INTERVIEW

Toronto Liberal Paper Claims to Have had one With the Bothwell Member.

Toronto Star.

James Clancy, Opposition member of Parliament for Bothwell, says he is in the city on purely private business, though that did not prevent him calling on Hon. Geo. E. Foster, while in the city. The Star found the financial critic of the Opposition wearing a pink shirt, a diplomatic expression, and a few other things.

Asked as to the chances of Mr. Foster getting the Conservative nomination in Addington, Mr. Clancy declined to say anything, but declared that he had no doubt that Mr. Foster would soon be back in the Dominion House, "where he ought to be," he said.

Asked about the other story that Mr. Foster would join forces with Mr. Whitney, Mr. Clancy allowed himself to be positive. "There's nothing in that story," he said; "I'm sure."

Then Mr. Clancy talked about his own political prospects, expressing the opinion that the new redistribution bill would wipe out his riding.

"Then you're going back into the Legislature," queried the Star.

"No; then I'm going out of politics," said Mr. Clancy, with a twinkle in his off eye.

"John W. Bell, you know, who died the other day," he said, "expected soon to be out of politics anyway. I expect those Quebec fellows will pad out their population for all they are worth, and the Liberals in reducing Ontario's membership will combine some of those eastern Ontario ridings, and Addington and Lennox will probably be combined."

Mr. Clancy did not say in view of these expectations what he thought of the application to get Mr. Foster into Parliament as the representative of a riding which, he thinks, is shortly to be wiped out.

Like all politicians, Mr. Clancy knows the value of air-hot air and fresh air—especially both, and consequently The Star's Fresh Air Fund meets with his distinguished approval.

Or, at least, they utilized the delay in examining the city of Chatham and spending their money with the King street merchants.

Bronchitis Sufferers

Act foolishly. If they improve over so little when the fine weather comes, they relax effort and drift back into the old condition which, if possible, becomes more chronic. Hit Bronchitis hard in the summer and you'll get rid of it and drive it out of the system. In winter it is almost impossible to do this. Inhale Catarrhophore regularly. It's a clean, safe thing on Bronchitis. It goes into the lungs, bathes all parts of the bronchial tubes with its healing, germ-destroying vapor, and cures every time. Utilize the aid of all competent druggists and doctors. 25c. and $1.00.

Clean Germless Clothing

This is not meant to be an alarmist talk, but we want to point out some facts. That, you know, is what an advertisement is for.

Our province has passed through a light but widely diffused visitation of the worst disease known to northern climates. Happily the malady is now pretty well stamped out, but great care will be needed to prevent its recurrence.

Have you ever thought of the risks that attach to buying and wearing sweatshop clothing? In every town and city there is clothing for sale that has been made in airless slum cellars by unhappy people whose very breath is laden with the germs of chronic diseases. And you cannot distinguish these garments at sight. They are not labelled "sweatshop."

We do not for a moment pretend to be the only dealers in clean, wholesome clothing. What we point out is that if you wish to be safe this is a place where you can incur no possible danger. The clothing we buy is as carefully looked after as what we make ourselves.

One Chatham lady was going to the Eau last Saturday morning. She got up earlier than her husband and touched his pocket for all the ready change. Perhaps it is necessary to here remark that the husband was not going to the Eau, but he helped carry her things to the station. Arrived there, the husband went in to secure his wife a ticket, but found he had no money. Neither had the wife, for she had placed the gleaming purse, which she had forgotten and left at home. Sadly she wandered home again a sadder but a wiser woman. At least that is what the Sunday school books say.

The Bonnie Belle went on a cruise of exploration yesterday. It was the purpose of those on board to explore Gerundy Bay and the creeks flowing into it. About 9 o'clock a. m. this beautiful yacht with the rowboats Osirus and Red in tow, left her moorings with the following crew:—Supt. Jones, T. J. Rutley, Will Rutley, Ed. Jones, Jr., and J. W. Young. Capt. Bert Jones was in command. Owing, however, to the compass getting out of working order, the Bonnie ran into Turtle Egg Bay some distance east of Gerundy Bay. After exploring the shore line off Turtle Egg Bay, it was discovered that there were no streams flowing into it. The discovery was also made that the explorers were in the wrong bay. A portage was made across the narrow neck of land that separates the twin lagoons, and Water Lily Creek was found as per the chart. The trip up the creek was fraught with some amusement and many water lilies secured. Ed. Jones, Jr., found a piece of a sea-serpent and some huge mud-turtle claws. Supt. Jones got a snapping turtle and sea urchins. Having discovered that there was nothing more to be discovered, the party returned to Rictorby and, being hungry, all eagerly sought their respective homes and dinner.

HER FUNERAL

The Late Mrs. Kruger's Husband is Very Much Depressed by her Death.

Pretoria July 22.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger, of the South African Republic, who died Saturday last, of pneumonia, after an illness of three days, was buried here this afternoon.

Amsterdam, July 22.—Former President Kruger, of the South African Republic, is very depressed as the result of the death of his wife, but his health is unaffected. On the contrary, he has thrown himself into his work with more than his usual energy. Press comment on the death of Mrs. Kruger, is sympathetic. The newspapers do not attach any political significance to the event.

HEARTY WELCOME

Given the Victorious Canadian Oarsmen on Their Return From Philadelphia.

Toronto, July 22.—With the band of the Body Guards ahead, the victorious Argonauts, Winnipeggers and Dons drove through the principal streets on their arrival from Philadelphia. The winning crews were in their four-in-hand drags, decorated with the club colors, with dozens of brooms, which gave a sort of "We sweep the sea" look to the procession. The reception was the most enthusiastic seen for many years—since Ned Hanlon came home. The westerners were as warmly greeted by the thousands as the wharf when the boat came in as the home men. A movement has been already set on foot to send the Argonauts to Henley next year. Major Henson, of the Argonauts, says they won easily, and we were at no time hard pressed. After their victory over the Vespera there has been no trouble in getting subscriptions to send them to Henley. Several of the Winnipeggers stayed over in Atlantic City, but all the Argonauts except Goldman, were on hand. After the speeches of welcome by their reception committee, the oarsmen were entertained at dinner, at the Argonaut Club House.

BOERS AGAIN SURPRISED MANY PRISONERS TAKEN

Kruger Discusses the Reitz Letter, but Refuses to Talk of European Intervention or Possible "Complications"—The English Standard of Education for Orange River Colony.

Kroonstadt, July 22.—Major Pine-coffin surprised a Boer commando at Honingspruit July 19, capturing Commandants Harting, two sons of Gen. Prinsloo and 24 others, and killing and wounding 17.

WHAT KRUGER SAYS.

Paris, July 22.—A despatch from Amsterdam contains an interview with Mr. Kruger on the letter of Former Secretary of State Reitz, of the Transvaal, to Mr. Steyn. Mr. Kruger says it is a one-sided document selected by Lord Kitchener out of many others that were captured. These included reports and letters from the Transvaal Generals Tobias, Smuts, Delarey and Beyers, and the leaders of the forces operating in the Cape Colony, all of which were strongly in favor of supporting Mr. Steyn. Lord Kitchener, Mr. Kruger said, carefully avoided mentioning these reports and letters. Mr. Kruger refused to discuss the question of European intervention or the possible complications which were mentioned in the Reitz

Steyn correspondence as having been communicated to the Transvaal government.

ONLY ENGLISH TO BE TAUGHT.

Bloemfontein, July 22.—When teachers from parts of Orange River Colony are at present assembled here on a vacation course, the Deputy-Administrator, Col. Goud-Adams, addressing them at a reception at Government House, emphasized the necessity for a uniform system of education, and demanded the old Free State system of two standards—Dutch and English. He announced that in future there would only be one standard, and that the standard best fitted to equip the children for the future battle of life—the English standard.

