be allowed. It is impossible, in the evidence before us, to uphold the judgment of the trial judge affirmed by the supreme court of British Columbia being as it manifestly is, against the evidence.

The admissions made by the defendant to the plaintiffs of his indebtedness to Calder in the $50,000 balance of the $100,000 note, and in one-half of the clean-up to 1899 amounting to $26,222, none of which admissions did he go into the witness box and deny. His assignment to the plaintiffs of Calder's one-undivided half of the claim 27 Eldorado, his assignment of the dumps to the plaintiffs, and his offering security to the plaintiffs for the amount of his indebtedness to Calder in respect of the $50,000 and $26,222, were wholly inconsistent with the more than doubtful story which he afterwards set up that the $100,000 note was given by him to Calder "in lieu of property and whatever I owned at that time."

The erroneous rulings of the trial judge suffice also to set aside his judgment, among which were his refusing to amend allowing the plaintiffs to allege an account stated, his refusing to allow the referee to consider the $50,000 and refusing to allow evidence to be given of the deposits made by the defendant in 1898 in banks and elsewhere.

The appeal should, therefore, be allowed and a new trial had and the defendant should pay the costs of this court and of the court appealed from and the costs of the last trial, with leave to the parties to amend their pleadings as they may be advised.

HEIDLER AT SEA

Don't Know Whether He Has a Hotel or Restaurant.

J. L. Heidler of the Arcade eating emporium on First avenue does not know whether he is conducting a hotel or a restaurant as his license was switched on him by the license inspector without his consent. As a result he was in police court this morning on the charge of conducting a restaurant without a license. At request of the prosecution the case was enlarged until the return of Commissioner Congdon who, it is said, can shed light on the entanglement.

NOT SUSTAINED.

James A. Young Dismissed on Charge of Theft.

James A. Young, known as "Slim" was dismissed by Magistrate Wroughton yesterday after a hearing on the charge of the theft of a watch and chain from a man named Anderson on May 16th. Anderson admitted that at the time he lost the watch he was drunk and did not know how it was lost. It was proven, however, that the watch was in Young's possession but it was not proven that he had stolen it.

Jumped H's Bond.

San Bernardino, Cal., May 23.—George Ryan, who was arrested here yesterday by telegraphic instructions from the chief of Police of Middleton, N. Y., jumped a bail bond of $2,500. He is a bartender by profession, and when he skipped out from Middleton, just after the arrest for grand larceny and seduction, he was an officer and active member of Knights of Pythias.

He took with him $500 and went to Chicago, from there to Denver, and then to Los Angeles. He was quickly traced from one point to the other, the officers first getting a clue to his plans by a remark he let fall to a friend, saying that he would go to the towns mentioned.

Ryan's record is "one of the worst of the sort yet brought to light, in that his victims are numerous and all are mill girls."

He appears to have carried on a regular business of satisfying his desires in this direction, counting on the fact that those wronged were of a class who had not the means to assist financially in his prosecution. He is the son of rather wealthy parents, his father being proprietor of the leading hotel in Middleton.

Here the young folks of the town gathered for their social gayeties and this added to the use of his criminal plans.

It chanced that one of the victims decided to make him keep his promises to her, and toward that end entered a charge of seduction under promise of marriage. He was no sooner behind the bars than another girl with an infant only a few weeks old was also forced into notoriety by filing a similar charge, and Ryan having secured his release soon after his arrest, his friends going bond in the sum of $2,500, decided that things were getting too hot for him and so skipped the state.

April Fool Joke

At an amateur dramatic performance in the Naval Academy on April 1 one of the instructors played a new April fool joke. The audience had assembled and everything was in readiness for the curtain to be rung up, when one of the instructors made his appearance, carrying in his hand a telegram. "I wish to make an announcement—a very sad announcement," he said in funeral tones. "Under the circumstances it scarcely seems fitting that the entertainment should proceed. Word has just been received that one of the navy's vessels has gone down with all on board." A hush of horror followed this gravely delivered speech, for most of those in the audience were connected by close family ties with the navy. "What was the name of the vessel?" came a voice from the rear of the hall. "The submarine boat Holland," replied the instructor, as he dodged and made a hasty exit. Chicago Tribune.

