ITALIAN PREMIER THREATENS TO QUIT PEACE CONFERENCE TODAY

THIRD STATIONARY HOSPITAL UNIT ARRIVES AT HALIFAX

"WE ARE DYING FOR LOVE" READS NOTE LEFT BY PAIR WHO AGREE TO SUICIDE

Woman Is Killed by Her Sweetheart, Who Is Found Beside Her Today in an Unconscious Condition, With Throat Cut—Letters Found in Room in Montreal Hotel Reveal Suicide Pact.

Montreal, April 23.—The body of a woman who had been stabbed to death, and an unconscious man, were found in a room in the Windsor Hotel this morning. The man was registered under the name of P. Carl Sawick of Toronto.

The man is believed to be an Austrian, and the woman, who appears to be about 19 years old, an Italian or Syrian. She had been shot once and stabbed several times. Sawick cut his throat, and at the Royal Hospital, to which he was removed, it was said he had a poor chance to live.

On the table in the room was a pile of letters addressed to Toronto and St. Catharines people. On the top of the pile was a note and a dollar bill. The note read: "We are dying for love and sickness. Please use dollar bill for postage on letters."

FIRST BATTALION WILL ARRIVE AT 10 O'CLOCK BY G. T. R. THURSDAY; THIS HAS BEEN DECIDED DEFINITELY

Will Start Parade As Soon As Men Can Be Detrained—No Civil Organizations To Take Part in Reception At Heights.

THE PROCEDURE

Arrive at G. T. R. station 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Form into line on York street, between Clarence and Richmond, immediately.

Proceed directly to armories, via Dundas and Richmond streets.

Military and civic representatives view the march past at the armories.

Parade proceeds to Carling Heights, via Dundas, Adelaide and Rattle streets, arriving at Heights at 11 o'clock.

Civic reception held there immediately on arrival, a few one minute addresses being given.

Dispersal of the men.

All arrangements are practically completed for the greatest reception that London has ever accorded any body of men, and when the members of the 1st Battalion arrive on Thursday they will realize that the old home knows how to give a right royal welcome. At 10 o'clock, when the train is timed to arrive, the G. T. R. platform will be cleared of civilians, and York street from Clarence to Richmond will also be kept clear for the military. Mayor C. R. Somerville and Ald. F. E. Harley, chairman of the reception committee, will receive the officers as they step from the train to the platform.

Form.

As soon as the men can be detrained and formed into line, the parade will start for Carling Heights, by way of Richmond, Dundas, Adelaide and Rattle streets. At the Armories, a salute will be given as the men march past a stand occupied by Brig.-Gen. L. W. Shannon, and other officers and the mayor and council and members of the reception committee. Immediately after the parade passes, the mayor and aldermen will be driven to the Heights in automobiles, where the civic reception will be held. Mayor C. R. Somerville, Sir Adam Beck, and others, will deliver short welcome addresses.

Provision for Friends.

Provision has been made at the Heights for the relatives and friends to meet the returned men. No civil organizations will take part in the parade at all.

Representatives from the various organizations in the city will have a part in the civic reception at the Heights. None but soldiers, those who have received their discharge included, will be in the parade.

At Heights.

The portion of Carling Heights in front of the boxing stand, with 120 yards frontage and 50 yards depth, will be roped off in order to accommodate the parade in the following formation:

1st Battalion at the extreme right, facing stand.

Comrades of same battalion on left.

G. W. V. A. in rear, in close massed formation.

Space will be reserved on either side of the stand and roped off for relatives.

A large placard will denote the place where motor cars will be parked. This will be under Lieut. Dodsworth of the A. D. S. and T. Staff.

The pickets on duty will patrol inside the ropes in order to keep the space clear.

It has been very particularly recommended by the civic committee that cars be provided for the wounded and sick overseas men in hospitals in order that they might take part in the parade. The place these cars will occupy on the route will be settled by that committee and will be prepared to follow along in rear of the parade and proceed to the Heights, where they will be directed to their proper place by the A. D. S. and T. and his staff, in the place reserved for them on the heights.

The conveyance and handing over of baggage of the 1st Battalion will be in charge of the A. D. S. and T.

At the close of the civic reception, the 1st Battalion, W. O. R., will be taken over by Lieut.-Col. Nelson of the district depot for dispersal.

German Laborers at Danzig Infected With Bolshevism

Men Threw Foreman Overboard When He Stops Card Game.

London, April 23.—German laborers in the shipyards at Danzig, where American food ships are being overhauled, are becoming so imbued with Bolshevism that the United States navy will probably abandon any attempt to do the repair work there.

Reports received in London say the workers are getting entirely out of control.

In one instance a foreman in charge of work on a ship broke up a card game among the workers and ordered them back to their jobs. The workers threw the foreman overboard and continued the card game, leaving it to others to rescue the foreman from the water.

BRANTFORD CLOSES ITS "FLU" HOSPITAL

Emergency Institution Will Not Be Re-opened Unless Necessary.

Brantford, April 23.—The hospital governors have decided to close the influenza emergency hospital here. It has been in operation since September last, with a record daily patient list of 143. Recently but few cases have been received, and accommodation for these can be found in the general hospital. In case of a recurrence of the epidemic the emergency hospital can again be opened.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN AT MEETINGS OF THE EMPIRE DELEGATIONS

Canadian Representatives Are Studying Reports of the Special Committees.

[Cable from Leon Trepanier.]

Paris, April 23.—Sir Robert Borden has presided at three meetings of the British Empire delegations, at which the report of the inter-allied commission on ports, waterways and railways, and the amended draft of the covenant of the League of Nations were under consideration.

It is understood that certain modifications in the report as to ports, waterways and railways were recommended for consideration by the council of four. Important proposals with respect to the treatment of German nations and property, and as to the commercial conditions in former German colonies, which will become the subject of a mandate under the League of Nations, were also debated, and certain conclusions were reached.

Studying Report.

Sir George Foster and Hon. Mr. Sifton are engaged in a study of this report, especially as it may affect Canadian interests. On the same day the report of the commission on responsibility for the war will be considered, if time permits. This report is being studied by Sir Robert Borden and Hon. Mr. Doherty.

Mr. Lloyd Harris and Dr. Robertson are still in Paris, conferring with the Canadian ministers, and with the various inter-allied and British commissions of which they are members, or with whose work they are brought into contact.

The officers are making a tour of the battlefields.

TROUBLE AT HAMBURG.

Berlin, April 23.—There have been serious disturbances at Hamburg during the week-end. A mob plundered the harbor quarter and clashed with the police, several people being killed and wounded.

A disturbance from the Western States is now approaching the Great Lakes, and a pronounced area of high pressure, with low temperature, is spreading southward over Manitoba.

4,000 CANADIANS TO TAKE PART IN BRITISH TRIUMPHAL MARCH

London, April 23.—Reuter learns that the dominions' troops which will take part in the triumphal march through the metropolis on May 3 will include 4,000 Canadians, 5,000 Australians, 1,000 New Zealanders and 1,000 South Africans. The procession will march from Grosvenor Gate via Hyde Park Corner and Constitution Hill to Buckingham Palace, where the King and other members of the royal family will receive the salute, thence to Victoria street, Whitehall, Trafalgar Square, The Strand, Kingsway, Oxford street and the Marble Arch.

MEN OF THIRD CANADIAN STATIONARY HOSPITAL OF LONDON ARRIVE AT HALIFAX

"B" Squadron of 1st Hussars of This City Also Among the Party of More Than 3,000 Returned Soldiers Who Arrived At Atlantic Port This Morning—Lieut.-Col. C. H. Reason, D. S. O., in Charge.

Halifax, N. S., April 23.—The White Star liner Belgic, with 82 officers and 3,165 other ranks of the returning Canadian expedition force, docked at 9 o'clock this morning.

On board were the 2nd Canadian General Hospital, the 2nd Clearing Hospital, the 3rd Canadian Stationary Hospital, the 7th Canadian Stationary Hospital, the Canadian Light Horse and five army troop companies of skilled mechanics, the 1st of Kingston; 2nd, Toronto; 3rd, London; 4th, Halifax, and 5th, Winnipeg.

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Reason, D. S. O., of London, Ont., commanding the 3rd Canadian Stationary Hospital, of Western Ontario, was senior medical officer aboard. His unit had one of the most remarkable experiences falling to the lot of the Canadian medical service overseas. It was stated at Boullens at the beginning of the March offensive of last year, and when the retreat began and the forward medical service collapsed, it was called upon to do the work of field ambulances and casualty clearing stations as well as its own.

Hospital Was Bombed.

On May 29 and again on May 30, the hospital was bombed by the Germans, two officers, three nursing sisters and 45 patients being killed, and many more minor casualties sustained. In spite of all this, however, and in spite of the fact that the hospital was in constant readiness to move at any hour's notice, in the event of a further German advance, 52,000 casualties were handled in the three months. These included practically all the casualties in the third British army and a great many of the Fifth. Previous to its experience in France the unit served on the Island of Lemnos in the Dardanelles campaign. The hospital was visited by the King on two occasions, on Good Friday a year ago, and again in August of last year. His majesty personally congratulated the officers and men on their fine record. Col. Reason was extremely modest about the work of the unit, protesting that all he had to say that everyone concerned was "tickled to death to get home."

The Canadian Light Horse, which is made up of "A" Squadron, 19th Alberta Dragoons, "B" Squadron, First Hussars, London, "C" Squadron 16th Light Horse, Saskatchewan, is returning with a strength of 22 officers and 241 men.

In participated in tll the principal engagements falling to the lot of the Canadian corps from Passchendaele to Mons and from Mons to Godsberg on the Rhine. One of the officers, Lieutenant F. A. Taylor, of London, Ontario won the D.S.O., in the Amiens fighting.

A large number of details also arrived on the Belgic. The transport arrived a day sooner than her schedule called for.

FRONTIER BETWEEN GERMANY AND ITALY IS DEFINITELY FIXED

PARIS, April 22.—The Temps says that the new frontier between Italy and German-Austria apparently has been definitely fixed as Italy demanded it and as France and Great Britain in 1915 promised it should run. The frontier will be drawn to the north of the Brenner Pass in Tyrol.

The Brenner Pass is the lowest of all the passes that traverse the main chain of the Alps. It is the shortest route between central Germany and Italy.

ITALIAN PEACE DELEGATES FIRM ON FIUME STAND

Early Settlement of Troublesome Question Not Considered Probable.

REASSERT DECISION

Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Wilson Resume Consideration of Chino-Jap Question.

Paris, April 23.—The Italian delegation to the peace conference reasserted today its determination to stand firm on the question of Fiume, indicating that unless the council changed its position the delegation would not return to the conference. An early settlement of the difficulty is thought to be improbable.

With Premier Orlando still absent, Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau and President Wilson resumed this morning the consideration of questions concerning China and Japan.

WILSON'S PROPOSAL REGARDING FIUME FLATLY REJECTED

Paris, April 23.—The facts of the deadlock over the Italian claims in the Adriatic, according to the Petit Parisien, are as follows:

President Wilson proposed that Fiume should be a free city, but attached to the Jugo-Slav customs system, and, further, that the London treaty should be subjected to a total revision.

Italy refused to accept this proposal, whereupon President Wilson withdrew, leaving Italy alone with the representatives of the other signatories of the treaty. During the meetings of the representatives of the signatories, both Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino were most conciliatory. Orlando, especially, having asked repeatedly on what condition France and Great Britain would consent to give Fiume to Italy. Baron Sonnino said he was ready to discuss a revision of the London treaty.

However, President Wilson, who, while he was not present at the meetings, kept in touch with them, then wanted to reopen the question of the treaty of London, but without joining the revision to the fate of Fiume. The president has receded from his first proposal to make Fiume a free city, and is inclined to give it absolutely to the Jugo-Slavs. As to Premiers Lloyd George and Clemenceau, they are understood to be ready to adhere purely and simply to the treaty of London, at the same time seeking means of conciliation.

FEEDING BOLSHEVIKI WOULD NOT HELP TO COMBAT MENACE

North Russian Officials Believe Plan Would Not Be Efficacious.

Archangel, April 23.—Opposition by officials of the Government of North Russia to the plan for feeding Bolshevik Russia, as recently made public in Paris, is based not only on unwillingness to provision territory occupied by forces of a government the North Russians are fighting, but because they believe the plan would not be efficacious in combating Bolshevism.

In the interview given the Associated Press correspondent recording his opposition to the plan, Lieut.-Gen. Eugene Karlovitch Miller, acting head of the Archangel Government, expressed the view that those who helped Bolshevik Russia in this wise would in effect be allying themselves with the Bolshevik.

General Miller characterized as "impossible and impracticable" the proposition that the anti-Bolshevik Russians should cease fighting at any place in order to allow provisions to reach their enemies.

ARCTIC NAVIGATOR EXPECTS TO REACH ATLANTIC IN FALL

Capt. Jos. Bernard of Nome Is Still Sailing West.

Seattle, Wash., April 23.—Capt. Jos. Bernard of Nome, Alaska, Arctic trader and navigator, is still sailing west to east through the Northwest Passage, and should reach the Atlantic Ocean by next October, Captain Alexander Allen, veteran northern trader, reported on his arrival here today from Fort McPherson on the Arctic. Captain Allen, on his way out "mushed" about 500 miles from McPherson to Fairbanks, Alaska.

WEATHER CONDITIONS STILL DELAYING THE ATLANTIC FLIGHT

St. Johns, Nfld., April 23.—Fog and rain are very much in evidence today. It is unlikely that any attempt will be made at flying.

PREMIER ORLANDO THREATENS TO RETURN TO ITALY UNLESS FIUME QUESTION IS ADJUSTED

Italian Premier Declares He Will Quit Peace Conference Today If a Satisfactory Settlement Is Not Found For the Perplexing Problem—Lloyd George Has Tried Unsuccessfully To Bring About a Compromise.

Paris, April 23.—Premier Orlando threatens to return to Italy today unless there is a satisfactory adjustment of the Fiume and Dalmatian questions. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain is trying to persuade the Italian leader to remain in Paris longer while he continues to reconcile the opposing viewpoints. It became known today that Premier Lloyd George tried unsuccessfully during the discussion last night to find a basis for agreement between the differing viewpoints of President Wilson and Premier Orlando on the Italian situation.

REPORT OF A SOVIET GOVT. IN TURKEY IS REGARDED UNTRUE

Story Sent Out From Odessa Lacks Confirmation.

BOLSHEVIK SOURCES

Believed To Be Responsible For the Report.

London, April 23.—The rumor that a soviet government had been set up in Turkey remains entirely without confirmation, and is now treated with considerable incredulity. It is pointed out that the source of the news (Odessa) is in the hands of the Bolshevik, and that British warships at Constantinople being equipped with wireless plants, might have been expected to report the fact, if the rumor was true, but nothing has been heard from the fleet.

Honeymoon Fliers Are Injured When Airplane Hits Barn

Defiance, Ohio, April 23—Lieut. Harry J. Runser of Fort Wayne, Ind., sustained two broken ribs when the airplane in which he and his wife were attempting to make a landing because of gasoline shortage, crashed into a barn near here last evening. The machine was wrecked, but Mrs. Runser was uninjured.

Lieut. Runser and his wife recently returned to Canada from France, where he was engaged in the American aerial service. The couple left Toronto Monday in their airplane for Fort Wayne, where Lieut. Runser was to give an exhibition.

Lieut. and Mrs. Runser landed east of this city on Monday evening and remained here overnight. They left yesterday, having replenished their gasoline supply.

SOCIALISTS DEMAND SPECIAL TAXES BE LEVIED ON THE RICH

Resolution To That Effect Is Passed At the Paris Congress.

Paris, April 23.—The Socialist congress, at its session yesterday, passed resolutions demanding the return to the state of excess war profits and the levying of special taxes on wealthy establishments, financial monopolies, concerns dealing in luxuries, railways and large enterprises, such as mines and banks. Another resolution adopted called for the transfer to the Pantheon of the ashes of Jean Leon Jaures, the Socialist leader, who was assassinated in July, 1914.

STRIKE OF BUILDERS IMPENDING IN HALIFAX

Halifax, N. S., April 23.—It appears almost certain that there will be a strike of men in the building and allied trades in Halifax after May 1. The men in all those industries are asking that their wages be increased to 75c an hour. In the case of the carpenters, this is an advance of 50 per cent.

BOLSHEVIK LEADERS LOSING CONTROL IN HUNGARIAN CAPITAL

Budapest Is Passing Through a Crisis Worse Than April 3.

ANARCHY IS FEARED

Rumor Is That Allies Have Ordered March On Budapest.

Budapest, Tuesday, April 22. — This city is going through a crisis worse than that of April 3. There is apprehension that there will be a violent swing to anarchy, with the Socialists losing control to Bolshevik leaders like Bela Kun and chiefs of the Red Guard. Looting, which hitherto has been held in check, or legalized as the "nationalization of property," and the assassination of the old political leaders and the aristocrats are feared.

Reports are current that the Rumanians and Czechs have received orders from the Allies to march on Budapest. This is increasing the uneasiness here. It is felt, however, that the Rumanians are advancing merely to occupy the territories set aside for them by the Allied note of March 20, which resulted in the resignation of Count Michael Karolyi, the former premier. The fact that the communists are unable to prevent the Allies from occupying the districts involved is weakening the influence of Bela Kun, and is causing violent hatred against the Allies among the Hungarians.

TWO DIE AS RESULT OF BURNS SUFFERED DURING EXPLOSION

Wife Is Fatally Burned While Helping Husband.

Sherbrooke, Que., April 23.—Seriously burned in a gasoline explosion Tuesday evening at Lake Megantic, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bousquet, of that town, died as the result of the accident. Mr. Bousquet was lighting the fire, and mistaking a keg containing gasoline for one containing kerozene he poured the liquid into the fire and the explosion resulted. He was seriously burned about the hands, and his wife who came to his assistance also sustained fatal injuries.

Will Use Airplane for Explorations in the Antarctic

British Biologist Will Make Trip Into South Pole Area.

London, April 23.—Another Antarctic expedition is being prepared for, according to a statement printed in this morning's newspapers. John Cope, biologist with the British Antarctic expeditions of 1914-1917, will be leader, and expects the expedition to start in June, 1920. He proposes, besides carrying scientific investigations to ascertain the extent of mineral and other valuable deposits on the Antarctic continent. He has secured the famous exploration ship Terranova, and intends to take an airplane for surveying the interior of the continent. He hopes also to make a flight to the South Pole.

10,000 MEN MAY BE CALLED OUT BEFORE STRIKE IS SETTLED

Montreal, April 23.—The threat of a general strike of dock laborers and freight handlers, if the carters strike was not settled, was made by union officials this morning. It was stated 10,000 men would be called out.

Board of Education May Increase, Not Cut, Call For $195,000 Debentures

Some Are Not Satisfied to Wait Until January For Vote of Ratepayers--Would Resign if Turned Down.

Rather than cutting the requisition of $195,000 which the board of education asks for new schools, Thomas Rowe stated yesterday afternoon that he is in favor of asking for a further sum sufficient to erect a new branch collegiate institute. He would have the proposition submitted to the electors as soon as possible. "If the citizens refuse to sanction the issue of the debentures the only thing left is for the board to resign," said he.

That this action may be taken by the board is considered probable by several other members. Harry Hayman some time ago expressed the same sentiment in relation to the issue. Edwin Smith was also in favor of this course if the citizens refused to vote the money asked for by the board.

Apparently none of the members are in favor of reducing their requisition before submitting it to the people. James Gray asserts that nothing short of the $195,000 should be asked. Edwin Smith has suggested that some of the property which the board owns and is not using could be sold, and the receipts used to build some of the new schools. That this would not be done is the statement of other members of the board. Any receipts from property sold must be used to reduce the debenture debts of the existing schools, it is declared.

While Chairman J. S. Barnard is uncertain regarding calling a special meeting, some of the members of the board think one should be called as soon as possible in order that some plan might be formulated. That the board will let the question rest until next January is doubted by the majority of the members.

It is pointed out that immediate action is demanded by the inspector of collegiate institutes in his report, and that the board is in duty bound to take steps to place the question before the citizens as soon as possible.

W. T. Strong would have the inspector, J. A. Houston, and the minister of education, Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody, visit London to impress upon the council the necessity of the extra accommodation.

BELGIAN MUST PAY $250 FINE OR STAY IN JAIL SIX MONTHS

Charles Busche Failed To Report For Service.

Found guilty under the M.S.A., Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, today gave Charles Busche, a Belgian, the option of paying a $250 fine or spending the next six months in jail.

Ordered to report more than a year ago, Busche was gathered in by John Wilson of the Dominion police. The prisoner's only excuse for not being in the war was that he failed to receive a notice to report.

Constable Wilson in court discredited the prisoner's story and told how the latter made many trips between Cedar Springs and Chatham, which resulted in the police there watching for him.

CLASS DISTINCTION IS BLAMED FOR EXCLUSIVE EUROPEAN ART

"The reason that European musicians write music which is only designed for the ears of those who are themselves musically schooled," says Percy Grainger, the young Australian composer and pianist, who will be heard at the Auditorium on Friday next, "is because European people are inclined to be an exclusive people. In the same way, American musicians have been particularly successful with democratic music, because America is essentially a democratic country. I have often been quoted as denouncing the studied and polished music of Europe, but I have never really done so. My real feeling on the matter is that both types of music are equally high forms of art. The only reason I have seemed to uphold the democratic sort of writers is because most European musicians have no use for them at all. I can see no reason why their efforts are not just as important and interesting as those of the most technically perfect musicians on the other side of the Atlantic. If you take an audience, for instance, which is made up of cultured people and uncultured men and women, and play something for them, the uncultured portion of the audience will be just as quick to discover a flaw in your playing, I have found, as the most expert critic there. This is because, as far as appreciation is concerned, music is a universal art."

33RD COMRADES TO GREET COL. NELLES, ONCE THEIR OFFICER

Will Also Act As Guard to the 18th Once More.

Because of the fact that Lieut.-Col. L. H. Nelles of this city, now O. C. of "the Mad 4th" Battalion, was once an officer of the 33rd Battalion, the members of the 33rd Comrades' Club intend to give him a reception all their own.

If the time of his arrival can be ascertained, the 33rd men will assemble at the club rooms of the G. W. V. A., and from there march to the station. His battalion, the 4th, is to get a reception at Toronto and at Brantford Thursday, and this will delay the homecoming of Lieut.-Col. Nelles to some extent.

As the 33rd Battalion acted as guard of honor to the 18th when it left London, the 33rd Comrades' Club has decided that it would be most fitting that the 33rd boys should act as guard of honor when the 18th comes back. Plans for this will be arranged also.

At the 33rd Club's whist drive last night, the ladies' first prize was won by Miss McGuire, men's first by I. T. Smith, ladies' consolation by Mrs. W. G. Hurrell and men's consolation prize by G. Lippe.

The 33rd Club has also arranged to hold a concert in the Patricia Theatre Sunday, and among the attractions will be the London Concert Orchestra of 26 pieces, under the direction of James Cresswell, assisted by the members of one of the leading choirs of this city.

WILL ERECT TABLET IN COMMEMORATION OF THE ARCHDEACON'S LABORS

St. Luke's Congregation Holds Annual Vestry Meeting.

A large representation of both men and women of the parish attended the Easter vestry meeting of St. Luke's Church, Broughdale, on Tuesday evening, presided over by Ven. Archdeacon J. B. Richardson.

After prayer and reading of the minutes by the secretary, B. A. McLeod, Walter Bowler was elected lay representative to the synod.

