LAZERS WORK SUNDAY TO RUSH COMPLETION OF POWER CONTRACT

All is Ready for the "Railroad-ing" Process in Council To-night, Tho it Isn't What Was Promised.

COMPANY OBJECTS TO RATES PROPOSED

HAMILTON, July 12.—A famous cry has been localized and paraphrased into "The Cataract can't wait," for so persistent is the company and so subservient are a majority of the aldermen that City Solicitor Waddell and Hugh E. Rose of Toronto, who are drafting the proposed contract with the company, were compelled to work all day Sunday, in the sweltering atmosphere, to get the contract ready so that it may be railroaded thru the city council Monday evening.

The lawyers have had less than three days in which to draft what is perhaps the most important contract the city ever made. The contract will not be finished until to-morrow evening, and the aldermen will be asked to vote on it without having time to more than glance over it. The sub-committee appointed to instruct the lawyers in drafting the contract had a session Saturday afternoon.

The session was private and those present bound themselves to secrecy until Monday, when there will be another meeting, as to what took place, but it is understood that the only thing definitely settled was that the price for power at city plants only was to be $16 a horse power.

The maximum price, deducting the cost of the transmission lines, is between $10 and $11. A clause will be inserted in the contract that after the commission gets into business the price for Hamilton is to be ten per cent. lower than the price for Toronto. A clause will also be inserted, a similar clause with respect to house and commercial lighting.

As for street lighting, it is now proposed to fix the price at $46 a lamp. In that case the company is to be free to soak the power users anything it sees fit. It is also proposed to put the contract thru Monday evening, and a lively session of the council is expected.

Several changes have been made in the officials of the company. C. E. Green, traction manager, is to be master of construction. Fred Griffith is to be traction superintendent temporarily, with John Gibbon as his assistant.

Fred Cook is to be mechanical superintendent. It is said it is the intention of the company to import a traction manager from Wheeling and to have W. C. Hawkins' assistant.

TRADE ON INCREASE. Slow, But Steady Improvement Noted in the United States.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The World says: Telegraphic reports received last night by The World from all of the business, industrial and agricultural centres indicate a slow but steady improvement in all lines unless it be in the building trades. Crops everywhere are reported as being more than unusually bountiful. There is a marked increase in the number of unemployed men in nearly all parts of the United States. Freight traffic, while only in a few instances normal, is shown to be nearing that desired point. The number of empty cars in storage is fast decreasing.

In the South the improvement is not great, but it is steady. In the east conditions could be much better, so far as the laboring class is concerned. In the west the outlook is most hopeful.

In the northwest there are few, if any, idle, comparatively speaking.

Andretos Will Beat Cataract

Brantford Alderman Will Take Proposition Before Householders to Cut Power Price in Half.

BRANTFORD, July 12.—(Special.)—Brantford expects during the coming week to receive its overtures from the Cataract Power Company for a contract to do the city's lighting. No official communication has yet been received from the company, but an offer is anticipated in a few days. When it does come, Alderman W. M. Andrews, chairman of the special power committee of the city council, will put the city's side of the proposition in a way that it is hoped will save Brantford from a disaster similar to that which is rushing to completion in Hamilton.

Interviewed concerning his proposal to-day, Alderman Andrews said: "The municipalities have been putting the cart before the horse through this whole power discussion. We have been going to the manufacturers and asking them how much power they want to take. They are naturally enough unwilling to put their names on paper for any stipulated amount, and the result is that hydro-electric power receives a black eye. When the people see the manufacturers uncertain about it they do not understand the problem well enough to want to take any action and leave it to the power users."

"My proposition is this. We in Brantford need about 1500 horse-power. Instead of going to the manufacturers we will announce that we can give the ordinary householder his light for four cents per kilowatt hour instead of the eight he is paying at present. This will pay for and use up the entire 1500 horse-power."

"But we have this juice lying practically idle in the daytime and already paid for. We can almost afford to give it away to the manufacturers. The Cataract people are offering it at a fraction of a kilowatt hour. Whatever they offer we can do it here for a half of their price."

