Stirring Days They
Were In Montreal
For St. John's Queen

A Recount of Incidents in the Miss Canada Contest Before and After the Title Had Been Won by Miss Blair.

In her hurried preparations to make ready for the national contest followed by a week of almost activity during the Montreal test, then the triumphant journey home and its great climax yesterday, Miss Blair... Our Loyalist City's doubly graced by their widespread renown.

Miss Canada, our fair and gracious Queen, Reign o'er our hearts with beauty, love and grace. True type of fair womanhood that makes our land supreme, Thy modesty and wholesomeness add glory to thy face.

Chorus: All hail to thee! Miss Canada! Loud do thy praise ring out from shore to shore, Dear to our hearts thou art forevermore.

Miss Canada, our first Dominion Queen, Reign o'er our hearts with beauty, love and grace. True type of fair womanhood that makes our land supreme, Thy modesty and wholesomeness add glory to thy face.

Chorus: All hail to thee! Miss Canada! Loud do thy praise ring out from shore to shore, Dear to our hearts thou art forevermore.

More photographers arrived and when the door porters escorted Miss Canada to the pavement, the movie cameras and syndicate concerns such as Underwood and Underwood, the Central News and other international bureaus snapped and "ground" our St. John girl, her chaperone and party in a big way. The busy footmen had picked Miss Blair as a winner from Sunday morning. Her arrival when he lifted her in his arms from her sleigh, paid her great homage and incidentally remained the most efficient of the photographers.

When Miss Canada arose at noon and during her breakfast she consented to a steady procession of callers outside the suite. She was greatly pleased that among her very first visitors were Miss Catherine McVilly, Miss Alward (formerly Dorothy Blaisdell) and her sister, Mrs. Miller, who brought the love and best wishes of the young womanhood of her own city.

The last call made by the St. John girl, her chaperone and staff was made upon Manager Cardy and the United Hotels Corporation, who happened to be in Montreal, to remark that St. John and the Maritime Provinces must be a very clannish country, an observation heavily freighted with a wonderful meaning to the newspaper cars of one of Miss Canada's party.

Ruhr Question Looms
Large as the British Parliament Opens

Government, with 70 Majority, Faces a Hard Session

Determined Drive by Labor for French Evacuation of Occupied Germany—Liberals United in Lords, But Still Disrupted in the Commons.

(Canadian Press) London, Feb. 12.—The Ruhr question was stressed in the address from the throne at the opening of the parliament today. The address declared that although the British government was unable to participate in the Ruhr operations, it was acting in such a way as not to add to the difficulties of Great Britain's allies.

It is generally conceded that the government faces a exceedingly hard session. It is only about 70 majority in the House of Commons and the Liberal party is expected to take the initiative in the Ruhr question.

The attitude of the Liberals—both the Independent Liberals and the National Liberals—was stressed in the address from the throne at the opening of the parliament today.

TAXABLE ESTATE

Wife of Financier, who Died on Golf Links, Owned a Collection of Jewels Valued at $800,000, Which Were Bequeathed to Her Children.

New York, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould, wife of George J. Gould, who died suddenly on November 12, 1921, on the golf course at Lakewood, N. J., left a gross taxable estate in New York of $1,630,020. The net estate here amounts to $1,288,705.

This amount, more than $800,000, represented the value of Mrs. Gould's collection of jewelry. The valuation shown in the transfer tax appraisal of the estate filed in the Surrogate's Court represents about sixty-five per cent. of all the property left by Mrs. Gould.

Mrs. Gould had two residences in New York, one at 807 Fifth avenue, which they seldom occupied, and the other at 177 East Sixty-fourth street. Mrs. Gould was the owner of both these properties, which were valued at $783,000. In her will Mrs. Gould devised these properties to her children, Mrs. Edith Kingdon Gould and her husband, Mr. Gould relinquished his interest a long time before his death.

Included in the record of the transfer tax proceeding is a statement by Jay Gould, a son of Mrs. Gould, that one of the executors of her will, in which he tells of the necessity of discharging the estate of Mrs. Gould's collection of jewelry, which was part of the residuary estate left by her children.

These children, besides Jay Gould, are Mrs. Marjorie Gould Drexel, Lady Vivian Drexel, Mrs. Edith Gould Kingdon Gould and George J. Gould, Jr. In telling of the need of the sale of the jewelry, Jay Gould said that the brokerage fees for this sale would amount to $50,000, and he asked that that amount be deducted from the taxable value of the estate. This request was held in abeyance by the Transfer Tax Appraiser.

The principal pieces of jewelry owned by Mrs. Gould were diamond and emerald crosses, $200,000; pearl necklace, $105,000; pearl necklace, $127,000; rope of pearls, $85,000; diamond tiara, $45,000; pearl sash, $32,000; diamond necklace, $22,000; diamond and emerald pendant with two large stones, $35,000; pearl and diamond crown set in platinum, $22,000; and tesson of pearls and diamonds, $21,000.

He is familiarly known as "Dr. Henry" and is a great favorite with sportsmen.

WIFE LOST WHILE ON WEDDING TRIP

Left Husband to Telephone—Has Been Gone Since January 30—Third Case of Similar Kind in New York.

(New York Times) New York, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Helen Seymour McGregor, a young bride of five months, has become lost from her husband here in the middle of a deferred honeymoon. James F. McGregor, the bridegroom, and a stock salesman of Great Falls, Mont., reported the disappearance of his bride to the New York Times yesterday, in the hope of establishing communication with her. For Mrs. McGregor's information, Mr. McGregor is stopping at the Hotel Continental, Broadway and Forty-first Street.

While searching for another hotel, the young couple lunched at a cafeteria in West Thirty-fourth Street, near Seventh Avenue and from there went to a vaudeville show in Times Square. When they left the theatre, Mrs. McGregor, according to her husband, said she wished to telephone some friends whose names she accidentally found in the telephone directory while looking for another number.

"I think they were friends she visited several years ago in New York, and I am under the impression that they live somewhere in the Bronx," McGregor said. "When my wife left me, I understood that she was to meet me at the Hotel Cadillac in the evening. I went there and sat in the lobby until nearly midnight waiting for her, but she did not show up."

Mr. McGregor explained that he then went to the Hotel Continental and engaged rooms. It did not occur to them to be said, to leave word at the Cadillac or at the Hotel Navarre where his wife might find him.

Instead, he called at other hotels where he thought it likely she might be.

—That was the time when you were happy to be thirsty!
The old happy feeling comes back, although by different paths, as in the twilight of the day and the twilight of your life you drink a refreshing cup of fresh made Blue Bird Orange Pekoe Tea, its golden liquor glowing like the sunset.

"CLOSE-UP" OF THE CONTEST FOR TITLE OF MISS CANADA

Intimate Story of the Events Which Led up to and Sur- rounded the Choosing of Miss Blair for Supreme Honour.

The following story of the battle for the title of Miss Canada was written by Walter H. Golding, manager of the Imperial Theatre whose nominee, Miss Blair was when she entered the Evening Times contest for the title of Miss St. John. Mr. Golding was in Montreal during the week of the winter sports there, and Mrs. Golding was the official chronicler to Miss St. John.

Mr. Golding Tells the Story.

Now that Miss Canada is back amongst her own people and has received a welcome paralleled only by that accorded the Prince of Wales and his father, it is interesting to me to reflect upon the chain of incidents that culminated in Saturday night's coronation of our sweet and sensible little girl, Winnie Blair. Events crowded so closely upon one another after Miss Blair reluctantly accepted the Imperial Theatre's invitation to become its nominee in the Telegraph contest for the title of Miss Canada, that even a case-hardened public showman and newspaperman found the pace almost very strenuous. But we stuck it out to the bitter end, and believe me, fellow-citizens, it was a bitter end—for some.

