

SHIONS.

It is said that the little red-haired girl, who was the subject of the "Shions" column, is now growing into a fine young woman. Her hair, which was once so curly and bright, is now straight and black. Her complexion is fair and clear, and she has a sweet smile that makes her a favorite with all who know her.

End of the Life of an Ex-Presbyterian Minister

Known, Dec. 28.—A fatal occurrence is reported in connection with the burning of the Sharbot Lake house, at Sharbot Lake. This morning at four o'clock a lady was going to work and the reflection of fire in one of the windows alarmed the inmates of the hotel. All escaped safely but Joshua Fraser, formerly a minister in the Presbyterian church, and an appellant from the Presbytery to the Synod and Assembly against his sentence of deposition, was not so fortunate.

MISS PHELPS' ROMANCE.

Her Meeting With Mr. Ward Came About Through One of Her Books. One lovely and illustrious old maid has become a wife. She is Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, the authoress of many exquisite religious books. One of which is the famous "Gates Ajar." She also wrote "Old Maid's Paradise," and was regarded by her friends as confirmed by choice in single blessedness. Marriage had certainly been optional ever since childhood, but she habitually declared that she would never wed. Nevertheless, she is the bride of the Rev. Herbert D. Ward. There is a little story to tell about this. The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. Dr. William Hayes Ward, editor of the Independent.

DOMESTIC RECEIPTS.

Plain Bread.—Sifted with boiling water half a cup of Indian meal, and the same amount of flour; when cool add two quarts of flour, two-thirds of a cup of yeast; mix with warm water, milk or beer, pretty stiff; let it well, and set to rise.
Muffins.—One quart of warm milk, one tablespoon of melted butter, one egg, two tablespoons of yeast, flour to make them a little thicker than griddle cakes; bake in muffin rings in a quick oven.
Rice Muffins.—Boil soft and dry one-half cup rice, stir in three spoonfuls of sugar, a piece of butter the size of an egg and a little salt, one pint of sweet milk, one cup of yeast, two quarts of flour. Let rise all night. If sour in the morning add a little soda dissolved in milk and bake in muffin rings.

A Valuable Discovery.

F. P. Tanner, of Newburg, Ont., says he has not only found B.B.B. a sure cure for Dyspepsia, but he also found it to be the best medicine for regulating and invigorating the system that he has ever taken. B.B.B. is the great system-regulator.

A Fireman's Heroism.

A Montreal despatch says: A fire broke out after 1 o'clock yesterday morning in a barber shop on Notre Dame street west, kept by G. Byrnes. Before the brigade arrived on the scene the upper portion in front was one mass of flames. On the fire alarm, three corps arriving the men were informed that some women and children were in the back part. They immediately ran upstairs through the dense smoke which prevailed, and when half way up flames burst out through one of the doors, compelling all of the men except Salvageme Arthur Brier, who was retained at the entrance, to cry of horror now arose from the large assembly when they saw the men fall back and obliged to leave their comrades to what they supposed a frightful death. Nothing daunted, however, by the fiery foe, which seemed to hem him in, Brier continued on his course through the smoke and finally reached one of the rooms, where he found three children nearly suffocated to death. Losing no time he snatched the three little ones up in his arms, and groping his way to the back door leading on to the gallery, kicked it off its hinges and safely landed his charges in the back yard. Like a hero he returned to the burning building, and once more brought out a woman overcome by the smoke. For the third time this brave fellow re-entered what now seemed to onlookers but a seething fiery furnace, and brought out another woman almost suffocated. A loud cheer went up when the crowd gathered that he had saved all the occupants. Had he been a few seconds later five horrible deaths would have been chronicled. All of those rescued, after receiving great care and attention from the neighbors, happily recovered. The firemen did yeoman service, and their efforts to confine the fire to one building were successful. The damage will be in the neighborhood of $1,000.

More Trouble May Be Expected.

If you do not heed the warnings of nature and at once pay attention to the maintenance of your health. How often we see a person put off from day to day the purchase of a medicine which if procured at the outstart of a disease would have remedied it almost immediately. Now if Johnston's Tonic Liver Pills had been taken when the first uneasiness made its appearance the illness would have been "nipped in the bud." Johnston's Tonic Bitters and Liver Pills are decidedly the best medicine on the market for general tonic and invigorating properties. Pills 25c per bottle. Bitters 50 cents and $1 per bottle, sold by Goode the druggist, Albion block, sole agent.

Things to Be Avoided.

Through a mistaken notion of politeness, many people indulge too freely in the use of the words "sir" and "madame" in conversation. The old etiquette which required children always to say "Yes, sir," "No, ma'am," etc., to their parents and elderly relatives is out of vogue. Young people are now taught to reply, "Yes, papa," "No, mamma," (with accent on the second syllable of papa and mamma), "Yes, aunt," "No, uncle," and the like.
Neither is it quite elegant for grown people to use the word "pleasure" with much frequency. "Will you oblige me," "Will you have the kindness," or a similar equivalent should be oftener heard.
Broken Down.
"After suffering with dyspepsia, kidney disease, loss of appetite and pain in the head until discouraged, I heard of B. B. B. took two bottles and am happy to say I feel as I feel as well as ever." Mrs. Rufus E. Merry, New Albany, N.S.

The Evolution of the Lord's Prayer at Various Festivals.

