Opening of the Great Methodist Conference.

Leading Churchmen From All Parts of Canada Present.

Annual Address of the Superintendent, Dr. Carman.

The Remarkable Growth of Methodism Outlined.

A Union of London and Niagara Conferences Recommended-Other Conference Changes-A List of the Delegates Who Have Registered-Opening Exer-

The fourth General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada began in the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church this morning amid a melody of song and the inspiring words of earnest, thoughtful prayer. Dr. Carman called the conference to order sharp at 10 o'clock, when about 200 delegates and about 30 visitors were present. The first hush of expectancy was only broken by the sound of the hammers of some workingmen who were engaged just outside the church. The chairman then announced a hymn and all joined heartily in the words. Rev. Dr. Huestis, Halifax, read Psalm lxvi., after which Rev. John Wakefield, Niagara, and Rev. Dr. Chapman, New Brunswick, led in prayer. Dr. Carman impressed upon the delegates the necessity of personal consecration and of starting aright. With this they would have divine blessing on their work. Another hymn was sung and devotional exercises conducted by Hon. J. J. Rogerson, Newfoundland, and Rev. Dr. McDonald, Japan. Then the roll call began and afterwards the election of conference secretary was taken up. At the conclusion of the first ballot Mayor Kennedy had received 61 votes, 30 more than his closest competitor, Dr. Huestis, Nova Scotia. As 91 votes were necessary to elect the chairman declared no election on the first ballot. Before a second could be taken Mayor Kennedy kindly but firmly declined to accept the position, because his stay was likely to be broken. On the third ballot Dr. W. I. Shaw, Montreal Conference, was elected by 142 votes out of a total of 194 votes. The doctor on taking his place remarked that he was made for work rather than ornament, and he was at the disposal of the conference to record the legislation that will be the outcome of the combined wisdom of this noble body.

The work of forming a nominating committee then commenced. On motion of Rev. H. S. Matthew, seconded by Rev. M. L. Pearson, it was agreed that the committee should be composed of two ministers and two laymen for each of Toronto, Bay of Quinte, Montreal, Manitoba and Northwest, London, Niagara and Guelph Conferences and one minister and one layman for Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, British Columbia and Japan.

A motion of Rev. Wm. Kettlewell, tending to skillful arrangement of the different committees was, after an extended discussion, referred to the nominating committee. The conference adjourned at 12:30 to meet at 2 o'clock.

Dr. Carman's Address.

The deliverance of the superintendent, Rev. Dr. Carman, was the most interesting event of the afternoon, and was looked forward to by all, owing to its official tone. The following is an abstract: A decade has now passed since the consummation of the union of our Canadian Methodism, and in the providence of God we are gathered in what we designate our Fourth General Conference, the first having been held in September, 1883, the second in 1886, and the third in 1890. Well may we bow ourselves before the Lord our God in deepest humility because of his infinite greatness and goodness, and our own unspeakable unworthiness, because of his holiness and our sin and at the same time rejoice in His Holy Name with gratitude and ceaseless praise for that he forgiveth Il our iniquities and loveth us freely, and for all he has wrought in us and by us and through us during the ten years that have elapsed since we began our operations as the Methodist Church under completed legislation on the first day of June, 1884. At the ratification conference of 1883 the membership of the church numbered 169,803; now our membership is 260, 692, an advance of nearly 100,000, or over 60 per cent in the ten years, and an average of 9,000 a year

INCREASE OVER ALL LOSSES for every year of the decade. In 1883 the number of ministers and probationers was 1,633; now the number is 1,996. In 1883 the number of Sabbath schools was 2,707, and the number of teachers 22,434, and the number of scholars 175,052; now the number of schools is 3,251, the number of teachers 30,807, and the number of scholars 252,546. In 1883 the missionary income was $193,-769, and the book room property stood at $149,602. Now the annual missionary income has reached $249,000, an increase of nearly 30 per cent, and the property of our publishing houses is valued at $321,580, having considerably more than doubled in the ten years under review. At the union the superannuation and supernumerary funds of all the churches amounted to $238,832; now the sum total is $279,897. H. Robinson.

What shall we say to a showing like this? To whom shall we give the glory? What does the Father above and the Richardson, J. W. Holmes, F. E. Nugent. Judge of all say to this showing-A. THE CHURCHES AT THE UNION was enjoying a signal prosperity, but the first year of the union gave an increase of 20,000 in the membership and there has been cheering increase every year of the decade. "For my thoughts are not your thoughts. neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord. For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways and my thoughts than your thoughts. For as the rain cometh down and the snow from heaven and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it bring forth and bud that it may give seed to the sower and bread to the eater, so shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth. It shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it. For ye shall go out with joy and be led forth with peace. The mountains and hills shall break forth before you unto

W. Oxley, H. R. Narraway, R. J. Sweet, structive. How does it come to pass that Centennial of Canadian Methodism re the W. V. Vroom. we so unworthy have been favored with so noticeable a prosperity? For likely if there is to be prosperity in the future it will come the same way as in the past. Have we achieved all the success for the Zion of our God that was within the reach of the greatest devotion, courage and fidelity? Might we not have done better? Might we not have done worse? Might we not so have misdirected the union as to wholly lose its good fruits? Might we not so wisely have directed it at every point as largely to increase our vigor and growth? And we today, after generations of revival history and ten years' experience of the recent union, of its possible advantages and defects, putting away from us what we plainly see hinders the work of God, and putting on the whole energy and equipment of our EVER EVOLVING METHODISM, shall we be able in the future to multiply and enlarge the successes of the past, and with increased power win fresh victories on the fields of moral and religious conflict? While we may well charge ourself with unfaithfulness to God and humble ourselves before him in the dust, so far as we have succeeded under divine guidance. how has it been done, brethren? Is it not that we have in some measure striven together for the faith, submitting ourselves one to another in love, and have endeavored of honest intent to preach the pure, simple, effective truth of God? We have no faith in anything else for the soul's salvation and the renewal of the world in righteousness. Is it not that by the grace of God we have honestly tried to stand in the ways and seefand ask for the old paths, where is the good way and walk therein? Have the men that have not been of this mind and manner of work helped us any? Have the movement and exploits that have not been of this spirit and character done us any good? Where are the circuits that have been built up or the institutions that have been established and maintained by anything but the old Gospel in the old way? I can readily understand that events at home and abroad make it the duty of this confer- and was becoming more evident from year ence set for the guardianship of the church to exact guarantees of the orthodoxy of our theological colleges especially, and generation is always in safe hands.