LITIGATION OVER WAGES

Chas. Bowhay's Employees After Him

Young Frenchman An Accurate Book Keeper in His Own Crude Way.

The woes of the mine owner are not all in sitting up and guarding his treasure with a Gatling gun. He has others. Only a few days ago John Murray who had worked since last fall for Chas. W. Bowhay on Gold Hill, paid himself from some gold he saw in a blower and for which Murray is now serving an eight day sentence. This morning Bowhay was defendant in three cases before Mr. Justice Macaulay for wages alleged to be due from him to men who worked for him. Attorney Aikman appeared for Bowhay in the several cases and Attorney Geo. Black for the plaintiffs.

Chas. Murray sued for $102.50 on a time check which he had already negotiated to a man at Grand Forks who in turn had settled it with Bowhay taking part cash and a note for the balance. This case was dismissed.

A man named Boudoin sued Bowhay for $380 of which amount Bowhay was willing to admit $367.50 but Boudoin showed that his own system of book-keeping was infallible in that he carried a calendar and marked down on the date every evening the number of hours he had worked that day. He scoffed at the imputation that he had on certain occasions been too drunk to mark down his time and said that while drinking he did not attempt to do any work. Bowhay finally admitted Boudoin's time to be correct and judgment for the amount claimed was given. Attorney Black asked if Bowhay could not be thrown into jail in case of failure to pay and his honor said that such could not be done unless fraud was proven and that no charge of fraud had been made in the complaint.

W. H. Green also had suit against Bowhay for $250 but as he had not kept his own time his settlement was made according to the time kept by Bowhay who desired to charge him $50 for getting drunk and allowing water to freeze in a boiler. Judgment was also given Green for the amount due.

King is Scored

London, May 23.—The Work, a religious weekly, that upon more than one occasion has distinguished itself for narrow-mindedness, has eclipsed its previous performance by its comments upon the visit of King Edward to the Pope. Here are a couple of extracts from the latest issue:

"The King of Great Britain and Emperor of India has had to demean himself by asking graciously to be received by a miserable old man who personally is worthy of little respect, and who officially is nothing better than an international nuisance, who is the enemy of Great Britain at home and abroad. The whole thing is a miserable burlesque, in which the King of England has divested himself of all his sovereign attributes and become lackey to the enemy of good."

The paper which reported the arrangements for King Edward's visit to Leo XIII, also recorded the great disaster to his majesty's troops in Somaliland. Perhaps the Somali reverse and the volcanic disaster in Canada may serve to remind that the papal blessing nearly always has proved an omen of evil."

PAIR OF DRUNKS

After One Year's Absence Miners Become Hilarious

After spending a year on Hunker bedrock Dawson looked good to Hugh McLennan when he arrived yesterday and the result was that he first filled up on booze after which he began to make his presence manifest. He seemed to desire that people should know that he was in town and he succeeded. He became so disorderly in a First avenue saloon that it became necessary to send out for a policeman. Constable Carter answered the call. The rest is easily told. Hugh was very modest and retiring this morning when he explained the case to Mr. Justice Macaulay. A fine of $1 and costs was imposed.

Fred Knance, an account of whose falling from the Aurora dock into the muddy waters of the Yukon while drunk was published in the Nugget yesterday, was gloriously sober this morning. Fred had come to town on Saturday after hibernating on Last Chance for a year. He pleaded guilty and said, "I was a little intoxicated too much." He paid $1 and costs.

Still Confined.

Lawrence Cobb, the young Englishman brought in from Sulphur a week or more ago suffering from mental aberration, is still confined at the police asylum. He was this morning remanded one more week for further observation.