Few scholars even, are aware of the great changes through which the English language has passed in successive centuries. Following are specimens of the Lord's Prayer, as used at various periods in English history:
A. D. 1158—Fader ur heuene, hallowede betti thi neune, cumin thi kuni-riche, thi will beoht in on heuene and earthe—On urthe days bred give us to daye. And forgiue our detours, as vi iouforin ur detours. And leno us our detours. And led us not in temptation, bote deluyour us vi el. Amen.
A. D. 1300—Fader ure in heuene. Hallowe be thi name, thi kingdom come, thi will be done as in heuene and earthe—On urthe days bred give us to daye. And forgiue our detours, as vi iouforin ur detours. And led us not in temptation, bote deluyour us vi el. Amen.
A. D. 1370—Our fadir thi art in heuene hallowe be thi name, thi kingdom come, to be thi will done in erthe as in heuene, geve us to this daye our bread, our other substance, forgiue to us our detours, led us not into temptation; bote deluyour us vi el. Amen.
A. D. 1561—Our father which art in heuene, sanctified by thy name. Let thy kingdom come. Thy will be done as in heuene, in earth also. Give us to day our superfluous bread. And forgiue us our detours as we forgiue our detours. And led us not into temptation. But deliver us from evil. Amen.
A. D. 1711—Our father which art in heuene, hallowe be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heuene. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgiue us our debts as we forgiue our debtors. And led us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and glory forever. Amen.—The Academy.

Consumption Surely Cured.

To THE EDITOR.—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumption, if they will send me their Express and P. O. address.
Respectfully, Dr. T. A. SLOCUM,
37 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

Some Disadvantages of Fault Finding.

Don't find fault, that is, in the flaw picking, grumbling way. It not only makes you look and seem and feel disagreeable at the time, but it permanently mars beauty. About the mouth there is certain to come a cluster of lines to tell the world at large of the poverty of his owner. It makes the eyes smaller, because they contract at the time, and the lips grow extremely sensitive from continual biting.

A Wonderful Organ.

The largest organ, and one that plays a controlling part on the health of the body is the liver. If torpid or inactive the whole system becomes diseased. Dr. Chase's Liver Cure is made especially for Liver and Kidney diseases, and is guaranteed to cure. Recipe book and medicine $1. Sold by all druggists.

Not a Book A Cent.

Mr. Goode, druggist, is not a book agent, but the agent in Goderich for Johnston's Tonic Bitters, which he can heartily recommend for any complaint to which a tonic medicine is applicable. This valuable medicine has been with most astonishingly good results in cases of general debility, weakness, irregularities peculiar to females, extreme paleness, impoverishment of the blood, stomach liver troubles, loss of appetite, and for that general worn out feeling that nearly every one is troubled with at some part of the year. Don't forget the name Johnston's Tonic Bitters 50c. and $1 per bottle at Goode's drug store, Albion block, Goderich, sole agent.

Apology Worse Than the Offense.

A little girl who had a foolish habit of plain speaking was taken to the sewing circle with her mother. On entering the room, after exchanging greetings with several matrons of her acquaintance, Miss Truthful walked up to another lady, and in the confident tone of one who gives utterance to a self-evident fact, she said, loudly enough for every one present to hear:—"Why, Mrs. Handley, how homely you are!"

A Profitable Life.

Few men have accomplished the same amount of work and good in this world as the celebrated Dr. Chase. Over 500,000 of his works have been sold in Canada alone. We want every person troubled with Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Headache, Kidney or Urinary Troubles, to buy a bottle of Dr. Chase's Liver Cure, it will cure you. Medicine and Receipts Book $1. Sold by all druggists.

Points Small but Important.

"It" is a very good pronoun, but it should be kept in reserve.
According to the etiquette of the best society, the knife and fork are left on the plate when passed for a second supply.
The spoon should be allowed to rest in the saucer when one drinks from a coffee or tea cup.
A guest unable to attend a wedding sends two cards (to arrive on the day of the wedding), one addressed to the bride's parents, the other to the newly wedded pair.
No harm will come to a girl from the companionship of a nice and good chaperon—her mother, if possible.

A Keckle Escape.

"For six years I suffered with my throat and enlarged tonsils. I was very weak; I doctored four years and had advice from three doctors; they said I would have to undergo an operation. I tried B. B. B. instead. One bottle cured me. M. A. Squeob, Raglan, Ont. 2

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery, it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.
When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.
Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the names of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them, that is take Roschke's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain.

The "cemetery report" that was to have been presented to Mr Proudfoot on the evening of election day failed to materialize.

Mr C. SEAGER has been appointed Clerk of the 1st Division Court, Huron, re J. S. Macdougall, deceased.

MAYOR-ELECT BUTLER's majority surprised everyone but his most intimate friends, and is unquestionably a great test of personal popularity.

According to the opinion of "Merx," the financial critic of The Budget, of Toronto, the year just closed has only been a bad one to a few Canadian industries, notably the merchants.

DOING HIM HONOR.

Mr. M. G. Cameron Banquetted by the Bar of Huron.

A sumptuous dinner at the "British Exchange"—The County Bar Largely Represented—Kind words to the Guest of the Evening—Mr. Cameron's Reply.

On Tuesday evening last Mr M. G. Cameron, who for some years has occupied a place in the well-known firm of Cameron, Holt & Cameron, and who has recently severed connection with the firm, was banquetted by his brethren of the Bar of Huron County, previous to his departure for Toronto, where he purposes practicing his profession in the future.

