CHAPTER V.

The following afternoon Decima, with eyes still rather red and swollen—for the parting with Aunt Pauline had been bad, very bad, all the worse for the restraint which the elder woman had imposed on herself, and Decima had cried softly at intervals all through the journey—looked out of the carriage window as the train slowed up at Stretton Wold.

She saw a pretty little station with borders of flowers and clematis climbing up the pillars; with a rustic porter and a ruddy-cheeked station-master; but there did not seem to be any one else on the platform excepting a young man in a Norfolk suit; and Decima's heart sunk rather; for her father had said in his letter that her brother would meet her.

The porter opened the door, touched his hat, and inquired if she had any luggage, and she got out and stood looking up and down the platform and at the country beyond the station palings. It was very beautiful, the road winding through a pine wood which shone redly in the sunlight and scented the air with "terebene." She felt a little lonely and a little disappointed. Where was her brother? A young man passed her as the porter came up with her luggage on a truck, and he glanced at her curiously.

"Where be you goin', miss?" asked the porter.

"To Woodbine," said Decima.

Evidently the young man heard her, for he turned and came up to her quickly, and with a boyish flush, said: "Are you—? Why, great aunt, it is Decima!"

Decima blushed in harmony and stared for a moment, then she exclaimed, with a rush of joy: "Why, it is Bobby!" and put her arms round his neck and kissed him.

Bobby Deane fared a brick-dust red and glanced round half shame-facely, half furiously at the grinning porter.

"And you didn't know me?" cried

Applied
After Shaving

Keeps the Skin Soft and Smooth

MANY men suffer from irritation of the skin as a result of shaving. With some it assumes a form of eczema and becomes most annoying and unsightly.

By applying a little of Dr. Chase's Ointment after shaving the irritation is overcome and such ailments as Barber's Itch and Eczema are cured.

Dr. Chase's
Germicidal
Ointment

GERALD S. DOYLE,
Distributing Agent,
Water St., St. John's.

Decima, holding him by the hand and devouring him with her gray-blue eyes. "You didn't know me, Bobby?"

The boy, for he was only seventeen, notwithstanding his mannish air, laughed composedly as he put straight the hat which her sudden embrace had knocked on one side.

"No, I didn't," he admitted; "the fact is, I—well, I was looking for a little girl about half your size."

Decima's low, sweet laugh rang out musically.

"And I was looking for a little boy, Bobby, what idiots we are; we had forgotten that we had grown, and we expected to see each other the same size as when we parted!"

Bobby grimaced.

"It's lucky you spoke and mentioned the house, or I should have gone home and told the gov'nor you had not arrived. But come on; we've provided quite enough circus for the porter. There's a fly outside."

He led her out and put her in the crazy vehicle, then sat opposite her and stared at her with a brother's reluctant admiration, and she smiled back at him.

"Well, you have grown," he said at last. "Who'd have thought you'd have turned out so; why, I remember you were rather a plain kid—"

"I would get up and courtesy, if I wasn't afraid of falling out of the fly," said Decima, her eyes sparkling, her mouth one big and beautiful smile.

"And, Bobby, how you have altered! Oh, dear! I can scarcely believe that this great fellow is the dear little baby brother I used to carry about. And you were so pretty then," she said, with mock regret—for her heart was full of admiration for her handsome, well-built brother.

"It would trouble you to carry me now, Decie," he said. "Mind me smoking a cigarette?"

"And it smokes!" exclaims Decima, with simulated dismay and amazement. "You are sure it won't make you ill, Bobby? But tell me all the news."

"What news? There isn't any."

"Father—"

"Is the same as usual, yesterday, to-day and forever; he is always the same."

"And is he—he expecting me? Will he be glad to see me? Tell me, Bobby, dear!"

"I'll tell you anything I can, if you'll promise not to call me 'dear,'" said Bobby. "Of course, he'll be glad; anyhow, I am precious glad! It's time some one came to look after us—some woman, I mean. You haven't the least notion of the way things go on, or, rather, don't go on. I haven't been home from school long—about two months—but those eight weeks have whitened these locks, as you see. There's nothing in the wide world the gov'nor doesn't understand excepting domestic economy, and consequently the house is run on a 'go-as-you-please' kind of line, which no doubt makes life a charm for the slaves, but is eminently unsatisfactory for yours truly."

"Father said the servants were a trouble, and that is one reason why he wanted me," said Decima.

"Yes; that puts it mildly. We change about every other week. We have cooks who would not recognize a potato if they met it in the street; waiting-maids who kindly permit us to do all the waiting while they talk with their young men at the back-kitchen door. We have just got rid of one young lady who looked upon the wine-cup too often, and was found, by the unfortunate individual who addresses you, lying under the kitchen-dresser one quarter of an hour before dinner-time. We have at present what, I believe, is called a 'demon-breaker,' she has a pleasant but slightly inconvenient habit of collecting all the glasses and china on a tray and slipping up on it. We have no tumblers left, and only a coffee-cup and a mug. She is under notice, and I left her in tears, wailing that she had no mother; if she had, she'd tumble over and break her."

Decima looked half aghast through her laughter.

"My dear Bobby! My poor Bobby! And poor father!"

"I'll take all the sympathy, if you please," said Bobby. "It would be only wasting it on the gov'nor, for he doesn't mind—doesn't care."

"Doesn't mind?"

"No; he is up in the clouds all the time." The boy waved his hand.

"Dreaming, inventing things to make his fortune. He doesn't eat—he only stokes. I'm not sure that he sleeps. At any rate, he's perfectly indifferent to anything and everything, and the house can go in smithereens so that one room—his laboratory and study—is left standing. See?"

Decima's face grew a little grave and a little remorseful.

"Poor Bobby! And all the time I have been living a life of luxury and ease!"

"Oh, that's all right!" said Bobby, quickly and generously. "You can't help having a father utterly unlike any other male parent in the world; no more can I. And I'm jolly glad you've been out of it all this time. In fact, I was dead against the gov'nor sending for you; but—well, he makes up his mind now and again, and when he does, he makes it up into such a jolly stiff parcel that there's no undoing it."

"I'm glad—glad he sent for me," said Decima. "But, Bobby, I—I am afraid, I don't know much about house-keeping."

"You couldn't possibly know less or make more of a muddle of the show than we are doing," said Bobby, encouragingly. "But, upon my word, I'm sorry for you. Dec! I'm afraid you won't like the change from—how did you put it?—a life of luxury and ease with Lady Pauline to slave-driving at Woodbine."

"I shall not mind—I feel glad to come already. I suppose it's seeing you."

"Thank you—thank you," said Bobby, raising his cap. "Excuse these tears—I am not used to this kind of thing, and I am easily moved."

"You wicked, mocking boy!" exclaimed Decima, leaning forward and kissing him impulsively.

Bobby put up both fists, and wiped his mouth with one.

"My good young woman," he said, severely. "I am sorry to check the affectionate instincts of your ardent young nature, but I feel bound to inform you that, in this country, a young lady does not embrace a gentleman in public, even though she be his sister; and I would like to add, at the risk of hurting your feelings, that I have an inveterate dislike to being kissed—excepting by some other fellow's sister; and therefore I shall feel obliged if for the future you will put the brake on your emotions and refrain from—"

"Oh, what a pretty place, Bobby!" exclaimed Decima, as the fly pulled up at a tall iron gate opening on to an old-fashioned garden in front of a red-bricked, ivy-covered house.

"Glad you like it. Behold The Woodbines, the residence of Peter Deane, Esq., and your home, my dear sister!"

Decima jumped out of the fly and went up the path. The door of the house was open, and even as she entered the square, old-fashioned hall, the sound of a falling plate and the crash of the breaking thereof were heard.

"Sarah Jane's welcome to her young mistress!" said Bobby gravely.

Decima smiled, and looked round a little nervously.

"Where is my father?" she asked; and moved toward the door of the drawing-room.

"Oh, I'll take you to him. There's only one place in which he can possibly be. Follow me, and mind the step, and the pall which is almost sure to be on it, and over which I break my skin with painful frequency."

The snug, flat bodice and long waist are marked in some fall models. With the new frocks are worn straight, three-quarter capes to match.

POLES MAKE ENORMOUS CAPTURES.
WARSAW, Oct. 4. President Pilsudski is at the front personally commanding the drive, which it is announced has resulted in the complete defeat of sixteen Russian Bolshevik divisions. The staffs of two armies, of four divisions, and several regiments and brigades, have been taken amounting to four hundred and twenty thousand prisoners. One hundred and sixty-two guns, nine hundred machine guns, seven hundred armored cars, eighteen armored trains, three airplanes, twenty-one locomotives and great stores of ammunition and other materials prepared for the Bolshevik fall drive have been captured.

