TO INJURE HIS GOOD NAME

Malicious Personal Campaign Slander Traced to Stephens' Committee Rooms.

Dr. Thornton Promptly Nails it--Gentleman Withdraws Statement -Legal Action is Threatened by Indignant Druggist.

It is very unfortunate because of strenuous political campaign there are people apparently willing and ready to circulate untruthful stories and thus seek to unjustly defame and injure the reputation of a worthy political opponent. And we feel that, attention having been once called to the matter in an emphatic way, rethe matter in an emphatic way, respectable people will in future see that they are not made victims of irresponsible hangers on and slanderers at political headquarters.

Fortunately, it was to Dr. A. W. Thornton, the popular and esteemed president of the Liberal-Conservative Association, that this first personal slander travelled. Anyone who knows Dr. Thornton knows his strong position on matters of morality and integrity, and will understand his immediate and insistant investigation of the untruthful yarn.

mediate and insistant investigation of the untruthful yarn.

At noon yesterday, while in conversation with a well-known and estimable Liberal King St. merchant, Dr. Thornton was told that Mr. Clements had last spring participated in a Sunday afternoon political carousal in the drug store of Mr. H. C. Layman, of Merlin, when there was drinking and serving of whiskey and other unseemly conduct. Dr. Thornton was asked how he could support a man who acted thus.

The doctor replied promptly that it was untrue and a malicious and contemptible slander.

In reply he was told that the Liberals were prepared to prove it by

"If that is true," said the doctor, "T shall not vote for Mr. Clements, but I do not believe it and shall investigate the matter."

Proceeding to his office Dr. Thornton at once communicated with Merlin by telephone. Mr. Layman, the druggist in question, was rightly incensed and indignant. It is absolutely without truth," was his comment, "and I shall come over to Chatham immediately prepared to take legal action against the author of the slander."

Three hours later Mr. Layman arrived in the city, accompanied by Mr. R. A. Mason. They had driven rapidly over and proceeded at once to Dr. Thornton's office.

Together Dr. Thornton and Mr. Layman visited the merchant who had spoken to Dr. Thornton and a lengthy consultation was held, with the result that the gentleman in question was honest and manly enough to state that he was satisfied that he had been misinformed and expressed regret at having alluded to the matter.

He said HE HAD BEEN TOLD THE STORY IN STEPHENS' CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE ROOMS, but was now duite satisfied that IT WAS ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE.

POSITION OF MR. CLEMENTS

Farmers of Kent Have Suffered Enormous Loss From the So-Called Hog Cholera.

Mr. Stephens Has Done Nothing To Have Proper Test Made-Many Cures in Dover Township.

In a letter to The Planet published yesterday J. G. Kerr, a local lawyer and one of George Stephens' platform "orators" complained that this journal's report of his interchange, re hog cholera, with Herbert S. Clements at the Bridge End meeting, was inaccurate and issues an amusing "defi" and bluff bet anent the issue that the disease in question can be cured.

issue that the disease in question can be cured.

In order to allay any grounds for dispute The Planet herewith gives a full and complete report of the discussion at the meeting in question.

Mr. Clements accused the Government of dealing very unfairly and unjustly with the farmers on the hog cholera question. "Instead of investigating to find if there was any cure for the disease among hogs, they cure for the disease among hogs, they simply proceed with the shotgun," he declared.

Mr. Kerr replied lustily that there was no cure for hog cholera. He was no cure for heg cholera. He would be $500 that there was no do you require to satisfy you that this disease known as hog cholera can and has been cured in Kent county and whom would you accept as judg es?

Mr. Clements—If I produced evidence of twenty or thirty farmers in Dover, who have had their hogs cared through the remedy of Mr. James Bray, would you accept that as satisfact, factory evidence f Mr. Kerr-No, I won't, Mr.Clemats-Then you but ac go on with your speech.

It is interesting in view of the prominence rightly given to the Government's handling of the hog question in Kent county, that this discussion should be further analysed.

In the first place we are informed that the well-paid Government officials who are comfortably located here, test the disease by an examination of the lungs rather than the intestines as called for by experts, and the farmers of Dover township are satisfied that the disease for which their hogs are slaughtered by the score and hundred; is not what is technically known as hog cholera at all, although by that sname.

is, perhaps, impossible to give any exact estimate of the great loss they have suffered because of the disease spoken of as hug cholera, a fair and approximate estimate may possibly be made when it is remembered that in the Township of Raleigh over $20,000 worth of hogs in one year were treated to what Mr. Olements calls the shot gun treatment. Dover suffered even more and other townships were similarly affected.

With the farmers of Kent suffering this enormous, this appalling, loss, did Mr. Stephens make any offort to ascertain if there was any other remedy than the shot gun? When human beings are afflicted with a contagious disease they are removed to isolation hospitals and treated. Was it not vitally in the interests of the farmers of Kent that all adequate tests should be made to see if this disease could not be cured without the wholesale and costly staughter? It was the duty of Mr. Stephens to see that the Government had capable men appointed to make this test, WHY DID HE NOT DO Stephens to see that the had capable men appointed to make this test. WHY DID HE NOT DO

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26. THE CAMPAIGN OF THE ROOR-BACK.

As election day draws near there is always the danger of the contemppersonal roorback. It is too bad that in a Christianized Canadian community one has always to be up on his guard against this diabolical agency. Fortunately, we are all sufficiently enlightened now as to the methods pursued to minimize the boomerangs upon their promoters.

