

ION!

ing this sea-
percoats, Fur

BLE.

the country.
what you are

shers

Opp. Aurora Dock

of Charles I.

Stevens' rooms, in Covent Garden, on underverst, which was e belonged to Charles
by auction. This vest,
y-woven pure silk, of r, was the subject of s from Mr. Stevens,
d its uniqueness, and
d gave its history,
documents and refer-
"Secret History" of
om the time the King
ll of it on the scaffold
his execution, down
day. Charles I. was
e occasion of his exhysician, Dr. Hobbs,
ve the vest. The doc-
his relic of his royal om him it came into of Susannah, his married Temple
awlings, Oxon. From
ed to Temple Hardy,
as left at his death to
of Knowlton Court,
miral died in 1873, and put up to auction and to the late E. A.
y the order of whose
was again sold. Bids to 100 guineas, when short pause, in which stated that when he
t fetched 200 guineas.
ed again, and quickly
ineas, at which figure knocked it down, and d to Mr. Burney Pick-well known, the shirt
es I. on the same oc-
undervest is the pro-
uke of Beaufort.

sting is Good

Aug. 15.—The weather
sine to be all that red for bringing the
ity. A farmer arriv-yesterday from Oak load of this season's rop averages 50 bush-
cre. He stated that would be general next ay be said of nearly in the province, the
ther ripening the grain
an was at first thought

aphical Union

thio, Aug. 15.—The
the International Union adopted a pro-
for an aggressive cam-
for a universal eight ident Lynch and Vice-kes were directed to cal unions where the ceeds eight hours and ce of eight hour law.

oran—Auditorium.

BRAND

Will

Co.

ledonian Special

a Com-
se, Pipe

D AVE.

6 PAGES

THE DAILY KLONDIKE NUGGET.

6 PAGES

Vol. 3—No. 216

DAWSON, Y. T., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1902.

PRICE 25 CENTS

PREPARING FOR WINTER

Furnaces Are Now Being Overhauled

Their Settling Made it Necessary to Place Concrete Foundations Under Them.

Possibly in no country in the world are difficulties attendant upon the construction of public buildings so great as they are in Dawson. The fact that the frost extends to an unknown depth makes it imperative that in order to prevent the settling of a structure the foundation and all underground work must extend deep enough so that no thawing of the ground will be possible. In every one of the government buildings it has been found necessary to take out the furnaces and place them on a solid foundation of concrete. The heat from the furnaces last winter in every instance thawed the ground immediately beneath them so that they settled in every manner imaginable. At the schoolhouse the large brick chimney had settled until it was badly out of plumb. It now has been straightened, however, jacks and wedges having been employed with success. The heating arrangements at the schoolhouse have been improved so that it will not be necessary this winter to dismiss school on account of not being able to keep the children warm as was the case on one or two occasions last winter. Another furnace has been added which now gives three in a battery. The ground is less thawed here than in any of the other public buildings, it being necessary to sink only a foot below frost was encountered. The battery of furnaces rests on a foundation of two courses of brick laid edgewise. The same alteration was made a few days ago in the heating arrangements of the governor's residence, where, however, it was necessary to dig three feet in order to find solidity. The concrete foundation that was put in is of the same thickness. Workmen today are similarly engaged at the postoffice and also at the courthouse. At the former the ground was found to have thawed to a depth of four feet while at the courthouse the excavation down to frost is six feet in depth.

The Ladue Quartz Mill

IS NOW IN OPERATION.

We have made a large number of tests and are ready to make others.

We have the best plant money will buy and guarantee all our work in this mill and also in the

Assay Office

MARTINIQUE TO BE ABANDONED

Beautiful and Fruitful Island Which Has Been the Scene of Such Terrible Loss of Life From Volcano Eruptions Will be Deserted—All Remaining Inhabitants Will Be Transported to Other Islands.

Special to the Daily Nugget.

New York, Sept. 6.—It is generally believed that the entire island of Martinique is fated to destruction and when the climax of the catastrophe comes it is feared that Guadeloupe will be visited by an all-destructive tidal wave. Details just received show that Saturday's eruption of Pelee was infinitely more violent than the previous explosions. The result of the enormous proportions of the eruption was that Mornes Lacroix, one of the peaks, was lifted skyward from the side of Pelee and fell back into the crater and was completely swallowed. The terrific heat in the vicinity is fatal to all animal or vegetable life. Relief troops have been compelled to make a quick retreat from Mornes Capote after rescuing a few of the wounded. The entire country nearly to Fort de France is buried under many feet of ashes and thus it is impossible to recover the bodies of those who perished while fleeing to the sea coast. At Grande Anz, a tidal wave swept 300 feet in-shore destroying many houses and drowning hundreds of the inhabitants. Col. Lecoeur has reported to the French government advising entire abandonment of the island as uninhabitable and imperative and asks assistance in transporting the remaining inhabitants to other islands of the West Indies.

(The island of Martinique is one of the Lesser Antilles of the West Indies, belonging to France. It is situated south of Dominica and north of St. Lucia and intersected by latitude 14 degrees 40 minutes north and longitude 61 degrees 10 minutes west.

The capital is Fort du France and the chief port was St. Pierre until the latter was destroyed by the eruption of Mount Pelee. The surface of the island is mountainous. The chief product is sugar and the inhabitants are principally negroes and half-castes. The island was discovered by Columbus in 1502 and in 1635 was colonized by the French. At the end of the 7 years' war and at two periods in the Napoleonic wars it was held by the British. Its area is 381 square miles and in 1888 it had a population of 175,391.)

SULPHUR CONNECTED

Road Finished From 35 Above to Ridge

Laborers Receiving Their Checks Today—A Month Required on the Improvement.

The office of Mr. S. A. D. Bertland, superintendent of public works, was thronged this morning by quite a crowd of laborers who were being made happy by the receipt of checks in payment for their labor during the past month. The men to the number of 37 were for the most part employed in constructing the road from 36 above Sulphur, to a connection with the territorial highway on the ridge. They were under the foremanship of Louis Couture who states that the road was completed a day or two ago and is one of the best pieces of work that has been done by the department this summer. It is two and a half miles in length and though the elevation of the ridge road is very much greater than the creek bottom a grade was secured that could not be improved upon, considering the short distance and the rise it is necessary to make. Good drainage has been provided and where small draws have been crossed pole culverts have been put in to prevent the grade being sluiced off during the heavy thaws in the spring Sulphur creek has been the last of the older and best known creeks to be provided with a wagon road. In the winter time sleds have experienced no difficulty in getting down from the ridge to the creek bottom, but in the summer it has been next to impossible for a wheeled vehicle to make the trip. The road at 36 above connects with a section previously built extending down the creek as far as 32 below, beyond which point there remains but a trackless waste of small swamps and prolific fields of niggerheads. Lower Sulphur clear to the mouth of the creek has lately been the scene of so much activity that before a great while the road will have to be completed to a connection with Dominion. The flat at the mouth of Sulphur is quite wide, similar to the lower end of Dominion, and miners located in that vicinity insist they will yet succeed in finding a paystreak equally as good as that on Dominion but a short distance away.

THE SOURCE FROM WHICH THE NEWS NOW DRAWS ITS EDITORIAL INSPIRATIONS.

The Ladue Quartz Mill

IS NOW IN OPERATION.

We have made a large number of tests and are ready to make others.

We have the best plant money will buy and guarantee all our work in this mill and also in the

Assay Office

Ladies' new walking skirts, dress skirts, underwear, and all kinds of fall goods at Mrs. Lueders'.

A GOOD TIP.

While many a life is saved by drugs, there is many a fatality caused by same, not but what they are a good thing if they are fresh and properly used. Never patronize a drug store that is not up-to-date in stock. Old drugs and medicines do more harm than good. Cribbs, the druggist, carries only fresh, up-to-date drugs and at virtually outside prices. A trial order will convince you.

CRIBBS, The Druggist, King St., next to Post Office.

THE POPE'S DECISION

Confirms Several Late Appointments

Bishop Montgomery of Los Angeles Selected as Coadjutor of California.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Rome, Sept. 6.—The Pope has confirmed the appointment of Auxiliary Bishop Farley as Archbishop of New York in succession to Archbishop Corrigan, and of Bishop Montgomery, Los Angeles, as coadjutor to the Archbishop of California, to succeed Bishop Riordan at the latter's death or retirement.

Fatal Shooting

Special to the Daily Nugget. Chicago, Sept. 6.—Resenting an insult offered to a woman tenant in the building of which he is janitor, Amaziah Hayner, of Chicago, shot fatally wounding Henry Martin.

At Auditorium—The Senator.

BIG CROP OF WHEAT

Northwest Will Break Record

All Home Acreage to be Cut This Week and No Sign of Frost Yet

Special to the Daily Nugget. Regina, Sept. 6.—The territorial wheat crop like that of Manitoba will be the greatest on record. All prairie acreage will be cut this week and the movement of grain to the elevators will then begin. As yet there has been no sign of frost anywhere. The amount of acreage and yield per acre will both be substantially increased over previous years.

The finest of office stationery may be secured at the Nugget printery at reasonable prices.

Special power of attorney forms for sale at the Nugget office.

Job Printing at Nugget office.

From the Upper Columbia

Captain C. C. Griggs and Chief Engineer George Wilson, both well known navigators of the upper Columbia river in eastern Washington, have recently arrived in the city on a pleasure trip and will remain until the departure of the Selkirk. They are the guests of their old friend M. E. Bennett, until recently in the White Pass office.

Ross to Have Portfolio

Special to the Daily Nugget. Ottawa, Sept. 6.—It is announced upon the authority of the Minister of the Interior Sifton that Commissioner Ross will be tendered a cabinet office in the event that he is elected member from the Yukon Territory.

At Auditorium—The Senator. Job Printing at Nugget office.

Yukon Camp Stoves

SPECIAL PRICES $10.00, $13.00, $20.00, $22.50 ALL CAMP SUPPLIES.

McLennan, McFeely & Co., Ltd.

FALL SHAPES

...HATS...

Sargent & Pinska, 118 2nd Avenue

Mail Orders Promptly Attended To. NO CREDIT.