The business of the vestry commenced with the church wardens' report, followed by reports from the Ladies' Aid, Sunday school, missionary activities, Junior W. A. and A. Y. P. A., all telling of fine results for the year's efforts. It was decided to increase the duplex envelope fund by a special canvass.

The rector nominated as his warden E. C. Chamberlain, and Henry Lance was elected people's warden.

The sidesmen appointed were: W. Bowler, Wilfred Crossman, Gordon Flannigan and William Crump.

Touching reference was made to the approaching retirement of the rector, Archdeacon Richardson, several members giving expression to regret at his resignation. He was highly commended for the building of St. Luke's and his devoted work there.

It was decided to place a brass tablet in the church in commemoration of the archdeacon's labors there. A special committee was appointed to carry this out. Votes of thanks were passed to the organist, choir and Ladies' Aid for faithful service.

DEALERS WONDER WHAT TO DO WITH SUPPLIES FOR MAKING OF SHELLS

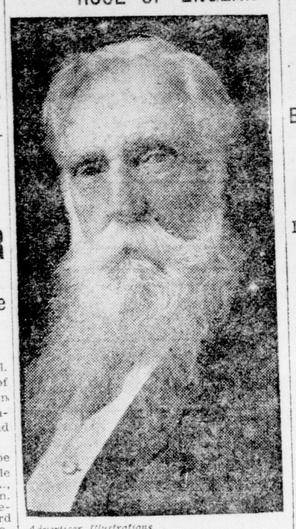

No Provision Made to Save Them From Heavy Loss.

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for the week ending April 21, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment:

"Machinery dealers in this district are doing a fair volume of business. There are several large concerns that have mapped out before them their program of manufacturing, and they are now in the market in a substantial way buying equipment. Large outlays are made on this, and it will be some months of costly preparation during a period of high costs before they can hope to secure any return at all on their money. The motor car industry is responsible for considerable buying, while the National Railways continue to send out a nice line of specifications.

"Some dealers are wondering just what to do with the stock of war supplies they have on hand, such as hobs and chasers, two small tools that were used exclusively on shells, and for which no commercial use has since been found. These run into a lot of money, being almost entirely of high-speed steel. Scrap prices at so much per pound is their present value. No provision is made by the government to share the loss the dealers will suffer, although they stocked in order that shell shops might have a quick place to secure needed material."

IS WEARING TODAY ROSE OF ENGLAND

GRAVES OF VETERANS BURIED IN LONDON WERE DECORATED

Ypres Commemorated by G. W. V. A. and C. E. F. Chapter.

The anniversary of the battle of Langemarck, April 22, 1915, was suitably remembered by the Great War Veterans' Association and the C. E. F. Returned Chapter, I. O. D. E., at Mount Pleasant Cemetery yesterday, when the soldiers' graves there were decorated.

"I sincerely hope that we present," said Lieut.-Col. Coles, "will live to see the day when a suitable monument will be erected here in honor and respect to those men who have paid the supreme sacrifice."

Sergt.-Major Nanfan sounded "Last Post," and, as its echoes died away in the surrounding hills, a flag was placed on each soldier's grave. The last resting place of the soldiers were also decorated with many flowers and two huge wreaths.

Some comment was passed by relatives of soldiers buried in the cemetery that many of the graves lacked the "R. I. P." military cross, with the result that this matter will be taken up shortly by the G. W. V. A.

In the morning two small parties visited Woodland and St. Peter's Cemeteries respectively and placed flowers and evergreens on the graves. "Last Post" was sounded by a bugler, while the parties stood in reverent attitudes. Mrs. J. W. Cunliffe, wife of the secretary of the G. W. V. A., and Mrs. W. G. Coles, the president's wife, headed the party which visited Woodland Cemetery, while at St. Peter's Mrs. M. H. Lee, wife of Sergt. Lee, was in charge of the ceremony.

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY OBSERVING DAY OF ITS PATRON SAINT LOYALLY

Many Red Roses Seen on City Streets—Banquet This Evening.

Today, all the sons and daughters of "Merrie England" celebrate St. George's Day, and many of them are conspicuous on the streets, wearing a red rose for their patron saint, and this evening, the St. George's Society holds its annual banquet in the Masonic Temple.

The British Isles have their four patron saints, St. Patrick for Ireland, St. Andrew for Scotland, St. George for England and St. David for Wales, perhaps the three former are the most widely observed.

In connection with St. George, is the legend of St. George and the dragon. This legend is traced to the end of the sixth century and it is one of the first of the fairy tales told the English children in the public schools. St. George is supposed to have suffered martyrdom about 223 A.D., and by profession he is said to have been a soldier of high military rank, and his declaration of Christianity is supposed to have been the cause of his martyrdom. He was known in olden days as "Holy George."

ALL 18TH BATTALION MEN CALLED TO MEET AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

To Make Arrangements for Reception of Unit in City.

Lieut.-Col. G. W. Nelson has asked that all ex-members of the 18th Battalion, who can possibly do so, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock Thursday evening for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements for the reception of the battalion when it returns from overseas.

It is hoped that every man who has served with the 18th will make a special effort to be present. Later, all those whose names and addresses are known will be advised individually of further meetings and plans, and through the newspapers information will be given as soon as received of the probable time of arrival of the unit.

NO RIP VAN WINKLE TO BE FOUND ON JOHN ST.

Report had it that on John street lived a little boy who was said to be one of a large family, and who had fallen asleep and remained in that state for a full week. Reporters started out post-haste this morning to find this modern Rip Van Winkle, but so far as could be learned no one in that neighborhood had heard of him.

At one house, when inquiries were made, the mother declared that it was hard enough to coax the children to sleep for one night, let alone a week. Inquiries at the corner groceries, where all gossip eventually goes, brought no result.

All the children of the neighborhood seemed very much alive, none of them appearing to be recovering from the effects of so long a sleep. Evidence of this was the lusty shouting that came from every sand heap and mud puddle.

CADETS TO PARADE AT COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

All collegiate institute cadets are requested to parade at the collegiate at 8 o'clock Thursday morning for the welcome to the 1st Battalion. They will march from there to the point of assembly.

CHINAMEN, CHARGED WITH CLOTH THEFT, REMANDED TO JAIL

Bail Asked But Refused by Magistrate.

DENY TORONTO HOMES

Men Say They Came Here From Stratford and Hamilton.

Joe Soen and Dong Wai, two Chinamen arrested yesterday by Detectives Thomas Nickle and Robert Eccelton on a theft charge, were today remanded until Tuesday for trial by Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon.

According to the police information, Soen and Wai entered Tillmann's tailoring establishment and on pretence of buying a suit they were shown some material. Later they left the store and a bolt of cloth valued at $35 was missed. The police were notified and the prisoners arrest was made some hours afterwards.

"Can we glet blail?" queried Soen in court, while Wai interrupted with a plea for trial on "Friday."

"Nothing doing" rejoined His Worship, "I am remanding you two without bail until Tuesday next for trial."

At police headquarters it was stated that the men came from Toronto here but the prisoners denied this and stated that Stratford and Hamilton were their last places of abode. As the result of a message received from the Toronto detective department, the local authorities some time ago warned local businessmen to be on the lookout for two Chinamen who were wanted for thefts committed in a number of Eastern places.

McCLARY'S MANAGERS HOLDING CONFERENCE

Giving Thought to Reconstruction and Its Problems.

Reconstruction is the thought in almost every business man's mind today, and the question is being asked on all sides what will it mean and how must the nation grapple with the problems that necessarily must arise during that period.

The McClary Mfg., Co., fully realizing the importance of being properly prepared to handle changing conditions as they will be met with, is this week conferring with its branch managers and heads of their selling forces from all over the Dominion.

John McClary Gunn, the newly-appointed assistant general manager, is in charge of the conference. John McClary, though not quite so active physically as at previous conferences is keeping directly in touch with all the proceedings and giving great thought to the different reports which the managers are submitting in regard to conditions which affect employment as well as the selling in the various sections of the Dominion. Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore when addressing the opening session of the conference Monday morning, pointed out how necessary it is at the present time to make a complete survey of conditions both in regard to supply and demand and endeavor to formulate plans whereby the marketing of the product of McClary's factories may be carried on in the usual successful manner.

The conference will continue for the entire week.

Those in attendance at the convention include J. K. H. Pope, secretary of the company; John McClary Moore, purchasing agent; J.J. Foote, Western agent; J. Galloway, Vancouver; B. C. McMillen, Calgary; Alex. J. Clark, Winnipeg; W. W. Nobbs, London; G. E. Main, Hamilton; M. F. Irwin, Toronto; George S. Bishop, St. John, N. B.; and D. George Clark, acting general sales manager, and advertising manager.

A. M. Smith, general sales manager, who has been absent for the last three months on a business trip to Great Britain and the continent, is expected back in London before the conference closes and his report on conditions across the water will do much to round out and complete the report on trade prospects in Europe.

TOM SAWYER FAVORITE WITH BOYS OF LONDON

This week being a holiday for the school children brings out all the Tom Sawyer's and little Huck Finn's. Down at the Cove and all along the river banks this week may be seen the youngster in his holiday clothes, his rusty syrup tin and fishing rod with a bent pin on the end, fishing for minnows.

The young lads of London round about the age of ten and eleven must all know about Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn, for there is seldom a day that a person can drop into the library and find "Tom Sawyer" on the shelves. Though there are several copies they are always out in circulation. There is hardly another book in the public library for the younger boys that has as wide a circulation.

WEDDING BELLS

DALWITZ—DOCKSTADER.

A quiet wedding took place Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dockstader, 126 Dreaney avenue, when their daughter, Ella Victoria, was united in marriage to Walter Kurt Dalwitz. Miss Jennie Dockstader assisted the bride, while Mr. Dodds of Belmont, assisted the groom.

The bride was gowned in white satin and carried a bouquet of lilies and carnations. The bridesmaid was gowned in old rose silk and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. Rev. Dr. Chas. Deacon officiated.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gunburst of pearls, to the bridesmaid a brooch, and the groomsman a diamond tiepin.

After a dainty wedding breakfast had been served the happy couple left on the 2:20 G. T. R. train for Detroit, where they will take up their new home. Mr. and Mrs. Dalwitz have the heartiest wishes of their friends and relatives.

NO VOTE ON SCHOOL DEBENTURES BEFORE 1920, STATES MAYOR

No Time Limit Which Demands Earlier Action.

COUNCIL SEEMS AGREED

Although Board of Education Would Like Opinion Taken Now.

"There will be no vote taken until next January on the school debenture issue," said Mayor C. R. Somerville this morning when questioned as to the probability of the debentures being issued this year.

"If I were to have anything to do with the council next year I would endeavor to make it a rule that no debentures would be issued for building new schools without giving the citizens a chance to vote on the question," he continued.

Several members of the board of education are of the opinion that the council should be asked to submit the vote immediately. Mayor Somerville says that the council is not obliged to act on the request. The council must submit it to the ratepayers if the board so desires, but the mayor points out that there is no time limit as to when this must be done. He is of the opinion that the council may submit it at the next municipal elections after the request is received from the board.

It is generally conceded that the council, as a whole, takes this view of the situation, and apparently there is no chance of the electors being asked for an expression of opinion this year.

CAPT. ASA R. MINARD REMANDED FOR WEEK

Crown Wants Time To Continue Investigation.

Capt. Asa Raymond Minard appeared before Police Magistrate A. H. Graydon at the Carling street court session today, and without a plea of guilty or not guilty, was remanded for one week.

Crown Attorney James B. McKillop asked for a remand for Capt. Minard in order that the crown might continue its investigation into the case against the accused.

While the prisoner was in the dock a question came up as to what should be done with a sum of money, fountain pen and some papers. His worship decided that the money, some $20, and the pen could be handed over to Capt. Minard. Crown Attorney McKillop asked that the police be allowed to hold the papers, as they might have some bearing on the case. Magistrate Graydon consented to this.

During the court session, W. R. Meredith, who is acting as counsel for Capt. Minard, was allowed by his worship's hand the prisoner a number of personal letters that had recently arrived here.

Hut Preparing For Great Rush of Business Thursday

Over 1,000 Soldiers Expected to Use the Establishment.

Officers at the K. of C. Catholic Army Hut expect to handle between 1,000 and 1,500 men on Thursday as a result of the arrival of the 1st Battalion, and in anticipation of this unprecedented rush of business have trebled the number of workers for that day. Already soldiers from the United States and the surrounding district, who expect to witness or take part in the celebration, are pouring into the hut to get lodging. Every preparation has been made to care for the needs of the returned men, and it is expected that everything will be carried out without a hitch.

Special music will be provided on Thursday, and meals will be served continuously from 7:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. Mrs. B. C. McCann, who will be in charge of the dining-room, has increased greatly the staff of that department.

Everything that is done for the men will be free of charge.

All the billiard tables have been recovered and outfitted with new cues, pockets and side cushions, at no little expense, so that the men who enjoy this game will find that the conditions under which they play will be the best.

Afraid; Scared To Death; Nerves Shattered; That's All

Excuses of Waterloo Man for Failing to Report—Is Remanded.

Trembling most violently and hanging on to the rail of the prisoner's dock for support, Lorne H. Mank of Waterloo, remanded by police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon, in a shaking inaudible voice in court today said haunted fear of the past had driven him to give himself up to the police as he was wanted under the M.S.A.

"From the start I was afraid," said the accused, "and then I got half scared to death. Now my nerves seem shattered and I am down haunted with fear of the past," continued the prisoner as he sank down on the dock bench.

"You seem like a good many other people from that district," commented his worship, "but being afraid is not a very good excuse for failing to report to the military authorities. However, I am going to remand you for a week during which time I will have Dr. James Wilson examine you at the county jail," concluded the magistrate.

Mank was examined by the medical board in 1918, was found to be in A 2 condition. On May 14, 1918, notice was sent to him to report to military headquarters. He failed to do so and went to work on a farm. In court he stated that his parents were alive and that he also had three sisters and two brothers residing in Ontario.

LOCAL NEWS

HOLIDAY UNTIL FRIDAY.—The Western University will not open classes until Friday morning on account of the public holiday on Thursday.

TO SAY FAREWELL.—Members of First Methodist Church are to spend a social hour from 8 to 9 o'clock this evening with Rev. Mr. Rogers, in Wesley Hall. This is in the form of a farewell gathering, as Mr. Rogers is retiring to live in St. Thomas.

FIRST FOOTBALL PRACTICE.—The first football practice of the season was held at Carling Heights last evening. A large number of men turned out for the practice, and it is hoped soon to be able to select a team to enter the city football league.

SORE THROAT LEADS.—Among the newly-reported cases of communicable disease last week, sore throat took the lead with eight new cases. In addition there were one case of scarlet fever, one of chickenpox, one of measles, two of tuberculosis and one of venereal disease, making fourteen cases in all. There are now 25 cases of communicable disease in isolation, 16 of these being located at the hospital.

BUILDING BOOMING.—April building still continues to boom. There have been 120 permits totaling $113,650 taken out this month thus far. One of the latest is for a $12,000 brick dwelling taken out by John Puthergough. This will be erected on Wellington street north. William Sandford is building one on Oxford street to cost $3,000, and F. C. Brown is building one on Wortley road to cost $3,500.

DISCUSS EARLY CLOSING.—Early closing of retail stores on Saturday was discussed at a meeting of some of the retail store-owners of the chamber of commerce yesterday. A retail committee was formed, with James Gray as chairman and David Ross as vice-chairman, and sub-committees for each line of business represented, to discuss with their fellow-dealers in each line the early-closing question. A report of these committees will be heard on Thursday, May 1.

BOYS' COUNCIL MEETS.—The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Council will be held tomorrow night in the Y. M. C. A. At the meeting plans will be drawn up for the boys' work amongst the different organizations during the summer months. This work is in connection with the C. S. E. T. work, which has been going on amongst the boys for some time. It is expected shortly that the meetings will be held in the city council chambers, so that to the boys it will be more real. The Boys' Council is composed of a mayor, alderman and council.

'TIS FALSE

Ald. Wilson Will Not Indulge in Any Acrobatics.

The statement was made today that Ald. W. A. Wilson would make an address to the returning soldiers from the top of the city arch in front of the city hall. Ald. Wilson, it is made clear, intends to indulge neither in such acrobatics nor such oratory. He will merely take the salute along with the other members of the council.

ST. JOHN'S BRIGADE IS CALLED TO BE ON DUTY

Mrs. McKillop, lady district superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, has issued an order asking the various members of the brigade to be on public duty on Thursday to cooperate with the police and the reception committee in rendering first aid to all cases which may arise. The members are asked to parade at the office of the lady district superintendent, on Dundas street, near Richmond, at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

WELCOME OF FIRSTS LIKELY TO BE FILMED

It is quite probable that the scenes in connection with the reception to the 1st Battalion will be preserved for all the world to see what London can do when everybody throws himself into the task. The manager of one of the local theatres has been in touch with a movie operator at Toronto with a view to having 1,000 feet of films made of the several scenes. He anticipates that he will be successful in the negotiations. It will cost about $1,000 to have the picture taken.

GERMANS OF UPPER CLASS ASSIST IN UNLOADING SHIPS

London, April 23.—The rioting at Hamburg affected the unloading of food relief ships for a time, according to official reports received here, but the work was proceeding this morning with voluntary strike breakers, composed mostly of merchants and men of the professional classes, who realize the vital need of getting the food unloaded. Until the present outbreak the navy had been able to control the German laborers, although they had been unwilling workers.

ST. LAWRENCE IS OPEN

"War Red Cap" Is First Boat to Reach Montreal From Halifax.

Montreal, April 23.—At half-past ten last night the War Red Cap came into harbor, being the first ship to come up the St. Lawrence from Halifax this season.

The War Red Cap is one of the ships turned out by the British ministry of shipping, which has been in commission for the carrying of wheat and flour under the wheat commission of the United States.

The City of Ottawa, the first Canada Steamship Line vessel to come down arrived today, and a steamer of the Montreal Transportation Company went up the canal.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

BURIED AT WOODLAND.

Edward Bradley died at Victoria Hospital late on Monday, from apoplexy in his 53rd year. He was a resident for some time on Hyman street of this city. The funeral was held this afternoon to Woodland Cemetery. Rev. A. C. Bingham conducted the services at the grave.

DEATH OF MRS. WEBB.

Mrs. Eliza Jane Webb, died at the home of her son, F. T. Way, 100 Wharncliffe road, at an early hour this morning in her 73rd year. Mrs. Webb is survived by one son, F. T. Way, and one daughter, Mrs. S. Horn. The funeral will be held from her son's residence on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Services will be conducted by Rev. J. T. C. Morris. Interment will be made in Woodland Cemetery.

DIES AT AGE OF 98.

St. Catharines, April 23.—Mrs. Maria Devereaux Woodruff Haynes, one of St. Catharines' most venerable and highly esteemed citizens, is dead here at the age of 98 years. During her long life she had been closely connected with St. George's Anglican Church, and was a noted philanthropist. Her husband, D. Curtis Haynes, prominent in the mercantile life of St. Catharines fifty years ago, died in 1875.

GERMANS EAGER TO DO BUSINESS WITH ARMY OF OCCUPATION

Capt. Murphy Says They Were Obsequious.

BACK AFTER FOUR YEARS

London Officer Saw Much Fighting and Escaped Without a Wound.

Capt. A. H. Murphy, son of Major and Mrs. T. J. Murphy, one of the first Canadian officers to set foot in Germany with the army of occupation, arrived home at noon today, after an absence of nearly three years.

"Our unit," he says, "the 14th Battalion, Royal Montreal Regiment, was the first unit of the 1st Division to cross the Rhine on December 13 at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. We entered with flags flying and the band playing 'The British Grenadiers.' The Germans received us stolidly, without evidence of resentment, and were rather inclined to be obsequious than otherwise.

Business at Once.

"We were struck by their business shrewdness and evident anxiety to establish business relations with us to the extent of selling us all they could. Billeted in German homes, we found that the haustraus apparently were doing their best to make things comfortable for us. Strict orders were given out to our troops not to fraternize in any way with the Germans and these were strictly obeyed. As far as the stories are concerned about American soldiers marrying German girls, I am convinced there is absolutely no truth in them.

"As soon as we got settled in Germany, the khaki university established classes and lectures and saw that books were provided for the units, thereby doing an excellent work. Of course, the first interest of everyone was to get home.

First to Leave.

"Our unit was the first to leave, on January 5, but we were kept for a time in Huy, Belgium. After that we were stationed near Le Havre, from which port we sailed for England on March 15."

In much of the big fighting of the past few years, and in the big final push of the last four months of the war, Capt. Murphy came through without once being wounded.

He went overseas as a lieutenant with the 142nd Battalion, and was for a time adjutant of the 23rd Reserves in England. He was attached to the 14th Battalion in France on August 14, 1917. His unit had just gone into rest billets a day or so before the signing of the armistice, the cessation of hostilities, he states, coming as a surprise.

Shared in Reception.

As an officer in the 14th he shared in the big reception tendered the Royal Montreal Regiment in its home city on Easter Sunday.

Concerning views in England re the outcome of peace negotiations, his comment is: "The people are watching with much interest the attitude of Lord Northcliffe towards Lloyd George at the present, and wondering what is going to be the result. So far as the peace conference is concerned, the British papers are apparently trying to keep things smoothed over. Notwithstanding this, there is an undercurrent of unrest. It is strong ly felt that the Jugo-Slav-Italian situation will require extremely skilful handling if trouble is to be averted."

MOTION PICTURES TO BE USED IN RUSSIA

Films Will Be Used To Entertain Allied Soldiers, Educate Russians.

New York, April 23.—Eight motion picture operators, five of them ex-soldiers, will be sent by the Y. M. C. A. for educational work among the Russians and to entertain allied soldiers. The expedition, which sails shortly from Vancouver, will take fifty motion picture machines and 100,000 reels with Russian titles.

4,000 Letters of Condolence Sent to Lady Laurier

Has Read and Answered Majority of Answers Herself.

Ottawa, April 23.—Almost four thousand letters of condolence from all parts of the world have been received by Lady Laurier since the death of Sir Wilfrid. The task of grading and answering these has been a tremendous one, but Lady Laurier has done most of it herself.

Lady Laurier will probably spend the summer months at the old home at Arthabascaville.

MINERS AGREE TO ACCEPT REDUCTION OF 50 CENTS A DAY

Strike of 1,000 Men At Leadville, Colo., Ends.

Leadville, Col., April 23.—The strike of 1,000 metal miners, engineers and pump men, which began Sunday because of disagreement between the men and the operators over the amount of a wage reduction, was settled last night, when the miners' committee and the operators agreed on a daily wage of $4, representing a reduction of 50 cents per day.

WINNIPEG DELEGATION IS PREPARED TO GO TO AMERICAN CAPITAL

Winnipeg, Man., April 23.—At a meeting of the executive of the Great War Veterans' Association last night, Vice-President J. O. Newton was instructed to take the necessary steps of organizing a citizens' delegation to go to Washington, D. C., next week if the ultimatum presented to the Dominion Government regarding the permanent exclusion of Hutterites from Canada be not complied with by Saturday.

BIG MAJORITY OF TELEGRAPHERS VOTE TO GO ON STRIKE

Washington, April 23.—Returns thus far received from the strike vote now being taken among the members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America were declared last night by F. H. McDowell of the union's national grievance committee to indicate that not less than from 90 to 95 per cent of the membership will vote to strike to enforce the organization's demand for recognition of the union and the right of collective bargaining.

