

S. A. CHIEFTAIN FINDS LAST REST

Funeral of Late Commissioner Rees Was Impressive Ceremony.

CHILDREN AT GRAVE

At an early hour yesterday afternoon the rank and file of the Salvation Army in Toronto gathered quietly at the Army Temple to attend the funeral service of their late commissioner, David M. Rees.

When the solemn exercises were completed, the casket, draped with army banners, was borne by fellow-officers from its bank of flowers to Albert street. Led by the bearers of the army standards, the cortege moved slowly off in two sections.

At the open grave in the army plot at Mount Pleasant cemetery another simple but impressive service was held before the remains were lowered to their last rest.

NEW RAILWAY DEAL RUMORED AT GALT

Special to The Toronto World. GALT, July 14.—It is rumored that negotiations are in progress to secure the Ironopolis Hotel at the head of Main street for the purpose of erecting a union station for the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and Lake Erie and Northern Railways.

It is said that the C.P.R. is now in control of the Lake Erie and Northern Railway, and according to rumors this new line will be used as a connecting line between the C.P.R. main line which now passes thru the northern part of the town and the Michigan Central line, which it is also said the C.P.R. is endeavoring to acquire.

George Bernhart, owner of the Ironopolis Hotel, admitted that there had been preliminary negotiations on the part of the C.P.R. to buy the property. A survey of the land has been made. The site is in the heart of the town.

RHODES AVE. CHURCH WILL BE IMPROVED

Rhodes Avenue Baptist Church is to be transformed from a frame to a brick edifice. The ladies' aid and Baptist young people's societies have pledged themselves to raise the money for the brick and other material.

EAST END LAND BRINGS BIG PRICE

TOUCH HIGH FIGURES

New Public School and Technical School Sites Are Finally Purchased.

The Anglican Synod and the board of education have at last got together on the Danforth avenue school sites. After considerable backing and filling both parties have signed up in a deal for 12 1/2 acres, one block north of Danforth avenue, at a price of $158,000.

The price of $12,000 an acre, or $50 a foot, constitutes a high record for an acre of property in the east end, and to many who are unacquainted with the strides made in the east end, will probably be a shock.

The property will house a new public school, and the eastern branch of the technical school. The structures will likely cost $700,000. It is expected that with the development of the Ashbridge's Bay factory district, the eastern branch will become as important as the main technical school now building on Harbord street.

When the negotiations for school sites were first begun by the board of education with the Anglican Synod, which retains great blocks of land north of Danforth, the city offered $12,000 an acre for about 12 acres, being along the east side of Greenwood avenue and extending north from Danforth avenue.

The parties at length settled on two squares, extending from Leslie street to Greenwood avenue, and which will be divided into two blocks north of Danforth in the subdivision now being plotted by the church.

Add a teaspoonful of baking powder to old potatoes when making them and heat briskly. This will make them light and creamy.

TEN MORE COPS WILL WATCH AUTO OFFENDERS

Ten more constables are to be appointed by the provincial secretary's department on Friday to assist in enforcement of the Motor Vehicles Act.

While all infractions of the act will be watched for, what was especially provocative of these appointments is the boast of a good number of chauffeurs, some with such a perfect record that they have taken out licenses and will not do so. Other drivers have passed parts, but not all of the necessary examination, and are driving motor vehicles.

OTTAWA DEFENDS DILLON'S RELEASE

Dynamitard Model Prisoner and Served Longer for Offence Than Most.

By The Staff Reporter. OTTAWA, July 14.—In view of certain comment that has been made on the release from Kingston Penitentiary of Luke Dillon, who was convicted of the murder of dynamite, one of the rates on the Welland Canal in 1900, it may be stated that not only was Dillon a model prisoner, both from point of view of conduct and industry, but his previous record was perfectly good, and his term of imprisonment was very short.

In the old days, since 1882, there have been some fifteen sentences to life imprisonment for offences similar to this one. In these cases the accused were convicted not only of destruction of property, but also of murder. Five of them served periods of actual detention less than that of Dillon, and none was detained for more than a year. One of the four years which he earned for good behavior, his accomplice, John Nolan, was the oldest sane prisoner in Kingston Penitentiary when he was released. He is now 64 and broken in health and spirit.

