EXPERTS AGREE UPON POISON THEORY

Analyst Found One Grain of Strychnine in Stomach of Frederick Beemer—Crown Witness Swears He Saw Prisoner Pouring White Stuff From Bottle Labeled "Poison."

(Special to The Toronto World.) WOODSTOCK, Nov. 6.—The Beemer trial resumed at the court house this morning at nine o'clock. Mrs. Beemer appeared, looking comparatively fresh after yesterday's hard day.

Much interest attached to the evidence of John Mason, he being one of the most central figures of the case. He testified that he had come to this country from Great Yarmouth, England, in March, 1912, obtaining work from different farmers around Elmhelm. At the period of Beemer's illness he was employed by James Smart and was sent by his employer to render aid to the sick man's family by cutting wood.

Found Beemer in Extreme Pain. Upon his arrival there, the witness said, he found Beemer suffering from extreme pain and asking for water. He was sent to summon the doctor, and on his return found Mrs. Beemer pouring some white stuff from a small bottle into an egg cup which stood on the table, after which she threw the bottle into the stove. She was apparently mixing what he thought was salts in a tea cup. Upon receiving the medicine, Beemer had remarked that it tasted very bitter, to which Mrs. Beemer replied that it was the same as he had been taking.

Witness Had Protested. The witness had protested at the doctor's leaving poison around, and Mrs. Beemer remarked that it had been in the cupboard for several years, although she had previously told witness that the doctor had given her the medicine. He had not given this story at the inquest and did not make mention of it until the report of the analyst at Toronto was received, his reason being that he was not sure of his own judgment that Beemer had been poisoned.

Mason acknowledged to the defending lawyer that he had been convicted more than once in England, one charge being that of theft, and that he was sent out here by his father and missionary who attended criminal courts to make a fresh start.

BRYCE, HONORED BY PILGRIMS REPLIED WARMLY TO CRITICS OF HIS ACTS AT WASHINGTON

Rich Silver Cargo Seized. VERA CRUZ, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—One hundred and eighteen boxes of silver pesos, worth valued at about $3000, shipped here by Hugo Scherer & Co., bankers of Mexico City, for shipment on the steamer Mexico, were seized by government officials today. It is asserted by the authorities that under the law prohibiting such exportation, the money is liable to confiscation.

The same steamer has on board more than half a million in gold and silver shipped by banks of Mexico City.

MADERO IS IN HUERTA'S POWER

Uncle and Other Relatives of Late President of Mexico Removed to Capital.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—Manuel Madero, uncle of the late president of Mexico, and several relatives who were recently arrested at Saltillo and placed on a Mexican gunboat supposed to be bound for Vera Cruz, have been taken to Mexico City, Consul Canada, who, under instructions from the state department, has been watching for the party's arrival at Vera Cruz with the purpose of seeing that they were fairly treated, has reported that in some way they were taken to the interior without passing thru Vera Cruz. Charge O'Shaughnessy, who has already made representations to the provisional government on behalf of the prisoners, will continue to watch developments in the case.

Exodus From Monterrey. All Americans and other foreigners who took refuge in the American consulate at Monterrey during the recent unsuccessful rebel siege of the town, have now returned to their homes.

Order has been restored in the city, and while no railroads are operating, persons desiring to leave have been permitted by General Telles to depart overland.

Today's reports to the state department said the constitutionalists in the State of Sonora had required all export taxes to be paid in gold or silver at par, the fiat money issued by the state government will be accepted in payment of duty on imports.

BOTH PARTIES SHOULD UNITE.

ST. CATHARINES, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—John A. Cooper, of Toronto, addressed the St. Catharines Canadian Club tonight on the subject: "Priests and Prophecy." He vigorously maintained that the navy question should be removed from politics and that both parties should unite in determining the best means of giving Canada some responsibility in the naval defence of the empire.

