Public Notice!

The following extracts from "Orders in Council" respecting the payment of Pensions and other Allowances to the dependants of Seamen of crews of Mercantile vessels engaged in the export of Newfoundland produce to market, are published for general information:—

1.—The master of all sailing vessels carrying cargoes of Newfoundland produce to market, shall, before sailing, forward to the Colonial Secretary, a statement giving (a) the name; (b) Age; (c) Place of birth; (d) Residence; (e) A complete statement of dependants, and (f) the Address of dependants, and (g) the Address of himself and each of the members of his crew.

2.—The benefit to accrue to such dependants are similar to those payable to the dependants of members of the Royal Naval Reserve and of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, under "The War Pensions Act, 1917." Claimants desiring further information or application forms may obtain same from the Secretary of the Board of Pension Commissioners for Newfoundland, at Room 10, Militia Buildings, Water Street, St. John's, East. Claims will be heard and adjusted by the Board of Pension Commissioners for Newfoundland.

W. W. HALFYARD,
 Colonial Secretary.
 Oct. 1, 1918. Oct. 2, 1918.

TORIC LENSES

ARE MORE BECOMING THAN FLAT LENSES.

The edges of Toric Lenses do not show as prominently as those of flat lenses. They fit in close to your eyes. You will find Torics much more becoming and useful. They give you a wider, clearer field vision. You should know about Toric Lenses. Let us explain them.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $5, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Ready dose.

If you combined the curative properties of every known, "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple, home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 3 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with sugar, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made, and saves easily $5. Taste Pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle, and soothes the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Lost Will, OR, LOVE TRIUMPHS AT LAST!

CHAPTER IX.

"I dessey," said Jack, sympathetically; "but you'll get used to it very quickly. It's wonderful how soon one can get used to anything." At the moment he was thinking how quickly he was growing accustomed to the fact that he had lost the fortune she had acquired. "Presently you'll feel as if you'd had all this money all your life."

She shook her head and smiled down at him doubtfully. Then her brows drew together in a way they had when she was troubled.

"Mr. Chalfont," she said hesitatingly, "I have been thinking of the will—the way in which we found it. I ought to tell you that my father considered he had been—yes, I must use the word—robbed and injured by Mr. Chalfont some years ago. I do not know the whole story—the details. Just before he died my father gave me a packet—something like a letter in a sealed envelope—and told me I was not to open it unless I should find myself, after his death, in great poverty and wanted money. Perhaps the paper in the envelope explains this—this sudden change in my fortunes—the will. But I cannot open it."

"Of course not," Jack said, with a nod of comprehension and approval. "I know that my father had been looking for Mr. Chalfont for years, that his object in coming to England was to find him. My father must have come to the house here—must have seen Mr. Chalfont—got him to make the will. Oh, Mr. Chalfont, I am in great trouble about this. Don't you see that Mr. Chalfont might have made this will against his own wish? If so, I've no fight—"

Jack looked at her steadily, reassuringly. "Don't you worry about that, Miss Norton," he said earnestly. "Mr. Chalfont was not the man to be forced—I mean, to do anything he didn't want to do. You take my word for it that if he left you his fortune, it was because he wished to do so, and thought it right. He was a very straight man, though he was a millionaire. And then there's another thing; he had no relatives, none whatever. So it was only natural he should leave the money to the daughter of his old friend, especially if he thought that, in honour, he was bound to do so."

Nora's face cleared somewhat, but she still looked a little doubtful, and Jack wondered whether he ought to tell her about the torn letter Chalfont had written to him, which Horton had found in the waste-paper basket. But Jack decided not to do so; in fact, he couldn't do so without revealing the fact that she had got the fortune which Chalfont wanted to leave to him.

"It's all right," he said. "If Mr. Chalfont hadn't left the money to you, it would have gone—well, we don't know where it might have gone. See here, Miss Norton; you take my advice and don't let your mind dwell upon the—past; it will only worry you, and there's no need for you to worry about how you came into this fortune. Why, sometimes people leave all their money to some chap who has taken them across the road at Charing Cross, some one who has shown them into a pew or lent them a hymn-book. It's evident that Mr. Chalfont had better reasons than these for making you his heiress."

Nora drew a sigh of relief. "You always seem to smooth out everything for me," she said, with a smile. "Yes, I'll try and forget the trouble between my father and Mr. Chalfont. I suppose Mr. Chalfont would have left his money to some charity."

"I dessey," said Jack unblinkingly. "Well, you can give some of it away; in fact, you're sure to do so—you're that sort. I beg your pardon."

"Oh, I think that is very flattering," said Nora, with a laugh. "How do you like Cousin Mabel? I'm afraid she isn't a cousin really; but I've always called her so," asked Jack, with an abrupt change of the subject.

"That is another thing I have to thank you for," said Nora. "You seem to have thought of everything—to have guided me and looked after me in a most wonderful way. Oh, yes, I am very fond of her already; she has been very good to me, and we are great friends."

There was a pause; then, with a sudden rise of colour, she said, hesitatingly: "Mr. Chalfont, I'm going to say something which I fear you will think very inquisitive, intrusive."

"Not I," said Jack cheerily. "You couldn't say anything I should regard in that light. What is it, Miss Norton?"

"I want to speak about Mr. Chalfont and yourself. You and he were great friends; though I've seen so few persons, I have gathered that he looked upon you almost as his son; and I think it strange, very strange, that he has not—"

"She paused, much embarrassed. "Oh, you mean, left me anything?" said Jack, in a cheerful, matter-of-fact tone. "Yes, Mr. Horton's just been telling me that you spoke to him about it. Oh, yes, Mr. Chalfont and I were quite pals. See here, Miss Norton, it's all right; Mr. Chalfont was more than good to me during his life, and there was no earthly reason why she should have left me anything. You see, I have my profession."

He made the statement as if he were a barrister with a thriving practice; and Nora breathed a faint sigh of relief.

"I'm glad," she said. "You will forgive me for speaking about it? I was afraid that Mr. Chalfont's death would mean a great loss to you. You lived here with him, you stood to him almost as a son, as I have said; now I have come." She stopped, and then went on, with a faltering little laugh, "I feel, Mr. Chalfont, as if I had turned you out."

Jack wondered, with grim amusement, what she would say if she knew the truth; but he said, with an air of perfect sincerity: "Oh, that's absurd, of course, Miss Norton. I had rooms here at the Hall because it was convenient for Mr. Chalfont; but I kept my own chambers going, and I live there now. Turn me out!" He laughed. "Pray disabuse your mind of that idea."

Nora was silent for a moment. She wanted to say, "Will you please consider that the rooms here are still yours; will you be so kind as to do so?" but she did not know whether it would be "proper" for her to make the request; and she stood, her brows drawn together, her teeth catching at her lips, her hand on Jim's head.

"You wanted to ask me something?" said Jack. She looked up with sudden eagerness, and yet with an air of apology. "Oh, yes; there are ever so many things. Mr. Horton tells me that you looked after, managed, the estate here."

"That's so," assented Jack. "Really, when I come to think of it, it was about all I did in return for Chalfont's great goodness to me. You see, I'm country-bred, and know more about things belonging to an estate than he did; so, gradually, he let the thing slip into my hands—I mean, the looking after the tenants, the stables, and the preserves."

She looked a little puzzled, and Jack laughingly explained. "I don't mean the jam cupboard, but the birds. Mr. Chalfont wanted to get up a good head of game and have some big shoots. Of course, that's over now; but there are a lot of things to see to, and no doubt you'll have an agent. Mr. Horton will be able to find you a good one."

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything new without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTZING, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays, overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength, the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, back-ache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Wortzling.

He should have left me anything. You see, I have my profession."

"I want to be a good one," she said. "I've read so much about the wrongs of tenants—"

"Oh, come now!" said Jack, smiling. "Don't you believe all you read. Take it all round, there are more good landlords than bad; and Mr. Chalfont was certainly one of the former. He was very good to his people—though he didn't paperize them, mind you! That's the cruellest kind of kindness. But he was never hard; always ready with the repairs, and when a man's rent wanted knocking down Mr. Chalfont knocked it down."

"You mean you did," she said, with a smile. "Same thing," said Jack. "Ho was always open-handed."

"I want to go on like that," she said. "I want to be a real friend to them; I want them all to be prosperous."

"To let them live rent free, shoot all the game, and regard the Hall as a shop where they can get everything they want without paying for it," said Jack, grinning. "Yes, I know. But that won't do; and I think I ought to tell you that you've got an agent who'll protect you against yourself."

"I shall need protecting against myself in many other ways," said Nora. "I don't mean against being too charitable, but against making mistakes in every direction. I wonder whether—"

She checked herself. "Do you realize—are you too good-natured, Mr. Chalfont, to realize that, since the first moment we met, you have befriended me, I have been a burden to you? I have got to rely on you at every turn; and I have to guard against that great weakness in women—the habit so easily acquired, of leaning on the man who has been good to them. We are all trespassers, Mr. Chalfont, in this respect."

"That's all right," said Jack. "I shall feel honoured if you will come to me, make use of me, whenever you want to do so."

She looked a little puzzled, and Jack laughingly explained. "I don't mean the jam cupboard, but the birds. Mr. Chalfont wanted to get up a good head of game and have some big shoots. Of course, that's over now; but there are a lot of things to see to, and no doubt you'll have an agent. Mr. Horton will be able to find you a good one."

gratitude. "I'll arrange the matter with Mr. Horton. Don't you worry any more about it."

"You speak as if it were a very small thing you were doing for me. Won't it take a great deal of your time?" she faltered.

"Oh, I shall like it," said Jack. "I've plenty of time—I mean," he corrected himself hastily, "that I can spare time quite well. I shall have to come down pretty often; but I needn't bother you very much."

"Not I," responded Jack, promptly and sincerely. "I understand; I know how you feel about it." It was exactly as he had begun to feel. "And so you are responsible, in a way; of course, they rely on you. There's all the difference in the world between a good and a bad landlord."

"I want to be a good one," she said. "I've read so much about the wrongs of tenants—"

"Oh, come now!" said Jack, smiling. "Don't you believe all you read. Take it all round, there are more good landlords than bad; and Mr. Chalfont was certainly one of the former. The proper care of wet shoes

The high cost of shoes makes it imperative to use every means to make them last as long as possible. Moisture is their worst enemy. It dries and cracks the leather, ruins their shape and shortens their life of wear.

You can save yourself many a dollar by using "Fitall" Shoe Trees in your shoes. They not only immediately restore them to their original shape, but make your shoes wear longer and give you infinitely greater comfort.

WAR REVIEW.

