A Buick Six for the Price of a Four

MANY persons have said: "Some time I'd like to own a Buick." That "Some time" is here. Those who up to now have not felt they could afford a six-cylinder Buick, can secure a new Standard Six touring car to replace the famous Buick "Four."

The Standard Six is a slightly smaller edition of the famous large Buick Six—with the Buick qualities of speed and safety, and with long years of uncomplaining service built into engine and chassis. The 1925 Standard Six Buick is now here.

Locatelli Requested His Airplane to be Destroyed

International Fishermen's Race to be Held—England's Famous Hangman Attempts Suicide—The Colonial Secretary in South Africa.

LOCATELLI RESCUED FROM WATER.

On Board U.S. Cruiser Richmond, East of Cape Farewell, Greenland, Aug. 25.—The cruiser Richmond rescued Lieut. Locatelli, the missing Italian airman, at 11.35 o'clock last night. He was picked up 125 miles east of Cape Farewell. The Italian airman and his companions were unharmed, although worn out by fatigue. Motor trouble had forced him to come down on the water during the fight on Thursday from Reykjavik, Iceland. He was unable to bring his plane into the air again and drifted some hundred miles. Locatelli requested that his airplane be destroyed, and his wish was complied with.

PLAGUE OF MOSQUITOS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The northern and western suburbs of Chicago are battling against an unprecedented invasion of mosquitos. Dr. Winnetka, Dr. Irving W. Moore, in charge of the crusade for exterminating, has ordered all children of the village to remain off the streets until further notice. The streets were practically deserted to-day. All living creatures are being driven to cover by swarms of the insects. Many children were stricken with high fever after being repeatedly stung by the pests. Golf courses closed down before noon yesterday, and church services were attended by only a few persons. Picnics were driven from forest reserves along the Deshler River.

THOMAS IN SOUTH AFRICA.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 24.—The Empire parliamentary delegation, headed by J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary, arrived here to-day and were very cordially welcomed to the Union of South Africa. Secretary Thomas, replying to the official greeting, said the war spirit in the world must be killed and the spirit of reconciliation take its place, not alone among the nations, but among all classes of people. "Equality may be impossible," Mr. Thomas said in the course of his speech, "but equality of opportunity is not impossible."

ANOTHER RACE ASSURED.

BOSTON, Aug. 24.—Another battle for the International Fishermen's Trophy, between the American and Canadian fishermen, is regarded as assured. Capt. Marty Walsh who first won the Halifax Herald Cup with American fisherman Esperanto, and Capt. Angus Walters of the undefeated Bluenose, of Lunenburg, have been conferring. Capt. Walters expressed the desire to revive the contest by racing the Bluenose against the Columbia some time in October thus settling last year's most unsatisfactory contest. When Capt. Walsh communicated Capt. Walters' desire to the Gloucester fishermen they were more than eager for the race. Walters wants the race held off Nova Scotia and while Gloucester would like to see the race off its own coast, it will waive that point for the sake of setting the two ships together. The Columbia is reported as now on her way home from the fishing grounds with 150,000 pounds of salt cod. With her arrival it is expected the rival interests will get together and agree definitely on the terms of the race, so that the Columbia can time her next fishing trip so as to return in season to be made ready for the International

ISLAND UNDER WATER.

AS RESULT OF STORM. BEAUFORT, N.C., Aug. 25.—Ocracoke Island, just off the coast here and exposed to the open sea is under water as the result of a tropical hurricane raging along the coast. Tremendous seas may be plainly seen breaking over the island. Vessels are in harbour for protection from the storm which has been increasing in intensity for several hours. The storm was reported as moving north by northeast.

OVERHAULING MOTORS.

BEFORE NEXT TRIP. WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The United States army aviators reeled off another lap in their round the world flight Sunday and are now at Trivigt, Greenland. Skirting the coast they covered 126 miles from Frederikdal, where they found a haven after their hazardous journey from Iceland, in little more than two hours. In a message announcing the arrival of the two planes at Trivigt, Lieut. Smith, in command, said the motors would be changed and both machines completely overhauled before the next lap of the flight.

DAWES PLAN OFFICIALS.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Owen D. Young, of New York, is to serve temporarily as agent general under the Dawes reparations plan, probably for a period of three months during which time he will get the staff well organized and break in his permanent successor. In this work he will be aided by Rufus C. Dawes, brother of General Dawes, and Henry M. Ribbison, who like Mr. Young served on the expert committee which drew up the plan.

contest. The American Race Committee is in communication with the Halifax officials and Capt. Walters as to date and terms. American fishermen generally hail the prospects of a continuance of these famous contests with unconcealed joy.

CHIEF OF POLICE HANGS HIMSELF.

CLARKS BR., N.S., Aug. 25.—The lifeless body of Jeremiah Crowell, chief of police of this town, was found by his son Herbert and companion hanging suspended by a piece of rope in the belfry of the school house about six o'clock this evening. Crowell, who has been chief of police for the past three years, had not late appeared badly worried, but his motive is known for the tragic act.

AN OMEN!

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—Then minutes after the St. Antoine Division Liberal mass meeting had opened her to-night, the speakers' platform collapsed throwing to the floor the Right Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Premier of Canada, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and between forty and fifty others who were on the platform. No one was seriously injured.

HANGMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—John Ellis, England's famous hangman, who lost his nerve and relinquished his sinister occupation last year, after the execution of Mrs. Edith Thompson, was found this morning at his home seriously wounded, with a revolver lying beside him. It was said he had spent a sleepless night prior to the shooting.

THE SUDAN QUESTION.

CAIRO, Aug. 25.—The Egyptian Charge d'Affaires in London has telegraphed his Government stating the British foreign office received him in a most cordial manner and accepted the Egyptian note on the Sudan situation. The Foreign Office, it was said, expressed the hope it would be the final note of protest exchanged between the Governments and that they would direct their efforts to smoothing the way for negotiations which would lead to solid accord.

BIG PACKING COMPANY.

IN HANDS OF RECEIVER. TRENTON, N.J., Aug. 25.—Wilson and Company, Inc., one of the largest packing establishments in United States, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. "Hunchback of Notre Dame"

IS LAEMMLE'S REPLY TO THE BETTER PICTURE MOVEMENT.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame," the massive and much heralded film production of Victor Hugo's story masterpiece which swept into overnight fame in New York, was given its local premier at the Star Theatre when it began a limited engagement. Len Chaney, admittedly the finest interpreter of unusual character roles on either stage or screen, plays the stellar part of "Quasimodo," the deformed bell-ringer of Notre Dame, with Ernest Torrence as "Clopin," the under-world king; and Patsy Ruth Miller as "Esmeralda."

