The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I read in a newspaper the other day of the establishment of a "school of matrimony" which was to have courses in dress-making and millinery, in domestic science and in the nursing and care of children.

I set out at once to visit this school, and found it, after all, merely a figment of the editorial writer's active brain.

I wish there might be such a school publicly maintained in every city in the United States, and that a year or two at it might be considered as indispensable a part of the middle class girl's education as her high school course.

We say most emphatically that no man has a right to marry unless he can provide a suitable home for the girl.

Why has a girl any more right to marry when she is incapable of running the suitable home after he provides it?

Of course a girl might learn cooking and sewing, and all the other things that pertain to her profession of homemaker, right in her own home—and some girls do—but are the majority of girls left to learn the art of homemaking in this casual way, apt to put as much study and concentration upon it as if they were studying it in a regular school?

Besides, unless the mother is an exceptional housekeeper, it is unlikely that she would know much about each branch of domestic science as the experts who would be hired to teach them.

Now I know there are a good many people who are going to say that the new fangled ideas that these experts will teach our girls are all nonsense and that the young girl will do much better to learn the art of housekeeping just as her mother and grandmother knew it.

Isn't that rather short-sighted? Aren't we altogether too willing to regard the science of housekeeping as something that can be left at a standstill while all the other sciences in the world progress?

My ideal school would have courses in simple economical cooking, making a specialty of the use of left-overs and the study of scientific food values, in plain sewing, mending and altering, in economical and intelligent buying not only of provisions but also of materials, and advanced courses for those who wished them in hat-making, embroidery and dressmaking.

There are, of course, in some large cities industrial schools where these things are taught, but not in many, and only a small proportion of the girls even in these cities attend the industrial high.

I believe that such a school should be established in every city and town in the United States, and that a one year course in it should be made a requirement for a high school diploma for a girl, and graduate courses should be open to those who had time for them.

Why would not the study of the need of such a school and the possibility of having it established in your community be a good thing for the woman's club to which you belong?

Ruth Cameron

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It sets directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. It makes Weak Women Strong. It makes Sick Women Well. Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

White paint, when dirty, should be washed with milk.

Cold tea is excellent for washing colored paint surfaces.

Baked custard served with a little caramel syrup is delicious.

Clean mabogany with cold drawn linseed oil and polish with clean cloths.

In warm weather put eggs in cold water and they will froth very much better.

Rag and fibre rugs may safely be put into the wash tub and given a good scrubbing.

To prevent pastry from burning, set in a pan of water in the oven while it is baking.

Never try to ice a cake hot, and let layer cake get nearly cold before putting together.

Always use lard to grease your bake pans, as salt in butter causes it to stick to the pans.

A pan of lime set on the shelves near jellies, fruits and jams will prevent their moulding.

A small refrigerator, well stocked with ice, is more useful than a large one half full.

Sash curtains are preferable to all others for the kitchen, as they are easily removed and washed.

Cabbage cut up in shreds and creamed makes a tasty dish. Serve in the same way as creamed celery.

Clean japanned traps by rubbing them over with a little olive oil and then polishing with a soft cloth.

To clean dirty carved furniture, dip a fine paint brush in paraffin oil and paint over the carving with it.

A little vinegar should be rubbed on the hands after they have been in strong soapy water for any length of time.

Preserved ginger or a little currant jelly with tasty crackers passed with the cup of tea is a happy thought.

White veils dipped into skimmed milk and pinned upon a sheet will be as crisp and fresh as new when they dry.

Often times the burned part of a cake may be removed by scraping it with a grater when the cake is quite cold.

Salts of lemon will remove ink stains from floors. Use two table-spoonfuls to a quart of water and use no soap.

Kerosene will polish zinc if it is rubbed on with a soft cloth until clean, and then washing the zinc in boiling water.

A woman who wishes to economize her strength should not stand while ironing. Use a stool just the right height.

The outside of the molasses jug and of all fruit and jelly jars must be kept scrupulously clean if insects are to be kept away.

ASK FOR MINARD'S AND TAKE NO OTHER.

Ill Health, Its Cause

Sluggishness of Liver and Bowels.