The town of St. Quentin, upon which the Germans had so firmly builded their hopes of proving an insuperable barrier to the Allies, at last has been entered by the French, and seemingly the gateway is open to Marshal Foch for a swift advance eastward in his task of reclaiming Northern France. Meanwhile the Germans and their Allies on all the fronts have continued to play a losing game, and report has it that the Turks, realizing the critical situation through successive defeats, and the withdrawal of Bulgaria from the war, are sending out "peace feelers."

From Northern Belgium to the region of Verdun, the battlefield is still seething with activity on various fronts, with the Entente forces continuing to make gains against the Germans, which are seriously impeding the enemy lines. In Flanders, the Belgians and British in the region from Dixmude to Armentieres, have further driven in their sharp wedge eastward, capturing important towns and cutting lines of communication necessary to the continued holding by the Germans of their submarine bases on the North Sea. From Cambrai to St. Quentin, notwithstanding most violent reactions from the Germans, the British, Americans and French again have won heavily fortified positions of the area all along the front. The town of St. Quentin at last has been taken by the French, and the enemy realising that Cambrai is no longer tenable has given it up to the torch. Between the two lines, the remaining portions of the 3d Hindenburg line are slowly being demolished, although the Germans have imposed the strength of nearly half a million men against the Allied troops to hold the front, the breaking through of which in conjunction with the successful manoeuvre in Flanders along the Aisne and in Champagne would mean disaster. Between the Vesle and Aisne Rivers the French continue to push the Germans north of the Aisne while in Champagne the French operating in conjunction with the Americans are steadily advancing northward. Their guns now dominate the Aisne River valley, running to the north of the Argonne forest, while on the other side slowly coming up the Aisne valley from the south, and soon will be in a position with the French to nip this great wooden bastion out of the German lines. In the mountain region of the Italian front there has been a considerable increase in artillery action, and it is probable that Marshal Foch will soon begin an offensive here against the Austro-Hungarians.

General Allenby in Palestine has surrounded Damascus and French cavalry is reported to be working its way up the Mediterranean Sea coast to theatre west of Lake Bochrada. The Austrians are evacuating territory in Albania, probably indicating that now Bulgaria is out of the war the Austro-Hungarians realise they are in a serious position far from home and with no allies to aid them. Peace demonstrations have been held in Berlin in which police intervention became necessary. Some excesses were committed by the crowds, such as the tearing down of statues. The possibility of a cabinet crisis in Germany is indicated by the resignation of the Imperial Chancellor, Vice Chancellor and Foreign Minister. The possibility of a cabinet crisis in Germany is indicated by the resignation of the Imperial Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor and Foreign Minister. In the recent fighting in France and Flanders the German losses in men killed or wounded and in guns captured have been enormous. To the Belgians the Germans lost virtually all their forward defensive artillery and some heavy naval guns. Navy men were made prisoners. During September, the British took 65,300 prisoners, 700 guns of all calibres and thousands of machine guns in addition to inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy. In August and September took 138,513 prisoners and 1,400 guns.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

HAMILTON, Oct. 1.—Delegates from all over the Dominion and Newfoundland were flowing to Hamilton to-day for the opening session of the quadrennial session of the Methodist Church of Canada which opens to-morrow morning in the First Methodist Church. Rev. S. D. Chow, L.L.D., General Supt. and presiding officer of the Conference, and Rev. T. Albert Moore, Secretary of the Conference, who also holds the position of Secretary of Social Service and Evangelism, were among the early arrivals. The proceedings commence to-morrow morning with the observance of the Lord's Supper. The rest of the morning will be devoted to Conference business. In the afternoon, Dr. Chow will deliver the quadrennial address which promises to be a message of great importance. The public reception of the delegates will take place in the evening when Mayor Booker will welcome them; responding addresses being made by Mr. Justice McKeown, of St. John's, N.B., and Rev. Dr. Chow.

THE MONTH'S CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Casualties among the British forces during the month of September totalled 94,337 officers and men divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, officers 1,899, men 12,914; wounded or missing, officers 5,573; men 72,551.

ST. QUENTIN CAPTURED.

FRANCE, Oct. 1.—French troops entered St. Quentin this afternoon.

DESIRES PEACE.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 1.—According to Budapest newspapers, the Austro-Hungarian Government desires peace in agreement with Germany, notwithstanding the fact that measures have been taken for defence as a result of Bulgaria's withdrawal from the war.

U. S. INCREASED COAL SUPPLY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Greatly increased supplies of coal to meet the demand of the nation's vast military programme and to assure adequate supplies for domestic needs, are expected by officials to result from the increased production campaign launched by the Fuel Administrator Geffield, calling for an increase of sixteen and one-half per cent. in the bituminous output and an increase of six and one-third per cent. in the anthracite output in the next six months. The bituminous fields are asked for an average production of 12,234,000 tons weekly, an increase of 2,000,000 tons over the production of the same period last year, and the anthracite mines are asked to average 2,050,000 tons weekly, an increase as compared with the winter months of last year of 121,000.

THREATENING BELGIAN COAST POSITIONS.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN

FLANDERS, Oct. 1.—Strong British patrols have fought their way through the town of Warneton on the Lys river, between Armentieres and Menin, and also have gone through LeBasse, Yvile and St. Peter's. The German's to-day continued to fight as desperate as before, but every hour sees the menace to the Belgian coast positions which the British and Belgians are driving closer to Bruges. The continued success of the Flanders operations, it is anticipated, will have wide and most important effects in more ways than one. The Germans will try to hold on there as they have never held any place before, and it is not improbable the fighting may develop into a very fierce battle. Belgian cavalry have come into action in the neighbourhood of Roulers and have succeeded in clearing up strips of the country.

DEATH STARING GERMANY IN THE FACE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—An official despatch from France to-day quotes the German Socialist newspaper Vorwarts on the Bulgarian situation as follows: Bulgaria deserts the Central Alliance to make peace. We, the German people, then, remain alone to face the French, English and Americans with our backs to the wall and death facing us. Such is the situation that we have in view to-day, and we must meet it with the necessary courage. The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger says no one can avoid seeing how great the danger is owing to the Bulgarian crisis, and it would be a crime to conceal it.

PROBABLE SUCCESSOR TO HERTLING.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—Dr. W. S. Solf, the German Minister of Colonies, is mentioned in Berlin political circles as successor to Count Von Hertling, the retiring Imperial Chancellor, according to a despatch from Zurich to Le Journal. Then in the order named the following are spoken of as candidates for the position: Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, German Minister to Denmark; Count Von Bernstorff, former Ambassador at Washington, and now Ambassador at Turkey; Friderich Von Payer, Imperial Vice-Chancellor, and Konstantin Fehrenbach, the President of the Reichstag.

BANK PRESIDENT SHOT.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Nicholas Kyriakopoulos, President of the Atlas Exchange National Bank, was shot and killed on the street last night. Peter Demeopoulous, when arrested, is said by the police, to have admitted the shooting and to have declared that the dead man had "induced" him.

GAINED IMPORTANT TERRITORY AND ENORMOUS CAPTURES.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—Extraordinary heavy fighting has been in progress throughout the day along the Cambrai-St. Quentin sector, according to Field Marshal Haig's report to-night. Notwithstanding increased German resistance, the British have gained important territory along the greater part of the line. During the month of September the British captured on the Western front 66,300 prisoners and 700 guns. During the months of August and September the British captured 123,618 prisoners, and 1,400 guns. The text of the statement reads:—The operations continued satisfactory to-day on the St. Quentin-Cambrai battlefield. On our extreme right northeast of St. Quentin we made considerable advances eastward on to the high ground east of Leveghes. Further north we gained a footing in Joncourt, stormed the defences of the village of Estres, and cleared the enemy from the high ground south of Le Catelet. In the centre fighting of a severe nature is taking place in the villages of Crevecoeur and Rumilly and on the rising ground north and east of these places. On the left between Cambrai and the river Seneze our troops have been severely engaged throughout the morning in attack and counter-attack with fresh hostile forces brought up to the battlefield. Notwithstanding we made progress east of Tilloy, and in the neighbourhood of Bellecourt. During the four days' fighting from Sept. 27th on the St. Quentin-Cambrai battlefield we engaged and defeated with heavy losses thirty-six German divisions (approximately 432,000 men). During the month of September the British forces captured 66,300 prisoners, including 1,600 officers and also 700 guns of all calibres and some thousands of machine guns.

NFLD. CASUALTIES.

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—The name of P. T. Ryan, Blackhead, Nfld., appeared in to-day's casualty lists as wounded and missing.

AMERICANS IN DESPERATE FIGHTING.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE ST. QUENTIN SECTOR, Sept. 30 (by the A. P.)—American forces fighting on the Hindenburg line south of Gouy have been heavily engaged all day, and to-night the action still continues. Australian units have been co-operating with the Americans near the north and south portions of the tunnel, through which the St. Quentin Canal runs. The fighting has been especially vigorous. It was at this point that the Americans passed over the canal. Thousands of Germans poured into the struggle and have been killed, the tunnel mouth being choked with dead. This action began late last evening and continued until eight o'clock this morning with unabated intensity. American units are now holding trenches in the Hindenburg line, from which the Germans have tried to force them.

THE BULGARIAN CONVENTION.

LONDON, Sept. 30. (Delayed).—The Convention with Bulgaria signed yesterday, was a purely military arrangement which was entered into on behalf of the Allies by the French and other military commanders. No political problems are dealt with, and the questions of boundaries are left to the peace conference. There has been much discussion in the English press on the status of King Ferdinand, and suggestions have been made that he be deposed. That matter was also outside the scope of the Convention. The Government of the Allies takes the view that according to their principle of self-determination, the question of who should govern the Bulgarian people will be left to the latter to decide if such a question arises in Bulgaria. Events are marching rapidly and interest is now focussed on Turkey.

WHAT CAUSED THE SURRENDER.

PARIS, Oct. 1.—It was the fear of revolution at home and the failure of Germany and Austria to send him the military forces he required, that induced King Ferdinand of Bulgaria to turn to the Entente for help, according to the American Consul-General at Sofia (Dominick Murphy), as quoted in a despatch to the Matin from Saloniki. The Consul-General, the despatch states, gave interesting details on his arrival at Saloniki from Sofia in company with the Bulgarian plenipotentiaries, of the conditions in the Bulgarian capital leading up to the demand for an armistice. King Ferdinand, the account declares, assembled the Grand Council on Sept. 23rd with the result that a formal demand was made on Berlin and Vienna for immediate assistance. Despite the urgent tone of the demand, Germany and Austria responded with evasive promises for the future. That, the account continues, settled the determination of King Ferdinand to forsake the Powers which had brought only desolation to Bulgaria, and entrust her destinies to the Entente.

WILL PROBABLY ABDICATE.

ROME, Oct. 1.—The Vatican has received confidential information from Vienna, that King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, will abdicate in favor of his son, Prince Boris.

NOT TERRITORY, BUT MEN.

