Editorial Topics.

At a college meeting held on February 6th, Mr. Lancefield tendered his resignation from the Board of Editors; he felt himself unable, owing to his duties as Business Manager, to do justice to the position. Mr. F. H. Hincks, '01, was unanimously elected to fill his place; we feel sure that Mr. Hincks is possessed of no mean literary ability, and that he will do credit both to himself and to THE REVIEW.

AGAIN we wish to appeal to our subscribers for contributions to the personal column. Some months ago we called attention to the fact that unless we always had plenty of "Personals," THE REVIEW would, to a certain extent, lose interest to the majority of our readers, viz., the Graduates. Our desire is to record in this column the doings of our Graduates in all parts of the world; but it is necessarily impossible that news of these should always reach us here, while it is at the same time most improbable that anything of interest should take place with regard to them without some one of our subscribers hearing of it.

We therefore beg our readers to send in all items that are of interest to Trinity men.

This seems to be a suitable time, also, to repeat another request to our subscribers—that they will please either pay their subscriptions to date or give notice that they wish the paper discontinued. If they would be so kind as to do this, it would save a lot of unnecessary trouble.

IN the January, 1899, number of THE REVIEW the following article appeared:—"During the past two or three years there has been in Trinity a marked decadence of that abstract quality known as "year feeling," and we feel sure that Trinity has benefited thereby. In past years there were many men who sacrificed the good of the college for the good of their year, and naturally this led to disastrous results.

We are in Trinity one large family, so there is no occasion for internal divisions and we hope that year feeling has become a thing of the past, never to be revived. Of course, it is quite natural that we feel most kindly towards the men of our own year, but when a point is at stake that affects the whole college, let us cast aside year prejudice and act for the best of Trinity."

It seems just possible that this was written in a spirit of boasting, and that it has been rewarded accordingly. Year feeling has not yet "become a thing of the past, never to be revived;" we still, however, entertain the hope that it will. Especially at the present time, when we have reached a crisis, the crisis we might almost say, in the history of Trinity, should we all stand together to further to the utmost and in any way in our power, the interests of our Alma Mater. We must try not to let our personal feelings stand in the way of this great aim. Let us all, grads. and undergrads., try to remember always that we are "in Trinity one large family," and that "united we stand, divided we fall."

TRINITY MEN IN SOUTH AFRICA.

WE have now at least seven Trinity men at the front, or on their way there. In the Imperial army there are Lieut. D. F. Campbell, '96, and Private W. G. H. Bates, '97, both in the Lancashire Regiment. In the first Canadian contingent, we have Lieut. C. S. Wilkie, '97, and Lieut. R. H. Temple, '98; E. P. O'Reilly, '95, is a trooper in the second contingent, and T. W. B. Marling, '98, has gone as a gunner in the artillery. Lastly, Trinity will have a representative in the Strathcona Horse, in the person of E. C. Wragge, '93. As may be seen from the January number of THE REVIEW, Trinity Medical College has no reason to feel ashamed of her representation in South Africa, while Trinity College School has nearly thirty "Old Boys" fighting for their Queen and country. We feel certain that all the Trinity men at the front will not only do their duty, but also if the opportunity is given, will distinguish themselves and prove themselves a credit to their University. Our only hope is that, when the war has been brought to a successful end, they may all return "corpore sano."

Athletics.

THE second general meeting of the T. U. A. A. A. was held on February 5th in Lecture Room No. 2. As the President and Vice-President were unable to be present, the Secretary, Mr. Strathy, took the chair; Mr. Lucas acted as Secretary. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

A letter from Mr. Carman was read, withdrawing his name from those of the candidates for election. This left Messrs. Whittaker and Burbidge in the field. When the ballots were counted, Mr. Burbidge was declared elected by a small majority. The meeting then adjourned.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, held on February 2nd, it was decided, owing to the uncertainty of the weather, that no hockey-schedule should be drawn up, but that the games should be played on the challenging system and that teams should arrange their own dates.

THE year teams this season should be pretty evenly matched from all appearances, with the odds, perhaps, a little in favour of the second year; the combination of the latter team will certainly be better, and the other years will have to rely more on individual play.

The following men of the respective years have so far been doing the best work on the ice:

Divinity.—Higginson, Johnson, Walker, Turley.

'00.—Carman, Strathy, Lucas, Trotter.

'01.—Sawers, Tomlinson, Rolph, Scarlett, Burbidge, Hincks.

'02.—Sait, Woodcock, Kidd, Armour, Wade.

'00 vs. '01.

ON Wednesday, February 21st, an inter-year hockey match was played between '00 and '01, the latter being the challengers. The ice was in wretched condition, owing to the high temperature, and fast work was made practically impossible. At half-time the score was 2 goals to 1 in favour of '01; in the second half they increased their lead and won by 5 to 2. The superior combination work of the second year was chiefly instrumental in giving them the victory. The game was singularly devoid of roughness. The teams were:

Third year.—Goal—Mockridge. Point—Strathy. Forwards—Carman, Lucas, Trotter.

Second year.—Goal—Scarlett. Point—Tomlinson. Forwards—Sawers, Rolph, Burbidge.

Referee.—Mr. H. J. Johnson.

Time Keeper.—Mr. S. J. Whittaker.

Goal Judges.—Messrs. Lancefield and Kidd.

It is greatly to be hoped that some more inter-year games will very shortly be arranged before we lose the ice altogether.

THE annual T. U. A. A. elections will be taking place very shortly now. It behoves everybody, who has not yet done so, to pay his subscription early, if he wants to get a vote. In fact, even if he takes no interest in the election, subscriptions are due and should be paid.

Literary Institute.

