"His Majesty's Land Navy."

Of the landships, or "Tanks," one continues to hear amazing stories. They proved of great service, and the men of the crews behaved magnificently. It must under any circumstances be no small feat of a man's abilities to be shut up in a steel box and to trust one's self deliberately out ahead of one's own fighting line, a mark for every enemy within range. It must be considerably worse if anything happens to the machine so that it is compelled to stand still, or is thrown on its side, far out in the enemy's territory. This happened in more than one case.

"One 'Tank' still lies out there on its side, making a barricade across which the men and the Germans have been bombing each other all day. Another got out of repair and could not be moved. The officer in charge rendered the machine unusable, and then he and his crew got out and came back to help in carrying our wounded under fire. The 'Tank' still lies there until we can repair it and get it going again, for the Germans will not get it, though it is in their lines. In the case of another, which was crippled, the crew similarly went to help in the wounded under heavy fire.

Many of the "Tanks" have come back all dotted with the marks of machine-gun and rifle bullets. One whose steering gear got out of order could not turn to right or left, so it trundled straight ahead till it was quite out of touch with our men, then it sat down on an enemy trench and for five hours stood off bombing attacks. In yet another case the landship found that the infantry was not coming on behind, so it went back to find out what was the matter. They were held up by a trench which "Tanks" had overtopped, where a strong bombing party of the enemy was situated. The machine walked over to the trench, deposited itself on top of it, and wiped the enemy bombing party out.

One "Tank" is known to have put out of action six German machine guns in a single position. Another wandered round for some few hours nosing out German machine gun parties in shell holes about the open and dealing with them firmly when found. Another, after rendering yeoman service in the operations at High Wood, went on to what it thought was out front trench and then discovered it was a German one. It came back shortly afterwards with twenty-five German prisoners, who walked beside it like a flock of sheep, covered by its machine guns.

Another cleaned out a German machine-gun post in a shell-hole; then one of the gunners of the crew got out and took charge of the enemy gun and stayed there to use it against its former owners. Certain of the Overseas troops have two of the "Tanks" with them, named "Gordon Rouge" and "Gros de Menthe" which they would not part with for worlds. They have been of enormous help already, and are sitting out there now, like two huge tame pachyderms, ready to push along again when the next move comes. The troops regard them as something between a mascot, Leviathan and a fairy godmother.

It is difficult to speak of the things quite seriously, because they are so propitious, so unlike anything that ever was seen on earth before. But they have proved themselves a real and formidable engine of war. A new service has been created, His Majesty's Land Navy; and already the men have shown a gallantry of which any of the sister services might be proud.

THE ANOMALY.

While riding in my "buzz-buzz" car, "I hit" Bill Wax and spoiled his frame, and knocked his marrow-bones apart, and he remarked, "I was to blame!" I said, "This dark disaster, Bill, to my sad life, now sorrow lends; I do not run my car to kill or mangle my dearest friends. I'll pay the surgeon, 'if he'll fix the bones I've broken, rent, and bowed; and if you journey o'er the Styx, I'll see you have a Plam Beach shroud." "It was my fault," I heard him say, "and you don't have to pay a cent, for I was walking like a Jay, and wasn't looking where I went. I busted every rule, I think, which ought to govern gents on foot, and now you've put me on the blink, I think a while I should stay put." Bill Wax shines brighter than a star; Bill Wax deserves immortal fame; he says the owner of a car is not in every case to blame! Hereafter, as I tour the town, in my new car that swiftly flies, I'll always try to run him down in preference to other ways.

Bay De Verdre Notes.

The fishery since the 1st September is almost a failure with hook and line. Squid bait is plentiful and motor boats prosecute the fishery on the best grounds and report a great scarcity of fish. The season's voyage on the whole will be thousands of qts. behind that of last year.

The schr. J. J. O'Flaherty sailed from here last week for Halifax with a cargo of fish purchased by Mr. J. Lockyer.

The Church of England here is undergoing extensive repairs. A new roof is being added to the building which is covered with asbestos shingles. A very handsome tower which will rise eighty feet heavenward will adorn the building and give an attractive appearance. The work is under the supervision of Messrs. Harrison, Brant and Chislett.

The grounds in front of the R. C. Church is being finished with concrete. The work is being done by Mr. Elijah King, of Grate's Cove.

His Lordship Bishop March accompanied by Monsignor McCarthy and Fr. O'Brien arrived here by Tuesday's train and will remain for several days as guests of Rev. Fr. Donnelly.

Rev. Canon Smart and Revs. Upward and Stickings also arrived Tuesday night. They held a missionary meeting Wednesday night. Rev. Canon Smart holds a missionary meeting at Grate's Cove to-night.

A sale of work will be held in St. Barnaba's School by the Church of England Woman's Association on the 18th and 19th insts. Elaborate preparations are being made to make it a success.

The schr. Sea Belle is loading fish for St. John's for J. F. O'Neil.

The schr. Edna B. arrived from St. John's to-day and will load dry fish to-morrow for D. O'Neil.

Patridge are plentiful on the Grate's Cove Barrens. Mr. Ed. Cotter secured 5 brace yesterday. Well done, Ned.

Mr. George Veitch, of Holyrood, recently paid us a visit and his friends were glad to see him.

