ALLIES WILL INSIST ON JUSTICE FOR GERMAN BRUTALITIES

No Dealings With Germany Until Reparation Is Made For the Murder of Fryatt

Premier Asquith Announces That Entente Allies Intend to Place in Peace Terms Conditions That Will Insure Justice for Hun Brutalities—German Professor Says Fryatt Was Slain to Exasperate British.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 16.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons today, Premier Asquith said the Government was determined that "this country will not tolerate a resumption of diplomatic relations with Germany after the war until reparation is made for the murder of Captain Fryatt.

GROSS BRUTALITIES.

"Some of our allies," continued the premier, "have suffered by brutalities even more gross and on a more extended scale than ourselves by action of the German authorities. We are in consultation with them as to the best, most effective steps to be taken, and as to what conditions should be expected in the terms of peace to secure reparation that will satisfy justice."

A member asked if the Government was "prepared to make a statement that Emperor William is wanted for wilful murder in this case." No answer was returned to this.

TO EXASPERATE BRITISH.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—A cable to the World from London says:

Why Capt. Charles Algernon Fryatt was shot by the Germans in Belgium, after a hasty court-martial, seems to be explained in an article in the Kreuse Zeitung of Berlin, which comes to the London Daily Mail by way of Rotterdam.

As these dispatches told, Capt. Fryatt of the British merchant steamer Brussels was captured and afterward shot at Bruges for an attempt to sink a German submarine. Through American Ambassador Gerrard at Berlin, the British foreign office made a vain attempt to save Fryatt's life. Afterward, Viscount Grey, British foreign minister, called the execution "the judicial murder of a prisoner of war." Prof. Kruckman writes in the Kreuse Zeitung:

Why Fryatt Was Murdered.

"Capt. Fryatt was murdered with the deliberate intention of exasperating British public opinion and of enabling pan-German annexationists and anti-Bethmannites (opponents of the German chancelior) to cry: 'England will never forgive us now. We must fight her to the last drop of blood.'"

Anyone who had taken the trouble to study the English character could not help saying when he received the news of Fryatt's execution: "Now we have burned our boats."

This news is important, not because it satisfies our lust for revenge but because we know that whether we like it or not we have got to wade through the swamp. Nobody who knew England could be in the slightest doubt that the shooting of the English captain must produce the final development of the war into one of pitiless fighting to the bloodiest of ends. By shooting Fryatt we have begun this new phase, and now there is no turning back.

NO SPECIAL STEPS TO KEEP OUT THE PLAGUE

English Government Says Ordinary Methods Can Cope With Infantile Paralysis.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 16.—4:15 p.m. — No special steps are considered by the British Government to be necessary in connection with the epidemic of infantile paralysis in New York, according to a statement made by Walter Hume Long, president of the local Government board, in the House of Commons today. Proposals have been made in this connection to enforce a quarantine against the disease, on ships from New York.

The disease, he added, had been known here for a considerable period, and the ordinary administration machinery for the protection of this country was adequate to deal with it.

HUNS AMPUTATED ARMS ON REFUSAL TO OBEY ORDERS

Mutilated Brother-in-Law of Guelph Soldier.

ANOTHER KULTUR SAMPLE

Returned Soldier, Reaching City Today, Brings Story of German Atrocities.

German atrocities on Canadian and British prisoners of war were brought close to London today when Pte. J. C. Herling of Guelph arrived with the party of returned and invalided Canadians which arrived via C. P. R. this morning. Pte. Herling's brother-in-law, Corp. R. T. Cooper of the Cumberland Borderers of the imperial service was a victim of the "kultur" practiced on defenceless prisoners.

Because he refused to obey certain orders issued by the guards in one of the German prison camps, the corporal's arms were amputated, though he was but slightly wounded. No excuse other than the soldier's refusal to carry out the dictates of his captors was given as the reason for the act of refined brutality.

Pte. Herling had four brothers in the service. Two were killed in the early engagements of the war, another lies wounded at Cologno, and a third is still serving in the front-line tranches of Flanders. Many other relatives in both Canadian and British contingents are doing their bit for King and country at the front.

SLIGHT DECREASE IN DEATHS FROM PLAGUE

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—A slight decrease in deaths and new cases in the epidemic of infantile paralysis was noted today in the health department's bulletin on the progress of the scourge. During the 24 hours preceding 10 a.m. the plague killed 34 children in the five boroughs of New York City. One hundred and thirteen were stricken. This compares with yesterday's figures of 39 deaths and 163 new cases. Since the inception of the disease in June 6,635 cases have been reported to the health department, 1,497 of which proved fatal.

RUSSIA'S BLOWS TAKE THE FIGHT OUT OF ENEMY

Spirit of the Teuton Troops Is Sinking Lower Every Week.

GERMANS TAUGHT LESSON

Surrender in Thousands After Rough Handling by the Czar's Men.

OFFICERS TALK PEACE

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 16.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail with the —— army on the Russian front, under date of August 14, sends the following:

The brilliantly rapid movement of Letchitsky's troops northward toward Lemberg causes the greatest rejoicing throughout the Russian army. This fresh blow inflicted on the Austrians has sensibly reduced their power of resistance, and there is abundant proof that the spirit of their troops is sinking lower every week.

Taught Germans Lesson.

At the same time the Russians have taught the Germans a severe lesson by handling the troops sent to stiffen the Austrians in a manner so rough that they were glad to surrender in thousands. Nearly all the prisoners were found to be still in complete ignorance of the character of Brusiloff's drive and of the failure of their army before Verdun. They say when these facts are generally known all hope of victory will die away.

Discussing Peace.

Many prisoner officers say terms of peace have already been much discussed among them. Their view is that, failing any great success for her arms, Germany will make peace in the spring by giving back all the occupied territory and possibly paying an indemnity. When told the Allies would never agree to such a peace they express great surprise. They admit, however, that the whole energies of Prussianism would in such event be devoted to preparing for another war.

War All Winter.

The view taken by the majority of officers with whom I talked is that short of a weaknening by the Germans on the western front, or of the German people taking matters into their own hands, the end is unlikely before spring.

The Austrians will be unable to do more than hold a defence line very far back. The fall of Lemberg is now regarded as certain. Even if the troops of Gens. Von Bothmer and Bohm-Ermolli, now hastily retiring from the centre, escape the fate which threatens them they will not be in condition to make any determined stand, and Galicia will again be overrun by the Russian troops. In Hungary the difficulty will become more serious.

Fall Back to Niemen.

All the Germans can expect of their ally will be at best a passive resistance. All they could hope to do themselves, if they succeeded in holding Kovel, to which their corts are now directed, would be to maintain something like their present positions. Probably as soon as the harvest was gathered in they would fall back to the line of the Niemen, with its fortresses. This would shorten the front and enable them to economize in men. They would try to spend the winter here in the hope of wearing out the Allies' patience and resources.

If anything can hasten the end it seems likely to be the incomparable vigor of the Russian armies. From generals to privates on all parts of the front all are eager to push back the Teutons as quickly as possible, and they are impatient at every delay, however necessary it may be.

ITALIANS PROGRESSING EAST OF GORIZIA; AIRMEN BOMB MUNITION FACTORIES

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, Aug. 16.—(Via London, 3:30 p.m.)—Further advances for the Italians in their campaign against the Austrians east and southeast of Gorizia were announced today by the war war office. Austrian trenches along the slopes of Monte Pecinka, on the northern edge of the Carso plateau, and in the neighborhood of San Caterina and San Marco, east of Gorizia, have been taken, the announcement states.

Captured Trenches.

The official statement:

"On the Carso and in the hilly area east of Gorizia, heavy artillery and trench mortars are active. Our infantry succeeded in capturing enemy trenches along the slopes of Monte Pecinka, on the northern edge of the Carso, and in the neighborhood of San Caterina and San Marco, east of Gorizia. We took 353 prisoners, including eleven officers.

"On the remainder of the front the usual attacks were repulsed. Our detachments on the Asiaga plateau raided some trenches on the slopes of Monte Mosciacg. Under heavy artillery and rifle fire they inflicted damage upon the enemy's defences and withdrew unmolested to their positions with some prisoners."

AIR RAID NEAR TRIESTE.

[Canadian Press.]

Rome, Aug. 15—Via Paris, Aug. 16,—A squadron of French and Italian aeroplanes made a raid near Trieste today and is reported to have inflicted extensive damage. A French aeroplane was lost.

"A squadron of Italian hydroplanes, together with French hydroplanes and aeroplanes, this morning bombarded the munitions factories and hangar at Muggia, near Trieste, causing numerous destructive fires," says an official statement issued tonight. "The French lost one aeroplane while resisting those of the enemy. Otherwise the entire Franco-Italian squadron returned safely to its base."

Muggia is an Austrian seaport, five miles southwest of Trieste. It is on the Gulf of Trieste, and has an excellent harbor for warships.

Company Charged With Discharging Some Employees Who Struck.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—A tie-up of not only every surface line in Greater New York, but of elevated and subway lines as well was threatened today by W. B. Fitzgerald, general organizer of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees, who, with other union leaders, yesterday charged Theodore P. Shonts, president of the New York Railways Company with discharging strikers who had returned to work, interfering with the organization of the carmen and of violating the agreement which ended the recent strike.

"If we do not get a satisfactory answer, we will call a strike within 24 hours," Mr. Fitzgerald declared today, referring to a letter sent to President Shonts last night which is generally recognized as an ultimatum. A reply was demanded sometime today.

Fourteen wounded and invalided soldiers arrived in London today at 11:15 o'clock at the C. P. R. station from Quebec. One of the largest receptions since the return of the first men to London was tendered them. Hundreds of citizens gathered at the station to welcome the men home, and many automobiles were ready to transport the invalids to the Tecumseh House, where the usual dinner was served.

Representatives of the newly-formed soldiers' aid commission were there in large number. Acting Secretary King and his assistants, A. Ritchie and Ed. Lance, were on hand, as well as J. P. Moore, Controller W. W. Gammage, N. Keene and many other members of the reception committee. Capt. J. E. Smallman and Capt. Norman Alexander were the only military officers. Many returned men who are convalescing in the city were down at the station.

Three pipers from No. 1 A. M. C. training depot supplied the music for the occasion, and these, in the leading automobiles headed the procession to the Tecumseh House. Here in the Indian room they were addressed by Mayor H. A. Stevenson. He extended a welcome from the city to all the men, and especially to Drum Sergt.-Major A. W. Nanfan, late of the 33rd, who was one of the returned men.

After dinner the men were taken to the Military Convalescent Hospital, where they will be examined to determine whether they stay at their homes or at he hospital. The party was in charge of Sergt.-Major Nanfan.

WILSON POSTPONES STRIKE CONFERENCE FOR ANOTHER DAY

On Thursday He Will Meet Men's General Committee.

[Canadian Press.]

Washington, Aug. 16.—President Wilson decided today to postpone further conferences with the representatives of the railroads and employees on the threatened railroad strike until tomorrow, when he will receive the general committee of 640 workmen in the east room of the White House.

The halt in the negotiations has been caused primarily by the fact that the brotherhood leaders who have been meeting with the president have no plenary powers and have to refer all important questions back to their general committee in New York.

President Wilson decided time would be saved and better results achieved if the 640 members of the general committee were brought to Washington and met him directly. Therefore, it was decided to hold a general meeting at the White House Thursday.

THE MEN ACCEPT.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—The invitation of President Wilson to the 640 general chairmen of the four brotherhoods of railroad employees to meet him in Washington to consider his proposals for settlement of the railroad strike was accepted by the men here today and an announcement made that they would leave early this afternoon on special trains for the national capital.

STEFANSSON DISCOVERS NEW GREENLAND IN CANADIAN ARCTIC

Part of Expedition Returns With News of Successful Exploration in Far North—Stefansson to Remain Another Year in the Ice.

[Canadian Press.]

Nome, Alaska, Aug. 16.—Six members of the Canadian Arctic expedition, under Vilhjalmur Stefansson, who arrived here on the power schooner Alaska today, related their experiences in the polar regions during the last three years. They said Stefansson, who remained in the Arctic to continue his work of exploring newly-discovered land north of Prince Patrick Land, probably would not return to civilization during the present season.

The party aboard the Alaska was under Dr. Rudolph Anderson, Stefansson's chief subordinate, who had been exploring and charting the coast line bordering Union and Dolphin straits and the Coronation Gulf region, far east of the mouth of the Mackenzie River. All of the party which left here on the Alaska in July, 1913, returned with the exception of Daniel Blue, engineer, who died at Bailey Island in May, 1915. The members of the party here are: Dr. Anderson, J. J. O'Neill, geologist; John R. Cox, surveyor; Dr. Jenness, anthropologist; J. Johnson, oceangrapher and entomologist, and George Wilkins, photographer. The schooner was under the command of Capt. Sweeney, who joined the expedition while it was in Arctic waters. The entire party was in good physical condition.

They expressed themselves as having enjoyed their long experience in the Arctic, despite the many hardships encountered in a land so remote from civilization.

A Little Known Land.

Most of the time since the spring of 1914, the party has been in quarters at Bernard Harbor, on Coronation Gulf, east of the Mackenzie River, one of the least known sections of the habitable earth.

The last member of the party to see Stefansson was the photographer, Wilkins, who was one of those who departed from the ill-fated Karluk shortly before that vessel was carried away in the grip of the northern ice in the fall of 1913, and later crushed near Herald Islands.

The first winter after leaving Nome the party spent at Maning Point, near Camden Bay, after having failed to find a passage through the heavy ice to the eastward. The following spring Dr. Anderson proceeded to the east and reached Coronation Gulf in November, 1914. Quarters which were established in Bernard Harbor became the base for the expedition's work. The summer and winter of 1915 were spent in scientific labors around Coronation Gulf.

The Trip Back.

The party left Coronation Gulf for Bering Sea in June of this year, and the southward passage was attended by no difficulties. Although traveling in the track of the power schooners Teddy Bear and Challenge, Dr. Anderson saw nothing of these vessels.

Mr. Wilkins learned from Stefansson that the new land which the explorer discovered may be described as a second Greenland. Up to the time that Stefansson left the new land, after his memorable trip across the frozen sea with Storker S. Storkerson and Ole Anderson, the explorers traced about two hundred miles of its shore line, and found high mountains upon it. Mr. Wilkins says that it was Stefansson's intention to return to the new land last spring to continue the work of exploration.

CENSORED NEWS AN INSULT, SAYS THE ROBLIN JURY

WHITLA TAKES IT BACK

Now Says Sorry Accused Crown of Trying to Influence Him.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—The foreman of the jury trying the ex-cabinet ministers complained to the judge this morning that their copies of the morning papers had been censored and all reports of the trial removed and declared this was an insult to their intelligence. By agreement of counsel this censorship will be removed.

Whitla's Story.

A. J. Andrews resumed for the defence the cross-examination of Harry Whitla, K. C., formerly solicitor for Horwood. Whitla was asked about the payment to him by Jas. R. Howden of $1,500, which was used for expenses in negotiating with Wm. Salt, and Andrews suggested there was nothing in Howden's action inconsistent with the belief that he was paying money for Whita's legal services to Horwood. Witness said he did not know what was in Howden's mind. Accused and Dr. Montague seemed, he said, to be treating Horwood "with great consideration and kindness."

Takes Back Statement.

R. A. Bonnar re-examined witness for the crown and asked him about the statement he started to make yesterday afternoon about crown counsel.

Whitla said he was sorry he made any statement. He was pressed by Mr. Bonnar to continue. "The only thing I had in mind," went on Whitla, "was an interview in your office with yourself and Chief McRae. I was requested by you to go to your office. You desired to go into my evidence. I did not like to do so, and I said I did not wish to talk. You suggested how would I like to be indicted for conspiracy, and I asked you to proceed immediately. You

Mrs. Edge has already donated $5 towards the tag day fund.

Mrs. Ernest Smith, who called the meeting of yesterday afternoon, and who has taken a most active part in all work for the 142nd Battalion, and has been prominently identified with the inauguration of the farewell demonstration movement, expressed to The Advertiser her hope that the citizens would take full advantage of the opportunities offered on tag day, and also on Saturday to show their deep appreciation of "London's Own," and in this way prove their patriotism.

It was stated to The Advertiser that it is the intention to provide the wife of each member of "London's Own" with a free entry ticket to the park.

BRITISH TOMMIES CHEERFUL DESPITE INFERNO OF FIRE ON SOMME BATTLEFRONT

Rain of Shells, Machine Guns' Destructiveness, Nauseous Smells, Terrible Sights and Certain Death, Have No Terrors for Them, Writes London Doctor Serving With An Artillery Brigade of the Imperial Service.

A vivid picture of the battlefront on the Somme is presented in the following letters written by a young London doctor, who is a medical officer for a brigade of batteries in the R. A. M. C., in the heart of the big British drive.

Incidentally, these letters dispel the idea of which some people seem possessed that doctors enlist for professional service along their own lines in the army because the berth is easier or safer than that of the combatant.

"A 'Blighty' is the soldier's term for a wound necessitating his being sent home to England and is often openly longed for, according to some who have been at the front.

July 18, 1916.

Dearest Mother and Father,—I must get in time to let you know that I am still O. K. We are having a very exciting time of it. I have got my little dressing station up among the guns in the open—and believe me it is warm, quite distinctly hot, in fact—but luck with a capital "L" has been with me so far, and we are all very cheery. (Just now there was a beast of a burst about ten yards away, but I had dug myself in a bit and missed it.)

Loses Track of Days.

But to continue, and forget shells. If I were to stop and tell you every time a shell burst near or a piece flew honing by I should never get through! It is eight or nine days since I have had my clothes off, and I have lost all track of time or of the days of the week. Everything is an endless turmoil—and it still persists in raining. As yet we have not had to starve—bullybeef and biscuits are all right.

War on this scale is a very different thing from the old game of even a month ago.

I don't know how big this battle will eventually look in history, but it is quite big enough for me. It is a sickening and horrible game—I surely hate it—but, of course, we all grin and act cheerful to buck the other fellow up.

British Turn To Whack Away.

At present we are the guns next to Mr. Bosche, and there are guns and more guns for a mile and more behind us. It is our turn to whack away and, believe me, we are doing it. The bombardment simply becomes terrific at times—guns of every calibre by the dozen and hundred tear and snarl away in a continual din.

Headquarters, with whom I had lived until we got into the "show," are over a mile behind, and so I told Col. ——— that I might as well be in Canada as there, so far as our fellows were concerned, so I mess with Capt. ——— at the guns. We sit down in the open with our steel helmets on and eat away with apparent unconcern.

I must say it makes you choke a bit or miss a chew when a shell comes humming along just over your head. Thank, heaven, the fuse is set for 100 yards further on—mentally you hope Mr. Bosche doesn't drop that 100.

Covered With Dead.

The whole countryside (it is rolling hills with crested woods here and there) is covered with our dead and the Hun, too.

They lie promiscuously together in ghastly heaps, and stink to heaven. They have full equipment on, and their bayonets lie beside them. It is horrible. The roads and gullies are lined with dead teams and drivers and shattered carts. Again the smell is nauseous. Nobody has time to bury. The woods are beastly, and are better avoided—shell holes are everywhere—whole areas are torn and thrown and reblown into a myriad of grotesque hillocks and cavities. Streams of wounded seem endless. Some of my best friends are done in. I do hate the Bosche. I can only hope we are giving him very hell on the other side.

No Heart for Souvenirs.

Every Tommy has a Bosche helmet on his belt. It is no longer a sight of interest. I can't say I have the heart to souvenir hunt. All we want to do is to push the Hun back. I believe he is badly shaken. We all hope so, but he is such a cunning fighter.

They have whole systems of deep dugouts, 20 to 30 feet below the ground. Machine-gun squads lie in these places until our fearful bombardment lifts, then they rush out and mow down our troops in the charge. It is a pitiful sight what a machine gun can do. Just where we are now is a great and heavy system, which was the final German line of defence, long prepared. I walked over it without knowing where it was! Just think! I could not even find it. A Tommy of the ———" who took the ridge, showed me a corner of a dugout projecting out. Every dugout had been smashed and resmashed.

Perfect Inferno.

It was a perfect inferno and chaos—no machine-gun squads appeared out of these dugouts! Nobody bothers to dig them out. Some undoubtedly must be alive there yet.

And so the fight continues. I was a bit afraid this would try my nerve, but I got on surprisingly well, considering. I only hope it stays with me. There is no end in sight. We just slog ahead.

July 27, 1916.

Dearest Mother and Father.—I must say that lately I have almost felt unable to write. I have been tremendously busy with the wounded, and the shelling has been remarkably uncomfortable. But I'm still here and going strong, which is more than can be said of many of our officers.

Sleeps Through Bombardment.

The strain tires one a good deal, but I can stand it so far. Today there has been a lull. When I get the chance I can sleep happily through any bombardment they can put up as far as noise goes. But what does wake me and did wake me this a.m. is a shower of earth lumps, stones and bits of "crump," which had been pitched high in the air, and then came down in a heavy rain. Today they shelled us with eight-inch high explosives for two hours. The nearest to me was about ten yards away, but the terrific concussions gave me a splitting headache. What was rather comical though was a little incident of a water cart. It had been parked for the night about 50 yards away. An 8-inch shell lit directly underneath it, and away the whole "caboodle" went over a hundred feet in the air. The wheels went flying off by themselves, circling aimlessly around, and I haven't seen the shattered body of the cart since. But frightened as we were, we couldn't help laughing at the cart. It seemed so ludicrous. After that things quieted down a bit—I mean for us. It was only that the Bosche had transferred his attentions elsewhere. But it is more or less a constant game. Many of my friends are not here now, some of them luckily being only wounded.

Never Saw Cheerier Crowd.

But don't let me draw a long face over the matter. If you were here you could not see a cheerier crowd. We laugh and joke and pull together better than ever.

The Tommies get very serious and "windy" (to use one of their own expressions) at times, but they are Cockney, and that means that they are like corks — they will boo up again. I have one big red-haired stretcher-bearer who has a perpetual grin on his face—nothing in the shell line can knock it off. He has been wounded twice while on duty, but only slightly. He is very rueful about it. He carts in the cases and looks enviously at them (if they are not too bad), then says: "Huh, you lucky cove! I've been trying to cop a 'blighty' this last 'ere fortnight, and 'ere you are goin' back to the girls! And say! won't they cheer you at Waterloo station! My word! You're some 'ero—'ere, 'ave a cigarette!" In an aside to me: "I don't really want to get hurted, but it do look good!" And away he goes through the Valley of Death with his stretcher case. Sometimes the shells fall so thick I think they won't ever turn up again, but they do.

Dante Has Nothing On This.

Yesterday they gave us a real little imitation of an inferno. Dante has nothing on an 8-inch barrage mixed with 6-inch and 4.2's and "whiz-bangs." I laid off my coat to work the better (for I had more than I could do), and they promptly slashed it up with a fragment. The whole place was dim with rolling smoke and noxious gases. Flying pieces whined past, and thudded smack in the ground everywhere. When I went back to my cubbyhole, where I reside, I found it in a bad state. Chunks of shrapnel and high explosives in the blankets, my clothing torn and mud everywhere. It was just as well I had been busy, was it not?

Every night the Bosche sends over poison gas shells (they affect the heart). They come about ten a minute, each chasing the other's tail. They are uncanny, silent, little beasts. You hear a gentle whirring sound, and then a "phut," as it hits the ground; that is all. No explosion occurs. As sure as dusk falls, he will start his little game, and the figgly whirr of his shells mingles with my dreams. I believe I should wake now if he stopped! Certainly we all agree that a "dud" shell (one which does not explode) strikes on your ear (to be Irish), and arrests your attention much more now than if it went off with a loud detonation.

Thrilling Air Fight.

And we have seen the most thrilling aeroplane fights. The Tommies shout with unholy glee when a Hun is brought down. It is rather a nasty sight. They come fluttering down like a broken butterfly. I feel a bit sorry for them all. They are brave men at least. But the last one I saw was so evidently out for blood that when he got nipped in the back by one of our fast "Bristols," I only enjoyed it. He had swooped down like a hawk on one of our poor slow observers. Down they came like express trains, the Bosche machine gun rapping away. But the swooper was swooped on! High in the air one of our fast "Bristols" was dropping, nose down, like a stone on to him! The speed was terrific. Could our man right himself? The fall became a swoop, and his machine gun broke forth. I think the Bosche felt the nip of the bullets, for close as he was on his victim, he managed a sudden and superb curve around. It was hopeless! He was groggy. He tried his only way out—a dash for home at low level. But Tommy had watched it all. At the psychological moment thousands of rifles opened as he crossed the lines. In the distance it sounded like a pot boiling—and that was the "finis." He just fluttered down.