GEN. FELIX DIAZ STABBED AT HAVANA

Mexican General Was Attacked by Five Men While Attending a Band Concert and Wounded Twice, But Not Seriously—Tremendous Excitement Followed.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Associated Press. HAVANA, Nov. 6.—Gen. Felix Diaz, the Mexican general who fled from Vera Cruz on the American warship last week, was attacked by five men tonight and stabbed one or more times. The wounds were not serious. Gen. Diaz, with a party of friends, was attending the band concert in the plaza at the time. The attack created tremendous excitement.

Gen. Diaz was wounded behind the ear and in the neck, besides receiving several blows on the head from a cane. Diaz was removed to a hospital. His assailant, a Mexican, was arrested.

HEBERT FINDING HOTEL CEASURED

Justice Charbonneau's Famous Pronouncement Hostile to Ne Temere Decree Scored by Tellier.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—"Never in all my life have I seen such a proceeding. The judge went a great deal further than he should have gone, and further than he was asked by the parties to go. He passed upon the merits of the case when he was not called upon to do so. He dealt with the Ne Temere decree and a multitude of other things, all being wholly beside the question upon which he was called to adjudicate. I repeat, I never saw such a proceeding in all my life."

The foregoing is the judicial criticism handed out to Justice Charbonneau's ruling in the celebrated Hebert marriage case by Justice Tellier, senior judge of the court of revision, when he heard of the decision today. The argument took up the whole of the day, but the real merits of the case were in no wise discussed, the whole debate being confined to matters of procedure. In other words, the opposing counsel did not argue on the subject matter of the case, but only on the way in which Justice Charbonneau went about handing down his opinion.

He had been criticized for being absent from Washington. The criticism amused him, but he hoped the bad report would not be set of circulating by the press of his own country had the effect of weakening his status and prestige with the country to which he was accredited.

He had been criticized for being absent from Washington. The criticism amused him, but he hoped the bad report would not be set of circulating by the press of his own country had the effect of weakening his status and prestige with the country to which he was accredited.

SUPREME COURT JUDGE ON TRIAL

Justice Clement of British Columbia Accused of Collecting Money Unlawfully.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—A trial, in which the crown is the complainant and Justice Clement is the defendant, is in progress in the supreme court, the defendant is charged with collecting money unlawfully.

The defence is that during the time of the time complained of, the defendant had his place of residence at Grand Forks, in the Kootenay district, and was properly entitled to charge expenses for the time he was on duty in Vancouver and elsewhere.

In letters discussing the case with the minister of justice at Ottawa the defendant stated that during his occupancy of the bench in British Columbia he had been pursued by enemies and made the subject of attacks in the legislature.

FINE BEAUTY SPOT IS ASSURED IN CALGARY

Five City Blocks Included in Carrying Out C.P.R. Scheme.

CALGARY, Alta., Nov. 6.—The C.P.R. is beautifying the city, by the demolition of two blocks of warehouses along the right of way at the west end of the station and the carrying out of a splendid park for the use of flowers, trees, etc.

The company already has at the east end of the station between the depot and the department of natural resources building, what has been described as the best railway garden in Western Canada, and this new scheme will complete one of the finest railway blocks in the Dominion. Including the station, natural resources building, one million and a half C.P.R. hotel and gardens, the total extent will be five city blocks.

THREE GENERAL SUPERINTENDENTS FOR CANADIAN METHODIST CHURCH TO BE ELECTED AT NEXT QUADRENNIAL

COMMISSION MUST BE APPOINTED WHEN RAILWAY DEAL GOES THRU

Clause in Bill Passed by Legislature Stipulates That a Commission Shall Control Municipal Street Railway System—Fleming Favored as Manager.

"The control and management of any electric or street railway acquired by the corporation under the authority of this act shall be entrusted to a commission to be appointed by the council of the City of Toronto, to consist of three members, and to hold office for such term as the council may, by bylaw determine, but no member of the council shall be a member of the commission."

The only doubt many people in Toronto have in connection with the purchase of the Toronto Railway Company is based on what system of management the city would have if it owned the system. The above clause, taken from the bill passed by the legislature at its last session, shows that there can be only one form of control for the system if the purchase deal is sanctioned by the citizens. It is the general opinion that R. J. Fleming, if available, would be the best man to manage the municipal system.

