Mudania Conference Suspends Discussion.

Allied Delegations Return to Constantinople -- Evacuation of Thrace the Breaker Ahead -- France Supports Demand of Turks -- British Cabinet Consider Situation Serious.

CONFERENCE HALTS.
Constantinople, Oct. 5. Abruptly, though not unexpectedly, the Mudania Conference came to a halt this afternoon. When it will be resumed will be a matter of conjecture. Brigadier General Harrington, Commander of the Allied forces, and head of the Allied delegation, returned this evening on the battleship Iron Duke, and the Italian Delegation also returned to Constantinople. It is understood the Allied Generals will go into conference with the High Commissioners on certain details, serious differences regarding which have arisen at Mudania. Various explanations for the suspension of the Conference were given in rumours which quickly developed. One of the most generally credited relates to the evacuation of Constantinople. According to an official announcement, Ismet Pasha, Nationalist representative, suddenly raised the question of the evacuation of Constantinople. General Harrington replied that would come after the conclusion of the Peace Treaty as set forth in the joint allied note. In-
CONFERENCE INTERRUPTED.
LONDON, Oct. 5. The Mudania Conference has been interrupted owing to the Greek delegates declaring they must ask instructions from Athens, according to an Exchange Telegraph Agency Correspondent at Constantinople.

an unsatisfactory condition of affairs and the Government has asked General Harrington to repeat the text and to remain in Constantinople until further instructions.

ANOTHER REPORT.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5. The Mudania Conference is halted temporarily on the question of the immediate evacuation of Constantinople.

WILL CONSULT AT CONSTANTINOPLE.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5. The Allied Generals are returning here to consult with the High Commissioners regarding certain points which have arisen in the Mudania Conference. There will be a combined meeting at nine o'clock tomorrow, after which the Generals will return to Mudania.

FIRES OUT.
COBALT, Oct. 3. Thirty-three persons are known to be dead as a result of one of the most devastating fires in the history of Northern Ontario which Wednesday swept over the area along the line of the Temiskaming and Northern Railway, between Englehart on the north and a point just outside Cobalt on the south, a distance approximately of thirty-eight miles. In addition to the known dead a great number of people in the fire ravaged districts are reported missing, but it will be some days before an estimate can be made with any degree of accuracy. It is thought possible fifty persons met death through burns, suffocation or drowning. A drizzle of afternoon rain on Thursday put out the fires practically all over the stricken country. A conservative estimate places the property loss at five million dollars.

THE IRISH REBELLION.
CORK, Oct. 5. Twenty-three Irregulars were killed and thirty taken prisoners in a thirty hour battle on Monday and Tuesday at Killorglin near Killarney, according to an official report. The Free State casualties were slight. A complete column of Irregulars were captured at Doon, in County Kerry, it was announced today.

YESTERDAY'S GAME A TIE.
NEW YORK, Oct. 5. The Giants and Yankees battled ten innings to a three to three tie score when darkness called a halt to the game. Thirty-six thousand saw the pitchers' battle in which Barnes for the Giants and Shawkey for the Yanks fought down to the last period. The Giants made three runs in the first, fourth and eighth.

THE CAUSE OF THE RUPTURE.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5. The question of the evacuation of Thrace was the cause of the rupture at the Mudania Conference, it was announced late tonight. The attitude of the Turks and Greeks was very bellicose, threatening the success of the Conference.

SITUATION AGAIN SERIOUS.
LONDON, Oct. 5. So serious is the new situation that has arisen in the Near East that the British Cabinet, after a session of 2 hours this evening, will meet again tomorrow morning. It is stated in official quarters. It is not at all clear, it was declared, that the Mudania Conference had reached anything like a satisfactory conclusion.

HARRINGTON'S MESSAGE INCOMPLETE.
LONDON, Oct. 5. The purpose of the late Cabinet meeting was to consider a despatch from General Harrington which was incomplete owing to a breakdown in Radio. So far as it goes it discloses

Doctor Tricked.

CLEVER CROOK GETS SCRIPTS.

By means of a clever trick played on a local doctor, a citizen well known to the police has kept himself well supplied with scripts for some time past, and it was not until yesterday that the scheme was discovered and an attempt made to capture the trickster. The doctor in question is attached to a local institution, and being of an obliging nature, when two youngsters brought him a request from a friend for two scripts, he wrote them off and gave them to the messengers. The doctor received so many calls afterwards from the same source that his suspicions at length were aroused and an enquiry of his friend disclosed the fact that the requests he had received for scripts were not genuine. He then decided to lay a trap for the person who was deceiving him. Receiving a 'phone message from the fictitious friend for a loan of $15 and discovering it to be a fake, he laid his plans carefully. When the youthful messengers came for the money they were detained with offerings of bread and molasses while a detective was called. Then, an empty envelope was handed them and followed by the detective they went to find the person who had sent them for the money. The swindler, suspecting an attempt at arrest, seized the envelope from the hand of the youngster carrying it, and took to his heels, successfully eluding capture. He is known, however, and will be arrested.

Best Methods of Preserving Nets.

Extensive Researches in Many Countries to Find Means to Extend Life and Service of Twine—A Question Worthy of Study.

In a recent number of the Notes and Memoirs issued by the scientific and technical branch of the French Fisheries Department, Fillon gives the results of experiments carried out in various countries in order to determine the best methods of preserving nets from rotting.

BLUE-STONE.