Hungary Stunned by Famine Menace

Food "Surplus" Promised to Germany and Austria is Non-Existent—Confidence Waning—Teuton Soldiers Show Lack of Discipline as Hope of Triumph Dims.

London, Oct. 10.—Food is the great problem in Austria-Hungary, writes the correspondent of the Morning Post at Budapest, under date of September 25. The preceding day was Hungary's first meatless and fatless day, the correspondent says, and the fact that Hungary has been obliged to have such a day seems to be viewed as the most important event of the week.

"The food conditions are simply indescribable," he writes. "The Government awoke too late to the situation. There is not the slightest chance now of improving matters. Nevertheless, the exports to Germany and Austria are still going briskly, as the Government has a contract to supply her allies with what was estimated to be Hungary's surplus stock. Now it is found that there is no surplus.

"The Germans and Austrians are still demanding their share, and are thus reducing the country to such a condition that it is absolutely certain that by next April or May there will be no bread, no milk and no meat left."

Cafe Keepers Near Revolt.

The correspondent adds that the uproar in Vienna against the ministerial decree forbidding the cafes and restaurants, of which there are so many in the Austrian capital, to serve bread with lunches and dinners is growing. The cafe keepers and the public are on the verge of revolt, and the former declare that they will close up unless the order is withdrawn.

The Express publishes a three column article aimed at proving that the final disillusionment of the Germans is in progress, and that they are hungering for food and peace. The truth is beginning to leak through the German censorship, the paper says, and depression and gloom are prevalent. The old blind confidence in a Teutonic victory in the war has vanished.

"Robbery and other crimes, including suicide, are increasing in Berlin," says the article. "The revolutionary tendency is spreading, and there has been rioting at Hamburg, Berlin and Cologne. In a riot in Dresden at the end of August 280 persons were killed and 180 injured. There is appalling distress in the manufacturing districts of Westphalia.

Army is Discontented.

"The army is becoming discontented, and the men are losing their discipline," says the writer, who quotes as authority neutral diplomats, travelers and residents of Germany on whose word the fullest reliance may be placed. He quotes a neutral diplomat as writing, among other things:

"My impressions is that the morale of the German soldier has become weakened and he has no longer confidence that his efforts are really worth while or are ever going to help Germany's best cause. The German strength can now grow no greater. It has reached its limit."

The writer says the following is an extract from a letter written by an American physician who has been studying in Berlin for some years: "Until September, 1915, there was no hardship in Germany. Then the thumb screws began to tighten, and now the people are being surely, though slowly, starved out. It is a riddle how the poor families have managed to keep alive and conditions are growing worse. The pitiful thing about it all is that it is the women and children who suffer."

Berlin Feels Shortage.

Great difficulty is being experienced in provisioning Berlin, according to the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts of that city, as quoted by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent. The potato supply is said to have been stopped during the last few days, the interruption being attributed to lack of field laborers.

The decrease in the milk supply is the subject of anxious discussion by the authorities. The Socialist newspaper says many of the large milk dealers have discontinued their consignments to the city, owing to the shortage and also to the fact that when they have been able to send in small quantities the profit has been slight.

According to this information there has been a great rush to the soup kitchens, which now distribute 24,000 portions daily.

Stokers' Strike.

PORTIA SAILS.
The coastal steamer Portia, which had been held up by the strikers, got away yesterday afternoon, for Western ports, the ship having been supplied with firemen who arrived by train yesterday. When the ship reached Cape Spear she was ordered back for some passengers who were accidentally left behind. The Firemen's Union have sent representatives to the outposts, where the Hotel steamers are passing, in connection with the strike.

BETTER VALUES FOR ALL THE PEOPLE ALL OF THE TIME!

Better values because everything that causes us fewer losses; that enables us to curtail the amount of merchandise that is out of action—make for better service and better values. ## THE FAIR

C. L. MARCH CO., Ltd.,
Corner Water and Springdale Streets.

The Kaiser's Rapacity

We have received the following letter on the subject of the Kaiser's rapacity, of which a further instance is furnished:

When in Palestine a few years ago I visited, at Damascus, the tomb of Saladin, the great Saracen commander in the time of the Crusades. The Kaiser had been there some years previously, paying his devotions at the shrine of one who had defeated an English King, and he observed that the cedar sarcophagus (of inestimable value intrinsically and artistically) was unworthy of so great a hero, and that he would provide a more befitting tomb. At his request it was packed up and sent to Berlin, and some time after a very inferior, ordinary article was received, of stucco work as well as I remember, which, of course, had to be accepted.

HEAVY RAIN IN SCOTLAND.
LONDON, Oct. 13. The most violent rainstorm in fifty years has paralyzed railroads, destroyed bridges and damaged crops, over a large portion of Scotland. Traffic between Glasgow, Fort William and many places along the western coast, has been completely stopped. Five inches of rain fell during the 12 hours preceding noon on Thursday.

DIED FROM WOUNDS.
LONDON, Oct. 13. Viscount Clive Percy Robert Herbert, eldest son of the fourth Earl Fowis, died in London to-day from wounds received in action. He was born on Dec. 2, 1892, joined the Scots Guards in 1914 and in 1915 was Lieut. of the Welsh Guards.