PARENTS AND DAUGHTER ALMOST ELECTROCUTED

Within half an hour of each other the two government lighters recently completed by "Poison's" Iron Works, departed yesterday on the first rap of their long journey to the north.

These small vessels, which are in a series of 400 tons each, will be used by the government in conveying cargoes to and from the larger freighters. They are being built by the government at the St. Lawrence River and carrying cargoes of steel cranes and steam shovels for work in the north.

DEFAULTING OFFICER'S SHORTAGE WAS MET

Local painters have suffered no loss thru the defaultations of their former financial secretary, who was convicted recently for having stolen union funds. At the meeting of local three last night the auditors reported that the bond and trustees had arranged to reimburse the union for the total amount, and the painters were never in better financial standing.

JURY EXONERATES TROLLEY CAR MEN

Accidental death was the verdict brought in last night at the inquest into the death of Yossing Erling, who fell off a trolley car. The jury found the second conductor blameless. The evidence of witnesses showed that the man, who was a stranger in the neighborhood, had stepped off the car, had boarded down York street, and that while still upon the running board, changed his mind, stepped off backward and fell into the street.

SUPPER CALL FOUND HUSBAND A SUICIDE

Irvin Detizano, age 32, of 49 Teraulay street, was found by his wife in a room in a hotel in the city, where he had committed suicide. The man's wife inquired for him when she went to call him to his supper. Beside him lay an empty carbollic acid bottle and the contents of the man's life in a glass.

Choosing China From "Open Stock"

RECALL buying my very first "set" of dishes. I had made up my mind that I wanted a green and gold set, but I hunted and hunted in vain for just the right pattern.

That was my first knowledge of "open stock" pattern and since then I have become more and more convinced of the advantages of this scheme as opposed to the large and inseparable "complete sets."

Next, and most important, the "complete" set is the height of extravagance because the replacement is so difficult. If the vegetable dish or "set" is broken it may take some weeks or even months to send to the factory in this country, or to France or England to replace the broken dish.

Surprisingly fewer dishes are needed than one would suppose, or than we have become accustomed to use by mere tradition. Instead of twelve of everything, eight has been found a more convenient number for the family of four.

Fancies of Fashion
Week-End Summer Time
Costume Hints
By Madge Marvel

WHAT clothes shall I take for the week-end visit? Shall I take a trunk? These two questions perplex many feminine minds during the summer months, when the week-end party is the favored form of entertainment.

The average must arrive at her destination by the late train Friday afternoon or the early one of Saturday morning. She leaves Monday. She will not need a trunk. There are suitcases and bags with capacity for all needed garments.

The clothes required will depend entirely upon the manner of life in the house where you are a guest. In packing the suitcase the wise woman has this in mind, and tries to make her clothes fit perfectly into the picture.

If one arrives Friday night, there are three evenings to consider. There will be need for some attractive dinner gown, an evening gown, if there is the usual dance on Saturday, and a suitable evening wrap, shoes and all the accessories. There should be a smart sports costume for Saturday morning, which will be suitable for tennis, golf or tramping. Also provision should be made for the motor trip, which is sure to be in the program, and a motor bonnet and veil takes little room. Saturday afternoon there will undoubtedly be need for a light reception frock, which will grace the tea-dance, the lawn party or any similar occasion.

A gown suitable for church wear should be taken for Sunday. To specify: The traveling gown may be of tulle or in some dark shade, in plaid or stripe or check with fresh, crisp organdie collar, which will be correct for Sunday morning. With this may be worn a cape-coat, which will serve for the motor trip or any similar occasion.

The gown for Friday night's dinner may be made to serve for Saturday's dance. If white lace be chosen, the undergarment may be worn Friday with a tunic and bodice of pale blue or pink tulle or charmesuse with a rose in contrasting color stuck in the folds.

On Saturday night, the tunic and bodice may be of the lace with a girde of yellow or mauve.

Saturday afternoon's frock will probably be some simple voile or batiste, and with it will be worn a large hat with flat trimming, which can be easily packed.

Sunday morning's costume may consist of a pique skirt and tailored blouse of linen with waistcoat effect, or girde and collar of pique. It will be quite permissible to wear the same gown of Saturday afternoon or evening for Sunday night, depending upon the program arranged.

