BOTHERED ABOUT THE WORD OBEY

May it Be Left Out of Marriage Ceremony Discussed in England

"ADD BUT NOT TAKE AWAY"

Lawyer Quotes Bishop's View of Way Out of Difficulty—Cable to New York Says Queen Cut Down Court List

(Canadian Press) London, Jan. 16.—Discussion is raging over the question whether or not the omission of the word "obey" from the marriage service, would render the ceremony invalid.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has taken occasion to contradict a report of his intervention in the Dugdale ceremony on Saturday, when a clergyman refused to perform a wedding ceremony till the word obey was included. Ecclesiastical authorities generally hesitate to express an opinion as to the legality of the omission of the word "obey."

"One lawyer said:—You may add to the vows of the marriage service, but you cannot take any part away from them. The best way therefore out of the difficulty is when the bride wishes to be placed on an equality with the bridegroom, is to add to obey, to those taken by the husband. I have that," he added, "on the authority of a well known bishop."

New York, Jan. 16.—The Tribune's London correspondent today says:—The starting point is made, that presentations at court, of ladies of foreign birth, shall in future be restricted to those married to British subjects, or whose male relatives hold some official position in this country.

"It is stated that Queen Mary does not see the American invasion with favor, and that she is the author of this suggestion. It is further proposed, in order to relieve the pressure on the courts held in London, that their sittings shall be held in Dublin and Edinburgh."

THRILLING SCENES AS REVERE HOUSE IS IN GRIP OF FLAMES

Famous Old Boston Hotel Partially Destroyed

NO LIVES ARE LOST

Exciting Rescues of Men and Women From the Burning Building—Has Sheltered Many Noted People Beneath Its Roof

(Canadian Press) Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—The Revere House, one of the oldest and most famous hotels in New England, was partially destroyed by fire early today. Quick work by the fire department saved all the patrons, although there were many narrow escapes. The loss is estimated at $100,000. A systematic search of the ruins was made all day, but no bodies were found.

The hotel, which fronts on Bowdoin Square, has sheltered such notable guests as the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII., Daniel Webster, Jenny Lind, Emperor Pedro of Brazil and Admiral Pasha, of the Turkish army.

It was a five-story structure of stone and brick. Starting in the rear of the grove, the fire gained rapid headway and in a few minutes the flames had leaped up the stairways and elevator wells to the upper stories in the Bulfinch street annex.

There were many thrilling rescues through flames and smoke filled hallways and over the ledgers. Dozens of women were escorted down the stairs to places of safety and several men and women escaped by climbing the roofs of adjoining buildings.

The fire escaped from the lower story of the hotel, and a party of men and women, and lastly young ladies were the means of rescue for more than a score.

Several women were seen to jump from a window by their ankles and descend below on ladders brought them to the street. One girl in her night dress, a party of the guests received shelter in nearby houses.

He left a card with his name and address inside, and has just received a response from the Moricheshire. It took the bottle nearly two years and four months to cross the ocean. The assailants selected a moment when the premier, who has been one of the pillars of the Manchou dynasty, was on his way from the imperial court where he had another long audience with the prince of the imperial clan.

The men who attempted to take Yuan Shi Kai's life hoped to get away by mixing with the crowd in the streets, which were thronged at the time. They were, however, pursued and captured.

Two Causes Alleged to Have Contributed to This Condition

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Unless the Ontario and the federal governments get together without further delay, the scarcity of farm laborers throughout the province, instead of improving, will likely become more than ever a source of complaint next spring.

Partly as a result of instructions issued by the Dominion Immigration authorities to looking agents last year, which checked the booking of immigrants to the city, and to a less extent owing to the delay in completing the joint immigration plans already foreshadowed, there has been for months an almost complete cessation of immigration work on the part of the staff of the Ontario office in London.

IN LIGHTER VEN (MOTHER GOOSE UP TO DATE. Miss Hobbie-shirt Hubbard). Went to the cupboard.

NEVER CAN TELL (Geraldine—"Don't let too sure"). May be some day you'll see some of your love letters in print.

NO SPORTSMAN (Do you think there will be any more arctic explorations?). "I don't see why a man should go so far for the experience."