Yet it is fortunate that vesterday Dr. Thornton so promptly nailed the first insipid appearance of the treacherous roorback, as noted on another page of this issue, and secured the necessary withdrawal and expression of regret from the gentleman wh had thoughtlessly repeated it.

The serious fact in connection with the slanderous story, however, is the statement of the gentleman in question-an esteemed and prominent Liberal-that he "had been given the information as a fact in the Reform committee rooms." This throws the responsibility directly upon the Stephens organizers and we mistake the calibre of President Fred. Stone if he does not promptly see to it that the slander is publicly denounced and silenced. It is little to the credit of George Stephens and his campaign- thy ideals. We do not desire to ers that they manufacture these defamatory untruths and whisper them in the committee room as facts to reputable citizens, who may, by repetition of them, apparently give them weight to the outside public.

With the public acts of 'a publishing man the right of discussion and analysis is unquestioned, but with the purely private personal or business affairs of a candidate the public are not concerned, and any attempt to tamper with them can usually be safely put down as the false and slanderous methods of the roorback "But he that filches from me my good name, Robs me of that, which not enriches him,

And makes me poor indeed."

A . WORD TO MR. GUNDY.

On Monday last Mr. W. E. Gundy of this city, furnished this great home journal with a letter which was duly published in that day's issue. The purport of this letter was that The Planet misquoted and misrepresented him in an interview he had with Reeve Purser, of Dover, at which a representative of this journa was specially invited to be present for the purpose of taking a report of the interview with a view to publication; and the letter concludes with a dignified and argumentative characterization of the conduct of the reporter "as that of a coward and for the people's interests.

Simultaneously with the publica tion of his letter The Planet invited Mr. Gundy to specifically instance one paragraph or sentence in the whole report which was misleading or inaccurate. It repeated the invitation in last night's issue in order to give the gentleman ample time and opportunity to dissect and analyse the report and make out his case.

There were two courses which an PALLEN'S report and make out his case.

honorable man would have pursue in these circumstances. He would either have pointed out the misquotation alleged and given the paper opportunity to deal with the same, o he would have tendered an apology to the reporter for the gratutious public insult.

Mr. Gundy has done neither. Consequently The Planet has something to say to him.

Mr. Gundy knows the full facts of this case. He knows them better than anyone else except Mr. Purser and the representative of this journal-and better than he desires anyone else to know them. He knows too, the causes that led up to the visit of Reeve Purser and whether they were creditable or otherwise to him. He knows that Mr. Purser demanded publicity and that the Reeve took the reporter with him for that purpose. He knows that the scribe with pencil and paper in hand-took a full report of the whole interview and that he was there so to do. He knows that he personally petitioned for leniency and generosity in the framing of the report for the public, He knows his request was acquiesced have humiliated and embarrassed him was excluded by reason of personal considerations for him. He knows the published report treated him fairlynay, generously. All this Mr. Gundy knows-and more.

How would Mr. Gundy have felt had The Planet published in full the circumstances that lead up to this interview and the conversation verbatim that took place thereat? Mr. Gundy knows whether political capital was generously sacrificed out of

The Planet knows too and feels in duty bound to let Mr. Gundy realize it, by reason of his public and uncalled for abuse of our reporter The reporter's good name is as valuable to him as is Mr. Gundy's to Mr. Gundy. And when an honorable young man in the employ of this journal is publicly and unjustly stigmatized for the honest performance of his duty, Mr. Gundy can rely upon it that The Planet will not stand aside and per mit this conduct unchallenged.

We regret the necessity of speaking thus plainly to Mr. Gundy. We had hoped that ere this he would have voluntarily extended the apology of gentleman to one whom he had, perhaps thoughtlessly, injured - and for that reason we waited.

The Planet quite understands Mr Gundy's position and sympathizes with him. We have always in the past regarded him as a gentleman of high purpose, courteous conduct and worchange that opinion - and it is in justice to him as well as to our reporter that we speak now.

That is all, Mr. Gundy. We would prefer to leave the matter with you now. Consider it in the light of your own ideals of justice, of courtesy and of personal consideration, man for man, and determine houestly with vourself whether "the conduct of coward and a speak" has been exercised in this matter, and, if so, whether it was, after all, the reporter who was the guilty one,

WHY I SUPPORT MR. HERBERT S. CLEMENTS.

To the Editor of The Planet: Dear Sir,—Permit me to give the following reasons why I am supporting Mr. Herbert S. Clements in the forthcoming Dominion elections:—

Because he is a young and progres sive citizen. His opponent : ys he is too young-a very good fault, indeed, and a so-called fault which will help in no small degree to ciect Mr. Clem-

Because he invests his money, as far as his means will permit, in Chat-ham institutions, namely,—The Blond Mfg. Co., the Sanitarium, the Binder Mfg. Co., the Sanitarium, the Binder Twine Co., and the Gas Co., thus helping to extend these plants and thereby creating more work and requiring more people to do it, thus helping to create a better market for the farmers' produce, a very commendable example for anybody to follow.

Because he is a hustler; has served on the Public School Board, and has advocated in his canacity as trustee.

ST PAUL'S ANNIVERSAR

Sunday's services and Monday evening's tea add two more red letter events to the record of St. Paul's Church, Up-the-Creek.