Three pairs of shoes will be required. Black kid kid colomials for traveling. For Sunday and for Saturday afternoon, some lighter dancing shoes for evening wear and a heavy pair of white duck or canvas for Saturday morning.

The evening wrap may be a cape, a cape of charmesuse or a voluminous scarf being all that is needed.

TALES OF THE SEA :: :: By Michelson

SAILOR MEN are notorious for tall yarns, so that it would be quite in good form that tales which might be told by any temporary sailor to any temporary sailor-ess should be regarded leniently. But you will say after a single glance that the tale that is being told in this case is not one that is at all in the sea-yarn class. Something SERIOUS is being said.

SHE is serious, too, and when you can get a girl in a lonesome corner of a big ship to listen to you seriously you have an important matter on your hands. Only the vagrant birds of the blue-green highway are noticing. No one else cares, because it happens every day.

What a difference it makes when tales of the sea are not ABOUT the sea at all!

Secrets of Health and Happiness
How Coffee May Aid You
and Harm Someone Else

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

A PRIOR of a monastery in Arabia discovered coffee as a beverage. This monastery was situated in a sylvan dell where coffee grows.

The worthy father observed that the goats who ate the coffee plant became brisk and alert, so he determined that his monks, who were more lethargic than they might be, should try it.

The experiment was successful, and coffee as a beverage came into general use.

Despite prejudices and opinions to the contrary, coffee puts both vigor and valor into a healthful man's muscles. The non-nervous individual, who drinks wisely and well of it, may smite the inert world as Moses did the rock, to see rich fluids gush forth.

Excess of coffee, to be sure, like too much meat or oatmeal, carries dire destruction with it. To gild gold, to paint the lily, to light the sun, or add cerise to the spectrum, is to destroy each of these several effects. So with coffee. An intelligent drink, temperately and sanely taken, this bean of Arabia can upon occasion play havoc and high jinks.

To others it is taboo. To all an excessive amount is poisonous in the extreme.

Answers to Health Questions

W. R. J.—What will remove warts on the hands?
Baths the hands in hot vinegar two or three times a day and paint colodion on the warts at night. To one ounce of colodion there should be added 5 grams of salicylic acid.

K. B. R.—What will remove growth of hair on neck and chin?
A shaving powder which is made in the South will remove the hair. Apply this once a week for one minute. The electric needle is O. K. if there are not too many hairs.

H. E. W.—Am very constipated. What will help?—Am an awful tobacco chewer, chew from after breakfast until I go to bed. When I stop for an hour I feel dopy.
1—You should eat lots of stewed fruits, drink about 15 glasses of water daily, eat plenty of bran bread and bran biscuits. Walk a good bit.
2—Try chewing gum until you break yourself of the chewing habit. The fact that you feel dopy isn't because you stop chewing tobacco, but because you have chewed too much.

The Good Night Story
Princess Tabby Cat—By VERNON MERRY

ONCE in the long ago there was a boy named Fred, who was the youngest son of a man that loved fine horses. His father owned a great farm, but was undecided to which one of his sons he should leave it. So, one morning, he called his three boys into the study and told them that the one who brought him the finest horse should be his heir.

That afternoon Fred and his two brothers set out on their search. When they were out of sight of the house, they tried to run away from Fred, but Fred kept up with them. Next morning they succeeded, because they all slept in a cave and they got up long before Fred was awake.

Fred felt very badly about being left all alone in the great woods. He did not know which way to go to find a horse. But, as he was walking near a brook, a Tabby cat ran up to him and said:

"Hello, Fred, you haven't found your horse, yet, have you?"

Naturally Fred was surprised to have a cat speak to him, particularly as that cat knew all about him without having to be told. Yet it was such a friendly Tabby that Fred stroked its fur and talked with it. After a while the cat said:

"Fred, if you'll come with me and serve me willingly for seven years, I'll give you the finest horse in the world. Is it a bargain?"

Fred did not know how else to get a fine horse, so he agreed. Then Tabby led him to an enchanted castle, where all the servants were cats and all the decorations were gold and silver. For a long time Fred had nothing to do except enjoy himself, but one day Tabby smiled and asked him to take a gold scythe and a silver rake and go out in the fields and cut the catnip hay. She said he must be careful not to lose the precious tools.