THE SAINTED DEAD. Proceeding, the eminent superintendent paid loving tribute to those in the church who had spased away since last they met. They missed a Rice, a Williams, the connexional collections? which has a Nelles, a Bradin, an S. J. union with the Evangelical Association was the superintendent's view defective. The brought down, and a resolution adopted at the conference of the Evangelical Association reviewed at length. He detailed the results in April, 1892, read. In part it said: we highly appreciate the courteous and fraternal attitude of our sister church toward In closing the superintendent urged this conference. But inasmuch as there are peculiar circumstances which at present indicate that organic union of these two bodies would in the opinion of this conference not be to the best interests of our work in general, which, after meditation and prayer, we believe, could be more advantageously fostered with ev ngelical association.

The speaker went on to say that the report of the General Conference special committee would bring to the notice of the conference the action it was found necessary to take regarding the Ecumenical Conference of Methodism, held in Washington, D. C., in October, 1891. "There can be no question," said the doctor, "that the Washington Conference of 1891 was an immense benefit to our common Methodism all around the globe. The gaze of men was litted, the views of men were widened, the impulses of men were invigorated by that assembly."

PRIVILEGES. The correspondence of the committee of privileges, which was necessary to bring the Methodist Church into co-operation with other Protestant bodies in the maintenance of civil and religious rights, was also brought down. It would be readily recalled that, incited by memorials from several annual conferences, last General Conference protested against the order of precedence on state occasions, which was declared to ignore the very existence of those Protestant churches that represented the majority of the people of the Dominion and degrade their clergy by giving preeminence over all to the appointees of the Primate of Rome, and it was resolved that the General Conference memorailize the Governor-General in Council, the Senate and the House of Commons in regard to the obnoxious order, asking for the abrogation of the invidious distinctions implied therein. This resolution was referred to the committee on privileges and the correspondence duly submitted to the executive of that committee explained the course taken in the matter. "It may be well for the present General Conference," the superintendent said, "to renew the provisions for continued action, and possibly advisable to to open up the way for us to proceed upon our own motion and without reference to the attitude of other churches upon such questions." celebration of that event in 1871 had in some measure been complied with. A monumental volume had been issued by the bookroom. Meetings were held and measures taken for the raising and distribution of funds.

RE THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.
Said the doctor: "The cause of temperance is in our time and generation the oriflamme of moral progress, the moving indication on the social and political dial plate that betokens the regenerating public energy and the reforming religious life. In other times and places it has been the regeneration of slavery, the overthrow of polygamy, the repression of murder and theft; but our grapple and struggle are with the demon drink in his entrenchments, organization, malign power and terrible reign. The liquor traffic is so decided an evil, at once so open in effrontery and so insidious in artifice and manners, so distinctly opposite to every instinct and movement of our holy religion, that the issue is direct." Again the elevation of the standard of public morality had had very much to do in the salvation of the soul. The pulpit, the press, the platform, the school, the parliament, the court, were all quickening to the thought of the people in forming public mind and determining the social domestic, political, and ever national action in harmony with the Holy Scriptures and the highest interests of the human race.

Beside the transfers of the regular committee the general superintendent had affected 27. Several suggestions were made as to the simplification of the work of transfers.

COURT OF APPEALS.

During the past four years, as the report of the court of appeals will show, there had been several important cases before the court, whose decisions were of much weight and great value in the administration of discipline. The influence of the court of appeals for good was inestimable, to year. Several amendments of the discipline were advocated. (1) The most fruitful source of questioning, and make sure that the instruction of our rising too often of strife, was the relation of the quarterly official board and the trust board in the management of church finances, to whom belongs the loose collection? to whom the proceeds of the envelopes? how can provision be made for terly officials make with the other? and sundry such queries. Different paragraphs of the discipline open to amendment were cited, and the practice of allowing a probationer to study before completing his first PROPOSED REDUCTION OF CONFERENCES. The committee on conference boundaries met yesterday and agreed upon a report. It favors a reduction in the number of annual conferences in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec from six, as at present, to four-No. 1 to consist of the Montreal Conference, enlarged by the addition of Napance and Tamworth; No. 2 to be the east half of Toronto Conference from Napanee to Yonge street, Toronto; No. 3 to consist of Toronto west of Yonge street and the Guelph Conference; and No. 4 to include Niagara and London Confer-

Eight Hours a Day Work on Government Jobs Asked.

The Abolition of the Government Contract System Advocated - A Motion to Exclude Party Heelers.

OTTAWA, Sept. 5 .- The first order of ousiness taken up at the Trades and Labor Congress today was communications. Mr. Lepine, M.P., Montreal, was present. A communication asking the congress to send delegates to the deep water convention, to be held in Toronto, was referred to a special committee. The question of a Saturday half-holiday asked by the Bricklayers' Union was also referred. A resolution asking the Government to compel the contractors to pay the highest scale of wages was referred to a standing com-

Delegate O'Donoghue moved and Delegate A. W. Holmes seconded the following resolution: "Resolved that the expenditures of any public money, directly or indirectly for the purpose of assisting, bonusing, encouraging or decoying emi-grants of either or both the classes mentioned, adult or juvenile, from abroad to Canada, is unnecessary and unjustifiable gold piece in payment to the man in charge under present circumstances; and be it resolved further, that as a consequence of the existence of such conditions in the labor market in Canada, the existing unjust and misleading system of Dominion immigration, as well as like expenditure on the part of all the provinces except British Columbia, should be abolished, and only those possessed of financial wealth should be encouraged to the country."

Delegate Darlington, of Montreal, moved resolution, that inasmuch as the Trades and Labor Congress had found it impossible to secure any changes required from any of the political parties, that the several labor organizations of the Dominion unite in the forming of a distinctive labor party. with the hope of securing some of the changes which the workingmen so much require. The resolution was seconded by Delegate Merritt, of Montreal. Delegate Darlington said that the Dominion Government only passed three bills of interest to the workingmen out of the 140 bills which were of interest to labor. Instead of the labor party being independent so as to force some of the political parties to do something for the cause of labor, he said that many members of the congress had become connected with that body as a stepping stone to political office. Delegate Jobin, of Quebec, asked for the names, but Delegate Darlington said that he made no charge against any person. The discussion was ruled out of order until the committee reported. THE EIGHT-HOUR DAY.