The Klondike Nugget

Telephone No. 12. (Dawson's Pioneer Paper) Issued Daily and Semi-Weekly. GEORGE M. ALLEN, Publisher

SUBSCRIPTION RATES. Daily. Yearly, in advance $30.00. Per month, by carrier in city in advance 3.00. Single copies 25. Semi-Weekly. Yearly, in advance $24.00. Six months 12.00. Three months 6.00. Per month, by carrier in city in advance 2.00. Single copies 25.

NOTICE. When a newspaper offers its advertising space at a nominal figure, it is a practical admission of "no circulation." THE KLONDIKE NUGGET asks a good figure for its space and in justification thereof guarantees to its advertisers a paid circulation five times that of any other paper published between Juneau and the North Pole.

LETTERS. And Small Packages can be sent to the Creeks by our carriers on the following days: Every Tuesday and Friday to Eldorado, Bonanza, Hunker, Dominion, Gold Iron.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1902.

$50 Reward.

We will pay a reward of $50 for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any one stealing copies of the Daily or Semi-Weekly Nugget from business houses or private residences, where same have been left by our carriers.

CANNOT SUPPORT CLARKE.

The position of the Whitehorse Star with reference to the candidacy of Clarke is in direct support of the attitude of the Nugget and may be accepted as indicative of the opinion held by the great majority of people who have been and are opposed to the general policy of the government in this territory.

As far as the mass of intelligent, law abiding, self respecting citizens are concerned, they would prefer to see the district without representation in parliament rather than have it eternally disgraced by a man like Joe Clarke. If the situation is sifted down to a point where it becomes necessary for the voters to choose between Commissioner Ross and Clarke an election will scarcely be necessary.

It may be accepted by a foregone conclusion that Clarke will be turned down by such an extraordinarily large majority that the people will wonder at his ability to carry the late convention, notwithstanding the manner in which it was packed and jobbed. Clarke was stronger the day after the convention than he is at the present time, and he is stronger today than he will be at any future time within the campaign.

Among those who have been straightforward and consistent opponents of the government from the beginning of Yukon history, and who have devoted themselves steadfastly to the task of securing redress of grievances from which the territory has suffered, are found today Clarke's strongest opponents. Naturally enough such men decline to have themselves and their work, judged by the standard of Clarke. They cannot and will not permit the people of Canada, who flock to the federal capital during the parliamentary sessions, to be forced into accepting Clarke as a representative of the opposition in this territory. Rather than admit of such a catastrophe occurring they will turn almost as one man to the support of Commissioner Ross should he become the Liberal candidate.

A PITIABLE SPECTACLE. The shifting, wavering, always inconsistent position, occupied by the News upon every public question, has entirely neutralized any influence which the sheet acquired in the days when Sam Wall was its editor. This fact was painfully illustrated by the absolutely insignificant part played by Editor Beddoe in the late convention, and by the further fact that the delegates paid not the slightest attention to the oft-repeated comments of the News concerning the kind of man who ought to be nominated. After a year spent in planning, scheming and devising means of securing a nomination and with the alleged "influence" of the News at his back Beddoe could not even secure one supporter in the convention to nominate him. He was passed up with a quiet smile in identically the same manner in which he was turned down when he sought so assiduously to be sent as a delegate to Ottawa in opposition to Treadgold's concession. On that occasion he received one vote accounted for by the fact that he was present in the meeting himself. At the city election last winter after occupying five, separate and distinct positions the News finally wound up by supporting Dr. Thompson and thereby contributed materially toward accomplishing that gentleman's defeat. It will do the same thing for Clarke this year. Scoffed at and ridiculed by its enemies and distrusted and regarded with suspicion by those whom it claims as its friends, the News presents today the weakest and most pitiable spectacle that has ever been in the local newspaper field. The News having swallowed Clarke bodily is now taking its editorial inspirations from old Miner files. It is noticeable, however, that Clarke's opinions of Roediger and Beddoe have not been republished in the News as yet. Joe's real, unbiased, unprejudiced estimate of his chief backers, is actually worth reading. Clarke knew his men from long and intimate association and what he said about them acquires a double interest in view of existing conditions. The Sun seems to be under the impression that there is enough money left in the city treasury to pay for lighting the streets at night. The Sun is probably not aware that the salary bylaw is in force. If the News puts up Clarke's deficit the government will get back a small portion of the revenues which it is now contributing to the News' support. Geo. H. Hees should be made past grand master of the Independent Order of Knockers. Shoots Parents. St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 23.—Will Upshaw of Salem, a small town near Columbia, Mo., shot and fatally wounded his father and mother this morning, then placed the muzzle of his revolver in his mouth, pulled the trigger and put a bullet through his brain, killing himself instantly. Young Upshaw, who is but a lad of eighteen, had formed an attachment for Mattie Yarrow, the twelve-year-old daughter of a neighboring farmer. At times he would leave his work at his father's place and go to the Yarrow farm and insist that Mattie accompany him on a walk to the town, where he would buy candy for her and then tell her that she must be his wife. The young maid seemed flattered with his attentions until her parents objected on the ground of her extreme youth. They forbade Upshaw to come to their house and informed his parents of his doings. They reasoned with him yesterday and told him he must keep away from the Yarrow girl. After supper last night he left the house stating he would return soon. As his actions seemed queer his father followed him and found him at the gate alone. Returning to the house, words between father, mother and son ensued, whereupon young Upshaw drew a revolver, shot his father and mother and then ended his life. Those best posted think the young man was insane over his hopeless love for the young girl. Mrs. Geo. M. Allen returned on the steamer Whitehorse yesterday after a brief visit to Whitehorse and Skagway. The Senator at Auditorium.

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND

The Scene of Military Despotism

U. S. Army Official is Sole Ruler and Exercises an Iron Sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND

The Scene of Military Despotism

U. S. Army Official is Sole Ruler and Exercises an Iron Sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

You Will Be Looking For HEAVY CLOTHING. We have just the right kinds at just the right prices, and, best of all, the right style. The man that wears a Hart, Schaffner & Marx suit is well dressed in any country. We Carry the Above Make. Cheviots, Worsteds, Tweeds, Serges, Cassimeres, $15.00, $18.00, $22.00, $25.00. All Kinds of Overcoats - Cloth, Fur Lined, Fur. All Marked at 1902 Prices. N. A. T. & T. COMPANY

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

TOILET SOAPS. 3-LEADERS-3. Pear's, Baby's Own, Cashmere Bouquet. J. P. McLENNAN. 233 FRONT ST. Phone 101-B. Agent for Standard Patterns.

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for the lower Yukon, but the great lower Kuskokwim country, as well. But the place has no opportunity to expand. It is a little military despotism. Time was when the military regulations were reasonable, but that was before the advent of Captain Howell. Some of the stories told, touching the military government of the island are almost incredible. Two people, a man and a woman, were ordered to leave the island last fall in a violent storm. The man's name was Onick, the woman's Becker. Perhaps they didn't amount to much, but they were human beings, at least. This spring the woman's body was found. That of the man has not been recovered. There are other stories similar in many respects to the above. A man known as "Frenchy," but whose name is Reiche, was frozen last winter. He had incurred the displeasure of the post commander, probably with some reason, and while yet on crutches he was deported eighteen miles to a native village, called Kikitarik, and left there, after his crutches had been taken from him, so that he could not return. Reiche came back to St. Michael this spring, and he was again ordered to leave, and the merchants were notified not to give him provisions of any kind. There was nothing to do but obey the mandate. Reiche is now in Nome. The sick and the suffering receive no consideration at the post. Another man was brought in from the lower Yukon with both feet frozen. The hospital surgeon, Dr. Brooks, refused to admit him and he was placed in jail. An operation became necessary, and he was carried to the hospital, the operation performed, and then the victim was hauled back to the miserably insufficient quarters in the local jail. Twice were operations necessary and twice more the man was carried back and forth to the hospital. But nature became exhausted and the man quietly died. But Surgeon Brooks rendered a bill of $600 for his services. It is charged, too, that the bakery attached to the post is also a hootch distillery. The officers, it is alleged, admitted that hootch was being manufactured, but they couldn't catch the moonshiners. When the web of the civil authorities was closing around the offenders two men, employed in the bakery deserted. A worse attachment even than a hootch factory is said to be in existence, but the people of St. Michael only refer to it by dumb show. They dare not

ST. MICHAEL ISLAND. The scene of military despotism. U. S. Army official is sole ruler and exercises an iron sway.

Seattle, Aug. 28.—St. Michael island is not very large, yet if one-half the reports be true it has an autocrat whose rule is more burdensome than that of a governor of a Russian province. The exploits of Captain Howell, commanding Fort St. Michael, have been heretofore referred to in the columns of the press. The story of the banishment of a man and woman from the island last fall, and the death by drowning of both in the surf has been already told. But few of the acts of petty tyranny and insolence on the part of this army official have found their way into print. For two years past the people of St. Michael have been ruled with a rod of iron. Men have been peremptorily ordered to leave the island; the merchants of that place have been forbidden to supply them with food under pain of themselves being put out of business and their stores closed. They have submitted to these orders because they dare not disobey them. There is a military reservation on St. Michael island. Some years ago the government established a military reservation, including the country within a radius of 100 miles. Subsequently this was reduced to ten miles. It is about 9 1/2 miles too much according to the residents of St. Michael, who think that a few acres for a military post would be quite enough. St. Michael is the entrepot for the entire trade of the great Yukon valley and the Klondike. It would soon develop into a commercial center, if the military restrictions were removed. It is the natural trading point not only for

PLANS OF THE BOERS

Will Soon Begin Constitutional Agitation

Defeated Generals Visit Holland Where They Meet With a Hearty Reception.

London, Aug. 20.—The arrival of the Boer Generals in Holland is described with a subdued and chastened spirit by the English press. No fault can be found with the evidence of Dutch hero-worship when London crowds have set the example of honoring the Boer commanders, and Dr. Clarke, also, as though they had been fighting on the British side. The generals evidently were under less restraint at Rotterdam and The Hague than they had been in England, and were not casting about for excuses for reticence and reserve.