Colonel Goud-Adams stated definitely that though Dutch would be the medium for the spiritual education of Dutch children, ordinary education would be conducted solely in the English language. He appealed to the teachers and all concerned in the upbringing of the future generation to make them God-fearing, loyal, and noble citizens of the great Empire.

The address was received with hearty applause by the large gathering, in which the Dutch element predominated.

SIGNOR CRISPI NOW DYING

Friends of Italian Statesman Summoned to his Bedside.

Italy's "Grand Old Man" Brought Low After his Winter's Illness—He Played a Strong Role in his Country's History.

Naples, July 22.—Signor Francesco Crispi is now in a state of exhaustion. The members of his family and some of his best friends have been summoned here.

Not since his attack of influenza last winter has he recovered his former vigorous health, and he has been compelled to undergo five operations for cataract, which, while disturbing his system, have not restored sight.

Francesco Crispi has been long known as the "Bismarck of Italy," and with Gladstone and the "Iron Chancellor," comprised the trio of Europe's "grand old men."

He has been a varied career. He was born in Ribera, Sicily, on Oct. 4, 1819, and admitted to the bar at Naples when a comparatively young man, later becoming involved in a number of conspiracies hatched by the Italian patriots. He became an exile, and in the councils of Mazzini and the successful struggle of Garibaldi to liberate his native island of Sicily and the south of Italy, played a large part. In fact, had it not been for the wise counsel of Crispi, Garibaldi would never have hazarded the undertaking.

For 30 years afterwards Crispi was one of the leaders of the advanced liberal party, and in 1887, on the death of Depretis, became prime minister, one of his master strokes being the cementing of the triple alliance, which extricated his country from the shadows of a disastrous war. He has enjoyed the praise and borne the censure of Democrats and Conservatives, Free Masons and Roman Catholics at different times, but always with a self-confidence and strength of character which forced respect and admiration from his enemies.

Crispi's life has been crowded with more romances and scandals than would fill many books. In this time he has been accused of bigamy, has been indicted for alleged connection with the Bank of Naples scandals and has seen poverty as a lone journalist in the French capital, whether he fled after the defeat of the insurgents at Palermo in 1848.

MUCH LEPROSY IN RUSSIA.

Moscow, July 22.—Government officials are greatly alarmed over the unprecedented spread of leprosy. For some time the medical authorities have been engaged in a careful compilation of statistics concerning the disease. Their investigations reveal the fact that the disease infests forty-nine districts. The worst conditions prevail in the Baltic provinces of Lifu and Kurland. In Lifu Province 600 leprosy victims have been located, while in Kurland Province 201 have been found.

The malady seems to be appearing throughout Caucasus and the Russian dominions in Central Asia, Eastern Siberia and in Crimea. Drastic precautions are being taken to prevent the scourge from invading the large districts in Western Siberia, Poland and Finland. So far seventy-two deaths have been officially reported as being due to leprosy.

Friends of Italian Statesman Summoned to his Bedside.

Italy's "Grand Old Man" Brought Low After his Winter's Illness—He Played a Strong Role in his Country's History.

Naples, July 22.—Signor Francesco Crispi is now in a state of exhaustion. The members of his family and some of his best friends have been summoned here.

Not since his attack of influenza last winter has he recovered his former vigorous health, and he has been compelled to undergo five operations for cataract, which, while disturbing his system, have not restored sight.

Francesco Crispi has been long known as the "Bismarck of Italy," and with Gladstone and the "Iron Chancellor," comprised the trio of Europe's "grand old men."

He has been a varied career. He was born in Ribera, Sicily, on Oct. 4, 1819, and admitted to the bar at Naples when a comparatively young man, later becoming involved in a number of conspiracies hatched by the Italian patriots. He became an exile, and in the councils of Mazzini and the successful struggle of Garibaldi to liberate his native island of Sicily and the south of Italy, played a large part. In fact, had it not been for the wise counsel of Crispi, Garibaldi would never have hazarded the undertaking.

For 30 years afterwards Crispi was one of the leaders of the advanced liberal party, and in 1887, on the death of Depretis, became prime minister, one of his master strokes being the cementing of the triple alliance, which extricated his country from the shadows of a disastrous war. He has enjoyed the praise and borne the censure of Democrats and Conservatives, Free Masons and Roman Catholics at different times, but always with a self-confidence and strength of character which forced respect and admiration from his enemies.

Crispi's life has been crowded with more romances and scandals than would fill many books. In this time he has been accused of bigamy, has been indicted for alleged connection with the Bank of Naples scandals and has seen poverty as a lone journalist in the French capital, whether he fled after the defeat of the insurgents at Palermo in 1848.

Points Out That he Always has the Interests of the City at Heart.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Sir,—I noticed an item in your paper on the 19th inst., whose very insignificance attracted my attention.

Its emanation is clouded in mystery, its jest of so little importance to me as well as the party who wrote it, that even he hesitated to sign his own production. In my opinion, as I have already expressed in your popular columns, letters of this description only court notoriety by being answered. In this case I do not answer the writer, I merely speak for the benefit of the business man who knows enough to mind his own business.

As for the question of boxes and stuff and material on the sidewalk, permit me to state that I have never at any stage of the game mentioned it or took notice of it, notwithstanding I have had a countless number of applications and have had complaints asking me why I did not try and have the sidewalk cleared for the pedestrian and not as a storehouse for the stores. In each case my answer was "It is not in my line. See the Chief of Police." Now, whether they have done so or not, you will have to see the Chief.

As to interfering with something, specialty never to overstep the limit for the city of Chatham the sidewalk as well as the roadbed is distinctly my department. I make it a strict rule never to overstep the limit of my department, but allow me to state for the information of the citizens of Chatham that as engineer for the said city my department and my business are run strictly on business basis, and that at any time that the emanator of the above lot chooses to come to my office in business hours I am prepared to tell him or any other ratepayer in the city of Chatham how much money we have spent and what we have done with it and all other information liable to follow any question that he might ask. I would further ask the citizens of Chatham to distinctly understand that I go entirely under the instructions from the Board of Works. Information furnished to me is a member of the City Council to-day who does not think that I am doing the work as any practicable engineer would do it. They certainly have the say when they are not satisfied. I have made it a distinct practice in municipal engineering to treat everybody alike. I have done so here. I ask neither favor nor affection from anybody nor do not propose to give it. My business is run strictly on business principles. And in the interest of those employing me, I remain,

Yours truly,
CITY ENGINEER.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

Re alien labor.

Allow me to state that in saying that I brought this man from Flint, Mich., to do our contract work, that it is a lie, flat-footed. Now, any further explanation of this matter, I refuse to give. The Board of Works will be happy to make any explanation that is required, and while you state that you have a good man here to do the work as any we can possibly import, in answer I have only to state that the work I have seen on the sidewalks here was far from what I considered standard or good work. Take, for instance the sidewalk on Centre street, which is now on exhibition for itself and speaks for itself, also a piece on Park street, also a piece on Water street.

When we tenders for people to do this class of work the only man in town who thought he was competent to do it out in his tender at 15 cents a foot. This man who has done the work in the last few weeks is doing it for 12 1/2 cents a foot. The reason he was employed to do the work was because the crossings were positively needed, and to save an action against the city, on the instructions of the chairman of the Board of Works, I put him to work on Head street. You say "import men to do work here." I do not think that I am stretching the matter a little bit when I say it would have paid you to have imported them from Kansas, let alone Detroit, when you started to place your monstrous stone crossings, etc., and other work that has been done here. Any further criticism of any work done here I shall keep until I find it necessary to produce it as a comparison to what has been done since my installation as city engineer.

Re Dutch John.