There is no use trying to describe the country to you. The newspapers do that. It is scarred and pitted, torn and raked until it is nothing but naked desolation. For the moment we are out of civilization and in the grip of blood and iron. I hope you don't mind my style of describing these things (quite unusual for me, is it not?), but I thought you might like a little insight into the game we are playing.

NEWS FROM CAMP BORDEN

Many Visitors From City and District to Quarters of 135th.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CAMP BORDEN, Aug. 15.—The following officers from battalions of No. 1 Division in Camp Borden left tonight to join the quota of officers to depart immediately for overseas:

Lieuts. W. T. Ulens, 135th; Harry Bawdon, 142nd; W. T. Bartlett, 142nd; G. B. Mullholland, 70th; Douglas Weld, 118th; R. G. Washburn, 118th; Edgar Torrance, 161st; A. R. Terhune, 110th; W. J. Wright, 110th.

The officers and men of the 142nd intend to co-operate with the citizens of London to make the holiday plans in London Saturday a success. The bombing class intends to take explosives with them and to give an exhibition of bombing; bayonet fighting, physical exercises and trench warfare will be on the program of the battalion for the day. The battalion will leave on Friday by a special train.

Lieut.-Col. Bart Robson of the 135th is sitting up tonight awaiting the arrival of his "boys," who are expected at midnight, and recalling old events with what few officers remain. The dull moments since the departure of his "boys" have been somewhat relieved by visitors.

On Sunday several friends were here from London.

Sheriff Henderson Calls.

Today Capt. Malone returned from Alton with a party composed of Sheriff Henderson and Mrs. Henderson of Brampton, J. Dodds and wife, Alton; Mr. and Mrs. Everton Barber and their daughter, and Mrs. Malone. The party had heard that the unit was soon to depart and brought to Camp Borden an auto filled with delicacies, which they distributed among the men. The party dined with Lieut.-Col. Robson and officers tonight.

SPORTS PUT ON BY UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL DELIGHTED BIG CROWD

Events Keenly Contested by Col. Seaborn's Men.

UNIT LEAVES SHORTLY

Company Drill and Stretcher-Bearers' Work Features of Program.

Yesterday afternoon the men of No. 10 Stationary Hospital held a farewell field day for the benefit of their friends and relatives.

The event was staged on the beautiful grounds of the Western University on St. George street, and as is usual where soldiers are concerned, the fair sex turned out in great numbers.

The grounds were prettily decorated and a bright sun and cool weather made for the success of the event.

Early Departure.

The hospital has been warned for an early departure and their friends took this probably last opportunity of seeing for themselves the progress the boys have made in the short time since the organization of the unit.

All were more than pleased. The events were clean and closely contested. The football match between the single and married men was loudly applauded and the exhibition of stretcher drill demonstrated the care, tenderness and skill with which wounded men are handled.

At the conclusion of the field sports, Pte. Harry Carson rendered two solos in his excellent baritone voice.

The Events:

100-Yard Race—Pte. Leo C. Chamberlain, 1st; Pte. Cook, 2nd.

Three-Legged Race—Sergt. Ritchie and Lance-Corp. Casselman, 1st; Pte. Chamebrlain and Pte. Fish, 2nd.

200-Yard Race—Pte. Chamberlain, 1st; Pte. Ritchie, 2nd; Pte. Lumley, 3rd.

One mile relay won by team composed of Ptes. Smallman, Cook, Bowie and Lacey.

Wheelbarrow Race—Ptes. Smith and Smallman, 1st; Ptes. Gatecliffe and Stewart, 2nd.

Football—Single men vs. married. Single men—Parks, goal; Jacques and Chamberlain, backs; Hardy, Ritchie and Baker, halves; Thompson, Greene, Oliver and Casselman, forwards. Married men's team—Major Wilson, goal; Hull and Sergt.-Major Cameron, backs; Gatecliffe, Swan and Lumley, halves; Greene, Haynes, Hembrough and Hudspith, forwards. Pte. Wildish, referee. Score 1—1.

Company Drill.

For the company drill the men were handled by Lieut.-Col. Seaborn and stood at attention for eight minutes with remarkable steadiness.

Lieut. Dickie had charge during the stretcher-bearer drill.

Major Cameron Wilson and Capt. Bice acted as judges, while Lieut. J. A. Dickie was starter.

Corp. J. T. Paton, Pte. Gatecliffe and Pte. Swan were the committee responsible for the affair.

VETERANS SAY ACT OF GOVERNMENT WAS "DIRTY KICK-OUT"

Helpless Returned Soldiers Given Pittances.

COMRADES DISGUSTED

Think Men Who Sacrificed Themselves Should Have Fair Play.

At a meeting of the Returned Soldiers' Association last night in their clubrooms at 380 Richmond street, a resolution was passed stating that the association, after the reception of the soldiers returning tomorrow, would have nothing to do with the Soldiers' Aid Commission if Secretary Ed Lance of the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association was connected with it in any way. This would apply to other associations as well.

The feeling of the meeting was that the two associations, the Soldiers' Aid Commission and the Returned Soldiers' Association, should work together, and that there should be no friction between them. This can not be, they think, if Mr. Lance is connected with it. They stated that they had proof for every charge they can bring against him.

Financial Matters.

The finances of the association were discussed, and a detailed account read of all the money received and expended since the inception of the organization. The total amount spent so far is $415.11. The balance remaining is $806.97. A number of the members remarked that although some persons had been ready to hint at the money collected by the association being used wrongfully, they were not present at the meeting to hear the detailed statement, although the meeting had been advertised as an open one.

Another matter which came in for discussion was the manner in which a number of the returned men had been given checks from the Government for certain amounts, and then dropped forever from the books. One member described it as "the dirty kick out," and stated that over fifteen returned men in the city had received it so far.

Names Are Given.

The names of several were given. J. Gordon, who was shot in the ankle at Givenchy, received $25, and the usual notification that the Government was through with him; C. C. Plant, wounded at Givenchy, received $25; R. Lowe, who lost the sight of one eye while on active service received $50; Harry Cattell, who has lost completely the use of one hand, received $75. Another soldier who was hit in the head received $25. His mental powers were considerably affected by the wound.

None of these men, it was stated, were in a fit condition for the labor market, and yet they had to earn their bread along with men who were 100 per cent efficient. One man, a steamfitter before he enlisted, has been incapacitated and cannot return to his trade. His present position brings him $2.50 a day less than he formerly earned. "He is practically giving up $2.50 a day for the Empire as long as he lives," stated one of the members, "and he is to receive $25 for it."

Want Fair Play.

The case of a workman in the city who received a slight injury on the back of his hand was cited. The man, they state, received $250 in compensation. Returned soldiers, they thought, should be treated on the same principles as the workingmen who remained at home. J. Wakeling and Sapper Laughton of the trades and labor council were present, and backed the association up in its views. Laughton, in behalf of the council, invited all the members of the association to be their guests at the Labor Day picnic, and asked that a member of the association be chosen to act as one of the judges. The association will give a prize for one of the events, but fuller details will be arranged at the next meeting.

A check of $25 from a returned officer in the city was gratefully acknowledged.

HUNDREDS AT DEPOT BID GODSPEED TO 135TH BATTALION

Middlesex Men To Change Training Quarters Shortly.

MANY IN FROM DISTRICT

Comrades From Other Units Also Gathered at G.T.R. Station.

Between five and six hundred men of the 135th Middlesex Battalion left London yesterday afternoon for Camp Borden from the down-town G. T. R. station. The battalion is scheduled to leave Camp Borden soon for other training quarters and this was the last time the boys will be in London.

Hundreds of Londoners gathered at the station to bid them good-bye and nearly all carried presents in the shape of substantial lunches, to be eaten on the train. The cars remained on the fourth track for nearly half an hour, so there was plenty of opportunity for last farewells. The station platform, too, was crowded so that it was with difficulty persons alighting from incoming trains could make their way along.

Farewell Indians.

Many of the Indian members of the battalion returned on the last leave and many of their comrades from the 160th Bruce Battalion, which has also an Indian company, were present to say good-bye.

There was none of the usual scenes at the departure of a battalion. No band or escort accompanied the men to the station. They did not even come in a body, but arrived in twos and threes. Unlike several weeks ago when they were supposed to be leaving for the last time there were a number of the officers of the battalion present. Many visitors from all parts of the county, in which the battalion was recruited, helped to swell the crowd at the station.

From Out of Town.

Many of the men came in on the Huron and Bruce train. Men from Glencoe and Strathroy entrained here, as well as the London men. The Parkhill boys will probably entrain at Stratford. Major Somerville was in charge of the train from here.

The fact that several trains intervened between the troop train and the station platform at the last minute prevented the people from sending the boys off with three cheers, but the boys made up for this themselves, three hearty cheers from them floating above the other trains to those

LITTLE STORIES OF CAMP BORDEN

MUST LOOK AFTER DESERTERS.

Following the new militia orders, which make it possible for the civil police and civil judicial authorities to deal with deserters and absentees, Toronto has notified the military officers at Camp Borden that they must look after deserters in that city themselves. The claim has been advanced that the Toronto police force is so undermanned that it would be impossible to look after the militia end of the work as well.

$250,000 PAID OUT.

Yesterday was pay day at Camp Borden and on a conservative estimate more than a quarter of a million dollars was paid out to the troops under canvas. Each of the men received an average of $10, and as there are more than 24,000 still here, the total is easily figured.

NEW BATTALION ARRIVES.

The 227th (Algoma) Battalion is the latest to be added to the Camp Borden strength. It arrived on Tuesday with a strength of 27 officers and 825 men. The battalion has taken up the quarters formerly occupied by the 124th (Pals) Battalion of Toronto, which was among the first to leave the Borden training grounds.

GLEE CLUBS STARTS.

Because of the shortening evenings that almost prohibit the playing of a full game of baseball, lacrosse, soccer or cricket after the supper hour, glee clubs in all battalions have sprung into existence and sing songs are quite the order of the night.

5,417 WENT HARVESTING.

The official camp records show that 5,417 soldiers at Camp Borden took advantage of the special leave granted for harvesting furlough. In some cases the men only had two weeks' leave, while in other cases, particularly that of the 135th (Middlesex) Battalion, the men were recalled to the camp because of impending changes.

OBJECTS TO WINTER CAMP.

In view of the semi-official statements from Ottawa that Camp Borden might be used as a winter concentration camp as well as a summer training one, Mayor Church of Toronto has filed a protest with the department at Ottawa. Those who have seen the camp and know its workings declare that it would be an absolute impossibility to keep troops in the wilderness during the winter months. The effect on recruiting in the cities would be detrimental and the physical location of the place practically preclude its use as a winter camp.

ON TONIGHT.

The massed band concert and tattoo of all bands at Camp Borden takes place this evening on the third brigade area. Lieut. John Slater, bandmaster of the 18th Highlanders of Toronto, will be the musical director of the affair, which will be the biggest of its kind ever held in this country. It is claimed also that it will be the biggest military tattoo ever attempted on the continent.

IT'S TEN DAYS NOW.

Although numerous announcements have been officially and semi-officially made, as to the completion of the contractors' work at Camp Borden, the latest is to the effect that the construction gangs will be leaving in ten days at the most if the weather continues good.

Shortage of labor caused a hurry-up call for steel erectors and tower men from the different battalions in the camp to work on the second water tower being erected at the camp as a supplementary supply to the camp waterworks.

WASTAGES HEAVY.

Battalion "wastages" at Camp Borden during the past few weeks have been exceptionally heavy. Men rejected by the medical boards for various causes, those over age, those incapacitated by training and the usual number of desertions and "absence without leave" cases have reduced the strength by more than 1,000.

Somewhat lax inspection, medically, by civilian practitioners in some of the smaller centres where no army doctors are available, is blamed as one of the reasons for the high percentage of medical discharges.

SIX RETURNED MEN EXPECTED IN WINDSOR

WINDSOR, Aug. 15.—The Windsor Sportsmen's Patriotic Association is arranging to take care of six more soldiers who have been discharged from the front because of physical unfitness, and who will reach Windsor soon. They are: Ptes. Angus, Leonard and Ranger, of Detroit, who will arrive this week, and Ptes. Smith, Campbell and Poulton, of Ford City.

ANOTHER RECRUIT FOR PERTH UNIT

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, Aug. 15.—Another recruit signed on for the 110th Battalion here today in the person of Alfred Granger, Stratford, born Doone, Waterloo County, age 26, married and a laborer. This is the second recruit in two days for this unit. Recruiting here has been slow of late.

TWO STRATFORD MEN NAMED IN LISTS

[Special to The Advertiser.]

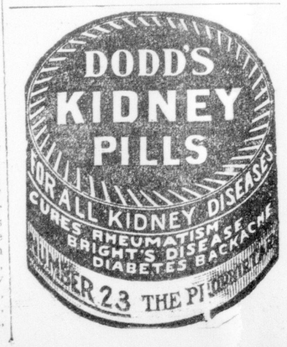

STRATFORD, Aug. 15. — Word was received in this city today by W. H. Merry, of the Boys' Home, of the wounding of Pte. Samuel J. Reburn. Pte. Reburn enlisted with the 71st Battalion. He is a native of England and came to this country in 1911, being for some time a ward of the Boys' Home. Latterly, however, he had been employed in a grist mill at Paisley. He enlisted at London. He is now confined in a French hospital suffering from gunshot wounds in the legs and wrist.

Pte. Watt Wounded.

A letter received in the city tells of the wounding of Pte. James Watt, who is now in an English hospital. His wounds are in the feet, arms and right leg. Pte. Watt is a native of England and 21 years of age. He had been in Canada for five years and enlisted with the 71st Battalion.

Everything Favors Allies.

Writing to friends in the city Pte. F. H. Taylor, who was reported as wounded some time ago, says that he has two holes in a leg three inches long and two inches wide, but he believes the limb will be saved. He mentions the wounding of Ptes. Conway and Daws. The former, he says, is back again in the trenches. "Everything is looking in favor of the Allies at the front," he says.

IRISHMEN OWN PORT TODAY, FOR ANNUAL I. B. S. PICNIC IS ON Ideal Weather Brings Out a Record-Breaking Crowd.

MANY OUT-OF-TOWN MEN

Aylmer, St. Thomas and Other Points Send Contingents To Lakeside.

The Irishmen own Port Stanley today. The annual outing of the Irish Benevolent Society, the 40th by the way, promises to eclipse all former records.

The Traction Company and the London and Port Stanley are running trains every hour, and every one of them is filled to capacity.

The first parade was held at nine o'clock from the city hall, and was headed by the officers of the society. The 1st Hussars Band furnished the music.

The second parade was at 1 o'clock from the customs house. First Vice-President E. J. Carty being in charge. There were a number of Irishmen in line.

In addition to the London contingents there are excursions being run to the Port from Aylmer and other points. St. Thomas sent a large contingent of Irishmen and their friends.

"We will have the best and biggest picnic since we started," said Secretary John Loughlin. "The weather is ideal, and the people are going to the lakeside in droves."

DOCTORS CONDEMN "TWILIGHT SLEEP"

City Physicians Disapprove of Use of Drug in Childbirth.

The condemnation of the method used in childbirth, and known as "twilight sleep" by John Hopkins University Hospital authorities, has occasioned no surprise among local doctors.

The use of the drug scopalomin, or the method more commonly known as "twilight sleep" in cases of childbirth has never been used in this city, except in very few instances.. The method has never been generally adopted in London because of the danger in administration of the drug, except where a patient could be carefully watched.

"I was present at an American hospital last summer where the drug was used, and I could see nothing whatever to recommend its use. I have discussed the advisability of its use with several city physicians, but none seemed to favor the adoption of its use," said a prominent city doctor today in discussing the action taken by John Hopkins University Hospital.

Press dispatches say the Hopkins Hospital abandoned its experiments in use of the method more than nine months ago, and the conclusion reached is that the method is too dangerous, and that it is a menace to the life of a new child and too grave to warrant its use except under the most favorable circumstances.

After more than a year's use of the "twilight sleep" drug scopalomin, obstetricians found it could be safely used only under exceptional conditions. The question of proper dosage proved so intricate that absolutely no chances can be taken.

The early results obtained were such that in subsequent cases it was necessary to have two highly experienced men always at the bedside of the expectant mother as well as several nurses.

WEDDING BELLS

THOMAS—AUCKLAND.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Auckland, Talbotville, was the scene of an interesting event at high noon on Tuesday, August 15, when their daughter, Alice Ethel, was united in marriage to Morley A. Thomas of Lambeth, Rev. J. Kenneday, pastor of the Methodist Church, Talbotville, officiating. Miss Florence Auckland, sister of the bride, played the wedding march.

Throughout, the house was attractively decorated for the occasion with quantities of pink and white asters.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was charming in white silk crepe de chene with white satin ribbon trimming, with which she wore a filmy bridal veil, gracefully draped. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom, and she carried a shower of cream roses and maidenhair fern. Following the ceremony, which was witnessed by only immediate relatives of the bride and groom, a delicious wedding breakfast was served, the young couple leaving in the afternoon for a trip to Detroit and Cleveland before taking up their residence in Lambeth.

For traveling, Mrs. Thomas wore a suit of navy blue, with a large black velvet hat.

Among the wedding gifts were checks from the father of the bride, and the father of the groom, also silverware, cut glass, etc., from their many friends.

EXPECTS TO CHARGE HIM WITH SERIOUS OFFENCE

Ald. Wilson Considering "Assault With Intent" Charge Against Ald. Palmer.

"I have not yet taken any legal action against Ald. Palmer, but have the matter under careful consideration, and will likely do so in a few days," said Ald. William A. Wilson, whose head was cut by a tumbler, thrown by Ald. Palmer at Monday's council meeting, to The Advertiser today in answer to a question as to what he contemplated doing as a result of the "council scrap."

"What charge will you lay against him," was asked.

"It will likely be a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm, but I am consulting my legal adviser before taking definite action," replied Ald. Wilson.

If the charge laid is one of assault to do bodily harm, it is hardly likely that it will be tried before the fall assizes. It will no doubt attract great local interest.

ANOTHER CASE OF PARALYSIS REPORTED

Infantile Disease Being Carefully Investigated by M. O. H.

Dr. H. W. Hill, medical officer of health, announced today that one more suspected case of infantile paralysis has been reported to the department. He is making a careful diagnosis of the suspect this afternoon to determine whether or not the disease really exists.

If this case developes to be another victim of the disease the child will be immediately isolated and the usual precautions used to prevent its spread.

No specific treatment is used in cases of the disease as no anti-toxin has yet been discovered, the only course yet followed being absolute quietness, in the acute stages followed later by massage treatment.

Scientists have as yet been unable to discover the germ, and consequently cannot procure a serum until such time as the germ is discovered, which to the present has defied the efforts of the world's greatest scientists.

The germ is so infinitesimally small that the most powerful microscopes have been unable to discover it. The disease is so insidious in its approach that in New York children playing on the street have been stricken without a second's warning.

In the city this week one case of cerebro-spinal meningitis was reported and proved fatal. This was of the pneumoccic form, although communicable not of an epidemic type, and consequently not regarded as dangerous to the public at large.

Twenty-two cases of measles and seventeen of whooping cough were reported to the health department.

HOSPITAL ASKING MORE APPARATUS

Appeal Made on Behalf of Western University Unit.

Three important pieces of the surgical equipment of No. 10 (Western University) Stationary Hospital are not provided in the government issue, and as the unit is to leave the city shortly an appeal has been made on its behalf for these instruments.

An intracrachael anaesthetical apparatus, a gas-oxygen apparatus and a Hudson's brain drill are required. It is expected that the instruments will be provided for by the public.

CONSERVATIVES OF LONDON APPARENTLY STICKING BY HUGHES

Deny Any Local Deputation Asked for His Scalp.

LA PRESSE SAYS IT DID

Montreal Paper Prints Story of Party Request to Fire Militia Minister.

Considerable interest is being taken here in the statement in La Presse, Montreal, that a deputation from Toronto, London, Hamilton, Montreal, and other cities waited upon Sir Robert Borden, asking that he demand the resignation of Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia.

It seems that no authorized delegates went from London, at least that is what the leaders of the party say here. That some influential members might have been in Ottawa at the time, and urged the dismissal of Hughes is probable.

Letters have been sent from London, and other points in Western Ontario to Ottawa, urging that the minister of militia be retired. He is considered a great weakness to the party in this district, and many Conservatives have said that the chances of Sir Robert Borden in Western Ontario were mighty slim, if he continued to be handicapped by Sir Sam.

However, there is a straight denial from prominent Conservatives that any deputation went from London.

"Absolutely no truth in it, so far as I aware," said ex-Controller J. P. Moore. "If there were any truth in it, I would know something of it. I do not believe it."

Others spoke along the same line. There is no question as to the fact that the majority of Conservatives here are not sympathetic towards Sir Sam, in fact, there is open hostility.

SUGGESTS THAT AXE WOULD BE FAR BETTER

Guelph Mercury Declares As An Aldermanic Weapon It Surpasses Tumblers.

Fame of London as a pugilistic centre has gone far and wide in the Dominion following the encounter in the city council on Monday night, when Ald. Adam Palmer heaved a water glass at Ald. W. A. Wilson and later dodged a fusillade of missles from the hands of that "city father." After printing a paragraph explaining the circumstances of the scrap, the Guelph Mercury, in an editorial appearing on Tuesday afternoon, says:

From this distance it looks as though the round had ended in favor of Palmer. A whack on the head with a tumbler, according to Marquis of Queensbury rules, is equal to a right swing to the jaw, a left to the chin and a right hook on the end of the nose. Wilson's delivery was poor. His pitching average is away down. Hurling glass tumblers at one man's head and having them light on the hand of another noncombatant cannot be sanctioned in well regulated sporting circles.

Before we go farther we should mention that all this happened in wee London up in the heart of Middlesex County. It wasn't any common street fight, either. It was staged at a meeting of the city council. The mayor, as referee, has not given his decision yet.

The London aldermen should not hurl the dishes around the civic chamber. In this advanced age they should know better. For instance it would be much less painful for the warring alderman to strike his opponent on the head with an axe. This method is much surer. It also gives a man greater opportunity for displaying his physical development. What could be more inspiring than to behold one London alderman rise in his seat, and quietly, and with the dignity that the occasion demands, take an axe and smite his deskmate over the head? As a spectacular piece of business it would be far ahead of this tumbler tossing game.

It might be well for the London city council to purchase a few books, such as "Men I Have Killed and How I Killed Them," by Letty Louie and Gyp the Blood, or "There's No Use Striking Twice When Once Will Do the Trick," by Battle-Axe Pete. If the London aldermen are determined to go into the killing business they owe it to the electorate to go about it scientifically and noiselessly, so that the city council sessions may not be unduly interrupted.

SPRINGBANK SCENERY CALLED WONDERFUL

From 2,000 Feet It Surpasses Everything, Declares Balloonist Appearing at Park.

Bankston, the Cleveland baloonist, who is appearing at Springbank Amusement Park this week, made his first ascension yesterday. He reached an altitude of 2,000 feet and made a pretty descent in his parachute. He states that the country around Springbank is the most beautiful he has ever seen, but regrets that he cannot take anyone with him on a sight-seeing tour.

Bankston has made ascents in every state in the Union, but he is enraptured of the great wealth of color as seen above bountiful and beautiful Middlesex.

Cable Announces Birth of Son to Lieut. Galbraith in England.

A cable received in this city today states that Mrs. (Lieut.) A. Campbell Galbraith gave birth to a son in Bromley, Kent, England, on August 14.

Lieut. Galbraith, who is a son of Capt. Archie Galbraith of the 70th, left London with the 7th Regiment quota, under Lieut.-Col. Becher at the beginning of the war. Owing to the surplus of officers at Valcartier he resigned his commission and enlisted with the A. M. C., when he was made staff-sergeant. Some time after his arrival in England he was granted a commission in the A. M. C. and attached to No. 2 Stationary Hospital.

Mrs. Galbraith left London last year and was married in England. She has remained there ever since.

HAVE YOUR QUARTER READY, IS APPEAL MADE BY TAGGERS

"Get your quarters ready bright and early Thursday morning for the taggers, who are endeavoring to raise funds for "London's Own" Battalion, in connection with the big farewell demonstration to take place Saturday. Have the exact change in your most convenient pocket.

"Are you behind the men of the 142nd, who are going from London overseas to stand between you and the Huns, and to fight your battles while you stay comfortably at home? Then show it by purchasing a tag and wearing it."

This is the message of the tag-day committee of women to the citizens of London.

Owing to the absence of so many people from the city, the tag-day committee is experiencing much difficulty in arranging the tag day campaign on such short notice, and for this reason it will appreciate the co-operation and prompt response of the citizens. A quarter in the hand will facilitate the purchase of a tag which will not be merely a badge, but also an admission ticket to the grandstand at Queen's Park on Saturday as well.

WATER PROBLEM IS ONCE MORE COMING BEFORE COMMISSION

Question of Macgregor Purchase Up On Thursday.