"I have gone into the matter with my colleague, Alderman Hartmann of the fire and light committee, and we have had an expert from Toronto visit the city and go into the whole matter. He says that my scheme is perfectly sound."

"We will put the matter before the people of Brantford in this way, and I am sure that we can prevent a grab on the part of the Cataract people."

$1,000,000 FOR CAMPAIGN.

National League of Taft Clubs Will Try for 1,000,000 Members.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 12.—Enthusiastic Taft men here have applied for a charter for the national league of Taft clubs and have organized a local club which has nearly a 1000 members.

The idea is to raise $1,000,000 for a campaign fund, by having 1,000,000 members each contributing $1. One-half will be given to Taft for campaign expenses, one-fourth to the state campaign and one-fourth for county campaigns.

MISSING POWELL ROCKETTS WHILE FOOD DEAD ACCEPTED IN OHIO

Bullet Wound in the Head—End Had Come During Saturday Night—Cause of Suicide Still a Mystery.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 12.—(Special.)—The search for Frederick A. Powell, who disappeared from his home, 875 St. Clarence-avenue, Toronto, last Monday morning, came to an end this morning with the finding of his body lying partially submerged on the shore of the second State Island, on the Niagara State reservation.

A bullet hole through the head explained the cause of death. The nature of the wound, the course of the bullet, etc., strengthen the suicide theory, but the inability of the police to find the revolver, which fired the shot, and the further fact that the ground all about the point at which the body was recovered was torn and trampled, seemed to indicate a scuffle.

Coroner Scott, who had charge of the case, was first inclined to hold a post-mortem examination, but later determined it was unnecessary, the reservation police attaching little importance to the fact that the pistol has not been found.

The body was found by two waiters who were taking a stroll about the islands at 6 o'clock in the morning. They first came upon a coal and cap in the woods. A search revealed the body in the water, and the reservation force and Chief Lyons of the police were notified. They, in turn, notified Dr. V. A. Scott, coroner, who took charge of the case, removing the body to undertake the autopsy.

Chief of Police Shoemaker of the reservation force, and Chief Lyons of the city force, viewed the body and gave it once as their opinion that the body was that of the missing Toronto man, every feature of the description tallying.

Only Few Hours Dead. The body was found in the water more than eight or ten hours, and it is the supposition of the police that the man died some time last night. No one has been able to identify the man, except as the man who was seen at the point at which the body was found.

Powell left his home in Toronto last Monday to go to his work. He was carrying a brief case, and was seen by the firm of Barber & Williams, wholesale stationers, at 63 West Wellington-street. When he arrived at the office he said he had forgotten to buy a ticket for the Saturday preceding the day of his disappearance. He painted his house and complained of feeling very tired after the day's work.

After Two Years of Fighting, Railways Finally Yield and Grant Excursion Rates Again.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 12.—The railroads of Ohio have capitulated to two-cent fare, after a two-year fight, a fight which consisted principally of sulking, while the public looked on complacently and predicted that it would not last long.

With the granting of excursion rates for Fourth of July travel, the sulking may be said to be at an end, and the roads are again back in line to handle all the business they can at the best rates they can get.

When the two-cent fare law was passed, the railroads said the people would get tired of it. When the first request for excursion rates to a convention came in, the answer was, "You have two-cent fare, and that's all you get. You would have it, now pay it. You have a continual excursion rate. What more do you want?"

The people kicked, some of course, but they bided their time. The legislation met last winter, and the railroads found out that the people were not asking for the repeal of the two-cent fare law, but for measures to get excursion rates to their conventions. The railroads had kept up their policy for two years.

The aldermen will ask also that the Ontario Railway Board be asked to intervene. The legislature should give any citizen a right of action against any electric railway for $20 damages for such failure of the city to carry out their statutory duty to carry passengers.

Excursions at Last. That came the first break. It was on tempting bait, but it was a beginner. It was when the General Passenger Association, the Democratic convention at Denver, the National Educational Association at Cleveland, the Prohibition convention at Columbus this month, the Republican convention from two-cent-fare territory. It was further agreed that there should be excursion rates for the party.