Huwart at Ostend in Belgium experimented with blue-stone or blue vitriol (i.e. copper sulphate), the copper in which kills the bacteria that cause rotting. Norwegian fishermen have long used this method for their salmon nets, putting them overnight in a cold solution of blue-stone, and then immersing them, without drying, in sea water. Huwart used half an ounce of blue-stone for each pound of net and let the solution act for 4 hours. He then compared nets so treated with untreated nets first when new, then after 90 days in foul water during the winter, then after 25 more days in foul water in May, and finally after 36 more days in foul water in the summer. The tests made were to find out how much the net would stretch without breaking (elasticity) and how great a strain was needed to break it (strength). The treated and untreated nets were equal at the beginning, but differed greatly after exposure to the rotting water. For example at the end of the second per-

Mother Says It Saved Her Life.

"My mother is firmly convinced that Tanlac saved my life and I don't doubt myself but what that is true." This statement was given out for publication a few days ago, by Miss May Anderson, a popular young lady residing at 1004 1/2 Argyle St., Halifax, Nova Scotia.

"About a year ago I caught a cold, which I neglected until I was forced to take to my bed where I had to remain for three weeks. When I got up I could hardly stand alone and would stay awake all night long coughing. I had no appetite and could not regain my strength.

"I had my things ready and the time set to go to a sanatorium when my mother, who was almost frantic over my condition, bought me a bottle of Tanlac. So I stayed home and began taking the Tanlac, and when the third bottle was gone I felt so much better I knew I was getting well. I was almost a skeleton when I started taking Tanlac, but now I am rounded out and feel as strong as I ever did. Tanlac made such a wonderful change in me that my friends could hardly believe I was the same one who had been so sick. My mother praises Tanlac to everybody on account of what it has done for me.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

It is worth while to treat the netting again in this way from time to time. TAR, LINSEED OIL, AND CREOSOTE.

Tar is the chief method of preserving nets used in the United States. It is simple and in expensive method. The tar acts by virtue of covering the fibres of the netting, by being insoluble, and by containing antiseptic or germ-killing substances similar to carbolic acid. Its disadvantage lies in making the netting 100 p.c. heavier, which means much greater wear, and also more labour and time in hauling and handling generally. It also makes the netting stiffer, which lessens the catches in the case of pill nets. Better results are obtained by first tanning the net, as described later.

Linseed oil is very dear and difficult to apply. If used in combination with tanning, it does not protect the netting better than does the latter in combination with sodium bichromate and blue-stone.

Trials have been made also of creosote, which is used so successfully for railroad ties and telegraph poles, and the results are good, the netting undergoing very little shrinkage, and not becoming stiff. Unfortunately, the creosote does not last, being partly evaporated and partly washed away by water.

TANNING METHODS.

Tanning is extensively used in the preservation of the skins of animals, converting them into leather. When used for the vegetable fibres of which nets are made, it does not produce quite the same results. The netting, after being treated with the tanning liquor, does not retain the tanning materials so firmly as does leather. In water, even when cold, the netting rapidly loses these materials, and preservation is very temporary. It is necessary to use some method of fixing the tanning materials in the substance of the netting.

(A) Tanning followed by tarring.—In France tanning is generally done with cutch. After the new net has been cleaned, boiling cutch liquor is poured over it, and the net covered with it overnight. The next day the liquor is removed and the net put out to drain. This operation is repeated, as often as six times, until the net is well coloured. When the net is dry (if too dry, it is moistened slightly to prevent too much tar penetrating and stiffening the net) it is immersed in a bath of boiling tar consisting of four parts of coal tar to one of carbonyl. After this, it is drained and dried. The tarring is not usually repeated, but the tanning is done again after somewhat long use.

(B) Tanning followed by treatment with sodium bichromate and blue-stone.—Bull recommends this method as being much superior to the last one, and gives the following directions for carrying it out. The net must be perfectly clean and in particular free from all fatty or oily matters. For 100 pounds of net (either cotton or hemp, but cotton gives better results) 15 pounds of quercitron extract, 65 pounds of oak bark, or 25 pounds of catechu extract are used. Half the quantity is dissolved (or extracted in the case of oak bark) in water, and this may be hastened by using a jet of steam or by frequent stirring. When solution is complete water is added to make the volume up to 50 gallons; and the temperature is raised nearly to the boiling point. The net is put in and kept below the surface with something heavy (not iron), and the bath left covered so as to cool slowly. After 48 hours the net is taken out, wrung, and left to dry. The other half of the extract is added to the liquor that is left and the operation repeated.

The subsequent treatment with bichromate and blue-stone is carried out as follows: For 100 lbs. of net 2 lbs. of blue-stone and 1 1/2 lbs. of potassium or sodium bichromate (the latter is cheaper) are dissolved in cold water in a wooden barrel and the volume made up to 50 gallons and well stirred. The net is put in, and left for two or three hours, being moved occasionally with a wooden rod. Then it is taken out, rinsed in cold water, and dried. It is worth while repeating the treatment from time to time. In place of quercitron extract, oak bark, catechu or hemlock bark may be used, but they are not quite so good. Cunningham's experiments show that true catechu or cutch does not give as satisfactory results as mangrove extract or red cutch. Quebracho may be obtained more easily, and gives rather satisfactory results, though not so good.

A test of this method, using quebracho, was made at Ostend. Treated and untreated nets were placed in a large shallow vat containing brackish water, fouled, being stirred frequently to let the air have a chance to act. While the untreated net lost nearly fifteen-sixteenths of its original strength, and some of its elasticity the treated net was considerably stronger, and more elastic to begin with, and lost only a little of its strength in the rotting water.