HYDRO BUILDING PLANS

Final Decision on Its Construction Will Be Arrived At This Week.

At the regular meeting of the utilities commission to be held on Thursday afternoon, London's water problem will be most thoroughly discussed, and further reports on the Macgregor wells will be submitted.

Reports of bacteriological tests of the water will be presented, and a proposition to purchase the property, water rights and all, for $30,000, will be considered.

A decision as to whether or not the hydro office building will be built this year will be also arrived at. General Manager E. V. Buchanan will ask for definite instructions. He has certain plans prepared for the erection of this building on the present "Hydro Shop" site, and will present them to the board.

No report on the Kilworth scheme has yet been submitted to the commission, but it is probable that it will be discussed.

RED CROSS WORKERS REPORTS PRESENTED

Auxiliary Statements To Be Included in Presidential Statement.

At the fortnightly meeting of the executive of the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, held this morning in Hyman Hall, reports were received from the officers and conveners of committees before being presented at the annual meeting of the Western Ontario branch in the Masonic Temple on Thursday, August 24, and the reports of presidents of local auxiliaries adopted. These reports will be incorporated in Lady Beck's presidential address.

The London branch now has seven local auxiliaries, the north, south, east and west, the Catholic Women's Patriotic Association, the London Junction Auxiliary and the Junior Auxiliary.

Further arrangements were made in regard to the annual meeting, and the statement made that already 300 delegates from various points in Western Ontario have signified their intentions of being present.

All local Red Cross workers who wish to attend the luncheon to be given for the visitors previous to the meeting, in the banquetting hall of the Masonic Temple, are notified that they must give in their names and money to Mrs. F. P. Drake before Saturday, after which no further arrangements can be made for places for city guests.

LULL IN WEST

planes dropped some bombs on Belfort. There were no victims."

GREATER BLOW COMING.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—A London cable to the Tribune says:

Sharp thrusts which won ground both for the British and the French on the west front Monday night have been succeeded by another lull, broken only by the incessant artillery combat.

While the Germans insist that the Allied offensive is spent, military critics here declare that the way is being cleared for a greater blow yet. The earthquake of which all seismographs gave insufficient warning, as the French describe it, is still rumbling.

Driven From Trenches.

Haig's forces have driven the Germans out of most of the trenches northwest of Pozieres, in which they gained a footing Monday. Further west they forced the enemy's trenches at the Moquet Farm, directly east of Thiepval.

By these attacks the loop around Thiepval has been drawn tighter and the town lies now in a pocket. The Liepsic redoubt is in a similar position. As soon as the British line further east is advanced, the British will be ready to make a new attack toward Thiepval. South of Armentieres the British made a feint attack on the German trenches. This had a twofold effect. It rattled the German nerves and increased the dread of a British attack from an unsuspected quarter. The numerous patrol raids along the front have added weight to this fear.

New French Assault.

The French, halting for the time their attacks on the Somme, launched a new assault on the right bank of the Meuse and pushed the crown prince's forces further back from Verdun. They carried German trenches on a front of 300 yards for a depth of 100 yards, and then repulsed German efforts to wrest back the positions.

Nothing illustrates better the moral resiliency of the French than this attack. After six months of unprecedented bombardment they again have taken the offensive in the Verdun battle. The gallantry of the Grenadiers penetrated the German trenches.

Despite the fact that the Germans are rushing every available man and gun to the British front, where the threat is still the greater, the victory of the French at Verdun stands out as a fine piece of work.

RADICAL CHANGE IN RECRUITING SYSTEM BEING ARRANGED NOW

Special Powers To Be Conferred on Magistrates.

FORM OF REGISTRATION

Much More Definite Form Announced, But Headquarters Here Has No Orders Yet.

It has been announced that the military council on Tuesday decided upon a complete revision of Canadian recruiting methods, and that the new system will be more radical in form than has hitherto been followed.

Chief features, it is understood, will be a species of registration, probably by municipalities, and the issuing of badges or armlets to men who have offered themselves for service and been rejected, or who are needed in munitions work or other essential industries.

It is further understood that in No. 1 Military District, for example, recruiting offices will be established in the various small rural centres, where responsible persons, such as magistrates, will be asked to make out attestation papers and other blank forms necessary on enlistment, and local practitioners to conduct the necessary physical examination of recruits. Registration will pdobably be carried out by an appointed officer in each municipality to register names and other necessary information.

While this does not amount to either compulsion or national registration, it will make the new methods much more definite and radical than those hitherto employed.

Concerning this announcement, Col. L. W. Shannon, D. O. C., states that he has not yet been advised from Ottawa in regard to the proposed revision, but that as far as he can see the new plans of the council will make no difference in the appointment of a chief recruiting officer for No. 1 Military District or such an officer's power to organize.

"I know nothing at all about the details beyond what is given in the press dispatch," is the last word Col. Shannon has to say on the question till hearing more definitely from Ottawa.

CHANCE FOR UNATTACHED OFFICERS TO BE "AIRMEN"

Special Provisions Now Announced for Joining Royal Naval Air Service.

An opportunity of entering the Royal Naval Air Service is being offered to supernumeraries and unattached officers of the C. E. F. Civilians also, by complying with the requirements, may qualify.

It will be necessary to take a preliminary course at a private flying school in Canada or in the United States. To attend this, the applicant is required to make a deposit of $400, which amount will be returned to him provided he qualifies. The course lasts from two to three months, depending on the state of the weather.

Once qualified the applicant is given the rating of probationary sub-flight lieutenant and will be given first-class transportation to England. There he is allowed a gratuity for the purchase of a uniform, which he is not expected to purchase until he arrives in England.

As is the case in all other branches of the service, those joining the air service may be sent for duty to any part of the world. In addition, however, the officer will be required to agree to enter the Canadian Air Service should one be established after the war.

Information as to the status and capacity of training schools may be obtained from the secretary of the naval air service department at Ottawa.

Any other details in connection with the regulations and conditions of the service may be obtained from Lieut.-Col. H. D. Smith, G. S. O., at Wolseley Barracks.

It is stated that only men between the ages of 19 and 23 years should apply, and the limit of age is set at 25.

MOULDY CAMP BREAD IS SENT TO TORONTO MAYOR

Similar Specimens to Those Sent to Advertiser Forwarded From Borden.

Toronto men are sending home samples of mouldy bread from Camp Borden such as were sent to The Advertiser from London and district men at that camp some time ago. Yesterday Mayor Church received a piece of a loaf of bread sent by the wife of one of the married men of the 166th (Queen's Own) Battalion, now at Camp Borden, which she described as part of the rations. It was green with mouldiness. The sender declared that it was actually served out as part of last Sunday's midday meal. If so it certainly was as bad a piece of bread as any prisoner in dungeon during dark ages ever had put before him.

Commenting on this his worship remarked: "I get things like that sent to me every day, or some complaint or other about conditions at Camp Borden. In fact if Camp Borden is to be kept open it will mean the end of recruiting in Toronto, I fancy. I am writing to one of the members of the government about it today, and I will tell him that it will kill the patriotic effort here dead."

Shortly after the camp was opened it was declared that considerable shipments of bread, supplied by Toronto contractors, had been condemned. At that time it was claimed that the mould was caused by packing warm bread in the cardboard cases used in shipping it to the camp.

BRIDGE REOPENED

Clandeboye Structure Again Being Used by Traffic—Closing One at Delaware.

The Clandeboye bridge, spanning the River Sauble on the main road between Clandeboye and Lucan, was opened today for traffic after being closed for eight weeks for repairs.

The opening of this bridge overcomes a circuitous route of several miles that has been necessary since the closing of the structure. Being on the main road to Goderich and Exeter traffic for some weeks has been diverted through Denfield and Ilderton.

The Delaware bridge will be closed tomorrow to allow the removal of the superstructure to the Gilesite bridge. A temporary bridge just west of the old bridge will be utilized during the time the Delaware bridge is under the course of construction.

Mount Forest, Aug. 10, 1916.

ALLIES ARE FEELING OUT ENEMY IN THE BALKANS

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Aug. 16—Via London, 5:02 p.m.—The forces of the Entente Allies on the Balkan front continue to test the strength of the opposing lines, making attacks in small force.

"South of Lake Doiran," the statement says, "an attempt by a few French battalions to advance were repulsed by our fire."

DISTRICT OFFICERS PRAISED.

Further praise is being given to Lieuts. L. Lott of the 149th (Lambton) and G. C. Langford of the 136th (Kent) Battalions for their work as bombing officers of the 8th and 9th Western Ontario Brigades. The claim is being made that the Western Ontario Battalions at the camp are the most proficient in bomb throwing of any now taking the course.

The bombing area of the 8th and 9th Brigades, situated on the open ground south of the union depot, is further advanced in construction than any of the areas in the camp.

WILL SOON ANNOUNCE NEW BRITISH LOAN

Will Take Care of Obligations in United States for Considerable Period.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Official announcement of a new $250,000,000 loan to Great Britain, negotiations for which have been in progress for some time, probably will be made within a few days, it is stated in financial circles here.

The loan, according to an official summary of its terms obtained from banking circles, will be in the form of 5 per cent notes, secured by deposit of collateral. Unlike the Anglo-French loan, no conversion privilege will attach to the present loan, which will be a direct obligation of the British Government. It is said, however, to contain other features which will make it particularly attractive to banks, although it will be offered publicly.

The proceeds will presumably take care of Great Britain's financial obligations in this country for a considerable period. The amount of Great Britain's short-term obligations here now outstanding will take up but a small portion of the present loan, it is said, leaving the greater part to meet future payments on war materials in this country.

THINKS ENGLISH DEALERS ARE CORNERING WHEAT

Times Says Grain Is Being Held Back When It Reaches England.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—3:48 a.m.—The attack on the Chicago wheat pit, which the London papers have accused of conspiring to force up the price of wheat, was diverted against the English dealers today when the Times asked if there was not a corner in wheat in London as well as in America.

According to the Times certain wheat arrivals are being taken off the market as soon as they reach it and are being held back indefinitely, so as to compel millers to purchase and use the most expensive grades. "According to the latest reports from the English wheat market," says the Times, "only one grade, and that of the finest quality, was offered for sale. Ordinarily, our wheat market summary quotes twelve types of imported wheat, but the current issue quotes only one of these types and that the most expensive."

CENTRAL HYDRO ASSOCIATION RECORDS ITS DISPLEASURE WITH GOVERNMENT'S ACTION

Bill 167 Gives Municipalities Right to Purchase Right-of-Ways With One Hand and Takes It Away With the Other—Meeting at Guelph.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GUELPH, Aug. 15.—A meeting of the central executive of the Hydro-Electric Association was held here this afternoon, when a reply was drafted and sent to Premier Hearst, in regard to legislation enacted at the recent session of the Legislature, and the attitude of the Government relative to the radial scheme.

The letter in part states that bill No. 167, outside of certain provisions prohibiting municipalities from selling publicly-owned railways, was entirely uncalled for.

The belief is expressed that the present is a good time to purchase right-of-way for the line, but complaint is made that "it would appear to us that the general effect of the above bill has been to completely paralyze for the time being the hydro-electric railway program, thus not only holding the project up temporarily, but completely defeating the wishes of the municipalities."

Exception is also taken to the clause that provides for going ahead with the purchase of the right-of-way, but prohibits the issue of bonds for the purpose. The letter states: "We are slow to think or to impute any ulterior motive or design on the part of your Government in thus taking away with one hand what you have given with the other, but we submit it is impossible to make such agreements or obtain options without money available to make payment.

"Arguments are also presented favoring the developments at Chippewa Creek being undertaken by the municipalities through the hydro commission instead of by the Government. A representative of the municipalities on the hydro commission is also urged again."

NO BRITISH QUARANTINE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Would Be Useless and Mischievous—39 Cases in Aberdeen.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—3:29 a.m.—Replying to the proposal to enforce a quarantine against infantile paralysis on ships from New York, the local government board, which has jurisdiction in matters of this sort, has decided, according to the morning newspapers, that "the quarantine is absolutely useless in respect to any acute infectious disease, and attempts to enforce it regarding pollomelytis would be impracticable and mischievous."

The Lancet, the leading medical journal in Great Britain, calls attention to the fact that 39 cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Aberdeen, Scotland.

SERVICE IS RESUMED BY WHITE STAR-DOMINION

QUEBEC, Aug. 15.—The White Star-Dominion Line steamship Southland, formerly the Vaderland, which has until a few weeks ago been in the service of the Imperial Government, arrived in port tonight with passengers and a general cargo from Liverpool.

With the arrival of the Southland, the Liverpool-Quebec and Montreal service of the White Star-Dominion Line, suspended shortly after the war broke out, is resumed. Captain Berry, who is in command of the big liner Southland, was in charge of the steamship Norseman when that steamship was torpedoed near Saloniki last January.

The Southland was in the Red Star Line previous to the war, plying between New York and Antwerp. She and the steamship Northland (previously the Zeeland) are the two ships selected for the resumption of the White Star-Dominion Line service to the St. Lawrence.

CHATHAM ALDERMAN QUIZZES POLICE CHIEF

Will Appeal Against Fine of $2 Under Motor Vehicles Act.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, Aug. 15.—After an argument in the city police court today, which lasted over three hours, Ald. Sam Kovinsky was fined $2 and costs for allowing his son, a boy under the age of 18 years, to drive his automobile on Sunday, August 6, contrary to the motor vehicles act.

Kovinsky denied the charge, and argued his case at great length. Chief Groves testified that while traveling on the street car he had passed Kovinsky's boy several times, and he was driving. Cross-questioned by the alderman, the chief could not state definitely which side the steering wheel was on, which brought down the wrath of the city father.

Ald. Kovinsky intends to appeal to a higher court.

One of First Canadian Cities to Adopt Daylight-Saving Rejects It.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Aug. 15.—Brantford is back to standard time again today, after having given daylight saving a fair trial and found it wanting. The concensus of opinion today seems to be thoroughly in sympathy with the return to old time.

Brantford was one of the first cities to adopt daylight saving, but lately churches have been changing their hours and factories were running on old time, so the council decided to fall in line with Hamilton, and revert to the old time.

KAISER DECLARES HE DID NOT START GREAT CONFLICT

Says He Does Not Envy Man "Who Caused War."

QUOTED BY A NEUTRAL

Believes That History Will Clear Him of the Charge.

London, Aug. 15. (Tuesday), 5 a.m.—"I have just had a conversation with an eminent neutral who visited Berlin on business of an official character several times in the course of last month," the Berne (Switzerland) correspondent of the Daily News reports under date of August 9. "During his first visit he and the other members of the deputation charged with this mission were entertained at tea by the empress. The emperor, just back from a visit to the western front, looked in at the function.

"I send you privately the details of my informant's status and the objects of the mission which devolved upon him, the particulars of which cannot now be published. Referring to the outstanding event of his first visit, he said substantially:

Enter the Kaiser.

"'It is very rarely that official deputations representing Germany's allies or neutral countries leave Berlin without receiving an invitation to take tea with the empress. Our good fortune lay in the fact that the kaiser entered just as we were beginning our second cups of tea. He wore the German uniform, and, as far as I can remember, the Iron Cross was the only decoration displayed.

"'An official of the German foreign office and our own diplomatic representatives at Berlin presented us to the kaiser, who at once signalled us to be seated. During the remainder of the function the emperor engaged in conversation alternately with the empress and the head of our deputation.

"'He did not strike me at all as a man who was suffering intense mental anguish or who has an intolerable burden upon his conscience. I have seen many men whose rent was overdue look much more worried. There are deep lines certainly across his forehead and his hair contains many grey streaks, but the same might be said of most men of his age.

"'I heard afterward that the kaiser suffers greatly from sleeplessness, and that, with a view to soothing his nerves each night, on his physician's recommendation, he takes a long motor drive in an open automobile.

"'After tea the empress and her ladies retired, and the conversation became more general. The kaiser spoke to each of us in turn, commonplace phrases enough, about the weather, new books that were being published, the efficiency of the German railways system — a remark prompted by our quick and comfortable journey from Munich to Berlin. He seemed to be making an effort to keep off the delicate topic of the war, but the leader of our party gave him an opportunity by mentioning our astonishment and admiration for the discipline and the unanimity of the German.

"'The emperor's eyes brightened and he replied thoughtfully.

Kaiser's Eyes Brightened.

"'That is the impression most foreigners get, even hostile foreigners. I suppose for one thing that the contrast between the Germany depleted by our enemies, the Germany which is supposed to be restive, war-tired, half-famished, and the united, enthusiastic, still prosperous country, actually seen must cause them a great deal of astonishment. I suppose the British theory that I am responsible for the war has got a hold on your own people.'"

"It was an embarrassing question, and the empror did not seem to expect an answer, for he continued, almost without stopping:

"'It is curious how the theory seems to fascinate my enemies. Yet the people who accuse me of having caused the war are the very people who previously testified to the earnestness of my desire for peace.'"

Says All Responsible.

"He paused a moment, then continued in grave tones:

"'I do not envy the man who has the responsibility for this war upon his conscience. I, at least, am not that man. I think history will clear me of that charge, although I do not suppose that history will hold me faultless.

"'In a sense every civilized man in Europe must have a share in the responsibility for this war, and the higher his position the larger his responsibility. I admit that and yet claim that I acted throughout in good faith and strove hard for peace, even though war was inevitable.

"'Why do you neutrals always talk about German militarism and never about Russian despotism, the French craving for revenge, and English treachery? I think the next generation will strike a juster balance in apportioning the blame.'"

PICTURESQUE RIVER ROUTE FOR LENGTH OF STRATFORD

River To Be Dredged for Two Miles and Two Dams Built.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

STRATFORD, Aug. 15.—The park board has approved of the engineer's plans for improvement to the Lower Avon River, and when the work is completed it will give Stratford a system of parks unequaled in any city of its size in Canada. The plans call for the dredging of the river nearly two miles west from the dam. The fall of seven feet in the river will necessitate the erection of two dams, one at John street, and the other at the foot of Gore street west. The river will be widened to 30 feet, and in some places to 50 feet.

This will give a water route for boats from one end of the city to the other. A drive will be built on either side.

OWEN SOUND COUNCIL AIDS FIRE SUFFERERS

Council Grants Increase of 25 Cents a Day to Road Workmen.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 15.—At the first council meeting since the five week's holiday commenced the council had a quiet session. A motion to send $250 as a donation to the Northern Ontario fire relief committee to be used in helping those affected by the recent fires, was passed.

The chairman of the board of works advised that provision be made for an auto truck for street watering, and that street oiling be decided upon.

It was decided that all men employed in road work, etc., by the town, should have an increase of 25 cents per day in their wages.

J. M. Davis, chairman of the board of works, applied for a two months' leave of absence, owing to ill-health.

NUNGESSER IS ONE OF FRENCH PRINCES AMONGST AIRMEN

Wins Fame by Daring Exploits in Air During the War.

Paris, Aug. 16.—Nungesser, the latest airman to be revealed to us as a prince among pilots, is a great, big, heavy fellow, fat-faced and cumbersome of build.

He was a cavalryman in the 2nd Hussars when he started his career, and the war was not a month old before he distinguished himself.

Squadron Cut Off.

His squadron was cut off and surrounded in the retreat from Charleroi. The troop commander was lying helpless, badly wounded. Nungesser bore him to shelter. Getting a few stragglers together he ambushed a German staff motor car, killed its occupants, put his wounded officer inside, and taking the wheel set off on a wild dash through the enemy's lines. The car was a powerful Mors, and the way Nungesser let her all out and tore through whole ranks of Germans earned for him the epithet of "Dash to Death."

Nungesser was subsequently promoted quartermaster, awarded the military medal and permanently appointed army chauffeur.

Threatened to Quit.

Nungesser later handed in his resignation and declared that unless he was put into the flying corps he would take his place in the trenches. He already had a pilot's ticket, and after a week or two's training was passed as good for military aviation.

Between April and August, 1915, he took part in 53 bombarding expeditions, three of which secured him fresh mentions in dispatches. Returning from the last, he espied a German albatross over Nancy, went for it, despite the handicap of his heavy, slow machine, insufficiently armed for single combat, and shot down the invader. This achievement brought him into prominence and he was promoted to the crack chasing corps. Before the end of the year he had been made chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

A Narrow Escape.

A side slip at Bue, however, when trying a new type of machine, almost cost him his life. He was picked up for dead, with a fractured skull, a broken jaw, nearly all his ribs broken, the muscles of the legs torn away.

Nungesser refused to accept the doctor's decision that he was permanently disabled, he declined to take three months' convalescence—the least he could do, said the surgeons, if ever he wanted to be of any use again—and almost stealing a machine, he soared aloft and never came down until he had accounted for a German aeroplane.

Has Own Way.

After this he was allowed to have his own way, he could scarcely talk, owing to the necessity of binding up his jaw, his head was swathed in bandages, he had to be lifted in and out of his aeroplane, but he was a perfect demon once aloft. He then became a sub-lieutenant.

This was at the end of March and the beginning of April last. On April 25 he engaged single handed three fokkers, brought down one and gave the others a severe mauling. A week later he was swooped down upon by a flotilla of six fokkers. He had one down before they could get his range almost and then sailed at full speed right into the middle of the others.

Pounded Foe Hard.

They were unable to fire for fear of hitting one another, whereas he pounded them hard until he had not a shot left, then, by masterly airmanship, he showed them a clean pair of heels. They were in such a state that they did not dare follow him, which was lucky, for he had not gone a mile or two before his engine went all to pieces. Seven balls had gone through it and only a couple of cylinders still had any go in them. He had dropped to under 3,000 feet, and was limping lamely as he crawled back over the German trenches.

The storm of shells missed him all the same and he made home safely. One shot had gone through his helmet and grazed the top of his head, another had carried away the heel of the slipper, 27 had struck the plane and done various kinds of damage, without counting those in the engine.

EIGHTEEN PEOPLE ARE CHARGED IN CONNECTION WITH ALLEGED MURDER

Indians Throng Courtroom in Brantford —Preliminary Trial Friday.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

BRANTFORD, Aug. 15.—Six cases, charges all arising from the recent alleged murder on the Indian reserve following a fracas at a garden party, were in police court this morning.

The police court was filled with Indians, interested in the charge of murder hanging over the head of Percy Martin. Martin will get his preliminary hearing on Friday.

The various charges on the docket today involve about eighteen people and as they are all from two or three families, the probability of a feud being behind the killing is emphasized. The charges ranged from disorderly conduct and assault to Indians with liquor in their possession. All charges have been further laid over.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR IN MUNITION PLANTS

Blamed by Manufacturers for Failure to Keep Up With Contracts.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—"Shortage of labor" is the explanation given by Ontario munition-making plants for failure to keep abreast of contracts. Some forty replies have been received to the letters sent to the various factories by the Provincial War Resources Committee. The shortage of labor is particularly complained of in plants which have recently received contracts for the manufacture of high explosive shells. In certain of these plants at least one hundred skilled workers could be used.

Several of the replies advocate the adoption of some plan by which munition plants would not be deprived of skilled workers by recruiting campaigns. It is suggested that such workers as have been enlisted be returned to work with full recognition that they are doing their "bit" as fully as by going to the front.

NOTABLE NAMES ON PENSION ROLLS OF ENGLISH GOVT.

This Year's Civil List Furnished Some Shocks to the General Public.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Every year there is published here a list of eminent persons to whom, or to their widows or other dependents in the cases of those who have passed away, civil list pensions, which are paid by the state are awarded to the recipients, in the language of the official announcement, "in consideration of the services they have rendered to literature" (or art or science, as the case may be), "and of their straitened circumstances," or "of their inadequate means of support," as it is sometimes alternatively phrased.

Some Surprises.

Almost invariably the publication of this list furnishes a number of surprises—reveals a number of hitherto undreamt of tragedies. We find in it the names of men or women worlds-famous in their own particular branch of art or field of knowledge, celebrities whom any one of the public would have supposed must have been able to make ample provision for their declining years.

This year's list is no exception, in the matter of surprises, to the common rule. We find in it the names of William H. Mallock, the author, J. Comyns Carr, the dramatist; Lady Murray, whose late husband, Sir James Murray, was for many years editor of the New English Dictionary, and of Mrs. Amy Bullen, widow of the author; William H. Davies, the "tramp poet"; Dr. Thomas Ross, authority on the history of architecture; William Biscombe Gardner of lithographic fame, and Dr. George Cunningham, author of works on dentistry.

This civil list charity is not vast in its extent. An annual sum of $6,000 is devoted to it. The result is that a civil list pension rarely aggregates more than $1,250 if it reaches that sum, which few do. The highest one this year is $1,000. A mere pittance is awarded to the daughter of a British surgeon famous in his time, a former president of the Royal College of Surgeons (the late Thomas Bryant), "in consideration of her inadequate means of support."