ANOTHER DANGER OF HUMBER BOATING.

A couple of weeks ago 16 hooligans were tried and given sentences of from three to five months for rowdiness on the Humber.

And now Roy Hart's statement of the reason why he was carrying a small revolver in his pocket while out with a pleasure party brings sharply to mind the unpleasant stories that have been constantly cropping up with regard to the lawlessness of some of the frequenters of the river, and the urgent need of some system of policing.

Hart is not the only pleasure-seeker who can tell stories of hoodlumism at Toronto's chief boating resort. Unreported incidents occur every few days where roughs, bathing naked in the river, have laid violent hands on canoes, and more than once the occupants of the boats have been thrown into the water. Young men and women strolling along the banks of the river have often escaped only after rough usage.

The wild recklessness of owners of motor boats and launches racing up and down after dark at terrific speed, often without lights, is another of the evils of the river, and one of these days will see a tragedy.

The Humber River needs a police boat, and it needs it quick.

Ald. Church is Hot on Trail of Manager Fleming—Wants Railway Board to Act.

The street railway is faced with the possibility that it will have to defend a suit by the city to recover damages on behalf of all citizens who suffered inconvenience or financial loss thru the shutting off of the power on Saturday.

It is the intention of Ald. Church to move, at to-morrow's city council meeting that the board of control be instructed to take this measure because of alleged failure of the company to live up to its contract.

The aldermen will ask also that the Ontario Railway Board be asked to intervene. The legislature should give any citizen a right of action against any electric railway for $20 damages for such failure of the city to carry out their statutory duty to carry passengers.

HUMBER BOATERS MUST CARRY WEAPONS

As a Result, There's An Accidental Shooting in Launch Party on the Bay—Secrecy Causes Serious Reports.

In expectation that the party was going to the Humber River, and deeming it advisable to have some means of protection in case he was molested by hoodlums there, Roy Hart, 51 Pembroke-street, slipped a little target pistol into his pocket on Saturday evening.

The indirect result was a shooting accident in which Frank Noll, one of his companions, was shot in the back. Noll is in St. Michael's Hospital with a bullet embedded in his back below the right shoulder-blade. His condition is not serious.

This is Hart's own story of the shooting, and is concerned in by the other members of the party: "There were about sixteen of us, boys and girls, and we left the Canoe Club about 8 o'clock in W. H. Burrows' launch, Umba. Half an hour later we passed the R.C.Y.C. island clubhouse.

"Suddenly there was a shot fired from the clubhouse. I think it was the R.C.Y.C. sundown gun. One of the girls screamed and said somebody must be firing off guns on the bay. I told her by way of joke not to be afraid that we were armed. She asked me to let her see the pistol, and I took it out of my hip pocket.

"Just before leaving the house I had slipped the pistol into my pocket, thinking we were going to the Humber. When I have been out there before with my ladies I have been bothered by the roughs and 'Gay Cats,' who infest the Humber at nights. Several friends of mine have had nasty experiences with these hoodlums, and I thought that we would probably leave the launch and go for a walk. I thought I would make sure and have some sort of weapon with me.

"I pulled the pistol out and held it up in the palm of my left hand. My finger was not on the trigger. As I started to put it back into my pocket, Noll was sitting on my left, and as I was squeezing the gun down into my pocket it went off.

The gun was a small 22 calibre affair with a short bullet in it. The whole party were terribly frightened, and for a moment I lost my head. I started to run, but the other boys and girls, who were with me, held me back and the other picked up Frank. The boat was taken in to the R.C.Y.C. and a doctor who had been called by them to the officers.

Mr. Burrows had been told to say nothing of the affair, and when asked by The World he said that he had heard two shots across the water when the launch was opposite the R.C.Y.C. He heard a third shot, and Frank Noll, whose name he did not know, jumped up, saying, 'I'm shot.' After that his story agreed with that of the others.