NUMEROUS CABINET CHANGES.
MONTREAL, Oct. 4. A Montreal Star message says:

"The Weekly Dispatch announces that the resignation of five members of the Cabinet is probable." The newspaper names A. J. Balfour, Lord President of the Council, Edward Short, Secty. of State for Home Affairs, Viscount Milner, Secretary of State for the Colonies, Sir Eric Geddes, Minister of Transport, and Lord Inverforth, Minister of Munitions. The newspaper believes that "Balfour probably only remains to oblige the Tory Party." Short is said to be slated for the first vacant Judgeship. Milner is reported to wanting to retire for business reasons, and Lord Inverforth because the business of munitions handling is closing down. Geddes is reported to be considering an offer of an interesting private position and only remained through August when urged to do so in expectation that the new Railway Bill would be passed. The Observer also speculates on the possibility that Balfour will go to the House of Lords in the interests of the Irish Home Rule Bill. The newspaper adds that although this would be distasteful to Balfour himself, it would be "his severest sacrifice to patriotism."

FORCE FOR WORLD PEACE.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. The perpetuation of Anglo-American friendship as a force for world peace formed the subject of brief addresses before Washington's tomb by British Ambassador Geddes, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Lord Rathcraigh, head of British delegation to the centenary celebration of the landing of the Pilgrims, Senator Raoul Dandurand, head of the Canadian delegation, and Dr. J. B. Hubrecht, of the Dutch delegation.

PAPER CURRENCY MUST BE REDUCED.
BRUSSELS, Oct. 4. Although the work of the committees of the world financial conference is well guarded in an effort to keep all decisions secret until disclosed in the form of resolutions, it is understood the currency committee has decided that "paper currency ought to be reduced in all countries where inflated and it can be done."

TEXTILE WORKERS PROGRAMME.
MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 4. Delegations from Canada and the United States are meeting at the Twentieth Annual Convention of the United Textile Workers of America which opens here to-day. The questions to be considered are the raising of a fund to combat any attempt at lowering wage standards, a method to extend the forty hour working week until its application becomes universal, and the advisability of conducting a non-political, non-partisan campaign in the United States for the election in November of a candidate friendly to labor.

REACHED THEIR GOAL.
PANAMA, Oct. 4. During the month of September tolls exceeding one million dollars were collected from ships using the Panama Canal. For more than six years this has been the goal for which the canal authorities have been aiming.

BANDITS MADE BIG HAUL.
NEW YORK, Oct. 4. Six masked bandits entered a cafe in Lenox Avenue to-day, lined up forty five patrons against the wall and escaped with cash and jewelry valued at more than five thousand dollars. Four bandits covered their victims with revolvers while the other two went through the pockets of their victims.

PROPAGANDA FUND.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. An inquiry into the source of the recent shipment of Russian gold to the United States has been ordered by the Department of Justice. The belief exists at the department that the gold may be part of a Russian Bolshevik propaganda fund.

CAPTAIN BURIED AT SEA.
NEW YORK, Oct. 4. The motor schooner Sunlite arrived here to-day from Santa Fee, Argentina, with a cargo of logwood. She reported that her skipper, Frank Doty, had died on September ten from Bright's Disease and had been buried at sea. His home was in Yarmouth, Nova Scotia.

FAVORED PREFERENTIAL TRADE WITHIN EMPIRE.
CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 4. The Calgary manufacturers, in presenting their case for a protective tariff to the Tariff Commission sitting in the City Hall to-day, urged a revision of the Preferential tariff now in effect on the ground that it placed a burden on Canadian manufacturers without any benefit in return. The association went on record as favoring preferential trade within the Empire.

WHERE THE FIGHTING IS.
LONDON, Oct. 4. Fighting is proceeding in the regions of Novo Grodek and Neswish, east of the rivers Nieman and Shara, according to the Russian Soviet official statement of Sunday, received to-day by wireless.

FIVE CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.
MERRILL, Wis., Oct. 4. Five children of Edward Nelson, ranging in age from five to fourteen years, were burned to death when fire destroyed Nelson's farm home near here to-day. The children were asleep upstairs. The parents, whose bedroom was downstairs, escaped. A lantern left burning in an upstairs bedroom is believed to have been the cause of the fire.

WELLS IN RUSSIA.
LONDON, Oct. 4. H. G. Wells, English novelist, has arrived in Petrograd, according to a Moscow wireless despatch and was greeted by a delegation of Russian authors, headed by Maxim Gorky. Replying to speeches of welcome Wells declared he did not doubt Russia was on the eve of a noble future but that Russian and British characters were different and the two peoples could not achieve their purposes by the same methods. "Your road is towards communist, ours toward collectivism" the despatch quotes him as saying.

DISORDERS IN CORK.
CORK, Oct. 4. A constable wounded in the disorders in Patrick Street Saturday night and early Sunday morning, later died. A civilian also shot is seriously wounded. The front of a shop was blown out by a bomb.

REPRISALS CONTINUE.
DUBLIN, Oct. 4. Following upon an unsuccessful Sinn Fein raid for the purpose of burning the police barracks at French Park, County Roscommon, on Saturday, reprisals were carried out in that neighborhood Sunday morning by the police and military in motor lorries. At Ballinure two shops and the residence of a farmer were destroyed, the house and furniture of a prominent Gaelic leader were also burned, and a farmer was stabbed. There was considerable shooting and the people were terrified.

GENUINE ASPIRIN HAS "BAYER CROSS"

Tablets without "Bayer Cross" are not Aspirin at all

Get genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a "Bayer" package, plainly marked with the safety "Bayer Cross." Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in America by an American Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government. During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores. Aspirin is the trade mark (Newfoundland Registration No. 761), of Bayer Manufacture of Monocetylacester of Salicylicacid. The Bayer Co., Inc., U.S.A.

The Unreformed Hun.

It takes more than two years to regenerate the Hun. Trade officials in the United States report that Germany is sending into their country inferior goods marked "Made in Great Britain" and into Great Britain inferior goods marked "Made in the United States." German doubtless looks for a two-fold advantage from trickery of this kind. In the first place, there is the expectation that the false labelling will overcome the difficulty presented to German traders by the British and American prejudice against goods of Teuton origin. In the second place, the inferiority of the goods—certain to be discovered in time—is probably counted upon to injure the British business reputation in the United States and the American reputation in Great Britain and so perhaps to make it easier for Germany to build up commerce in the open in subsequent years. False marking, of course, is no new practice for the Germans. They employed just such dishonest tactics in pre-war commerce. But with the end of the war two years ago there came German assurances that the wrong practices of other years had been resolutely abandoned. The Germans would show themselves trustworthy. Perhaps there has been some improvement over the German standards of the days before 1914. But the report of the American officials shows that complete German regeneration is a work of more than two years. The Hun will still bear watching.—Sydney Record.

As Water Cushions a Boat, Overland 4 is Cushioned From the Rough Road by Three-Point Cantilever Springs

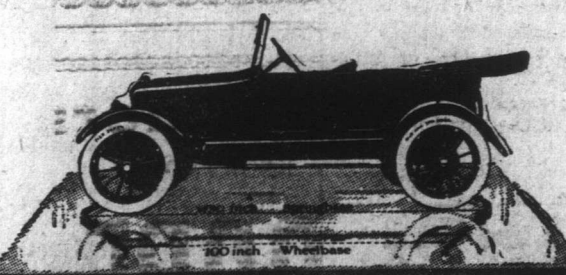

THE exclusive new Three-Point Cantilever Springs give the Overland 4 Motor Car a degree of riding comfort formerly thought impossible in a light car. They make all roads seem smoother. They free passengers from fatigue and discomfort. They preserve the car from strain and wear.

These Springs, diagonally attached at the ends of a 130-inch (3.3m) Springbase, give Overland 4 the riding ease and road steadiness of large, heavy cars of long wheelbase. Yet Overland 4 has all the driving-ease of 100-inch (2.54m) actual wheelbase.

The thorough quality and endurance of this unusual car have been proved in 250,000 miles (400,000 km.) of test under every possible condition.

Equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System to USL Battery.

You should see Overland 4. The longer you ride in it the more you will praise it.

SUGAR.
The Food Control Board, and some of its satellites are busy trying to explain of how they saved the country seven cents a pound on sugar. We say "trying," for not a solitary conviction their mere "say so."

Now here are some further facts that the public should know.

The highest price that sugar has been quoted at in Canadian markets during the middle of the summer before the recent severe decline was 25 cents. Any importer who keeps in touch with sugar markets can vouch for the truth of this.