Carl Laemmle has achieved something which awakens the utmost admiration. He has taken Hugo's rather turgid melodramatic novel, and after building a replica of Paris' famous Cathedral, he has retold Hugo's story in picture-vivid, vivid pictures that hold the attention and excite admiration by their undentable power and beauty.

The spirit of the story is "Quasimodo," the hunchback, an elemental creature, twisted in body and restricted in mind, who haunts the great church. "Quasimodo," as Mr. Chaney presents him, is said to be a grotesque monster, and yet under the forbidding aspect the actor succeeds in making the character human and pitiful. His daring poses on the projecting gargoyles of the Cathedral, his bold descent, stone by stone, of the front facade of the great church, his hazardous swinging on the bells at the risk of his life, the gruesome scene of his castigation in the market place, and the pathos of his final act as, dying, he rings his own death knell on his beloved bells, are features, it is said, that make "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" the most noted film production to date.

In constructing the Cathedral of Notre Dame at Universal City an army of carpenters, masons and other mechanics, were employed. The building is an exact replica in every detail as the famous Cathedral looked in 1482. It is declared to be an extraordinary feat and an architectural and technical triumph. In addition to the Cathedral, other historical spots include exact reproductions of the Court of Miracles, Place du Parvis, Palace de Justice, interior of the Bastille and the seven Noble Mansions. Among the other principals in the big cast are: Norman Kerry, who plays "Phoebus"; Tully Marshall, as "Louis XI"; Raymond Hatton, as "Gringore"; Nigel de Bruiler, as "Dom Claude"; and Gladys Brockwell as the crazy "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." It is said, that a "different picture" has arrived, one that marks the dawn of a new era in cinema art, and one that has made Carl Laemmle's slogan of "better and finer productions" an absolute fact.

In the Realms of Sport

CRICKET.

(Harbor Grace Standard, Aug. 22.)
 The fourth game in the Inter-Town Series for the Jones' Cup was played here Wednesday on Shannon Park between Bay Roberts and Hr. Grace teams. The visitors were late in arriving and play did not begin until 2 p.m. Hr. Grace went to bat first and were disposed of for 51 runs. Following this innings lunch was served on the field, being provided by the home team. Play was resumed at 2 o'clock. Bay Roberts' innings netted them 42 runs. Hr. Grace team's second innings secured them 55 runs while Bay Roberts added 41 runs to their score, resulting in a win for Hr. Grace by the narrow margin of 3 runs. The game was a good one and proved highly interesting to both players and spectators, as the scores were so close that the result was in the balance until the last wicket fell. The weather was all that could be desired and the attendance was a large one. Cricket is certainly reviving and the large number of spectators present has keen interest in being taken in the game. Messrs. R. Dave and Inspector Sheppard acted as umpires. Following the game the Bay Roberts team was entertained by our team at dinner at the Gracian House and a most enjoyable hour was spent after which the visitors returned to their home by motor cars.

The standing of the teams to date is as follows:

Team	Played	Won	Points
Bay Roberts	4	2	4
Hr. Grace	2	2	4

There are two more games to be played in this season's series, both Carbonara vs. Hr. Grace and the next game on the schedule is set for Wednesday next at Carbonara. The game set for Wednesday the 13th, which was to have been played here, but which had to be postponed on account of bad weather, will probably be played on Wednesday next.

INTER-TOWN FOOTBALL.
 Grand Falls Victors in Opening Game. A message from Mr. C. H. Hayward, of Grand Falls, to the Eve Telegram, was received this morning stating that the Grand Falls football team had defeated the city in the opening game of the series last night, by 2 goals to all. Both goals were scored in the first half in which Lockyer of the G. F. team was the outstanding figure. One of the goals was scored on a penalty kick. This afternoon a cricket match will be played for a cup. The second game of the football series takes place to-morrow night and it is hoped that the players from the city will make a much better showing.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL.
 Cadets Defeat Wesley. Before a small attendance of spectators at St. George's Field last night, the Cadets and Wesley teams, of the Junior League, put up a masterly exhibition, the former winning out by 2 goals to nil. The Cadets, defending the eastern goal in the first half, confined the ball to their opponent's territory and as a result of their efforts scored two goals. Thompson being responsible for the first and Francis the second. The Wesley forwards in the second half made several good runs but were unable to beat the impregnable defence set up by the opposing team.

Second Half.
 Upon changing ends both teams were putting up a good game and many were the narrow escapes on the opposing goals. The Wesley boys made several determined attacks to reduce the score in this half, but found the Cadet goalie unbreakable. No further scoring resulted and the game ended in a victory for the Cadets. The Cadets are now leading the League and look likely championship winners. The T. A. and Secuts are the contesting teams for to-night.

ABRAHAMS "TIRED OUT."
 Advised Not to Run For a Year. H. M. Abrahams, the sprinter, who won the 100-metres race for Britain in the recent Olympic Games, may not be seen on the track for another 18 months. A message he sent to the organizers of the Huddersfield Jubilee Sports, in which he regretted that he would not be able to attend, has been wrongly interpreted to mean that he has broken down. "There has been a lot of rubbish talked about his breakdown," said his brother, Dr. A. Abrahams. "There is no question of such a thing. He is simply acting on my advice that he has been too tired out by his crowded programme of late to keep on running without a rest. "I have advised him that in his own interests he should not take part in events either this year or next, and he has decided to take a much-needed long rest of this kind."

REGATTA COMMITTEE MEETS.
 Business 1924 Regatta Finalized. A meeting of the Regatta Committee was held last night with President Hiscock in the chair, when the affairs in connection with the annual Derby Day were finalized. The reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and confirmed. After all expenses had been paid a balance of over three hundred dollars was left on hand. A matter which called for a rather lengthy discussion was brought up by one of the Committee in reference to the uncomfortable condition of the bank for the pedestrian, and it was felt that there is much room for improvement in this connection. Quiddi Vidi Lake can be made a very popular resort. Many ideas were advanced as to the beautifying of the surroundings. As Sir Edgar Bowring is the owner of the North Bank and has made some plans as to beautifying it, the Committee are powerless to act in the matter, but they are prepared to act with Sir Edgar, and a committee was appointed to consult him as to plans. The following is the Committee: the Executive, with Hon. W. J. Ellis and Councillor C. W. Ryan. This Committee will meet Sir Edgar and will report to the general committee at a later date.

The usual votes of thanks were tendered the Inspector General and Police Force, for the efficient manner in which the traffic regulations were conducted on Regatta Day. To the City Engineer for much work done around the course, and to the Press for the use of their columns. A Committee of three, comprising Messrs. P. Brown, C. J. Ellis and J. M. Tobin, under the supervision of the Vice President, were appointed to look into rules governing certain races. A rather lengthy discussion arose in this connection, and it was the unanimous opinion of many that some of the rules needed changing. Next year the committee will begin its meetings a little earlier. Rules will be published and distributed to all oarsmen, and under no consideration will any rule be broken for any crew or individual. After some minor matters had been disposed of, the meeting adjourned.

