Commissary of Police Says Death Was Accidental-Dreyfus Case Recalled.

ATTRIBUTED TO DRUGS. Paris, Sept. 29. - A druggist, who was the first to arrive at the house in order to attend Zola and his wife, said: "When I entered the bedroom, M. Zola was partly lying on the floor amid matter thrown up from his stomach. No special odor likely to cause asphyxiation was then distinguishable. The two victims, moreover, did not present exclusive symptoms of asphyxiation. Their faces were contocted and their lips were bloodless, but not violet colored. I think," he added, "it probable that the accident was caused by inhaling heavy carbonic gas,

DREYFUS CASE RECALLED. Emile Zola was a novelist of the naturalistic school of fiction. He was born in Paris, April 2. 1840, and educated at the Lycee St. Louis. In 1865 he wrote some of his early studies of Parisian low, life. He first appeared as a novelist in "Contes a Ninon," "La Confession de Claude," and "Les Mysteries de Marseilles."

In 1867 he began to attract attention by his coarse but powerful delineation of the crimes, weaknesses and loathmeness of Parisian social life. His works soon stamped him as a a great novelist. To procure his studies Zola donned a workman's blouse and went into the slums to view the scenes he depicted with relentless force and realism. In 1877 appared "L'Assom-moir," depicting the vice of drunkenness. He aspired in vain to a seat in the French Academy. To appease that body and sweeten the savor of his name, he wrote the charming idyll "Le Reve" ("The Dream"), but without

On Jan. 10, 1898, three years after the secret trial and conviction of Capt. Alfred Dreyfus for having sold French military secrets to a foreign power, and his sentence to Devil's Island, Zola published in L'Aurore a letter addressed to Felix Faure, president of France, in which he accused Lieut.-Col. du Paty de Clam of having been the author of the original judicial error committed in the conviction of Capt. Dreyfus, and charged chiefs of

CONFERENCE AT PHILADELPHIA

The Operators Say: "Give Us Protection and We Will Give You Coal."

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 29. - Mr. Mitchell positively refused to make any statement as to the object of his visit to the Quaker City. The district presidents were also silent. The feeling is very strong at headquarters that a settlement of some kind is pending. Philadelphia, Sept. 29. — A mysterious conference took place in this city today between President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America; Secretary-Treasurer W. B. Wilson, District Presidents Nicholls, Duffy and Fahey, and an unknown person whose identity the other parties to the conference refused to divulge. At the office of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company it was stated positively that no official of that company had been present at the meeting. A member of Mr. Mitchell's party, who declined to allow the use of his name, made the following statement: "Anyone can readily understand that only a matter of the first importance in relation to the strike would bring President Mitchell, Secretary Wilson, and District Presidents Nicholls, Duffy and Fahey, who form the executive board of the United Mine Workers, to this city together. There must necessarily be continued conferences and negotiations with the coal operating interests before the strike can be set-tled."

VERY MYSTERIOUS. Messrs. Mitchell and Wilson arrived Messrs. Mitchell and Wilson arrived here at 7:30 o'clock this morning from Pittsburg, where they had held a conference last Friday. The three district presidents, and John J. Keegan, business agent of the International Association of Machinists, and the sociation of Machinists, met the miners' chief at the railroad station. After a hasty breakfast the party proceeded to the office of Mr. Keegan. After remaining there about 30 minutes President Mitchell went to the Hotel Walton and was shown to a private room. Gobin tonight for troops to suppress the rioting in Northumberland County. The general called up Gov. Stone by telephone and stated the situation after which the executive ordered out the Fourth Regiment. A portion of the regiment will be located at Shenandoah and the remainder at Mount Carmel. Two of the companies of this regiment have been in the field for two months.

Had Worked Seventeen Days and Nights at the Pump.

Hamburg, Sept. 30.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Pennsylvania, from New York, Sept. 16, for Hamburg, which reached Plymouth last Friday and landed the crew of the Norwegian bark Bothnia, which had been abandoned in a sinking condition Sept. 24, and which was set on fire previous to being deserted, arrived here today. The captain reports that the crew of the Bothnia were rescued in an exhausted condition after having worked at the pumps for seven-teen days and nights. The bark was on the verge of sinking when the Pennsylvania sighted her. Capt. Hansen, her commander, decided to set fire to the vessel before leaving her, to avoid the possibility of the Bothnia interfering with navigation. The Bothnia sailed from Bridgewater, N. S., Aug. 27, for Swansea. She was formerly named the Markland. She was built at St. Martin's, N. B., in 1871, and owned by L. Rafin.

Henry Kahn's Bail Bonds at Niagara Falls Were Worthless.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 20. - Special Agent of the Treasury Department Charles E. Lewis has identified a photograph of Henry Kahn, arrested at Bay City, Mich., as the picture of Herman Herwitz, arrested here June 2, 1898, for smuggling phenacetine. Herwitz was tried, sentenced to Auburn for a year, but pending an appear was bailed. He left suddenly and his bail was found worthless. Previous to his capture here Herwitz tried to get in the country at Detroit. At Windsor, he, by mistake, bought a ticket for Walkerville Junction, instead of Walkerville. Lewis obtained his trunk and marked all the goods in it. Herwitz went to Walkerville Junction, learned his mistake, and the Detroit officers on the trail walked to Walkerville with him. Apparently all retired for the night, but Herwitz drove back to the junction for his trunk. Next morning he crossed the river without it, was tipped about being watched, and recrossed to Canada and took a train for Chatham, a Detroit officer following. He managed to fool the officer and hastened on to London, where he changed his goods from the trunk to two valises, also changing his hat, Then he came to Niagara Falls and crossed at Chippewa above the falls. Next morning Special Agent Lewis captured him on a train. It is expected Herwitz will be brought back

THE COAL FIELDS OF PENNSYLVANIA

Glance at the Place Where Miners Find Anthracite.