WOMAN: As She Appears for the Public Eye in the News of the Day

FAITH. Wouldst make thy life go fair and square Thou must not for the past feel care; Whatever thy loss, the most must not mourn; Must ever act as if new-born. What each day wants of thee, that make thy task; What each day tells thee, that make thy task; With pride thine own performance view; With heart to admire another's doing; Above all, hate no human being; And all the future leave to All-Seeing. —Goethe.

As She Sees Him

It has been brought as a charge against women that they do not have the same sense of beauty that men possess, simply because, while good looks form so strong an attraction in the masculine eye, a woman, nine cases out of ten, never takes them into consideration when making her choice of a husband. There seems to be no limit to the ugliness which a man may possess without in any way ruining his chances of obtaining women's favor, says the New York Evening Sun. Sometimes the wife of the homely man is exceptionally beautiful; indeed, it is the exception rather than the rule, to see any ugly husband with a plain wife.

With the man, perhaps his own want of beauty makes him value it more keenly in others, while in the woman's case, as would be natural, her pride is not particularly affected by his lack of what is so much a quality of her own. A man may be crippled, hideous, deformed, and yet find a woman satisfied to share his lot. Men noticing this peculiarity often sneer at women, supposing them anxious to marry that they are not fastidious as to whom they select. It is said that in this instance, as in many others, they totally misunderstand the sex.

Chiefly she admires a man for his strength, physical and moral. She may not possess great bodily vigor, therefore it is not her own strength that she admires in the man. She considers a man who can walk 10 miles without exhaustion, or one who can lift heavily in the air, as far more worthy of admiration than the Apollo Belvidere. And the man who commands obedience from other men is worthy of a king's crown. Apart from this she loves him for his noble attributes, or what she supposes to be such. Idealizing the man she admires, she naturally thinks him every sort of hero, and it would mortally offend her if you were to suggest that his qualities were commonplace ones after all.

Plea for More Coquetry

It is no more a woman's primary instinct to coquette than it is a man's, if coquetry is to mean simply the desire to attract; and the more that men and women attract each other, the better for the world, and for society at large. A little more coquetry—in its best sense—would not be amiss. —The Lady.

Lace Mending

It is easy. One must consider. And one must go slow. Plenty of time must be taken. Lace should be mended before being washed. The thread should be matched in color and in weight. Some sort of frame is necessary in nearly all lace mending. As a rule with Irish crochet, it is the background that needs repairing, and this is done with a crochet hook and just ordinary sewing cotton, working is accurately the stitches to match. To mend Irish crochet the amateur should follow these simple rules: Take three thicknesses of newspaper, laying a sheet of blue tissue paper on top, then basting the four together. The lace is woven on a frame, and on the tissue paper, which is put there to protect the lace from the printer's ink. Light blue is chosen in preference to white for the reason that the contrast between the blue and the lace helps to make the mending easier.

Home-made Bread

Editor World: The interviews with prominent bakers recently as to the demand for the "standard loaf" make interesting reading matter, and would be very amusing were it not that a large majority of the public have never tasted real genuine bread, consequently they blindly continue buying and eating the miserable imitation our city bakers give them, and swallow their "interviews" as gospel. I hope the more knowing mind-ortly will put in a strong protest against the bakers ruining the "public digestion." They put a few cents worth of sugar and shortening (poor "axle grease") would be more appropriate in some cases) into a ton of dough and calling it "fancy bread" and justifying themselves for their demand for 20 per cent. more on their little bit of "sugar and shortening." Their statement, "The public taste for the finer (?) quality has become so cultivated that the people will not have the common flour product. They want fancy bread with its sugar and shortening ingredients and don't mind paying a little more for it" is very misleading. It is simply a case of "Hobson's choice."

very misleading. It is simply a case of "Hobson's choice."

Another baker says: The lack of public interest in the plain product of flour, yeast, salt and water was such that for the past week he had only been manufacturing one loaf a day. That may be true, Mr. Editor, but you will see that in the interest of their own purses the bakers will all combine to make even that "one loaf a day" such that the buyer will be glad to throw it out to the dog. As to there being "no demand" for the standard loaf, "Worker" in his letter in this morning's World throws considerable light on that statement.