Fear of Pollution

Editor Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir.—A question has arisen in this district, as to whether the acids to be used in manufacturing pulp and paper will be detrimental to the herring and salmon fishery.

The new mill at Corner Brook, when operating, will no doubt release a lot of acid which will be in the water of this Arm continually, as the tide rising will carry back with it foreign matter that it receives from the paper mill. Please investigate concerning this, and state in the columns of the Telegram just what steps are necessary to be taken to protect the herring and salmon fishery. It is generally known that herring shy clear of polluted waters, so it is all important that this valuable fishery is properly protected.

Thanking you for your interest in this matter,
 Yours very truly,
 A. M. DUNPHY,
 Curling, Aug. 22, 1924.

Note.—In connection with the above we would state that from enquiries made regarding the disposal of acids from the mills at Grand Falls, we learn that there is a minimum of waste and that it has had no ill effect on the salmon in the Exploits. Some time ago we referred to the possibility of the pollution of the Humber by oil burners. All such questions should be considered by a local Board of Trade. At one time there was such an organization in Bay of Islands, and if it has fallen into abeyance, it would be a good idea to revive it.

The Men Crooks Fear

THE FAMOUS "FLYING SQUAD."
 (By AN EX-CONVICT.)

Scotland Yard is bound by system. There is little individuality amongst its members. The "Big Four," who practically control the Criminal Investigation Department are in turn controlled by others. The lesser lights, upon despatched upon a special mission, are cramped by the fact that their movements are restricted to certain areas. Moreover, they are compelled to furnish a written report of their actions throughout the day to a superior officer when going off duty.

The crook does not take any count of these individuals, realizing that they are mere machines, and not to be feared unless they are actually upon the scene when a crime is committed. There is one branch of the service, however, the mere mention of which strikes fear in the heart of the average criminal. I refer to the now famous Flying Squadron (writes an ex-convict). One hears so little of this branch of the C.I.D. that it might aptly be termed the "Silent Service."

Under Fire!
 I do not intend to attempt a description of the machinery of the "Flying Squad." I prefer to give a description of some of its members, from the habitual criminal's point of view. Take, for instance, Inspector Gross, who was one of the first leaders of the "Squad," and now, I believe, Divisional Detective Inspector of the Bow Street Division of the Metropolitan Police.

London's underworld learned to dread the name of "Gross." No community of crooks was unknown to him. He had a discomfiting habit of putting in an appearance in the most unexpected quarters at the most inconvenient times. He and his lieutenant, Sergt. Walter Selby, moved with impunity within the haunts of the most desperate and dangerous criminals—fearless, but instilling fear wherever they went.

At the present time, the most active members of the "Squad," are Detective Rutherford and Sergt. Selby. At all hours they are to be found in the haunts of criminals. They have as much knowledge of the inside of the underworld as the people of the underworld themselves. There are times when this pair carry their lives in their hands, as witness the incident a few months ago, when they were actively engaged upon the suppression of the moonshine trade. Detective Rutherford was fired upon by one of the gang, who, fortunately, was not a good shot.

Selby and Rutherford are on speaking terms with nearly every habitant crook, male and female, at large in the Metropolis to-day.

A Fight With Pickpockets.
 I am reminded of an incident relating to the theft of Lady Crofield's jewels about a year ago. Whilst in the neighbourhood of Hampstead one afternoon, driving round in their specially constructed motor tender, they observed three well-known crooks. Realizing that these men were not frequenting Hampstead with any good intentions, they decided to keep them under observation. In this they were rewarded, however, for shortly afterwards they lost sight of their quarry, and were compelled to abandon their project. That night it was reported to Scotland Yard that the house of Lady Crofield had been burgled.

It was only a matter of a few hours before Selby and Rutherford had rounded up the three men they had attempted to follow at Hampstead, and the result that most of the stolen jewels were recovered, and the men were eventually convicted.

Another equally astute member of the "Squad" is Detective-Sergt. Crooks, popularly referred to by crooks as "Tommy Tongue." He prefers to hunt alone.

On one occasion he took the trouble to convince me that I was not the astute person I had imagined myself to be when he informed me that he had held me under observation for six or seven hours a few days previously. At first I ridiculed the statement, but was swiftly convinced of its truth when he proceeded to describe my movements with an exactitude which gave me no loophole for further doubt. "Tommy Tongue" does not look like a detective. Slim in build, at first sight he gives one the impression of being clerically inclined. Yet it would be interesting to know how many times his "hooking" machine has brought him "top dog" out of a rough house. Quite recently he effected the arrest in a Tube lift, when, single-handed, he tackled a number of pickpockets. He called upon several bystanders to come to his assistance, and none would do so. Although he was severely handled by the rest of the mob, he stuck to his man.

The Dope Fiend's Fox.
 Detective-Inspector Leach is another officer whom confidence tricksters dread. He has made it his speciality to learn the ways and methods of the "gentle grafter." Although he knows the majority of "con-men" at large in London, few of them know him. I do not know him myself, but I was many times asked by fellow grafters, when a grafter myself, if I could furnish his description.

Children's Party

IN AID OF CHILD WELFARE ASSOCIATION.

An afternoon party, in aid of the Child Welfare Association, has been undertaken by six little children to take place to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the grounds of Mr. Stanley Cake "waldmire," Cornwall Avenue. This energetic little band of committee workers have been kept busy for several weeks past making the necessary preparations, and it is hoped that as many children as possible from the city will join there to-morrow to make the day a success. A feature of the display will be an attractive array of doll's clothes, which will be put up for sale at most reasonable prices. Soft drinks, candy and delicious ice cream will also be on sale. Parents are asked to send their children along and help the cause. An enjoyable afternoon is in store for all who may care to attend.

Detective-Inspector Goodwillie again is the "fence's" bugbear. He has a penchant for "noosing out" the buyer of stolen property. The beginner in this line of business is warned so frequently to beware of Goodwillie that the very name strikes a note of ill-omen to him. There are many fences to-day who would give a considerable portion of their ill-gotten gains to learn that Inspector Goodwillie had retired. Quite a recent acquisition to the Yard is Detective Owen, who has played a prominent part in the effort to suppress the "dope traffic." Dope fiends and dope traffickers alike have learned to dread him. He was recently publicly commented upon his work.