A COMPARATIVELY SMALL AREA

It Covers About 472 Square Miles-Hard Coal in Other States Doesn't Count.

New York, Sept. 30 .- Coal consumers who are anxiously looking to that section of the United States that furnishes them with hard fuel have little conception of the narrow confines within which the rich deposit is found. It is all in Pennsylvania, and if the whole of the three big fields were brought together in one compact body it would long and 22 miles wide. Yet the anthracite production reaches all the way from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 tons a year. THREE CHIEF FIELDS.

There are three principal fields, all in the northeastern corner of the State. The southern, or Schuylkill, field is a long, narrow trough or basin inclosed by a continuous mountain called Locust or Broad Mountain on the north, and Sharp Mountain on the south. There are several deep cuts in these mountain barriers down to the valley through which various streams pass, forming the drainage of the country and affording convenient locations for railways to carry the coal to market. In this field there are 146 square miles.

The second district comprises the Shamokin, Mahanoy and Lehigh the highest ground between the waters of the Schuylkill on the south, the Lehigh on the east, the Susquehanna on the west, in the midst of a dense chain of mountains extending across the entire country between the last two rivers. In this field of anthracite there are 128 square miles. The third section is the Wyoming and Lackawanna, and it is the largest and finest of the great anthracite coal basins. It rests in a beautiful valley, a solid, unbroken field 50 miles long and from 4 to 5 miles wide, and con-

In the three fields described there are 472 square miles that are underlaid with the now precious fuel. HOW NAMED.

In most instances these famous fields get their names from the rivers that drain the country and in places wash the mountain bases. The north branch of the Susquehanna River is formed by the junction of the Chemung with the Susquehanna in Bradford county, just within the northern boundary of the State. Thence it pursues a southeasterly course 100 miles to Pittston, cutting a valley 500 to 1,000 feet deep, first farther south through the old red sandstone or Catskill group, the dip of

IN OTHER STATES. Rhode Island and Massachusetts both have anthracite coal deposits, but it is of inferior grade and, it is said, practically unfit for use. Arkansas has deposits of this kind of fuel, but practically little is being mined, and Kansas City would take all that the State could produce, so that today the country is wont to depend on the great State of Pennsylvania to warm the shins of its people. LABOR LEADERS IN CONFERENCE olic Order of Foresters; secretary, Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson, of the United Mine Workers, arrived this Knights of St. John; treasurer, Caspar morning from Pittsburg. FOURTEEN MONTHS IN BED

Cong Period of Suffering of Mr. Kerno han at Last Brought to a Happy Termiration.

Gelert, Ont., Sept. 29.-(Special).-Mr. Samuel Kernohan, of this place, was laid up for over fourteen months. He was very ill, and five doctors attended him without any improvement in his unfortunate condition. Three of the doctors said he had "Floating Kidney" and that nothing could cure him. The other two said it was "Spinas Disease," but agreed with the others that his case was absolutely incurable.

Mr. Kernohan was advised in this hopeless extremity to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they cured him completely. He says: "After I had taken three boxes I was able to walk about, but I con-tinued till I had taken in all about eighteen boxes. I then felt as well as ever I did, and have worked almost every day since, although that is over eeven years ago."

WELL COSTS $200,000

Fortune Spent on Useless Artesian Well During Thirty-Six Years.

Paris, Sept. 29.—It was decided in 1866 to make an artesian well at the Butte Aux-Cailles, in the Gobelins quarter. After a depth of 200 meters was reached the war began, and the work was suspended. Nothing was done till 1892, when it was determined to continue the work, and the excavation was carried down 887 meters, but no drinkable water was found, though water was obtained with a temperature of 84 degrees Fahrenheit, impregnated with iron, which was used by the workmen for washing.

The most curious point is that this quarter for a long time past has been abundantly supplied with water. The useless work has cost about a million francs ($200,000).

TWO LADIES KILLED

Struck at Crossing on Their Way Home From Church.

Paris, Ont., Sept. 28.-Mrs. Allen Edgar and Miss Agnes Gourlay met with a violent death at the G.T.R. crossing on Grand River street at 12:30 this afternoon, as they were driving home from church, and Wallace Edgar, son of the former, was seriously injured. Two eastbound freight trains, running a few minutes apart at a good rate of speed, came along just as the congregation of the Presbyterian Church, were making their way homeward. The Edgar rig and another halted when Flagman Skelly held them back, and when the first train passed they moved on, not expecting another to follow so close after the first. They discovered the second when they were too near the crossing to turn, so they made an effort to cross, with the result that the rig and horse were struck fairly in the side by the engine with tremendous force.

The horse was killed and the rig was demolished. Mrs. Edgar was thrown against the fence and died from her injuries in a few minutes. Miss Agnes Gourlay, of Ayr, was hurled about 100 feet and was killed instantly. Wallace Edgar, aged 15, son of Mrs. Edgar, escaped with his life, though he was carried on the front tion by the conductor. It was found that Wallace had no bones broken, but

MONEY RATES GOING HIGHER

Liquidation the Order of the Day on Monday.

CALL LOANS AT THE CLOSE 35

An Exciting Day on the New York Exchange After a Weak

New York, Sept. 29 .- The stock market opened weak this morning and the liquidation was continued in varying degree all day. During the last hour of business belated borrowers found the supply of available funds exhausted, and they ran the money rate up quickly to 35 per cent. Meantime there was a wholesale throwing over of stock all around the room, and the aspect of things was rapidly taking on an appearance of panic, when the president's gavel fell and trading was ended for the day. Prices were still tumbling rapidly in all directions, and the one or two feverish rallies, where the bears were scrambling to take quick profits, made no impression on the general demoralization of the market. Some of the principal losses were Louisville 111/8, St. Pau, 195%, Atchison 67%, Illinois Central 61/8, Pennsylvania 51/8, Baltimore and Ohio 5%, Canadian Pacific 6, Northwestern 6%, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric 8 each, Manhattan 51/8, and a long list of prominent stocks over four points. The local banks were entirely out of the money market and the trust comand of individual lenders made up the available supply.