It is openly stated in St. John's that during the last few weeks a shipment of sugar of 900,000 pounds was imported invoiced at eleven cents per pound. Adding freight charges, etc., this sugar would cost landed not over 15 1/4 cents. This sugar is sold to the public for 30 cents a pound. Who is getting the hundred per cent. profit? Is it the F. C. B. or whom?

The chairman of the F. C. B. and also the editor of the Advocate does not deny that this eleven cent sugar was imported.

How long are the public of this country going to put up with such an outrage. Further, more investigation has been made into the thousands of sacks of Government sugar stored, and it is found that the rats have been getting cheap sugar while the public is deprived.

St. John's papers say that some 200 sacks have been separated from the main bulk because they had been so gnawed by the rats and partly had been thrown aside unfit for human consumption, while in the main bulk nearly every sack bears evidence of the attentions of rats. The whole scene is one of indescribable waste, neglect and filth. And this is what people are paying 32 cents a pound or over for.

THE FREEDOM OF THE PEOPLE IS A FREE PRESS.

Rumor has it that as some of the newspapers are throwing too much spot light on Hon. Mr. Coaker's Fish Regulations and Food Control Board sugar scandal he plans to do a little censoring of the press and squash the newspaper men who are letting the light on to some of his little games.

Mr. Coaker is going to find that the hardest task of all he has attempted, and handling the business firms of St. John's mere child's play in comparison.

Most editors are not out for money. Most of them have ability enough to earn far more than they get at pen pushing. But nearly all of them are fighters for the freedom of the Press, and it is the freedom of the Press which has played the deuce with all tyrants—big and little, for when a man wants to be a tyrant, whether a Kaiser or a Lenine, he immediately starts in to muzzle the Press, for he knows that a free Press is death to tyranny.

Editors of independent journals in Newfoundland will rather welcome any such resort on the part of our local Lenine, and he may be assured that if there is a scrap they will be right there with the goods—slang, we admit, but expressive.

It is of course typical of the man whose unpatriotic and disgusting writings were permitted to pass unchecked all through the serious period of war time, that he would gladly prevent free discussion now he is the subject.

The feet of clay of the idol are already uncovered; it is more than likely that the whole trunk and head will be found to be mud also.

Salvage Notes.

The Labrador schooners are mostly home. During the past week the schooners Springbird, A. Hunter, master, and Norah M., Job Stead, master, arrived home hauling for 300 and 700 qts. of fish respectively.

At Squid Ticks, Mr. John Oldford, in the schooner Blanche, arrived home with 900 qts. of codfish.

As for as we can gather from reports, the schooners of Salvage Bay and vicinity are, in the main, poorly fished. Skipper Jas. Hester, of Bar Harbor, who arrived a few days ago, reports for 500 qts.

There passed peacefully away this morning at the age of 76 years, Mr. Thomas Stead. During the summer, Mr. Stead was to the Labrador in a fishing schooner, and felt all right in health until a few days ago, when he was suddenly stricken with paralysis of the brain to which he succumbed.

Rev. John Stead, of Bell Island, arrived here this morning to visit his father, Mr. Thomas Stead, unfortunately too late, as death had received the payment of his prior claim a few hours before the son's arrival.

On the 18th September, a son was born to the Rev. and Mrs. Humphries, of Salvage mission.

The schooners owned and mastered by Wm. Brown and Jas. Moss, arrived home to-day from the Labrador with fair trips of fish.

Rev. E. H. Humphries arrived from St. John's, where he had been attending the Synod.

Mr. Richard Haggood arrived home from Grand Falls yesterday.

The win out by Hickman & Co. in the sugar case, has caused much comment. It is a matter for congratulation that some one will save a few cents on the sugar deal (no thanks to the F.C.B. notwithstanding.)

Regret that owing to pressure on time, am unable to touch on the famous regulations and the latest reports from Brazil and Italy.

Had Given Up Hope of Getting Relief, Says Mrs. Lauzon

Did Not Believe Any Medicine Could Do What Tanlac Did for Her.

"Tanlac has not only relieved me of my seventeen years suffering, but has built me up to where I am feeling like a different woman," was the truly remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Adeline Lauzon, of 115 De Courcelles St., Montreal.

"It would be impossible for me to exaggerate all that I've suffered on account of indigestion. I never dared to eat meat of any kind, and even the very lightest diet would give me a hot burning sensation in the chest, and I would blot up with ras till I was in perfect misery. My liver also was very sluggish. I suffered badly from constipation and frequently had dizzy spells when everything seemed to spin around and I had to sit down to keep myself from falling.

"I slept so little at night that in the mornings I felt more tired than when I went to bed, and my nerves got into such a condition that any unusual noise would almost make me frantic. I tried many kinds of medicine but none of them seemed to meet my case, and I almost gave up hope of ever being a well woman.

"I never would have believed that any medicine could help a person like Tanlac has helped me. The first few bottles gave me a splendid appetite and I soon found out I could eat anything I wanted and never suffer a particle from indigestion. I have already gained several pounds in weight and am so much stronger I can do my household work with as much ease as I ever could.

"My liver is now in good order and I am no longer troubled with constipation or dizzy spells. My nerves are as steady as can be. I sleep like a child all night, and get up in the mornings feeling as fresh as a daisy. I don't hesitate to say that Tanlac is the best medicine I have ever tried, and I hope that all who suffer as I did will give it a trial."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, in Paradise by Mrs. Martin F. Byrne, in Upper Gullies by Heber Andrews, in Portland by H. C. Haines, St. Joseph, Salmonier, by Mrs. J. Guehne, in Millerton by Excelsior Valley Royal Stores, Ltd., in Flat Island by William Samson, in Jamestown by Christopher Haines, and in Lewisporte by Uriah Freake.—adv.

Vaccination Regulation at North Sydney.

EVOKE STRONG CONDEMNATION. GREAT HARDSHIP ON PASSENGERS.

The drastic regulation recently made law by the Ottawa authorities, which went into effect yesterday, caused untold annoyance and loss to passengers arriving here this morning on the steamer Kyle. The steamer docked at the terminus at 6.30, when the work of examining the 125 passengers, together with their baggage, etc., commenced. Then it was that the 125 people on board were suddenly made aware of the fact that all must be vaccinated before being allowed to leave the shed. This naturally caused a great commotion among those of the passengers who were never vaccinated, as well as those who were, inasmuch as all would have to bare their arms which meant a delay and probable loss of boarding the westbound express.

About forty or more persons were compelled to be vaccinated. In one case a man had to have his four children as well as himself, vaccinated, which lessened his limited pocket-book to the extent of $5.00. In all there were about a dozen children who were vaccinated. One result of the new order was that a number of people missed connections with the westbound express, some of them suffering greatly thereby.

Without exception the large number of passengers were loud in their denunciation of the vaccination order, and justly so. Some better arrangement should have been made in order that persons whose business called for no detention here could proceed on their way without losing a whole day here, especially on a Saturday.

What the result would be if a poor woman with a number of children accompanied her had not the amount sufficient to pay for having been vaccinated, is not known. At any rate, there was not a person who arrived by the Kyle this morning who had anything but condemnation for what they term a most outrageously drastic law.—North Sydney Herald, Oct. 2.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE AGE OF COLOR.

RUTH CAMERON

Whenever one declares that anything is different now than it used to be, someone rises up to tell one that history is only repeating itself. I had even heard people try to claim that the old Roman civilization had as many marvelous inventions as our own has attained to. But here is one statement that I feel sure no one can controvert that surely there never was a time when there was such lovely, such exquisite and such widely varying colors as there are to-day. Go to any summer resort and look through the gathering place of lady-birds (as a friend of mine likes to call them) and see if your eyes are not filled with colors so lovely and so varied that Nature herself might envy.

You Remember When Sweaters Didn't Exist!

Take, for example, the sweater of today. Can you not remember when sweaters first came to be (does it seem possible to you, Reader Friend, as possessor of from one to a dozen sweaters of varying design, that there was a time when sweaters did not exist, except the over-head kind for boys and athletic females?) that they were presented to us only in a plain and very durable color? Did behind the sweater of to-day—like Solomon in all his glory, it is surely vied with the lilies of the field.

I know of no prettier picture than one or four young girls strolling down a village street on a summer afternoon with linked arms, each in a sweater of some glorious or exquisite shade. And by a miracle, like the flowers that Nature flings into her wild fields, these colors never seem to fade.

Of course, gowns and stockings and hats and all the other accessories to partake of the same infinite variety of shade and tint. The Blues of the Olden Days. I am sure there was nothing like the blues in the olden days. I can well remember when there was "only light blue and dark blue, and how I wish there was something between (the blue to my temptress) has ever been of my weaknesses). And then I remember when the first blues that were between began to come in. Wasn't one of the first named "Alice" in honor of our President's daughter? And doesn't that place the arrival of the new blues as not more than 20 years ago?