NO BREAK WITH KRUGER YET.
Whatever may be the opinion of the Boer negotiators who conducted a safe campaign in Europe and America, they are not prepared to act independently of Messrs. Kruger and Steyn without holding a prolonged conference with Messrs. Fischer, Wolmarans, Wessels and other leaders. Mr. Fischer is the strongest and most influential Boer in Holland, Mr. Kruger alone excepted, and the generals are likely to follow him rather than Dr. Leyds.

THE BOER PLANS.
From information which comes to me from pro-Boer sources here, I am convinced that they will neither court favor nor excite resentment here, but go about their business quietly, make contracts with publishers for books, and sail for America late in the autumn. They will neither join in premature machinations against Mr. Chamberlain, nor consent to be smothered with magnanimity and kindness.

PRO-BOERS' FORECAST.
Pro-Boers, when they become prophetic, forecast in South Africa a policy of constitutional agitation, opening today with a Dutch coalition against the loyalists in the parliament of Cape Colony, which Sir Gordon Sprigg, trimmer as he is, cannot control, and leading up by easy stages, under confederation, to a self-governing Dutch Commonwealth under the British Crown. Men like Mr. Fischer are too discreet to talk about ulterior Boer politics, but they already advocate confederation as the inevitable result of the conditions of peace.

Sir Edmund Barton's departure for the United States and Canada today has been already announced in these despatches. He will go from Washington to Toronto, and will make several halts in Canada. It will be mainly a journey of pleasure, but Sir William Mulock will be in Ottawa to exchange views with him respecting steamship subsidies for the Imperial mail service.

ENTERTAINING THE SHAH.
The Persian monarch's entertainment in England is an Oriental blend of royal functions and variety shows. Last night he watched the Coronation ballet at the Empire theatre, and, after receiving the Garter on the King's yacht today, he will visit the hippodrome, and will still have in reserve the fireworks at the Crystal Palace.

MATTERS THEATRICAL.
The Duke of York's theatre was reopened last night for a special season of Marie Tempest. The play presented was the "Marriage of Kitty," a whimsical piece, written for her by Mr. Cosmo Gordon Lennox, and adapted to her piquant musical comedy style. The other theatres will be re-opened next week and there will be a season of English opera at Covent Garden.

THE KAISER'S SPEECH.
English hearts are touched by the Kaiser's eloquent speech at Hamburg yesterday when unveiling the statue in memory of his mother. The references which he made to the sanctity of her married life, to her careful tending of her husband during his fatal and protracted illness, to the dignity with which she endured her grievous loss, and to the patient fortitude under her own sufferings, all bore witness to the deep affection that existed between mother and son. The Daily Chronicle says that all Englishmen admire the Kaiser, and their admiration will be heightened by the tribute which he has just paid to the memory of the Empress Frederick.

DISASTER IN RUSSIA.
An Express telegram from St. Petersburg says that the conclusion of the manoeuvres in the St. Petersburg district has been attended by a serious disaster, the full details of which are difficult to obtain. It is known, however, that a squadron of cavalry was ordered to make a desperate charge. The troops put spurs to their horses and galloped to the charge; unfortunately nearly the whole squadron fell into a river, and in the confusion 50 men were drowned.

Prophecies and Facts
For ten years the daily press of the northwest, with one or two exceptions, has made constant prophecy of dire things that were to happen under the railroad policy of Mr. Jas. J. Hill. But it is important to note that in not a single instance have the prophecies been confirmed. We repeat that it is important to keep this in mind. To do so will help in reaching a clear conclusion of just what is going on now.

When the merger of northwest railroads was announced the Commercial West stood alone in its defense. The people were told that with the merger a fact, monopoly would settle down on the northwest and slowly crush out her business life. What has happened? Mr. Hill has inaugurated one voluntary cut in merchandise rates and he has now proposed to the other railroads a reduction in grain rates.

Mr. Hill has stood quietly by through all the years and worked out the great plan that the merger completes. He has reduced freight rates steadily and without orders from railroad commissioners. He has made it possible for people to travel every year between St. Paul and Minneapolis and Puget sound for close to one cent a mile, without orders from railroad commissioners. He has carried a million people into the west and settled them on lands where they are a support to the great business interests of Minneapolis and St. Paul. And for all this great work he has been steadily pictured to the people by a narrow, unreasoning press as one who was deliberately seeking for private gain the downfall of the great states through which his roads run.

This false reasoning has about run its course. Not much longer can narrow interpretations control public sentiment. The benefits of a merger are going to be felt by the people, and Mr. Hill is going to close his career appreciated and understood. It has been his purpose always to build up, not to tear down. If he does not act in advocacy of such a policy from philanthropic motives, he does from motives of plain common sense.—The Commercial West.

Frick a Candidate.
Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 23.—The name of Henry Clay Frick has been suggested as a candidate for the United States senate, and a movement to have his name presented to the Republicans of Pennsylvania is said to be under way. The selection of Mr. Frick, it is said, has been made by some of the influential Republicans of the state who wanted a candidate who has not been entangled in any of the factional fights in the state. Mr. Frick's record as a business man and in the financial world, it is thought by those who are back of the move, would give him great strength.

Mr. Frick was out of the city today and it was impossible to get from him any expression in regard to the matter. Mr. Frick's name is made prominent owing to the growing feeling against Senator Penrose of Philadelphia. Three-fourths of Senator Quay's campaign efforts are confined in trying to re-elect Senator Penrose. This has turned the business element all over the state against the Philadelphian. The latter is also mixed up with treacherous political deals and methods all over the state. Every move, it is said, has been made to re-elect Penrose rather than look after the welfare of the Republican party.

The manufacturing and corporation element are backing Frick, knowing that he will not be led about like Penrose. It is also believed that Frick would assume the same role as Senator Hanna toward the working classes.

Delayed by Russians
Pekin, Aug. 24.—The restoration of the Pekin-Shan Hai Kwan railway is being delayed by the Russians, who refuse to relinquish the New Chwang-Chan Hai Kwan section unless they are allowed to retain the machine shops and roundhouse at Chan Hai Kwan. The Russians also object to foreign officials participating in the management of the line.

Clothing cleaned, pressed, repaired and made to fit.—R. I. GOLDBERG, at Hershberg's.

AMERICAN CITIZENS

Who Take the Oath of Allegiance

Must Comply With Regular Naturalization Laws if They Wish to be Repatriated.

Dawson, Sept. 5, 1902.

Editor Klondike Nugget:—Dear Sir,—A number of United States citizens residents in the Yukon Territory have asked me for an opinion regarding the law of citizenship and naturalization, and I beg leave to submit my answer through the columns of your paper.

The question asked is: "Can a United States citizen take the British oath of allegiance and upon return to the mother country immediately repatriate without being compelled to conform to the law of the United States governing naturalization of aliens?" My answer is "No," and in support of my opinion I beg to submit the following.

The only agreement between the United States and Great Britain providing for repatriation of former citizens and subjects was by a convention held at London on the 13th day of May, 1870, the United States being represented by John Lothrop Motley, Minister Plenipotentiary, and Great Britain being represented by the Earl of Clarendon, S. S. F. A., and the supplemental convention held at Washington, D. C., on the 23rd day of February, 1871, the United States being represented by Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State, and Great Britain being represented by Sir Edward Thornton, Minister Plenipotentiary. By the convention of the 13th day of May, 1870, it was provided:

ARTICLE I.
Citizens of the United States of America who have become or shall become and are naturalized according to law within the British dominions as British subjects shall, subject to the provisions of Article II., be held by the United States to be in all respects and for all purposes British subjects and shall be treated as such by the United States.

Reciprocally, British subjects who have become or shall become or are naturalized according to law within the United States of America as citizens thereof shall subject to the provisions of Article II., be held by Great Britain to be in all respects and for all purposes citizens of the United States, and shall be treated as such by Great Britain.

ARTICLE II.
Such citizens of the United States as aforesaid who have become and are naturalized within the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty as British subjects shall be at liberty to renounce their naturalization and to resume their nationality as citizens of the United States provided that such renunciation be publicly declared within two years after the 12th change of the ratification of the present convention.

Such British subjects as aforesaid who have become and are naturalized as citizens in the United States shall be at liberty to renounce their naturalization and to resume their British nationality, provided that such renunciation be publicly declared within two years after the 12th day of May, 1870.

The manner in which this renunciation may be made and publicly declared shall be agreed upon by the governments of the respective countries.

ARTICLE III.
If any such citizen of the United States as aforesaid naturalized within the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty should renew his residence in the United States the United States government may, on his own application and on such conditions as that government may think fit to impose, readmit him to the character and privileges of a citizen of the United States and Great Britain shall not in that case claim him as a British subject on account of his former naturalization.

In the same manner if any such British subject as aforesaid naturalized in the United States should renew his residence within the dominions of Her Britannic Majesty, Her Majesty's government may, on his own application and on such conditions as that government may see fit to impose, readmit him to the character and privileges of a British subject and the United States shall not in that case claim him as a citizen of the United States on account of his former naturalization.

ARTICLE IV.
The present convention shall be ratified by the President of the United States by and with the advice and consent of the senate thereof, and by Her Britannic Majesty and the ratification shall be exchanged at London as soon as may be within twelve months from the date hereof.

It will be seen that Article I. ratifies the acts of former citizens and subjects who have or shall have changed allegiance.

Article II. gives former citizens and subjects an opportunity to repatriate within a given time, to wit, two years by public declaration of renunciation of present allegiance and resumption of former allegiance.

Article III. gives citizens and subjects the privilege of resuming former allegiance on application and on such conditions as the two governments respectively may think fit to impose. Pursuant to the last clause of Article II. and to Article IV., a supplemental convention as aforesaid was held for the purpose of providing the manner in which renunciation should be made and resumption of former allegiance declared, and of ratifying the first convention on the 23rd day of February, 1871, it being then provided:

ARTICLE I.
Any person being originally a citizen of the United States who had, previously to May 13th, 1870, been naturalized as a British subject may at any time before August 10th, 1872, and any British subject who at the date first aforesaid has been naturalized as a citizen within the United States may, at any time before May 13th, 1872, publicly declare his renunciation by subscribing an instrument in writing substantially in the form hereunto appended and designed as annex A.