It was evident that many security holders hoped that rates would work easier today because of the considerable margin of surplus reserves re-vealed by Saturday's bank statement. This class held off during the early part of the day from supplying their needs, hoping that they could thus maintain the serenity of the money market. A WILD SCRAMBLE.

The call loan rate was pretty quiet up to noon at about 15 per cent. It flurried during the noon hour to 20 per cent, when the demand again became less urgent. The consequence was a wild scramble during the final hour to secure loans and a general sacrifice of holdings on the part of those who could not secure accommodation. The events of the latter part of last week admonished the banking community that there was a speculative element preparation of the case. George Yousabsolutely persisting in a determination to place all the funds they could secure in marginal holdings of stocks. Further accommodation for this purpose was peremptorily refused by the banks.

The money and credits locked up in speculative commitments in the stock market have not left enough to meet the interior demand of circulation and the sub-treasury demand for customs payments.

SHORT WAY TO RELIEF. Apparently all interests arrived at common determination today to take the short way to the only means of relief available, which was by selling out stocks and paying off loans. Only tomorrow's developments can prove how far the necessary work has been

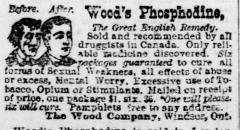

The disappointment over the failure of St. Paul directors to propose a stock increase, the uneasiness of the Louisville minority stockholders as to how they are to be treated in the transfer of control and the further surgical treatment necessitated by the Presi-dent's wounded leg intensified the depression in the stock market, but all other considerations were eclipsed by the difficulty of borrowing money to

MORGAN DEFIED BY ROOSEVELT

A Shock Received by the Big Financier.

WAS COMPARED TO A STRIKER

Said To Be Holding Up Settlement of Coal Strike to Injure the President.

Chicago, Sept. 29.-A Washington special to the Inter-Ocean says: "I am neither a bull nor a bear on Morgan stocks. I am President of the United States and sworn to execute the law. I will proceed against you or any of your combinations as quickly as I would against a striker, not because I am opposed to either capital or labor, except as either of them is a violator of the laws of the country."

This is the exact language used by President Roosevelt in reply to the protests of J. Pierpont Morgan against the action of the attorney-general in bringing suit against the Northern Securities Company.

RECEIVED A SHOCK. When he said this to Morgan the great financier was shocked. No other man had ever talked to him with such frankness, comparing him with a striker who breaks the law. He went back to New York convinced that Theodore Roosevelt was not qualified for the presidency, and he began planning to prevent the nomination of Roosevelt in 1904. He has been at work on these plans ever since. He wants a conservative president, who can have the confidence of the "business interests" of the country. Morgan regards himself and his combination as the greatest factors in the business interests, and, if allowed to have his way, he would increase their importance before the election in 1804, President Roosevelt has not sought to interfere with Morgan because of business, or personal, or political reasons. The offense he has given Morgan is purely incidental, due to the en-forcement of a United States statue.

CONTINUAL MISERY

At Times the Pain Was So Great That the Sufferer Would Faint.

Maurice Best, of Southern Harbor, Newfoundland, has committed to paper a tale of sickness and suffering, which is almost beyond belief. He

RISING AGAINST EDUCATION BILL

Effective Force of Passive Resistance.

NONCONFORMISTS ARE UNITED

a futile menace of passive resistance to law and order which would recoil against them. It has served the purpose of rallying the forces of Nonconformity and greatly invigorating them. Much is now said about passive resistance. Dr. Nicoll asserts that ninetenths of the local bodies connected with the Free Church Council have recommended this drastic policy, and that leaders like Dr. Clifford, Dr. Parker and the Rev. J. R. Booth will refuse to pay the rates if clause seven of the education bill is enacted. The Congregational Union by an overwhelming majority has sanctioned passive resistance, and the Baptist Union is likely to adopt a similar course. These threats, if carried out, would force the local authorities to sell the furniture of the Nonconformists re-fusing to pay the rates, and would throw the whole country into a state of lawlessness and turmoil. Passive resistance is a tremendous resource if the Nonconformist voters are thoroughly in earnest, and the popular uprising against Premier Balfour's bill indicates that they are aroused.

A BROAD PRINCIPLE. The opponents of the bill have taken their stand on the broad principle that there must be absolute public control of schools if the ratepayers are to support them out of local taxation. Mr. Balfour's bill throws voluntary or denominational schools back upon the rates, but leaves the control of them in the hands of the religious bodies which have been supporting them. This will allow the Church of England or Roman Catholic managers to select the teachers and control religious instruction. There is no apparent method of compromising this question. The Non-conformists take the view that a free school system supported by local taxation must be essentially secular, and that the catechism and tenets of no religious body can be taught at the public expense

TALK OF COMPROMISE. The ministers are evidently frightened. Sir William Walrond vised a timely compromise, and is supported by his influential colleagues, and also by many bishops and prominent High Church clergy. Suggestions are made that Nonconformists shall be allowed to give instruction in church schools, and that the Church of England clergy shall have similar privilege in board schools. The Bishop of place over the old course at St. Anthe October number of the Empire Rebasis of compromise.