It took me a long time to learn, and big doctors' bills in the bargain, written Mr. Ogilby, of Winnipeg, that the disturbance of any system was due simply to liver and bowel inactivity. A sleepiness and languor extinguished my old time ambition. I fear irritability of temper added little to the comfort of my family, yet the headaches, general misery and melancholy forebodings that weighed me down ought to be considered. Tonics, electric treatment and mineral waters in turn failed to cure me, the advertising of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the testimonials supporting the claim of great medicinal virtue induced me to try them. The result of even the first box made clear that my own body was making its own poison, that by driving it from the system and removing the cause which undoubtedly resided in the liver and bowels, by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, my health would be as good as ever.

It seems certain to me that more than half the sickness we see about us is caused by carelessness in keeping the bowels open and the liver active. Dr. Hamilton's Pills I found do both, and do it better than other remedies.

The Odd Fellows' Condolence.

A deputation consisting of J. C. Phillips, P.G.D.D.G.M.; E. D. Spurrell, P.G., and D. Cook, R.S.S., from the Oddfellows of Newfoundland, went to Government House at 12.20 yesterday and presented the Governor, Sir Ralph Williams, with the following address, which was printed on parchment:—

To His Excellency
Sir Ralph Williams, K.C.M.G.,
Governor of Newfoundland.

Your Excellency,—
On behalf of Atlantic Lodge, No. 1, of St. John's, and of Exploits Lodge, No. 2, of Grand Falls, of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, we beg to convey through you to His Majesty the King, the Dowager Queen Alexandra and the Royal Family, the sincere sympathy of the Oddfellows of Newfoundland on the death of our late beloved King, Edward the Seventh, and pray that the Supreme Ruler in His Mercy may sustain them in their bereavement.

We also wish to express our unswerving allegiance to our Sovereign Lord the King, George the Fifth, His Throne and the Empire to which we belong.

We have the honour to be,
Your Excellency's obedient servants,
A. ERNEST WHITE,
Acting Noble Grand, Atlantic Lodge;
GEORGE E. WHITE,
Noble Grand, Exploits Lodge;
EDWARD D. SPURRELL,
Secretary, Atlantic Lodge;
GEORGE P. HICKS,

The Poet Laureate's Tribute to the King.

London, May 9.—Alfred Austen, the Poet Laureate, has written the following poem on the occasion of the King's death, entitled "The Truce of God," with the sub-title, "A King's Request":—

When darkness deep as wintry gloom,
O'er shadows joyous spring
In vain the vernal orchards bloom,
Vainly the woodlands ring;
Round Royal shroud,
A mournful crowd
Is all now left of one but yesterday
A King.

Thrones have there been of hateful fame
Reared upon wanton war;
He who have lost still linked his name
With peace at home, afar;
For peace he wrought,
His constant thought
Being how to shield his realm
Against strife's hateful star.

So let us now all seek to rest
From hateful feuds release;
And mindful of his wise bequest,
From factious clamors cease.
Treading the path he trod,
The sacred truths of God,
The path that points and leads to patriotic peace.

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT

THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Breadmade from contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR

Disposal of Garbage. Elsewhere in this issue we publish a letter of protest from a citizen of the West End against the action of the City Council in depositing the city refuse along the Cornwall Avenue. ROYAL CORTEGE TO-MORROW.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, May 15. The official programme for the removal of the body of the late King, Edward the Seventh, from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall next Tuesday was issued to-night. It shows that the removal will be attended by a military spectacle only less impressive and imposing than the funeral itself. Following the casket drawn on a gun carriage will walk King George, the Royal Princes, and all the Kings and princely guests, together with the members of the late King's Household, the Lords and Groomsmen-in-waiting, Court Dignitaries, Naval Officers and the Queen Mother's Household. Then will come a procession of nine carriages, with the Queen Mother and all the Royal ladies. Upon arrival at Westminster Hall the late King's company of the Grenadier Guards, who will have charge of the casket throughout the ceremony, will place the body upon the Catafalque for the Lying-in-State. All the regalia having been placed upon the casket, the Archbishop of Canterbury will conduct a solemn service for the Royal mourners, after which the public Lying-in-State will begin. The details of Friday's ceremony are still incomplete, but it has been decided bluejackets will draw the gun carriage the coffin will be on King George, Queen Mary and the Queen Mother with all the members of the Royal Family were present to-night at a solemn service over the body in the Throne Room in Buckingham Palace. The scene in the Throne Room was deeply moving, one of the most impressive being the hourly change of guards, who in full uniform with hands crossed on reversed rifles and with heads bowed stand like statues at each corner of the Catafalque, with an officer in the same attitude facing the bier. Not a muscle seemed to move. At the end of each hour a bugler silently leads the relieving guard in and the change of guards is made very noiselessly. One hour of this guard has been so trying to the men that after to-night they will be relieved each half hour. Solemn services were again held in all the churches throughout the Kingdom. The troops which will line the funeral route Friday have been practising the funeral drill. Curiously, not one of these 30,000 men will see the procession pass, for when the cortege approaches, at the word of command the troops will assume an attitude with heads bowed over their hands on their rifles and will remain so until the cortege passes.