The remaining clauses of Article I. designates the officials before whom renunciation shall be sworn. Annex A is the blank form of renunciation of present allegiance and resumption of former allegiance.

Section 2165 of the revised Statutes of the United States provides "An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner and not otherwise," and then by clauses is provided the manner in which an alien may be admitted to citizenship, one of the requirements being a declaration on oath before a court of record at least two years prior to the admission of the applicant, that it is bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States and to renounce forever all former allegiance.

Section 2170 of said Revised Statutes provides that no alien shall be admitted to become a citizen who has not for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission resided within the United States.

It will be readily seen that the only manner in which one can now repatriate in the United States is according to Sections 2165 and 2170 above quoted.

Some argue that owing to the fact that the British oath of allegiance contains no renunciation the individual may elect which of two masters he will serve, but Article I. on the convention held on the 13th day of May, 1870, refutes such contention. Yours, etc.,

LEROY TOZIER.

We can do your repairing on short notice. Geo. Brewitt, the tailor, Second avenue.

Northern Commercial COMPANY
OFFICE BUILDING
RENTS REDUCED!
Elegant Offices, Steam Heated, Electric Lights, including safe deposit box and janitor service.
Apply at Office N. C. Co.

Ready for Trial.

The present being the last month of the territorial court this year, every effort will be made to as nearly as possible clean up the docket before the final adjournment. Mr. Justice Macaulay will take his seat on the bench for the first time on Monday, the 8th, which will be an additional help in the disposition of cases. The court of appeal will sit on Tuesday, the 16th. The following are the cases down for trial next week:

- Monday—Chambers vs. Copping vs. Cribbs; Evangeliste vs. McCarthy; Orr vs. Merriman.
- Tuesday—Canadian Bank of Commerce vs. Syndicat Lyonnaise du Klondike; King vs. Margoules (criminal); West vs. Berry (jury); Johnston vs. McDougall.
- Wednesday—Yukon Sawmill vs. De Lion; Aubert vs. Klog; Goldstein vs. Sawyer.
- Thursday—Beckworth vs. Troughton; Eads vs. Levy; Starr vs. Hadley.
- Friday—Enlund vs. Stepovich; Perkins vs. Reilly; Leonard vs. Adams; Williams vs. McDonald; Haddock vs. Napier.

Anxious to Emigrate.

Rome, Aug. 15.—Members of the religious orders expelled from France especially the Sisters, are applying to the Vatican authorities for permission to settle in the United States. Several of them have come to Rome personally to urge their requests. A reply has been sent to them pointing out that there are no vacancies in the United States, and the difficulty arising from the fact that the expelled sisters do not speak English. Canada has been suggested as a better field, as sisters are comparatively scarce there and because French is spoken in a large area of the Dominion. The applicants, however, did not take kindly to the suggestion and persist in their request to go to the United States.

New Recorder Office.

Bids are being advertised by the government for the furnishing of the lumber and other material for the construction of the buildings at Stewart, Gold Bottom, Sulphur and at the Forks, which are intended for the use of the mining recorders at those points. The offices are being built in accordance with the recommendation of Commissioner Ross made last winter and have long been needed. At Stewart the quarters of the mining recorder have been in a ram-shackle log building whose dirt roof leaks like a sieve during the rainy weather. Mr. Bertrand, superintendent of public works, returned yesterday from Stewart where a selection of a site for the building at that point was made. All the structures will be finished before the arrival of cold weather.

FOUND.—One black curly dog, white breast, and one brown curly dog. Owner can have same by calling at Tardell Bros., 61 below Bonanza, and paying charges.

LAST OF THE CUT RATES!
... The Fine, Large...
Str. YUKONER
WILL SAIL FOR WHITEHORSE
TONIGHT, SEPT. 6, 8 P. M.
The Yukoner Will Be the Last Steamer Sailing Under Cut Rates From Dawson This Season.
$20 -- POPULAR RATES -- $25
Rates Will Be Advanced by All Lines Leaving Dawson Monday, Sept. 8th.
Apply White Pass Ticket Office, First Avenue

Locomotive Boiler 30 Horse Power; also a Complete Line of Steam Hose, Pipe and Fittings, Thawing Points, Etc.
DAWSON HARDWARE CO., Ltd. Phone 36. SECOND AVE.

NG
meres,
ed, Fur
ANY
New Type
Dawson for Whitehorse
SDAY, SEPTEMBER 11th.
Mortimer, Agent
SIFTON
8:00 P. M.
Aurora Dock
Cash
sepower Boiler
sepower Engine
T OFFICE
art River
ECTOR
ling and
8:00 p. m.
S.-Y. T. Dock
ukon Route pointed Steamers
and Dawson.
unday, Sept. 7
ge Through to Skagway.
ROGERS, Gen. Agent, Dawson.
Y CO., Ltd.
VERY

IN THE FORESTS OF THE NORTH.

By Jack London, in Pearson's Magazine.

(Concluded from yesterday.) Thom raised the skin-flap of her father's lodge. Two men sat with him, and the three looked at her with swift interest. But her face betokened nothing as she entered and took her seat quietly, without speech. Tantlatch drummed with his knuckles on a spearhaft across his knees, and is a great man, and he put strength in thy arm, O Tantlatch, and gave thee power, and made thy name to be feared in the land, to be feared and to be respected. He is very wise and there be much profit in his wisdom. And there be questions yet to arise, and needs upon his wisdom yet to come, and we cannot bear to let was Thom lost to Keen and the promise broken.

The old shaman paused and looked directly at the young man. "And be it known that I, Chugungatte, did advise that the promise be broken."

"Nor have I taken other women to my bed," Keen broke in. "And I have builded my own fire, and cooked my own food, and ground my teeth in my loneliness."

Chugungatte waved his hand that he had not finished. "I am an old man, and I speak from understanding. It be good to be strong and grasp for power. It be better to forego power that good come out of it. In the old days I sat at thy shoulder, Tantlatch, and my voice was heard over all in the council and my advice taken in affairs of moment. And I was strong and held power. Under Tantlatch, I was the greatest man. Then came the Stranger Man, and I saw that he was cunning and wise and great. And in that he was wiser and greater than I, it was plain that greater profit should arise from him than me. And I had thy ear, Tantlatch, and thou didst listen to my words, and the Stranger Man was given power and place, and thy daughter, Thom. And the tribe prospered under the new laws in the new days, and so shall it continue to prosper with the Stranger Man in our midst. We be old men, we two, O Tantlatch, thou and I, and this be an affair of head, not heart. Hear my words, Tantlatch! Hear my words! The man remains!"

There was a long silence. The old chief pondered with the massive certitude of Fate, and Chugungatte seemed to wrap himself in the mists of a great antiquity. Keen looked with yearning upon the woman, and she, unnoting, held her eyes steadfastly upon her father's face. The wolf-dog shoved the tent-flap aside, and plucking courage at the quiet, wormed forward on his belly. He sniffed curiously at Thom's listless hand, cocked ears challengingly, at hurl themselves forward boldly and with clamor. Instead, there was great restraint and self-control, and they were content to advance silently, creeping and crawling from shelter to shelter. By the river bank, and partly protected by a narrow open space, crouched the Crees and voyageurs. Their eyes could see nothing, and only in vague ways did their ears hear, but they felt the thrill of life which ran through the forest, the indistinct, indefinable movement of an advancing host.

"Damn them," Fairfax muttered, "they've never faced powder, but I taught them the trick."

Avery Van Brunt laughed; knocked the ashes out of his pipe, and put it carefully away with the pouch, and loosened the hunting-knife in its sheath at his hip.

"Wait," he said. "We'll wither the face of the charge and break their hearts."

"They'll rush scattered if they remember my teaching."

"Let them. Magazine rifles were made to pump. We'll—good! First blood! Extra tobacco, Loom!"

Loom, a Cree, had spotted an exposed shoulder, and with a stinging bullet had apprised its owner of his discovery.

"If we can tease them into breaking forward," Fairfax muttered, "if we can only tease them into breaking forward."

Van Brunt saw a head peer from behind a distant tree, and with a quick shot sent the man sprawling to the ground in a death-struggle. Michael potted a third, and Fairfax and the rest took a hand, firing at every exposure and into each clump of agitated brush. In crossing one little swale out of cover, five of the tribesmen remained on their faces, and to the left, where the covering was sparse, a dozen men were struck. But they took the punishment with sullen steadiness, coming on cautiously, deliberately, without haste, and without lagging.

Ten minutes later, when they were quite close, all movements were sus-

"But she caught at her husband's name, and cried out in Esquimos: 'Yes! Yes! Fairfax! My Man!'" gazed idly along the path of a sun-ray which pierced a lacing-hole and flung a glittering track across the murky atmosphere of the lodge. To his right, at his shoulder, crouched Chugungatte, the shaman. Both were old men, and the weariness of many years brooded in their eyes. But opposite them sat Keen, a young man and chief favorite in the tribe. He was quick and alert of movement and his black eyes flashed from face to face in ceaseless scrutiny and challenge.

Silence reigned in the place. Now and again camp noises penetrated, and from the distance, faint and far, like the shadows of voices, came the wrangling of boys in thin, shrill tones. Tantlatch glanced apathetically at his daughter:

"And thy man, how is it with him and thee?"

"He sings strange songs," Thom made answer. "and there is a new look on his face, a new light in his eyes, and with the Newcomer he sits by the fire, and they talk and talk, and the talk is without end. There be something calling him from afar, and he seems to sit and listen, and to answer, singing, in his own people's tongue."

Keen leaned forward, and Thom held speech till her father nodded for her to proceed.

"It be known to thee, O Tantlatch, that the wild goose and the swan and the little ringed duck be born here in the low-lying lands. It be known that they go away before the face of the frost to unknown places. And be it known, likewise, that always do they return when the sun is in the land and the waterways are free. Always do they return to where they were born, that new life may go forth. The land calls to them, and they come. And now there is another land that calls, and it is calling to my man; the land where he was born, and he hath it in mind to answer the call. Yet is he my man. Before all women he is my man."