ON the evening of January 26th, the ninth regular meeting for the year 1899-1900 was held, with Mr. Owen in the chair. The two new men in College—Mr. Bagshaw and Mr. Mosgrove were nominated for membership. The readings on Friday nights are frequently selected from the works of Rudyard Kipling, and this occasion was by no means an exception, as Mr. Richards read "The Last Relief," and Mr. McKittrick favoured the audience with "Paget, M.P.," though he was somewhat late in appearing. Mr. Tomlinson, in his essay gave a short sketch of Dr. Parkin's life, a subject of great interest to all Trinity men. The debate then followed, in which Messrs. Trotter and Armour attempted to prove that the new Provost should be a layman; while Mr. Handsfield and Johnson took their stand on the negative. Mr. Trotter argued that, if the new Provost were a layman, the mistaken idea prevalent in the public mind, that this institution was simply a Theological College for a certain section of the church, would be abandoned. On the other hand, Mr. Handsfield pointed out that Trinity stood for the complete education of the man, and was pre-eminent a religious institution. The Provost, therefore, should be a clergyman. Mr. Armour, though rather weakly brought forward one or two good points. Mr. Johnson among other things most forcibly contended that an institution was judged by its head. The fact that the Provost was a clergyman gave it a good tone in the public eye. The vote in favour of the speeches was taken for the negative, after which there was an interesting discussion. The affirmative won on the merits of the question. Mr. Higginson, M.A., as critic, among other things, complimented the Council upon the choice of subjects for the debate. After approving the action of the Council in not holding a meeting on the evening of the debate with Knox College, the assembly adjourned.

At the tenth meeting, held on February 2nd, Mr. Turley, B.A. occupied the chair. Mr. Bagshaw was introduced, and gave rather a longer speech than is usual on such occasions. Mr. Wade, as a substitute for Mr. Whittaker, read the "Jackdaw of Rheims." Mr. Tyner also had a substitute,—Mr. Kidd,—who read "The Rise and Fall of Wolsey." A very interesting and appropriate essay was given by Mr. Donaghy on "The Football Supper."

The debate in which the affirmative proved (as was afterwards shown by both votes) "that federation with Toronto University is both inexpedient and inadvisable," received a great deal of attention from the audience. The question was upheld by Messrs. Code, B.A., and Handsfield, versus Messrs. Burbidge and Johnson, Mr. Handsfield being a substitute for Mr. Walker, and Mr. Johnson for Mr. Musson. Mr. Code, B.A., declared that if Trinity were to federate she would lose her identity, revenue from degrees and tuition fees among other things. We should have to give up our large and spacious grounds for a small corner in Queen's Park; and he also asked what was to be done with S. Hilda's. In answer to the first speaker on the affirmative, Mr. Burbidge pointed to the fact that Scotland in federating with England had not lost her identity, and why, he asked, should we. Furthermore, under federation, Trinity men would get the degree of the Provincial University which was looked upon as of greater commercial value than any other in Canada. Mr. Handsfield made a good point for the affirmative in pointing out that the object for which this institution was organized, viz., the training of the moral side of the character, would be overlooked if we were a college of Toronto University. Mr. Johnson was well informed in the subject and seemed to find great difficulty in putting all he had to say in the limited time allotted him. He took his stand from the point of view that in federating Trinity need not give up her present site. In such a case our splendid residence would induce many men to come to Trinity who now go to Varsity for no other reason than to have a Toronto degree. This looked very plausible, but Mr. Code in his reply, referred to the difficulty of travelling backwards and forwards to Queen's Park. Both votes on the speeches and question were taken in favour of the affirmative after a lively discussion. Mr. Brain received a hearty vote of thanks for his criticism, in which he referred to the lamentable state of affairs in substitutions on the programme, and the meeting adjourned.

The eleventh regular meeting was held "in Hall" on Friday, February 9th. The second vice-president, Mr. Owen, being in the chair. After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting, Mr. Mosgrove was introduced and made things lively for a few minutes Roll was called, and the programme was begun by Mr. Mosgrove, who continued to read Longfellow's "Evangeline," until time was called. Mr. Rolph followed with "The Undertaker's Horse." Mr. Sait gave an essay on "Wm Pitt." The debate "Resolved that the Canadian Senate should be Abolished," was upheld by Messrs. Walker and Bagshaw, while Messrs. Trotter and Kidd upheld the Senate. The leader of the affirmative said that the final decision of all legislation was left in the Senate,—to old and infirm men who were not capable of seeing the true interest of the people. The Senate was also a party concern. Mr. Trotter, in upholding the Senate, contended that there was precedent for that organ in the old Roman Senate and the English House of Lords. Mr. Bagshaw thought we ought to dispense with the Senate and rely more upon the English Government. Mr. Kidd regarded the Senate as necessary on account of the two races in Canada. The Senate was made up of both French and English. The negative won on the merits of the speeches and the question. Mr. Rogers, who was appointed by the meeting, acted as critic. Before the meeting adjourned Mr. Owen spoke most forcibly in favour of the Inter-College Discussion Union and said he hoped a large number of the men would be present at the first meeting on Monday night.

The meeting of February 16th, though at times amusing, was by no means becoming to the dignity of the Literary Institute. After the opening business Mr. H. J. Johnson was elected to represent Trinity at the "At Home," held at Osgoode Hall, on Friday, February 23rd. The chairman, Mr. Code, B.A., then called upon Mr. Spencer for a reading, which was followed by a selection from Washington Irving's Sketch Book on "John Bull," by Mr. G. Johnson. Mr. Macdonald, though down on the programme for an essay, failed to favour the audience on this occasion. The debate "Resolved that the French Canadian Influence has been a Great Factor in the up building of Canada"—was to have been upheld by Messrs. Hovey and Rolph against Messrs. Gordon and Dunning. Mr. Hovey gave an historical review of the work done by the French in Canada in exploratory and missionary work. During this, however, the chairman deemed it necessary to call Mr. Carman to order for interrupting the proceedings. He also gave the meeting plainly to understand that the programme would not be proceeded with if proper order was not observed. Mr. Gordon, for the negative, brought forward some forcible arguments. His speech, however, received little attention from some members in the Hall. As a consequence Mr. Code ordered Messrs. Johnson and Whittaker to leave the room. As there was some hesitation on the part of these men to comply, the chairman asked for an expression of the disapproval of the actions of these men unless they left, or he would himself leave the chair. Messrs. Johnson and Whittaker then left the hall, to return when Mr. Rolph had hardly got settled down to work for the affirmative. Mr. Code at once ordered them to withdraw. But as these gentlemen showed no signs of withdrawing, the chairman vacated his seat, and the meeting was about to break up, when the secretary proposed that the next officer should take the chair. Mr. Turley, B.A., then took the chair, and before going any further most strongly disapproved of the behaviour of certain members of the meeting. He thought, therefore, that out of due respect for Mr. Code the meeting ought to adjourn. A motion to this effect was proposed by Mr. Donaghy, and seconded by Mr. Carman. Some of the men then adjourned to Mr. Code's room, where matters were somewhat smoothed over.