(C) Tanning followed by treatment with ammoniacal copper sulphate.—Dr. Gile of Utrecht recommends this method for these reasons: (1) the tannin and other matters from the first bath are fixed; (2) the tanning matter is made more permanent, and to its protective action is added the very effective bactericidal action of the copper; (3) the ammonia neutralizes the sulphuric acid formed by the action of the blue-stone on the tannin, and makes it possible to put the net away in storage at once. When the previous method is used, the net must be put out in the water at once so that the sulphuric acid may be washed out (which takes place slowly); otherwise the net is ruined. By this method it is possible to put the net in storage directly after treatment.

Dr. Gile carried out experiments with this method in 1919, using cotton net, and treating it with various tanning materials, in each case both with and without blue-stone. The variously treated pieces of net, as well as harmful to the nets, even if well tanned. Much gear lasts only a short time because it has been thus burnt. The rule should be to "thoroughly wash the net and to dry it very quickly."

If it is not possible, salting may be resorted to, which acts as in salting fish by extracting the moisture and preventing growth of bacteria. If the nets are greasy with fat, as in the herring fishery, this is not sufficient. For heating results from the action of salt on the fat. Bull recommends in such a case that the nets be kept immersed in water or brine in a vessel with a tight lid until they can be thoroughly cleansed. In this way they are kept free of contact with the air. There is no doubt that the proper preservation of nets is of the greatest importance to our fishermen. At the present time, with low prices for fish and high prices for gear, it is difficult for many to make fishing pay. If the nets could be made to do double duty, failure would in many cases be changed to success. The care now given to nets is far from what it should be. And the better methods advocated above should be adopted by our fishermen. We would welcome inquiries as to the procedure or information concerning failure or success with these methods at present in use in this country.—Canadian Fisherman.

Real Drama in "My Wandering Boy."

A STORY THAT WILL PLEASE ST. JOHN'S.

New York raved over the great screen story, "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" The biggest theatre in the city, the Capital, was crowded each night during the run and at every city in which it was shown a very same reception was encountered. After a most wonderful run in Canada and the United States, the Nickel Theatre of this city has been most fortunate in securing this film for local presentation. The public wants drama right now, drama packed with sentiment, and in this picture they sit the greatest combination of heart punch, sentiment, drama and titillation that has ever been seen since the coming of the screen drama. The title borrowed from a famous hymn with which every man, woman and child is acquainted. But back of this title is a good production, artistic and realistic. The story is smoothly told. Scientifically it is one of the prettiest features offered to the movie fans of the world. "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" is a record breaker and we feel safe in saying that it will prove itself so, next week.

The Mack Bus will run to Bay Bulls and Witless Bay Sunday afternoon, leaving the station at 2:30 p.m., if sufficient passengers offer. Book seats in advance. Return fare $2.00. Phone 1308. MARSHALL'S GARAGE oct 6, 21

What the Squires Tariff is Doing.

One of the largest business firms in the world, in London, writes to a business friend in St. John's as fol- lows:

"It is certainly to be very much re- gretted that your Administrative Au- thorities are imposing such onerous duties on the ordinary necessities of life, as to make the import of British goods almost impossible, as the re- sult can only be disastrous, inasmuch as numbers of your populace and wage earners will doubtless be in- duced to migrate to countries where conditions are more propitious."

This is but one result of the ex- cessive rates of duty imposed by Sir R. A. Squires.

The Herring Outlook.

As the season advances for the op- ening of the herring fishery, interest is being centered on the industry. The packers intimate that owing to gener- al conditions, their packing this season will be confined to requirements for contracts made before operations. So far two or three contracts have been entered into for the Bay of Is- lands operations, and others are in course of negotiation.

At Bonne Bay very little prepara- tions have been made so far. The de- struction of the wharves and stores at that place last spring has placed it to considerable disadvantage, and a shipment of about five hundred her- ring barrels imported there a few weeks ago, have been farmed out in small lots to a number of people.

Advices from Nipper's Hr. and Halls Bay show that much uncertainty pre- vails in Green Bay at the present. At Halls' Bay, however, some prepara- tions are being made, and we under- stand that a local company has hired a premises there owned by an Ameri- can fish concern. We have also been told that at least one contract has been signed up for Halls' Bay at $12 per barrel f.o.b. Springdale. If this is so the buyer must see better pros- pects than prevailed last season, when we consider that to the costs which range about the same as last year, must be added $2.50 on ship- ments to United States, the duty pro- vided by the tariff recently adopted by that country.

However, we consider it a mistake on the part of our packers to depend so much on New-York as a market for their product. In the farming and industrial centres of upper and cen- tral Canada there should be a big op- ening to work-up a market for our fall caught herring. Two or three packers did send shipments to Cana- dian centres last season and found a ready market; one firm shipped almost its whole output to Winnipeg and we understood got a much better price than New York buyers offered. It is a big mistake to depend entirely upon one market.—Western Star.

We regret to-day, having to chroni- cle the death of Ada May Sparks, only daughter of Samuel and Mrs. Mary Whitbourne. She had been ill, taking gradually for several weeks,

The Treaty of Sevres

Just now when the attention of the world is focussed upon the squalid village of Mudania, where a Conference fraught with grave import to Christendom is being held, it might be worth while to consider briefly the Treaty of Sevres, made between the Allies and Turkey but never ratified. The provisions of this treaty were supposed to settle the relationship of Turkey with the rest of the world, and severely limited Turkish territory, the Ottoman Empire being practically confined to Constantinople, once the chief city of the Byzantine Empire. The Dardanelles were to be placed under the control of an International Commission. According to the verbiage of the text, "Navigation of the Straits, including the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and the Bosphorous shall in future be opened in peace and war to every vessel of commerce, or of war, and to military and commercial aircraft without distinctions of flag. The said waters shall not be subject to blockade, nor shall any belligerent right be exercised, nor any act of hostility committed within them, unless in pursuance of a decision of the League of Nations." Further articles are mainly a definition of the duties and authority of the commission.