Last Post Over Veterans' Graves Was Also Father's Farewell To Heroic Son Lying Dead in Flanders

While Sergt.-Major Nanfan's Lips Form the Notes, His Thoughts Are On the Slip of Paper in His Pocket Which Tells of His Boy's Death.

With trembling lip and heavy heart, Sergt.-Major E. Nanfan sounded "Last Post" during the memorial service in Mount Pleasant Cemetery yesterday, for, a few hours prior to this, he had received a letter from the Canadian Red Cross containing official information of his son's death in action.

No person noticed the war-scarred veteran hesitate as he placed the bugle to his lips or the tear-stained eyes, but as the clear-cut notes of the soldier's resting salute sounded they carried a pathos with them that was noticeable to the observant. To those who were present it seemed as if each note was the cry from a wounded heart, and until the echoes died away in the surrounding woods and hills it carried war-hardened veterans back to Flanders' Fields were poppies grow.

Flanders in Reality.

"Recalls Flanders," remarked a veteran.

"It is Flanders for me, and the cry of a heart in despair," said the moist-eyed veteran bugler of many campaigns.

"Today I received the first news of how my son fell in battle somewhere in France."

The information, in the form of a Canadian Red Cross letter, was the result of an interview by a representative of that order with M. J. Mason, a private in the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, and read:

Saw Him Dead.

"On April 10, I came across Pte. Nanfan lying wounded. I bandaged him up and went on forward with my company. Later, on my return, I came across him again. This time, however, he was dead. I knew it was your son, for we were pals together, and I knew him well. We were together in the 3rd Reserve Bugle Band, and left for France with the same draft. In France I was with him from August 3 until death separated us."

Pte. Nanfan was well known here, and one of London's most popular young soldiers. From time to time since he was first reported missing, just what really happened to him has been more or less of a mystery. Yesterday's information shattered the last hope his soldier father had that his son might still be alive.

BARBER GETS MORE PAY FOR WORK ON OUTSIDE OF HEAD THAN TEACHER FOR INSIDE

A. H. Leake, Inspector of Manual Training, Makes This Statement in Discussing Rural School Salaries.

Toronto, April 23.—The Ontario Educational Association continued its sessional meetings this morning. In the public school section, Inspector W. H. Johnston of West Huron told how school sections could be beautiful and the value of the farms greatly increased. The federation of women teachers discussed better salaries, following an address by Norma Stevens of Chatham on the question of remuneration and service. A minimum salary for teachers throughout the province, the local organization of rural teachers, and other questions were advocated. The hygiene and public health section discussed a paper by Mrs. A. C. Thomas of Beamsville on "Medical and Dental Inspection in Rural Schools."

In the college and secondary school department this afternoon, Professor P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education, Washington, D. C., gave an address on "Education After the War."

A. H. Leake, inspector of manual training, discussing rural school salaries, said: "We pay the barber more for work on the outside of the head than the teacher for work on the inside."

Mother, Seriously Ill, Brightens Up On Return Of Son Held By Germans Prisoner Four Years

Sergt. George Duguid Arrives Home, Looking Well, After Harrowing Experiences in Hun Prison Camp.

Sergt. George Duguid, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Duguid, 240 Ottaway avenue, reached home this afternoon just four years and a day from the time he was taken a prisoner of war.

Notwithstanding his long and harrowing experiences in Germany he is looking remarkably well, according to his friends.

Going overseas with the 48th Highlanders, with the other gallant men of the unit, he was in the first big engagement of the war for the Canadians when the Germans first used poison gas and attempted to break through at Ypres. Like a number of other London boys he was taken prisoner on April 22.

His safe homecoming has brought special joy to his mother, who has been seriously ill, in a measure the result of the long years of anxiety for her son.

The home on Ottaway avenue where the mother, brother and sister are living, was gay with flags to welcome the returned hero today, who found it the greatest thing in the world just to be home again.

Work On Civic Arch Is Delayed By An Accident

Sam Willis Cut About Neck by Falling Tin.

While superintending the erection of the civic reception arch last evening Sam Willis was severely cut about the neck, when owing to the breaking of a rope a piece of tin which was being hoisted to the top of the arch fell on him, and incidentally the work was delayed for some hours. The tin cut his neck severely and he hurried over to the doctor. It was found that his injuries were not serious and he returned to work only to find that the men had decided to leave the job in the meantime. They did not come back until this morning.

"Perhaps they went home to change their clothes so as to be ready to attend the funeral," suggested Alderman F. E. Harley when he gave the accident as the cause of the delay in the work on the arch. It is expected that the painters and electricians will be able to get a start at the work tonight.

Dundas Street Property Sold For About $8,700

London Man Purchases Warehouse From Wm. Ward & Son.

The warehouse of William Ward & Son, situated at 64 to 66 Dundas street, was purchased yesterday by a local man, who intends to start up a new wholesale tea concern in the factory as soon as the necessary alterations are made.

Wm. Ward & Son vacated the premises on Dundas street a few months ago, and are now at 19 King street. It was stated that the purchase price was in the neighborhood of $8,700.

READY TO RECEIVE GERMAN DELEGATES ON MONDAY NEXT

Entente Governments Inform German Representatives of Fact.

Paris, April 23.—Allied and associated governments have informed the German Government, through Gen. Nudant at Spa, that they are ready to receive the German delegates at Versailles on April 28.

ABANDONS IDEA OF PLACING SERVICES UNDER GOVT. RULE

Madrid, April 22.—The Spanish Government has abandoned the idea of placing the postal service under military control, as the men are beginning to return to work in satisfactory numbers. It is hoped to restore the telephone service throughout Spain within 48 hours, but negotiations with striking telegraphers have failed.

3RD STATIONARY HOSPITAL LANDS

Local Unit, Under Col. Reason, Is At Halifax.

Lieut.-Col. C. H. Reason, with the 3rd Canadian Stationary Hospital, has arrived in Halifax, and all will be home within a few days.

COUNCIL MAY AGREE TO REVERT TO OLD TIME NEXT MEETING

Question To Be Considered On Motion.

According to Mayor C. R. Somerville there is a possibility of the council asking the city to revert to standard time at its next meeting. The question will be considered on motion of Alderman W. A. Wilson and there is a possibility that this may be done.

Mayor Somerville refused to say which time should be the official city time but he pointed out that the parents found it hard to get their kiddies off to school in time under the daylight saving time. Chairman J. S. Barnard of the board of education said that the school board would follow the time that is adopted by the city. As the council will not meet until one week from next Monday the time will not be changed until then at any rate and the children will start to school next Monday on the daylight saving time.

NO ITALIAN FLAGS TO BE OBTAINED ANYWHERE

So These Will Be Missing From Decorations on City Hall.

The city hall and the public utilities building are being decorated this morning in preparation for the reception on Thursday. Flags and bunting are being tastefully arranged on the fronts of the buildings.

Building Inspector A. M. Piper is bewailing the fact that he was unable to secure any Italian flags at all. He tried in several American cities as well as the Canadian ones to get them, but was unable to do so. He has the flags of all of the other allies which he has displayed but the Italian flag is missing.

Merchants on Dundas and Richmond streets are also busy hanging flags and otherwise giving their business places a patriotic holiday appearance.

WITH HANDS BOUND BODY OF A DETROIT MAN FOUND IN RIVER

Joseph Branche Disappeared Six Weeks Ago—Believed Suicide.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, April 22.—With his hands tied behind his back, the body of a man was found floating in the Detroit River on the American side today. The condition of the body indicated that it had been in the water for a considerable time. It was later identified as the body of Joseph Branche.

The police first believed that the man was the victim of foul play. Branche, who lived on Madison avenue, Detroit, disappeared from home six weeks ago, telling his wife he would not return, as he was "going on long journey." The police believe it a plain case of suicide.

AGREEMENT IS REACHED.

Quebec, April 23.—The Quebec ship laborers have reached an agreement with the shipping companies here with regard to the wage scale for the present season of navigation. The scale agreed upon is 57½ cents an hour for a nine-hour day, and time and a half for overtime.

M. C. WINNERS AMONG PARTY WHICH ARRIVED

Veterans Off Adriatic Reach City At Noon Via C. P. R.

ONE IS ORIGINAL FIRST

Sergt. Arnold of Stratford Enlisted in Unit in 1914 Here.

Of the 67 returned men of the Adriatic party which arrived at the C. P. R. station at Quebec street at noon today, two had Military Medals and several were wearing the 1915 Star.

Corp. E. S. Fleischman of Hespeler, who possesses a Military Medal, received his decoration for "maintaining the line," at Hinge on the La Bassee front, in April, 1918. He was gassed for it on June 25 of the same year. He and nine of his comrades were gassed, and of the party he and a chum were the only ones who survived. Pte. Fleischman enlisted with the 3rd Signal Section, later transferring to the Canadian Corps Survey Section.

LanceCorporal Turnbull of the Strathcona Horse, who arrived with this party also wen the Military Medal.

Wounded at Hooge.

Pte. T. H. Rowe, enlisted in Alberta serving with that unit for some time transferred to the 2nd machine gun battalion. He was wounded at Hooge in 1916. When the armistice was signed, he was about five miles east of Mons with the 2nd Division which was to be used as reserves to the 4th Division which was attacking the Germans. He was wearing the 1915 star.

Pte. G. Hebben of R. R. No. 3, Lucknow, who left London in 1915 with the 33rd Battalion draft, which was used as reinforcements to the 1st Battalion, was wounded twice, once at Courcelette, in September, 1916, and once at Arras, in March, 1918. After serving with the infantry for some time, he transferred to the Canadian Corps Survey Section.

Pte. W. J. McCathern, whose home is in Chatham, served with the 44th Battalion. He was with the 4th Division at the taking of Mons.

An Original 1st.

Sergt. A. S. Arnold, 211 Ontario street, Stratford, is an "Original 1st," having enlisted with that unit in 1914. He was wounded in the left arm at Messines Ridge, and was in France when the armistice was signed.

Pte. E. F. Martyn of Ripley enlisted with the 110th Battalion, and later transferred to the Canadian Corps Survey Section. He was at the taking of Mons and later went to Germany, being stationed at Bonn and Cologne.

Call It Unnecessary.

All the men who were at the taking of Mons declared that it was unnecessary, as the Germans would have evacuated it, anyway. During this battle, it was said, the Germans used explosive bullets, inflicting many casualties.

From France to this city, the men declared that they received the best possible treatment, especially in Halifax, where all the whistles were blown and an enthusiastic demonstration took place. Although the voyage was rough, several storms being encountered, the men were happy on board the boat, although at times it was hard to find one's appetite.

At Dispersal Station "K" at Carling Heights, the men were given their "tickets" in record time. After they had been discharged, those who wished to have dinner were provided for at the District Depot canteen by the ladies of the Red Cross.

Four Little Hands Hold Out Help to Bereaved Parents

Touching Generosity of the Youngsters Towards Marshall Fund.

At non today three little girls and a boy came to the club rooms of the G.W.V.A. and rang the door bell. Secretary Cunliffe answered the door and immediately four little hands were shoved before him and in the palm of each laid a shining fifty cent piece. When he inquired why they were presenting him with all that money, they all spoke at once, saying it was to help Mr. Marshall who had his little boy, killed by being run over by an engine. Mr. Cunliffe graciously thanked the little donors for the offering and they departed happy. Here are the little givers' names: James Jollife, Hilda Jollife, Gladys Kilty and Susie Kilty.

The fund was started yesterday and all donations will be gladly received at the G.W.V.A. club rooms. Frank Marshall is a veteran of the 34th battalion and is at present in the hospital at Wolseley barracks where he has been since his return about two years ago. It was his 7 year old boy who was instantly killed when run over by an engine in the east end yards of the G. T. R. on Monday night.

Charged With Stealing Horse, Buggy, Wheat

Paroled from Kingston in 1917, Bert Stainton, an alleged deserter from the army, is in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of theft of a hrose and buggy and five bags of wheat.

Arrested in Lucan yesterday by Constable Butler, Stainton was brought to London by High Constable R. Waterworth and Constable A. Corsaut today and placed in the county jail. Stainton in 1917 was sent to Kingston as the result of being found guilty on a forgery charge. He later was paroled, as he expressed a desire to join the armhy. For a period he soldiered well, but a few night prior to the departure overseas of his unit he was missed.

Sunday night Stainton is alleged to have stolen the horse and buggy, along with the wheat. Police constables were notified throughout the surrounding country, and the prisoner's arrest followed.

Stainton will appear in the county court buliding Friday for a preliminary hearing.

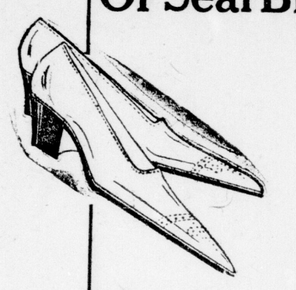

DIES AT BURGESSVILLE.

BURGESSVILLE, April 22.—The death occurred at Burgessville on Monday morning, April 21, of John Topham in his 81st year. The funeral will be held on Wednesday, service being at the house at 1 o'clock.

AN OVERBURDENED MOTHER

If the steps a mother takes and the work she does could only be measured by figures, what an array they would make. Through girlhood, wifehood and motherhood woman toils on, often suffering from backache, pain in side, headache, nervousness and sleeplessness, symptoms of more serious ailments peculiar to her sex. Thousands of such women, however, have found relief from suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is evidenced by the letters of recommendation continually being published in this paper.

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM CITY HALL

MAYOR WILL SPEAK.

Mayor C. R. Somerville has consented to deliver an oration at the annual banquet of St. George's Society Wednesday evening.

STARTS MAY 1.

Chief John Aitken of the fire department, reports that everything will be in readiness for the adoption of the two platoon system in the department the 1st of May. He finds no difficulty in securing the necessary men, he says. Returned men are being given the preference.

SIX HUNDRED LIGHTS.

Illuminations which will require about 48-horsepower of electricity will be placed on the civic arch on Dundas street. Assistant Manager A. O. Hunt of the public utilities commission, says that the men will be busy this evening on the electrification of the arch. Six hundred lamps will be distributed over the arch.

EDUCATIONALISTS IN TORONTO.

Inspector C. B. Edwards and several members of the board of education are in Toronto attending the Ontario Educational Association meetings.

COMING HOME.

It is expected that General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission will sail for home about the last of this month.

FEELS LIKE BURDEN HAS BEEN LIFTED

Mrs. Clark Had Almost Given Up Hope When Tanlac Restored Her To Health.

"I feel like Tanlac has lifted a big burden off my shoulders," said Mrs. Mary E. Clark, of 24 Buttonwood avenue, Mount Denis, Ontario, Canada, recently.

"I had a severe attack of pneumonia," she continued, "that left me in a terribly run-down condition. I lost my appetite and fell off so much and lost so much strength that I wanted to sit down and rest all the time. My nerves were in such a bad fix that I hardly closed my eyes at all, and would get up in the morning feeling worse than when I went to bed. Often my head ached all day long. I could hardly get through my housework, and was afraid I would have to give up altogether.

"Before I had finished half my first bottle of Tanlac my appetite improved and I haven't had a headache since I started on it. I sleep like a baby and am so much stronger than I was that I am actually doing every bit of my housework, and don't get tired in the least."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

RETURNED MEN TO ASSEMBLE THURSDAY AT PRINCESS SCHOOL

All members of the Great War Veterans' Association and all returned men in the city are requested to meet at the Princess avenue school at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. The Advertiser has been asked to make this request by Secretary John Cunliffe of the G. W. V. A., who last night received a communication from military headquarters at Wolseley Barracks, asking that the returned soldiers assemble at the Princess avenue school to line up for the reception to the 1st Battalion.

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fruit Syrup Company."

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Grey, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick, glossy, and you look years younger.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advt.

FIFTY PEOPLE DISCOMFITED BY FEW SNOBS

Private Cars Crowd Sleepers Off Train.

MINISTERS LIKE PRINCES

Archie McCoig Gives Parliament Insight Into 1919 Democracy.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, April 22.—That upwards of fifty people, bound upon the country's private business from Toronto to Ottawa, were prevented from traveling by the Canadian National Railways because of the fact that two cabinet ministers and certain railway officials had their private cars hitched onto the evening train, was the declaration of Archie McCoig of Kent, made in the Commons tonight. To carry the few dignitaries mentioned three private cars were required. As a consequence just so many sleeping cars had to be left off.

Those who could not find room to sleep, but who insisted on traveling on the train in question, had to sit up all night in the smoker or in ordinary day coaches. Those who didn't care for this sort of traveling had to take the Canadian Pacific.

Ministers Just Blush.

Mr. McCoig's declaration, which was received with applause from the Opposition side, and in blushing silence from the side of the Government, was an echo of the wreck which occurred at Elgin, and in consequence of which several cars were thrown from the rails.

"I desire to draw the attention of the minister of railways," said Mr. McCoig, "to the accident which occurred between here and Toronto. Before the train left Toronto at 10:55, I wired from Chatham for a berth. When I wired I expected to be able to secure one all right. When I arrived in Toronto I was informed by the conductor that on account of the number of private cars belonging to Government officials being carried on the train they couldn't put on any extra sleepers. I asked the conductor how many private cars there were, and he told me that there were three, and that there would perhaps be a fourth.

Sir Thomas One of Them.

"One was for the acting prime minister, the other was for the minister of militia, and the other for the president of the road, and for the chairman of the railway commission."

"By putting on three cars to pull three men," said Mr. McCoig, "fifty people who were trying to come to Ottawa, some of them on the country's business, were prevented from coming on that train. I was told that I could sit up in the smoker all night. Some people did that, but what I want to say is this, if the minister expects to economize, this isn't the way to do it. If the ministers of this Government want to use special cars for holiday time, surely there are two of them friendly enough to take one car between them. (Laughter from both sides).

"Even Providence was against them for this monopolizing of traveling space," said Mr. McCoig, "for Providence ran the cars off the track and plowed up half a mile of track."

And Dins in Comfort.

Mr. McCoig stated further that on account of the delay caused by the wreck a dining car had been sent up from Toronto. "The ordinary people in the meantime," he declared, "were forced to see the ministers through the windows of their special cars breakfasting in comfort. Ordinarily when such an incident occurs the company does not charge for breakfast, but the National Railways charged the people just the same."

The member for Kent declared that such incidents were not calculated to induce the people to patronize the National Railways.

Hon. Dr. Reid made but a lame excuse, declaring that it was a mere coincidence that the three cars should be on on the same night. Nobody, he said, could complain at the use of private cars by ministers, who had frequently work to do en route.

Fire Prevention Rules.

There was a long discussion in committee on the bill providing penalties under the criminal code for persons who fail to obey Dominion, provincial and municipal fire prevention regulations. Several members on both sides of the House thought the provisions of the act were too severe. Nevertheless, it was reported from committee, and stands for third reading.

During consideration of the $3,500,000 vote for the Welland Canal construction the Opposition criticized the Government for its decision to carry on the work at present on the cost plus, or forced contract system.

Dr. Reid explained that under present conditions it is practically impossible to get contractors to take work on tender. It was necessary to proceed with construction, he said, in order to give employment.

The Opposition persisted in their objection to the vote passing until the contracts are produced. The vote stood over with the understanding they would be brought down.

A Little Tariff Breeze.

On the orders of the day being called the Opposition leader drew the Government's attention to a reported announcement by Mr. Cowan of Regina, that specific reductions had to be made in the tariff on certain articles this year.

"I would like to know from the leader of the Government," said Mr. McKenzie, "if Mr. Cowan was speaking with authority, and if he was presenting the policy of the Government on the tariff."

Sir Thomas White: "The tariff policy of the Government is presented only by the minister of finance and upon the occasion only of the budget speech."

The House then proceeded to the second reading of a bill to extend orders-in-council passed under the war measures act to the end of the present session.

Mr. Meighen, acting minister of justice, said that it was essential the bill should receive assent before peace was proclaimed. Its purpose was to extend orders-in-council passed under the war measures act, but it did not prevent the governor-in-council from cancelling any orders in the meantime.

Second reading was postponed till tomorrow.

To Amend Insurance Act.

Sir Thomas White's bill to amend the insurance act was referred to the committee on banking and commerce. It has already passed the Senate.

Hon. A. K. MacLean introduced a resolution to amend the fertilizers act by including lime as a fertilizer and imposing a tax of 1c per cwt. to cover the cost of inspection of fertilizers.

Major Power stated that he had been asked to oppose this by Quebec producers of fertilizer who did not think it was the proper time to impose the tax when the farmers were just beginning to realize the importance of using fertilizer.

W. D. Euler, of North Waterloo, and General Hughes thought the tax should be placed on the article where it was manufactured.

The resolution was carried.

The House then went into committee on Hon. T. A. Crerar's resolution, providing for the amendment of the live stock and live stock products act to standardize the size of packages of wool, provide that farmers and drovers may buy and sell at stock yards and provide for inspection of certain live stock products coming into Canada from foreign countries.

Wool Needs Treatment.

D. D. McKenzie said that he had been informed that Canadian manufacturers were unable to use wool produced in Canada, and had to import it from the United States. He thought that if this information was correct the Government should see if Canadian wool could not be treated in Canada so as to be suitable for Canadian manufacturers of woolen articles.

The minister of agriculture replied that he was not in a position to speak with any definiteness as to the treatment of wool. The regulations provided for in the resolution would show the producers and dealers in wool just how they stood. Requests for regulations of this kind had been received from practically all wool dealers in Canada.

A. B. McCoig stated that market quotations with regard to livestock, etc., varied in different newspapers. He wanted to know if it would not be possible to establish uniform quotations.

Hon. T. A. Crerar replied that it was not contemplated to attempt any regulation of market quotations. Such a step would be entirely too radical.

The resolution was adopted.

Prevention of Fires.

The House went into committee on the Senate bill to amend the criminal code in respect to the prevention of fires. In presenting the bill for second reading, Mr. Meighen said its purpose was to make it a criminal offence on behalf of a tenant, owner or occupant of the building to fail to obey the requirements of any law intended to prevent fires, providing that the jury found that such fires or loss of life would not have occurred had the law been complied with. The bill also made it obligatory on the part of an owner, occupant or tenant to carry out instructions of any Dominion, provincial or municipal fire officer in regard to the removal of materials or the supplying of apparatus.

In the year 1918, Mr. Meighen said, Canada's fire loss was $33,000,000, of which 75 per cent was believed to be wholly preventable. The loss was about $4 per capita.

Mr. Pedlow thought that Parliament should hesitate before adopting the stringent provisions of the bill.

Bill Widely Approved.

Mr. Meighen remarked that fire risk was greater where population was more dense. He said that the Retail Merchants' Association, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, the United Farmers of Ontario, the United Farmers of Alberta, the Canadian Bankers' Association, the Wholesale Grocers' Association, the Fire Chiefs' Association and others had the bill. What caused 75 per cent of fires was the careless person who had no criminal intent, and it was that person they wanted the law to reach.

D. D. McKenzie thought it would be wise to hesitate before passing such a bill. The people who recommended that it be passed, judging by the list of names which the minister had read, were those who stood to gain something of it through economy in insurance. It was ridiculous to suggest, for instance, that a little child who accidentally caused a fire should be sent to the penitentiary for two years. He thought that the House would be wise to wait until a very decided request was received from the people for such an amendment.

Sees Inconsistency.

W. S. Middlebro also opposed the passage of the amendment. He said it was inconsistent to penalize a person for causing a fire when the insurance companies were willing to pay him the proceeds of his policy. For instance, a man's house might be burned down through the overheating of an electric iron, the overturning of a lamp by a child, or a similar cause. Under these circumstances the insurance company would pay him the proceeds of his policy. Why, then, should the Government send him to jail for two years? In the statute as it now stands, Mr. Middlebro added, a man could be penalized only when he had caused fire through wanton recklessness.

