'Margaret,' The GIRL ARTIST, OR, The Countess of Ferrers Court.

CHAPTER II.

"Well, Mr. Stibblings has spoken of him. Mr. Stibblings—a perfect gentleman, my dear—is good enough to drop in and take a cup of tea some-times, and he has told me about young Lord Blair. You see, he has been in the family a great many years, and knows all its history. He says that the earl and the young nephew never did get on together, and that the young man is, oh, very wild indeed, my dear. The earl and he have only met two or three times, and then they quarreled—quarreled dreadfully. I daresay the earl feels the loss of his son, and that makes it hard for him to get on with Lord Blair. But he is really a very wicked young man, I am sorry to say."

"What does he do?" asked Margaret.

"The old lady looked rather puzzled how to describe a young man's wickedness to an innocent girl."

"Well, my dear, it would be easier, perhaps, to say what he doesn't do," she said at last.

Margaret laughed softly.

"Poor young man," she said gently. "It must be bad to be so wicked!"

"The old lady shook her head severely."

"I don't know why you pity him, my dear," she said.

"Oh, I don't know," said the girl, slowly. "Perhaps some people can't help being bad, you know, grandma! Oh, here are my things coming, now I can show you one of my pictures, and she jumped up gleefully, and commenced unfastening the brown-paper parcel."

"I did think of carrying it, but I am glad I didn't, for it was warm, and I met with an unpleasant adventure on the road, when the parcel might have been in the way. Oh, I didn't tell you, grandma! I saw such a terrible fight—a fight! think of it—as I came here."

"A fight, my dear!" exclaimed the old lady.

"Yes," nodded Margaret; "between two men; and what made it worse, one was a gentleman."

"A gentleman, Margaret! Gentlemen don't fight, my dear."

"So I thought," she said, naively; "but this one does anyway, and fights very well," she added. "At least, he knocked the other one down—a great tall fellow—as if he had been shot."

"Bless my heart! where was this?"

"Oh, just in the village here. The man—was an ill-tempered fellow. I'm sure, with such a dreadful face—"

Spent Countless Nights Unable to Rest or Sleep

Was Run Down and in Terribly Nervous Condition—By Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Gained Regularly.

In this letter is told once more the story which comes from many thousands of women. It is the story of exhausted nerves, of a run-down system and of all the accompanying misery of sleeplessness, headaches and loss of energy and vigor.

But there is a silver lining to this cloud. There is the light of new hope and courage which comes with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This letter is so representative of the kind we are daily receiving that you can judge from it what you might expect from this treatment under similar circumstances. Mrs. Conrad Schmidt, R. R. No. 1, Milverton, Ont., writes: "Two years ago last spring I was run down, had nervous prostration, and was in a terribly nervous condition. I could not sleep or eat. Could scarcely count the nights that I passed without sleep, and if I did eat, had sick headaches and vomiting spells. My limbs would swell so badly that it hurt me to walk. I would jump up in bed, kicked a poor dog, and the gentleman, who was near, fought him for it."

"Good gracious! And, of course, you ran away?"

"The girl laughed rather strangely. "No, I didn't, grandma. I ought to have done so, I meant to do so, but well, I didn't. I wish I had, for the creature had the impudence to speak to me!"

"What—the man?" aghast, "The gentleman. He came across the road and begged my pardon. I'd got the poor dog in my arms, you see, and I suppose—well, I don't know why he spoke, but perhaps it was because, being a gentleman, he felt ashamed of himself. If he didn't at first, I think he did when he went away," she added, with a laugh and a blush, as she remembered the words that had flown like darts of fire from her lips. "Oh, it was shameful! His face was cut, and there was blood"—she shuddered—"on his collar! He was a very handsome young man, too. I wonder who he was. Did I tell you he came down by the same train as I did?"

Mrs. Hale shook her head. "No one I know, my dear," she said. "None of the gentry hereabouts would fight with any one, least of all a common man. A tall man, with an ugly face—"

"Oh, very ugly and evil-looking—I think they called him Pyke."

"Pyke—Jem Pyke!" said Mrs. Hale.

"Oh, I know him; a dreadful bad character, my dear. I'm not surprised at his kicking a dog, or fighting either. He's one of our worst men—a poacher and a thief, so they say. I wonder he didn't get the best of it!"

"He got the very possible worst of it," said Margaret, with an unconscious tone of satisfaction. "There's the picture, grandma! And where will you hang it?"

It was a clever little picture; a bit of a London street, faithfully and carefully painted, and instinct with grace and feeling.

The old lady of course did not see all the good points, but she was none the less proud and delighted, and stood regarding it with admiring awe that rendered her speechless.

"You dear, clever girl," she said, kissing her, "and it is for me, really for me? Oh, Margaret, if your poor father—"

Margaret sighed.

"Get me a hammer and a nail, grandma," she said, after a moment, "and I'll put it in a good light; the light is everything, you know."

A hammer and nail were brought, and the picture hung, and the two went out into the garden, and presently the girl was singing like a nightingale from her over-brimming heart. But suddenly she stopped and looked in at the window of the room where the old lady had returned to see the unpacking and uncreasing of the clothes which had traveled in the unpretending Gladstone bag.

"Oh, grandma, I beg your pardon! I forgot! Perhaps the earl won't like my singing?"

Mrs. Hale laughed.

"The earl! My dear, he is right at the other end of the building and could scarcely hear a brass band from here! But come in now, Margaret, and have some supper. You must go to bed early after your long journey, or you won't sow the seed for those roses I want to see in your cheeks!"