W. H. Mallock, the author, who is 67, must have appeared to all who came into contact with him essentially the polished aristocrat, the clubman and the polite philosopher, a welcome guest in wealthy homes, a society man in fact, whose association with the great and powerful, one would have thought, would have kept him in easy circumstances.

And now he is awarded a pension of $750 a year "in consideration of his distinguished literary work and his straitened circumstances." The public announcement must have been galling enough to his pride.

Sir James Murray died almost exactly a year ago. His widow, whom he married in 1867, was formerly a Miss Rutherford of Kendal. The fact that they had twelve children, of whom six were daughters, may possibly reveal an additional reason for the granting of her pension.

Best for Bad Breath, Sour Stomach, Coated Tongue or Indigestion.

They're fine! Cascarets liven your liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach. You eat one or two, like candy, before going to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath right and cold gone. Get a box from your druggist and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Cascarets stop sick headaches, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath and constipation.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.

For All Complexion Ills

If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, blotchy or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercolized wax. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful. One ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is used like cold cream.

Gas In the Stomach Is Dangerous

Physicians Recommend the Use of Magnesia.

Sufferers from indigestion or dyspepsia should remember that the presence of gas or wind in the stomach invariably indicates that the stomach is troubled by excessive acidity.

This acid causes the food to ferment and the fermenting food in turn gives rise to noxious gases which distend the stomach, hamper the normal functions of vital internal organs, cause acute headaches, interfere with the action of the heart, and charge the blood stream with deadly poisons, which in time must ruin the health. Physicians say that to quickly dispel a dangerous accumulation of wind in the stomach and to stop the food fermentation which creates the gas, the acid in the stomach must be neutralized and that for this purpose there is nothing quite so good as a teaspoonful of pure bisurated magnesia taken in a little water immediately after meals. This instantly neutralizes the acid, thus stopping fermentation and the formation of gas, and enables the inflamed, distended stomach to proceed with its work under natural conditions. Bisurated magnesia is obtainable in powder or tablet form from any druggist; but as there are many different forms of magnesia it is important that the bisurated which the physicians prescribe should be distinctly asked for.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation, and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Blanche Jefferson, 703 Lyon street, Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

KING SPENDS WEEK WITH MEN AT FRONT; DEFIES THE SHELLS

First Visit to Trenches Since October Last.

INSPECTS ALL STATIONS

Receives Cheers of Soldiers, and Gets Close to the Danger Zone.

[By Frederick Palmer.]

With the British Army in France, via London, Aug. 15, 7 p.m.—King George has been at the front for a week. He left today for England, and his departure was the first information that the majority of the troops had of his presence. As a matter of precaution the visit was kept a secret, and there was no display or big reviews as on the occasion of his visit last October.

The King simply went about seeing all sections of the army at work and the fields it had won. The flutter of a bit of bunting bearing the royal coat of arms as a motor car sped along the road in clouds of dust, and motor truck drivers and passing battalions started and looked around, exclaiming "The King!" The Prince of Wales was with the King all of the time. The monarch was dressed in khaki, with the crossed batons of a field marshal on his shoulders, and the prince wore the uniform of a lieutenant in the Grenadier Guards. Neither wore any decorations, and but for their features, which were immediately recognized everywhere, they might have been taken for a party of officers making a round of inspection.

Is Close to Front.

At one point on the line the King met Gen. Rawlinson, commander of the fourth army which delivered the main attack, and Major-Gen. Congreve, whose corps stormed Montauban and Mametz. Alighting from his automobile near Fricourt the King went into the first line British trenches, from which the British made their first gain. He walked across the old "No Man's Land" and saw the effects of the British shell fire on the maze of fortifications and trenches which the British had wrested from the Germans. Standing on the edge of a big shell crater, the King looked with a sailor's telescope he was carrying across the foreground of desolation toward Pozieres, the Bazentins, Longueval and Delville wood. He watched the curls of black smoke which signified that the German guns were busy, while nearby him a battery of British guns was sending screaming answers.

What Was Missed.

"You seem to have missed that," he said to Gen. Rawlinson, indicating a sliver of wall still standing in Mametz.

"But there is nothing that is not down in La Boisselle as you will see, Your Majesty," said Gen. Rawlinson. "We improve as we advance."

When the King wanted to descend one of the deep German dugouts Gen. Rawlinson warned him that they had not all been cleaned out yet, and when the King came back up the steps sniffing, he said: "It smells pretty strong." Remarking on the depth and spaciousness of the dugouts with their beds, tables and chairs, he said to some soldiers of a reserve battalion stationed at that point: "Evidently the Germans expected to make a long stay, but you gave them a surprise and they are not so comfortable now."

Salute Cross On Grave.

A dramatic moment occurred as the King was walking across a field swept by a British charge. He came to a grave at the bottom of a shell crater with a cross bearing the inscription: "Unknown British soldier."

Both the King and the Prince of Wales halted and saluted the cross.

"It was sporting of the King to come here," said one of the soldiers, "and if Fritz only knew it wouldn't he begin a strafe with his guns. As it is Whistling Percy might let loose any minute."

"Whistling Percy" is the name for a noisy shell from the German guns.

In common with all visitors the King took away some souvenirs in the shape of empty shell cases and bits of German equipment. As he was leaving the field the soldiers of the reserves, the transport men, gunners on relief and others in the neighborhood, followed him until there was a large crowd around the party before they entered their automobile. Somebody called for three cheers for the King, which were given with a will.

Sir Douglas Haig, as the King's host, told him what was worth seeing during his visit and then the King laid out his program each day.

In Danger Zone.

As the King and the prince went about leisurely examining the enormous craters in the square of a village that was shelled and captured recently, and the ruins of the old town hall, his attendants were considering what might happen if another crater was made where the occupant and heir of the throne were standing. Etiquette did not permit them to tell royalty to move on, but they suggested it politely. Royalty, however, persisted in remaining in the square until curiosity was satisfied.

When the King visited the men of the Scottish division, which had seen desperate fighting at Delville or "Devil's wood," the survivors of the South Africans gave him the Zulu war cry. He managed to see something of all kinds of the soldiers fighting under the British flag, from the Scotch, English and Irish, to the troops from overseas.

Surprise for Lancashires.

A machine gun company of the Lancashires in rest quarters on a French farm was most surprised of all by his visit. Leading the way he walked into a barn with its crooked beams and plaster walls and a litter of straw on which the men were lying after their turn on the firing line. The most amazed of the company was one soldier with a healthy snore who was the last of those asleep to awaken. Blinking and rubbing his eyes he looked up to see the face of the King. At first he refused to believe that some trick was not being played on him; then convinced, he scrambled to his feet, when the King broke out laughing.

More than one the king's car had to draw on one side of the road as a battery of guns swept close to its panels, or a marching battalion passed by. When Private Proctor of the Liverpool regiment was told the king himself was going to pin a Victoria Cross on his breast. Proctor confessed to being scared. "But you were not scared when you fought the Germans," he was told. "No, I know how to act when I meet Germans, but not when in the presence of kings."

12-Year-Old Soldier.

"I believe I have found my youngest soldier," exclaimed the king when he saw a 12-year-old boy among the Northamptons. But little Joseph Lefevre was not English. He is the son of a dead Belgian soldier, and was found wandering about under shell fire at Ypres, adopted by the battalion, and placed on its rolls. He told his story in French to the king, and said:

"They will not let me go up to fight but keep me back with the transport."

The king said: "As I was going to suggest and, being a soldier, you will have to obey orders."

Cheer From Australians.

If there could be said to be any review it was an informal one. When the king went to call on General Birdwood he met a battalion of Australians who were just coming out of the trenches after having taken Pozieres ridge. With their steel helmets back on their heads, their shirts open at the neck, their skins tanned as Indians, their clothes rent and streaked with earth stains, they lined the road and gave him an Australian cheer.

General Joffre came over from his headquarters and President Poincare came from Paris to take lunch with King George and Sir Douglas Haig. On Sunday King George lunched with King Albert of the Belgians. Throughout the week a moving-picture man was doing his best to keep up with the king, while the diffident Prince of Wales was noticeably proficient in slipping out of the picture just as the operator began turning the crank. Not the least of the many scenes with dramatic appeal during the king's visit was that on the quay when the king landed. He was received by a guard of honor from a battalion of the King's Royal Rifles, 75 per cent of whom had been wounded.

KING AT THE FRONT

IRRITABLE NERVES RESTORED AND HEALTH REGAINED IN A SIMPLE WAY

The man or woman who is run-down, not feeling up to the mark, perhaps irritable, nervous or sleepless, can well afford to learn about the wonderful results the newly discovered blood-food is giving to folks that use it.

There is wonderful power in this new blood-food, and every weak, pallid person can be quickly nourished back to health that uses it as directed.

After each meal, with a sip or two of water, you simply take two little chocolate-coated tablets, sold in all drug stores under the name of "FERROZONE."

The effect is noticeable at once. You feel happier, brighter, more contented. That oldtime feeling of weariness departs—you forget your "nerves" and no longer get irritable or cross over trifling annoyances.

There is a reason for this change and that reason consists of the fact that Ferrozone contains blood-making materials you can get in no other way.

Ferrozone makes the blood tingle and sing with new vitality. This insures lots of nourishment and strength being supplied to every part of the body.

No wonder the eyes brighten and the cheeks radiate color and happiness. With abundance of strength, a keen appetite, good digestion and plenty of sound sleep—all the result of Ferrozone—you quickly feel as if life held new charms and pleasures.

RUSSIANS HAVE TAKEN GATEWAY TO HUNGARY

PETROGRAD, via London, Aug. 15.—10:30 p.m.—The Russians have captured Jablonitza, one of the most important gateways through the Carpathians to the Hungarian plains, and have taken nearly 1,500 additional prisoners, according to an official statement issued by the war office tonight. The text of the statement follows:

"Our troops continue the crossing of the Zlota Lipa under enemy fire, which at many points hampers the construction of bridges. Heavy artillery and machine gun fire is being directed against our works. In this sector we captured seven officers, 413 men and three machine guns.

"In the Carpathian woods at the mouth of the Pruth, the enemy evacuated Jablonitza, which we occupied. In the region of Ardjelluf on the Pruth, we have made progress, taking 32 officers and over a thousand men prisoner. Our offensive continues."

HUN AGREEMENT WITH U.S. IS JUST A SCRAP OF PAPER, ALREADY BROKEN 7 TIMES

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Replying to an inquiry by Baron Sydenham today in the House of Lords as to whether the Government considered that commanders of German submarines had adhered to the declaration made to the American Government in May in regard to sinking vessels without warning, and whether Austrian submarines were bound by the same conditions, the Marquis of Crewe, lord president of the council, replied that the more public attention was called to the "monstrous proceedings" of submarines, pending the time when it would be possible to make a definite declaration on behalf of the Entente Allies as to the policy they proposed to pursue regarding them, the better it would be from every viewpoint.

The Government's information was that since the undertakings have been given to the American Government four British and three neutral ships had been sunk without warning by submarines, all most certainly German. Another neutral ship, he continued, was attacked by a torpedo without warning. In the cases of the seven vessels sunk at least 40 lives were lost.

The marquis said it was impossible to avoid the definite conclusion that in the seven cases there had been clear violation of the undertaking given by the German Government. Those cases might be regarded as proved.

USE PARENTS' BLOOD TO MAKE CHILDREN IMMUNE TO PLAGUE

Vaccinate For Infantile Paralysis, Is Physician's Suggestion.

New York, Aug. 15.—Family physicians were advised today by Dr. Abraham Zinghe of Willard-Parker Hospital, to try the use of "normal" blood serum obtained from parents as a method of rendering their children immune to infantile paralysis. Many cases of this disease have been treated in Willard-Parker Hospital during the present epidemic.

The theory on which Dr. Zingher and his associates are working is that the blood of the normal adult contains the anti-bodies which neutralize the virus of poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis. Some physicians believe the presence of these anti-bodies is due to the fact that the parents have had the disease in an unrecognized form. It is stated that if the theory of the anti-bodies is correct, the blood serum treatment may prove as effective in preventing infantile paralysis as vaccination is in preventing typhoid.

"The treatment is entirely harmless and the experiment is worth trying," said Dr. Zingher. "It can be administered easily by any reputable family physician."

"The theory is based on the fact that a very large proportion of adults apparently are immune to the disease, although a few of them contract it, and on the fact that children in the nursing period seldom are victims. It appears likely the children carry the immunity of the parents."

WHEN A DESERTER IS NOT A DESERTER

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—A man who enlists in a Canadian battalion and then absents himself without leave for any period, cannot be charged as a deserter unless the battalion has left for overseas, in accordance with a special enactment to the militia act passed by an order-in-council recently, which was specifically asked for by the military authorities themselves. Counsel, by producing this enactment in police court, succeeded in having Albert Thibert, charged with desertion from the 207th Battalion, acquitted this morning.

SEE IN AEROPLANE THE DECIDING FACTOR

Aero Club Officials Inspect Curtiss Flying School.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Several officials of the Aero Club of America visited the Curtiss Flying School at Long Branch today. The visitors included Mr. Alan R. Hawley, president; Mr. Augustus Post, secretary; and Mr. Evert J. Wendell and Mr. Henry Woodhouse, governors.

They constitute a committee appointed by the Aero Club of America to inquire into the best way of laying out the $17,000,000 recently appropriated by the United States Government for the development of military and naval aviation, and visited the local school in the course of their investigations. The visitors expressed the opinion that the great decisive factor in the war will be the aeroplane.

ITALIAN AIRSHIP SHEDS REPORTED DAMAGED

Vienna Says Serious Loss Was Caused In Air Raids.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Via Sayville.—An official statement from Vienna gives additional details of damage inflicted by Austrian aircraft in the Isonzo region and in a raid in the vicinity of Venice.

"On the night of August 12," reads the statement, "the airship sheds at Compoloto near Venice were completely destroyed by a naval aeroplane squadron. In one shed an airship exploded, sending up a jet of fire 500 metres in height. Another airship was consumed without an explosion occurring.

"Simultaneously, another naval aeroplane squadron bombarded very successfully an aeroplane shed at Gorgo (Borgo?) and establishments there, batteries at the mouth of the Isonzo and the Adria works (near Monfalcone). Several full hits were obtained on the aeroplane sheds and a half dozen fires broke out.

"By a third squadron several full hits were scored on batteries at the mouth of the Isonzo and on military objects at Pieris and San Canziano. All the aeroplanes returned undamaged, in spite of a violent defensive fire."

LOST $15,000 IN RACE HORSE SWINDLE

Indiana Man Says He Took a Chance on a "Sure Thing."

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 15. — One man has been detained by the Boston police as the result of a charge made by Don M. Kelly of Lafayette, Ind., that he lost $15,000 in a race-horse swindle. Two other men, accused by Kelly, are being sought. He alleged that he met the men in a local hotel and allowed them to place several small bets for him. His money and "winnings" were returned, he said. Then, he declared, he was induced to give the men $15,000 to bet. This time, Kelly told the police, he did not get any money back.

GRAIN-CUTTING IN ALBERTA.

CALGARY, Aug. 15. — Grain-cutting has commenced at many points throughout the province. Medicine Hat, Daintree and many other points report that cutting has commenced and will be general by the middle of next week. In the more westerly sections, near the foothills, the crops are much later, and it will be the first week in September before they become matured. The weather is ideal for ripening and cutting today, and the temperature is high.

WEATHER EXTREMES HANDICAP TROOPS OF GEN. CADORNA

Have To Fight Frost on the Mountains and Thirst on the Plains.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 16.—Lord Northcliffe sends another dispatch about the Italian army, this time from the Cadore front, on the central portion of the long battle line from the Stelvio Pass to the Isonzo.

"I am writing in brilliant sunshine," he telegraphs, "and yet in several degrees of frost. It is not usually realized that the Italian front is nearly 500 miles long. In the parched wilderness of the Carso plateau the chief enemy of the fighting man is thirst. His chief enemy on the Cadore front is the frost. These two facts should bring home some of the difficulties the Italians have faced for fifteen months.

Picture to yourself men 9,000 feet up in the clouds, for seven months in and surrounded by deep snow and so close to the Austrians at some points that they can see the enemy's eyes through the holes in observation posts.

Lord Northcliffe, after describing the cables by which guns, food, materials for huts are taken up to the troops on the high mountain peaks, continues:

A Nerve Test.

"The first sensation of transit down these seemingly fragile tight ropes is much more curious than one's first trip in a submarine or aeroplane, and tries even the strongest nerves.

"Man is not only fighting man on these heights, but both the Italians and the Austrians have been fighting nature in some of its fiercest aspects. The gales and snowstorms are excelled in horror only by the avalanches. Quite lately the melting snow has revealed a heap of frozen bodies—horribly lifelike—of a whole platoon swept away nearly a year ago.

"While there have been casualties on both sides from sniping, bomb throwing, machine and mountain guns, and from heavy artillery fire, there has been little sickness among the Italians, for the men know that visits of a doctor are practically impossible. Therefore, they follow the medical advice of their officers. King Victor Emmanuel, whose life has been passed almost entirely among his troops since the beginning of the war, told me, however, that despite the greatest care, occasionally death resulted from frostbite.

FORD'S PEACE MOVEMENT ESTABLISHING BUREAUS

[Canadian Press.]

Stockholm, via London, Aug. 16.—The neutral conference for continuous mediation, resulting from Henry Ford's peace movement, has decided to establish bureaus in Berne and Stockholm and headquarters at The Hague with Louis P. Lochner in charge. Mr. Lochner will leave here within a few days. It is planned also to appoint committees of ten members each in Denmark, Holland, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland, whose duty it will be to watch the political situation in the belligerent countries with the object of promoting peace.

NEW LOAN IN STATES TO PROTECT EXCHANGE

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 16.—The forthcoming loan to be issued in the U. S. for Great Britain is regarded in banking circles as a preliminary move to protect exchange which recently has been showing signs of dropping. The amount of the issue is small, however, that the belief is expressed that a more comprehensive operation, which will include countries allied to Great Britain, may be undertaken in the near future.

AUSTRIAN AIRMEN BUSY SAY BERLIN REPORTS

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Aug. 16.—By Wireless to Sayville.—Further operations of Austrian airmen in bombarding positions behind the Italian front in the Isonzo region are recorded in an Austro-Hungarian admiralty statement today, as follows:

"On the night of August 13-15 a naval aeroplane squadron bombarded most successfully the railroad station at Ronchi and military objects and positions in Chetre-Vermegliano, Selza and San Canziano and a hostile battery at the mouth of the Isonzo. Many exact hits were obtained. All the aeroplanes returned undamaged in spite of the most violent shelling."

SAKHAROFF SPLITS TEUTONIC ARMIES ALONG THE STRIPA

Cutting of Railway May Prove Fatal to Enemy.

BOTH FLANKS ATTACKED

Austrians Are Driven Back Four Miles After Terrific Fighting.

[Canadian Press Cable.]

PETROGRAD, via London, Aug. 16. —3:30 a.m.—The Russians have delivered another telling blow against the right flank of Gen. Von Bothmer's retreating army at Tustobaby, three miles west of the Zlota Lipa, and northwest of Monasterzyska.

The Austrians crossed the river at Korjoba under the shell fire of the Russian batteries, suffering heavy losses. They attempted to make a stand on the high ground on the western bank, where they had previously prepared strong entrenchments and wire defences. While shells raked the Austrians from across the river, the Russians moved up from the south, where they had been expanding their positions during the last few days in the neck formed by the Zlota Lipa River. They poured a grilling fire from machine guns into the Austrians, who withstood the Russian attacks for five hours, and then fell back upon the Gorojana River, four miles to the west.

Northward battles are raging with terrific intensity along the Zlota Lipa, the Russians having succeeded at several other points in gaining a foothold on the west bank.

Railway Is Cut.

Gen. Sakharoff's men have made a considerable advance in the last 38 hours against the left flank of Gen. Von Bothmer's new positions. He cut the Tarnopol-Lemberg railway at a point where the railroad crosses the Stripa River, driving home a wedge between the armies of Gen. Von Bothmer and Gen. Boehm-Ermolli, before Brody.

The advance on Halicz has slowed down, while the Russians are consolidating their positions won north of the Bystritza and Dniester Rivers, and possibly to await the nearer approach of Gen. Scherbatchoff from the west for closer co-operation.

The receipt by the shah of Persia of a negative reply from the Constantinople Government to Persia's ultimatum that a further movement of the Turks beyond Kermanshah would cause an open rupture, appears to be final.

WHAT VIENNA SAYS.

VIENNA, via London, Aug. 15.—The Austrian official communication issued today says:

"South of Tartaroff, near Vorokhta, our battalions were attacked by superior Russian forces, who reoccupied their positions. At the Tartar pass, near Stanislau and south of Jezupol (between Halicz and Stanislau) Gen. Koevess repulsed an advance. West of Monasterzyska during the whole day the enemy stormed our front, at some points six successive times, in mass formation, but he was everywhere repulsed with heavy losses."

PREDICT CHANGES IN TAX ON NICKEL AND PROHIBITION

[Special to The Advertiser.]

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—At a largely-attended Conservative meeting in the Royal Templars' hall tonight important announcements were made by G. Howard Ferguson and Hon. I. B. Lucas on the nickel and hydro questions.

The minister of lands, forests and mines foreshadowed a tax on the nickel industry, which would be more favorable to the province and which would be made retroactive.

Hon. Mr. Lucas intimated that following a request from the hydro commission an order-in-council had been passed June 30 authorizing the purchase of right-of-way from Toronto to Dundas as a power transmission line, with the ultimate purpose of using it as a right-of-way for a radial railway out of Toronto.

The attorney-general had also some significant things to say on the prohibition issue.

Tax International Nickel Company.

In a speech dealing almost entirely with the nickel question, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson said:

"At the present day the nickel commission are dealing with that question, and I can say this to you, without disclosing improperly any information as to what the commission are doing, that we are pretty well satisfied that we have got an improved and equitable method to meet the whole mining situation, with a better tax in the future. So far as the nickel situation is concerned, when legislation is brought down making a new tax next winter that legislation will say that, so far as the International Nickel Company is concerned, it will be retroactive, just as Sir Thomas White's war tax and others were retroactive, and we will get a fair share of the profits."

All Shipments Approved.

"Not one ton of nickel," declared the minister, "goes out of the refinery the order for which is not submitted to the British admiralty and approved before it is sent out. Not one ton of nickel matte goes out of this country except by license of the Dominion Government whereby it can be traced to its ultimate end, where it is turned out in the form of munition supply."

May Change Temperance Act.

Hon. Mr. Lucas intimated that there might be changes in the prohibition bill at the next Legislature. He stated that the Government, while firm in its policy to submit the question of permanent prohibition to the people, did not regard the present Ontario temperance act as one that could not be changed in details or in a substantial way when the House met again.

DORION IS COMMITTED.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15. — Theophile Dorion, former employee of the department of external affairs, charged with offering secret information of the department to the Austrian firm of Franke, Levasseur & Co., of Montreal, was committed by Judge Saint Cyr this morning to stand trial at the September term of the court of king's bench.

ACCIDENT MAY BE FATAL.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—James Aldcroft, aged 19, of 36 Poucher street, had his left leg cut off at the thigh and his right foot mangled while running beside a passing freight train near Galt avenue this afternoon. He is not expected to recover. The boy, who never lost consciousness, told his name, age and address and begged them not to hurt his foot.

Wrecked Hospital One of the Finest Rheims Buildings

Rich Museum and Twelfth Century Cloister in the Structure Ruined.

PARIS, Aug. 15—5:10 p.m.—The civic hospital of Rheims, formerly the abbey of the Church of St. Remi, the destruction of which by German artillery fire was officially announced last night, was one of the finest edifices in the city. It was almost entirely reconstructed in the 18th century.

The linen room in the structure contained an important series of seventeenth-century tapestries, which, with others much older, were recently sent to the Museum Beaux Arts in Paris.

Under the arcades of the cloister forming part of the structure was a rich lapidary museum, containing all the remaining specimens of the archaeological collections of the city, which were almost entirely destroyed in the burning of the archbishop's palace. In another part of the hospital was a part of a primitive cloister, a perfectly preserved and magnificent specimen of twelfth-century art.

A large vault of the cathedral was recently crushed in by a big shell which brought down a mass of fragments.

MILITARY WEDDING AT TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Capt. M. R. Taylor, adjutant of the 212th Battalion, American Legion, was this afternoon married to Miss Helen Galbraith. The wedding was military throughout. The guard of honor, which lined the pathway from the church door to the gate, was furnished by the Royal Canadian Dragoons and the ushers with the exception of one brother-officer of the bridegroom, were officers of the same regiment. After the ceremony the bride and groom left the church under an archway of sabres.

ALLIES BUYING TUNGSTEN.

