GALLIOLI OPERATIONS.
 LONDON, June 30.
 An official statement issued to-day dealing with operations in the Dardanelles, says: The plan of operations on June 28th was to throw forward the left of the Royal Fusiliers from the line southeast of Krithia, and establish a new line facing east on the ground gained. Capturing two lines of Turkish trenches, east of Saghir Dere, and three lines to the west, all and more hoped for from the operations, was gained.
 The Australian corps was ordered to co-operate by making a vigorous demonstration. The action opened at 9 o'clock with bombardment by heavy artillery. Assistance was rendered by the French. This bombardment proved most valuable.
 At 10.20 the field artillery opened fire to cut the wire in front of the Turkish trenches. This was done. Its effect on one of the enemy's trenches near the sea was great. Very accurate fire of the cruiser Talbot, and the destroyers Scorpion and Wolverine succeeded in keeping down the artillery fire from that quarter.
 At 10.45 a small Turkish advanced work at Saghir Dere known as the Boomerang Redoubt, was assaulted. This fort, which is very strongly situated and protected by extra strong wire entanglements, had long been a source of trouble. After a special bombardment by a French mortar, and while bombardment of the surrounding trenches was at its height, part of the Border Regiment, at the exact moment prescribed, leaped from their trenches as one man. Like a pack of hounds pouring out the cover they raced across and took the work most brilliantly.
 Artillery bombardment increased in intensity until 11 a.m. when the range lengthened. The infantry then advanced, and their attack was carried out with great dash along the whole line. West of Saghir Dere three lines of trenches were captured with little opposition. The trenches were full of dead Turks, many having been buried by the bombardment. A hundred prisoners were taken.
 East of the ravine the Royal Scots made a fine attack, capturing the two lines of trenches which had been assigned as their objective, but the remainder of the Brigade on their right

NOT SO CONFIDENT.
 LONDON, June 30.
 Newspapers reaching London from Germany are particularly interesting just now. For the first time since the war began the old boastful tone seem to have subsided, and while in many quarters there are sufficient allusions to peace prospects, significant because they are made with official sanction, there is a general realization that the naval and military outlook is not so promising for the Fatherland as appeared a few months ago. In the course of a lecture on the sea power of Germany's enemies, which was delivered by Herr Gehnrat Flamm, at Berlin, a few days ago, the following statement was made: "To-day the strength of the English fleet in ships of the line and cruisers, is hardly less, as compared with ours, than at the beginning of the war, for they possess 95 of the first class and 63 of the second class, in spite of the losses which they have incurred, which amount to 16 and 13 per cent. respectively. The reason for this is that England retained all the ships which she was building for foreign States. Our submarines still have a great deal to do." This, of course, is only half the truth, since warships have been completed in English yards and the strength of the British Navy is greater to-day than it was a year ago. It is becoming clear to German critics that the submarines are not likely to conquer the sea for their country.

QUEEN AND PRINCESS VISITS THE WOUNDED.
 LONDON, June 30.
 The Queen and Princess Mary were greeted with cheers from hundreds of wounded soldiers at the Duchess of Marlborough's matinee at the Palace Theatre, yesterday. The Queen wore a dress of pale blue over white with white and black hat.

BORDEN SAILS FOR ENGLAND.
 NEW YORK, June 30.
 "I have not been called to England by the War Office," said Sir Robert Borden, just before sailing, "but I am going on my own volition for a fuller conference with the heads of the War Department. I expect to hold several conferences with the heads of the War Department in place of orders through the J. P. Morgan Co. These orders have nearly all been placed in the States. Canada seems to have been neglected. I expect to be able to transfer about 500,000 more men to go to the front."

PREMIER REPLIES TO QUESTION.
 LONDON, June 30.
 The Premier to-day made a reply in the House of Commons, to the question asked yesterday, as to whether the Government would state the terms upon which peace would be possible. The Premier said: "It wouldn't be in the public interest to add anything to what I have already publicly stated on this subject."

NO EVIDENCE.
 PARIS, June 30.
 Charges of espionage against Raymond Swoboda, who claims to have been born in San Francisco, will be dropped, as no strong evidence of his guilt has been developed.

PROMOTIONS.
 LONDON, June 30.
 The Admiralty have announced that Lieut.-Commander Nasmith, who won the V.C. by taking a British submarine into the Sea of Marmora and destroying one gunboat, two transports and four other ships, has been promoted to the rank of Commander, together with Lieut.-Commander Doyle, who also performed a daring feat with a submarine.

NORWEGIAN SHIP SUNK.
 LONDON, June 30.
 The Norwegian ship Cambruskaneh, from Portland, Oregon, for Liverpool, was sunk to-day by a German submarine. Crew saved.

LINER IN COLLISION.
 DEAL, June 30.
 The American line steamer Nieuw Amsterdam, with a large number of passengers on board from New York for Rotterdam, was run down in a fog by an unknown steamer, while anchored in the Downs to-day. The port quarter of the trans-Atlantic liner was damaged, but the vessel is still riding safely at anchor.