ADVISED TO DROP THE BILL. Mr. Frederick Greenwood has rejected the idea that a sound and permanent compromise can be effected, and has abruptly advised the Government to abandon the education bill rather than attempt to force it through the House of Commons at the autumn session. It is not probable that Mr. Balfour will follow this counsel. He strike against local taxation is likely his determination to carry the bill at William IV. medal, which went all hazards. The state ministry, Leslie Balfour Melville, who wearied with long tenure of office, could in the splendid score of 77. not adopt shrewder political tactics

QUESTION OF COMPENSATION. sonableness of both parties would naturally involve the dissolution of Parif successful, would be committed to the unification of the education system lead to financial compensations on a large scale. The school property of the English Church and other religious bodies could not be confiscated for public purposes, and purchase would involve an estimated expenditure of £20,000,000. No Government could remain long in office after proposing a purchase scheme so vast. The dual education system by which the religious bodies have been doing a considerable proportion of the work of primary instruction in England and Wales cannot be secularized without a large investment of capital. The ratepayers in the long run might consider a compromise of the catechism question cheaper, although they are not now in a temper for conciliation. SIR MICHAEL HICKS-BEACH'S

STATEMENT. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the former chancellor of the exchequer, delivered a speech at Bristol tonight, in which he outlined the attitude of the Government with respect to the opponents of the education bill, who had declared their refusal to carry out the provisions of the bill if it is enacted or to pay the rates required. Sir Michael said the strongest Noncon-formist could not believe that Parlia-London, Sept. 29.-The campaign ment would abolish denominational which Dr. Clifford, Dr. Robinson Nicoll schools. The former chan-was lightly regarded at the outset as cellor of the exchequer said the bill might need some alteration, but if the matter was to be settled peaceably ing at the Hotel Manhetter. there must be no more threats of resistance to the will of Parliaent by local authorities or by ratepayers to although she is only 30 years old-will the payment of rates. If the local authorities failed in their duty, said Sir Michael, Parliament would intrust their work to others, "and the courts know how to deal with those who by refusing to pay the rates, range themselves on the side of anarchy."
Sir Michael criticised the War Office

as chiefly responsible for the increase in national expenditure. He said the South African war did not compare to the war in the Soudan in economy and efficiency, and that there was necessity for drastic reforms in the War Office—on the military, however, rather than on the civil side. He declared he had told his colleagues as much, and that he intended to continue his warnings. They would never reform the War Office until they made the great mass of military officers pay some attention to the duties of their profession, as naval officers did, and until they removed all outside influences now interfering with the management of the army, as well as selections, appointments and promotions, which never would be tolerated in the civil service.

Sir Michael said that he thought he could honorably relinquish his former office now that the finances of the country were in a more flourishing condition, and that there was a prospect of reduction in taxation. He said, however, that he intended to continue a while as member of Parliament for West Bristol.

WEDDED THE COUNT QUIT WORK

Countess Von Roden Kohsel Becomes Plain Mrs. Stillman-Now She's Happy.

New York, Sept. 29.-The Countess von Roden Kohsel, who obtained an absolute divorce from the Count in Dakota last week and then married Oscar B. Stillman, a sugar broker of ing at the Hotel Manhattan. She and her latest husband-he is her third, sail for Porto Rico, where Stillman owns extensive plantations, on a honeymoon trip.

Mrs. Stillman was Bertha Moore, the only daughter of J. Owen Moore, a well-known owner of trotting horses. In 1895 she was married to John A. Goldsmith, the son of Alden Goldsmith, who bred the famous trotting horse, Goldsmith Maid. Five months after the wedding Mr. Goldsmith died. leaving his widow a considerable fortune, including Walnut Grove Farm, a handsome estate near Newburgh, N. Y., and two fine pieces of property in Mexico.

HUSBAND NO. 2.

Mrs. Goldsmith and her parents lived in the summer at Walnut Grove farm and in the winter at the Hotel Empire in this city. During the winter of 1897 Mrs. Goldsmith met at the Hotel Empire the Count Conrad von Roden Kohsel, who had come here from Germany and was engaged with firm that makes printing ink. The pair were married after a few weeks' acquaintance, and went to live at the Countess's farm.

Mr. Moore said that the only trouble with the Count was that as soon as he got married he gave up his job and refused to work.

A LAZY ONE.

"The Count couldn't see the use of a man with a rich wife doing anything for a living," said Mr. Moore. "He just laid down on us and loafed. They are very happy and on their return from Porto Rico will live at the Stratford, 1070 Madison avenue. "Say, I guess the Count will have

Mixing Metaphors.

Mixing metaphors is a good deal like mixing drinks; it usually brings disaster. That ubiquitous after-dinner speaker, Chauncey M. Depew, is the latest sinner in this respect. During a speech delivered last week, Mr. Depew

"The purest waters are the most

The Chicago Tribune takes him to the "purest waters are not always tranquil, and manifestly tranquil waters, if they stay tranquil long enough, are not pure. The mountain brook is pure; the steam that trickles from the glacier is pure; the spring that gushes from the earth is purebut none of them is tranquil. There is a whole lot of tranquil water that is not pure. The stagnant pond, the city ditch, covered with green scum, and the catch basin are tranquil enough, but none of them is pure. The Dead Sea and all other dead things are tranquil, but they are not pure." A well-known gentleman in this city who dabbles to some extent in politics, and who on occasion can make a pretty fair speech, once quite innocently jumped from the sublime to the ridiculous by an unfortunate choice of adjectives. He was paying dog. an eloquent tribute to the memory of the Canadians who fell in Africa. Nearing his peroration he exclaimed:

"The Canadian dead in South Africa are a living monument to this fair land of ours!'

Boys and the Study of Latin.