The amendment, however, substituted the word "negligence." This was going too far.

Hon. Mr. Meighen asked why the state should not impose a penalty for negligence which caused injury to the state. A man might kill another man through negligence and yet he was liable to prosecution and penalty under the present law. Why should not a man who negligently injured the community through starting a fire also pay a penalty? As far as Mr. McKenzie's objection about children being sent to jail, Mr. Meighen said that no court would hold a child liable under the amendment who had not reached an age when it was criminally responsible.

Reckless Insuring.

Mr. Pedlow said that in his opinion a large proportion of fires were due to fire insurance agents selling policies recklessly. All they wanted, he said, was to get their premium.

Mr. Mowat said the aim of the bill was to make Canadians more careful and put Canada on a plane with other nations. Canadian fire loss was enormously out of proportion with that of other nations.

Mr. McKenzie, seconded by Mr. McCoig, then moved that the committee rise, but the motion was lost.

Major Redman of Calgary thought that the bill was too wide in its scope. He thought it was carrying the use of the word "negligence" too far.

Mr. Meighen replied that negligence at the present time might in many cases be a crime. For instance, if a man caused another to lose his life owing to negligence he was guilty of a crime. The United States, he remarked, in a reply to a question by Mr. Cahill, now had before Congress a much more drastic law.

Mr. Cahill thought that legislation in other countries should be carefully studied, and suggested that one of the Government's innumerable commissions might investigate.

The bill was reported and stands for third reading.

Consider the Distillers.

Hon. Dr. Reid introduced a bill to amend the inland revenue act. The bill provides that where spirits have been stored for two years in wooden vessels a certain percentage would be allowed for shrinkage or evaporation. Dr. Reid said that the custom in the past had been for the distillers to pay duty on the shrinkage, but they claimed that with prohibition they had been subjected to heavy losses. Another amendment provides for a remission of the duty where the alcohol is to be used for vinegar. Another amendment is for the purpose of defining what denatured alcohol is. Dr. Reid said that it could be used for fuel, heat, light and power, and the object was to put distillers in a position to manufacture that commodity so that it would take the place of gasoline, the price of which had increased so much in late years.

UNION GOVT. HAS NOT AUTHORITY TO CUT TARIFF

Was Elected to Prosecute War, Says W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford M.P.

PROTECTIONIST MEETING

Resolutions Passed Asking a Delay in Tariff Revision Until Investigation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, April 22.—At a meeting here tonight, largely attended by workingmen, W. F. Cockshutt, M. P., Brantford; John Harold, Liberal-Unionist M. P. for Brant, and others voiced their protest against the insistent demand from the west for free agricultural implements and other drastic changes in the tariff at the present time. Mrs. S. W. Secord presided.

The member for Brantford asked for a mandate from his constituents and declared that the present Government was elected for the prosecution of the war only, and it was not right that drastic changes in the tariff, which would be ruinous to many cities in the east, should be made at the present juncture. The attitude taken by the western members made a serious situation. The tariff was more necessary as a revenue producer today than ever before, and the suggestions of the grain growers as to new sources of taxation were regarded as makeshifts. A wagonload of farm produce today bought more implements than ever before, and Mr. Cockshutt proceeded to show how the farmers had benefited from the policy of protection. He declared that his attitude at Ottawa had been conciliatory. The demand for free wheat had proven a fallacy and free trade had destroyed the binder twine and barb wire industries in Canada and would destroy the tractor business.

John Harold, M. P., Paris, predicted that, with free trade in agricultural implements, imposed suddenly, soldiers returning from service overseas would not get the employment they had a right to expect. The country faced a tremendous financial burden and Mr. Harold declared that all classes had to help bear the burden. He believed that the attitude of the Government, semi-officially expressed, that no action on the tariff be taken now, was right, and the people in this part of the country should insist that no summary action be taken.

W. C. Good, representing the United Farmers, admitted that the removal of the duty on tractors had been unfair to one Brantford industry, but argued that the removal of the duty on all raw materials showed that the farmers were conciliatory and fair. John Muir, of the Gould, Shapley & Muir Co., declared that the removal of the duty on tractors, without warning while the duty on raw materials was maintained, was a serious affair to an industry just being developed. Mr. Muir argued for a greater consideration of all interests before the country turned from a fiscal system that had proved successful in the general interests of the country for 40 years past.

A resolution, proposed by Ald. Clement and C. A. Waterous, was carried, in which the appointment of a permanent tariff commission to work out a reasonable and fair settlement of the question of revenue and tariff was urged, and the Government asked to defer action until such a commission brought in its report.

A second resolution, moved by W. S. Brewster, and second by a workingman in the audience, declared that singling out the agricultural business for removal of duty was a blow at Brantford, and there was no reason for such a course, except a desire on the part of western agitators to escape their just proportion of national taxation.

SPECIAL PRICES TO BONAFIDE SOLDIER SETTLERS ON LAND

OTTAWA, April 22.—The special prices granted by manufacturers of farm implements, harness and other farm accessories to soldier settlers who apply for the land and loan benefits of the soldier settlement act, will be extended to any bona-fide settler who is eligible to secure the benefits of the act by reason of his military service, but is able to finance his own transactions.

Each applicant under this new arrangement must submit documentary proof of military service, also proof by affidavit or statutory declaration that he is a bona-fide settler residing on and farming his own land and that the goods applied for will be for his own use and benefit. The same arrangements have been made with reference to the purchase of stock through the board's live stock department.

1,100 Canadian Troops On Way From Siberia

Passage From Vladivostok to Vancouver Will Take Two Weeks.

VLADIVOSTOK, April 22.—Canadian Press.—The steamer Monteagle sailed from Vladivostok yesterday for Vancouver with 1,100 Canadian troops on board.

An American regimental band played the returning Canadians away.

Their passage is expected to take 15 or 1 8days.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY IS OFFERING BONUSES TO SOLDIER-STUDENTS

KINGSTON, April 22.—The faculties of arts and applied science at Queen's University, feeling that the returned soldier students, who have lost considerable time on their academic courses due to their military service, are thereby seriously handicapped, have decided to grant such students bonuses. The faculty of arts is allowing these students from one to three classes on their course, according to their length of service.

Soldier students in the faculty of applied science will be given a bonus of five marks on each of their April examinations. Such is not to be counted in competition for prizes or scholarships.

About twenty science students will be affected by this ruling.

EDUCATIONISTS OF ONTARIO MEET IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

TORONTO, April 22.—Hon. Dr. H. J. Cody, minister of education in the Ontario Government, extended a welcome to the members of the Ontario Educational Association tonight on behalf of the Ontario Government, and at the same time gave a review of the new legislation affecting education that was passed by the Legislature at the last session. Principal Hutton voiced the greetings of the University of Toronto, in the absence of the president, Sir Robert Falconer. The president of the association, Rev. James Buchanan gave a comprehensive address, in which he told of the aims and objects of a completed educational system.

While it was only intended to hold the nominations for officers tonight, no opposition developed and the officers were all elected by acclamation. W. F. Moore of Dundas is the president-elect, R. W. Dean of Toronto was again re-elected as secretary, and Henry Ward of Toronto will again fill the office of treasurer.

To Grow Hair On Bald Heads

Specialist Gives Simple Recipe That Works Fine.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair-tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring grey hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol is frequently found in hair tonics. Ladies using this prescription should be careful not to get it on the face or where hair is not desired.—Advt.

Brew your coffee, not boil it

WHY is it the coffee some people make is always bitter? This is why. The shell of the coffee bean contains valuable aromatic oils, also bitter substances. When you boil your coffee you not only boil out the oils, but the bitter substances as well.

When you brew coffee by simply pouring furiously boiling water on it—then standing it in a hot place for ten minutes, you get perfect coffee because only the oils are extracted. You get most satisfaction when you use

Girls! Juice of Lemons Clears and Whitens Skin

Prepare a quarter pint of lemon beauty lotion at the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness, and tan and is the ideal skin softener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms, and hands. It naturally should help to soften, freshen, bleach, and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Dried Milk Fine For Babies Denied Their Mother's Aid

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG.

DR. HIRSHBERG

Milk from the baby's own race is the best food, the best medicine and the best preventive of disease known. If mothers really love their babies enough to save their little ones from dysentery, diarrhoea, pneumonia, bow-legs, rickets and other maladies, they will nurse their offspring at the breast until the second autumn, or at least ten months.

Next to mother's milk comes boiled or aseptic cow's milk, weakened with barley water, according to the age of the infant.

The subject of dried milks has been investigated by Dr. J. H. Coutts, who says that the experience of the last twelve or fourteen years shows that dried milk is one of the most satisfactory forms of cow's milk for the feeding of infants. It has been largely employed in connection with infant welfare centres, particularly in Leicester and Sheffield, England.

Some Special Values.

A large proportion of babies take and digest dried milk very well; they thrive on it and develop well. Vomiting is less frequent with dried milk than with ordinary cow's milk. Fresh, clean, pure, raw cow's milk is a good substitute when mother's milk is not available, but unfortunately much of the milk sold is often far from clean, and contains large numbers of germs. Such milk, especially in summer, will not keep a day without becoming sour, and is apt to cause digestive troubles. Dried milk contains far fewer germs than ordinary milk, and is less likely to contain the germs of infectious diseases. Also germs do not multiply in dried milk as they do in ordinary milk.

Dried milk can be preserved as long as it is kept dry. Only as much should be made up at a time as is required for one meal, and there need, therefore, be no waste. Pasteurized, sterilized or boiled cow's milk is a useful food if properly prepared, but it has disadvantages as compared with dried milk.

Unsweetened full cream condensed milk is also useful for baby feeding, but when mixed with water in the proportions sometimes recommended it is too weak to form satisfactory nourishment.

Sweetened condensed milk is often used for feeding babies. Dried milk has the advantage, when made up with the proper proportion of water, of containing the essential food elements in a proportion more suitable than full cream sweetened condensed milk.

The latter, if made up so as to give the right proportion of fat, has a very excessive amount of sugar. The baby usually becomes fat and flabby, and is liable to suffer from diseases, such as rickets.

These risks attach to other infant foods containing excess of sugar. So-called "malted" milks, like sweetened condensed milks, contain much too low a proportion of fat as compared with sugar.

Some Helpful Suggestions.

They differ from sweetened condensed milk in the nature of the sugar. In condensed milk this is mainly surrose; in malted milk it is largely maltose derived from the malted cereal.

Ordinary infant foods, containing large quantities of unaltered starch, are worse than sweetened condensed milk or malted milk. They are not fit for a baby under seven months.

Dried milk is being used to an increasing extent as, on the whole, it is one of the most convenient and most suitable foods when babies cannot get mother's milk.

In feeding babies on dried milk, the full cream variety should alone be used. Commencing with one teaspoonful of dried milk in three tablespoonfuls of water in the first or second week of life, it can be rapidly increased to one and one-half or two teaspoonfuls of dried milk in from four to five tablespoonfuls of water by the end of the second month, and so on to five teaspoonfuls of dried milk in ten tablespoonfuls of water at the age of five or six months.

Fears were at one time expressed that the use of dried milk might result in scurvy or rickets. Prolonged experience at infant welfare centres has refuted this; but as an extra precaution to avoid the possibility of scurvy, particularly if dried milk is to be used for a long time, a little fruit juice, such as orange or grapefruit, may be given once or twice a week.

Dried milk is also a valuable food for nursing mothers. In a very large number of towns dried milk for baby feeding is supplied from infant welfare centres, at which advice is also given as to the method of preparing and using the food.

Today's Fashion

By MME. FRANCES

This Morning Frock is of Black and White Plaid Gingham.

One of the smartest gingham models for morning wear is found in this black and white plaid trimmed with white butcher's linen.

The bodice is severely plain except for the variation of the plaid in the bias sleeves, which are trimmed with a binding of linen. An unusually shaped collar of white linen and a tiny tie of black grosgrain ribbon, complete the neckline, whose simplicity is very becoming. The narrow gathered skirt carries three bands of white linen let into the plaid material at irregular intervals. The belt may be of white linen or black patent leather.

The striking hat worn with this gown is a broad straw sailor trimmed with two wired ends of black velvet ribbon.

Answers to Health Questions

MRS. N.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for tetter.

A.—Apply a little of the following to the tetter:

Pink calamine	2½ drams
Zinc oxide	2 drams
Glycerine	2 drams
Phenol	20 drops
Lime water	2 ounces
Rose water	2 ounces

C. B. B.: A.—If you will send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your query repeated, I will be glad to answer your questions by letter.

A. C. V.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for dropsy.

A.—Dropsy cannot be treated at home properly, because it depends upon many different things, such as the kidneys, heart, blood pressure, quality of blood, and must be treated under the eyes of doctors and nurses in a hospital.

P. R.: Q.—Kindly tell me what to do for self-consciousness.

A.—Try, my good friend, to forget yourself entirely in the presence of others. Look on the sunny side of life and laugh at your own foibles and weaknesses instead of bothering about what others think. Join in the laughter and fun of the young and care-free. Go around socially, take interest in dances, serious books, plays, theatres, music. Be upright, and then indifferent to both the plaudits and criticisms of others.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why the Doctor Questoned Lillian.

A weaker woman would have changed color at the physician's natural mistake, but Lillian met his inquiring gaze with no sign of embarrassment whatever.

"Mr. Savarin is not my husband," she said quietly.

"Oh, I beg pardon," the physician interposed hurriedly, while I silently thanked my stars that Betty was safely below stairs.

"There is no need for apology," Lillian returned imperturbably. "As to the mental shock, I cannot answer positively. Mr. Savarin has but just now returned from France; indeed, I had no idea that he was in this country until he appeared at the door just before we called you. I am his nearest friend in the city—his people live upstate—and he had spoken less than a dozen words when he fell unconscious."

"Ah!" The physician drew a sibilant breath. "And—I would not ask this if it were not necessary for me to understand something of the circumstances surrounding the case—would you object to repeating those words if you remember them?"

"His Words May——"

If she remembered them! I knew that while life and memory remained to Lillian she would never forget those few halting, seemingly meaningless words.

"I don't object in the least," she answered proudly. "He simply said, 'I have come to tell you that I have——' then he fainted."

"Have you any idea what he meant?" the physician persisted, while I silently admired the manner in which Lillian had truthfully answered his question, while stripping her reply of the colorful meaning with which Robert Savarin's manner had invested it.

"I know that Mr. Savarin has been much concerned for a long time over a—a—search he was making for a man—whom he had known, a man between whom and himself there lay a matter which I would have to have his own permission to disclose," she said. "His words may have meant that he had found him."

Madge Remains.

The white, tense little lines around her mouth, which I knew denoted great mental strain, were much in evidence now. Did the physician see them? I wondered. If he did, he did not spare her because of the knowledge.

"Would the finding of this—friend"—I fancied that his glance narrowed at the word—"be apt to give him an unusual mental shock?"

"Under some circumstances, yes," she answered; then spiritedly, as if tired of his questioning, "But why do you ask? Do you think there has been some unusual shock in this case?"

"Undoubtedly," he returned, a bit stiffly, evidently recognizing and accepting her rebuff. "The man is physically and mentally exhausted. He must have been under some terrific strain."

"Do you mean that there is danger of his not recovering from this swoon?" Lillian asked the question as steadily as if the brain behind her steeled eyes was cool and calm, instead of whirling with the anguished terror which I knew was swaying her.

"There is danger, yes, but there's room for hope also," he replied quietly. "I have known cases in which a swoon of this kind has lasted for days, and yet there was ultimate recovery. Everything depends upon quiet and careful, skillful nursing. Will it be possible for him to remain here? Of course, he can be removed to a hospital if necessary, but I must warn you that his chances of recovery are far better if he isn't disturbed."

"Of course he will stay here," Lillian said with quiet emphasis. "And I will get a nurse as soon as possible."

"You may find difficulty in getting one immediately," the physician returned. "Have you had any experience in illness if the nurse's coming should be delayed?"

"A great deal," Lillian's voice was filled with the confidence born of knowledge of her own efficiency.

The physician looked at her keenly, and nodded his head as if satisfied.

"If you will get everything ready while I am waiting until I give another hypodermic," he said briskly, "we will make him comfortable and prepare for a long siege."

Lillian turned to me, her eyes full of entreaty.

"Will you telephone Mr. Savarin's sister?" she asked. "Don't alarm her any more than necessary, but have her come at once. And—and—Madge——"

I interpreted the unspoken query, answered it promptly.

"Of course I shall not leave you until she arrives," I said.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

DICK AND BETSY OTTER ARRIVE AT MIRROR POND.

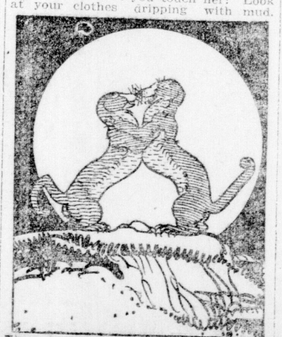

After many adventures in the Great Wood, Dick and Betsy Otter reached Murmuring Brook. And Dick's heart gave a great jump as he saw the lovely home brook. And he was startled to hear close beside him this sudden cry: "Why, Dick Otter, bless your dear little heart, is that you? I feared I would never see my dear brother again, after you went into the Great Wood."

It was Billy Otter, his dear brother, and they gave each other a big hug and kissed each other on the end of the nose. You know that is the way Otters kiss each other.

Then Billy looked around suddenly, and he saw a very pretty stranger, and his eyes nearly popped out of his little furry brown head as he gasped: "Why, Dick, who's your friend?" And Betsy blushed and looked very lovely. And Billy continued: "Say, Dick, I guess you found this little orphan in the Great Wood, and you brought her home for father and mother to adopt."

"Well, I guess you can't adopt her," exclaimed Dick. "This is my mate; and I've brought her to Mirror Pond to live with me." And Billy was so surprised that he fell over and tumbled into a deep pool of muddy water. But Billy soon got out, and he looked very sheepish as Betsy laughed at his awkwardness. But Dick Otter exclaimed, "Billy, come here. No more of your monkey tricks. Let me introduce you to my mate, Mrs. Dick Otter of Mirror Pond."

And Dick poked out his furry chest, and he stood up so straight that he leaned backwards. You see, he was awfully important now, and he felt very proud of Betsy. And Billy was overcome with joy at having a new sister, and he rushed up to her to give her a brotherly hug. But Dick Otter yelled out, "Billy, don't you touch her! Look at your clothes dripping with mud.

They gave each other a big hug and kissed each other on the end of the nose.

Don't you know anything at all? Don't you know you would ruin her pretty new brown suit, trimmed with that lovely brown fur. Billy, I thought mother had taught you better manners."

And poor Billy looked very sheepish, and took a "header" into a clear pool of water in Murmuring Brook.

Now, Sammy Muskrat had heard and seen all this, as he was secretly opening and eating some clams behind a big rock not far away. And Sammy dove into Murmuring Brook, and away he went mad to tell the news to everybody in Mirror Pond.

THURSDAY, APRIL 24.

The auguries for this day under existing planetary rule are not entirely encouraging. While there is likely to be much activity in commercial and professional channels, under a benefic Lunar transit of Mercury, yet the Lunar opposition to Saturn is likely to manifest banefully, bringing disappointments, obstacles and setbacks. The health may also give some concern, and possibilities for bringing on colds, congestions or rheumatic affections should be avoided. There is danger from secret enmities, revenge or vindictiveness, the square of Mars to Neptune tending to bring out all the latent propensities to these cowardly traits.

Those whose birthday it is are promised an active enough year, but perhaps one calling for patience, courage and stamina. A child born on this day will be bright and intelligent, but inclined to be vengeful and vindictive. It may succeed best in the employment of others.

"And Mother Says to Send Over Some Pure Gold Jelly Powders"

The children know the name of their favourite dessert and never tire of it. You can't fool them with imitations, either. The rich flavour of luscious fruits in genuine Pure Gold Jellies is not easily forgotten.

The kiddies—and grown folks as well, have a great habit of sending their plates back for more whenever these delicacies are served. Give them all they want. They're absolutely pure, and so good for them.

Better get a supply and have them handy. Raspberry, strawberry, lemon, orange, red currant, pineapple, cherry and vanilla.

To Properly Treat Obstinate Wrinkles

Particularly where wrinkles are long and deep, the massage devotee is apt to rub too hard and too frequently. This loosens the skin, causes muscles to degenerates the wrinkled condition—just the opposite result from that sought.

Better than massage, or anything else, for the most obstinate wrinkles as well as the finest lines, is a remarkable formula, which you may readily avail yourself of, as you will have no difficulty procuring the constituents from your druggist. It is this: One ounce powdered saxolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe face, neck and hands in this. The effect is really marvelous, not only as to wrinkles, but also in cases of baggy cheeks and chin. The application is cooling and soothing, tending to relieve fatigue. Both the witch hazel and the saxolite are, of course, entirely harmless to the skin. Advt.

ANNOUNCING

A NEW PRICE

For Tip Top Made-To-Measure Clothes

$21 Instead of $19

Became Effective Tuesday, April 22

LAST WEEK we met the demand from the tailors in our large wholesale tailoring plant for an increase in wages of 25 per cent (44-hour week) and pay and one-half for extra hours.

As we are the only tailoring firm in Canada making clothes to measure at one price and always sell our product at an extremely close margin on cost of cloth and making, this increase in wages compels us to ask our patrons a slightly higher price.

Therefore, on and after Tuesday, April 22, Tip Top Made-to-Measure Clothes will sell for $21.00 instead of $19.00.

In notifying the public of this advance in price, we give them our assurance that our value will still be the greatest in Canada and that our clothes are still the only one-price made-to-measure clothes sold in this country.

Thanking our thousands of customers throughout the Dominion for their patronage, and assuring them at all times of as conscientious a service as lies within our power, we remain, faithfully,

Detroit, Giant of Cities, a Model to Build From?

Detroit, the young Michigan giant of cities, went sweeping through its Fifth Victory Loan quota in a few hours. More than $55,000,000 was subscribed, and the campaign is scarcely begun.

Detroit is a city for a chapter in the book of modern Arabian Nights. A few years ago it had little more than 100,000 population, with one or two large hotels, two or three theatres, and no clear evidence of the development to come. Today it numbers its millionaires in the thousands, and its facilities are cramped each year to keep up with its growth.

No doubt some people said that Detroit would never be a great manufacturing city. The eastern states were the manufacturing areas. It might have been argued that each western state of the west as a whole should have protection in order to develop industrially. But an old man went about selling new lamps for old, and an Aladdin of the automobile era chanced to live in Detroit. The marvels that came of rubbing the lamp were not regarded as dreams by the people of Detroit. They did not let the automobile industry go to the east. They nailed it down, and now look at the great place.

Men in many cities that cry with agonized voices "We must grow," when in fact the first principle is to live in good spirits and good health, should not fail to look at Detroit. Size it up from every angle. Does London or Windsor or Brantford or Sarnia want the growth of Detroit? The Canadian field of opportunity to develop a city along the line of some great manufacturing specialty is almost untouched. No industry excepting those which develop close to their raw materials has been claimed for any one Ontario locality. London's industries are not peculiar to London. If we have a natural bent toward manufacturing it is along the lines of what might be called the domestic supply trade, a city where are made things to eat and things to wear and things to use in a house. We might find development along that very line. Or we might become a tractor city or an airplane city, or a shoemaking city? In any event we have before us the lesson of growth and its problems in a thousand American cities. The cities of Canada will follow very closely the development of the American cities, and we have only to investigate the method, if there is one, of attaining growth and the effects of it, to choose our future for the industrial development is coming. We can build to avoid the mistakes of American cities, or we can let our destiny shape itself in puttering policies and parochial outlook.