And then the reds. In the early days there used to be red and pink and crimson and magenta (a color quite as heavy and ugly as its name) and a little later, cerise. But think of the gamut of colors, from deep red to pink, to-day.

Have We Lost the Colors of the Old Days?

As for greens, there were nil green and light green and dark green to be sure, but how many shades of green do you think you would find between dark green and palest green to-day? Perhaps someone will remind me that we no longer hear of certain colors of the olden days—puce, for instance, and mauve and maroon. I admit we do not hear of them by name, but I am sure we have them with us under some new pseudonym (not but what we could well spare "puce," which the dictionary informs me is a brownish purple. Can you imagine anything more hideous?). Truly this is the age of color. And truly I am glad I was born in it.

Sugar.

Good news. Sugar prices in Canada toppled down $1.50 a hundred on Monday.

Flour prices went down 70 cents a barrel. News of the price changes came to Sydney wholesalers in telegrams from the sugar refiners and the flour millers, a wholesaler told The Record this morning.

The lower price of sugar will become effective here at once, but the effect of the reduction of the price in flour at the mills will not be quickly apparent. The reduced flour price will be effective in the case of shipments made from the mills in the future and, of course, so far as Cape Breton is concerned, this will mean some slight delay.

A second wholesaler gave the flour reduction as only fifty cents a barrel and put at 10 days the length of time before the reduction would be felt here. He added the further bit of information that mill feeds had dropped $5.50 a ton.

But, anyway, the lower prices have come—that's the big thing—Sydney Record.

The one-piece frock and matching wrap are still greatly in favor.

THE CONTENTED WISE.

Not by the wise are the great things done, For the wise are pleased with the things that are; They've charted the course of the morning sun And know the name of each separate star. And it's ever the way of the wise to cling Tenaciously to an olden thing.

Who ventures away from the traveled road, To follow his dream into realms afar, Shall walk alone with his heavy load. For the wise sit down with the things that are. Into the new must a young man go. But the wise stay back on the roads they know.

Yet ever the wise give way to youth. And ever the old must fear the new. For never men come to the final truth Or the end of things which their skill shall do. And he who follows his dream, and tries To better the world, shall teach the wise.

Heed not the wise when they tell you nay! Youth be brave as you build the new! What though you're scoffed at, day by day, You shall win if the dream be true; Linger not where the wise men stand— Progress waits on your willing hand.

OVERWORKED WORDS.

"Meteculous!" That weary word up before me everywhere; the blamed thing may have been a bird before they wore it all threadbare. Gals-worthy sprung it years ago, and it was worthy of his gall, and it's been chivied to and fro till it requires the beer and pall. It flavors everything I read, it's plastered up with printer's ink, it's down at heel and gone to seed, and it would drive strong men to drink. And "Grueling" should take its place upon the list of deadly crimes; whenever there's an auto race we see it used a thousand times. When fathers battle in the ring, what time they should be plowing corn, the scrap's described as "gruelling," regardless of the purist's scorn. And how I hate the "gripping" tales that figure in cheap magazines, turned out in large and endless sales by sweat-hacked for pork and beans. "Compelling" is another word that nearly breaks my grand old heart, used in connections most absurd—"compelling" songs, "compelling" art. I meet the chestnuts every hour, and into tears I often burst; and of all words that make life sour, "meteculous" I hate the worst.

Fashions and Fads.

Drooping plumage is favored on hats. Belts have adopted buckles as fasteners. Paris says low waistslines or no waistslines. Three-tiered pockets are noted on some suits. The skirts of evening gowns will be longer. Glycerined ostrich trims many a smart hat. Black velvet hats are extremely fashionable. In jewelry, colored stones are conspicuous. Black-and-white frocks are smart for children. Velvets and velveteen will be worn this autumn. Blouses of crepe are embroidered in tinsel. The box-coat will be a favorite for winter suits. Many suit models have very long coats and tight belts. Skirts of suits and tailored gowns continue short. All the winter coats have high collars, usually of fur. Nets and laces are replacing organdie for neckwear. The "petal" skirt appears on some smart fall models. Transparent trains are the latest whim of evening gowns. Dresses, hats, wraps and blouses are lavishly embroidered. Togue hats, especially small ones, are still in good fashion. Duveltyne and crepe de chine are a smart fall combination. Sleeves may be bell-shaped or long and tight and wrinkled. Very smart are the leather hats for motor and sports wear. Imitation aigrettes are made of horsehair and elephant whiskers. A frock of gray taffeta uses bands of black velvet as trimming. One dress model has a high, loose collar, which buttons at the side.

The Tragedy of the West Coast.

The Fishery Regulations, we are told, cannot be blamed for the existing condition of affairs on the South and West Coasts. To what then are such conditions attributable? Never before in the history of that section of the dominion has there been such widespread dullness than is now prevailing. It is not confined particularly to one place but is seen everywhere. Business stagnation is in universal evidence and no improvement can yet be noticed. In other years, and during the war even, the West Coast towns and fishing settlements were hives of industry. Every man was engaged at the fishery. There was no let up from January to December. Fish could be sold easily and at good prices. Provisions and outfits were comparatively cheap, and much money was being circulated. Prosperity shed its influence over all and merchant and fisherman alike enjoyed the benefits thereof. Now a change has taken place, a change of not quite a year ago, and the result of that change is most depressing. Few people are fishing and fewer still are buying fish, excepting that taken on account. Cargoes are going to market, but the sailings of these are not witnesses that any special progress is being made. These cargoes had to go. They are made up of the fall, winter, and spring voyage and perforce had to be exported, but their export is not an index of present conditions. They belong to the past season's catch, but the unfortunate part of it is that there is no immediate catch, consequently the plaint of the West Coast is the plaint of the people of Burnt Islands, who directly charge that the Fish Regulations are the cause of the distress which prevails.

The story of Rose Blanche is almost identical with that of Burnt Islands, both places having a community of interest in trade and business relations, and a great interchange of personal views is constantly being carried on between them: hence anything affecting the one place affects the other. The people of Rose Blanche are, as a unit, entirely fishermen, as also Harbor Le Cou, which is but a few miles over the hills to the northward, and connected by road. Rose Blanche and Harbor Le Cou are two of the most enterprising fishing places on the South West Coast. In winter and summer early and late, the hardy toilers continued their calling, and more fish in proportion to the population was brought in at these places than at any others. The Rose Blanche men bore the name of "fish killers," and right well had they earned their title to that distinction. The fishing was to them the one means of livelihood. There are but few gardens at Rose Blanche, the soil not lending itself kindly to agriculture, being mostly rock, but such few gardens as are cultivated have been brought from elsewhere and mixed with the turf growth which covers the rock formation. In these gardens are grown such few vegetables as shallow soil will nurture, but not in quantities by any means sufficient to form a year's supply for any one family. The consequence is that in common with other parts of the District of Burgeo and LaPoile, the bulk of vegetable supplies has to be brought in from Prince Edward Island and the Codroy Valley every fall, no matter what the cost. Fish then was the mainstay of Rose Blanche and its contiguous settlement, but after years of prosperity and free as well as fair trade the shadow of hard times has been thrown over the people and this once busy fishing centre is busy no longer, its industry having been strangled.

New Coal Seam Opened.

4 Feet Wide and Paralleling the Jukes and Cleary. Upon inquiring at the office of the St. George's Coal Fields, Limited, this morning, we were informed by the Manager, Mr. T. J. Freeman, that recent advice from Mr. Furlong, foreman at the mine, states that they are now opening up a new seam of coal about 70 feet west of the Jukes. This new discovery was recently made by Mr. Furlong in the bed of the river. It is about 4 ft wide and contains coal of excellent quality. The new seam runs parallel to the Jukes and Cleary, and the three seams can be worked from the one main shaft, as they are within a space of 100 feet. This find, we were informed, will be opened up immediately by a prospecting tunnel through the side of the hill. The table land between the Barachois and Robinson Rivers overlaying these seams is about 350 feet above the river level where the seams outcrop, and all the coal on each side of the Jukes and Cleary Coal Trough, say, six seams in all containing about 20 feet of coal, can be successfully and economically recovered down to the river level, and the mines can be drained into the Barachois River thus saving the enormous expense of pumping. We understand the seams are so situated that several hundred thousand tons of coal may be mined without having to pump a gallon of water. The development work on the seams opened up in June last is now finished and the seams may be seen and inspected at any time of the year. The Company is to be congratulated on having a man of Mr. Furlong's ability in charge of their prospecting work. Coal, like gold, is where you find it, and there can be no doubt with such enormous surface showing, that the St. George's Coal Fields, Limited, will, and must, in the near future, become one of the greatest coal mining centres in British North America.

