

WRANGEL IS SMASHED BY THE SOVIETS

Anti-Red Leader's Troops Flee in Utter Confusion from Herd of Bolsheviks

FAMOUS GENERALS COMMIT SUICIDE

Whole of the Crimea Will Probably Have to be Evacuated by Gen. Wrangel.

Wars, Nov. 14.—General Wrangel has gone aboard one of the French warships in Sebastopol but the vessel is still remaining in port. The evacuation is continuing but there is inadequate shipping for the number of persons seeking to flee.

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—The resistance of General Wrangel's army in the Crimea has been broken and his troops are fleeing in utter confusion, after fighting heroically on the lines about Perekop. Headquarters here of General Wrangel confirm reports that his "White" army cannot hold the Crimea.

The Allied authorities here are requisitioning all available buildings along the Bosphorus and the shelters and barracks on Princes Islands in the Sea of Marmora to house refugees expected to arrive from the Crimea.

Saving the Remnants

Premier Krivoschin, of General Wrangel's government, arrived here yesterday to arrange for the transport of women, children and wounded from the Crimea. He said the possibility of a general evacuation of the Crimea could not be accounted and that everything was being done to save the remnants of General Wrangel's army.

Evacuation will be extremely difficult, Premier Krivoschin declared, "but we have opened four parlors to establish conditions regarding evacuation." The "White" army is extremely gravely, M. Krivoschin said.

Losses Are Enormous

General Wrangel's troops are inferior in number to the Bolsheviks, and his losses have been enormous. Premier Krivoschin stated that General Wrangel's troops are exhausted, having repulsed twenty-two attacks in the past few days. The Bolsheviks' artillery has been terribly destructive, he said.

The Bolsheviks, according to Premier Krivoschin, take no heed of losses three or four columns attacking en masse often being annihilated, but fresh troops constantly are brought up. Nearly all General Wrangel's division and regimental commanders have been killed or wounded, the premier said.

FARMERS RULE IF KING PULLS MEIGHEN DOWN

Two Parties United in Plan to Smash the Meighen Gov't Says Hon. Mr. Ballantyne.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—Speaking on Saturday night here at the monthly meeting of the Liberal-Conservative, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries, outlined the policy of the United Farmer party under the leadership of the Hon. T. A. Crerar and also those of the Liberal party under the leadership of the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, showing that both were united in the declared purpose of overthrowing the present government.

He pointed out that if that were done, the result could not fail to be the placing of the government in the hands of the Farmer Party with the backing of a Liberal minority, since the party of Mr. King had no hope of succeeding alone. This again must necessarily, he said, result in a policy of practical free trade and an important increase in the amount of preference.

Moderate Protection Only

Mr. Ballantyne then proceeded to associate the policy of the National Liberal and Conservative Party which he said was that of moderate protection. "Our policy is to give just sufficient protection to keep all the industries that are in this country here, and to induce foreign capital to come to this country and establish their manufacturing plants here to keep our Canadian people employed in our own factories and workshops and thereby help to develop our country to the best advantage."

Making special allusion to the Province of Quebec, Mr. Ballantyne said that in view of the fact that the remnants of the Liberal Party cannot reach power without an alignment with the free trade group and that the people of Quebec are a practical people with no sympathy for any free trade or radical views, he fully believed that "we will carry twenty five cents or more in the province of Quebec."

WIRELESS SAYS WILDAR WRECKED BUT CREW ALIVE

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 14.

The Becker line steamer Francis J. Wildar is believed wrecked on Pancake Shoals, ten miles northeast of Whitefish Bay, and Captain Arthur Forbes, of Ashabula, Ohio, in command of the vessel, has been taken aboard the steamer Livingstone, according to a wireless from Captain Forbes to the Canadian Soo wireless station late tonight. Captain Forbes asked that an attempt be made to take off the remainder of his crew from the Wildar.

The Wildar is a complete wreck, according to Captain Forbes' message.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 14.—The Becker line steamer Francis J. Wildar, of 7,800 tons, more than 70 hours overdue at this port and carrying a crew of thirty-three, was unreported tonight. Opinion in marine circles here is divided as to whether the big steel freighter has gone to the bottom or is lying perhaps disabled in some sheltered nook along the rocky Canadian shore.

Where is Missing Ship?

The unidentified steamer, according to Captain Meier, passed his vessel, as he was taking shelter near the treacherous shoals. His ship lay in shelter for hours, afterwards, but he saw no further signs of the other vessel, Captain Meier added. He believed it would have been impossible for a helpless steamer to weather the storm. His own vessel, he said, was turned about completely several times and once was believed to be at the mercy of the gale, which, he said, was one of the most furious he had ever experienced on Lake Superior. The Wildar left Duluth on Thursday with a cargo of ore.

Tugs Are Searching.

The tug Iowa of the Great Lakes Towing and Wrecking Company, left here this afternoon for Pancake Shoals. A boat with Becker line markings and believed to have been the Wildar, was sighted yesterday, blown far off the course toward Pancake Shoals, about ten miles northeast of Whitefish Bay. Word was received here today that a large fleet of vessels has been lying in shelter at Botongis, in the lee of Keweenaw Point, but these reports did not include the Wildar, among the fleet. Sovieton vessels have looked down since Saturday midnight, but none of them have sighted the missing craft. The majority of them passed Pancake Shoals in darkness, but over.

Sighted Some Wreckage.

The steamer F. B. Squire received a wireless message late last night from the steamer Stadscom, that looked up Saturday, asking if she had sighted wreckage on Pancake Shoals. Shipper men here believe the Stadscom sighted what appeared to be wreckage but was not certain.

No Resort from the Ice.

No resort from the ice has been obtained before now, however, it was said here tonight.

SIX TOTS DIE IN RUSH WHEN "FIRE" CRIED

Twelve Other Children Seriously Injured in Terrible Panic in New York Movie.

SMOKE FROM PAPER CHUTE STARTED FEAR

Banana Seller Saved Fifteen Children Before He Collapsed from Dense Smoke.

New York, Nov. 14.—A paper-cupped furnace fire, which caused smoke to fill the Catharine Theatre, a motion picture house in the East Side Italian quarter, raised a cry of "fire" late today, and in the ensuing panic, six little tots between the ages of 2 and 10 years were trampled to death. Twelve others were seriously injured. The little theatre was crowded to capacity. The crowd filled the 300 seats, for the hero was an Italian lad in humble surroundings, who rose to fame. The youngsters were absorbed in the progress of the scenario, Pietro who was protecting his father from the fire when smoke began to sweep through the cracks of the theatre floor. "My God, it's a fire."

Woman Started Panic

This about came from an elderly woman, who gathered a little one under her arm and ran for the nearest exit. Immediately loud wails arose, children began to cry. They jumped from their seats, jammed the aisles and fought for passage. The lights flickered out. Youthful cries attracted many residents of the Italian neighborhood.

Banana Vendor Here

Camillo Brullo, who sells bananas from a push cart on the Bowery, rushed to the scene. He darted into the theatre, attempted to shout down the cries. Failing, he saved those he could. Camillo carried more than fifteen little tots to safety, then collapsed, overcome by smoke. Some one sounded a fire-alarm. Many, then, were carried from the theatre, overcome by smoke. They were soon revived. Fromen carried the dead to nearby drug stores.

The injured were sent to hospitals. Fromen women and men, learning of the disaster, crowded into the little theatre at this time guarded by a cordon of police, and sought news of their children, who had attended the show.

Somebody Arrested

A police station nearby also was crowded with those seeking information of loved ones. The bodies of the victims soon were identified, but the excitement attending panic kept children from returning to their homes, and many women fought for admittance to the theatre, believing their missing children might still be there.

Welfare and Schwartz, with A. Toland, in charge, made a tour of the theatre, where they were arrested on a charge of "misdemeanor, resulting in manslaughter by admitting children to a theatre unaccompanied by parents or guardians."

ST. PIERRE TO MAKE DEFENCE AT TRIAL ONLY

CROWN'S CASE IS ALL CIRCUMSTANTIAL

Trial is Expected to Take Place at Edmundston Early Next March.

Special to The Standard

Edmundston, N. B., Nov. 14.—With the excitement which attended the hearing of William St. Pierre having subsided, the prisoner having been sent for trial at the circuit court, commencing here in March, those connected with the case are beginning to give their views as to the final outcome.

It is the opinion of many here that the chain of circumstances already presented, which has linked the accused up with the murder of Miss Stevens, is sufficient to convince a jury of his guilt. Detective Robert Crawford, however, says there is more evidence in his possession which has not yet been revealed. When it is made known before a jury it will move any doubt that may be in the public mind as to the guilt of St. Pierre.

Case For the Defence

The attorneys for the accused are confident of an acquittal verdict when the trial comes. They are prepared to show every move of their client from 8:30 p.m. on the night of October 11th, when Miss Stevens was alive and well up to the time of finding her dead body. "We did not show our hand at the preliminary hearing," said one of them, "because we prefer to have our case go before a jury. Our client's interests are better served by that method."

Much of the evidence put in against St. Pierre was built up for the occasion and this will be proven on trial day. There can be no fault found with the finding of the magistrate presiding. He acted fairly and, in view of the evidence given, has no rebuttal on our part, his decision could not be otherwise. When the defence is heard there can be only one verdict, and that one of not guilty."

Russians Claim Capture of 40,000 of Wrangel's Force by Poison Gas Use.

ADMIT THEY LOST 30,000 IN BATTLES

British Fleet Declares Blockade of the Russian Black Sea Coast.

Constantinople, Nov. 13.—The fighting at Perekop was of the most desperate character. The Bolsheviks, according to latest advice, admit they had 20,000 men killed. They claim to have taken 40,000 prisoners. They owe their success largely to the use of poison gas.

It is stated that at the request of the French representative attached to Wrangel's headquarters, the Bolsheviks have granted eight days for evacuation of Crimea.

Foreigner in Command

Constantinople, Nov. 14.—The Reds broke through the defense of Wrangel on the Isthmus of Perekop, according to the best report obtainable here by concentrating twenty divisions against three divisions of the white army. Wrangel's men, although greatly outnumbered, withstood twenty-two assaults before Perekop, but finally were broken. The commanders of most of Wrangel's units were killed and the losses in men also were very large.

The success of the Bolsheviks is attributed largely to the excellence of his high command, which is said to be directed by a foreigner.

The evacuation of the Crimea, which began Thursday, is continuing under great difficulties. It is a problem how the fugitives can be carried for Constantinople, this city, already is over-populated.

Airships For Use In Hunting Seals Reach Newfoundland

Imperial Gov't's Present to Search Seas for Seals Saving Time of Vessels.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 13.—There have been issued at St. John's, Nfld., two airships procured to Newfoundland by the Imperial Government. It is understood that the government of Newfoundland and the coast of the country will use these airships co-operatively in connection with the seal fishery.

Hitherto sealing captains have had to take big chances in the hunt for seals, having to cover thousands of acres of ice-covered sea before reaching their quarry with a consequent loss of much time and much money.

Now it is proposed to use these airships in locating the seal herd, and the information so obtained will be of the utmost value to the trade of the country. It is estimated that the cost of so operating the airships will be about sixty thousand, and this expense will be borne by the owners of the sealing steamers and the government jointly.