When I make use of the word bitter I do not mean that the rival queens entertained any animosity towards one another, or even the mild form of competitiveness displayed in female inter-provincial rivalry nature with the Maritime provinces, province of Quebec, New West and the Far West as opposing factors. Naturally such contest involved special tactics and plenty of old ones well known to exploiters of political, mercantile and theatrical.

Without any but most friendly feelings for Miss St. John's opponents, all of whom were most charming young ladies and having no occasion for suggesting that their managers and handlers were other than fair and straightforward in bringing their candidates into the most favorable light. At all times, it can be said as a matter of fact, that the contest was a matter of entertaining gossip that some clever manoeuvres were employed to bring about the queen of this fair Dominion.

When the St. John delegation left for Montreal after hurried preparation which published the names of the houses and private friends played the part of Fairy Queen, the real seriousness of the situation dawned on them. As we sped towards Montreal the great adventure became more and more real. When we stepped off the train into a temperature of thirty-two degrees below zero, even the speed with which General Macdonald and the staff of the Winter Sports Committee hustled our dainty little lady to the taxi was not fast enough. The first frost meant a sorry mess of the huge bouquet of American Beauty roses presented her upon leaving St. John.

We wondered if this chilly reception and the quick collapse of our floral beauties was an omen of things to come. St. John's candidate in the national beauty contest.

The Battle Begins

Once settled in her lovely suite in the Mount Royal Hotel Miss St. John and party dismissed thought of bad omens and opposing forces. Even the fanfare of trumpets and red velvet-covered pages that marked the majestic arrival of Miss Winnipeg and retinue from her private car on the prairie did not have the depressing effect we once thought it might. Descending to the lobby in one of the speedy express elevators to become acquainted with our luxurious surroundings and to pay official respects to my host we discovered the charming features of Miss Winnipeg decorating a bronze easel in the grand foyer of the hotel. Fast work. Warning number one. Evidently Miss Winnipeg was "framing" for a big drive under the energetic auspices of my genial friend Major Sifton, son of the Hon. Clifford Sifton, and his paper, the Winnipeg Free Press. A little enquiry disclosed the fact that it was indeed an advertising manager, aided and abetted by one of the C. P. R.'s clever lady propagandists.

Next day Miss Montreal entertained at a distinguished afternoon affair in the hallowed precincts of La Presse newspaper. To me this was a function of undying delight, a mixture of printer's ink, cultured wit and things to eat. Little Miss St. John (and old Mr. and Mrs. St. John) were thus thrust into the very vortex of French Canada and the experience was indeed illuminating and helpful. Editor Don Trambly, Alphonse Boudreau and others with their ladies were the very soul of hospitality and to the Maritime folk their French accent and almost Parisian manner were added touches.

Foot Saved in 4 Days!

"Nothing but Zam-Buk could have done it," says Mrs. A. Berryman, 190, John Street, North, in describing how her right foot, crushed by a wagon wheel, was healed. "The flesh was badly bruised, blackened and inflamed, and I fainted away with pain. When it was quite impossible for me to move I was taken to hospital, where the doctor said that my foot would never be saved. My husband's mother got me to try Zam-Buk. It was surprising, though, that within TWO DAYS all swelling and discoloration had disappeared and pain was banished. In FOUR DAYS, through the timely use of Zam-Buk, I could get about as usual; the injured foot was thoroughly healed."

Zam-Buk is the powerful antiseptic healer which quickly frees the skin of corruption and disease and grows new healthy tissue. No common ointment or salve can possibly compare with Zam-Buk. Get a box to-day! 50c. All dealers or FREE SAMPLE for postage from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

ZAM-BUK For Healing!

In this regard the western delegation and our Halifax friends enjoyed the occasion with equal zest. Mademoiselle Gabrielle Rivet, the charming nominee of the La Presse, was thus introduced to her sister Canadian opponents and from the deliberate manner in which she was presented for battle the visiting queens experienced a few quakes, to say nothing of their handlers, dressers and public relations experts.

Next morning in the hotel lobbies we were introduced to Miss Regina and her entourage consisting of Mrs. Bell, wife of the editor of the Regina Leader, and the two newspapers already mentioned. Close upon the heels of Regina came the Halifax delegate, nominee and booster for the Halifax Herald and Mail, headed by our alert and companionable former fellow townsman, Mrs. Ernest Girvan, who is "Betsey" on the two newspapers already mentioned.

What hostess was this, looks like a newspaper battle—not forgetting of course that Miss St. John, though the nominee of the Imperial Theatre, was at the same time the winsome disputant of the Telegraph contest. Right here in the hotel lobbies we met the St. John delegation. Other contestants such as St. Anne du Bellevue, Sherbrooke, Quebec and Edmonton were the nominees of organizations other than journalistic and, of course, carried no special press representatives. What is known as "stunt stuff" started right away. Each new item on the programme in which the competing queens were displayed found the managers pitting their wits to present their star in the most favorable light. It was a merry contest and with such delightful material to work with some really entertaining happenings were arranged.

The Programme of Activities.

The Montreal Winter Sports Committee had laid down a programme of activities that tested the aspirants for the title of Miss Canada in a most exhaustive manner. As dancers, in the matter of personality and good looks, also in the quality which might be termed "stunt stuff," the girls dressed for each occasion with deliberate design and orthodoxy. As a basketball captain in the world's series might use to place his pitchers and batters. Every day saw the contestants in one or another of these various tests, which were arranged to present their star in the most favorable light. It was a merry contest and with such delightful material to work with some really entertaining happenings were arranged.

3RD FIREMAN DIES IN CROSSING CRASH

Lieut. Griffin was on Truck Struck by a Long Island Train—Gross Neglect is Charged.

New York, Feb. 12.—The death list in the Long Island Railroad crossing accident at Union Cross on Tuesday night in which a fast Long Island express train crashed into Hook and Ladder 142 was increased to three firemen with the death of Lieutenant James Griffin, 387 Great Avenue, Brooklyn. Griffin was pinned against the third rail and carried several hundred feet down the track by the train.

The Coronation Ball.

Then came the grand culminating event, the coronation ball, the event at which the inter-provincial queens should flash their most regal raiment and radiate their finest personalities. At the head of the majestic procession in the Windsor Hotel a large round table was set for the Winnipeg and St. John delegations. The other contestants were ranged round about it. It was an electric occasion. Some of the canny followers were nervous that the pop of a bottle would jump from their chairs. Every contestant for the Canadian crown was on her mettle de luxe. Their dancing was a dream of loveliness, their graces the last word and department 100 per cent according to temperament and personality. It was no occasion for slip-ups. A faux pas at this stage of the proceedings might shift the crown halfway across the continent.

I hold there was a grim sort of humor in the tense situation for despite my own intense concern as to the outcome of the night's celebration I could not help sensing the cynical fun that lurked in the battle of good manners and planning now raging furiously. Then came the verdict and its sensational climax. Verdict I had no more idea than St. John should win over Winnipeg. St. Anne du Bellevue or any of the other leaders than the reverse might be the case. The judges had certainly done their work with gum shoes on. I have been told since the fateful night that a super-jury trusted ladies added their opinion at the last moment to settle some delicate questions on which the male referees were divided.