BASIL, Switzerland, Oct. 1.—Premier Malinoff, of Bulgaria, is accused by the Strassburg Post of having concealed from the Bulgarians a decision arrived at by the Central Powers nearly ten days ago to turn over the entire province of Dobruja to Bulgaria. The newspaper declares that such a decision was reached in Berlin on Sept. 23, during the visit of Talaat Pasha, the Turkish Premier, but that Premier Malinoff failed to make the decision known to the Bulgarian army in time to prevent Bulgarian's asking for an armistice.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEFEATED.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—Woman suffrage was beaten in the Senate by 53 to 31. The Senate failed to give the two-third majority necessary to adopt the resolution passed by the House submitting to the States the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment to the suffrage constitution.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The loss of the Bulgarians to the Central Alliance is regarded by the London morning papers as foreshadowing the end of the great four years' tragedy. The editorial writers for the most part are unable to see how Turkey can avoid following the Bulgarian lead, while some believe Austria-Hungary must do the same. For Germany it is held the surrender spells ruin for her hopes in the Middle East, and her aspirations of world-

BEAT DOWN COUNTER ATTACKS.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE ST. QUENTIN SECTOR, Sept. 30.—Everywhere along the British front the battle was progressing to-day under unfavorable weather conditions. The British movement appeared to be pivoted on Joncourt. Windy winds and rain sweeping in from the North Sea drenched the fighting armies and chilled them to the bone. On the important Flanders battlefield the Belgians and British not only gained further ground, but beat down completely the desperate counter attacks of the Germans who are striving to eliminate the Allied menace to the territory they hold between Roulers and Ostend.

Elsewhere to-day we publish a statement from the Food Control Board, which is also of the nature of a warning to the people of Newfoundland, coupled with the request that they do all in their power to conserve the several items of food mentioned, viz: Flour, Butter, Pork, Beef, Cheese, and Sugar. The slogan that "Food will win the war. Don't waste it" has been heralded to the people from pulpit, platform and press, but it is obvious to the most casual student that this sound advice has not been universally accepted in the spirit in which it is given. There is a tendency, altogether too strong, on the part of most people to belittle the efforts being made by the gentlemen comprising the Food Control Board for the purpose of conserving and economizing food. To those who would say that the matter is too serious to be treated either casually or with levity, and the warning published to-day has for its sole effect the impressing upon everyone of the extreme necessity for saving. As we have repeatedly pointed out, the first duty of all is to the soldiers who are fighting our battles. The need for their supply of food is absolute and imperative. They must come first and every energy must be devoted to their maintenance and equipment. "Our army fights upon its stomach," said Napoleon Bonaparte, the greatest military genius of his age, and if that was true then, it is equally true to-day. One cannot realize the vast quantities of supplies necessary to the feeding of the armies in France and in the near and far East. Our French, Italian and Serbian Allies too, rely on their food rations from the Western Hemisphere, and failure to keep up the shipments will certainly result in disaster if not defeat. Now is the time to prove our real patriotism. We are not being asked to make any extra sacrifices, in fact we are not requested to make any sacrifices at all; merely to save and be economical in our use of certain classes of food. A more full realization of the position of Newfoundland with regard to the supplies which we import from Canada and the United States, by special permission now, will make it clear that we are not in a position to demand stocks. Rather are we supplicants, in a sense, and any show of extravagance or waste on our part will meet with a close curtailment of many articles which we cannot do without. The Food Board is doing its very best in our behalf. Let us not spoil their good work by any overt act calculated to set at naught all that it is doing for our benefit. The regulations issued from time to time should be observed by everybody. Strict conformity to them will ensure that sufficient food will be permitted Newfoundland to carry us through the dark days of the war, and on into the time when normal conditions will be restored to the world at peace.

Notes and Comments

An evening contemporary does not approve of "gasless" Sundays, and opines that the necessity has not yet arisen. Perhaps not.

Dozens of people asked and "called up" the Secretary of the Motor Association to know if next Sunday will be "gasless." His answer, unfortunately, was NO.

The Telegram offered the suggestion in last Saturday's editorial that saving of gasoline would help win the war. Evidently this is not the opinion of some of our city motorists. It is a poor argument because we have ample stocks that there should be no let up in consumption.

Referring to Emperor William's recent speeches, a New Brunswick paper says that "he talks as Belsazar might have talked immediately after his last interview with the prophet Daniel."

Chancellor Von Hertling told the German Reichstag the other day that the present war had been caused by the late King Edward VII. It is at least to be said for Von Hertling that he is an original sort of cuss at lying.

"If Allenby continues to take prisoners at his present rate in Palestine," says the Sydney Record, "it will soon be a question whether he or the Turco-German commander will have the most Turkish soldiers under his orders."

According to a medical authority, the so-called "Spanish Influenza" is, (be careful, please) "Epidemic catarrh characterized by acute inflammation of the mucous membrane of the air passages, attended by severe constitutional disturbances (reminds one of Central American revolutions) followed by great debility." Medical science is great at defining diseases, even if it cannot cure them quickly.

A cynical observer on newspaper subjects is said to have remarked: "The two classes this world could least afford to lose are preachers and newspaper men; for the preachers tell us the truth, and the newspaper men tell us everything else."

A. this year on the playing fields. The teams of the football and baseball leagues also the Blue Puttees players, who did such effective work and added so considerably to the funds, will be present. The Golf Club members, who also held competitions for the W. P. A., will be invited. Refreshments and a smoking concert at which some of the best talent of the city will contribute, will be features of what promises to be a most enjoyable ending to the season's sports and the bringing together for the first time on such an occasion the various athletes of the city.

Nfldr. Killed at Halifax.

A message was received in the city on Sunday, stating that Mr. Eli Heffernan, a native of Newfoundland, had been killed by a train at Halifax on Saturday last, Sept. 28, while crossing the railway track within the yard limits. Deceased who was employed at building bungalows near the railway station was crossing the yard in the rear of an outgoing train when he was hit by a train coming in the opposite direction and instantly killed. Mr. Heffernan was formerly a Methodist school teacher at Grand Bank and left to reside in Halifax about ten years ago. He is survived by a widow and several children. Mr. Leonard Heffernan, of Upper Battery Road, is a relative, and Mr. Andrew Luscombe, of British Square. To the sorrowing relatives the Telegram offers deep sympathy. The late Mr. Heffernan was a prominent Mason and a Past Master of "Fidelity" Lodge, E.C. Grand Bank.

Government Official Given Increase.

We learn from good authority that at last night's meeting of the Executive Council the Government passed an Order-in-Council giving an increase in salary to all civil servants who at present receive less than two thousand dollars per annum. The scale, we understand, is to officials who at present receive $1,000 or less per annum will receive an increase of 25 p.c.; over $1,000 to $1,500 a 20 p.c. increase; from $1,500 to $2,000 an increase of 15 p.c. The increases are to date from July 1st of this year.

Returned Soldiers Honoured.

The ladies of the Church of England at King's Cove held a social tea in the L. O. A. Hall on Wednesday, the 28th ult., to celebrate the homecoming of our returned and wounded heroes, Sgt. R. G. Brown and L. Corp. John W. Brown. The affair was well attended by friends and visitors. Addresses of welcome were given by Rev. S. A. Dawson and Mr. Joseph Currie, Worthy Master of L. O. A., King's Cove. Songs were nicely rendered by Miss Elsie Curtis and Messrs. Barry and Carter, visitors from Greenspond. Before the conclusion L. Corp. Brown, on behalf of Sgt. Brown and for himself, thanked the ladies and gentlemen for their kindness and expressed pleasure at being home again. After dancing and games had been participated in, the National Anthem was sung and hearty cheers given for our brave heroes.—Com.

Police Court.

The two young men who surrendered themselves at the police station before court this morning charged with assaulting two policemen and a woman. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded for eight days.

Two young boys of tender ages were before the court, charged with being loose and disorderly persons. They were found at one o'clock this morning asleep in a box on the dock. They were sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment.

A young man for being drunk, cruel to his horse and for fast and furious driving, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 or 14 days. Dr. Anderson was the plaintiff.

Fence Broken.

We desire the proper authorities to notice the fence that has been broken down, on the South Side Road, just a short distance west of the trestle. As this fence, or where the fence should be, overlooks a steep bank, with the railway track running along parallel with it, it is a dangerous thing to allow time to go on without repairing this fence, in order to avert accidents.

What's Wrong at the Post Office?

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—What's the trouble at the Post Office, this city, that within the last week three men, tried and found good officials, have resigned from there?

Some of the Postal Telegraph officials, too, are considering placing their resignations in the hands of Postmaster General Robinson, whilst three of those latter staff left the service a month ago.

What's wrong? Nothing only this, Sir, that the officials at the P.O. are not receiving even a living wage, and what is worse have no hopes that the present Government will give any kind of a decent rise.

It is quite apparent that if the Postmaster General wishes to hold a competent staff he will (it follows) see to it and recommend it and have it that those under his department be paid at least enough to live on. A competent staff of employees creates a competent service, and if Mr. Robinson wants things to go with that precision which marks a well appointed service then he must hold on to those officials who know the work and are handling it with accuracy and despatch. It is a well known fact that the P. O. clerks have never been sufficiently remunerated for the important work they perform.

The whole public service is to the greater part dependent on the Postal staff and if those men walked out on strike to-morrow what a fix the public would be in. The Government, which pays away thousands of dollars to pleasure seeking individuals, such as Dr. Lloyd and others, is asked to give the P. O. people a rise—a just rise—in salary. If it have to write on this matter again, and write I will, I will quote some figures of salaries paid to competent men in the P. O., which will cause a just and decent public to wake up and see for themselves.

Yours truly,
"SQUARE DEAL"

American Trawler Kingfisher Captured.

An Atlantic Port, September 22.—News reached here yesterday afternoon of the capture by a German submarine of the Boston steam trawler Kingfisher on Friday morning, on the fishing banks about seventy-five miles east of here. Capt. O'Riley and the crew of the trawler arrived at a fishing village on the coast yesterday morning and reported that at five o'clock Friday morning, when the Kingfisher had just arrived on the banks from Boston, a shell whistled between the vessel's foremast and mainmast. They looked in the direction of the sound but could see nothing. A minute later another shell passed dangerously close to the trawler and Captain O'Riley stopped the Kingfisher. A submarine hove in sight through the haze and bore down on the trawler.

The U-boat came alongside and her skipper asked Captain O'Riley if he had seen any other ships in the vicinity. The trawler's master replied in the negative, whereupon the German ordered him to abandon his ship, saying that he was going to sink her. The crew of the trawler took to their two boats, and Captain O'Riley delivered the ship's papers to the German, as ordered.

The Vicious Circle in Prices.

(From the Lewiston Journal.)