The pulpit at both services was occupied by the Rev. A. H. Kippen, West Lorne, immense congregations attending both services. The earnest attending both services. The carnest eloquence and powerful pleading of the feverend divine quickened many a slumbering soul and stirred up many a dormant heart.

The song service was conducted by St. Paul's choir, and was a revelation of the musical tailent that has been kindled into a flame by the choir director, Mrs. S. C. Walker. The woodnotes-wild of the pure, sweet country voices was a treat long to be remembered.

The tea-meeting, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid, Monday evening, excelled all previous efforts of the kind, and the women of St. Paul's have a world-wide reputation for their generosity at the banqueting board.

The decorations were artistic an beautiful, the designs being conceived and worked out by Misses Jennie Ferguson and Jennie McGarvin. The program was full of splendid selections, and the singing of Miss Grant and Dr. Bucke and the violin solos of Miss Mabel Wilson were spell-binders to the vast audience present,

"Love thoughts lie rich when can "Love thoughts lie rich when canopied with bowers." The truth of this poetic axiom is realized in the irridescent setting of the garden scene in Shakespare's "Twelfth N'ght," which is to be produced here soon with the beautiful and famous Marie Wainwright as Viola, The shipwreck scene a wonder of marine effect, but the view of the love-lorn countess' garden, with its flowers, bowers and arches, its glimpses of twinkling stars den, with its flowers, bowers and arches, its glimpses of twinkling stars through the leafy boughs overhead, its diamond-spraying fountains, its statuary, made spectral in the silvery light of the moon, stirs the audiences into rhapsodies. When so famous a Shakespearean assist as Miss Marie Wainwright is to play the leading role of Viola one can understand what a matchless night of pleasure Manager Jules Murry is to provide for lovers of the beautiful and romantic in this city.

Ost. 26.—Rev. Hobbs, preached monning and evening at the anniversary services held in the Methodist church services held in the Methodist church Sunday. The church was crowded on both occasions and the sermons given by Mr. Hobbs was eloquently given and favorably received, as he is a powerful speaker. The afternoon service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Freeman, of St. Stephens' church, who was listened to with great interest. The choir of St. Stephens' church rendered music in the afternoon favorable for the occasion, and the other two services were taken by the choir of the Methodist Church. On Monday evening a lecture was given by Dr. Thorntou on Ireland and the Irish, which was a subject well prepared and proved to be of great interest to those who attended. It was taken up mostly from a historical standpoint. The music given by the choir of the Presbyterian Church under the direction of Mr. J. Davidson, gave excellent music of a special order.

MAUSER BULLETS.

inge Freaks of the Misiles Used by the Japanese Arms in Their Fights

With Russlams.

"It is perfectly true, I believe, that the Japanese soldier is using a bullet of smaller calibre than has ever been used before in war," said a military surgeon to a London newspaper writer, the other day. "And it is no doubt equally true, as reported, that Russian soldiers shot clean through the body with one of these tiny bullets might go on fighting for hours and scarcely even know that they had been hit; but when they tell us that these bullets often leave no marks of entry or exit—well, I draw the line there.

"The modern bullet is a very remarkable thing, and some of its funny ways which I witnessed in the late Spanish-American war, I should set down as freaks of the imagination if I had not seen them with my own eyes. Take this for example.

my own eyes. Take this for example.
One man was shot completely through the body from side to side by a Mauser bullet; both lungs were traversed, but he had no support traversed, but he had no symptom, not even bleeding, and all that was visible was a tiny red spot where the bullet had entered the body and a similar tiny spot where it had come out. This man actually did not know that he had been hit at all, and if his leg had not been broken by a second bullet he would never have been in the hospital at all.

'No, I scarcely think a man could survive if he were shot through the heart, though it is conceivable that he might if the bullet struck the heart just as it was drawn hard together in its closest contraction; if the heart were on the other beat, and therefore distended and softer, it would probably be so lacerated that death might ensue. I recall one case where a man was shot through the breast on the left side, the bullet entering about a quarter of an inch be-low the nipple and passing out at the back, shattering the shoulder-blade. In this case the surgeons all agreed that the bullet had passed of the heart, and more than one declared that the heart itself had been penetrated. Oh, yes, the man lived right enough—indeed, his life was never in any danger.

"Talking about freaks of bullets, in one case I remember the healt."

one case, I remember the bullet entered the left chest, passed through the body and out of the abdomen, the body and out of the abdomen, then went through the air for a foot then went through the air for a foot or so and landed in the right thigh, about half-way to the knee. In another case a man was wounded in the shoulder by a Mauser bullet, which ploughed its way around the chest under the deep muscles and lodged in the left arm, shattering the humerus. This was a puzzlerawound in the right shoulder, but no bullet, the bone of the left arm broken, but no wound to be seen. However, thanks to the X-rays, the However, thanks to the X-rays, the bullet was located in sixty seconds.

"What hundreds of lives these wonderful rays must have saved already, derful rays must have saved already, by the way, and what agonies of pain! Instead of spending hours, it may be, in probing for a bullet and perhaps never finding it, the X-rays will discover it for us with unfailing accuracy in a few seconds or minutes—the time ranging from five seconds for a wound in the head to perhaps a quarter of an hour for perhaps a quarter of an hour for a bullet deeply embedded in the body. "The modern bullet is, as I have said, a most remarkable and, indeed, an unaccountable thing. If you fire a Mauser bullet into a bag of sand, a can of water, or a dead body, the shattering effect is terrible; but fire a living body and a similar bullet. at a living body and a similar bul-let will pass through as cleanly as a stiletto, leaving two tiny marks of entry and exit and boring a hole as neatly through a bone as if it had been drilled.