So Fred went out and cut the catnip and stacked it up in little piles for the cats to carry to the castle. Then Fred gathered up his tools and brought them back safe to good-natured Tabby, and Fred did not say anything about it. But she did not then give Fred the horse, and Fred did not say anything about it.

After a few years had gone by Tabby asked Fred to take some gold tools that she gave him and to go out where the lumber was piled up and to take that lumber and build her a house. So Fred went out to the lumber pile and worked very hard for a whole year building the house. When it was finished all the cats came out with Tabby and told Fred that it was the nicest house they had ever seen.

As the seven years were now up, Tabby gave Fred the finest horse in the world and ordered the cats to get the state coach ready to take Fred home.

When Fred stepped into that wonderful coach he found a beautiful princess waiting for him. It was Tabby, released from a wicked spell by Fred's seven years of willing service.

Together they drove back to the farm, with presents for Fred's father, and Fred's brothers were sorry they had treated him so badly. Of course, his father had to give Fred the farm, for his horse was the best in the world, but Fred gave it to his brothers. You see, Fred had everything that he wanted in all the world. He also had a kind heart, which is much better than riches.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony
By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

Art and Debt.

"I'm sorry," I said, after an electric interval, "to Mary. I am not going to use this $300 for anything so foolish as an art course. You can do very nicely without Sig. Casetti, and he can do without you."

LEONA DALRYMPLE Mary looked hurt. "Just what are you going to do with it?" she demanded. "I'm going to pay up a lot of little bills. We've been running behind, as you know, and we're more or less in debt. Beside this will give me enough ahead to keep a check account. My salary was always gone so long before I drew it that it was silly to put it in the bank."

"What do you mean?" asked Mary. "I don't understand your horrid old banking stunts, Peter."

"I mean," I said, "that I shall deposit every single check in the bank. I mean that I shall put into execution a pet stunt of mine, that I've had ever since I discovered that money gets away from you so easily. Each month I shall give you $25 for yourself. No, on second thought, I can't do that, either. I shall do this: I personally will pay every household bill by check—it's an automatic system of book-keeping, anyway—and then, whatever money is left at the end of the month, after every single bill is paid, you and I will divide evenly. That's fair enough, I'm sure."

"But—but," protested Mary, "suppose there isn't anything left? What then?"

"Well," said I, "in that case you'll do without it, and so will I. One won't suffer any more than the other."

"I think that's perfectly horrid," said Mary, almost in tears. "I shall know whether I have any money or not."

"I never know now," I suggested grimly. "And I'm always worrying. I'm through with that. I've asked you to economize, and you can't seem to swing it. When I give you money to put aside for anything I just sort of flitters through your fingers."

"But—but it comes out all right," put in Mary eagerly. "Didn't I use up my payment on your father's note for Christmas things, and then, Peter, he gave you the whole $300 for a gift. That's an awful lot of money."

"It's a lot of money," I agreed, "as long as you don't have your pretty fingers on it. Once you touch it—it somehow won't seem so much. No, I don't mean to be disagreeable, Mary. We've literally come to the end of the rope. I can't and won't have Dad putting his hand in his pocket to rescue me from financial muddles that I ought to have sense enough to keep out of. I make an excellent salary. My father and mother, and your father and mother began on half as much and got along beautifully. Why we can't do it is a mystery to me, but for a time, at least, I'm going to manage the purse strings and see how we come out. We made our biggest mistake when we took an apartment as fashionable as this, and we made a big mistake when we got the social bee in our bonnets." I said "we" merely out of politeness. I've never had the social bee to any violent extent. Mary has it badly, and she drags me with her.

But Mary wasn't listening to my lecture. She was waving at her mother, who had appeared in her front window across the street.

"Mother's waving a yellow back," exclaimed Mary indignantly. "Likely Dad's given it to her for Christmas—ain't he good?"

It may have been a reproach, and it may not—I don't know and I don't care. I'm getting a hardened soul. It's not merely so sensitive as it was a few months ago.