SALVATION ARMY CRITICIZED BY TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

Called "An Organization of Money Grabbers" and Blamed for Destitution and Poverty—Prison Inquiry a Farce.

"There is more destitution and poverty in Toronto at the present time than there usually is at this season of the year, and the people who are principally responsible for this condition are the members of that organization of money grabbers, known as the Salvation Army, who are taking immense sums of money from the poor people but never publish a report of what it does with them. They teach their adherents to care only for today and not to mind tomorrow, and it is this doctrine that is the cause of much of the poverty of today."

In the above words Delegate Woodrow expressed his opinion of the Salvation Army and the work being done by it at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council of Toronto, last night. Woodrow suggested that the council take steps to prevent the further operations of the organization and to discover what is being done with the money collected by its members all over the civilized world.

The report of the educational committee gave rise to considerable discussion on the condition of the children of the workingmen as regards education. It was shown that many of the children are attending school in the mornings without breakfast, and as a result of the poorly nourished condition of their bodies, they are unable to reap the advantages of education to the same extent as those more fortunate.

It is believed by the council that the adoption of more open-air schools will help to improve this condition, as the pupils are not only educated, but fed as well, and it is the intention of the members to see to it that the board of education adheres to its professed intention to open up more such schools next year.

A Grand Farce. When a communication from J. P. Downey, secretary of the prison investigation commission, requesting that the local council express their views concerning labor in the prisons, was read, Delegate R. Stevenson took the opportunity to express his opinion of the recent investigation of the Kingston Penitentiary, characterizing the enquiry as "one of the grandest farces that was ever perpetrated."

Everyone who has ever lived in Kingston, he said, is studying an elaborate system of graft prevalent in the management of the penitentiary in that city. A committee was finally appointed to meet the commission upon their return from the west, about two weeks hence.

John W. Skully, general agent for the United Hatters of North America, was the guest of the council and gave a brief address, in which he strongly urged the labor men of Toronto to patronize only those dealers who handle union goods, if they hope to see organized labor reach the goal for which it is striving. His special purpose, a coming to Toronto was to induce the labor unions of this city to bring their influence to bear upon Jess Appleghin in an endeavor to prevail upon him to cease carrying "Don Gal" hats, because unions claim that they are made by strike-breakers in the factory at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Delegate Webb, who was appointed at the last meeting of the council to attend the meeting of the Ontario Safety League, reported favorably, stating that already the Massey-Harris Co., the T. Eaton Co. and one other firm had engaged experts to perfect the safety devices on all their machinery.

On the recommendation of one of the delegates, the municipal committee will investigate the conditions at the General Hospital, as regards the prices charged poor workmen, and their families for operations and other treatment. The council does not approve of the instructions of the police commission, that all victims of accidents be taken to the General Hospital.

The council expressed itself in favor of local option in taxation.

Rev. Dr. Carman to Be Relieved of Oversight of Eastern, as Well as Western Province Conferences—Hush-Up Tactics Have Collapsed.

One of the most important changes to be made at the coming quadrennial session of the Methodist General Conference will be the election of a third general superintendent. When the various Methodist seats in Canada united 30 years ago provision was made in the constitution for the election of "one or more general superintendents from the ministers of the church, by ballot, without debate."

While not limiting the number of general superintendents, a hierarchy of "rule of priests" was established so far as the presidency of the general conference was concerned, as a layman is precluded from the presidency. At the last general conference it was recognized that the growth of the west required the oversight of a general superintendent, and Rev. Dr. Chown, now residing in Vancouver, was called to the office. His election immediately ended him with equal powers to those of Rev. Dr. Carman, whose name is, however, given precedence on official documents, on the score of seniority.

ART CONTEST OPEN TO BRITISH YOUTH

School in Rome Offers Scholarship for Artists Under Thirty Years.

TWO-FOLD COMPETITION

Four Leaders in First Test to Try for Thousand Dollar Prize.

Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun, deputy minister of education for Ontario, has received a circular from the British School of Art in Rome, which calls attention to a series of contests for all British subjects under 30 years of age. Canadian artists are invited to enter their claims for recognition. A scholarship of £200 is offered under the caption of the "Exhibition of 1881."

Drawings of the Nude. These will be two examinations held, one of which is open and the other a final competition of not more than four aspirants. There are to be four drawings of the nude, one head, one figure of life in oils and two figures in color, which would serve for a wall ornamentation. The last competition is for a mural to be of a given subject and designed for a given space. The desire of the department of education is to inspire Canadian artists to enter the competition.

TORRE LARGE HOLES IN CURRENCY BILL

Republican and Democratic Senators Fused Against Straight Administration.

PUBLIC-OWNED BANK

Such is Latest Program, But Caucus May Straighten Tangle.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (Can. Press)—Amendments characterized by Chairman Owen as "altering the entire theory of the bill" were written into the administration currency measure today by a coalition of Republican and Democratic members of the banking and currency commission. The administration supporters in the committee were decisively out-voted on all but one of the points settled today, and later the talk of a caucus of Democrats was revived. Notices were sent out summoning absent Democrats back to the senate chamber, but no definite call for a caucus was issued.

The committee today voted into the bill the following affirmative provisions:

That the regional banks to administer the new currency scheme be capitalized by public subscription, the stock not taken by the public to be taken up by the member banks of the system.

To Control Regional Banks. That each regional bank be controlled by nine directors, five to be named by the government, three the federal reserve board, and four to be chosen by the member banks.

That the new currency to be issued be treasury notes guaranteed by the government. This sustains the administration bill as it passed the house.

That the new notes be redeemable in gold by the regional banks and the treasury, and not in "gold and lawful money," as provided by the administration bill.

Democratic Banks Split. With the exception of the proposal to endorse the administration provision making the currency government notes, each amendment today split the Democratic side of the committee. Senators Reed and Hitchcock voted with the five Republicans to make the regional banks publicly owned and government controlled, as against the administration proposal for bank-owned and bank-controlled regional banks. On the proposal to eliminate the words "lawful money" from the redemption clause of the bill, Senator O'Gorman joined Senators Reed and Hitchcock, with the Republicans, leaving only Senators Owen, Hollis, Pomeroy and Shafroth behind the administration provision.

All the Democrats and Senator Crawford from the Republican side voted to sustain the administration for treasury notes.

Principles Set Aside. When the committee adjourned tonight there was pending a proposal advanced by Senator Owen to allow the regional banks to do a general commercial banking business. The amendments adopted today, with Senator Crawford's amendment, Chairman Owen declared, would "alter the entire theory of the bill."

"I started out," he said, "to write a bill which would provide a bank, or banks with the power of rediscount and of issue, and which would mobilize the banking reserves. Now we have shifted about to a 'public-owned, government-controlled bank, and it is proposed to let it do general banking business in competition with the 25,000 banks throughout the country."

SOLDIER'S EXPERIENCE IN "CANADIAN WAR"

American Captain's Book Was Text of Address by Justice Riddell.

The late Captain Samuel White of Adams County, Pennsylvania, was introduced to the Empire Club at its regular luncheon yesterday noon by Mr. Justice Riddell, whose interesting subject was "The Experiences of an American Soldier in 1812."

The book was written by Captain White in 1840, and is now in the possession of his lordship, who yesterday read extracts from the story, which outlines the life of Captain White during the war of 1812.

EIGHT CENT MILK NOW BEING SOLD

Hamilton Consumers Benefit by Refusing to Pay Higher Price.

DARING JEWEL ROBBERY Store Window Broken and Rings Worth Thousand Dollars Stolen.

(Special to The Toronto World.) HAMILTON, Nov. 6.—The milk situation today features a decided break in the dealers' ranks, and a proposition for a milk concern to sell its commodity at eight cents per quart.

At a meeting of the controllers this morning, interest was centered on the much-discussed centennial accounts. In presenting their report the city editors said they had to rewrite practically all Secretary Murton's statements.