The committee on standing orders re-contracts. It recommended that workmen on Government contracts be paid at least the current rate of wages in the locality, and that owing to the introduction of labor-saving machinery the maximum daily hours of labor be eight. Delegate Darlington moved an amendment to the resolution that all Government contract work be abolished and that the hours of labor on Government works be 8 hours per day or less. The resolution as amended was adopted. The resolution relating to immigration was then taken up, and after a short discussion was adopted. The attention of the Ontario Government will be called to the alleged neglect of duty by the factory inspector in reference to the Ottawa mills.

"PARTY HEELERS PRESENT." Delegate Darlington moved, and Delegate S. Metcalfe seconded, a resolution to the effect that no person who is in the employ of the Federal or local Governments of this country shall be liable to admission to the congress as a delegate. There were party healers, he believed, in the congress. The president decided that the resolution required notice of motion. The resolution was therefore dropped, but it will come up again tomorrow. AFTERNOON SESSION. At the afternoon session the Congress condemned the Quebec law, known as the masters' and servants'. A resolution was also passed asking the Quebec Legislature to prohibit over time in shoe manufactories, except by special permission of factory inspectors. Another resolution was passed asking the Government to protect union labor. TELEGRAPHIC

Little Johnnie Conn at Work Again.

Robs His Parents and Hires Livery Rigs and Boats-Buys Peaches. Nuts and Cakes, and Has a High Old Time.

Little Johnnie Conn will probably be a United States Senator in time. That is if he is not sent to Penetanguishene or Kingston for his health before he is old enough to vote. He is 9 years old now, and if it is true that the good die young, Johnnie will certainly live to a ripe old age. Already he has played the role of confidence man and incorrigible, and has given his parents and the police no end of bother and anxiety. He knows the police station and has an intimate knowledge of Governor Kelly's castle on Dundas street hill. Yet for all that Johnnie has been at it again. He is small for his age and innocent-looking, but when he walked into Dreaney's livery on Labor Day and asked for a rig he assumed the dignified airs of a moneyed man. The proprietor was away in Buffalo, and as Johnnie tendered a $20 the latter nearly dropped. The little boy's answers to subsequent questions were so unsatisfactory that the man retained the coin and drove the boy home. Johnnie could have told him that nobody was there but he preferred to ride. The rig was taken back to the stable and the money held until called for. The same afternoon Whit Lancaster, who runs the boat house at the foot of Dundas street, was rather surprised to see a large basket of peaches walk into the boat house. Closer scrutiny disclosed little Johnnie and a smile behind the peaches, while piled on top was a large bag of nuts and a splendid assortment of cakes. Johnnie had a voyage in view, and being light himself he laid in ballast. He held up a quarter and wanted to know if he could have a boat for that. Mr. Lancaster said that he could have one for an hour for that price, and Johnnie started. But he could not pull away from the forks. He could not row well to begin with, and then the peaches and nuts and cakes distracted he grew disgusted and decided to take the his attention intermittently. After awhile steamer and devote his whole attention to his eatables. In purchasing his ticket he disclosed a wad of bills and his identity. A person standing nearby recognized him and proceeded to inform his parents. Then the story came out. Johnnie's mother locked the house and took him to view the Labor Day demonstration in Queen's Park that afternoon. In the park the boy got away and went back home. He entered the house and got hold of the strong box of the Conn household. He was all of $50 richer when he came out and went to the livery stable. ferred back the resolution on Government | His adventures there are already told. Also his experience at the boathouse. When young Conn's parents became aware of the boy's action that cherub was eating peaches at Wonderland. Capt. Foster was notified by telephone, and he found the lad and took away the balance of his money and brought him back to town. Johnnie's father awaited his arrival at the dock and took him firmly in hand, but as the money was almost altogether recovered nothing > was done in the matter. A LITTLE MISUNDERSTANDING

Between London West's School Board and Council-School Moneys the Cause-Village Council's

Doings. The London West Council and the vilage school board have had a misunderstanding. The latter body, at a recent meeting of the council, presented their estimates for the year. They amounted to $2,700, exclusive of Government grant and non-resident fees. The village fathers allowed the sum mentioned, but wanted to gather in the other amounts themselves. The school board desired to have what was considered as their rights. They talked of appointing a treasurer for the board but haven't done so. They could not get through the year without the grant and fees, and gave the council so to understand last night, when the following letter was read from Secretary Houghton: "At the meeting of the school board I was instructed to notify you that the amount of money received for school purposes 'must' be $2,700, exclusive of Government grants and non-resident fees, amounting to about $285, which also must be placed to the credit of the school board, making a total of $2,985." It was a very strong epistle and caused a look of surprise to creep over the faces of the fathers.

"What was our estimate for the board?"

asked the reeve. "Two thousand seven hundred," was the clerk's reply. "Whatever amount they require we give them to understand that we will provide for it," was the reeve's rejoinder. "Cannot understand the object of this communication. If it is the intention of the school board to come in conflict with the council, I am very sorry. We had better appoint a committee to wait upon them and come to some understanding. If the board wanted $2,985 they should have said so in the first place. There is not a single member of the council desirous of swamping the board." A committee will be named to do the dickering. A bylaw enabling the village to issue debentures for consolidation of the debt. amounting to $39,500, was read the third time and passed. The sum of $2,569 will be levied each year, and payments made in 30 consecutive installments. A big grist of accounts were ordered to be paid. Three of them were for $4 each for the rent of polling booths at the last Provincial election. The reeve thought it best to settle up. The city had fought the sheriff for a time, but soon decided to pay up. Treasurer Rockett's report showed the tax collections for August to have been $198. Contractors have been paid $458 16 and a balance remained in the bank a Curiositles in Literature In and Out of the Monthly Magazines.

Mr. Edgar W. Nye-popularly known as Bill Nye"-has concluded to bring out in England a collection of his sketches dealing with that country.