Forget About Express

The C. N. R. is doubted tracked between Moncton and Palsco Junction. When they met the special Gamble and Geddes stepped on the track used by westbound trains, but the boy got off the tracks and down the embankment. Unaware or forgetful of the fact that the Ocean Limited from Halifax was due at that point, Gamble and Geddes stood directly in the path of the incoming train watching the freight pass. An eye-witness of the tragedy saw the danger of the men from a distance of about two hundred yards and endeavored to warn them of their peril. He could not make them hear, so he ran towards them; but before he could reach the scene, their lives were blotted out.

Train Crew's Evidence

Driver William Ganning and Fireman Crossman, on the Ocean Limited did not see the men on the track as there is a sharp curve at that point, and they were passing the freight special, and only knew that they had struck a man when they neared the round house in Moncton and discovered blood on the engine and a man's cap on the pilot.

No One to Blame

After hearing the evidence this afternoon, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to the train crew. The jury recommended that the C. N. R. management take more stringent steps to prevent people from walking on the tracks.

Gamble was 26 years old and Geddes about 20. Gamble had a wife and four children. Geddes was unmarried. They were employed in the C. N. R. shops here, and both had only within the last two months sold good farms in Dandis. Kent county, to come to Moncton to work for the railway.

Is Sebastopol Taken?

London, Nov. 12.—(Reuters) Paris correspondent today says it is reported that the Bolsheviks captured Sebastopol Saturday night.

Army Flee South

Paris, Nov. 12.—General Wrangel's army, thoroughly beaten, is continuing to retreat southward, according to information received by the French Foreign Office today, pursued by a well-commanded Bolshevik army of twenty-seven divisions. General Wrangel has suffered great losses and many of his officers have been killed.

The evacuation of Sebastopol by Wrangel and his army is under way, according to Foreign Office advice, but the members of General Wrangel's government were still in Sebastopol last night, although the Bolsheviks were reported to be occupying Simferopol and capturing many prisoners and large quantities of material.

Cross on Ice

Information reaching the Foreign Office says the Bolsheviks did not storm the Perekop line, but by an enveloping movement of their left wing invaded the Crimea. They crossed over the Isthmus of Perekop and attacked the main body of General Wrangel's troops, which were still holding the Perekop isthmus from the rear. General Wrangel has decided not to attempt guerrilla warfare in the Crimea, the information adds, owing to the overwhelming Bolshevik forces converging on the peninsula, which has variously estimated at between 125,000 and 200,000 men.

Suggests Treaty's Presence

Sébastopol, Nov. 12.—Mistakes in General Wrangel's army brought about his sudden flight, it was learned here today. The French warship Valdebecq, on the southern front, has sent a message to General Wrangel for his immediate surrender, promising amnesty to General Wrangel and his troops.

OPPOSITION LEADER READY TO ESCAPE

Royalists Hopeful That Victory Will Put Thio Back on Throne.

Athens, Nov. 12.—(General) Elections were held throughout Greece today and on the outcome is expected to hinge the question of whether King Constantine shall come back to the throne again or remain in exile in Switzerland.

Ready to Run

General Venizelos' preparations for quick flight in case the elections went against him, having requested passports to Italy on Friday last, failed during the war on the charge of high treason, he was permitted with the approval of M. Venizelos, to return to take part in the campaign, but should he fall of election his parliamentary immunity would expire immediately. In case Premier Venizelos is successful he will be given a free hand in the selection of a new head of the state. Prince Paul, who was offered the throne on the death of the late King Alexander, having not yet formally accepted the government's invitation to return from Switzerland and rule Greece. The results of the election will not be known until Monday night, as there is the army vote in Smyrna and other distant points to be taken into consideration. It is expected that the soldiers will support Venizelos.

The British General, who is a candidate for parliament for the Wrexham constituency is reported to have stated that he would accept General Wrangel's offer if successful in the election.

HEARTLESS SHIP LEFT SCHOONER CREW TO DROWN

BRITISH STEAMER CAME TO RESCUE

Six Newfoundland Sailors Relate Horrible Tale of Inhumanity to Boston Consul.

Boston, Nov. 12.—Six hardy Newfoundlanders came to the office of the British Consul-General Saturday and told the story of the crippling of the British schooner Ella G. Hollett, 500 tons of the Port of St. John's, the refusal of an undentified passing steamer to lend a tow and fuel rescue by the British steamship County of Chelsea, bound from Falmouth, England, to Newport News. The shipwrecked crew was headed at Burnside and thence shipped to Boston.

On September 15 the Hollett sailed from St. John's with a cargo of salt for Burlington, Newfoundland. On October 6, five hundred miles out, she ran into a northwesterly. For three days she weathered the storm, but on the fourth day a heavy sea washed away the cabin, carried off the masts and sails, smashed the life boats and pounded a hole in her hull. The pumps choked and let the water into the hold. Food and water ran low; the signal flares were soaked.

Warned to Quit

On the morning of October 10 the crew signalled a passing steamer with a red flare. "We're going to the bottom and want you to take us off," shouted Captain Hussey. "You don't want any more of our crew," the steamer got under way, and later that morning the County of Chelsea sighted the wreck and took off the crew.

By a singular coincidence, the schooner Nordica, which left St. John's a few hours before the Hollett, and which was later abandoned, salvaged and towed here, had completed repairs and was ready to ship a crew to take her back to Newfoundland. The Hollett's men were promptly taken on and will go back home on the vessel which they had started out to race across the Atlantic.

Special to The Standard.
Montreal, N. B., Nov. 12.—Events in politics here in the past week show a determination on the part of the Government to hold on to H. H. F. Tweeddale's seat in the House of Commons.

Apparently the only opposition that looks absolutely safe to open up in his behalf is Madawaska. This county has been soundly and its leaders have definitely rejected any proposition to make room for the defeated minister. The two members, elected by acclamation in Madawaska are regarded as capable as any in the government ranks for a post and if one or the other cannot be trusted with a place in the cabinet neither of them will resign to make room for a government post, and a Fraser New Victoria.

FIFTY IRISHMEN WARNED TO QUIT SINN FEIN ARMY

Dublin, Nov. 12.—The military today raided about fifty dwelling houses of Irish Volunteers, notified the occupants that the authorities had full particulars of their association with the Republican army and intimated that they would be arrested unless they ceased association with that body.

IRISH SYMPATHIZERS COULD NOT FORCE DOWN BRITISH FLAGS DISPLAY

New York, Nov. 12.—Irish sympathizers in their fight on British flags displayed with those of other Allies in celebration of Armistice Day met with another rebuff, it was learned today.

The Navy Club, at Fifteen East 41st street, which looks after United States affairs and matters, though not officially under the Government, was asked yesterday to haul down the British flag in honor of the anniversary. The demand was made on Captain G. P. Jackson, in charge of the club, and he refused to do so. The club members were told that they were to go to the Union Jack there, Armistice Day, as you do the Stars and Stripes. The flag stayed.

FOSTER PARTY'S NEW PLANS TO SAVE TWEEDDALE

Madawaska Members Refuse to Resign Seats to Make Place for Defeated Minister.

VICTORIA IS NOW BEING APPROACHED

Alleged One Member There Willing to Quit to Give Him a Place.

Special to The Standard.
Montreal, N. B., Nov. 12.—Events in politics here in the past week show a determination on the part of the Government to hold on to H. H. F. Tweeddale's seat in the House of Commons.

Madawaska Members Refuse to Resign Seats to Make Place for Defeated Minister.

Apparently the only opposition that looks absolutely safe to open up in his behalf is Madawaska. This county has been soundly and its leaders have definitely rejected any proposition to make room for the defeated minister. The two members, elected by acclamation in Madawaska are regarded as capable as any in the government ranks for a post and if one or the other cannot be trusted with a place in the cabinet neither of them will resign to make room for a government post, and a Fraser New Victoria.

Victoria seems to be the next best bet for the Government manipulators.

From Victoria comes the report that Government agents are flirting with Mr. Warnock, former candidate elected in 1916, and endeavoring to crowd out flattering inducements for him to resign and make room for the defeated minister. The offers made Mr. Warnock are said to be tempting, and he is inclined to favorably consider the proposition, it is claimed. Victoria voters are stirred over rumors of the proposed deal, and are determined to show their political temper if the deal is put through. Frasers are opposed to any such method and are prepared to fight Mr. Tweeddale. An "independent" has already been found to contest Victoria against Tweeddale. Mr. Warnock, it is said, if reports are true, he will give the defeated minister a more severe trimming than he received on October 9th.

One closely connected with the Frasers say the Warnock scheme is going through and nothing can stop them from having their way. A business man of Victoria says: "The Frasers are endeavoring to crowd us off the map. In their latest deal they are in a position to throttle many smaller industries here, and some have now been refused renewal of land leases. We will fight any effort made by the Government and the Frasers to rob us of our political rights and our business."

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, and apples, and other iron-rich foods. It is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalizes wornout, exhausted nerves and gives you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters "N. I." on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

COMPLAINS OF PROFITEERING
Windsor, Ont., Nov. 12.—This city has other troubles than liquor running. A woman head of a household of ten people recently visited the City Hall and complained that she had to pay $70 per month for a basement floor, or $90 a month if she intended to do the laundry's washing. The mayor was asked to make a probe.

Are you naturally attractive?

WHERE can you find a more pleasing picture than a group of young, healthy, vigorous girls playing tennis?

Alert, quick to think, and quick to act, their faces aglow with enthusiasm and radiant with health.

How many these are, however, among our growing girls of whom this cannot be said. You see them sitting on the side benches looking on, or loitering around in a listless, careless manner, and, as a rule, irritable and nervous.

Nature intended women to be strong, and healthy and happy as the day is long. MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS have proved so beneficial in such a multitude of cases, that they can be recommended without hesitation.

They give sound, restful sleep, tone up the nerves, make the heart beat regular and strong, create new red blood corpuscles, and impart that sense of buoyancy to the spirits that is only possible when enjoying mental and physical vigor.

Miss Paul Lee, Almonte, Ont., writes:—"My oldest daughter was so laid for over a year with her heart and nerves, that she was compelled to give up her work. I was very unsuccessful in my efforts to have her get her health, but they did not seem to do her much good. She could not sleep at night, would have to walk the floor, and felt as if she would go out of her mind. One day a friend told me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I cannot speak too highly of them. She used them twice and is feeling fine, and started back to work again two months ago."

FOR WOMEN AMUSEMENTS

"UNDIES" MUST BE OF COLORED MATERIAL

No More White Undergarments, Paris Says—Gone is White Lace.

By London Daily Mail and the Great Atlantic Newspaper Service.
Paris, Nov. 14.—Women's lingerie must on no account be white, according to the latest Paris ruling. In shop windows in the Opera quarter, one can no longer see white lace and shiny ribbons and trims such as used to prove so attractive to women visitors to Paris. Bright colors and simple lines now prevail.

Anything but combs or ribbons will be so material and soft color of the fabric is permissible. But ruffles, bows and red are the most fashionable.

A curious feature of the elaborate printed crepe de chine now worn in the circles of Egyptian and Italian which they wear, pretty little jumping habits reminiscent of a child's nursery book. They are considered most effective just now, says an expert.