Theological and Missionary.

MR. JAMES M. OWENS, travelling secretary of the Church Students' Missionary Association, visited us on Saturday, Feb. 10th, staying in college until Monday.

An impromptu meeting was held in Lecture Room 1, on Saturday morning, at which Mr. Owens spoke on the work of the C. S. M. A. He had heard, he said, great things of Trinity's chapter from the delegates to the convention held here two years ago. Dwelling upon the importance of missions, he emphasized the fact that unity must follow from missionary work. It was his firm belief that if the Church worked hard there would be no time for disunity. The banner of unity lay with the Anglican Church, and that church, to make good her claim to the world to be a true branch of the Catholic and Apostolic Church, must strenuously endeavour to spread that kingdom throughout the world. Men were needed in the hard places, in the front ranks of the battle with heathen darkness. We feel sure that Mr. Owens' visit here has left upon us its mark which time cannot efface. In his short visit he made many friends who will welcome him back next year, should he come.

A GENERAL meeting of the Theological and Missionary Society was held in Lecture Room 2, on Friday afternoon, Feb. 16th, at which it was definitely decided to send a delegate to the C. S. M. A. convention, to be held in Gambier, Ohio, on Feb. 22nd to 25th. The secretary of the society, Mr. D. T. Owen, was elected to represent Trinity at that important convention.

THE REV. W. J. GARTON, of Rupert's Land, has kindly consented to address the society on "North-West Missions," on Thursday evening, March 1st. We also hope to have Mr. Henry W. Frost, of the China Inland Mission, with us some evening in the middle of March.

Miscellany.

THE CONVERSAZIONE.

ON Wednesday evening, February 7th, Trinity's greatest annual social function took place—the Conversazione, given by the Literary Institute.

The success of this year's Conversazione was, if anything, greater than usual; at any rate, everybody seemed to enjoy it.

Long before eight o'clock people began to arrive, and very soon the main hall was so crowded that it was very difficult, if not impossible, to make much progress. Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Rigby very kindly consented to receive and took up their position at the entrance of Convocation Hall.

Dancing did not commence till about 9.15, when Glionna's orchestra struck up with two extra-extras; the regular programme of twenty-two dances then followed. After the twelfth dance an intermission of fifteen minutes was given to enable enthusiasts to partake of some supper without missing any dancing.

An orchestra was stationed in Lecture Room No. 2 as well as in Convocation Hall, but the majority seemed to prefer being in the crush of 400 people; consequently, the other room was very little used.

Albert Williams did the catering, and deserves no slight praise, the supper being excellently served.

Professor and Mrs. Clark had, as usual, in their rooms, a recherché supper, to which they cordially invited all their friends. A great number of the men also had their rooms open for sitting out; among them may be mentioned Messrs. Musson, Wright, Lancefield, Tomlinson, Johnson, Carman, Lucas, Strathy, Kidd, Sait, Armour and many more.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntingford were unable to be present, and were greatly missed by everybody.

At 2 a.m., exactly, the programme was finished, and everybody hurried off to their cabs or the special cars waiting on Queen Street.

It was unfortunately raining pretty heavily, but the attendance did not seem to be much affected thereby.

The following is the council of the Literary Institute which had charge of all the arrangements:

President—Mr. G. Code, B.A.

Vice-Presidents—Messrs. R. Turley, B.A. and D. T. Owen.

Secretary—Mr. E. P. S. Spencer, B.A.

Treasurer—Mr. A. S. B. Lucas.

Librarian—Mr. J. J. Donaghy.

Curator—Mr. A. C. Lancefield.

Ex-Officio—Mr. W. H. M. Mockridge.

1st Year Councillor—Mr. R. V. Harris.

The following sub-committees were also appointed:

Music—Messrs. Mockridge and Whittaker.

Printing—Messrs. Spencer and Turley.

Reception—Messrs. Strathy, Sawers, Brain, Donaghy, Lucas, Sait and Johnson.

Heat and Light—Messrs. Code, Carman, Rolph and Kidd.

Floor and Seating—Messrs. Owen, Lancefield, Wade, Harris and Woodcock.

Refreshments—Messrs. Lucas, Walker and Warren.

Great credit is due to the Secretary, Mr. Spencer, on whom the chief burden of the function fell, and who so well discharged his onerous duties.

THE FOOTBALL SUPPER.

The long-postponed football supper was held at last on the evening of January 30th, in Hall.

Mr. Parmenter, the President of the T. U. A. A., occupied the chair. When a first-class supper had been disposed of, the toast-list was proceeded with.

The toast to Her Majesty the Queen was drunk with great enthusiasm, and the national anthem was sung. The next toast was that of the year '00, winners of the Martin cup, proposed by Mr. Code, and replied to by Mr. Strathy. Mr. Spencer proposed the toast of "Our Guests," and Messrs. Bell, Martin, Wadsworth, Colville, Campbell, Ireland, Duggin, Canfield and others replied in short but appropriate speeches. The toast to the "The Dons" was proposed by Mr. Turley and, as usual, all the Dons present were called upon to reply; these included the Rev. the Dean, the Rev. Messrs. Davidson, Huntingford and White, and Mr. Simpson. The prizes for the steeplechase were then presented by the President.

1st prize.—A set of carvers, given by Mr. Huntingford. Won by Mr. Lucas.