MR. CAMERON'S REPLY. Mr M. G. Cameron, on rising to respond was greeted with loud applause. He said: I really do not know how to thank you for the distinguished honor I am receiving in your assembling this evening to bid me farewell on the eve of my departure from this town and county.

rather of joy and pleasure, since it emancipated our friend from the petty thralldom of a county town, and welcomed him into a larger life where, if the blows to be struck are the harder, the victory to be gained is much more to be prized. Of course we shall all miss him, and in the narrow sense, regret his going. He has in his profession, no less than in his social life, made nothing but friends, who will anxiously watch and gladly welcome the coming "glory" with which we all feel sure he shall soon be crowned.

that will not be the case if earnest determination, consistent toil and continuous application can avert it. (Loud applause.) It was not without trepidation that I took the step, but having taken it I am bound to succeed, if it is in me to do so. (Hear, hear.) I am Scotch enough for that. I have a distinct object in view and that I am bound to attain, and God firm conviction that the statement of a celebrated novelist (I may not have his exact words but I have his meaning) can be verified in everyday life, and it is this: That the hill has never yet lifted its face to heaven that perseverance will not gain the summit of it at last. This is my motto. (Applause.) To that I intend to hold with determination and will be greatly strengthened and increased by the many expressions of goodwill and encouragement I have received from the members of the Bar of the County of Huron, young and old.

JANUARY BARGAINS.

Dress Goods at Cost. Ulsterings at Cost. Tweeds at Cost. Blankets at Cost. Flannels at Cost. Hosiery at Cost.

A special line of Ladies Wool Hose in Black and Colors, 20c. per pair.

WANTED.—Good home-made Wool Socks and Woolen Yarn.

J. A. REID & BRO.

Jordan's Block, Goderich, Dec. 12th, 1888.

Measrs. Davison and Campion, of Goderich, and E. E. Wade, of Brussels, responded, each speaking words of high esteem to the guest of the evening.

Song, "March of the Cameron men," by Mr. R. Collins of Exeter. "The County Officials" brought county clerk Adamson, Sheriff Gibbons and County Court Clerk McDonald to their feet in bright, pithy and sparkling sentences of good will and encouragement to the departing guest.

Song by Mr. R. S. Williams—"The Village Blacksmith," in good style. "The Commercial Interest" elicited notes of endorsement from Messrs Drummond and Williams of the Bank of Montreal, and Commerce, respectively, a flowery rhetorical panegyric from Mr. Hutchison, Manager of the Big Mill; and golden opinions based upon a permanent investment of friendship and perpetual good will from Mr. Horton, of the H. & B. Loan and Investment Society.

"The Municipal Institutions" toast was responded to by the retiring Mayor, (Mr. Seager), and Reeve, (Mr. Johnston) and Mayor-elect Butler and Reeve-elect Proudfoot, and it was difficult to say who most highly prized the municipal institutions—the going or the coming men.

A volunteer toast, "Mr. R. H. Collins," brought that gentleman to his feet. He disowned consanguinity with the controversial "John Collins," but believed that there were thousands in our broad land who daily sounded the latter's praise. (Loud applause.) He also sang in good voice "Fair Canada."

Mr. R. G. Reynolds, in response to repeated calls, sang, "Bacon and Greens," and being rapturously encored, gave in capital form, "A Warrior Bold."

"The Ladies" were championed by Messrs Drummond and Davison, and Mayor-elect Butler, each and all of whom acknowledged their inability to deal with the subject as its great merits deserved. As Mr Drummond pitifully put it, "A thousand years would be too short a time, and a thousand tongues would be too feeble to properly sound the praises of The Ladies." (Loud Applause.)

Mr M. C. Cameron proposed the "Host and Hostess," and in doing so took occasion to thank all present for the honor they had done his son. He knew him well, and knowing him as he did, he had no doubt of his ultimate success in his new field of labor. (Applause.) He then returned thanks to the host for the capital spread, and in doing so, stated the present proprietor of the "British Exchange" was but carrying out the good rule of his father, of never undertaking anything without doing it well.

SHEPPARTON.
Miss Kelly, from near Brussels, the successor to Miss Glen, entered on her duties as teacher of the Shepparton school for 1889, Thursday last week. The birth of 1889 was welcomed by a dance at Jas Hogarth's in which all had a good time, and the fatigues of a sewing bee on Friday were forgotten by a dance at Peter Green's Friday night, at which all were pleased to meet G. and A. Green recently returned from the northwest and Michigan.

Mothers who have delicate children can see them daily improve and gain in flesh and strength by giving that perfect food and medicine, Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, Dr W A Hulbert, of Salisbury, Ill., says: "I have used Scott's Emulsion in cases of scrofula and debility. Results most gratifying. My little patients take it with pleasure." Sold by all druggists 50c and $1.00.

Girls, Attention!
Did you ever step over a broomstick? Read then this fable.
Once upon a time a patriarch, being, full of years said unto his son, "Choose for thyself a wife, my son, who never stepeth over a broomstick." And after the death of his father, the son remembered the word and being desirous of taking to himself a wife, said one day, "I appoint this broomstick to choose for me a wife." And, so saying, he placed it on the ground before his house. The women of the town passed by one by one; some stumbled, some jumped over it. At last a certain young woman stooped and put it in its place against the door. True to his promise, the young man offered her his hand, and she, being prudent and a little inclined to sentiment, accepted it forthwith. She became the wife of a wealthy and educated man, and he the husband of an elderly and industrious woman. This fable teaches—what?

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Editorial Broom: Culled by the Detroit Free Press.