DENVER, Aug. 15. — England, France and Russia are making inquiries on the condition of the tungsten market in Colorado, according to a statement made today by Frederick Carroll, state mining commissioner, and already have contracted for one hundred tons in the American market.

Woman Sufferage

Its War Time Aspect

London, England.—The Women of England are doing their duty. They are taking care of the wounded, or if they cannot assist in work of that kind they are adding their savings to promote the good work. They are knitting and sewing for the soldiers at the front. The suffragists have given so little trouble to the Government that it will undoubtedly soften the hearts of those in Parliament, since the "militants" have turned all their energies to aid the fighting men of England, and so suffrage may soon come after this terrible war is over.

Thousands of women in Canada have overcome their sufferings, and have been cured of Women's ills by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This temperance medicine, though started nearly half a century ago, sells most widely today, because it is made without alcohol or narcotics. It can now be had in tablet form as well as liquid, and every woman who suffers from backache, headache, nervousness, should take this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on wrapper.

Many a woman is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down and worn out, for no reason that she can think of. In ninety-nine per cent of these cases it is the womanly organism that requires attention; the weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes, are only symptoms. Go to the source of trouble. When that is corrected the other symptoms disappear.

St. Thomas, Ont.—"I wish to say for the benefit of other women who suffer that I recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a great help. I have personally recommended the same to many who in turn have been helped a great deal by its use." Mrs. F. J. Bowden, 19 Oliver St., St. Thomas, Ont.

CANADA AND THE SOMME.

TO THE great names written on Canada's banners of honor will be added the offensive on the Somme.

Vallantly have the men of the north fought until almost the last man was cut down.

They stood firm at the Yser when the line was only one man thick, when there were no reserves and artillery support was missing.

They have held against many attacks the Ypres salient, and stood the most hellish bombardments, and today the Germans hold no ground upon which Canadian feet have trod!

Today the Germans cannot say of any part of Belgium or France held by them: "These trenches were once held by Canadians."

The Canadians have stuck through evil days and fair. That much can be said without a suggestion of boast. They have at times had to fight with stakes and clubs and clods of earth, and they faced the first awful gas attack, BUT HELD ON.

In the ebb and flow along the line God has given Canadian stamina its great test. The boy from this Dominion has stood up and played the game.

Today he is on the Somme! Marvellous words those to ring around the world in all lands where heroes have made new friends for the old home land.

Every mother and wife and sweetheart knows something of what this means. They are to fight the positive fight of superior equipment and an end to long waiting.

Italy, France, Russia, Britain and Belgium have been pressing on the door that leads to Prussia. Let the Canadians be the boys to kick it in!

Eighty thousand of them to be launched at the foe. Now they are on even terms with him. Can he withstand them as they withstood him? We look for new breaches in the German line.

MOTOR TRAFFIC.

CITIZENS are giving to the traffic question the close study it demands, if the lives of pedestrians and motorists as well are to be safeguarded. The campaign inaugurated by The Advertiser has had its echoes in the city council and other quarters. It is altogether probable that a new series of traffic bylaws will be framed, and that the police will be instructed to adopt more systematic methods of regulation. The best evidence of aroused public opinion is that citizens are watching the motor cars, and that owners are commencing to have more consideration for the public on foot. The latter are also considering that they must not expose themselves to danger.

Careless and reckless driving is the first and uppermost question to be considered. The careful driver will not get into trouble if there is chance to avoid it. The reckless or indifferent driver is guilty of potential manslaughter every time he starts his car. He dashes away and takes chances. If the public does not get out of the way that is their lookout; he has the right of might, for will not his car send any man, woman or child spinning if they do not step lively. He sounds his hoarse-voiced warning signal in such a tone as to demand: "Get out of the way or I'll knock you down." He has been responsible for dozens of accidents that have appeared in the newspapers and dozens that have never been reported.

Within the last week more than two score motor accidents of one kind and another have been reported in London and Western Ontario. Perhaps the reader does not notice the heavy toll of lives, as these accidents appear day by day, but in the aggregate the summer's death list from automobile accidents within a radius of 50 miles of London has been great. In less than one month three Londoners have been killed by automobiles or in automobiles, and a dozen more have been more or less seriously injured. We should judge that for every person killed or injured at least twenty have had close calls. In fact, someone has a close call every time someone runs at an excessive speed. (A motorist the other day protested that he had not been running 60 miles an hour on one of the main avenues as was alleged. He declared that his speedometer had registered ONLY 48 miles an hour!)

The first necessity is for the appeal of common sense and fairness to penetrate to the inner consciousness of every motor owner. Ninety per cent of the adult motorists realize the possibilities for disaster, but there is a sprinkling of children and incapables who should never be permitted to sit behind the wheel of an automobile. One sees mere babies driving cars and "hitting it up" at thirty miles an hour in cheap cars that cannot be stopped short of forty or fifty feet. The rocking-horse has been discarded along with the fancy driver and the truck horse! Some women are not to be trusted with cars. They do not appear to know what to do in an emergency. Those who own cars must be sure of the person who drives them, and they must make up their minds to preach "Safety First" all the time. Several times have men come into The Advertiser office after striking pedestrians, asking to be "let down easy." If the accident was fatal, those men are affected for life by the haunting thought that they caused the death of a fellow mortal. The individual motorist can do almost everything to keep his own slate clean, and he can also perform public service by reporting to the police the numbers of those who violate the laws.

Up to a certain extent the actions of a man in a motor car are controllable. But when he comes to corners, such as Dundas and Richmond street, he is to a large extent dependent for his movements on the traffic officers. His car is controlled by the signals of the traffic officer, and while the present bylaws were adequate for the needs of five years ago, the enormous increase in the number of cars demands that some new system be adopted.

It is the opinion of many who have studied the problem that all pedestrian traffic should move with vehicular traffic, meaning that the public should be educated that safety and convenience are to be found by watching the signals of the traffic officer and moving in co-operation with the vehicular traffic. This system would have its difficulties, as cars making a turn at the principal intersection would block pedestrians, but as long as cars were running east or west or north or south the public would be assured that it was safe in following the direction of traffic. As it is now there is no system for regulating pedestrians. They cross from corner to corner without considering the confusion they are causing, and the danger of accident they are inviting.

All of these considerations in the motor traffic problem should be considered at any early date, and motor owners should come forward to give their views and assistance in securing the best results when new laws are to be framed.

VISION IN VAIN.

TWO Liberal premiers of Ontario endeavored to secure for Great Britain a monopoly of the Canadian nickel supply. They were told that the admiralty did not consider it necessary to enter the field, preferring that private capital should develop the nickel resources of this province. Thus the farsightedness of Hon. A. S. Hardy and Sir Oliver Mowat came to naught, and the efforts of their successor, Sir George Ross, brought only a reply more curt from Downing street.

In view of the sailing of the submarine freighter Deutschland with a cargo of nickel and the fact that Ontario produces 80 per cent of the nickel of the world, all of which by the way is taken to the United States to be refined, the article by George Wilkie, a well-known Toronto barrister, in the Canadian Magazine for August, is one of the most valuable contributions made to the subject. It shows under what great difficulties these sagacious statesmen labored when they endeavored to save this vast supply of war material, without which the enemy would have been seriously handicapped in the manufacture of munitions. The British were offered control of the field by Hardy and Mowat, with the hope that the mineral would be refined in this country and controlled by the Empire. But neither Lord Knutsford, at that time secretary of state, nor the admiralty, saw the importance of securing the supply. As a consequence, Ontario let the mining leases go to the highest bidder, and for many years the International Nickel Company, said to be in close touch with the Krupps, have been carting away the nickel, having it refined in the United States and sold broadcast, with Germany favored in the market.

Mr. Hardy was anticipating the nickel situation soon after the discovery of the deposits and made the following suggestion:

"In view, therefore, of the important national uses to which nickel is being applied by foreign governments, and of the consequent demand for mining locations here, it has occurred to the undersigned that an arrangement might be made under which the Government of the United Kingdom should acquire a substantial, possibly a controlling, interest in the nickel deposits of this province."

The reply from the admiralty was that it was not "expedient" to apply to Parliament to acquire control of the mines. Negotiations were continued up to the time the Ross Government was defeated, but control had passed when Hon. Frank Cochrane wrote that it was not possible to offer the same bargain.

Concerning the statesmanship revealed by the Liberals and the lack of it revealed by those to whom it was made, Mr. Wilkie writes:

"The curtain falls upon this act. We may not applaud either plot, author or actor, but surely he who runs may read and observe where the real statesmanship was exercised."

Indifference to the real needs of the situation as recognized by these great Canadians has cost Great Britain and Canada dear. The movement to keep this great industry for the Dominion and the stock of nickel in the control of the Empire was born more than twenty years ago.

EXPEL THEM BOTH.

WARM blood flowed following warm words at the city council, and what is considered the most disgraceful scene ever staged by city fathers was enacted. In so far as they are able citizens should make sure that there is never a recurrence of such a desperate incident by selecting their aldermen with more care, and making careful inquiry as to their tempers and reputations.

The "militant" wing of London's council is always on its feet with charges designed to wreck careers, and there is no doubt that many a good man has been angered to the point of feeling like retaliating with force, but the use of a missile which not only laid low his opponent but endangered the lives of "innocent bystanders" is an act so inexcusable as to call for the expulsion of the man guilty of it. More than this, it should be the apparent duty of the mayor to expel both men. They are a danger to themselves, a menace to their fellow-councillors and a disgrace to the city. The mayor has powers which he should exercise in this case, and in the event of his failing to do so, the citizens should make certain that these men suffer expulsion in case they offer themselves for re-election.

Citizens are responsible for the men they put in office, and all history proves that some frightful blunders are made. Feudism springs up between certain members and instead of devoting themselves to the task of soberly and sincerely transacting the most important business of their fellow-citizens they spend most of the city's time in exploiting their grudges and wrangling endlessly. It is time to put an end to the making of the city council a ring for desperate assaults and desperate provocation.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Hearst's offensive in the Balkans was no more offensive than most Hearst things.

Lake Erie should be emerald green today.

Those two aldermen might be taken to Port Stanley today as an added attraction.

Woodrow Wilson won an eight-hour day for the railroad employees. That looks like one strike on Hughes.

We are not so much concerned over the safety of certain aldermen, but we cannot afford to have our fire chief and other valuable citizens exposed to danger.

The Irishmen's picnic is the only one of the big picnics which has stood the test of time. The reason is that everyone can feel Irish on the occasion, for the Irish are the playboys of the world.

The London Free Press is still afraid to use the name of Hearst. Why does it fail to print the dispatch which it received showing that Hearst has inserted the word "overwhelming" in a German report claiming a British defeat?

The Tea House

By Fanny Gray.

Lucy Cutler was helping her mother finish the Saturday cleaning and baking, and was rebelling in her soul. Not that she so particularly disliked the work itself, but the thought that she had to do that kind of thing day after day, with not even a maid servant's wage, stirred her to anger. Her father, a prosperous farmer, could well afford to pay for it, as she knew, yet he seemed to think it was the natural and proper thing for herself and her younger sister, Florence, to scrub along, week after week, satisfied with an occasional small sum with which to buy necessities.

She had been out of high school two years, and during that time had urged upon her father to let her learn some trade or take some kind of position; or, if not willing for that, at least to pay her regular wages for work in the house. But father was not modern in his ideas, and couldn't see why Lucy shouldn't be contented as she was.

Today she was feeling a bit more unhappy than usual over the situation, as a school friend, who had become a stenographer, had passed the house, bound on some Saturday afternoon pleasure, her new suit and stylish hat proclaiming her an independent earner and spender.

When Lucy finished her work, she started to walk rather aimlessly down the road to rest and cool off. Her father had just acquired, through a foreclosure a piece of property of about two acres adjoining his land, on which was a picturesque little cottage. As she reached a place in the road opposite the new property, she stopped to admire the tiny house and the old-fashioned flowers bordering the walk, as well as the climbing roses over the porch.

Just then Fred Emerson came along, and the two stood there together. Fred was a hustling young chap, with quite a bank account already. He had for some time been casting longing glances in Lucy's direction, but, being somewhat bashful, he had not progressed very far in his wooing.

Now, as they viewed together the snug bit of land and the house, with the "For Sale" sign against the stone wall, a thought of himself and Lucy in such a home rushed into his mind, and he wanted to give expression to it; but all he found himself saying was that it made him think of the little tea-house some women had opened the summer before in Riverside.

An idea flashed through Lucy's mind. As soon as Fred went on, she rushed back to the farmhouse and found her mother.

"Mother, what's father going to do with the Clapp house?"

"Why, nothin' this year that I know of. Of course, he wants to sell it."

"Would he let me use the cottage, do you think, mother?"

"Use the cottage! For the land's sake, child, what for?"

"Well, I've got an idea. You remember when I visited Aunt Carrie last summer in Riverside? Some women set up a tea-house not half so pretty as the Clapp place and sold tea and things to motorists over there, and Aunt Carrie said they made a lot of money. I could make more here because it's on the State road."

"Yes, I heard about them," answered her mother. "But those women had a tea-room in the city and knew all about running one. You couldn't do it."

"But, mother, I wouldn't try to do as much as they did. We could just have tea and little biscuits and jam, and perhaps cake. Do you think father would let me try?"

"I don't know, Lucy, I'm sure."

"You help persuade him, mother, won't you? I won't neglect the house. It will only be afternoons when we once get started."

It took considerable persuasion to make Farmer Cutler give his consent. But, with mother on Lucy's side and Florence all eagerness, he finally gave in reluctantly.

"It's fool business, anyhow," was his concluding remark on the subject. "You'll be wanting to spend money on the shebang and then it'll all peter out."

The girls worked with a will all the next week, and, contrary to prophecy, they didn't ask their father for a cent. What little they had to have Lucy spent out of a small sum she had tucked away. They cleaned out the little cottage themselves. It was in pretty good order already and was furnished. There were three rooms on the ground floor. They turned the parlor, which was the largest, into the tea-room proper, and made a sort of serving room of the dining-room. The small piazza, they decided, would hold three tables. Tables and chairs! Those were the difficult things to arrange! Finally, Lucy had a bright idea. She would go to the Woman's Club and ask to hire those which the club kept for its garden parties, etc. Mother loaned her best white and gold eggshell china, which seldom saw the light of day, and agreed to supply the first little biscuit. She was a dabster at making delicate, tiny ones that fairly melted in one's mouth. There was plenty of homemade jam, to which Lucy felt she had some right, having made it.

Two or three days before they were ready, Lucy put a sign out on the lawn near the street, announcing the opening of the tea-house. Half a mile down the road was a motor repair shop, which she felt would play into their hands, as sometimes the owners of cars had many tedious moments to pass.

The first afternoon she told herself they really must not expect anyone; but her heart beat high with expectation just the same, as she and Florence, in white muslin dresses and dainty aprons, waited in the cottage. Each table had a lunch of flowers in a glass tumbler, and there was a great bunch of buttercups and daisies in a jar on the piazza.

A man and woman driving through the country in a buggy were their first guests. A motorcyclist and one large automobile party made up the list for the day, and they thought it very encouraging, even if father did sniff a bit when told. Fred Emerson dropped in around six o'clock, just to cheer them up, he said. But it was noticeable that the cheering process lasted all through the prosperous season which followed.

The tea-house was a great success, on the whole, and when the time came to close it, and Lucy counted up the exact profit, she was highly elated, and began at once to plan for the next year.

Her surprise was very great when her father told her that he cottage was no longer his to dispose of. It had been sold, and she must apply to the new owner for a lease, that owner being Fred Emerson.

For some reason, which she didn't quite comprehend herself, Lucy felt shy about going to him. But one day when she was alone at the cottage, putting away the last things for that season, Fred appeared. Lucy began at once.

"Father told me you had bought the place, Fred. I want to know if I can have it again next year, and what the rent will be."

It isn't necessary for us to know in just what words Fred told her that the house was hers on one condition, and that he had been determined to own it and install her as mistress ever since the first day he watched her moving about in it, looking so sweet and dainty serving tea to her guests. She must have accepted the condition, for the next summer saw the little cottage transformed into a comfortable, livable home, and there were biscuits and tea; but the order was for two.

New Rules for Candidates for the City Council.

Every candidate must be equipped with a pair of boxing gloves, eight ounces.

The mayor must have a silencer, to work automatically, by which an alderman can be closed up, when starting a vicious address.

Sergeant-at-Arms Harry Merritt should have a Lewis machine gun, loaded for instant action.

Fire Chief Aitken must have a steel helmet, with something to protect his hands.

City aldermen should be armed with paper drinking cups henceforth. The glass kind comes under the head of dangerous weapons.

Reporters should be encased in bomb-proof shelters (and a couple of gas masks). Their lives are precious in the sight of the Lord.

An official referee should be engaged to supervise all fights, fisticuffs and bomb-throwing.

All vocabularies should be given a steam or other cleaning treatment before being exposed at the council.

Each and every alderman should be equipped with a bottle-holder, second, first-aid nurse, a pretty regular nurse, cot, and all other hospital requirements.

A corps of lawyers to take down the last will and testament of the aldermen should be engaged. It might save litigation.

Chaplains might be employed. The last rites of the church might be of some avail to some of the aldermen.

A bevy of policemen should be in the offing. In their spare time they could play checkers, and beat up reporters.

The mayor should have at least two 75 cent. French guns. He could blow belligerent aldermen out of the trenches.

THE HONORARY COLONEL WHO WAS LET OUT.

When the major-general returns won't there just be a row?
It frightens me to contemplate his ire;
Wow! but he'll lash his confreres and curse them all for fools,
For "permitting" Colonel Allison to retire.

He'll tell they had better have stood by that good man,
Whom he knows to be just next door to a saint;
Whose aim in life was only to do things, free, for Sam,
And though they were "done" they should make no complaint.

No one needs to worry about Sam squaring himself,
Not a doubt will ever cross his mind.
When a favorite of his is proved black, instead of white;
He will swear the whole commission's color-blind.

And Allison is fixed. He's not bothering his head,
As to who'll throw, on the troubled waters, oil;
For he kept on his uniform and wore his spurs until
He got away with quite a lot of spoil.

Allison is "standing easy." He has laid his burden down,
He feels there is no call for him to fret,
He did what was expected, for himself and all his pals,
When he collared all commissions he could get.

BATTALION SONGS

MIDDLESEX BATTALION.

Here's to the boys of Middlesex
Who have answered duty's call,
To fight for King and Country
They will brave it one and all.
Our hearts will sure be with them,
While the Kaiser they will whip,
And in praying for freedom we'll not forget
The boys of the One-thirty-fifth.

When the call "To arms" was sounded,
In spirit they had shown
The love they bore Old England
When they left their friends and home.
When Britain reigns victorious
Our voices we will lift,
In praising the Pride of Our County,
The boys of the One-thirty-fifth.

On Britain's shore they soon will tread
To take their part in war;
They'll play the game right to the end,
That's what they're training for.
To uphold our nation's honor
They will fight while one is left,
Yet we'll watch and pray for their safe return,
The boys of the One-thirty-fifth.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

A "Catchy" Name.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you suggest a nice "catchy" name for a summer cottage by the lake?

2.—Would you please print those instructions someone was sending to you regarding painting on silk? Are these for "..ng water-colors?

5.—Do you know the address of Wallace Reid? How old is he, and is he married?

Now, Miss Grey, I have a perfectly sure cure for warts—lemon juice and salt applied several times a day.

BOTHERSOME BRIDGET.

Ans.—I never was clever at inventing "catchy" names, so afraid my suggestions will seem tame. I think "Lotos" a pretty name for cottage or boat; if it is in a little valley, "Sleepy Hollow" might answer, but, of course, a cottage on a hill couldn't have this name. One cottage I know of in a quiet nook is named "Forty Winks," and very applicable it is, too.

2. In brief, the instructions I have from "Kitty" are these: Paints used on silk and velvet or any goods are the same ordinary oil colors that are used for pictures, and are sold in small tubes of different sizes. Ask your teacher what colors to get, as all teachers do not use the same number of colors. I use ten and have taught my pupils with those; we make other necessary colors by mixing. Art stores and hardwares handle the tube paints. Ask teacher what kind and how many brushes. Do not paint on cheap velvet or shiny silk. The work is never satisfactory. Good satin or bolting silk is best. My ten colors are flake white, ivory black, yellow ochre, chrome yellow, burnt sienna, permanent blue, vandyke brown, vermillion, mauve, and Alzarian crimson.

3. No. I do not know.

"Shy Ann" Peeps In.

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am again, peeping from behind the curtain, and what do I see? Why, a whole circle of Cynthians trying to cool themselves off, but really not succeeding, for which I am very sorry. What's happened you, "Calamity Ann"? Hope the cold didn't turn into consumption and down you. Goodness, you have been absent from the page so long that I am beginning to believe it did. Speak up and calm my fears, will you?

I am sending a few flags and a Gillett's lye coupon. Hope it helps a little.

The last time I wrote I sent a stamped and addressed envelope asking for two songs, namely: "A Mother Pleading for Her Son" and "The Spanish Cavalier." I did not receive them yet. Best wishes to the Mail-Box. Au revoir.

SHY ANN.

Ans.—I have the words of "Spanish Cavalier" for you, but not the other. Can anyone oblige "Shy Ann"? "Calamity," you see how all your friends are worrying over your absence. Do write.

Sends Thanks to "W. A. R."

Dear Miss Grey,—I must thank you very much for sending the flags on, and "W. A. R." for sending them in to you to send me. They certainly were just the kind I wanted. Don't you want any of the songs I offered, "W. A. R."?

Miss Grey, I am greedy; I would like about five of the flannelette flags.

Well, that "Caesar" is some jolly fellow, isn't he? And our "Twenty-One" has gone to Camp Borden, too. I have cousins and uncles there in the 149th. How is "Aunt Nannie's" quilt coming along? I'll bet it's a beauty when it's finished. I'd just love to see it. Where have "B. D." and "Cal. Ann" gone to? I don't see any letters from them. Wake up, "B. D." and "C. A."

MOSQUITO BITE NO. 2.

Ans.—Shall save your envelope and send you flags when I get some more.

Exchange Coupons.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see where coupons are exchanged through your column. I would like some Robin Hood Porridge Oats coupons, three if you could please spare them, am sending two Quaker Oats and one Magic Baking Powder coupon in exchange for same. I do enjoy reading your page very much.

ANOTHER MOTHER OF TWO WEE DARLINGS.

Ans.—The R. H. variety does not come in as plentifully as some others, but I hope to hear from someone with a few for you, especially as you are a new comer.

Poor "Little Me."

Dear Miss Grey,—I see where "Wynne" has returned the postage that was sent for patches. If you have any crochet underwaist or nightdress yokes, I would just love to get them, as I'm not able to work; have been sick for over four months now. A neighbor would like to get the formulas for making rose, and salt beads, if you have them.

What do you think of my writing?

LITTLE ME.

Ans.—Poor "Little Me"! I'm glad to send you a few crocheted designs, and hope they may help pass the weary minutes. The clippings for "neighbor" were also ..sed.

Writing is neat, but a little cramped.

Book for "Rettah."

Dear Miss Grey,—Here I am making more work for you again this hot day. "Rettah Romaine" wanted "All for a Scrap of Paper." If she sends stamps and address, I will lend it to her. Thanks for the suggestions for soldier's birthday present. I may add to that a leather case, with a friend's picture in it, or a knife, fork, and spoon, with his initials and regimental number engraved on it. Mother wishes to send a recipe for hasty bread pudding, because it doesn't require much fire—something everyone likes these hot days. Will send a stamp if I may have the songs, "Just Break the News to Mother" and "Just Before the Last Fair Charge."

Bilious headaches are generally caused from the liver. If the reader who has them would take some liver cure, I believe it would help her. "A True Reader, Wingham," wants six soldier flags. Please find them and a few others inclosed.

MERRY ANNA II. AND HER MOTHER

Ans.—"Rettah," please send me your address and postage to defray sending the book so I may forward it to "Merry Anna II."

Copies of the songs are going to "M. A. II." Please tell "mother" her recipe is a fine dog-day one. "True Reader" is already supplied, but your flags will find a "market" elsewhere.

Help for "Winn."

Dear Miss Grey,—Have just been reading about Winn's sore need of soap ovals, so having some on hand, will send them with two gum flags. Would like some crochet patterns if you have any on hand.

NELO.

Ans.—"Winn," please send address and postage for the ovals. I have quite a few for you, altogether. "Nelo," I might scrape up a few if you send address. What kind do you wish? Some of the nice ones you send are going to "Little Me," who is a "shut-in."

Word for "Gadfly."

"A Gadfly"—Well named, friend, but it does us good to be nipped a bit now and then. There is real sense in your letter when one comes to think of it, and I'm glad you didn't keep silent anyway. I have not used it, though, for we aim at soothing—not wounding—folks' feelings. And it really is a sad case.