Queen Mother's Touching Message to the Nation. KING'S MESSAGE TO THE ARMY AND NAVY.

London, May 16.—The Queen Mother Alexandra, has addressed the following letter to the Nation: "From the depth of my poor broken heart I wish to express to the whole Nation and our own kind people we love so well, my deep thanks for all their touching sympathy in my overwhelming sorrow and unspeakable anguish. Not alone have I lost everything in him, my beloved husband, but the Nation, too, has suffered an irreparable loss by the death of their best friend, father and Sovereign thus suddenly called away. May God give us all His Divine help to bear this heaviest of crosses which he has seen fit to lay upon us. His will be done. Give me a thought in your prayers which will comfort and sustain me in all I have to go through."

Heartfelt Thanks. "Let me take this opportunity of expressing my heartfelt thanks for all touching letters and tokens of sympathy I have received from all classes, high and low, rich and poor, which are so numerous that I fear it will be impossible for me to ever thank everybody individually. "I confide my dear son into your care, who, I know, will follow in his dear father's footsteps, begging you to show him the same loyalty and devotion you showed his dear father. I know both my dear son and daughter-in-law will do their utmost to merit and keep it."

King George to the Army. King George has addressed the following to the Army: "My beloved father was always closely associated with the Army by ties of strong personal attachment, and from the first day he entered the service he identified himself with everything conducive to its welfare. On my accession to the Throne, I take this earliest opportunity of expressing to all ranks my gratitude for their gallant and devoted services to him. Although I always have been interested in the Army, recent years have afforded me a special opportunity of becoming more intimately acquainted with our forces, both at home and in India, as well as in other parts of the Empire. I shall watch over your interests and efficiency with continuous and keen solicitation, and shall rely on that spirit of loyalty which has at all times animated and been the proud tradition of the British Army."

Message to the Navy. The King has addressed the following message to the Navy: "It is my earnest wish on succeeding to the Throne to make known to the Navy how deeply grateful I am for its faithful and distinguished services rendered to the late King, my beloved father, who ever showed the greatest solicitude for its welfare."

Educated and trained in that profession, which I love so dearly, my retirement from active duty has in no sense diminished my feelings of affection for it. For thirty-three years I had the honour of serving in the Navy, and such intimate participation in its life and work enables me to know how thoroughly I can depend upon that spirit of loyalty and zealous devotion to duty of which the glorious history of our Navy is the outcome. That you will continue to be, as in the past, the foremost defender of your country's honor, I know full well, and your fortunes will always be followed by me with deep feelings of pride and affectionate interest.

"GEORGE R. I."
The King's Busy Day.
King George to-day has been one of the busiest men in the Empire. From morning until night every minute of his time was occupied in State business or in superintending arrangements for his father's funeral. He is credited with being a conscientious and methodical worker, and passes nothing without first fully understanding it.

His most important engagement to-day was with the Privy Council at which the members of the Cabinet renewed their official oaths, and alterations in the liturgy of the Church of England, necessitated by the change in Sovereigns, were ordained. These show that the Queen Mother is to be Alexandra's future title.

The King previously gave an audience to Prime Minister Asquith, and he received various officials throughout the day. The remainder of his time was spent in his own office in Marlborough House, examining and discussing arrangements for the funeral and for the entertainment of Royal guests.

Queen Mary is doing her utmost not to allow the loss of their grandfather to overshadow the lives of the younger children. King Edward saw much of them. He often told them stories and joined their games, and they have the happiest recollections of him. Their mother wants them to retain these memories.

Preparations for lying in state at Westminster Hall and the funeral in St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle, already have been begun, and for the next few days both places will be in the hands of carpenters and upholsterers.