What Causes the Body to Produce Insulin

In the healthy individual the sugar in the blood causes the pancreas to discharge insulin into the blood. This is indicated by experiments described by Dr. E. S. Albritton of Ohio State University, to the Physiology Section of the British Association. In a normal healthy individual there is always a small but constant amount of sugar in the blood. In the disease diabetes, the sugar accumulates and the amount is increased. When insulin is injected the amount of sugar present in the blood is reduced. Dr. Banting showed that insulin is manufactured in the pancreas, from which it is discharged into the blood. The question arises as to what causes the pancreas to liberate insulin in a healthy animal. Dr. Albritton has performed a number of experiments to decide this question. The results of these experiments indicate the curious fact that the sugar itself acts as the stimulus which causes the pancreas to discharge its insulin into the blood stream.

Treasury Windfall

VAST WEALTH OF SIR ROBERT
ROPNER—MILLIONAIRE SHIP-
OWNER WHO CAME OVER AS STOWAWAY.

Sir Emil Hugo Oscar Robert Ropner, Bart, shipowner and shipbuilder, of Stockton-on-Tees, left the vast fortune of £3,115,000. This represents unsettled estate. His settled property, in addition, is considerable, and the Treasury will benefit from death duties to the extent of about £1,468,000. Sir Robert was a Prussian, born in Magdeburg, and was intended for the Lutheran ministry, but he came to England at the age of 18, a poor and friendless lad—the story is that he stowed away in a steamer to avoid conscription—and entered a shipping office at West Hartlepool. Within five years he was in business, with a partner, as a coal exporter and shipowner. The business thrived, and 14 years later he became its sole owner. Branches were opened in Cardiff and London, his sons joined him, and he took over a shipyard at Stockton and developed it out of all recognition. Mr. Ropner extended his interests to coal mines and banks and other important undertakings on the north-east coast, and was knighted in 1902. Two years after he became a baronet. He represented Stockton in Parliament as a Conservative for some years. Among recent millionaire estates which have yielded windfalls for the Treasury are the following:—

Mr. J. T. Mills, financier . . . £4,100,000
Mr. M. Marcus, broker . . . 3,145,757
Hon. N. C. Rothschild,

The Never-Stop Wonder

More than half a million people have been carried on the Never-Stop Railway at the British Empire Exhibition, and the efficiency with which it can deal with the large numbers of passengers who are now using it is shown by the fact that at no time are crowds to be seen on the stations. As soon as a passenger reaches a platform, he is able, without waiting, to step into a carriage and be carried away, and it has been computed that the system can handle at least 40,000 passengers at each station each hour. The Never-Stop Railway is the invention of Mr. Yorath Lewis, and Wembley is the first place where it has been tried for the practical purpose of carrying passengers. The system was an experiment, and, as with all experiments, it took a considerable time to get every detail right. The principle was new. All sorts of difficulties had to be overcome. The driving power transmitted by a continuously revolving spiral operating between the rails. An arm attached to the car is in contact with this spiral, and as the spiral turns, so the car is propelled forward. At the stations the spiral is closely wound and between the stations it is widely wound. Thus the speed is automatically regulated, and the cars, in consequence, require neither driver nor conductor. As the cars reach a station they slow down to almost zero, and, having passed out, attain a speed of twenty-four miles an hour. All the difficulties that were encountered were in evolving a way of driving the spiral. Those difficulties were overcome, but not without considerable experiments. Each car can carry twenty-four passengers.

The railway starts at the north-west entrance and, travelling through the Amusement Park, past the Palace of Engineering and the Coal Mine, finishes at the Stadium. The round trip, which extends roughly to three miles, can be done in about ten minutes.

German Couple

HAVE 100 CHILDREN AND GRAND-CHILDREN.

REUTHE, Germany, Aug. 1 (A.P.)—Daniel Falger and wife possess 37 children between them. Daniel, 21 years old, was a widower with 21 children when his eyes fell upon the widow Hedwig Poehl, who is the mother of 16 youngsters and six years older than Daniel.

When the wedding breakfast was served and noses were counted, it was found that the immediate family of children and grandchildren numbered over 100.

SUGAR OUTLOOK—WHY CUBA IS CONFIDENT.

N.Y.—There are numerous indications that substantially better prices will be seen for Cuban raws before the new crop becomes available. American refiners have shown normal reluctance to stock raws in absence of pressure from consumers, because what slight demand there has been at lower prices was supplied mainly by Porto Rican and Hawaiian sugars. Available supply of duty-free sugars is now negligible, and Cuba stands free of competition.

While domestic refiners were supplying needs with duty-free sugar Cuba found European refiners pressed by consumers not only for future requirements, but for present as well, and willing to pay a fair premium for spot raws. Consequently Cuban companies passed the opportunity to compete with duty-free sugars in this market and contented themselves with disposing of their product at better prices abroad.

American refiners now find competition for raw sugars aggressive abroad and the Cuban market is the only one available. Indications are not lacking that they consider the time ripe to change their buying policy. Cuban companies realize the apparent impregnability of their position and adopting a strong attitude and no longer press sale of their sugars.

While a portion of the anticipated large European beet crop will be exported, it will not be ready in time to supply present growing demand. The same is true of the United States beet crop, which is expected to be a record but will not be available in any large proportion until near the end of the year. The Java crop, which might have menaced Cuba's position, has vanished into thin air, apparently absorbed in the East by actual consumption.

BRAZILIAN TRACTION.

Toronto.—Vice-Press Wood of Brazilian Traction, Light & Power Co., Ltd., at the annual meeting said the Brazilian Government is in absolute control, with the president more strongly entrenched than ever.

Traction company's physical loss in the revolt was slightly less than expected. Chief loss will be in earnings, with a $500,000 drop in July and between $500,000 and $1,000,000 further drop expected in balance of year. San Paulo earnings, which were 35% of company's total, showed a gain of $1,200,000 in first half-year which would offset bulk of loss. Rio earnings aggregating 65% of total would show increase. Now 50,000 kilowatt hydro development on Parahyba river had been brought in, giving a power surplus in Rio.

Bones of Camel

FOUND IN BED OF KANSAS LAKE.

LAWRENCE, Kans., Aug. 20 (A.P.)—Half a ton of fossil bones, all of them new for the University of Kansas museum and some of them new to science, have been discovered in Sherman County, Kansas, according to H. T. Martin, curator of the University's museum. Mr. Martin and Curtis Hesse, laboratory assistant, spent four weeks this summer near Goodland, Kans., and shoveled more than 100 tons of sand in uncovering the fossils.

"Parts of at least fifteen species of mammals were recovered," said Mr. Martin. "These included three species of camels, one as large as a small giraffe, the smallest the size of a sheep, two species of rhinoceros, three species of three-toed horse, dog, cat, peccary, deer and three species of moestodons."

"The fossils were found in a formation that apparently had once been a small lake bed, some 300 feet square, and several feet under ground, making it necessary to use a plow and scraper to get down to the fossil-bearing sands."

"The bones, which are of a jet black, were found scattered over the entire space, but parts of bones that we sometimes found widely separated stied together perfectly.