A correspondent of the London Times, while admitting the value of the study of Latain as a stimulus to intellectual development in boys, thinks that as the subject is taught at present in the public schools of Britain, it is a failure, and might better be erased from the curriculum

"Boys reach us." he writes. "whose intellectual faculties have not been developed but stunted by the absolutely senseless methods of instruction which appear to be the rule, and constitute one of our gravest hindrances in the task of securing efficiency. What can be said in defense of a system under learning (?) a language for six or pont Morgan would form a merger of seven years, to make often considerably under 100 marks out of a possible 2,000, Lest these cases should be considered exceptional, I mention that as many as 15 per cent. of the successful candidates for Woolwich and Sandhurst at the recent examinations in July obtained less than 750 marks. I am well within the mark in asserting that not more than 5 per cent. of the pupils who reach me from public schools are capable of rendering into intelligible English half a page of ordinary Latin, and often their attempts are a mere meaningless jumble of words conveying no consecutive idea of any kind whatever to the reader."

Summing up opinions formed after long and careful observation, the Times' correspondent arrives at the conclusion that Latin is a dangerous sweetmeat, the overindulgence in which can only work evil in a young boy. He concludes: "I am inclined to believe that Latin is far too severe a form of intellectual training for the average schoolboy at the age when he is usually made to commence it in England. It induces the same effect on undeveloped brains as the use of too heavy clubs and dumbbells in physical training on muscles and sinews, and this view obtains strong confirmation from the practice now rapidly gaining ground in Germany for postponing the commencement of its study till at least the age of 121/2. when progress is found to be far more rapid and satisfactory."

Depression in Russia.

Recent reports make it appear that Russia, about whose vast industrial development we have heard so much, is in a bad way. A correspondent of the London Times wrote lately from Odessa that one of the largest coal corporations in the country had closed the yearly account with a balance on the wrong side of 343,000 rubles. The prospective failure of a big concern at Nighni Novgorod was indicative of the unsound condition of business, and at the same time served to furnish an | we were cussing him. Mustration of the curious dependence of the people upon the state. The local government board anticipated the coming disaster by announcing its readiness to organize relief works for the men who were to be thrown out of employment, and passed a resolution asking the state's assistance to the extent of 150,000 rubles. It seems that this has become a custom with such local bodies, and that during the last two or three years such requests have been addressed to the department of finance at the rate of half a dozen a month. Of the large number of companies which have been engaged in developing the mineral wealth and the manufactures of the South four-fifths are said to owe their creation to foreign capital, and of these two-fifths are either bankrupt or sustained by artificial stimulation. A few concerns which got into the field early made money for their shareholders, but the success obtained by the pioneer companies was due to the existence of a home demand fully equal to their productive capacity, while the lamentable failure of the majority of the more recently created syndicates is mainly traceable to the absence of such a demand, coupled with the lack of an outlet in the shape of a paying market abroad. Heavy losses have been caused through the reckless speculation and dishonesty which accompany every boom, but normally the conditions are unfavorable to Russian industrial expansion. Foreign competitors are so far in advance of the Russian producers that the latter have always a bad handicap in foreign markets, while the backward state of the people prevents a broadening out of the domestic trade.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Take the case of Mrs. West, as described in her letter quoted below. She was pale, weak and run down in health. Her blood was thin and watery, and her nerves so starved and exhausted that she was prostrated. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cured her, and added new, firm flesh to her body to the extent of eleven pounds. You will find her letter interesting. Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Wellingon county, Ont., writes: "About two finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed Hearing of good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I used three oxes with great benefit. In a short time I gained eleven pounds, and as was very thin when I began to use the remedy I was very proud of the increase of weight.

"Then the following spring I beame rather poorly, and they again built me up, and gave me such a good appetite that I wanted to eat nearly alf the time. I was so leased with he cure that Nerve Food brought bout that I recommended it others, and they have told me of the enefits they had obtained from this preparation. You may use this testinony in order that others may learn of the good there is in Dr. Chase's Verve Food. If you have been affected as Mrs. West has, if you are not feeling real strong and well, you will be surprised at the good that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do you. It puts color in the cheeks, rounds out angular and wasted forms, and brings new hopes, new confidence and new life to take the place dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., half of the Spanish treasury. Noble Six Hundred! You ! ity of the automobile, there is no doubt that far more attention is being paid to carriages and horses in London than has been the case for some years past. This is probably owing to the fact that such invidious comparisons have been drawn between the smart turnouts of the Parisians and the unsmart ones of Londoners.

Of course some English people have always been famous for their horses, none more so than Lord Londonderry, Lord Lonsdale, Lord Cadogan, the late Duke of Westminster, the Duke of Marlborough, Mr. Leo Rothschild, the Sassoon family, Mr. Vagillano, who owns some of the finest horses in London; Lord Rosebery, Lord Wimborne and Lord Tweedmouth. There are, of course, others who could be named but the generality of people has been very slack in this matter, until now, when the improvement has been much noted French carriages too are being very much used and copied in London. Every smart woman, nowadays, possesses a French Victoria. These vehicles are easily recognizable, and it must be confessed are much more comfortable than the ordinary Victoria, the one seen for so many years.

In an editorial on the Shipka Pass, quoted by the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times, the Exchange Gazette says: "Nothing can oust Russia from the position she achieved when she took up the task of freeing the Slavonic and Orthodox races from the Balkan Peninsula. There are still people in Europe who wish to rob Russia of her authority in the Balkans, and use the results of her sacrifices to bring the peninsula under some sort of foreign hegemony. The sight of Russians and Slavs fraternizing on battlefield of 1877 must dissipate years ago I got terribly run down, and such hopes. Russia has many objects to achieve elsewhere, so it appears occasionally that she is neglecting the to lose interest and ambition and Balkans. That is a mistake. NOT SO BAD. Constantinople, Sept. 30. - Diplomatic circles here do not regard the situation in Macedonia as being so serious as would appear from the Turkish Government's military preparations in calling out 40,000 men of the militia reserves. The porte's alarm is partially attributed to the maneuvers and other incidents of the Shipka Pass, fetes, the political importance of which, however, is considered to have been greatly exaggerated, in view of the approach of the winter, when the movements will necessarily be stopped. It is not thought that the threats of the Macedonian committee will prevent a general revolution or develop into anything very serious.