Nobody has been told yet how each contestant scored in the final reckoning. It is evidently been thought best to withhold the details of the decision. But the assumption of all interested is that in the final analysis some outstanding quality such as personality, youth, social deportment or adaptability has been the deciding factor. Of course this is only conjecture but everybody admits that the struggle for the title of Canada's composite type of young woman was apparently won for some special charm since all final contenders were of unusual beauty and winsome.

An Acute Attack Quickly Helped

Montreal Lady Rubs Away Her Cold Troubles With Vicks.

Miss Lachance of 1142 Wellington St. Verdon, Montreal, Que., says: "I had occasion to use Vicks VapoRub on several occasions during the winter, and it gave me instant relief. I used it as per directions on the label and found it unerring spots—throat, joints, forehead and around the nose for colds in the head—and found it very beneficial in every way. It was recommended to me by a friend who uses it as a family remedy for all colds, coughs, croup and who has a Vicks VapoRub bottle in his pocket for all such ailments. The body heat releases vapors that are inhaled all night long into the throat and lungs—Menthol, Camphor, Thyme, Eucalyptus and Turpentine. Vicks is also absorbed through and unulates the skin, aiding the vapors to relieve congestion. Usually colds go on one night and come in commonly relieved in fifteen minutes."

By invitation of the manufacturers fifteen thousand families in Canada tried Vicks last winter for cold troubles, the only condition being that they would report results. The above is just one of the enthusiastic reports received. The above statement is just one of the many that can be quoted right in St. John.

All at drug stores, 50c a jar. For free test size package, write Vicks Chemical Co., 344 St. Paul St., Montreal, P. Q.

negligence of the grocer's staff," said District Attorney Dana Wallace of Quebec yesterday after he had concluded his examination of Robert Brinkley, negro towerman at the Inquest, Brinkley, Joseph Rubin, the railroad's director of traffic there, Rubin and Brinkley, who had been on the job only one day, and before that, according to his statement, he had never directed traffic. It is almost incredible that a railroad company would place an inexperienced man at such a dangerous crossing. Rubin and Brinkley have tried to shift the blame to the towerman of the train, Herman Nelson. Their whole attitude is to try to blame some one else.

"I intend to find out if the railroad places incompetent men in places of great responsibility—positions where the safety of hundreds of people depend upon their prompt and accurate action."

Several high officials of the railroad, it was said, would be summoned as witnesses at the inquest. Brinkley, the District Attorney said, declared he did not know whether the bell signal for him to raise the crossing gates had sounded in his tower or not. But he insisted that he had received a signal from Rubin to raise the gates. Rubin said he heard no warning bell and admitted that he gave the towerman the signal to raise the gates.

Funeral services for Fireman Michael Hanley and John Dunn will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Dunn's funeral will be held in Holy Trinity Cemetery. The services for Hanley will be held in the Church of the Holy Child Jesus, Richmond Hill. The Rev. Father Thomas Nunnery officiating.

Fireman Adolph Leach of 9323 Seventh Street, Woodhouse, one of the survivors, is in a serious condition.

Keep Reliable Remedy in Home At All Times.

When you catch cold there are three points on which you should guard yourself. Cold germs generate systematic poisons, which should be carried off so as to keep the natural channels open. The temperature should be kept at normal and the fever always generated by colds allayed. The soreness of the muscles, especially in the back, should be reduced. If these three points are given prompt attention, and treated properly, your cold will be passed over without danger.

Grip-Fix is a home treatment for cold which accomplishes just the above results. Its action on the system is prompt, and its record of effectiveness is well established for over ten years. A person with a box of Grip-Fix in the house is as safe from bad results in connection with colds as it is possible to provide.

Start taking Grip-Fix as soon as the cold develops, as prompt work on any sickness is always advisable. You can get it at Watsons Drug Stores. 35c per box.

DIED AFTER RUN FOR STREET CAR

Tragic Death of Harold Crawford, of Fairville, at Paradise Row Corner.

Harold Crawford of Main street, Fairville, died last night as a result of heart failure occasioned by the strain of running for a Fairville car at the corner of Main street and Paradise row at a little after eleven o'clock last evening. He was only twenty-one years of age, but had been suffering from leakage of the heart for some time. Mr. Crawford was observed by several people to pull at his collar as if it were choking him after he had run for the car, and Harry Cartwright and Frederick Shears caught him to keep him from falling. They heard him say, "I guess I ran too hard." He was carried into the New York Ice Cream Parlor, where he died before medical aid could be summoned. The body was viewed by Coroner William Warwick, who gave permission for its removal to Chamberlain's undertaking rooms. He said he would decide today whether or not an inquest would be necessary.

MARK AGAIN DOING BUSINESS WITH RUSSIA

Copenhagen, Jan. 24.—(A. P. By)—Denmark's antagonism against resuming commercial relations with Russia is gradually decreasing, and the trade on a moderate scale is being resumed despite the fact that no agreement has yet been made between the two countries.

An indication of the trend of events in the recent visit to Denmark by Dr. Ostinsky, director of the Russian Commissariat for agriculture, is that the Associated Press correspondent's query as to which feature of the Danish methods interested him most, or Ostinsky said the way in which one of the big country estates, owned by a Danish nobleman, had been split up into small holdings by appeal to him.

PEACE IN EUROPE IS GREAT AIM OF LITTLE ENTENTE

Swing from Extreme Nationalism to Conciliation and Co-operation is Marked by the Neutral Observers.

Prague, Jan. 15.—(By mail)—In the peace settlements of 1919-1920 the pendulum in the Balkans was allowed to swing to the extreme of nationalism. Today, in the view of neutral observers, the pendulum is swinging slowly to conciliation and co-operation and the outlook is brighter.

One of the great forces working toward moderation and stability undoubtedly has been the Little Entente, the political union between Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania. It is generally conceded to have done more than any other thing to preserve the political equilibrium of the Balkans during the last two or three years.

Fascism has been and still is a factor in the situation which cannot be overlooked. In Hungary, for example, Fascism has assumed two vital important aspects. In the first place, it seeks to regain for Hungary the territories of the former kingdom. This means that the Hungarian movement comes into direct conflict with Czechoslovakia over the recovery of Slovakia; with Rumania over the question of Transylvania; and with Jugoslavia over the Banat and Croatia. Secondly, as nationalism and royalism in Hungary are powerful movements, with almost identical aims, Fascism there is struggling for the restoration of the monarchy. This delicate point brings Hungary into still further conflict with her neighbors, since the cardinal idea behind the Little Entente is at all costs to prevent the restoration of the Hapsburgs.

Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Rumania are today bound together by a series of mutually beneficial treaties, and nowhere in the situation is to be found any tendency toward expansion. The Little Entente, formed or enlarged at the expense of the former Austro-Hungarian Empire, strives to maintain the status quo as established by the Paris peace treaties.

The Little Entente has been able to keep the peace of Central Europe, but it was unable to prevent the configuration in the Near East. The Turk knew only too well how to exploit the differences between the Balkan nations and thereby effect his dramatic return to the company of European nations.

Meanwhile, Jugoslavia and Greece have awakened to a realization of the strategic importance of Bulgaria's position, and now the statesmen of all three of these countries are at Lausanne, earnestly reviving the old Balkan Confederation, at the same time Greece and Bulgaria are being admitted to the Little Entente.

IRISH FREE STATE MAY SUPPORT NEW SHIP LINE

A proposal has been made in the Senate of the Southern Irish Parliament at Dublin to appoint a committee to report upon the most practicable means of establishing a regular line of trans-Atlantic steamships between Ireland and the United States, according to news despatches from Dublin.