Re your query isn't the quotation from "The Vampire," by Kipling? It's the same one in which he talks of "a rag and a bone, and a hank of hair." I believe. Somehow, I never could quite forgive "Ruddy" for that one, and for "The Female of the Species."

Happy Hooligan.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could I please have some of the flags (as many as you can spare) offered by "Merry Anna II." or others?

Am inclosing some "Sweetheart" coupons for "Young Stepmother."

If "Molly-Cholly" will try taking about a quarter of a teaspoon of cream of tartar in a little water twice a day, I am sure it will help the hives. It cured me of them, anyway. Have you given away your flags yet, "Molly-Cholly," or am I too late?

Will inclose return envelope for flags. Hope I am not asking too much, and that I may be of some help to you some other time.

HAPPY HOOLIGAN.

Ans.—I have sent "Merry Anna II.'s" flags to you, and am sure you will like them. Bring your happy self back again some day.

Word for the 33rd.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have intended many times to answer a letter which appeared on June 17th, but alas sickness came, and put a stop for a time to all writing, but now that I am able to be up again thought I would tell "A Soldier's Wife-To-Be" how it is that "we" all cheer the 33rd Battalion. Now in the first place it is because they are men, just brave, true-hearted, fearless soldiers, willing to fight, willing to die, or anything that is required of them. Why should we not praise them? She says "Three cheers for the 'Pride of Middlesex!'" Well, we ought to be proud of that battalion, too, for are they not one and all willing to lay down their lives for us? "Greater love than this hath no man, that he lay down his life for his friends." Now, it doesn't matter what mischief the soldiers get into, I say look over a lot, for a great many of the boys of the old 33rd have gone to the Great Beyond, and their little deeds of kindness and bravery outweigh all the harm they ever did.

Well, I think I hear "be brief," so must close with three cheers to all the "Tommy Atkins," and a "Safe home" to all, and best wishes to all the Mail-Box readers. How my heart goes out to poor "Faded Lily"; hope she will be comforted soon, and be able to see the silver lining to the dark cloud. My hand is getting pretty shaky, so won't ask about my writing. Hope you can manage to read it. Bye-bye,

ONE OF THE FARMERS' WIVES.

P.S.—If the girls who have such trouble with their incubator chicks would take them out and just give them very fine gravel (or grit) before they feed them the first time, they would have better success. And always keep incubator chicks a little hungry, never overfeed; especially do not give much chop.

Ans.—Sickness is not a bit easy to bear is it? And especially on the farm, where so many duties indoors and out, wait to be performed. Glad to get your message for "Soldier's Wife-To-Be"; perhaps she "is" by this time. May health and strength be speedily restored to you.

Queenie's Quest.

Dear Miss Grey,—Just a little space for my call, but the truth is I am wanting five Purity oat coupons, and I wondered if I might be able to receive them through our Mail-Box. I notice where some of our readers are telling us their favorite battalions. I can't say I have any favorite, but again there are some splendid men in the 142nd, even if it isn't full strength. Oh, Miss Grey, what do you suppose is wrong with our London boys? Why don't they make their own battalion just one of the best ever? Enough said, so will close.

QUEENIE.

Ans.—Does anyone chance to have coupons of the kind "Queenie" wants? I have her address. The flags you inclosed are very acceptable, "Queenie."

Budget of Help.

Dear Miss Grey,—A reader wanted to know what she could take grass stains out with. A friend of mine told me she took a big grass stain out of a dainty dress by putting fresh lard on the stain, let stand a while, then rub well between hands, and wash the spot in soft water with castile soap. Someone wanted to know how to take stains out of linen. Boil the linen in soft water with lye made out of wood ashes; fill a kettle half-full of ashes, then cover well with water, and boil; put two or three cups of the lye in the boiler; this will take paint out of white goods also.

To make a can of corn go farther, roll a soda biscuit and add after the milk is put in.

Oxalic acid will take iron rust and inkstains out of white goods. Place the cloth in a dish that is free from rust, and hold the part that isn't stained to one side; put about a teaspoon of the acid on the spot, and pour boiling water on it and let stand a while; sometimes I have had to set it on the stove and let come to a boil. I took a whole bottle of ink out of a sideboard cover in this way.

Iodine is good to kill a ringworm. Put on with a feather.

A glass of strong lemonade is good for a headache, and to rub the head with tincture of myrrh.

I was going to ask you and the readers the same as "Meddlesome Mattie" did. Readers, just stop and think about our poor British boys in prison. Let us all send some money to Miss Grey for her to give to the Red Cross to send food to the prisoners. Please excuse mistakes and writing. I quit school young, and have worked hard ever since.

"A BUSY MOTHER ON A FARM."

P.S.—Please tell me what day of the week wa.. March 20, 1886.

To remove tan, soak tansy in buttermilk a few hours, then wash in it; don't wash it off for an hour or so. Apply it often. When I was a girl I used it, and found it good.

Ans.—You are just one budget of helpfulness, and I know those in need of your varied hints will certainly appreciate them. March 20, 1886, came on a Saturday. Shall be glad to hear from others re adopting a prisoner.

A Contemptible Man.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a reader of your valuable page, and am interested in your column; also I was quite interested in the kissing discussion, and I think it was thoroughly threshed. Now for a few questions on a different subject, and see if anyone else will chip in also.

1. Do you think it right for a man to get a divorce, providing he is making himself more happy and has more true love for his second wife?

2. Do you think a divorced man can get into heaven?

3. What does a divorce cost in the United States, and why are they so dear here in Canada?

I will sign myself, CANUCK.

Ans.—If a man's sole reason for getting a divorce was to "make himself more happy" and because he had more "true love" to the second woman—why, I'd like to take a gun and shoot him instead of granting him a divorce—only clean, plain shooting would be much too good a punishment! Heavens, "Canuck," if a man has one true, faithful wife, what reasonable business has he falling in love with another woman?

2. If he's like the man you intimate in query one, I fancy he'd have a hard time squeezing in.

3. Divorce laws differ in nearly every state of the Union, and prices accordingly. We are fortunate that Canada is not, as yet, so lax in the matter of these laws, as our southern neighbor. Although, of course, I admit there are circumstances under which a divorce is justifiable.

Bothered With Ants.

Dear Miss Grey,—Every since coming to Canada three years ago I have been interested in your column. Now may I please ask you two questions, and as this is the "first time of asking," perhaps you will still use your wonderful patience?

1. Around the house we live in the land is very sandy, and as the weather has been so dry, we are troubled with myriads of small black or dark brown ants. Could you possibly tell me a remedy?

2. Now, may I ask the usual question: What do you think of my writing? Please oblige by answering.

ANT-HILL.

Ans.—Looks as if you will have to try the carbolic treatment for the "pesky" ants. Heat water to boiling point, add a tablespoon carbolic to each quart of water, and pour freely over the ground infested. It is also a good plan on wash-day to heat some of the strong suds and your on to the ant-hills. In the house saucers of diluted carbolic acid is effective in driving them out. Seems rather cruel, but when one has been annoyed with them for a time a housewife gets desperate, eh?

2. I think it is extremely neat and legible.

A Bad Mixture.

Dear Miss Grey,—Well, here I am; but not being an Indian half-breed, I will slip quietly in without the war-whoop. I certainly am a bad mixture, being one-half English and the other half—will I say it?—German. What do you suppose they would do with me, shoot me?

I saw in issue of August 3 that "18th Battalion Soldier's Wife" wanted my address. Will send it along. Hubby says: "Dear knows what kind of a scrape you will be getting in." Now, isn't that just like a man!

Where, oh where is "B. D."? Has this sweltering weather marred her waxen face? I hope not. Dear little "Curly Head" let us hear from you; are you any better? I sincerely hope you are.

I have one gum flag I will send along; do as you wish with it.

I asked once before for the words of a song my mother used to sing. She would like to get it; it goes something like this:

"It is finished, 'tis a letter
That will tell him he is free,
From this moment and forever,
He is nothing more to me."

I would send any old song I have in exchange for it. I have "My Dad's the Engineer," "Merry Farmer Girls," "Mary and Willie Sat by the Seaside," "Mabel Clare," "Whose Little Girl Are You?" and several others.

Oh! How are you getting along Kentucky Nell"? Do let us know.

Tell "In the Dust" that I made one of her chocolate cakes with the date filling. We all enjoyed it very much, also "Mrs. M.'s" biscuits; had some of them for supper last night; they were dandy. Well I must ring off. I really didn't intend to be so long-winded.

Same as B4, HALF-BREED.

Ans.—Think I can promise you protection, "H. B.," if any of our patriots declare hostilities. Anyway it won't be "In the Dust" or "Mrs. M.," since you praise their recipes so nicely! Hope someone may supply the old song for you. I mailed you a letter from "Aunt Nannie" last week. "18th Battalion Soldier's Wife," please send address for "Half-Breed's. You would see your quilt blocks acknowledged with the rest on Saturday.

Hints for "Jenny."

"Hustling Jenny"—The address you quote is sufficient. If you write a story under a nom-de-plume, begin by writing the heading or title of the story, and immediately below put the word "by" and your penname. Then proceed with your Ms. In the upper right-hand corner of the page insert your real name and address, also on the last page, at foot of copy. Amount of postage depends on weight of paper used. Ask the postmaster. Send a nickel wrapped in paper or cardboard if you cannot get American stamps.

2. If properly used, the electric needle leaves no scars, or at least any that may be left soon wear away.

Your writing is poor, "Jenny," although you mayn't love me for saying so! And you forget to punctuate, don't you?

Neighbor's Thanks.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am back again so soon, but as usual I am after help. But first of all I must thank "Suffragette Susan," "A Helper," "A Yankee Girl," and others for their kind help re developing, and if I want any more help I will only be too glad to ask their help. I received help from a friend shortly after I wrote, but if I find any others I will pass on the readers' addresses. Now for my questions:

Do any of the readers know of a way to keep tomatoes all winter, whole, so that they may be sliced raw? I have heard there is a way, and would like very much to get it, as I am very fond of sliced ripe tomatoes. I think they were kept in crocks.

I am sending some Pure Gold Orange wrappers to you. Perhaps someone may want them. I would also like to get about twenty Magic Baking Powder coupons if anyone can spare them. I have recitations, embroidery or crocheting patterns I would exchange for them, if they would say what kind of a pattern they would prefer, and what it was for. Wishing you all good luck.

THE NEIGHBOOR.

Ans.—I wonder if this is the method you wish? Personally I have never tried it: "Fill a large stone jar with ripe tomatoes, then add a few whole cloves, and a little sugar; cover well with one half cold vinegar and half water; place a piece of flannel over the jar well down into the vinegar, then tie down with paper. Should mildew collect on the flannel it will not injure the tomatoes in the least."

Your letter has been sent to "Unexpected Visitor." Remainder of remarks referred.

Name Is "Nettles."

Dear Miss Grey,—1. What day did February 24, 1905, fall on?

2. What does the name Alice mean?

3. I have 24 Gypsy gum wrappers or coupons that I will exchange for Comfort soap wrappers if anyone wants them.

4. Please give your opinion of my writing.

I am NETTLES.

Ans.—1. A Friday.

2. It signifies "of noble birth" or "a princess."

3. I have laid by some soap coupons for you. Please send a stamp and your address.

4. It is neat, but rather cramped.

Got No Response.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am coming again to bother you. The last time I wrote you for some songs, and saw no reply. I thought I would chance it again. I am inclosing some soap coupons, and two baking powder coupons for anyone who wants them. I should like to get some tobacco coupons if you have any to spare. Will sign as before,

IRISH MOLLIE.

Ans.—Sorry you received no response in answer to your request for songs. If any coupons come in for you I shall certainly let you know. Thank you for those you sent.

A Bride's Biscuits.

Dear Miss Grey,—My hubby was taking the paper when we were married, and is taking it now. I think it is so helpful to such as me.

1. Can anybody tell me why my cakes don't raise? I put everything in the same as other people; it is just layer cakes that bother me. I would also like a good biscuit recipe, as mine are always tough. I feel like crying sometimes when they turn out tough. Hubby is always good about it, and never scolds.

I am sending in a few gum flags if anyone would care for them. In return I would like some Surprise soap wrappers and Sunkist orange wrappers if anyone has them.

I think "Old-Fashioned Wife" is an awfully hard worker. I don't think I could stand it. I sometimes send hubby out some lemonade, but not very often, I am afraid. If anybody would like sweet peas seed this fall I can let them have some. Mine are mixed, all colors, and I think I will have quite a nice lot.

YOUNG BRIDE.

Ans.—Poor little Mrs. Newlywed, how nice it is that "hubby never scolds." But we'll have to find you a recipe that will produce light, flaky biscuits and nice cake. I've got several good ones among my clippings, but I'll not offer them now, for I just know that some of our motherly readers will love to come to your aid with hints. Who'll be first to help raise bridie's cake and shorten her biscuits?

NOTES.

"Anxious,"—Sorry, but I do not possess any information about the story-writing school. Do not care to advise you one way or another. If you are "sport" enough to risk the money, with the hopes of "writing for pay" later, you have my very best wishes, but somehow I'm never very enthusiastic over these propositions.

"Holly"—This should suit—482 R. If I had your address I might have sent it in full.

PHILLIES BLANK GIANTS.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—A base on balls to Byrne, Cravath's single and a double steal by these players gave Philadelphia the only run of today's game with New York, and enabled the Phillies to make a clean sweep of the series of four contests. The visitors got only one man as far as second base and none to third.

GOES TO THE GIANTS

GEORGE "MOONEY" GIBSON, who has been release via the waiver route by the Pittsburg Nationals to the New York Giants.

"Mooney" Gibson Goes to New York Giants

PITTSBURG, Aug. 15.—George Gibson, since 1905 a catcher for the Pittsburg National League baseball club, was today released via the waiver route to the New York club of the same league.

George "Mooney" Gibson was born in London on July 22, 1880, and after playing amateur ball here for a number of years, broke into professional ranks with the Kingston club of the Hudson River League in 1902. In the fall of the same year he went to Buffalo of the Eastern League, and the following year went to the Montreal club of the same league, from which club he graduated to Pittsburg in 1905. During the years he was with Pittsburg he has done valiant service, and from 1905 to 1915 caught 1,131 games for the Pirates, as well as figuring in the world's series in 1909, when Pittsburg won the championship from Detroit. Owing to having to miss a greater part of the spring training, Mooney was slow in rounding into shape this season, and has not been used to any great extent by the Buccaneers. The Giants are badly in need of a backstop, and Gibson should be in a position to render valuable services.

JABS AT ALL 'ROUND Sports.

Pitcher Guy Morton will be in shape to pitch for Cleveland before the end of the month, according to the announcement of the club physician. The doctor makes a complete denial of the stories in circulation that Morton's arm is practically useless as far as big league baseball is concerned. "Morton's arm is just a little bit weak, but the kink is gone," said Dr. Castle. "A little more rest and light workouts will see Guy in prime condition for the September pennant dash."

Pittsburg's Grand Circuit meet was a failure financially, and it is not likely that they will have a chance to see the fast steppers there for many seasons to come. The meeting was a pronounced sportsman success, but a bad financial attempt, and the backers are considerably out of pocket. While the postponement on account of rain the first two days may have accounted in a measure for the failure, the wind up was under most favorable conditions, but even the sensational class of races offered could not attract the public, and Pittsburg has lost a chance to be retained on the Grand Circuit card of the future.

The tug-of-war team of the 142nd Battalion is desirous of meeting any of the local teams at the sports which will be held on their arrival in the city.

Pitcher "Joe" Wood has been purchased by the Detroit club from the Portsmouth (Virginia) League club, and will report at the end of the Virginia League season.

Fifteen thousand people can be accommodated in the new arena which is being built at Colorado Springs for the Welsh-White match, which will be held there on Labor Day. Both the scrappers are in Denver, and will go to the Springs at the end of the week to finish training.

Babe Adams, the veteran twirler released by the Pirates, is negotiating with the Denver Western League club for a place on the pay roll.

Governor Willis of Ohio has ordered an investigation of the scheduled battle between Johnny Kilbane and George Chaney for the featherweight title to determine whether it is a boxing match or a prize fight. If it develops that it is a prize fight, Governor Willis says it will not be pulled off. To decide the question he ordered Erie County officials to probe the fight, and has asked the attorney-general for a legal opinion.

Outfielder Lawrence Miller, infielder J. T. Sheahan and First Baseman Warren Adams, all of Winnipeg, have been purchased by the Brooklyn Nationals.

Harry Clarke, for four years manager of the Milwaukee American Association Club, has resigned. The Milwaukee team captured two pennants under Clark's leadership, but at the present time are trailing the league.

Centre Fielder Sam Mayer and Pitcher Scott Perry of the Nashville Club have been sold to the Chicago Nationals, for delivery at the end of the Southern League season.

Imported Star Shoot leads by a large margin the list of American sires this season. His progeny have won 123 races and over $76,000 in money this year. Peep o' Day, McGee and Marta Santa follow next in the order named.

When Dodge captured the Saranac Handicap at Saratoga on Tuesday, he undoubtedly established his supremacy among the 3-year-olds now in training. He had two pounds the advantage of Spur, but ran the mile in 1:38, and won handily by a length. Dodge was the best youngster on the Canadian circuit last year, and by winning the Latonia and Chicago Derbys this season showed that he was in a class by himself.

Lee Tannehill, the former Chicago White Sox player, has been appointed captain of the South Bend Central League Club in place of Ben Koehler, who has been unconditionally released.

Another effort is being made to straighten out the selling race problem, and at the suggestion of Secretary Walter O. Parmer, the following new rule has been adopted for the Windsor race meet: "All top and bottom selling races in the book will stand as they are, the winner to be claimed for the selling price plus $500. In all other selling races, including handicaps, the winner shall be offered for his entered price plus the first money. Any advance on same shall be divided, fifty, thirty, and twenty percent between the second, third and fourth horses. Beaten horses can be claimed for the entered price plus the first money in all selling and claiming races.

The Chicago Cubs have exercised their option on Pitcher Stanridges and Zabel of the Los Angeles Club. They will report in the spring.

Jockey Robinson, whose sensational riding on the Canadian circuit has been one of the features of the meets, has received several flattering offers which he has turned down, and will continue to ride for Edward Trotter, who has been mainly responsible for his success. Representatives of the MacComber stables tried to land him for next season, but were unsuccessful.

BOSTON RED SOX GET TYSON, ENGEL AND KOPP

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—The Red Sox management announced today the purchase of Pitchers Tyson and Engel and Outfielder Kopp from Buffalo of the International League. Options have been exercised on the following players who were released by the Boston club under optional agreements: Pitchers Gregg and Pennock, and Catcher Wilder, from Buffalo, and Outfielder Shorten from Newark of the International League. Gregg and Shorten have already reported to the Red Sox, but the club does not expect any of the other players to report until spring.

What is believed to be a record in baseball was made Sunday when Pitcher Ewick of a Crivitz baseball team, in an eleven-inning game with Marienette, Wis., struck out 25 men.

Chicago will be here the rest of the week and will be followed by Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis.

POPULAR ST. CLAIR RESORTS.

SARNIA, Aug. 15. — Stag Island and Corunna continue to enjoy good summer resort business, many visitors being present from London, Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland.

These places have secured a fine trade during the past year or two, and it is expected that as soon as the war is over they will go ahead at a good rate. The resorts have a beautiful location on the St. Clair River, where the water is good, the fishing fine, and the boating available at all times, no matter the wind's direction.

Quite a number of new houses have been erected on the island this summer, and also several at Corunna.

Both Frank Moran and Carl Morris are training for their fifteen-round Labor Day battle at Tusla, Okla., and expect to be in the best of condition when the gong sounds. It is probable that Otto Floto, the noted sporting writer and boxing expert, will referee the match.

Bell did the twirling for the Tiser, and was in good shape, allowing only three hits.

PETRENA CAPTURES 2:19 TROT AT SAGINAW

Melrose the Favorite, But Never Had a Chance.

SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 15. — Plenty of sport marked the opening of the second half of the Michigan Shortship circuit here today, and conditions could not have been better. Two five-heat races were carded, one favorite succeeding, while the other was among the lost.

The feature of the card was the 2:19 trot, in which Melrose had the call. They gave this big Canadian such a touch of high life in the early heats that he ran out of ammunition later, although he never stopped trying. Petrena won handily in the second, third and fourth.

On the strength of previous meritorious performances, Alta Bana was the choice in the 2:30 pace, and although L. D. O. won the first two heats, it only limbered Altabana, for he won the succeeding three, the third by a neck, and the others as he pleased. The summary:

WILL DEMAND DISMISSAL OF MINISTER OF MILITIA

Delegation of Conservatives to Visit Premier, According to Montreal Paper.

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—La Presse of Montreal publishes today the following story from Ottawa:

"Sir Robert Borden has returned to Ottawa, and an embarrassing delegation will wait upon him on Wednesday or Thursday. This delegation will be composed of representatives of Hamilton, Kingston, London and Toronto associations, and will include several Conservative members and representatives of Conservative associations.

"They will demand from the prime minister that the name of Gen. Sir Sam Hughes as minister of militia be struck from the list of ministers of the Borden cabinet. They will insist upon a definite reply from the premier, and will not accept a mere promise to take the question under serious consideration.

"In case Sir Robert does not satisfy the demands of the delegation, these men will express to the prime minister their intention of undertaking at once through Conservative organizations of Ontario and the west a propaganda against the administration which maintains Gen. Hughes as minister of militia."

TREMENDOUS OUTPUT OF SHELLS AND GUNS FOR BRITISH ARMY

All Machine Guns and Rifles Are Supplied at Home.

GIVING HELP TO ALLIES

Shell Steel and Metals for Munitions Are Supplied in Large Quantities.

LONDON, Aug. 15. — Reviewing the work of the munitions department of the Government in the House of Commons today, Edwin Samuel Montagu, minister of munitions, after telling of the immense increase in output of all kinds of guns and munitions by his department, informed the House that all rifles and machine guns for the armies in the field were being supplied entirely from home sources. The quality of the guns and munitions, he said, was equal to the quantity, the artillery having during the recent fighting acquitted itself to the entire satisfaction of the British army, and having as well received the praises of the French ministry of munitions. This statement, he added, was particularly true of the heavy guns and howitzers.

Nearly Machine Guns Enough.

Mr. Montagu pointed out that half of the engineering resources of the country were required for the navy, but declared that very shortly Great Britain would have provided for her own requirements, and be able to devote herself exclusively to the wants of her allies in regard to machine guns. Already, he said, she was sending large amounts of guns and munitions to her allies, and in addition was sending to France one-third of her production of shell steel, and transferring to her allies metals necessary for munitions to the amount of £6,000,000 monthly.

The production of heavy shells, said the minister, was now 94 per cent greater than it was in 1914. There was now being produced in four days, he declared, as much howitzer munition as was produced during the whole of last year, while there were being turned out every month as many heavy guns as were in existence when the ministry of munitions was formed, and this number would soon be nearly doubled.

Plenty of Heavy Ammunition.

The output of machine guns had increased fourteenfold, continued the minister, and there could be turned out in four weeks as many of these implements as existed at the formation of the ministry. The output of high explosives was sixty times as great as a year ago, but the amount required was 11,000 to 12,000 times as great as at the beginning of the war. The output of heavy ammunition, however, he declared, now covered the expenditure of such ammunition.

WHITLA STARTS TO SPRING A SENSATION IN MANITOBA TRIAL

HIS MISSION WITH SALT

Declares He Attempted to Keep Him From Royal Commission.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15. — The twentieth day of the former ministers' trial closed this afternoon just as the witness on the stand, Harry Whitla, K.C., was about to tell of alleged attempts on behalf of the crown to communicate with him before he began his evidence. A. J. Andrews was in the midst of his cross-examination at adjournment time, and R. A. Bonnar, K. C., for the crown, asked that during the adjournment the witness should communicate with no counsel acting in the case. Mr. Andrews asked Mr. Whitla if any counsel had at any time during the case endeavored to communicate with him.

"The defence have not, but the crown have—without success," replied Mr. Whitla.

Mr. Bonnar immediately demanded that the witness tell the whole incident, and Mr. Whitla expressed his willingness to do so, but Mr. Justice Prendergast said that the crown counsel would have an opportunity to bring out what they wanted in re-examination tomorrow morning.

Long on the Stand.

Mr. Whitla was on the stand all the afternoon, with the exception of a brief interval taken up with the production of documents by Charles B. Kelly and Lawrence C. Kelly, sons of the parliament buildings contractor, Thomas Kelly.

Mr. Whitla, whose direct examination was continued by Mr. Bonnar, said there was no secrecy in the payment to him by James H. Howden of $1,-500. He applied $1,000 of this money to the payment of the expenses of the detectives who located William Salt, and the balance he applied to the account he had against V. W. Horwood. He quoted Mr. Howden as saying Mrs. Salt would be liable to arrest if she returned to Winnipeg. Asked as to his own motives during the negotiations, Mr. Whitla said: "I started out to keep Salt away from the royal commission, and that is what I accomplished. I take the full responsibility."