Busy Workers Men and women workers should keep themselves provided with OXO CUBES.

When she woke in the morning with the scent of the honeysuckle waiting across her face, Margaret could almost have persuaded herself that Leyton Court was a vision of a dream, and that she should find herself presently on her way to the art school at Kensington amidst all the London noise and smoke. To most Londoners the country in June is a dream of Paradise; what must it have been to this young girl, with the soul of an artist, with every nerve throbbing in sympathy with the sky, the flowers, the songs of the birds?

Like a vision herself, her plainly made morning dress in a soft, dove color and fitting her slim young shape with the grace of a well-made garment that can afford to be plain, she ran down the oak stairs into the parlor. But Mrs. Hale was not there, and Mary, who glanced with shy admiration at the lovely face and pretty dress, said that she had gone to see the butler.

"You will find her in the pantry, miss, if you like. It is at the end of this passage, to the right. You can't miss it, miss."

But Margaret did miss it, for her idea of a pantry was a small place in the nature of a cupboard, whereas the pantry at the Court was a large and spacious room, and Margaret, seeing nothing to answer to her idea, opened a door, entered, found herself before another door, opened that, discovered that she was in a round kitchen of a lobby surrounded, like Blue Beard's chamber, with other doors and all at once learned that she had lost herself.

It was that of an old man, with white hair and dark—piercing dark—eyes. He was clad in a velvet dressing-gown, whose folds fell round the thin form and gave it an antique expression, which harmonized with the magnificence and silence of the gallery.

The eyes were bent on her, not sternly, not curiously, but with a calm, steadfast regard, which affected her more than any expression of anger could have done.

She stood quite still, her heart beating wildly, for she knew, though she had never seen him, that it must be the earl himself.

wasn't a doubt one of the finest collections of the kingdom—and she within the threshold of it.

Her mouth, metaphorically, began to water; her large dark eyes grew humid with wistfulness.

What cream is to a cat, water to a duck, pate de foie gras to a gourmet, an Elivator is to a bookworm, that is a picture gallery to an artist.

She could resist the temptation no longer. The place was crowned, as it were, with silence and solitude; no one would see her or know that she had been there, and she would only stay five—ten minutes.

Eve could not resist temptation—being doubtless fond of apples; Margaret could not resist, being fond of pictures. And yet, if she had known what was to follow upon this visit to Leyton Court, if there had only been some kind guardian angel to whisper:

"Fly, Margaret, my child! Fly this spot, where peril and destruction await thee!"

But, alas! our guardian angels always seem to be taking bank holiday just on the days when we most need them, and Margaret's angel was silent as the tomb.

Pushing the heavily-bulioned curtain aside she entered the gallery, and an exclamation of surprise and delight broke from her lips.

It was a priceless collection: Rubens, Vandyke, Titians, Raphael, Michael Angelo, Cuy, Jan Steen; all the masters were here, and at their best.

The soul of the girl went into her eyes, her face grew pale, and her breath came in long-drawn sighs, as she moved noiselessly on the thick Turkey carpet, which stretched itself like a glittering snake over the marble floor before the pictures.

What jewels were to some women, and dress to others, pictures were to Margaret.

She was standing right in an ecstasy before a head by Guido, her hands clasped and hanging loosely in front of her, her lovely face upturned, a picture as beautiful as the one upon which she gazed, when she suddenly became aware, without either seeing or hearing, but with that sense, which is indescribable and nameless, that she was not alone, but that some one else had entered the gallery.

The consciousness affected her strangely, and for a moment she did not move eye or limb; then, with an effort, she turned her head and saw a tall figure standing a few paces from the doorway.

It was that of an old man, with white hair and dark—piercing dark—eyes. He was clad in a velvet dressing-gown, whose folds fell round the thin form and gave it an antique expression, which harmonized with the magnificence and silence of the gallery.

The eyes were bent on her, not sternly, not curiously, but with a calm, steadfast regard, which affected her more than any expression of anger could have done.

She stood quite still, her heart beating wildly, for she knew, though she had never seen him, that it must be the earl himself.

GET IT FIRST—NOT LAST

When a cold grips your system it is convincing proof that your condition is weakened—remember that. It is risky indeed to simply trust your strength to throw it off, because neglected colds have brought more serious sickness than any other one thing, while weakening cathartics and stimulating syrups are often depressing and dangerous.

The one best treatment for any cold—the one so often relied on when others fail, is the powerful blood-nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the very sources of bodily strength to suppress the present cold and generate strength to thwart further sickness.

Get Scott's first, not last—and insist on the genuine—always free from injurious drugs. No advanced prices. Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 15-13

ATTACKS REPULSED.

PARIS, March 9. On the Verdun section, west of the village of Vaux, the French have repulsed attacks on the village of Bettecourt, according to a semi-official statement made here to-day.

A VERDUN VICTORY.

PARIS, March 9. The Germans have been repulsed between Douaumont and the village of Vaux, after several heavy attacks, accompanied by intense artillery fire, and violent infantry assaults, according to the French official statement, which says that the attackers were completely defeated after having penetrated to the village of Vaux.

GERMAN FLEET SHELTERED.