The committee would consider the most suitable ports on both sides of the Atlantic, having regard to natural facilities and cost. The committee would also be authorized to negotiate with railway and steamship companies, harbor authorities, land owners and others in a position to promote the project.

BOYS JOIN THE MISSION BAND

Seven boys were present at the meeting of the Mission Band of Centenary church yesterday. It was the first attendance of boys since their special department in the band had been reorganized. They were greatly interested and will be as keen and efficient as the girls if they do not outgrow the girls. The programme yesterday was on China and was exceptionally interesting. The three leaders, Mrs. W. H. Barker, Mrs. C. R. Kinney and Miss A. Tait, each had charge of one part of the programme and the girls of one of the departments gave a fine explanation of the lives of the Chinese by showing dolls dressed in the correct costumes. Charts, maps and pictures were used to give greater impressiveness to the descriptions during the programme. Miss Nellie Phillips gave a much appreciated recitation entitled "Queer Things in Japan."

TWO AVIATORS DIE IN CRASH

Laredo, Texas, Feb. 13.—Lieutenant Tonsinger, aged twenty-seven, an aviator since the World War, and a native of Baltimore, Md., and Sergeant Joe Kelly, aged twenty-three, unmarried, a veteran soldier formerly stationed here, were killed in an airplane accident which marred manoeuvres of the Ninetieth Aero Squadron at army target range seven miles east of Laredo.

The airplane fell into a nose spin and crashed downward, the gasoline tank exploding when the machine struck the earth. Both men were burned and the machine destroyed.

Another aviator was injured when a scout plane struck the derrick on an oil well while returning from the target field, and was completely wrecked. The occupants of the plane escaped injury. The bodies of the dead aviators were sent to San Antonio. Lieutenant Tonsinger is survived by a widow at Kelly Field, Texas.

FLYING, THOUGH POPULAR IS NOT YET PROFITABLE

London, Jan. 26.—(A. P. By Mail)—The popularity of flying as a method of commercial travel may be judged by the fact that 12,828 passengers arrived and departed from the Croydon Aerodrome, during the year 1922. To carry this number of passengers 4,188 flights were made.

Flying, nevertheless, is not yet a paying business for the airplane companies. The government allows them subsidies which cover their actual losses.

In the future all airplanes flying over England at night will carry white star lights on each wing tip and on the tail. This is a new regulation of the Air Ministry.

The ministry is about to establish a permanent gliding center at Iford Hill, where the gliding contests were held last October. Sheds and workshops will be erected, and the station will be utilized not only by the Royal Air Force, but by private experimenters who will be able to try out their gliders, and use the workshops and heating trolley attached to the station.

NEW STYLE TICKETS FOR OCEAN TRAVEL

Cunard Line Now has Small Pasteboard to Replace the Former Heavy Strips—A Great Convenience to Travelers.

The Robert Reford, Company, general agents for the Cunard Line, have designed a new form of traveling ticket whereby persons traveling overseas are not encumbered with bulky documents. With the new system, when purchasing a ticket, the buyer is given a small card or ticket six inches square. This ticket covers everything in connection with ocean travel.

The full advantage derived from the new method is not experienced so much by the individual traveler as by families where one ticket will provide for five. The new method is not only beneficial to the passengers but also to the agents of the company, through whose hands the documents formerly used, had to be passed.

MOTHERHOOD.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—(By Canadian Press)—"The truest training for women is motherhood. There is no church, church or school that can take the place of a mother's care," declared Mrs. A. McAmmond, of Medicine Hat, Alberta, before the Ottawa Women's Club recently. Mrs. McAmmond criticized the modern idea practiced by many mothers of this generation in leaving the care of their children to a servant or governess, contending that they had only themselves to blame if their children were not all their ambitions had led them to expect.

"If a mother becomes interested in clubs and organizations it is purely for the sake of the child," Mrs. McAmmond added. The honor of motherhood was quickly and the responsibility immediately assumed by the influence of mothers on the lives of their children was a short one and the utmost care should be taken to make this influence a good one, true to the highest ideals, morally and spiritually.

MAKE SEARCH FOR BIBLICAL RECORDS

Brookline Woman Financing a Fund for Work in Egypt and Palestine.

(The Associated Press.)
Brookline, Mass., Feb. 13.—Explorations in Egypt and Palestine in search of long lost manuscripts that may have important bearings on the history of the Hebrew religion are to be financed wholly or in part by a trust fund established by Mrs. Abby Beecher Longyear of this town.

Already one expedition, largely supported by the Zion Research Foundation, as the endowment has been named, is seeking original manuscripts in the Niterian desert of Egypt and at the site of the ancient monastery on Mt. Sinai. Valuable papyrus has been secured through Professor Francis Kelsey, of the University of Michigan, acting for the foundation. The American School of Archaeology in Jerusalem also is a beneficiary of the Longyear trust.

The study of the beginnings of religion, especially the Hebrew belief, and its development has been pursued for many years by Mrs. Longyear, and the subject expressed the attention of her husband, John Munro Longyear, for several years before his death.

Both came to believe that the keys to some of the apparent mysteries of the past concerning the Hebrews were to be found in Egypt and its ancient monuments, as well as in the land beyond the Red Sea, the Jordan, the Tigris and the Caucasus.

Three of the five trustees of the trust foundation, which already has been provided with large resources, is to facilitate and advance research into the origin of the Hebrew religion and to promote more general study of that subject and its application to human needs. The means which are being adopted for carrying out the general purposes of the trust include the collection of source books, translated manuscripts and other material bearing upon the origin and development of religious thought based upon the Bible.

"One of the objects of this foundation is to have important source books in foreign languages, bearing on the subject of the Holy Scriptures, translated into English, and also to assist in the translation into English of whatever is available of the writings of the early Christian Fathers.

WEAR-EVER

Replace Utensils that wear with utensils that "Wear-Ever"

As all good housewives know, to preserve flavor and ensure tenderness, it is necessary to fry meat slowly. A "Wear-Ever" fry pan is better than any—in fact, is ideal—for this purpose. Once the pan is heated through, the heat can be reduced, and the minimum will serve to fry slowly but thoroughly. A "Wear-Ever" fry pan will last your lifetime. Ask for the genuine "Wear-Ever."

NOT SO MANY GOING TO LAW IN LONDON

London, Jan. 22.—(A. P. By Mail.)—Lawyers in London recently have come to the conclusion that nowadays people are showing a tendency to steer clear of the law, rather than appeal to it, and arrange their differences out of court rather than invoke the costly help of the legal fraternity.

The Hilary sessions of the law courts which opened recently, show a total of 2,201 cases, or 861 fewer than last year. Kings Bench shows the biggest decline, from 1,210 cases to 765, and in this division there is a total absence of the arrears which handicapped judges in their work last year.

There are no defamations of character cases to be tried this year, only four libel suits, and no breach of promise actions.

The chancery division maintains the number of its cases at 440, but there is a decline of 220 in divorce courts, indicating a return to normal conditions from the increased activities immediately following the war. Two years ago the divorce cases totalled

Don't Spoil Your Hair by Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water, then mistle the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

75-Year-Old Charged With Assault on His Spouse, 68 Years.

New York, Feb. 13.—They were a very old couple and they made a living selling boxes at the Bush Terminal, Brooklyn, receiving two cents commission for each. Sometimes together, they earned $1.50 a day. They were in the Fifth Avenue Court, Brooklyn, together.