Pearly Banquet Pudding.
Heat 1 pint of milk, 1 egg, 1 cup of sugar, 1/2 cup of butter, add 1 tablespoon granulated unflavored gelatin. When cool add 1/2 quart of strawberries, 1/2 cup chopped walnuts, 1 tablespoon vanilla and the whipped cream of 1/2 pint of thick cream. Stir occasionally while hardening to prevent the cream from floating on top. Serve with hot chocolate sauce made like the following: 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup milk, butter size of an egg. Boil until thick, adding cocoa or unflavored chocolate before bottling, enough to give it the desired chocolate flavor.

Vanilla Eggs.
This makes a nice chafing dish recipe: Butter size of an egg, 1 small onion, 1 pound chicken, 1 cup tomatoes, 2 eggs. Cook onion and sliced onion until soft, add chicken and cook till melted and smooth, then add tomatoes; stir until it becomes to boil, then add eggs well beaten. Serve on square crackers or on toast.

Egg Cream Tost.
Melt in a quart saucepan 1 tablespoon of butter and stir in 1 tablespoon of flour. Let it cook and bubble a moment, then draw to the edge of the stove and add carefully 1 cup of milk, stirring constantly, and cook until it thickens. Season with 1/2 teaspoon of salt and keep warm; do not burn. Beat the whites of 2 or 4 eggs stiff, add the yolks and beat again; then add carefully into the cream that was made just as the whites are folded into cake. Cook from 5 to 8 minutes, hang on the toast and serve at once.

When eggs are used for a cupper or junction dish, they should form the basis of the meal.

D'ANNUNZIO IN OPEN REBELLION AGAINST PEACE

Sends His Warships to Sea to Break Italian-Jugo Slav Bargain.

Trieste, Nov. 14.—D'Annunzio's warships have left Fiume for an unknown destination, most probably Dalmatia. The insurgent leader is in open revolt against the Italo-Slav agreement. He has ordered the islands of Veglia and Arbe, which lie short distance from Fiume.

London, Nov. 14.—Gabriel D'Annunzio has occupied Castia, to the west of Fiume, but has met with some resistance from the population, the British correspondent of the London Times says. Another buoyant expedition left Fiume Friday and landed at Sebenico. A band of Fiume roustabouts invaded the suburb of Susak, destroying all the shops.

PAYROLL OF $93,000 STOLEN BY THIEVES

Stevensville, Ohio, Nov. 14.—The payroll of the Weirton Steel Company at Weirton, W. Va., amounting to $93,000, was stolen from a registered mail bag some time yesterday, it became known here tonight. The currency was taken from a Pittsburgh bank to the post office there, placed in a registered mail bag and shipped to Weirton from the Pennsylvania Railroad, according to officers. When the bag arrived at Weirton it was found to contain bundles of paper instead of the money.

ABLE TO MAKE DEMANDS.

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Henry Polak, president of the Dutch Diamond Workers' Union, says it is not impossible that a German explosives firm has discovered how to manufacture diamonds artificially, as it claims to have done. The chief difficulty is to obtain an unbelievably powerful pressure under the right circumstances, M. Polak explained. Since it is a manufacturer of explosives which is reported to have discovered the method of making diamonds, he said it was possible that experimenters had succeeded in obtaining the desired pressure.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH GABERON
Do You Want a Motto?

A friend of mine has a motto which consists only of five words, but comprises volumes.

"I don't live up to it," she said before she told it to me, "but it is my ideal that I work toward."

After she had told me what it was, I could understand why my mortal human being might find it difficult to get a 100 per cent record every day with that motto.

Only Five Words But—
These are the five words: "Don't complain and don't criticize." It's funny, isn't it, how simple those five words sound, and how much they would mean in one's daily life!

Selfish and self-conceit are two of the commonest human weaknesses, and that hits at both of them.

For complaining and grumbling is one of the ways in which self-guilt greases itself. And the reason we take such pleasure in criticizing others, I think, is because we subconsciously feel that we are thereby demonstrating our own superiority.

How Criticism of Others is Self-Exaltation.

We may not, like the Pharisee, openly thank the Lord that we are not as other men and go on to tell just how we differ (unless we are politicians).

EGYPTIAN WOMAN ENTERING POLITICAL FIELD IS REPORTED
Many Are Overcoming Age-Long Prejudice of the Land Against the Women.

London, Nov. 14.—Egyptian women are at last beginning to take an interest in public affairs, particularly in the schools. Vincent Milner, in his report as High Commissioner of Egypt, says that no change which has taken place in that country in the last few years is more striking than the awakening interest of women in affairs outside of the home.

The commissioner added that a few years ago it was rare to find a mother showing a direct personal interest in the welfare of her daughter at school.

"During the last few years these conditions have changed in the large towns, where mothers now visit the schools and discuss their daughters' progress with the head teacher," said the report.

This change is attributed by the High Commissioner largely to education, and he predicts that its influence will be potent on the further progress of educational development in Egypt.

FINED WOMAN $1,000 FOR SELLING LIQUOR
Cornwall, Ont., Nov. 14.—While on a roll through East Cornwall, today, Wm. McCready, an O. T. A. inspector, noticed an auto leave the home of Achille Duchene, who was fined $500 and sent to jail for one month a couple of days ago for selling liquor.

The officer then returned to Duchene's home and took Mrs. Duchene in charge and laid a charge of selling against her. Deputy Magistrate C. H. Cline imposed a sentence of one month in jail and fined the woman $1,000, to be paid forthwith, or an additional five months' imprisonment would be added.

running for office.) This is a less naive and simple day and generation.

But we may criticize our neighbor, point out his faults and mistakes, know where he stands as much better, and thereby delicately inform that we are not as other men. I cannot otherwise account for the pleasure we feel in criticizing.

And yet, when you get right down to it, how much real happiness would we love if we could just make up our minds not to complain and not to criticize? None, of course. And think of the gala we would make!

The Machine That Consumes Its Own Senses.
For just as the machine that consumes its own smoke, makes the atmosphere in its vicinity much more endurable and produces that much more energy, so the human machine that consumes its own smoke of grumbling and criticism makes the atmosphere infinitely pleasanter and creates more energy for better uses.

Clubs often write and ask me for mottoes. I barely recommend them one to them. True it is, by its nature more an individual than a collective motto; but just think what a joy in the community a collection of individuals who were determined never to complain nor criticize, would be.

I do not think the members of such a club would need to wear any badge to set them apart from other folks, do you?

REFUSE GOLD BARS SENT TO NEW YORK ON SWEDISH LINER
Definite Origin of Metal from Northern Europe Must be Established.

New York, Nov. 14.—Sixteen boxes of gold bars, lying in the stowage room of the Swedish-American liner Doct. Swinhorn, are in the extraordinary position of being untraceable in the United States, and are likely to be "deported" when the steamer sails for Stockholm in a few days. The value of the lot is $806,114. Since the finger of suspicion was pointed at the metal as of possible origin in the vaults of the Imperial Bank of Russia, the Irving National bank, the consignee, has refused to receive the gold. The Swedish company is in the embarrassing position of holding the gold, perforce, until it can be returned to the shipper, the Nordiska Handelsbank of Stockholm, and the question of lost interest and insurance settled.

Additional details surrounding the curious position of the gold brought in by the Swedish ship on Tuesday came to light today. It was learned that the portion of the shipment which the assay office had refused to purchase was consigned to the Canadian Bank of Commerce, amounting at the part of exchange to $419,554. The shipment to the Canadian institution, like that directed to the Irving National Bank, was for the account of customers of the bank. The banks themselves were not interested in the transactions, except as agents.

The Canadian Bank has the gold in its possession today, and has no evidence to show that the gold was not of bona fide origin in the territories of the bank. The banks themselves were not interested in the transactions, except as agents.

C. B. Francis, one of the bank's agents at New York, said that there was no evidence to show that the gold was not of bona fide origin in the territories of the bank. The banks themselves were not interested in the transactions, except as agents.

Mr. Francis declined to comment on the disposition of the gold in case the assay office continued to refuse to handle it. It is the practice when foreign gold is received at New York to have the assay office convert it into American bars and pay to the owner the value of the metal gold content of the bullion or coin, as the case may be. The Treasury Department ruled several weeks ago that, until further orders were issued, no gold from the northern countries of Europe should be bought for fear of later complications if evidence was found that it had come from Soviet Russia.

There were complications last month when about $300,000 gold came in as the result of sales of materials by the War Department to one of the new north European states, and the Government authorities have maintained an attitude of extreme caution since that time.

There is nothing to prevent the sale of foreign gold to the commercial trade of this country. Consumers would be at liberty to buy the Swedish metal, taking the risk of its being practically contraband, and working it up into jewelry, plate, etc. It is not expected, however, that the gold, which has been landed from the Swedish ship, will be disposed of until its status in respect to assay office procedure has been definitely established.

Kingsville, Nov. 12.—There is considerable discouragement among tobacco growers as a consequence of the delay on the part of buyers in announcing a price for this season's crop. Practically all the cured tobacco is ready for market and most of the air-cured ready to take down. Other years most of the crop was bought by this time, but some of the buyers have had instructions from their companies to offer any price up to the present date.

Pathe News Is Now Ten Years Old

Screen Newspaper Shows World's Latest Happenings—Courage Required.

One of the best known pictures which is reflected from the Motion Picture Bureau in the Pathe News, which celebrates its 10th anniversary during the present week. Ten years ago, when Motion Pictures were in their infancy, Charles Pathe, one of the foremost pioneers of the Motion Pictures, presented to the people of France the Pathe News—then, a film record of a few recent happenings in that country. The invasion met with great success and within a few months a similar film was attracting thousands of people throughout Europe.

With this encouragement, Charles Pathe journeyed to America and introduced the Pathe News in that country, and through the efforts of Mr. L. B. Odmet, now president of the Specialty Film Import Ltd., the British Canadian Pathe News became an attractive item on the programs of Canadian Theatres.

Ten Years Old.
Reviewing the ten years of its history, one realizes that the Pathe News, or as the Canadian edition is called, the British-Canadian Pathe News, has contributed much to attracting people to the enjoyment of Motion Pictures.

The rapidly with which happenings are photographed and delivered to the theatres throughout the world, calls for the greatest efficiency in organization. Twelve days after Earl Thompson secured the World's Hurdle Race championship for Canada at the Olympic Games, Canadian audiences were seeing this upon the screen; forty-eight hours after the disastrous bomb explosion in Wall Street, the British-Canadian Pathe News was exhibiting pictures of the disaster. The greatest initiative and resource is required of the cameraman, in daring all attempts to obtain the most valuable pictures.

In War's Dangers.
When the German Revolution was being filmed the cameraman was in grave danger, and after he had obtained his pictures his crosses and medals, a special train was chartered to carry the film into France from Paris; the film was transported by aeroplane to the quay-side at Southampton in order that it might be the fastest liner, the "Olympic"; a special boat drew alongside the "Olympic" before she docked in order to take off the film with the least delay, and in the afternoon days after the Rebellion, the British-Canadian Pathe News was presenting the film to the public. Many similar occasions could be recorded to show the efficiency which gathers the news of the world together for this newspaper of the screen. Instructive, educational and enjoyable, the British-Canadian Pathe News is always a welcome feature on any theatre program.