WOULD BE THERE FOR LIFE (An old negro was brought to trial in a southern town for stealing a chicken). "Easter," said the judge, before pronouncing sentence, "I am about to give you two months in the workhouse."

WORKED BOTH WAYS (Gibbs—"Banks married his wife because she was a good conversationalist"). Dibbs—"Yes, and divorced her because she talked too much."

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES A case of smallpox in the Ottawa city office was discovered yesterday. It is expected in Ottawa that John Stansfield, M.P., for Colchester, N. S., chief ministerial whip will be appointed to the same soon. The mill district of Lawrence, Mass., has been placed under military rule. Three arrests were made yesterday. The cause for calling the militia was found in riotous acts of the strikers at the mill. There is talk in England that the general elections may come this year. Lloyd's increased the insurance rates against fire.

NOW'S THE TIME TO SAVE MONEY BY SPENDING

'Necessity knows no law' and necessary is at the bottom of our great winter clothing sale. An always strictly-adhered-to policy of never to pack goods away from one season to the next makes it imperative for us to hasten the departure of present winter stock before the arrival of spring goods. 'But it's too late to buy winter clothing,' you say. Not a bit of it, providing the inducements are great enough. Winter is not over, by any means. We can expect plenty of cold weather—more than likely the coldest of the year. Then, too, the foretold man will need no going to provide now for next winter's needs, when he can save from 10 to 30 per cent.—Henderson, Hunt 17-19 Charlotte street.

WILL NOT HAVE TO MAKE USE OF EXPLOSIVES

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 15.—(Special)—It has been decided that there is no necessity to blow down the front of the Halifax Hotel building in Granville street, as experts say that it can be torn down without too much damage. Work has already commenced on removing parts of the walls that are weak. The building is only half granite, and there is some talk that the damage would be very great should gun action or other explosives be used.

MORNING LOCALS

The case of the St. John River Steamship Co. vs. the St. John River Log Driving Co. was continued yesterday afternoon and adjourned to the 20th to allow the defendants to put in a defence to the amended pleading. The members of the Fireside Club gave an enjoyable concert in St. David's church last night. L. G. Sinclair presided. Those taking part were: R. H. Gibson, H. A. Shaw, T. C. Cochrane, A. D. Duncan, W. McIntyre, P. Cruickshank, E. C. Girvan, H. A. Cook and the club's male quartette. A. W. Johnson of Main street fell in the street yesterday afternoon and suffered a sprained ankle. The snow storm which started yesterday afternoon caused a blockage of the street car service for a time between six and seven o'clock. The snow followed by sleet and a wind of thirty-six miles an hour made a rather unpleasant evening.

FOLLOWING A LEAD. (Kamaas City Star)

An actor at the Players' Club in New York said the other day—"I heard in London a good one on Joe Cogan, the American idol of the British stage. Cogan, you know, can't sing a note. It seems that Mme. Pavlova, the Russian dancer, wrote in the visitors' book at the Peacock Inn in Howley:—'I dance because I must—Anna Pavlova.' Mr. Cogan, on a weekend trip to Hadden Hall, put up at the Peacock Inn himself. In looking over the visitors' book he saw Mme. Pavlova's pretty autograph, and took up a pen and wrote:—'I sing because I can't—J. Cogan.'"

THAT'S DIFFERENT. (That need-do-well?)

"I should think not, indeed!" "Then, you'll hardly be interested to hear that he has inherited $500,000." "What? Dear old Bill!"

M. Egbert, "With Aviator No. 6" is continued and there are many other items of interest in the magazine. SOUNDED LIKE IT. (Atchison Globe). In Atchison many years ago Charles Krebs, the late John M. Price, and S. H. Kelsey were invited to attend an Odd Fellows' banquet. Mr. Kelsey telegraphed their acceptance in these words:—"Dear volente, Krebs, Price and I will be with you tomorrow night, and he received the following telegram in reply:—"I know you, Krebs and Price, but who is the Italian that's coming with you?"