In the light of such facts, and considering the unique geographical position Newfoundland occupies between the Old and the New Worlds and which may be termed the Gibraltar of America, holding the key of the St. Lawrence and to those vast Golden Wheat Fields of the West, whilst at the same time forming the most strategic link in that great endless chain of trade across the Atlantic, the assured possibilities that await the development of the St. George's Coal Fields, Limited, from which must follow large industrial and commercial prosperity squalling if not outclassing our greatest industry, there remains not any room for doubt. Whilst it may be too much to hope that the story of Coal in Newfoundland may be the story of steel in America—the story of a thousand Millionaires—we feel sure that the successful development of these immense coal fields will add millions of wealth to this dominion. The country should stand solid behind the St. George's Coal Fields, Limited, in their efforts to successfully prove that Newfoundland, not only can supply her own wants, but become an exporter of coal. And the author of any doctrine or propaganda to deny us of the development of these areas, ought to be despised as the greatest opponent of the successful development of our natural resources. In short he can only be classed as an enemy to the country.

Ditched Motor to Avoid Accident.

By the coolness and prompt action of Mr. H. Archibald of Harbor Grace, what might have been a serious accident was averted yesterday. Mr. Archibald and a couple of friends were motoring to town from Hr. Grace, and when a short distance from Brigus a horse and wagon approached. The animal shied and backed across the road. Being unable to stop the car, and a collision seeming inevitable, Mr. Archibald did the next best possible and ditched his car. The automobile which is a seven passenger touring car was slightly damaged. Its occupants beyond getting a shaking up were uninjured.

Presentation to Lady Principal.

On Friday morning last the retiring Lady Principal of Spencer College, Miss E. G. Stirling, was presented by the pupils with a silver siver tea service and tray suitably engraved. Miss Stirling thought taken by surprise made a short address, thanking her kind donors and assuring them that she would always have the welfare of Spencer College foremost in her thoughts. Speeches were also made by Rev. Canon Bolt, Dr. Blackall and Miss Worrell, after which the pupils were given a holiday.

Perjury Case Dismissed.

Yesterday afternoon Capt. Misson of the schooner Lady St. John was before Justice McCarthy in the Central District Court for preliminary hearing on a charge of perjury arising out of an action in Admiralty Court in which the owners of the Lady St. John and those of the schooner Conrad crossed for damages resulting from a collision at sea. Mr. W. J. Higgins, K.C., acted for Capt. Misson and showed to the Court that his client had been unwise dealt with. Justice McCarthy dismissed the case saying the accused could leave the Court without a stain on his character.

St. Mary's Sanctuary Guild.

A very pleasing event took place last night during the regular meeting of St. Mary's Sanctuary Guild. It being the fifteenth anniversary of the marriage of the President (Mrs. Stirling) the members with their characteristic thoughtfulness arranged for a 'Crystal Presentation' consisting of cut glass water pitcher and tumblers together with pyrex baking dishes. Mrs. Stirling though taken completely by surprise, heartily thanked the members for their generosity. A dainty supper was then served by the young ladies and a pleasant social hour passed all too quickly. At the close, the Rector made a few remarks thanking the Guild for their kindness and exhorting the members to carry on in extending the usefulness of the organization which is second to none other in St. Mary's Parish.

Help the Armenian Orphans.

6000 OF THEM REQUIRE SHELTER. Sister Mary Gehara one of the nuns from the Convent of Beyrout, Syria, arrived in the city on Saturday's express. Sister Mary tells an interesting story of conditions in Syria at the present time. At the close of the war it was known that thousands of children from Christian homes were being held by the Turks. These children were rescued to the number of 6000 by the aid of the French military authorities and are now at Beyrout where the good sisters are doing what they can to keep them from starvation. The children's ages are from 3 years to 10 years and they had been stolen from various parts of Syria and Armenia. Formerly the convent at Beyrout was caring for about 300 children and of course, when 6000 more were rescued from the Turks it was found impossible to care for them. They are now living in tents and camps and while the nuns are doing everything possible for their comfort, the necessity for proper shelter is so great that it was decided to send twenty of the nuns to other countries to solicit aid. It is hoped to secure sufficient funds to construct suitable buildings, where these children may be sheltered and taught until they are old enough to support themselves as they are all orphans and must live by charity if at all. Sister Mary is living at the home of M. Nikosey, 30 Cabot St., and will visit as many houses as possible to solicit aid from all who wish to help in this great work of mercy. She has letters from the R. C. Bishop, the Bishop of the Greek Church and the American Consul of Beyrout.

Obituary.

RICHARD DEVEREAUX.

In the passing of Mr. Richard Devereaux, St. John's abolitionist and estimable citizen who for a number of years had taken a prominent part in the public affairs of the country. For more than 20 years he had been ill, and at times there were hopes that he would recover, but the disease from which he suffered overmastered his robust constitution and the end of a well spent life was brought to a close. Richard Devereaux was born in Trepassy in 1864 and sprung from the stock of fishermen who made Piacentia and St. Mary's the most important fishing centres on the Southwest Coast. Deceased did not follow in the paternal footsteps, but after a very successful period in St. Bonaventure's College engaged in commercial life and later became accountant with James Ryan, Bonavista, where he served for almost 20 years. In 1908 when the People's Party was called into existence Mr. Devereaux was nominated for that party with the present Judge Morris and W. R. Howley, K.C., for his native district. He went down to defeat in the general election with his colleagues but in the spring of 1909 following the Morris-Bond tie election, he led the poll, his two colleagues also being returned. During the sessions of the parliament which followed to 1913 Mr. Devereaux took a very prominent part in the debates of the House and seeking re-election that year was again returned at the head of the poll. In 1917 he was appointed to the office of Controller, which position with all its difficulties to please and satisfy he discharged with general satisfaction. In the latter days of the Academia Club of which Lord Morris, the late John Harris, the late M. W. Furlong and men of their class attended, Mr. Devereaux was a worthy member and in the debating circle had few who could outclass him. In the Benevolent Irish Society he was one of its best speakers and was always looked upon as one who could offer advice or advance an argument or suggestion that would do well for the progress and uplift of the Institution. St. John's has lost a good citizen in his passing and the opinion one of its most prominent men. A widow, nee Miss Dominey, of Greenspond, two daughters and two brothers, George and Joseph of Trepassy are left to mourn to whom general and sincere sympathy is extended.

CHARLES DELANEY.

Yesterday there passed peacefully away Charles Delaney, a respected citizen and trustworthy employee of the Reid Nfd. Co. Electrical Department. Twenty years ago, fresh from St. Patrick's Schools, Charlie joined the electrical staff of the Reid Nfd. Co. as assistant at the sub-station on the dry dock. He served for some years in that capacity when he was appointed assistant foreman under Mr. T. Armstrong. When the Angel Building was taken over and the electrical offices and stores were transferred thereto he was appointed foreman of the meter department in which capacity he served faithfully until illness overtook him and he was obliged to retire. Some three years or more he lingered until yesterday the end came. He was a son of the late Mr. P. Delaney, of the Street Railway Dept., who predeceased him about a year ago, and grandson of the late Captain C. Power. A widow, who was a Miss Aiyward, sister of the Messrs. T. and J. Aiyward, well known tailors, and Mr. M. Aiyward of the G.P.O., together with two children, and two sisters, the Rev. Mother at one of the Convents at Arkansas, and Mrs. M. MacKee, at Dorchester, Mass., are left to mourn, to whom the Telegram extends sincere sympathy. Interment takes place from his brother-in-law's residence, Mr. T. Aiyward, Robinson's Hill, on Wednesday at 2.30 p.m.

C. C. C. Band.

Big Promenade Concert Prince's Rink.

As will be seen by the advertisement and programme in to-day's papers, the C.C.C. Band (with permission of O.C.) are giving a Big Promenade Band Concert in the Prince's Rink on Friday next at 8.15 p.m., and by numerous requests they are introducing a new idea which we feel sure will be quite a novelty. The programme consists of twelve (12) numbers, 5 Concert numbers and 7 Dance numbers, and patrons wishing to dance may do so by paying a small fee of 10c. for each dance number, and the large floor space (which the contractors have just finished for roller skating next week) will be reserved for dancers only, and the walks and galleries for spectators. The admittance to the Rink will be only 10c. and the lady friends of the Band will serve drinks and Ice Cream during the Concert. See the programme in to-day's papers. The proceeds go towards reducing their Hall expenses for which a note falls due on Monday next, and we therefore hope to see a large attendance, as the admission fee is only 10c. and thereby help the Band in their financial obligations.

To-day's Messages.

WEAK BUT CONSCIOUS.