2nd prize.—A Trinity cap and blazer. Won by Mr. Spencer.

3rd prize.—Two pins. Won by Mr. Strathy.

Between the toasts were interspersed songs and music, the chief contributors being Messrs. Huntingford, Wadsworth, Mockridge, Code and Whittaker.

Shortly after 11 o'clock, Mετ' ἀγάπην was sung, and the men dispersed. Sounds of merriment, however, could still be heard some hours later, which showed that some men, at all events, voted the supper a success.

THE LENTEN LECTURES.

THE lenten lectures, given under the auspices of St. Hilda's College, give promise this year of being quite as interesting as usual, if not more so, as the names of some very talented men appear on the programme.

There are six lectures in the series, and they will be given at 3.30 p.m. on Saturdays, in Convocation Hall, the first being on February 24th. This lecture will be on "Hypatia," by Prof. R. M. Wenley, Sc.D., D. Phil., of the University of Michigan. On March 3rd, Prof. T. R. Glover, M.A., of Queen's University, will lecture on "Women Pilgrims of the Fourth Century." On March 10th, "The Early Piano," with illustrations, will be given by Mr. J. Humpfrey Anger, Mus. Bac., Oxon. St. Patrick's Day, March 17th, will be suitably celebrated by a lecture on "St. Patrick," by the Rev. Canon Dann, M.A., of St. Paul's Cathedral, London. On March 24th, Col. G. T. Denison, G.G.B.G., will give us "Recollections of a Visit to St. Petersburg." The last of the series, on March 31st, will be on "Madame de Stael," by the Rev. Prof. Clark, D.C.L., L.L.D.

Afternoon tea will be provided in college for the guests after each lecture, and the private teas given by the men will probably number as many as usual.

The following ladies have kindly consented to act as patronesses: Miss Mowat, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Sweatman, Mrs. Allen, Miss Acres, Mrs. Janes, Mrs. Allen Baines, Mrs. Louis Jordan, Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, Miss Laing, Miss Davidson, Mrs. Edward Leigh, Mrs. G. T. Denison, Mrs. Grant Macdonald, Mrs. Francis, Mrs. Plunkett Magann, Mrs. Gosling, Mrs. E. B. Osler, Mrs. Arthur Grasett, Mrs. J. H. Plummer, Mrs. W. D. Gwynne, Mrs. Rigby, Mrs. James Henderson, Mrs. Strachan, Mrs. Elmes Henderson, Mrs. MacLean Howard, Mrs. H. S. Strathy, Miss Strachan, Mrs. W. Ince, Mrs. Sweny, Mrs. Alex. Ireland, Mrs. V. B. Wadsworth and Mrs. Welch.

NEW "CHIPS FROM A GERMAN WORKSHOP."

ELEVEN o'clock in the morning, and a dais filled with some two hundred dons of various degrees, all of whom were in evening dress! Such was the sight I saw on May Day last year at the opening of the spring term in the University of Strassburg. No gown was worn except by the Rector Magnificus, who was also distinguished from the other members of the staff by a splendid gold chain of office stretching from shoulder to shoulder across his breast. Gorgeous colouring was supplied by the military uniform of the governor of the town and the picturesque costumes of the delegates from the various Corps and Burschenschaften.

The exact differences between these two orders of student societies, I am not prepared to state with German fulness of detail, but I was told by a man who looked askance at both, that the Corps Studenten get drunk every day, while the Burschen are overcome by their potatoes only once a week. Frankly, from my own acquaintance with members, I feel bound to say that I regard this as somewhat libellous. It is more truthful to say that the former must fight when they are told to, while the latter fight only when they are insulted;—but then it is very easy to find an insult if you are on the lookout for one and for the beauty mark of a scar reaching from ear to mouth, to make you appear heroic in the eyes of the ladies of your acquaintance.

There are privileges, however, incidental to membership in these societies, apart altogether from the help that they are to a man in his promotion in after life, whether he be in the army or the civil service or the church. One of these privileges is to be allowed to keep your coloured cap on at concerts and the like, when all other men, the military included, have theirs off. Another is that every society has its representatives on the Student's Committee, which is the recognized medium of communication between the faculty and the students. The most highly prized after all, perhaps, is that of having delegates appear at university functions, in quaint uniforms, usually of mediæval pattern, and of being called upon to act as escort to the Governor and the Rector on these occasions, the various delegations carrying their handsome banners and bringing them into the hall, or Aula, where they stand with them, like so many statues.

On May Day the Aula was filled to overflowing by a large audience to hear the Rector, who, by the way, holds office for only one year, deliver a lecture on the relation between science and faith. I am not going to give an account of the lecture, but suffice it to say that it was worthy of Professor Ziegler, who divides with his colleague, Professor Windelband (or, as they say in Germany, Professor Dr. Windelband), the honours of the philosophical department, though the latter's name is better known in Canada perhaps. It was most interesting to hear the comments of the ladies upon the lecture as the gathering dispersed—to pay formal calls or to dine in state at high noon!

The whole of the week was broken up because the Emperor was in town to hold a review of the garrison, consisting of at least 15,000 men. As his name has been bestowed upon the University, there was almost a total cessation of lectures, hence it was with some difficulty that anyone wishing to register could get his business transacted. But at one of the matriculations, held weekly on Thursdays, some hundred and twenty of us were duly assembled in the senate chamber to sign the book. The Rector made a speech to us, basing his remarks mainly upon the meaning of Schiller's Wallenstein and upon false ideas of honour, the latter being evidently intended mainly for the Corps Studenten and the Burschen.

These matriculations are very formal affairs, the Deans of the several faculties and the Registrar being present. As the latter called out our names, we had to go up to the Rector, make our best bow, and shake hands. The Germans could all be distinguished from the foreigners by their bows. At a proper distance from the Rector they came to attention and made their heels click as they brought them together. Twice the procession was stopped, once because the man whose turn it was (and he a German) had kept his glove on and was requested to take it off before his hand could be accepted. The second interruption, as I found out afterwards from the man who caused it, arose from his having his left hand in his pocket. The Rector felt called upon to reprimand him then and there, declaring that he had never been so insulted in his life. In spite of trifling incidents like these, we all got through at last and went off with our little blue books, which our Dean had given us and in which we were to enter the courses we intended to take.