"Apparently," said Mr. Martin, "these bones were distributed by freezing, either through ice on the lake, or a glacier. That is the only way I can explain the sharply broken bones and their distribution. No complete skeletons were found."

"We are highly pleased with the results of the trip, for it will add greatly to the scientific knowledge of the animals that once roamed western Kansas."

Masterly Restoration

WONDERFUL WORK ON LINCOLN CATHEDRAL.

Lincoln Minster now weighs 700 tons more than it did a few years ago as the result of the work of restoration and the use of liquid concrete on every weak portion of the walls. The restoration, it is hoped, will make the building safe for 500 years. The work of mending the damaged towers and nave were started March, 1923, after an appeal for £50,000 had been made. A scaffolding, itself a masterpiece of engineering, was raised round the badly cracked north-west tower, and machinery brought into action for raising water to a height far above the city water tower. Every portion of the main fabric of the Minster has been "tapped" to find insectholes. 17,000 holes have been bored, and seven miles of cracks have been filled. So much more has to be done that an appeal has been issued, signed by the Earl of Yarrowburgh (Lord Lieutenant of the county) and the Earl of Liverpool (chairman of one of the restoration committees) asking the county to continue the effort for two years more.

Clyde Output

Shows Increase

The largest, most powerful and fastest motor ship yet built was launched on the Clyde on June 17th by the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, Limited. According to advices received by the Bankers Trust Company through its English Information Service, this vessel, the "Aorangi" built for the United Steam Ship Company of New Zealand, Limited, is also the first large motor-propelled mail and passenger liner and is fitted with quadruple screw Sulzer engines.

The total of launches of new vessels on the Clyde during May amounted to 38 vessels of 44,390 gross tons. This was the second largest business of the year, being exceeded only in March when the figures were 16 vessels of 53,218 tons and represents the largest May output since 1920. The Clyde output for the first five months of the year comprised 97 vessels of 154,256 gross tons as compared with 45 vessels of 137,145 tons for the corresponding period of 1923. The highest January to May figures were recorded in May, 1913, when 105 vessels of 238,997 tons were launched.

Challenge Race at Indian Harbor, Labrador

Well Done Newfoundlanders.

(H. F. SHORTLIFF.)

It has always been a matter of surprise to me why a Newfoundland crew has not been sent to Halifax or other cities in the Dominion of Canada to compete in the Annual Regatta, which takes place in the various cities during the summer months. We know from experience that in Bermuda and other parts in which our sailors have competed against the crews of the warships or the mercantile marine, that they have always secured a good account of themselves, and have invariably been the winners. An old sailor of Newfoundland once told me that he won five dollars by betting a friend from another ship, "that no matter who was on some of the cars, there were at least three Newfoundlanders in the winning boat." When asked afterwards how he knew it, he replied, "by the way they feathered their oars." And he proved to be correct. But while we have heard of many occasions in which our fishermen-sailors maintained the supremacy of our countrymen as oarsmen in southern climes, the challenge race which took place at Indian Harbor, Labrador, was the first occasion in which they maintained their record in the Far North, against the picked crew of the United States warship, the United States squadron of five ships of war visited Indian Harbor, Labrador, about two weeks ago, and their appearance proved a real red letter day in the history of that famous fishing station. They were sent there to watch the movements of the Americans "round the world air fliers."

During their visit they enjoyed themselves immensely in hunting and fishing up Pettie's Bay, under the guidance of either George or Ernest Jerrett, sons of the enterprising planter, the genial Charlie A. Jerrett, who, I suppose, must be looked upon as the Governor-General of this important part of our great Dependency, Labrador. The Americans of the warships also held Regattas between their own seamen of the five ships, and the thought struck George Jerrett that he would try conclusions with our Yankee friends in a challenge race and show them the mettle of which a Newfoundland fisherman-sailor was composed. The challenge was sent on board the United States flagship Lawrence to row the best boat's crew in the fleet, and the challenge was eagerly taken up—our exhibition knocked into a cocked hat all the latest innovations of the terrace art, such as the Fox Trot and those other colorations that we hear so much about in these days. Mr. Spracklin received quite an ovation.

With reference to the Press Club, I may mention that the newspaper men on the warships have formed themselves into a combination, styled the "Furthest North Press Club," and Mr. George Jerrett is the first man to be admitted an honorary member. It was indeed a most enjoyable event, and our American friends took their defeat in good humor; thus proving that they were really good sports.

George Jerrett was our commander, Jim Percy was second hand, and all the rest were bold young youths brought up in Newfoundland.

Woman a Bundle of Nerves

"Everything irritates me—I am a bundle of nerves. I ache all over and cannot sleep and am so despondent." This extract from a letter written from one woman to another describes the condition of many women who suffer from feminine ailments. Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. For fifty years it has been restoring sick and ailing women of America to health and strength.

A Tremendous Success

MARY MILES MINTER SCORES IN A WONDERFUL FEATURE "DRUMS OF FATE."

"Drums of Fate," a new Paramount picture featuring Mary Miles Minter, was shown with great success at the Majestic Theatre last night. The scene at the opening of the picture is laid in New York in the home of Carol Dolliver, a typical modern girl. She is in love with Laurence Teck, a wealthy African explorer, and married him. Teck is supposed to be killed on one of his expeditions, and Carol remarries a young musical genius, David Verna.

Teck turns up unexpectedly from the jungles, but when he learns the situation, he returns to Africa writing his wife that she may now divorce him on the grounds of desertion. When Carol's husband hears that Teck is alive, he dies from the shock. Carol goes to Africa in search of her husband. She is captured by the same band of carriers that had previously attacked Teck, and is made a captive. She finds Teck, who is a friend of the king, and both find happiness.

Miss Minter does some of the most convincing acting of her career in this production. The supporting cast consisting of Maurice Flynn, George Fawcett, Robert Cain, Casson Ferguson, Bartram Grassby and Noble Johnson, rendered excellent support.

This wonderful feature will be repeated to-night and to-morrow. Accompanying "Drums of Fate," is an up to date comedy.

10 Years More Life

LONGER SPAN CAUSES DEARER ANNUITIES.

Despite the rush and turmoil of modern times, babies born to-day are said to have an expectation of 10 years more life compared with their grandfathers.

As the British Medical Association's conference which has just ended at Bradford it was stated that the expectation of life had increased enormously.

Just before the war several insurance companies revised their mortality tables, and in 1913 the cost of Government annuities was raised from 5 to 6 per cent. As rates of interest were not high, as they have been since the war, this increase was due solely to the fact that people were living longer.

Big insurance companies also have had to increase the cost of their annuities since the war for the same reason, an actuary told a Daily Mail reporter. "A great improvement in longevity has been noted even in the last few years," he said, "as was shown when the Institute of Actuaries revised their table about two years ago."