Are you chasing the price of food by the price of the wage and chasing the price of the wage by the price of food—like the absurd puppy dog that amuses himself by chasing his tail? To be sure the dog forgets his dead while he is whirling but, when he gets tired, the fleas are there and have been merely enjoying a little extra high-speed. Refreshed and exhilarated, they can now bite the harder. You say—"It's all right! Everyone is having a good time." But is everyone having it? In some towns, especially where the Government is putting its premium on extravagance by a cost-plus contract for speed and where the cost of ships to the nation is the most outrageous example of waste that history has ever known, many are having "good times" spending money as we have seen them spend it in Leadville or other mining camps in flush days of big strikes. When it is over, the "fleas" (luxurious tastes) ideal of the non-existence of such a thing as "small change"; the "champagne appetite" as it has been called) will remain, and the whirl will be over. So—just a bit of old-fashioned advice. Save the loose change. Hang on to the big money. Buy for your needs; save from your luxuries. There may be a long cold winter after this summer season of prodigality in which Uncle Sam has been throwing millions on millions around with never a thought of anything but more millions yet to come. You may need it, then.

BRITISH OPINION ON ENEMY MORAL.

As the news from the Western front comes to hand, daily in a most encouraging manner hope runs high that before the mists of autumn fall the enemy may be forced by the British Army beyond Lille, Douai and Cambrai, and that the French and Americans may yet win more remarkable successes in their portion of the line. "The man in the street" here is vigorously exercising his mind upon the question of enemy moral, and from the comments one hears there seems to be a widespread expectation of a sudden and general collapse of German will-power, to continue the war. Such a collapse is, of course, possible. It occurred in 1866, and Napoleon had all the German states at his mercy. But there is nothing more misleading than historical analogies. The saying that history repeats itself is fallacious. The conditions are never the same, and the German Empire is a totally different military organization from that which fell to pieces under the stroke of Napoleon's sword. As for the actual state of German moral in the field it was plithy described to me to-day by a soldier just back from the Western front. Asked whether the enemy are still fighting stoutly his reply was: "Some do; some don't." That probably expresses the truth of the matter. Meanwhile there is illuminating evidence in a Reuters despatch showing that the Germans without General Humbert's army most stubbornly obeying their orders to stand their ground literally and "dying where they stood rather than give way or surrender."

The public mind is rightly elated by the astonishing successes of the past week, but cautious people are wary of extravagant expectations. The talk about a break-up of enemy moral is premature.

TWO MILLION GERMAN DEAD.

The latest German casualty figures circulated from Berlin gave the number of killed during the war at 1,400,000. This figure has been accepted by writers in some of the newspapers here as being more or less accurate—the German Government aimed at getting out the statement. Some critics, adopting the German statistics, have drawn comparisons with our own casualties of a gloomy character. Comparison is worthless in any case, as the number of British killed up to date has not been officially announced—a fact which gave Lord Northcliffe the opportunity for his wildly sensational figure of 900,000 on the occasion of the banquet in Printing-house Square, where the London "Times" is published. It can be stated quite definitely that the German figure of killed is very much below the truth. Estimates of German casualties are naturally based on conjecture, but the information available allows of its being stated that the number of Germans killed in the war is, at a conservative estimate, over 1,000,000, and may be very much more than that.

THE COST OF THE WAR.

In the early years of the war the fascinating exercise of estimating the total cost to all the belligerent nations was a game much in vogue with statisticians and financial writers. As the war lengthened out and the accounts of various nations became more and more impossible to unravel the exercise declined in popularity. But two new estimates from financial experts have recently come to my notice. One is made by the German National Bank, who in their August circular put its total figure at 34,000 to 36,000 million sterling for all the belligerents up to the end of July, 1918. The other was put forward by the Mechanics and Metals National Bank of New York, whose figure for the same period is 31,000 million sterling. Even the latter figure would be about six times the aggregate cost of all the following wars: Napoleonic, Crimean, American Civil, Franco-Prussian, South African, Russo-Japanese.

Rouge Bouquet.

By the Late Sergt. Joyce Kilmer, Killed in France.

In a wood they call the Rouge Bouquet
 There is a new-made grave to-day,
 Built by never a spade nor pick
 Yet covered with earth ten meters thick.
 There lie many fighting men,
 Dead in their youthful prime,
 Never to laugh nor love again,
 Nor taste the Summer-time.
 For Death came flying through the air
 And stooped his flight at the gunshot stair,
 Touched his prey and left them there,
 Clay to clay.
 He hid their bodies stealthily
 In the soil of the land they fought to Free.
 And fled away
 Now over the grave, abrupt and clear
 Three volleys ring;
 And perhaps their brave young spirits
 Hear.
 The bugle sing:
 "Go to sleep!
 Go to sleep!"
 Slumber well where the shell screamed and fell.
 Lay from their rest on the muddy floor,
 You will not need them any more.
 Danger's past;
 Now at last,
 Go to sleep!

There is on earth no worthier grave
 To hold the bodies of the brave
 Than this place of pain and pride,
 Where they nobly fought and nobly
 died.
 Never fear but in the skies
 Saints and angels stand
 Smiling at their holy eyes
 On this new-come band.
 St. Michael's sword darts through the air
 And touches the aureole on his hair
 And he sees them stand saluting there,
 His stalwart sons:
 And Patrick, Bridgid, Columkille
 Rejoice that in veins of warriors still
 The Gael's blood runs.

And up to Heaven's doorway haste,
 From the wood called Rouge Bouquet.
 A delicate cloud of bugle notes
 That softly says:

MOTHER AND AUNT.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

A difficulty between a mother and aunt was brought to my attention the other day.

The aunt lives in the home of her married sister (not as a pensioner, but simply for the greater convenience of both parties). The sister has four children. The aunt wants to reprove the children when they do things that she thinks are not right or that annoy her. The mother says that she has no business to interfere with her children.

There are some situations in life in which one gives sympathies instinctively to one party, and one's reprobatation to the other.

There are other situations in which one gives sympathies instinctively to both parties. And to me this is one of these.

Hard to Live in the House With Other People's Children.

I think there is nothing harder than to live in the house with children, and to have the inevitable itch to guide and direct and restrain, which children seem to arouse in an older person, and not to be able to relieve that itch by word or deed.

Unless it is to be a mother and to have someone constantly showing by word or deed that he or she thinks he could bring up your children better than you are doing it.

The Aunt's Complaint.

In this case this is the aunt's complaint, "She simply will not make the children mind. She tells them she is going to punish them if they do something, and then she doesn't keep her word. She says 'No, you can't have this' and then they tease and she gives it to them. And you know how children ride you when you treat them that way. And then she treats them so much she makes it a lot harder for herself. But if I made a protest she is furious. She doesn't even like it if I reprove the children when they rub their greasy hands over my dress or do things like that."

And this is the mother's complaint, "She's always finding fault with the way I bring up the children. And she's always nagging at them if they touch her, and finding fault with their table manners or telling about other children that button their own shoes or something like that. It makes me nervous enough to fly."

"Both Are Wrong And Both Are Right."

The party who brought this matter to my attention asked for my advice. One can't say much, but here are a few suggestions.

First, the mother should permit the aunt to reprove the children when they encroach upon her in any way. Children are naturally lawless and one must sometimes defend oneself from them.

Second, the aunt should never question the mother's authority or criticize the mother in the presence of the children, (if at all).

And lastly, both should realize that the other's situation contains elements of difficulty and should try to be tolerant.

Fads & Fashions.

A rich peacock blue velour cloak can very well be lined with plaid. A straight gown of velveteen has an inside body and sleeves of net.

The slender one-piece dresses are becoming to both girls and women. Fillet collars are particularly attractive on dark one-piece frocks.

The heavy silk cord girdle is an interesting solution to the waist line. Solid head bags and bead-trimmed bags become more and more fascinating.

Nowadays a one-piece dress seems absolutely essential to every wardrobe.

A draped turban of silk and velvet ends with a "cabbage" in the front. A stockinet dress is enriched by heavy wool embroidery on the sash alone.

A striped cloak with an immense collar is of gray on a darker gray ground.

In making up soft materials like silk, it is well to choose flowing sleeves.

THE JESTER

Some wondered why he smiled when all were sad.

Some questioned how he had the heart to sing.

When every day the wiles new grief might bring.

And frowned because he snatched rich moments glad from hours made black by bitter sorrowing.

"Has he no sense of pity," low, they asked.

"That he still laughs when eyes of women weep?"

And death's grim news is flashed beneath the deep?

To-day the lives of men are sorely tasked.

And yet he jests as bitter posts they keep."

Yet there were those who heard him jest and sing.

And wished that he might pass their way again;

They had been soothed and comforted of pain.

Some of their weight of grief had taken wing.

And they were humming low a glad refrain.

They never guessed the anguish in his heart.

Some thought his eyes had never shed a tear;

Yet he had mourned and suffered pain severe.

And, understanding, played the jester's part.

To lighten sorrow with a flash of cheer.

What Bishop Fallon Saw at the Front.

The Toronto Daily Star of Saturday gave the following report of an address delivered by His Lordship Bishop Fallon to the citizens of London, Catholic and non-Catholic, who assembled to welcome him on his return from overseas:

Convinced by first-hand knowledge gained during a five-months' visit to the battle front in France and Belgium, of the truthfulness of revelations concerning German cruelty, Bishop M. P. Fallon has brought back with him if possible, a deeper-seated reverence for the cause of the Allies than possessed him before his departure.

His Lordship was tendered a warm reception by Catholics and Protestants of the city at St. Peter's Parish Hall last night, and during the course of an address on his experiences he dwelt for a time on the bombardment of the Canadian base hospitals at Etaples and Toulon, where numerous Ontario nurses and soldiers were foully murdered.

He declared that he had at times doubted some of the stories of atrocities he had heard, but he was a witness to the destruction of these hospitals. He condemned the English system which he says kept from the world the full details of crimes such as would make any man want to fight to avenge them, if he had a drop of red blood in his veins.

At Toulon, he said, an officer was on the operating table—his life in the balance. Two surgeons worked over him and with them nurses and orderlies, when suddenly a high explosive bomb crashed through the roof, killing or burning to death, the patient and all of his attendants.

"Then," continued the Bishop, "while the buildings were in flames these chivalrous Germans swooped down to cruelly machine-gun the nurses and orderlies as they sought to rescue the patients trapped in the wrecked buildings."

These were circumstances, His Lordship thought, had been too long withheld from the world.

Then came the bombardment of the Etaples Hospital, which he also inspected. There three hundred nurses and soldiers were cold-bloodedly slain by the German raiders.

That day one of the German raiders descended because of motor trouble in the Canadian lines.

With General Watson he heard the interrogation of the Germans, and to his audience repeated what occurred.

"Did you know you were bombing hospitals?" General Watson demanded of the Hun.

"Yes," he at once replied.

"Why did you do so?" pressed the General.

"Because," came the answer, "these are our orders, and if we didn't do as we are told we would have our ears pulled when we got back."