Permit me to state in this case I gave the amiable German three different trials after having dismissed him. Amongst them one of the terms I offered him was as follows:—Give the city the benefit of the time that you are off the street during work hours and accept as a present the time that you work for us. Even this did not satisfy him. He came to work about 8 o'clock and left again at six, while other men worked their 10 hours out in full, and, properly, made made a complaint to me. I supplied the reluctant John, by order of the Board of Works, with three sufficient white suits, with brush and blacking for his boots, and also caps to match his clothes, and I think, sir, that you will admit any dirtier looking object than he presented on the street about five days in the week is hard to find, or imagine and while you say he did work he was never paid, for, he got a heap of money he never worked for.

As to James McMahon. He was dismissed simply because we had no work for him. On the last three meetings of the Board of Works, I have been distinctly ordered to cut the pay sheet and an every case dismissed a man that I was under the impression I did not need, and while I am an engineer for Chatham, I propose to run my department myself, and will hire and discharge those that I think proper and fit to do. I might say that at the date of your effusion Mr. McMahon was working on the corporation work.

Again, when you start to call your engineer down, distinctly understand that it is absolutely necessary to know something about the subject you are talking on. I do not think there is a member of the City Council to-day who does not think that I am doing the work as any practicable engineer would do it. They certainly have the say when they are not satisfied. I have made it a distinct practice in municipal engineering to treat everybody alike. I have done so here. I do not think that I am stretching the matter a little bit when I say it would have paid you to have imported them from Kansas, let alone Detroit, when you started to place your monstrous stone crossings, etc., and other work that has been done here. Any further criticism of any work done here I shall keep until I find it necessary to produce it as a comparison to what has been done since my installation as city engineer.

Re Dutch John.

Permit me to state in this case I gave the amiable German three different trials after having dismissed him. Amongst them one of the terms I offered him was as follows:—Give the city the benefit of the time that you are off the street during work hours and accept as a present the time that you work for us. Even this did not satisfy him. He came to work about 8 o'clock and left again at six, while other men worked their 10 hours out in full, and, properly, made made a complaint to me. I supplied the reluctant John, by order of the Board of Works, with three sufficient white suits, with brush and blacking for his boots, and also caps to match his clothes, and I think, sir, that you will admit any dirtier looking object than he presented on the street about five days in the week is hard to find, or imagine and while you say he did work he was never paid, for, he got a heap of money he never worked for.

As to James McMahon. He was dismissed simply because we had no work for him. On the last three meetings of the Board of Works, I have been distinctly ordered to cut the pay sheet and an every case dismissed a man that I was under the impression I did not need, and while I am an engineer for Chatham, I propose to run my department myself, and will hire and discharge those that I think proper and fit to do. I might say that at the date of your effusion Mr. McMahon was working on the corporation work.

Again, when you start to call your engineer down, distinctly understand that it is absolutely necessary to know something about the subject you are talking on. I do not think there is a member of the City Council to-day who does not think that I am doing the work as any practicable engineer would do it. They certainly have the say when they are not satisfied. I have made it a distinct practice in municipal engineering to treat everybody alike. I have done so here. I ask neither favor nor affection from anybody nor do not propose to give it. My business is run strictly on business principles. And in the interest of those employing me, I remain,

Re alien labor.

Allow me to state that in saying that I brought this man from Flint, Mich., to do our contract work, that it is a lie, flat-footed. Now, any further explanation of this matter, I refuse to give. The Board of Works will be happy to make any explanation that is required, and while you state that you have a good man here to do the work as any we can possibly import, in answer I have only to state that the work I have seen on the sidewalks here was far from what I considered standard or good work. Take, for instance the sidewalk on Centre street, which is now on exhibition for itself and speaks for itself, also a piece on Park street, also a piece on Water street.

When we tenders for people to do this class of work the only man in town who thought he was competent to do it out in his tender at 15 cents a foot. This man who has done the work in the last few weeks is doing it for 12 1/2 cents a foot. The reason he was employed to do the work was because the crossings were positively needed, and to save an action against the city, on the instructions of the chairman of the Board of Works, I put him to work on Head street. You say "import men to do work here." I do not think that I am stretching the matter a little bit when I say it would have paid you to have imported them from Kansas, let alone Detroit, when you started to place your monstrous stone crossings, etc., and other work that has been done here. HER FUNERAL

The Late Mrs. Kruger's Husband is Very Much Depressed by Her Death.

Pretoria, July 22.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger, of the South African Republic, who died Saturday last, of pneumonia, after an illness of three days, was buried here this afternoon.

Amsterdam, July 22.—Former President Kruger, of the South African Republic, is very depressed as the result of the death of his wife, but his health is unaffected. On the contrary, he has thrown himself into his work with more than his usual energy. Press comment on the death of Mrs. Kruger, is sympathetic. The newspapers do not attach any political significance to the event.

HEARTY WELCOME

Given the Victorious Canadian Oarsmen on Their Return From Philadelphia.

Toronto, July 22.—With the band of the Body Guards ahead, the victorious Argonauts, Winnipeg and Dons drove through the principal streets on their arrival from Philadelphia. The winning crews were in their four-in-hand drags, decorated with the club colors, with dozens of brooms, which gave a sort of "We sweep the sea" look to the procession. The reception was the most enthusiastic seen for many years—since Ned Hanlon came home. The westerners were as warmly greeted by the thousands as the wharf when the boat came in as the home men. A movement has been already set afoot to send the Argonauts to Henley next year. Major Harston, of the Argonauts, says they won easily, and we were at no time hard pressed. After their victory over the westerners there has been no trouble in getting subscriptions to send them to Henley. Several of the Winnipeggers stayed over in Atlantic City, but all the Argonauts except Goldman, were on hand. After the speeches of welcome by their reception committee, the oarsmen were entertained at dinner, at the Argonaut Club House.

"We were very much pleased with the design you sent. It was beautiful and appropriate." The Victoria Ave. Greenhouses receive such words of commendation every day. Telephone No. 181.

BOERS AGAIN SURPRISED MANY PRISONERS TAKEN

Kruger Discusses the Reitz Letter, but Refuses to Talk of European Intervention or Possible "Complications"—The English Standard of Education for Orange River Colony.

Kroonstadt, July 22.—Major Pine-coffin surprised a Boer commando at Honingspruit July 19, capturing Commandants Hatting, two sons of Gen. Prinsloo and 24 others, and killing and wounding 17.

WHAT KRUGER SAYS.

Paris, July 22.—A despatch from Amsterdam contains an interview with Mr. Kruger on the letter of Former Secretary of State Reitz, of the Transvaal, to Mr. Steyn. Mr. Kruger says it is a one-sided document selected by Lord Kitchener out of many others that were captured. These included reports and letters from the Transvaal Generals Tobias, Smuts, De la Rey and Beyers, and the leaders of the forces operating in the Cape Colony, all of which were strongly in favor of supporting Mr. Steyn. Lord Kitchener, Mr. Kruger said, carefully avoided mentioning these reports and letters. Mr. Kruger refused to discuss the question of European intervention or the possible complications which were mentioned in the Reitz

Steyn correspondence as having been communicated to the Transvaal government.

ONLY ENGLISH TO BE TAUGHT.

Bloemfontein, July 22.—When teachers from parts of Orange River Colony are at present assembled here on a vacation course, the Deputy-Administrator, Col. Gould-Adams, addressing them at a reception at Government House, emphasized the necessity for a uniform system of education, and condemned the old Free State system of two standards—Dutch and English. He announced that in future there would only be one standard, and that the standard best fitted to equip the children for the future battle of life—the English standard.

Colonel Gould-Adams stated definitely that though Dutch would be the medium for the spiritual education of Dutch children, ordinary education would be conducted solely in the English language. He appealed to the teachers and all concerned in the upbringing of the future generation to make them God-fearing, loyal, and noble citizens of the great Empire.

The address was received with hearty applause by the large gathering, in which the Dutch element predominated.

SIGNOR CRISPI NOW DYING

Friends of Italian Statesman Summoned to his Bedside.