Seven Foreign Rulers.
It is now known that seven Sovereigns, besides George V. will attend the funeral of Edward VII. They are: William II, Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia; Frederick VIII. of Denmark; King Haakon VII. of Norway; King Alfonso XIII. of Spain; King Manuel II. of Portugal; King Albert of Belgium; King George of Greece.

Frederick of Denmark is King Edward's brother-in-law; so is King George of Greece. The Kaiser is the late King's nephew, his mother having been the eldest sister of the late King, the Princess Royal. The King of Norway is a nephew of Queen Alexandra and son-in-law of her and of King Edward. Alfonso is married to a daughter of Princess Beatrice, sister of the late King. King Albert of Belgium is a nephew of the late Leopold II, who was the uncle of Victoria, King Edward's mother.

Among other Royal mourners will be the Queen of Norway, King Edward's daughter; Archduke Ferdinand, representing the aged Emperor of Austria; the Dowager Czarina Marie Feodorovna, sister-in-law of the dead King; and the Grand Duke Michael, representing the Czar, and Duke of the Aosta, who will represent the King of Italy.

Noble Tribute to the Dead at Westminster Abbey.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, preaching in Westminster Abbey, said: "Four days ago, the last thought in anybody's mind, as men looked into the conflict of political life and listened to the strife of tongues, was that the central figure of all might suddenly be taken from our head. We had learned to count unhesitatingly upon the mature sobriety of his great judgment, upon his tactful experiences, his estimate of men and things, upon the ripe and varied knowledge he possessed of state policy in the largest sense, and upon the unchal-lengeable fairness of his constitution at attitude amid the cross currents of political and social strife." The Archbishop, after enumerating the qualities needed by the Sovereign of such a realm as Great Britain, said: "We may now ask whether we can see any mistakes of Sovereignty in these nine busy years. If we cannot dare we, above all on this hallowed spot, disconnect that fact from all our prayers and upon his coronation day he described death as occurring in the presence of those who love him best with the same quiet courage with which he faced death eight years ago."

Last Words of Some Great Men.

Edward the Peacemaker—When dying at Buckingham Palace, May 6th, 1910:—"I think I have done my duty."

George Washington, when he was dying said:—"I die hard; but I am not afraid to go." Washington was sixty-eight years of age, and had been twice President of the United States.

William Pitt—"I throw myself entirely upon the mercy of God through the merits of Christ." Pitt was the second son of Lord Chatham, and was Prime Minister of England at the age of 24.

Oliver Cromwell said—"I would be willing to live to be further serviceable to my God and his people; but my work is done," and a favorite expression of Cromwell in his last days was: "Truly God is good; indeed he is."

John Bunyan, "a man who," says the historian, "if his importance may be measured by the influence which he has exerted over succeeding generations, must be counted among the most extraordinary persons whom England has produced." When he was dying uttered the following words: "Take me, for I come to Thee." He was the author of the "Pilgrims Progress."

Lord Chatham—"I thank God that I have been enabled to come here this day—to perform my duty, and to speak on a subject which has so deeply impressed my mind. I am old and infirm—have one foot—more than one foot, in the grave. I am risen from my bed, to stand up in the cause of my country—perhaps never to speak again in this House." The occasion on which these words were uttered was during the great war of independence of the United States of America, when the Duke of Richmond brought forth a motion advising the King to withdraw his fleets and armies and to effect a reconciliation with America, involving her independence. Although the friend of America, Lord Chatham heard of the Duke's design with unspeakable concern and resolved to go once more to the House of Lords for the purpose of resisting the motion. After delivering this speech he became suddenly weak, and after lingering for three days he died—and the words quoted above were the last notable ones uttered by him.

Lord Nelson (at the battle of Trafalgar)—"I thank God I have done my duty." were the last words uttered by this the greatest of English heroes. His duty to his country was the predominant feature of Lord Nelson's life, and the words quoted above would be incomplete if the prayer, written before his papers after the vital spark had fled and victory had perched upon the brow of Old England, was not included. We give it in full, and it will show that while Nelson received the homage and honors of a grateful nation, no man was less vain, glorious, or more ready to attribute his success to a divine power:—"May the great God whom I worship grant to my country, and for the benefit of Europe in general, a great and glorious victory, and may no misconduct in any one tarnish it. And may humanity after victory be the predominant feature in the British fleet. For myself individually, I commit my life to him who made me; and may His blessing light upon my endeavors for serving my country faithfully. To Him I resign myself and the just cause which is entrusted to me to defend—Amen, Amen."