The famous musical composers have taken a hint from their literary brethren, and are securing an advance magazine publication for their compositions just as the authors publish their novels in serial form. The Ladies' Home Journal, which was practically the first magazine to offer this outlet to composers of repute, finds all the musical men rallying to it, Sir Arthur Sullivan announcing that the new song which ne has just finished will be published in that magazine. Patti's veteran conductor, Arditi, has given his new waltz to the Journal, while Reginald de Koven's new song goes also to the same periodical. Strauss has sent his new waltz to the editor, Sousa a new march, and Mascagni, of "Cavalleria Rusticana" fame, is writing a piano score.

Popular Astronomy for September contains much that will interest students of the heavens. There is a fine view of Mars, printed in three colors. J. A. Brashear has a good article on Care and Heavy Black Seamless Cashmere Cleaning of Object Glasses, tearing down old ideas of using chamois skin, tissue paper and silk handkerchiefs. The pages given to celestial phenomena of the month are of unusual interest because of the diagram showing the course of the moon by the earth's shadow during the lunar eclipse of Sept. 14, and the chart of the solar eclipse of Sept. 28. Popular Astronomy, Goodsell Observatory, Northfield,

> A feature of Outing for September is a finely illustrated article on "The Illinois Naval Reserve," by W. H. Burke. The number opens with a complete story, "The Prophetic Urn," by Wm. Hinckley. Other notable features are, "Bear and For Bear," by Ed. W. Sandys; "The Ghort Raft," by "Nomad," and "In the Land of the Bread-fruit," by F. M. Turner. New York Outing Publishing Company.

> St. Nicholas for September opens with a pretty little poem entitled "How Willy's Ship Came Back," by M. M. D., followed by a clever cat story, "Lucifer," written by Rachael Carew and illustrated by Meredith Nugent. A great deal of information imparted in a pleasing way is found in "A Little King With a Long Name," by John Williamson Palmer. "Two School Houses and a Shipwreck," by Isabel Marbury, is a tale of the little island Fanega-Shima, belonging to Japan. The brownies in their tour through the union grow more and more ridiculous. This number gives the fourth tour, "In Kentucky." New York: The Century Company.

Those who read Mr. E. W. Hornung's very popular story, "A Bride from the not sufficient to keep the sawmills stocked. Bush" will welcome his new novel, "The Unbidden Guest," which promises to be as Haines and operated at Woodslee, will be removed to Itlind River in the Algema lumpopular as its predecessor. It is published removed to Blind River, in the Algoma lumby Longmans, Green & Co., New York and London, in their now celebrated "Colonial Library" series. The author has produced a plot that has the merit of being sustained to the close.

In the September issue of Table Talk housekeepers and home-makers will be much interested, for, in addition to the regular monthly menus, there is a digest of the manner and way of carrying them out for the first week, under the title of "A Schedule for the Week," by Helen Louise Johnson. Mrs. M. C. Myer and Miss Tillie May Forney, follow up fashion's caprices in all departments of the home, besides giving much readable matter on current subjects. There is also another of the series of articles on "Old English Silver." Published at Philadelphia, Pa., at $1 per year; 10 cents, current issue; or to our readers, a sample copy will be sent free.

Three short stories of unusual interest appear in the Atlantic Monthly for September. They are "The Kidnapped Bride," by Mrs. Catherwood; "For Their Brethren's Sake," by Grace Howard Peirce, and "Tante Cat'rinette," by Kate Chopin. One of the most striking contributions is "Old Boston Mary: A Remembrance," by Josiah Flynt. It is a graphic pen picture of a famous Boston vagrant by an author who has written much of tramps and tramp character. A delightful prose and verse paper by Edith M. Thomas entitled "Rus in Urbe" portrays the outdoor element of city life, and "In a Washington Hopfield," by Louise Herrick Wall, gives a picture of human nature under country skies. Charles Stewart Davison, who has before described his thrilling mountaineering experiences, writes on "Up Chevedale and Down Again," a sketch of Swiss mountaineering. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

The frontispiece of McClure's Magazine for September is a charming portrait of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, and the opening article is a no less charming relation, by Mr. Stevenson, of how, soon after their marriage, he came to write "Treasure Island," and of the unusual conditions under which he executed the work. In a very sprightly, illustrated article by Robert Barr, an exposition is given of the "savate," or kick, as employed with great skill by the French boxers. Prof. Berthelot, in an interview with Henry J. W. Dam, sets forth the grounds of his belief that a time is coming when milk, potatoes, beef and all the staples of human food will be supplied from the laboratories of the chemist instead of from the fields of the farmer. In an article illustrated with some very interesting composite photographs taken by himself, Dr. H. P. Bowditch, of Harvard Medical School, discusses the question whether composite photographs are typical pictures. New York: S. S. McClure Com-

The September Arena is filled with artieles of interest. The number opens with a paper by the Rev. Minot J. Savage on "The Religion of Walt Whitman's Poems," which will lead many to open their Whitman in a new spirit. Charles S. Smart makes a very damaging criticism of the school system in a paper called "Public Schools for the Privileged Few." B. O. Flower, in a paper on "Early Environment in Home Life," protests against the unwritten social code which keeps young people in a dangerous ignorance of the true functions of their bedies. Walter Black-burn Harte contributes "A Review of the Chicago Strike of '94." Thomas E. Will, A.M., and Dr. Lucius F. C. Garvin write on "Municipal Reform and How to Effect It." Prof. Will also furnishes a valuable

James G. Clark, a western poet, contributes some stirring verses, "The Message of M. Lowe." A unique and interesting paper is "An Astrological Forecast of the Administration of President Cleveland," made at the moment Mr. Cleveland took the oath of office on March 4, 1893. G. L. McKean writes on "The True Basis of Money." M. Louise Mason deals with the new psychological question of "Pre-Natal Influence." Boston: The Arena Publishing Company.

"Suggestions for the Hygienic Care of Children," an able article by Mrs. Jenness Miller in Jenness Miller Monthly for September, will prove of inestimable value to mothers. This issue of the Monthly abounds also in many other excellent articles both from a literary and a practical standpoint. "Correct Dress for Early Autumn" is perhaps the most original fashion article of the day. A striking bit of southern dialect which points a decided moral is that entitled "Green vs. Gray," by Mrs. Ruby Moore. Jennie Hopkins Seibold does some delightful, picturesque descrip-tive work in her sketch entitled "H. H.'s Grave." There is an able article on "Women Sculptors," and a most useful one on "How to Avoid Nervous Prostration." Ella Connor Ferris has a charming, witty article on "How I Learned to Cook." entire number is bright, sparkling and in-Babyland, published by the Alpha Publishing Company, Boston, is by long odds the best monthly published for the very young. Its contents are most appropriately illustrated. It is a great favorite in this country. Fifty cents a year.