CURIOUS ANIMAL SUPERSTITIONS

The early woodsmen of America devoutly believed that a she bear licked her cubs into shape, these being supposed to be born almost shapeless.

Sailors have an idea that a barmacle broken off a ship and thrown into the water will turn into a goose. The origin of this superstition is unknown.

In England and Scotland, milkmaids believe that if they forget to wash their hands after milking their cows will go dry. This superstition is diligently fostered by the owners of the cows.

In many countries there is a superstition that when ants are unusually active, running to and fro about their nests, foul weather is sure to occur in a very short time.

In Holland and Belgium to kill a stork is considered one of the greatest misfortunes that can happen to a man. His luck is certain to follow him through life.

In some southern localities the colored people believe that if a crow croaks an odd number of times, foul weather will follow; if even, the day will be fine.

In almost every country the howling of a dog is regarded as a bad omen, generally predicting death to some person of the household.

In Sicily it is devoutly believed that a scorpion that is in a bottle or in some superstition from which it cannot escape will sting itself to death.

In the Ural mountains the peasantry believe that if a wolf sees a man before the man sees the wolf, the man will be struck dead and remain so as long as the wolf lives.

Several ancient authors narrate the superstition common in both Greece and Rome that the badliak can throw its poison to a considerable distance, and thus slay its victim.

Useful Hints for the Housewife
By Ann Marie Lloyd

BANANAS form so important a portion of the average diet it is well to know some of the various ways of serving this delicious and valuable fruit. In addition to its other qualifications, the banana is one of the foodstuffs which is usually within the reach of every one. For the price does not fluctuate, and is seldom prohibitive.

Banana salad is a favorite with many who like fruit salads. It is simply prepared. Peel the bananas, removing all the inner white thick skin, and slice them lengthwise, roll them in ground walnuts or peanuts, and serve with mayonnaise dressing on lettuce leaves.

Banana sandwiches are always a welcome delicacy with children. Slice a loaf of salt, a sprinkle of sugar and a bit of butter in thin rounds, add a dash of lemon juice, and press between thin slices of the ordinary for a vegetable, especially as an accompaniment to broiled chicken, fry baked bananas.

Allow one banana for each person. Slice each banana once lengthwise. Allow for each banana a teaspoonful of butter melted in a tablespoonful of hot water. Arrange the halves of the fruit in a buttered baking dish, and pour the melted butter and water mixture over them. Then sprinkle with sugar and a bit of salt and over all squeeze the juice of half a lemon. Bake for half an hour in a moderate oven.

If it is desired to keep the flavor of the banana intact, peel and bake whole, with a little syrup of water and sugar. Bananas fritters may be extremely good or they may be utterly impossible as food, according to how they are made. If they are tough and soaked in fat, they are worse than useless.

Quarter the bananas by slicing lengthwise through the middle and then cut each half across. Sprinkle them with powdered sugar and lemon juice, and let them stand half an hour. Dip them in fritter batter and fry in deep, hot fat, which has been tested. Drain on paper and serve with lemon sauce.

Deviled bananas have more flavor than many of the other dishes in which they form the most important part. They are easily prepared in a chafing dish.

Melt a tablespoonful of butter, and add to it a tablespoonful of chopped red pepper, half as much chopped pickles, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a dash of salt. Then add four bananas which have been peeled and cut into four equal parts, and cook five minutes.

Sautéed bananas are simply prepared and excellent to serve with cold meats for luncheon or supper. Peel and quarter four bananas, melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and half a cup of sherry. When hot add the bananas and cook until they are tender. Serve very hot.

Advice to Girls
By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:
I have read with great interest the very valuable advice which you so kindly give to young girls. So would deem it a great favor if you would give some to me.

I have a gentleman friend who takes me out a great deal to dances, etc., and pays me a lot of attention. Whilst we are together he seems to think quite a lot of me, but there is one thing which puzzles me greatly. He never asks to come and see me either Saturday or Sunday evenings. Do you think I ought to encourage his attentions?
IN DOUBT.

WHY, you funny little girl, you! How in the world can he ask to come and see you. It's your place to ask him. Didn't you know that?

If a man is dead in love with you he mustn't speak to you in the street if he's known you for years, unless you speak first, that's the rule. Foolish, well possibly; but not so foolish as it may look to you.