Daring Robbery. One of the most successful robberies successfully carried out in this city in some time was perpetrated about 7 o'clock this morning when the large plate glass window of the large jewelry store, East King street, was broken by a large stone and a tray containing the store's valuable pearl rings, valued at nearly $1,000, was stolen.

Rugby Tickets. The announcement today that many tickets for the Tiger-Argo game in Toronto on Saturday were in the hands of speculators who were offering them for sale at exorbitant prices has caused considerable indignation.

Wave of Crime. A wave of crime which is sweeping over Hamilton at the present time is giving the police authorities cause for worry. The Digging robbery is but an evidence of the desperate chances men will take for work and a campaign which will be commenced in Toronto to suppress vice by the employment of special street detectives.

Work is Finished. In a few weeks from now there will be between nine hundred and one thousand men thrown out of work by the completion of the summer's program of municipal improvements.

C. N. R. ATTEMPT TO EVER BRANTFORD

Rumor Revived of Mackenzie and Mann's Designs on Telephone City.

LOW PRESSURE OF GAS Not Enough of Illuminant to Meet Demands—Trunk Line Building.

(Special to The Toronto World.) BRANTFORD, Nov. 6.—The rumor is renewed that Mackenzie & Mann, owners of the Canadian Northern, are anxious to get into Brantford. In this regard it is stated that they have made a proposition with reference to the Lake Erie and Northern Electric railway, but those interested refuse to say anything in the matter.

Residents of Parkdale, Grandview, Echo Plane and Paris Hill have petitioned the Hydro-Electric Commission for service when the power reaches this city. J. J. Jeffrey, an engineer from the provincial department, is here looking into the matter.

Robert Craig of Brantford has brought an action for $5,000 damages against Charles Woodson of Burford for alleged violation of his wife's affection when she was living apart from her husband and the plaintiff sets out that this was brought about by the defendant's paying his attention to John Jeffrey.

Mrs. Mary F. Lang, widow of the late Wm. F. Lang, who met death thru what she believed to have been suffocation at the John Jeffrey plant on April 1 last, is suing the company for $2,000 damages.

The Gas Situation. Complaints have been general thru-out the city recently against the low pressure of gas. The fact is there is not enough gas to supply the present source of supply to meet demands.

AUSTRALASIA IS AFTER B. C. APPLES

Shipments to These Colonies Will Run Into High Figures.

ELKO, B. C., Nov. 2.—Inquiries from Australia and New Zealand for British Columbia apples have exceeded all past records this year, and as a result shipments to these colonies will aggregate into the high figures.

The active interest that the provincial government is taking in the fruit growing industry is further in evidence by the appointment recently of a commission to visit California and other fruit growing states.

The present season has brought substantial prosperity to apple growers throughout the boundary district of British Columbia. Fruit reaches the market in large quantities.

SALVATION ARMY OFFICERS CHEERED DEPARTING GENERAL

General Bramwell Booth of the Salvation Army left Toronto last night on the 12:30 train for the west. His departure from the city, while not marked by any special ceremony, was the occasion of the presence of the Toronto Union Station of a number of the leading officers of the headquarters staff of the Army, and he was given a hearty cheer as the train pulled out.

The general was accompanied by Colonel Kitching, his private secretary, and Commissioners Lamb and Lawley. He is to address mass meetings in Winnipeg on Sunday, and on the following three days will hold conferences with the western officers. From Winnipeg he will go to Chicago, and after a week's stay in that city will leave for New York.

NEED LEGISLATION TO PREVENT FAILURES OF BANKS IN INDIA

Alarming Financial Situation, Result of Unsound Banking System, is Stirring Government to Action—Indian Public Being Slowly Cured of Gold-Hoarding Habit.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press)—The continued failure of banks in India is causing much alarm, and the government is contemplating legislation restricting the use of the term "bank" in this country. The government has no intention of imposing restrictions on a solid banking institution conducted by either foreign or domestic concerns.