LONDON, March 9. Morning papers publish from their correspondents in Holland such details as are available there regarding the recent activity of the German fleet in the North Sea. According to these accounts the fleet included about fifty craft of all descriptions, from the most modern dreadnoughts down to the old-fashioned torpedo boats. The fleet was escorted by two Zepplins, which served as scouts, to prevent a surprise attack by hostile vessels. One trawler sighted this fleet 165 miles west of the mouth of the Elbe; another saw it thirty-five miles northwest of Ymuiden. All the German ships were painted war grey, and were invisible at a short distance. Heavy clouds of smoke frequently hid them completely. One Dutch trawler is quoted as having made the following report: During the recent raid on England, a Zepplin was seen scouting in advance of three cruisers and a fleet of destroyers which were believed to have the intention of making a dash for the English waters. The Zepplin, however, made certain discoveries regarding the watchfulness of the British fleet, and the German squadron hastily withdrew.

The German Government considers itself from this time at war with the Portuguese Government, is the conclusion of the declaration sent by the German Minister at Lisbon to the Portuguese Government. GERMAN FLEET SHELTERED.
LONDON, March 9. Leading papers publish from their correspondents in Holland such details as are available there regarding the activity of the German fleet in the North Sea. According to accounts, the fleet included the most modern dreadnoughts and the old-fashioned torpedo boats. The fleet was escorted by two cruisers, which served as scouts, to meet a surprise attack by hostile submarines. One trawler sighted this morning due west of the mouth of the Elbe; another saw it thirty-five miles northwest of Ymuiden. All the German ships were painted war grey, and were invisible at a short distance, but clouds of smoke frequently hid them completely. One Dutch trawler is reported as having made the following report: During the recent raid on England, a Zeppelin was sent scouting in advance of three destroyers and a fleet of destroyers which were believed to have the intention of making a dash for the English waters. The Zeppelin, however, made certain discoveries regarding the watchfulness of the British fleet, and the German squadron subsequently withdrew.

WAR WITH PORTUGAL.
BERLIN, March 9. The German Government considers itself free from this time on war with Portugal. The German Government, in the communication of the declaration sent by the German Minister at Lisbon to the Portuguese Government. ROME, March 9. BERLIN, March 9. From Sept. 1915, to date, 1,043 civilians, including many women and children, have been killed or wounded by hostile artillery and bombs dropped by aircraft in Belgium and French districts occupied by Germans, the Overseas News Agency stated today. are you aware that old sores and ulcers, that have defied all other treatments, will yield to Zam-Buk? Mr. Geldert, of Lunenburg, N.S., suffered from a bad leg for ten years. Doctors could do nothing for him, but Zam-Buk cured him. Mr. Geldert writes: "For ten years I suffered from a bad leg caused by a broken vein, which is the most stubborn sore to heal. I had treatment from several doctors, all of whom finally acknowledged that the case was hopeless. I used many ointments, some of which did me good for a time, healing over the outer skin, but the sore always broke out again. Then I used Zam-Buk, and I could soon see an improvement. Zam-Buk penetrated to the root of the trouble, as the other ointments had failed to do. With perseverance Zam-Buk completely and permanently healed the sore."

The Tonnage Question.

Once there were some money merchants. Had some fine big ships. Used to send them off sailing On all sorts of trips.

Coal they carried, salt and dry goods, Flour, too, and tea— Everything, in short to sell to Folk like you and me.

And, since seas, when they are plenty, Field a profit nice. All these things were stoutly built for Going through the ice.

Came a war, a dreadful business. They were much damaged. War is little short of murder: War is bad for trade.

Not for long their hearts forsook them: They sold all their fish. And the price that they obtained was All that they could wish.

Best of all, our ally wished to Buy at any price Ships that were especially built for Going through the ice.

"Here's a chance!" they cried. "We ought to Make a good thing out of it. Let us sell our fine big steamers At a handsome profit!"

So they sold their fine big steamers: One by one they went. At a gain of—no, we will not Whisper what per cent.

And the sequel? 'Tis a strange one— They could not have guessed it. What on earth can be the reason Freights are so congested?

"Not a ship to bring us flour. Coal or goods or salt! These are very necessary. This is someone's fault."

"Let us talk. Yes, let us call an indignation meeting. Here's a problem needs most urgent And most skilful treating."

So they talk, and so they call an indignation meeting. While to us the humour of it Takes a lot of beating.

But let's wish them luck. The problem is, you will agree, No concern of ordinary Folk like you and me. X. Y. Z.

Fish Steamer Reaches Port.

The S. S. Noreg, 12 days from Barry, England, arrived in port last evening. Conditions were favourable until reaching this coast when ice was met. The Noreg was never here before. She is 1289 tons gross, 868 net, built in 1903 at Bergen and owned by Harloff and Rodseth. She is 245 ft. 4 in. long, 36 ft. in width and 7 ft. 7 in. deep. The Noreg was chartered by the Newfoundland Fish Export Co. to take a cargo of fish to the Mediterranean and is now loading at Harvey & Co.'s pier.

St. George's Day.

London Telegraph—What is it, in point of fact, that we purpose to celebrate on St. George's Day? We wish to honor our dead, who have laid down their lives on our behalf. We desire equally to honor the living, fighting so stoutly for the honor of the flag in France, in Macedonia, in Africa, and on the Tigris. But there is another and a deeper purpose in a celebration of this kind. It is intended not only to make us realize our unity as a nation, but to remind us that we have cause to be proud of our race, of the stock whence we come, of the land which gave us birth, of the great name of England.

SITUATION UNCHANGED.
 PARIS, To-day.
 There was no change in the situation before Verdun, either east or west of the Meuse, according to a semi-official announcement made here this afternoon.