We call the following from the last issue of The Arizona Kicker:

SUSPENDED.—With this issue we suspend the agricultural department, established five weeks ago. We instituted this feature as an experiment, and to help out a literary tenderfoot from the east, who was bare-footed and peniless, but who was fertile of suggestions. The experiment was a failure.

We have hidden the tenderfoot a permanent and lasting adieu, and we now bid farewell to agriculture as a set thing. We shall occasionally refer to the subject in a reckless, offhand way, taking chances on results, but the will be no further studied attempt to make the sandy plains get up and hump themselves into fields of waving corn, and we shall cover the rocky hillside heretofore with vineyards or patches of deceptive buckwheat. Good-by, tenderfoot—good-by, agriculture!

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS.—We cannot return rejected manuscripts. If not accompanied by stamps we use them to light the office fire. If stamps are sent we use them on our business letters. If the author of "Seven Buckets of Blood, or the Corkscrew's Revenge," will send her address to this office she will hear of something to her advantage. We have received a sketch entitled "Bob-tailed Bob, or the Lovers of Bobber's Hill," which we will publish on receipt of the author's check for $50. We must respectfully decline the stories entitled "Her Father Booted Me" and "An Adventure with Indians in France." They seem to have an immoral tone.

STEADILY IMPROVING.—Since our last issue Col. Fairbanks has had three rods of beautiful picket fence erected in front of his adobe, and the Gem saloon has received three barrels of whisky and a new pier glass. We chronicle these improvements in no boastful spirit, but simply that outsiders may know that the spirit of progress is not dead within us. We are going right to the front as a town.

ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn that Maj. Jackson, one of the pioneer residents of our little city, kicked at his dog last Saturday and drove his big toe back into his heel by hitting the corner stone of the new Masonic temple.

The major was our second subscriber. We sympathize with him in his dark hour of trial, and trust that he may soon reappear among us. Should his condition become critical we shall issue daily bulletins from this office.

GO HENCE.—A correspondent wishes us to explain the meaning of the term "From Alpha to Omega." We should do it. We have had politics enough for one season, and propose to let up on the machine. We never heard of Alpha, anyhow, and as for old Omega, may he be damned.—Detroit Free Press.

HE HAD TRIED IT.

Mrs. Fitz Noodle had company to tea. Little Fitz Noodle had been told just how to behave, and a good big bribe was promised him if he acted out his part of the programme. He did very well until he saw the company beginning to leave. Then, when they were served in small dishes, then fixing his round eyes on a majestic old lady opposite to him, he bawled in the sweet tones of childhood: "Did yer taste the pill?"—Detroit Free Press.

HARDLY PREPARED TO CRITICISE.

Young Writer (to friend)—I say, Fred, have you seen my book which was published a little over a year ago?

Fred.—Oh, yes; I bought it the first day it came out, Charley!

Young Writer.—Thanks. Did you find it interesting?

Fred.—Well, to tell the truth, Charley, I haven't finished it yet.—Harper's Bazar.

STONE APPLIED.

When little pill boxes with flowers and poetry began to pour in and the rambling letters increased, Mr Windsor says he wrote to Mrs Field to discontinue this correspondence, and after her mother had called on him her letters did stop.

Some of Mrs Field's letters and notes were produced in court. One was a card giving Mr Windsor free passage over the "Second Street Railway," and signed "Helen C. Field's Manager."

A letter written last spring said that she understood from "manifestations" that she was too ill to come to his office, but that if he would call on her it would be all right and she would waive formalities with pleasure.

About ten days ago he received her photograph, and three days ago he returned it by request. He had not spoken to her since last summer, and he never noticed her on the street. He had never spoken to her of marriage.

Mrs Helen C. Field, when put on the stand, said the whole affair was a "mistake," and that she had misunderstood the "signs."

The jury brought in a verdict of "not insane."

THE YOKOHAMA FIRE BRIGADE.

When a fire breaks out in one of the interior villages of Japan; if the wind is blowing, the town is practically gone. The roofs are in many cases of thatch. There are no fire departments to speak of, outside of the large cities, and the six little steam engines which form Tokio's Fire Department would not weigh altogether more than two American steamers. The firemen of Yokohama wear blue hats like butter bowls. Their pants stop just above the knees, and their blue gowns have a round white ring on the back, inside of which is written in glaring letters—the Yokohama fire brigade.

Eye fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucous secretion, the discharge is accompanied with burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. 50cts. at druggists; by mail, registered, 60cts. Ely Brothers, Druggists, Oswego, New York.

MARRIED IN HER MIND.

Mrs Helen C. Field Weds Mr Windsor But His Brains' Know It.

A Wichita, Kan., despatch says: A strange case of delusion, real or pretended, was brought to light in the Probate Court to-day, when Mrs Helen C. Field was tried as to her sanity at the instigation of Perry Windsor, a prominent society man and manager of a leading loan and mortgage company here, to whom Mrs Field imagines that she is married.

Mrs Field's mother testified that during last June and July her daughter had been very nervous and very queerly. She testified that she was engaged to Mr Windsor, and one day went to his place of business and on her return told her mother that they were to be married that afternoon.

"HE COMETH NOT" SHE SAID.

Mrs Field dressed herself in a white dress and stood on the front porch that afternoon awaiting the coming of the groom. Mr Windsor did not appear, of course, but she continued to dress herself in the same fashion for two days, and then her mother went to Mr Windsor and asked him if he intended wedding her widowed daughter. The gentleman said he had no such intention. He added that he had been receiving anonymous letters and postal cards, and also little packages of flowers, etc., from Mrs Field, containing allusions to certain matters of which he had no knowledge, and that he wanted it stopped. It was then that Mrs Field's mother concluded that her daughter was insane, and going home she told her what Mr Windsor said, and advised her daughter to drop the matter. Mrs Field seemed to give up the idea.