Tenders for Preliminary Work Laid

Before the Commissioners. Toronto, Sept. 30. - The commission appointed by the Ontario Government to construct and manage the Temiscaming Northern Ontario Railway, held a special meeting for the purpose of considering tenders for the construction of the railway. The tenders are for clearing the right of way, bridging, grading, ballasting and track laying from a point at or near

North Bay to a point on Lake Temis-kaming, a distance of 110 miles. The commissioners are to purchase and furnish the contractor the steel superstructure for the bridge over the Montreal River, the steel rails, which are to be 80 pounds to the yard, and the fastenings for the same, and the contractor is to manufacture the ties, trestles and culverts, telegraph poles, fence posts, etc., from timber found along the right of way. The first 60 miles of the railway are to be completed on or before Dec. 31, 1903, and the whole distance on or before the same date in the following year. The tenders, which were fourteen in number, were, with one ex-ception from railroad contractors of prominence and sound financial standing, whose ability to perform the work in a satisfactory manner is bevond question. No final decision, however, was arrived at by the commissioners, who are to meet again tomorrow for the ourpose of awarding the contract, if everything is found to be in order.

NEW MANITOBA WHEAT

One of the New Turret Boats Takes a Load to Midland.

Midianu, Sept. 30. - The steamer Turret Chief, of the Canada Ocean and Lake Navigation Company, arrived in port Sunday night, and is now being unloaded at the Midland Elevator Company's elevator No. 1. She is laden with 105,094 bushels of new Manitoba wheat. It is about one-half No. 1 hard and the other half of northern. This is one of the new turret boats which have been brought on the lakes this season, and it is her first trip. They are intended to run from Fort William to Midland with grain all fall, and will be fully employed in handling grain until navigation closes. These boats will be a welcome addition to the Canadian fleets on the lakes, and in particular will add to the volume of trade at this port.

The grain trade has been very favorable all season, and with the immense crop of this year yet to be handled, there ought to be a greater quantity of grain going through Midland than ever before. Already nearly ten million bushels have been handled through this port, and it is expected that considerably over fifteen million bushels will be handled before the close of

Not a Street Car Running-Mahon

Likely to Go There. Detroit, Sept. 30 .- W. D. Mahon, president of the Street Railway Employes' Association will probably go to New Orleans to try and settle matters between 1,400 or 1,500 men who have gone on strike down there. The strike is due to the consolidation of a number of independent street car lines.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 29.—Not a car for pasenger traffic on the street railways left the barns in New Orleans today. Early mail cars were sent out, however, and accomplished their work with but one instance of molestation. A mob of strikers near one of the barns swarmed upon a car as it was being rue out and stole the controlling handle. One arrest followed. All the electric linemen in this city were called out in a sym-pathetic strike this afternoon. This This means that the city of New Orleans will be in darkness unless the trouble is adjusted quickly. No telephone, telegraph, electric light or trolley wires can be mended now. Policeman d'Ayala was struck on the head and badly hurt this afternoon while attemping to protect a street car. Winnipeg, Sept. 30.—Premier Roblin granted a committee of machinists an interview on Saturday regarding the C. N. R. strike. It was stated he promised to discuss the matter with Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann, and to endeavor to arrange a satisfactory

ATTEMPT TO WRECK EXPRESS

Puddlers Refused the Slight Advance Offered-Output of Reading Company.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 30 .- An attempt was made to wreck a Philadelphia and Reading Railroad express train late last night at Brooke's Crossing, a short distance below Pottstown, Pa. A fishplate had been spiked to the rail in such a manner that the wheels would strike it when the train came along. The wheel of the engine did strike the obstruction, but the plate broke and the train was not derailed. The officials are investigating.

Mount Carmel, Pa., Sept. 30.-Six companies of the Fourth Regiment, arrived this morning from Reading, Allentown, Lebanon and Harrisburg. When they alighted in the Reading Railroad yard over 2,000 strikers assembled, but made no demonstration. The soldiers are now distributed along the Reading Railroad until Gen. Gobin, who arrived here on a special train from Shenandoah, shall select an encampment site. The soldiers were ordered out last night to suppress rioting. All last night 50 deputies at Richards' colliery were surrounded by a big mob. At daybreak the strikers disappeared, and everything is now quiet in this vicinity.

Tamaqua, Pa., Sept. 30 .- After several days' quiet troops were again sent through the Panther Creek valley this morning because the turbulent element has been acting boisterously in its efforts to intimidate non-unionists on their way to work. The presence of the soldiers had a quieting effect and there was no disturbance.

DISSATISFACTION. It is asserted that the strikers in this vicinity are showing little interest to meet the demand. During the past few days 27 extra brakemen have hired for the Shamokin division of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. Railroad officials say the extra force is being hired because the company expects the coal traffic to gradually increase.

PUDDLERS REFUSE OFFERED IN CREASE.

Lebanon, Pa., Sept. 30 .- The troops brought to suppress the disorder at the American Iron and Steel Com pany's plant, are still here, and the ironworkers brought from the south are helping to run the mills. It is said that President Sternberg will not consent to forcing the colored men out. Their departure depends entirely upon themselves and many say they will stay as long as troops remain. Last night the strikers voted to reject the company's proposition to grant the puddlers an increase of wages and refuse the slight advance asked by the finishers.