Harper's Bazar is presenting a great variety of fascinating styles for the early autumn, illustrated by Sandoz and Chapuis, the famous Parisian artists, and selected from Worth's most distinctive creations. These autumn toilettes for out-door and in-door occasions surpass anything previously shown in a fashion journal. The September issues will be enriched by elegant gowns and hats for walking and driving, and by beautiful calling costumes. A brilliant novelette by M. McClelland, "St. John's Wooing," will run through several numbers. The scene of this story is in the far south, and it is intensely interesting from start to finish.

The Quarterly Illustrator is the only periodical in the country that deals distinctively with American art and artists. One of the many attractions of the July-September number is a paper on living pictures, enforced by photographs of popular actresses in pose and costumes suggested by familiar pictures. In the appendix the results of the recent photographic exhibition are given. Photography is shown to have a distinctly artistic side. The pictures are charming. Harry C. Jones, publisher, 96 Fifth avenae, New York.

For nearly 50 years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, quickest, safest and surest antidote for pain in the world. THE TRUE RELIEF

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is safe, reliable and effectual because of the stimulating action which it exerts over the nerves and vital powers of the body, adding tone to the one and inciting to renewed and increased vigor the slumbering vitality of the physical atructure, and through this healthful stimulation and increased action the cause of the PAIN is driven away and a natural condition restored. It is thus that the READY RELIEF is so admirably adapted for the CURE OF PAIN and without the risk of injury which is sure to result from the use of many of the so-called pain remedies of the day.

In using medicines to stop pain we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, when the patient loses the power of feeling, This is the most destructive practice: it masks the systems, shuts up, and instead offremoving trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, will be represented. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF is safe, re-trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these uncertain agents when a positive remedy like RAD-WAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least difficulty in either infant or adult. A CURE FOR ALL

London, Thursday, Sept. 6.

WELCOME TO OUR GUESTS. We welcome the great governing body of the Methodist Church of Canada to London, the most beautiful city in the Dominion. Citizens generally can be relied on to extend a warm greeting to their visitors, who come from every part of the Dominion, and also from Newfoundland and Japan, to legislate, for the next four years, for this large Christian body. The delegates will rejoice to know that in this favored center their denomination is a very prosperous one, keeping abreast the progressive principles in religion and morals of which Methodism has always been a warm exponent.

The first Methodist minister stationed here was the late Rev. Robert Carson, who was given charge of the whole of London township in 1823. In 1824-25 Rev. Edmund Stoney, who came to Canada with the Talbots, was here. He was succeeded in the next few years by Rev. Daniel Mc-Mullan, Matthew Whiting, John Bailey, John K. Williston, John Beatty, Wm. Griffiths and David Wright. Thefewas no regular place of worship till 1833, when a Rainy River. Large tracts of timber have small rougheast building was put up on the corner of Ridout and Carling streets, and there was no regularly settled minister here till 1839, when a new church was built upon the corner of King and Talbot streets, and services were held every Sunday. The circuit laid out by the veteran Carson has been divided again and again, and now comprises a number of important divisions, with many places of worship. The early days were days of trial. Methodism being regarded as a "dissenting identified. Nothing but a good wind is sect," was discriminated against, and its members had few rights which the dominant "family compact" and its upholders that will destroy the place. were bound to respect. Methodist preachers were even prohibited from marrying members of their flock. But as time passed on the influence of the denomination grew, and, in conjunction with other bodies, they compelled the granting of equal rights. No section of the church was more determined in the battle for those rights than the members in London and district.

Methodism in London has effectively demonstrated the wisdom of Christian union to achieve a common end. In 1883, when the various members of the Methodist body closely united and formed the Methodist Church of Canada, there were in this city five branches of the Methodist Church. Now they are a united body, with eleven regular places of worship and several mission stations, over 3,000 members, fully 10,000 attending public worship, and church property aggregating n value nearly $200,000.

Unity has been an equally good thing for Canadian Methodism at large. In 1874, when the Wesleyan and New Connextion Churches united, there were 1,000 ministers and 100,000 members. There are now 1,996 ministers and more than 260,000 members. Thus, in twenty years, the shurch has nearly doubled the number of its regular pastors and has increased its membership close on threefold. Since the General Conference last met, the memberthip has increased 27,000. Victoria University has been erected at a cost of $200,000, without one cent of debt remainlescription that the quadrennial legislative body meets in this city. The questions to be brought before it for settlement-such s the proper division of conference ministerial term from three years to five, the control of the denominational publications.

MR. LAURIER AT REGINA.

Hon, Wilfrid Laurier had a splendid reception at the capital of Assiniboia yesterday. A large crowd greeted him at the railway station, the first to grasp his hand being Hon. J. F. Ross, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly, a native of this city. Mayor R. Martin foilowed, and an address was read by John Second, Q.C., town clerk, on behalf of the corporation. The skating rink was crowded, and Mr. Laurier was cheered to the eche on coming forward. He repudiated the assertion that the Liberals were hostile to the Northwest, and pointed out that railway freights could best be reduced by freedom of trade, which would increase the business of the C. P. R. and compel a change. In the evening Mr. Laurier and party were entertained at a citizen banquet, Speaker Ross previding. The Liberal chief makes hosts of friends wherever he goes.

Which Means Victory - Confidence is Laurier and Mowat Expressed-Tribute to the Dead.