AVIATOR, D.S.O.
LONDON, Oct. 13. By an official announcement to-day the King appointed to the Distinguished Service Order, Aviator Second Lieut. Walsley Joseph Tempest, for gallantry and devotion to duty in connection with the destruction of enemy airships.

SUCCESSFUL BOMBARDMENT.
BERLIN, Oct. 13. A successful attack by German naval aeroplanes upon Russian transports in the Roumanian Harbor of Constantza, on the Black Sea, is reported in an Admiralty statement issued under date of Oct. 12, as follows: German seaplanes during the night of Oct. 9 and 10, successfully bombarded Russian transports in Constantza.

THE ROUMANIANS.
BUCHAREST, Oct. 13. Repulse of systematic attacks at several points along the Transylvania front are announced in to-night's war office official. At the customs station of Crasna in Tarland Valley, from which the Roumanians retired, and from the Buxos Valley, Roumanian cavalry frustrated six attacks by hostile infantry, says the statement.

ALLIED AEROPLANES SHOT DOWN.
BERLIN, Oct. 13. Nine Allied aeroplanes of a squadron which attempted to pass over southern Germany yesterday, were shot down, the war office announced to-night. Our aviators successfully attacked strong enemy squadrons on their way to southern Germany, supported by our anti-aircraft guns, and brought down nine machines. According to reports to hand, five persons were killed and 26 wounded by bombs. Material damage was slight.

APPEAL OF ROUMANIA.
LONDON, Oct. 13. The Temps publishes an interview given to its correspondent with the Roumanian army by the King of Roumania, in which that monarch appeals to the Allies not to permit his country to suffer the fate of Serbia and Belgium. Roumanians will not falter in their allegiance, the King said, to the cause, nor can the enemy wear them from their faith in their Allies, yet Roumanians pray that in spite of their existing exigencies and their own huge problems, the Allies will not allow the affairs of Roumania which has staked her all in this conflict, to pass into the back of their minds, and to suffer, that she may meet the fate of either Belgium or Serbia. King Ferdinand said that Roumania had not been moved to enter the war by mere expediency, but her decision was based on the biggest principles of nationality.

SOME ADVANCE MADE.
SALONIKA, Oct. 13. British advance guards made some advance east of the Struma River in Greek Macedonia, says an official statement issued at the Entente Allied headquarters to-day. British armored cars explored the region where the Serez-Demir-Hissar railway joins the Serez-Salonika line, and found the railway line strongly held by the Bulgarians.

QUIET REIGNS.
BUCHAREST, Oct. 13. Quiet reigns at Hiraloco, Simondi, West Predal south of Kronstadt, and at Predal. The enemy has been repulsed and has retreated to Timos. At Givrala there were patrol engagements. At Cainei there were artillery actions. In the Valley of Jui and at Orsova on the Danube there were artillery engagements. On the southern front there were artillery duels and infantry fighting along the Danube. In Dobrudja quiet reigns.

AUSTRIAN POSITION TAKEN.
ROME, Oct. 13. In the Pasubio region of Trentino, Italian troops have taken a strong Austrian position between Sette Croci and Monte Roita, says an official issued to-day. An Austrian attack in the same region was driven back. Italian troops, it adds, made considerable progress in the Carso plateau, where there has been heavy fighting.

URGED TO INVEST.

A little cold may not seem a dangerous thing—you may feel inclined to let it go on hoping that to-morrow it will be better—but can you afford to take chances? ### SWEDISH STEAMERS RELEASED.

LONDON, Oct. 13. The Russian Government has released Swedish vessels which have been held in Russian harbors. The release of the ships is the result of negotiations which have been in progress between the governments for the last two years.

U. S. NAVY BUSY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. A dozen destroyers of the United States navy are patrolling the ocean highways to and from North Atlantic ports to-day but for what purpose is known only to the naval authorities. It is reported that they were sent to maintain the neutrality of American waters, but Rear-Admiral Knight, in authority for the statement that official action toward establishing such a patrol had not been taken. He said, however, that this soon would be done. The seaward dash of eleven destroyers from Newport yesterday caused much speculation. At least one other United States destroyer is known to have been on guard outside New York since the German submarine raid on Nantucket last Sunday. Efforts to explain the activity of the destroyers ranged from reports of the discovery of a foreign submarine base, to the rumor that a liner had been driven into Bar Harbor by a German submarine, stationed off Rockland, Maine. All these stories lacked verification. Rear-Admiral Guver, commander of the torpedo flotilla at Newport, said the sending of the destroyers to sea had no connection with a sailing of a liner from Newport for Liverpool yesterday. There have been important developments, said he, but I could not call these submarine developments, because they are not.

DUTCH GOVERNMENT RECEIVES REPLY.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 13. The Dutch Government to-day received from the German Legation a statement to the effect that explicit instructions had been given to commanders of German submarines to sink neutral steamers in no case, unless the ships could be destroyed in accordance with the German prize law. Therefore, it was considered extremely unlikely that the captain of the Bloemersdyke was told by the captain of the submarine which sank the steamer as reported, that he would send to the bottom every ship which otherwise might touch a British port. The Government was also informed that should it be proved that the Bloemersdyke's sinking was not in accordance with the German prize law, Germany would grant indemnity for the vessel and cargo without submitting the matter to a German prize court.