LOCK-OUT IN CHICAGO.
 CHICAGO, June 30.
 A general shut-down of all allied building, construction and material interests will go into full effect tomorrow; all plants to remain closed until a settlement is reached with organized labor in the building industry. This will throw out of employment more than 200,000 men.

Another attempt to escape from the prison camp at Leith, Lancashire, where last week a German named Schmidt was shot dead while trying to make off—took place shortly after 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, fort night. A pig dealer who buys all the food refuse of the camp was carting away a number of tubs. The unusual weight of one roused his suspicions. He removed a quantity of cabbage leaves and some bags, and found a German soldier in the tub. The guard was summoned and the prisoner removed in custody. When discovered the German was wearing civilian clothes. How he obtained them has not yet been ascertained.—London Paper, June 21.

WET WEATHER.
 All spring the rain came down amain, and rills grew into rivers; the bullfrogs croaked that they were soaked till mildewed were there livers. The fish were drowned, and in a swoon reclined the muskrat's daughter, and even the snakes, in swamps and brakes, hissed forth, "There's too much water!" And all my greens, the peas and beans, that I with toil had planted, a sickly host, gave up the ghost, the while I raved and ranted. The dew of doom hit spuds in bloom, and slew the tender onion; viewed the wreck, and said, "By heck!" and other things from Bunyan. All greens of worth drooped to the earth, and died and went to thunder; but useless weeds all went to seeds—no rain could keep them under.
 When weather's dry, and in the sky a red-hot sun is burning, it gets the goats of corn and oats, the wheat to wastage turning; the carrots shrink, and on the blink you see the parsnips lying, but weeds still thrive and keep alive, while useful things are dying. It's strange and sad that critters bad, both vegetable and human, hang on so tight, while critters bright must perish when they're bloomin'!

THEN SPAKE THE DEAD.
 There was a suit in Chancery, and there was a great gathering of the deceased's family, quarrelling, as relatives will, over the division of the spoils. The lawyers engaged chuckled, for the suit seemed likely to be prolonged and complicated.
 There were many lawyers, too, and the judge marvelled at the immensity of the deceased man's family as silk and stuff rose in rapid succession, introducing themselves with the usual formula: "And I, my lord, am for the nephews, or nieces, or fifteenth cousins removed, as the case may be, of the deceased." The procession seemed interminable, but at last it came to an end. Then a small voice was heard timidly saying from the back of the court, "May I be allowed to speak, my lord?"
 There was dead silence as his lordship adjusted his spectacles and asked, dither dejectedly, "Who are you?" The answer was, to say the least, unexpected.
 "I am the deceased, my lord," said the modest voice from the back of the court. That ended the action.
 Quite unknown to his relatives, the "deceased" had turned up from the wilds of Rhodesia. Obviously a man of humor, he must have taken a delight in watching how "the best-laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley."

Inland Fishery

Board Report.

We have before us a copy of the report of the Inland Fishery Board. The Board finds that the Warden of the salmon rivers has already led to a large increase in the number of salmon in these rivers, and expresses the expectation that the prevention of the netting of the mouths and estuaries of rivers will contribute to an increase of salmon in the coastal waters. Already the increased exportation of salmon is a substantial confirmation of the good being effected by the work done.

The Board considers that a higher license fee should be charged to non-residents, remaining longer than two weeks. This suggestion is not unreasonable in view of the larger revenues obtained elsewhere from salmon rivers. It seems absurd to give to outsiders the privilege of fishing in any or all of the rivers of the country from January 15th to September 15th for the sum of Ten Dollars. We hope that the Board will follow up the idea and put it into practicable shape.

The Board reports that in the past the carrying out of the law with regard to legal size mesh of salmon nets has been more apparent in the breach than in the observance. Attention is also directed to the setting of codtraps where codfish rarely, if ever, frequent and the destruction of immature salmon by them. West Coast salmon fishers condemn both practices.

The report states that this matter is under the jurisdiction of the Marine and Fisheries Department, and as the interests represented by both departments is the same, there should be no difficulty in enforcing the necessary regulations to prevent such improper methods. We should say, as Mr. Piccott is head of both departments, and the report before us, is issued over his signature, that the total number of Deer slaughtered is very much beyond any figures gathered and reported by the officials employed by the Board. Recent evidence, that appears to be quite reliable, goes to show that in some localities (which the Board has been unable to warden owing to lack of funds), where Deer are found practically throughout the year, they are being slaughtered at all seasons and are used, not alone as an article of food by the killers but also as an article of trade, and sold in adjacent localities with which there is steam communication.

The extension of the Reserve limits in the vicinity of Howley and Grand Lake would undoubtedly be a step in the right direction, and this is under consideration.

"Fox-farming" has increased to such an extent that on October 15th, 1914, there were over 1900 live Foxes reported in Ranges; 260 Licensed Ranchers having reported holding from 1 to 79 live Foxes on that date.