HUGE COTTON CROP MAKES EGYPT RICH
High Price of Staple for Clothing Increases Exports 30 Million Pounds.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger)
Cairo, Oct. 15.—Existing financial prosperity of Egypt is due to the high prices obtained for the cotton crops of the country during and since the war, according to Field Marshal Lord Allenby, British high commissioner, in his official review, just made public, of the financial, administrative and economic conditions of Egypt for the year 1919.

An export trade valued at £75,883,000 in 1919, represents an increase exceeding £30,000,000 over 1918, which is almost wholly due to the enhanced price and larger shipments of cotton.

The cotton boom in Egypt has reached such dimensions that ordinary cotton growing land is selling as high as £700 an acre. One result of this will be a seriously diminished grain crop for 1920, as wheat that was already sown has been rooted up to make place for cotton crops.

The accumulation of wealth in Egypt, which has reached large proportions, has been accompanied by the usual advance in the high cost of living. It is the opinion of the British high commissioner that if the accumulation of wealth obtained during the war is largely devoted to the hearing of unproductive gold and expenditure on luxuries, its beneficial power will be so far diminished.

"If, on the other hand, it is employed in the repayment of debt and in productive expenditure, the economic wellbeing of the country will be enhanced, the country will be in a position to withstand the effects on its revenues of a future fall in the price of cotton, and it will be in a fair way of achieving financial independence."

PROTECTING OUR INDUSTRIES.

The winter will be an object lesson to Canada of the value of a moderately protective tariff. If factories are on an slack time, efforts can be made to readjust production costs in accordance with market demands, without any large interference with employment. The preserving of the home market to Canadian industries will not prevent readjustments in value downward, in sympathy with raw material and other declines, but this country will have a "cushion" on which to fall during the process. If Canada were subjected under present conditions to indiscriminate unloading of United surplus merchandise—as would be the case if the tariff were substantially lowered—our own factories might be severely hurt. We then might have an acute depression which would damage the whole community.

As the Mail and Empire points out, the beginning of the real movement toward lower prices immediately had the effect of curtailing buying, and stimulating economy. The decline had to come, because in 1919 alone prices went up, on the average, almost as much as during the four years of war. Some producers and dealers have large stocks of materials on hand, and until these are worked off, do not feel like producing more, or buying fresh stocks. A policy of factory closing temporarily has been resorted to in the United States to enable the market to digest goods now on hand. The restrictions on credit have forced industrial curtailment and liquidation of stocks. Probably in six months the readjustment will have reached a fair settling level, shelves will be empty, enormous suspended works will be ready for opening up, and this continent will begin a sane, well-ordered renewal of prosperity. In times such as we have had in the last few years, with inflation rampant, wages rising hand over hand, big profits and much speculation, workers forget the basis of industrial prosperity—which is home market consumption. Some of them were ready to throw stones at a system which, in Canada, maintains factories that, without that system, would be in the United States.

Productive activity in one direction generates productive activity in others. These, in turn, cause activity in related circles. The good crops assure Canada of agricultural stability, even at lower prices, and the tariff assures Canadian industry of fair activity, according to the home market demands. If the Clearing group had its way and ordered a general reduction of the tariff there would soon be a woeful change.

IN VICTORIA COUNTY.

The Foster Government apparently does not intend to let Mr. Tweeddale go without a struggle to keep him. Although The Telegraph waxed very warm some little time ago when we suggested that efforts would probably be put forth to ascertain if any of the farmer or independent candidates had a "price," it would seem that we were not so far out in our surmise. There appears to be considerable foundation for the report that arrangements are being put through under which one of the successful candidates in Victoria will very thoughtfully retire, to make room for Mr. Tweeddale. He may be doing this out of pure good nature and kindness of heart, or, again, he may feel that without Mr. Tweeddale at the head of the Department of Agriculture the whole fabric will come to grief. Or there may have been other, and more persuasive, arguments put up to him. However, it seems to be clear that one of these candidates is going to retire, and common sense dictates that no man is going to voluntarily relinquish a seasonal indemnity of $1,000, without some quid pro quo. If one of these men does retire, it may be taken for granted that he did have a "price," and the Government or Mr. Tweeddale is going to pay it.

But how does Mr. Tweeddale propose to overcome the opposition that he will encounter? It was too much for him a month ago, and it is just as strong today. The Fraser interests won't elect him, active though they may be in the county. The public is getting rather "fed up" with so much Fraser, whose machinations are rapidly becoming a serious menace in the northwest corner of the province. If Mr. Tweeddale is ever to be elected in Victoria, votes must be bought for him; and the next thing will be another "tag day" to raise funds for the purpose—unless, of course, he can persuade the lady orator to accompany him round the constituency to plead for "the dear Government."

THRIFT AND ECONOMY.

A few days ago we published a list of commodities which have recently dropped considerably in price, and other items may now be added which have undergone a similar experience. The drop in prices, and consequent reduction in the cost of living, may be gradual, but all signs point to the fact that it is coming. People are showing a greater disposition to study price tags than they were some time ago, and if there are any reductions or special sales, they are being taken full advantage of. The solution of the problem rests with the people, who have come to the conclusion that it is time the carnival of extravagance and luxury that has been so rampant during the last two or three years ceased. No one is in so good a position to deal with the matter as the ordinary housewife. No one knows better than she how the costs for the feeding of the family have mounted. For those whose incomes have kept ahead of the rising tide of prices the problem has not been so difficult as for the vast majority who have no such counter-weapon. They have been driven to the consideration of organized and systematic efforts toward securing essential foods at more reasonable prices. Organizations have been formed to eliminate much of the excessive profits that they feel are being reaped in the process of passing those necessities from the original producers to themselves. It seems to have been determined that the producers and the consumers must unite in the battle.

But the best weapon is thrift. If people would only determine to limit their purchases of foodstuffs or anything else to their actual needs, the working of the inexorable law of supply and demand would soon operate automatically to bring conditions to a more normal state. So long as there is purchasing without careful thought of the need for the articles bought, it is idle to look for much improvement in conditions.

LABOR AND POLITICS.

The action of President Hanna, of the C. N. R. Railway Board, in relieving A. E. Moore, one of the newly-elected members of the Manitoba Legislature, of his position as a railway employee, will strike most people as the correct thing to have done. Mr. Moore was told that he could not remain an employee of the Government Railways and at the same time be a member of a legislature, and as he refused to resign his latter position, there was nothing left to do but "fire" him. It is a universal rule that persons in receipt of Government pay cannot at the same time be legislators; and there seems to be no sound reason why any exception should be made in Mr. Moore's case.

There is today an increasing desire to keep politics out of the Government service and to abolish all patronage. If workers for the public are to become candidates, then other public employees have an equal right to take part in political campaigns. If a boiler worker is entitled to run as a Labor candidate, other employees have the same right to enter the lists for the regular parties. The result would be that the civil service would be in danger of becoming a regular vortex of politics.

With the rapid extension of public ownership a new significance is given to this whole problem. It is not a question of keeping Labor out of politics, as is argued in some quarters, but a question as to the advisability of public servants sitting in Parliament and voting their own salaries and salary increases.

Amicus Curia! If the correspondent of The Globe who uses this nom-de-plume is no better versed in law than he appears to be in Latin, his clients will find him to be rather a broken reed to lean upon. Amicus Curia we understand, but the other we never heard of. Besides being wrong in his Latin, the correspondent, who appears to be so anxious to put The Standard right, is also wrong in his facts. The Standard, so far from overruling Judge Barry's judgment, has never even questioned it. It was Mr. Baxter who questioned it, and The Standard has merely restated that the Court of Appeal refused to have the judgment made a rule of Court, so that its correctness or otherwise could have been argued. The Court of Appeal, as we have several times already pointed out, refused to take up the matter because the respondent having affirmed Mr. Baxter in the seat, left him no ground for complaint. If The Globe and its "Amicus Curia" will just get this into their heads, they may then perhaps understand how foolish they have been making themselves look by the line of argument they have adopted.

The Fredericton Gleaner expresses the hope that the resignation of the Rev. W. D. Wilson will not lead to any international complications.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

An American visitor once exclaimed "Can any sacred building in the British Empire compare with Westminster Abbey? Is it not the most unique and priceless treasure of the English-speaking race? It is the same story with visitors for the first time to this heart-shrine of the blood whether they have come from Canada, Australia, New Zealand or South Africa."

Here is the very spot upon which the ceremony of Coronation takes place? Here Harold, the last of the Saxon race, was probably the first monarch to be crowned in the Abbey, and William the Conqueror was unquestionably crowned on Christmas Day, 1066, before the High Altar; and that on that same spot every Sovereign from William the Conqueror to George V has been anointed and crowned.

How wonderful is that succession which has been maintained through nine centuries and a half! The little kingdom of Saxon Harold has grown to be the vast Empire over which our King is ruler, and the Abbey has been the sacred witness of this expansion, throughout the ages of that national greatness, national liberty, and national responsibility for which the Sovereign stands.

Here is the shrine of Edward the Confessor, who planned and built the Abbey here as we know it, and some seven feet from the ground, lie the coffin that contains the mortal remains of him who passed away 354 years ago. On the other side of the choir is the tomb of the famous King Henry III, who reconstructed the Abbey, and who, out of reverence for the Confessor, gave the name Edward to his oldest son, afterwards Edward I. Hard by is the tomb of Edward I, and that of his beloved Queen Eleanor. Further to the east is the tomb of Edward III, and Queen Philippa, and Richard II, and Queen Anne of Bohemia. Further to the east is Henry V, and his wife, the famous Catherine of Valois. In the choir is the tomb of Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, Mary Queen of Scots, and the simple tablets which give the names of William and Mary of Queen Anne, George I and George II. How much history is compressed in that little space! It was badly used and sadly neglected in the eighteenth century. But there it stands with the famous Stone beneath the seat, according to the directions given to the Abbot of Westminster by Edward I. Since that time every sovereign has been crowned seated in that chair. One sovereign alone has occupied it twice. It was Queen Victoria; for not only was she seated in it when she was crowned, she sat in it on her Jubilee in 1857 she sat in the famous chair to receive the loyal homage of her peoples and the salutation of all the world. Only twice has that chair been removed from the floor of the Abbey. On the first occasion was removed to Westminster Hall, in order that Oliver Cromwell might be seated in it when he was proclaimed "Protector." The other occasion was in 1915, when for safety's sake it was removed to the crypt beneath the Chapter House and preserved there until after the Armistice in 1918.

The Chapter House, again, supplies another link with the larger life of the nation. It has been called "the cradle of representative constitutional government throughout the world." The House of Commons used to meet there, we are told, in the days between Edward III and Edward VI. Many famous statesmen of the realm have been promulgated there. The very titles which experts tell you are among the artistic treasures of the country, many of them have their origin in the crypt of Richard II, Henry IV, and Henry VI.