LONDON, Oct. 4. The condition of Lord Mayor MacSweeney, is unchanged, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination League at 9 o'clock to-night. He was weak and prostrate but still conscious.

CONDITIONS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, To-day. As a result of Lord Mayor MacSweeney's long fast, Irish prisoners have ceased to resort to hunger striking, says the Daily Mail to-day. The newspaper adds that there were more than three hundred arrests in connection with Sinn Fein propaganda disturbances during September, but that only four of the men arrested attempted hunger striking, and these abandoned it in a day or two. A despatch to the Daily Mail from Dublin pictures a black outlook for Ireland during the coming winter. It says that owing to the shortage of money, Sinn Fein and Asylums are being closed. The burning of creameries has paralyzed that industry and the closing of six hundred miles of railroads has cut off some areas from their distributing centres. Cows and calves are being sent to England in large numbers, and there is a shortage of butter. Many small farms are going bankrupt and the country is faced with ruin. There is much unemployment in Dublin as a consequence of the strike of the builders.

ASQUITH ADVOCATES AUTONOMY.

LONDON, Oct. 5. In a communication printed in the London Times to-day, Herbert Asquith, former Prime Minister, declares that he is convinced that the bestowal upon Ireland of the status of an autonomous Dominion in the fullest and widest sense, is the only solution of the Irish problem. To accomplish this, says Asquith, it is necessary to make the Irish people believe that what is offered comes from an honest and also reliable source.

WRANGEL'S SUCCESS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4. The forces of General Wrangel, anti-Bolshevik leader in Southern Russia, have achieved further successes against enemy forces in the region of Novokotawaska, where five thousand prisoners were taken and nine hundred cannon, five locomotives and a hundred wagons were captured, says an official communication received here.

BURNED DURING OPENING EXERCISES.

TOKIO, Oct. 5. The building in which the world's Sunday school convention was to be held here, burned down after the delegates had assembled for opening. The building was crowded but doorkeeper express the belief that all escaped.

HANGING ON.

CORK, Oct. 5. Sinn Feiners incarcerated in prison here, are continuing their hunger strike and their condition is reported unchanged.

HIS OWN STATEMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 5. MacSweeney says himself he is very weak, but suffers no pain according to a bulletin of the Irish Self Determination League this morning.

ITALIAN HUNGER STRIKERS.

ANCON, Italy, Oct. 5. Sixty men arrested during Anarchist riots here last June, have started a hunger strike as a protest against delay in being brought to trial. Workmen in the city, including printers, have proclaimed a general strike in support of the prisoners' claims.

BUMPED NEGRESS: STARTED RACE RIOT.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5. A white man bumping into a negress, was sufficient cause for a riot, in which police reserves, assisted by firemen were called upon to resist a mob of one thousand, who stormed a police station in the Hill district last night, in an effort to release four prisoners arrested during a clash between a crowd of white men and negroes.

INVESTIGATION FUND.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. After police Commissioner Enright told the Finance and Budget Committee of the Board of Estimates that Radical activities have been a serious menace to New York and the nation, a police contingency fund of two hundred thousand dollars was voted for investigation of Radical activities.

WHAT ABOUT GERMAN PROMISES?

PARIS, Oct. 5. Germany will expect the Allies to keep their promises given at Spa, that the total sum of reparations to be demanded of Germany shall be fixed at the Geneva Conference, Gerhard Von Mutius, head of the German Financial Delegation in Paris told the Associated Press yesterday. To prepare a basis, he said, would probably be through

LONDON GOSSIP.

AN AMBASSADOR'S SALARY.

LONDON, Sept. 20th, 1920.
Before Lord Hardinge of Penshurst succeeds Lord Derby as British Ambassador in Paris, the salary of the post will, perhaps, be altered. At present it is $10,000, with allowances for entertaining and other necessary purposes that bring it in all to $44,000. A British Ambassador requires at least twice this sum to maintain a fitting state in the French capital, and diplomats think that when Lord Hardinge assumes his new duties at the end of next month he will probably have something like $80,000 a year at his disposal. Even then his salary and allowances will be below what Sir Auckland Geddes receives as British Ambassador at Washington.

SPORT IN THE ARMY.

Experience gained during the war has induced the authorities to give a much larger measure of official encouragement to sport and physical development in the Army than formerly. Especially in the later years of the fighting games of various kinds played a considerable part in the soldier's training, and in some Commands it was compulsory for every man either to play football or to take part in the other organised games calculated to afford the right kind of exercise. By the activities of the Army Sports Control Board this side of training has been carried over to the peace-time routine as a considered policy. Major-General Sir C. H. Harrington, the Deputy Chief of the Imperial General Staff, being the president of the new organisation. Although many Army sports clubs are already in existence both at home and abroad and have, in some cases, their own grounds, there has hitherto been no official guidance or backing. The idea of the new Board is to assist the various Commands to organise their games on a more uniform and solid basis, and while not strictly to "control" sport, to see that something like a systematised plan is established throughout the whole Army. The grant of $320,000 made in connection with the scheme by the United Service Fund has been distributed, and under the new guidance the movement is undergoing great development. By the institution of gate money games it is hoped to make the scheme self-supporting, while the better provision of facilities for recreation for soldiers' families is also contemplated.

THE "SHOREHAM TOWERS."

The Admiralty has revealed a great number of the secrets of the war at sea, and it deserves to obtain respect for the remaining ones; so we must not pry into the nature of the anti-submarine and other devices which were to be fitted into the "Shoreham Towers," one of which arrived off Spithead the other day on her first and only voyage. But there is no reason why a layman should not point out that floating concrete islands may have value for civilian purposes. One book on the naval war has already asserted that, if the Armistice had not come in 1918, some five or six of them would have been sunk in a line across the Straits of Dover, shafts driven into the seabed below each, and then headings opened up north and south for each shaft so as to complete the Channel Tunnel in double quick time. And if the Towers could withstand the buffeting of the Channel, they would serve elsewhere. There must be many places in the narrow seas and the North Sea, on the Dogger Bank, for instance, where such a concrete tower might be sunk as a lighthouse, if international jealousy permitted, and if mariners agreed that it would be an aid, not an added danger. Quite conceivably, too, the lowering of such concrete islands where coal fields run out to sea might provide a chance of reaching submarine coal seams. But the factors of cost and safety are highly problematical.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE.

A story is told in the London press of a "Fairy Princess" who, seeing three little waifs gazing longingly at the window of an Aerated Bread Company's teashop near the House of Commons, took them in and feasted them. It reminds me of similar adventures narrated to me by a well known ex-Cabinet Minister, who, when he first took office and found himself in the enjoyment of a large salary, delighted to prowling about the streets of the Metropolis and play the part of the celebrated Haroun Al Raschid. His chief pleasure was in standing treat to children, who he used to declare it was impossible to "pauperise." But experience taught him the danger of introducing grown-ups too recklessly into his fairy tales. One Saturday evening he surreptitiously approached the owner of a street butcher's stall, handed him a sum of money, and arranged that he should put into every housewife's bag double the quantity of meat for which she had paid. He borrowed the idea, of course, from Joseph and his Brethren. It worked out, however, in the most unexpected fashion. Hiding round the corner, the ex-Minister watched for the sequel. The women crowding round the stall received in ignorance their two pounds for one and went off. Soon, however, they commenced streaming back to restore to the butcher the overweight they had discovered, tearfully assuring him that they had no intention of cheating him and the Right Honorable Haroun Al Raschid stole away sadder and wiser.

HOUSE VALUES SLUMP.

The time for London houseowners obtaining fancy prices for their properties is passing. Buyers are not so eager as they were some months ago, and accordingly a slump in house values is setting in. During the boom private dwelling houses were going readily in some cases for three or four times their pre-war value, and in most suburban districts owners are still advertising sales in the hopes of reaping these big profits. The notice boards, however, are standing for longer periods, and agents are not easily finding purchasers at the high reserve prices about the house property boom was the market which was found for so large a number of old-fashioned basement dwellings which in some districts had stood empty for years. In a great many cases these big blocks were sought after for conversion into flats. People are showing less eagerness to become houseowners at the ruling prices, and agents are now advising their clients to lower their reserve prices if they seriously hope to sell. This is particularly being impressed upon owners of the old-fashioned type of dwelling referred to, as under the new Housing Bill, to be passed next session, it is proposed that local authorities shall have power compulsorily to take over and let houses which have been withheld for occupation for three months.

OIL-DRIVEN TRAINS.