Italy's "Grand Old Man" Brought Low After his Winter's Illness—He Played a Strong Role in his Country's History.

Naples, July 22.—Signor Francesco Crispi is now in a state of exhaustion. The members of his family and some of his best friends have been summoned here.

Not since his attack of influenza last winter has he recovered his former vigorous health, and he has been compelled to undergo five operations for cataract, which, while, disturbing his system, have not restored sight.

Francesco Crispi has been long known as the "Bismarck of Italy," and with Gladstone and the "Iron Chancellor," comprised the trio of Europe's "grand old men."

He has been a varied career. He was born in Ribera, Sicily, on Oct. 4, 1819, and admitted to the bar at Naples when a comparatively young man, later becoming involved in a number of conspiracies hatched by the Italian patriots. He became an exile, and in the councils of Mazzini and the successful struggle of Garibaldi to liberate his native island of Sicily and the south of Italy, played no little part. In fact, had it not been for the wise counsel of Crispi, Garibaldi would never have hazarded the undertaking.

For 30 years afterwards Crispi was one of the leaders of the advanced liberal party, and in 1887, on the death of Depretis, became prime minister, one of his major strikes being the cementing of the triple alliance, which extricated his country from the shadows of a disastrous war. He has enjoyed the praise and borne the censure of Democrats and Conservatives, Free Masons and Roman Catholics at different times, but always with a self-confidence and strength of character which forced respect and admiration from his enemies. Crispi's life has been crowded with more romances and scandals than would fill many books. In his time he has been accused of bigamy, has been indicted for alleged connection with the Bank of Naples scandals and has seen poverty as a lone journalist in the French capital, whether he fled after the defeat of the insurgents at Palermo in 1848.

MUCH LEPROSY IN RUSSIA.

Moscow, July 22.—Government officials are greatly alarmed over the unprecedented spread of leprosy. For some time the medical authorities have been engaged in a careful study of the statistics concerning the plague. Their investigations reveal the fact that the disease infests forty-nine districts. The worst conditions prevail in the Baltic provinces of Lifu and Kurland. In Lifu Province 609 leprosy victims have been located, while in Kurland Province 201 have been found.

The malady seems to be appearing throughout Caucasus and the Russian dominions in Central Asia, Eastern Siberia and in Crimea. Drastic precautions are being taken to prevent the scourge from invading the large districts in Western Siberia, Poland and Finland. So far seventy-two deaths have been officially reported as being due to leprosy.

DEADLY HEAT

Not a Drop of Rain in any Part of the South West—No Sign of Relief for Drought Stricken Region.

Kansas City, Mo., July 22.—Fourteen deaths from heat, with fully 40 prostrations, were reported up to 1 o'clock to-day, in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kansas, for the past 36 hours. Nine of these occurred yesterday, and five since midnight of last night. At one o'clock this afternoon the weather bureau thermometer registered 102. Not a drop of rain is reported from any point in the Southwest to-day, and there is no immediate promise of moisture.

NO SIGN OF RELIEF.

Washington, July 22.—To-day's reports from the Middle Mississippi Valley stations of the weather bureau do not indicate any relief for the people of that drought and heat-stricken region. At St. Louis the thermometer at 7 o'clock registered 96 degrees, four degrees higher than at the same hour yesterday; at Kansas City, 84 degrees were indicated, two degrees higher than yesterday; at Springfield, Ill., 84 degrees, six higher than yesterday; at Omaha, 84 degrees, two higher, and at Austin, Texas, 82 degrees, an increase of 5. The weather was clear throughout the region, and not even thunder storms were indicated there. There was a fall in the temperature at Chicago, and the prospect is for cooler weather on the great lakes, and later through New England. The weather forecasters say there is no sign of relief for the people of the Mississippi Valley.

A MEDAL FOR THE KING.

London, July 23.—At Marlborough House yesterday afternoon, King Edward received the Duchess of Marlborough (formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt), Mrs. Cornwallis West (formerly Lady Randolph Churchill), Mrs. Ronalds, and other American women on the Committee of the Hospital Ship Maine. The object of the call of the deputation was to ask His Majesty's acceptance of a commemorative medal, which it was originally intended to present to the late Queen Victoria.

VAST CORK FORESTS.

THOSE OF SPAIN AND PORTUGAL ARE IMMENSE IN AREA.

How the Pliable Bark is Stripped From the Trees, Boiled, Scraped and Cut into Shape—Thousands Employed in the Industry.

The cork forests of Spain cover an area of 620,000 square miles, producing the finest cork in the world. These forests exist in groups and cover wide belts of territory, those in the region of Catalonia and part of Barcelona being considered the first in importance. Although the cork forests of Estremadura and Andalusia yield cork of a much quicker growth and possess some excellent qualities, its consistency is less rigid, and on this account it does not enjoy the high reputation which the cork of Catalonia does.

In Spain and Portugal, where the cork tree, or Quercus suber, is indigenous, it attains to a height varying from 35 to 60 feet and the trunk to a diameter of 30 to 35 inches. This species of the evergreen oak is often heavily encircled with wide spreading branches, clothed with ovate oblong evergreen leaves, downy underneath and the leaves slightly serrated. Annually, between April and May, it produces a flower of a yellowish color, succeeded by the acorns. Over 30,000 square miles in Portugal are devoted to the cultivation of cork trees, though the tree virtually abounds in every part of the country.

The methods in vogue in barking and harvesting the cork in Spain and Portugal are virtually the same. The barking operation is effected when the tree has acquired sufficient strength to withstand the rough handling it receives during this operation, which takes place when it has attained the fifteenth year of its growth. After the first stripping the tree is left in this juvenescent state to regenerate, subsequent strippings being effected at intervals of not less than three years, and under this process the tree will continue to thrive and bear for upward of 150 years.

The bark is stripped from the tree in pieces two or three inches in thickness, of considerable length and of such width as to retain the curved form of the trunk whence it has been stripped. The bark peeler or cutter makes a slit in the bark with a knife perpendicular from the top of the trunk to the bottom; he makes another incision parallel to and at some distance from the former and two short horizontal cuts at the top and bottom. For stripping off the piece thus isolated he uses a kind of knife with two handles and a curved blade. Sometimes, after two cuts have been made, he leaves the tree to throw off the bark by spontaneous action of the vegetation within the trunk.

The first process through which the bark passes after stripping is that of boiling. This is sometimes done in the woods, but more frequently in the cork factory, in large specially constructed caldrons in which the bark is left to boil for upward of an hour, causing an increase of thickness (generally of one-fourth to one-fifth), elasticity of the cork and dissolution of the tannin and other substances. The boiling of the cork can also be effected by steam, for which purpose it is introduced into a wooden box lined with copper or zinc, which is filled with water and steam injected therein. The loss of weight effected by boiling the cork varies between 12 and 40 per cent.

In making corks it is necessary to take away the hard crust or rassa, for which a tool is used with a short handle and curved blade. Scraping machines are also used, two systems being employed—the Besson and Tousseau. The former, propelled by steam, consists principally of horizontal spindles supplied with comb-like teeth and turning at the rate of 900 revolutions a minute. The Tousseau scraper attacks the cork by means of a vertical iron shaft carrying several knives, whose edges are also vertical, and by a rotary movement of the shaft, giving 1,400 turns a minute, work like a brush.

Before cutting the slabs into strips they are cooked for about half an hour so as to facilitate the cutting and piled up soon afterward in a damp place, so as to preserve the softness until ready to operate upon. The slabs are divided into three strips, the width of which is equal to the length of the corks, and in such a way that if the corks be placed in the position occupied by the slab on the tree they would have their fibers running alike. The workmen cut the strips by means of a knife with a flat surface and curved edge, called cuchilla de rabanar. The strips are then made into squares by means of the cuchilla. They then have the edges cut and are ready to be made into corks.