BRUCEFIELD, Ont., Sept. 5 .- A meeting of the Retorm Association of South Huron took place here today for the purpose of choosing a candidate to represent the Liberal interest in the next Parliament. Mr. McMillan thanked the Reformers of South Huron for the renewed expression of confidence in him in again making him their standardbearer. He dealt exhaustively with the trade question, exposing many of the fallacies of protection, particularly how oppressively it bears upon the farmers, showing conclusively that no relief can be expected until the tariff is brought ing, and now has a net endowment of to a revenue basis. He dwelt at some length upon the record of the Public Works Department of the Government, showing It is with a past record of this cheering that in that department alone hundreds of thousands of dollars had been stolen from the public treasury in connection with the Fraser, one who had not only proved himself an able member of the Government but a man whose record was beyond reproach, his administration of the Public Works Department being entirely free from the corruption that has been revealed elsewhere." The meeting was closed with cheers for rowed yesterday afternoon. The course was the usual one of half a mile and turn, and everything was favorable for good contests. George Beling and Ed. Morris were in the first heat. Morris won easily by three or four lengths. Heat No. 2 was between Joe Irwin and Norman Dinnen. It was a better exhibition than the first, but Dinnen won with about two lengths to the good. Thus the final was between Morris and Dinnen-just whom the crowd expected. Roth were in the best of condition, and both were seated in similar lapstreak boats. Each man had his admirers, and as the contestants lined up for the fray they were given a reception. A good start was made and the oars were soon dipping in the water at a lively rate. The turn was reached with Dinnen a little in the lead. He didn't lose an inch at the buoy, and started on the return with Morris in hot pursuit. The latter's efforts to overtake the leader were useless, and Dinnen finished a winner by fully two boatlengths. It meant that he would have a chance for the cup, as had Dinnen lost Morris would have been holder of the cup, having already won it twice. The deciding event between the two will take place during fair week. Dinnen's friends are greatly pleased at the result of yesterday's race, and feel certain that he will win the final. Dr. Jento acted as referee and Mr. A. Black as starter. VIGILANT SALUTES THE BRITANNIA.

Cowss, Sept. 5 .- The withdrawal of the Vigilant from the race for the Cape May cup having not become generally known, a large fleet of vessels gathered in and about Totiand Bay this morning conveying persons desirous of witnessing the contest. The Britannia flew 38 flags, representing the number of races she has won this season. The Vigilant saluted the Britannia's winning flags by hoisting the Stars and Stripes. The Vigilant left at 1 p.m. in tow for Southampton, where she will lay up for the winter. LONDON, Sept. 5 .- Howard Gould said today: "At first, after the loss of the centerboard, I wished to race without letting the sailing committee know of the accident. Eventually, however, I concluded that I had no right to jeopardize our chances for the cup. If the Britannia had won, American yachtmen would have had but one more opportunity to recover it."

AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY. RACE TRACK, SHEEPSHEAD BAY, Sept. 5.-There was less fog and haze today, though the weather was far from pleasant. In spite of the unfavorable weather conditions and the fact that the card was a light one, about 10,000 persons were present. There were two stake races on the programme, one for the Bay stakes and the other for the Partridge stakes. Both of these were wen by odds on favorites, as were also the first and second events on the card. The races were well contested, and those who journeyed to the track were WINDSOR, Sept. 5 .- The second day of the Driving Park Association races was again favorable as to weather. Rain set in quite heavily about 2 a.m. and continued until 7, when the clouds gradually broke, and by noon the sun shone clear and the track had dried off. There were three events on the score card, but only one race was finished. Considerable time was lost in getting away in the third heat of the first race. The horses started about fourteen times before they got away, and this proved to be the most exciting heat of the day. There were twelve starters, and when they had reached the quarter post Sponnick, b. h., owned by Rivard & Co., Detroit, dropped and was dead in a few minutes. In the second four heats were

CHOLERA IN AMERICA.

A Case Discovered on an Emigrant Train in Maryland-The Victim Dies.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 5 .- John P. Walther was taken from an emigrant train today suffering with what appeared to be a well developed case of cholera. He was isolated in a house outside the city limits and the other occupants of the car locked in the coach and forwarded to Pittsburg. The man died in great agony this evening. Walther and his fellow passengers arrived at New York yesterday on the North German Lloyd steamship Elbe from Bremen. One of the passengers says Walther was attacked with severe pains and vomiting two days before the vessel arrived, but that the ship surgeon gave him medicine which braced him up sufficiently to pass inspection at New York. The authorities have telegraphed to Pittsburg officials to intercept and quarantine the car. Physicians are positive that Walther's was a bona fide case of cholera, but are undecided as to whether it was of the Asiatic nature.

Are the Elections Near? MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 5 .- Hon. J. A. Ouimet has been very active among Montreal Conservatives. A meeting was held to attend to the revision of the lists. This has created much speculation. Liberals regard the event as positive proof of the near appraach of the oft-threatened general elections.

FUNNY LUCK BRINGERS.

ODD COLLECTIONS OF MASCOTS OF SUPERSTITIOUS PERSONS.

The Family Gathering Around the Old Stone Jug-Wears an Iron Bracelet-A Gambler's Flattened Bullet-The Luck in a Horse's Tooth.

London Answers has been collecting original stories of strange "charms. Here is the pick of them:

The luck-bringer in our family, writes one correspondent, is a small red stoneware jug which has been handed down for six generations from father to eldest son. How the fortune of the family (a Westmoreland one) became supposed to be dependent upon the possession of this of worry, and keep you in not particularly handsome article of stoneware I cannot say.

The jug is kept most carefully stowed away, for fear of accident occurring to it, in a case with a glass front, through which we are allowed to admire it, and is only taken out upon the occasion of the birth of a boy in the family. At such times, the whole of the family and as many of the relations as possible being gathered together, the jug is brought out, filled with good liquor, and the assembly drink from it the good fortune of the youngster.

This ceremony having been gone through, the jug is once more restored to its place, there to remain untouched till a like happy occasion.

Carried by a Gambler.

A friend of mine, who has, I am very sorry to say, the vice of being an invet-erate gambler, has a queer luck bringer, for whose qualities he has such respect that he carries it in a small locket suspended from his neck by a gold chain. It is simply a bullet, and he became poseessed of it in a strange manner.

In the summer of 1876 he was engaged one day at Naples in a game in which dice were used, and when about to make a throw, to his and his companions' surprise, they distinctly heard something besides the dece in the dice box. Turning it over on the table, he found a big bullet. How it came there no one could tell. My friend pocketed it, and his good fortune that night was so pronounced that he resolved to stick to his queer find. For my part, I am sorry he found it, for it seemed to have decided him in his reckless course, and I should be only too pleased to hear that he had lost it, for the benefit of those unfortunate ones to whom it brings disaster, if it insures luck to its owner.