She was Mrs. May West, aged sixty-eight, of 145 Fifty-seventh street, Brooklyn, complainant. He was Charles West, aged seventy-five, her husband, charged by his wife with abusing, kicking and pushing her. He leaned on a cane and seemed very feeble.

Magistrate Reynolds looked at the culprit. Mrs. West had asked that a warrant be issued for his arrest for disorderly conduct. The Magistrate had declined, but had sent Warrant Of-

CHARGES POLICE STEAL CHICAGO AUTOMOBILES

Alderman Declares Detective Bureau is Headquarters of Car Thieves' Trust.

Chicago, Feb. 13.—Charges of corruption in the Chicago police department, unrivaled since the days in 1816, when former State's Attorney Malachuk Hoyle referred to the detective bureau as "a den of thieves," were made by Alderman John H. Lyle at a city council meeting in demanding that the police committee re-open its investigation of police brutality to prisoners.

Lyle's charges include the following: "That the headquarters of the Chicago automobile thieves' trust is at 179 North La Salle street, the address of the Detective Bureau.

"That the automobile section 'is organized for the purpose of stealing automobiles."

"That the complaint books of the years 1921 and 1922 have been falsified to show the recovery of 138 per cent. of the cars stolen in Chicago, a statement which Lyle charges is 'false on its face.'

"The hundreds of automobiles stolen on the section's records as credit were taken by policemen from parking places and returned to their owners by policemen who received rewards of from $25 to $50 for their 'recovery.'

The bride was attended by Miss Clara McDevitt while Harold Scott, brother of the bride, supported the groom. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was partaken of at the home of the bride's parents. Many useful gifts were received. Mr. and Mrs. Martin will make their home in the city.

James Manchester, one of the oldest and most respected business men and bankers of the city passed away this morning at Ridgmount, his residence in the Manawagonish road, aged eighty-seven years. In 1861 he left together with James F. Robertson and Joseph Allison formed the firm of Manchester, Robertson and Allison, which has become one of the outstanding mercantile houses in the Maritime Provinces. Besides being president of that firm, Mr. Manchester was also president of the Dalhousie Lumber Co., vice-president of the Eastern Trust Co., a director of the Bank of Nova Scotia, of the Cornwall and York Cotton Mills, the St. John Street Railway Co., the Bay of Fundy Steamship Company and the New Brunswick Horticultural Association, and was also at one time vice-president of the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He was one of the most successful merchants and bankers in the history of the city and was also a great promoter of scientific agriculture. His large farm in the Manawagonish road always held a great deal of interest for agricultural people on a visit to the city. The funeral will be from Stone Church at 2:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon.

MAGISTRATE ON PROHIBITION

The presence of three men for drunkenness in the police court this morning was the occasion of some sharp remarks on the part of Magistrate Ritchie in regard to prohibition. The magistrate said in part: "It is hard to get people to understand that there is a prohibitory law. Now, after several years, we are trying to get the lid on. But there is something wrong with the lid. Either there is snow around the hinges or somebody is getting greased in the palm of the hand. That's plain talk just as plain as I can make it. I don't care who I please, but I do my duty and carry out my oath. Still the chief inspector comes to town, stops at the hotel and reports everything as satisfactory. But it is not satisfactory to me as a lawyer or a judge."

Speed Kings Say They'll Break Records Tomorrow On Rink at Lily Lake

Keyed to Highest Pitch, the Competition Will Be Very Keen

Much Interest in the Women Skaters and the Special Feature—Forget Style and Dress Warmly—Programmes Necessary to Follow the Races Intelligently.

The climax of weeks of hard work is at hand. Tomorrow the international speed skating championships will be begun on Lily Lake. It will be not only a day for St. John. And it will be a half holiday.

Owing to a very large field of entries the task of arranging the heats and classifying the skaters for tomorrow's opening has been a heavy one. In the 40 yards race there will be thirteen heats, preliminaries and final. There will be equally strong competitors in the three-quarter mile, the other main event of the international meet will take place at two o'clock. A nice ceremony has been arranged for the introduction of Miss Canada and accompanying queens to the throng to the lake.

The skaters on arrival yesterday showed by their talk that they were out for the highest honors and that some international records were quite likely to go by the board. All the skaters were out yesterday afternoon and those St. John people who saw them at the rink said they were among some truly wonderful bursts of speed.

There is an expectation that William Stronach, Roy McWhirter and others who have not shown all they can do yet will have to be reckoned with. Stronach is the winner of the Diamond trophy at Lake Placid last year.

Dress Warmly. Upon which too much stress cannot be laid is the matter of dressing for the races. This is February and the weather is cold. Almost any position at the lake is an exposed one and the races cannot be enjoyed if the skater is cold. Warm clothes and plenty of them. Never mind style. Take a rug along. Paper in rug or overboots is good. Bats in a cushion or two cut you a hint—those seats on the grandstand are not like those in a theatre. You take a cushion or two cut you will be amply repaid if you do. You are not going to a lawn fete; its not that kind of party so remember why you're going.

The first essential for entrance is one of fifty-cent tags. The holders of such seats for the grand stand at fifty cents must also have the fifty-cent admission tag. Bats in mind.

Some Visitors

Among the arrivals yesterday was William Fischer, in charge of the sporting activities of the Endicott Johnson Company, a former big leaguer. Also present was Richard Distel of New York, expert writer on skating races, who has been covering the circuits for New York papers and who will send out from Lily Lake separate and distinct stories to eight New York papers. This will be a busy day for the racing fans and good advertising for St. John. Joseph C. P. R. agent, who is one of the best of sport boosters for St. John that has ever lent the influence of his pen for the good of the city came from Lake Placid in charge of the skating party. He is the representative of the C. P. R. until their arrival in St. John.

Skaters Welcomed

The speed kings were but a short time in renewing the happy relations established on the occasion of their visit here last winter and all were accorded a very welcome. At the last actual game, the hockey match, in the hotels, wherever they were encountered the glad hand of fellowship and friendship was extended to them. All were glad to be back in view of the reception they received last winter.

The Women Skaters

Particular interest attaches to the large number of women skaters entered for the meet. Among them are such well known followers of the speed skating game as Gladys Robinson, Elsie Muller, Rose Johnson and Edna Webster. People will be delighted with Hilda Ruckert in fancy skating. She is one of the best on the continent. Huge enjoyment also will be occasioned by the comedy work of Bill Small as well as the barrel jumping by Karl Millie. These will be great drawing cards in addition to the feature of speed events.

Programmes Essential

In order thoroughly to enjoy and follow the races it will be necessary for everyone to have a programme which will be sold at a small sum. There will be no vocal announcement, as the committee decided that it would be more satisfactory to have a large board on skids on which will be shown the numbers of the events, the numbers of the skaters, the first, second and third winners with the time of the race. These numbers will correspond with the numbers on the programmes. They will be displayed on the board operated in full view of everybody.

Get a Tag

The big drive for the sale of tags was started yesterday by an efficient body of workers from the Local Council of Women and will be continued through the remaining days until the programme is concluded. The city will be canvassed and on all three days of the meet workers will be stationed at all the approaches and on all the pathways to the park. If the city responds in the same spirit in which it responded yesterday afternoon when the Queen of St. John, Miss Canada, returned to her home town, there will be little trouble in making enough sale to cover the heavy expenses

BACK FROM ONTARIO STRONG FOR HYDRO

Chairman McAvity Much Impressed by What He Learned in Toronto and Ottawa.

Major Ronald McAvity, chairman of the Power Commission of the City of St. John, has just returned from Toronto, where he has been successful in securing a field officer's certificate at the Royal Canadian School of Machine Gunnery.