At a conference held in London during the month of March 1921, Turkey was offered certain concessions intended to make the Sevres Treaty more acceptable. These included a considerable reduction in the demilitarized zone of the Straits. Western Asia Minor and Thrace were to be given to Greece, and Armenia was set apart as a mandatory province. This agreement was accepted by the Caliph and his Government, but Mustapha Kemal, leader of the Turkish Nationalists refused to accept the Treaty or to recognize the authority of the Sultan at Constantinople, and immediately set up a separate form of Government at Ankara in the centre of Asia Minor. Greece would not stand for this and at once proceeded to enforce the treaty by taking possession of Smyrna and Western Asia Minor. This was resisted by Kemal and with varying fortunes his forces fought the Greeks until at length the latter having followed him far from their bases, thus weakening their lines of communication, were fallen upon by the Kemalists and swept to destruction, being by the ultimate victory of the Turkish Nationalists obliged to retreat from their untenable position. The upshot of this defeat of the Hellenic army was that Kemal derided the Treaty of Sevres, claiming that which it received the signatures of the high contracting parties, it was never ratified by the nations concerned, nor yet by the League of Nations, and therefore has no force or effect. Kemal also claims that the Sultan of Turkey in Constantinople no longer represents the Turks as a whole, and asserts and advances his authority for the Nationalists, of whom he is the leader. Thus matters stand at the moment and everyone will hope that the Mudania Conference will remove the dif-sculties, and so adjust the prevailing delicate situation that all fear of further conflict will be diminished, and an amicable settlement of all the questions involved determined. At the moment, however, it is quite clear that it is utterly impossible to drive the Turk out of Europe.

Earle Spicer's Recital.

CANADIAN SINGER IN SPLENDID VOICE DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE.

It has been said of a St. John's concert audience that it would be difficult to find a better and more reliable critic, and this being so, the wonderful ovation which the many hundreds of people who attended Mr. Earle Spicer's recital in the Methodist College Hall last night, gave to the young Canadian baritone was a real and appreciable tribute to his artistic talent and ability. It is seldom that lovers of music have the opportunity of hearing a singer who possesses a voice of such sterling quality and excellent timbre as does Mr. Spicer, and despite the strain, which so lengthy a programme must have entailed, he was compelled to favour an audience which overestimated his powers, with several encores. His voice was very good; ample, strong, resonant, and evidenced a thorough training, to which the individuality of the artist added flavor. It was apparent that Mr. Spicer threw his whole soul into his singing, and a carefully arranged programme demonstrated the diversity of his talent and the wide range of his voice. The opening song was "Lungi Dal Bana," and this was rendered with great expression and power. "Viktoria, Mia Cora" was sung with that fervour and excellence which marks the true vocalist, and in common with all Mr. Spicer's renditions, with remarkable clarity of enunciation. "An Interlude" formed a striking contrast to the lilting, lively notes of "Viktoria." It was sung with exceptional softness and clarity. In the famous "Toreador Song" from Carmen, the artist was at his best, and moved his audience by a humanism which is but a step removed from naturalism. This song was sung with such animation and expression that one could picture the scenes it described with almost realistic vividness. It is essentially a song of action, and its rendition was perfect.

The second part of the programme opened with "Vale," and the solemnity of the theme was treated in a manner beyond improvement. "My Father Has Some Very Fine Sheep" was a difficult selection, handled in a masterly manner. It moves at a tremendous rate, calling for such control of breathing and lip movement as only a thoroughly trained singer can command, and Mr. Spicer's rendition was, so natural and realistic as to immediately conjure up visions of green pastures and other delights of the country. As a contrast to this, a lilting, Highland love ballad was sung in a delightful manner, and after that a song of the sea, rendered with the breeziness, characteristic of all that pertains to the Senior Service, and with wonderful power and resonance. Several other ballads, a type of song in dialect, which added to their difficulty. Of these, "The Stoker," was perhaps, the best. The recital ended with "Ave Maria," sung in Latin, in a manner which added beauty to its soothing notes.

Mr. Spicer was assisted by Miss Marjorie Hutchings, whose pleasing contralto was heard to good effect; Mrs. E. A. Outebriquo gave two recitations in her own inimitable manner, and Miss Alison Rennie who contributed some well executed piano solos. Mr. Gordon Christian accompanied at both the piano and organ in a very pleasing manner. The recital will be repeated on Monday, when the delightful singing of Mr. Spicer, coupled with the charitable causes which he is aiding, will undoubtedly attract another large audience. His Excellency the Administrator, with whom was Lady Horwood, was present last night.

Portia From Strats.

S.S. Portia, Capt. Connors, arrived from the Straits on Saturday forenoon, says the Western Star, Curling, of current issue. The ship, which was taking the place of the Home, while the latter ship was undergoing repairs, made all usual ports from here to Battle Br., and returns. She experienced fair weather most of the trip. Fishing operations on the Labrador are over. Many of the people have their whole voyage shipped. At few points in the Straits the codfishery was good, while at other places it has been the worst for twenty years. The Portia brought about 200 passengers.

On Monday afternoon the Portia sailed North again going direct to Holton to pick up fishing crews and take them to their homes along the East Coast.