Another grievance—Since there have been so many fines for lightweight bread in this morning's World article they were giving us is given out so much more doughy (the better it is baked, the lighter it weighs) as to be almost unpalatable so much so that for months I have been making my own bread, and my family are all healthier for it. I believe nine-tenths of the loaf that we eat is made of "axle grease" and "sugar and shortening" make that "plain product of flour, yeast, salt and water" so delicious that the public taste for the finer quality of bread is destroyed. I know whereof I speak, as I have proved it.

Wake up public, let us hear from some more citizens, and don't let the bakers fool you any longer. By the way, are the public aware we are now paying exactly double for our bread than we were a few years ago? Yours for the public interest, Home Made Bread.

THE END OF LIMERICKS ARE DECIDED MATTERIES

British Court of Appeal Renders a Judgment That is of Considerable Interest.

The Advertising World says: By their decision on June 19, in the case of Blyth v. Hulton & Co., Limited the court of appeal has put an end to the "limerick" boom. After a great deal of expressed doubt by the law officers of the crown down at staid magistrates, Lords Justices Vaughan Williams, Moulton and Buckley have decided that limerick competitions are lotteries; and lotteries, we know, are illegal. The decision is announced at a time when these competitions, conducted in many cases with great profit to both newspapers and advertisers, have shown a marked decline in popularity. It now behooves the ingenious advertising practitioner to think of some other plan for interesting and amusing the public, which shall be within the scope of the law.

The case which has brought about this decision is a limerick competition promoted by Messrs. E. Hulton & Co., Limited, proprietors of a journal called "Limerick" in which this year a contest was held for a prize of £300 was offered for the winner of a limerick competition, the winner to be the author of a limerick selected by the editor. There were also second, third, and fourth prizes, and in their advertisement the proprietors announced: "Besides these we shall send some £100 to one hundred readers by way of consolation." One of the conditions was that "the editor's decision must be in all cases accepted as final. Competitors were required to send in, along with a coupon out from the paper bearing the words, "I agree to abide by the decision . . . and accept it as final."

The first prize was awarded to a Mr. Masterman, and was subsequently claimed by Mrs. Blyth, who was in a line identical with that which received the prize. Mr. Blyth brought on action claiming £300, and at the first hearing the judge ordered the money to be given for the defendants, and it was against that judgment that Mr. Blyth appealed. The appellant's case was that the editor, by selecting the line he did, had decided in his favor. In answer to a question from the bench, counsel said it was a lottery, and that the judge was one of two identical lines, and contended that in order to avoid the lottery the respondents had to be persons of conditions doubtful, pretending that the decision should go by merit; but Lord Justice Williams observed that that implied discrimination, and he saw no obligation upon the editor to discriminate, and later on he expressed the opinion that if an editor had the right to choose which of two persons who had sent in identical lines should receive the prize, it was a lottery. In giving judgment he repeated his opinion that the contest was a lottery, and "because although the words of the advertisement had been carefully chosen in order to make it look like a question of merit, they really advertised nothing of the sort. Everyone must have known that such a scheme could not be really a lottery, and that the selection on merit would occupy months and not weeks, as happened in this case. It is for this reason, the editor to do the work alone, and if he had a staff of assistants who sent him a selection for final choice, it followed that the contest was a lottery. It was the editor himself from personal examination of the whole number of competitors sent in. He had come to the conclusion that the contest was a lottery, and he had no right to discriminate, and he had no right to do the work alone, and if he had a staff of assistants who sent him a selection for final choice, it followed that the contest was a lottery. INFIRMITY OF THE INDIVIDUAL.

The deadliest foe of democracy is the apathy of the individual citizen. He prates of public sentiment, but he makes this an abstraction—the most useless abstraction—by failing to realize that for his own part he must take active and unselfish part in creating a militant public sentiment. The ordinary citizen makes himself profoundly ordinary because he is selfish; because, in short, he does not insist that those for whom he casts his vote shall be "devoted" to real public service, altogether forgetful of private gain or "graft." Graft is a nasty term, and is usually applied to mere mercenary results as such; but anyone who becomes ostensibly a public servant by eulfrage of the people, and prizes his position for the fame, the power, the social dignity, or what not, that it may bring him personally is as much a grafter as the man who accepts filthy lucre in the nation's currency for the part he takes in the legislature on behalf of a corporation.