As old statistics were unreliable and varied considerably, there are many different versions as to what the increase in expectation represents. Accurate statistics show, however, that the improvement of mortality for men since 1890 is 20 per cent. and for women 12 per cent.

It was announced as the Geographical last December that Lt.-Col. Whitaker, the Chief Commisary, who is editor of "Whitaker's Almanack," had said he was revising the tables relating to the expectation of life, which was now more than ten years longer than a few years ago.—Daily Mail.

Only Ten Cents

Nowadays very little can be purchased for a dime, and people have got into the habit of expecting to pay more for most articles. As an exception to the general rule, come Pearline, the great washing powder, which sells at one grocer's for ten cents, a big, generous package. It is cheaper than soap and easier to use, in either hot or cold water. Women who use Pearline, and there are millions of them, know what real satisfactory results are—for this economical washing powder produces wonderful results with little toil. Be sure to try Pearline. You will find it is a good ten cent investment.—E.

The Nestle Exhibit at the British Empire Exhibition

In visiting the Palace of Industry, one of the most interesting features is the Nestle Stand, which is prominent as an entire departure from the usual stereotyped stand met with in most exhibitions.

This Stand is extraordinarily unique in design and materials, the latter consisting mainly of massive Antiques Oak Beams and uprights, which carry the selling beams, and white plaster insets, gives an Elizabethan effect to the lobby. The facade, which is supported on the uprights, is finished in Antique Oak and is surrounded and intersected by similar Oak Beam treatment, studded at the joints and carries the name of the firm in solid wood letters, finished in white enamel.

These letters are in peculiarly characteristic style always associated with the products of Nestle. They are utilised also for the left-hand return of the facade which bears the Firm's well-known slogan "Richest in Cream."

The lobby entrance is particularly roomy and is cleverly arranged to accommodate counter showcases framed in antique oak in complete harmony with the general scheme. In the rear of the lobby is situated a medium sized office.

The chief attraction in the exhibit are two tableaux consisting of groups of Parisian life-like wax models. The motif of the two groups is "From Infancy to Old Age."

One looks into a kitchen and sees the young mother holding an infant, which, judging by the bath near by has been bathed in it and is about to be fed on Nestle's Milk from a bottle which is placed conveniently for the mother's use.

The two older children of the family appear to be very happy playing Peep Bow round their mother's chair, and she herself has her feet resting on a case which has contained tins of Milk and has been converted into a truck. This is a rather clever, homely and satirical touch.

with an old man and his wife sitting at the table, about to partake of a cup of tea enriched by Nestle's Milk.

The apartment is complete with an old Grandfather's Clock, which piece of furniture is particularly associated with old houses, the view in the back ground, from the open window being that of an English pastoral scene in hilly country, is peculiarly appropriate to the thought of Nestle's Milk which is so closely identified with the rich pastures in England.

A pleasing effect of sunshine is obtained by a clever arrangement of internal lighting.

Three glass showcases are placed in the lobby entrance displaying the Company's products packed in the United Kingdom, Australia and Canada, respectively.

To the left and right of the office in the rear two frames containing replicas of the Royal Warrant and the very numerous other Awards and Medals gained all over the world are seen, and cannot fail to interest and impress the public.

The same remarks, too, may be used in describing the colored sero photos and other photographs of the many important Centenaries in this country and abroad.

The Stand is situated in the Dairy Section of the Food Exhibits and approaching from the Palace of Industry from the main entrance, this Section is in the quarter nearest the Stadium Side.

The Stand has been specially designed for Messrs Nestle by the Architect Wm. Brazton Sinclair, Esq., F.R.I.B.A., and apart from its general impressiveness, is an architectural feature.

Sir Lawrence Weaver, addressing the Incorporated Sales Managers Association some weeks ago, on the importance of the exhibition from the point of view of trade, emphasised the wishes of the Organisers that all exhibitors would do their utmost to make each Stand a centre of attraction and interest for the benefit of the British Manufacturers generally, and the motive of the exhibition.

In regard to this particular exhibit, one feels that this policy has been carried out to the utmost and one cannot but offer congratulations to Messrs. Nestle on their handsome effort.

Medicine Bottle Habit
DOCTOR'S CRITICISM OF AN IDOL.
Speaking at the medical sociology section of the British Medical Association, Dr. A. E. Barnes, Sheffield University, said serious modern temptations are the increasing use of drugs, the fostering of the medicine bottle habit, which has become an idol, and the increase in neurosis. "Keep a dog constantly chained, and he will get neurosis. The same applies to a young man chained to a monotonous machine."

When the millionaire reaks down and retires to a nursing home, it is put down to business worries. When the working man goes into hospital he is called a malingering. The cause is the same.

Garden Party at Job's Cove

A very successful garden party was held at Job's Cove on the 20th inst. It was originally intended to have had the affair on the 15th, but poor weather caused a postponement until Wednesday last. That day was exceptionally fine, and in consequence many visitors came from all sections of the North Shore. A football team from Western Bay played against the locals, and this was the big attraction of the afternoon sports. The following items were run off:—

100 yards—Won by F. Walsh, Time, 11 seconds.

Putting the Shot—Won by J. Kelly, 20 ft. 4 in.

Throwing the Hammer—Won by L. English, 33 ft. 2 in.

High Jump—Won by R. English, 4 ft. 11 in.

Pole Vault—Won by B. Colbert, 8 ft.

Football Place Kick—Won by C. Kennedy, 65 yards.

Quarter Mile—Won by M. Kinsella, Time, 61 sec.

Boating Exhibition—Masters Howell and Mulally.

Sack Race—Won by D. English.

Three Legged Race—Won by W. Kinsella and D. English.

Football Sixes—Western Bay versus Job's Cove. Won by Job's Cove, 1 goal to nil. The winning team were: T. Power, M. Kinsella, B. Colbert, F. Walsh, J. Kelly and M. Murphy. Another local team challenged the winners, but were defeated by three goals to one. Subsequently all the players indulged in an interesting game which ended in a draw.

Teas were served during the evening and at night a dance in the hall terminated one of the most enjoyable events in years. Rev. Fr. Fitzgerald is to be congratulated on the success of the garden party, and a meed of praise is due to the good ladies and the Sports Committee, also to the Western Bay boys who by their presence gave much interest to the field competitions.—COM.

Doses of Insulin
Subject to Variation

Large doses of insulin do not necessarily exert a proportionately greater curative power as far as dogs are concerned, according to the work of C. H. Best and R. G. Smith, reported at the physiology section of the British Association. After taking all the symptoms into consideration and working with both normal and diabetic dogs, these two experimenters have found that a small dose of insulin, for instance of 10 units, may exert as rapid and as sustained an effect upon the blood sugar of a normal dog as a dose ten times as great.