The Germans are a most humane people. At their Universities they have only one examination, and that is for the Doctor's degree. They require you to keep a minimum number of terms, but keeping them does not depend upon any percentage of lectures. They do not require you to pay a large fee, but they make their charges depend upon the courses you take;—for instance, I heard a course of thirteen lectures, or more, by Professor Windelband, for the large sum of fifty pfennig, or twelve and a half cents. Finally, they have so many professors in a department, as a rule, that no man feels compelled to take the lectures of a professor he is not likely to care for or to get any good from. You are allowed to visit *hospitiere*n three times, to sample the wares, so to speak, but, if you go four times, you are expected to pay the fee for the course.

When you have made up your mind what lectures you are going to attend, you put them all down in your "announcement book" and proceed to announce yourself to the professors concerned, by getting them to write their names and the dates of announcement opposite their courses. If you have due regard for academic etiquette, you will then pay your respects to the professors at their own houses. At the end of the term the little blue books have to be signed again, and every man carries his off with him, thus retaining in his possession the certificate of having kept his term, which is useful to him whether he returns to his own University or goes to "visit" another—for they "visit," and do not attend, a University. The end that is attained by intercollegiate lectures at Oxford and Cambridge is attained in Germany by reciprocity on the larger scale, terms at one University always being accepted without question at every other in the Empire.

The Universities in English-speaking countries go upon the assumption that a more or less fixed course is good for all students. The Germans hold that, given the general culture presupposed by the certificate, which must be presented by every German matriculant, of having passed the leaving examination of the Gymnasium (which corresponds somewhat to our high school) or of the Realschule (a kind of modern language and science school), it is better for the individuality of every man to be left to develop itself under the care of the professor to whom he attaches himself more particularly. The lecture rooms are thronged as a rule, and it is no unusual thing to find men attending courses that have no direct, if any, bearing upon the three subjects they are taking up for their degree. But it is in the Seminar that the real work of instruction and training is done, and professors are very likely to take a student sharply to task who neglects to attend it when he has once put his name down as a member of it, or who fails to take his share of the work going on there.

I have not been able to find out why it is that, when a professor enters his lecture room, the students do not rise, as they used to do in my own old college, while they do show that courtesy to him when he goes into the Seminar. As the Seminar almost invariably adjoins the professor's private room, it may be that there is a feeling that they are in his house, as it were, when they meet him there.

In this room there is always to be found a large working library containing books relating to the department, and these collections are quite distinct from those in the university library proper, which ranks third in the Empire in the matter of size and equipment. The Seminar is open all day long for students who wish to read, excepting, of course, when classes are being held. Generally speaking, the work is carried on by means of essays, (Arbeiten they call them), the professor assigning the subjects. The members of the class take notes as the essay is read, and a discussion follows, in which the essayist has to defend the positions assumed by him. I have known such discussions to last for three days. As the members of the class read up the subject, it is easy to see where the educational value of these exercises comes in, while, for purely examination purposes, they are excellent, seeing that they train a man not to be afraid of the questions that may be fired at him by the dons when he confronts them on the awful day, and he has to maintain his thesis, they and he duly appearing in evening dress.

Every other week at the Seminar for Romance Language ages the following announcement used to be written up on the blackboard: "Romanistenabend; im Germania, morgen (Donnerstag) Abend, um 8 Uhr!" As a Roman Catholic friend of mine from Ireland said, "What would an Orangeman think of that first word?" However, it only meant that students studying Romance Languages met in the Germania, one of the best city restaurants, on alternate Thursday evenings to talk, to the accompaniment of smoke and beer or whatever milder or stronger beverages a man might call for.

I have found a German who does not smoke, but none who dishonours the national drink, though I have seen some who enjoyed a bottle of the abomination we call pop, but which the Germans call Limonade. Let the unwary take heed and never ask for lemonade! Others indulge in waters such as that the kindly saint by the Rhine sends us under the name of apollinaris, while others again drink Kirsch, or coffee and Kirsch. It is reserved for professors, at the head of the table, to drink wine at these gatherings and to smoke cigars.

The first night I appeared on the scene, I arrived early, only to find that the company consisted as yet of not more than four or five men. They all rose and seemed to be waiting for something, but what it was, neither my friend nor I knew, so we made bows as much like German ones as we could, and proceeded to sit down. Presently two Germans came in and, seeing that strangers were at the table, they leaned across it, laid their hands upon their hearts, bowed in a fashion we could not hope to equal, and said something we took for their names. Thus we, having scrambled to our feet and having made British apologies for bows, received one of our lessons in German politeness. It is a great comfort when you are in a strange place to know that you have the right and the privilege of introducing yourself to anyone whom you wish to meet. These same men ordered their beer at once but did not venture to taste it before looking across the table to say, "Also, meine Herren; prosit!"

Presently, the professor arrived and devoted himself to his wine, cigars, and talk so seriously (and interestingly as far as the talk is concerned) that it was well on toward one o'clock before he was ready to leave us. That meant that we all had to stay in our seats till we could arise to bow him out. At last he went home and we shortly after went too, in spite of the assurance of a comically typical German student that it was only beginning now! We learned to arrive later but we never missed another Romanistenabend, the series of which affords not the least pleasant of the memories of a most delightful Semester in Strassburg.

THE following letter, received by a member of the Faculty from Lieut. Wilkie, will prove interesting:

BELMONT, Cape Colony, Dec. 17, 1899.