The St. John's Rotary Club entertained the visiting officials who came on the Manoa, Past District Governor Bob Patterson, and District Governor W. S. Grant, at dinner at Smithville last night. A number of guests were also present and a most enjoyable evening was spent. A delightful menu was prepared by the Staff at Smithville and full justice was done to the ample repast. Cowan; resp. Walter S. Grant, District Governor. "St. John's Rotary Club"—Prop. Bob Patterson, P.D.G., resp. Dr. T. M. Mitchell, Vice Pres., Dr. V. P. Burke, Secretary. "Our Guests"—Prop. Ernest R. Watson; resp. W. R. Howley, K.C. Mr. C. E. Hunt, President of the local Club was Chairman. The speeches were all of a very high order, and were most interesting. The usual Rotary songs were rendered in lusty chorus and the whole gathering was typical of the spirit of Rotary.

Highest Tariff in North America.

Newfoundland buyers in England this summer have been airing their grievances against the Incapable Mfd. Government, stating how the populace was being fleeced by being saddled with the highest Customs Tariff in North America. This is another result of the burdensome Customs Tariff imposed by Sir R. A. Squires.

Another shipment of Women's American Winter Coats are being opened at BISHOP'S to-day. The twenty-four dollar line, with the large new fur collar, knocks everything yet seen in St. John's for value.

Shopbreakers Sentenced

In the case of Buckley the Court took into consideration the statement of this prisoner who said he was brought into the crime when he was drunk, and gave him 12 months with hard labor. In passing sentence on Dowe the Chief Justice said the Police record showed that he was guilty of the practice of shopbreaking and larceny. He was given a sentence of two years with hard labor. After passing sentence the Chief Justice issued a caution to the prisoner that should he again repeat his crimes it may be necessary to inflict the maximum punishment of 7 years imprisonment.

Fire Destroys Bungalow

MR. G. R. PARSONS MEETS HEAVY LOSS. The beautiful bungalow on the Portugal Cove Road, owned by Mr. Geo. R. Parsons, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. An article of furniture was saved and the damage is in excess of $9000. Insurance is carried to the extent of $5000, so that there is a loss of $4000. The fire is believed to have been caused by clothes which were drying behind a stove. It was first discovered by Mrs. Parsons, who called her son for a short visit to a neighbour, found the kitchen in flames. She quickly informed the neighbourhood, but it was impossible to save anything from the burning house. The efforts of the fire fighters were confined to preventing the blaze from spreading to the neighbouring bungalow of Mr. W. Barker, and in this they were successful.

Completing Cab Stand.

A USELESS EXPENDITURE.

A number of men are engaged at the completion of the cab stand east of the Court House, which was started by the Government last spring as a form of relief work. The place is so small that it is of practically no use, and the cost of making it is out of all proportion to its utility. When blasting, which was necessary to make the excavation, was completed, it was found that a large water main was in the way. The men have now to trench some distance up the hill and further blasting will be necessary before the pipe is laid at the level necessary to get it out of the way. Besides all this expense a watchman has been employed on the site ever since the work began in the spring.

ADVERTISING AS GOOD NEWS.

I have a friend who always says to me scornfully when she finds me reading the advertisements, "You don't believe the things you read in advertisements, do you?"

She doesn't. She would scorn to try and get bargains that she sees advertised in the papers. She knows they don't exist, except in the imagination of the merchants. How does she know? Oh, because she is a superior person who has private scenes to do a great deal of that kind of knowledge. You've met her. Maybe you don't know her under the same name that I do. But I am sure you know her. Unfortunately her private sources of knowledge do not include a great many things that are downright facts.

One of them is that there are laws in a great many places against deliberate misrepresentation of facts in advertising.

Dishonest Advertising Didn't Pay. Another is that in many places advertising men have themselves banded together in organizations called Better Business Commissions to carry out the ideal of using strict truth in all their advertisements. This movement started ten years ago and was a protest against certain tendencies in advertising which were creating mistrust in the minds of the public and making good business men hesitate about advertising their wares. The motto of the associations is that truth is the cornerstone of all honorable and successful business, and its principle is that advertising will be a strong power in the long run if it is based on absolute truth.

This commission established vigilance committees to examine advertising of all kinds and note all announcements that seemed exaggerated or misleading, examine the merchandise and where mistakes or mis-statements appeared, to report to the commission. The commission then went after the merchant making the misleading statement.

They Asked for More. You can imagine how the merchants hated that, can't you?

But they didn't. That's the most marvellous part of it. As a matter of fact they found the commission so helpful that other cities began to demand similar organizations and now there are 36 commissions giving all their time to such work and 30 more giving part time.

They employ shoppers who report to the director who confers with the owner of the store. Often he is glad to have the error pointed out because it is a case of a mistake, or a careless or even a deliberate overstatement on the part of a department head. Sometimes the exaggeration was intentional and the merchant has to be shown the error of his ways by methods of publicity or even by prosecution. But out of 3500 cases handled in one city only eight required prosecution.

Honesty is the best policy.

What Fools They would Be! A shop that has a reputation for square dealing will not sell for many thousands of dollars. Surely not for a few hundreds to be obtained by misrepresentation of some article in a sale.

But the honest merchant is at times at a disadvantage when he has to struggle with the competition of the dishonest fly-by-night advertiser. And as there are more honest merchants than dishonest ones in the run of the mill no wonder they want to join together to make honest advertising the rule.

And isn't it a joy to us, the public, to know that they are doing that and that advertising is coming to be what it ought to be, simply news about merchandising, good news of what the various stores have to offer us?

Football Reminiscences.

By ONLOOKER.

23rd LEAGUE MATCH.
St. Andrews vs. C.C.C. Result: Saints 6 Goals, C.C.C. 0. Played on Llewellyn Place, August 15th, 1898.

In oppressive weather for football quite an average gathering greeted these terms last evening—their second last fixture for the season. Following were the players:

St. Andrews—Scapella; Young and H. Rodger; Jardine, Forbes and S. Rodger; Walker, Monroe, Mars, Munn and MacFarlane.