Horse Bites of Boy's Nose

While visiting in Indianstown yesterday Mrs. William Campbell received word that her young son Harry, had met with a painful accident, having his nose bitten off and his cheek severely chewed by a horse on their farm at Nepesin. The message came to W. H. Dunham, and he and Mrs. Campbell and her son, Otty, at once left for her home, driving across the ice with all possible haste. The word brought to the city was to the effect that Harry, who is about fourteen years of age, had gone to his mother's head and she had strapped as him, although he was attempting to feed her. She caught his feet in her teeth and tore his nose away, as well as making frightful gashes in his cheeks. Mr. Campbell was not far away, and running to the spot, found his son in a serious plight, with his nose hanging to his face by only a thin layer of skin. Doctor Lewis of Welford was summoned, and put fifteen stitches in his nose and cheek.

NEWS OF THE MUSIC WORLD

A Talk With Wolf-Ferrari, Eminent German-Italian Composer

FUTURE OF THE OPERA

He Hears Caruso for First Time in Sixteen Years and is Astonished at Wonderful Change—Hammerstein Says Harrold Outdoes the Famous Tenor

(Times' Special Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 15.—Let all ambitious opera composers beware, for the future is uncertain. So, at least, declares Ermano Wolf-Ferrari, the eminent German-Italian who has just reached this country for the first time. Wolf-Ferrari has the right to speak. He is one of the foremost composers of his time.

However, many do not know this. New York did not, until three years ago, and then only through his oratorio "La Vita Nuova." Last season his one-act opera, "Il Segno," was presented at the Metropolitan Opera House and its musical charm instantly attracted attention to the thirty-five-year-old musician. A few days ago the most pretentious Wolf-Ferrari work yet given here came before the public. It was "Le Donno Curioso" (The inquisitive woman) and its success was immediate. Beyond this, the artist agreed in declining it one of the finest examples of opera buffa heard. Written after the style of Mozart "Le Donno Curioso" is filled with lively melody and colorful orchestration.

Responding to the invitation of the Metropolitan management, Wolf-Ferrari, consented to say a first visit to a new land. Since his arrival he has been busy hearing what he termed the best opera he ever heard. Incidentally, he listened to Caruso sing for the first time in sixteen years. Friends who sat with Wolf-Ferrari in General Manager Giulio Gatti-Casazza's box say it was a treat to watch the composer's face. Caruso's improvement was noticeable.

"Italian grand opera is undergoing a process of evolution," remarked Wolf-Ferrari. "It is difficult to tell what inspiration may accomplish for genius goes its own way. What the composer of the future must do is to maintain a relative equality between the music and the dramatic action.

"The city of St. John is undergoing a process of evolution," remarked Wolf-Ferrari. "It is difficult to tell what inspiration may accomplish for genius goes its own way. What the composer of the future must do is to maintain a relative equality between the music and the dramatic action.

ONE OF THE CENTRES OF PARIS LIFE

The Famous Salon of Madame Stern in Faubourg St. Honore. GREAT MEN MEET THERE

The Statesman Rubs Shoulders With the Noted Ones in Art, Music and the Drama—Madame Stern Widow of One of Country's Greatest Financiers

(Times Special Correspondent) Paris, Jan. 15.—In the salon of Madame Louise Stern, widow of one of France's greatest financiers, and well known as an author, the fate of nations has literally been trembling in the balance, and never more so than of recent months when the foremost diplomats of the official world of Paris rubbed shoulders with the leading personalities in art, music, literature and the drama, in the splendid splendour of this most remarkable woman in the Faubourg St. Honore.

When ambassadors of various countries want to have a quiet talk without having their meeting heralded abroad, they arrange to see each other at Madame Stern's, and many important measures of the conservative party have been decided upon at her soirées. Royal visitors find time to escape from official duties long enough to lunch or dine in the tapetory dining-room of her beautiful house. Even the late King Edward, most exquisite of guests, when he met at Marie-Louise was a visitor.

Artist as Well But writing is only a phase in the wide range of her artistic activities. Her sketches of most of the famous Parisians of the last forty years—for Madame Stern began to draw portraits at the age of fourteen—have attracted wide attention.