AN OLD MAN WONDER.
Did we have more fun than they who wear the garb of youth to-day? Were our eyes really brighter then? Or are we foolish, gray, old men who merely fancy in our rhymes that life has lost those good old times?

I wonder were the girls we knew in flimsy gowns of pink and blue, And braided hair and ankle skirts, So very shy; or were they flirt? Were they much different from the maids of now, who have no ribboned braids?

We sang and danced the latest styles; We "lost our heads" for maiden's smiles; We often stole a kiss or two Which like as not these youngsters do.

I fancy, though I do not know, They still hold hands as long ago. We tell our little boasts of all We did when we were young and tall; We fancy joy was sweeter then; But are we foolish, gray, old men Still clinging to the long ago, And is our prattle really so?

Will not these youngsters turn and say When they like us as old and gray, And hear some newer ballad sung: "Would sweeter songs when we were young."

I fancy they like us at last, Will cherish memories of the past.

"The Prodigal Son" Truly Wonderful

IMMENSE AUDIENCES SEE IT AT THE NICKEL.

Immense audiences attended the Nickel Theatre yesterday to witness the much advertised production, "The Prodigal Son."

This adaptation of a house divided against itself—of man's inhumanity to man—is the best English production, in our opinion, which has ever been shown. The director has carried out the salient points of the sombre tale, embellishing it with the necessary detail, and carrying out the spirit of the original in a manner which should prove highly gratifying to the author. It is a symphony in gray, naturally, since its major action takes place in the bleak wastelands of Iceland.

Its plot will linger in the memory because it soars on a tragic theme, telling a tale of a wastling son who steals the love of his brother's sweetheart. This precipitates a real dramatic foundation which releases deep interest and ever-increasing suspense. Even burdened with some extraneous detail, the picture is powerfully compelling. One watches the burden of the wronged brother who carried his cross on his back; one watches the degeneration of the other and the crumbling of his house as he sows and reaps the whirlwind. There is another conflict, too—of sister against sister—one married to the wastling, the other attempting to steal his love. Tragedy shadows the prodigal in his hectic flight to London, Monte Carlo and Paris. But his regeneration brings him back to the fold and he explains his sin in his acceptance of divine guidance. Having become famous and rich, his money is turned over to his hard-pressed people and happiness breaks through the clouds. Scarcely second to the magnificence of the above production, is the beautiful singing of Miss Marjorie Hutchings, who, last night delighted her many hearers by her rich and excellently trained Contralto voice.

In its dainty design and new blue and white dress the new cant Ivory Soap makes an instant appeal to ladies of good taste.—adv.t.f.

Smoking by Women

PARIS, July 31 (A.P.)—A protest is being raised in the Paris press against smoking by women in the streets. "After the theatre," apostrophizes one writer, "it has become an ordinary sight to see a woman produce her cigarette and puff away as she strolls homeward, just like the men. It is mostly foreign women, however, who set this far from graceful example, and we hope they will not find many followers among their French sisters."

Bungalow Killer
Goes to Gallows

APPEAL OF PATRICK MAHON DISMISSED BY BRITISH COURT.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The appeal of Patrick Mahon to the Court of Criminal Appeal against the sentence of death pronounced upon him for murder of Miss Emily Kaye, at Eastbourne on April 15, has been dismissed.

Mahon was convicted and sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Miss Emily Kaye, a typist, who had spent several week-ends with him in a bungalow at Eastbourne. Mahon is married. The bungalow had been rented by him for a short time. Miss Kaye's dismembered body was found in the bungalow, but her head was missing and the police failed to locate it. Portions of Miss Kaye's body were found packed in a trunk.

The "Bungalow murder," as the crime was commonly called, aroused public interest to an unusual extent and the owner of the bungalow for a short time profited by the morbid curiosity of the people by charging a shilling admittance to the house. The owner, a woman, was not allowed to continue her money-making venture, however, the house being closed by the authorities within 24 hours after the shilling charge had been levied.

Sturdy Triple-Engine Planes

TO FLY ACROSS KONGO JUNGLES.

Airplanes are about to fly over the jungles in the Belgian Congo, Africa, cutting a 45-day land journey to a two-day jaunt through the air.

For three years the Belgian government has been conducting tests to perfect the new type of plane shown above, capable of making the rigorous 1200-mile journey that virtually lies along the equator. The extreme climatic conditions cause a severe strain on the structure of planes in this area and landing-fields along the route are practically non-existent.

The new type plane therefore will be equipped with three engines, a 350-horse-power Rolls-Royce in the nose of the fuselage, and two 230-horsepower engines on the wings. Should any one of the engines fail, the plane still can hold the air and reach its destination. The front engine alone is capable of flying the ship if it is not loaded with its full complement of freight.

The wing span of the machine is 75 feet; the length of plane, 60 feet, and the height 17 feet. Accommodations for 10 passengers and 1000 pounds of luggage will be provided and the flying speed will be more than 100 miles an hour.

A tiny medicine dropper should be used in removing stains from colored fabrics with chemicals.

Grades Complex Nerves From Result of Wounds

Toronto, August 19.—An analysis of the after-effects of gunshot wounds in the arm has developed the knowledge of the inter-relationship of nerves of the upper limb, according to Dr. Ivy Mackenzie, neurologist, of Glasgow University, who addressed the physiology section of the British Association today. Surgeons have been able to join nerves in the case of damage, and the cords may be cut, lengthened and spliced together again in cases of shortening of the limb. In such operations, it is obviously impossible to join the cut ends so that exactly corresponding nerve fibres grow together again, and it has been found that this precision is not necessary for the success of the repair.

Nerve endings in a limb may thus be in communication with other cells in the brain, when the joined ends have fused together. This results in a temporary lack of control, but the faculty may be fully restored by training and exercise. The success of this process depends upon the degree of complication of the nerve region affected, and it is less satisfactory in the case of those which are complicated.

A difference in the restoration to the normal after operations of this kind involving the ulnar and musculospiral nerves of the arm is the criterion by which Dr. Mackenzie differentiates the degree of complexity of these two branches of the nervous system. The ulnar nerve runs along the inside of the arm to the inside of the hand, and it controls in part the fine movement of the 3rd and 4th fingers. This is the cord responsible for the pins-and-needles sensation in the hand and arm when the "funny bone" gets a knock. The musculospiral nerve runs on the outside of the arm.

"Wounds in the area served by the musculospiral nerve were rarely followed by serious consequences, but lesions of the area fed by the ulnar nerve frequently had serious results," said Dr. Mackenzie. "Operations on the ulnar nerve were not so successful as those on the musculospiral." Describing the interaction of the two nerves in the case of deformation, the professor showed how an injury in the musculospiral area might give rise to a deformity in the ulnar area, but one in the ulnar region never resulted in interference with the functioning of the musculospiral set. The differences are attributed to the greater complexity of the ulnar nerve.