AIR SERVICE CANDIDATE ELECTED.
 LONDON, To-day.
 After having been defeated in a recent widely advertised bye-election in Mill-end district for a seat in the Commons, Pemberton Billing, who resigned from the Royal Naval Air Service to stand for Parliament on the issue of better protection against Zeppelins has been elected member for East Hertfordshire by a majority of 1023 over the coalition candidate, Brodie Henderson. Billing made a denunciation of Great Britain's alleged inefficiency in air service, the basis of both his campaigns.

FOURTY-FIVE NAVAL CASUALTIES.
 LONDON, To-day.
 British torpedo boat destroyer Conquest and torpedo boat No. 11 have been sunk by striking mines was officially announced this afternoon. The announcement says the number of casualties in connection with the sinking of the warships was 45.

FRENCH CHEERED BY GOOD NEWS.
 LONDON, To-day.
 The situation at Verdun is regarded as much better from the French viewpoint as a result of yesterday's fighting. The public is greatly cheered by reports of success of the resistance on the part of the defenders of the fortress. Notwithstanding the enormous expenditure of ammunition and the unestimated sacrifice of life, the Germans have failed to bend, much less break, the blue-line. The inference drawn by the general public is that the German wave has advanced as far as it is in its power without further wastage on a large scale, which the German General Staff hesitates to make with four army corps already put out of action in a struggle of 13 days.

EXPOSED GERMAN FALSE WAR NEWS.
 PARIS, To-day.
 An official note has been issued categorically denying the statement made in the German official communication of March 9th that "the village and armoured forts of Vaux were captured in a glorious night attack by the Posen reserve regiments under the leadership of General Von Curetzky in Fritz." This assertion, the note says is in every way false. The note also denies other statements contained in recent German official communications. The announcement adds that the violent bombardment continues on both banks of the Meuse but that there has been no infantry attack by the Germans.

Broker Sues for Services Rendered.
 A case of an unusual character was heard in the Central District Court to-day before Mr. F. J. Morris, K.C. John Rossiter, a broker, sued James Kenny for $15 for professional services, the nature of these services being consultation in arranging settlement of a difference in relation to dissolution of partnership between the defendant and W. F. Kenny, both ham dealers. Judgment was given for the plaintiff.

Will Aid Entente!
 The German declaration of war against Portugal will do Portugal little or no harm and will be of some help to the Entente Allies. Portugal is separated from Germany, Austria and Turkey by France, Switzerland, Italy and Spain and there is therefore complete immunity from attacks over-land. Overseas attacks on the coast of Portugal is out of the question so long as Britain and her allies hold supremacy at sea. Portuguese East Africa marches on German East Africa, the latter being to the north of the former, with the River Rovuma separating the two colonies. As the Germans in their sole remaining colonies have their hands full in defending themselves, it is unlikely that they can do much damage to the Portuguese colony. The state of war between Germany and Portugal will be distinctly helpful to the allies. Before the war it was impossible to prevent supplies reaching the German colony through the Portuguese colony. German East Africa is now, however, completely surrounded by enemies. On the north it is hemmed in by British East Africa, where it is reported to-day that General Smuts has seized some German crossings in the Kilimanjaro district. On the west the frontier is closed by the Belgian Congo, the better part of which Lake Tanganyika runs along, and the German coast of it is at the mercy of British submarines. To the south it is hemmed in by Rhodesia and Portuguese East Africa. The east border of the German frontier is sea coast, which is blockaded by a British fleet. German East Africa is thus completely isolated, and is now liable to attacks not only from the British and Belgians, but from the Portuguese. This new war should be a material aid to the British and should be particularly valuable in aiding in the subjection of the last remaining overseas colony of the British Empire. In addition, the German steamers seized will be of use in relieving the tonnage difficulty of Portugal, and will thus be of benefit to the allies generally.

McMurdo's Store News
 FRIDAY, March 10th, 1916.
 Talking of Spring Tonics—as one instinctively does on a bright day in March—there is nothing that is better than our Quinine and Iron Tonic which is unsurpassed for the purpose in question, to tone up the system, helping it to get rid of the accumulations of effete matter that often clog it after the winter, to improve the appetite to fortify the system against attacks of gripe, chills, etc., and as a general strengthening agent for the whole system. If you are run-down or feel weak and languid, your best plan is to obtain a bottle of Quinine and Iron Tonic. We have our Seed Catalogue in the printers hands, and expect to have it ready for distribution in a few days' time. As usual Sutton's Seeds are well to the fore this season and we have obtained the usual varieties of American Cabbage Seeds again this season.

The Heroism of Nurses

When the story of this great struggle comes to be written a tribute of affectionate gratitude will be paid to the trained nurses for their devoted work in the war zone, at sea, on hospital ships, and at home. The nurses on hospital ships have given the world a new formula. Hitherto, at times of disaster at sea, the cry has been "Women first!" When transport ships and hospital ships have been sunk by the enemy the cry of the nurses on board has been: "Fighting men first! Wounded men first!" and they have put the new formula into practice. They have sacrificed their own lives to save the men.—The India Magazine.