The only thing that will make Canada a true democracy is for every citizen to matter how ordinary—to say to himself: "This is MY country, and as dear to me as my home and family; I must look after its destiny as lovingly and solicitously as I would care for the lives of my children." But is this the attitude of the individual—Canadian citizen? On the contrary, he points to the churches, the colleges and schools, the libraries, the art galleries, the social clubs, the great banking institutions of Canada, and boasts of progress. Progress?—in what? These things are but the most adjuncts, the material accidents, of progress; and all the while as these factors in civilization are becoming eminent, the individual citizen must say to himself: "Glorious as these are, they are built upon the selfishness of men, upon vicious organization, and their glory is only as the shining of a mirage in a desert of a wearisome and futile public sentiment."

Unto the people of Canada, as we believe, has been committed the task of proving to the world that genuine democracy is the best and ultimately enduring form of government. The only method that will make Canada, the "white flower" of democracy is for each individual citizen to do his own unselfish task, to take an active part in public service, and in promoting a militant public sentiment. And the only way in which this can be accomplished is for each individual citizen, if he can do nothing else, to cast his vote for men who he knows are actuated by love of country, and who are honest and sincere, whatever be the accidental party badge the man may wear. The deadliest foes of democracy are the individuals of its own household, who prate insincerely of freedom and progress, but who by not taking heart unto themselves fail to make public sentiment genuinely real and militant. Examples are too obvious to require elaboration.

THE GEORGIAN BAY CANAL.

Further consideration must be given to the proposal to connect Georgian Bay and the St. Lawrence, by way of the Ottawa River. Certainly the Dominion Government must not permit itself to be rushed into a scheme involving the enormous expenditure estimated unless thoroughly advised that the advantages it offers are sufficient to divert traffic from the regular route and further that it is the best available scheme for the improvement and encouragement of inland navigation. Every one alive to the present situation recognizes that the problem of improving the internal waterways is of the utmost national importance, but that renders it all the more imperative that the alternatives offered be carefully weighed and compared on their own proper merits without reference to personal or local interests, and in the light of the very best information and advice that can be obtained.

From the comments made by the press of those cities across the line whose shipping interests were threatened by the construction of the Georgian Bay and Ottawa River Canal, it is clear that the report of the Canadian engineers has been received with considerable relief. The Rochester Herald in a recent editorial points with satisfaction to the fact that, "while the saving on mileage would seem to promise a considerable saving in the time of transportation, the engineers report there would be only a slight saving of time over the St. Lawrence route, provided certain possible improvements are made in the St. Lawrence River. In fact," it adds, "they consider it doubtful if there would be any real saving of time on account of the greater speed that could be made by vessels in the open waters of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario and the open navigation of the St. Lawrence River, compared with the slow speed that could be attained in the long narrow and shallow canals."

Altho, in the case of Rochester, the fish may be fatter to the thought, the

In opening his address, Mr. Walsh commented on the simplicity of the exhibition for the citizen. The deeper purpose was to stimulate a greater interest in the great principles for which the Orange Order stood.

Purpose to Stimulate.
The object was certainly something more than to provide a spectacular exhibition for the citizen. The deeper purpose was to stimulate a greater interest in the great principles for which the Orange Order stood.

FORT FRANCES, Ontario, July 11.—(W.A.P.) The coroner's jury who sat on the remains of Eva Poliquin, known as Mrs. Allan, who suicided by the carbolic route Wednesday last, handed in a rather remarkable rider to their verdict, and followed it with a "That Mr. Allan, having admitted he had led an immoral life, by not having been married to the victim, that this jury put itself on record as disapproving of such conduct and recommend that the proper authorities take the necessary steps to prevent a recurrence of the same."