"Beavers are reported to be increasing in some parts of the country where the Rules regarding these animals have been respected. There are other places, however, where the operation of the close time has merely meant the protection of these animals for unscrupulous hunters and unprincipled traders who surreptitiously purchase the skins and export them in various ways."

WEDDING BELLS. A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at 7 o'clock last evening, in Cochrane St. Methodist Parsonage, by the Rev. C. A. Whitmarsh, M.A., B.D. The contracting parties were Miss E. A. Meadus and Mr. M. J. Knight of the Postal staff. The bride was very prettily attired in cream silk with hat and accessories to match, and was attended by her sister, Miss M. Meadus, as bridesmaid, and by the Misses Lowe as flower girls. The groom was supported by Mr. R. H. Hudson, while Mr. W. Lowe took the place of father-giver. After the ceremony return was made to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Meadus, Scott St., where a bountiful wedding supper was partaken of and enjoyed to the full by the large number of guests present. PRISONER OF WAR. The many friends of Nathan Rice will be interested to know his mother, now residing in New Westminster, B.C., has received a letter from him saying that he is a prisoner of war in Germany. He says he is treated kindly but asks for a box of groceries to be sent him every week. He is only permitted to write two letters and four postcards a month and would like some reading matter sent him, but nothing about the war. Letters and parcels are to be sent unsealed and no postage stamps on them. He would like to hear from his friends. Address: N. Rice, No. 422, Compagnie, 3 Baraque A. Postal Telegraph Inquiry.

The Governor in Council has acted wisely in appointing Mr. Herbert E. Knight as Commissioner, to inquire into certain matters, drawn to the attention of the Government by Mr. Stone, M.H.A., in a speech he made in the House of Assembly some little time before the Legislature closed. The Colonial Secretary, who is the political head of the Department, and the Premier, undertook to bring the matter before the Council and promised that a Commission should be appointed. After some delay this promise has been redeemed, and the matter now rests with the Commissioner.

Amusements.

To-day's programme at the Crescent Picture Palace is a very fine one and was very much enjoyed by all who witnessed it yesterday. "Steve O'Grady's Chance" is a Vitagraph feature in two parts. O'Grady after losing his reporter's job goes west meets his Chance and embraces it. "The Rummage Sale" and "The Path to Ruin" are two exceptionally fine dramas and "Percy Pimpernickel Sourette" is a Kaleem Comedy; good music and singing added to this make up a splendid show. Go to the Crescent to-day and see it.

BRITISH THEATRE.

For a splendid evening's entertainment one could not do better than pay a visit to the above-mentioned House. All of the photo-plays are shown in a first class manner by a thoroughly competent operator, and are projected by one of the finest motion-picture machines extant, being portrayed upon a cement curtain which is absolutely unmovable. All of the photo-plays are of the highest possible standard procurable. This combination to which may be added comfort and convenience of the operator, tends to make the "British" more popular every day.

EVERYONE DELIGHTED WITH NICKEL'S SHOW.

The holiday bill at the Nickel Theatre yesterday afternoon and last evening, gave every satisfaction to the large audience of patrons who were easily one of the best ever seen here. The Million Dollar Mystery was particularly good. Thousands are now interested in this sensational story, and are delighted with it. The films are more interesting all the time. "The Unpainted Portrait" is a beautiful subject which was followed. "Santa Catalina" was also highly pleasing. The singing of Forbes Law Dugald was another great feature of the day. The grand and tremendous hit was thunderously applauded. Be sure and attend this evening.

Ever Ready Hot Water, Night and Day.

FOR THE NURSERY.
"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered, contented household.

FOR THE BATHROOM.
An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyances.

Hot water can only be secured, usually, by getting the cook to act as stoker, but at what a cost!

Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the after labour of a hot kitchen—and the discomfort of a grate cleaning in warm weather!

A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving, because there are no coals to carry, no fires to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove.

The master of the house has hot slaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.

HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSE-HOLD.
When "Spring cleaning days" engross the busy housewife then the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force.

But at all times—apart from convenience—a gas water-heater makes an irresistible appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem.

Later-day domestic are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates and the removal of dirt and ashes.

The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous.—may12, tf

On Making Friends.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

The ability to make friends easily and quickly is held by those who do not possess it, as a gift. In some people it unquestionably is, in as much as it springs from a spontaneity of manner that they themselves are scarcely aware of. They simply know that people respond to them quickly and without conscious effort on their part.

Less fortunate acquaintances say of such a person, "Oh, he makes friends anywhere." And though they may sigh a bit, because they don't make friends as easily as all that, they never stop to analyze the "gift."

Now as a matter of fact the people for whom we really care the most, whose society we are always glad of, are people who, we say, understand us. They combine cordiality, sympathy and interest to a degree that warms us. We are at ease in their company, we expand and are conscious that we are at our best.

As a Flower Opens to Sunshine. All of us crave self-expression before an appreciative audience. And when we find the opportunity, we open as readily and as fully as a flower basking in the sun.