"Is it well, Tantlatch? Is it well?"

Chugungatte demanded with the hint of menace in his voice.

"Ay, it is well!" Keen cried boldly. "The land calls to its children, and all lands call their children home again. As the wild goose and the swan and the little ringed duck are called, so is called this Stranger Man who has lingered with us and who now must go. Also there be the call of kind. The goose mates with the goose, nor does the swan mate with the little ringed duck. It is not well that the swan should mate with the little ringed duck. Nor is it well that Stranger Men should mate with the women of our villages. Wherefore I say the man should go, to his own kind, in his own land."

"He is my own man," Thom answered, "and he is a great man."

"Ay, he is a great man," Chugungatte lifted his head with a faint recrudescence of youthful vigor. "He him go. It is not well that we should let him go."

Tantlatch continued to drum on the spearhaft, and gave no sign that he had heard. Thom studied his face in vain, and Chugungatte seemed to shrink together and droop down as the weight of years descended upon him again.

"No man makes my kill," Keen smote his chest a valorous blow. "I make my own kill. I am glad to live when I make my own kill. When I creep through the snow upon the great moose, I am glad. And when I draw the bow, so, with my full strength, and drive the arrow fierce and swift and to the heart, I am glad. And the meat of no man's kill tastes as sweet as the meat of my kill. I am glad to live, glad in my own cunning and strength, glad that I am a doer of things, a doer of things for myself. And so I say it is well this Stranger Man should go. His wisdom does not make us wise. We do not live when he does our living for us. We grow fat and like women, and we are afraid to work, and we forget how to do things for ourselves. Let the man go, O Tantlatch, that we may be men! I am Keen, a man, and I make my own kill!"

Tantlatch turned a gaze upon him in which seemed the vacancy of eternity. Keen waited the decision expectantly; but the lips did not move and the old chief turned toward his daughter.

"That which be given cannot be taken away," she burst forth. "I was but a girl when this Stranger Man, who is my man, came among us. And I knew not men, or the ways of men, and my heart was in the play of girls, when thou, Tantlatch, thou and none other, didst call me to thee and press me into the arms of the Stranger Man. Thou and none other, Tantlatch, and as thou didst give me to the man, so didst thou give the man to me. He is my man. In my arms has he slept, and from my arms he cannot be taken."

"It were well, O Tantlatch," Keen followed quickly, "with a significant glance at Thom, "it were well to remember that that which be given cannot be taken away."

Chugungatte straightened up. "Out of thy youth, Keen, come the words of thy mouth. As for ourselves, O Tantlatch, we be old men, and we understand. We, too, have looked into the eyes of women and felt our blood go hot with strange desires. But the years have chilled us, and we have learned the wisdom of the council, the shrewdness of the cool head and hand, and we know that the warm heart be over-warm and prone to rashness. We know that Keen found favor in thy eyes. We know that Thom was promised him in the old days when she was yet a child. And we know that the new days came, and the Stranger Man, and that out of our wisdom and desire for welfare Chugungatte, and hunched down upon his haunches before Tantlatch. The spear rattled to the ground, and the dog, with a frightened yell, sprang sideways, snapping in mid-air and on the second leap cleared the entrance.

Tantlatch looked from face to face, pondering each one long and carefully. Then he raised his head, with rude royalty, and gave judgment in cold and even tones. "The man remains. Let the hunters be called together. Send a runner to the next village with word to bring on the fighting men. I shall not see the Newcomer. Do thou, Chugungatte, have talk with him. Tell him he may go at once, if he would go in peace. And if fight there be, kill, kill, kill, to the last man, but let my word go forth that no harm befall our man, the man whom my daughter hath wedded. It is well."

Chugungatte rose and tottered out. Thom followed, but as Keen stooped to the entrance the voice of Tantlatch stopped him.

"Keen, if were well to harken to my word. The man remains. Let no harm befall him."

Because of Fairfax's instructions in the art of war, the tribesmen did not pend, the advance ceased abruptly, and the quietness that followed was portentous, threatening. Only could be seen the green and gold of the woods and undergrowth, shivering and trembling to the first faint puffs of the day-wind. The wan white morning sun mottled the earth with long shadows and streaks of light. A wounded man lifted head and crawled painfully out of the swale, Michael following him with his rifle, but forbearing to shoot. A whistle rang along the invisible line from left to right, and a flight of arrows arched through the air.

"Get ready," Van Brunt commanded, a new metallic note in his voice. "Now!"

They broke cover simultaneously. The forest heaved into sudden life. A great yell went up, and the rifles backed back sharp defiance. Tribesmen knew their deaths in mid-leap, and as they fell their brothers surged over them in a roaring, irresistible wave. In the forefront of the rush, hair flying and arms swinging free, flashing past the tree-trunks and leaping the obstructing logs, came Thom. Fairfax sighted on her and almost pulled trigger ere he knew her.

"The woman! Don't shoot!" he cried. "See! She is unarmed!"

The Crees never heard, nor Michael and his brother voyageur, nor Van Brunt, who was keeping one shell continuously in the air. But Thom bore straight on, unarmed, at the heels of a skin-clad hunter who had veered in from her from the side. Fairfax emptied his magazine into the men to right and left of her, and swung his rifle to meet the big hunter. But the man, seeming to recognize him, swerved suddenly aside and plunged his spear into the body of Michael. On the moment, Thom had one arm passed around her husband's neck, and twisting half about, with voice and gesture was splitting the mass of charging warriors. A score of men hurled past on either side, and Fairfax, for a brief instant's space, stood looking upon her and her bronze beauty, thrilling, exulting, stirred to unknown depths, visioning strange things, dreaming, immortally dreaming. Snatches and scraps of Old World philosophies and New World ethics floated through his mind and things wonderfully concrete and woefully incongruous—hunting scenes, stretches of sombre forest, vastnesses of silent snow, the glittering of ball-room lights, great galleries and lecture halls, a fleeting shimmer of glistening test tubes, long rows of book-timed shelves, the throb of machinery, and the road of traffic, a fragment of forgotten song, faces of dear women and old chums, a lonely watercourse amid upstanding peaks, a shattered boat on a pebbly strand, quiet, moonlit fields, fat vales, the smell of hay.

A hunter, struck between the eyes with a rifle-ball, pitched forward lifeless, and with the momentum of his charge slid along the ground. Fairfax came back to himself. His comrades, those that lived, had been swept far back among the trees beyond. He could hear the fierce "Hia! Hia!" of the hunters as they closed in and cut and thrust with their weapons of bone and ivory. The cries of the stricken men smote him like blows. He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

"Keen bent the bow and drew back the arrow to its head. Twice he did so, calmly and for certainty, and then drove the bone-barbed missile straight home."

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

He knew the fight was over, the cause was lost, but all his race-traditions and race-loyalty impelled him into the welter that he might die at least with his kind.

Football This Afternoon

After having twice suffered defeat at the hands of the Canadians at Rugby football, the Englishmen are still convinced they can muster up the better team and this afternoon they will have another go at the noble game. They are going in with the idea of winning or "busting" something and the game will probably be the best yet played this season. The sons of the motherland have strengthened their team very materially, particularly on the scrimmage line. General Manager Newell, who was considered a wonder while at Yale, will play with the Englishmen, though he will be at considerable disadvantage owing to the difference between the American and English games. He will miss the signals, interference and other fine points with which the American game excels. Mr. Senkler will captain the Canadians and Mr. Hughes the Englishmen. The game will be called at 4 o'clock sharp.

Concert Sunday Evening

The professional friends of John Mulligan, the old scoundough actor, will tender him a grand farewell testimonial tomorrow (Sunday) evening at the Auditorium, at which time an unusually excellent program will be rendered. Among the features will be a sketch by Miss Keltch, Mr. Readick and Mr. Hooley. Master Frank Readick, Jr., will take part and Miss Dimple Hooley will make her first appearance before the footlights. Miss Lorne will sing and there will be a full orchestra under the direction of Mr. Freimuth.

Job printing at Nugget office.

NEW Collars, Belts, Laces, Ribbons, Hats and Parane Velvets.

SUMMERS & ORRELL 2nd Ave.

EMIL STAUF

REAL ESTATE, MINING AND FINANCIAL BROKER. Agent for Harper & Ladue, Powisite Corporation's Addition, Menzie's Addition. The Imperial Life Insurance Company.

Collections Promptly Attended to. Money to Loan. Houses to Rent. Gold Dust Bought and Sold. N. C. Office Bldg. King St.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

LAWYERS. PATTULLO & RIDLEY - Advocates, Notaries, Conveyancers, etc. Offices: Rooms 7 and 8 A. C. O'Connell Bldg.

SURVEYORS. G. WHITE-FRASER - M. C. S. C. E.; M. Am. Inst. E. E.; D. T. S. Phone 106b. Cor. Church and Third Avenue.

Signs and Wall Paper

ANDERSON BROS. SECOND AVE.

White Pass & Yukon ROUTE

B. Y. N. CO. Regular Service Between

EAGLE CITY AND FORTYMILE

...The Fast... Str. Zealandian

Leaves Dawson for Fortymile Mondays, 12-14 returning, leaves Fortymile Tuesdays 12-14. Leaves Dawson for Eagle, Thursdays 12-14. Returns, leaves Eagle, Fridays 12-14. Fortymile, Saturdays 12-14.

J. F. Lee, Traffic Mgr. J. H. Rogers, Gen'l Agt. J. W. Young, Car Agent.

Pacific Coast Steamship Co.

Affords a Complete Coastwise service, Covering

Alaska, Washington, California, Oregon and Mexico.

Our boats are manned by the most skillful navigators. Exceptional Service the Rule.

All Steamers Carry Both Freight and Passengers.

SKETCH IS

For Present Yukon C

Territory Divided Election of Five Dawson Has

A sketch has been drafted showing the districts of the five districts in conformity with the bill passed at the last session. Members will be elected on the Yukon same will be present at the sitting next.