While in Ontario Mr. McAvity spent some time in looking over the hydro situation there, especially the distribution of current by the municipalities, and stated to the Times-Star that the proposition in St. John, so far as he could see, was equally attractive to the citizens as to the citizens of Ontario. He particularly noticed that the city governments and the municipal hydro commissions worked in perfect harmony, and that the main idea with all seemed to be the successful operation of the idea of power at cost to the consumers. Mr. McAvity stated that although Ontario, so far as the municipalities were concerned, had no advantage over St. John, they did possess a unit of spirit with regard to hydro, and all were striving to the same end.

After meeting many prominent hydro engineers, and discussing various points of the hydro policy with them, Mr. McAvity says he is of the firm opinion that the situation in St. John can be handled with efficiency and success by local men, and that it will not be necessary to bring down any high-salaried officials. It would be best plan, however, he added, to send the commission's engineer, Barry Wilson, and the secretary, Roy Wilton, to Ontario in order to confer with the hydro experts there.

Mr. McAvity expressed pleasure with the headway made by the St. John Commission during his absence, and was glad to see that the hydro situation had been lower than the estimated cost, which went to show that the commission was working along the right lines.

While in Ontario Mr. McAvity visited the Toronto municipal system, headquarters of the Hydro Electric Commission of Ontario, and the municipal system of Ottawa. He met Mayor Plaunt of Toronto and secured much valuable information.

Suspected of Theft in Crowd

Charles Howard in Court on Complaint of Mrs. Gladys White—Incident at Miss Canada's Welcome.

Charles Howard appeared before Magistrate William Ross of the C. N. R. today of arresting the accused and searching him. He found a $2 bill and fifty-two cents in change in one pocket and eighty cents in another. The prisoner said that he had bought a package of cigarettes up town, thus accounting for the silver, having changed a $2 bill.

Policeman William Normand Baron gave corroborative evidence. The case was postponed until tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock.

TORONTO WILL APPEAL

Toronto, Feb. 13.—The city has decided to appeal the award in the majority report of Hume Croym and Sir Thomas White, members of the arbitration commission, from which decision Sir Adam Beck, the third member dissented.

and in making the meet the success which the personnel of the band of skaters participating deserves.

Let's Beat Last Year

The record crowds of last year should be surpassed for there is every indication that the skating will be the fastest seen in years, here or at any other part of the circuit. There is every possibility that the skaters' prediction, the breaking of several records, should become a fact and the rivalry of the various contestants, anxious to shine in this meet with its title of International amateur skate work of many years.

The prospects certainly justify turnout that will take the huge capacity of the grandstand and natural amphitheatre at Lily Lake to its utmost and it is hoped that those attending will remember, by buying tags, that this event is not by any means a cheap one and we need the best support of all the people. The people of St. John are again asked by the central committee to support a sporting event in which their own champions will play no mean part and hope the people of St. John will respond in their usual, generous and whole-hearted way.

Lap Prize

P. M. Levine has presented to the Carnival executive a pair of men's breeches to be given as a lap prize at the races.

ST. JOHN GIVES WARM GREETING TO MISS HALIFAX

It has certainly been a night," she said. "There was not one night I was able to get to bed before two or three a.m., and I only had one few morning when I went to the mountain. I have had all kinds of invitations I could accept. It has been a wonderful experience."

Miss Halifax was in her usual coat, ready to go to the train. She did not look in the least fatigued after her strenuous week, but apparently was quite prepared for another round of activity. "Tomorrow night, of course, I will be at the big ball in St. John," she said. "Last night I went to the Allen and saw the pictures taken before I left Halifax, and also went to the mountain with Miss Montreal and Miss Regina, where moving pictures were taken."

Miss Halifax divulged an interesting fact concerning herself before saying good-bye. Her husband happened to be mentioned, when she said: "You know I eloped when I was eighteen; that was five years ago." "No, he was twelve years older," Miss Halifax said she did not know just how long she would be in St. John, only a few days probably. She would then return to Montreal for several days, following which she planned to go to Quebec.

The enrollment in the kindergartens was very satisfactory. In two there was an average attendance of fifty-two and in the others the average attendance was forty-five. It was suggested that for one kindergarten it might be advisable to try to enroll more children from the immediate neighborhood. Visitors for the coming month were appointed for the various kindergartens as follows: St. James—Miss Bradley; St. Mary's, Miss May Harrison; Melod Peters, Mrs. Campbell Mackay; Wellington row, Mrs. E. L. Corbit; North End, Mrs. E. L. Corbit; Mrs. D. C. Dearden gave a gratifying report of the work at the North End kindergarten.

SOME INSIDE GOSSIP ABOUT MOVE IN RUHR

London Comment on French Invasion and Some Possibilities

The Forthcoming Royal Wedding—Farewell to the Famous Dreadnought—What They are Talking About in the Empire Capital.

(From our own correspondent) London, Jan. 28.—At the outset of the new French move into the Ruhr I mentioned the sinister suggestions current in reputable and well-informed quarters in London. What these amounted to was that France had deliberately made impossible demands on Germany with the simple object of setting a pretext to dismember her, and this banish for some generations, what ever the ultimate historical sequel, the haunting shadow of Teutonic revenge from French frontiers. At the same time I mentioned the remarkable suggestion that Herr Stinnes, the German super-capitalist, whose vast interests are mainly in the Ruhr neighbourhood, might be a tact party to the French stroke, one possibility of which is a close economic entente between the Ruhr coalfields and the Lorraine metal fields. These things are well worth bearing in mind today, when one of the ablest journalists in London, closely in touch with Lloyd George and writing in a journal controlled by the ex-premier, puts forward some grave deductions about the trend of policy in Paris.

A Rhine Protectorate? We all remember the famous mission of M. Franklin-Bouillon as confidential agent of the French Premier in Angora, and the results of his work. A similar confidential mission to the Ruhr has been undertaken for M. Poincare by another suitable representative, M. Darlac. That gentleman has emphasized in his report, openly and without making any bones of it, the advantages of a great economic combine between the Ruhr and the Lorraine, and also the benefits that would follow the creation of an independent Rhineland Republic, under French and Belgian military protection. The blunt suggestion made by this able London publicist in Lloyd George's own newspaper is that, deliberately or not, with conscious vision or inevitable drift, this is the policy of France today. In view of all the circumstances, as well as the tremendous gravity of the issues, it is impossible to ignore the sensational disclosure. A proper understanding of it is essential to intelligent appreciation of current events.

arrangement which cut him adrift from Germany's financial abyss, with the mark rapidly enulating its Austrian and Polish counterpart, and linked up the Ruhr industries under favorable terms of working agreement with the Lorraine. These two areas present profitable counterparts, the one dependent on the other, which might launch forth successfully on a basis of franc. It is also obvious how the detachment of the Rhineland from Germany would solve France's most nagging problem of Germany's overwhelming population.

It would also coincide precisely with Russia's stupor strategic plan of a military frontier on the Rhine. The question now being asked is, in what course, in view of the publicity given to this reconstruction of the European map, how far Lloyd George may have received unofficial hints of such a coup from France before he left Downing street. M. Poincare is thoughtfully cognizant of the Lorraine-cum-Ruhr possibilities, because he was, I understand, for years the legal adviser of the French interests in Lorraine. Altogether it is a very sensational deoument of post-war politics.