Such crimes, the Bishop asserted, could have but one objective, to set the face and heart of every decent man against them.

Before going overseas, he said, he did not believe all of the stories of atrocities, and especially the claim that the Germans had cut off the hands of children. But in France General Sir Arthur Currie had said to him: "I saw it." The General added, "The war will never end as far as I am concerned until the Germans are given a taste of war on German soil."

"But do not let us begin to talk of the war being over," he counselled. "Let us talk of the war going on until it is properly over, and until the Germanic Powers realize that they never again may slaughter mankind or seek to dominate the earth."

The Bishop touched, in different asides, upon religion at the front. He spoke particularly of visiting the Catholic chaplains. The Anglican clergyman who is the Colonel at the head of the Chaplain Service, he described as a "perfect, thorough high-grade gentleman, who always insists that the Catholics shall have all that they are entitled to in matters of religion." And so among all of the padres at the front, after the raid on the Canadian hospitals he participated at the general burial service.

Bishop Fallon dwelt upon the work of the Canadian forestry units, and told of the cutting down of an oak in Windsor Forest which had been planted by William the Conqueror. There was a seemingly well authenticated story that the King and Queen had disputed about the wisdom of the action. The Queen wished to have the tree preserved, but the King overruled the wishes of his wife.

"You expected that I might say something on Ireland? Well, I will, and I might say a lot more. Let it be understood that I believe in self-Government within the British Empire, and without exceptions."

"Do I make myself clear?" he asked, adding, "if I don't I did elsewhere. If Home Rule is not good for Ireland it is not a good thing for Canada, but if it has made Canada prosperous, contented and loyal, then it is a right which should be conferred upon Ireland."

"But they don't understand the Irish over there. Nor must it be permitted to be said, as it sometimes is, that a man's religion has anything to do with the political rights which shall be accorded him. I said so in England publicly and privately," Catholic Register.

THE PEACE OFFENSIVE

When Prussia starts her peace offensive, with bows and smiles extensive, don't let her fool you for a minute; her soul is false, there's evil in it. She'll say, "Oh, why continue further this criminal carnival of murder?"

My lords of war are more than willing to put a stop to all the killing, if but our foes will half way meet us, and in a proper spirit greet us. Let's gather round the council table; and surely there we shall be able to frame the plan this world is needing, and stop the dying and the bleeding." It's when half whipped and shot to pieces that Kaiserdom such bunk releases. It's when this foul and false deceiver sees her neck the fatal cleaver, that she of pace begins to mumble, and tries to look abjectly numb. You know how trusty are her pledges; she swears an oath and then she hedges; with her all-trustworthy in season; she's full of guile and lies and treason. To whisper peace she will grab you, and while she whispers she will stab you.

While she's deploring war and slaughter she'll plan to kill your wife and daughter. With manner sweet and mild and pensive she'll shortly spring her peace offensive. Don't let her fool you for a minute; her heart is wrong, there's evil in it.

Buttery bows of extreme height perch on the tops of crowns of close-fitting turbans.

The panel veil is a long rectangle to be thrown over the head before donning the hat.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES. 10.30 A. M.

PRESS COMMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 1.

(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The Bulgarians have again upheld their reputation as a land of endless possibilities. This is the unanimous verdict of the press on the bewildering rapidity of the developments. While the situation is hard to follow, there can no longer be any doubt that Bulgaria's surrender means a knocking out of the keystone of the whole edifice of the so-called European scheme, the collapse of which will entail the ruin of the grandiose Berlin-Bagdad plans, which have long been gazed before German eyes as a compensation to the people for the sacrifices they have made. All writers emphasize that the Bulgarian arrangement is purely military, and is dictated by the needs of the present situation. The Allies have no intention of interfering in the domestic affairs of the Bulgarians, who can keep Ferdinand if they want him, the papers agree. Hitherto there has been no indication of Turkey's attitude, but with the main line between Berlin and Constantinople cut, and the Danube open to the Allies, she is isolated from Germany, except by a roundabout uncertain route via Rumania or Odessa, which may be blocked at any moment. Moreover, with the Bulgarian railways in their possession, the Allies are able for the first time to seriously threaten Constantinople and reach the Black Sea, turning the positions in the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. Not the smallest effect of Bulgaria's defection is the automatic liberation of two-thirds of Serbian territory, while the possession of Uskub gives the Allies a footing on railways offering access across the heart of old Serbia, striking direct into Austria. Bulgaria's attitude towards Austria arouses considerable speculation. Austria has been comparatively safe on the Belgrade front hitherto, and has been able to concentrate the bulk of her forces in Austria. With the threat of invading armies from the south, Austria is faced with the dilemma of weakening the Piave front, with the dead certainty of an Italian onslaught. Austria's plight and peril are fully recognized in Germany, and already demands are being made that the German army should shorten their line on the Western front, evacuating Belgium and France to the Meuse line, obtaining in this way the divisions which will be sorely needed to help Austria. These divisions could also endeavor to seize Bulgaria with the help of Mackensen's garrison in Rumania. This, however, is regarded as counsel of despair, the experts opinion being that Mackensen will have his hands full holding the Danube frontiers. It is not yet clearly known what effect the news of the actual surrender of Bulgaria had in the mere suggestion, it must have been staggering. The papers have been talking that the "treachery of the sentry at the gate is endangering the whole fortress," but always with the obvious assumption that Bulgaria would not go to extremes. The fact that the German front is likely to crumble, both on the east and west, for the first time in the war, is expected to increase the dismay in Berlin, where a veritable panic exists on the Stock Exchange, when inflated war industries stocks slumped heavily. Neutral reports extraordinary spectacles in Berlin and other cities, where the people were eagerly awaiting developments. The residence of the Bulgarian representatives have been surrounded with strong cordons of police. The Embassies of Bulgaria both in Berlin and Vienna have been protected. The leading industrial organ, the Dusseldorf Nachrichten, violently attacks the Government and argues that the alliance with Bulgaria was a mistake from the first, and based upon the false theory that Britain could be given a death blow by striking at the Suez Canal. Reuter's Agency learns that news received in London from Bulgaria, during the armistice discussions, indicated that she was not averse to attacking Turkey. Bulgaria, as sent this, however, explained that she could only act militarily in co-operation with the Allies.

this, however, explained that she could only act militarily in co-operation with the Allies.

WHAT BERLIN SAYS.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.

Vigorous enemy attacks in Flanders,
on both sides of Cambrai and in Champagne, have been repulsed, says the German official communication issued this evening.

IMPORTANT RESULTS.

PARIS, Oct. 1.

Attacks conducted by the First Army, in conjunction with the British,
in the region of St. Quentin, says the war office announcement, might have obtained important results.

BIG AIR WORK.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.

Further advances along the Meuse
River, and in the Argonne Forest,
were reported in General Pershing's communication for to-day, received from the front at the war department. American patrols have passed beyond Clair-ges, and are maintaining contact with the enemy. More than 100 hostile planes and 21 balloons have been shot down by American aviators since Sept. 26, General Pershing said.

FOUR BATTLES IN PROGRESS.

FRANCE, Oct. 1. (By the A. P.)—

Four battles are now in progress from Flanders to the Meuse. They cover a total front of 100 miles, and occupy the Germans to such an extent that they have been obliged to shorten their lines. If the hypothesis is true that they did so in order to obtain reserves with which to constitute a manoeuvring force, instead of employing those reserves in an effort to regain the initiative in certain positions, they have been obliged to call upon them to reinforce the troops in line at points successively threatened, and to replace depleted divisions. The success of Marshal Foch's tactics, it is pointed out, has not alone in the liberation of villages
and towns and prisoners and cannon
and captured, but in first depriving the Germans of their liberty of action,
then requiring them to dispose their reserves that they are nowhere able to concentrate the masses necessary
to maintain their positions, including even the redoubtable Hindenburg line. The operations have accomplished these results are still in full development and it is at present premature to draw final conclusions from them as they may enter a new phase
at any time.

BRITISH TANKS MANNED BY AM-ERICAN CREWS.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON
THE ST. QUENTIN FRONT, Oct. 1.

(By the A. P.)—Before the American advance, the Germans littered the country with tank mines, apparently anticipating a withdrawal. Scores of British made tanks, many of them
manned by American crews, are cooperating in the American advance.
One of these rolled over a mine and was blown up, one casualty resulting;
the others got through and did splendid execution. These American crews were trained in England and had been waiting behind the front for the attacks. They rolled along before a creeping barrage and clear rear of a machine gun nests. After the manner of the British, the Americans drove their machines right on top of the Germans, crushing down
men, guns and nests.

HOLDING OUT VALIANTLY.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON
THE ST. QUENTIN FRONT, Oct. 1.

(By the A. P.)—Some hundreds of Americans in a certain far advanced position, between Cambrai and St.
Quentin, which they reached late Sunday, were holding out valiantly against superior enemy numbers, according to latest reports which were received yesterday.

"Blue Puttee"
Boys' Petition.

It is probable that the "Blue Puttee"
petition asking that their leave be extended until next spring, to the Governor. They are confident that His Excellency will do everything within his power to obtain them the extra leave. The community is with them in their request.

The British Army.

(From The New Republic.)

The varying fortunes of the British military operations during the war will be an interesting matter for future military historians to study.
On the whole, the British have fought more successfully on the defensive than on the offensive. The original British army showed wonderful moral tenacity in the retreat
after Mons and really heroic powers of resistance in the first battle of Ypres. But when its turn came to attack it was less successful. Neuve Chapelle and Loos were costly failures in which the staff work broke down and in which the ground gained
was not worth the lives of the brave men which were sacrificed to pay for
it. The first battle of the Somme and the Flanders offensive exhibited
the new army as a powerful, dogged,
but somewhat clumsy instrument,
which could take and give terrible punishment but whose leaders lacked
the flexibility and the inventiveness indispensable to great military success. The first battle of Cambrai afforded the first indication of a tactical originality, but it was rendered abortive by over-confidence, inferior
staff work, and lack of co-operation with the French. Then came the crushing defeat of the Fifth Army in March, which must be in part charged to the same causes which accounted for the reverse at Cambrai. In the subsequent fighting in Flanders the British army once more had its back to the wall and it showed all its old grit and endurance. It was forced to yield ground but it inflicted losses
on the Germans which weakened enormously their subsequent offensive power. Thereafter they let the British alone and this respite, whatever
its causes, has had disastrous consequences for them. The British army is as powerful as it ever was and if the Germans are not strong enough to attack it they must themselves
prepare for a succession of attacks.

as the headquarters of a wholesale business. The principal of this firm is a young man, and deserves much credit for his business abilities and progressiveness.

Loyalty.

(Margaret Ashmun in New York Herald.)
When all is done and peace has come
again,
And all the gold and blood and tears
are spent,
And through the streets our battle-
worn men
Come marching back, as once they proudly went.