'Mauser bullets fired experimently "Mauser bullets fired experimently into the skulls of dead men splintered them into fragments; and yet they pass through the skull of a living man making just two tiny holes. A remarkable thing, too, is that a man may be shot through the brain and yet live to tell the tale; though naturally the majority of men thus shot die, chiefly through the paison.

turally the majority of men thus shot die, chiefly through the poisoning of foreign matter brought into the brain with bullets.

"It is a curious fact that a man has a better chance of living when a bullet has passed clean through his chest than when the chest is opened and the bullet remains. In many of the former cases, barring severe hemorrhage, the symptoms are often mild, some of the patients being confined to led for a few days only." Weaning the Foal.

Weaning the Foal.

Experience teaches that the most practical time for weaning is when the foal is about five months old, says J. A. Craig in National Stockman. Worrying can be avoiding by tying the colt within sight of the dam and giving some grain. Always give the foal plenty of exercise. A pasture is one of the best places, as the colt can exercise whenever he feels like it. Romping about tends to extend the muscles, expand the lungs and give the blood better circulation throughout the body. These, along with plenty of good feed, are what make healthy and robust animals.

Experiments recently made in France for the purpose of ascertaining the nutritive value of salt for sheep show that sheep which had been fed salt gained in weight four and a half pounds more than those which received no salt. Moreover, the sheep which received salt produced one and three-quarters pounds more wool and of a better quality than those which received no salt.

Feed the Brood Sow.

Don't let the brood sows get suckled down to a shadow of their normal selves. Feed enough for pigs and sow both. Then she will be more tractable, less liable to become breachy, a chicken eater or any other kind of a nuisance.

Coaches In France. As regards the history of coaches in France, Henry IV. was assassinated in 1610. Soon after his death some engravings were published representing him being murdered in his carriage by Ravaillac. It is from these that we get a fair idea of the coaches. They are simply square boxes, meas uring by scale six feet in length by three and a half feet in width, on four wheels of the same diameter, without any springs or straps and seating six persons in all—namely, two with their backs to the horses, two facing them and two more, one on each side of the two "boots" at the side. Each vehicle had a roof, resting on light columns, and curtains to draw or to let down. This agrees well with the received accounts of the incident, according to one version of which Henry rode in an open carriage, and according to another that as soon as the fatal blow was delivered by the assassin the king's attendant who rode with him in the carriage drew the curtains, and, hiding the king from public view, assured the enraged people that he was only wounded .- Notes and Queries

Cuban Women. The Cuban women—and the men ac well—are intensely affectionate. They say much in words, often more than their hearts feel. But they are very warm hearted. Every letter that I get from girl friends of six months' acquaintance is a love letter, full of passionate expressions of endearment. The Cuban women mature quickly, and a girl of fourteen in Cuba is as mature as a girl of seventeen here. Early marriages are the rule. The Cuban women are dainty, pretty and very like the French women, with many of the brench ways and ideals. They care little for forming themselves into clubs for literary culture, and woman suffrage doesn't agitate them. They are vastly more interested in being clever eedlewomen, good musicians, good housekeepers, charming sweether than in running the government.

From 1873 to 1887 the graduates voted without reference to faculties, but now there are special contin-gents to represent arts, law, medi-cine, and practical science respectively. In law and medicine the graduates of Toronto and Victoria Universities have voted together for the election of two legal and four medical representatives. They vote in the same way still. In the election which begun in September last and in which the votes were counted in October the graduates of Trinity University in law and medicine voted

The number of voting graduates in the University of Toronto is about 3,500, in Victoria University about 600 and in Theinty University about 600, and in Trinity University about 600. There are about 3,500 voters in the faculty of medicine, 400 in the faculty of law, and 150 in the faculty of applied science. Two representatives are chosen by the High School teachers, irrespective of the universities of which they are alumni, the number of voting papers sent out was in the neighborhood of 10,000. The university elections are held triennially, all the representatives and one Chancellor rétiring, but all being eligible for re-election.

Japan's Eight Million Gods.

Those who have described the Jap-Those who have described the Japanese as a godless people have been a long way from the truth. They have, on the contrary, some eight million gods, each of whom has his own particular cult. As it would be an obvious impossibility for one person to pray to each of them individually the second of the second o son to pray to each of them individually, the nation has, it seems, surmounted the difficulty in an ingenious and altogether up-to-date manner. In certain streets are to be manner. In certain streets are to be found automatic machines. You put in your piece of money—very much smaller than a penny—and the machine does the rest. That is to say, that it presents you with a piece of paper on which a prayer is printed. And the most satisfactory part of it is that you are then con have said the prayer, however long it be, and can thus work off quite a number of gods at a moderate cost number of gods at a moderate cos-both of time and money. Truly the Japanese are growing very Occiden-tal in their ideas.

Philippine Scenery.

Henry Savage Landor found much in the Philippines.