If a city wants strength and power, it is only necessary to regard Detroit's single-day achievement in gathering $55,000,000, or more than the total assessment of the city of London. Someone is almost certain to ask "But has Detroit lost her soul?" We do not think so, to judge from the ideals and standards expressed in her newspapers. It has become a less comfortable city in which to live, perhaps, with men more like ants, kicked about by snorting machines, but if a city is to "advance" it has got to get away from the idea of too much comfort.

Lloyd George vs. Northcliffe

The outbreak of verbal hostilities between Lloyd George and Lord Northcliffe was marked by an immediate threat from one of the Northcliffe papers that some episodes in the career of the British premier during the war might make interesting reading. Whatever else it may mean, the dagger of innuendo was drawn on the prime minister; he was told in effect that his replies to the attacks of the Northcliffe press would mean his unmasking and his downfall.

It is as a blackmailer Northcliffe thus enters the contest between the power of the press, a power that can be misused effectually, and a statesman's hold on public opinion. He is attempting to hold a whip over the back of Lloyd George for one of two reasons. He is anxious to have the premier become more plastic or he wishes to silence him. It is doubtful that the effort will succeed, because the very use of a threat, the very suggestion that the bludgeon of exposure would be used upon the premier, will be calculated to bring to his side the masses of the people who realize that whatever past mistakes, the mistakes were not sufficiently decisive when made to render Lloyd George unfit for the master's place in the opinion of Northcliffe. It was the duty of Northcliffe to reveal weaknesses, if such existed, at a time when they were observed. But he waited until the war was over, and when the peace negotiations with their tremendous difficulties were burdened upon the shoulders of the prime minister almost immediately after he had come through a general election, Northcliffe levelled his attacks upon his former ally.

Lloyd George has stood up under the war strain for almost every day and every hour since the Germans crashed into Belgium. He is not wholly without faults. That he has even made great blunders it is only human to expect. But if there is another single figure in Great Britain, in France, in the United States, in Germany, or any other country affected by war who can be matched with him for ingenuity, for strength of character, for organizing ability, for the magnetism that held an empire breathless upon his words, let him be brought forth. Northcliffe is rated as the power behind Lloyd George. He may have had a great influence upon the premier and upon the political developments of the war, but who is there will say Lloyd George is not his own man, who is there will say his career from its commencement has not shown him to be Napoleonic in his determination to pursue his policies to a finish? Northcliffe may claim to have "made" Lloyd George. The Advertiser suspects Lloyd George was "made" and came to be Britain's man of destiny long before he fell into the good graces of the newspaper baron. Lloyd George has met the baron's attacks before this, too.

Northcliffe is an opponent before whose attacks statesmen strong and weak have fallen. But the very clash between him and Lloyd George will go to demonstrate that the British premier is not now, and never has been, the mere creature of a journalistic Goliath. And if it is to be a fight to a finish, it will not be the Welshman who cries for quarter, no matter who wins.

U. S. May Control Turks

Some indication of the greater part the United States is destined to play in old world matters is shown by the peace conference proposal that when the mandates are handed out Washington be given the wardenship of Constantinople, Turkey, Albania and Armenia. It is said President Wilson is distinctly favorable to the United States assuming control of the Turkish capital, but is not so willing to assume responsibility for the rest of the Ottoman empire.

There will be opposition at home to accepting any mandatory powers outside the western hemisphere, and looking after the Ottomans will be an especially disagreeable and dangerous experience, but, having taken on the task of hammering out a new and better world, there can be no shirking of responsibilities by members of the league of nations.

As the world power least directly interested the government of Constantinople by the United States would tend to prevent friction between nations directly and vitally influenced by every turn in the affairs of Turkey. The Allied powers are in favor of having the capital and the Dardanelles internationalized, but are not altogether agreeable to having them placed under the supervision of Greece, as that country desires. The United States, however, could have no motive but that of the general good. With Washington in control at the Bosphorus the chances of the renewal of the clashes that in the past have pivoted on Constantinople would be small, and the task of destroying lawlessness and bringing order to the sultan's empire would be made easier.

Snowden "Glooming" Again

You can't keep a good "gloom" down. Philip Snowden, grand champion of the English pacifists and the Internationals, is at his old pastime of finding fault and predicting calamity. This time he has selected the peace conference for criticism. The fact that nobody knows what the terms consist of is of little consequence to Snowden. They are all wrong and will not end war. Instead of bringing peace they will start a new struggle.

As a persistent "gloom" the pacifist stands alone. To prophesy fresh disasters appears to be his particular prerogative and delight. No matter how happily the race may progress he is several leaps ahead searching out new catastrophes and miseries.

Snowden's latest wail is that the world is on the threshold of a terrible class war with democracies ranged against hereditary oppressors. To most of us it has seemed that was the issue in the late war, with oppression pretty thoroughly hammered and lambasted. Snowden openly attempted to hamper and tie up the British campaign. Had Germany triumphed as a consequence, imperial exploiters and oppressors would have been solidly established in a prolonged and world-wide tyranny. Such as Snowden would have been obliterated politically, if not physically.

There is a mischievous tone to his address before the Independent Labor party. He threatens England with a revolution of violence. At a time when distinct advance is being made in establishing industrial and social harmony, when the transformation to a better, healthier and happier England is already underway, his attitude may prove harmful. It will be inclined to create discontent and dissatisfaction amongst an extreme element which would raze the social structure at a single blow, with its good and evil alike, rather than build up another edifice by replacing in an orderly and gradual manner the old and the evil with the new and the good. Snowden could be better employed preaching moderation than helping along class hatred at a time when fair-minded men and women of all nations are seeking through the Versailles conference some common ground that will insure a square deal for everybody.

RECONSTRUCTION ROMANCE.

By Dora H. Mollan.

Just three months from the day on which the armistice was signed a mammoth ship, largest of all things in the world, steamed into the harbor of the metropolis of the western hemisphere. Every person on the west side of that city was made aware of its approach, for a giant siren cleared its throat and let forth a long-drawn-out bellow, which died down to a gurgle, rose and fell again and again.

The siren, located on the roof of a skyscraping building, was fulfilling a mission quite different from that for which it had been designed. It had been installed to give warning of enemies in the air—and there were no German air raids? Who remembered, now, that they had ever been feared?

One of thousands who had helped to make of that fear a thing to be laughed at, and who was now leaning over the rails of the Leviathan receiving the tumultuous welcome of fire, sound and whistle extended by the city, was Sergt. Charles Brenden, typical of all: for though slight of build and of medium height, he was well set up, with clear blue eyes and possessed of that confident air which belongs to a man who has proved himself equal to any emergency.

It might be hours before they docked. The huge craft was surrounded by tiny, puffing tugs, pulling, pushing and coaxing, like ants as they force an object far larger than themselves to do their will. But they were home—home! And the welcome was all they had dreamed. Eagerly their eyes searched the shores for well-remembered landmarks; gayly they scrambled for the papers, cigarettes and candy thrown on board from the small craft bearing the mayor's committee of welcome.

Charles' thoughts ran on ahead. Of course, after today, things would quiet down. They would entrain for a camp for demobilization. Then to the city—that wonderful city, whose jagged skyline he recognized in almost every detail. And right away after that his job in the city office of an out-of-town silk manufactory.

On Saturday morning Brenden was mustered out, and that afternoon he arrived in town, along with many of his comrades. The hurry and bustle, jangle and clatter of the traffic was music to his ears.

The avenue was decorated in his—their—honor. The scene thrilled almost as much as on the day when their ship entered the harbor. Charles crossed to Sixth avenue and took the L—no underground route for him today. To feast his eyes on the life and movement of his native city appealed more than a great speed.

Alighting at Sixty-sixth street, Charles proceeded straight to his old boarding place. And then the welcome began all over again, for Miss Johnson answered the bell; and she was one of that rare species, a kind-hearted landlady. For an elderly spinster her kiss was not a bad imitation of what a mother's might be. Anyway, it seemed like that to Charles, who had no recollections of the genuine thing.

His room was awaiting him, its last occupant having been unceremoniously ousted in his behalf. Everybody rejoiced at his return. Elderly Mr. Beckwith blew him to dinner and a show that night. Sunday was spent in looking up some friends.

So altogether this war veteran of 22 was in a happy mood Monday morning when he started downtown to see the "boss" about getting back on the job pretty soon and to say "hello" to the office force.

It was so early that only old Gruber, the janitor, was on hand; but he started the welcome and it grew as the force gathered for the daily grind. Only two others besides himself had left the office for the service and he was the first one back. So Charles knew most of the staff and soon met the others. They bombarded him with questions and, of course, were thanked again for his Christmas box.

"But who sent that dandy warm sweater?" Brenden asked. "The card read, 'From a girl with brown eyes.'" His eyes followed those of two chaps who stood nearby to the edge of the little group—and straight into those of a girl. She was good to look upon—and Charles looked for long seconds before he fell to the fact that the eyes into which he was so rudely staring were brown and beautiful. Just then the door opened and the group precipitately broke up. The girl was gone, with the rest, and Charles was left standing alone, as the manager entered the room.

Mr. Huber greeted the returned soldier in his usual bluff manner: "What you back, Brenden?" And after shaking hands, added: "Come into my office in five minutes."

Promptly the boy stood before the familiar desk and the boss looked up. "Well, Brenden, what can I do for you?" Huber inquired, after asking some rather perfunctory questions about Charles' experiences, the answers to which did not seem to particularly interest him.

"You can give me my job back again, sir. That's what I came for." Charles had learned to address his superior officers briefly and to the point.

"M-m. Sit down a minute," the manager replied. The minute, and several more, were consumed in an attempt on the part of Huber to convince Charles what an impossible thing that was just now. Office expenses had been cut. The mill was not running full time; orders had fallen off—"the war, you know—ended too soon; business was not prepared for it," etc.

So Charles, one of those who had risked all to end the war "too soon," found himself hoist by his own petard.

Mr. Huber continued, telling him they had filled his place with a girl at $5 less per week, and she had proved very satisfactory; perhaps, if the returned soldier was willing to accept a reduction——"

Brenden was not a quick-spoken young man and before, in his righteous wrath, he could frame a fitting reply, something happened.

She of the brown eyes burst into the room, the eyes full of flashing light, and bending them fixedly on the manager, said: "I wish to resign immediately, Mr. Huber. "Yes, I heard what you said," she continued, not giving the boss a chance to reply; "and what I think I should hate to say. I live in the home town of this concern and know the owners. I know the lump-sum plan that this office is run on, too, and into whose pocket that five dollars a week that you knocked off my pay goes. I just took this place to do my share during the war and now I'm going home to rest. If you give Mr. Brenden his job back, with a raise"—and here she glanced for the first time at the soldier—"I'll keep still. If you don't—well, you know the owners' motto is 'A job for every soldier.'"

Huber, grown first red and then white, tried unsuccessfully to meet the angry eyes of the girl. Then, because he knew she had the goods on him, he turned suddenly back to his desk and flung over his shoulder at Brenden: "Report tomorrow morning."

The girl hurried from the room. Brenden, wasting no more time than was necessary to answer "Yes, sir," in a tone equally curt, took himself out of the offices and the building, and on the sidewalk awaited the appearance of the brown-eyed heroine.

Soon she came out of the entrance, and before she saw him he saw there were tears in her eyes. The d[illegible] little overseas cap came off and Char[illegible]ed her. The girl sought to escap[illegible]ut Charles was not to be denied—he was not to be denied truthful answers to his questions, either.

Over there Private, Corporal, then Sergeant Brenden had acquired the quality of mastery.

And when he learned that the statements she had made to the manager were only partway true and that there was neither home, parents nor job awaiting Mary in her home town—and least of all rest—but only the grim reality of a search for another position, he arose to the emergency and made her understand that many couples started in on a salary no greater than that which her courageous interposition had secured for him.

"But it's all so terribly sudden!" she protested.

"So was Chateau-Thierry," said Charles.

"Well," succumbed she of the brown eyes, "you outrank me, Sergt. Brenden—I don't suppose I dare refuse to obey. And, by the way, my name's Mary Henderson."

"Who cares?" said Charles. "It'll be Brenden by 12 o'clock. Forward, march!"

The most remarkable thing about Mr. Handley Page, the inventor of the giant aeroplane used so successfully in the war, is said to be his youth. Pte. McGuire, lying on his cot at the army hospital, was peevish and obstinate. He positively refused to take a second dose of medicine, which happened to be unusually nasty. Several smiling nurses bent over him and tried to coax him to be good. "Come," pleaded one, "drink this and you'll get well." "And get rosy, too," chimed in a second. Pte. McGuire brightened visibly and sat up in bed. After surveying the pretty group, he inquired eagerly, "And will yez be afther tellin' me, which one of yez is Rosey?"

DR. REID'S MARATHON.

[Ottawa Correspondent of the Toronto Globe.]

The story of the Creation was told in four hundred words. Lincoln's Gettysburg speech was a model of brevity. Gen. Pershing of the American Expeditionary Force made a famous speech in four words: "Lafayette, we are here." The palm for the longest sentence ever constructed surely must be awarded to Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways and canals for Canada. He moved in Parliament today a resolution of 1,300 words, all crammed into one sentence. Hon. Edward Blake was noted for long sentences, but Dr. Reid's effort would make three or four of Blake's. It contains 71 comas, 33 semicolons, two parentheses and one period. It would fill more than one column of the Globe.

THE HIGH COST OF COBBLING.

[Washington Star.]

Time was when it was good economy to take a pair of shoes to a cobbler and have them half-soled or heeled or patched, but not now. That happy day is gone. No longer is it possible to take a slightly decrepit pair of shoes into a leathery-smelling little shop and have something needful done to it for a quarter or a half dollar. There are no quarter jobs any more. It is hard to find a shoe-fixing shop that will look at a half a dollar. The standard of prices is far above that. A dollar and a half for a pair of half soles—nailed not sewed—must be paid smilingly. There is no use in grouching. It is apparently the standard rate. At times the harassed wearer of shoes feels that there is no economy in repairs, and that as dear as they are it is better to buy new shoes outright than to pay for cobbling. Some day the scale may change. Just at present the real aristocrats are those who have their footgear habitually doctored.

THE CAREER OF F. W. WOOLWORTH.

[Montreal Herald.]

The death of F. W. Woolworth, who made a great fortune from ten-cent stores, has caused a searchlight of the daily press to be turned on his career. All the commentators on the life of the late F. W. Woolworth have stressed the romance of his rise from abject poverty to tremendous wealth in the course of a comparatively few years. This is, of course, the most obviously significant phase of his life, in the view of the New York Globe. Yet for the student of social phenomena there is another aspect of his career which is even more interesting.

Mr. Woolworth's personal fortune was $65,000,000—not an overpowering sum in these days of colossal wealth. The point to be noted is that probably no equal sum in the history of the world was ever accumulated by such minute additions. In his 1,050 stores, generally speaking, the average sale was no more than ten cents. The profit on any individual ten-cent transaction was minute. Yet enough of these insignificant transactions were repeated to accumulate a large part of his wealth (not all of it, of course). And out of these same minute profits, endlessly repeated, he was able to build not only the loftiest habitable building ever produced by the ingenuity of man, but also the world's loveliest example of "commercial" architecture.

The gross sales of the Woolworth stores last year were $107,175,749. That means at least a billion individual sales, and if the profit on each sale were but a fraction of a cent it would mount into a very considerable sum.

As a matter of fact it was the very size of the Woolworth business which enabled its owner to keep his profits at a minute percentage and still amass a great fortune. He controlled the output of entire factories; he bought in the largest possible quantities; he could afford to retain for the benefit of his whole system the best commercial brains available.

LIVING IN A WORLD OF ADVERTISING.

[Canadian Machinery.]

Think of a good product today and you think of an advertised product. You can't get away from it.

Advertising enters into your daily life far more than you realize and "there's a reason."

You awake in the morning to the tune of an advertised alarm clock. You lather your face with an advertised brush. You dress in advertised clothes and advertised underwear, socks and shoes.

You eat an advertised orange, an advertised cereal served with advertised milk. You finish off your breakfast with advertised bacon and eggs or marmalade and a cup of advertised tea or coffee.

You put on your advertised hat and make a rush for an advertised street car. You read the advertisements in an advertised newspaper.

Your work throughout the day brings you in contact with advertised lines. You are probably engaged in the manufacture of an advertised product.

If you go to the theatre or movies it is to see an advertised show. You smoke advertised tobacco and cigars. You listen to the music of an advertised piano in your home or to the advertised records played by an advertised phonograph.

Finally you lay your tired head on an advertised pillow and your body on an advertised mattress, your wife meantime reading the bargain day advertisements in the evening paper when she should be turning out the (advertised) light.

About the only thing that enters into your life that is not advertised is sleep, and it will never need advertising, because the supply will never equal the demand.

There is, as we said before, a reason why you eat and use and wear and buy advertised products. It is because they are good. And it shows you have good judgment when you buy advertised ones. A poor product cannot be continuously advertised. A good product can.

WINIFRED BLACK

Writes About "The Cure In Forgetting."

Copyright, 1918, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

She hasn't been away from home for years, the dear little woman I met on the train. Not for years and years. And she loves to travel, too, for she told me so.

When she was first married they intended to do a good deal of traveling. They made up their minds to that when they were on their wedding trip.

They would never settle down and be humdrum and commonplace, and matter of fact—not they, with the great, beautiful world to see, and the great, wonderful world to know and understand.

But—his mother came to live with them and she wasn't very strong and they couldn't leave her very well. And then after that little Margaret came, and then there was the new house to build, and then there was the mortgage to pay, and after that the twins arrived. And then there was that little mistake in business, and the younger brother had to be sent to college, of course, and all the cousins took to marrying at once and needing expensive presents, and so it was almost twenty years since she had been anywhere—for a real trip.

Couldn't Let Go.

And was delighted with everything. She thought the Pullmans were so comfortable now, and the dining car was so very nice and the food so very good—how in the world did they manage it, with prices as they are? And what do you suppose the company has to pay the cook?—cooks are really getting to be outrageous these days—and weren't the dishes nice—really quite dainty, don't you think?—and what interesting people there were on the train, she thought.

The old gentleman opposite looked quite like a diplomat. And what pretty girls those two sisters were, or maybe they were cousins. And what a lot of soldiers going home, she supposed—she did hope they were going home—how glad their mothers would be to see them!

How they had ever stood it to have the boys away so long she couldn't think, but, of course, patience is one of the things for mothers, and—did it happen to have any postage stamps handy, and wasn't it queer they didn't have more kinds of postals on the train? And what station was it where we could mail letters?

And all the way she wrote—and wrote—and stamped and mailed.

One letter to husband, one to Margaret, one to each of the twins—a postal to sister, a card to Aunt Mary, another card to the minister and another to the president of the Ladies' Aid Society at home.

She was only going to be gone for a little while, but she just couldn't let go of home and home worries and home anxieties even for ten days.

Do you know what I'd like to do with that dear little woman?

Net of Details.

I'd like to get her into a motor car—a great, big, high-power racing affair—and I'd like to start over the mountains and through the valleys and alongside of the rivers and by the orchards and around the farms, and from city to city with her.

Just as fast as we could go, and whenever we saw a postoffice or a telegraph office or a letter box, I would step on the gas and go just a little faster, for I don't believe there's anything really serious the matter with the little woman at all—did I tell you she consented to leave home? I think she's just suffering from an acute case of homophobia—that's all.

She's wound herself up like a little silk worm in a perfect net of little details, and she can't get away from them to save her life—and she won't save her life unless she does get away.

MOTHERS' DAY THIS YEAR IS TO HAVE A SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE

Meeting at Kinsman Hall Selects May 11 For Decoration of Mothers.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at Kinsman Hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of arranging the most suitable time for the decoration of mothers whose sons have fallen overseas. Representatives were present from the Ministerial Alliance, Associated Kin, Local Council of Women and the St. Thomas Council of Women, with Gordon Wright, president of the Associated Kin, in the chair.

The result of the meeting was that a resolution was passed to the effect that a public meeting be held on Mothers' Day, Sunday, May 11, at which the decoration of mothers will take place. A proviso was made enabling mothers to receive their decoration in their own church, if they so desired, the ceremony to take place at either the morning or evening service on Mothers' Day.

It was the general opinion of those present that Mothers' Day was the most fitting occasion on which to make these decorations, and it is expected that the names of mothers eligible for decoration will be handed to the officers of the Associated Kin or to the various clergy in the city before that date. The clergy in turn are expected to hand the names over to the Associated Kin.

SEAFORTH RED CROSS.

The Seaforth branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society since its organization in August, 1914, has raised $29,-218.40. The number of articles shipped was 93,279, which includes 8,489 suits of pyjamas, 8,318 pairs of socks, 154 yards of canton flannel, 333 yards of military flannel, 1,258 yards of flannelette and 503 yards of toweling. The society still remains organized, and with other work is providing each returned soldier with two suits of pyjamas.

HENSALL ORGANIZES W. C. T. U.

Last week the women of Hensall were asked to attend a meeting in the town hall to consider the forming of a W. C. T. U. The meeting was addressed by Mrs. Bigelow of Cornwall, provincial president, who gave a most inspiring address, and explained the work of the W. C. T. U. She asked the women to meet in the hall on Wednesday to organize.

At this meeting Mrs. Bigelow again addressed those assembled, and Mrs. Beavers, president of Exeter County, also spoke in a very pleasing manner.

The result was that the following officers were elected to form the W. C. T. U. executive: President, Mrs. W. N. Glenn; first vice-president, Mrs. John Elder; corresponding secretary, Miss Ethel Murdock; treasurer, Mrs. R. J. Palenon. Vice-presidents were also elected, representing the three churches—Methodist, Mrs. Doan; Presbyterian, Mrs. Dickson, and Anglican, Miss Emma Johnston.

Twenty members joined on Wednesday, and many more are hoped for.

Meetings will be held in the reading-room of the hall on the last Wednesday of every month at 2:30 o'clock.

AILSA CRAIG CLUB FAMOUS FOR PLAYS.

Ailsa Craig scored another triumph when the Young Peoples' Club put on one of the best concerts ever given in Ailsa Craig. The Town Hall was packed to the doors, every available space being taken, the steps leading to the gallery were all filled and many were forced to stand while quite a number were even not able to gain admittance. The concert consisted of a play entitled "The Hindoo," and was intensely interesting from start to finish. Roars of laughter greeted the performers, so that they were forced to stop, till the crowd was able to restrain themselves properly, in order to let the actors proceed, each one taking his part well. There was not a hitch in the whole proceedings.

The club members are noted for their good concerts and have put on plays for Red Cross work in Thedford, Parkhill, Crediton, Ebenezer, West McGillivary, Lochaber, Lucan, Granton and Hyndon leaving the proceeds with the people where the concerts were given, thus showing their patriotism in helping out in time of need. There are about fifty or sixty members and are still increasing in numbers.

The proceeds of the concert amounted to $165, which was donated to the public library for new books.

As there were a number turned away they decided to put the play on again on Tuesday, April 22.

Between the second and third act the Rev. Mr. F. Clatworthy gave a very fine address, in which he thanked the Young Peoples' Club in behalf of the library board for their splendid donation. He also thanked the women's institute on behalf of the town for their donation of a beautiful library table and two fine upholstered chairs for use in the town hall. Mrs. C. Watcher gave a couple of musical selections, during the evening.