C.C.C.—Cullen; Evans and A. Donnelly; Murphy, H. Donnelly and Morrissey; Roud, Vinicombe, Power, F. Donnelly and Brophy.

It will be seen that whilst the "cup holders" played their "crack" eleven of last year, the Cadets were minus Squires the sturdy goalkeeper, playing Cullen in goal and Morrissey as a "sub." Saints played downhill the first half and immediately Cullen had to exert himself, several shots nearly proving effective. Then Cadets had a run for the other end only to be driven back by the strong defence of the blue's backs, and Mars getting possession well down, just shot past. A corner then fell to the Saints which was shot over, and another try shared the same fate, then, after some good passing play amongst the blue forwards, Mars sent a grounder into the net. A few minutes after, the blues, who were doing all the pressing, again found the net. Munn giving the final kick. This was followed by a third beautifully put in by Mars, and it now looked like a goal record match, Cullen and the Cadet backs having all they could do in saving and clearing. Out of a regular hustle in front of goal, the Cadets came away and for a time looked dangerous, but the blues were now fairly in scoring mood, and after a brilliant run down the field, in which Mars and Moore shone, the ball was passed to Munn, who quickly added No. 4. At half time they stood Saints 4, C.C.C. 0.

Resuming, the Saints at once got aggressive and Cullen was soon called upon, but he saved brilliantly on two or three occasions. The Cadets had a look in at the railway end and drew out Scapella, then the blues had a dash for Cullen, and a nice chance was missed—Walker shooting past. Just after, a corner fell to the Saints, and being nicely placed, Monroe headed No. 5 into the net. The Cadets had another run towards Scapella who had again to clear, and play was immediately transferred to the other end where the Saints lost two or three chances by bad shooting. Saints continued to press hard, but the stubborn defence of Cadet backs prevented any further scoring, till some 5 minutes from time, when Walker added No. 6 for the blues. With this, as the result the white blew time.

NOTES ON THE GAME.
The game, though one sided, had some interesting features, notably some individual work on both sides. As a combination, however, the Cadets were completely outclassed by their opponents, who, when at their best, undoubtedly give the best illustration of the "passing game" of any of the League Clubs. Cadets played a plucky game, but were no match for their agile opponents. The Bros. Donnelly were always conspicuous. The entire team did their best, and with combined practice should show up better. Cullen, in goal saved wonderfully, and kept down the score only making that one mistake, so common to new goalkeepers,—of starting on a dribbling race, and leaving his goal at the mercy of the foe.

Now, a word to the League officials. Start the remaining matches as near six p.m. as possible, in order to give players and spectators a chance of playing and seeing the games to a finish, in daylight.

Look for a good gate on Wednesday evening, Star vs. Terra Nova.

REALISM.

Ah, the realistic writer, with his novel, makes me sad; for his hero is a blighter and his heroine's as bad. Says the "realistic" fellow, when he takes his fountain pen, "All world is punk and y e l l o w, breaks its women and its men. I'll describe a little section of the life that I behold, write up squalor and dejection, mildew, rottenness and mold. And my book will have no humor, nothing gay will it disclose, for I'd write about a tumor rather than describe a rose. There will be no plot of action such as healthy people choose, for I cater to that fraction of the crowd that has the blues." So he writes a sordid story of a sordid lot of wrecks, failures young and failures hoary, talking evermore of Sex. And some critics cry, "Great Caesar! How he reads the human soul! He's a grand and gifted seer who could write that rignarole!" And the smell of rot grows denser as the realism grows, while men talk about a censor, and the wise man holds his nose. Realism in the sewer rakes and digs and claws around, hunting carrion that's newer than poor Zola ever found.

On Nationalizing a Newspaper.

The suggestion made in England that the London Times be nationalized is interesting, and also impracticable to the point of being silly. As a shrewd newspaper publisher, we wonder what the late Lord Northcliffe would have thought about such a proposal. Not much, we will venture, if its former owner had any thought of keeping "The Thunderer" permanently before the reading public. Of course, it might be remade into a species of "blue book," and like the "blue books" remain unread by the great mass of the people. Barring the Angel Gabriel, where could an editor be found to direct a nationalized newspaper? Think of working for a board of directors of such a sheet. Imagine trying to direct its editorial policy. What sort of a policy could such a newspaper pursue? The best that could be done would be to make it into a propaganda sheet, changing its policy with every turn of the political wheel. And then we have the awful example of Russia's nationalized newspapers, which print just what the Soviet Government tells them to and nothing else. We presume that in Russia such newspapers are read, though not from choice, as journals from other countries are not admitted. It is a case of take the Soviet papers or go without.—Saturday Night, Toronto.

Household Notes.

An appetizing dish for breakfast is bacon and apple rings. Wash, but do not peel apples, then cut them into slices a quarter of an inch thick. Cook in a thin syrup until clear, then drain and arrange around platter with rings overlapping. In center of platter place the bacon, cooked until firm. Garnish with parsley.

If you are about to discard an unattractive set of oak furniture, don't do it! Give each piece of set a coating of flat white paint, then three coats of white enamel. When this is dry, cut out from a good grade of wallpaper a pretty pink flower design and paste on front of drawers, on the wide part of chair backs and headboard of bed. Coat motifs with colorless shellac, and you will have a charming set for a child's bedroom.

Serve sugar cookies with the afternoon tea. To make, beat a half cup butter until creamy, add cup sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, and 2 cups flour, sifted with a cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder and a half teaspoon salt. Roll quite thin and cut in fancy shapes. In the center of each place a bit of almond, a whole date, or a raisin, and bake.