'If once you see Penon de Writes: If once you see Fenon de Coron Island you will never forget it. I was lucky enough, the first time I saw it—I visited it, I think, four or five times—to approach its southern extremity, Point Kalis, just southern extremity, Point Kalis, just about sunset. Against a golden sky fringed, as we steamed past it, with vermillion, stood the gigantic vertical wall-like rocks rising in places to a height of 1,200 feet. The whole coastline of this island was of a similar nature; and as we tiny little things—that's just the way we felt things—that's just the way we felt—looked up at its precipitous rocks towering skyward, the spectacle was most impressive. The island has, without doubt, been shot up bodily in some volcanic committee. in some volcanic commotion and subsequently raised several feet above its former level. Its southern point is very much indented, but with a vertical face toward the sea."

Brilish Thrift.

Including friendly and co-operative societies, trade unions, and various types of savings banks, the aggre-gate funds of the thrifty members of the working classes in Great Britain the working classes in Great Britain reach the colossal sum of £360,000,000. The old-fashioned trustee savings bank, however, seems to be becoming a thing of the past. In the United Kingdom 437 have been closed, and of the money, £14,405,539, standing to the credit of depositors, over eight and a quarter millions sterling have been transferred direct to the Post Office Savings Bank. A Treasury return recently issued, however, shows that 228 trustee banks remain, and these institutions have 1,637,661 depositors, with savings amounting to £52,540,388. This amount is swollen by other assets to £53,769,133, and in addition Government stock to the value of £2,098,358 is credited to these depositors.

manded By the London Morning Papers London, Oct. 26.-A despatch from Hull to The Times says that the corestigation, is of the opinion that he attack on the British trawlers by the Russian second Pacific squadron was a deliberate act, perpetrat ed with knowledge of its character.

London, Oct. 26.—The Times' correspondent at Hull says the Russian attack on the fishing fleet was premeditated. The correspondent argues that the fact that the first ships of the squadron steamed calmly by "disposes of the fiction that the Russian officers had an attack of nerves," and then contends that it is ridiculous to suppose that Russian men-of-war, largely manned by Finns, could have mistaken the trawlers for anything but fishing boats.
"Besides," the correspondent says, "such excuses as have been advanced on behalf of the Russians do not even allege ignorance; they suggest

The correspondent minutely details the injuries inflicted upon the trawlers, and asserts that "every shot was about 2½ in diameter at the point of entry, evidently bullets from machine guns, whilst the trawlers also were struck by a bursting shell, of which a skipper picked up fragments. The Moulmein had a hole at fifteen inches long and eight inches wide at the point of entry, evidently made by a shell. It is wonderful, that the Moulmein and the Mino escaped the fate of the Crane, for the Russian gunners made first-rate practice and must be complimented on their markmanship. "I read in this paper," he thundered, that you say that these hogs had to be buried nine feet deep. Now, sir, is that true?"

"Quite true," mildly replied Mr. Clements, smiling, "eight or nine feet deep."

"Ha, ha," roared the modern Demosthenes, "I'll prove to this audience the false and reckless statements this man makes. I have here, though must be suried eight feet deep."

And with other papers declares that there will be work for the British navy un-less Russia recalls or stops its fleet at some neutral port for investiat some neutral port for investigation and punishment of the guilty parties. In this connection the greatest satisfaction is expressed at the unanimity of foreign expressions of opinion in support of Great Britain's attitude in the matter, and especially at German denunciation of the conduct of the Raltic fleet.

ly at German denunciation of the conduct of the Baltic fleet.

Public interest and even anxiety shows not the slightest sign of waning. The Russo-Japanese war is almost forgotten, and the papers are occupied almost exclusively with the North Sea affair. Not a public dinner or function of any kind but the speakers refer in unmeasured terms to the conduct of the Russian officers and urge the Government to be firm in its demand for satisfaction. So far the attitude of the Government meets with the complete approval of the public, who are greatly gratified meets with the complete approval of the public, who are greatly gratified with the instructions of the Admiral-ty for co-operation between the Medi-terranean, Channel and home squad-rons, should necessity arise.

Is It to Go On? The home fleet, consisting of nine battleships and three cruisers, which had been stationed at Cromarty, left Tuesday night for the south to be in

Tuesday night for the south to be in readiness far any necessary concentration. All leaves have been stopped in the navy, and in the unlikely event of the situation becoming so serious as to need it, a strong naval force could quickly be concentrated. That a possibility of dangerous developments lurks in the protraction of the crisis is seen in the fact that the Russian correspondents of British papers are beginning to send rather inflammable despatches. For example, The Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent this morning says: "In military circles among the less responsible officers and in marrine circles of almost all grades, the conviction prevails that sooner or later war with England is inevitable and that the present moment is as auspicious as any other."

Russians Are Glad. The Standard's Moscow correspondent also asserts that "the majority of the people and more or less satisfaction in the Insult offered less satisfaction in the insuit of the England."

Coaling on a wholesale scale continues. Over a dozen steamers are now loading at Welsh ports for Russian account, evidently for the second Pacific squadron.

HIGH COURT SITTING

The Fall Assizes, which have been a progress all this week, were continued all day yesterday.

Late in the afternoon the Grand Jury, who had been out making their regular visits of inspection to all of the county buildings, brought in their presentment, which was as follows:-

To His Lordship, Sir John Alexander Boyd, Knight, Chancellor:

We, the Grand Jurous of the County of Kent, for the Fall Assize Court, for 1904, beg leave to present and report as follows: we congratulate your Lordship and the County on the small number of criminal cases at this court. We have inspected the Gaol and

Court house, and found everything in good order. The Gaol is clean, warm and well ventilated, there being at present only one prisoner confined.