"The districts are ranged," said Acting Major Wood today, "and the bill altered before the council. Some of the admirably arranged stances at least improvement might be made. In districts which take the Fortymile and tributaries and all its tributaries creeks such as Gold and Sulphur should have consideration. Inhabited section of Fortymile, yet in the same district for this map is which we are now to see if any improvement in the proposition may be altered before it is adopted."

As the apportionment now stands, districts are provided entitled to one territory included being as follows:

No. 1-The city limits of the district incorporated in the incorporated territory.

No. 2-West of the river being the bottom mile river and its mile creek and Indian river and

No. 3-Bonanza river and its tributaries includes Bonanza, Laker.

No. 4-Stewart all that section 2 and district No. 2 of latitude. The Hootalingua art river and its Pelly river and

No. 5-Whiteho in the Salmon, Hootalingua, up large, Tagish and

As will be observed Dawson is entirely separate, but there is nothing of the city another district outside he should district see fit mere fact of him not acting as a

The ordinance election is ready no date is fixed being arranged. tion. It can not be held until November 30 as the which means.

It is probable no need to leave the Boers, but

Kaffirs T Vienna, August 11th today with an Aus from South Africa steamer with Botha, De Wet, Australian is that in the con General Botha.

"It is probable no need to leave the Boers, but

Get Prices

Then you Get Prices

T. W.

King St.

This Afternoon
 The game will probably be played this afternoon. They are going in with another go at the winning or "busting" of the game will probably be played this afternoon. The motherland have their team very water-tight on the scrimmage. Manager Newell, who had a wonder while at the Englishmen, will be at considerable distance to the difference between American and English. The signals, in other fine points with American game excels. Mr. captain the Canadians and the Englishmen. The game will be called at 4 o'clock.

Sunday Evening
 Professional friends of John, the old sardough actor, will give a grand farewell performance (Sunday) evening at the Auditorium, at which time an excellent program will be presented. Among the features will be Miss Kelton, Mr. Hooley, Master Hooley, Jr., will take part. Hooley will make his appearance before the foot-lights. Lorne will sing and a full orchestra under the direction of Mr. Freimuth.

at Nugget office.

Collars, Belts, Laces, Ribbons, Hats and Parasols.

RS & ORRELL, 2nd Ave.

MIL STAUF

PROPERTY AND FINANCIAL BROKER
 1000 Broadway, New York City.
 Promptly Attended to.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

LAWYERS
 R. H. RIDLEY - Advocate, Conveyancer, etc. Office, 8 A. C. Office Bldg.

SURVEYORS
 FRASER - M. Can. Soc. Am. Inst. E. E.; D. T. 106th. Cor. Church and Ave.

and Wall Paper

PERSON BROS...
 SECOND AVE.

TriE

Pass & Yukon ROUTE

Y. N. CO.

Service Between

TY AND FORTYMILE

The Fast...

Zealandian

for Fortymile Mondays, 2 p.m. for Eagle, Thursdays 10 a.m. for Eagle, Fridays 10 a.m. for Fortymile, Saturdays 10 a.m.

J. H. Rogers, Gen'l Agt. J. W. Young, City Ticket Agt.

acific Steamship

for a Complete Fastwise Service, covering ka, Washington California, and Mexico.

are manned by the most skillful navigators.

Special Service the Rule.

Passengers Carry Both Freight and Passengers.

SKETCH IS DRAWN

For Presentation to Yukon Council

Territory Divided Preparatory to Election of Five Members—Dawson Has Only One.

A sketch has been drawn of the territory showing the division and boundaries of the five new electoral districts in conformity with the provisions of the bill passed by parliament at the last session by which five members will be elected this fall to seats on the Yukon council, and the same will be presented to the council at the sitting next week for adoption.

"The districts as at present arranged," said Acting Commissioner Major Wood today, "is merely a suggestion and the boundaries may be altered before it is adopted by the council. Some of the districts are admirably arranged but in one instance at least I think some improvement might be made to an advantage. In district No. 2 for instance which takes in West Dawson, the Fortymile country, Sixtymile and tributaries and Indian river and all its tributaries, the populous creeks such as Gold Run, Dominion and Sulphur should be entitled to more consideration than the sparsely inhabited section in the vicinity of Fortymile, yet they are all included in the same district. As I said before this map is only a suggestion which we are now studying in order to see if any improvement can be made in the proposed division and it may be altered very materially before it is adopted by the council."

As the apportionment of the territory now stands, five distinct districts are provided each of which is entitled to one representative, the territory included in each district being as follows:

No. 1—The city of Dawson, the limits of the district being those of the incorporated town.

No. 2—West Dawson, the Yukon river being the boundary line, Fortymile river and its tributaries, Sixtymile creek and its tributaries, and Indian river and its tributaries.

No. 3—Bonanza district, Klondike river and its tributaries, which includes Bonanza, Eldorado and Hunker.

No. 4—Stewart district. Takes in all that section south of district No. 2 and district No. 3 to a certain parallel of latitude near the mouth of the Hootalinqua and includes Stewart river and its tributaries and the Pelly river and its tributaries.

No. 5—Whitehorse district. Takes in the Salmon mining district, the Hootalinqua, upper and lower Lebarge, Tagish and Whitehorse.

As will be observed the city of Dawson is entitled to but one representative, but as far as is known there is nothing to prevent a resident of the city from standing for another district in which his interests lie should the electors of that district see fit to so honor him, the mere fact of his residing in the city not acting as a bar to such election. The ordinance providing for the election is ready for presentation but no date is fixed for the same, that being arranged later by proclamation. It can not come on before November 30 as that was the date upon which Messrs. Wilson and Prudhomme took their seats two years ago, but it will likely follow that date as soon after as the arrangements can be made.

Kaffirs Threaten Peace

Vienna, August 23.—The "Freundenblatt" today publishes an interview with an Australian who traveled from South Africa to England on the steamer with the Boer Generals Botha, De Wet and De la Rey. The Australian is credited with saying that in the course of a conversation, General Botha said to him: "It is probable that England has no need to fear further trouble from the Boers, but the civilization of South Africa is threatened by the Kaffirs. England armed these savages, brave but untrustworthy tribes, to fight for her. Now the war is ended and the Kaffirs have not returned their arms, but retreated with them to inaccessible places in the mountains, where they are reported to be engaged in daily shooting exercises and preparation for war. Unless the English authorities display the greatest energy the Kaffirs are likely to cause great trouble."

Referring to political matters, the "Freundenblatt" says General Botha told its informant that England's best course would be to grant the Boers an independent parliament, as this was the only possible means of securing peaceable development of the country.

SLAVERY REVIVED

Negro Vagrant Will be Sold at Auction

Kentucky Method of Dealing with Race Question—Officials Are Puzzled.

Special to the Daily Nugget. Lawrenceburg, Ky., Sept. 6.—Fisher Million, a negro, was indicted for vagrancy last year and has just been captured at Lawrenceburg, Ky. He was tried before Judge Davis and sentenced to be sold into servitude for twelve months, the maximum penalty. The officials are puzzled to know what to do in the event no purchaser appears.

To Help Marconi

Special to the Daily Nugget. Rome, Sept. 6.—The Italian King has ordered the cruiser Carlo Alberto to be placed at the absolute disposal of Signor Marconi for wireless telegraph experiments between Europe and America.

Departure Postponed

Special to the Daily Nugget. Constantinople, Sept. 6.—Minister Leishman has postponed his departure from Constantinople at the request of the Sultan. All recent claims of the United States are now in course of settlement.

Will Represent

Special to the Daily Nugget. London, Sept. 6.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught will represent the King and Queen respectively at Delhi during the coronation.

Repairing Fences

Special to the Daily Nugget. Vancouver, Sept. 6.—Conservative leader Borden and party of Winnipeg are enroute to British Columbia on an organization tour.

Famous Man Dead

Special to the Daily Nugget. Berlin, Sept. 6.—Herr Virchow, the famous pathologist, is dead.

Attention, Eagles.

Members of Dawson Aerie, No. 50, are hereby notified to meet at the hall Sunday evening, Sept. 7th, at 8 o'clock sharp, to attend testimonial to Bro. Mulligan.

By order of the Aerie, A. F. EDWARDS, W. S. C.

Warship Maine.

Boston, Aug. 25.—The new first-class battleship Maine raced around the cape on her trial course today to prove her right to fly the U. S. ensign. Her contract calls for a speed of 18 knots-an hour for four continuous hours of steaming, and though one six-mile leg she dropped to 17.30, on her fastest she reached 18.9, and this was followed by other speeds. Her mean speed developed, without tidal allowances, was given out as 18.3. This is not official, as the navy board has not completed its figuring, but this is the statement made by the Cramps.

There is a little feeling that she was expected to go over this mark, but as it is, she stands today as the fastest battleship in the American navy, for the Illinois, which up to this time has held the record, did only 17.84 on her fastest leg.

Explorer Returns

Stockholm, Aug. 23.—The Antarctic, bearing the Nordenskjold Antarctic expedition, returned to the Falkland Islands July 4, after having obtained the most satisfactory results. The great-unknown ocean from the Falklands to the South Georgia Islands has been examined. The maximum depth was about 10,000 feet.

The Senator—at Auditorium.

STR. THISTLE
 ...Will Sail for Whitehorse...
Tonight, Sept. 6th, at 8 p. m.
 Rates: -- $20 Second Class; $25 First Class.
 Rates Will Be Advanced Monday, September 8th.
MERCHANTS TRANSPORTATION COMPANY
 R. W. CALDERHEAD, Manager. L. & C. DOCK

TAXPAYERS GRIEVANCE

Want the A. C. Trail Repaired

Present Condition is Occasion of a Great Deal of Inconvenience to Many People.

The residents and property holders along the old A. C. trail leading from the foot of King street back to Acklin's farm are complaining of the condition of the roadway, and request that the city council should take the matter up and expend a few dollars of the city's funds in making necessary improvements.

The district adjacent to this highway has become largely populated and not only people residing directly on the roadway, but others living south of King street and in the valley find it necessary to use the road going up the hill and then down to their residences.

It is not only to the benefit of the residents and property holders of that section of the city to have this road in good condition, but it would be beneficial to everyone in Dawson.