"Hold on John Bull"

Lloyd's Weekly.—Of the final victory of the Allies there is not the least possible doubt. The whole civilized world is with us in our effort to break the strength of the most brutal race of people in the universe. The way may be long and dark and troublous, but the Allies will travel it through all its length. They are fighting and will fight together to the end, and John Bull, who is holding on both banks of the rope in this great tug-of-war, will never let go his grip. "Hold on, John Bull, hold on!" The cry has come from all corners of the Empire and John Bull will never let go the rope till the brutal power of Prussia is strangled.

How the Tidings Came.

The Rev. Alexander Connell, who succeeded Ian MacLaren as minister of Seton Park Church, Liverpool, preaching in London, says the British Weekly, "told how the tidings of the war came to himself. He was living in a remote part of the Highlands, where news was difficult of access, and uncertainly deepened the sombre anxiety of these critical and unforgettable days."
 "The first strong grip on my heart of that great happening was when I saw a solitary horseman in full war array riding by the shore. He had come from a rifle hamlet near Cape Wrath, and was going to join his brethren in this conflict of races. That lonely horseman was a symbol, not only of the unity which in our hearts becomes ever deeper and more assured, but of the rich stream of life flowing from every strath and hamlet, from every colony and island, where our Scottish kinsmen have found a home."

Germans Nabbed in New York Had U. S. Fort Plans.

New York, March 1.—Suddenly breaking into the quarters of Richard von Ahrend and Rudolph von Kracht, said to be German naval lieutenants, to arrest them on a postal conspiracy charge, Post office inspectors to-day confiscated a batch of American plans found in the men's effects.
 The men were taken to the Federal building to be arraigned on a charge of using the mails to further a fraudulent conspiracy. The discovery, officials said, was unexpected and reveals a new angle to the alleged alien plot investigations.
 The two men will be arraigned late to-day before the United States Commissioner, Mr. Houghton. The United States District Attorney, Mr. Marshall, will demand they be held in heavy bond. Postal authorities said the men preyed on charitable persons by pretending to collect funds for suffering Belgians.

Killed in Action.

(A Mother to Her Son)
I pleaded long, and sternly sought
Despair
Through nights that seemed unending, and I strove
By prayer to climb the way
To dizzy Heaven. And swiftly echoing
I heard the anthems that the angels sing;
And thus my frail petition, faltering
there,
Turned, overawed, astray.

Jesting he sated—I hid a stricken heart—
Into that frenzied Hell which mocks
the sun
And God's vast tenderness!
Soon, in the skies of April, larks shall wing
And chant sweet orisons in vain for him—
A warrior fallen. Mine the sterner part
To bear my loneliness.

Farwell! Unvanquished, deathless in my soul
Faith whispers comfort—till my Being thrills
And Hope quiescent stirs—
Then Sorrow routed flees. With clearer sight
I see him girl in shining mail — a
Knight
(Peal now exultingly, ye bells that toll)
Whom God hath given spurs.
—H. E. Britton, in Westminster Gazette.

Nightly Report From the Sealers.

At the request of the Government, through the Hon. H. J. B. Woods, Postmaster General, the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company has made arrangements whereby the sealing steamers will report every night between the hours of 8.30 and 10.30 o'clock. The object is to keep in touch with each sealer daily to ascertain if any sickness is on board, or if any persons are missing. Should there be anything out of the ordinary a message saying:—"Good night, all is well" will be forwarded to the Postmaster General, who in turn will send a copy to ship-owners and the daily papers. The northern ships reporting through Fogo, and the Gulf ships through Cape Roy, should it be impossible owing to climatic interruption for any particular ship to communicate with the above stations she is to get in touch with some other land point, and falling this she is to ask some ship in the vicinity to transmit her message to the land. The sealing captains have been notified by the ship-owners, and the Marconi operators have received instructions from headquarters to see that the arrangement is carried out.

BELOW THE STANDARD.

How do you feel to-day?
Not quite right? Energy a little below standard—not strong enough to make much exertion? perhaps a slight cough?
Nyal's Cod Liver Compound is what you need.
Don't get frightened about those words "Cod Liver." You'd never know it from the taste.
It's a real tonic containing cod liver extract, extract of malt, wild cherry and hypophosphites—a splendid combination.
The cod liver extract builds you up—so does the extract of malt. The wild cherry soothes the bronchial tract and the hypophosphites supply phosphorus to the nervous system—just the thing it needs.
And the taste is pleasant.
As an all round tonic, strength restorer and body-builder you'll find nothing better than Nyal's Cod Liver Compound—so why look further? You will be pleased.
The price is one dollar.
PETER O'MARA, THE Druggist
46-48 Water St. West.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The Sale of Work, Sociable, etc., held at the High School, yesterday, was very much enjoyed by the participants. The very good sum of $88 was realized, half of which will be devoted to patriotic purposes. The British band entertained the evening's entertainment by its selections.

Mr. W. A. Munn and Mr. Geo. Stewart, of St. John's, are in town today on business.

A man named Hayco, of Riverhead, met with a serious accident last week that will incapacitate him for some time. He was returning from the woods with a heavy load of wood, when the load capsize on him near Ocean Pond. Assistance was rendered by Mr. Geo. Adams, who also accompanied the injured man home.

Attractive recruiting posters are in the shop windows and on the walls today, preparing our young men for the recruiting meeting to be held in Coughlan Hall on Thursday night.

Mr. Thomas Ash, of Nond Street, has been confined to his home very sick for the past week or so, and there is much anxiety among his friends as to his condition.

Pancake parties (with apologies to Sunny Jim) were held in many parts of the town last night. If you hear of any of our young ladies being just a little out of temper, you will understand they got the butter, that's all.