Leaving on one side all thought of the architectural and artistic glories of the Abbey, turn to the graves of the honored dead and the memorials of the most famous persons of the Empire. What names you meet: Chatham, Pitt, Fox, Canning, Peel, Palmerston, Gladstone, Beaconsfield, Salisbury among the statesmen; Wilberforce, Livingstone, Shaftesbury among the philanthropists; Isaac Newton, Herschel, Darwin, Hooker, Lyell, Kelvin, Lister among the men of science; Cresser, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Gray, Woodsworth, Burns, Lingshew, Tennyson and Browning among the poets; Addison, Dr. Johnson, Oliver Goldsmith, Walter Scott, Macculey, Dickens, Thackeray, Ruskin among the men of letters; Clive, Wolfe, Warren Hastings, Lord Lawrence, Lord Strathcona, and Lord Cromer among the Empire builders.

The names of Archbishop Fisher, of Holkely of Isaac Barrow, of John and Charles Wesley, of Garrick and Henry Irving, of Handel and Jenny Lind, of Isaac Watts, and Keble, illustrate the catholic spirit with which the great and illustrious have been remembered in the Abbey.

And yet, as the Dean of Westminster insists with quiet dignity, "the Abbey is not to be looked on as a mere Museum or Valhalla; it has a message of its own, religious, vital and true, as the mother-shrine of the English-speaking peoples. The instinctive feeling of our brethren and sisters from across the seas that they have a claim and an interest in all that affects Westminster Abbey is one that no Englishman would wish to dispute. The relation of the Abbey to the Crown and the independence of the Abbey from all external ecclesiastical authority tend to strengthen that instinctive feeling, and at the same time to enhance an influence which it would be useless to attempt to narrowly to define. It is an influence which blends in a kind of triumphant mystery the charm of the historic past, the beauty of architectural perfection and the honor due to our illustrious dead, with the fulfilment of a great historic purpose and with the living realities of the people's Christian faith."

The officials charged with the enforcement of the liquor laws in Ontario and Western Canada are called morality inspectors. Perhaps this is right; for in the eyes of some people, drinking is the greatest sin of all.

Much depends on the point of view. An old English section had no funerals for four days, they, unexpectedly, there were three all in one day. "Yes," he said, "things is lookin' up a bit, but for several days we've been cruel slack."

BY LEE PAPE

My cousin Artie came around yesterday and pop was taking a nap on the sitting room sofa, and me and Artie stood there with our hands as if we had put him to sleep by hypnotism, and all at once pop started to smile thro' his sleep, Artie whispering, G, look, I bet he's dreaming he's eating a plate of ice cream or something, and me whispering, I bet he's not, I bet he's dreaming he's swimming, that's his favorite sport.

And we had a whispering argument about it and after a while I whispered, All right, I tell you let's do, you get the dinner bell and ring it easy and if he's dreaming about eating it will make him smile again, and I'll get some water and make it splash so he can hear it, and if that makes him smile again it shows he's dreaming about swimming.

With we started to do, Artie going down in the dining room and bringing up the dinner bell and me carrying in a basin half full of water from the bathroom. Artie taking first turn and ringing the dinner bell easy rite next to pop's ear. With the 3rd time he rang it pop made a unijnorable face in his sleep and rolled over on the other side, proving he wasnt dreaming about eating.

What did I tell you? I whispered. And I started to jiggle the basin making the water splash, and just as pop was starting to look as if he might smile any minute I jiggled it too hard and a lot of water bounced out on pop's face, and he quik' woke up and snuck up his hands, being one of the worst things he could do, because he noked the basin rite out of my hands and the water went all over him.

Who the mischief, what the mischief, and pop jumping up surprised and mad, especially mad, and the more I tried to explain the more he wouldnt listen, the result being Artie had to go home and I got about 10 fears e cracks with pops slipper some place.

Moving Canada's Crops.
 (Grain Growers' Guide.)

Of all the services which the Canadian chartered banks render to the business community there is probably none which is of more importance, particularly to the agricultural industry than the financing of the crop movement.

Every farmer knows that when he sells a wagon load of wheat at his country elevator he received a ticket which he can immediately exchange for its full cash value at the bank across the street. He can carry his money away in bank notes if he wishes, or leave it on deposit at the bank, and pay out the whole or part of it by check whenever he so desires. In order that cash may be immediately available for the purchase of grain, a very extensive and complete organization of credit is necessary. The wheat which the farmer sells today will not reach the ultimate consumer in Europe for several months, and not one of the various agencies through whose hands it passes between producer and consumer has sufficient money of its own to pay for it. Nevertheless, when grain is sold and delivered it is always paid for in cash, at least until it reaches Europe and passes out of Canadian hands. In order that this may be so a large amount of credit is required, and this is supplied by the chartered banks.

Centenary Church 81st Anniversary

Special Services Held Yesterday—Eloquent Sermons by Rev. Hammond Johnson.

At Centenary Methodist church yesterday special services were held morning and evening to mark the eighty-first anniversary of the founding of the church. Rev. Hammond Johnson, of Moncton, who came to St. John for the occasion, delivered two eloquent addresses before large congregations.

Celebrations were held yesterday as a more seasonable time than the exact date of the founding, which was the 18th of August, 1839. Rev. Knapp Wood being the first pastor. The original building on the site was destroyed in the fire of June 29th, 1877, and the present Sunday School was opened November 17th, 1878. The second church, the present structure, was dedicated August 27th, 1882.

Taking part in the services yesterday were Rev. H. A. Goodwin, pastor of Centenary; Rev. J. C. Berry and Rev. Hammond Johnson. At the morning service Mr. Goodwin welcomed Mr. Johnson and referred to the special character of the celebration. He then made a touching reference to the death of a former pastor, Rev. Dr. "Flowers," after which "My Will Be Done" was sung by Mrs. Curran, Miss March and W. Lanyon.

The evening service was held at 7:30 p.m. and Rev. Johnson showed how the world's valuation is not that of God. Men are frequently measured by human beings in terms of dollars and cents, while actually a so-called poor man may be rich beyond words and a source of wealth to the community, while the apparently wealthy man may be poor indeed. Referring to the text "The Length and Breadth of Height of My Equal," the preacher said that length represents ambition or reaching out "Myself"; breadth, the following of the Golden Rule, "Thy Brother"; and height, the spiritual "God." This thought was very beautifully enlarged upon. Other striking words of the sermon were: "We are not put on earth to get into Heaven, but to make a heaven upon earth." "When we have Jesus, that is Heaven." "The distance between what you are and your possibilities is the distance between you and Heaven."

Worldwide Love.
The great worldwide love of pleasure was still another sign of Christ's near coming, for the Apostle Paul had said that at the end of the present age men would be lovers of the world and not of God.

It was thought that the awfulness of war would turn men nearer to God, but the hope has not been realized, and instead of being better they are even worse than before the conflict.

The world of today is pleasure-mad, as witnessed in the present dance-craze, a shame to civilization. In closing, the preacher said that no one could tell the time when Christ would come, and that while it was proper to study the prophecies it was a great mistake for anyone to attempt to act the role of a prophet.

It was enough to know that the Lord would one day return to consummate the great redemptive work He had begun by His suffering and the shedding of His blood for man. The doctor admonished his hearers to see to it that neither death nor the coming of the Lord would find them unprepared.

Arthur T. Merritt Committed To Trial

Charged With Cutting and Wounding Charles Thompson Who Was Badly Hurt.

Arthur T. Merritt was committed to trial in the police court Saturday on the charge of cutting, wounding and doing grievous harm to Charles Thompson.

The offense occurred in a yard in the rear of 45 North street some few weeks ago, and the victim was confined to the hospital because of his injuries until quite recently. Dr. Edward Campbell, of the General Public Hospital, testified as to the nature of the wounds. There were four in all, one on the left arm, two in the back, and one between the ribs, under the left arm. The latter was the most serious, as it pierced the lung near the heart.

Thompson told the doctor he had received the wounds in a fight with a man he had caught on his premises with his step-daughter. A juvenile was before the court on a charge of breaking a window in a house occupied by Hymon Taker, Pond street. The boy said he knew nothing about the charge. The magistrate gave the lad some good advice and allowed a penalty of $20 to stand.

One man, charged with drunkenness, pleaded guilty and was remanded to jail. A lad before the juvenile court on a truancy charge was allowed to go with a caution.

Large Congregation Hear Able Sermon

In Main St. Church Rev. Dr. Hutchinson Took for Subject 'Is Christ Coming Soon?'

A large congregation attended the Main Street Baptist Church last evening, when the pastor, Rev. Dr. Hutchinson, delivered an eloquent and learned discourse on the subject, "Is Christ Coming Soon?" The reverend doctor took as his text John XIV. 2, 3: "I go to prepare a place for you, and I will come and receive you unto Myself."

The Question Answered.
He answered the question of Christ's coming by stating that it was the belief of all Christians and that the Church had through all the ages taught that Jesus would come a second time to consummate the work He had begun while on earth.

Although the Christian evangelistic churches differed as to the time and manner of His coming they are all one in the belief that He will come. Premillennialists believe that His coming will precede the millennium and that the coming of Christ is necessary to the millennium. The post-millennialists believe that Christ will not come until after the millennium and therefore do not believe the coming of Christ is near at hand.

Dr. Hutchinson enumerated the reasons on which were founded the belief of the pre-millennialists of the soon coming of the Saviour. He said that Christ was now absent nearly 2,000 years; that just before His ascension He stated He would come again, not as the Man of Sorrows, but as the King of glory.

Another sign of His coming was in the worldwide evangelistic movement. Obedient to His commands, the gospel has been preached to all nations. Thibet being the only country today from which it is banned, and where there martyrs have spilt their blood in preaching the Word of God.

A third sign lay in the prevalence of false teachers, even as predicted by the Apostle Paul. Under the doctrines of the devil the doctor classed modern spiritualism, Mormonism, Theosophy, and Christian Science, all of which, he said, led men from God and were anti-Christian.

They Were Absent.
(Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)
It is said that citizens of Irish ancestry, prominent in public life, in the professions and in the church, were conspicuous by their absence from the meeting held in Ottawa of the "Self-determination of the Irish League." That being so it is not surprising to learn that useful and practical suggestions for the settlement of the Irish question were also conspicuous by their absence.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN NEWFOUNDLAND ARE VERY HOPEFUL

Pulp and Lumber Industries Enable Workers to Obtain Good Winter Wages.

St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 13.—The Trade Review in today's issue has the following to say of conditions in Newfoundland: "Beginning Saturday last, there was a marked improvement in Water street trade for the week. Money is being spent more freely in the street and it looks as if the winter ahead will be a very prosperous one. The absolute necessities of life in food and clothing are being bought by those who have the money, even if the purchasing is on a limited scale. "Next month there will be an increase in the cash purchasing by the men who have been working at Bellefleur and the lumber camps, and with the pulp and paper companies, so that by the close of the year conditions will have greatly improved. The next financial returns that have accrued to the fishermen and laborers of the country in the years from 1914 to 1919 inclusive, enabled most of them to lay by something for the proverbial rainy day."

FISH PACKING PLANT IS ALMOST COMPLETE

Grand Harbor, Nov. 13.—Scott D. Guphill, M. P., has nearing completion a modern fish-packing plant. The new building is about 125 feet long by 25 feet wide and two stories high. The lower floor contains tanks and stringing shed for curing for herring, smoking, and also facilities for pressing the oil from the refuse herrings, eight presses being in operation. The upper story will afford spacious warehouse accommodations and facilities for curing fish and other products, also office and caretaker's room. A separate building has been erected near as a smoke-house. When complete this plant will be fully up-to-date in its facilities for curing and packing fish. The herring fisheries of Grand Manan have been very productive this season, and very large quantities of smoked herrings are now in the hands of the fishermen. The fine autumn weather has been conducive to energetic pushing of the business. Thus far, the market for these herrings has been favorable, actual loans and discounts declaring $18,000,000 and reserves of members at the Federal Reserve Bank increasing to the extent of $20,000,000 with a gain of about $3,500,000 in reserves, bringing the excess to slightly over $200,000,000, as against last week's deficit.