The squares pass into the hands of a workman who is furnished with a knife composed of two pieces—one of them similar to an ordinary knife and the other a blade the edge of which fits into the first. He holds the knife by a small iron catch to the table in front of him and, giving the square a circular movement, the result is that a cork is made in a few seconds. The squares are usually boiled for about a quarter of an hour. They are then deposited in a cool place, and four or five days afterward they are sorted and kept damp until required.

Machines are also employed to make corks, and all consist, at the base, of a knife, the blade of which is placed horizontally, joined generally to a piece of wood, to which a backward and forward movement is given similar to that of a carpenter's plane. In moving, the knife turns the square cork, which, being attacked by the knife, takes off a strip of cork more or less thick according to the distance from the axle of the cork to the edge of the knife. If these are parallel, the result is that the cork is cylindrical, and, if not, it becomes conical. The cork-maker or workman has several large baskets, into which he places the corks according to size or quality, but this first classification is not sufficient, and the corks are placed upon a table and more carefully sorted. To classify the corks according to size wooden boxes are employed, the bottoms of which can be taken out or put in, having a kind of grating of wood.

The corks are worked in a solution of oxalic acid or bisulfate of potash. As soon as washed they are placed out to dry gradually in the shade, in order to enable them to retain the silky gloss which the cork has when it is damp. For packing, 30,000 corks constitute what is called a bale, but for transportation across the ocean bales of from 5,000 to 10,000 corks are made.

Paraday was the son of a blacksmith, and his teacher, Humphrey Davy, was an apprentice to an apothecary.

A WOMAN'S THROAT

In her fortune if she chances to be a Patti or Alani, and that fortune is guarded day and night with the greatest care. Nothing frightens a singer so much as a cough. Every woman ought to be afraid of a cough. It is nature's danger signal. Who does not know of some sweet woman-voice silenced forever by disease which began with a slight cough.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will ensure a permanent cure of the most obstinate and lingering cough. Even when the lungs are involved and there are hemorrhages and emaciation, "Golden Medical Discovery" is generally effective in restoring the diseased organs to sound health and strength. There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

"I am feeling quite well," writes Miss Dorcas A. Lewis, of No. 1129 24th Street, Washington, D. C., "and I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I had been quite a sufferer for a long time, and after reading Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser I thought I would try his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I had not been sleeping well for a long time. Took one tea-spoonful of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and slept nearly all night without coughing, so I continued taking it. I had been a great sufferer for more than ten years. I tried lots of different medicines and different doctors, but did not feel much better. I coughed until I commenced spitting blood, but now I feel much stronger and am entirely well."

How Ornaments For the Home Can Be Made If the Beginner Has a Little Ingenuity and Patience—Cast of the Baby's Hand.

Few people realize the pleasure and instruction that can be gained from making plaster casts. It is inexpensive, and the utensils required are found in every household. A cast of the baby's chubby hand or foot or, in fact, a cast of any kind is not only a delight, but an ornament. The great secret in making successful plaster casts lies in not getting excited. Care should be used when getting the plaster that it be plaster of paris and that it be bought from some shop where it is sure to be fresh, as that which is obtained from a drug store is apt to be stale and will not set properly.

A few quarts of plaster should be sufficient for a first attempt. A bucket of water, a tin basin, a tin spoon, some oil or soapuds and, if possible, some common modeling clay and a bottle of ink are all the materials required. A mold is first taken of the object, and when this is filled it gives the cast. There are two kinds of casts—those where only part of the object is shown, the other part resting on the table or plaque, and those that show the whole object or are in the "round." The hand is about as simple an object as can be found and is more interesting than most things. As the hand on the tile is the easiest, it would be well to start with that. Place a sheet of paper on a table and then grease the hand thoroughly with the oil or thick soapuds to prevent the plaster from sticking to the skin when removing the mold.

When the hand is placed in the position wanted, fill the spaces underneath it, where it does not touch the table, with clay, or if clay cannot be obtained use putty. It is convenient to make a small wall of clay around the object to prevent the plaster from running, but it is not necessary. Put about a quart of cold water in the basin and pour the plaster into it, stir quietly and keep the spoon under water to avoid making bubbles. Use enough plaster to make it the consistency of batter. If a little salt is added or hot water instead of cold is used, the plaster will harden or set more quickly. A small quantity of ink or any coloring matter will make it easier to distinguish the mold from the cast and will also make it more brittle or rotten and easier to separate the two. Pour the plaster over the hand, taking care that there are no bubbles, until it is about half an inch thick. It will require a few minutes for it to set and is ready to lift when it can be scratched with a knife. It is easier to turn the hand and mold up and lift the hand out than to take the mold off the hand. If any plaster has run under the fingers, cut it away with a dull knife.

Should the hand not come out easily, working the fingers separately will often loosen them. The mold should be allowed to dry a few hours and then be filled with white plaster, the same consistency as was used for the mold. A wall of clay about an inch high will have to be built around the edge of the mold, which when filled gives the tile for the cast to rest on. Let the whole dry and then lift the mold away with a knife. The mold, being of a different color, can be readily distinguished from the cast.

In making the mold for a cast in the round, after the hand has been oiled, sink it go about half an inch in a bed of plaster, leaving about half an inch for thickness. Make the rim smooth and, when hardened, oil. Now cover the upper half with plaster. When set, this should knock apart easily and the hand be lifted out.

Another way, but a more difficult one, after putting the hand half way in the plaster and before this has dried, is to put a thin strong string around all the edges of the fingers, letting the ends come out at the wrists. When the hand is entirely covered with plaster and before it has hardened, pull the string out, which cuts it in two. The manner of filling both these kinds of molds is the same. Oil and tie the two halves tightly together and fill with plaster, let harden and lift the molds out.

Only one cast can be made from molds like these. At shops where plaster casts are made and sold and a number of the same casts are wanted a gelatin mold is made. Being elastic, it is easily pulled off without harm to the cast and still retains its shape and can be filled any number of times. The yellow or ivory finish that is given to many casts is obtained by using white shellac, which can be had already mixed from a paintshop. By adding oil paint any desired color can be obtained. Rubbing with a cloth gives a high polish. A bronze finish can be given by coating with a mixture of white wax dissolved in turpentine, to which bronze or green paint has been added.

A fine set of casts, which would interest children and could be used in the schoolroom, could be easily made, such as fruit or vegetable forms, apples, bananas, potatoes and corn, or simple animal forms, such as frogs, fish, etc.; also models that one has made and wishes to preserve.—Good Housekeeping.

As Exception.

A little girl read a composition before the minister. The subject was "A Cow." She wrote in this complimentary sentence: "A cow is the most useful animal in the world, except religion."

Tea became known in England about the middle of the seventeenth century. It was first sold in public houses as beer is now tapped.

Wear-diffusion.

Turn up the sole of an old shoe!
You'll find it worn out in spots only.
Lots of leather unused, wasted. A few square inches only, ground away under pressure points of foot sole.

Heels worn down at outer edge, causing shoe to twist.

Not so with The Resilia Sole in the $5.00 Slater Shoe!

Observe how it flattens when borne upon, through the compression of the rebounding Centresole.

Reflect that this flattening means diffusion of wear, all over the sole of the shoe.

Demise of Rev. F. M. Baldwin at Ridgeway This Morning.

Has Had a Long and Painful Illness—

Leaves Wife and Three Children.

(Special to The Planet)

Ridgeway, July 23.—Rev. F. M. Baldwin, rector of the Episcopal church here and nephew of Bishop Baldwin, passed away this morning after a long illness. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss McLaron, of Chatham, and three children to mourn his loss.

The deceased clergyman has been in poor health for a long time. Some years ago he underwent an operation in Montreal, and more recently was taken to the Public General Hospital at Chatham for similar treatment. On examination, however, the physicians deemed the operation useless.