Flour advanced 30 cents in the local market to-day. High grades are now selling at $8.30 per barrel.

At last night's meeting of the Presbyterian people of this town, it was unanimously decided to "call" Rev. F. S. Collis, their former pastor, who is now at Charlottetown, to again take charge of the little Kirk. He is expected here about the end of this month. —COR.

Two True Stories.

By RUTH CAMERON. Do you want a story out of a book, or a true story? I sometimes ask my little nephew when he is begging for stories. And he always says, "A true story." I hope you like true stories as well as he, for I have two to tell you to-day. In a department store the other afternoon an old man waited on. In his eager haste to get me the right thing he tipped over a pile of shirts which a younger clerk was showing to a customer. I expected a protest and for a moment I thought it was coming. Then, "Never mind, pop," he said pleasantly, and put the shirts back in place. Later, while I waited for my change, I saw him go over and ask the other man, "Are you coming in Monday, pop?" (He was evidently an extra clerk, hired for the sale.) "I don't know," said the older man, and there was a world of pathos in his wistful old voice. "Well, give me your number and I'll find out for you," said the younger man. Chivalry In A Department Store. All this happened at the end of what must have been a tremendously busy day. Every clerk in the shop had the license of strain and weariness to be cross. And instead of crossness was this chivalrous helpfulness to old age. There's a queer, warm, oldqvly feeling in the heart that beautiful things like love and music and glimpses of high qualities give you. As I stood at that counter waiting for my change, I felt that quiver. The second story is about a little peddler woman. She came to sell me needles. It was a cold day, and I asked her in for a cup of tea (tis a custom I learned from the Lady-who-always-knows-somehow, and I wouldn't exchange these tea parties and the heart glimpses that come to me through them for the finest social tea parties in the world. Try it some day if you never have). At first she was shy, then the story came tumbling out in broken English (she was a young Jewish woman). How The Neighbors Found Out. Her husband was a tailor, and everything was well with them until he got blood poisoning from a finger prick. He had been at the hospital for eight or nine weeks; they thought they could save his arm, and that he would be able to work in a few weeks more, but in the meantime their little savings were all used up. The Sunday before she had had no food but stale bread in the house for herself and her two babies. Her neighbour (her name was Mrs. O'Something, plainly not Jewish) had come in and asked the little boy why he was eating stale bread, and after the fashion of youth he had blurted out that it was because his mamma said she had nothing else to give him. At that Mrs. O'Something had taken the little peddler lady in her arms and cried, and then had gone home and brought her potatoes and butter and tea and milk and a lot more things. The upshot of the matter was that the neighbors, led by Mrs. O'Something, had gotten enough money together to supply the peddler lady with a stock of needles, and were taking care of the children for her. The address she gave was in a very poor neighborhood, poor as we use the word, but so rich in charity, in Young tender leaves only, grown with utmost care and with favour as the prime object, are used to produce Homestead. There's a Smile in every Cup of Homestead. C. P. HAIR COMING OUT? Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After a few applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

Your Boys and Girls. Children, not up to par physically between babyhood and seven years may have oatmeal, farin, white bread and hominy mush, whole wheat or cornmeal bread or cold muffins, white bread if not too fresh served with butter and once a day with pure jam. They should consume plenty of fresh milk and ripe fruit. Stewed fruit, not too sweet, should be given at supper time; fresh fruit early in the day. They may have beef, mutton and poultry, roasted, broiled or boiled but never fried. Baked potatoes are excellent for little folks and peas, beans and asparagus are the best vegetables. Eggs poached, scrambled or soft boiled or in omelette or custards, are rich in nourishment. Delicate children should never be given hot breads, fried doughnuts, griddle cakes, rich gravies, highly seasoned foods, pickles, heavy preserves, tea or coffee.

Patriotic Carnival at Parade Rink. The Patriotic Carnival at the Parade Rink last night was a splendid success, the ice being in excellent condition. The large number of masqueraders exceeded any event of that kind held there in recent years. The costumes varied, some of which were very original and out of the ordinary. As the skaters intermingled it was laughable to observe the different characters. The prizes were won by Mrs. E. Corbin, Misses L. Butler and G. Collins; Messrs. Carl Chancey, W. Auckinleck and Snow. The Terra Nova band rendered excellent music during the evening, and a substantial amount was raised for the Patriotic Fund.

A Child Gets Cross, Sick and Feverish When Constipated. Look, Mother! If tongue is coated clean little liver and bowels. If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of 'California Syrup of Figs,' and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless 'fruit laxative.' Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of 'California Syrup of Figs,' which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine made by 'California Fig Syrup Company.'

60 Years Old Today. Feels as young as ever. PEOPLE who are able to talk like this can't possibly have impure blood—they just feel it. It's no headache, aches, dyspepsia or bilious disorders. These diseases can be cured by Dr. Wilson's Herbine Bitters. A true blood purifier, containing the active principles of Dandelion, Manthion, Burdock and other medicinal herbs. Sold at your store, 50c a bottle. Family size, 25c. Times as large, $1.00. THE BRATLEY DRUG CO., Limited, ST. JOHN'S, N. F.

Together, Sons of Empire. Round the Throne endear'd to Britons, round the flag of freedom true. We are called again to rally and to pledge our lives again. For the foe who still defies us on the battlefield and waves Must remember yet that Britons ne'er of tyrants will be slaves. Sons of England, fearless fighters, Sons of Scotland brave and true, Sons of Erin show the foemen what your Irish pluck can do; Altogether, Sons of Empire, in each land that's dear to you. Come defend the lives we cherish, and our homes and country, too.

