For a moment he turned his back as if to fig. At that moment, however, the young woman drew a revolver and fired. Again, again, and a fourth time, without lowering her weapon, she pulled the trigger. The man fell to the sidewalk, wounded and gasping. The crowd pressed around, and some one knocked the weapon from the woman's hand. Others seized her and held her till a policeman came. She straggled until exhausted, shrisking out male dictions upon the victim of her wrath. Au ambulance from St. Vincent's Hospital took the wounded man to that institution. The surgeon said two of the bullets had entered his body. One had lodged near the cheart. The woman's remaining shots had drown wide of the smark, and were found distenced upon the sidewalk. At the Mulberry street station house the woman calmed down and colly admitted that she was glad she had not missed her aim. She said she was Paqueline Robertelli, by trade a tailoress, and that her home was 15 Mott street.

The Brein orrespondent of a syndicate of provincial papers has had an interview with Dr. Kitsasto, of Tokio, a Japanese doctor now studying as the hygienic institute there, who prof-sees to have discovered as method for the cure of, lock. jaw. This cure is based on a prin iple somewhat saimilar to that of Mr. Hankin's cure for anthera. Yet it is diff rent in some important particulars. Dr. Kitsasto first renders an animal impervious to tetanus, and then injusts the blood setum of that animal into animals suff-ring from the discase. The freatment of Wrinkles.

How many i quiries are read in the papers concerning the prevention and ours of wrinkles. Some of the suggestions are simple, and a trial could do no pessible harm, but it is satist to beware of those methods which suggest any very radical mode of treatment, that is, unless you have the advice of a reliable physician. A famous beauty of the last generation prevented wrinkles by closing her eyes, and keeping her features perfectly or moosed for the space of ten minutes several times during the day. A remedy which a friend of mine has invented, for her own case, she having had wrickles on her forehead, is to use the message treatment night and morning, and at beddime, after rubing the wrinkles out, to cut narrow strips of court plaster which she sticks a coas them. For the sake of my friend I hape this method will prove as successful as the court plaster treatment did in the case of a young mother, who plastered back her infant's surnover east until they grew into place. The freatment of Wrinkles.

Another story of Creation.

In deciphering the unregistered Assyrian tablets in the British unseum, another early version of the story of the creation has been found by Mr. Punches, the text of which is Akkadian and the gloss Assyrian. It somes from the library of Assur banipal, and dates from about 650 B. C., but the Akkadian text is, in the opinion of Mr. Pinches, a copy of one dating from 3000 B. C., or earlier. The text is in three so tions of ten library each. The first describes the time when nothing existed. The second section relates the making of paradise, with its tower E sagita, founded in the Abyas. Then Babylon was made, and the gods and the land, and the beavers and mackind. The third section declares the order given, and of the rivers Tigris and Euphrases. Cities and boases were then built. Merodach, the god, seems to be the active creater of these things, and, hrough men, of cities.

Two hundred and forty words a minute, four words every second, is a rate of speed which seems almost beyond the power of artioulastion, yet was the measure of the torrent of aloquent exposition and appeal poured forth in 8t Paul's Church last Monday by the Rev D. Phillips Brooks. Try to equal it reading from a printed page in a conversational tone, and then imagine the immensely increased difficulty of the task in a large church, before a great congregation, and without the guid ance even of a written note. The business men, for whom the service was especially designed, had been assured that the discourse would be short, and so-it was in time, for it was finished in 25 minutes, but the report made by two stenographic reporters, of the Journal's regular staff, covered 6 000 words, and gave the extraordinary averages with which this paragraph opens.—Boston Journal.

Two Murders, or Burder and suicute, has Michigan Farm House.

A Port Huron despatch says: A horrible story somes from the Township of R ley this morning. Mrs Chas. Murphy is owner of a farm in Riley. She has lived alone in the house for some time with her handsom daughter, Annie, aged 19 Daniel Ye ashon was employed as hired man. Last night Mrs. Murphy was called away to sit up with a sick friend. This morning when she resurand home she found her daughter lying on the bid stone dead. Her throat was out from ear to ear. Everything in the room showed signs of a terrible struggle. On going to the hired man's room he also was found with his throat out and nearly dead. The neighbors think he killed the girl, but are upable to tell anything about it at present. They think he attempted to courage the girl, and upon her offering resistance, he killed her and afterwards stiempted to kill himself. There is great excitement in the neighborhood. It is possible that two murders havy been committed.

MR. BARBUND'A'S CLAIM.

Mee's sam to be asked to ray for his office.

A Washington despatch says: Transito Hurtarte, widow of Gen. J. Martin Barrundia, in her own name and as the representatives of her six minor daughters, and Ramon Bengoeches, as the representative of his wife, Teresa Barrundia de Bengoeches, have filed with the Becretary of State a claim against the United States for $1,000,000 for having surrendered Gen. Barrundia to the Guatemalan authorities, at whose hands he lost his life. The claim, the petitioners say, is based on the explicit and precise declarations of the President of the United States in his last annual message to Congress that Minister Mizner, in issuing an order for the surrender of Barrundia, exceeded the bounds of his authority and acted in violation of the precedents established in similar cases, for which reason the United States Government disavowed his act and recalled him from his post.