If you yourself find someone who takes this interest in you, whose very first glance seems to say to you, "Here is someone that I will like," you cannot help but warm to him. That is the way of human nature. And that person, if his attitude towards you is his habitual attitude towards new acquaintances, will have that same effect on them. In short, he will have the gift of making friends. To him you will open. You will give the best there is in you. You simply can't help it.

There is no more secret to the art of making friends than that. The next time you are introduced to a new acquaintance try it. Instead of simply saying, with formal reserve, "I am glad to know you," look glad, be glad.

The Merely Muscular Smile.

The new acquaintance may not look worth the effort. He may have, for instance, the same expression of deadness that you yourself commonly wear at such moments, tempered, of course, with a merely muscular smile.

The surest way to find whether he is worth cultivating is that outlined. Give him a bit of human sunshine; let the warmth of your manner kindle the chill in his. Nine times out of ten the result will surprise you. For he is just such another human as yourself—a fellow man who craves sympathy and cordiality as much as feel towards the person who has the gift of making friends.

A Very Simple Formula.

If you will adopt this simple formula, if you will only let people know that you are willing and eager to like them, they will feel towards you just as you feel towards you just as you feel towards the person who has the gift of making friends.

You give him the best there is in you. You show to the best advantage before people like him. And that will give you your reward—other people will give you the best there is in him.

The annual sports of St. Bonaventure's College took place at the College Campus yesterday afternoon and were largely attended.

From Private A. Gosse

Mr. Fred Fitzpatrick, Pennywell Road, is in receipt of a letter, of date June 13th, from his nephew, Private Alfred J. Gosse, who is with the Nrd. Regiment, and at the time of writing was at Stob's Camp, Hawick. He said in the letter to his uncle that they expected to be leaving Stob's the following week for some part in England, whence they expect to proceed to the Dardanelles. He refers to the presentation of colors by ex-Governor McGregor, and also to the kind treatment the boys received from their new friends on the other side. He says all the boys are well and happy. The letter was written on a Sunday and the R. C. boys of the Regiment had been to Mass that morning in the town, which is about three miles away.

ST. JOHN'S LADY DIES IN BOSTON.

A recent Boston exchange contains an account of the funeral of the late Mrs. Mary A. Power, a well-known St. John's lady, whose death is supposed to have been caused by grief over the loss of her son John, who was killed by an automobile accident some months ago. Mrs. Power is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Alice McDonough and Miss Minnie Power, and one son, Richard Power, who has been employed with the Boston Elevated Power House for over 20 years. We understand that Mr. James Power of Parker & Monroe's is a relative of the family.

War Munitions.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In reading over the public news despatch in your paper to-day, I notice that Lloyd George says in his speech that it will be months before we can obtain the maximum output of munitions, and also the Times' military correspondent says, on account of the shortage of ammunition it may be necessary to postpone until next spring the final settlement with the Teutonic Powers. Mr. Editor, is there no way open that Newfoundland can help in this respect? Of course I am not a machinist, so I have no idea what our machine shops can do in this line, but I was speaking to a machinist here, and he informs me that they could make shells here, so if we can make the shells in this country and send them over to England to be charged, what a great help it would be.
Hoping to see a letter from a machinist on this matter, and also thanking you for space in your valuable paper.
I remain,
Yours truly,
C. H. HAYWARD,

official information on the sinking of the Armenian have on the pending negotiations between the States and Germany. However, by Ambassador London, to secure more detailed Secretary Lansing returned to London, to inquire of the German government as to its report. From the report received, it appears that the ship was a torpedoed, at least one of the crew was killed and the ship was captured.

Consel's report said the house was taken away by the shot. It was not made clear whether the ship was a merchant vessel or whether it was a marine vessel. The fact that the number of men was given, indicates that the ship was a merchant vessel.

CONCESSIONS TO LABOR.

Lloyd George, British Minister of Munitions, to-night announced substantial concessions to labor from the amendments to the Munitions Bill, the concluding stages of which will be dealt with in the Commons to-day. The chief amendment limits the power of compulsory arbitration of labor disputes in fields outside the actual manufacture of munitions. As amended this prerogative will be exercised by the Government, only when munitions work is affected. Coal miners, particularly, objected to being subject to forced arbitration, as they contended miners never have been strikers.

SCOTTISH MONARCH TORPEDOED

LONDON, To-day.—The British steamer Scottish Monarch, bound from New York for Manchester, with a cargo of sugar, was torpedoed and sunk yesterday by a German submarine. The steamer's crew of thirty-six men took to the lifeboats. The captain and nineteen men were picked up near Hook Point Lightship, not far from Dunmore Harbor, Ireland, and landed at Dunmore. The Scottish Monarch is 400 feet long and 5,043 tons gross.