GOSSIP AROUND THE MARKETS

South Africa has set aside $160,000 for advertising the union throughout the world in an effort to build up tourist traffic and make known farming, manufacturing, mining and general industrial possibilities.

A recovery of business in the western United States and, very largely, an end of the readjustment period by next spring is predicted by President Gray of the Union Pacific system, as a result of a three week's trip. The government of Australia has increased the price of wheat to 9s. a bushel for native consumption, according to a cablegram received from Trade Commissioner A. W. Fenin at Melbourne. The United States will face a continuation of the annual tax bill of $4,000,000,000 for at least three years, if Congress adopts recommendations drafted by treasury officials and which it was understood, have been laid before Secretary of the Treasury Houston for approval. Massachusetts Cotton Mills of Lowell, Massachusetts, are converting their eight boilers from coal-burning to oil-burning equipment. They will operate on fuel oil entirely by January 1. The mills employ 5023 looms and employ 2800 hands when at full capacity.

"CAR" HAS ON HAND $25,000,000 ORDERS

Work Enough to Keep All Three Plants Operating Until Next February.

Montreal, Nov. 14.—The Canadian Car & Foundry Company is free from work strikes and getting excellent results at all its plants. At Port William 2000 large box cars are being constructed for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The Montreal plants are working on car specialties and in a few days they will start on 1000 automobile cars for the Grand Trunk Railway. There has been some delay in securing materials due to strikes on other causes, but these have been secured. The Amherst plant is working on refrigerator cars for Government Railways and will shortly start on stock cars for the Intercolonial.

HEAVY SELLING ON WALL STREET MAKES MORE LOWS

Price Readjustments Alleged to Be Responsible for Most of the Tumbles.

New York, Nov. 14.—The short session of the stock market Saturday was characterized by continuance of the recent heavy selling movement, many popular issues registering new lows for the year, in some cases a much longer period. Prices reacted from the very outset, the absence of any initiative for the long account again giving bears a free hand. Not all of the day's selling was of that sort, however, signs of more involuntary liquidation being observed. Extreme declines of 2 to 5 points in the more volatile issues were effected with little difficulty. Rails and shippers were relatively steady for a time, but even those shares including Southern Pacific and Reading broke sharply at the weak close. Sales amounted to 700,000 shares. Many Price Readjustments. Week-end advances regarding industrial and commercial conditions gave impetus to the market's extended reaction. The commercial agencies made pointed allusions to the rapidly proceeding price readjustments, and proceeding, this being confirmed by drastic cuts in the Chicago market. Advances from New England, the Middle Western States and South told of further curtailment in the textile industries, and of the acceptance of a 25 per cent reduction by the mill hands of a large cotton company in Virginia.

BANKRUPTCY FACING LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Member States Fail to Pay Assessments—London Bank Carrying Big Overdraft.

(Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.) London, Nov. 13.—Member States in the League of Nations have been so slow in paying their pledges that the League has been obliged to operate by overdrafts in their account with a London Bank. The bank has agreed to carry the overdrafts for another year, but if the delinquent nations do not cash in before then with their overdue subscriptions and pledges for current operations, the League may find itself bankrupt. No interest is charged on this account. There are now eight delinquents, according to Sir Herbert Ames, the treasurer. They are chiefly the South American States, including Argentina, Bolivia and Salvador. The annual expenses of the League are estimated at seven million dollars.

BIG REDUCTION IN SPARE FREIGHT CREWS

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 14.—A reduction of ten per cent in the working force in the West Springfield, Boston and Albany shops, effective next Wednesday, was announced here Saturday. The shops employ 750 men. It was also announced that thirty spare freight crews had been laid off. Many of the engineers have taken work as firemen. The cut is due to slack freight business, according to the officials here.

Princeton Eleven Won From Yale

Scored Twenty Points to Yale's Nothing—Two Touchdowns and Two Field Goals.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—Princeton's football eleven yesterday broke a hoodoo of 21 years and defeated Yale for the second year in succession. In running up a score of twenty points, including two touchdowns and two field goals against nothing for Yale, Don Lorie, of Peoria, Ill., Mike Callaghan, of Lawrence, Mass., and Stanley Keck, of Greensburg, Pa., put themselves in the galaxy of courageous orange and black heroes, who have contributed sensational feats in defeating an ancient foe.

The Pretty Play

Lorie made the prettiest play of the game, just as the first half was coming to an end. Princeton had the ball for a first down, 43 yards away from Yale's goal. It was obvious that there was little time left in the period. Keck dropped back from the line to the kicker's position and Lorie ran on the ground in front of him at the 41 yard line as if to hold the ball for a place kick. Keck being particularly adept in that respect.

Then ensued a surprise. Lorie rested the pass perfectly from Captain Mike Callaghan, scrambled to his feet, circled Yale's right wing, dodged, sidestepped and crossed the last white line to the amazement of both the Yale team and the 50,000 spectators.

Princeton's cup of joy began to run over before the third period was less than two minutes old. Princeton passed on the first line up of the ball from its own 30 yard line to Yale's 30 yard line, where Thorne Murphy misjudged Shearer's spiral and fuffed it.

As the ball rolled back toward the Yale goal, Mike Callaghan picked it up and ambled across the Yale goal line for another touchdown.

Later in the third period Keck kicked a field goal from the 36 yard line with Lorie holding the ball just as he had kicked at doing before making his sensational run.

Keck kicked both goals after the touchdowns.

The other Princeton score was a goal kick by Murray on the first place at the second period, a drop kick from the 35 line.

No Comparison

Yale never compared with Princeton, except for a flash in the second period, when after advancing the ball from its own 43 yard line to Princeton's 22 yard line, it found its offense checked and tried for a field goal. Murphy made the attempt standing on his own thirty yard line, but the ball was wide.

Princeton's never again was the Dartmouth eleven scored a 44 to 7 victory.

The first period gave promise of a close game after a brief stand, the Pennsylvania team went to pieces and Bowser, with the first touchdown for Dartmouth, started the rush which amassed the highest scored against the Philadelphia this year.

They're All After Carpenter Now

French Fighter Could Have Plenty of Matches if He Desired Them.

Georges Carpentier could find a lot of work to do in this country if he wanted to keep busy.

Every boxer above the middleweight class is eager to tackle the Frenchman.

He got over Levinzky per schedule, which didn't prove much, since the batter is a light hitter and Georges wasn't taking any risk.

But he doesn't have to fight Jack Dempsey next unless he wishes to face the best man America has at once.

The older school of heavyweights, consisting of Brennan, Fulton, Willis and others would all give him a better battle than did Levinzky.

And the younger generation of heavies, such as Bob Martin, Gene Tunney and Marty Burke would all be willing to give Carpentier a workout.

Going right on down the line Harry Greb and Mike O'Druid might prove good matches for the visitor.

And then there's another fellow—Tommy Gibbons—who deserves a chance at Carp. Gibbons is having a hard time of it getting matches nowadays. None of them seem to want to swap punches with him.

He's a clever boxer, but not a knockout puncher. But Tom finds himself in the classification of the light-heavyweights, and for some reason his class has never been as popular as the heavies, just above, or the middleweights, just the next notch down in poundage.

Eddie Kane took Tommy and burred Europe in vain, seeking matches. They finally had to give up the fighting angle of their crusade and went to Ireland to visit relatives instead.

But why won't they box with Tommy?

Kane, who is manager of the Gibbons boys, claims that Tom hits too hard for the rest of them. They don't like his games. Consequently they can't get on the boxing bills very often.

Last year his chief business was lacing Harry Greb. He did it twice, once in May and later on the last day of July.

The first battle was a real lacer, but the other was close, as Gibbons wasn't in as good shape as the last time they met, owing to the fact that he couldn't get matches enough to keep him in fighting condition.

He has improved a lot in recent years, and the reason is that he's learned to punch better. Once Tom works like his brother Mike, now retired and teaching boxing in St. Paul.

His defence makes it a hard matter for an opponent to land. He weighs around 165 pounds and is well built, with sturdy shoulders, height and speed. The speed he has should offset the weight he'd have to give in boxing a man like Carpentier.

Carpentier is a finished boxer, and so is Gibbons. A match between them would make a mighty good show to watch.

However, the fact remains that the younger member of the Gibbons brothers is having his troubles. He can't get on the boards, no matter how big the inducements his manager, Eddie Kane, offers.

MAINES HANDS OUT BOUQUET

President of Michigan-Ontario League Says Nice Things to Judge Landis.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—"We want to see you in charge of the league in Canada as well as in the United States," Geo. T. Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario League told Judge Landis on Saturday when a delegation of minor league presidents called on the newly-appointed one-man baseball commission to tell him they favored coming under his direction. "Your appointment is the greatest thing in the world," he told Judge Landis, and the good I know will result from it must not be confined to the United States. The support of these men for the reorganization plan almost assures the entrance by the minor leagues, it is believed by baseball men here.

TORONTO, 34; QUEEN'S, 2.

New Plan To Assist Boxing Promoters

Proposition Made by Kid McCoy in Arranging of Future Bout.

Kid McCoy advances the idea that state boxing commissions should give each fighter a rating so match-makers would have something to guide them in arranging cards.

McCoy says there should be no more difficulty in arranging the boxes in their proper classes than the handicapper at the racetrack has in allocating the weights for a big handi-capped. Several of these handicappers have been made by men interested in the ring sport.

The following table gives one an idea of the standing of the 20 leading heavyweights:

- 1—Jack Dempsey.
- 2—Harry Wills.
- 3—Jess Willard.
- 4—Fred Fulton.
- 5—Georges Carpentier.
- 6—Bill Brennan.
- 7—Barley Madden.
- 8—Billy Mike.
- 9—Bob Martin.
- 10—Gene Tunney.
- 11—Willie Meahan.
- 12—Battling Levinsky.
- 13—Charlie Welton.
- 14—Frank Moran.
- 15—Tom Cowler.
- 16—Martin Burke.
- 17—Joe Beckett.
- 18—Bob Roper.
- 19—Gunboat Smith.
- 20—Al Reich.

That Dempsey belongs on top no one will dispute but as far as the others every fan will have his own idea and all will be different. Harry Wills may not be the next best but judging by the way he disposed of Fulton recently he cannot be rated much lower.

Willard's exact status is something of a mystery. Many persons think he was a great champion when he was at the top of his form but just as many think he was a false alarm. His present condition is unknown, although he is reported to be training for a comeback against Dempsey next winter. Whether Willard ever was or whether he still is a great fighter, there is no one thing that cannot be taken away from him—when it comes to absorbing punishment he is a real iron man. He proved this at Toledo, when he took the worst beating ever handed a champion.