A QUEER TRICK.

By BUTH CAMERON.

With the exception of a few children, every one in the world knows that he cannot stay in it indefinitely. But almost no one realizes it. Death, in the abstract, is something with which we are on perfectly familiar terms, but when it comes to death in connection with our selves, we prefer to relegate it to the dusty, unvisited garrets of the mind.

And is it not fortunate that this is so?

We couldn't be happy if we really sensed it.

How could we be happy if we really sensed the inevitability of death? We couldn't.

Doubtless Nature has deliberately provided us with this mental astigmatism to keep us busy and happy in our business.

All of which leads up to an astonishing habit, which I have noticed on the part of otherwise loving children, of referring in their parents' presence to the time when their parents will no longer be with them. "I'll give you two instances.

"Not While Mother's Living." In the presence of her mother, a very devoted daughter actually said to me, "I'm very fond of travel and some day I'm going to leave my old home. But of course I can't do much while mother's living."

Another woman once asked me if I were to inherit a family heirloom of which I have always been very fond. When I told her that the matter had never been mentioned, she said, "I shouldn't think you'd like that. I've made mother promise I should have all the old pieces I'm especially fond of."

There may be some who think I'm unduly fustian to deprecate these remarks, but I think the older people will understand.

It's Easy Enough When You're Young.

It is comparatively easy to contemplate death when one is young because it seems so remote, but older people know that while "the young may die, the old must" and they hate anything that brings the thought home to them.

On the other hand, I do think the older folks owe it to the younger generation to anticipate anything like this cold-blooded demand for a division of their goods, by making a will.

A failure to do this often results in family troubles. It isn't always these things that count, but there is the danger that if the matter is left to the heirs to settle among themselves, there may be misunderstanding and a sense of injustice.

A will prevents this and, besides, gives those to whom you leave your little treasures a warm sense of your love for them.

Hr. Grace Notes.

Constable M. Grouchy of Holyrood was in town a few days this week and many were the handshakes he received from old friends.

Potato digging is now the order of the day, and the crop is said to be a good one. In many places about town the canker has ruined the crop. This is particularly to be regretted now with flour at $10.00 with a good chance to go even higher.

The schooners Nelson and Margaret arrived from the Labrador yesterday.

A large number of citizens were at the railway station on Tuesday afternoon to welcome Pte. R. Tetford, one of our soldiers returned on sick leave. Mr. and Mrs. Tetford went to St. John's to meet their son and accompanied him home. Bob is still suffering, but with the quiet of his native town and the care of his home folks he will soon be "fit" again.

We are pleased to be able to note that Mrs. Selby Parsons, after a rather lengthy illness, was able to get out for a short time yesterday.

Word was received yesterday from Mr. R. Brazil, who lately underwent an operation at the St. Anthony Hospital, saying he was doing well. Bob's many friends will be pleased to hear this.

Rev. A. A. Holmes of the Methodist Church here conducted the service in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning and in the Methodist Church in the evening.

Rev. F. S. Coffin, who is attending the Session of the Presbyterian Synod at Truro, is expected home next week. CORRESPONDENT.

The late Mrs. Hughes, though but little known to the present generation, will be remembered by many old friends in St. John's and other parts of the country. Left to mourn are three daughters, Mrs. Oats, of Heart's Content; Miss Lilian and Miss Ethel Hughes, of the city. The latter is attached to the teaching staff of the Presbyterian College. ## TO-DAY'S Messages.

11.00 P.M.

SOUND AND FURY.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Commenting on the speeches in the British House of Commons by Premier Asquith and War Secretary Lloyd George, in which they declared the war must be continued to a finish, the "Lokal Anzeiger," Berlin, says: "So we know it now for the hundredth time, and shall take measures accordingly. We, too, must provide for the future. Our people shall not relax their efforts until they are guaranteed against all the designs of our enemies and strangle them." As Asquith had admitted, it is not too simple a matter to conquer us, but the fight must go on because the interests of the Island Empire demand it. Well, then, we shall take care that the heart of the British Lion shall yet learn fear.

LOOKING FOR BASES AND WIRELESS STATIONS.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Destroyers from the Atlantic fleet are making search of the Atlantic coast from Newport north to the Canadian line to investigate the reports of hidden submarine bases and of wireless stations. Admiral Mayo, Commander of the fleet, reported to the Navy Department yesterday that he had ordered the search but did not disclose either the source of the reports on which he acted or the places where the illegal radio plants or bases are said to have been discovered. Secretary Daniels made it plain last night that the Admiral acted on his own initiative sending our scout craft on this mission, although when the European war began orders were issued to fleet commanders to take all necessary steps to safeguard American neutrality.

LORD CECIL ON THE BLACK LIST QUESTION.