THE ARMENIAN TORPEDOED;

AMERICAN LOSS OF LIFE.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

The Dominion freight liner Armenian, flying the British flag and carrying mules from Newport News, Va., to England, was torpedoed and sunk on Monday night by the German submarine U-38 off Cornwall, England. Nearly a score of American muleteers were aboard and are reported lost, according to messages received by the State Department to-day from Consul Armstrong, Jr., Bristol. Twenty-nine men were lost and ten injured. The news created a sensation in official quarters, as it was the first case of loss of American lives since the sinking of the Lusitania. The gravity of the incident, however, and the action of the Washington Government, depends almost entirely on whether the Armenian was chartered by the British Government and was in fact a transport of war, aboard which Americans would sail at their own risk, or whether she was an unarmed merchantman. In the latter case, even though carrying contraband, the ship should have been subjected to a visit and search and those aboard transferred to a place of safety before the vessel was sunk. In the absence of official information on these points, officials declined to say what effect the sinking of the Armenian would have on the pending negotiations between the States and Germany. Immediate inquiry has been directed, however, by Ambassador Page in London, to secure more details. When Secretary Lansing returns to-morrow Ambassador Gerard will be instructed to inquire of the German Admiralty as to its report. From messages received, it appears that in addition to a torpedo, at least one shot was fired from a disappearing rifle. The Consul's report said the wireless house was taken away by the second shot. It was not made clear whether the Armenian was first ordered to halt and resisted capture, requiring a second shot, or whether the submarine attacked without warning. The fact that the number of the submarine was given, indicated she had come to the surface to make the attack.

Mimic Battles in Air Part of Hendon Course.

British Aviators Taught to Destroy German Zeppelins—Warnerford Had Full Training.

Mimic battles in the air are now included in the finishing off process of training British naval and military aviators.

The amazing exploit of Flight Sub-Lieut. R. A. J. Warnerford, R.N., who, in a tiny aeroplane, costing perhaps $5,000, attacked with bombs a big $300,000 Zeppelin in Belgium and blew it up—or rather down—was not a fluke. It was merely the first sensational justification for the immense amount of money, ingenuity and time that has been spent at the Hendon Aerodrome, London, in fitting out naval aviators for just this very kind of hazardous work. Before being sent to the front Lieut. Warnerford hurled hundreds of dummy bombs on the outline of a Zeppelin marked out in the centre of the flying field at Hendon, and scores at a superannated dirigible. Not until he had proved himself to be an unerring marksman at bomb throwing, in addition to being a daring and resourceful aviator, was this David of the air sent after such a giant as a German dirigible.

Government Took Aerodrome.

As soon as England went to war the Government took over the Hendon Aerodrome from the Grahame-White syndicate for the purpose of transforming it into a training school for young officers of the navy who volunteered for service with the air forces of the navy. For ten months now the naval flyers at Hendon have been preparing themselves to undertake just such a coup as which has won for the young Anglo-Indian, Lieut. Warnerford, the Victoria Cross and a personal letter of congratulation from King George.

Those who have followed aviation in the United States to any extent find several familiar faces at Hendon—at least any could have done so a couple of months ago. Among them are Squadron-Com. Claude Grahame-White who won the $10,000 Statue of Liberty flight a few years ago and is now chief instructor at Hendon; Commander Cyril Porte, R.N., who this time last year was experimenting at Hammondsport, N.Y., with the hydro-aeroplane America, in which he purposed to attempt to cross the Atlantic in quest of the $50,000 prize which had been offered by Lord Northcliffe for the first aviator to fly from America to England, and W. H. Beatty, the former New York aviator, who now runs a sort of private school at Hendon for officers and others who wish to obtain their "brevet" before volunteering for commissions in the Royal Flying Corps.

At the outbreak of the war it was once realized that the whole air service needed to be enormously increased in equipment and personnel. Fortunately England had about 2,000 civilian aviators, and nearly every one of these sportsmen at once offered to do his "little bit" for the country. About half went into the army and the rest into the naval wing. Men like Grahame-White were entrusted with the task of organizing corps of instructors and mapping out courses of instruction. It was vitally necessary that the recruits should be passed out of the school in less than a month as finished aviators. That the course of instruction at Hendon is eminently satisfactory is evidenced by the efficiency of Lieut. Warnerford, who received his first lesson on Feb. 21 last.

ORDERED MOTOR SLEDGES.

BERNE, Switzerland, To-day.—It is learned from private sources that Germany recently issued orders for 15,000 motor sledges in view of the possibility of another winter campaign.

ITALIAN PROTEST.

ROME, To-day.—The hoisting of the Montenegrin flag over the fortress of Scutari in Albania is causing a greater feeling of discontent in the Italian capital than did the occupation of the Albanian towns of Tirana and Elbasan by Serbian forces. The Italian Government is understood to have protested both to Serbia and Montenegro against the occupation of Albanian territory by their respective troops. Italy also had protested to the Governments of Britain, France and Russia who together with Italy at the London conference in 1912 brought about the creation of Albania into an independent State who reached an agreement after the outbreak of the present war definitely to settle the Albanian question at the next peace conference.

A Sad Case.