For years the world's supply of silver has been appreciably lowered by the Indian habit of burying savings, but the abundance of this metal has rendered this practice comparatively harmless as far as the rest of the world is concerned.

Does Not Intend to Abdicate as Was Formerly Implied.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—For the first time it is possible to present in clarified form the events of the last few days in the Mexican situation.

The message sent to Gen. Victoriano Huerta, sent Nelsin O'Shaughnessy, ambassador in Mexico, suggesting the elimination of the Mexican president, but a verbally transmitted parable to Mr. O'Shaughnessy's instructions.

While private dispatches tonight from Mexico City state that Gen. Huerta had not yet started on his journey, it was advised that Huerta is not to abdicate, and that he does not intend to abdicate.

C. A. S. INSPECTOR'S APPEAL TO CLERGY

Immorality in the Kingston District Declared to Be Appalling.

(Special to The Toronto World.) KINGSTON, Nov. 6.—The extent of immorality in this district is appalling is the report of Rev. A. E. Smart, inspector of the Children's Aid Society. He says that in many cases the mother has the burden of support on her home, and is unable to do so as well as the shame to contend with.

The plan contemplates appointing Miguel Covarrubias to the foreign office for this purpose. Covarrubias is a distinguished diplomat and is now in the office of the minister of foreign relations.

The suggestion comes from Mexico City that Huerta may save himself by declaring that he and his cabinet are resigning, and that the president and vice-president, that Huerta is ineligible, and Blanguet declining the nomination, the minister of foreign relations should resign.

BROWNING'S GUIDO IS ANOTHER AGO

Edward Howard Griggs Lectured on "The Ring and the Book."

YELLOW MURDER STORY Treated by a Master Mind—Lecturer Discussed Modern Prison System.

Thirty-five years had elapsed, said Edward Howard Griggs last night between the production by Robert Browning of "Paracelsus," the most remarkable poem of youthful genius, and "The Ring and the Book," the masterpiece of his mature years.

The story is simply such an ordinary occasional murder story as any yellow newspaper might elaborate for the delectation of its readers, but Browning considered it afforded sufficient interest for his purpose.

BALDERSON ASKS NEW CONVENTION

Independent Conservative Conferred With Premier About South Lanark.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The intimation that the Liberals would put up a candidate in South Lanark has lent interest to the situation. It is contended that the Conservative convention in September was irregular.

Col. Balderston of Perth, the independent Conservative candidate, was here today and informed The World that he declined his position to Premier Borden and Hon. Mr. Cochrane before the premier left Ottawa.

Col. Balderston would like the convention against the late Hon. John Haggart in 1911, and was defeated by only two votes. He explains now that while he did not go to the recent convention, he will abide by the decision of a new convention if one is called, or he will retire on nomination day if a Liberal is nominated.

ASSEMBLY LIKELY TO BE DEADLOCKED

Republicans Need Two Votes to Secure Control—Elect Chief Judge.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—The election of William E. Werner, Republican, as chief judge of the court of appeals, was claimed tonight by William Barnes, a Republican state chairman. Early returns had indicated a plurality for Willard Bartlett, Democrat and Independent League candidate.

Mr. Barnes conceded that the Republicans had not elected a sufficient number of Republicans to the assembly to control the lower house of the state legislature. They elected only 74 members, he said. A majority is 76.

Figures received by Chairman Barnes from 48 counties, most of them up state, gave a plurality of 2,208 for Werner. In 12 counties, including all those comprising the City of New York, the plurality for Bartlett is 133,123, according to the chairman's figures, indicating Werner's election by 3581.

Friends of Bartlett yesterday contended that the heavy plurality for him in the metropolises had more than offset Werner's vote in up-state counties.

As to the assembly, Chairman Barnes claimed that while the Republicans failed to elect a majority, the two votes necessary to give the party the control will be secured from 31 members of the complicated independence group, whose election was brought about thru coalition of Progressives with either the Republicans or the Democrats.

Some Alpines Growing on the Rock Garden Described Yesterday.