LONDON, To-day. The operations of the German submarine boat U-53 off the American coast, raises no new issue as far as the British Government is concerned in the opinion of Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, who discussed yesterday with the Associated Press the latest developments in the relations between Britain and the United States. Lord Robert declared that this form of warfare on merchantmen violated international law, and it was so in days before the war and was still objectionable to Britain, but no more so than when it is done on this side of the water. Referring to the reports of meetings between Sir Richard Crawford, Comm. Attache to the British Embassy at Washington with American Bankers and the general policy had been made from the British blockade measures, but it could be safely said that the general policy had leaned in the direction of a modification rather than an extension of the blacklist. The reply to the American blacklist note was now on the way to Washington; this answered the American criticisms of the principles behind the measure. As regards the administrative and blacklist, Lord Robert said that Washington had forwarded very few individual complaints about it. Replying to the charge that Britain was violating the equal treatment provisions of the Anglo-American treaty of Commerce and Navigation of 1815 by granting licenses to Japanese and French exporters while refusing permits to American shippers for similar goods, Lord Robert Cecil said such restrictions were in the hands of the Board of Trade, but that he was personally of the opinion that such treaties had lost their validity during a state of war.

COWARDLY SENTIMENT.

LONDON, To-day. "When a high diplomatic personage besought King Constantine to change his policy," says the Daily Telegraph Athens correspondent, the King replied, "I prefer to lose my throne rather than endanger Greece. I am convinced that in fifteen days Roumania will exist no more. If Greece went to war then, after the conquest of Roumania, the irresistible German forces would be directed against Greece, and she would share the fate of Serbia and Roumania."

WAR REVIEW.

LONDON, To-day. Steadily the pressure of the Austro-German forces is compelling the Roumanian troops who invaded Transylvania less than eight weeks ago to fall back upon, or towards, their own frontier. Southeast of Kronstadt the Austro-Germans have been successful in defeating the invaders. The Roumanians, however, are offering stubborn resistance. The French and British have been repulsed in new attempts to break the German lines between the Aisne and Somme River in France. South of the Somme stubborn fighting is still in progress at Government and Abaincourt. In Macedonia the Entente offensive has apparently come to a halt. The British advance guards have been active east of the Struma, but in the remainder of the front there has been little activity. Likewise the operations in Vahynia and Galicia have apparently lessened greatly in violence, for neither Petrograd nor Berlin mentions fighting in these zones. To the north of the Pinsk marshes in Russia, however, the Germans have attacked the Russian trenches on the west bank of the Shara River.

Captain Parsons Wins Military Cross.

Another high honour has been won by a Newfoundlander, this time a Harbor Gracian, Capt. W. H. Parsons, R. A. M. C., has been awarded the Military Cross for bravery in the field. Just what the performance was which won the coveted distinction (the Military Cross ranks immediately after the Victoria Cross) has not been made known, but it is understood to have been the reward of unusual gallantry displayed by Capt. Parsons in recent fighting in France. Suffering personal danger, he remained in attendance upon some wounded soldiers, bandaging their wounds and giving what aid he could, and only retired from a perilous position when his work was completed. No doubt full details of his exploit will shortly be learned. Captain Parsons gave up his practice in Harbor Grace to answer the call for doctors and surgeons and has rendered invaluable services in this most invaluable department of the army. He is the eldest son of Mr. Edward Parsons, Member for Harbor Grace. The telegram extends its warmest congratulations to the brave and distinguished officer, and to his family and city. They are due also to his profession, which has sent more than one member from its ranks in Newfoundland to do yeoman service for King and Country.

CAPTAIN W. H. PARSONS, R.A.M.C., M.C.

What Citizen Soldiers Can Do.

Recent successes of the British armies on the Somme are of peculiar interest to Americans, whatever their bias in the great struggle. The men who are smashing their way through German trenches deemed impregnable are little more than citizen soldiers as we understand the phrase. Few of them had any military training until two years ago. Few of their officers can have had much military experience. Yet the ridiculed Kitchener army, the only sort of army we could raise if we needed it, has been winning successes almost unparalleled against the best trained troops in Europe occupying positions of their own choosing, fortified with every device that human ingenuity and long experience could suggest. These raw British recruits seem indeed to be accomplishing what many military authorities deemed impossible—driving the veterans of Germany out of modern trenches amply supported by artillery. To be sure, there is nothing decisive yet. But something of vital importance is disclosed when it is seen that the hardest job ever laid upon soldiers is being put through in right soldierly fashion by men who a few months ago were keeping books, tending shop, driving wagons, making marbles, and doing all the other humdrum things that make up the working lives of most of us.—New York Globe.

Here and There.

Flour and coal importations.—The importations of flour up to this date are over twenty thousand barrels in excess of last year's shipment and the amount of coal brought into St. John's this year so far is fully forty thousand tons more than came in for the corresponding period in 1915, and still high prices rule for both these commodities and are likely to soar still higher.

Petrograd says the attack was repulsed with heavy casualties.

A DELIGHTFUL PLOT. LONDON, To-day. According to an Athens despatch received here, the Entente Allies sent their ultimatum to Greece because they had unearthed a royalist plot to fight the Entente. It was planned, the despatch adds, that the Allies should seek to force Greece into joining the war and try to force Elliphertias Venizelos upon King Constantine, the King should retire northward along the railway, taking troops with him to concentrate at Trikala in Thessaly and entrench there until the arrival of the German army, when they would strike in unison with them at the Allies.

Hop Beer Vendor Fined $50.00.