A Lucky Walking Stick. For two of the happiest and luckiest years in my life I had a very handsome American hazel stick, silver mounted. Whenever I used the stick I had luck. I was an auctioneer, and frequently made it take the place of a hammer. The stick was stolen from me in Perth, Western Australia. I was out of luck at once, everything seemed to go wrong. By a great fluke I heard of the thief, and Philadelphia Square and West got it back. My luck returned, and I stuck to my stick, till one night the same fellow stole it again from me and left the colony. My bad luck then commenced, and has not improved since. I heard some time since that the fellow was drowned I wrote for, but have not yet received, my "Mascot" stick.

Wouldn't Part With It for Gold. Although, unlike Gilead P. Beck, I do not possess "The Golden Butterfly," I possess a charm which may be considered quite as efficacious. This consists of a small dried lizard which has now been in my possession for four years. At times when this reptile has been absent from me I have suffered misfortunes, such as business losses, a broken leg and collar-bone, an envenomed hand, and great disappointments; while with it in my immediate possession I can re-count no important misfortunes, put only blessings.

I first attributed talismanic power to this specimen when informed by a friend that such was considered a charm by the ancient, and now it is my bosom friend, being supported by a string round the neck and thus form a charming necklace.

Why He Wears a Bracelet.

An uncle of mine found a horseshoe on his 21st birthday while going to apply for a mate's appointment on board a ship. He obtained the birth, and, ascribing his success to the horseshoe, had the metal hammered into a rough brrcelet round his left wrist.

Six months later, while leaning over the taffrail, a block fell from aloft on to the bracelet, whic probably saved him from a braken arm. Two years after, a mad dog flew at him, only to break his teeth on the bracelet. Subsequently, in a mutiny aboard ship it saved his hand from severance by the blow of a cutlass.

Some time ago he decided to have it mounted with silver and hinges, and had it filed off for that purpose. leaving the shop where he had left it he was run over by a cab and had his left arm broken. He is now in California, and I had a letter some months ago saying that his charm had again done him good service.

Puts It Down to a Tooth. One of our most famous jockeys, a man who has steered his mount to victory in the Two Thousand and the Derby, carries with him the tooth of the horse on which he won his first race. For about two years after that race he struggled on, and was regarded as about the most unlucky urchin that ever strode a horse. His first winnerand almost his sole one-having died he was recommended by a sporting "gent" to secure one of its teeth as a remedy for the evil state of things. He was willing to try it, and did so.

From that time he dates his "run of luck." He is now known as one of the cleverest steerers of a "bit of horseflesh" on the course, and makes considerably over a thousand pounds a year—"all from the old horse's tooth," he gravely declares.

A Professional Sympathist. Mrs. Potts.-What is the reason you never go to work? Weary Watkins .- I'm out on sympathetic strike.

SWALLOWED UP!

A Pennsylvania Town Sinks Out of Sight.

People and Buildings Disappear-A Mine Caved In-Fifty Miners Entombed-Fatalities Not Yet Known.

LOFTY, Pa., Sept. 6.-The little mining town of Scotch Valley, in Lackawanna county, near this place, was swallowed up last night in one of the most complete mine cave-ins ever known in this region. The wildest excitement prevails throughout the region, and details are fragmentary. It is impossible to state accurately the number of fatalities or if there are any. Rescuing parties are now exerting every means to release the occupants of the engulfed dwellings. One of the buried houses has taken afire.

The cave-in was caused by the giving way of the timber supports in the workings of the Mount Lookout colliery. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the inhabitants of the hamlet were startled by the rumbling, thunder-like reports which warned them of the falling of tone of rock and debris into the deserted caverns of the abandoned mine many feet beneath them. Report was followed by report, and accompanied by other tremors, and then the BANK OUT OF SIGHT in the gaping cavity. Meanwhile some 50 miners were imprisoned in the colliery. They had been at work in a new portion of the mine, and their usual means of exit from the mine was completely wiped out by the cave-in. James Perrin, one of the oldest of the miners, got the men together, however, and started to lead them up through a tunnel which leads to the surface through a series of steep slopes.

The rescuing party on the surface had made an attempt to CUT A PASSAGE through the mass of debris which blocked the main entrance. Failing in this some of the more daring of the rescuers descended the air passage and penetrated the slope where the imprisoned miners werestruggling upwards. The men were carried to the sur face, where a great crowd of excited, panic-stricken people were awaiting them. Up to 9 o'clock last night all the persons who could be found had been taken from the ruins, although the full roll of those to be accounted for cannot be prepared just | O., was shot while pursuing burglars yes-

Deep in reflection, the doctor strode on: when, in passing Mrs. Gass's house, a sharp tapping at the window saluted his ear. It came from that lady herself, and she threw up the sash.

'Just come in, will you, Dr. Rane? I want you for something very particular."

He felt sure she only wanted to question him about the death, and would a great deal rather have gone on; but with her red and smiling face inviting him in peremptorily, he did not see his way to refusing her. "And so he is gone—that poor young man!" she began, meeting him in her smart dress and pink cap. "When I heard the death bell ring out this morning, it sounded to me a'most like my own knell.

"Yes, he is gone—unhappily," murmured "Well, now, doctor, the next thing iswhat became of you yesterday?" The change of subject appeared peculiar.

"Became of me?" repeated Dr. Rane. "How do you mean?" 'All the mortal day I was stuck at this parlor window, waiting to see you go by," repeated Mrs. Gass. "You never passed

"Yes, I did. I passed in the morning." "My eyes must have gone a maying then, for they never saw you," was Mrs. Gass's answer.

"It was before my usual hour. I was called out early to a sick man in Dallory, and I took the opportunity to see Ketler at the same time.' "Then that accounts for the milk in the cocoa nuts; and I wasted my time for noththing," was the good tempered rejoinder. Why did you want to see me pass?" Mrs. Gass paused for a moment before replying. She glanced round to see that the door was closed, and dropped her voice almost to a whisper. "Dr. Rane, who wrote that fatal letter?