It is a woman's place to say "yes," you know, and a man's place to do the asking—even just for a good morning or a good afternoon.

The next time you go to a dance with your young man ask him to come and see you some evening, and see what will happen. Be quite assured of one thing, the skies will not fall at any rate.

Probably the poor thing is wondering and wondering why you treat him so peculiarly, and do not ask him to visit you at your home.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 15.

THINGS ARE NOT WHAT THEY SEEM.

Our comic evening contemporary has ventured on a disquisition in which deferred elections and their occasion are discussed. We are told that deferred elections are a device of politicians to enable them to get a little extra support after the main battle is over.

"It seems," remarks our comic oracle, "to have been taken by surprise when it found people going to the polls on the 15th of last month."

The function of a newspaper that knows its business is to give its readers a true impression of what is happening, and not to make things appear other than they are.

LEADERS OF THE WORLD. The British Isles, with the adjacent islands, comprising a territory extending to 121,377 square miles, less than a half of the State of Texas, still lead the world in the volume of their foreign trade.

When the nineteenth century opened the United Kingdom had little if any advantage over its European or trans-Atlantic competitors. True, it was a cluster of islands set in the silver sea and the only avenue of departure and approach lay by way of the sounding sea.

LOOKING FOR GOOD TIMES.

On Monday The New York Times published the results of a nation-wide enquiry into the business conditions of the United States for the six months ending June 30 last as compared with those of the corresponding period of 1913 and also into present prospects.

Curiously enough, while the iron and steel trade report the greatest depression, the automobile industry has found business booming. Some manufacturers have already sold out their output for the season and others are rushing up new factory buildings.

INCREASE SHOWN IN PRISON RETURNS

Growth of Jail Population is Reflected in Ontario Penal Report.

Commitments for murder on Ontario prisons last year were seven more than in 1913. During last year the number of imprisonments increased by 1477; the number of sentences for more than one year was 22 more, and in several other ways the growth of population has increased the number of commitments.

Combined in the report are annual statements of Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of common jails; Dr. J. T. Gilmour, superintendent of the Ontario Reformatory; Emma O'Sullivan, head of the Mercer Reformatory for Girls; and Findlay Spence, teacher of the night class at the Ontario Reformatory.

CITY MUST SHIFT PLANT AT ISLAND

Aldermen of Works Committee Visited Garbage Destroyer Which Has to Go.

SAW FILTRATION PLANS

Postponed Dealing With Garbage Disposal System Till Next Week.

Altho a special meeting of the board of works was held yesterday for the purpose of dealing with the various plans and proposals in connection with the installation of an adequate system of garbage incineration for the whole city, and to visit the island crematory, and decide upon a suitable site for it after its removal, the members concluded the meeting without deciding upon the removal of the island plant. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday and a decision may be reached.

Studied Plans of Plant. After making the trip over to the island in the tug G. R. Geary, the board of the harbor commissioners, the aldermen pored over the plans for the new island filtration system, and Commissioner Harris said it was necessary to remove the incinerator, or deciding upon the removal of the island plant. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday and a decision may be reached.

Stipulated in Bond. "The filtration contractors," said Mr. Harris "will have a good case against the city if we do not remove this thing. They stipulated, when tendering the contract, that the city should give them room for their plant, and more than $50,000 worth of plant will be upon this ground within a month. It is our duty to see that the city's interests are protected, and should they not be completed in time, we cannot penalize them," he concluded.

After leaving the enormous tangle of members visited the place where the new seven-foot water pipe is being laid, and afterwards visited the place where the new valve for the filtration plant is being installed. An idea of the ruins of the old chlorination plant was gained. The aldermen tasted of the water and expressed themselves satisfied with the taste; others, not aldermen, tasted it, too, but expressed no opinion.

Two large sewers, running parallel on the same street, may be seen on Paton road. The reason for this is that Paddy Bros. laid a sewer ten years ago and the city has not yet secured legislation to permit the treasury department, which immediately commenced construction of a sewer of its own. This is at present under way and when completed the unique spectacle of a huge privately owned sewer and a civic owned sewer will be seen.