We also visited the County House of Refuge, and found forty inmates; thirty men and ten women. The inmates were all old people in different stages of helplessness, but seem ent stages of helplessness, but seem to be enjoying a comfortable old age, the county providing for them warm clothing, a warm and clean home, and plenty of wholesome food. BORDEN AT MONCTON. Demonstration Beats Anything Ever Seen -Surpassed That Ascorded Sir Wilfrid in 1900.

Moncton, N. B., Oct. 25.-It is no exaggeration to say that the Con-servatives addressed by R. L. Bor-den at his meeting here last night in the Minister of Railway's constituency surpassed any political demon-stration ever held here, and it is con-ceded that the big Laurier meeting and parade of 1900 did not compare with it.

It was a great tribute to R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, and is looked on as meaning a great popular uprising in condemnation of the Government's railway policy, particularly as Moncton has been named as the eastern terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific, and the Government orators have painted glowing pictures of all that would mean for Moncton.

There were many visitors from surrounding points. The curling rink were the meeting was announced and which holds about 2,500 people, could not accommodate nearly all, and an experience process.

Farragut's Death.

Admiral Farragut's death was due to the selfishness of a woman. The admiral and his wife were coming from California, when a woman occupying a seat in front of them in the car opened a window. Admiral Farragut was ill, and the strong draft of wind which blew directly upon him chilled him. Mrs. Farragut asked the woman courteously if she would not kindly close the window, as it was annoying to her husband. The woman snapped out: "No, I won't close the window I don't care if it does annoy him. I am not going to smother for him." Admiral Farragut thus caught a severe cold, which resulted in his death. A few days before the end came he said, "If I die, that woman will be held accountable."- Exchange.

This time he has full in the north. This time he has full authority to administer the territory, and will remain in the north two years before returning to civilization. The story of the Neptune's work is thus interestingly told by a special correspondent at St. John's, Newfoundland, who interviewed Major Moodie on his return not long ago. Having no ship suitable for ice work, the Government chartered the sealing steamer Neptune, of this port sealing steamer Neptune, of this port in July, 1903, and fitting her out for this extended voyage, despatch-ed her north on August 22 of that year.

The Neptune was in charge of Captain S. W. Bartlett, the Nowfound-land ice master who commanded Peary's ships, and her crew compos-ed of fitteen other Newfoundlanders, ed of fifteen other Newfoundlanders, all skilled in ice work. The expeditionary party consisted of two sections—the scientific, under A. P. Low, of the Geological Survey, and the military, under Major Moodie, of the Northwest Police, empowered to establish himself there with his detachment of five men, build a fort and assume official control of the territory. Including cooks, stewards territory. Including cooks, stewards and subordinates, the ship carried forty-three persons and a year's sup-

The Neptune first proceeded to Cumberland Gulf, an inlet on the east coast of Baffinland, the country which bounds Hudson Bay on the northeast. This is a sub-Arctic region, only scantily peopled even by natives, and its interior was explor-ed. Cumberland Gulf is one of the natives, and its interior was explored. Cumberland Gulf is one of the last resorts of the now vanishing species of northern or "right" whales, and the hunt for these is conducted in rather rudimentary fashion by a United States and two Scotch concerns, which have established stations on shore, whence the fishing is conducted.

There is one white man in charge of each, and all the work is done by the Esquimaux, who become as expert as any others in the use of whaling boats and weapons, and as they are hired for a weekly ration of four pounds of "hard tack," two pounds of molasses and four plugs of tobacco, it is easy to understand that the industry is very economically prosecuted. They hunt the whales with harpoons and lances of modern type, using first class whale boats, and the "bone" is cleaned and the oil tried out on shore. These products are sheltered in capacious outhouses for the annual visit of the supply vessel Alert, which brings provisions and other articles and takes the oil and bone away.

The Neptune after having coaled started to proceed as far into the higher latitudes as she could, hositing the Union Jack at intervals and annexing all the territory once more for Canada. This course is taken because there has been talk of the United States, and also of Canada, purchasing Greenland and the adjacent regions, and it was felt to be wise for Canada to have secured every acre of land there whose ownership was disputed, against the possibility of United States acquirement of the remainder. When she can get no further north she will return to the bay again and conduct investigathe bay again and conduct investiga-tions in its different areas as to the marine wealth thereof, in order to determine what fisheries of commercial value exist there.