Oliver Rane stared at her, a sudden flush of anger dyeing his brow. No wonder; the question, put with emphatic earnestness, seemed an assertion, almost like that startling repreach of Nathan to David. "Mrs. Gass, I do not know what you "I see you don't relish it, doctor. But I am a plain body, as you know; and when in doubt about a thing, pleasant or unpleasant, I like to ask an explanation right out."

"But why should you be in doubt about this?" he inquired wonderingly. What can induce you to connect me with the letter?" forth a folded piece of paper. She handed it to Dr. Rane.

It was not a letter; it could not be the copy of one; but it did appear to be the rough sketch of the anonymous missive that had reached Mr. North. Some of the sentences were written two or three times over; in a close hand, in a scrawling hand, in a reversed hand, as if the writer were practising different styles; in others the construction was altered, words were erased, others substituted. Oliver Rane gazed upon it as one in complete bewilderment. "What is this, Mrs. Gass?"

"Is it not the skeleton of the letter?" "No, certainly not. And yet-" Dr. Rane broke off and ran his eye over the lines again and again. "There is a similarity in some of the phrases," he suddenly said. Some of the phrases is identical," returned Mrs. Gass. "When Richard North was here yesterday, I got him to repeat over to me the words of the letter; word for word, so far as he remembered em, and know em for these words. Whoever writ that letter to Mr. North, doctor, first of all tried his sentences and his hand on this paper, practicing how he could best do it."

"How did you come by this?"
"You left it here the night defore last." "I left it here!" repeated Dr. Rane, looking as if he mentally questioned whether Mrs. Gass was in her right senses.

Yes. You." "But you must be dreaming, Mrs. Gass." "I never do dream—that sort of dreaming," replied Mrs. Gass. "Look here" putting her stout hand, covered with costly rings, on his coat sleeve—"didn't you upset your pocketbook here that night? Well, this piece of paper fell out of it."

"It could not have done anything of the," he repeated, getting flushed and angry again. All the papers that fell out of my pocketbook I picked up and returned to it."
"You didn't pick this up; it must have fluttered away unseen. Just after you were gone I dropped my spectacle case, and in stooping for it, I saw this piece of paper lying under the claw of the table."

"But it could not have come out of my pocket book. Just tell me, if you please, Mrs. Gass, what should bring such a document in my possession?" "That's just what I can't tell. The paper was not there before candle light; I'll answer for that much; so where else could it have come from?" The last words were not spoken as an assertion of her view, but as a question. Dr. Rane looked at her, she at him; both seeming equally puzzled. "Had you any visitors last evening besides myself?" he asked. Not a soul. The only person that came into the parlor, barring my own servants, was Molly Green, under housemaid at the Hall. She lived with me once, and calls in sometimes in passing to ask how I am. They sent her into Dallory for something wanted at the chemist's, and shellooked in to tell me. The thing had just happened."

Dr. Rane's brow lost its perplexity; an easy smile, as if the mystery were solved, crossed his face. The hint recently given him by Mr. A x nder was in his mind. I'm glad you've told me this, Mrs. Gass. The papyr was more likely to have been left by Molly green than by me. It may have lropped from her petticoats."

"Goodness bless the man! From her petticoats! Why, she had run all the way from the Hall. And how was she likely to pick it up in that house—even though her gown had been finished off with fish hooks?" "What cause have I given you to suspect this to Richard North?"

"No. Nor to anybody else. It was not a pleasant thing to speak of, you see.' "Not a pleasant thing for me, certainly, to be suspected of having dropped that paper. The culprit, an innocent one, no doubt, must have been Molly Green." "I never was so brought up in all my life," cried the puzz ed woman. "As to Molly Green-it must be just a fancy of yours, doctor, for it never can be fact.' Oliver Rane drew his chair a little nearer to Mrs. Gass, and whispered a word of the doubt touching Mrs. North. He only spoke of it as a doubt; a hint at most; but Mrs. Gass was not slow to take it.

"Heaven help the woman!-if it's her "But this must not be breathed aloud." he said, taking alarm. It may be a false

"Don't fear me; it's a thing too grave for me to mix myself up in," was the reply; and to give Mrs. Gass her due, she did look scared in no slight degree. "Dr. Rane, I am sorry for saying what I did to you. It was the impossibility, as I took it, of anything's having left it here but that flutter of papers from your pocketbook. Whoever would have given a thought to Molly

Dr. Rane made no answer.
"She puther basket down by the door there, and came up the room to look at my geraniums; I held the candle for her. I remember she caught her crinoline on the corner of the iron fender, and it gave her a twist round. The idiots that girls make of themselves with them big crinolines! Perhaps it dropped from her then.' "Well, let us bury it in silence, Mrs. Gass; it is only a doubt at best," said the prudent but less eloquent physician. "You will allow me to take this," he added alluding to the paper. "I should like to examine it at leisure. "Take it, and welcome," she answered; "I'm glad to be rid of it. As to burying it in silence, we had better, I expect, both do

"Remarkable Cure of Dropsy and Dyspepsia."-Mr. Samuel T. Casey, Belleville, writes: "In the spring of 1884 I began to be troubled with dyspensia, which gradually became more and more distressing. I used various domestic remedies and applied to my family physician, but received no benefit. By this time my trouble assumed the form of dropsy. I was unable to use any food whatever except boiled milk and bread; my limbs were swollen to twice their natural size; all hopes of my recovery were given up, and I quite expected death within a few weeks. Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY having been recommended to me, I tried a bottle with but little hope of relief; and now, after using eight bottles, my Dyspepsia and Dropsy are cured. Although now 79 years of age I can enjoy my meals as well as ever, and my general health is good. WOMAN'S NEED Women suffer unspeakable tortures from nuscular weakness, caused by impaired nerves and poor blood. Uric Kidney acid poison, unsuspected, weakens the nerves and poisons the blood. By and by, if the Kidneys do not properly purify the blood, then comes prolapsus, retroversion, etc. Blood 75 per cent. pure is not a nourisher—it is a death breeder. Delicate women need not be told how much they would give to get and STAY well. If their blood is free from the poisonous ferments of the Kidneys and Liver, they will never know what "weakness" is. The blood is the source and sustainer of health it cannot be kept pure except the Kidneys and Liver do their work naturally. Something is needed to insure free and natural action of these organs, one 25 cent box of Kidney-Liver Pills will prove to any sufferer they are a boon to women, can be used with perfect confidence