The Girl With the Hoe

Hello folks! Thought you saw the end of me last year, didn't you? But here I am bobbing up again with the tulips. This time, however, I am not attempting to give advice, but am seeking it. The last two years of strenuous war gardening in cities and towns has surely made many experienced gardeners throughout Western Ontario, where before there was absolute ignorance in this respect. Then, too, there is constantly being discovered some new scheme of growing certain crops. A farmer or gardener experiments and has good results, but the news of his experiment reaches no further than his little community. Yet, what he has learned, if it became general property, might form the basis for further and even more satisfactory experiment.

There may be even a few embryo Burbanks in our midst, who for lack of sufficient interest being taken in their discoveries, become discouraged and do not continue the work. Last fall a man from the vicinity of London brought several mammoth tomatoes and placed them in The Advertiser window, and they attracted the admiration of every passer-by. It happens that that man has been working towards getting a large strain af tomatoes for some time and hopes to have even better results. Of course this is something really unusual, but there are many gardeners who have had success with the ordinary fruits and vegetables who might wish to pass their secrets along.

This year, since the war is over, the partly-neglected flower garden will again assume something of its former aspect and here there is opportunity for giving fellow gardeners many useful hints through The Advertiser columns. The London Horticultural Society is striving to create a greater interest in growing of flowers in the city of London, and no doubt some of their members could give valuable assistance to less experienced gardeners, if they would do so through the press.

If The Advertiser readers would be interested in such an interchange of ideas, at this time of the year, when they would be most useful, the "Girl With The Hoe" will be pleasd to receive their communications and will arrange to find a corner for them in the paper. THE GIRL WITH THE HOE.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Marion Gray has returned from Detroit.

Miss Anna Cockrill spent a couple of days in Strathroy this week.

Mrs. Ross Thomas will receive on Friday, instead of Thursday, on account of the holiday.

The many friends of Mrs. M. Charlton will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from a recent serious illness.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Murphy of Medicine Hat, Alta., are visiting friends and relatives at London, Sandwich and St. Marys.

Mrs. Neil A. Brown returned to her home in Mount Forest on Saturday after spending a couple of weeks with her mother, Mrs. Easom, Colborne street.

May 2 is the date planned for the ball to be given in the Princess Winter Garden by the 7th Regiment Chapter and the Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. D. E.

The Protestant Orphans' Home gratefully acknowledge donations of hot cross buns from Mrs. McGarvey, Mr. Geo. Robinson and friends, and sandwiches from Geo. Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Neely announce the engagement of their daughter, Caroline Luella, to Mr. Harry Baskette of Niagara Falls, Ont., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Baskette of this city, the marriage to take place in May.

On Friday evening the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. L. Barker of Highgate, met at their home prior to their departure for their new home at Bothwell, and presented them with a beautiful writing desk as a token of esteem and good wishes. The address was read by Mrs. William Hatch, the presentation was made by W. Hatch and Mr. L. Manning. Mr. Barker thanked the friends for their kind remembrance. The evening was spent in music, after which luncheon was served.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Another Old Friend.

Dear Miss Grey.—It is a long time since I called on you, but after reading your letter of Saturday, April 5, I thought I would drop in for a short chat, just to ask your opinion, Miss Grey, about what you thought of the Mail Box friends and readers taking up the U. F. W. O. work in these columns. Don't you think it would be a very interesting subject just now, when the women all over the country are talking of it? I, for one, should be pleased to get some good points along this line of work, and I think there are lots more like me, for it is something quite new to us. We don't know nearly as much about it as we would like to know. Some letters and opinions would be very helpful. Of course, I don't mean to say that the whole Mail Box should be devoted to the U. F. W. O., but suggest that this be one of the lines of thought. I, for one, am a lover of old songs, and like to see them printed. There are so many that you cannot buy and a great many other things asked for through the Mail Box, and it is nice to know that there is such a place to make our wants known. With best wishes.

A FRIEND OF THE MAIL BOX.

Ans.—Very glad to welcome another old friend. No doubt you have been reading with interest the letters printed on this page from Margery Mills, relative to the U. F. W. O. work. I think that Margery Mills has, on more than one occasion, invited correspondence or inquiries on U. F. W. O. topics and organization. However, any letters or discussion from our farm women will be very welcome, and I thank Friend of the Mail Box for the suggestion.

Story of a War Garden.

My Dear Cynthia,—I am so glad that some of the Cynthians have suggested garden topics. I am all attention and deeply interested, although until the summer of 1917 I knew nothing about the growing of vegetables and cultivated flowers only; but it seemed to be the correct thing to do, so from a patriotic spirit we started in to do our bit. We had the sod turned over and dug in deeply. Personally I felt it would be a failure, for the ground is sandy, and we live in the down town section. However we (my housekeeper and I) managed the whole thing. At first we heard many remarks from the male persuasion—things planted too deep, not the right kind of plants, planted too close together, etc., but after our success of 1918, they all take off their hats to us. It is almost unbelievable the amount of things we grew and the wonderful result of our efforts. We started to plant the last week in April, and had it all planted by May 14. The varieties of tomatoes were: Champion, Chalk's Early Jewel, Byron Pink, Pondarosa, Tresses, Onions—One quart Dutch sets, one quart multipliers, one package seed. Carrots, beets, lettuce (head), beans, which cost altogether $1.65. Our garden was in two plots, each 12x15, with a sod walk between them. Our back fence is wire, and in front of this we had a trellis of tomatoes and climbing beans.

We kept track of things, and marked it down at market prices, and by July 9 we had made the $1.65. At the end of the season we had cleared expenses and enjoyed $10 worth of garden produce. The first week in June we had a few radishes; some lettuce, June 14; beet greens, June 25, and butter beans on July 2. These were selling at that time for 20 cents. The tomatoes were a grand success. We planted them "on the slant," and very deep; after a time we let them go their own way and flop on the ground till very late in the fall. We cut some leaves off to let the sun ripen them. We had them all the late summer and fall, raw, fried, baked, stewed, etc., and later made chilli sauce, red and green, and other green and red relishes. We pickled beets galore, and surely have enjoyed them all winter, and still eating them. I must not forget to mention the vegetable marrows. We have a space between the garage and fence, about 6x14; we had leaves and fertilizer, rounded up with earth on top, and planted the seeds. Talk about growing! Well, if you see something of the melon variety climbing up the window of The Advertiser building some day this summer, just telephone me and I'll go down with my rake and turn homewards. We had about fifteen marrows. They were very interesting, and developed so quickly. One would have equally as good luck with Hubbard squash. Gardening is a tonic and an inspiration; for heartache it has no equal, as I know we have all had a share of that during the dreadful days of the war, so my advice is, if you only have one foot square of spare ground, plant something and watch it grow. MARTA.

Ans.—Many of our readers far and wide will, I know, read Marta's account with keen interest, and I do not doubt but that it will encourage some to follow Marta's cheery advice to grow something, if only on a square foot of soil. Many thanks to you, Marta, for your letter.

Chaff and Wheat.

Dear Miss Grey,—What did Y. F. ever say to start all this literary and historical tempest? How unfortunate that I missed her letter, or perhaps I was fortunate. What did she say, anyway?

The other evening I read an extremely clever little letter in the Mail-Box, informing one and all that "it is the nature of a Yankee to blow." Now, every nation has its bounders. What an ignorant person I should prove myself to be if I startled the Mail-Box readers by declaring that rudeness is a Canadian characteristic. There are rude Canadians; I have met so many. And there are boasting, bragging Canadians too—altogether impossible Canadians. Then there are dear, lovable Canadians. Our business is to separate the chaff from the wheat.

And, by the way, I am writing today to tell Shakespearean that "Joe's Boys," by Alcott, is a sequel to "Little Nun," and, of course, concerns all the characters in "Little Women."

Will someone who raises sweet peas kindly give me information as to the depth of trench and their method of planting? I presume they should soon be in the ground. BOSTONIAN.

Chicken Chat, Too.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have been an interested, though silent reader of your column for a long time, and might have remained so (I mean silent) till the end of time, had I not seen where Ell Ell Cee had sent "The Drunkard's Child" for Poor Scholar. I wonder if one of them will be kind enough to send me a copy, and I'll send an envelope and thanks in advance.

Don't you think, Miss Grey, we might have a little chicken chat along with our gardens. I have been using a Chatham incubator (100 egg) and a Buckeye (175 egg) for a couple of years, along with a coal brooder, and have had very good success. Last year I had 375 chicks, and have 100 so far this spring, that hatched March 31, and I just wish some interested Mail-Boxer would drop in and see them. They are White Orpingtons and Rhode Island Reds. Have 300 eggs under incubation now that will hatch April 24. Drop in and see 'em about that time. I just love raising chickens, and hope some of your readers will not be backward in coming forward with some of their ideas. Can anyone tell me why so many fully developed chicks die in the shell? Well, I must tear myself away.

HONEY B.

Ans.—You are surely a most industrious little "bee" to have so many chicks under your wing already. I too should like to see your "fluffies" on the 24th; they are such dear, cuddlesome things. Now, you know that chickens and gardens seldom do well together, but no doubt we can manage both in the Mail-Box if we really try, so I hope someone will answer your query.

Look For the Beauties.

Miss Chairman, ladies and gentlemen—am very much pleased to have the privilege of once again making my bow before a Mail-Box audience. Was almost afraid to mount the platform while the "Who Won the War." skirmish was in, but since the "White flag has been raised," guess I may venture in without any serious results.

Have been expecting to see "Original Lonely," take the stand and demonstrate to the ladies some special and becoming designs for Easter bonnets.

I wonder how many of the readers ever note the unsightly models illustrated beneath a "Diary of a Fashion Model," by Grace Thorncliffe, and worse still those by Mme. Francis. Believe me, those hollow-chested, stooped shouldered, long, skinny-limbed tight-skirted creatures are disgusting to look upon. And Madame you know, is so enraptured over those same chic and charming little street dresses that "mould your figure so beautifully?" Full-Fledged Farmerette you ought to be proud of those three dozen lengthy black ringlets. Don't use that wire hair brush too roughly in your endeavor to eliminate some of the kinks. What a queer set of people we are I declare, there are those who would love to have kinks in their hair.

Billie's Sweetheart, I am sorry about those "Collapsed Castles," but never mind Billie will soon come marching home, then there will be a substantial little castle erected, just for two. Write and let us know when the happy event takes place.

What a delightful feeling there is in the air since April has waved its magic wand. Earth's green carpet is becoming darker of hue and thicker of texture. May flowers are peeping out in their pretty pinkness and little birds flitting about with bits of material to make up their tiny, summer homes.

Oh! people let us not forget, even though in the midst of the harassing problems, of housecleaning, let us not forget to take notice of and be thankful for the beauties of God's world. There is a sermon for each of us in every blade of grass and flower of the field, and as Shakespeare says, even in the stones by the brookside.

ROSE OF SHARON.

What Should One Say?

Dear Miss Grey,—What should you say when a person whom you have just met exclaims, "I am glad I met you." Would it be proper to say, "I am likewise pleased to have met you?" I imagine it seems more than necessary.

(2) When a person says, "Excuse me," it is only natural to answer, "certainly," but what would be best to answer when one says, "I'm sorry?"

(3) Now for one more question. When a young man asks a girl to dance with him, would it be proper for her to merely say, "Thank you." What would you advise, Miss Grey?

TWINKLER.

Ans.—(1) Yes, it sounds too stilted and formal. You could simply say, "Thank you," or might add, if you wish, "It has been a pleasure to me, too." (2) You might reply: "Don't mention it," or "That is all right," or "Never mind." None of these phrases look very "elegant" in print, but if spoken in a cordial tone will probably reassure the one apologizing.

(3) Yes, then offer him your dance program, so he may sign his name for the one you are not engaged for.

Daily Bible Question Club

UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, APRIL 27, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.

The Holy Spirit Our Helper. John 16:7-15; Acts 2:1-18.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

8. Verses 12, 13. If, as Jesus states elsewhere, the Holy Spirit dwells in our bodies, why may we not fully trust Him to keep us from all sin, and to "guide us into all truth?"

9. To what extent may a Christian filled with the Holy Spirit know "things to come?"

10. Verses 14, 15. How, and for what reason, will the Holy Spirit "glorify" Jesus?

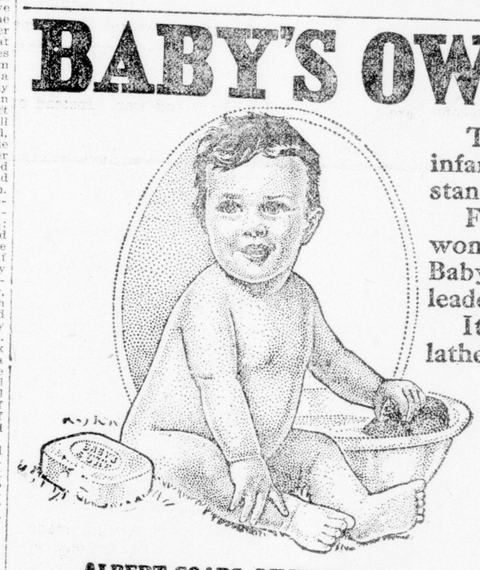

11. What are the possessions of Jesus, which the Holy Spirit will reveal unto the Christian?

Golden Text.—If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children; how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him? Luke 11:13.

WE NEED THE HOLY SPIRIT.

"No man can call Jesus the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost." He it is who convicts us of sin, and draws us to Christ for forgiveness and it is He who witnesses to our adoption into God's family, and, in a thousand ways after that, helps us do our duty, and cheers us on our heavenly road. But we have to become conscious that our bodies are the temples of the Holy Ghost before we can utilize His great gifts. Because of this lack of spiritual realization many Christians become cold; they are overcome in the fight against temptation, and become worldly. It is absolutely essential, if we would constantly walk and talk with God and be victors over the devil, that we recognize the Holy Spirit in us and around us, and from that recognition we shall always get undefeatable strength.

Big Leagues Opened 1919 Season Today

Special Ceremonies Marked Openings — Boston Red Sox Play Yankees—Grover Cleveland Alexander Pitches First Ball For Chicago Cubs.

New York, April 23.—The world champion Boston Red Sox opened the baseball season here today against the New York Americans. Special ceremonies marked the initial appearance of the teams in the pennant race of 1919. Officers of the army and navy attended, and there was a parade by a large delegation of sailors, from the fleet now in New York harbor. The teams took the field with stronger combinations than a year ago, this being particularly true of the local club. The New York club has signed several players of exceptional ability, by purchase or trade, while the world champions appear to be fully as strong as last season. During the training period which closed yesterday, the Yankees won a large majority of the games played against the Brooklyn Nationals, while the Boston Americans had the edge over the New York Nationals in the spring exhibition series. The batteries today probably will be for New York, Mogridge or Short and Hannah; for Boston, Mays or Jones and Walters.

GROVER ALEXANDER PITCHES FIRST BALL

Chicago, April 23.—Everything, except the weather, promised an auspicious opening of the National League season here today with the Chicago champions of 1918 and Pittsburg teams, the attraction. Manager Fred Mitchell of the Cubs, had hoped that Grover Cleveland Alexander, who returned from overseas service in the army less than a week ago, might pitch the first game, but owing to the fact that he had no opportunity to condition himself, it was decided that he should simply pitch the first ball, and then retire in favor of Jim Vaughn, Bill Killifer, Alexander's old teammate was at the receiving end for the Cubs. Manager Hugo Bezdek of Pittsburg expected to put either Wilbur Cooper or Erskine Mayer in the box.

The weather forecast for Chicago was "increasing cloudiness, followed by showers, and cooler."

PHILLIES AND GIANTS PLAY AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., April 23.—Philadelphia and New York open the National League baseball season here today. Jacobs was slated to occupy the mound for Philadelphia, with Oeschger in reserve; while Manager McGraw expected to send Schupp to the box, with Barnes as second choice.

USUAL CEREMONIES HELD AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, April 23.—The opening game of the National League baseball season was staged here today, with St. Louis opposing Cincinnati, attended by the usual ceremonies and enthusiasm. Fisher and Allen for Cincinnati and Goodwin and Clemens for St. Louis were the probable batteries.

CLEVELAND INDIANS PLAY AT DETROIT

Detroit, April 23.—Cleveland and Detroit opened the American League season here today. Coveleski was slated to pitch for Cleveland, and Ehmke or Boland for Detroit.

JOHNSON AND BERRY OPPOSING PITCHERS

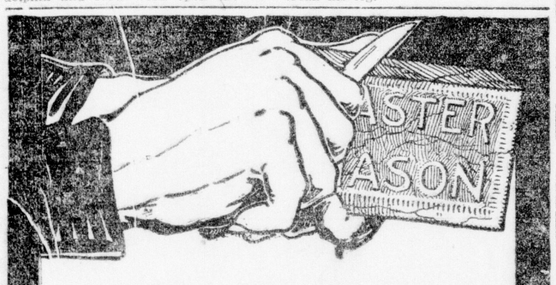

Washington, April 23.—Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics are all set for the opening game of the American League season here this afternoon, Walter Johnson and Scott Perry will be the opposing pitchers.

DAVENPORT TO TWIRL FOR ST. LOUIS BROWNS

St. Louis, April 23.—The American League baseball season opens here this afternoon, with St. Louis opposing Chicago. Davenport is scheduled to twirl for the locals and Williams for the visitors.

ONLY ONE FALL.

Halifax, April 23.—Charlie Allen, heavyweight wrestler, was only able to take one fall out of Royal MacKay, welterweight, in their bout last night. The fall was secured in 29 minutes and 40 seconds, with a toe hold, MacKay giving up as Allen's hold threatened to break his leg.

LONDON "Y" JUNIORS AND HAMILTON TEAM PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Visitors Have a Three-Point Lead on Locals—Winners in Finals.

Tonight the London "Y" juniors and the Hamilton Central Y. M. C. A. basketball team will meet in the second game of the semi-finals for the Junior Ontario Amateur Basketball Association championship at the local Y. M. C. A.

The visitors will start off with a three-point lead which they ran up in the first game of the series, played at Hamilton last Saturday evening.

This will be the last opportunity for the London basketball fans to see the junior team in action. If the locals win the series a sudden-death game will be played at Toronto with Kingston. For the past two years the London lads have won the championship of Ontario, holding down other teams away from home and always managing to win the series by running up a large score on the home floor.

It will also be the last chance for the local spectators to see a number of the juniors play, as they will be over the age limit next season.

The London kids are anxious to win the series this year and, if so, the O. A. B. A. cup becomes the property of the London team, being the third consecutive year.

The teams are evenly matched and, although the visitors are a little larger than the Londoners, A. T. Taylor, coach of the "Y" juniors, thinks they will be able to put up a good game against the visitors.

E. Escombe of Toronto, will referee the contest. He is well known in the basketball circles and is one of the best referees in Ontario.

A preliminary game between the Princess Pats and the Shamrocks will be played, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, sharp. Both teams are from the Western University Girls' Basketball League. The O. A. B. A. contest will begin at 9 o'clock. The teams will line-up as follows:

London.		Hamilton.
Cline	forward	Smith
Arscott	forward	Philpott
Henderson	centre	Wilshire
Ginsberg	guard	N. Philpott
McLean	guard	Back
Young	spare	Hammon

LONDON BALL PLAYERS TO REPORT TO KEENAN AT END OF THE WEEK

Training Season Will Begin at Tecumseh Park Monday—Maxwells Here May 10.

Baseball players for the London team in the Michigan-Ontario Baseball League will report to Manager Keenan here over the week-end. The players will be all ready to go on the field Monday and put in the first day of traing.

Transportation will be forwarded to the players, and it is expected that the entire team will be here not later than Sunday.

It was decided at a meeting of the Tecumseh Baseball Association held yesterday to see President Joe Jackson of the M. O. League regarding the claims put in by Bay City for several of the players signed by London.

At a meeting of the executive of the league to be held in Detroit today the matter will be brought up and discussed.

On Saturday, May 10, the Maxwell baseball team of Detroit will play an exhibition game here with the locals. The workmen are hustling at Tecumseh Park to get the diamond and stands ready for May 5, when exhibition games will begin.

ENGLISH SOCCER

LONDON, April 23.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—The following are the results of yesterday's football games in the Scottish section:

OPENING CYCLE MEET HELD BY FRIENDSHIP CLUB LAST EVENING

Nine Events Will Be Held at Queen's Park Track Next Tuesday Evening.

The first bicycle meet of the season was held at Queen's Park track last evening by the Friendship Cycling Club. Over 30 members of the club took part in the meet, and prospects are bright for a successful season.

Three races were included in the meet last evening, one for boys under 14 years of age, one for boys under 17 years, and one open race for Londoners.

C. C. Eggett came first in the race for boys under 14 years, and E. Fink was second. The distance was a half-mile, and the time 1 minute and 30 seconds.

H. Johnston won the race for boys under 17 years, and W. Hilton was second. This race was a mile and the time was 3 minutes and 20 seconds.

Eight minutes and forty seconds is good time for a three-mile race. This was the time set by H. Vick, who won out, and W. A. Godfrey, city champion, was close behind him.

The weekly races will be continued by the Friendship Club during the summer months, and the members are getting in training for the two big bicycle meets to be held in this city on Dominion Day.

A meeting will be held at 655 Dundas street Thursday evening, when arrangements will be made for the coming month.

A meet of nine races will be held next Tuesday evening at the Queen's Park track. The program will include three races for boys under 14 years, three for boys under 17 years, and three races open to all Londoners. Points will be given and special prizes will be awarded the winners.

BRANTFORD VETERANS RETIRE FROM O.A.B.A.

BRANTFORD, April 22.—At a meeting of the O. A. B. A. at the Y. M. C. A. here tonight the G. W. V. A. retired from the league, as other teams had secured the contracts of veterans almost before they got off the train. By the withdrawal of the G. W. V. A. the Paris team will also likely pull out, as only a four-team organization is desired.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE WILL BE ORGANIZED ON FRIDAY EVENING

Meeting Will Be Held at Briscoe's Sporting Store—Officers To Be Elected.

A meeting has been called for Friday evening at 8 o'clock at Brisco's sporting store, 258 Dundas street, by the Grand Trunk Athletic Association for the purpose of forming a manufacturers' or commercial amateur baseball league.

Letters will be sent out to the various firms in this city asking for representatives for this meeting. The G. T. R. Athletic Association is anxious that the league be organized and the sport resumed by the firms.

Four teams have already been lined up for the new league, and it is expected that six or eight teams will be entered Friday evening.

The officers will be elected at the meeting and committees chosen. A committee will be named to draft a schedule.

The season will start early this year, and with daylight saving in force two games will be played in one evening.

The games will likely be played at Queen's Park.

NEARLY ONE HUNDRED HORSES ARE TRAINING AT WOODBINE TRACK

Toronto, Ont., April 23.—Much activity is being shown at the Woodbine race track. Already there are nearly 100 horses quartered at the track and the King's platers are working daily. This morning Beardmore's good platers "Ladder of Light and Carp On," the former with plenty of weight up, breezed the fastest half mile of the season, going the distance in 50 3-5 seconds. It is reported from Guelph that E. B. Clancy's plater Master Fox has gone amiss, and Walker with his string from Maryland, including Sturdee formerly in the Seagram stable is expected to arrive here today.

BASEBALL LEAGUE TO BE FORMED IN KENT ESSEX AND LAMBTON

SARNIA, April 22.—Local sports are enthusiastic over the project much talked of in the matter of the formation and organization of an Essex, Kent and Lambton Baseball League, including the towns of Chatham, Sarnia, Tilbury, Petrolea, Wallaceburg and likely across the river to Port Huron. A meeting is likely to be called in a few days to consider the proposition further. Amateurs and semi-pros will find a place in this league.