A resident of the Goules was convicted before Judge Hutchings to-day of a violation of the License Act and was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in default of paying a fine of $50. During the past week Detective Byrne visited the Goules and took a sample of the defendant's beer in a bottle. Upon analysis the contents of the bottle showed 22 per cent. of alcohol or a fraction over the amount allowed by law. Thereupon the above mentioned penalty was imposed on the defendant with costs.

U. S. Benefits From the War.

The war has enriched the United States with a new and vital industry. It has laid the foundation of its present prosperity. It has shifted the whole balance of international commerce and finance enormously to the advantage of America. But above everything else it has immeasurably strengthened America's capacity for defence. It has enabled America to gather the experience that will prove when her hour of peril strikes an asset of incomparable value and potency. The plants that have been erected to fulfil our orders, the labor that has been trained, and the skill and knowledge that have been amassed are so many natural advantages that cannot be improvised and that nothing else can replace. Working for themselves and for the Allies, the American manufacturers have also been working for their own country.—London Times.

Will Attempt Atlantic Flight.

Copenhagen, Oct. 7.—The National Tidende's Paris correspondent, telegraphs that the Swedish aviator Capt. Hugo Sundstedt, who for some months resided in Paris, will try to fly across the Atlantic. He has secured the support of Henri Farman, who regards Sundstedt as a first class expert. Sundstedt will go in the near future to New York, where he will personally superintend the construction of an aeroplane for the trip. It will be a Curtis hydro aeroplane, furnished with six motors of 260 horse power each, able to fly thirty hours with three passengers. Sundstedt's route will be from Newfoundland to a point on the Irish coast.

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, Sept. 25, 1916.
MOURNING IN THE DOWNING STREET SET.

The Premier's loss affects a very wide circle of people of importance, mostly young people. Lady Granby, as a niece of Mrs. Asquith, is one of those concerned, and, through her, Lady Diana Maaners, who belongs to the same set. The news also affects Lady Cynthia Asquith, the wife of Herbert Asquith. Lady Cynthia has scarcely been out of mourning since the war began, having lost two brothers and other kinsfolk. Raymond Asquith's death will arrest for a time some of the many activities of Miss Elizabeth Asquith, and the big entertainment fixed for October 8th at the Palladium in aid of her Arts Fund, which she hoped to stage-manage, may be postponed.

THE NOVELISTS' VISION.

This war has emphasized how the novelist's imaginative gift may serve a purpose in addition to that for which it is commonly employed—the spinning of tales to divert, to move, or to thrill us. It may also throw out hints and suggestions which the inventor of instruments of war will turn to good account. No matter how wildly improbable the dreams of the fictionist may be, no one, after the experience of this war, will be disposed to say the time will never come when they will be given material shape by the engineer. Very many years before a German submarine appeared in the North Sea, Jules Verne had foreshadowed its coming in "Twenty thousand Leagues Under the Sea." Verne marked out a similar idea in "The English at the North Pole." In this tale a submarine dives under an extensive ice field, just as in this war our E-2 dives beneath the mine fields of the Dardanelles, to reappear in the Sea of Marmora, with results the reverse of pleasant to our enemies. Our own novelists have not been less successful in anticipating what is. In this connection Tennyson's "Locksley Hall," describing "The Nations' Airy Navies Grappling in the Central Blue" will be recalled. In the same poem Tennyson "saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sail," which is surely the source of Count Zeppelin's idea of building Zeppelins to carry commerce to America. Submarines occurred to him. The recent has been aroused by Sir Horace voyage of the Deutschland to America carried out that idea, except that dyes were substituted for grain. Then Ballantyne in "Coral Island" invented a pirate schooner whose deeds the German raider Komat tried to emulate; while the capture of the cruiser Konigsberg in the palm groves of the Rufiji River recalls Marryat's "Pirate and three Cutters." Max Pemberton in the "Iron Pirate" came near to forecasting the career of the German cruiser Emden; and, finally, Jules Verne, in "The Clipper of the Clouds," forestalled (imaginatively, at least) the Zepp, and in "Begum's Fortune" gave the Germans the idea of the gas shell.

MR. ASQUITH'S FIGHTING SONS.

The Prime Minister still has three sons on active service—Herbert, a temporary-Lieutenant, was transferred in June, 1915, to the Royal Marines from the Royal Artillery; Arthur, in the same month, was promoted to the rank of temporary-commander in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve; while Cyril, the fourth son, was gazetted a temporary-captain in the London Regiment a few weeks ago. Lieutenant Herbert Asquith, a barrister, like his father and his dead brother, had served in the Royal Marines, and fought in Flanders before going to the Dardanelles, where he was wounded. Some of his war impressions are in a little book of poems, "The Volunteer," which he published at the end of last year. He married Lady Cynthia, daughter of the Earl of Wemyss, Countess of Sutherland, the third son, entered the R.N.V.R., and took part in the defence of Antwerp as a sub-lieutenant. He then went to the Dardanelles, where he was wounded. Sir John Hamilton mentioned him in despatches. Captain Cyril obtained a commission in the Queen's Westminster shortly after the outbreak of war. Now that Raymond has gone, Cyril is the most brilliant scholar amongst the Asquith brothers. He duplicated the academic record of his eldest brother, just as Raymond had repeated his father's Oxford success.

THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE WAR THEATRES.

Outside the theatrical papers one finds that surprisingly little interest is shown in the campaign against indecency on the stage. The famous General approached the subject from a practical soldier's point of view. He is concerned with "temptations whose sequel is expressed in concrete physical terms and the temporary deprivation of our fighting line of necessary effectives." Sir H. Smith-Dorrien received the powerful but rather sensation-ally worded, support of the Bishop of London, who protested against "shiny and lecherous plays." Sir H. Smith-Dorrien complains that the managers show no sign of helping him in his campaign. On the contrary, such of them as have broken silence are fiercely indignant at these aspersions on the war-time theatre and music-hall. What may be called the official theatrical attitude is illuminating. It is summarised in this quotation from a leading stage journal: "Managers are, of course, justified in giving the public what they think the public wants. And the public now—as always—wants to be amused on the easiest and cheapest terms possible." That is the immortal argument for theatrical licence.

Everyone who keeps in touch with the London stage is well aware that the plea for light amusement in war-time has resulted in unmistakable deterioration. The plays of any serious interest or artistic merit in London at the moment can be counted on the fingers of one hand. We are submerged in a flood of revues and light comedies, about which one can only say that they make no pretence.

COMPULSORY EARLY CLOSING OF SHOPS.

I am told on good authority that all shops in England and Scotland are to be subject to an order providing for compulsory early closing. The intention of the Government is that, subject to the existing weekly half-holiday arrangements, shops of every class are to be closed at the following times: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 7 p.m.; Thursday and Friday at 8, and Saturday at 9. The new order is to come into force on Monday, October 2, the first business day after the expiration of the Summer Time Act. Efforts have been made to secure earlier closing by voluntary arrangement, and the decision of the Government to impose compulsion has been taken in consequence of representations from various commercial organisations. The shopkeepers' desire for earlier closing has of course arisen from the stringent lighting restrictions, which are to be rigidly enforced the coming winter.

"EVERYBODY'S WEARING IT."

War time simplicity in dress, as represented by the coat-frock, is just now the mode in Stagsland. Ethaline Terriss, as the pretty typist in "Broadway Jones," wears a coat-dress in navy serge with sapphire blue collar matching the wings on her black tulle hat. A still more simple vision of the war-worker's favorite garment is one in Jersey cloth with white lawn collar, in which Fay Compton fascinates the Professor of Mr. Baine's love story at the Savoy Theatre. White serge coat-dresses are favored by two lady principals in "High Jinks," Marie Blanche and Nellie Taylor, and a coat frock de luxe with gay striped belt and collar is displayed by Madge Lessing in "The Girl from Cross." In Bond Street and Mayfair generally the coat-frock is daily more and more in evidence.

Flies Back to the Front With His Baggage

Cross-Channel Speed Three Miles a Minute.

With the British Armies in France, Oct. 6.—Never were such numbers of aeroplanes employed and never did they play such an important part as in the battle of the Somme.

The wastage of British aeroplanes at the front has been supplied by the new machines flown across the channel from England, where, after coming from the factory, they are tested out at a home aerodrome. The record time in crossing the Channel at the narrowest point, where the distance is twenty-two miles, is eight minutes.

When the Associated Press Correspondent, who was in London for a day's leave from the front, asked a certain General at the War Office for permission to fly back, the answer was: "Perfectly easy."

"What about my baggage?" asked the correspondent.

"Oh, take it along and strap it on," replied the General. "An aeroplane that carries 150 pounds of bombs will not be bothered with a dress suit case."

A dozen machines, one after another, were due to go to France that day as soon as the wire said a storm on the other side of the Channel had passed. The correspondent slipped into a wadded jacket for protection against the wind, which would also act as a lifebuoy if he happened to fall in the channel, and took his place, a position usually occupied by an observer, who also mans the machine gun.

THE THOUGHTS

A SACRIFICE.

One of the greatest failures of our civilization is the lack of selfless people which it has produced. Education has tended to make man look out for himself rather than for anyone else, and has made him more careless of another's business than of his own. This is the only argument that has any value against many socialist or government owned businesses.

If men were trained to unselfishness instead of selfishness the face of the world would bear a happier look, and many ills would disappear. The best instance of this irresponsible work is found in the advertisement for lumber for the thirty odd thousand feet of lumber used in fitting up the Rinks for our volunteers. This lumber must have cost at the least more than a thousand dollars and now after being used for a few months it is to be sacrificed and will likely bring in about two or three hundred dollars. I don't think that anyone will say that the end of the war is in sight, and that recruiting is going to fall off next spring. There will be a simple need for a barracks, but it looks as if the Government or the Patriotic Committee ignore this, and do not give with any alarm the fact that next year the same expenditure will have to be made to fit up the Rinks again. It is necessary to remove the fittings and lumber from the Rinks now, surely they can be stored until there be no further need of them, instead of being sacrificed now at perhaps a tenth of their cost.

One naturally refrains at this time to criticize unduly the work of the Patriotic lines, but this matter seemed too obviously a mistaken policy to overlook.

THE FIREMEN.