I was very much pleased a day or so ago to get a letter from you, forwarded from Quebec, and have made a point of corraling a pen in order to answer it. We have had the best of luck so far. Arriving in Cape Town with a clean bill of health, we were delighted to hear that we were to go right off with the Gordons. Having stopped at De Aar and Orange River for a few days, we are now encamped on the battlefield of Belmont, and a glance at the map will show how near the front we are in this short time. In fact, Boers are south of us now and we have occasional night-alarms, and reconnoitring patrols. We learned to-day that we are to take part in the next engagement, and many things may have happened before this reaches you. The battle last week was an awful affair. Train after train of wounded passed us. It is astonishing how chirpy even the badly wounded are. I had a chat with several. One shot through thigh and chest seemed to think little of it. We could hear the firing on Monday night. . . . To-morrow night our Company goes on outpost duty for thirty-six hours on Scots Ridge Kopje. It was here that the enemy made their last stand on November 29th.

Temple and I have been in the best of health so far. I wish he was in "C" Company with me. The regiment would look splendid if it were not for the dirtiness of the "Khaki." This is an awful country—nothing but rock, sand, and scrub for hundreds of miles. The camp is overrun with ostriches which keep shoving their long necks into the tents. We had service this morning at 5.15. By the way, "reveille" goes at 3.15. . . . I have been able to keep some sort of a diary, which will prove interesting if I come out all right. Regards to old friends at Trinity.

Yours most sincerely,

C. STUART WILKIE.

College Chronicle.

THERE have been a good number of dances during the last few weeks to keep the men busy, or rather that proportion of them who indulge in such things.

Mrs. Rigby and the ladies of S. Hilda's gave a most enjoyable little dance on the evening of Wednesday, Feb. 14th. Quite a number of the men were present, and all voted the evening a great success.

A good number of College men also attended Mrs. Tree's dance at "Mayfield," Sherbourne Street, which was held on Friday evening, February 16th. A very enjoyable evening was spent by the large number of people present.

THE annual Divinity Examinations and the Supplementals are drawing painfully near, and even now there seems to be a settling down to the grim grind in the Divinity Corridor, and among those men in Arts who have to wipe "something off a slate" at Easter.

WE had a very welcome visitor in college for a few days in the person of the Rev. C. J. H. Mockridge, of Detroit. Mr. Mockridge was present at the Convesazione, and stayed the night with Mr. W. H. M. Mockridge, '00.

MR. E. MURRELL WRIGHT, B.A., seems, to all intents and purposes, to be quite recovered from broken leg number two; although it is only a little over a month since the second accident, he is able to get about quite actively with but the aid of a stick.

WE would warn the men that Father 'Επισκοπών of historic memory, will visit this College sometime next month. His scribe hopes to have the official notice posted in a few days.

A committee has been appointed to arrange for entertaining those who come to the S. Hilda's Lenten Lectures with afternoon tea. The committee consists of the following:—Messrs. Spencer, Strathy, Lucas, Mockridge, Owen, Johnson and Armour.

THE Freshman Supper and the Pelican Club meeting are two events much looked forward to by everyone.

The supper is to be held very shortly, and we trust that it will be a success from start to finish. Both these events are old, well-established celebrations. It is to be hoped that every man, resident and non-resident, will be on hand on both occasions.

Trinity Medical College.

WHEN patriotic funds are the order of the day it was not to be expected that Trinity Medical College should be behind in taking a hand in forwarding the good work. It was therefore a most enthusiastic gathering of the whole body of students that greeted Professor Temple in response to a request he had made asking for a mass meeting of the students. In a few terse words he made a strong appeal for the support of the students, in such a noble enterprise as the founding of a fund for the relief of mothers and children left lonely and in straits by sons or fathers, who have gone to the front to fight for Queen and country. It took but a few minutes for the enthusiasm to show itself in a very tangible way; and soon collectors from each year were busy receiving the voluntary offerings of their fellows. When their work is completed, we feel sure the collectors will have a substantial sum to hand over to Dr. Temple.

TRINITY men will be interested to note the promotion of gunner W. J. Macdonald to hospital-sergeant in C battery. He holds also the confirmed rank of bombardier.

"AND still his whiskers grew"—These words might be very appropriately applied to many an individual now in attendance at lectures here. It was feared that perhaps the "whiskers" club of last year would fail to be resuscitated this winter. But all our fears have been dispelled and the clouds of doubt have been wafted away; and shining through the rifts are seen smiling faces, bearing unmistakable marks of a whisker that is yet to be. Adams, '00, takes the lead in this luxury, and as a result of this, is president of the club. His namesake of '01 follows hard on his heels, contenting himself however with a less extensive field of operations, yet giving it the utmost care. Of him it might be said in the words of Shakspeare:

"His chin, ne'er reap'd
Show'd like a stubble land at harvest home."

For a time it appeared that Bro. Softley would be able to keep the faith, but whether the sudden changes in the weather proved too trying or the care of it called for too much time we know not; the fact remains that he became a backslider and parted with one of the most promising growths to be seen anywhere.

We do not know the password into this society, nor do we know the extent of growth necessary to admit one into its sanctum sanctorum, still we are confident that Ranney, '01, must be a member, for on his

"Chin the springing beard began
To spread a doubtful down, and promise man."

We could not consider any account of this worthy society complete, nor would we be giving every man his due, without mentioning, perhaps, in many respects the most striking beard of any—Mr. Stirrett's. His must be a beard with a history, for such cannot be any mere mushroom growth. Perhaps someone in the near future will rise to tell its story and to show if by any means its luxuriance has anything to do with the absence of hair on his crown. Whatever may be the explanation, we may safely address him in the words of the dramatist:

"What a beard hast thou got! Thou hast got more hair on thy chin, than Dobbin my thill-horse has on his tail."

There are many others we could speak of in this connection, but their's is a sad story of decline and falling away from grace. It would be a great mistake to mar the prospects of so worthy a society by recounting the backslidings of some who were at one time members in good standing. We look forward to the time when they will be restored, and would remind them of the old story of Bruce and the spider— "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Gentlemen! That applies quite as much to the growing of whiskers as to the fighting of a battle.

TRINITY'S TOAST.

(DEDICATED TO OUR GOOD DEAN.)