BEAVERS AGAIN WALLOP THE HAMS

Shaking Up of Infield Did Not Stop the Locals From Scoring Freely.

After Monday's terrific wallop at the hands of the fast travelling Beavers the visiting team went to work yesterday. The first base was sent to the victors along with the rest of the team, and the Beavers were again victorious, this time by a score of 10 to 2.

In spite of his weakness, there was a real action in that little ball game. The Beavers were in a dollar poker game with four aces betting against four twos. It was a good bet, but there was a whole lot of good fun, and the odd dollar enjoyed it.

The visitors looked dangerous in the first, when with the bases full they were nipped at the plate by McGraw's slapper, and White made the third out by rolling to Ott. They got two in the fourth when Killis, checked White's slapper into the bleachers. Killis' slapper hit home with a double and counted himself on Baldwin's single. They got their last run in the ninth, when, with the rain coming down in torrents, two down, the slapper lobbed it up to Corns, who plastered it to the left field bleachers for the circuit.

Chicago, July 14.—New York regained the ground lost yesterday by defeating Chicago today, 13 to 8. The margin between the leaders is now 4 1/2 games. The game abounded in hits, with the Giants starting batting in the opening inning, and scored three runs by bunting a double and two singles with an error.

MONTREAL CLOSES WITH FIRMER TONE

Rally Originated in General Upturn—Whole Market Influenced.

MONTREAL, July 14.—After a period of early depression the local market closed with a firm tone at a higher level for C. P. R. and Brazilian.

The rally originated in a general upturn in prices in the New York market, in which C. P. R. shared to a moderate extent.

Concurrently Montreal Power, which fell 2 to 228, recovered to 230 and finished 230 3/4 bid, about 1 point up on the day.

Gould Issues Were Stronger—Early Business Boom Predicted.

NEW YORK, July 14.—The movement of stocks was subject to further irregularity today, but the undertone in the seasoned issues was undeniably firm.

These were the only direct echoes of the denunciation of the former New Haven management by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In addition to New Haven, lower prices were registered by a few other stocks and bonds, including Canadian Pacific, in which the previous day's liquidation was lacking.

Demand of Importing Countries Well Filled—Increased Damage From Rust.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Despite increasing receipts from bluck rust the wheat market today finally took a downward turn owing to export bids being out of line.

Reports of black rust damage to wheat in South Dakota were more numerous and positive than heretofore.

Corn Values Dropped. Corn values dropped owing to a breaking of the drought in parts of the Ohio Valley, and because of a forecast of unsettled conditions to-night and tomorrow promising widespread relief from drought and heat.

CHEESE MARKETS. TROIS PISTOLES, Que., July 13.—Trois-Pistoles board met this afternoon.

What The Grain Brokers Say

Ware & Leland: Believe wheat prices will have a further decline.

Finley, Barrell & Co.: In our opinion sales of wheat made on rallies should return handsome profits.

Walter Fitch & Co.: Still feel bearish on wheat situation, and with the movement increasing favor selling side on bulges.

S. B. Chapin & Co.: Trend of prices will be governed largely by spring wheat developments, but the big movement will check any bull enthusiasm.

Clement, Curtis & Co.: While we believe wheat will be subject to rallies on the northwest situation, look upon both corn and oats as a good purchase on the breaks until more decisive favorable weather develops.

CLIMAX OIL COMPANY, LIMITED

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL $500,000 Par Value of Shares, $1.00

The Company holds leases for 1920 acres of valuable oil lands 3 miles from the proven Monarch Well, on the same anticline.

For the purposes of development, the Directors are offering 55,000 shares at par, which are being rapidly subscribed for. Mr. C. H. Dodd, the Californian Geologist, has reported most favorably on the Company's property.

REASONS FOR BUYING CLIMAX SHARES

1. Because a firm offer of $150,000 cash was made for the Company's holdings, the night of the "Monarch" strike.

2. Because if they are worth that much to others, they are worth many times more to our shareholders for development purposes.

3. Because results prove that the Company's holdings are right on the exact spot in the best proven districts in Alberta—NOT NEAR.

The Company is employing the highest skill to superintend the development of their properties and drilling will commence immediately.

Shares will rise in value before many days. The time to buy is right now. Do not wait. This is your golden opportunity.