On that point there is a wide diversity of opinion, and the Neptune's experience is expected to settle the question. If it is favorable tle the question. If it is favorable Government aid will be given for a railroad from Manitoba to Port Churchill, on the west shore of Hudson Bay, from where grain ships will ply to Europe sufficiently long to take out the wheat grop the fall it is harvested, whereas if the report is adverse the scheme will be abandoned and the existing route will have to be relief them as howeter. have to be relied upon as hereto-

The cruiser work and law enforcement will in future devolve upon the Gauss, which will be re-named the Arctic. One of the questions which took Major Moodie to Ottawa is that of the action to be taken against the United States whalers. According to Canada's claims the whole of Hudson Bay from the very jaws of the strait where it meets the Atlantic is a closed sea and all who are not British subjects are who are not British subjects are poachers in its waters. Major Moodie is also concerned over the illicit trading carried on around the shores of the bay by whalers, traders and fishers, and proposes an altered method of dealing with it. The present plan is for the police post at Fullerton and the cruiser to patrol the bay. But its perimeter is about six thousand miles altogether about six thousand miles altogether and it affords unequalled facilities for smuggling and illicit trade, es-pecially as for half a century the whites frequenting the region have been accustomed to do as they liked. The wealth of Hudson Bay both on land and *water has hitherto been garnered almost wholly by the Hud-son Bay Company. That concern son Bay Company. That concern monopolized the trade in peltries. It also controlled the traffic with the natives. It enterprised the whale fishery and engaged in the chase of nsnery and engaged in the chase of seals, walruses, wiwhales, narwhals and porpoises, and the salmon fish-ery in the rivers was its alone. But of late years a number of rivals have arisen and are cutting into its

All the whalers traffic in peltries, ivory, hides, feathers and the like.

The Newfoundland fishermen tempt The Newfoundland fishermen tempt the natives to barter with them in Labrador and Ungava. A French company to engage in the fur trade has been formed in Paris and has two steamers in the bay this summer, while other ventures of a similar kind are being contemplated in Canada and New England.

VONDROUS AND AWE-INNSPIRING PRODUCT OF NATURE, FOUND ONLY IN CALIFORNIA.

California's attractions are mostly of its own kind, peculiar to the state, and of none is this so emphatically true as that unique product the Big Trees. The age of these colossi is from 1,500 to 2,000 years. The Mariposa Grove, which can be visited while en route to the Yosemite, contains some of the largest. In the Calaveras Grove are from a justy to one hyndred. Grove are from ninety to one hundred of huge size. Near Santa Cruz is a beautiful grove of redwood Big Trees which will employ a day's visit. These can be best reached by the Union Pa-cific whose fast trains from Missouri

MAN'S MOST CRITICAL AGE.

MAN'S MOST CRITICAL AGE.

Very often the vital resources are small at 42, but if not then, between 57 and 62 years of age there is a strange slowing down and loss of vitality. It is important that this transient period of decay should be checked; strength must be imparted to the tired brain, the weakened nerves must be fortified. The wise man will use Ferrozone, whose potency is particularly applicable to these critical periods. Ferrozone quickens the whole being, imparts vigor and power, pushes back the onset of genility in a very manifest way. It's because Ferrozone gives strength, vitality and vigor that it is useful to old men. Try it. Price 50c,

R. L. BORDEN'S MESSAGE

An Honest, Busines-Like Alopeal to the Whites-Like Alopeal

By the People-If Laurier Government The National Policy-Personal Character and Canacity the Conditions to Prevail in the Civil Service.

Montreal, Oct. 26.—The leader of the Conservative party, R. L. Borden, has issued the following message: Halifax, N. S., Oct. 24, 1904.
To the People of Canada: Parliament is now dissolved and political parties must submit themselves, their actions and their politicy, to the judgment of the people. Since my election to the leadership of the Liberal-Conservative party, it has been my privilege to address audiences in every province and territory of the Dominion, the Yukon excepted, and with my colleagues to discuss in Parliament many subjects ass in Parliament many subjects affecting the public weal. Our policy has been clear, defined and consist-ent, the same in every quarter, alike to every class.

The records of Parliament show we stand on the public ques-which have been before the

since the last election. These cannot all be discussed in this mes-sage, but in regard to some of the principal issues involved in this contest, I submit in a few words the platform on which we appeal for your judgment.

Transportation Question.

Transportation guestion.

The subject of most immediate concern is transportation. Having regard to the enormous obligations which would be imposed upon the people by the Government's rash transcontinental projects; to the certainty that its adoption by you would shut out for a century Government ownership of railways, and to the vital importance of controlto the vital importance of controlling our own traffic and commerce, this question is the most momentous and far-reaching that has ever been submitted to the electorate of Canada. The immense territory and ever-increasing products of Canada de-mand the best and most economical transportation. We know that the people are willing to provide generpeople are willing to provide gener-ously whatever money my be neces-sary for the development of the Do-minion and our policy is to extend and improve its transportation fa-cilities by land and water. But we insist that what the people pay for the people should own and control; that public money should be used for Canada and for its people and not to promote the trade and wealth of foreign ports. eign ports. A True National Highway.

We fully realize the country's need for increased facilities of transporta-tion. Efficient service and reasonable rates must be assured. In utilizing rates must be assured. In utilizing the public credit for these purposes we must thoroughly guard against the diversion of our trade into the hands of foreign competitors. The Government seeks to impose upon the Government seeks to impose upon the people liabilities amounting to at least $150,000,000, for the construction of a transcontinental railway under conditions which absolutely fail to safeguard our national interests. The important and immediately profitable western division is to be owned and the whole is to be absolutely controlled by a corporation interested in diverting our trade away. owied and the whole is to be alsolutely controlled by a corporation interested in diverting our trade away from our own ports. We oppose to this our declared policy of constructing the new transcontinental railway as a public work to be owned and controlled by the people, and to remain a national highway in the truest sense. I beg you clearly to understand that it is still open to you to decide whether this shall be done.
Do not be misled by any assertions to the contrary.

We affirm that the management of the Intercolonial Railway and of other railways operated by the Government should be freed from partisan interference and from party political control.