Can all of you who stayed perforce behind,
Quite safe from bullet, bayonet and
shell,
Show to these men a clear and guilt-
less mind,
Or must you cover thoughts you
shame to tell?

Can you then, say to them who have not been so
At what the Hun could do on land
or sea,
"In all these months my faith has never failed."
Nor ceased to speak of victory to be proud?

"I never entertained a thought of treason,
Nor lost my trust in triumph over
there,
Nor shied, nor shrugged, nor shook
the hopeless head,
Nor spoke the craven word of black despair?"

Oh, when they ask you can you truly
say,
With that calm gaze that meets
them eye to eye,
"I never feared that Wrong could
win the day,
Nor even dreamed that Right could ever die?"

Friend, in that holy hour when peace
is here,
Can you I ask, hold up your blameless head
And know your record clean, your conscience clear,
Or must you shrink from what you
once have said?
In war's hard days our hearts must understand,
And we must learn the lesson, every one,
That he who fears is traitor to his land
And he who doubts is partner to the Hun!

W. P. A Annual Meeting.

HONORARY SECRETARY'S REPORT
Lady Horwood, Ladies:—

I beg to present the fourth Annual Report of the Women's Patriotic Association.

The work of this Society, organized at the outbreak of War to provide comforts for men on active service and hospital necessities for the sick and wounded,—has been continued during the past year with much energy. Our members for most part have met regularly, and worked faithfully, and our branches have contributed large quantities of comforts and hospital supplies. The departure of our President, Lady Davidson, at the beginning of last session, deprived us
of her stimulating leadership, but left us with a personal feeling of increased responsibility, coupled with a stern determination to do our utmost to keep up our record of achievement. I am glad to be able to say that that record has been maintained—and that our output of work for the year just past has been considerably greater than for the previous one. We have sent to all points nearly 31,000 pairs
of socks, (an increase of about 4,500
over last year), with other garments
in proportion and an immense quantity of hospital requisites. The exact number of each will be given in the report of the Packing and Shipping Committee. It is a fine showing and represents continuous industry on the part of our members of whom over 2,000 have qualified for the Q.M.N.G.
badge. To obtain this distinction the applicant must have knitted 25 pairs of socks, or made 25 shirts, or have done the equivalent in some other form of war work. The Red Cross work has increased both in scope and in quantity, and its workrooms now
turn out a variety of articles essential to the added comfort of our sick and wounded men. Its latest development has been a Children's Red Cross Class, organized by Mrs. T. B.
Clift, and meeting for work on Saturday mornings at Headquarters. Visitors on these occasions have been greatly impressed both with the quality and the quantity of the work accomplished. The resignation of Mrs.
Kennedy, who for the past two years
has filled the office of Convener of the Central Red Cross Rooms, is a great loss to the Department. Mrs. Kennedy has done excellent work and been conspicuously successful in it. The Red Cross Room is fortunate in having secured as co-convener, Mrs.
George Marshall and Miss Mildred
Clift, who will carry on the work.

In the absence of Lady Harris, Miss Harris—the daughter of His Excellency
the Governor, has most ably filled
the office of President of our Association, and has shown a keen and practical interest in every branch of the work. Her appeal for a "shower of socks" from the women of Newfoundland to celebrate Queen Mary's 25th wedding anniversary, brought in a splendid response of over 5,000 pairs.
There are in St. John's 32 W.P.A. branches and Committees, including those at Headquarters. The Convenors of these meet monthly to submit reports and discuss conditions and in this way are kept in touch with each other's work. The Executive Committee continues to meet twice monthly, as usual, in important addition to our committees is one for altering and repairing defective work. Its members, with Mrs. Duley as Convenor, meet the Examining Committee
at Headquarters on Wednesday mornings, and their office I regret to say is no secure. Our consignments of Sphagnnum Moss have been sent overseas as opportunity offered, and have been so highly appreciated by the recipients, and so invariably with the request for "more," that I am of opinion that this branch of our work might be considerably extended. The W.P.A.
has also co-operated in several activities outside its regular work.

Mrs. John Harvey, Hon. Secretary of Waterford Hall, reports a thoroughly successful year; 176 patients
have been treated since April, 1917,
and the 32 beds are occupied all the time and there is always a waiting list. Sergt. Dewling, M.M., one of the Blue Puttees, has been placed there
as masseur, and a room has been fitted up in the basement where he treats a number of patients daily. The small vegetable garden at the rear of the house, has proved so successful that the patients intend enlarging it next year. The Committee is grateful to the many friends who have shown their sympathy with the work of the Convalescent Hospital by such generous contributions of fruit,
vegetables, eggs, books and magazines, and of money. At the Barwick Recreation Hut has been built for the use of the soldiers, and a Committee from the W.P.A. has fitted it out with the necessary appointments,
and has kept it supplied with games,
books and magazines, stationery and occasional table luxuries. The hut appropriately christened the "Caribou Hut" was opened on "Soldiers' Day," July 1st.

A Christmas Gift was sent to the officers and men of our regiment last October, which proved to be entirely acceptable. In January of this year
our Association was invited to cooperate with the Food Control Board
in the important matter of conserving our food supply. We undertook through our "Tag Day" Committee, to convulse the town and our Outport Branches, for the purpose of securing pledges to this effect, and committees of the W.P.A. have for months published helpful Menus for the use of substitutes, in the daily papers. We also assisted in an Exhibition of War Breads, held by the Food Control Board in March last.

Some months ago the Association undertook the distribution of Coupons to relatives of Prisoners of War in Germany, enabling them to send parcels
to the prisoners at stated intervals.
Mrs. Clary Macpherson consented to take charge of the work, but owing chiefly to the difficulties of transportation and the uncertainty of getting in touch with the more remote parts of the Dominion, the system was found unsatisfactory and was discontinued,—all parcels to prisoners being now issued through a central office in London.

When the Victory Loan was projected we offered to assist, by propaganda and any other means in our power in its success, and a small committee was appointed to further the work. Our Association is represented on the local Social Service Council, and hopes after the war to be able to take a more prominent part in active philanthropic work, especially Child Welfare. Two Tag Days have been held during the year with excellent results in aid of Red Cross and W. P. A. Funds, and last spring
we collected $500.00 for the relief of wounded war horses and despatched
the amount to the "Blue Cross" Society, London.

Financially, the need for public cooperation and support is as great as ever,—indeed it increases as time goes on. But our appeals have invariably met with a generous response, and we are confident that we shall never have cause for anxiety
on the score of funds with which to carry on our work. A notable example of the munificent response to appeals on behalf of our funds is to be found in the splendid collection
made by Mr. Salter some months ago
from the Curling Association, $2,545.00
and the Sealers $2,996.00, amounting in all to over $6,500.00.

I need not dwell on the good work done by our various Branches. Many of the City Departments have submitted details of their work, which will be read to you to-day, and you will be able to see for yourself what they have accomplished. Some of our outport Branches have sent in to Headquarters a phenomenal amount of work, and this will all be included in the printed report of the work of the Association, which will shortly be issued.

The warmest thanks of our members are due to Mrs. Pitts for her kindness in providing us with Headquarters in which to carry on our work. It is difficult to imagine what would have become of us but for her generous and practical assistance.
She has given us a home, and has kept it heated and lighted, and clean and comfortable for us during a period of twelve months. The Association is very greatly indebted to her.
It is not too much, I think, to say that the fifth year of our finds us as resolute as we were at the beginning of the first enthusiastic day of 1914, when England made her great decision.
Together with the people of this Dominion, and the whole British Empire, we are in it for a fight to the finish, realizing that with the issues of the war are linked all our hopes
for Peace, for Freedom and for Civilization.

A Plea for the Police.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—The Inspector General deserves the thanks of the entire community for the efficient manner in which he is carrying out his duty to the public, especially as it is no easy task under the difficulties he has to contend with because of the small force of policemen under his command.

Now it may not be generally known that this city has only seven policemen doing duty at night, and worse than that as there were nights for the past fortnight when we had only five policemen on duty. What is the Government thinking about that they are allowing our Police Force to be in such a deplorable condition? Why not give the Inspector General every assistance? It is indeed very mysterious the way the Government is dealing with this most important branch of the public service. The public will need to bring greater force to bear in demanding that a greater effort be made to keep our police force up to a decent standard. Public safety is in those matters almost nil, and until we show greater activity individually and collectively, the Government will go along in that sleepy manner that is so much in evidence to-day. Never were there greater need for good policemen, and no money should be spared in giving the city the protection that is absolutely necessary. This Government of ours is asleep! Graft and gain seem to be its motto. But a day of reckoning is at hand, and if they do not mend their ways not one of them will ever again warm a seat in the Legislature. The people are simply disgusted with the entire outfit, and no wonder, when they squander money in galore, but fail to give a decent wage to good men in the force, and they are compelled to seek other employment after years of patient waiting for an increase in salary. Once more I ask the public to get busy as regards our police force, let each and every one of us use every effort that is in our power to possible to lessen the suffering of those who are stricken in fighting our battles. His Majesty the King has expressed his hope that the Joint Committee of the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John "will be enabled, until victory is won and the Peace of the World assured, to maintain without abatement its sacred mission to the wounded, the sick, and the prisoners, whose welfare has Our untiring solicitude and Our heartfelt sympathy."

Their Majesties the King and Queen and Her Majesty Queen Alexandra have graciously given their patronage and support to this appeal.

We ask you to help us, both by making our needs known as widely as possible, and by ensuring the fullest facilities for the collection and remittance of sums contributed in response to this appeal.

(Signed) ARTHUR, Grand Prior of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem. (Signed) LANSLOWNE, Chairman of the Council of the British Red Cross Society. Offices of the Joint War Committee—83 Pall Mall, London S. W. 1. June 21, 1918. It was decided to respond to the appeal, and the ladies of the W. P. A. intimated they were already making preparations for Tag Day, while collection lists would be issued as usual and an appeal made throughout the Island, also the Board of Trade would be asked to co-operate. The proceeds to be divided as follows: two-thirds to the Imperial Red Cross, and one-third to the W. P. A.

A cinematograph film showing Red Cross work on the Western Front and at home has been received by His Excellency, and the Secretary was authorized in conjunction with Lt.-Col. Knox-Niven to make arrangements with one of the film halls to have the same exhibited on Our Day if possible. We have no doubt that the public will exhibit their customary generosity by assisting this most desirable movement by generous contributions on October 24th.

"Our Day."

COLLECTIONS FOR RED CROSS.