The recent trials of oil fuel on railways have led to a good deal of exaggeration as to the possibilities of its early and extensive adoption for firing locomotives. The truth is that it is not practicable to run British railways on oil fuel in present conditions for two reasons:—The oil supplies available are totally inadequate; and, further, it is not an economical proposition. Liquid fuel was used on British railways in 1886, and the only reason it has not been widely adopted are its scarcity and its price. It is true that the Scarab system tried on the London to Birmingham run a few weeks ago showed that 700 pounds of liquid fuel will do the work of a ton of coal, but until some oil supplies are extended and cheapened, either by the full development and utilisation of home sources or some other means, oil can never replace coal on the railways. The recent trial run to Birmingham was eloquent on this point, the official figures compiled as the result of the experiment showing that the cost of fuel per 100 ton miles was 10s. 7d. (21.4 cents) when oil was used, against 3s. 07d. (6.14 cents).

It's the Flavour of H.P. Sauce that makes it quite unique.

You can taste the delicious oriental fruits and spices, so perfectly blended.

THE BOOT SLUMP.

There has set in a decided slump in boots and shoes, which in some quarters of London are being offered at prices below the cost of production. I am told it will be four months before the public take up all the stocks thrown on the market in consequence of the repudiation of foreign orders and the calling in of bank overdrafts. Meanwhile some English boot factories were closed, entirely for the whole of August, and the trade shows no downward tendency to justify such a slump. Hides are, perhaps, cheaper but dressed leather is not, and all labor charges are higher than at the start of the year. The slump has resulted in part from over-production, and in part from injudicious newspaper talk of a coming fall in prices, which induced foreign buyers to cancel all their orders. The result is that the public is getting good boots very cheap, but at the expense of the foreign exchange, of food prices, and general trade. South Africa and South America are buying no boots from us, and have given us no bills of exchange. Had those bills been available for sale in Wall Street the British banks would not need to buy so much exchange credits in New York. The dollar would not be so dear, and wheat, bacon, and lard would be slightly cheaper.

Twin Babies Save Her Life.

Madame Gagnon's Death Sentence Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—Madame Gagnon sentenced to die at Quebec on Friday morning, will serve a life sentence in the penitentiary. After further consideration of her case at a special meeting, the cabinet council decided to-night to commute the death sentence. The action of the government was based entirely on the fact that Madame Gagnon is nursing the twins to which she gave birth in prison, rather more than two months ago.

Medical reports go to show that to execute the mother at the present stage would compromise the health of the children. It is unlikely that in the ordinary course there would have been any interference with the sentence of death although for the last twenty years or so, it has been customary in Canada to commute a sentence of death passed on a woman. Madame Gagnon, however, was found guilty of the murder of her step-daughter under conditions of extreme cruelty and but for the twins would have suffered the full penalty of the law.

Four famous treatments for improving your skin

DO YOU ever feel dissatisfied with your appearance—wish this or that were different, and long to change it?

One thing you can change—and that is your skin.

Any girl can improve her appearance by improving her complexion. With the right care you can make your skin so lovely in its softness, its smooth, fine texture and brilliant color, that it will outweigh almost any other advantage you could possess.

Remember that your skin changes in spite of you. Each day old skin dies and new skin takes its place. No matter what defects your complexion has suffered from in the past—by regular treatment you can give this new skin the loveliness and charm it should have.

Read the four treatments given on this page. Each one of them tells you some special way of improving your complexion. If your skin is too oily—you can make it smoother and drier by using the famous Woodbury treatment given here. If you are troubled with blemishes—with conspicuous nose pores—use the special treatment indicated for your condition, and see how quickly your skin gains the clearness it has lacked. Is your complexion pale and sallow? By the new steam treatment you can make it glow with radiant color.

Don't neglect your skin—begin today to make it as smooth, clear, and flawless as it should be. In the famous booklet wrapped around each cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap, you will find not only the four treatments given here—but additional treatments for all the commoner skin troubles. Find the treatment your individual type of skin demands, and begin using it tonight.

The very first treatment with Woodbury's will leave your skin with a slightly drawn, tight feeling. This only means that your skin is responding to a more thorough and stimulating kind of cleansing than it has been accustomed to. After a few treatments this drawn sensation will disappear, and your skin will emerge with such a soft, clean, healthful feeling, that you will never again want to use any other method of cleansing your face.

Woodbury's Facial Soap is on sale at all drug stores and toilet goods counters in the United States and Canada. The famous booklet of treatments is wrapped around each cake. Get a cake today and begin your treatment tonight. A 25-cent cake lasts for a month or six weeks of any treatment or for general cleansing use.

SKIN BLEMISHES—
How to get rid of them

Just before retiring, wash in your usual way with warm water and Woodbury's Facial Soap and then dry your face. Now dip the tips of your fingers in warm water and rub them on the cake of Woodbury's until they are covered with a heavy, cream-like lather. Cover each blemish with a thick coat of this soap cream and leave it on for ten minutes. Then rinse very carefully, first with clear, hot water, then with cold.

The regular use of Woodbury's in cleansing your skin will discourage the tendency for new blemishes to form.

Sample cake of soap, booklet of famous treatments, and samples of Woodbury's Facial Powder, Facial Cream and Cold Cream sent to you for 15 cents.

For 6 cents, we will send you a trial size cake (enough for a week or ten days of any Woodbury treatment) together with the booklet of treatments, "A Skin You Love to Touch." Or for 15 cents we will send you the treatment booklet and samples of Woodbury's Facial Soap, Facial Powder, Facial Cream and Cold Cream. Address The Andrew Jergens Co., Limited, Sherbrooke St., Perth, Ontario.

CONSPICUOUS NOSE PORES—

How to reduce them

Dip a cloth in very hot water; lather it with Woodbury's Facial Soap, then hold it to your face. When the heat has expanded the pores, rub in very gently a fresh lather of Woodbury's. Repeat this hot water and lather application several times, stopping at once if your nose feels sensitive. Finish by rubbing the nose for thirty seconds with a lump of ice.

Do not expect to change in a week a condition resulting from long neglect. But use this treatment persistently, and it will gradually reduce the enlarged pores until they are inconspicuous.

PALE, SALLOW SKINS—
The new steam treatment for them

One or two nights a week, fill your wash bowl full of hot water—almost boiling hot. Bend over the top of the bowl and cover your head and the basin with a heavy bath towel, so that no steam can escape. Steam your face for thirty seconds.

Now lather a hot cloth with Woodbury's Facial Soap. With this, wash your face thoroughly, rubbing the lather well into the skin with an upward and outward motion. Then rinse the skin well, first with warm water, then with cold, and finish by rubbing it for thirty seconds with a piece of ice.

The other nights of the week, wash your face thoroughly in the Woodbury way, with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water, finishing with a dash of cold water.

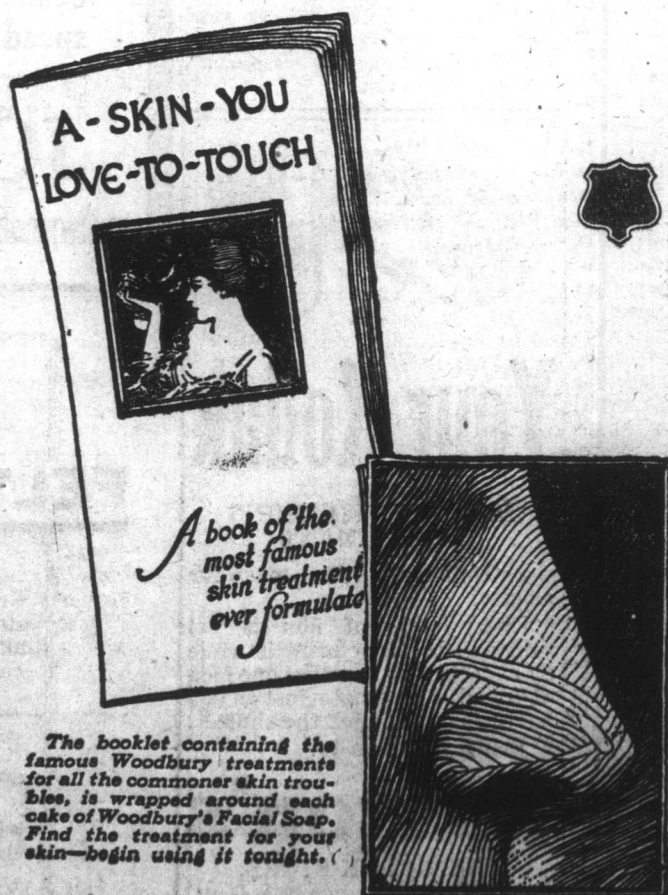

The very first time you use this treatment your skin will gain in loveliness and color.