We hope the description of the rock garden built on the north side of the yard fence, for the purposes of beauty and utility, was sufficiently plain to enable those who desire to "go and do likewise." And today a short description of the plants that were sown to grow where before had been out a heavy stretch of sour dark soil, will be helpful, we are sure.

Alpines are plants that love the sun, if they are able to get it, especially if they can enjoy the warm rays while they themselves are sprawled at full length on a handy rock, which reflects back the rays. But Alpines are not over particular in the matter of the sun. They can, at a pinch, get along very well without feeling the direct rays shining upon them.

They do require dry feet, however, and plenty of fresh air circulating around their roots. This is one reason why they love to crawl around the rocks, if they rocks are at all gettable, and that is why a few rocks in an unsuccessor garden will work an old wonder. Simply because rocks and stones and boulders let in the air. Where rocks are there can be no sour, moldy soil.

Can you understand the transformation possible, then?

Another great point about Alpines is that with a little care in the selection of varieties one may have blooming outdoor plants nearly all the year around. Think of shining gold from early February (provided the season is not too severe) until the beginning of April, covering a long rugged line of rocks, followed by weeks of changing colors, as one Alpine after another blooms out!

Arabis (Rock Cress) is a well-known, hardy, lovely and entirely satisfactory Alpine. It will flower, off and on, in mild spells all thru the winter, but is at its best in the very early spring. There are several splendid varieties, all of which named, are growing in the rock garden, and which will be equally successful with any one of our gardeners.

Arabis Alpina and Arabis abida are both white-flowered and profuse bloomers. A variety, Arabis florens pleno, is gaining great favor on account of its long, thick flower spikes and the fact that the bloom lasts very long. Arabis lucida variegata has green and yellow leaves, while Arabis subretoides is the one colored variety, producing large pinkish-purple flowers. All of these are produced either from seed sown in your cold frame or outdoors in midsummer, flowering the next spring; or, by cuttings taken from strong plants and stuck in sandy soil in a shady spot outdoors. They are grown with remarkable ease.

Another splendid Alpine is Alyssum saxatile, which is called Golden Mat and Gold Dust, and Cloud of Gold, and several other names. Like the other Alpines it is a perennial and may be raised in the same manner. There are both single and double varieties, and once thoroughly rooted you may be satisfied that your rock garden is sure to get a golden covering for weeks at a time.

Some varieties of anemones, many of which you will remember (from several talks on them) have more or less woolly foliage, which show tiny points of grayish coloring, particularly fascinating, in some lights, because these produce an effect like hoar frost.

Good Times.

An idea that seems to be uppermost in the minds of mothers today is that childhood is the period of life for a good time. And the idea is quite all right only there is more than one way of bringing the good time to pass.

Any age is suitable for a good time, while childhood is the only age for several other things. It is the only time to learn reading and writing, for instance, the best time to acquire habits of courtesy, application and honesty.

Adversity is a far better teacher than luxury, and life loses half its interest and zest when the way is made too smooth. Overcoming difficulties used to be considered an exhilarating pleasure, and the hardships of life were shared by the children in common with the adults.

While we would be very unwilling to have our children live as did the children of early days, we have no records to show that along with their hard work and disadvantages these children did not have a good time.

Good times need not mean getting away from home to amusement parks, shows and moving picture theatres. Good times might mean keeping the home people interested enough in each other to keep together. It might even mean helping mother and father keep the house in beautiful condition, the garden and lawn in fragrant loveliness. The old-time "chores" might be revived in the good time campaign. You see, if mother is going to live up to the modern idea of "living with her children," she must personally supervise their food, clothing, schooling, manners and morals; she should be informed about her husband's interests, she must have outdoor exercise to keep healthy and vigorous, she must hold her place in the social world, she must be a good citizen and belong to organizations, charitable and humane, she must have an intelligent knowledge of art, literature, music and drama, she must cook and sew. It seems to me that this modern mother will need to have her children delight in helping in the house if the good times are to continue.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL

What Shall We Have for Dinner?