HERE's a glass to the lads in red and brown,
To the "Soldiers of the Queen,"
To the boys who have answered duty's call
By so cheerfully shouting "Here;"
Who have left their bright homes and native land,
Who have sailed o'er the foaming sea,
And unfurled to the breeze on foreign strand
The flag that makes all men free.

Here's a cheer for the men who faltered not
At the touch of the rifle's breath;
Who defied the keen steel and cannon shot
And the bullets that whispered "death;"
Who rushed on to the charge with shot and thrust,
Put the force of the Boers to flight;
Or who shared the fatigue, the heat and dust
Or the lonely outpost at night.

Here's a tear for a mound in shifting sands,
Under the shadow of the Heights of Ingago,
Where the soft summer breeze of ocean fans
The green grass on a soldier's grave,
Not a bugle's shrill blast nor cannon's roar:
Our hero from duty is free.
He will slumber and dream—his battles o'er,
Till the angels sound "Reveille."

Here's a prayer for a heart that's crushed with woe,
For a mother that's bent and gray,
With her eyes now so dim and steps so slow,
Since the cablegram came that day;
For a veteran father who strives in vain
To repeat "His will be done;"
But who stops in the midst of his prayer to mourn
For the loss of the absent one.

Here's a song to this beautiful flag of ours,
The emblem of liberty,
For where'er we unfurl the "Union Jack"
Imposters and tyrants must flee.
It tramples out ignorance, vice and crime,
Lifts manhood from darkness to light.
Oh long may the sweet smile of victory shine
On the folds of our banner so bright!

S. Hilda's Notes.

At Mrs. Rigby's invitation a jolly party of young people gathered in S. Hilda's to celebrate S. Valentine's Day. The fact that it was the first time that S. Hilda's was thrown open to anything more frivolous than a dignified tea, gave a zest to the pleasure of the evening, which passed all too quickly. Progressive euchre occupied the attention of all during the early part of the evening, and after supper was served the rooms were cleared for dancing. Two steps and waltzes were danced enthusiastically, and the hard wood floor of the three rooms thrown into one, was voted excellent for dancing purposes, and vague suggestions were thrown out as to the fact that wax danced into a floor was the best thing to keep such floors in good condition.

On Monday, February 5th, the S. Hilda's Literary Society met in the Common Room at S. Hilda's College. It was one of the most successful meetings this year, as there was a good programme well executed, and a large attendance. The programme consisted of a criticism of the last meeting, a splendid essay on Ruskin, by Miss Bovell, '00, Schumann's "Warum and Grillen," by Miss Kirkpatrick, and a debate on "Co-education," the affirmative, upheld by Miss Greenwood, '01, and Miss Goodnough, '02, and the negative, by Miss Manhard, '02, and Miss Henderson, '02. The decision was submitted to a council of three, Miss Powley, Miss Bovell, and Miss Kelley, and was given in favour of the affirmative. Some business was transacted, and the meeting adjourned, to the joy of the more frivolous, whom the graver joined in a dance.

Visitors: Miss Mairs, Miss Macrae, Miss Jackson, Miss Strathy, Miss Adna Nevitt, and Miss Helen Kelley.

A large and appreciative audience was gathered at S. Hilda's, on Tuesday evening, February 13th, to hear Professor M. A. Mackenzie lecture on, "The Boer in South Africa." The lecture was extremely interesting as well as instructive, and particularly suited to the present time, when everyone is desirous of knowing as much as possible about those with whom our Empire is now at war. The proceeds of the lecture are to go towards making a tennis-court in front of S. Hilda's.

The clerk of the weather has certainly been looking with unfavourable eyes on hockey enthusiasts this winter. Wednesday and Saturday, being the two days of the week on which practices cannot be held, it is invariably fine and very cold on these days; on the other days, we have snow-storms or mild weather. However, some good work has been done in the few practices we have had, and we hope to arrange a match, before the month is out, with an outside team.

T. C. S. News.

SINCE our last letter we have had most sorrowful news—news which has brought home to us in a very forcible way the horrors and bereavements of war. Lieut. Woodburn Osborne, of the Scottish Rifles, who fell at Spion's Kop, has left behind him at school the sweet memory of a bright pure spirit. He has given his life ungrudgingly for his country and has thus died a death worthy of so beautiful a life.

DUNCAN CAMPBELL'S wound has caused much anxiety among his friends, but it may, perhaps, after all be a matter of congratulation, for who knows what might have happened a day or two later when the Lancashire Fusiliers were so badly used? We hear a good deal of sympathy expressed for "Duke," not only for his wound, but at being—at any rate for a time—out of the fray, in the thickest of which we all know he would be.

ALMOST every day we hear of some fresh instance of patriotic self-denial on the part of our Old Boys. The list of those at the front grows apace, and no doubt we shall hear of more and more as time goes on. At the time of writing, we are sure of twenty-seven, fourteen of whom are officers. The "School Record" will be out in a few days, and to it we refer our readers for fuller details.

* * *

THE hockey season has been unsatisfactory thus far. The Juniors have had a game at Lakefield, but there is nothing particular to chronicle. Labatt is captain.

* * *

REV. G. F. DAVIDSON gave us a most interesting lecture on "Paris" the other day, and preached an eloquent sermon on the Sunday following. We are now looking forward to lectures on "Drake" by Mr. Church, and "King Alfred" by Dean Rigby.

THEATRICALS are occupying the attention of a few. The heavier work is being undertaken by the senior boys, who are struggling with the trial scene from the "Merchant of Venice"; some of the juniors are rehearsing a bright little farce called "A Chapter of Accidents."

ON Feb. 11th, our sympathies were appealed to in behalf of the Patriotic Fund, which thereby benefited to the amount of $22.

WE have lately welcomed a new Master in the person of Mr. Cyril H. Jackson, B.A., of New College, Oxford.

Personal.

ON Friday, February 2nd, Mr. J. A. Miller, B.A., '99, was ordained to the Diaconate in Eldorado, U. S., by the Bishop of the Diocese. The Venerable Archdeacon Crawford (an old Trinity graduate), was present at the ordination service. Mr. Miller has been placed in charge of Eldorado and Eureka.