OUTPUT OF READING COMPANY. Reading, Pa., Sept. 30 .- The reports of the Philadelphia and Reading Company here show that during the past week about 12,000 tons of hard coal were turned out of the washeries and collieries of the company and would be equivalent to about 400 cars. None of it has been delivered in this end of the Schuvlkill Valley. The officials say that the coal was all sent to Philadelphia and points beyond

These places are being built to supply the demand for pure-bred pullets and cockerels, which this season has been very large. Last year the difficulty met with at the illustration stations, where the eggs were bought from the farmers, was that the quality of chickens reared was not uniform. Next spring the pullets wintered at the stations referred to will be mated with pure bred cockerels of the low-set market type, and then eggs will be sold to farmers at an advance of about dozen over market prices. In this way the department of agriculture intends to introduce among the local farmers pure-bred chickens of the most profitable breeds of farmers' poultry. Mr. F. C. Hare, head of the department's poultry branch, left tonight for the west to start the construction of the stations at Bowmanville and Holmesville.

WITH BOGUS CHECKS

Sharper Disguised as Mechanic Swindles Sarnia Storekeepers.

Sarnia, Ont., Sept. 30 .- As the result of the operations of a bogus check sharp here on Saturday evening, David Gray, boot and shoe dealer, is out some $16 and Joseph Kaupp, meat dealer, some $11 50. The man who did the work is described as being 40 or 45 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weight 160 to 170 pounds, dark mustache. He wore overalls which came up over the chest and fastened with strap around the neck. He also wore a peak cap and dark gray coat. He entered Kaupp's meat shop about 8 o'clock and purchased 65 cents worth of beefsteak. In payment, he tendered a check for $11 50, purporting to be issued by the Doherty Manufacturing Company and signed by Thomas Doherty, president and manager. check was drawn out in favor of Joe Bailey and was stamped with a rubber stamp. Mr. Kaupp gave him the 65 cents worth of meat and $10 85 change. Shortly after 8:30 p.m., the same man called at David Barr's jewelry store and wanted to purchase a ring. He selected a $9 ring and tendered a Doherty Manufacturing Company check for $19 in payment. Mr. Barr questioned the fellow, and he said he was a pattern maker and had been working at the stove works for two weeks. check was drawn on the Traders' Bank. Not satisfied with this, Mr. Barr sent the check over to Cook's Bank to see if it was genuine. Before the young man returned the check man said he would go and gather up his groceries and call on his way back. He has not called yet, however. About 9 o'clock the same individual called at D. Gray's shoe store and bought a pair of shoes, giving Mr. Gray a Doherty Manufacturing Company check for $16 in payment. Mr. Gray gave him the shoes and the change, but found out this morning that the check was bogus when he went to the bank to deposit it. No trace of the swindler has so far been obtained.

HORSE-CHESTNUTS TO BURN

Novel Means for Defying Coal Famine Discovered Down East.

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 30. - Some thrifty housewives in the north end of the city have discovered a new fuel, and are quite enthusiastic over it. The housewives are making the most of the crop of horse-chestnuts, and the younger members of the household may be found daily tramping the fields and forests in search of them.

The horse-chestnut fuel is treated to a drying process before it is ready for use. That is, the nuts are scattered over the floor in a warm, dry room, generally the attic, and are allowed to season. A short period of seasoning and the nuts, somewhat shrunken, are anthracite. The drying process causes the sap to evaporate and the meat to harden.

This sort of fuel has by experiment been found to cause a warm fire. It burns briskly and emits much heat, and good cooking has been done seen the finger-marks of the ancient

DWELLINGS OF A VANISHED RACE

Remains of Ancient Homes in Southwest Colorado.

Ruined Castles of Cliff-Dwellers Surrounded by Moats and Fortified Walls.

The region of the extreme southwestern corner of Colorado is a little known and but little explored land. It is nearly 100 miles from any railroad, yet it corners on Arizona, Utah and New Mexico. It is a peculiar country, quite unlike that of the rest of Colorado. It is of no little geological, economical as well as archeological interest. In the latter case it was once the home of the ancient cliff dwellers, whose curious dwellings are found in the hollows of some of the most ro-mantic rock scenery imaginable, while remains of their pottery are scattered far and wide over the land, and fragments of it can be found on almost every bluff and in great quantities in the numerous mounds forming their burying places. In some localities, too. we find relics of a grand building or fortified inclosure, containing once many hundreds of rooms, still standing on a knoll in a wide river meadow or poned until tomorrow night. It is canon. The ruined remains of these very desirable that it be largely atmoats and rude fortified walls, remind us of some of the ruined Norman castles we have seen in the old coun-

> BANDS OF NAVAJOS. The picturesque and wild character of the country is enchanced by meeting with bands of gally-blanketed Navajo Indians followed by their bleating flocks of goats and sheep. These primitive features are in keeping with the character of the scenery It is a land of wild desolation, of rocks of various colors, red, pink, green and gray, sculptured by erosion into all sorts of grotesque and picturesque forms, fortresses, isolated castellated rocks, rocks pinnacled like cathedral spires, and long sweeps of monotonous plateaux, varied by the uprise of a lofty comb of tilted rock like the dorsal fin of a fish rising high above the surface and traceable as far as eye can reach, known as the "Great Hog-

In the distance a pinnacled cone of volcanic rock rises in a vertical cliff 1.800 feet above the level of the plateaux, known as Ship Rock or Needles, and in the extreme distance north and south, are peculiar and strange little isolated groups of volvanic mountains, appearing like islands on the great plateau plain. These are of typical laccolitic origin. and structures. These lone islets are all that break the monotony of the ocean of plateaux extending from Colorado into Utah and Arizona.

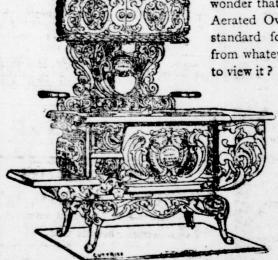

WORK OF CLIFF DWELLERS.