A "GREEN GOODS" MURDEP. Supposed Informer Killed and Bis Body Dragged Several Miles.

A Supposed Infermer Rilled and His Berly Dragged Several Miles.

A West Bay City despatch says: Audrew Poulson was found several miles from the city this morning by woodchoppirs lying upon his face, with the whole top of his head worn off. He had been murdered during the night, a rope tied around his body and under his arms, and then dragged several miles to the lonely spot in the woods, where his body was placed behind a woodpile and left. Poulson was arrested several months ago for writing to green goods dealers and his case is now pending in the United States court. The opinion is that the green goods men were afraid of him and determined to get him out of the way. He lived slone in a house five miles from where the body was found. He must have been dragged behind a waggon for the entire distance.

Horrible Double Murder.

A Paris cable says: The story of a terrible double murder comes from Tours. About a wesk ago a wealthy aged couple named Delbomais, residing in that city, mysteriously disappeared, and their neighbors, thinking there was something wrong, notified the police, who forced the doors of the old couple's house, when the discovery was made that a horrible crime had been committed. Both the man and his wife had been breatly murdered and the house stripped of everything of value that, could be conveniently carried away. The bodies of the aged victims presented a ghastly appearance, the household dogs baving been driven by hunger to feed upon the corpses, large portions of which had been devoured by the animals. No arrests have as yet been made.

A New York despatch says: Billy Bennett, a professional pickpocket, who has served several ferms of imprisonment, went to the police headquarters last night and said he had just learned he was a sonin-law of Jay Gould, and that he was going to secure millions by the sale of a medicine that would oure all the ills of the human race. Bennett was sent to the hospital, it being evident he was cray.

the ravine some dark night while out walking.

It now appears that the police allowed the suicide or accident theory to get abroad in order to bester enable the police to follow out the real theory—that of murder. It was thought likely that the murderer or murderers, mon hearing that the authorities of San Remo had arrived at the conclusion that the English physician's death was caused by accident or suicide, would relax their vigilance, take fever precautions to conceal their orime and thus fall more readily into the hands of justice. From the moment the doctor's body was found the rutherities of San Remo never ceased their investigation, and gradually wove a net of evidence around the doctor's murderers which yesterday resulted in the arrest of a man and woman, who are charged with having murdered Dr. Littlemann.

The woman, it appears was of the seduce.

arrest of a man and woman, who are charged with having murdered Dr. Lindermann.

The woman, it appears, was of the seductive character of Gabrielle Bompard, Eyrand's mistress, and she used her bright eyes to lure the dooser to lodgings she compiled at San Remo. As to what actually took place after the woman had enticed her victim into her room little is actually known here, owing to the fact that the police are not yet prepared to give all the facts to the public. However, it is concluded that the doctor when in the woman's apartments was drugged, murdered and robbed by the woman was babe when the man and that the latter was assisted in the perpetration of the orime by the man supposed to be her lover, who was taken into custody with her.

The arrests have caused much commotion here. It has even been rumored that the man and woman in custody may have been need to lure other men to their doom. In places like this, where the flading of bodies, enerally cases of supposed suicide, is not an introquent occurrence, it is not astonishing that the widest theories have been advanced, and that the people fancy, perhaps, the woman has made it a bueiness to decoy successful players into her apartments, and that they may have been both robbed and murdered, and their bodies placed so that they would be classed as victims of ill-luck at the gaming tables of Monte Carlo or elsewhere.

A Despondent Brocklynite's Desperate Attempt at Suicide.

A New York despatch says: John Braun, aged 65, to-day boarded the ferryboat. James Waterbury, running from Houston street, in this city, to Grand street, Brocklyn. When the boat had got well out into the streem Braun lesped overboard. Directly he came to the surface the pausengers on the boat saw him raise both arms aloft and strike at his head. The Waterbury's engines were stopped and with boathooks the deck banch shaled Braun aboard. Strapped to his wrists were two sharp-pointed knives, and with these while in the water he had made several severe wounds in his breast, which accounted for the motions that the witnesses to his plunge had seen. The weapons were unstrapped and Braun, after the Brocklyn slip had been reached, was taken to the hospital. The surgeon who attended him said he was not likely to recover. Braun was formerly a barber in Brocklyn. He has been without employment for some time, and became a victim of despondency. Despondent Brooklynite's Despe

Brush the Head Frequently.