There is a greater tendency to the dissolution of the "central nervous integration" in the case of injuries of the complex nerve, while this power of co-ordinating the individual stimuli to the brain, into harmonious and rhythmic movement of the organism as a whole, is not interfered with to the same extent where the musculospiral nerve is concerned.

Heat Homes With Coal Dust

"Tendency to use of Coal in Powdered form," Prof. Guess Reports.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 12.—Pulverized coal installations may shortly be in use for domestic heating, according to Professor Guess of the University of Toronto, who delivered a paper on the uses of this fuel in metallurgical plants, at the chemistry section of the British Association to-day. The use of powdered fuel has developed rapidly in recent years, Prof. Guess told the chemists, citing improved methods of preparation, and appreciation for its increased popularity. "The cement industry in the United States alone used 5,000,000 tons a year," he said.

When coal is used in the pulverized form, it is not stored in the ordinary way, but it is ground up so finely that it may be carried to the furnaces through pipes by a blast of air. This makes it analogous to gas as a fuel, so that better temperature control and greater economy are possible, than when the coal is burned in the ordinary way.

Prof. Guess showed how the new technique has been developed to its present state of perfection, from the time that the powdered material was first successfully used for reverberatory smelting by the International Nickel Company at its Copper Cliff Plant.

"Better installations using pulverized coal are becoming more common," the speaker reported. "Very high boiler efficiencies are attained. The cost of pulverizing coal at the 10,000 horse-power plant of the St. Joe Lead Company, River Mimes, Missouri, is given as only 50 cents per ton." "It is not too much to expect that in time simplification of pulverized coal installations will enable it to be used for heating our homes." This development would have the added advantage of making available the lignite deposits of the Middle West, which are at present a poser for engineers.

Bishop of Birmingham

English papers to hand by last mail contain many appreciative references to the appointment of Canon E. W. Barnes, of Westminster Abbey, as Bishop of Birmingham, in succession to Bishop Wakefield, who recently resigned owing to age and falling health. The London Times and the Sunday Times are particularly happy in their endorsement of the appointment of Bishop Barnes, who is looked upon as one of the ablest minds in the Church of England to-day. The following is from the Times:—

"The new Bishop of Birmingham is Canon Barnes of Westminster, who is a Doctor of Science and Fellow of the Royal Society. Dr. Barnes was educated at the famous Birmingham School, King Edward's, before he went up to Cambridge; and not only this local association but the quality of his mind makes the appointment peculiarly suitable. When Dr. Barnes was appointed Master of the Temple in September, 1915, it was recognized that tradition had been broken in deference to intellectual attainments which placed him among the leading men of pure science of the day. He then had no parochial experience, and apart from that of examining chaplain of the Bishop of London, had held no clerical office. But the confidence of his Cambridge friends, who predicted that he would soon count as one of the greater forces in the spiritual life of London, was speedily more than fulfilled. From the pulpits of the Temple and the Abbey, which he was made a Canon in 1918, he has exerted a steady increasing influence as a preacher and as a student of current affairs. At Trinity his career was one of exceptional distinction. He was bracketed as Second Wrangler in 1896, and in 1897—the year in which he was President of the Union—was placed in the First Division of the First Class in the Mathematical Tripos, Part II. Next year he was first Smith's Prizeman, was elected to a Fellowship of Trinity, and was appointed instructor at the Royal Military Academy, Woolrich. He was ordained in 1902, and is now in his 50th year."

"The appointment of Canon Barnes to the Bishopric of Birmingham is particularly felicitous," says the Sunday Times. "It is so partly because the new Bishop is himself a Birmingham man, and has kept up his association with his old school where his instinct for mathematics was first developed. But it is also a happy appointment because Birmingham has long been a city with a striking religious life, and Bishop Barnes is the man to make it as prominent in the Church of England as Dawson and Dale and Jowett made it in English Nonconformity."

"He is still only fifty, and it is not yet twenty-two years since he was ordained. But among the younger men of the Church he has made a distinctive mark as one who touches with the life and thought of our time, and a preacher and student who combines faith and a high scientific intelligence with the courage of a modern outlook. It is men of his type that the Church needs more than ever now if she is not to see the forces that are shaping a new England, escape from her altogether."

SAVING AND GIVING.
 I put five dollars down in brine, and to myself I say, "A wise and prudent course is mine—I salt the coin away. And when I'm old, with snowy hair, too tired and weak to toil, I'll seat me in my easy chair, and watch the kettle boil. I'll rest beneath my tree and vine, my bundle by my side; I put my kopecks down in brine, and so I point with pride. Man's bosom has a genial glow, he has a tranquil mind, if he is privileged to know that what is left behind, if he can face

THE PREJUDICE MAGNIFYING GLASS.

"There are some persons so gifted in regard to us that their 'how do you do' seems charged with offense."
 —GEORGE ELLIOTT.

A friend of mine who had a very good maid has just let her go. I was surprised to hear this for I had often heard my friend sing her praises and I know how hard such helpers are to get and keep. But when she told me the reason I understood perfectly.

An Unfortunate Antipathy.
 "My husband always disliked her personally, and so every little mistake she made (and of course, good as she was, she did make some mistakes like all of us) annoyed him out of all proportion. I know he would be better satisfied with someone else even if her work wasn't so good."
 How very strong a magnifying or minimizing glass (if there is such a thing as the latter) our prejudices in regard to people can be when we are looking at their faults and virtues! How much more we are upset by the inconveniences which those we dislike cause us than by those inflicted on us by people to whom we are kindly disposed.

Unlike Magnifies Inconvenience.
 An interruption when you are working is so much less upsetting and delaying if it is made by someone whom you like rather than by someone whom you dislike, even if the latter actually stays the longer. The work you do getting ready for some guests whom you really want to entertain isn't half so tiring as the without hills and valleys. And perhaps we can't entirely control the strong antipathies that we feel, such as George Elliott so wittily characterized. But I do think that if we understand these factors, if we know how to disentangle our resentments and antagonisms from the complexes they get tied up in, we shall be less disturbed by them.

the aging years, and say, "You don't fright; I have the seeds piled up in tiers," he is a happy wight. I give five dollars to a gent who's hungry, lipped and hoarse; he's moved me, by his dire lament, from out my thrifty corner. The precious backs that should be placed in storage, high and dry, impulsively I choose to waste upon a homeless guy. And, strangely, now, I feel a glow that warms this breast of mine, far greater than the one I know when I put coin in brine. I know it's foolish to disburse, this way, a princely sum, to take the rubles from my purse and hand them to a bum. I ought to husband all the pelf against the wintry day, yet I feel prouder of myself, when giving plunks away.