Last week, at Government House, a meeting of the Imperial Red Cross Committee was held, with His Excellency the Governor, Sir C. Alexander Harris, Honorary President, in the chair. The chief business of the meeting was to consider an appeal for a collection on "Our Day," October 24th, received from the Joint War Committee of the Red Cross, which reads as follows:—"OUR DAY," OCTOBER 24TH, 1918. For the fourth year in succession the Order of St. John and the British Red Cross Society are compelled to appeal to all at Home and Overseas who desire to relieve the sufferings of the sick and wounded of the Forces of His Majesty and of his Allies for a continuation of the generous support accorded to the Joint Societies since the outbreak of War. The Joint Committee has decided to make its fourth annual appeal on "Our Day," October 24th next, and your co-operation is asked in making this known. In every theatre of war our Red Cross work increases daily and is now costing over £80,000 a week. Troops from all parts of the Empire benefit by this work of mercy, and our activities must necessarily continue for some time even after peace has been attained.

We are deeply grateful for the munificent help sent to us from all parts of the world and we have confidence that so long as the sick and wounded need our ministrations, so long will our friends at Home and Overseas rally to our call and encourage us to do all that is humanly possible to lessen the suffering of those who are stricken in fighting our battles.

The Blue Puttee Boys.

A Plea to His Excellency for an Extension of Their Furlough. When Thers trumpet sounded, when Lay locked in the breasts of some nerve wanting youth. Then Courage unloosed her spotless bright plinths And soon to her side rushed five hundred recruits. It is easy to bask 'neath the sun of contentment. When Peace with her white wings, fair freedom enjoys, When slighted the first to uphold her resentment. We are proud to admit was her Blue Puttee Boys.

They arose like the Phoenix, when fresh from the ashes. She illumines all the place that lay darkened before. It was so with those youths with their love-mottled lashes Who showed to the world they were true to the pore; They came at her call as a brother. They proved that for courage they are the quintessence. And they sought not for praise from Apollo's sweet lyre. Since then Hans Kultur they have helped to kill it. They fought for the right 'gainst oppression and pride. And old Terra Nova to-day has conceded. That she fondly loves all her Blue Puttee Boys.

They fought on the shores where the Turk shows the Crescent. Their requiems are sung by the blue Their courage in Flanders was never once lessened. Where Franco's fall lily blooms over their graves. While here with us now are the last that's remaining. Of that gallant band whom the whole country prize. We hope their request they will be obtaining. For we know you deserve it brave Blue Puttee Boys. JAMES MURPHY. September 30th, 1918.

Herring Barrel Plant.

With that energy and industry so characteristic of his push and ability, Mr. E. W. Roberts, manager of the Northern Fisheries Company, has erected an up-to-date herring barrel factory at Hilley's Island, Notre Dame Bay, the cost of construction being somewhere in the neighbourhood of $25,000. The buildings are now ready for the installation of the necessary machinery which will, when set up, have a turning out capacity of 500 barrels daily. A wharf and tramway in addition have been built. At Springdale he has a stave sawing mill, from which the barrel making stock will be turned out. The iron hoop for the barrels will be imported. The machinery will turn out packages from a ten gallon keg to a fifty gallon cask with equal facility. The manufacture of fish casks will also come within the scope of the company, and will be attended to as demands arise. With 27 United States herring packing concerns located at Springdale much of the attention of the factory at present will be given to the supplying of barrels for these. It looks as though a large wave of prosperity is due to strike Notre Dame Bay at an early date.

CABLE NEWS.

ARTILLERY DUELS ON ITALIAN FRONT. ROME, Oct. 1. Artillery duels, which at times became intense, were prevalent yesterday on the entire front in the Pasubio area, on the Asiago Plateau, and in the Monello region of northern Italy, says the official statement issued to-day by the Italian war office. South of Mori, hostile parties attempting to approach the Italian lines were dispersed.

VICE-CHANCELLOR ALSO RESIGNS. LONDON, Sept. 30. Friedrich von Payer, the German Imperial Vice-Chancellor has resigned, according to an Amsterdam despatch to the Central News.

ADVANCING ON DAMASCUS AND BEIRUT. PARIS, Oct. 1. General Allenby's troops are now two and a half miles from Damascus, and French cavalry is advancing on Beirut according to Marcel Hutin, of the Echo de Paris.

FRENCH STILL PUSHING AHEAD. PARIS, Oct. 1. French troops this morning were pushing ahead again on the front between the Aisne and Vesle rivers according to to-day's war office report. French attacks in the Champagne are continuing with an important advance scored in the Aisne valley. Binarville and Conde Les Audry have taken more than 10,000 prisoners on the front between the Somme and the Argonne since Sept. 26 and have captured more than 300 guns in the same period. A great number of the guns were of heavy calibre.

PROVILLE AND TILLOY CAPTURED. LONDON, Oct. 1. The British last night continued their closing in movement on Cambrai. They captured Provilloe to the west of the city and Tilloy close by on the northwest. Field Marshal Haig announced in his official report to-day.

OMINOUS WORDS OF BONAR LAW. LONDON, Sept. 30. With Bulgaria out of the war through the armistice convention signed on Sunday involving her complete military surrender, interest in the near eastern situation is being focussed on Turkey. It is noted that Andrew Bonar Law, the Chancellor of the Exchequer in his Guildhall speech to-day made a remark referring to the defeat of the Turkish Palestine army at General Allenby's hands adding and something more is going to follow. Later in a speech he said also cryptically touching on the control of railways which Bulgaria will give in that there was something in connection with Turkey which I cannot say, but which we can all think. Mr. Bonar Law's words were almost drowned by cheers, but the impression created was that Turkey would follow Bulgaria's lead.

Momentous Session.

A Toronto despatch says:—"Questions of national, social and religious importance are on the programme for consideration when the stalwarts of Canadian Methodism, both ministers and laymen, gather at Hamilton, on October 2, at the Quadrennial Session of the Methodist General Conference of the Dominion of Canada. In the opinion of Rev. S. D. Chown, Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, and President of the Conference, the session will be one of the most momentous in the history of the Church, owing to the war influences and after-war problems to be discussed. While the question of Church Union, insofar as the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches in Canada are concerned, has been practically shelved, till after the war, by the action of the last Presbyterian General Assembly, the question of still more co-operation between the Churches of different denominations is a live issue, and will be discussed."

False Modesty.

has led many a suffering person to neglect the treatment of piles. The itching, stinging sensations produce the keenest distress. The thought of a surgical operation brings mental anxiety which undermines the general health. Relief can always be obtained by the application of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and in most cases persistent treatment brings about complete cure. This ointment is worth trying when you think of the comfort to be obtained.

The French Ace.

The subject of the appended sketch is Lieut. Rene Fonck, who was specially mentioned in the news despatches yesterday as having a total of 66 enemy airplanes to his credit, a score not unbeaten, if equalled, by any other Allied aviator.

Lieut. Rene Fonck, the famous French aviator, shot down three German airplanes on Aug. 14. He accounted for all three of them in the record-breaking time of twenty seconds.

Fonck went out escorted by two patrolling machines. After cruising for ten minutes he spied four enemy two-seater battleplanes flying in Indian file with only a few hundred yards between each. The French flier fell upon the first enemy machine with his machine gun. It fell in flames in ten seconds. Later he got his sights on the second machine, with the same result. The third dodged sideways before Fonck could take aim and escaped, and by a swift turn of the rudder he dashed at the fourth airplane and sent it down to join the first two.

If the third machine had been flying a little farther from the second, which would have given him time to train his gun on it, Fonck asserts he would have accounted for it too. Lieut. Fonck, recognised as the greatest French air fighter since Capt. Guynemer, is credited with bringing down sixty enemy airplanes. Of these he downed six in one day in the course of two patrols. He has brought down fifty since January last.

A little over a year ago, Lieut. Fonck entered the aerial service as pilot of an airplane regulating artillery fire. After about twenty days of this service, during which he defeated two German planes which had attempted to interfere with his work, he was put into a squadron of pursuit machines. Eight days later he was officially cited as an ace, having destroyed his fifth airplane. A remarkably cool and daring fighter, Fonck is only twenty-three years old.

The Man With the Hoe

Hoeing is a severe strain on the back. It calls into play muscles not used much in lifting or in other kinds of farm work. If you have a weak back you cannot stand much hoeing unless you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to set the kidneys right and remove the cause of weakness and lameness of the back. Just try one pill a dose at bed time and see how much better you will feel.

CONTINUED PROGRESS ON BELGIAN FRONT.

LONDON, Oct. 1. Continued progress along the whole front in Belgium yesterday is recorded in the Belgian official statement issued this morning. The statement says that Amerswald and Oostnieuwkerke have been carried and Belgian troops have crossed the Searon-Resles and the Roulers-Menin roads at several points.

Removal Notice.

MR. M. O'REGAN, Meat Dealer, LeMarchant Road, wishes to inform his many patrons and the public generally that he is about to transfer his business to that store on Duckworth Street recently vacated by the late M. Connolly. On Wednesday, October the 2nd, he will be open at the new stand and prepared to cater to customers.

In soliciting a continuation of public patronage, Mr. O'Regan would emphasize that the same faithful service which for so many years characterized the LeMarchant Store will be carried on in his new premises. Together with taking care of the requirements of citizens he will specialize in the supplying of ships.

The new quarters are the most up-to-date in the city, having been built with a view towards the utmost cleanliness, fitted with modern refrigerators and other useful appliances.

With sincerest appreciation of the patronage of the past a hearty invitation to the new stand is extended to all.

Near East Progress.

In the Macedonian field the Entente Allies are making good headway against the Bulgarians, whose defence over a fifteen-mile front at the most important point has been broken down. Franco-Serbian forces, assisted by a division of Jugoslavs, have penetrated to a depth of fourteen miles, and are continuing the advance. Several thousand Bulgarians have been captured since the drive began on Sunday, and 30 big guns, many machine guns and large quantities of booty have fallen into the hands of the attackers. If this proves a major operation its object very clearly is to cut off Turkey from the Central Powers, to crush Bulgaria and to free Serbia, Roumania and the Jugoslavs of Southern Austria. The Bulgars already are having trouble at home and with Germany, Turkey and Austria. In some quarters it is believed that when they see the fortunes of war moving against them they may desert their Allies and sue for separate peace. The Bulgarians have killed many thousands of Serbs and Three men were held at New York this week, on a charge of grand larceny after being caught, the police say, substituting stones and rubbish for a $50,000 consignment of hosiery being shipped to Buenos Aires. Eleven big boxes of socks entrusted to a forwarding company driver for delivery at a New York pier, the police said, were taken instead to an empty house in Brooklyn, where the driver was joined by two other men who aided him in moving the goods into the house. A suspicious patrolman saw the boxes and helped to solve the mystery. Peering through a window the detectives found the men unpacking the hose—about 70,000 pairs—and replacing them with stones and rubbish. As they nattered down the side of the packing cases the detectives broke in and arrested them.

Statement From Board of Food Control

AND A WARNING.