Yesterday a little girl named Kennedy, who is scarcely eleven years of age, was arrested for the larceny of $2.10 belonging to Mr. Robert Bartlett. Shortly after the accused was released and handed over to her parents to appear in Court to-day when the girl was arraigned. The Inspector General of Police pointed out that she was incorrigible so far as stealing was concerned, as the police had received complaints from the Reid Company and other people in town of money and articles she had stolen. It seemed to him that the youngster was afflicted with Kleptomaniac. One young brother was now in the Penitentiary serving a term of imprisonment. At the request of Inspector Sullivan the charge of larceny was withdrawn and the parents of the girl are being consulted as to the best means of dealing with their daughter.

EARL OF DEVON DAMAGED.

The ss. Earl of Devon is now at Greenspond in a disabled condition owing to collision with an iceberg. No particulars as to the exact cause of the damage or the exact cause of the same. We understand, however, that the ship struck an iceberg head on and in backing away from it struck another which was astern.

smashed. But this is no time to make a fuss over little things like that. The "flying cadets" are not encouraged to be overcareful. As a matter of fact the display of a certain amount of reckless daring is a sure way to attract attention and secure rapid promotion.

Target Practice.

After learning how to manipulate land machines the naval airmen are sent down to Sheerness for seaplane work.

Those who have watched the bomb dropping competitions at the different international air meets that have been held in this country, will remember how difficult it seemed to be to hit even a target marked out on the ground when travelling at the rate of sixty miles or so an hour. How much harder, therefore, must it be to drop bombs from an up-to-date warplane travelling at anything up to 150 miles an hour on a fast moving Zeppelin, and with the crew of the dirigible potting away at the aeroplane pilot with rifles and machine guns?

Not only are the naval aviators at Hendon taught how to hit a fixed target. They also work with one of the old naval dirigibles of the Pervival type.

Aerial War Game.

In addition to learning how to tackle Zeppelins, the naval aviators are taught how to grapple with the pilots of Taubes. A favourite war game at Hendon is to send away, say, three armoured aeroplanes on a short cross-country flight. Three other aviators remain in their hangers with instructions to head off the return of the first three airmen, who are supposed to represent hostile aircraft bent upon blowing up the air station. A scout is sent up to note the direction from which the enemy air raiders are approaching, being instructed to signal down this information with a smoke gun.

The game is for the defenders, as soon as the enemy is sighted, to as-bank shots from machine guns, the "Germans," and pepper them with blank shots from machine guns. This is a very exciting operation to watch. If the defenders succeed in getting above the attackers and firing at them for at least half a minute before they reach the aerodrome, they are supposed to have put the raiders out of business.

By arrangement between the admiralty and the war office, sailor flyers have been entrusted with the important task of patrolling the coasts for enemy air-craft and raiding enemy territory. The military flyers' work has been mainly reporting the movements of the German army to headquarters and "spotting" for the artillery.

The navy is also entrusted with the task of defending London from attacks from the air. All the anti-aircraft guns that are set up in London to protect such buildings as Buckingham Palace, the War Office, the Admiralty, the Houses of Parliament, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, the Bank of England and the Government buildings at Whitehall, are in charge of naval gunners. The air stations for the London patrol, erected at different points around London, also are manned by men from the Royal naval air service.

There is no doubt that the men of the navy with their seaplanes have done a great deal more valuable work than the public is aware of. This war has taught many lessons. One is that just as a battleship of the line must be protected by a screen of fast destroyers so must a flotilla of destroyers be preceded by scouts. Aviators are the only men able to detect the presence of submarines when these lurking monsters are submerged.

Canadians Are Returning Home

London, June 27.—Following Colonel Carson's decision to allow invalided officers on extended leave to return home, several have sailed for Canada, including Captain C. W. Robinson, Calgary, 10th Battalion; Captain Allen, Truro, 17th Battalion, attached to the 45th Battalion; Lieut. Ryerson, Toronto; Lieut. Baillard, Hamilton, and Lieut. Douglas, Chatham. A party of 31 invalided men have also sailed. Another party of men returned for various reasons sailed by the Pretorian in charge of Captain Weld.

A tablespoonful of vinegar put into the water in which meat is boiled will make it deliciously tender.

REMAINS COMING.—The remains of the late James Trebble, who died suddenly at Montreal, came across on the ss. Kyle to Port aux Basques this morning, and will arrive here by to-morrow evening's express.

Thrilling Story of the Sea.

BRAVERY OF AUSTIN BREEN, WHO CALLED OUT "SAVE JIM, I'M ALL RIGHT."—GALLANT RESCUE BY MASTER CHARLES DALY AND MATE JOSEPH DALY, OF ST. MARY'S.