OILY SKINS—
How to correct them

First cleanse your skin thoroughly by washing it in your usual way with Woodbury's Facial Soap and warm water. Wipe off the surplus moisture, but leave the skin slightly damp. Now with warm water work up a heavy lather of Woodbury's Facial Soap in your hands. Apply it to your face and rub it into the pores thoroughly—always with an upward and outward motion. Rinse with warm water, then with cold—the colder the better. If possible, rub your face for a few minutes with a piece of ice.

This treatment will make your skin fresher and clearer the first time you use it. Make it a nightly habit, and before long you will see a marked improvement—a promise of that lovelier complexion which the steady use of Woodbury's always brings.

The booklet containing the famous Woodbury treatments for all the commoner skin troubles, is wrapped around each cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap. Find the treatment for your skin—begin using it tonight.

Nickel Steel Yacht to Bear Canada's Flag.

Sydney, Sept. 29.—Canada's chance to compete for the America's Cup under conditions calling for a seaworthy boat that will be equally at home in rough and calm weather are exceedingly bright. This is the message that Alexander C. Ross, of the Royal Cape Breton Yacht Club, and originator of the idea of a Canadian challenger, brings back from New York, after conference with the members of the New York Yacht Club.

Tentative plans have been drawn for the proposed challenger, which will be built of nickel steel to give it lightness and strength. These plans provide for no top-heavy rigging, and no sacrifice to be made for speed, which it is designed to attain by construction. The schooner type of lines will predominate.

Mr. Ross is registered at the Chateau Laurier, and will be in Ottawa for several days attending to details in connection with the proposal to challenge in 1921 with a boat that will be named the "Maple Leaf," and which will be manned by Canadian fishermen, and built from funds raised by public subscription.

Answered!

The usual crowd of loungers was standing around watching the process of excavation for the new building. As the great steam shovel bit into the bank and then rose with its half carload of earth, one of the on-lookers remarked: "It makes me wild, looking at that thing taking the bread out of good men's mouths. Why, its filling up those wagons faster than a hundred men with picks and shovels could do it. 'Shucks!' exclaimed another onlooker. "What kind of a fool argument is that? If it would be better to employ a hundred men with picks and shovels, why wouldn't it be better still, by your way of thinking, to employ a thousand men with forks and teaspoons?" —Boston Transcript.

If a Testator

although seeing the benefits to be derived from a Trust Company's administration, hesitates about cancelling any appointment he may have already made, the Montreal Trust Company can be named to act with the Executor or Executors already appointed. In this way the Trust Company co-operates with the Testator's appointees in the administration of the Estate. This plan is very acceptable when the Testator's wife is named as Executor. Few women have the necessary business training to enable them to carry on the administration of an Estate, but with the co-operation of the Montreal Trust Company the Testator's wife can be appointed with full assurance that the Estate will be well looked after.

Mainly About People.

Lieut.-Col. A. N. Strobe-Jackson, who took a leading part in organizing the great international athletic contest at Queen's Club, is a famous runner, his greatest achievement being a brilliant success in the Olympic games at Stockholm in 1912, when he beat the American favorite in the 1,500 metre race by less than a yard. Col. Strobe-Jackson won great distinction in the war, and holds the D.S.O. with three bars. He was also a prominent member of the British Mission at the Peace Conference in Paris. He is married to the step-daughter of Mr. Orton Tewson, a well known American Journalist. Col. Strobe-Jackson is tall and thin, with an eagle eye.

The valuable leases of a vast amount of Crown property in the west end of London, practically the whole of Regent Street and the Regent Park estate, will shortly expire. An important question of policy will then arise, namely, whether the premises should again be let on lease, or whether the freeholds should be sold. They would realize an enormous sum. The same remark applies to Crown property in Carlton House Terrace and elsewhere. The whole question, however, is intimately bound up with the arrangements under which His Majesty receives a certain part of his income. When the King came to the throne, he, as his predecessors had done, ceded his property to the state, in consideration of which his majesty receives a certain sum annually.

Newfoundland.

Dear land of mine, for you I pine,
Sweet country of the free;
Thou land of flowers, and winter snows,
Surrounded by the sea.
I love thy hills and valleys green,
Where nature looks her best;
Thy silvery streams, oh land of mine,
Thou art forever blest.

In dreams I see thy rocky shores,
And once again I stand
Upon thy streets so dear to me,
Of my loved Newfoundland.
Again I feel the soft winds blow
As they gently fan my cheek;
Again I hear the robins sing
Down by the little creek.

I've seen the beauty of other lands,
Oh matchless Isle of mine;
But theirs would fade in nothingness,
When compared with thine.
I sing thy praise dear land of mine,
As I roam on a foreign strand;
God watch you always in my prayer
My own dear Newfoundland.

Resolution of Condolence.

FROM CIVIC COMMISSION.

Arising out of the death of Mr. John L. Slattery, Secretary-Treasurer, a special meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. The following resolution of condolence was introduced by Mayor Gosling who in sympathetic terms referred to the great loss the city had sustained through the demise of Mr. Slattery, who for so many years held the important office of Secretary-Treasurer of the Council. Commissioners Mul-lally, Morris, Ayre, Vinnicombe, Peet and Devine spoke to the resolution and referred to the sterling character of the deceased, both as a citizen and civic official. The following was then placed on record:

BE IT RESOLVED.—The Municipal Council, in special session assembled, desires to place on record its deep sorrow on the death of the late Secretary-Treasurer of the Council, Mr. John L. Slattery. For over thirty years Mr. Slattery has been a trusted official of the Municipality, filling the important post of Secretary-Treasurer since 1898. During all that time he held the entire confidence and respect of each successive Council. His strength of character, devotion to duty, absolute honesty, knowledge of civic affairs and high sense of justice made him a most valuable official, to the Council and to the city. The interests of the city were ever uppermost in his mind, and its progress and improvement his most ardent wish. The Council desires to extend its sincere sympathy to his relatives in their great loss, and directs that a copy of this Resolution shall be sent to them.

Bought Entire Town.

WEALTHY ENGLISHMAN NOW OWNS MILFORD HOUSE.

Milford Haven, a town of considerable antiquity, in Pembrokeshire, in Wales, has just been purchased by Major Hugh J. P. Thomas, a well-known land owner for $1,350,000. This big estate comprises 1,000 houses, a lordship of three manors, a fine castle, a mansion house and the market tolls of the town, in addition to the finest land-locked harbor in the world.

Commercially the port is in its infancy, but with the development of the plans and schemes contemplated, it may some day rival Liverpool and Southampton in the trade from the Americas.

The site of the town formed part of the possessions of Sir William Hamilton, who built the mansion of Castle Hall a hundred and twenty years ago; Castle Hall, as the home of the beautiful Emma Hamilton, was often visited by Lord Nelson.

The church near the haven was consecrated in 1803 and the font with the Hamilton arms was given by Lady Hamilton. In those days the mail coach from London brought the mails for Ireland to Milford. All this district is rich in history; there's a letter in existence, from the Earl of Pembroke to Queen, Elizabeth, dated February 11, 1592, about the necessity of fortifying Milford Haven.

Basin—the only place in the world where people literally walk on gold.

For here, exposed on the sands, in quantities incalculable, is the greatest thing on earth, bar health and love. Here Mother Earth is spotted on the surface with that metal of yellow glint for which nations war.

On the sands of this dreary, sun-parched desert-basin is the gleaming goal of Gain—gold, all gold, under foot, wherever you step, in a mountain-rimmed place six miles in circumference. Here, indeed, is the largest and most valuable low-grade gold "mine" known to geologists.

But as the gold is right on the surface, why does not someone go there and pick it up? Because, first of all, the owner of that basin is the only person who has a right to pick it up; second, because, after one has picked up some ten tons or so of sand, he has picked up with it only about two pennyworth of gold. And to separate that two pennyworth of gold from the ten tons of sand costs more than twopence.

Any thief is welcome to all the gold he can steal in that El Dorado. After such a robber has picked up ten tons of sand, having brought ten carts for the purpose, he would have to haul the loads a distance of sixty miles to the nearest ore-mill in order to get the gold.

Meantime, any of his ten mules hitched to his ten carts would have eaten, in a single meal, more than twopence worth of hay or oats.

Still the gold is there, dotting the surface with millions of glistening specks, all as plain to the eye as the millions of dancing points of sunlight on the surface of the sea on a calm day.—Tit-Bits.

One thing essential in your Winter Coat is QUALITY. One has to wear their Winter Coat for many months, and to stand against this you require the best of material in it.

We have carefully selected our stock of Winter Coatings and feel we have goods that merit your approval. You can purchase enough excellent material to make a coat for $24.00, and if you wish we can make it up for you, and deliver the finished garment in a week or less if necessary. The material is equal in quality to that in coats which retail at $70.00 to $90.00.

We ask you to come in and see the goods, examine them, get samples and prices, compare with others, and come back and purchase the goods.