Robert Hichens wrote of her: "It is impossible to know Madame Stern without feeling that the governing passion of her heart is a devotion to the art of the painter, in the presence of great art, she is a devotee. Madame Stern is an excellent musician, and a writer of librettos. But, above all, she possesses a highly cultivated sense of appreciation of art and beauty in all her concrete achievements and that liberally amounts to genius."

Madame Stern's home is an eloquent proof of her highly developed taste. It boasts the most magnificent reception hall in Paris. This was an addition to the home itself—an eighteenth century mansion which the late Louis Stern bought years ago as a present for his young bride.

In this hall the Gothic style predominates. The Gothic has become so closely associated with religious architecture that it is a trifle hard to think of it as suitable for the modern home, yet Madame Stern has made such skillful use of it that it gives a satisfying impression of homeliness. Its high arched roof, its monumental chimney-piece taken from a chateau in Angoulême, its massive carved stone doors also transferred from other French castles, its exquisite carved wood gallery with its winding stairway copied from the one in the church of St. Etienne Du Mont in Paris—all are pure Gothic.

But Madame Stern has not bound herself slavishly to any one style and herein is the highest proof of a connoisseur. She knows how to combine styles without committing gross errors of taste. Seventeenth century tapestries fill in spaces between Gothic columns; near Italian pre-Raphaelites in dull gold frames stand massive carved Venetian basins for holy water and hidden discreetly in one corner is a telephone. Unlike the usual French interior with its glare of unadorned illumination, the lighting of this hall—Madame Stern was the first woman in Paris to use electricity—conceals a long varicolored array of Venetian glass that cast a subdued glow.

Two large salons lead off from this immense hall. The walls of one are hung with paintings of the eighteenth century French school—among them a Grasse and a Dragouard—and the other is devoted to specimens of the eighteenth century English masters. One of the finest is a portrait of a young man—the fourth Marquis of Angles—by Reynolds. Then there are several canvases by Opie, one by Romney, and one by Sir Joshua Reynolds. In the place of honor is the portrait of Queen Victoria when she was about twenty years old, by Sir Thomas Lawrence. Rumor has it that the National Gallery in London has made overtures to Madame Stern for the purchase of it, but she has not wished to part with it.

"How did I come across it?" she repeated my query. "I was in Munich years ago and picked it up from a dealer there. All he could tell me was that he had bought it from a German lady. It had been presented either to her or to one of the members of her family by the queen herself."

"It was the first in Paris to start a collection of the eighteenth century English school," Madame Stern went on. "I began about twenty-five years ago. Then it was easy to acquire. I had given up my own collection of the eighteenth century English school, but I had a few pictures left. I was very fond of them."

JUVENILE COURT HERE. A bill providing for the establishment of juvenile courts in this province has been prepared and probably will be presented by the attorney-general at the opening session of the legislature. It gives the courts power to care for children who have not committed any offence, to remove them from undesirable homes, to assess the parents for their support, and to send them to industrial schools if incorrigible. It makes it illegal to confine juveniles with older criminals, and provides for the establishment of detention homes to care for them while their cases are being decided.

IS SAFE AT SHANGHAI T. E. Plevman, a former Toronto man, who was on the spot when the revolutionary movement in China began. Edward Butler, one of the proprietors of a meat store in Skowhegan, Me., has to get his team to the store by six o'clock in the morning, but does not necessarily have to go himself, since his horse has learned to make the trip alone. Mr. Butler lives about a mile from the store. When he gets up in the morning he pulls a string that lets hay and grain into the horse's crib. After the horse has eaten, Mr. Butler harnesses him and on being given the word, starts off for the store, where he is always arrived safely. The horse will not allow children to jump into the pugs. When he reaches the store he neighs for his owner's partner to come, and put a blanket on him until the clerk is ready to start off on his trip.

DETECTIVE HIMSELF PROVED A BURGLAR

"Nick Carter" of France is Caught and Becomes a Convict

Paris, Jan. 15.—"Nick Carter," caught red-handed in crime, must go to prison for seven years and then be exiled from France for five years.

"Nick Carter" is the hero of every French school-boy who reads cheap fiction. He was lifted bodily from American dime novels and has been highly embroidered. He is the master detective, more popular in France than the Frenchified Sherlock Holmes.