The Nations of the World Lose.
New York, May 9.—The Evening Mail says:—"The nations of the world lost a profoundly wise man from their counsels in the death of King Edward of England."

"We say 'The nations of the world' advisedly, for this man's influence was international. The whole world knew him for a man of peace; and there was that about his calm wise and easily watchful performance of his duty as titular head of Britain that lent confidence to all courts and governments on the globe. "Great Britain is, after all, the most international of countries. Say what we will, she is the premier of political potencies. A man who, with infinite tact, with perfect satisfaction to his subjects, to his allies, and even to enemies of his country, maintained the proper influence of England's crown, came nearer to being the empire of the world than any other man."

The Prospero reports that the past winter has been a very fine one down North, there being very mild weather and only on a few occasions did the mercury go below zero. The only big snow fall occurred on the 27th and 28th of April. The weather is now fine and summer like down to Griquet. During the winter there was little sickness, and no destitution. All are now getting ready for the shore and lobster fishery.

HE REPLIES TO "SUNNY JIM."
I always knew I was a hard tickler, but the man who got that snapshot of me made an awful blunder. That was Tucker's brother-in-law's face and not mine and the painter got mixed up somehow. If I thought I looked as bad as that I'd go down and get on speaking terms with Dr. Keegan, and if he hadn't any room, I'd break into the pen.

I am sorry to see that our friend and poetical genius, "Sunny Jim," is disturbed a little over my comments on some of the poetry that is trotted out in this town when a man dies.

He says the man in the lane may raise his head to listen to the hi-diddle poetry of which I speak. But I can tell him that there are people in the lanes whose feelings are just as refined as those of the people who reside in more luxuriant quarters.

He speaks of kindness, and advises me to be kind. Well, if he wants me to be kind by displaying a foolish imitation to follow the crowd, who ape everything with a tinge of upishness, about it, I must decline, with thanks. There are lots of counterfeit kindness, just like there are lots of wooden poetry. For instance, we see men who carry their wives' parasols in public and lift them over a draught six inches wide; but the self-same man will allow the self-same woman to get out of bed to get his breakfast on a winter's morning with the thermometer down to zero. "Sunny Jim" seems to be the boxer in general for the poets, a champion of the cause; but I would advise him not to get excited and never to write when out of sorts.

There is no philosophy in the argument that because a man feels like jading the public with memorials in rhyme that the said public must descend to be bored and put up with it patiently. There is every mercy to be shown the common sense writer who will pay a mark of respect to a friend in prose, for it need not be the best to merit our approval. On the other hand, the man who saunters along the dangerous pathway of the poet without having the talent that is necessary, should not be surprised if he meets with obstacles which may knock him head over heels into the mud-hole of silent contempt.

Goodness knows, death has enough pangs already without inflicting long-winded, senseless rhyme to the list. Poetical memorials written by real poets are a balm indeed, but ding-dong rhyme only adds to the grief.

Saturday Night's Record.

There was a good deal of drunkenness and squabbling on Water and New Gower Streets Saturday night, and the police were kept busy. By 10.30 o'clock 11 persons were under lock and key, and most of them were brought in had flasks in their possession. Two were disorderlies, and 5 were released yesterday on making the usual deposit.

New Yacht Launched.

The splendid new yacht built the past winter by Mr. Robert Sexton was launched from the King's Wharf at 7 p.m. Friday in the presence of a large number of people. The launch was very successful, the craft going over the head of the pier and into the water without a mishap. She is an exceptionally pretty model, is 27 feet over all, 6 feet 3 in beam, draws 5 feet of water, fitted with a 5 cwt. iron keel and will carry 60 yards of canvas. She is built somewhat after the lines of Rev. Fr. O'Brien's patent, and Mr. S. believes she will be a quick sailer and a good sea boat.

Day-Light Saving.

The daylight saving idea has spread to Montreal and is making itself felt in the C. P. R. offices there. At present the employees at the Windsor Street station work from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. During the summer, beginning with the middle of the present month, it is now proposed that they should work instead from 8 o'clock to 5 o'clock, thus gaining more of the light part of the day, when baseball and games of the kind are possible. It is stated that this alteration in hours has already been decided on by several of the larger departments, including the traffic department, under Mr. G. M. Bosworth, and the audit and accounting department, under Mr. I. G. Ogden. These two departments include a large proportion of the clerks at the head office.