The deceased was beloved and esteemed by his congregation here. The funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

ACCIDENTS

Three Occur Near Tilsonburg all about the Same Time.

Tilsonburg, Ont., July 22.—Three accidents, two of which may prove fatal, occurred in this vicinity late on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Gardner, of Guyaboro, was thrown from his buggy in a runaway and so seriously injured that it is feared he will not recover.

Almost at the same time the boiler of an oil burning machine on the Hatch farm exploded, slightly wounding M. Thompson, who was standing close beside it. Two other men miraculously escaped injury. The boiler was carried bodily 165 yards.

A young man named Smith, of Brownsville, while helping to erect a windmill on the farm of Mr. Chaney Smith, a few miles west of the town, fell from a scaffold 25 feet high, and has not regained consciousness.

CRICKET TOUR

A Suggestion From One of the Players as to Ways and Means.

The proposed cricket tour is being much talked of lately both by the members of the local club and also by a number of enthusiastic citizens. There are none who are more in favor of the tour or would do more to push it forward to a successful issue than W. J. Kenny.

"The question of the tour," said he to The Planet this morning, "is all right, yet we must consider the enormous expense, and who is going to pay it. There are four or five members of the club who are in a position to pay their own expenses, but there are other young fellows who would consider it a hardship. What we need is for some one to get up a subscription list and let the people take it in hand. If the enthusiasts subscribe and help it along the tour will be a success, otherwise it will not."

"It is a very difficult matter to keep up a cricket club in Chatham. The Chatham citizens have never given it the support it deserves, and the expense has fallen on a few."

"I am greatly gratified to see that The Planet is advocating the tour, and it is a pleasure to see the good old game upheld by that paper."

The club is certainly deserving of great praise. During the last few years many new players have been developed and the club is now in better condition than it has been for some time.

BROTHERS DROWN.

Caledonia, July 22.—About one o'clock yesterday, Charles and George Crosswell, aged 11 and 10 years respectively, went swimming in the Grand River, a short distance from the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Crosswell, who reside about two miles from Middleport, and both were drowned. Charles and George were floating on a large plank. The plank gradually drifted quite a distance into the river, and the boys became very much frightened. They shouted for help, and Wilfred, a third brother, who is a boy 14 years of age, started to their relief.

In the meantime Charles had left the plank, telling George to hang on, and he would swim to shore for help. George, however, disobeyed the command, and sprang after Charles, throwing his arms around his neck. Charles tried to free himself, but could not, and before help could reach them both sank never to rise again.

WILL ESCAPE ANOTHER TRIAL

Authorities Will Not Hold Epperson for Jail-Breaking.

The Convict Tells How Nearly He Was Caught by the Posse at Fletcher.

The escaped prisoner, Andrew Epperson, recaptured in Windsor, was brought to this city yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Beeson and Constable John Carpenter. When he was being brought to Chatham the officers in charge of the prisoner asked him if he had been in Fletcher, on the night the posse went out after the three escaped prisoners.

"Yes, we were there," was the dogged reply. "I suppose that Salvation Army man told you that."

He was inclined to smile in his own way at the clever manner in which he considered that they had eluded the officers in pursuit. He admitted knowing that the Salvation Army man had recognized them. The three then feigned pursuit had left the 6th concession and crossed over to Jeanette's Creek. They had then taken a freight to Windsor, where they separated, each looking out for himself. Epperson refused to tell anything further about the escape and he didn't know what had become of the others.

He enquired about Abram and wanted to know if he had been captured. Epperson's story, so far as it goes, bears out the accounts already published in The Planet and the details of the trial the runaways took precisely as given in this journal are proven to be correct.

Epperson is very sorry now that he made his break for liberty, and is very penitent.

The authorities are not inclined to try Epperson for jailbreaking. He already has five years to serve, and they would have to keep him here till the fall assizes.

Epperson passed the lumber yard of John Piggott & Sons, going out Douglas avenue, Windsor, about 7:05 yesterday morning. Bert Piggott and Napoleon Freedom were standing in the lumber yard. Freedom, formerly of this city, recognized Epperson, and called to him and asked him if he wanted work. The escaped replied that he didn't. Freedom then took the grey team and followed the runaway, while Bert Piggott notified the police. Epperson returned to the centre of the city and entered a small refreshment store, where he was arrested by Constable Elliott. The officer went in with his gun cocked and ordered Epperson to throw up his hands. The runaway did so and was immediately ironed by the policeman.

WIVES FOR MINERS.

WHOLESALE IMPORTATION OF MAIDENS FROM EUROPE.

Businesslike Matrimonial Arrangement That Is Really a Very Good Thing—Revival After Three Centuries of a Colonial Practice.

One of the most striking incidents of a late and most successful upsurge in the settlers in Virginia in the early days imported wives from the old country, paying for them in tobacco. It will doubtless come as a surprise to many people to learn that the very same method of obtaining a wife, all except the tobacco, is in decided vogue in America at the present day. Substitute Pennsylvania for Virginia, for the tobacco a sum in American cash, for the Virginia Englishman a Polish, Hungarian, Italian, Russian or Slavonian coal miner, for the bonny daughter of England a maid from the continent of Europe and for the seventh-century the opening day of the twentieth and you will have the romance complete.

For a number of years times have been very good in the Pennsylvania coke and coal regions. Coke workers and coal miners are averaging $3 a day. Of the 40,000 or 50,000 men employed in the mining country at least four-fifths are foreigners. They hail from every country in Europe where there is a surplus of men who seriously object to being drafted into the standing armies. By devious ways these men reach our shores, pass the inspection at Ellis Island and are carried to the coal regions of Pennsylvania. They are hard workers, and their lives are wearisome at the best. But they are certainly in the great majority of cases industrious, frugal and saving, and it is not long before they accumulate a fund of cash. Then, not unnaturally, their thoughts turn to matrimony. But in the coal regions men outnumber eligible women at least ten to one.

In some few instances the miner has left behind him in "the old country" a wife and children. As soon as he gets "on his feet" in this land of promise he sends for them, and a new home is added to the sum total in the mining town. In still other cases the miner's fannell shirt hides the burning heart of a lover, and the object of his regard has also been left behind to await the mending or making of his fortune. The case of the man with the sweetheart is also simple, for the way from Europe to America is open for a maid, provided she has the traveling expenses. These are sent to her by the miner, and then the priest is called upon. But it is with the great majority of the miners, who have neither wife nor sweetheart, that this story has to deal. Right here is where the fine Italian hand of the matrimonial agent is shown. Let any one who decries this useful member of the Pennsylvania mining community, he must be said that his business is a strictly legitimate one, far more so than that of almost all of the so-called "matrimonial agencies." The coal miner's friend makes his business to know the exact circumstances of every miner or coke worker within his district. As soon as he learns that one of them has accumulated a "pile" or is matrimonially inclined he calls upon him or meets him, perhaps casually.

Into the willing ear of the laborer is poured a tale of the advantages of matrimony over single blessedness. The worker is ready to listen, for dwelling in a company boarding house is not calculated to appeal to a man's sense of comfort. The matrimonial agent is a steamship, railroad and labor agent all usually a banker as well. To the man tired of boarding he offers to supply a wife of his own nationality, fresh from the green fields of the man's native country. Is it strange that the man listens, warily, and then succumbs to the wiles of the agent?

The miner puts up the price of a ticket, about $25, and about $25 for the agent. To the credit of the latter it is said he never fails to keep to his agreement. On the other side are a large number of young women of good character willing to come over here and accept a husband whom they have never seen, provided that good treatment is promised them. In about six weeks or two months after the miner strikes the bargain with the agent the young woman arrives and is introduced to her future lord. One may not say "lord and master," for it is surprising to what a degree equality of the sexes prevails among these untutored immigrants. Although the girl is usually somewhat shy at first, this soon wears off, and she is ready for the ceremony.