A thrilling story has reached town, which shows up the gallantry and devotion of our Newfoundland fishermen. The incident happened in connection with a dory of the schooner Flirtation, owned by the Gorton Pew Fish Company, and sailing from St. Mary's under Capt. Charles Daly. On June 23rd, a dory was out longer than the captain expected; it was in charge of Austin Breen of St. Mary's, who had as his dory mate, James Yetman. Capt. Daly became uneasy as the dory had not returned with the rest. He then went with the mate up the rigging, from which they saw the dory coming about two points to leeward. They feared the boat was in the sea which was running. When the dory was about a quarter of a mile from the vessel, a sea turned her over, throwing Breen and Yetman into the sea. There was nothing to be done but to launch a dory to go to their assistance. It was no easy task with the heavy sea running, but the dory was quickly launched, and Capt. Charles Daly and Mate Daly got in her, and manned the oars. When they were nearing the overturned dory, they could see Yetman on the bottom of it, but could not see Breen, but as they got nearer her they saw Breen alongside facing death very coolly. Then Breen shouted to the captain: "Save Jim; I'm all right!" "Fancy" reports the captain, "a man being all right, holding a dory's gunwale under water. Breen could easily have got on the bottom of the dory, but he knew by doing so, he would drown his dory-mate and himself, for a dory bottom-up is a poor comfort in a sea, but Austin faced his task like a man to save a human life." This brave fisherman is 26 years old and married. The dory-mate he saved by his coolness and gallantry is 22 and unmarried. This story of the sea shows up the type of the boys our country is sending to help the Mother Country, and reminds the credit of all concerned, not forgetting the master and mate who manned the rescue boat.

Says Kaiserin Fainted

At Dying Man's Words.—Wished Emperor and Sons Might Suffer His Agonies According to Russian Report.

Petrograd, June 28.—The Novoe Vremya correspondent at Warsaw says the German Empress visited the officers' hospital at Posen recently and was carried out in a fainting condition in consequence of a reply of one of the officers in her attempts at consolation.

The officer, all four of whose limbs had been amputated while his body was covered with sharpnel wounds, lay very near death. When the Empress reached his bedside and asked if he had any wishes to express, the German is reported to have said: "I wish Emperor Wilhelm and his children may suffer what I have suffered."

The Bourne Gazette's Warsaw correspondent relates that universal horror has been aroused among the Red Cross nurses by charges made by one of them if indiscreetly ill-treatment by German officers. The nurses have now taken the precaution of supplying themselves with quick poison for immediate use if they should be unhappy enough to fall into German hands. The Austrians, it is reported, are shooting out of hand all clergy found by them during their advance in Galicia on a general charge of treason.

ADDRESS.

May it Please Your Grace,—

We, the pupils of the Christian Brothers, heartily joining in the general chorus of joy which echoes throughout the land, tender Your Grace our warmest congratulations on your elevation to the exalted dignity of Archbishop of St. John's.

When this glad news reached our schools, rejoicing was universal, but nowhere was there more sincere and whole-souled enthusiasm than amongst us, the youthful portion of Your Grace's flock.

The distinguished honor of being chosen Archbishop of St. John's has come as a fitting reward to your life as a diligent and model student, a zealous and energetic Priest, a devoted and capable administrator. Your Grace's life is a lesson and an inspiration to us all in its ardent zeal for the faith of our Fathers in its genuine patriotism and in its deep learning.

Since every educational establishment points with pride to the success of its past pupils as its greatest glory, then have we, the present pupils of the institutions in which you received your early training every reason to rejoice at seeing in our midst Your Grace who has been raised by the Holy See to the exalted Office of Metropolitan of Newfoundland.

We beg Your Grace to accept this accompanying gift as a small token of our love and admiration. Gifts far more valuable could give no idea of our keen appreciation of the kindly interest you have always manifested in our welfare.

In conclusion we once again assure Your Grace of our heartfelt joy in having you as an Archbishop and we fervently pray that God may give you length of days with health and grace to rule your people wisely and well.

Signed on behalf of the pupils of the various Institutions of the Christian Brothers.

Irishman Walked Thousand Miles

SO AS TO ENLIST.

Saskatoon, Sask., June 26.—The newest recruit to the 53rd Battalion here is Pte. Joe Martin, who completed a walk of over a thousand miles from Fort McLeod, on the shores of Hudson's Bay, in order that he might fight for his King and his country.

Last fall a rumour went around the North that Great Britain was at war with some one. He journeyed south 200 miles to Fort McLeod, to find out that it was true, and finally found a Hudson Bay factor who had a paper announcing the outbreak of war between the nations of Europe.

So he sold his fur and traps and his dogs—that was the hardest parting of all, he told the reporter, and started out on the long trail to Prince Rupert. He shot his food on the way, and had numerous exciting adventures.

Then he decided to come a little further east before enlisting, so he hit the trail for Prince Albert. When he got there he found that there were no vacancies, and at North Battleford, where he went next, he found no enlisting. So he came on to Saskatoon. He is Irish by birth, but has been in the Hudson's Bay country for the past seven years, being the only white man living in his district; he having lived with the Blackfeet for the most part. He is a crack shot, in fact he can pick off anything living within a radius of several hundred yards, but he insists on shooting from his left shoulder.