Louis Warze was a detective on the Paris police force. His work was so shrewd, his captures so many, his coup so astounding, that he became known to all Paris as "Nick Carter." His knowledge of the ways of criminals amazed, but fled his superiors. Often he seemed to foresee the very moment when a crime would be committed.

Suddenly came "Nick Carter's" downfall. A burglar taken in the act made a confession. He swore Warze belonged to a gang of desperate burglars and shared their plunder, but occasionally arrested one of the band, thus adding to his splendid reputation as a detective.

Warze indignantly denied guilt and said the accusation was made in revenge by men he had arrested. But the astute judge sifted all the evidence carefully and found many guilt-convincing circumstances which Warze could not explain, so he was found guilty. The seven years of imprisonment he must endure will be passed at hard labor in a penal colony.

The burglar who betrayed him was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. Two others of the band were convicted.

SOCIETY AT RINGSIDE IN PARIS

Paris, Jan. 14.—Parisians have taken society to boxing. I do not mean to say that Parisians put their fists up every street corner or that the lengthy rest corners argument (which begins with wealth of repartee and finishes after locking the traffic for a quarter of an hour, with abundant shrugs and mutual expressions of contempt) has now given way in Paris to the British fashion of setting discussions in the street.

CANADA LINERS

It is altogether likely that two steamers of the Canada Steamship Company will make passage to this port later in the season. Advice has been received here that the Willibald and the Pisa, two big liners, would be here in May and April from Rotterdam with large cargoes.

SALVATION ARMY HEAD

Commissioner Snow of the Salvation Army will arrive in the city tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from Sussex, where he is conducting services today. He will not conduct any special services here, but will remain over in the city tomorrow night. On Thursday morning he will proceed to St. Stephen.

The S. S. Manchester Mariner left Manchester on Sunday night for this port. The Lashburn Head sailed soon today for Belfast with a large cargo.

The Montreal and Morona will sail tomorrow. The Montreal will go to Antwerp and the Morona to Baltimore.

It is expected that the S. S. Hesperian will arrive here tonight.

SURPRISE PARTY

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. DeLong, 41 Brook street, North End, last evening, about ninety friends gathered and gave them a pleasant surprise. An enjoyable time was spent in games and varied amusements. During the evening on behalf of the gathering, Thomas Scoggin presented to Harry DeLong a valuable amber pipe. The committee in charge was composed of Misses D. Irvine, Mrs. J. Lewis and A. Hamilton and J. Irvine.

DOING FAIRLY WELL

Harry Campbell, the lad who was bitten off by a vicious farm-horse, is resting comfortably as could be expected today at his home in Nerepis. Dr. Levin is attending him. It will not be known whether or not it will be necessary to have him brought to the hospital here for treatment. W. H. DeLong, of North End, returned this morning from Nerepis.

ENDORSE PRISON REFORM

The Every Day Club last evening adopted unanimously a series of resolutions setting forth that there are in the city men whom no helpful aid under present conditions can turn from abandoned idleness and dissipation; that some are a burden to already burdened families, and all them to some extent a burden upon the community; that the present jail system does them no good; that the city should be rid of their influence and example, and they themselves placed under conditions where reform would be possible; and that therefore a prison farm should be established.

LONG TIME GETTING TO SUPPER

An instance of the difficulty encountered in operating the street railway service during the stormy evening, because of the condition of the rails is found in the experience of two North End men. They boarded a street car at half-past five o'clock at the post office for home. They had to take a car bound south and proposed to make the trip through Lover Cove and so to North End. At five minutes to eight one of them still sat in the car, which had just then reached Douglas avenue. The other left a few blocks down street.

THE STEAMER HAMPTON

The steamer Hampton is still lying in the position in which it was found yesterday morning, nearly submerged in the water at the Sincennes wharf, but it is expected that an effort will be made this afternoon to raise her and float her to below the falls for repairs. It was necessary to wait until the tide suited before screws could be secured to assist in the work, which is to be done by the Messrs. Roberts Bros. It is expected that owing to the position in which the steamer is at present the work will take up several days, but when she has been successfully raised she will then be taken below the falls and placed on the blocks.