Our Fiscal Pelley.

Our Fiscal Policy.

Our Fiscal Polley.

We also affirm the necessity of thoroughly equipping our national ports and of developing and extending our system of canals and inland waterways.

The principles upon which Sir John A. Macdonald based his fiscal policy in 1878 guide us to-day. We maintain and we will develop that policy for the advancement of the whole Dominion. It is a stable policy avowed openly without reserve. It is a practical business policy adjustable to the needs of the time. Our aim is so to apply it for the common good of the people and for the conservation of the Canadian market for the Canadian producer; that honest industry in every legitimate calling may receive a just reward; that the toiler may enjoy in his own land full sure a just wage; that capital may e attracted to and may be safely in-ested in our industries, and that ar-cles and commodities required for ticles and commodities required the use of our people may be produced as far as is reasonably possible in this country. We believe that any in this country. We believe that any extension of our market by means of reciprocal trade arrangements should be sought among those within the Empire who are our chief customers. A preference for our products in British markets would lead to an immediate enormous development of our resources. Such a preference the Conservative party will endeavor to obtain on favorable terms.

Character in Public Offices.

In making appointments to public offices we shall place personal character and capacity, above considerations of party service and such additional safeguards will be provided as may be found necessary for the full protection of the public treasury. More efficient means will be devised to guard against corrupt praced to guard against corrupt prace. ed to guard against corrupt prac-tices at elections and to protect the electorate from fraudulent devices by which the will of the people has been so often thwarted and the name of anada degraded. Inspired with an abiding faith in the justice and wisdom of our policy, and with an earnest confidence that it will prevail, we now submit it for your consideration, believing that it merits and that it will receive your Stratford, Oct. 26.—At the Court of Appeal on Registration, which closed Monday evening, the Conservatives appealed twenty-two Italians, laborers, who came to the city about four months ago and are employed on the extensions being made to the G.T.R. shops, Some interesting evidence was anticipated in regard to whether or not influence was brought whether or not influence was brought to bear on them by the Liberals to have them register. However, none of them put in an appearance at the court, and their names were struck court, and their names were struck off. They claimed to have come from Peterboro, but Conservatives assert that they hail from Buffalo. At any rate, inquiry at Peterboro reveals the fact that they did not take out naturalization papers there. An attempt to stuff the voters list is what the Conservatives here brand the affair. Outside of these names, eleven were struck off on appeals by the Conservatives and sixteen on appeals by the Liberals.

Diplomatic Delays. London, Oct. 26.—The inevitable delays of diplomatic procedure appear to retard a complete and satisfactory settlement of the acute differences between Great Britain and Russia, arising from the deplorable North Sea affair. King Edward has received from Emperor Nicholas himreceived from Emperor Nicholas himself a cablegram, expressing the deepest regret and practical acknowledgement that Great Britain's peremptory note will meet with a reply conceding every demand for apology for the act of aggresion against the British flag, compensation for sufferers and punishment for the officers for what is everywhere conceded to have what is everywhere conceded to have what is evrywhere to have been a gigantic blunder, and the Russian Ambassador to the Court of St. James has expressed to Foreign Minister Lansdowne his sorrow and sympathy. Prepared to Act.

These developments, which came late in the day, have allayed to some extent the deep resentment in the public mind, and the Admiralty last night gave evidence of its apprecia-tion of the necessity of proving that it is prepared actively to support the position of the people of Great Bri-tain and fulfill the expectation of the world, when it issued the following statement:
"On receipt on Oct. 24 of the news of the North Sea tragedy, prelimin ary orders for mutual support and co-operation were issued as a measure of precaution from the Admiralty to the channel, Mediterranean and me fleets."

Busy Day For Diplomacy. The day has been one of the busest in recent years in diplomatic circles here. The Russian Ambassador, who only reached London short-ly before midnight, Monday, was an early caller at Lansdowne house and had a long interview with Lord Lansdowne, after which the Foreign Minister drove to Downing street and conferred with Premier Balfour and others, and for the rest of the day was occupied with a mass of matters pertaining to the afiair. Almost momentarily the public expected some definite announcement of an official nature, but late this evening the Foreign Office announced that no further statement would be issued Count Benckendorff, the Russian Count Benckendorff, the Russian Ambassador, was occupied until late yesterday at the Embassy with a mass of cipher despatches, and it was announced that it would be physically impossible to prepare a formal reply in such a short time. Behind the Government.

The speeches of members of the Cabinet and of the House of Commons yesterday in different parts of the country voice the sentiments of Great Britain, and the spirit in which the utterances were met shows that for the moment party differences have been laid aside, and that the country is solidly behind the Government. Lord Selborne, at the Pilgrim's banquet last night, denounced the Dogger Bank affair in the most outspicen terms yet heard the most outspoken terms yet heard from a member of the Cabinet, as "an inexcusable outrage," and a "terrible blunder which would be im-

"terrible blunder which would be impossible in either the British or the American navy." Colonial Secretary Lyttleton, too, in another place, spoke in plain terms, saying that "it was impossible to view the affair as other than the result of murderous intention or of wicked negligence."

The post-mortem examination of the bodies of the victims of the Dogger Bank affair was held yesterday at Hull. The proceedings were purely formal, and no official announcement was made; but it is stated positively that both of the dead men bore wounds inflicted both by machine guns and larger guns.