To stuff summer squash, scoop out seeds after cutting slice from top. Fill square with dressing made of a pint of fine breadcrumbs, seasoned with half teaspoon salt and pepper, a medium-sized onion, minced, a large tablespoon of butter in bits, a teaspoon of mustard flour and two beaten eggs. Replace top slice and bake

2 hours basting with bacon dripping.

A good recipe for mayonnaise is as follows: Mix together a half tablespoon salt, a half teaspoon powdered sugar, a half teaspoon mustard and a fourth teaspoon paprika. Add the yolk of one egg, and mix well. Next add a teaspoon vinegar, and then, very slowly, a cup of salad oil, beating all the time. At intervals add vinegar and lemon juice until enough.

To make a delicious Turkish stew for a chilly night, brown one onion and a third of a cup of rice in 2 tablespoons fat. With sufficient water or stock to make a gravy that just covers the whole, add one small diced carrot, 1 teaspoon horseradish, 1 cup of diced meat, 1 cup tomato and salt and pepper. Cover and allow to simmer until rice is soft and gravy has been absorbed.

HIS DIARY.

Oct. 5th.—I have not written in this journal for many days, being that my slothful habits do again overtake me, which I am sorry for. To lunch to-day with the Motor Association, and I did pass a mighty pleasant hour, with much light discourse. Noon, to the High Court, and did there see Mr. Ayre sentenced, and it but a year since I did journey with him to Donovan's to meet the returning athletes, and a merry time it was. I leave the Court in ill humor and meeting Buck, I learn from him of an amusing trick whereby a city doctor did give out many scripts, thinking them for a friend, and they going to a man unknown to him. So with my wife to Mr. Spicer's recital, that he gives in the Methodist College Hall, and his singing of more than passing merit, so that my wife and I do both doze on him. So home and to bed.

SHIP'S OFFICER AND TRUCK DRIVER INJURED.

CAR DRIVEN BY N. M. DULEY COLLIDES WITH SLOVAN AND OVERTURNS.

Chief Engineer Roland Howes of S.S. Manx and Mr. George Neville of the Toppal Road are now in hospital with broken limbs following a collision between a Buick car driven by Mr. N. M. Duley, and a slovan which Neville was driving. The accident occurred at 10.30 last night on Cornwall Avenue. The car overturned throwing out Duley with whom was Howes, while Neville was thrown to the ground amidst the ruins of his car. Howes' arm suffered a double fracture. Neville's leg was seriously damaged, and Duley was badly shaken and bruised and is now under the doctor's care. The horse was so seriously injured that it had to be shot. The car must have been going at a fast rate, for by the time its headlights showed up the slovan coming towards it, it was too late to avoid a collision. The car struck the slovan with a glancing blow, throwing the horse down and breaking its leg. The car was badly damaged. The injured men were taken to the hospital in Mr. R. Brown's car and the police were later informed of the accident. Two men, Redmond and Nugent, who were on the cart with Neville, had a miraculous escape from serious injury.

If sufficient passengers offer the Mack Bus will run to Bay Bulls and Witless Bay Sunday afternoon. Coach leaves the Station at 2.30 p.m. Seats booked in advance. $2.00 return. Phone 1308. MARSHALL'S GARAGE.—oct. 21

1921 Annual Report.

AGRICULTURAL DECLINES ALARMING.

The annual report of the Minister of Agriculture and Mines, which came to hand a few days ago, strikes a note of warning that our agricultural industry is sadly on the wane. The report is replete with statistics to prove the assertion, but whether they are reliable or otherwise cannot be guessed at. An instance of their value may be gleaned from a comparison of the present with the report for the year 1920. In the latter year a paragraph reviewing the meteorological conditions states "that the hay crop on meadows, where no rotation was practiced, was practically nil, and on better cultivated land but one-third short of the usual yield."

In that year the hay crop was estimated at 96,685 tons. Turning to the review of the meteorological conditions for the year ending 1921 the report says, "the weather conditions were most favorable and a large yield of hay was produced." The returns are given as 49,837 1/2 tons as far as both meteorological reports so they cover the conditions fairly accurately, so that it is apparent that only inaccurate returns would show a shortage of 47,247 1/2 tons, or nearly 50 per cent. During a good hay season over an admittedly had one. The same conclusion may be arrived at by a comparison of other crops for both years. However displeasing it is to learn that our agricultural industry statistically is on the decline, it is interesting to note that the Department of Agriculture proposes to remedy matters by instituting a card system of collecting agricultural statistics. The plan is outlined at some length in the report, and the hope expressed that the intelligent system would result by making it compulsory on every occupier of land in the whole Island to fill in the cards.

Municipal Council.