The fact that this road leads to the cemetery and is besides the best view, and is therefore largely patronized on Sunday afternoons, makes it one of the principal thoroughfares in the city, and should command itself to the consideration of the city fathers.

It has been represented by several of the property holders that the expenditure of a few hundred dollars in grading, putting in a few culverts and widening the road in places so that teams could pass, instead of compelling them to go a considerable distance back to the level part of the hill, would put the roadway into fine condition at a small expenditure.

As this street is one of importance from the facts mentioned, and as in its present condition travel over it is made very difficult, it should receive the earliest possible consideration.

Collapse is Feared.

London, August 25.—A full report is expected soon from Somers Clarke the architect in charge of St. Paul's, but there seems to be small question in spite of the denials of the dean, that the chapter is seriously worried over the condition of the Cathedral, whose foundations have been weakened by bad draining, coupled with extensive excavations in connection with the tube railroads and subsurface work. It is stated on good authority that prompt and extensive repairs, estimated to cost $1,100,000, are imperative to insure the safety of the historic building.

Missionaries Killed.

Shanghai, August 23.—A native evangelist who has arrived here confirms the reports of the murder of an Australian missionary named Bruce and an English missionary named Lewis at Chen Chou, in Hunan province. The missionaries disregarded the warnings of the natives, who foretold the outbreak. Although the murders are regarded in some quarters as being a local incident, they are causing some uneasiness.

Report is Made.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The navy department made public today Rear Admiral Higginson's official report upon the "search problem" which was conducted by the blue fleet under his own command for the white squadron, under Commander Pillsbury of the New England coast. The admiral's report follows:

At 5:40 a. m. on the 24th instant, off Magnolia, Mass., the blue fleet under my command, captured the white fleet, under command of Commander John F. Pillsbury, U. S. N., after four days of anxious watching. Commander Pillsbury's fleet was deficient in speed. His evasion of the outside scouts and arrival on the coast undetected was, I think, very creditable to him.

The result of the operation in regard to my own force was to gather very valuable information for the intelligence bureau concerning the capabilities of defense and means of communication along the stretch of New England coast from Cape Cod to Portland. This information is valuable and should be preserved for future use.

DIVIDED INTO DISTRICTS.

The line of coast over which I had charge was divided into five districts, each in charge of an officer provided with scouting vessels, and a number of observers at shore stations. These districts all reported by telephone or telegraph, or by whatever means of communication they could establish with the central district at Rockport, where Ensign Berry, U. S. N., was in charge of the central office and transmitted to me by means of steam launches, torpedo boats and signals from shore whatever information was received.

The reports of the district commanders and observers will be forwarded to the department for its information.

I can only say that the operations have been very beneficial in training the young men in scouting and as observers. I have already written to the department about the valuable service rendered by the torpedo boat flotilla under the command of Lieut. Chandler.

I take this occasion, however, to urge upon the department the establishment upon all vessels of the navy of a wireless telegraph outfit. In my opinion it is of incalculable value, and no expense should be spared to hasten its adoption.

Highway Robbers.

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 23.—One chapter of a man hunt in this section of the United States came to an end late this afternoon. Jack Ryan and George McDonald held up and beat a Swede laborer nearly to death at Touchet Station. They were chased through two counties by bloodhounds and captured near Athona, Ore. They were arraigned in the superior court today on the charge of highway robbery, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to five years each in the Washington state penitentiary.

Copher and his pal, the men who held up the saloon at Prewater two weeks ago and who shot a deputy sheriff when an attempt to arrest them was made, are still at large.

Looked Like His Dad

Two farmers meeting at Galway Fair were discussing their affairs. Dougan-Shure, a married man, had a fine healthy boy who Father McCabe says is his picture. O'Denney (regarding Dougan) replied: "Och, well; what's the harm so long as the child is healthy."

See Brewitt, the tailor, for stylish good fitting suits.

Europe Aghast.

New York, Aug. 23.—Senator Depew arrived here today on the steamer Philadelphia with Mrs. Depew and his son "Buster," Chauncey M. Depew, Jr. They had been abroad ten weeks, spending most of their time in the south of France.

"So Russell Sage says there will be a revolution; does he?" the senator said, after greeting the newspaper men on the pier. "Well, I guess old Russell will have to be a centenarian twice over before that revolution occurs."

"I saw Mr. Morgan while I was abroad, but we did not talk on any of his business plans. You know the people in Europe think of Mr. Morgan as a supernatural being. Well, perhaps I ought to change that word supernatural, but they do look upon him as a marvelous person."

"Everywhere I went in England the people were talking about Mr. Morgan and his plans, wondering what they were and what he was going to do next. Ha! ha! So Russell Sage thinks Mr. Morgan will bring on a revolution. That's funny."

"We have opened the eyes of Europe by our financial affairs. The nonchalance with which we bought the Panama canal for $10,000,000 dumfounded them. When I told some of the public men in France about our billion-dollar congress they stopped talking and began to count up. The figures were too big for them, as they have to multiply our dollars into francs to get the idea in their own way."

American Prelate.

New York, Aug. 23.—The statement is cabled from Rome that the recommendations under solicitations to the Vatican to have Archbishop Ireland nominated as a cardinal have now assumed imposing proportions, as setting forth that the red hat would be a due reward for the success the Papacy obtained through him by the Taft mission coming to Rome. The statement is further made that some of Archbishop Ireland's friends are so influential that the Vatican would like to satisfy them, notwithstanding the reluctance to have America have more than one cardinal.

This plan of having Archbishop Ireland a cardinal of the Curia, residing at Rome, is opposed by other cardinals of the Curia, who find him too clever, too progressive and too American.

A project that is whispered, continues the correspondent, is that Bishop Quigley of Buffalo having refused the archbishopric of Chicago, Archbishop Ireland be appointed there. With this field for his activities and being created a cardinal he would have the west under his jurisdiction while Cardinal Gibbons would have the east.

Threatened to Kill.

New York, Aug. 23.—While attempting to cross the street in front of her home this afternoon five-year-old Evelyn Gough of 336 East Twenty-sixth street was run over by a public automobile and died in a short time afterward.

The machine belonged to the New York Automobile Transportation Co. and was driven by William Connell, a professional chauffeur. An intense crowd quickly surrounded Connell after the accident and made threats of killing him, but Policeman Wireman and Roundsman Smith arrived in time to rescue the frightened chauffeur.

Immediately after she was taken into Bellevue Hospital the child died in the arms of Dr. Frank Connell who was arrested.

The Senator—at Auditorium.

Search of Husband.

St. Louis, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Margaret Schirmer, aged thirty-five years, of 120 Turk street, San Francisco, has traced her husband, Philip Schirmer, aged forty years, from San Francisco to St. Louis. Mrs. Schirmer says her unfaithful lord left her August 3d, taking $550 in cash and diamonds valued at $200 and that he came to St. Louis with a woman named Louisa Frank.

Mrs. Schirmer has invoked the assistance of Chief Desiond's force to capture her husband and his companion, whom she does not know. Mrs. Schirmer made the following statement at police headquarters tonight:

"My husband left San Francisco with another woman and my jewels. We were married in Chicago, April, 1888.

"Just before leaving that city, I fell through a sidewalk and injured myself, for which I was allowed $2,500. With this we went to live in San Francisco. Our apartments were at 120 Turk street. On Sunday, August 3d, my husband and I went to see some friends at 502 Van Ness avenue. When we got back home my husband said he had to step around the corner to see a friend. That was the last I have seen of him. I learned that he had stopped at 320 Third street with a Miss Frank. When I called there I was told that they had left for St. Louis. I secured the numbers of their St. Louis checks at the station and followed the trunks to St. Louis. After running them down one by one, I found the one belonging to my husband. Here I found a trunk that had been checked to Moberly, Mo. I took a train for that place, supposing I was just a day behind my husband and the woman. I was doomed to disappointment, for I found that checks had been changed at the Union station and that the one I followed belonged to another man. I know my husband and the Frank woman are in St. Louis and I have $5,000 to spend to find them."

"I've got something here that'll fix his business all right," was the comment of Mrs. Schirmer, as she pointed to a little hand grip last Saturday night just before taking the train for St. Louis to catch up with her runaway husband.

The flight of the husband was not altogether a surprise to Mrs. Schirmer. She had suspected him for some time, but had not been able to catch him with Miss Frank.

Mr. Dawson, who keeps the rooming house at 120 Turk street, where the Schirmers lived, said he believed the enraged wife meant to do bodily harm to her husband when she caught up with him. Mrs. Schirmer declared herself, saying she would go to the end of the earth until she found her faithless spouse.

Lost in Crevasse

Geneva, August 23.—Emil Durant, curator of the Archaeological Museum here, was killed yesterday while ascending Mount Pleasant. He slipped into a crevasse and his body was found with the skull crushed. M. Durant was not accompanied by a guide.

Only Name a Date

The florist has grown independent of seasons. You have only to name a date on which you want a certain blossom and he will have it ready for you. The art of retarding flowers was always curious, and now it has widened out into very large dimensions.—Country Life.

Lost in Crevasse

Geneva, August 23.—Emil Durant, curator of the Archaeological Museum here, was killed yesterday while ascending Mount Pleasant. He slipped into a crevasse and his body was found with the skull crushed. M. Durant was not accompanied by a guide.

Only Name a Date

The florist has grown independent of seasons. You have only to name a date on which you want a certain blossom and he will have it ready for you. The art of retarding flowers was always curious, and now it has widened out into very large dimensions.—Country Life.

The Nugget's facilities for turning out first-class job work cannot be excelled this side of San Francisco.

Get Others Prices
 Then come to me and get your outfit.
 Prices Always the Lowest
T. W. Grennan
 GROCER
 King St., Cor. Sixth Ave.

ORDINANCES NOW READY

For Presentation to the Yukon Council

Session Will Last Three or Four Days—Acting Commissioner Will Preside.

Much business will come before the Yukon council at its session next week. The first meeting will be held on Monday evening at 8 o'clock and the sessions will be continuous until the slate is clean, which will probably require three or four days.