Natural racoon is said to be coming into great favor for next winter.

Germany Badly Injured

BY ITS OWN PROPAGANDA.
"Berliner Tageblatt" Prints Norwegian Article Showing Its Reaction.
Berlin, via London, June 24.—German newspapers are realising more and more that pro-German propaganda in the neutral countries—a certain kind of propaganda, at least—especially during the initial stages of the war, has done infinitely more harm than good to Germany and the Germans. Thus, the Berliner Tageblatt published a translation of an article which appeared in the Norwegian newspaper Morgenbladet, which reads:
"Nothing has influenced public opinion in Norway so much to the disadvantage of Germany as has the distribution of a certain kind of circulars, protests and pamphlets vilifying Germany's enemies. Each of these warnings fulfils diametrically the contrary of its desired effect and literally disgusts Germany's best friends. Before us lies a pamphlet with Sir Edward Grey's picture on the front page, the cut line reading, 'Europe's leading criminal.'
"The accompanying article discusses the 'game of intrigue' played by the 'unscrupulous scoundrel.' Another circular on our desk, with the picture of Minister Findlay (British Envoy to Norway), says: 'What was the criminal Thomas in Bremerhaven 40 years ago, with his hell machines, compared with a Grey or a Findlay? A mere amateur! Is there anywhere in this world a more nefarious hypocrite, more criminal simulation than in England? Down with these dastardly Britishers!
"Many other pamphlets and circulars sent to us have only one purpose: to nourish the vulgar hatred of England. Dresden appears to be the chief point from which the agitation emanates. If Germany's foes had agents in other countries, paid for the work of weakening pro-German sympathies and of reducing the faith in the dignity of the German nation, this work could not be done more effectively than by these pamphlets which are sent from Dresden for distribution in Norway."

Thanks to Lord Haldane

In the course of his Dundee speech, Mr. Winston Churchill, referring to the ex-Lord Chancellor, said he deeply regretted that Lord Haldane had ceased to fill the great office which he adorned:
"No more sincere patriot has served the Crown. There never has been an occasion in the Cabinets of the last seven years in which I have not said, as the need arose, Lord Haldane has not from his great knowledge of the German government system warned us to be on our guard against the dangerous side of their nature.
"There never has been a time when he has not supported every provision for the defence of this country, military or naval. He it was who entered into those intricate arrangements with France which enabled our Army to be so swiftly brought to the scene of action, just in the nick of time. He it was who prepared that Expeditionary Army in the face of much opposition and in days when every penny was hard to get. He it was who organized the Territorial Force which has so splendidly vindicated itself and its founder, and upon whose gallantry, discipline and numbers the weight and even the success of our military operations hitherto have notably if not mainly depended.
"Till a few months ago all the land forces which we employed in this war, which we put in the field, were the products of Lord Haldane's organization, and in the fateful and convulsive days before Great Britain drew the sword of honor, when the chill of doubt struck into many hearts whether we should act as we were bound—in those days no man stood closer to Sir Edward Grey and no man saw more clearly where our duty lay."
This is a worthy tribute to a great patriotic statesman who has been cruelly wronged by the malicious attacks made upon him by the baser elements of the Unionist press.

Your Boys and Girls.

Two boys were playing at the home of one of them when the latter was sent on an errand and his friend went with him. On the street they met a gang of tough boys spilling for a fight. One of the two had been taught to fight whenever he was attacked. The other had been taught to defend himself but do no unnecessary fighting.
The latter sized up the situation at a glance. It was impossible for the two boys to stand up against the gang, and he had no pride that required him to undertake an impossible task. He was prepared to fight one at a time, but he had that better part of valor which suggested a discreet retreat, with an appeal to the police or some adult.
We should guard against cultivating that false sense of honor which will lead a boy to do foolhardy things in upholding a perverted idea.

BOYS' WATERPROOFS, Special Line, $1.98.
Don't judge the quality by the price. We bought this lot at a bargain and offer them for the first time this week; to fit boys from 6 to 14 years; plain and fancy mixtures, sound in every way. Special Friday, Saturday and Monday

FIGURES DO LIE.

Prices are only Relative

REGAL ENGINES are the highest priced engines, yet they are the cheapest.

They are the highest priced engines because they cost more to build. They are the cheapest engines, because they will last twice as long as any other engine.

They are also the cheapest engines because they save your time, and "Time is money."

If you shut your eyes to this real bargain in engines, you will be the sorriest fisherman who ever signed an order.

You will lose more money than you can afford to lose, and your oil bills will be twice as large.

REGAL ENGINES use less oil, have more power, run with less trouble and give more genuine satisfaction than any other engine on the market.

We are, in the near future, going to ask all cash for REGAL ENGINES, so buy one before we make this change, as we intend to make them the "Hall Mark" engines of Newfoundland.

We ship REGAL ENGINES complete with full book of instructions, and when once installed in your boat, any child can run one.

REGAL ENGINES are higher priced than other engines, but are the cheapest in the long run, because they run the longest.