The Royal Wedding. The Duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon have been paying a visit to Sandringham. During the week-end the wedding arrangements were discussed in detail, first between the King and Queen and the bride's parents, and afterwards with the young people themselves and their parents. I hear that it was decided to have the wedding at the end of April, probably on the 29th or 30th, and that it will take place in the Abbey. The bride's people rather favored a quiet affair at the Chapel Royal, but the King, mainly in consideration of popular interest and the negligence of the Navy covered up, but since the first enquiries were made the tablet has disappeared altogether, and the Admiralty has now admitted the loss.

Exit Constantinian. The forty-five thousand spectators who thronged the Chelsea Ground, to see the third match between the Corinthians and Brighton in the first round of the English Cup, included a surprising proportion of amateur supporters. The sympathies of the crowd were distinctly inclined towards the Corinthians.

Prince of Wales' Dinner Jacket. The fact that the Prince of Wales rather favors the dinner jacket as against full evening dress, whenever the occasion reasonably permits, has been commented on, but without causing any wild turmoil in London. In New York, however, the matter is taken very seriously, and the president of the National Association of American Merchants, Talbot Wilson W. Stewart, has made a poignant protest on the subject. This authority is dead set on strict etiquette, and lays down the sartorial law like a modern Moses. A dinner jacket is "unthinkable," according to Mr. Stewart, if ladies are present in evening dress. He expresses himself so strongly that obviously he regards the presence of a dinner jacket where the ladies are decolete costumed as a positive indecency, and he refuses to believe that the "Prince of Wales" would do it. But this hard and fast rule would bar the dinner jacket at the theatre, or even at a big boxing match, where at such times as nowadays to be ladies in evening dress, and the Prince certainly does not carry convention to that degree.

Oblivious of the storm in America, H. H. appears in a comfortable, dignified manner on all occasions which are not definitely "full dress" occasions. And most of the smartest men about are following his example clately enough.

The Dreadnought Passes. After being built sixteen years ago at a cost of a million and three-quarters, the famous battleship Dreadnought has been sold for about 40,000 to the shipbreakers, and is now being broken up. She was a hospital ship more than any other battleship of her standing could boast. It was when she was flagship of the "wobbly eight," that strange collection of obsolescent battleships at Sheerness, and was flying the flag of Sir Doveton Starbuck, the victor of the Falkland Islands, that the Dreadnought was leading the line up Channel one winter's day. A submarine hunting for unarmed merchantmen blundered into the squadron of ancient battleships and, in a thick weather, and before it could dive, the ponderous mass of the Dreadnought swung round and cut the little U-boat in half. After a due interval a destroyer was dispatched to look for survivors, but there was none.

Cowley and V. C. Last Sunday that "grand old man" of the court, Sir Dighton Probyn, entered his ninety-first year. Few men are so beloved by the Ruhr as he is at this age, and fewer still of those who attain his age can look back on a career so distinguished. He entered the Bengal Army seventy-four years ago, won his V. C. in the Indian Mutiny, and between 1860 and 1872 there were hardly any of our Asiatic campaigns in which he did not participate. For more than fifty years he has been a courier, becoming enquire to the late King Edward (then Prince of Wales), and the other appointments he has held about the court are too numerous to mention. Since the death of King Edward he has devoted himself to the service of Queen Alexandra, being controller of her household. Sir Dighton shares the title of the Hon. Charlotte Knollys the complete confidence of Her Majesty, and is her inseparable companion. The weight of years has bent his stalwart figure of late; but it is safe to say that, so long as his royal mistress needs him he will be at her service—and Queen Alexandra's affectionate nature never has been equal to dispensing with tried friends.

The sentence on the two Cortezes, who at the Old Bailey got three years apiece for shooting at the Sabini brothers of race-gang fame, will rob the all-night clubs of two of their most familiar and characteristic figures. The all-night or breakfast clubs are still the night rendezvous of London's worst elements. Last year a police drive put several out of business; but others run by the same notorious proprietors—several of whom are women—have sprung up in the shady west-central districts. One I was taken to the other night was a fantastically decorated cellar, in which were installed a jazz band and a bar. The bar closed at midnight, but in an upstairs room bar whiskey could be bought all night at two shillings a small glass. About a hundred people—grogs and yellow men among them—were jaxing on the dance floor. Admission was by ticket, and tickets could be purchased for 15 shillings each in a small dingy room across the road. Such club members as the well-known toughs and race course thugs merely rode to the stalwart door attendants and end walk in. This particular all-night jazz hunt opens at 11 p. m. and closes at 6.30 p. m., breakfast being served in a room above the cellar ball-room from 3 a. m. onwards.

Naval Carelessness. A curious story lies behind the Admiralty announcement that the memorial tablet to Jack Cornwall V. C., from the light cruiser "Crested" is missing. "It is small enough" says this official statement, "to have been stolen easily by some unauthorized visitor to the ship before it was handed over to the ship breakers." The implication in this sentence is wholly false. The tablet was left in the ship when the naval authorities handed her over to the ship breakers, and nothing more would have been heard of it had it not been seen by a well-known public man naging in the ship breakers' office. He immediately asked the Admiralty about it and received the usual evasive reply. The Admiralty played for a time in the hope that the tablet could be recovered and the negligence of the Navy covered up, but since the first enquiries were made the tablet has disappeared altogether, and the Admiralty has now admitted the loss.

Inspector John Cartan, of the Chicago police force, arrived here yesterday at noon and left on the 4.30 train for Chicago with Solomon Weinger, an Austrian Jew, who has increased in western city for theft. It will be remembered that Weinger was arrested on Saturday just as he was preparing to sail on the Melita for Europe with his wife and child. They stayed over, however, and accompanied the inspector only score in the match—when Duggett, the amateur's surest goal-keeper, was favourably placed just outside the penalty area, down he went to a palpable trip. But though they were so bad sportsmanship if you will—the Corinthians never impressed one as a brilliant winning team comparable with the amateur side that smashed Bury, the Cup-holders of that day, by ten goals to three in 1904. Had they survived their third trial with Brighton, they must have been knocked out pretty certainly, by one or other of the strong professional sides, long before this final. But if the amateurs keep up their present strenuous programme for a few seasons, and attract rising stars from the great soccer schools, they may be able to match the best professional sides in the country again.

BLIGHT ON TEA PLANTATIONS. In India, and to quite an extent in Ceylon, the two largest tea producing countries in the world, the tea crop for the current year has been disappointingly small, largely owing to the labor troubles fomented by the "non-co-operation" doctrine of Gandhi, but also to a considerable extent due to climatic adversities. Drought at times, excessive rains at others, coupled with bad blights in some districts have very seriously affected the output of good tea this year. Prices for all grades are very high now, but all indications seem to point to still further advances very soon.

private families has increased by 9.3 per cent. in that period, the growth in the number of occupied dwellings has been only 16.1 per cent.

The Board of Governors of the St. John Health Centre has elected Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell as a member of the board.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

LONDON GAINS 500,000. Population Increases to 7,480,201 in a Decade. The London correspondent of The Nation's Health says that it is shown in the Register General's Blue Book issued a short time ago embodying the results of last year's census that in Greater London area there are more than 500,000 more inhabitants than there were ten years ago, the present figure being 7,480,201. The most remarkable feature is the preponderance of women, the numerical excess over males now being 341,365, an increase of 72,362 over 1911. Of course, this is partly due to war losses among the male population.

In incidence in sex proportions, however, lies mainly in their incidence on the marriageable population. The ratio of unmarried females per one thousand unmarried males has increased from 1,188 to 1,287 in the age group twenty-nine, and from 1,418 to 1,866 in the age group thirty to thirty-nine.