At the little Catholic church on the side of a hill the knot is duly and solemnly tied in the presence of the miner's friends and country men. After the ceremony there are generally feasting and jubilation for a number of days. At the wedding dance every male guest, provided he pays a dollar, is entitled to a dance with the bride. The dollar is a silver one and is deposited in a plate with all the force of a hand and arm used to the pick and shovel. If the man succeeds in breaking the plate, he gets another dance free. This goes to furnish up the home. Then the miner and his bride settle down to the sober realities of life.

In justification of this unconventional way of securing wives it must be said that the results are in the vast majority of instances very good. There is no swindle about it. The miner and his wife are satisfied, the agent sure, and who else is entitled to an objection?

THE NEW REMEDY

There never has been a remedy introduced to the people of this country which has given such uniform satisfaction as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. The reason is plain. HONORS EVEN.

The Chicago Editors Have Another Lively Correspondence Battle.

"If you haven't got anything else to do," suggested the information editor, with a yawn, "you might tell me what you conceive to be the difference between shaving around a mole on your chin and curving a road rabbit."

"One is a rather particular shave and the other is a choice hair-cut," retorted the exchange editor. "What is the difference?"

"Nothing of the sort. In the one case you have a care and in the other you carve a hare."

"Merely a hare splitting distinction. What's the difference between a properly cooked Hudson river fish and a beginner in a stock market?"

"That's easy. One is a planked shad and the other is a cooked goose."

"Not at all. You are losing your grip. The other is a gudgeon on the board."

"Really. There's a better reason than that. They leave all the bones of the one and they take all the bones of the other. Eat more fish. It's brain food, and you need it. Speaking of food, what did the squeaked roasts eat in that recent stock panic?"

"Hum! Bull pie?"

"No. Saw Sage."

"That's awfully out of season."

"I don't like it, you can slump it."

"Don't get in a hurry. What's the difference between chicory and square dealing?"

"One's bogus coffee and the other's honest. Why is a current report like the inmate of a boarding house?"

"Because it's a rumor. But there's a big difference. One flies, but can't kick, and the other can't fly, but can't kick."

"Like a hot tamale maker of today? He was an Aztec cook. Awful! When was the first prizefight?"

"When the lion and unicorn fought for a crown. What is?"

"No, no! It was when Lucifer went down to avoid punishment."

"Well, he didn't avoid it, just the same. What's the difference between an ice peddler?"

"And a custom house officer? One's an ice man and the other's an excise man."

"Why is a skeleton in a closet?"

"It's the anatomy of melancholy."

"What's the reason why Englewood?"

Orchard and Garden.

G. Yew varieties of fruit, but grow them well.

A good surface harrow to keep the orchard mellow and clean is of benefit. The matted row way of raising strawberries is often called the lazy man's system.

Thorough surface cultivation will prevent the growth of red raspberries between the rows.

With the young orchard thorough tillage should be given all through the early part of the growing season. Then mulch well before hot, dry weather sets in.

Pear trees require rather less space than any other fruit trees. Fear of them are of a spreading habit, the majority of them growing in a pyramidal form. Still, it is not best to allow them to grow too tall. Cut out the tops.

The drain of continual cropping is never noticed so particularly in an orchard until harvest time. The trees put forth blossoms, and the fruit that follows seems all right, but when the fruit ripens too many culls are found.

A lectureship on the theory and practice of public speaking and debate will be established at Columbia university in the fall. The first incumbent will be Ralph C. Ringwalt of Harvard.

Professor George F. Jewett of Youngstown, O., who recently resigned as principal of the Rayen High school, has accepted the presidency of La Salle Seminary For Young Women in Boston.

An effort is being made to establish in one of the Scotch universities a chair for the study of the Scottish language and literature. The old Scottish tongue as written by James V is almost unintelligible to the modern Scotchman.

Allyne Ireland has been commissioned by the University of Chicago to spend two years in the east studying questions of colonial policy, especially with reference to the Philippines. Mr. Ireland will present his conclusions in the form of a course of lectures at this university and will leave for Siam after delivering a course of lectures in the Lowell Institute series in Boston in the fall.

BABIES AND BELIEFS.

Rumanian mothers tie red ribbons around the ankles of their children to keep them from harm.

Among Voages peasants children born at new moon are supposed to have a sharper tongue than those born under the last quarter.

Welsh mothers, to insure the safety of their babies, put a pair of tongs or a knife in the cradle. In some parts of England the same practice prevails.

Bronchitis Sufferers

Act foolishly. If they improve ever so little when the fine weather comes, they relax effort and drift back into the old condition which, if possible, becomes more chronic. Hit Bronchitis hard in the summer and you'll get rid of it and drive it out of the system. In winter it is almost impossible to do this. Inhale Catarrh zone regularly. It's a dead sure thing on Bronchitis. It goes into the most minute air cells of the lungs, bathes all parts of the bronchial tubes with its healing, germ-destroying vapor, and cures every time. Highly endorsed by all competent druggists and doctors. 25c. and $1.00.

OUR VISIT TO CANADA

Editor of the Danbury Review
Writes About his Trip to Ontario.

Re-visits his old home in Chatham—Notes the Thriftiness and Prosperity of Kent Farmers.

The following is an article written by J. E. McMullen, formerly an employee of The Planet now the publisher of the Danbury Review, of Danbury, Iowa. The article appeared in a recent issue of that paper:
The editor returned Sunday after an absence of two weeks rusticiating in the western part of Ontario, principally in and around Chatham, where his boyhood days were spent. The condition of that section is quite prosperous, and crops are a whole lot better, as they have had recent rains. Beans, plain, white beans, is the principal crop there, and the farmers are getting rich in raising them. Fall wheat which at one time was their staple crop is not the favorite now, as the grain from the great Northwest has deluged the market and brought the price down from $1.00 and $1.10 to 55c and 60c. The timber, beech, maple, oak and hickory is fast disappearing, and even the old time rail fence is giving place to wire, and the entire country gridded with railroads, both steam and electric, is fast becoming modernized so that in fact all things are becoming new. We noticed many farms bordered with what is known as the Osage Orange hedge fence. The hedge after a growth of three years when trimmed makes a very attractive appearance and so compact that no animal can go through. At present the Canucks are not discussing the English-Boer war to any extent, but we found it didn't take much to stir them up, and to a man they sympathize with the British crown. We saw a fine company of gallant red coats in parade march to one of the churches for service. July 1, Dominion Day, similar to our 4th of July, was observed throughout Canada in a fitting manner. For being in the hands of our friends was escorted to what is known as Erieau, what in time will be an enchanting summer resort on the shores of Lake Erie. There was nothing lacking for as our friends had brought everything both for eating and drinking, we didn't do anything else than have a good time. For bathing, Erieau is grand, and while the great waves rolled to and fro and to and fro we thought of our sweltering friends in Danbury and wished that a new game called "rolling on the green." A club is composed of four or more to a side, and each one has two large semi-round lignumvive he rolls to a goal, about fifty yards distant, and like curling both science of the eye and muscle and nerve are called into action. It is a fascinating game, and we were told it is fast becoming popular. A relic of the past that all visitors to Chatham must see is the hull of a small gunboat which was captured by the British at Ft. Detroit in the war of 1812. In retreating Harrison's forces drove Proctor and his Indian allies across Lake St. Clair and up the Thames river to a fort where Chatham is now located and where the brave but misguided Indian Chief Tecumseh refused to retreat further, and was killed by a ball from Colonel Johnson's pistol. To prevent the Americans from recapturing the boats Proctor's men set fire to them and they were sunk. By accident three were recently discovered and one of them was raised and placed in Tecumseh park where thousands view it with interest. Johnson, after laying in the water about 90 years. Our visit was one round of pleasure, but after all we are glad to be back in either Iowa and see the broad acres of a promising harvest despite the hot and sweltering weather.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only catarrh cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

FOREST FIRES

At Least Half a Million Dollars Damage Has Been Done in the Kippewa District.