Whitla told of a meeting at his office, called by him, at which he refused to give to the royal commission Kelly's caisson tender at $844,000, which he held as Horwood's solicitor. Those present were Coldwell, Howden, ex-Judge Phippen, A. J. Andrews, F. M. Burbidge, Engineer John Sweeney and himself.

Kept at Arm's Length.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Andrews, the witness said that so far as he could he dealt at arm's length with the former ministers. He said the impression he always received from the accused was that they wanted Horwood to come back from Rochester, Minn., and give evidence before the royal commission, and he had never heard anything from them to indicate that they were desirous of keeping Salt away. What was done by Dr. Simpson in this connection was at the suggestion of the witness. Mr. Whitla said that at the conference in his office, Mr. Andrews and Mr. Burbidge, as counsel for the Government, wanted all documents put on the files of the royal commission, and Kelly also demanded that the caisson letter be produced as his contract with the Government.

CABINET AGAIN PUTS OFF RENAMING OF BERLIN

TORONTO, Aug. 15. — The matter of changing the name of Berlin to that of Kitchener was today deferred by the Ontario cabinet owing to other pressing questions to be settled. It is quite likely, however, that it will be considered at the next meeting.

PEOPLE DISAPPOINTED.

BERLIN, Ont., Aug. 15.—The decision of the Ontario Cabinet Council to again postpone the name change for the city is deplored by the majority of Berlin citizens. It is regarded that there was nothing today to prevent a decision being reached.

If this question must remain in abeyance until ballots are counted at the next general election, it is assured that a new name will come then.

SPAIN MAY BE AIDING AUSTRIA TO SEEK PEACE

Premier Romanonez Engaged In Series of Conferences.

PURPOSE NOT DISCLOSED

Representatives of Four Belligerent Countries Are Interested.

[Canadian Press Cable.]

PARIS, Aug. 15.—Premier Romanonez of Spain conferred today with the French and Italian ambassadors and the Portuguese minister, says a dispatch to the Temps from San Sebastian. The Spanish premier has directed the Spanish minister at Lisbon to leave his post and come to San Sebastian for a conference.

Premier Romanonez also had a long conference with the Austrian ambassador.

Dispatches from San Sebastian through Paris yesterday announced the holding of lengthy conferences between Premier Romanonez and the Austrian ambassador on Saturday and Sunday. The dispatches, however, gave no clue to the purpose of the conferences.

Andrassy Wants Peace.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Count Julius Andrassy has refused to succeed Baron Von Burian as Austrian foreign minister without guaranttes from the emperor that the political integrity of Hungary shall be respected, according to a Rome dispatch received here. The dispatch says that the emperor hesitates to concede such guarantees.

Reports from Vienna by way of Genoa state that Baron Von Burian has already resigned, but no official confirmation of his resignation has been received here. Keen interest is shown in the possibility of County Andrassy taking office as foreign minister, as he is supposed to be a strong advocate of Austria making a separate peace, and was formerly credited with being a warm admirer of England and English institutions.

TIME NOW PROPITIOUS FOR NATIONAL FINANCING

Bradstreet's Review Says There Is Much Accumulated Capital Lying Around.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—"All industrial statistics support the view that the minister of finance has chosen a propitious moment for the new national financing," says Bradstreet's. "Early in September Sir Thomas White is expected to make public his proposal for a large internal loan. Its terms will not be known until the prospectus appears, and it may very well be that if the minister has already decided upon the character and price of the security which he will offer, some changes in detail may result from any new development arising in the financial situation during the next few weeks. At present, however, there is a large accumulation of profits and wages, a steady increasing volume of unemployed capital to which is just now being added the first remittances from the shipment abroad of the early returns of the harvest.

"In spite of the undeniable fact that individual economy has not been widely practiced in Canada this year, wages have been so high that the average increase in savings accounts is probably larger than at any other period, and as an intelligent and well-directed effort is being made to acquaint the public with the fact that it will be both good business and good patriotism to invest in the loan, individual subscriptions will be very large.

"The war profits of industrial corporations have on the whole been wisely conserved and many companies formerly in the position of heavy creditors of the banks are now in the possession of large cash surpluses, a considerable proportion of which will be converted into liquid reserves in the form of war loan bonds."

ALLIES WILL FIGHT TILL VICTORY COMES, KING TELLS TROOPS

Says Their Sacrifices Have Not Been in Vain.

ISSUES GENERAL ORDERS

Expresses Appreciation of the Cheerful Confidence of All Ranks.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—8:45 p.m.—After a visit to the front, King George today issued a general order to the army in France expressing his appreciation of the splendid condition and cheerful confidence of all ranks, and, through personal visits to the scenes of later desperate struggles, his understanding of the men and the physical endurance required to assail and capture positions prepared during the last two years, which were stoutly defended to the last.

"I realize, not only the splendid work done in immediate touch with the enemy," says the general order, "but also the vast organizations behind the firing line, honorable alike to the genius of their initiators and to the hearts and hands of the workers. Everywhere there is proof that all men and women are playing their part, and I rejoice to think that their noble efforts are being heartily seconded by all classes at home."

After an allusion to the happy relations between the allied armies and the populations where they are quartered, King George concludes his message as follows:

"Do not think that I and your fellow-countrymen forget the heavy sacrifices the armies have made and the bravery and endurance they have displayed during the two years of bitter conflict. These sacrifices have not been in vain. The arms of the Allies will never be laid down until our cause has triumphed. I return home more than ever proud of you. May God guide you to victory."

The above dispatch is the first information that King George had been to the front in France. On his last previous visit, in October, 1915, the king was injured by a fall from a horse while inspecting the troops.

ALLIED ADVANCE ON WEST FRONT SLOW AND SURE

Methodical Offensive Prevents Heavy Loss of Men.

CANNOT MOVE SWIFTLY

Enemy's Positions Strongly Fortified—Flank Attacks Impossible.

[Canadian Press Cable.]

PARIS, Aug. 15.—2:30 p.m.—The apparent slow rate of progress by the French and British forces on the western front since July 1, as compared with that of the Russians on the eastern front, it is explained in military circles here, is due to the methodical nature of the Entente offensive against a line of strongly-fortified positions, extending virtually from the North Sea to Saloniki, and the fact that infantry must wait until the artillery has done its work. The front of the central powers in the western theatre of the war is much more strongly fortified than the front with which the Russian armies have had to deal, so the latter are in a better situation for manoeuvring on a large scale.

Cannot Use Wings.

One of the principal drawbacks against the Entente Allies on the western front is the nature of the Teutonic positions, which prohibit the use of the wings of the Entente armies. The Russians, however, face no such obstacle. The Russian operations, it is explained further, have not been planned with political considerations in view, such as have necessarily arisen on the western front, owing to the co-operation of various Entente armies.

The methodical, if relatively slow, policy of the Entente leaders on the western front is held here to be justified by the fact that the losses in the field are now much smaller as compared with what they were earlier in the war. Since July the Entente losses have only been about one-fifth of what they were during the push in Champagne last fall, or during the first months of the battle of Verdun, it is claimed.

BRITISH REGAIN LOST TRENCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—11:02 p.m.—The official communication issued this evening says:

"There has been the usual artillery bombardments at various places on the British front. The situation is unchanged and there are no important incidents to report."

The afternoon statement said that nearly all the remaining trenches northwest of Pozieres, on the Somme front, in which the Germans gained a footing on Sunday, have been retaken.

"As a result of local fighting northwest of Pozieres during the last two days we have retaken nearly the whole of the remainder of the trenches in which the enemy gained a footing early Sunday. Last night we also forced entry into the enemy's trenches near Moquett farm, returning to our lines with eleven prisoners.

"On our right flank two attempts by small hostile detachments to raid our trenches were repulsed with loss to the enemy.

"Northwest of Hulluch the enemy exploded a small mine. We occupied the crater. Last night a feinted raid on the enemy's trenches south of Armentieres caused much commotion in the enemy's lines, of which our artillery took full advantage."

FRENCH ADVANCE ON THE MEUSE.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—11:44 p.m.—The French official communication issued this evening says:

"Apart from a somewhat lively cannonade south of the Somme and on the right bank of the Meuse there is no important event to report on the whole front."

Last night French troops captured German trenches on a front of about 300 yards and to a depth of 100 yards in the Verdun sector, according to the war office statement issued this afternoon.

The statement says:

"On the Somme front our artillery displayed great activity in various sectors north of the river and in the districts south of Belloy and Estrees and north of Lihons. South of Belloy a German reconnoitring party was dispersed by our rifle fire.

"North of the Aisne an enemy detachment, after a lively bombardment, penetrated a small salient of our lines northwest of Beaulne. It was driven out by an immediate counter-attack.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) a series of minor actions was carried out brilliantly by our grenadiers north of Chapel of Sainte Fine, enabling us to carry some portions of German trenches on a front of 300 yards and a depth of about 100 yards.

"The enemy attempted to recapture them by a counter-attack, which was broken up by our curtains of fire.

"The bombardment continued with considerable violence in the sectors of Fleury and Vaux Le Chapitre. Everywhere else the night was calm."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS IS ON THE INCREASE

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Infantile paralysis is apparently on the increase in Ontario, though its prevalence is not yet found in alarming number of victims. No deaths have been recorded during August.

During the whole month of July there were eleven cases and two deaths in Ontario, while in June there were but two cases and no deaths.

MAKES TERRIBLE FIGHT ON WAY TO GALLOWS

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Strapped to heavy arm-chair and hysterically calling to be taken back to court, Rocco Ferrante, who last year decapitated his partner, Dick Foracce, and dropped the head down a well, paid the extreme penalty of the law this morning. He put up a terrible fight against his executioners and before he left the death cell had to be pinioned and strapped to chair on trap.

The priest who accompanied Ferrante to the scaffold attempted to offer him spiritual consolation, but he paid no heed.

Executioner Ellis yelled fiercely in Italian at the condemned murderer, bidding him be still and at the same time tightening the noose until he choked off the utterance of the repeated cry to be taken back to court. The trap was sprung and Ferrante was later pronounced dead.

When the guards and the executioner went to the cell this morning Ferrante put up a fight against his execution. He was overpowered and was strapped to the chair, which was carried to the scaffold.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses, and my eyes do not water any more At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time, and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note.—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Standard Drug and Strong sell it.

BATTLE OF SOMME MOST MURDEROUS OF ALL HISTORY

Artillery Fire of Both Sides Creates Awful Havoc.

TRENCHES ARE LEVELLED

Writer From German Side Declares Huns Are Determined to Stand.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—A staff correspondent of the Asosciated Press sends the following dispatch from the German trenches opposite the British position at Gommecourt, on the Somme front, dated Monday, August 14, via Berlin and Sayville wireless, August 16:

"Half a million British have been engaged in the effort to break the German lines on the Somme front. They have gained ground to a depth of 3 to 5 miles over a front of about 18 miles, but nowhere have been able to break through.

"More than ever, death becomes a commonplace in this most murderous battle of all times. The Germans in the first line know that they probably will be killed if their positions are attacked. Trenches are virtually useless, for the heavy British shells widen them into broad channels, affording no cover of any sort. The firt line usually perishes.

"The advancing British foot troops are no better off, because the Germans reverse the process when part of their positions have been captured.

Infantry Rush In.

"After the British artillery had levelled the German trenches, the infantry rushes in, often to be thrown out again as soon as the British artillery fire ceases, which it has to do owing to the proximity of the opposing lines. Thus the battle has been going on for weeks.

"At present all the fighting by the British is carried on from their Pozieres salient where their drum fire is unceasing day or night. German officers who were in the Champagne offensive said no such artillery fire ever had been developed previously.

"The German fire, too, is terrific. An idea of its intensity may be gained from the fact that on certain British troops German guns threw 1,600 shells in 1 hour and 45 minutes, resulting in great slaughter.

Determined to Stand.

"The correspondent visited the entire front of the present offensive, and everywhere found from talks with Germans that they were more determined than ever to stand their ground. The men are in capital shape physically, and of easy mind, although they are looking for death at each instant. An officer pointed out that nowadays each man is his own leader, as it is often impossible under present battle conditions to transmit commands. While the generals might still plan the actions, the officer said, it was plain that the infantryman, acting upon his own initiative in the presence of death, must save the day.

"Back of the German lines, within British artillery range, hardly a single house was standing. Embers were still burning in the ruins of two villages as the correspondent passed through.

"There is no safety anywhere in the zone behind the front. What the artillery does not reach is exposed constantly to the bombs of aviators. While the correspondent was at Bugny eight civilians were killed. Eighteen others were wounded, of whom four died in the German hospital the same day. At Cambrai four persons were killed and two were wounded on the same night. A French civilian pointed out that while the German soldiers have bombproofs in which to seek refuge, the civilians have only cellars. He begged that this be brought to the attention of the British military authorities."

BIG RECEPTION

on the same train, but went right through to Windsor.

Members of 99th Return.

Two of the boys were members of the 99th Battalion, and both were Americans. Pte. E. R. Aungst of the 99th, comes from East Liverpool, Ohio, and is a brother of the fire chief of that place. He was gassed after being two months in the trenches.

Pte. J. A. Y. Rogers was wounded with shrapnel in the head. He comes from Toledo, Ohio. He was on a pleasure trip to Detroit and wandered over to Windsor. There he saw the recruiting sign calling for American recruits.

Had To Do His Bit.

"I just felt I had to do my bit," he said. "The 99th aBttalion has been in France for some time now," he stated, "and Lieut. Moran has already been wounded, and is back at the hospital on the coast."

Pat Murphy went over with the 33rd Battalion and was invalided from England.

Presented Historic Stick.

Drum Sergt.-Major A. W. Nanfan had many interesting stories to tell. He was in charge of the bugle band of the 33rd Battalion, and before enlisting was caretaker of the Armories here. He was sent back from England, having passed the age limit for active service.

The late Major A. V. Becher presented him with a drum-major's baton which was picked up on one of the Crimean battlefields. When he reached England, Sergt.-Major Nanfan presented this to the 57th Regiment (Middlesex Light Infantry), and it remains with it yet.

Pte. J. Paget of Belmont was one of the victims of spinal meningitis in England and was rendered unfit for active service.

Trooper Edward Poulton of St. Thomas enlisted here with the 7th Mounted Rifles, but was later drafted for work in the Ross rifle factory in England. He was invalided from there.

Has Military Medal.

Lance-Corp. Ed. Lawson of the 18th Battalion wears the Military Medal, which he won by rescuing a comrade at St. Eloi. During the attempt he was twice wounded. He was modest about his exploit, and would give reporters no details. His home town is Windsor, but he will make his home here for some time.

Pte. W. J. Steedsman was with the Royal Canadian Dragoons. He comes from Bright, Ont., where his father, W. Steedsman, resides.

U. S. WAIVES RULE TO LET CANADIAN NURSES OVER LINE

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 16.—For the first time in many years the alien labor clause has been waived by the immigration authorities in the case of the thirty Canadian nurses, engaged by the local health department to help fight the infantile paralysis epidemic, who were held up at the border because of a clause in the immigration law which forbids the entry here from foreign countries of persons under contract to work.

William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, in a telegram sent today to Health Commissioner Emerson, stated that the bureau of immigration which is a part of the treasury department, had given instructions to its agents at Montreal to permit the entrance into the United States of the nurses. As soon as the telegram was received word was telegraphed to the nurses.

CENSORED NEWS

said I should think of myself. I considered it was an eort to get me to talk and I did not wish to talk."

The Caissons Tender.

Whitla told crown counsel he received Kelly's caisson tender on September 20, 1913, from Mr. Johnston, who was employed in the provincial architect's office, shortly after Horwood went south for his operation. Later Whitla gave this letter to A. J. Andrews, who produced it before the commission. Whitla said he was very much disturbed over this letter and felt his responsibility very much "in view of the possibilities for Horwood." After a meeting of counsel, at which Whitla refused to produce the letter to those acting for Kelly and the Government, he went south and saw Horwood about it.

An Election Fund.

Whitla said that some time in June last year he consulted counsel regarding his position. He objected to giving any details and claimed he was undergoing cross-examination. Witness recollected, in connection with the payment to him of the second five thousand dollars sent to Salt, that Dr. Simpson said something about a portion of the money coming from some election fund. He said there had been no conversation with Howden about this money.

Faced With Statement.

Mr. Bonnar received the judge's permission to examine with "a little more latitude," and he showed witness a document which he described as "a statement."

Whitla said Dr. Simpson spoke over the telephone to him when the witness was in St. Paul abou the difficulty of getting the money for Salt, as the banks were closed. Whitla returned to Winnipeg on a Saturday morning.

"If I made any statement different from what I make now it was incorrect," said witness. Witness said he did not tell "all the facts" to Mr. Howden.

Got Names Mixed.

Objections being made to "the statement" being entered, Mr. Bonnar examined in regard to it. Whitla said he made the statement which was taken down in the presence of H. J. Symington, his own counsel, and J. B. Coyne. Afterwards he told Coyne and Symington that the statement was incorrect, and that he had been mislead.

"The statement I made," he told Bonnar, "was incorrect in many particulars. I was laboring under very fatal misapprehensions when I made it."

"Were you endeavoring to tell the true facts?" inquired counsel.

"I was making an attempt I thought at that time, but this was two or three months after the happenings described."

His lordship said he would not permit counsel to contradict witness' evidence by this statement.

Whitla said he made the statement when "in a state of high nervous tension," and it was wrong and misleading. "I got Howden's and Simpson's names confused."

WOUNDED AND MISSING.—Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacGibbon of Hyde Park have just received word from Ottawa, stating that their son Pte. James Roy MacGibbon has been reported wounded and missing since June 3.

BETTER PRICES PREVAILING ON THE MARKET FOR HAY

Live Hogs Still Remaining at $12; Top Notch Price.

The local market was small this morning. Only a few loads of hay were brought in. These brought a better price than usual, selling briskly at $10.50 to $11.50 a ton. Yesterday only a few loads were brought in, and it is becoming scarcer each day. This is accounted for by the fact that the farmers are now busy with the other crops.

Straw was not as brisk as usual, a few loads selling at from $8 to $8.50 a ton. Wheat and oats remained steady.

Little fruit was offered. Peaches sold in 6-quart baskets at 50c and in 11-quart baskets at 75c and $1. No plums were offered, but a large market for both them and peaches is expected toward the end of next week.

Vegetable prices remained steady, new potatoes being high at $1.50 and $2. Tomatoes were plentiful at 50c and 80c a basket. Green corn was steady at 15c and 20c a dozen. A drop is expected soon. Apples were slow as the majority offered were of poor quality, selling at 50c and 75c a bushel.

Poultry prices were firm as were dairy. Honey was steady although it is probable that it may become cheaper. It is selling in 10-pound pails at $1.50.

Live hogs remained high at $12 a cwt., the high price being chiefly due to competition amongst the buyers. Dressed hogs sold at $15.50 a cwt. Fat sows brought from $9.50 to $9.75.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—Wheat closed 3c higher today for October, 3⅝c higher for December, and 3¼c higher for May. Oats were ⅝c higher for October and ⅛c higher for December. Barley dropped 1½c. Flax was 2¾c higher for October, 1¾c higher for November and 4½c higher for December. All markets ended in a closing rally which took prices up to the high points. The margin of fluctuation was widest in Winnipeg, being nearly ten cents.

Wheat looked exceptionally weak in the morning on very much lower cables and the report of the Saskatchewan crop did not help. The statistics were also on the bear side. Within half an hour wheat had broken more than it did all day yesterday. Snow sent out a very bullish report which turned the tide completely. It started a strong bullish sentiment which took wheat up nearly ten cents.

The trade was entirely speculative. The smallest amount of straight buying of the month took place. The exporters refused to trade until the prices settled down. The public, commission men, and all others had a great time scalping and spreading in one of the heaviest trades of the season.

The cash demand was indifferent. Oats were poor and only the first grades of wheat were wanted.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—The wheat market today was again active. Nervousness was apparent on the surface, but the undertone of strength still was in evidence abroad, and no abatement of crop damage reports.

Opening prices were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher compared with the previous close, but this was followed by an advance of from 2@2½c. At the advance profit-taking caused a recession and much of the gain was lost. September opened at $1 42⅛@1 31½, and sold to $1 44.

WALL STREET.

New York, Aug. 16—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The deadlock in the railway labor conferences was without material effect on quoted values at today's opening. Investment shares held firm, and specialties, comprising the war and equipment group, manifested strength, notably Baldwin Locomotive, Air Brake, Crucible Steel and the more active motors and accessories. There seemed to be a moderate demand also for Corn Products issues and Industrial Alcohol. Reading was again the most conspicuous stock among the rails, but reacted later with other leading shares. United States Steel held steady within a fraction of yesterday's close.

Noon.—Various leaders, rails excepted, forged steadily ahead after the first half hour. Steel leading on its advance to 90¼, the highest price since 1910. Two other stocks registered new high records, Republic Iron and Steel, preferred, advancing to 113, and Marine, common, to 31⅝, with new maximums for old and new Marine bonds. Cuban-American Sugar rose 4 points on the extra cash and stock dividends, and other specialties made further headway. The movement coincided with the publication of the terms of the new British loan. Bonds were steady, dealings, however, being limited largely to Anglo-French fives and Marines.

1:30 p.m.—Steel continued the pacemaker of the active intermediate session, extending its advance to 91¾, with further gains in other industrials. The shipping group, sugars and Mexican Rails were relatively sluggish.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

London, Aug. 16.—Money in good demand and discount rates firm. The revenue returns indicate that £21,000,000 was raised last week by short-term borrowing.

On the stock exchange funds were dull, owing to the poor response to the New South Wales loan of £2,500,000 at 5¼ per cent, which was quoted at 1 per cent discount.

Japanese and Chinese bonds ruled fairly active, while Kaffirs were in good demand.

There was very little doing in the American department, but the general tone was steady. Canadian Pacific shares, however, were rather easy.

NEW YORK COTTON

Prices Advance on Dry, Hot Weather in the Southwest and Strong Liverpool Cables.

[Reported by Thomson & McKinnon.]

New York, Aug. 15.

Prices advanced on dry hot weather in southwest, strong Liverpool cables, some covering of shorts and buying by spot houses and mills. The statement of American consumption for July by the census bureau showed a good total as compared with the same month in recent years, even though it was smaller than previous months of the present year. Texas had very little rain overnight and on the other hand, Georgia had considerable.

New Orleans and the south were buyers early, though they sold to some extent later. Wall Street and the west sold. In the afternoon reports of rains at Houston caused some selling, but support came in promptly and prices became stronger.

It is largely a weather market and as already stated, copious rains in Texas would be apt to cause lower prices for a time, especially as recent advance has been very sharp.

HOUSE BURNS DOWN.

SARNIA, Aug. 15. — A frame house on Park street belonging to Frank Wallace was destroyed by fire at 10 o'clock tonight.

This section is not thickly-populated part of the city, and only one hydrant was available, and only one lone line of hose could be used. Considering this condition the firemen did splendid work.

THE NORTHERN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

HEAD OFFICE: LONDON, ONT.

The Northern Life is not a stock company in the usual sense of the term, as the participating policyholders have a large and perfectly definite interest in the profits earned by the company, as well as representation on the board of directors. They are entitled to and actually receive at least 90 per cent of the profits arising from the participating policies, which now amount to 88 per cent of the whole business in force.

The efficiency of a stock company is combined with the advantages of mutuality.

LIEUT. A. W. McKNIGHT IS KILLED IN ACTION

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 15.—Robert McKnight, registrar of the county of Grey, received official notification this morning of the fact that his son, Lieut. Augustus Wilberforce McKnight, 4th Field Engineers, had been killed in action August 11.

Lieut. McKnight was a graduate of the Owen Sound Collegiate Institute, and the R. M. C., Kingston, in 1910. He was assistant city engineer in Prince Rupert, B. C., at the time of enlisting. After being in the trenches in France for some weeks, Lieut. McKnight was wounded on November 9, 1915, by a stray bullet. He was in hospital in England until February, and spent from February 25 to March 22 at his home in Owen Sound.

Two brothers, Frank of Edmonton, and Lieut. Robert in the trenches, and two sisters, Mrs. McKenzie of Kincardine and Miss Bessie at home are members of the family who survive.

MAJOR THOMPSON IS WOUNDED BY SHRAPNEL

CHATHAM, Aug. 15.—Major Thompson, for many months a military instructor at the London camp, who went to England with the 70th Battalion, has been wounded by shrapnel, according to a cablegram received by a Chatham friend of the officer.

TO RECOVER LOST LOGS.