Whit Sunday at R. C. Cathedral.

Yesterday, the Feast of the Descent of the Holy Ghost, Pontifical Vespers were sung at the R. C. Cathedral. His Grace the Archbishop officiated in full Pontificals, and the ceremonial was very impressive. The choir rendered the Veni Creator Spiritus. The excellent singing of the choir showed the results of recent practice. The O Salutaris Hostia was sung as a solo by Miss Kitty Murphy, who is possessed of a charming voice, at once sweet and powerful. All who heard her in her first effort as a soloist last night believe that with more confidence which is sure to come with practice, she will be a vocalist of great merit. At 11 a.m. yesterday Pontifical High Mass was celebrated by His Grace the Archbishop. The ritual was carried out with great solemnity and impressiveness, and the choir sang the Veni Creator at the Offertory. The High Altar was beautifully decorated by Sacristan D. Clatney. Large congregations were present at both services. In honour of the great Feast the exterior of the church was bedecked with bunting, and the bells in the towers, which were surmounted by flags, rang out a joyous peal, calling the faithful to each service.

President McGrath Writes.

Editor Evening Telegram:

Dear Sir,—An item appeared in your paper on Saturday, the 14th inst., in reference to the trouble on the Dry Dock, which reference does not place matters in the right light.

I will give you the whole particulars of the trouble, viz. Before the S. S. Beothic went on dock our union men did all the work at 15 cents per hour. But as soon as the non-union men went on board things were different. Then the union men were told they would only get 12 cents per hour, which they refused to work for. What the Reid Co. pay their men I don't know, and if they made a demand for more pay I can't say. What I do say is this that Bowring Bros., Harveys, Job Bros., and others paid 15c. per hour for the same work.

But, sir, this is not all the trouble, another matter is that the union men cannot nor will not work with non-union men on the same premises.

When I went on board the S. S. Beothic I found some union men at work with non-union men and some grown boys. I then spoke to the foreman in charge of the work. I then asked him if he would put off the non-union men, and his reply to me was: Would you put them off if you could get them cheaper and save money for the company, and it was to every other man, meaning employer, to do the same. But I could not agree with him in this and I pointed out to him that every unskilled workman doing the same labor should get the same pay, when he pointed out a young boy of seventeen years old, with the remark: Would you pay him $1.50 a day when you could get him cheaper and doing the same work, I said then if that is what you are after then we have to go. He left the ship then and I told the union men that they were doing wrong by working with non-union men. Then the union men left the work.

When I went ashore I was met by Mr. Brown and he told me to leave the deck premises or he would have me arrested. He also said you can take your union men with you. I did so.

On Saturday evening I went to see one of the union men who is on the S. S. Diana, when I was met by the watchman of the dock premises who told me to get out of here. I asked him for what. He told me he had orders not to permit me on the premises. I asked him who gave him the orders. He did not care to tell. Well, I said, I will find out from Mr. Reid if you got these orders from him. Then he said I have to do as I am told. I got my orders from Mr. Brown.

This is how the matter stands up till the present time. The whole trouble is caused by the fact of union men and non-union men working on the dock contrary to our rule.

I remain, respectfully yours,
JAMES J. McGRATH,
President of Longshoremen's Protective Union.

P.S.—Since writing the above I have learned that Mr. Charles Henderson went and got the crew of a schooner lying at the dock premises and put them to work on the S. S. Bonaventure. I just mention this so those interested in the S. S. Bonaventure may know that such a proceeding has taken place, and if trouble is caused later by reason of the above proceeding they will know that we, the union men, are not to blame.—J. J. McG.

Fisherman's Serious Loss.

Friday last William Codner, of Torbay, who had his cod trap barked and tarred and had it brought out on the beach preparatory to putting it in the water, had half of it destroyed by fire and lost thereby about $250. He left the twine on the beach, and while he was absent in some inexplicable manner it took fire. The whole trap narrowly escaped destruction. The man must reknit the twine and will be greatly delayed in fishing owing to this.

Parade of The Guards.

The Methodist Guards paraded to Cochrane Street Church yesterday where they attended Divine services, conducted by Rev. Mr. Matthews, who addressed the men in a practical sermon touching on their duties and responsibilities. The congregation joined in singing "God Bless Our Native Land" and "God Save the King." The whole service made a deep impression on all present. The Guards band played the Funeral March when passing Colonial Building on the way back to their armoury. Their new crests, which they wore for the first time, looked very neat. The legend is "Faithful and Ready" and "Guards" fills the centre. It makes the uniform look very attractive.