Nothing strange was noticed in her manner from July until about six weeks ago, when she again began to talk of signs and manifestations and connected Mr Windsor's name with them. She would watch the window for a passing burglar, and on seeing the one containing her supposed lover would say:

"There is another sign. The marriage will now soon be consummated."

BUT SHE WAITED IN CHURCH AT MIDNIGHT.

About that time she also began to talk of the Church and said she would not allow her lover to come between her and her God, as she thought he wished to. She would dress in her best and go to church at 10 or 11 o'clock at night and sit there, and on returning home would say a portion of the marriage ceremony had been performed.

Last Sunday night she went to church and sat some time. On returning she said part of the marriage ceremony had been performed and that in a few days it would end. Last Wednesday night she went again. She soon returned and said that the matter would be settled this week.

Last night she made another trip. On two different Sundays she dressed and awaited her lover to be married.

Mr Windsor, the plaintiff, said that he met Mrs Field about two years ago in a business way. Shortly afterward he began to get anonymous postal cards and letters, which considerably annoyed him. Finally he got letters and packages signed with Mrs Field's name. She made allusions to things of which he had no knowledge.

AND SENT HIM POSIES AND POETRY.

Then little pill boxes with flowers and poetry began to pour in and the rambling letters increased. Mr Windsor says he wrote to Mrs Field to discontinue this correspondence, and after her mother had called on him her letters did stop.

About that time he was informed that there was a blackmailing scheme being worked by Mrs Field and he was asked if he was engaged to her. He, of course, said no. His idea was that the blackmailing theory was correct, and he took precautions accordingly.

Some of Mrs Field's letters and notes were produced in court. One was a card giving Mr Windsor free passage over the "Second Street Railway," and signed "Helen C. Field's Manager."

A letter written last spring said that she understood from "manifestations" that she was too ill to come to his office, but that if he would call on her it would be all right and she would waive formalities with pleasure.

EXPULSION OF WORMS.

When a woman makes up her mind not to be swindled she won't be. A Chicago paper tells the story of a sharp housewife and the way she outwitted a cheating furniture store. The firm in question had a very elegant parlor set of solid mahogany and finest upholstery. It also had duplicates in veneered wood and cheap plush in the storeroom. The costly outfit, which was worth about $200, was displayed in the window and marked: "This elegant parlor suite only $27." One day a mild, meek-looking woman came in, examined the furniture and invested. She took a receipt for her money, left her address and was bowed out by the smiling salesman, who assured her that "the thing would be sent right over." In due time the wagon arrived at the young woman's house and backed up in front of the door. "Hold on," said the purchaser, "don't unload yet." Then she climbed on the van and made a very special examination of the load. At last she said to the driver and his partner: "Get back with you to the store. These are not the goods I purchased." And back she did go, despite entreaties, protests and assurances that "everything was all right." When she walked in she was not the mild mannered creature of 10 hours before. "You've tried to swindle me," she cried, "I bought one set of furniture and you have sent me another. Now I want what I have paid you for. How do I know? Because in every article of that set you sold me I stuck a pin while you were not looking. Now, I'm going to pick out my property and see that you take it over. If you don't then I'll be trouble." There was no trouble, and the little woman is again looking for some sharp merchant with a similar "bargain" on hand.

A CAR. DISAP.

Wells," said a lady, to the writer yesterday, "I was at a dinner party last night where all the latest kinks were put in; I was glad to find one that is really sensible and a comfort. I don't care about eating my rice cream with a fork, or about having a wonderful and specially devised spoon for Roman punch, or a new patent back-action fork for my salad, or about seeing the olives tied up with ribbons, or about having my napkins changed four times during the meal. I think lots of these trifles are tiresome, but I am glad to have a bone dish!"

"A bone dish!" echoed the bright listener. "Yes, don't you know how in England they are always giving you a sort of informal way an extra plate, not changing your plate, but letting you have two at once? At breakfast or lunch, to be sure, it is not so informal, it is there regularly for your butter—instead of the little smids of dishes we use—and for anything else you want it for, and you always do want it to receive your bones and potato skins. I've always thought that though we make so much fuss and elaboration in our social table arrangements, that nothing compensated for the comfort the English get out of that extra plate. Now I found last night that the latest tip-top touch is this something, only of course with a Yankee improvement. The bone dish is now launched in America, but it is not another round plate, but a long oval dish, taking up much less room, and it is for you to use as a receptacle for whatever you don't want on your plate. It is a glorious comfort!"—N. Y. Graphic.

A CURE FOR DEAFNESS.

There have been many remarkable cures for deafness made by the use of Haggard's Yellow Oil, the great household remedy for pain, inflammation and soreness. Yellow Oil cures Rheumatism, Sore Throat and Croup, and is useful internally and externally for all pains and injuries.

THE HOUSEWIFE'S KEY.