In regard to housing, the average number of families per occupied dwelling has decreased from 1.51 in 1911 to 1.50 in 1921. Whereas the number of

GIANTS' RECORD OF FORTY YEARS

Highest Percentage of Any Team in National League—Story of an Old Time Crowd.

New York, 13—Not only are the present New York Giants two times world champions, but they are also the life-time champions of the National League. Despite years of second division ball during the Friedman regime, the Giants have the highest percentage of any team in the National League. Over a period of forty seasons, the Giants won 2,682 games and lost 2,089, while they held a winning margin over every team in their league.

It was forty years ago when the New York Nationals played their first championship game on Manhattan soil. This was on May 1, 1883, the strong Bostonians being New York's opponents. It was fitting that the Giants should start off with a victory, as they won the game from the "Red Stockings" by a score of 7 to 5.

A crowd estimated at more than 15,000 saw the game, among them being General U. S. Grant, who "pulled" continuously at a long black cigar and applauded generously whenever the occasion demanded. So great was the crowd that some of the players sold their stools to standees for fifty cents. There were no 15,000 a year players in those days.

As a result of the then record-smashing crowd it was necessary to lock the gates and the players were obliged to climb the fence to get into the grounds. Pat Gillespie took the seat out of his trousers on a fence nail, but John Ward obligingly pinned them together.

Many of the foremost players of that early era took part in that first Giant game. William "Buck" Ewing, the famous catcher, led off for New York, followed by Roger Connor, the slugging first baseman. John Montgomery Ward, now practicing law in New York, batted third, "Smiling Mike" Welch, of New York, to his first National League victory. Welch still is a frequent visitor at the Polo Grounds and likes to chat about the old days.

The popular Dasher Troy, Pat Gillespie, Mike Dorgan, Ed Caskins and Frank Hankinson were other Giant players in New York's first National League game.

In the Boston line-up were such celebrated names as Joe Hornung, John Morrill, Ezra Sutton, Sammie Wilson, John Barcock, Mike Hines, Charley Dunnington and Paul Beider.

(Skipping from the Mutrie era of the Giants to the present, we find that it is entirely due to the old days' agreement that the Giants today lead the National League field in the life-time percentage. Before McGraw's era, the Giants had won 842 games and lost 878 for a percentage of .491. Under the management of the team, during the span of twenty and a half seasons, the Giants have won 1,850 games and lost 1,078 for a percentage of .630.

The New York team played its first game under McGraw's management on July 19, 1902. Philadelphia was New York's opponent and won by the score of 5 to 2. McGraw played shortstop for the Giants, having the first base, second base and made one hit and scored a run. McGraw and Bowman were New York's battery, while the Philadelphia pitching and catching duo, Hugh Jennings, at present assistant manager of the Giants, and first baseman captured the Phillies.

Beginning with 1913, the Giants signed strongly on their former teammates—the Chicago Cubs—and won nine out of their last ten years series from the Windy City team. St. Louis and Cincinnati have yielded most often to the strength of the Giants arms. The Giants began picking on the Cardinals early, winning their first nine annual series from them. Beginning in 1890, St. Louis won four in a row, the Giants then won eleven more—all the Cards won the series in 1914.

It was during Mathewson's stay with the Giants that they secured most tributes from Cincinnati. Beginning with 1904, the Giants won the year's series from the Red thirteen seasons in succession. Brooklyn has been fairly successful against the Giants in recent years, but New York won twenty-one series from the Dodgers, lost only eight and tied four.

The greatest number of victories that the Giants have taken from any team in one season is twenty, the Boston team of 1904 being the victim. Three teams have taken as many as sixteen victories from the Giants in one season—the Pittsburgh team of 1901, the Boston team of 1902 and the Chicago team of 1907.

The composite record of the Giants in series follows:

| Clubs | Years | Won | Lost | Tied |
|--------------|-------|-----|------|------|
| St. Louis | 33 | 25 | 8 | 2 |
| Cincinnati | 33 | 22 | 8 | 3 |

New York, Feb. 12—With the opening of the Yankee's gigantic new stadium in April and the enlarging of the Polo Grounds in New York and the Cubs' field in Chicago, the combined seating capacity of all major league baseball parks will be increased to approximately 461,000 for the coming season. This is an increase of various stadium last year. TABERSKI WILL PLAY GREENLEAF

But Former Pro Pocket Billiard Champion Asks Time to Get in Condition.

New York, Feb. 12—Frank Taberski is willing to play Ralph Greenleaf for the world's professional pocket billiard championship. Although he had previously indicated that he would welcome the opportunity to meet the present titleholder it was not until he had had several conferences with officials of the Brunswick-Balke-Comstock match that he finally stated he is prepared to seek to regain the crown.

It is assumed that the match for which billiard enthusiasts everywhere have clamored ever since the beginning of the 1919 season, and his place on the billiard scene is being played. Just when it is most probable that the match will be played, it is most probable that it will be played in this city.

Simultaneously with Taberski's announcement, officials of the Brunswick-Balke-Comstock match declared that a new $1,000 diamond medal would be donated, to be emblematic of the world's supremacy in this style of play, and that this trophy could not be challenged for by other than the two men. It was stipulated that the winner of the match would be subject to challenge by the loser, and the loser of the first match does not care to challenge, the medal will become the personal property of the winner and will be withdrawn from further competition.

Taberski's visit to New York from his home in Schenectady was the result of the offer of a $2,000 guarantee for such a match made by Charles Kline, owner of the Straub Billiard Academy. The man who was undertaking while world's champion to discuss terms and conditions for the proposed clash. He seemed satisfied that there is a serious demand for such a meeting, but is not sure just how long it would take him to get into shape.

Taberski has played very little pocket billiards this season, and he has been exclusively to talking, so that I am not prepared to state definitely how long it will take me to perfect my pocket billiard game. Whether I could attain my best form so as to be able to play an answer to the challenge of March or April I cannot say. However, now that I am convinced that Greenleaf is willing to play, and that the match can be staged under the proper conditions, I am willing to begin getting in shape.

"Personally, I think it would be better to defer holding the match until next October. That would give me time to prepare for the test. I do not want to step to the table unless I am in the best of health. It would not be fair to the public which supports the game. It is my intention to play two matches with Greenleaf by the first week in April."

Taberski will insist upon a long fight of not less than 1,500 balls in a match. "A shorter match of the nature of a test of the referee's ability is not what I want. I would like to play many points in a week, playing matinee and evening blocks of 100 balls each."

It is believed that Greenleaf will agree with this view. Ralph, who is a member of the tournament in Chicago in 1916. Subsequently they played a challenge match in this city, in which Taberski was the victor. But at that time Greenleaf was only sixteen years of age. In 1918 they met for the first time in a match, and again Greenleaf was defeated. Since that time, however, the present champion has frequently expressed his willingness to meet Taberski in a match for the world's championship under any equitable and reasonable conditions.

Thus far Kline's offer is the only one that has been made publicly. It is understood, however, that several other men in this city would like to promote the match. It is believed that John T. Doyle is one of these—in fact, it is reported that Doyle already has a suitable place in view outside his own billiard academy.

Hope to Return This Week. Willie Hoppe, world's professional 152 ballline billiard champion, will return to New York this week from his exhibition tour in the Middle West and up the State. He is touring with Charley Peterson, and has concluded an engagement in St. Louis, Monday before the members of his club in afternoon and evening sessions. He prefers to put the finishing touches to his work in the presence of a gallery. Twice last week he ran out 300-point exhibitions from the spot, an indication that Kline's claim that he is in