At Aztec, along the river, we have a fine evidence of the past work of the cliff dwellers in the remains of an old fortress or fortified camp in the river bottom. The ruins stand conspicuously on the top of a knoll of sandstone. Around the rim of this in a semi-circle the ruined buildings are formed, the semi-circle being about 400 yards long. All the little rooms and cubby holes are close together, culminating in 3 dry and almost if not fully as hard as more pretentious building or central tower, whose ruins are about 40 feet high. This was probably the citadel where the chief lived. The ordinary rooms are about six by eight feet, made of loose stones and daubed inside with plaster, on which are still inhabitants. The roof or ceiling is neatly formed of willow branches or wattles, and larger pieces of timber, support various parts of the buildings. In one place are the remains of ruined round tower. In the center of the open semi-circle is a hollow which was probably used as a reservoir for water in time of seige. It is estimated there were upwards of 800 rooms in this castle. Embankments are thrown up on the outside and there may have been a moat to defend it. A few yards off is another building made not of stone, but of adobe bricks, possibly a stable. In the setting sun these ruins of an ancient race loomed up picturesquely and were very suggestive.

Evans Warehouse Mystery. Toronto, Sept. 30 .- The mystery of the Evans warehouse is to remain a mystery. For months the police have been trying to discover how Walley and Geen came to die in the basement of the warehouse under circumstances that pointed to poison. No progress has been made. A few days ago Scott, the foreman in the warehouse, and C. Leitch, one of the basement employes, were arrested on a charge of stealing from the premises. It was thought that a clue to the mystery had been found, but at the police court yesterday both men were discharged. The charge that they had robbed Geen's body after death broke down utterly.

The remainder of the evening was occupied by the rendition of an enjoyable programme and by the serving of refreshments. Rev. C. C. Owen, rector of the church, occupied the chair.

FAMOUS DUELS IN NEW ORLEANS

Montiague-Lalluet duel deserves first place among my personal recollections," remarked Mr Tanneret leading the conversation. "One was a barber; the other a duelist of rare skill. Although a bar-ber, Montiague was one of the most original fellows on earth, and he was ever doing what he wasn't expected to do. He had a shop on Royal street, and his place was frequented by the best of the down-town population. Lalluet was a duelist who had been on the field many times, Both were brave men.

"The situation was unusual, but the fight went. Colichmardes were chosen as weapons. They are the small triangular swords which have the shape of a bayonet.

"When it came to the meeting Montiague had no money to pay for a carriage, and he was plucky enough to welk to the field. His seconds had to provide their own conveyance. In the encounter the harber was slightly wounded and the the barber was slightly wounded and the

A VETERAN DUELIST'S FATE. "I remember the Nora-Dauphin duel," said one of Mr. Tanneret's companions. "It was noted for two things—the killing of one of the most distinguished of duelof one of the most distinguished of duelists, and that he had a presentiment of his fate before he went to the field of honor. A quarrel between Nora and Dauphin took place at the old Orleans Coffee House, in Orleans street. It was the rendezvous of the young bloods of the town. The resort was between Royal and Bourhon streets. In summer a canand Bourbon streets. In summer a can-vas was stretched over the street, and, with small tables covering the inclosure, the place was a typical French Creole coffee house.

"In the trouble, which occurred over a table, Dauphin slapped Nora. The latter was a mere boy of 19 years of age. He was quiet and dignified. He never said a word unless spoken to, and was the last man to make trouble. Dauphin was quite the reverse. He was a duelist of long reputation. He had been in many fights. He told Nora to choose between getting out of the door or the window, meaning that if he did not leave he would be thrown out. Dauphin declared that he had killed eleven men, and he wanted the twelfth to make his dozen. he had killed eleven men, and he wanted the twelfth to make his dozen.

"Hunting guns were chosen as weapons. The spot was selected, but the night before the duel Dauphin, with his eleven trophies in his belt, had a strange presentiment. It was not a dream, but it came to him as a vision, and told him that he was fighting his last duel. He told his seconds the following morning of the queer circumstances, and they laward at him—the brave Dauphin!

"The fight took place and Dauphin was killed. Nora proved to be one of the most formidable duelists."

THE LE BLANC-WHITE DUEL.

"The Le Blanc-White duel was a case where right and justice seemed to tilumph in the outcome," added Mr. Tanneret.

"Packenham Le Blanc and George White were both well known. Both were prominent in society, and this duel grew out of a subscription ball in which some gossip played the fatal role. There was a discussion in the committee over the barring of some person from the ball, and the refusal of an invitation. Le Blanc interested himself and White befriended him throughout before the committee, but he did not know it. On the contrary, he got the idea that White was responsible for his embarrassment and the subsequent talk. responsible for his embarrassment and the subsequent talk.

"Upon meeting White in the street, Le Blanc took a wad of tobacco from his mouth and threw it into White's face. The challenge was passed and pistols were chosen. They met at Burthe's plantation, above Carrollton, and Le Blanc was killed by the first shot.

FOUGHT OVER TRIFLES. "A rare example of the trivial causes leading to some of the duels of these days is instanced in the De Buys-Girard and instead he pounced upon De Buys and gave him a severe beating.

"The two met on the field, and it proved a mortal combat with short swords.
De Buys received eleven severe wounds before he fell.

"Actresses have caused many of the worst duels in New Orleans. Pacide Canonge was a regular theater-goer. He canonge was a regular theater-goer. He attended the opera every night, and he was a devotee of the stage, taking fancies to certain kinds of acting. When his fancy was especially roused, he would cies to certain kinds of acting. What his fancy was especially roused, he would write articles about the actresses in question and praise them very much. Mr. Iriard took exception to this style of doing things, so he wrote an article severely criticising people who contributed sketches such as the Canonge squibs. Canonge took it up and a duel followed. It was agreed to fight with pistols at ten paces and three shots. The result was a striking illustration of how three bullets might fully satisfy honor, "Canonge's fine beaver was perforated by the first shot. The second shot cut a button from his coat, and the third shot plunged a hole through his sleeve. Iriard was unhurt. Honor was redeem-