The utmost care on the part of the housewife is the price paid for the health of the family. We have all heard the story of the father of the German bride who gave his daughter a golden casket, with the proviso that she was to pass it to any other hands, for he held a casket which in her keeping, would be of inestimable value to her as the mistress of a house. Not only was she to have the entire care of it, but she was to take it every morning to the cellar, and the kitchen, and the stable and to remain with it in each place for three minutes. After the lapse of three years the father was to send the key, that the secret of the treasure might be discovered. Directions were followed, the key was sent and the casket opened, when it was found to contain a gold parchment, upon which was written:

"The eyes of the mistress is worth a hundred pairs of servants' hands." The wise father knew that a practice of inspection, followed faithfully for a period of three years, with such results as we may reasonably believe followed, would be perpetuated—that the casket and hidden charm would have accomplished their mission.

In the hands of every housewife is committed a casket far more precious than the result of any jeweler's art. Unseen thieves are continually lurking about that threaten its safety, never so numerous as in early winter. The casket is the health of the family; the danger that threatens it, disease. Its preservation depends on watchfulness born of love.

SOCIAL ETIQUETTE.

What is in fashionable parlance a morning wedding is one occurring at any time before 6 o'clock p. m. On such an occasion the groom does not appear in evening dress, even though the bride be in full dress toilette. His proper costume is a black frock coat (or a cutaway, in favor of which there is a strong movement just now), light trousers, pearl leather shoes, white cross grain four in hand scarf, pearl gloves with pearl or black stitching and silk hat. The best man and ushers are similarly attired, but wear either pearl or lavender gloves with broad black stitching on the back. The bride is in full dress white toilette or travelling dress, according to preference.

Gaslight is extremely becoming, and therefore much used at day weddings.

DANGEROUS CONCERTS.

Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always closely imitate the ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take imitation dealers may urge upon you. THE CARS OF RUSSIA.

At Moscow and St Peterburg the street cars are similarly constructed to those in Paris, but are a little larger. They are almost as long as the passenger coach on a steam road, have double decks or two stories, and accommodate over sixty passengers without crowding. A stairway winds up at the rear of the cars leading to the long seats above, over which is a wooden roof or canopy, and the passengers have the privilege of a seat in the breeze above or in the enclosure below, the latter being like the interior of American street cars. Eight horses are used when there is snow on the ground, four of them being hitched abreast. In the summer four horses, two abreast at the pulling, and two to run the car, a conductor, a driver, and a man who rides the off horse hitched in the rear. The driver rings a bell continuously, and when anyone attempts to cross the track in close proximity he rings more vigorously and in seven different languages. The fare is usually twenty kopeks, which is about ten cents. The street cars in Russia are not old institutions and are not very liberally patronized.

IN BRIEF, AND TO THE POINT.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good-nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad coffee, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics. But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember.—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents. cowl

Character-Building.

The address delivered by Dr. Rand, of McMaster Hall, to the students of the Toronto Normal School, in connection with the closing exercises on the 20th ult., lays stress upon what are undoubtedly the prime requisite of the schools in these days, the formation of right character.

Developing the thought that "will is the chief factor of personal character," Dr. Rand says:—

"Earnest and honest effort in behalf of this thorough-going training of the self will disclose to you what as teachers you can best do by way of helping those committed to your charge. That help will be wisely given if it stimulates them to self-effort. The teacher is first and chiefly a stimulator of his pupils' energies, and then an inspector and director of their work. It is never to be forgotten that it is what we do by and for ourselves that educates us, and the teacher's duty is not discharged unless he secures real activity, actual mental and moral doing, on the part of his pupils.

The training of the will through mental work is a great opportunity even awaiting the teacher. He must 'moralize' as well as 'mentalize' children. The danger to be guarded against is that the child will give assent, but will not do. Obedience is the basis of all ethical culture, but it is to be remembered that as the child unfolds he should pass from a state of dependence on the will of another to that of dependence on his own will. Education may be very practically defined as working against the chance influences of life. Will is educated and character formed by effort, not by acquisition. The consciousness of effort, the outputting of overcoming energy, develops the will and counts for character. Hence the unspoken service rendered by the teacher in stimulating children in the use of their own powers, for it is this steady, energetic use that develops the will-quality of mind. Through habit there must be woven a pleura which shall serve as the very web of character."

Inseparably connected with all right training of the will, is the recognition of the supremacy of conscience. Conscience must be educated, strengthened and enthroned as the supreme lord of conduct.

"The education of the conscience is central in all character-making, and no greater service is possible to you than can be thus rendered to the pupils themselves and thereby to society. The power to feel ethical emotions in view of right is one to be sorely cherished. "Find out the right!" Choose the right! Do the right! are the great imperatives of the soul and cannot safely be disregarded in the development of a life. Conscience is the imperative energy of the soul. Obedience to the dictates of conscience is the condition of its becoming the controlling energy in the life."

Dr. Rand's address closed with these imperative words, full of encouragement for all true teachers:—

"It is indeed a great and high service to which you are giving yourselves. May I suggest that you should make character first in your lives and first in your teaching, in order that your boys and girls shall be first in all manly and womanly virtues. Our distinctive greatness as a people is not going to depend upon our vast territory, material resources, miles of railways and canals, great commercial fleets, or even the price per foot of land in Toronto, but upon the sterling character of our men and women. There is no room in the world for grander people than any which a Christian civilization has yet produced, and why should we not seek our greatness earnest and unswerving efforts in the making of such a people? Let it be our great obligation to teach our Canadian boys and girls, both by example and precept, that conscience is a sacred thing and an authoritative in conduct; that moral law reigns both in the individual life and in society, and that its requirements are disregarded to-day only to be repeated with avenging emphasis to-morrow. Let us by example and precept teach them that a Canadian reverences truth and speaks it; that he is honest, courteous, generous and brave, and that he never holds by his honor and the fear of God. And that all this shall be true, indeed, let us enflame the young lives in our charge with the recital of the heroic deeds of those who have gone before us; their deeds of courage, self-sacrifice, patriotism, and benevolence; their efforts to resist the evil and to maintain the good. Let us be unsmothered ourselves of excellence, and let our eyes rest on the summits of character, as exhibited in the life of the Divine One who 'was made flesh and dwelt among us.' And now,

"So near is God to man, When duty whispers low, 'Thou must,' The youth replies: 'I can.'"