Amusements. AT THE CRESCENT. The Money Leeches' a great detective drama in 2 reels is the headline at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day. This is an episode of the Girl Detective series, the films that Crescent patrons are so much interested in. "Jola the Christian" is a great spectacular feature, a story of early Christian days. "A Much Needed Lesson" is a fine comedy drama written by the Biograph Company with a strong cast including Irma Hawkins and Jack Mulhall. "A Bunch of Matches" is a corking western comedy by the Essanay Company. Be sure and see this big week end show. The usual big matinee will be on Saturday afternoon. Expect, as usual, a clean and comfortable theatre.

JUVENILE ARTISTS AT THE NICKEL. Another grand programme has been arranged for the Nickel Theatre to-day and to-morrow, and patrons are assured one of the most enjoyable performances on record. The wonderful "Who Pays" will be continued, and the eleventh instalment shown. It is entitled "The Fruit of Folly" and is a very impressive picture. The Vitaphone star artists will be seen in another brilliant three-act drama which is in great demand in New York at present. It is depicted in a thrilling manner the course of greed. Another great feature which will please everyone is a juvenile comedy drama "Billie." This is acted by juvenile performers. The comedy is by the Keystone Co., and is entitled "A Home-breaking House" and is extremely funny. To-morrow afternoon there will be the big matinee for children. The performance throughout the Lenten season are for the city relief fund.

BRITISH THEATRE. A most interesting programme of pictures is billed for the British Theatre to-night. The two famous Good Seal players, Grace Cunard and Francis Ford, will be seen in a Royal romance in two acts entitled "The Madcap Queen of Gredshoffen." Mary Pickford will appear in a re-issue entitled "Sinner Love." The balance of the show is good and helps to make up a programme that is well worth going to see. The children are reminded of the usual matinee on Saturday which will include "The Black Box" and Billie Ritchie the famous fun-maker of the movies. Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KNIBB, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move. Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. YORST, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up. Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLEMENTINE DURBERG, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice, it will be confidential.

HIGH FLOWN POETRY.

Could I but swat J. Milton's lyre, with all of Milton's vim, I would not waste poetic fire on things embalmed by him. We all agree that he was great, a nobly gifted scout; great thoughts were sizzling beneath his pate, until his hair fell out. We gaze upon his pictured head, admire his bulging brow, and say 'we're sorry he is dead—but no one reads him now. His poems are a punishment, imparting doleful ache to any busy modern gent who has his way to make. He has a large, imposing name, and it has come to stay; and in Old England's hall of fame he puts up lots of hay; but who would read his long-drawn screeds, without a tripod or jest, of dreary gods whose tiresome deeds were pipe dreams at their best? This life's too short for endless poems that don't lead anywhere, ground out by birds with lofty domes and birds' nests in their hair. Had I J. Milton's gift of song, I'd spring some harmless mirth, embalming topics, all day long, for people now on earth.

TO-DAY'S Messages.

10.00 A.M.

THE GREATEST TRIUMPH.

LONDON, To-day. Replying yesterday to a deputation of the Temperance Council of the Christian Churches, Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, said police records showed a reduction, something like forty per cent. in drunkenness throughout the country. He hoped the nation would be convinced that success largely depended upon removing the drag upon its efficiency caused by drink. However successful in war a country might be, he added, he was convinced victory in this matter would be the greatest triumph of all.

INCREASE IN BRITISH SHIPPING.

LONDON, To-day. The total net British mercantile tonnage registered at the end of 1915 was 12,413,468 tons, compared with 12,119,581 at the end of 1914. This statement was made in the Commons yesterday by Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in answer to a question on the subject.

TROOPERS ON MEXICAN BORDER.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., To-day. With United States troops stationed along the border east of here, the notice given for the purpose of repelling possible night attacks by Mexican bandits, other infantrymen entraining to move eastward for guard duty along the New Mexico border, the situation here had assumed a warlike aspect late yesterday.

STEEL HELMETS FOR GERMANS.

PARIS, To-day. German lookouts at the advanced posts are wearing new armor-coated steel helmets, consisting of a head-piece proper, weighing slightly more than two pounds, with heavy detachable steel plating which is very thick and weighs over four pounds. The total weight of the head piece is thus nearly seven pounds. The helmet is entirely without ornament and is of dull gray color.

GERMANS LEAVING PORTUGAL.

LISBON, To-day. Large numbers of German residents are leaving Portugal as a result of the notice given them by German Consuls that they should quit the country as soon as possible.

MADRID CONSIDERS SITUATION.

MADRID, To-day. The cabinet met yesterday and considered the situation which might arise in case of a state of war between Portugal and Germany.

GERMANY WILL COMPENSATE TURKEY.

ODDESSA, To-day. It is reported here that Germany has given formal assurance to Turkey, that she will not make peace without compensating Turkey and that Turkey has consented to Turkish troops assisting Germans on the western front. Several engineering regiments have been withdrawn from Asia Minor to Constantinople.