DYMENT STABLE ENTERS 3 HORSES IN KING'S PLATE

TORONTO, April 22.—Trainer George Walker of the Brookdale stable, Barrie, who was in the city yesterday, has made arrangements to ship the Dyment horses to the Woodbine towards the end of the week. The stable has eight horses in training, made up of four 4-year-olds, one 3-year-old and three 2-year-olds. Three of the 4-year-olds are entered in the King's plate, also the 3-year-old Modock. May Bloom, one of the trio eligible, ran third in last year's classic, while Blackburn and Sadducee, the other two, were not far behind, the former finishing fourth.

The following is a list of the horses in training belonging to the Brookdale stable, which is owned by Messrs. Simon Dyment of Barrie and A. N. Dyment of Toronto:

PITCHER HUBBELL REPORTS TO LEAFS

George Gibson Secures New York Player.

TORONTO, April 22.—Pitcher Hubbell, whom the Toronto ball club secured from the New York Giants, reported to Manager Gibson today, although he was not expected to report until the 28th at Newark. Hubbell was with Newark for a part of last season, and had great success on the International League circuit. He is a big righthander and in good shape, as he has been in the South with the Giants on their spring training trip. Hubbell is expected to be the "ace" of the Toronto pitching staff this season.

GOVERNMENT EXTENDING LICENSE PRIVILEGES OF VENDORS UNTIL JUNE 1ST

When Control Passes to Hearst Administration Stores May Be Opened in Northern Ontario, Where Licenses Heretofore Have Been Withheld.

TORONTO, April 22.—Government control of the sale of liquor in Ontario will come into effect on June 1, and the Ontario license board is arranging for this. The license year ends April 30, but the Government is not in a position to take over the business by May 1, so advantage is to be taken of recent amendments to the Ontario temperance act to extend the licenses for a month.

There are seven vendors in the province. Just how many stores there will be under Government control may not be decided until it is learned what the Dominion Government will do in the matter of importation of liquor into Ontario. If the law is changed to permit of importation, fewer stores may be required to take care of the needs.

It is said stores may be opened in Northern Ontario, where the board has heretofore refused to grant licenses.

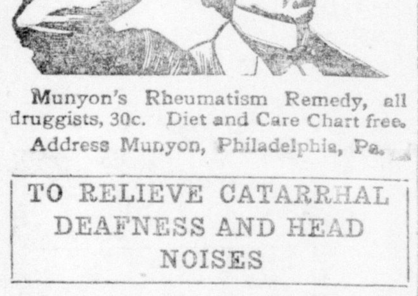

LAKE ERIE COUNTIES ARE AHEAD OF OTHERS SAYS CROP BULLETIN

TORONTO, April 22.—Seeding in Ontario has been largely prevented by the rains of the last week or two and the cool weather has been delaying growth, according to reports received by the department of agriculture. However, early sown spring wheat and oats are reported to be above ground in some of the Lake Erie counties.

Fall wheat so far is practically uninjured, except on badly drained land and it promises to be a record crop.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing, or have head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water, and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advt.

DETROIT CALLS FOR HELP TO MAN ITS MANY INDUSTRIES

Contrast to Few Months Ago, When Warning Was "Stay Away."

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, April 22.—Daily drains upon the local labor market here so depleted the supply of available help that Detroit board of commerce has sent out a call for all demobilized soldiers to come here if they want employment.

With General Motors advertising in larger eastern cities for labor to man their plants in Detroit, Flint and Pontiac, and other industries combing the state for common labor, the scarcity has become really acute. This is in sharp contrast to conditions here some weeks ago when notices were sent broadcast through the country, warning men to stay away from Detroit, as the labor market was overcrowded.

CANADIAN CONSOLIDATED RUBBER COMPANY, LIMITED, GENERAL ANNUAL MEETING

Charles B. Seger, Esq., President of U. S. Rubber Company, and Former President of Union Pacific Railway, Elected President—Sir Mortimer Davis and J. B. Waddell Added to Board—W. A. Eden and Victor N. Mitchell, K.C., D.C.L., Elected Vice-Presidents.

MONTREAL, April 22.—At the annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited, which was held at the head office of the company, Montreal, Tuesday, April 22, the following were elected directors for the ensuing year: Mr. Charles B. Seger, president of the United States Rubber Company; Sir Mortimer B. Davis, president of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited; Colonel Samuel P. Colt, chairman of the United States Rubber Company; Victor E. Mitchell, K.C., D.C.L.; E. W. Nesbitt, M.P.; W. A. Eden, R. E. Jamieson, J. B. Waddell, R. C. Colt, A. D. Thornton, H. Wellein and Messrs. Homer E. Sawyer, J. N. Gunn, E. H. Williams and Ernest Hopkinson, vice-presidents of the United States Rubber Company.

A very satisfactory report and statement of the company's operations for the year 1918 was presented. The total sales amounted to $18,785,640.28, the largest in history of the company, being over 15 per cent in excess of the sales for 1917. This large volume of business was made up to domestic and export sals, only $793,403.28 being attributable to war orders. Net profits for the year were $1,604,851.11. The assets of the company totalled $25,305,342.76, including liquid assets of $11,297,468.74. Liabilities are shown at $12,244,721.07, of which $9,500,000 represents bonded indebtedness, and $2,744,721.07 current liabilities. Reserves are shown at $1,554,325.89, outstanding capital stock at $5,805,500, and supplies at $5,700,795.80.

The company invested during the year the sum of $467,750,000 in Victory bonds, and the employees also subscribed for Victory bonds to the extent of $447,200, which the company is financing for them for a period of ten months. Appropriate reference was made to the death of the late Mr. Andrew A. Allen, one of the company's directors. The report and statement were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Reider announced his withdrawal from the presidency and board of the company, as he had accepted an important position with Ames, Holden, McCreedy, Limited, and a resolution expressing appreciation of the services which he had rendered to the company was passed.

At a meeting of the board held immediately after the adjournment of the annual meeting, Mr. Charles B. Seger was elected president, and Mr. W. A. Eden and Mr. Victor E. Mitchell, K.C., vice-presidents. Mr. Walter Dinmore was appointed secretary; Mr. H. Nellis, assistant secretary; Mr. Hugo Wellin, treasurer, and Mr. J. P. D. Daigneau, assistant treasurer.

INGERSOLL YOUTHS DRAW HEAVY FINES

INGERSOLL, April 22.—A fine of $50 and costs each was today imposed by Magistrate Paterson on two local men, Robert McCullough and Ernest Mason, charged with having been drunk and connected with the assault that was made upon Albert Clark near his grocery store, on Canterbury street, on Thursday night last.

Clark was badly beaten and the costs will also include the doctor's bill. Warrants have been issued for two other young men, P. English and Charles Barrow, who left town immediately after the attack was made upon Clark. According to the evidence, Mason, who is a returned soldier, nineteen years of age, tried to stop the row.

He, however, was found guilty on a charge of being drunk in a public place. Clark in his evidence connected the other three with the assault made upon him. The charge was not pressed against Mason, and in the case of McCullough was left standing, pending developments so far as the two who escaped are concerned.

Recent Developments in India Are Serious.

RELIGIOUS RISING FEARED

Mohammedans of Near and Far May Unite With Hindus.

BY ARTHUR DRAPER.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
(Copyright, 1919, New York Tribune.)

LONDON, April 22.—Reports from Indian show that conditions there are improving, but the causes of unrest in the near and far east are so profoundly important that it is worth while to examine them more thoroughly than they can be studied through brief official communiques. It is no exaggeration to state that the British are alarmed at developments in India.

What the British fear is a religious uprising, in which the Mohammedans of the near and far east may unite with the Hindus. The recent news has startled them, because for the last five years they have heard little from India beyond her loyalty, her generosity and her industrial and commercial prosperity.

Fear of Revolution.

Indian authorities say the economic situation is desperately bad. They believe the Rowlatt act may occasion revolt, although it will not be the cause. This law, which provides for drastic punishment of revolutionary crime and propaganda, was drawn after an investigation lasting six months of the crimes of revolutionary terrorists during the last twenty years.

The Rowlatt bills, which were opposed unanimously by the Indians, served to set aflame the smouldering discontent. The British Liberals advise its immediate withdrawal, and introduction of constitutional reforms which will give the provincial governments the feeling that they really govern.

Mohammedans Watching.

There are 70,000,000 Mohammedans in northwestern India, who are watching closely the developments of the peace conference, in so far as they affect Turkey, Syria and Mesopotamia. The Allies are agreed that there is no place in Europe for the Turk, who murdered Armenians, committed unspeakable crimes against Christians and incited the Indian Mohammedans to unrest.

But the Mohammedans are interested, not in the political future of Turkey, but in the fate of the Khalif of Islam. With Mesopotamia going to Britain, and with Syria and Palestine under the mandates of Christian nations, the Mohammedans will seethe with bitterness. The Hindus, actuated by other motives, have showed a readiness to unite with the Mohammedans. This is the chief cause of British alarm.

Disaffection in India is never wholly political nor wholly religious. But this time there is a danger that the religious factor will dominate. The Islamic world is in a state of upheaval.

CANADIAN FLOUR CAN BE SENT TO SCANDINAVIANS

Permits to Ship Will Be Granted by Trade Commission.

OTTAWA, April 22.—A cablegram from the Canadian mission in London conveys the information that the embargo list of imports into Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Holland has been greatly reduced. Flour permits for these countries will now be granted immediately on application to the Canadian trade commission if the application is supported by the number of the import guarantee. This is a considerable simplification of procedure.

The commission is also informed that the "black list" for Mexico, Haiti, San Domingo, Cuba and all Central and South American countries has been reduced by the restoration of 2,500 names to the normal trading list. The revised statutory list is held at Ottawa, and any question of doubt concerning a transaction with any firm may be referred there.

AUSTRALIA ALLOWS SOLDIERS TO PAY FOR HOMES IN RENT

Payments Can Extend Over a Period of Thirty-Seven Years.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Monday, April 21.—Under the provisions of the war service act, which is now in force, members of the Australian land and sea forces and their dependents will receive assistance to a maximum of $3,500 from the Government toward obtaining their own homes.

The act provides that soldiers, sailors and nurses who served abroad, widows and unmarried dependents of soldiers and sailors, and the mothers of soldiers and sailors, whose husbands have been incapacitated, may acquire dwellings and land from the state on a rent-purchase system at cost, plus five per cent. The payments may be made weekly or monthly, and can extend over a period from twenty to thirty-seven years.

The act also provides for money advances on mortgages, the erection of houses on lands of applicants and the taking over of existing mortgages.

HAASE CAN SEE HIS COUNTRY DISLIKED BY WHOLE WORLD

Even Neutral Countries Have No Love For Germany.

BERLIN, April 22.—Hugo Haase, former secretary of foreign affairs, and now leader of the Socialist minority, in an article in the Freiheit on Germany's relations with other peoples, does not share the general pessimism prevalent with regard to the coming peace negotiations. Haase reminds his readers that Germany is loved nowhere in the world, not even by neutral countries, and that nowhere is there any belief in a real change of Germany's attitude.

EASTER FINDS GERMANY BACK TO SANE LIFE

Nation Returns To Pre-War Recreation and Pursuits.

BAVARIA ONLY EXCEPTION

And Communists There Are No More a Serious Factor to Reckon With.

BERLIN, Sunday, April 20.—The Easter holidays apparently brought to most of Germany what countless appeals to patriotism and warnings against strikes have failed to accomplish—comparative quiet and order.

The nation spent its first real holiday since the revolution in November in peaceful pre-war occupations and recreations.

There were no reports of any disturbances in any district except in Bavaria.

SOVIET HAS COLLAPSED.

LONDON, April 22.—The short-lived Soviet Government at Munich collapsed Saturday night, says a Munich dispatch to the Daily Mail. The garrison, which was to form the nucleus of the red army, rejected the self-appointed dictators who had been trying to run the republic, and Sunday morning the Hoffmann Government resumed judicial control of the capital by proclaiming martial law.

LINDAU EASILY TAKEN.

BERNE, April 22.—The communists at Lindau, south Bavaria, who were overthrown Friday did not offer serious resistance to the besieging Bavarian Government and Wurttemberg troops, according to reports received here. Under the protection of troops, the citizens of Lindau held an election on Saturday and voted by a great majority to reject the communist system of Government.

A special train which was coming with red guards from Munich to the assistance of the Lindau communists was stopped near Batzenried and the red guards made prisoner. It is said that the Bavarian communists' war minister, Reichardt, with his staff, was surprised and arrested by Bavarian Government troops.

GALES CAUSING BAD FIRES IN SASKATCHEWAN

Great Damage Result of Prairie Fires in Various Sections.

WIND NOW EASING DOWN

Heavy Loss in Grain and Coal Is Reported Near St. Boniface, Manitoba.

PRINCE ALBERT, April 22.—Serious fires are raging in northern Saskatchewan as a result of gales which have been blowing since Sunday. Three small houses in the east end of Prince Albert were burned yesterday, and a great deal of damage is reported as the result of prairie fires at Davis, Winton and other places in this part of the province. The wind has died down somewhat today, and the prospects are that the gale is over.

STOCK OF GRAIN IS BURNED.

WINNIPEG, April 22.—Between thirty and forty cars of grain and coal were completely destroyed by fire on the C. N. R. track east of St. Boniface last night.

The estimated total value of the grain destroyed amounted to nearly $105,000. A very small percentage can be salvaged.

CONNAUGHT TUNNEL BLOCKED.

REVELSTOKE, April 22.—All trains east and west are tied up following an outbreak of fire in the Connaught tunnel, east of here. The fire broke out yesterday in the wooden casings supporting the cement lining which is being put in the tunnel. How the fire originated is unknown. It is understood that much of the cement lining will have to be replaced, owing to the damage done by the fire.

One fatality occurred, when a watchman in the tunnel, P. Auguston, was suffocated.

CARRIAGE PLANT DESTROYED.

WINNIPEG, April 22.—Fire destroyed today the plant of the Brent Carriage Manufacturing Company. The loss is estimated at $25,000, fully covered by insurance.

THIRD AND FOURTH BATTALIONS DUE AT TORONTO TONIGHT

Returning Men Indulge in Playful Pranks on the Journey Westward.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

MONTREAL, April 22.—The first of the four trains carrying the 3rd and 4th Battalions and 3rd Tunneling Company is not expected here until about 2 o'clock tomorrow morning. The trains left Halifax yesterday at 1:15, 1:45, 3:10 and 5 p.m., and should arrive here at hourly intervals. They will probably be held somewhere between here and Toronto, so that the four will arrive in Toronto together, which should be between 6 and 8 o'clock tomorrow evening.

The special train, with 250 officers and 414 other ranks, from the Adriatic, left Turcott yard for Toronto shortly after 12:30 noon. The draft consists of field survey and cyclist companies and other details. Owing to a damaged car the train stopped in Turcott yard for an hour, during which time the men occupied their time by decorating the coaches with various inscriptions done in chalk. "Who wants to kiss the heroes?" was one of the phrases. Some of the men displayed a considerable French vocabulary learned while in France.

WINNIPEG, April 22.—At a special meeting this afternoon the city council authorized the city treasurer in New York to purchase $550,000 of four per cent 1940 City of Winnipeg stock issued in 1907-1909, at the price of $82.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

On today's shipment of live hogs, $21 per cwt. was paid for selects. There are very few dressed hogs coming into the market owing to the majority of the farmers having started seeding. Two loads of hay were sold on the market this morning. One load sold for $23 per ton, and the other for $24 per ton. Oats took another jump in price today, and are now quoted at $2.10 to $2.15 per cwt. The egg market looks a little weaker. The butter market remains firm.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, April 23.—Oats opened ⅞c higher for May at 75⅝c, and ¾c higher for July at 77⅛c.

Barley opened 1⅜c higher for May at $1 06½.

Flax opened 4c higher for May at $3 86, and 3¼c higher for July at $1 78½.

Chicago, April 23.—Active buying and sharply higher prices in the corn market today resulted from wet weather and from new top record quotations on hogs. European political uncertainties tended also to strengthen bullish sentiment regarding corn. Besides, country offerings were only moderate. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼c to 2½c higher, with July at $1 58½@1 59¾, and September at $1 55@1 56½, were followed by material further gains.

Oats ascenuded with corn. After opening ⅛c to 1c up, the market continued to harden.

LIVE STOCK.

Toronto, April 23.—Hogs continue to advance in price, and at the Union stockyards this morning fed and watered stock reached the high level of $22. The stock was firm at this price, with no prospect of any immediate recession. Cattle active, with prices steady to firm.

WALL STREET.

New York, April 23—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Rails and equipments divided the honors at the strong opening of today's stock market, supplementing yesterday's gains by substantial fractions to 2 points. Secondary issues were again conspicuous, notably Texas and Pacific, Missouri, Kansas and Texas common and preferred. United States Steel's initial sale of 5,000 shares at par represented a slight setback, which soon extended to a full point. The motor division and related specialties were in demand, Ajax Rubber rising 6½ points. Shippings, leathers and food and chemical shares were firm to strong, but oils were irregular.

1:30 p.m.—Trading slackened at midday, the market going through a process of assimilation, but further changes were mainly upward. United States Steel forged steadily ahead, Industrial Alcohol jumped 6 points, shippings and oils were substantially higher and metal and food shares were 2 to 8 points over yesterday's close.

Expects Government To Order Exclusion of Hutterites Sect

Ultimatum of the Winnipeg Veterans Expires Saturday Night.

WINNIPEG, April 22.—The Winnipeg Great War Veterans' ultimatum to the Government, demanding a royal commission to investigate the Hutterites' situation, expires Saturday night, according to a letter received this morning by Secretary F. W. Law from C. G. MacNeil, secretary of the Dominion executive.

Mr. MacNeil is of the opinion that "permanent absolute exclusion" will be ordered before that time, according to his letter.

Carrying out the orders of the Dominion executive, the secretary has secured the indorsation of the Winnipeg demand from every provincial command in Canada.

Youths Confess to Murder of Druggist at Kalamazoo, Mich.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 22.—Two youths, George E. Bird, 15 years of age, and Arthur W. Sterling, 20, confessed today, according to the police, to the murder of W. W. Mattison, leading druggist of this city, in his store late last Friday night. Mattison's body, with a score of bruises and a handkerchief soaked in chloroform on his face, was found in front of his cash register, which had been rifled.

The severest penalty provided in the Michigan criminal statutes, solitary confinement for life, was imposed in circuit court this afternoon upon the two youths, when they pleaded guilty to a charge of murdering Mattison.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY THE TEMISKAMING AND NORTHERN ONTARIO RAILWAY.

BALDWIN MINE

In order to accommodate the passengers for the Baldwin Gold Mine, the T. & N. O. Railway have directed the Cobalt Specials Nos. 46 and 47 to stop at the mine, both northbound and southbound.

The railway line passes through the property at a point of 65 miles north of Cobalt and 2½ miles north of Swastika. The Baldwin is at the south-western end of the gold belt. To serve the rest of the belt a branch is being built from Swastika during the coming summer.

Overhead Charges and Pulleys

To reduce overhead expenses without impairing efficiency is the eternal problem of all employers and factory men.

Yet in many factories a most obvious waste of power is being ignored.

We refer to places where metal pulleys should be replaced by Dodge Wood-Split Pulleys. The money value of the power wasted by the excessive weight friction and belt slip of the metal pulley is calculated at an annual average of $8.00 for each pulley.

Dodge Wood-Split Puleys prevent this waste of power.

This is a bold assertion, but we do not make it lightly.

Call up our stocker and ask him to demonstrate our pulleys to you.

IN MEMORIAM.

BOWRON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Betsy Bowron, who died one year ago today, April 23
We little thought when you were here,
Though in a broken home,
That you would be taken away so soon,
And we be left alone.

But in a quiet graveyard,
You both lay side by side,
And we are here a little while
To await the eventide.
b Rosa and Milton.

BOWRON—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Bessie Bowron, who departed this life one year ago today, April 23, 1918:
Gone, dear mother, gone forever;
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
b —Her Daughter Annie.

GROSHOW—In loving memory of Sergt. William I. (Billy) Groshow, who made the supreme sacrifice at the second battle of Ypres, April, 1915.
*b —Mother and Brothers.

CARD OF THANKS.

FEDERAL SUPERVISION OF CHILD LABOR IN U. S. RE-ESTABLISHED

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Federal supervision of child labor, abolished when the supreme court last year declared unconstitutional the existing child labor law, was re-established today under regulations issued by the internal revenue bureau, putting into effect the new revenue acts tax on child labor products.

The regulations interpret various publications of the law which levys a tax of ten per cent on net profits of any concern employing child labor under the specified ages. After April 25 when the new act becomes fully effective, the tax will be assessed on the net profits of any mine or quarry in which children under 16 years old are employed, or any mill, cannery or workshop or factory in which children under 14 years are employed at any time of the year.

LATEST SONGS ARE FEATURED ON BILL SHOWING AT GRAND

Constance Talmadge Is Appearing in Her Latest Film Story on Same Bill.

On the vaudeville program at the Grand again today the headline attraction will be Four Jacks and a Queen. A young lady and four gentlemen comprise this excellent quintet of entertainers, who offer under the title of "A Gambol of Class and Harmony," a pleasing repertoire of songs.

Another big feature on the bill will be Claire Hansen and the Village Four, who will present "Fifteen Minutes of Mirth and Melody," an offering consisting of harmony, singing, dancing and comedy.

Roberts, Pearl and Straw are a trio of entertainers who offer "Half a Ton of Fun," an act that will amuse and entertain.

Singing of a most exceptional character dominates the offering presented by Frank Mason and "Doc" Austin, who are also a splendid feature on this bill. Their "Frolic of Comedy and Song" is an act that any audience will appreciate and enjoy to the limit.

"Just Polly Prim," a character-singing comedienne, concludes this splendid list of attractions with a cleverly-selected repertoire of songs and recitations.

William Faversham and Maxine Elliott at the Grand Monday Evening Next.

The greatest co-star organization seen on the local stage in many years will appear when William Faversham and Maxine Elliott present R. C. Carton's smart comedy of "Lord and Lady Algy" at the Grand Monday evening only at 8:15.

Faversham will play his original role of Lord Algy, in which he achieved one of his greatest successes. Maxine Elliott returns to the stage in this production, after an absence of seven years, to play the role of Lady Algy. Supporting these stars is a brilliant company, including Frederick Lloyd, Maud Hosford, Mary Compton, Harvey Hays, Robert Ayrton, Philip Leigh, Percy Waram, Erville Alderson, Emily Fitzroy, Herbert Belmore, Franklyn Fox, Frederick Raymond, H. Jess Smith and Eleanor Bennedict.

"Lord and Lady Algy" tells of the marital differences between Lord Algernon Chetland and his wife, both of whom follow the races, but with varying success and opinions. Algy backs the wrong horse; his wife is more fortunate. Circumstances are about to bring Algy and his wife together again, when Algy's brother Quarmby begins a flirtation with Mrs. Tudway, into which Algy is unwillingly and unwittingly drawn. Lady Algy discovers the true status of the case in time to straighten out matters to the satisfaction of all concerned in a very cleverly-contrived scene in the last act.

"The Better 'Ole," at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday Evenings and Wednesday Matinee.