Thou, that hath given so much to me give me one thing more—a grateful heart.—George Herbert.

"He Never Smiled Again!"

No "hardly ever" about it. He had an attack of what people call "biliousness," and to smile was impossible. Yet a man may "smile and smile, and be a villain still, still he was no villain, but a plain, blunt, honest man, that needed a remedy such as Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets," which never fail to cure biliousness and diseased or torpid liver, dyspepsia and chronic constipation. Of druggists.

Four things come not back—the spoken word, the spent arrow, the past life, the neglected opportunity.—Hazlitt.

The best regulators for the stomach and bowels, the best cure for biliousness, sick headaches, indigestion, and all affections arising from a disordered liver, are without exception Johnson's Tonic Liver Pills. Small in size, sugar coated, mild, and effective. 25 cts. per bottle sold by Grocers, druggists, Albion block, Goderich, sole agent.

True Test of Good Breeding Shown at a Hotel Table.

When the Marquis of Lorne was Governor-General of Canada, an instructive scene took place one day at the old French hotel in Quebec where he stopped.

It was reported that the Marquis with the Princess Louise would dine in the public room. Guests, servants and proprietor were assembled in a state of breathless expectation. The door was flung open and a lady in full evening dress of pink satin, with a train, diamonds sparkling off her bare neck and arms, entered and swept to her seat. No one noticed her or her gems.

A moment or two after a lady quietly dressed in a dark old gown and cap of the same stuff, entered and, with her companions, passed to a separate table. The spectators rose and did her honour as she passed. They knew that the woman in that quiet brown gown was the princess. They did not know or care that the other was the wife of a successful shop-keeper in Montreal. One woman knew the dress suitable to a public table in a hotel, the other did not.

Go where you will you may detect all sorts of a glimpse the woman who, although she is the best and end-all of life, and to whom her own riches are a novelty. They wear jewels and rich stuffs in the cars, hotels and streets. It is apparent to the most casual observer that they have not been long enough accustomed to finery. Even the woman who sweeps her new silks or velvets through the train or hotel may have a kinder heart or wider sympathies than the better bred observers who laugh at her.

A Wonderful Flesh Producer.

This is the title given to Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil by many thousands who have taken it. It not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food. Use it, and try your weight. Scott's Emulsion is perfectly palatable. Sold by all druggists, at 50c. and $1.

Restoring Worn-out Lands.

When reading regarding the subject of worn-out lands and methods of restoration are suggested, we feel like saying, "don't do it." We do not accept the idea of as much worn-out land as some would claim. If it may be said of a field that it is worn-out, we should say let it go; don't spend any energies upon any such field, but rather work upon those fields that are not worn-out; make them vastly better by the labor and expenditure that would be required to restore a worn-out field. A rearing out may consist only of injudicious cropping or treatment and only requires a change of base. It must be remembered that Nature is a bountiful provider, and that the soil has locked within its recesses elements of fertility which, by a suitable application of manurial substances, may be rendered available. Because a soil will not produce certain crops is no certain indication of being worn-out; while it may be largely exhausted of all the principal elements it may be so unbalanced by the absence of one element as to render it unsuitable for cropping. This fact demonstrates the necessity for individual experimentation.

TEMPERANCE WORK.

Items from All Over Concerning the Cause.

Martha's Vineyard Herald: The man who is well "corned" should either take the pledge or see the chiroprapist.

Baseball clubs are great factors in the work of temperance. For seven months in the year baseball organizations compel thousands of young men to abstain from drink or take the consequence of heavy fines.

"Doctor," said a wealthy patient, "I want you to be thorough and strike at the root of the disease." "I will," said the doctor, and brought down the stick with a smash on a decanter standing on the sideboard.

A deputation from the temperance organization of Prince Edward Island, waited upon the Superintendent of Education of that Province recently, and urged that the use of a temperance textbook in the public schools be authorized.

A Kansas man has been in the habit of visiting an obliging druggist and ordering drinks by wink. An enterprising tinsmith came along and photographed him in the act of taking a bowl. Druggist and customer are both in jail.

Alcohol applied to a thrifty farmer's stomach will remove the boards from his fence, let the cattle into his crops, kill the fruit trees, sow his fields with thistles, mortgage his farm, subdue his reason, rouse his passions, bring want, sorrow and disgrace on his family, and topple him into a drunkard's grave.

HAVE YOU A BOY TO SPARE? The saloon must have boys, or it must shut up shop. Can't you furnish it one? It is a great factory, and unless it can get 2,000,000 boys from each generation for raw material, some of these factories must close out and its operatives must be thrown on a cold world, and the public revenue will dwindle. "Wanted—2,000,000 boys," is the notice. One family out of every five must contribute a boy to keep up the supply. Will you help? Which of your boys will it be? The minutest of Crete had to have a tremendous fall of fair maidens each year; but the minutest of America demands a city full of boys each year. Are you a father? Have you given your share to keep up the supply for this great public institution that is helping to pay your taxes and kindly electing public officials for you? Have you contributed a boy? If not, some other family has had to give more than its share. Are you selfish, voting to keep the saloon open to grind up boys, and then doing nothing to keep up the supply?