A great deal of misconception has been respecting the work of the Food Control Board, chiefly because the public generally have not realized the position of this Dominion with regard to the supply of flour, sugar, beef, butter, cheese, etc. It has been plainly set forth in the press and the media of the Allies for a supply of these commodities is to be the object of the United States and Canada, and for the purposes of obtaining the necessary supply Food Control has been established in both these countries. In the United States and Canada regulations have been made restricting the sale and distribution of foodstuffs, and we in Newfoundland, who are drawing our supplies from both of these countries, are entitled by them to certain quantities, and much less than we have been in the habit of importing. We can only get the supplies if we do as the people in these countries are doing—use substitutes with our flour, and consume less beef, pork, sugar, butter, flour, etc.

Under the agreement made by the Food Board of Newfoundland with the Food Controllers of the United States and Canada, rules and regulations with regard to food stuffs have been made, and on approval of the Government, published in the "Royal Gazette." The efforts of the Board to place the people of this Dominion on the same footing as those of the United States and Canada were approved by Mr. H. B. Thomson, Chairman of the Canada Food Control Board, when he was here, and the difficulties of our position with regard to distribution were fully explained to him. These difficulties are many, owing to our population being very scattered, and to the fact that many of the people living in the outports have to be supplied before winter sets in.

Owing to crop shortages in the Dominion, the visible supply of old wheat was so small that we were unable to get but a limited supply of flour before the 1st of October, and our supply for the rest of the year is limited. Hence it is that the distribution of this supply is causing the Board an infinite amount of trouble and that dissatisfaction exists among those who do not realize that we are unable to obtain the supply. We do not know what supply we can obtain after the 31st of December, and therefore it is highly important that consumers should use substitutes with their flour, in order to make it last out as long as possible.

Peace, or the end of the war, is not going to do away with Food Control in Canada and the United States. It will take a long time to re-arrange the world's supply, and the demand from the neutral countries in Europe and the Central Powers will be very great. Poor crops, next year, in the United States and Canada will also have to be taken into account and provided for.

The Board are to the best of their ability, making a fair distribution of the food stuffs imported under license, having special regard to the needs of the outports. Often this distribution does not meet with the approval of everybody, but as the Board has been put to much trouble in obtaining information, figures, etc., respecting the importation in the past by wholesalers, and the distribution by them, and the requirements of the outports, they have used these facts in making the present distribution.

We must again emphasize the great need there is for every householder to conform to the regulations of the Board, relating to the use of substitutes. Failure to do so, may cause many to suffer before next spring, and remember, if this should happen, it will not only affect the grown-ups, but the little ones as well. Don't starve the children. Follow the regulations. Use one part substitute (corn meal, granulated or bolted meal, rolled oats, oatmeal, or oatmeal flour) with four parts flour, be it white or war standard. In doing so you will prevent unnecessary suffering by allowing the limited flour supply to be evenly distributed and extended over to the coming spring. A plentiful supply of substitutes are now on the way, and will soon be distributed.

Profiteering on the part of any dealer is the act of a traitor, creating among the people, when all should be united in helping one another to bear the heavy burdens of war time. No retailer in substitutes should ask a price for them greater than that of flour, and war standard flour should not exceed $14.90 in St. John's, and in the outports this price with an amount equivalent to insurance and freight actually paid from St. John's to the point of sale. First grade white flour should not exceed $18.50, and second grade white flour $15.00, within the Municipal limits of St. John's, and these prices in the outports, plus freight, insurance and carrying over expenses.

Dealers are warned that any facts lodged with the Board proving that excessive prices are being charged will be severely dealt with. Already permits have been refused for a period of time to certain dealers, who have failed to comply with the regulations. If that does not suffice, the names of all such persons may be given on the newspapers for publication.

S. O. E. Souvenir.

The Sons of England Society of St. John's, have issued a very handsome war souvenir, the design being a miniature reproduction of the King's Colours, presented to the Royal Newfoundland Regiment by "Dudley Lodge," No. 237, on behalf of the Newfoundland Lodges of this Order. This work of art is reproduced from the original oil painting of the Colours by Mr. A. L. Barrett of the Western Star, Curling, and the printing was done at the office of that paper. The excellence of the printing leaves nothing to be desired, and the transfer has been effected so neatly that in glancing at the illustration the Colours appear as being formed of the original silk of the flag. We congratulate Bro. Barrett on his work and also the S. O. E. who originated and carried out the idea. Accompanying the Souvenir is the following explanatory letter:

Dear Sir—On the eve of the departure of the first contingent of the Nfld. Regiment from Pleasantville, Oct. 1, 1914, His Excellency Sir W. E. Davidson presented, on behalf of the Sons of England Society, a King's Colour to the Regiment. This flag was found to be irregular as to size, etc., so Lady Davidson, while on a visit to England, at the request of Lodge Dudley, kindly consented to have a new colour made. This work was done by the Decorative Needlework Society of London, Eng., who also made the Regimental Flag. At Tuesday's meeting of Lodge Dudley I was instructed to ask your acceptance of the enclosed copy of the new flag.

Believe me, yours sincerely,
CHAS. W. UDLE,
Sec. Lodge Dudley S.O.E.S.

Notes From the Goulds.

The majority of the sportsmen met with poor success on the opening days of the shooting season. Birds are not altogether plentiful.

The ladies are enjoying the cheering cup of tea out on the berry grounds these days.

In these exciting times through which we are passing, our one thought is for those brave heroes who are fighting and laying down their lives on the blood-stained battle fields of Europe and with those who are keeping their weary watch on the seven seas of the world. Through it all we are prone to forget, for the time, from whom this heroism and love of one's country have been instilled in the minds of these brave lads.

If one were to wander through the towns and hamlets of this sea-girt Isle of ours, one would see there patriotism in its true sense. The brave and noble fathers, filled with the heroism and the patriotism, which made their forefathers so conspicuous on many a battlefield, have instilled the same spirit in their sons, and have sent them forth to battle, with the Spartan's blessing, and their only regret is that they too cannot follow them.

These are earnest, zealous men, ready to sacrifice all that is precious to them so that England may triumph over the foe.

The story of England is the story of earnest, zealous men. Our colonies were not gained, nor our victories won by idlers who sleep in the sunshine. They were men of action who conquered at Trafalgar and Waterloo, at Sebastopol and Lucknow. It was the zeal of heroes which brought our women and children through the awful days of the Indian Mutiny, when though outnumbered and surrounded by traitors, they held out against the enemy, and

"Ever upon the topmost roof
The banner of England flew."
This indomitable spirit still exists to-day as it did in those far-off days. This is exemplified in one Mr. Frederick Chafe, of this place. This old gentleman passed his four score years on August 1st, but to see him out in his field doing the work which would try one many years younger, one would think that he had not reached the three score mark. It is a privilege for one to listen to his conversation, especially on the war. It has the old-time Britishing about it.

If Skipper Fred, as he is familiarly called, had the fixing up of peace terms, I think the Kaiser and his legions would get a poor show.

Mr. Chafe has three grandsons, Hugh and Rupert Chafe and Harold Leard, fighting for all that is dear to the old gentleman. Harold is with the Americans, Hugh with the Canadians and Rupert with the Nfld. Regt.

Three of our great fighting peoples are represented by these brave lads. Hugh was a great favorite of the grandfather, and went to live with him after his sons got married. When the call came he left the venerable old gentleman to fight for king and country, and the only regret of the grandfather is that he cannot follow him.

The unconquerable spirit of the old gentleman might be given in the lines of Campbell's "Songs of the Greeks":
"A breath of submission we breathe not.
The sword that we've drawn we will sheathe not!
Its scabbard is left where our martyrs lie laid,
And the conscience of ages has whetted its blade;
Earth may hide—waves engulf—fire consume us,
But they shall not to slavery doom us;
If they rule, it shall be o'er our ashes and graves,
But we've smote them already with fire on the waves;
And new triumphs on land are before us,
To the charge!—Heaven's banner is o'er us."

Mr. Chesley Trappell left for St. John's by this morning's train where he will undergo a course of treatment that all his friends hope will be successful.

Miss Nellie Moore, of Bay de Verde, is in town on a visit, and is the guest of Mrs. Isaac Pumphrey.

The Blue Puttee lads left this morning for St. John's to report. They will probably be granted an extension of leave, but if not "we are quite satisfied to go," said one of the lads.

It is said that a number of young men are straggling to call a public meeting to determine once and for all who the real owners of Shannon Park are, whether it is the citizens or the trustees. It will also be part of the business of the meeting to find out who the trustees are, what money has been realized on the sale of grass or what amount is still in hand. Go ahead young men, the public are with you.

Milady's Boudoir

A shapely forehead with the skin smooth, fine in texture, and unmarred by furrows or other blemishes, not only imparts refinement and intelligence to the expression of the face, but a certain nobility as well. The most common blemish of the forehead is wrinkles. These in many cases are encouraged by facial gymnastics, screwing the features in weird contortions, expressive of passing emotions. Again the disposition and temperament have much to do with premature lining of the face. Further, poor eyesight and nervousness are contributory causes.

Until these difficulties are overcome, a woman cannot hope to eliminate the marks of age from her forehead. Calming herself, holding her nerves, and her temper in check will prove of great assistance in the woman's desire of banishing wrinkles. The general treatment for wrinkles will, to a great extent, assist too in the elimination of other blemishes, rough, dry or tight skin, pimples and sun stains.

Pat dry and then rub the forehead firmly with the tips of the fingers of both hands, starting in the center and drawing them off to the temples. Repeat half a dozen times to further stimulate the circulation. Now rub up and down, and then a circular motion should be made with the balls of the fingers, as they slide over the forehead. This you will observe,

His Choice.

The first legal execution by shooting to be carried out by civil authorities in America was at Salt Lake City fifty-seven years ago last Saturday, when William Cockroft, convicted of murder in the first degree, chose to be shot rather than hanged or beheaded. Under the laws of the territory of Utah, a condemned man was permitted to select either of the three methods of his taking off, and when Utah became a State the choice was restricted to shooting or hanging. Of the executions in Utah in the last half century only one man, a wife murderer, has chosen the noose.

Is It Your Boy?

IS IT YOUR BOY THAT IS ALWAYS HARD ON HIS CLOTHES?

Is it your boy that will climb trees and fences and leave part of his clothes there?

Is it your boy that slides for third base and will do considerable of the sliding on the seat of his pants?

ANYHOW HE IS A REAL BOY, BLESS HIM.

But he'll be wanting a new Suit, or at least a new pair of Pants. Still he is worth it these times. But a lot of money is being asked for Boys' Clothes to-day, and the boy may be blessed when prices are mentioned.

We have thought of that, so we say,—
We can give you

BOYS' SUITS

At Most Reasonable Prices.

But in many cases it will not be necessary to buy a whole Suit, as the boy has only worn out his pants (it will be extraordinary if he hasn't).