Mr. Harriman, individual, stepped in and lifted the weight. The whole country was at that point of blue pessimism when if the clouds were not dissipated sunlight would have been a long way off. The financial part of the world at once felt the relief. If Erie had defaulted, confidence in all railroad securities would have received a severe blow. The Pennsylvania issue which came out later would never have been the remarkable success it was, had it not been for the action in Erie. The success of Pennsylvania was the actual sign of real restoration. We have gone along since mainly on the upward incline. There were depressions in the road to be passed. C.P.R. CONDUCTOR LOSES SON WHILE VISITING

Big Gathering of Orangemen in West Toronto—Results of Entrance Exams.

WEST TORONTO, July 12.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hiron, 80 Cawthra-avenue, is in mourning today, as the result of a sad accident which occurred Saturday afternoon in which their little twelve-year-old son, Norman, was killed. The little boy for some time past had been visiting at the home of his uncle, William McMaster, in the Township of Essex, about three miles from Angus. Yesterday afternoon the boy went over to Reginald Lee's farmhouse, nearby, in search of his uncle. Mr. Lee happened to be at the bottom of a well in the yard, into which pipes had been connected a few days ago. The well, which is 60 feet deep, is dry just now on account of the repairs done to the pipes, and the boy proceeded to climb down the ladders to visit Mr. Lee. Seeing the lad's danger, Mr. Lee ordered him back and he had got to about 10 feet from the top when the braces down below gave way, and the ladder on which he was standing toppled over. The little fellow's head struck the pipe about 50 feet below, inflicting terrible scalp wounds and fracture of the skull. Death was instantaneous. The body arrived this afternoon at his parent's home in West Toronto. Mr. Hiron is a conductor on the C.P.R. The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 2 p.m. to Prospect Cemetery.

There are 35 cars of stock in the Union Stock Yards for to-morrow's market. A jay horse found straying around the streets last night was brought by the police to Wm. Maher's livery stable on Keele-street. The parade of the District Orange Lodge this afternoon to the service in St. John's Episcopal Church was the largest of its kind ever held in West Toronto. About 400 brethren were in line, headed by the West Toronto Pipe and Drum Band. J. C. Boylen, district master, officiated. The lodges taking part in the procession were: Loyal Orange Lodges No. 602 and 900, Lambton, L.O.L., Runnymede L.O.L., Royal Black Preceptory, True Blues and Knights of St. John and Malta.

Headed by the band, the Knights of St. John and Malta, many of whom came from Toronto, paraded up Dundas-street from Royce-avenue and joined the procession at St. James' Hall. The sermon was preached by the rector, Rev. T. Beverley Smith. The musical selections by the choir were especially commendable, and each of the members was presented with an "Orange Favor." The offering was devoted to the choir fund of the church. The text chosen was 1 Thessalonians v. 31: "Prove all things, hold fast that which is good."

"The truths for which the Orange Order stands," remarked Mr. Smith, "are those for which the Reformation stood. One of the most important of these is the right of private judgment, and our text asserts this right. It is to the lady that St. Paul is writing, and upon matters of doctrine. Nevertheless he says: 'Prove all things; of which the principle is: Prove all by God's truth. Yes, prove all preaching, doctrine, teaching, opinion, and practices by the Word of God. That which cannot stand the test, reject; and this is private judgment. You are not to believe a thing because it is asserted by popes or cardinals, bishops or priests, churches, conferences or synods. Prove all things by the Word of God." In the West Toronto League games on Saturday the Bankers sprang a surprise on the All-Stars by defeating them 10 to 2. The batteries were: For Bankers, Gibson, White and Halday; for All-Stars, Fleming, Boston and Carr. The features of the game were White's pitching, the catching and throwing to bases of Halday, and the fielding of Baby and Thorndike. In the second game the Comfort Soap Works defeated the Davenport Stars in the most keenly-contested game of the season by 6 to 2. The batteries were: For Comfort Soap Works, Irvine and Lester; for Davenport Stars, Harding and Moran. The features of this game were the battery work of the Soap Works team, Irvine allowing only three hits; McQuinn's sensational work on second base; Harding's pitching; and the fielding of Dick Wise and Lambert. Jim Mahoney officiated as umpire. The attendance was 300.