If there is nothing the matter with the head or the skin, the hair will grow all right if it is treated in the natural way. Ordinarily shift brushes should be used, and occasional rubbing and smoothing on with the hands are soothing to the head and good for the hair. Mental workers are especially troubled with neuralgic paine and headschee, which frequently kill the coloring pigments and surn the hair prematurely grey. Combing and subbing the scalp of the head with the hand draws the blood up to the surface of the head, and not only relieves the pain at times, but adds new strength to the hair. Those sof fering from neursiglo head pains should spend half an hour in this work every night before retring. This gentle massage treat ment also has a tendency to cure dandruff. It strengthers the skin and opens the pore, so that the blood can throw off its off-the matter. — Yankee Blade.

Chinese Children Trained for a Life of Degration in San Francisco Dens.

Chinese Unideren Francisco Dense.

A San Francisco despatoh says: The fact is now pretty well established that Chinese girls are secretly sold in this city for slaves. For years Miss Culberson, who is executive head of the Perebyterian Mission at No. 993 Sacramento street, had dared much to eave Chinese girls and women from actual slavery and enforced dogradation. Her life has been threatened by highbinders repeatedly; but she has never faltered in her work. The home has soreened about 300 femiles, of which, it is claimed, nearly all were slaves, possessing a moneyed value of from $500 to $2,000.

Attention has been attracted to the home during the past few days by a case pending in court. Woon Tein, a Chinese, girl 11 years old, was resoured from a man who bought her of her father. The father a few years ago lost his wife and four children by death. The fifth child, little Woon Tein, shen aged 6, was cold to Kum Mah, a Chinese procuress. The father then salled for China, leaving Woon Tein in the sole care and mercy of Kum Mah. The price the father received for his daughter paid his passage back to China.

Woon Tein was found at Kum Mah's claim in Bartlett alley. It was discovered that she was cent daily by Kum Mah to a place of ill repute on errands. The girl was then arrested and placed in the charge of Mice Culberston. Kum Mah immediately began a stroggle for her possession, and the case is still pending.

Miss Culbertson said to-day: "There are without doubt scores of female Chinese slaves in San Francisco to day. Most of the young Chinese girls who came here are bought as always, for whom cash has been paid to their parents. In many cases they are kidnapped or are deluded into coming here by false pretences. There are few who come themselves."

"There have been mady extraordinary stories told of the ingennity of thieves in the purants of their nefarious calling, but a case which occurred while I was at Chathan recountly bests anything I ever heard, "remarked a newly arrived Englishman to a Philadelphia Inquirer man.

"A girl was brought before the Police Court on the charge of robbing milliners' shops. Bhe was only 14 years of age, and of very innocent appearance. What puzzled the Magistrate was that none of the witnessee ever saw her take anything, or at least they would not swear to it, although after the had left a shop where she had been making a purchase articles of value was missed.

after she had left a shop where she had been making a purchase articles of value were missed.

When arrested nothing was found upon her. The Magistrate said he could not conviot the girl on mere suspicion, and then began to cross-examine her himself in a kind, fatherly way which touched her heart, and she broke down and confessed that she was guilty, and explained her methods to the astonishment and amusement of the court and spectators.

It seems that she had a tame white rat which she carried about with her in annif. She would enter a shop full of girls and women and ask the price of some article, and while looking at is contrive to drop the rodent on the floor.

and while looking at is contrive to drop the rodent on the floor.

"Any one can imagine the result. Those near the door dashed into the street, while the employees jumped on the counters and chairs, wrapping their petiticoats sight around their ankles and 'soreamed like mad,' as the prisoner expressed it, amidst the laughter of the court, in spite of the assurances that the rat was quite tame.

"It is the scrimmage she would quietly help herself to what she wanted, catch the rat, put it in her muff, apologize and walk off. The Magistrate said that on account of her youth, and as she had voluntarily confessed to the thefts, he would give her one more chance, and bound her over in the sum of £50—$250 of your money—to come up for judgment when called upon.

"Of course her friends scon entered the required bonds, and Mary Barton will have to find some other place to practise on the weakness of her sex. The tame rat dodge won's work in Chatham any more."

At the Cobourg Presbyterian church ately, Rev. Mr. Hay said he would read no more notices from the pulpit other than those having to do with the affairs of the congregation, unless convinced in his own mind that it would be for the advancement of the Great Cause. "Take your notices of or them honestly as advertisements The pulpit was never intended to be a great bulletin board," says the rev.

From Ottawa Journal, Feb. 15th, 1891.

Dr. N. Washington, who has for the last four years visited the city as a on lung and throat dis about to come amongst his patient gain. In over four years he has paid isits to his patients and through these ngels visits were far between at first he has, owing to the steady increase of his practice, had to make at least three special visits a month. His success has en undoubtedly most extraordinary latter have steadily grown in number under his treatment which has proved so successful in numerous roat is becoming more rare

Dr. Washington who has paid regu ar visits to this city for some four and half years, and to whom hundreds of atients owe a lasting debt of gratitude ntends to continue his visits to the avail themselves of his consummat skill and experience. No other doctor who has ever visited Ottawa has orked so unremittingly and steadily as Dr. Washington, which in itself i nly speaks volumes in his favor, but ved by his immense success