Mr. and Mrs. Coburn will present the original Boston company at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 8:15, and Wednesday matinee at 2:30 in the big London and New York success, "The Better 'Ole," by Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, the English comic cartoonist, and Capt. Arthur Eliot. The play has been running for nearly sixteen months at the Oxford Theatre in London, a success that promises to be duplicated in New York, where Mr. and Mrs. Coburn are presenting it to crowded houses nightly at the Cort Theatre.

At the Grand today in addition to fine vaudeville acts.

"The Gun-Runners," at the Unique Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday.

In the little town of Snakehead, close to the Mexican border, one of the few untamed western towns, Mal McGowan, owner of the Open House Lance Hall, and the power supreme, makes arrangements with his right-hand man, "Mex" Joe, to run some guns across the border. All plans are made, the guns are cached at Hell Hole, but more men are needed.

Second only to his love of gold, McGowan loves his daughter Tina, and when Joe tries to make love to her he sternly and fiercely commands him to keep away from her. Joe is very angry and determines to get even.

The "Bum," wandering through the country, arrives at Snakehead and while drinking in the saloon becomes very friendly with "Mex" Joe. Joe finally hires the "Bum" to join them in the gun-running. Neal Hart, one of the finest of western film actors, is playing the leading part.

DOROTHY GISH IN "PEPPY POLLY" AT MAJESTIC TODAY

James Montgomery Flagg Comedy on Same Bill Today and Thursday.

One of the most disconcerting situations ever put into a photoplay occurs in Dorothy Gish's latest Paramount picture "Peppy Polly" when Polly (played by Miss Gish), after planning with the judge of the juvenile court to sentence her to three months in a reformatory, so she may obtain evidence of graft in the institution, comes into court and finds the wrong judge on the bench.

The Melville reformatory had needed investigation for years, but every committee sent there had returned with a report that things were all right. Polly and the judge had decided to make a real investigation from the inside. Accordingly she got herself arrested for stealing and was sentenced for three months. But the judge was taken with a stroke of paralysis the night before and had left no instructions. The judge who took his place sent her to the reformatory for a period of three years.

What followed is splendidly pictured in "Peppy Polly," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre today and Thursday.

James Montgomery Flagg Comedy at the Majestic Today and Thursday.

When a man pays a crook $25,000 for a chance to outdo Douglas Fairbanks in a motion picture, he may safely be called one of those fools who is born every minute. This is the central idea of James Montgomery Flagg's new Paramount comedy, "One Every Minute," which will be shown with Olin Howland and Florence Dixon in the leading roles at the Majestic Theatre today and Thursday.

EVELYN NESBIT IN "I WANT TO FORGET" AT THE PATRICIA

Also Charlie Chaplin in "The Bank," One of His Funniest Films.

Evelyn Nesbit has shown what real art can do for the motion picture stage. In her newest play, "I Want to Forget," now showing at the Patricia, a most remarkable bit of acting, is revealed. Miss Nesbit portrays the part of Varda Deering, who first appears as a flippant, radiant butterfly, whose sole ambition is to win favors from men.

Later she no longer is a butterfly, but a woman whom war has turned into an earnest worker. Miss Nesbit held everyone spellbound as she played the part of Varda, the woman secret service agent.

There are powerful moments in this drama of love and war. At one time the lives of thousands of soldiers on troopships are at stake.

On another occasion the heroic woman detective is entrapped in an iron vault, where there is scarcely room to breathe.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Bank" appears on the same program.

Dorothy Gish, the vivacious little screen star appearing at the Majestic Theatre today and Thursday in her latest photoplay "Peppy Polly," a film story exactly suited to her inimitable style of acting. On the same bill will be shown a James Montgomery Flagg comedy, "One Every Minute," and an excellent vaudeville act.

SEASON'S FINALE OF MUSIC CLUB WAS OF UNIQUE NATURE

Early Victorian Period Recital Attracted Many.

An "Early Victorian" period concert proved a charming finale last evening for a most successful season of the Woman's Music Club, attracting scores of visitors to the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, as well as a large representation of the club membership.

It is many a day since London has witnessed a costume recital which has so admirably combined the picturesque with the genuinely artistic from a musical standpoint.

The scene upon which the curtain was raised was that of an early Victorian drawing-room, awaiting a chamber music rehearsal. Dozens of candles in brass stands and in shining brass candelabras shed a soft glow, enhancing the beauty of quaint old rag rugs, polished walnut piano, round table, old chairs, rare old engravings, and daguerreotypes, and, a final touch of realism, a spinning wheel, complete, even to the flax on the distaff. Such was the consistency in detail that, instead of the modern music racks, old wooden stands of the 1840-60 period held the music for violinist and 'cellist.

Costumes Fascinating.

The crinoline was the distinctive feature of the costumes worn by the fair artistes, Miss Anna Cochrill and Miss Marjorie Skinner, soloists; Miss Florence Eggleston, violinist; Mrs. O. G. Taylor and Miss Eula B. Kennedy, pianists. So fascinating were the changes rung upon the Victorian period gowns, so eminently becoming were the coiffures, with or without side curls, that many an envious sigh went up from the audience for the picturesqueness of the old styles.

Most scrupulous care had been taken by Clarence E. Gilmour, pianist, and Rev. G. O. Warner, 'cellist, to maintain the harmony of the picture. With the tight grey trousers of the 1845 beau, the high stocks, the silk "stovepipes" of a Pickwickian vintage, and the Prince Albert sideburns was associated the grand manner which carried out the recital idea in an ideal manner.

In the early Victorian environment a minuet danced by two clever and graceful pupils of Mrs. Alice Henderson, Teresa Cooper and Kenneth Dunlevy, posessed an added charm, the accompanist, Miss Kennedy, maintaining the key of the episode in her appearance, stately curtesy and her playing.

Striking Effect.

Miss Anna Cochrill, to whose costume was added the finishing touch of a bewitching bonnet and miniature ivory fan, delighted by her singing of "A Morning Hymn" (Henscheid), admirably suited to her clean, strong and melodious soprano voice. Following this, a most sympathetic interpretation was given of "The Last Rose of Summer."

Miss Florence Eggleston chose as her violin offering the Meditation from "Thais" (Massenet), played with tonal beauty and artistic finish.

Mrs. Oliver G. Taylor, pianist, made her first appearance before the Music Club, revealing technical authority, fine singing tone and exceptional style and unusual musical appreciation "Running" from "On the Road" (Godard), was given first a graceful presentation, after which she gave a colorful interpretation of Paladin from the "Masquerade," by Laurent.

Always a favorite with London music lovers, Miss Eula Kennedy was accorded a most enthusiastic reception when she swept a graceful bow before taking her place at the piano to evoke at will chords of masculine power or passages of a fairy-like delicacy. Heard last evening in the march from "Tannhauser" (Wagner), an opera presented, by the way, for the first time in 1845, she delighted as always by the musicianly quality of her playing.

Opened With Instrumental Trio.

Apart from its musical merit, the instrumental trio, which opened the program and in which Miss Eggleston, violinist; Clarence E. Gilmour, pianist, and Rev. G. O. Warner, cellist, took part, will long be remembered for its value as a stage picture.

The choice of numbers was particularly happy. "Traumerei" and "Warum," by Schumann, and Raff's "Cavatina," typical of an elegant, polite and much more leisurely age than the present.

The closing tableau was especially effective. When the curtain was raised Mrs. Oliver G. Taylor was alone on the stage examining books lying on the table. She moved to the piano, and soon there came from it rippling, tinkling melody, the old "Monastery Bells." What made the tinkle—broken strings or trembling candles? Sheets of music beneath the strings to give the effect of an old-time square piano.

Just as she finished, the daintiest of Miss Dolly Varden's, lace paper bouquet and all, glided in, none other than Miss Marjorie Skinner.

The "Monastery Bells," modulated into "Home, Sweet Home," and the sweet and appealing voice of Miss Skinner, floated out in the old song, interpreted with exquisite sympathy.

As she sang, the other members of the artist family one by one gathered noiselessly from entrances to right and left, enriching the picture without detracting from the interest in the singer and her song.

Then the early Victorian group sang "God Save the King" to the violin accompaniment of Miss Eggleston and piano accompaniment of Mr. Gilmour. After that the curtain was rung down upon the revival for just one night of the scenes, art, manners and dress of the middle of the nineteenth century.

An Important Role.

In the role of accompanist, Mr. Gilmour had a most important part in making the evening a success.

Owing to the fact that the program read "no encores," the recital was confined to less than an hour and a half.

"The Early Victorias" was arranged by Mrs. C. H. Ivey, junior and Miss Isabel C. Armstrong.

During the evening the president, Mrs. T. G. Dochstader, announced the annual business meeting of the club to be held on Thursday, May 8th, urging all members to attend. She also announced the concert to be given by Boris Hambourg, cellist, assisted by brilliant artists on the evening of May 25th.

Rev. G. O. Warner called attention to the fact that the Presbyterian Young People's Dramatic Club will repeat the play "It Pays To Advertise," in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium this evening, said to be the cleverest amateur production that has been witnessed in the city.

Principal F. L. Willgoose of the London Conservatory of Music announced the Percy Grainger recital for Friday evening.

WOODWORKERS PROTEST AGAINST DAYLIGHT SAVING AND HIGH FARES

A unanimous vote protesting against the proposed increase in the London street railway fares and also daylight saving was passed at a meeting of the Local Union No. 1946, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, in St. George's Hall last night. It was reported that Organizer J. F. Marsh of Niagara Falls will be in the city shortly to follow up the work that the organization has been doing. At the next meeting on Tuesday, April 28, it is expected that all the employees of two woodworking plants in this city will attend, with the intention of joining in with the union. These special meetings will be held every Tuesday till May 26, which is the end of the organization campaign. At last night's meeting ten new members were initiated, and the applications of fifteen more received.

REV. H. B. ASHBY IS GIVEN A PURSE OF $75 AND ADDRESS

Excellent Reports at Church of Redeemer Vestry Meeting.

Rev. H. B. Ashby at the vestry meeting of the Church of the Redeemer last night was presented with a purse of $75 by John Parry on behalf of the church, and an address was read by P. G. Southen. Rev. Ashby has been connected with the Church of the Redeemer for six years, and a great loss was sustained when he resigned to take up the pastorate of St. Matthew's Church. Rev. John Morris of Shelbourne, Ont., will take over the rectorship of the Church of the Redeemer on the first Sunday in May. An excellent financial report was given, showing that all branches of the church had a surplus after the year's work. The total amount received was $945.10, the balance on hand is $32.63.

The Women's Guild total received was $522.81; balance, $29.68. The Sunday school report shows total receipts, $160.86; balance, $47.38. Altar Guild, receipts, $179.24, and $25.22 balance.

The following church members were appointed to look after the work for the ensuing year: Vestry clerk, John Parry; lay delegate to synod, William Vaughan; substitute, J. C. Wade; rector's warden, P. G. Southen; sidesmen and ushers, John Parry, A. Wallace, J. C. Wade, R. Wilson, G. J. Brett, W. Brett, F. Thompson, C. Kennedy, M. Ashman, H. Mason, R. Geoghegan, C. Partridge and J. W. Worrall.

FRED BOATH CHOSEN AS HEAD OF FEDERAL LABORERS' UNION

Two Hundred Men Attended Meeting Last Evening.

At an enthusiastic meeting held last night in the trades and labor council rooms on Richmond street, the organization of the Federal Laborers' Union was completed, and the following officers were elected: President, Fred Boath; vice-president, George Potter; recording secretary, W. Edlington; financial secretary, J. F. Thomson; treasurer, Matthew Blackledge; guide, Frank Nichols; guardian, Thomas Stundin; trustees, Arthur Mould, A. O'Rourke and Jas. Topping. About 150 members have already joined the organization, and it is expected that this number will be increased to 200 shortly.

More than 200 attended the meeting which was held preliminary to the initiation. Organizer J. A. Flett of the American Federation of Labor of Hamilton addressed the meeting, outlining the advantages of thorough organization. He stated that some people had the idea that the primary idea of labor organizations was to prepare for strikes. The labor men do not want strikes, and they are the last resort used to bring some arragant employer to time, according to the speaker. "Like our friends the cigarmakers had to do to fight the Tuckett Company," said he. "When old man Tuckett was alive he used to fraternize with the men, because he had once been one of them. Then came others who knew not Joseph." Men like the minister of militia, General S. C. Mewburn and other lawyers are going to run the company on modern lines. To hell with the unions, say they. I ask you how much tobacco would the company sell if the workingmen of the country would protect each other in their purchases."

Mr. Flett emphasized the aims of the organization relating to fraternity and brotherhood. He warned the members to give the "blatant noisy gink who has a pet theory" a wide berth. He assured his hearers that there would be no reduction in wages without strong resistance on the part of the Federation of Labor. Referring to the Osler theory that men should be chloroformed after reaching the age of 45, the speaker stated that the workers were generally relegated to the industrial scrap pile at this age. In this connection he stated that the efficiency fiend and the stop-watch chap needed watching.

E. Odell, international organizer of the boot and shoe operatives, and H. Wheatcroft, secretary of the local cigarmakers, also addressed the meeting.

RECTOR OF ST. LUKE'S, BROUGHDALE, ANNOUNCES THAT HE WILL RETIRE

Ven. Archdeacon J. B. Richardson, rector of St. John's Church, London Township, in mentioning his coming retirement at the annual Easter meeting of that organization on Monday evening, spoke highly of the loyalty and faithfulness of his people during his twenty years as pastor of the church. He would always look back with pleasure upon his experiences in connection with the church. It was his prediction that a bright future was in store for the church. Those present highly commended the work of the pastor, citing instances of his faithful efforts.

Following are the officers chosen for the ensuing year: William Graham, lay representative to the synod, with J. G. Docker as substitue; rector's warden, E. B. Powell; people's warden, Charles F. Lecky; Sunday school secretary, George Docker; sidesmen, T. McComb, Joseph Docker, Leigh Farncomb and F. B. Hodgins.

In the report of the church warden, which was presented by C. E. Lecky, there was shown to be a large balance on hand, with all debts paid. Reports from the Sunday school, St. John's Guild, the Women's Auxiliary and the rector, all showed that good financial results were being obtained. A report regarding the cemetery showed that those in charge had been doing good work. Later it was decided to make some improvements to the cemetery.

At the close of the meeting there was a resolution that the meeting, as a whole, thank God for His goodness in restoring peace to the world. It was passed by a unanimous standing vote.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU HAS 121 FARM JOBS; PRACTICALLY NO CALL

Of the 127 positions which the Ontario Government Employment Bureau has been unable to fill, 121 are on the farms. Few men applying are willing to do this class of work. Men willing to do any class of work are easily placed, but those wanting special classes often have to wait for some time before there is a place vacant. Returned soldiers are given the preference. Of the 25 returned men who applied last week, 20 obtained jobs. Summer, it is expected, will bring a greater demand for help, although the situation at present is described as fair.

CORP. HAROLD ISAACS HAS DIED IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Isaacs, 920 Dundas street, were notified last night that their son, Corp. Harold Isaacs, had died in England. He had been suffering from gastritis. His sister, a nurse-in-training at the time of the "flu" epidemic at Victoria Hospital, fell a victim of that disease. His parents and two other sisters. Miss Jean at home, and another a missionary in Japan, survive.

APRIL 21 TO 28
CANADA'S MUSIC WEEK

MUSIC
Inseparably Associated with EASTER

Music is the means that has been adopted throughout the ages for communicating the joy of the Easter message

The spirit of the festival is more inspiringly expressed by the music that has always accompanied it than by any other single medium.

The Easter message is conveyed to man's mind by the spoken word of the pulpit and the printed word of the Book but is impressed on his heart by the wordless voice of music.

For music reaches our innermost selves, taps a channel leading to our higher nature and brings us in tune with the Infinite.

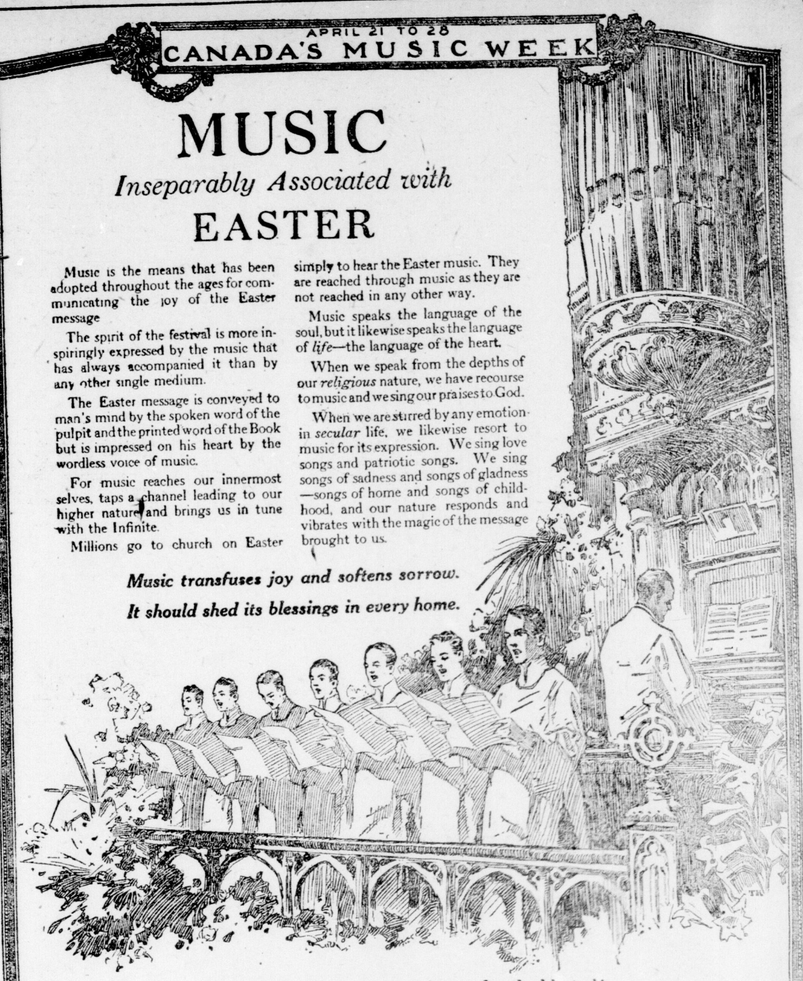

Millions go to church on Easter simply to hear the Easter music. They are reached through music as they are not reached in any other way.

Music speaks the language of the soul, but it likewise speaks the language of life—the language of the heart.

When we speak from the depths of our religious nature, we have recourse to music and we sing our praises to God.

When we are stirred by any emotion in secular life, we likewise resort to music for its expression. We sing love songs and patriotic songs. We sing songs of sadness and songs of gladness —songs of home and songs of childhood, and our nature responds and vibrates with the magic of the message brought to us.

Music transfuses joy and softens sorrow.
It should shed its blessings in every home.

Buy a piano, a player piano or a phonograph and celebrate this Easter with music in your own home and provide the means whereby music may be an ever available friend and companion.

WESTERN "U" HEAD TO SPEAK AT DINNER FOR CHATHAM DRIVE

[Special to The Advertiser.]
CHATHAM, Ont., April 22.—Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, president of the Western University, London, Ont., will be the principal speaker at the big "Civic" dinner to be given at the Hotel Garner Friday evening at 7 o'clock. This is the second public function held in the present organization campaign of the Chatham Chamber of Commerce.

It is expected that there will be at least 200 representative citizens, men and women, present to hear this modern civic-commercial message, and plans are being made by Campaign Director D. E. Weigle and his staff and executive committee to that end.

FORMER LONDON WOMAN DIES AT ST. THOMAS; INTERMENT AT ST. MARYS

The death occurred on April 21, after a brief illness, of Mrs. Jane Box, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Hill, St. Thomas, in her 83rd year. Mrs. Box was a native Londoner, being the sister of the late John and Frank Cooper, well known photographers of this city, and of the late W. A. Cooper, photographer, of New York City. She was the widow of the late Richard Box of St. Marys, and spent most of her life in that town. A sister, Mrs. G. L. Gibson of St. Paul, Minn., survives. The funeral services will be held in St. Thomas on Wednesday morning, and the remains taken to St. Marys for interment.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

FLOOD DAMAGE IN ESSEX.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

A few lines congratulating The Advertiser on its stand for Liberalism, justice and fair play for all. Also on behalf of the farmers' cause, which it always upholds. You commented on the water in Essex County. I only wish you were able to view the destruction and flood caused by the Canard River in Anderdon Township, year after year, and time and again, fences and posts destroyed. Wire so expensive and posts from 45 to 50 cents each, is quite an item. And our Toronto men living in splendor, and Ottawa M. P.s wasting farmers' taxes on easy chairs and carpets, and our county road officers building breakwaters in place of opening outlets for the flood to get off.

CANUCK FARMERETTE.

THE TWENTIETH PLANE.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

"W. T." is extremely clever. Sheer cleverness, however, may scarcely be regarded as a "pearl of great price," and it was sheer cleverness that produced such a review of the "Twentieth Plane" as appeared in The Advertiser on April 19.

By sheer cleverness I mean a cleverness that pretends to be self-sufficient, is not discerning, has no conception of the comparison of values, no respect for the new.

The new concept of spiritualism is carrying us through so many different and unconnected avenues, current books on the subject are so rapidly finding their way into our libraries, and the message these books contain is, in general, so vital that it seems they must hold a meaning for us "hard headed" people of the Twentieth Century. At any rate, it is going to be very foolish, nay, quite impossible, either to disregard them or to refuse to search out of them the truth, likewise to declare it isn't there.

Had Dr. Watson revealed an invention to renew the sources of gasoline, as was suggested, it would have proved worse than useless in aiding the "poor unduped, underclothed, who lack fuel." Not all the wealth from the United States steel industry, nor from Canadian nickel mines, nor from English coal fields has served to make the poor man richer or happier. The secret of eradicating poverty does not lie in what we may gain possession of as a nation, but in how we use what we have.

There is one way of accomplishing the great end, the acknowledgment of and the application of the principles of Christ. It is these principles that are given as a renewed revelation, through the many books, among which is Dr. Watson's.

May I quote from the "Twentieth Plane," page 158, an outline of the steps in evolution-to-be, is given:

"Three fundamental positions are slowly emerging from the body politic:

"First.—The elimination of profits.

"Second.—The evanishment of social distinctions.

"Third.—Equality of education."

Page 159. "There is more true democracy in equality of education than in any other department. . . . Remember that the true democracy is that in your own hearts." Page 167: "The great man is he who can come down from any eminence, however high, and dwell among the common people." Page 168: "We have no professions here; we have men and women, the greatest is the humblest." Page 179: "The keynote of character is the sensitiveness in the soul. What one is capable of feeling measures what one is." Page 221: "In the coming reconstruction, the people will become the owners of their own rights."

How, really, do these inspirations which purport to come from the world of spirits, through human mediums, differ from the inspirations that came to the prophets ages ago, which we say we believe? The source of inspiration was and is. The prophets were the mediums. The truths taught were identical. Page 233: "When and where did our Divine Master ever say that there was nothing more in heaven or earth to be revealed? Is not every great life challenged by a new and mightier inspiration to live so as to give a new revelation to a different age?"

Page 225: "Be calm in prayer, in thought, in purpose, in character, and your calmness will be the ship of life that shall reach all parts of experience, and then throw out the anchor." . . . "The true worship of our Father is to be pure, sincere and loving. There is no complexity in the teaching of God's school. Truth was born to help the lowly by the pure and simple nature of its love."

As Socrates spoke, Page 207, such is the confession of the seeker:

"Now, let me explain as to the oracle at Delphi. Did it speak? Frankly, I do not know; neither do I care, but a voice did speak, and in that voice there was inspiration, and it was divine."