I do not suppose that all firemen are as black as they are generally painted, so that the good men should not be made to suffer with the bad. I do not know much about the trouble.

Rub Your Stiff Neck Good Old 'Nervine'

FIFTEEN MINUTES AFTER USING NERVINE YOU ARE WELL.

Cold, excessive strain and exertion are a common cause of stiff neck, soreness or inflammation.

Generally the cause is so deep-seated that only a liniment as powerful and penetrating as Nervine will effect an immediate removal of pain.

Nervine is powerful, yet penetrating, is the most rapid pain-expelling agent the world knows.

Millions have proved its reliability and millions will share the relief.

Watch Your Step

Many people fail to realize that the common habit of tea and coffee drinking may, sooner or later, handicap ability and hinder progress.

It is a scientific fact that tea and coffee contain a harmful drug, caffeine, which with many, through regular use, causes nervousness, headache, heart flutter, or other annoying ills.

The wise move is to quit both tea and coffee and use which has reached such an acute stage, but if it is true that the merchants object to pay $45.00 or $50.00 per month to firemen I cannot see the force of their objection, if this is the only point of difference. It is little enough for a man to live on in these times, for I presume that most firemen are married and keeping up a house. The dirty and unpleasant occupation also should be considered, as well as the risk of their lives, as of all on board a ship, the engineers and firemen have least opportunity to escape in the event of an accident. If the deadlock occurs simply on the matter of wages the men have my sympathy. There may be, however, other things that "rile" the steamer owners. Delays in sailing have been blamed to some stokers, whose absence from shore makes them fonder when they reach port. Perhaps the owners do not appreciate the forced demand of the firemen. The firemen have their muscle-work to dispose of and they think it worth so much; the merchant also has his goods to dispose of and he values them accordingly. The whole trouble is that the merchant believes thoroughly in the pernicious doctrine of buying in the cheapest market and selling in the dearest market. He does not consider too closely what it means to his employee to get a wage which will not permit him to live decently. The value of any man's labour is, at the very least, equal to the amount it costs him to live, in nourishing food, suitable clothing, and habitable dwelling. I venture to say that not one of the steamer owners who object to the firemen's demand for wages lives at a less rate than five times the salary the firemen ask for, even allowing for luxuries and unnecessary expenditure. The fancied gulf between the fireman and the merchant-owner is not as wide, and should not be as wide, as the contrasts in salary show. If men, even bad men, are treated justly, ninety cases out of a hundred, they will act justly in return. Justice is not a concession, it is a due debt.

Wonderful all Round

Two English officers in billets were longing for a drink, but dared not indulge, as their landlady was a staunch teetotaler and would probably read them a lengthy lecture.

"I know the trick!" exclaimed one, in glee. "Let's ask her for a drop of whiskey to clean our pipes with."

The good woman was truly sympathetic when informed regretfully by the wily twain that their pipes were too foul to smoke, and promptly supplied them with the desired "cleansing fluid."

Later, she asked with a kindly smile: "And was the whiskey successful?"

"It was," replied one of the conspirators. "It was awfully kind of you."

"Not at all," replied the landlady. "I was glad to make use of it. I only bought it the day before yesterday to wash little Fido in, and the results were wonderful."—From the Liverpool Post.

Black continues to be a favorite for all ceremonious wear.

Cape collars for suits are not overwhelmingly successful.

MILNARD'S LINDENT FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.

FOOD PRICES.

Some months ago I advocated some account being taken of foodstuffs; in particular, the necessary foods like sugar, flour, tea, to see that our stocks do not run low especially as winter draws on. And now, suddenly and unexpectedly, we have at last entered the war zone, so to speak, and the wisdom of this course is at once apparent. Happily, the foresight of some merchants finds us at the moment fairly well stocked with flour, tea and sugar. This I judge from the imports, which show 45,000 barrels of flour more imported than at this time last year, and 4,000 cwt sugar more. The large stocks also point to purchase being made under favourable conditions and moderate prices.

The loss of the Stephano, besides leaving us without a very necessary carrier from New York and Halifax, also has had the effect of frightening freighters, and caused shippers to effect war insurance, which up to now, few have felt the necessity of. We must not forget that we are on an island and while it is comparatively easy to control Cabot Strait, it is not always easy to get freight through that way without much delay. It ought to be easy for the Government to ascertain what stocks of food are held and the probability of obtaining other stocks during the winter. It is better to do this now than have to take such drastic action as last year's coal.

Another matter, closely following this, is of course, prices. These are not ordinary times. Business interests, mere money-getting, have, or should have, become secondary to the actual supplying of commodities. If our business men recognized this to the full, I do not think that flour would be the price it is now, nor would it reach $9.50 a barrel for the whole winter. Where is the key that will unlock the heart of business men who will advance the prices of provisions now because they will have to pay more to replace their present stocks, and let some warm, rich, red feeling in? Must it be left to the Government to force prices down? I hope not. I hope that the Patriotic sense (if the Christian sense is wanting), of business men will decide to sell present stocks of provisions at a reasonable profit based on the actual cost of such provisions.

Girls! Have a Mass of Beautiful Hair, Soft, Glossy, Wavy

25-cent bottle destroys dandruff and doubles beauty of your hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.