LECTURE ON COMETS.—Mr. A. W. Bray will lecture on comets in the basement of Wesley Church to-night. There will be a collection for Dr. Shendon, a missionary from China.

Branch P. O. Wanted.

People of the West End of the city, which is now an important business centre, hope that the Government will soon see its way clear to open a branch post office in some place convenient to the railway station. It is quite a walk down to the General Post Office and the letter box at the station cannot contain a fifth of the mail which is sent forward from this section by trains and steamers, and much time is lost by busy people in sending forward their mails. A branch office would therefore be a long felt requirement.

Charged With Desertion

The captain and owner of the Damaraland came to the police station Saturday night and complained that one of the seamen had deserted the ship. He had an advance note from the vessel and received $11 on account from the owner. He then got his clothing ashore on the pretext that he was about to get them washed and then refused to go in the ship. The vessel was to sail at 6 this morning for Bahia but could not do so owing to the seaman's action. He will be arrested to-day for desertion.

Bluffing is The Style.

No matter what a person may represent in this world, for the purpose of making a living, he is bound to do some bluffing. Everyone does a little of it, one more, the other less. Certainly some bluffs are the limit; for instance some merchants will advertise this bluff as follows:—
"Ten dollar suits for $4.75; Three dollar pants for $1.00; Two dollar shirts for 60 cents, etc., etc.
We say we are not able to sell Ten dollar suits for $4.75, etc., but we can sell you Ten dollar suits for $10; Three dollar pants for $3.00; Sixty cent shirts for 60c. cash or credit.

"Pleasant Sunday."

Mr. I. C. Morris was the speaker at the P.S.A. meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Congregational Basement. His subject was "Wealth," which proved very interesting. Mr. H. E. Cowan was the soloist. He rendered "Cross and Crown," accompanied by Mr. Crocker. A patriotic address will be delivered next Sunday, being two days before Empire Day.

In Dangerous Position.

Officers Whelan and Mercer Saturday night at 11 o'clock found a man over by the Reid Co's freight sheds lying in the dark insensible from liquor. A boy who discovered the unfortunate led the officers to the place, and it was fortunate he did so, for the man, had he partially recovered, might have arisen and walked overboard in the dark. When the police brought him out of the street friends took charge of him and brought him home.

Found Body of Infant.

About 5.30 this morning while Richard Hopkins, of 44 Hayward Avenue, a member of the Sanitary Staff, was at work with P. English cleaning the drains, when he came to the grating at the junction of Chapel and Bond Streets, he took up on his shovel the dead body of a male infant, much to his surprise. Mr. English reported to the police station and Sergt. Savage with officers Tobin and Cronin went to the place and conveyed the body to the morgue. The remains had not been there long for a week ago Hopkins had cleaned the same grating. Decomposition had set in and the belief of the police is that it was a child of premature birth. Dr. Rendell will examine the remains this afternoon after which it will be buried.

Schooner Salva Safe.

The missing schooner Salva, Skipper Ell Sheppard, of Indian Islands, is safe, having arrived here Saturday night from Catalina.

She left Indian Islands on Wednesday, the 4th inst., in the morning. Having reached Peckford's Island the wind came on to blow strong from the east, and it got very thick so that the skipper decided to run back. They arrived at Indian Islands at 4.30 in the evening. They left home again on Saturday week last and got as far as Cat Harbor when a gale came on from the south. They put in there and remained till the following Monday when they left and got to Bird Island Cove (Elliston) that evening. Leaving there next morning they reached Catalina where they remained till last Friday. They put out for St. John's on that day and reached St. John's last Saturday night, all well.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

Mr. H. H. Archibald returned from St. John's yesterday after a most successful business trip in connection with the Guy celebration.

Some of the St. John's people have already intimated their intention of coming over and helping by their pleasant smiles and well filled purses. Any who find they cannot come and bring the former with them, are invited to send samples of the latter. The ladies then will be the smiling themselves.

Two disorderlies were fined $2. or 7 days each.

Two boys summoned by Sergt. Mackey for loose and disorderly conduct, were let off on payment of costs.

A well-known resident of Allandale Road summoned the manager of a mercantile firm for assault on the 12. inst. The evidence showed that deft. "swatted" the other over the head with a baby carriage and for this little diversion he was fined $10. dollars or 30 days.