Ottawa, July 23.—The costliest and most extensive forest fire on record has raged this month in the Kippewa district. A gentleman familiar with the situation stated that the loss would be at least total $500,000, and would probably run much higher. Heavy rains on Wednesday and Friday stopped the progress of the fire. As yet the owners have not had an opportunity to ascertain their losses. Gillies Bros., Braside, are probably the heaviest losers. Their limits, 300 miles in extent, were burned over. Alex. Lamsden, M. P. P., who has limits near by, covering ten square miles, loses heavily. The fire seems to have centred on the Lumsden-Gillies' limits. J. R. Booth, 400 square miles; the Hull Lumber Company, 300 miles; and McLaughlin Bros., Arnprior, 300 miles, are other losers. The fire was fought off these limits with success, and only small portions were burned. The limits of the Hawkesbury Lumber Company near by escaped. Part of the limits visited by the fires had been cut off, and the timber destroyed was only young pines.

BOLD BURGLARS

That's What These Lads Started out to be, but the Woodstock Police Interfered.

Woodstock, July 22.—The Woodstock police had a long afternoon's chase after two supposed burglars yesterday that ended sensationally in one resisting arrest, and shots being exchanged between him and Police-man Johnson. On Friday night three houses were burglarized on Oxford street, the only booty secured being a gold watch, some spectacles and a ring. Early yesterday morning Thos. Dalton, of St. Thomas, a vagrant, was arrested on suspicion, and three revolvers were found in his pockets that were evidently new. His companion, got away from the officer who made the arrest, and all Saturday afternoon constables scoured the country west of the city, and finally caught sight of two men on the C. P. R. tracks at a distance of half a mile, one of whom wore clothes similar to those of the man they were searching for. They endeavored to steal upon them, but the fugitives maintained the distance, and finally Policeman Johnson secured a rig, and taking a roundabout route, headed the two men off on the C. P. R. tracks close to the city. By a ruse he got close up to them, and with a shout, "Stop, stop," Broden, and managed to secure the nearest man, Bert Dickson, of London. The other, Wm. Morgan, of Woodstock, sprang away, and leaving Broden in charge of Dickson, the policeman sailed after him. "Stop or I'll shoot," he yelled, and Morgan cried back to shoot away and be damned.

The policeman fired twice, and Morgan, pulling his gun, returned the shots, with no effect on either side. Throwing away his revolver, Morgan led Johnson a long, stern chase through the side streets of the city, followed by a mob of people on foot and bicycles. Thoroughly done out, he sought refuge in his mother's second-hand store on Dundas street west, which was surrounded. Morgan came out upon the steps when preparations were being made to enter, and surrendered. Both Dickson and Morgan carried revolvers, and half-burnt candles were found in their pockets. The prisoners are mere boys, only about 19 years of age, but they are said to have had records. They will be held upon suspicion of being the parties responsible for Friday night's burglaries. Morgan claims the policeman shot him through the sleeve.

CUPID'S CAPRICE

Lovers Captured Here and Trip Cancelled—Groom May go to Prison.

Port Huron, Mich., July 22.—Albert Hastings and his 16-year-old bride were brought back from Chatham, Ont., Sunday night, by Deputy Sheriff Shannon, and to-day in police court Hastings pleaded guilty to a charge of perjury. The young couple have had a romantic jaunt.

Several weeks ago the young man, accompanied by Jesse Van Camp, father of the proposed 16-year-old bride, applied for a marriage license, which was issued. At that time he gave his age as 21, and stated that he had not been married before. Before the marriage ceremony it was learned by the parents of the young girl that Hastings was an impostor and had a wife living. The marriage license was returned and destroyed, although the affidavit was saved. Hastings was warned to keep away from the house. One night the young couple disappeared and they were traced to Canada.

A search of the record showed that a license had been issued to Hastings in 1899 to marry a young woman, and at that time he gave his age as 21. The case was placed in the hands of the officers and they succeeded in locating Hastings near Chatham. He volunteered to return to the city, accompanied by his bride. He has been bound over and a term of years starts him in the fall.

DREAD DISEASE

British Congress Aiming to Combat Consumption Opened in London.

London, July 22.—The British congress of tuberculosis, for the prevention of consumption, was opened to-day, by Field Marshall H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge, president of the congress, who welcomed the foreign delegates to the congress, and spoke of the interest taken in the congress by King Edward.

Lord Lansdowne, the Foreign Secretary, also welcomed the delegates, and in the name of the Government promised all the assistance the Government was able to afford the congress in its endeavors to combat a disease more desolate than war. After the Lord Mayor of London, Frank Green, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal and others had addressed the congress, Lord Lister, one of the British vice-presidents of the congress, in a few words conveyed the thanks of that body to Prof. Robert Koch, of Germany, and the other scientists present for their welcome, saying they knew the enemy they had to deal with, and that it was not only the prevention but the cure of consumption that the congress hoped to effect.

A telegram was read from King Edward to the Duke of Cambridge, as follows:—"I pray you heartily to welcome for me the eminent men of almost every nation who have assembled under your presidency, and to express to them my earnest hope that the result of the deliberations of the congress will be to assist the world in mitigating the dread disease which has baffled the most distinguished physicians for so long." Prior to the adjournment of today's session of the congress the Duke of Cambridge announced that a gift of £120,000 would be forthcoming for the purpose of establishing the first public tuberculosis sanatorium, as soon as the recommendations of the congress concerning its establishment had been formulated.

Four hundred delegates attended Friday's opening session. They included a number of Canadians and Americans. Several ambassadors and foreign ministers were also present.

When the Baby Cries at Night
there is a cause for it. Perhaps it is gas on the stomach, may be cramps or diarrhoea. Don't lose sleep, anticipate such contingencies by always keeping handy a bottle of Polson's Nerviline. Just a few drops in water given inwardly, then rub the little one's stomach with a small quantity of Nerviline, and perfect rest is assured for the night for both mother and baby. You may not need Nerviline often, but when you do need it you need it badly. Get a 25c. bottle to-day.

WOULD DIE

Young Lovers Shoot Themselves in the Throat at New York.

New York, July 23.—Herman Treetz and Ida Depuy, who were found wounded in a yacht off Midland Beach Sunday, are in a New Brighton infirmary in a serious condition. Both have bullet wounds in the throat, the girl two and the boy one. He is aged 18, while she is 16. According to Treetz's story, they agreed to die together. He says the girl shot herself first, and then he used the same weapon on himself. Treetz is under police guard. Ida Depuy died at the infirmary yesterday. She did not regain consciousness, and therefore made no statement. Her family were at the bedside when she died. They decline to accept Treetz's statement that the girl shot herself, and will ask that he be prosecuted for murder.

PAIR OF SUICIDES

Windsor and Stratford Women Take Poison with Fatal Effect.

Stratford, July 22.—Violet Sophia Youngs, aged 32 years, only daughter of ex-Mr. Benj. P. Youngs, took her life on Saturday night. In the evening she was apparently in good spirits. Just after retiring she asked her mother for a glass of milk. On her return Mrs. Youngs found her daughter in violent paroxysms, and despite medical assistance, which was called as soon as possible. It appears the woman purchased the strychnine on Friday, saying it was for the purpose of killing rats. Miss Youngs had been in poor health for some time, and this is the only reason assigned for her act.

TOOK PARIS GREEN.

Windsor, July 22.—Louise Marguerite, the 17-year-old daughter of John Galt, McEwen avenue, got permission on Saturday to visit a friend near Sandwich. Yesterday afternoon her body was found in a box filled with Paris green. She had committed suicide by swallowing a large quantity of Paris green. The girl bore a good reputation. She had had trouble with her father on Saturday, and was independent because of the absence of her lover. An inquest will be held.