WEEKLY MEETING.
 A regular meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Messrs. Martin, Outerbridge, Vincent, Collier, Ryan, and Davidson were present. The preliminary business of the meeting being disposed of, the following matters were given consideration:
 Mr. W. B. Jennings wrote to the Council existing at Pleasant Street Blackmarsh Road, stating as a result of surface drains not being attached to his premises had been ordered. The Engineer was instructed to give this matter immediate attention.
 A communication was tabled from Mr. F. E. Hendell in relation to the many cases of Typhoid Fever existing in the city. He informed the Council that generally it is a very mild type, and there is no need of anxiety, as the next few weeks will see the disease stamped out completely.
 Mr. F. E. Hendell drew attention to the crossing on King's Bridge opposite St. Thomas's Church and Bishop's Court, and asked that it be given attention, as well as the grading of the street in the vicinity. A like communication was read from Mr. F. C. Berteau. The Road Inspector is already attending to these matters.
 Messrs. Harvey & Company, Ltd., complained of drainage conditions near their engine factory, stating they were having considerable inconvenience in the matter and pointing out the need of a surface drain in the Factory Lane. The Engineer will investigate and see what can be done to remedy the cause of complaint.
 Mr. J. M. Howley called attention to the wooden culvert on LeMarchant Road, through which surface water from upper districts drains into his premises, thereby causing considerable annoyance and expense. He requested the placing of a properly constructed drain and gully at this place. The matter was placed in the hands of the Road Department.
 James Hynes, on behalf of the Battery Road Committee, wrote with reference to the amount of $500.00 voted by the Council for some improvements in this section of the city, declining the same. Some weeks ago, the residents of the Battery forwarded a petition, asking that the same privileges enjoyed by other residents of the city be given them. The present finances of the Council are not such as to warrant them in undertaking costly works such as requested, but, after careful consideration, it was unanimously decided to expend the sum already allocated, which would be equal to full amount of taxes received on an assessment of property in that district that is, provided each individual paid the taxes levied. The facilities are unable to do more than this.
 Messrs. Power and Dodd complained of drainage conditions Barter's Lane and asked that immediate attention be given in a matter which needs to be the wishes of the petitioners considerable expenditure would be made, and it was decided to defer the matter until next season. A largely signed petition was received from residents of Mundy Pond Road, asking that a fountain be placed there, as owing to wells having dried they are without water supply. The request was acceded to and the Engineer instructed accordingly. The residents of Circular Road called attention to the necessity of having the sidewalks properly graded on that street. They also stated that they were caused great inconvenience through the overflow of surface water during the rain season, water being its way into the basements of their respective dwellings. The Road Inspector will give this matter immediate attention.
 Communications were tabled from Mr. Geo. Langmead, and Mr. J. A. Barron, LeMarchant Road, the former with regard to the condition of pavement fronting his premises, and the latter pointing out the necessity of improving drainage conditions on LeMarchant Road. The matter of Water Street pavement is in the hands of the Newfoundland Company, with whom the Council have entered into an agreement, while in Mr. Barron's case it was stated the only remedy would be the placing of a concrete curb and gutter along the street. If Barron is willing to pay his property, according to frontage of property, the work will be undertaken.
 Several applications were received from the position on Sealants, staff vacant by the retirement of Mr. H. Chafe, who for forty years past has been a faithful servant of the city. They were given consideration by the Council, and it was decided to employ Thomas Rolls.
 The City Solicitor reported that a claim made by Messrs. Squires and Co. on behalf of Mrs. Bussey, 109 LeMarchant Street, for alleged damage to property of their client through overflowing of sewer, the claim is not liable.
 Mr. Maurice Hitchen, Topsail Road, referred to the former decision of the Council with regard to lighting conditions in this locality, and asked if it was his intention to act in this matter. The Lighting Committee has already placed an order for the installation of a light.

 The Sanitary Committee reported that repairs should be immediately made to the Sanitary stables.
 The Sanitary Department requested for the usual yearly supply of hay and oats for his department. It was ordered that tenders be called for 150 tons of hay and 3500 bushels of oats.
 The Plumbing Inspector reported that most of the house owners recently notified were complying with the regulations and were now installing sanitary appliances.
 A communication was read from Sir Edgar Bowring asking that the city assume the responsibility for the maintenance of Bowring Park on the first of the ensuing year. For the information of the public, it may be stated this park has already cost in the vicinity of $100,000.00 for purchase and maintenance, and has been a source of untold enjoyment to citizens, particularly the growing generation of St. John's, and visitors to our country are unanimous in the opinion that there is no rural park on this side of the Atlantic which can compare with it. The civic pride and interest displayed by the firm of Bowring Brothers and Sir Edgar in particular is such as to inspire emulation, and the Council in heartily thanking the generous donor for his gift are glad to relieve him of the responsibility which he has willingly borne for so many years. In this connection, the Council feel that the generous gift of this Park by Sir Edgar Bowring and of the Memorial Statue ("The Fighting Newfoundlanders") donated by him are such as to place the name of Bowring foremost in the annals of our city and are in line with the action of Sir Edgar when he undertook to gratuitously represent our country as High Commissioner in the United Kingdom.
 Reports of various departments were tabled and requisitions accepted. Payrolls and bills presented were ordered paid, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE MOON.
 Last night our baby saw the moon. A wondrous ball of yellow gold, it seemed to her a toy balloon. Which she had strength enough to hold. And so she reached her arms above As babies ages long have done. She wanted it to keep and love—The moon's great magic had begun.
 Here is the monarch of our dreams. From innocence to worldly-wise. This gentle, peaceful, planet seems To lure us ever to the skies. The moving tide of men he draws In spite of all the battles fought. The selfish striving for a cause, To lofty dreams and nobler thought.
 He seems to hold a real sway Over the hearts and minds of all. The scholar, worn and bowed and gray, Turns when the shades of evening fall And in that glorious flood of light Sees what his lips can never teach. Visions of beauty and of right Which he has hoped some day to reach.

The moon is father of our dreams. He holds us all within his sway. Into our clouded minds he streams To wash the doubts and fear away; And like the babe who reaches out Small hands to grasp this treasure great. So grows-ups everywhere about Look to the moon and dream and wait.

Have You Seen the
JEWETT CAR?

THE JEWETT IS PAIGE BUILT.

The new Jewett is of Paige conception, designed and built by Paige engineers and mechanics in the Paige shops. From its Paige origin the Jewett inherits those unmistakable marks of Quality, characterizing the work of a group of men, who for ten years past, have been building the fine six-cylinder cars, bearing the Paige monogram.

Let us demonstrate to you its remarkable power and quality—5 passenger touring—$2200; Sedan $2850.