THE readers of THE REVIEW will be sorry to hear of the death of the Venerable Archdeacon Angell, D.D., which took place on January 18th, at Wilmington, Del. He graduated from Trinity in '85, and was, for a time, rector of St. John's church, Peterboro'.

It has just been learned that Lieut. R. H. M. Temple, '97, is at Capetown suffering from an attack of dysentery. We trust he will be ready again for active service very soon.

WE are glad to hear of the success of Mr. F. W. Fee, who gave up his college course in '97 to enter upon a business career. He is now treasurer of the Ottawa branch of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York.

TRINITY is not to remain unrepresented in Lord Strathcona's Horse—Mr. E. C. Wragge, '93, has been accepted for active service and goes to the front as a member of this regiment.

ANOTHER Trinity man has gone to the front to give a practical demonstration of his loyalty to the British flag. With those members of the second contingent, who have by this time almost arrived at their destination, is E. P. O'Reilly of Hamilton, who graduated from Trinity in '95. Mr. O'Reilly gave up bright prospects here to serve his country in her hour of need. Trinity is now well represented in South Africa, and is proud of the fact that at least seven of her sons are there, proving themselves an honour and credit to her.

FAVOURABLE reports have come to us from the Rev. D. A. Madill, '97, who is recuperating in California. Mr. Madill hopes to go next month to Denver, and after a short visit there intends returning to Muskoka. His brother, Rev. S. Madill, '95, who is with him at present, returns shortly to his parish work at Caledon East.

In the Brockville Evening Recorder, Feb. 13th, the following notice appears: "There was a large and appreciative audience present in St. Paul's Sunday school room last night, on the occasion of the lecture by Rev. H. H. Bedford-Jones. The subject was "Novels and Novelists," and was handled in a manner that was very instructive. This gentleman is fast becoming a very popular lecturer. He has a faculty of setting forth his ideas in a way that not only shows deep thought and original research, but at the same time impresses his hearers by his elegant diction. His effort last night covered a wide area and proved the lecturer's knowledge of novels, both ancient and modern." Mr. Bedford-Jones, on the 9th, inst., also lectured on "Kipling" before the ladies of the Brockville Art Union. The Brockville Public School Board has appointed him one of the representatives on the Public Library Board.

Exchange.

THE McGill Outlook is now one of the best of our exchanges. Although published weekly it shows no signs of padding, but on the contrary contains interesting and well-written matter. Several pages are given to contributions, and over these the editor has evidently exerted a strict censorship. Several college magazines could be raised to a higher level if their editors did likewise.

* * *

THE Georgetown College Journal is perhaps the only one of our exchanges that contains fiction. Two stories appeared in the February number, both interesting little sketches, although lacking somewhat in plot.

* * *

THERE are still several college magazines in whose columns you stumble over what are called "jokes." Surely if the editors of such papers knew how much these detracted from their general readableness, they would exclude them without hesitation.

In the last McMaster Monthly is an interesting and cleverly written story called "Le Pont du Diable."

REMINISCENCES OF THE "ROUNDERS."

Same old Transvaal, same old wars,
Same old Oom Paul, same old Boers,
Same old Buller, Roberts, too,
Same old story,—nothing new.

Same old campus, sopping wet,
Same old Football Team, same old debt,
Same old Hockey, Tennis, too,
Same old story,—nothing new.

Convocation Notes.

EDITORS.

A. H. YOUNG, M.A.

THE REV. G. F. DAVIDSON, M.A.

In consideration of a grant of $50.00 a year this space is set aside for the use of the Convocation of the University.

At the last meeting of the Corporation the following committees were appointed:—

COMMITTEE ON THE PROVOSTSHIP.

The Chancellor, the Bishops of Toronto and Ottawa, Dean Lauder, Rev. Dr. Welch, Rev. Dr. Langtry, Rev. J. C. Farthing, Dr. Worrell, Q.C., Dr. Edward Martin, Q.C., Messrs. James Henderson, Barlow Cumberland, D. T. Symons, and J. C. Morgan.

COMMITTEE ON FEDERATION.

The Chancellor, Dr. Worrell, Q.C., and Mr. Cumberland.

LECTURES.

Notwithstanding the fact that a fee of $5 is now charged for all lectures delivered under the Convocation scheme, the demand for lectures continues to be great, and good results have followed from the increased expense, as the attendance has been large, sometimes amounting to 500, and averaging so far 185.

Up to the present time, Canon Welch has lectured on "Thackerary," at Bradford and Ingersoll, and on "Bunyan," at Peterborough; Professor Cayley, on "Matthew Arnold," at Bradford, and on "Lampman," at Sarnia; Professor Mackenzie, on "Kipling," at Streetsville, Sarnia, Milton, Orangeville, Hamilton, and on "The Boer in South Africa," in Arthur, Bowmanville, Meaford, Oakville, Aurora, Collingwood, and Trinity College School, Port Hope; Professor Huntingford, on "Alice in Wonderland," at Oakville and Milton; Rev. H. Symonds, on "Kingsley," at Bradford; Rev. W. H. White, on "Dickens," at Dundas, and Sarnia; Rev. G. F. Davidson, on "Paris," at Bradford and T.C.S.

This does not include lectures in the city, of which several have been given at Rosedale, S. Hilda's College, and some of the Parochial Schoolrooms.

LECTURES, 1899-1900.

GENERAL STATEMENT.

The Convocation of Trinity University offers courses of lectures upon various scientific, literary, historical, art and other subjects to the residents of the towns and cities of this Province, subject to the conditions stated herein. With a view to making arrangements for any of these lectures, correspondence is invited from clergymen and the officers of educational, literary and scientific organizations. One or more of the lectures may be chosen for any given place; but, the committee will limit the number of lectures where it may seem necessary to do so.

All correspondence about lectures is to be addressed to Rev. W. H. White, M.A., Trinity University, Toronto.