ODDS AND ENDS.

Scraps of all kinds of interest to Every body.

Mrs. Winks—What have you got your husband for a Christmas present? Mr. Winks—Oh, something perfectly lovely; a great big handsome flowerstand and twenty-five pots of flowers. I'm sure he won't object so much to carrying 'em in and out when he knows they're his own.

Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to accept an engraving from the portrait of Sir John Macdonald, the Premier of Canada, painted by Mr. A. R. Dickson Patterson, of Toronto.

One of the most noted huntswomen in England is Lady Neville, daughter of the Marquis of Abergeeny. She is also an accomplished cricket player.

Mary Fitzgerald, now in prison in Philadelphia for picking the pocket of a well-to-do gentleman, is said to be the oldest sneak-thief in the United States. She is 80 years old, and since she was 10 has been a thief. She was in recent years not been out of goal for more than five months at a time.

A merchant complains that people "come around begging for fairs, for churches, societies and all sorts of purposes, as if the articles we sell did not cost money, and then they take these articles and sell them at fairs in opposition to what we sell ourselves."

Them ez wants, must choose. Them ez has, must loose. Them ez knowz won't blab. Them ez guessz, will gab. Them ez borrowz, sorrowz. Them ez lends, spends. Them ez gives, lives. Them ez keeps dark, is deep. Them ez kin earne, kin keep. Them ez sinn, hits; Them ez hez, gits. Them ez wits, win. Them ez will, kin.—Century Magazine.

A noted gentleman, while strolling in New York State, near the Catskills, came to a cross-road, and not knowing which one to take to reach his destination, asked a young archer, who was lying near the roadside, evidently just awakened from a sleep, the road to take. The boy, not knowing of not caring who the gentleman was, pointed with his toe the direction to take. The gentleman surprised at such laziness, said: "If you can give a lazier act than that I will make you a present of five dollars." The boy thought a moment and then rolled over and said: "Put in me pocket, sir."

RELIGION IN THE COLLEGES.

The colleges never had so many poor Christians in their midst as at present. A few examples will show this. Yale College in 1795 had but four or five students who were Church-members; to-day nearly one-half of such membership. Princeton in 1813 had but two or three openly professing the Christian faith; to-day about one-half, and among them the best scholars. In William College 147 out of 248, and in Amherst 233 out of 352, are members of Churches. In many other colleges, as proved by Dr. Hodge, from whose carefully prepared tables these figures are taken, the prospects of religion.—Archdeacon Mackay-Smith in Harper's Magazine for January.

The craze for putting ladies' watches in odd places is developing to such an extent that one may expect to see the fair ones with watches on the toes of their shoes or on the backs of their gloves or wherever they can easily see the time-pieces at a glance. In a Brounau bar yesterday three ladies met and took seats beside one another. One had a watch in the hand of her umbrella, one had a watch in the cat's paw of her pocketbook, and the third carried a tiny watch in a bracelet on her left arm. The last example of the craze, that of the bracelet, is a Viennese idea just imported. The bracelet was of leather, and was unquestionably the ugliest ornament any lady wore on Broadway yesterday.

Scribner's Magazine

The publishers of Scribner's Magazine aim to make it the most popular and entertaining of periodicals, while at all times preserving its high literary character. 25,000 new readers have been drawn to it during the past six months by the increased excellence of its contents (notably the Railway articles), and it closes its second year with a new impetus and an assured success. The illustrations will show some new effects, and nothing to make Scribner's Magazine attractive and interesting will be neglected.

THE RAILROAD ARTICLES will be continued by several very striking papers: one especially of interest will be "The Railway Postal Service." Illustrated.

MR. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON'S serial novel "The Master of Ballantrae" will run through the greater part of the year. Begun in November.

A CORRESPONDENCE and collection of manuscript memoirs relating to J. F. Millet and the famous group of painters FRENCH PAINTERS will furnish the substance of several articles. Illustrated.

The brief end papers written last year by Robert Louis Stevenson will be replaced by equally interesting contributions by different authors. Mr. Thomas Hardy's "Aldrich" will write the first of them for the January number.

Articles on ART SUBJECTS will be a feature. Papers are arranged to appear by Clarence Cook, E. H. Blasfield, Austin Dobson, and many others.

ILLUSTRATED ARTICLES of great variety, touching upon all manner of subjects travel, biography, description, etc., will appear, but not of the conventional commonplace sort. Illustrated.

"Among the most interesting in the list of scientific papers for the year will be a remarkable article by Professor John Trowbridge, upon the most recent developments and uses of PHOTOGRAPHY. Illustrated.

A class of articles which has proved of special interest will be continued by a group of papers upon ELECTRICITY in its most recent applications, by eminent authorities; a remarkable paper on DEEP MINING, and other interesting papers.

Unique Illustrations.

NASAL BALM

OSWAGOC, DIXON & CO., Ont. May 11th, 1887.

My wife suffered for five years with that distressing disease, catarrh. Her case was one of the worst known in these parts. She tried all of the catarrh remedies I ever saw advertised, but they were of no use. I finally procured a bottle of Nasal Balm. She has used only one half of it, and now feels like a new person. I feel it my duty to say that Nasal Balm cannot be TOO HIGHLY recommended for catarrh troubles, and am pleased to have all such sufferers know through its use they will receive instant relief and CURE.