His Part.

The King lay dead, the world was hushed in awe,
A poet tried to put in words the grief
That swept across the earth from sea to sea.
To all the lands that honoured Albion's chief.
He did not catch the notes sublime that stir
Men's souls, 'twas not his hope,
'twas not his plan,
He only wished to speak a sorrow felt
For England's monarch, by an English man!

Atlantic's thunders break on many a shore,
Responsive echoes wake at its command.
Yet, in some sheltered cove, its wavelets lip,
The troubled ocean's story to the strand.

More Scarlet Fever.

A case of scarlet fever developed in a residence at King's Bridge Rd. this morning. The patient a child of 3 1/2 years old will be nursed at home.

Cabman's Useless Duel.

Two cab drivers, Jean Thibault and Pierre Roux, who occupied the same stand in the Boulevard des Batignolles, Paris, and had been on excellent terms, quarrelled on making the discovery that they were in love with the same washerwoman. Neither of them had proposed to Marie Hamard, the object of their affections, and they decided to fight the matter out to settle who had a better claim before either of them approached the object of their affection. A combat took place in a quiet street. It was a duel on novel lines. There were no seconds, and the weapons used were whips, with which the combatants mercilessly lashed each other. They were exhausted and bathed in blood when a policeman arrived on the scene and took them to the police station.

The next morning they were dismissed with a caution, and happily their enmity has been again turned to friendship, for the washerwoman on hearing of their story hastened to the cab stand, where she expressed her regret at having caused the trouble, and added that she had already been engaged for some time to a plumber.

A Protest.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—While certain of our citizens are making a great hubbub because Mrs. Torpy is being allowed to replace a tumble-down shack with an up to date structure which will certainly be some improvement in the West End, no one takes the trouble to raise his voice against the action of the Council in depositing the city garbage along the Cornwall Avenue.

This street line should (and could with little expense) be made a most beautiful boulevard is evidently to be refused as a depository for all the refuse and filth of the city. During the warm summer evenings there is no more pleasant walk than along LeMarchant Road and Cornwall Avenue, where numbers of our citizens get the advantage of a pleasant stroll with freedom from dust, and filling their lungs with the fresh country air, arm themselves, as it were, against the evil smelling aroma encountered during the daily occupation in the most crowded parts of the city.

If it be a matter of the expense in disposing of this collection of rubbish which has forced our Councilors to adopt this plan, I would suggest that the city parks are much more accessible and I am sure nothing would more delight our genial keeper, Mr. Spurrell, than watching the youngsters hiking round the old cans summer evenings.

Yours,
WEST ENDER.
St. John's, May 16, 1910.

Personal Notes.

Rev. S. O'Driscoll, P.P. St. Mary's, arrived by the shore train at noon today. It will be remembered that during the winter the rev. gentleman saved a lad from drowning at the risk of his own life. Although but an humble priest, his action should not go without some recognition from the Humane Society.

Bride to be Dies Suddenly at Sea.

Was Coming to Canada with Future Husband—Pathetic Scene on Ocean Liner.

QUEBEC, May 10.—The crew of the Allan Line steamer Iolan, which arrived in port this week, still talk of nothing but the sad story of George Rose and Agnes Brown. They boarded the vessel at Glasgow, to get married and set up their home in Canadian West. But the romance ended with the sudden death of the girl when half way across the Atlantic.

The body was buried at sea, and George Rose's grief, as he stood near the side, head bared, and heard the splash, was terrible to witness, and touched the hearts of all on board.

In the dim cabin, where the unfortunate girl was removed when stricken with a sudden heart trouble, Agnes pleaded for the presence of her lady. But before he arrived she had sobbed out her life. Early in the day he had seen her, making merry with the other passengers, and delighting in the sea voyage, and the prospect of a new life. Suddenly she was carried off, and the blow was heavy. The stewardess, who had summoned him relates how he sank on his knees by the bunkside, and the sanctity of the scene drove the kindly woman from the cabin with her eyes streaming.

George Rose and Agnes Brown were brought up in the same village in the north of Scotland. They loved each other, but prospects of marriage were not bright, because trade was bad, and the money scarce. They saved enough, however, to start them in Canada, and it had been arranged that for the first few months that she would work as cook, and he would gain some knowledge of Canadian farming methods.