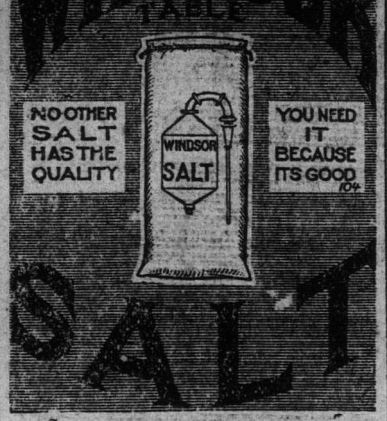

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, To-day. British official last night: Last night we repulsed a small attack near the Hohenzollern redoubt. To-day the enemy sprung a mine near Givenchy but made no infantry attack; there has been considerable artillery activity of both sides about Ypres.

AYLMER FAILS TO DISLODGE TURKS.

The War Office issued last night the following official statement as to the campaign in Mesopotamia: General Lake, Commander of the British forces reports that General Aylmer, in command of the relieving forces, advanced on March 6th and moving by the right bank of the Tigris reached Esiss, a position about seven miles east of Kut-el-Amara. This position he attacked on March 8th, but General Aylmer was unable to dislodge the enemy. General Aylmer states the enemy suffered very severely, and beyond strengthening his position has shown no activity. Our casualties were not heavy and in majority of cases were very slight.

BERESFORD SUPPORTS BALFOUR.

LONDON, To-day. Balfour, First Lord of the Admiralty, has found a strong supporter in Admiral Lord Beresford, who speaking yesterday in the Lords on the air defence debate said he deprecated statements suggesting the marine preparedness of the Navy. Lord Beresford declared he has most complete faith in its Commander-in-Chief and the present Board of Admiralty and that the Navy's honor is safe in Balfour's hands. I advise the country to trust implicitly to the Navy which has never failed us. These remarks were made merely as an addition to a speech in which Beresford expressed the opinion that the appointment of an Air Minister was not called for and thought, too much money had been spent in buying useless machines from other countries. His view was that the British should attack and smash Zeppelins in their sheds, as he did not see how they could attack them after their arrival over the sea.

GERMANY DECLARES WAR ON PORTUGAL.

LONDON, To-day. Germany has declared war on Portugal and thus thirteen countries are now engaged in the international struggle. The declaration of war was made by Germany chiefly on the ground of the recent seizure of German merchantmen, interned in Portuguese ports. Portugal's refusal to rescind the Turkish edict once more places the ships under the German flag is one of a long series of alleged breaches of neutrality by the Portuguese Government such as permitting British troops to pass through Mozambique and use Portuguese posts as bases for the Turkish warships. In suits to the German nation by members of the Portuguese Parliament also were contributory factors.

1.30 P.M.

TURKISH ATTACK UPON EGYPT CONSIDERED VERY REMOTE.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from the British Press representative with the Mediterranean forces in Egypt, says that danger of a Turkish attack upon Egypt is not regarded as very remote if not entirely removed. The difficulties for the Turks of moving troops and supplies with the approach of a warm season and it is believed in Egypt that the disaster at Erzerum has removed the last hope on the part of the British of carrying out their plans against the Suez.

SERIOUS RIOTING IN COLOGNE.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. The 'Telegram' states that it has received reports of serious rioting in Cologne on Tuesday last, in consequence of heavy losses to German troops in the battle of Verdun. Reports are further to the effect that artillery had to be placed in the streets to overawe the crowds.

SMUTS SEIZES RIVER CROSSINGS.

LONDON, To-day. An official communication concerning the operations of the British in East Africa, was made public last night. The troops under the command of Lieutenant-General Smuts advanced against the German forces in Kilimnjaroo, on the northeastern boundary of German East Africa, on March 7th. General Smuts led the crossings of Luml River with insignificant loss. Several counter-attacks by the enemy were successfully repulsed.

MINERS AND RECRUITING.

LONDON, To-day. Robert Smillie, President of the Coal Miners' Federation, rectified last night a widespread report that many thousands of men are flocking into mine work in order to avoid military service, as underground mining is an exempted trade. Nearly 250,000 skilled miners, said President Smillie, have joined the army, since the outbreak of war. Their departure caused a crisis in coal production, which threatened to bring about coal famine and a partial stoppage of the munitions output. Many thousands of older men, formerly miners, who had adopted other trades, have now returned to the pits, simply from a patriotic desire to help the country at war, while the remainder of the 160,000 new hands employed are mainly boys. Should twenty or thirty thousand more skilled miners be taken away for military service, great industrial difficulties may arise from the insufficiency of coal production.

MEXICAN OUTLAWS RAIDED AMERICAN POWERS.

COLUMBUS, N.M., To-day. Francisco Villa, the outlawed Mexican bandit, raided United States territory yesterday with 600 men. He attacked Columbus and killed at least 16 Americans, and fired many buildings before he was driven back across the international border. At least 250 troopers of the Thirtieth United States Cavalry followed the Villa band into Mexico. Reports to Colonel Slocum, commanding the States troops at this point, late to-day, stated that Villa had made a stand, 5 miles south of the border, where spirited fighting ensued. The bodies of eighteen bandits, including Pablo Lopez, second in command, had been gathered and burned before noon. Troopers reported an undetermined number of dead still lying in the high led to attack under the slogan of "Death to Americans." Villa's followers fought with desperation. Just before dawn they crept along the ditch, striking the United States cavalry camp and rushed the sleeping town, firing heavily on the stores. The post office was looted. Oil was poured upon the frame structures and matches applied by still other bandits. Fighting in the town ended almost as suddenly as it began, less than two hours after the first shot was fired. Villa's buglers sounded the retreat. The raiders bore a strong resemblance to those followed by the American troopers.