One of the most important matters to come up will be the yearly budget containing the estimates for the ensuing year and showing the cost of the maintenance of each department of the government. Several ordinances presented at the last meeting will be up for their second and possibly third reading and a half dozen or more entirely new bills will be submitted. Those at present prepared include the following:

An ordinance respecting the council of the Yukon territory.

An ordinance to amend the charter of the city of Dawson.

An ordinance to amend the ordinance providing for the election of two representatives. This is the old ordinance which in order to conform with the new bill providing for five instead of two representatives must necessarily be amended.

An ordinance respecting the public service of the Yukon council.

An ordinance to amend an ordinance regarding the prevention of fires.

An ordinance to amend an ordinance regarding masters and servants.

An ordinance to prevent deception of employees. (Wilson's "deception" bill; second reading.)

An ordinance respecting the public health.

An ordinance providing for the election of five members to the Yukon council.

An ordinance respecting slaughter houses.

An ordinance respecting the legal profession.

An ordinance respecting the incorporation of the Dawson City Electric Street Railway.

During the sessions the gubernatorial chair in the council room will for the first time be occupied by one other than Commissioner Ross. Acting Commissioner Major Wood will preside with the dignity befitting so exalted a position.

Masque Ball

A party of Dawson's younger society people gave a masquerade ball at the Pioneer hall last evening which was one of the most charming affairs of the kind yet attempted in the city. The party was given under the chaperonage of Mesdames James, Murphy, Bryan, Maltby, Shuman and Miss Phillips.

The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the music was all that could be desired, while dainty refreshments served at a late hour gave added pleasure to the occasion. A feature of the evening was Miss Madeline Shuman's graceful tambourine dance, which was thoroughly appreciated by everyone. Those who attended and the characters they represented were as follows:

- Mr. Joe Hunt, Soldier.
- Mr. Frank Cowan, Tramp.
- Mr. Mont. Maltby, Totem Pole.
- Mr. Bennett James, Desperado.
- Mr. Earl Durgin, Dutchman.
- Mr. Fred Parker, Sailor H.M.S.P.
- Mr. Kirt Latimer, Farmer.
- Mr. Frank La Londe, Sailor.
- Mr. Ben Thompson, Devil.
- Miss Doris Wright, School Girl.
- Miss Helen Beede, Rainbow.
- Miss Lucille Latimer, Jap.
- Miss Laura Mitchell, Red Riding Hood.
- Miss Irene Wilson, Cowboy.
- Miss May De Journal, Fancy Dress.
- Miss Florence Levine, Tambourine Dancer.
- Miss Constance James, Spanish Girl.
- Miss Madeline Shuman, Flower Girl.

Concession Loses Suit

Mr. Justice Craig yesterday gave judgment in the case of George Preston against the Klondike Government Concession, Limited. The plaintiff was in charge of the works of the concession last year, having been engaged for a certain period. Upon the arrival of Mr. Anderson a short time ago the latter became dissatisfied with the manner in which operations had been conducted during his absence, and accordingly discharged Preston before his contract had expired. Suit was brought and a decision was found in favor of the plaintiff.

Horkan's Motto.

"The meal to work on; the meal to think on; the meal to live on. The best meal for the money the market affords. From soup to desert complete—for 50c."

Horkan's motto is to give the most for the least. To see that every man who patronizes the restaurant at the Standard Library goes away with the feeling that he has had his money's worth. For that reason he buys the best the market affords and serves it to his patrons on the closest possible margin.

Don't forget the bath rooms and the big plunge.

CHURCH NOTICES.

Methodist Church.—The newly organized quartet, Miss Katharine Krieg, Mrs. Fysh, Messrs. McLeod and Cobb, assisted by the regular choir will render special music at both services tomorrow, it being the first Sunday in the month. The pastor will speak in the morning on "Baptized With Fire," and in the evening on Hebrew poetry. Morning anthem, unaccompanied quartet, "Come Unto Me," by Wagner. Evening anthem, "What are These," by Stainer. Solo, "Come Thou Fount of Love," by Millard, Miss Katharine Krieg, Quartet, unaccompanied, "Saviour Breathe an Evening Blessing." After the benediction Stainer's Sevenfold Amen.

GOES TO SOLOMON'S MINES.

The scientific world is watching with great interest the equipment of the expedition into the interior of Africa, and the epicurians of Dawson are keeping their eyes on The Family Grocery, for they know Dunham always keeps the best.

Lost Their Home

But found a better one. The N. C. Co. boys who have been so long and comfortably fixed at the company's messhouse have shown their good taste and judgment by securing winter quarters at the Louvre. Many people thought they would be compelled to patronize cheap restaurants and boarding houses, but not with the N. C. boys. A gentleman will always be a gentleman and will never be satisfied with anything but the best and the boys very properly selected the Louvre as furnishing the same high-class accommodations to which they have been accustomed.

WE INVITE ATTENTION!

To our fine lines of 1902 Fall and Winter Productions. We are showing this season the creations of the best manufacturers of Men's Suits, Overcoats, Fur Goods, Underwear, Overshirts, Hosiery, Neckwear and Footwear.

SEE OUR WINDOW DISPLAY. PRICES REASONABLE.

Our New Store is the finest and best appointed establishment in the country. We have an abundance of room and light where you can see exactly what you are buying. We refund your money if goods are not as represented.

HERSHBERG & CO., Clothiers and Furnishers

FIRST AVE., Directly Opp. Aurora Dock

WATER FRONT NOTES.

The Yukon river has this summer owing to the continued rain been exceptionally high, and the boats have travelled up and down without experiencing any difficulty. The river is now, however, falling quite rapidly, and bars which have been covered with water sufficiently to allow the large boats to pass over are making their appearance and are a source of annoyance to the larger boats.

The Yukoner and Whitehorse, each with heavy loads of freight, arrived yesterday, and each report having scraped bottom at various times on the trip. This is accounted for by the heavy loads carried, but hereafter lighter shipments will be handled and it is not thought that much difficulty will be experienced as the water is still unusually high for this season of the year.

The steamer Canadian left last night at 8 o'clock carrying a full list of passengers as follows: Miss E. Balfour, A. Lorraine, Mrs. Lorraine, Harry Hare, John B. Wright, Mrs. M. Dodge, Jno. Gainer, Albert Anderson, Mrs. C. Mooshorst, Gussie Weimer, Mrs. C. Bartsch, H. C. Ruth, Mrs. H. C. Kuth, Mrs. Linderman, H. C. Stewart, Cora Burke, P. Hutchins, T. Rowbottom, Susie Martin, F. Candle, Tom Donovan, G. Maden, O. H. Bernard, D. Fairburn, T. G. Melby, Otto Miller, O. D. Ticknor, Geo. McNeely, H. Gagin, B. Laws, A. D. Faulkner, Pete Nicholson, Ole Vatland, C. Xagterin, H. Thebo, Fred Haines, W. Bantler, C. M. Henderson, Wm. Morrison, G. Cathow, Jno. Woods, Jno. Rolla, Jules Arsenault, R. Barr, Wm. Shafter, Geo. Rouen, Bert Dixon.

The Whitehorse arrived last night with a heavy consignment of freight but a small passenger list. She will leave tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Yukonet leaves today at 8 o'clock.

The La France has not reported as yet, and as she is several days overdue some anxiety is being felt for her safety.

The Thistle is billed to leave at 8 o'clock tonight.

Fournier-Remanded.

Victor Fournier, who was arrested some time ago on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Bouthillier, Beaudoin, and Constantine who at Whitehorse on the 16th of June in company with Fournier and Belle, was brought before Magistrate Wroughton this morning but upon the request of the prosecution, which is awaiting valuable evidence from the outside, was remanded for one week.

Fournier was brought into court room with his hands manacled and accompanied by two guards. He will be remanded from week to week until the evidence which is said to be strong against him arrives, when he will be given his preliminary examination which will result in being held to the superior court for trial or his dismissal.

At Auditorium—The Senator
Job printing at Nugget office.

...ST. LOUIS...
BOHEMIAN A. B. C. BRAND
 King of All Bottled Beers.
 Ask Your Dealer for It, You Will Find It Sparkles Like Wine.
I. Rosenthal & Co.
 ...WHOLESALE DEALERS...
 Scotch drinkers should look after the Caledonian Special Liquor, it's awful smooth.

Special Bargains
..In Our..
Hardware Department

AMES MERCANTILE

... COMPANY ...

...New...
Dry Goods, Clothing
and Footwear

What trade we have we'll hold; and what trade we haven't got we're after.

GROCERY DEPARTMENT

You can bank when it comes from the Ames Co. that it is the best.

The best pack of fruits from California and Canada.

Our vegetables are next to those coming fresh from the garden.

The best in Coffee and Tea.

Libby, McNeill & Libby pack of Meats.

Your Choice in
MILK AND CREAM

PROVISION DEPARTMENT

The Best That Money Can Buy. Quality First—You Are Sure of the Best When You Order From Us Your

HAMS, PREMIUM BACON, EGGS, POTATOES, ONIONS, PICKLED PORK, BUTTER, SILVER LEAF LARD, ETC.

Everything Guaranteed. Your Money Back if Not as Represented

LIQUOR DEPARTMENT

This Department is Complete in Every Detail. You Will Notice That We Are Always in a Position to Save You Money Here.

CASE GOODS

Canadian Club Rye,
Walker's Imperial Rye
Seagram '83
Gooderham & Wort's Rye
Greer's O. V. H. Scotch
Hudson Bay Rye
Hennessy Three Star Brandy
Martel's Three Star Brandy
De Kuper's Gin
Barker's Old Tom Gin
Wines of Every Description
Bulk Liquors
Pabst's Milwaukee Beer

An Up
Special to the D
London, Sept
of Wildenberg
an English rura driving despite the charge. I
The magistrate wealthy and in equal rights
roads and "loc
tourists to set a

Trade
Special to the D
London, Sept
Trades Union C
session re-elect
tary, and appoi
M. Arrandale as erican Federati
Compan
Special to the D
Vancouver, Se
Iron & Coal C
Dominion Coal

The L
Quart

We hav
number of
ready to ma

We hav
money will antee all on mill and als

Assa

Yu

$10

McL