Fulton deserves to be rated fourth, because none of those classed below him cares to take a chance in the ring with the tall plucker. Fulton is not of championship caliber, but he is a terror when matched against a second rater. He proved that by practically cleaning up the heavyweights class with the exception of Dempsey and Willard.

Carpentier must be taken on trust.

Toronto Arena Fiasco Cleared

Bill Gannon and Manager Guilty of Fake and $500 Purse Forfeited.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—The Ontario Athletic Commission, at a meeting Monday night cleared up finally the completely the fiasco of November 13 at the Toronto arena, in which Bill Gannon, of Philadelphia, mismanaged the fight. The evidence submitted by matchmaker Lou Moran, who put on the entertainment for the Great War Veterans' Association, consisted of affidavits to the effect that Smith, who managed Gannon, manifested before and after the fight that his man was Burns. Copies of all the wires between Smith and Mr. Moran failed utterly to show that Smith sent the message he claims he did—that he was bringing a failure to Burns he was bringing a substitute.

There was absolutely nothing to show that Mr. Moran was in any way a party to the deception, and the commission completely exonerated him and the G. W. V. A. from any complicity therein. Smith and Gannon were adjudged guilty of the whole business, their $500 purse was forfeited to the commission and their cards cancelled. In addition, their action has been reported to the Philadelphia authorities for further action.

As he has not been tried out against the best of the American heavyweights. But judging by the way he handled Gunboat Smith when the latter was one of the leading contenders and the result of his bout with Joe Jeannette, the sportsman Frenchman deserves to be rated fifth. The five men named are the stars of the division. There is a big gap between Carpentier and the next in line, Bill Brennan probably deserves to be rated sixth, on the basis of a fairly good showing against Dempsey, lasting six rounds, whereas most of the men Dempsey faced went to sleep in less than half that number.

Brennan has a long list of achievements to his credit, although 85 per cent of the men he stopped were set-ups.

Barley Madden recently held the British title, and appears to be his equal in every respect. Madden is not a hard hitter, but he has had plenty of experience and has learned how to take care of himself in any but the toughest company.

Billy Mike had been out of the ring so long before he met Dempsey, recently that his present status is not exactly clear. Dempsey's championship was no easier that it looks as though Mike's long illness has ruined him as a fighter.

Gagetown Women's Institute Holds Successful Fund

Handsome Sum Realized Soldiers' Memorial Fund.

Gagetown, Nov. 13.—The Gagetown Women's Institute added to its successful fund in aid of the Soldiers' Memorial Fund, on Saturday evening, when they gave a very able "Hallowe'en Fair" in the old mar School buildings, which through their efforts were purchased last year for the Gagetown Soldiers' Memorial committee. The fair was transformed by Hallowe'en decorations of jack 'o lanterns, black cats and other grotesque figures of the season. The Hallowe'en costumes worn by young ladies in charge of the different booths, containing a very beautiful assortment of work, was in charge of Mrs. B. Bridges, president of the institute. Mrs. B. Bridges, Mrs. George E. McEwen, Mrs. Charles H. Jones, and Missie Dickie. The home cooking consisted with all kinds of good and attractively decorated, was in charge of Mrs. J. P. Reid, and Mrs. M. Jenkins. In one of the auto-transformation by Oriental hanging, the candlelight, a gifted Hallowe'en scene of old-fashioned, by the center of the hall was the trimmed candy booth, where Zilda Wood and Miss Theolina Greedy sold delicious homemade pies in boxes of original design. A corner, filled with spruce bough which perched a wise looking owl was placed an enormous old-fashioned black iron cauldron, presided over by a witch and a ghost, who gave a bowl from the kettle in exchange for a piece of silver. GAGETOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE HOLDS SUCCESSFUL FAIR

Handsome Sum Realized for Soldiers' Memorial Hall Fund.

Gagetown, Nov. 13.—The Gagetown Women's Institute added to the list of their successful affairs in aid of the Memorial Hall Fund, on Saturday evening, when they gave a very enjoyable Halloween Fair in the old Grammar School buildings, which largely through their efforts were purchased this year for the Gagetown Soldiers' Memorial Hall committee. The interior was transformed by Halloween decorations of jack-o'-lanterns, wreaths, black cats and other gruesome trappings of the season. The most brilliant costumes worn by the young ladies in charge of the different booths added much to the effect. The busy work booth, containing a large and beautiful assortment of needlework, was in charge of Mrs. H. B. Bridges, president of the institute. Mrs. B. Read, Mrs. George E. McEwen, Mrs. Charles H. Jones, and Miss Annie Dickie. The home cooking booth, stocked with all kinds of good things and attractively decorated, was in charge of Mrs. J. F. Reid, and Mrs. W. M. Jenkins. In one of the auto-rooms, transformed by Oriental hangings and still candlelight, a gifted Halloween necromancer told fortunes by palmistry in the centre of the hall was the prettily trimmed candy booth, where Miss Zaida Wood and Miss Thelma McCready sold delicious homemade candy in boxes of original design. In a dim corner, filled with spruce boughs, on which perched a wise looking owl, was placed an enormous old-fashioned black iron cauldron, presided over by a witch and a ghost, who gave a parcel from the kettle in exchange for a piece of silver. Miss Lucille Bridges and Robert Robinson were in charge of this feature. Delicious ice cream was sold at the booth in charge of Mrs. Wm. C. Byles, Mrs. Wm. Weston and Miss L. M. Peters. Guessing the number of seeds in a large pumpkin, donated by Mrs. John Johnson, and looked after by Miss Greta Rubins, provided much interest. The prize, a fountain pen, was won by Mrs. J. F. Reid, who guessed within one of the correct number. A handsome Plymouth Rock, neatly capped, donated by Mrs. George McDermott, invited guesses as to his name. Many celebrities were remembered, but no one guessed "U. S." and the fowl was put up at auction, and bought by Fred Pearce. Mrs. Arthur Walker was in charge of this contest. A grim-looking witch in a black dress, with Charles H. Jones as manager, had a thriving business; while in the primary room, dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by F. W. Burpee; a handsome English diamond ring, generously donated by Harry Warwick, of St. John, in charge of Miss Molly Otty, was won by Mrs. F. Mont Belyea of Gagetown. Four tickets were sold by J. F. Reid, R. R. Reid and Thomas Allingham. The poor prize, a box of cigars, was won by J. S. Sutherland, who handed them back to be auctioned. The English doctor and a "peewee" wool sweater, was also auctioned, along with the few goods remaining at the various booths. The splendid sum of $270 was taken in by the institute, and owing to the many generous donations to all the booths, the expenses were very small. Among the many to whom thanks are due for the success of the affair are E. J. Smith of Vassie and Company; Frank L. Riley of Hall and Fairweather; John Owens; A. Harding of J. and A. McMillan; J. J. Gillies of Waterbury and Rising; Harry Warwick, of O. H. Warwick and Sons, St. John; The Gagetown Women's Institute and many ladies in Upper Gagetown, St. John, and elsewhere, who donated fancy work; J. B. Moorehouse, of Medical White's lumber camp; N. H. Otty, F. W. Burpee, H. W. S. Allingham, J. F. Weston and many others.

BRITAIN FACED BY SERIOUS PROBLEM OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Situation Promises to be Worst in Thirty Years—High Wages to Blame.

By SIDNEY B. CAVE. (Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.)

London, Nov. 13.—Great Britain is faced by the greatest unemployment problem known in thirty years according to labor experts. The government seeing the rocks ahead is hastily organizing relief plans and arranging construction schemes in London and the provinces to provide work for thousands of unemployed during the coming winter. Hard times are predicted in the shipbuilding yards in the north of England where ship owners are refusing orders to build owing to fluctuating prices and conditions. Due to high wages, the book binding industry is gradually going out of business. The increase in wages has more than doubled the cost of production in the past four months and publishers are sending work to Holland and Belgium. As a result, thousands of book binders are idle.

High Wages and Short Hours.

High wages, shorter hours and restricted output, experts say. "Labor is attempting to insist on post war conditions being run upon war conditions, but it cannot be done," said P. A. MacKenzie, a leading economic publicist. "Germany is recovering her manufacturing power, her people work harder, with low wages, and this is a vital factor in international competition. America is paying very high wages which the advantages of cheap raw material and a greater use of labor saving machinery with a greater output, and are able to produce more cheaply than we can in many of our industries. England is flooded with quantities of American and German goods which are underselling our own markets, and not only the home market, but foreign markets in the Argentine and Shanghai. The flood will be greater in the months to come." Mr. MacKenzie says the remedy lies in a plan whereby the profits of a greater production would be shared by the employers and employees on a permanent basis.

He had finished his task, Paresi appeared and was placed under arrest. A police reserve badge was found on his person. Paresi will be arraigned before a United States Commissioner today. He gave his age as 35 and said he was a laborer.

LEAGUE MAY ASK HARDING TO SEND A REPRESENTATIVE

If Wilson Refuses President-Elect Will Receive Invitation to Take Part at Geneva

By SYDNEY B. CAVE. (Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.) London, Nov. 14.—Diplomatic precedents may be shattered at the next meeting of assembly of the League of Nations, if President-Elect Harding accepts the invitation which may be expected him to send a representative to the session. Never before in history is there a record of so important an international conference receiving into its deliberations a representative of any but the ruling power of a nation. Entente diplomats have been making earnest efforts to induce the United States to send a representative to the assembly at Geneva next week. It is their desire to have the United States cooperate in the work of the league and if it is impossible for President Wilson to send a representative they are prepared to ask Senator Harding to have some one who will speak for the policy of the new administration. It might not be able to bind it to agreements reached, but they would expect him to be spokesman for Senator Harding and outline the policies of the new administration would adopt. No Value Without U. S.

The entente government feel that the will be of little value without participation by the United States. The Government has been quick to seize on the American elections, for nullifying the decisions of the League council, and to claim that with America, one of the chief figures in ending the war, absent from the deliberations growing out of the treaty of peace, that no formal weight attaches to the rulings of the League.

The Proper Size.

"There," said an old crowsy to a friend to whom he was showing the sights of a Scottish town, "that is the statue of Balfie Black." "Is it no' a guid bit bigger than life-size, tho'?" queried the other. "Oh! ay, it's a' that, but its no' a bit bigger than the Balfie thoobt himself!"—Tit-Bits.

GARIBOLDI PRESIDENT GOT "LOVE GIFTS"

Danish Socialists Gave Him Butter and Bacon in Return for Favors Received.

By VIGGO TOPFER. (Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.) Berlin, Nov. 13.—A sensation has been caused here by reports of a revelation in a court of justice at Copenhagen that President Ebert of the German Republic is receiving "love gifts" from Danish socialists, who in return have received such special favors as the president was able to grant through his official position. The gifts were usually bacon and butter and other provisions which are now at a price beyond price in Germany. Max Imilian Harden had a representative present at the trial preparing a new editorial attack on the German Government.

POLICE MAKE BIG HAUL OF DRUGS

Narcotics Valued at $200,000 Seized in New York—Main Source of Supply.

New York, Nov. 13.—Narcotics having a wholesale value of $50,000 and a vendor's value of $200,000, were confiscated by federal agents and members of the narcotics squad of the police department in a raid tonight on the apartment of Sams Parese, 35 Madison street. Acting Captain Henry Scherr and Ralph Oyster of the Internal Revenue Department, who conducted the raid, believe they have run down the source of supply of vendors who have been very active recently in the district.