Chain Gang no Good For Morals of Prisoners, Says Guard

OPINION IN REPORT

Councillor Donovan, in Message to County Council Takes Same View — Important Matters Before the Councillors — New Legislation

The new Municipal Council meets for the first time since the last election this afternoon and will take up some very important matters. Among the most important is the recommendation of a special committee that the Crutwick property be purchased for a prison farm and the recommendation that $20,000 bonds be issued to cover the cost of the institution. They will also consider the establishment of a sanitarium for tubercular patients in the advanced stage. For this the sum of $10,000 is asked. The yearly estimates, which total about $200 more than last year, will also be presented to the council.

In connection with the proposal to establish a prison farm the report of Councillor Donovan, chairman of the labor committee, is of interest. After reciting the amount of work accomplished during the year, he says:—

"Mr. Beckett, employed as senior guard for the last ten years, desires me to express to the council, that he most emphatically from his experience, pronounces the 'chain gang' a failure from the standpoint of moral reform, and he strongly recommends the employment of the prisoners on a farm or in some class of work of a constructive nature."

"In my previous reports I have recommended the prison farm, and I do so again. After four years' of close observation I am compelled to declare the employment of men in breaking stone as of no moral worth; but degenerating and a waste of physical strength out of all proportion to results obtained."

"I trust the future chairman of this committee may find a solution, even to a small extent, of this unfortunate and unhappy problem."

The cost of the prisoners' work was $1,284, and the value of the results was $2,043.

The committee on bills reports as follows:—

"They have considered the following bills and recommend that they be forwarded to the legislature at next session for enactment:

"An Act to fix the valuation of T. S. Sturges, County assessor, as to rates and taxes, for school purposes at $40,000 and for other purposes at $10,000.

"An Act to amend the Statute for assessment on Wilson Box Company Limited at $10,000.

"An Act to amend the Statute, Chapter 14, giving full gang guards powers as police constables."

"An Act to provide for the establishment of a prison farm in the city and county and the detention of idle, drunken and dissolute persons in the St. John Municipal Home.

"An Act to amend Chap. 178 of the Consolidated Statutes regarding peddling licences.

"Your committee have also considered the making of a by-law to provide for licensing and regulating public billiard saloons, pool rooms, bowling alleys or other public places of amusement and they recommend that they be submitted to the council for adoption."

It was expected that some opposition to the site for the tuberculosis institution above Strait Shore would develop at the meeting.

ANOTHER CASE MAY ARISE FROM THIS

Drew Said to be 18 Years Old, Ho Says Twenty-one—Today's Police Court

In the police court this morning three prisoners charged with drunkenness were dealt with. Two of them were fined $8 or two months in jail and the other was remanded. The remanded prisoner was John Drew, an eighteen year old lad, who was arrested on the north side of King Street about ten o'clock last night on the charge of being drunk. In court today he said he was twenty-one years old, but the court records were looked up and it was found that in 1906 he was before the court for another offence and at that time gave his age as fourteen. He was remanded in order that his parents might be brought to court to prove his age.

It is altogether likely that another case will arise out of this arrest, as he was seen coming out of a King Square saloon. The liquor dealer says that he served no liquor to the lad, but it is probable that a charge for allowing a minor on the premises will be brought against him.

MISS PANKHURST'S PLANS

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, will remain in St. John as the guest of Mrs. W. Frank Hatheway until tomorrow morning, when she will leave for Brunswick, Me. There she will address another meeting. She was fatigued from her travel and work of yesterday and rested most of today. No public meeting has been arranged for tonight, but she will be entertained by the members of the local Women's Suffrage Association.

CONCERT LAST NIGHT

Owing to the disagreeable weather last evening the concert held in the school room of Portland Methodist church was not very well attended. The programme was distinctly enjoyed, however, by those present. The orchestra, under the leadership of Howard Holder, played a pleasing programme. There came also numbers by Fred Holder, Bruce Holder, Thomas Pyle, S. Williams, Miss McEachern, Mrs. Fairweather, and Messrs Roberts, Wilson and Wiley. Mr. Wilson gave selections on the Japanese organ, and Mr. Williams played solos on the saxophone. Both were greatly enjoyed. Rev. H. D. Marr presided.