SARNIA, Aug. 15.—Work will start in a few days in removing the logs that were thrown up on the Canadian shore of Lake Huron from the Cleveland mill raft during the Sunday storm. It will be necessary to secure a large gang of men for this purpose, and as men are scarce here the company may have trouble in getting a sufficiently large quota to handle the job.

Tugs and boom logs will be used to bring the logs into the river after they are rolled into the water by the men.

AN EARL WEDS.

London, Aug. 16.—The Earl of Cottenham was married in St. George's Church, Hanover Square, today to Miss Patricia Burke, daughter of the late J. H. Burke of California. Walter Winans gave the bride away. Viscount Crow Hurst, eldest son of the earl, acted as best man.

The Earl of Cottenham's first wife was Lady Rose Nevill. She died in 1913.

CAN NOW FILE SUIT TO FORECLOSE ROCK ISLAND

[Canadian Press.]

Chicago, Aug. 16.—The Peabody committee today has permission to file suit to foreclose the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Judge Geiger in the United States district court.

Seven men who control about twenty per cent of the $111,000,000 of underlying bonds of the railroad comprise the Peabody committee. The committee holds that under the receivership the security of its bonds has been injured.

Judge Geiger's general committee of the employees will meet to discuss tentative plans now before them.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug. 16.—The cities of Ancona, Pesaro and Rimini, Italy, were shaken by an earthquake early this morning, says a Stefani News Agency dispatch from Rome today.

No damage was done at Ancona, but at Pesaro and Rimini houses were wrecked, and it is feared that at Rimini there has been loss of life.

THE REGINA PROBE

Ex-Deputy Minister Appears Before Haultain Government.

Regina, Aug. 16.—H. S. Carpenter, who was deputy minister of public works part of the time the Battleford Asylum Building was under construction, was again on the stand before the Haultain commission this morning with J. F. Bryant, counsel for J. D. Bradshaw, continuing the examination. The first point taken up was the arrangements under which the waterworks and sewage system were constructed. Mr. Bryant said he was instructed that the waterworks plans brought down the legislature this year showed work three times as great as actually done. Mr. Carpenter said he could not say whether there were two sets of plans, or what changes were made in the original plans.

UP GO PRICES NOW ON YOUR FAVORITE BOOKS

War Has Hit Paper, and Publishers Are Making Advances.

Books are the latest commodity to rise in price as a result of the war, and from now on booklovers will have to pay from 10 to 25 cents more for current publications. Publishers and retailers both will increase prices. Books formerly selling from 50 cents to $1 will be rated 10 cents higher. Those in the past priced from $1 to $2 will sell at an increase of 25 cents each.

The publishers claim that there has been an increase in the price of paper, leather, cloth and ink, amounting to from 50 to 100 per cent, during the past twelve months, and it is impossible to produce books at old prices.

The concensus of opinion among them is that under the present serious conditions a further increase of from 10 to 20 per cent may be necessary. They say their only hope is in the ending of the European war. It is claimed there is also a shortage of chemicals which must be obtained from Europe for the manufacture of their particular grade of paper. The surplus supply of this class of material is exhausted, and the publishers will have to depend upon a new supply.

Publishers dealing in school books only, it is stated, will not accept any new contracts for some time to come. They claim that their contracts are of long standing, and that they will have all they can do to meet the demand on their output to carry out the old orders.

BILLION DOLLAR CROP EXPECTED

After a thorough canvass of various points throughout Western Canada, Dr. McGill of the Dominion Grain Commission is quoted in Calgary as saying that Alberta would have a crop as good as last year, that the Dominion would have a billion dollar grain crop, and that the grain crop of the three prairie provinces would be little if any behind that of last year.

"The country as a whole never looked better than it does at present," said Dr. McGill. "The weather was made to order, as you might say, and I am of the opinion that this year's harvest will be another wonderful one."

Those who contemplate going West will do well to remember that the most fertile districts in Western Canada are served by the line of the C. N. R., and that this season they can travel from their home districts to destination Canadian Northern All the Way.

STARTS CAMPAIGN TO GET LOCAL AID FOR BOYS IN NAVY

Mrs. H. A. Boomer Opens a Sailors' Subscription List.

LADY BEATTY'S APPEAL

Wife of British Admiral Calls For Assistance To Society.

Mrs. H. A. Boomer, president of the Local Council of Women, has received from Lady Beatty, wife of Admiral Sir David Beatty, commander of the British fleet, a touching and earnest appeal for the sailor lads who watch over the safety of the Empire's ships, convoying our Canadian troops from shore to shore, who are engaged in the perilous work of mine sweeping and who face so many seen and unseen dangers that the sons and daughters of the Empire may be fed. The wife of the admiral reminds that these sailors have an equal claim with the soldiers upon the sympathies of the women of Canada, who are working so harmoniously and energetically together for the latter. The writer's more immediate appeal is for £25,000 for extension work of the century old established society which for so long has watched over the interests of the sailors of Great Britain, the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, both an international and interdenominational society.

Mrs. Boomer, who is spending several weeks at the Lake Huron Hotel, Sarnia, immediately upon receiving the letter some days ago determined to undertake to raise £50 to forward from Western Ontario. She didn't wait till the holiday was over to make a start, but began at once with her subscription list right in the hotel. She also at once got in touch with the Sarnia papers, with the result that the Bank of Toronto branch of that city agreed to take subscriptions.

Mrs. Boomer had the following names on her list this week:

Randall Kenny	$10 00
Mrs. (Col.) Fisher, London	5 00
A guest at the Lake Huron Hotel, in remembrance of several safe and happy voyages across the ocean	5 00
D. Milne	5 00
W. Storey	5 00
R. T. Geary	5 00
E. P. Battley	5 00

W. H. Kenny	10 00

John Armstrong, Brigden	5 00
F. E. Drew, Detroit	5 00
J. C. Markle	5 00
W. B. Clark	2 00
W. J. Dougherty	2 00

Mrs. R. M. Graham of this city, through her connection with the Royal Colonial Institute as a member, also received a letter of appeal from Lady Beatty.

After her return, Mrs. Boomer will be glad to receive subscriptions in London.

NOT FORGOTTEN

French Tag Day Still In Minds of I. O. D. E.

Though the French war relief tag-day planned for some weeks ago was postponed owing to inability on the part of the I. O. D. E. to secure the date desired, the obligation to help the sufferers of the gallant Allied nation which has borne the brunt of the war has by no means been forgotten.

Many inquiries in regard to tag-day have come to The Advertiser from people who strongly feel that no cause deserves more practical sympathy than that of the French, who not only have suffered invasion unremitting since the beginning of the war, the destruction of towns, cities and rural homes, and enormous loss of life, but have also made themselves responsible for the care of thousands upon thousands of destitute Belgians and Serbians.

Moreover, the French people have shown the greatest kindness to the Canadian soldiers, and for this reason have a special claim upon the Canadians staying at home.

The tag-day idea has by no means been given up, and when it is held it is assured of heartiest support.

WOMEN OF PRAIRIES PREPARING FOR USE OF THEIR FRANCHISE

Want to Make Most of Ballot Privilege, Says Visitor.

ARE PUBLIC-SPIRITED

Edmonton Writer Tells Advertiser of Enfranchised Western Women.

Mrs. Reginald Smith of Edmonton, treasurer of the Canadian Women's Press Club, who is well known as a writer under the name May L. Armitage, spent Tuesday in London. Mrs. Smith is in the east for the summer, staying at her former home in Strathroy, and her duties in Edmonton as editor of the Sunshine Department of the Journal, are being looked after in her absence by the younger daughter of the president of the Canadian Women's Press Club, Mrs. Arthur Murphy (Janey Canuck), Miss Evelyn Murphy.

Asked if she thought it probable Mrs. Nellie L. McClung would run for the Alberta Legislature, Mrs. Smith replied: "When I left she had no idea of doing so. I saw her shortly before and she said she did not think the time was ripe for women to do so. If she is considering anything of the kind, very strong pressure must have been brought to bear upon her in the meantime.

Will Use Franchise.

"You know the women of Alberta are very public-spirited, as they are throughout the prairie provinces. Now that they have the franchise they are earnestly setting to work to prepare themselves to make the best use of the privilege that has been accorded them. Our leading women are strongly in favor of having a woman's platform entirely independent of politics, which will represent the things that stand for the betterment of conditions for women in Alberta. To this end the committees on laws of the Local Councils of Women of the province are co-operating in drafting laws to submit to the Legislature, laws dealing with dowories for women, protection of women on homesteads, the establishment of free hospitals, and such questions which vitally effect the women in prairie homes."

"Do you think it possible, as it has been rumored, that Mrs. McClung and Mrs. Arthur Murphy may run against one another for the Legislature? This has been rumored," was next asked the western visitor.

"I cannot imagine anything of the kind," replied Mrs. Smith, emphatically. "They are both women of exceptionally strong personality, outstanding ability and breadth of vision, and nothing could be finer than the harmony with which they work together.

Proud of New Court.

"We are feeling quite proud in Edmonton of the fact that we have the first women's court in Canada presided over by a woman magistrate, Mrs. Arthur Murphy, who is always referred to as Magistrate Emily Murphy.

"Our Local Council there is very active, and also our Women's Press Club, as you might imagine it would be with women like Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. McClung as members. We have been holding open meetings of late for the discussion of public questions, and much interest has been evinced in these. Our Alberta women, and I can speak particularly for the women of Edmonton, are taking up with greatest seriousness the new responsibility which the granting of the franchise has devolved upon them. To be sure, they were preparing for it, and now that they have it, their desire is to use it for the betterment of conditions and the best interests of the provincial life But they are not visionary. They see that definite things should be done, and they are going about the accomplishment of these in a sane, intelligent manner."

Previous to going west some six years ago Mrs. Smith, who was then Miss May L. Armitage, taught for a time in the London Conservatory of Music in the Fletcher method (kindergarten) department.

ST. MICHAEL'S SOCIAL

Killing the Kaiser Was Popular Feature of Program.

The lawn social held last evening on the grounds of St. Michael's Church drew a large crowd, and was most successful in every way. The various booths were most attractively arranged and decorated, patriotic schemes being followed most effectively. Business was good, and as a result the ladies in charge turned into the treasury substantial sums towards the church funds. The "Country Store" and a game called "Killing the Kaiser" proved especially popular features of the evening.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH, DECLARES JURY IN EXONERATING CREW

Inquest Into Recent Fatality at Crossing Near Lambeth.

FRACTIOUS HORSE CAUSE

Mrs. Bessie Jones Watched It and Forgot Car Was Approaching.

"That Mrs. Bessie Jones of London came to her death accidentally by being struck by a car of the London and Lake Erie Transportation Company. The evidence shows that the motorman and crew were in no way whatever to blame for the fatality."

The above verdict was brought in by the jury which, under Coroner Routledge, last evening at Lambeth investigated the death of Mrs. Jones of Oak street, who was struck at Spring Creek crossing on Monday afternoon by a car and instantly killed.

The evidence of Motorman McGregor, Mrs. William Nixon, a sister of the dead woman, Eli Davis and Mr. Post was taken. All the testimony went to show that Mrs. Jones was intently watching a horse her sister was driving, which was frightened at the approaching car, and apparently entirely forgot that she was close to the tracks, and suddenly backed right in front of the car. The witnesses all agreed that the crew of the car was in no way to blame for the accident.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY TO MRS. ELIZABETH FORWARD

Stricken While Waiting In Doctor's Office for Treatment.

Mrs. Elizabeth Forward, wife of Charles Forward, of Forward avenue, died suddenly in the office of Dr. J. B. Campbell yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. She had called at the doctor's office for a treatment, and while sitting in the waiting-room became suddenly faint, and asked for a drink of water. While this was being procured she died.

Coroner McLaren was called, but decided that death was due to natural causes, and that an inquest would be unnecessary. Mrs. Forward was well up in years, and this as well as a weak heart is given as the cause of death.

She was born in England, but with her husband had conducted a grocery store in London for many years. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Charles of Dubuque, Iowa, and Nathaniel of Richwood.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed yet pending word from the two sons.

CONDUCTOR'S CONDITION REPORTED AS SERIOUS

Two Other Victims of Street Car Smash In Bad Shape Too.

The condition of three of the six persons injured in the rear-end collision between Ottaway and North Belt cars at the corner of William and Dundas streets at noon on Monday, is still serious. The injuries sustained by Conductor W. Winslow of Ottaway car 100, are perhaps the most serious.

Dr. Nelson George, who has been attending the cases, declared to The Advertiser that Conductor Winslow had been in a delirious condition the early part of last night, but this morning was resting easier, and unless he should suffer a relapse would recover, although it would be some weeks at least.

Mrs. Millett, 218 Maitland street, and Mrs. Thwaits, of 776 Hill street, are both suffering from internal injuries and shock.

Ex-Mayor F. G. Rumball, who was cut about the hands by broken glass, is progressing as well as could be expected, although the danger of blood poisoning, Dr. George said, would not be past for at least three days yet. No alarm is felt in this respect as thorough antiseptic measures were immediately adopted following the accident, but still the possibility yet remains.

Mrs. Beaman of High street is still suffering from shock and bruises, but no serious results are expected in her case.

ADVISES FORMATION OF LONDON CLUB

National Treasurer of Women's Press Club Meets Local Writers.

Mrs. Reginald Smith of Edmonton, formerly Miss May L. Armitage of Watford, Ont., and well-known as a writer by the later name, returned to Watford Tuesday evening, where she has been spending the summer, after a little visit in the city. During her stay here, a few of the local women writers, who are eligible for membership in the Canadian Women's Press Club, had the pleasure of meeting at afternoon tea Mrs. Smith, who is the treasurer of the National Press Club. Mrs. Smith strongly advised the formation of a branch of the Women's Press Club in London, especially from the fact that there are a number here entitled to membership.

The question of organization has been considered from time to time during the past year, and it is probable this will take place early in the autumn.

Every three years a triennial convention is held, the members enjoying most generous hospitality from the railroads.

The triennial was due to have been held this year at Vancouver, but was postponed owing to the war.

In case of the war being ended before another year, there is a possibility of the meeting taking place in Montreal or Halifax in June. The last meeting was held in Edmonton in June, 1913, the members enjoying among other treats a trip to Jasper Park, personally conducted by the late Cy Warman.

LOCAL HOTELMEN MAKE APPLICATION FOR NEW LICENSES

All Except Three Want the Standard Issued to Them.

FIGHTING FOR CHANGES

Temperance Forces, However, Continue Battle for Dominion-Wide Prohibition.

Yesterday was the last day for making application for the new standard hotel license, and all London hotelmen with the exception of the proprietors of the Columbia, Queen's and Clyde put in the necessary papers.

Under the new system there will be no shop or club licenses.

It was stated to The Advertiser that the management of the Columbia, Queen's and Clyde Hotels will continue to sell liquor as long as they can, that is until September 16, and plan then to allow their leases to lapse.

Hotelmen Fight.

A prominent hotelman stated to The Advertiser today that hotel proprietors fully expect that the policy as laid down by Premier Hearst, that every saloon must close on September 16, will go into effect without any change. They do expect, however, that at the next session of the Legislature in March radical modifications will be made. They say they will continue from now on to bend every energy toward securing concessions which will not be as sweeping as present proposals. Hotelmen of the whole province, it was stated, are standing together, and are bringing to bear every possible pressure to save the liquor business from extinction.

Are Busy Also.

The temperance people on the other hand are not letting anything go to sleep and are looking forward to Dominion-wide prohibition in the near future.

It was stated today that on Saturday next the Ontario License Board will receive a deputation from the Commercial Travelers' Association, who have asked that they be allowed to present some of their views and suggestions as to the regulations governing standard hotels.

THREE ROUSING CHEERS; HONEY WILL NOT ADVANCE

Bees Have Been Very Busy This Year In Spite of War.

With the prices of all other foods soaring, housewives will be pleased to learn that there is plenty of honey and that prices will not be advanced. Last year's prices for honey will not be advanced, and producers plan to have honey used freely in every household.

Honey requires no preserving and will keep in first-class condition in any dry cool place. A 60-pound can should last an average family all through the winter.

Middlesex reports in 1915, 118,945 pounds of honey and in 1916 reports 262,812 pounds. This leaves an average of 101.1 pounds of honey per colony.

Ontario on the average reports 83.6 pounds per colony.

The prices recommended by the committee are as follows: No. 1, light extracted, wholesale, 10c to 11½c per lb.; No. 1, light extracted, retail, 12½c to 15c per lb.; No. 1, comb, wholesale, $2 to $2.75 per doz.; No. 2, comb, wholesale, $1.50 to $2 per doz.

DEMANDING PROTECTION

St. Thomas Wants Gates on City Crossing of L. and P. S. R.

St. Thomas is demanding that for the protection of citizens, gates be installed at once by the London and Port Stanley Railway at the Talbot street crossing of the road in that city. The danger, say the St. Thomas papers, is such that the watchman now employed is an insufficient guarantee of protection to those who use the crossing.

Talbot street is one of the busiest streets in St. Thomas, and the volume of traffic over the L. and P. S. R. tracks is considerable.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Farewells to Soldiers.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I desire to ask permission for the publication of the following incident regarding the treatment of soldiers and the public generally.

Saturday was the occasion of the departure of some more of the men who are going forward to help fight in the Empire's battles. The men of the two batteries stationed here have won the respect and admiration of our citizens, but it would seem to be the policy of the military authorities to give as little encouragement as possible to the boys who are leaving homes and loved ones, by the way they are compelled to keep aloof from their friends until the moment of departure. A guard was placed across the platform, through which the wives and sweethearts of the soldiers were not permitted to pass, excepting where some of the guards, betraying a little human feeling, allowed them to go through, understanding what it means to see and speak to loved ones perhaps for the last time.

Now, these men entraining yesterday are going on a desperate adventure, and the chances are that many of them may not come back, for there is no doubt they will be bravely manning the guns when the big drive takes place, and be in the thickest of the fight. Yet, knowing this, a word of love and encouragement is denied them, because of the absurd officialdom of the man in charge of military law and order, which he seeks to carry out. The utter ridiculousness of it was apparent to the crowd who thronged the station to give them a rousing send-off.

One would imagine the soldiers going away were enemy prisoners, who, having been captured, are being rushed off to internment camps, instead of them being the best type of manhood who have responded to the nation's call to arms.

One soldier and his wife were bidding good-bye to one of the men when the soldier was unceremoniously placed under arrest. The arrested soldier had just returned from Camp Borden on a short leave, and had barely time to even see his friend before he was put in charge of the guard. His wife and another lady with him were ordered to leave the platform, but flatly refused to do so. I would that there were more who had the courage to resist such uncalled-for interference at such a time. The soldier, after being held about twenty minutes, was dealt with by the officer in command of the guard, who apparently wanted the bystanders to be impressed by the way he intended to enforce discipline.

The country has been placarded with appeals for men, speeches have been made by the thousands, and millions of the nation's money have been spent in the efforts to secure men willing to fight against Prussianism, when we have it right here in our own city.

No wonder the appeal for men often falls on deaf ears, for much as they feel it their duty to come forward, blame cannot be attached to them for refusing to lose their identity as men to receive the treatment of imbeciles.

Today the men of the county battalion left for Camp Borden in an orderly manner. It was not deemed necessary to separate them from their friends by a special guard, nor were soldiers placed under arrest for being present to wish them Godspeed; the parting is more cheerfully borne because of the fact that soldiers are trusted with their friends until the last.

Surely order may be maintained without unpleasantness when intelligent men are leaving for active service. Why not march the men down to the station, allow them ample time to entrain, find their places and remove the heavy kit they have carried? Then the men could leave the coaches and mingle with their friends until about ten minutes before the departure of the train, when the "fall in" is sounded and the soldiers return to the train in an orderly manner.

The crowd would understand how to act, and would assist rather than resent the actions of those in command.

Sees Symptoms of Insanity.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Still the name of Berlin remains. The clamor to change the name of Berlin and the agitation to add an hour to Canada's daylight period show that the people and the press of Canada are not quite all sane. In the one case it is absurd to think that you can add one hour to the daylight of Canada by act of Parliament. It is just as absurd to think that you can change the character of a city by changing its name. However, in regard to the latter, I have a suggestion to offer. The two cities, Berlin and Waterloo, are geographically one. Why not amalgamate them, and also their names, and christen the result "Berloo" or "Waterlin?" Will Berlin and Waterloo papers please copy this suggestion? EDGAR M. ZAVITZ.

The Vital Question.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

"Can a German bullet send a Canadian soldier to hell?"

This question was raised by an evangelist in Victoria Park, and has occasioned an animated discussion among the local clergy, some of whom have been carrying on a lively debate over that old and somewhat antiquated subject: "Faith versus works."

I would suggest that at the moment a more practical question lies before the Canadian people.

Should not the question have read this way: "Can a Canadian bullet send a German soldier to hell," and how many Canadians can be secured for the job? It is a question of recruiting in order to bring victory to the allied cause. To defeat the Germanic powers; that is earth's "summum bonum." In that direction lies the greatest happiness to the greatest number of the "forked radishes" now perambulating the surface of this sublunary sphere.

I hasten to modify the above somewhat brutal language by the inquiry: Has not the time arrived to reverently lay aside this doctrine of hell; this doctrine of fire and brimstone? How many millions have gone to the grave terrorized by this hideous teaching? Is it not amazing to find in this twentieth century men educated in our colleges and universities, still adhering to this infamous doctrine against which all the finer instincts of humanity revolt? Only think what it means—infinite torture carried out to infinity!

Compared to this the atrocities of the unspeakable Hun are peaches and cream.

"Dragons of the prime,
That tare each other in their slime,
Were mellow music matched with this."

Brethren of the cloth, has not the time come to consign this horrible doctrine to the scrapheap?

Dr. Chase's Ointment

IN POLICE COURT

Says S. P. A. Will Pay.

Tony Zoccano, boxer and fight promoter, appeared in police court today, charged with using an advertising wagon, announcing a boxing bout, without the prescribed license.

"Why did you do this, didn't you know it was against the law?" asked Magistrate J. C. Judd.

"The Sportmen's Patriotic Association told me to do it," replied Tony.

"Well, you better make the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association pay the dollar I am going to fine you," said his worship.

"You bet I will make it pay," replied Tony as he passed over a dollar bill.

Back To Detroit.

William H. Myers, charged with vagrancy, was placed in charge of detectives, who put him on the 11:25 train for Detroit. He claimed to come from Detroit, and at the G. T. R. station Tuesday afternoon Detective Harry Down arrested him and brought him to the police station, claiming he was acting suspiciously. He claimed to be a real estate agent.

Must Pay Wife.

William Russell, charged with being drunk, was also reminded by the magistrate that he had failed to contribute anything toward the support of his wife and family, although a court order had some months ago been made to that effect. He was ordered to pay in $3 a week, which he promised to do.

"Drunk, of Course."

William McDougall, a charter member of the "independent order of Indian listers," made his regular monthly appearance today.

William can always produce, or at least previous to this occasion has been able to do so, a "good excuse" for getting drunk, but he seemed to be stuck this morning.

"Well, what's the reason this time?" asked his worship.

"Just on my way home, doing nothing, when I was picked up," replied William.

Continuing the dialogue for a few minutes, the magistrate finally said: "Third and last call, were or were you not drunk?"

"Drunk, of course," said William.

"Ten dollars or 21 days," said the magistrate.

It is expected that the case will be started tomorrow.

"On Active Service"

This usually means a hurried severance of many ties and the transfer of many duties into other hands.

If you are now acting in the capacity of executor, administrator or trustee, and expect to be called away on military duty, you are permitted by law to intrust the business to this company during your absence.

You obtain the advantage of the long experience and the financial strength of the Canada Trust Company at nominal cost.

Mr. Parker has a field standing at nine and ten feet, much of it measuring ten feet four inches.

Oats, too, are better than expected, and the recent showers are benfitting the root crop.

EMBRO NOTES.

EMBRO, Aug. 15.—Frost was reported here yesterday morning.

Major R. B. Ross, son of D. R. Ross, of this village, is now superintending the transportation of Canadian troops between England and France. He was painfully injured a few months ago, having had the misfortune to have his horse step on his foot, entailing the loss of three toes. His brother, Capt. Jas. G. Ross, of the 13th Battalion, who was home from the front with a badly-wounded leg, has returned to Montreal and is engaged in electrical engineering work. He is soon to go before a medical board, but it is not thought that he will be able to return to active service.

The garden party held in the Matheson Park Friday night was a decided success. The music furnished by the 22nd Regimental Band of Woodstock was much enjoyed. The address given by Pte. Harry Munn of Woodstock, a returned soldier, was short, but full of interest. The proceeds amounted to $110. After paying expenses the balance is to go to Red Cross work.

The King's Daughters will meet Thursday afternoon, August 11, at the home of Mrs. Hugh McCorquodale.