The police have been puzzled over the case with which vendors on the lower east side have been able to obtain such ready supplies. Today one of the detectives of the narcotics squad purchased cocaine from a itinerant dealer, and from information obtained from the man decided to raid Parese's home. When the detective and federal agents knocked at the door of the apartment on the top floor of 35 Madison street they found only Mrs. Parese and her five children at home.

Find Big Supplies.

According to the police and federal agents, they found quantities of cocaine, morphine and heroin concealed in various places about the apartment. In addition to the drugs the police found several apothecary scales and fifty travellers' cheques amounting to $2,000 drawn on the order of the First National Bank of Chicago. The cheque book was taken away by the federal agents, who said that this was the favorite medium of exchange used by illicit dealers in getting supplies of drugs from Canada. While searching the place the detectives came across a large quantity of money containing about $10,000 in coins and bills of various denominations. This was not touched.

Refinery Manager Leaves The City

Lewis J. Seidensticker Will Reside Permanently in Montreal.

Lewis J. Seidensticker, local manager, who has been in Montreal the past six weeks looking after the interests of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries in the mix-up in sugar markets, is to remain there permanently and conduct the affairs for the different plants from that city.

A Serious Loss. His removal from St. John to Montreal will be a serious loss to the business interests of the city. Localizing here with the establishment of the plant of the Atlantic Refinery as its general superintendent, he has been a most valuable aid in furthering the business interests of the city and was always active and among the first to do those things that would boom St. John. His wise counsels were always sought at Board of Trade meetings and at other gatherings where questions for the city's good were under discussion. Of sound business judgment, keen in the analysis of business propositions, his advice has been of incalculable value to St. John and its interests.

The Succession. Mr. Seidensticker's family will remove to Montreal just as soon as a suitable home for their occupancy is found. In the meantime Mr. Seidensticker is living in the city. It is understood that David Hunt, who has been assisting Mr. Seidensticker, will succeed to the position of general superintendent of the company's plant here.

Neighbors Are In Trouble Over Hens

Elmer Fullerton of Riverside Lost Three Hens, Chester Peck Blamed, Case in Court

In Riverside, Albert county, there are neighbors, Elmer Fullerton and Chester Peck, who keep hens, when they are together. Last summer three of Fullerton's hens developed warty tendencies, and formed a habit of wandering from home, visiting acquaintances over in the Peck yard. On one particular occasion they forgot to come back. Three weeks after, a member of the Fullerton family recognized "Minnie," a wanderer from the fold, in Peck's hen yard. Minnie and her two companions were identified from a distance.

Following the discovery of the whereabouts of the hens, a search warrant, or words to that effect, was issued against Chester Peck. The hearing came up before Judge Stevens, but owing to lack of experience or some error the wrong paper was served, Peck being given the original paper instead of the duplicate, or some legal complication like that. The case was dismissed and the hens returned to Fullerton.

Later the magistrate thought that in view of developments it would be well for him to keep the hens in closer custody, so they were corralled and kept under restraint. Brought Action. On the dismissal of the case, Chester Peck brought action against Frank Fullerton for malicious prosecution, and the case was heard during a considerable part of last week before Chief Justice McKeown at the circuit court at Hopewell. A great mass of evidence was produced, including close identification of the hens. It will be a matter of regret to many friends to know that "Minnie" has a twisted tail, while another of her companions has a lame leg, but all answer to their names which, although not those given to Job's daughters, are equally familiar to their owner.

A considerable number of the legal lights of the province, including Senator Fowler, J. F. H. Teed and others participated in the trial, which was adjourned until the present week when argument will be heard.

TUXIS BOYS ARE ENTERTAINED

Williston delivered a very instructive and interesting lecture on the Spirit of the Tuxis programme, after which games on the gym floor and relay races took place.

The Portland Methodist boys obtained the highest number of points. Basketball was also indulged in, a game taking place between Fairville and the boys of the Fairville Baptist church. The latter won by the score of 4 to 2.

AFTER CHURCH SOCIAL MEETING

The social meetings held after church at St. David's are proving most popular, and the singing of familiar hymns is greatly enjoyed. Last evening consisted of a song by Fred Punter, a duet by Misses Phyll McGowan and Jessie Jamieson, and a duet by Fred Punter and his son, Alfred. The pleasant social time ended with the singing of a hymn.

Impressive Ceremony in St. Luke's Yesterday When Bronze Tablet Unveiled.

An impressive ceremony took place in St. Luke's Church at yesterday's morning service when a bronze tablet was unveiled in memory of the twenty-five soldiers members who fell during the Great War.

Tablet Unveiled. Lieut.-Col. W. H. Harrison unveiled the tablet, which was dedicated by the Rev. R. P. McKim, and the last post was sounded by Corporal Bridgen. The Dead March in Saul was then played by the organist, and brief addresses were delivered by Lieut.-Col. Harrison and the Rev. Mr. McKim.

After paying tribute to the men who had fallen for the cause of righteousness and truth, Colonel Harrison reminded those who still remained that it was their duty to carry on the torch thrown down by the martyred ones, in doing so the ideals they had cherished and died for would still live.

The Rector's Address. The rector, in addressing the congregation, emphasized the necessity of thanksgiving after deliverance from the might of the Hun. He pointed out how the British Empire had on four occasions been protected from the domination of a foreign foe. Armada was defeated, Nelson proved victorious at Trafalgar, Napoleon was overthrown at Waterloo, and, again, in the last war Divine Providence had favored the British Empire.

His remarks to those who had loved ones in the war were very sympathetic and kind. The tablet, a handsome brass, one is situated on the left hand side, and near the front of the church.

The membership at June 30, 1920, stood at three hundred and three, and since that date several more have been added to the roll and prospects for the coming fall and winter are good.

The lodge members played well their part in the great world struggle, and five of them made the supreme sacrifice. Knights R. S. Wilson, W. M. Henderson, J. H. Leary, Frank Elliott and H. H. Ellis. In all fourteen members of the lodge have crossed into the eternal and prospects for the coming fall and winter are good.

West St. John Case Was Investigated

No Intention Towards Cruelty Although Man's Arms Indicated He Had Been Tied.

The case of the aged man in West St. John, said to be demented, and who, according to local reports, was found handcuffed to a bedpost, has been under investigation, and on Friday, although the arms of the man upon examination, indicated that he might have been tied. This, however, was denied by the occupants of the house, and it would appear that the man was somewhat demented. Conditions at the time of examination on Saturday were not of the nature rumored, and it is not certain whether or not any further steps will be taken by the authorities.

Appeared Demented. On Saturday Mr. Wetmore, accompanied by a local physician, again called and this time was admitted. From what could be gathered then there was no intention towards cruelty, although the arms of the man upon examination, indicated that he might have been tied. This, however, was denied by the occupants of the house, and it would appear that the man was somewhat demented. Conditions at the time of examination on Saturday were not of the nature rumored, and it is not certain whether or not any further steps will be taken by the authorities.

Liability to Penalty. In connection with the refusal of admission to the Secretary of the Society, it might be pointed out that, under Chapter 53, April, 1911, Consolidated Statutes of New Brunswick, any person who shall interfere with or obstruct any officer or agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty in the discharge of his duties, shall be liable, on summary conviction before two Justices of the peace or a Stipendiary Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding $100, or, in default of payment, to imprisonment not exceeding three months.

JANUARY FUR PRICES IN NOVEMBER

On another page of this issue D. Magee's Sons, Ltd., are featuring some extra fine bargains in seasonal fur. The prices quoted are so exceptional at this time of the year that they smack the end of the season rather than its inception. Those who are trained in recognizing values in furs will lose no time in taking advantage in the prices offered.

Ten Pounds of Sugar At $1.30

Retail Price Low in St. John Saturday — "Big Four" in Montreal Cutting.

With sugar retailing in the city at $1.30 for ten pounds Saturday, and the "Big Four" in Montreal cutting and slashing, irrespective of each other's wishes, a still greater drop in the price of sugar may be looked for during the present week. Friday sugar was sold in Montreal by the refineries at $1.40 net, less 6 per cent. Saturday the Dominion Sugar Company dropped the price to $1.25 per cwt., less 5 per cent, bringing it to $1.14 to the wholesaler.

Move is Followed. The move on the part of the Dominion Co. was immediately followed by the Atlantic, Canada and Canada Refineries, and the prospects are that a further marked reduction in prices will follow. The open competition, led by the Dominion Company, is due to the fact that the company has a heavy supply of best sugar crop, and, by the arrangement with the farmers, are able to sell at a low price without suffering as heavy losses as the case sugar companies.

The Lowest Figure. At the lowest figure reached by the retailers Saturday, $1.40 counting discount, the wholesalers were able to job it out at $1.25 per cwt., and the consumer on Saturday's purchases was the winner.

The housewife, who has been held up and unable to make her usual supply of marmalade because of high sugar prices, may yet be able to secure her supply of sugar at reasonable prices and go on manufacturing delicacies.

TWO AUTOMOBILES CRASHED TOGETHER

Collision on Corner of Queen and Carmarthen Streets — Both Cars Damaged.

What might have proved a far more serious accident resulting in the loss of limb and possibly life, occurred at the corner of Carmarthen and Queen streets on Saturday afternoon shortly after two o'clock. Two automobiles, one driving along Carmarthen street and the other on Queen street collided in a most forcible manner, and, according to reports, the drivers of both cars claim they did not see each other until it was too late to avoid the accident. As a result, the first car suffered a broken front wheel and axle, and by the force of the contact apparently its engine was driven right upon the sidewalk and against the door steps of a house adjoining the shop at the corner. The running board and mud guard of the second car were smashed, but fortunately no bodily injuries resulted.

TWO SUBMARINES COMING TO ST. JOHN

F. A. McFadden, representing the New Brunswick Rolling Mills, purchasers of the Niobe and two submarines now at the Halifax dockyard, and also representing Nagle & Wigmore, of St. John, was in Halifax Saturday. He states that the submarines will likely be towed to St. John this week by Nagle & Wigmore's tug Murray Stewart, under the supervision of Mr. J. H. Leary, of the shipyard, Dartmouth. The Niobe, he said, will likely be left in Halifax for the winter.

SPECIAL SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

Yesterday's services at St. Mary's Church were very largely attended. Mr. W. S. Williston continuing to give forceful and interesting addresses. His subject yesterday was Regeneration. At the morning service a number of children have been attending the children's meetings in the afternoons throughout the week, were present in the church, occupying the front benches in the afternoon. Mr. Williston spoke of the Sunday School teachers, and in the evening it was necessary to bring chairs into the church to accommodate the congregation.

Which Blade is Yours? You shave with the first blade—unless you use an Auto Strop Safety Razor. Shaving causes a saw-like edge to form on the blade, and the edge becomes dull. Stropping realigns the edge and brings the blade back to its original "business." That's why the Auto-Strop Razor has such a large sale. Because men realize that no razor can do good work without constant stropping. Stropping—shaving—cleaning are done without removing the blade from the razor. AutoStrop SAFETY RAZOR. Razor—strop—12 blades—$5. W. H. THORNE & CO., LIMITED. Store Hours:—9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Open Saturdays till 10 p. m.