WHAT shall we have for dinner? Cream of Tomato Soup
Baked Bass with Webster Sauce
Breaded Chops, Creamed Onions, Potato Snow
Spice Pudding

Preparation: Tomato Soup—Add a pinch of soda to a pint of cooked tomatoes and press thru a sieve to remove all seeds. Heat a pint of rich milk and thicken it, season with salt, pepper and butter. When ready to serve mix the hot tomato puree with the thick hot milk and send at once to table.

Baked bass—Stuff with rich bread dressing seasoned with oysters chopped fine, sew up, dredge with flour and bake, basting as needed. Serve with Daniel Webster's butter sauce. Melt, but do not heat, four tablespoons of butter, add the juice of two lemons, just a little at a time, until the butter absorbs it. Mince a tablespoonful of parsley leaves and mix it with a dash of cayenne pepper. This may be made in a quantity and used as wanted, as its keeping quality is good.

Breaded chops—Trim the chops as you like them and dry them with a soft cloth. Dip in egg, then in crumbs; lay in a frying basket and immerse in hot fat until brown. Only three chops should be fried at a time as the fat is made too cold if more are cooked at once.

Potato snow—Buy a vegetable sieve if you and your family like snowy potatoes and vegetables free from lumps. One costs you but twenty-five cents and a dozen large potatoes can be pressed thru it in a moment's time.

Creamed onions—Silver skin onions are the best for this dish as they are not so strong as German onions or so insipid as the Bermudas. Boil them in a quantity of salted water until they are very tender but not broken apart. Place in the vegetable dish they are to go to the table in, and cover with rich white velvety sauce.

Spice Pudding, with creamy sauce—Beat one egg light, add one pint of dry rolled bread crumbs (these should not be rolled very fine), one cup of seeded raisins, one-fourth cup of sugar, one teaspoon of cinnamon, a little nutmeg, cloves, allspice and ginger. Bake in a buttered dish until light and brown.

Make the creamy sauce with one tablespoon of butter blended with three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one tablespoon of cream, vanilla or lemon to flavor. Mix in the order given and when beaten very light stand the sauce in hot water for a few seconds and continue beating. There will be just enough for the above pudding and it will be very light and frothy.

THE GHOST BREAKER

"All Segura knows by this time," Robledo, with a jerky bow, interrupted.

"Well, senorita, we 'valiant gentlemen of Segura' will now drink a health to your American, the maddest fool that ever came to Spain."

Jarvis started toward the speaker, but Dolores restrained him while Robledo and the others slowly filed out laughing and jeering. Dolores closed the door then came to him quickly.

"Not now, senor, please, please," she begged.

"Something doing, Rusty," said Jarvis turning, "but those cases in the corner there and sit on them."

"Listen, senor, you are in danger here. Let me speak to you while I have a chance." She led the way to the small table.

"Sit here, please. I will pretend to read your hand if any one comes. Now this does not concern the castle. You may never reach it."

"The duke and Pedro entered and stood looking at her."

"She is reading his palm, your excellency. My daughter is quite a palmetist."

"Hum," said the duke, and listened.

"In all my experience," said Dolores, holding Jarvis' palm close to her eyes, "I have never seen such a palm as yours. Every one of those breaks in your life means a moment's death should elbow to elbow with you any yet see those little squares of protection around each break. Senor American there, one break you have not yet reached, and the square of protection is not perfect like the others."

The duke began speaking again. He informed Pedro that there should be refreshments for the princess at once and that he desired a fresh horse as it was not his pleasure to spend the night at the inn. Both departed, leaving Jarvis and Dolores free to talk.

Rusty Snow, as we know, had been ordered to sit upon the suitcases, and for some time he did so. Rusty was cold, and he was very tired, but his thought for the last twenty minutes had been:

"Four fingers of gin would look mighty good to me."

There were two doors to the wine-room and one was within the range of Rusty's rattling eyes, the his merriment Dolores could not see it from where they sat. Thru this door Robledo and others were peering at the colored man. At first he only saw in answer to their grins and gestures, but when Robledo poured out about two inches of colored liquid into a glass and held it up. Rusty beamed, thoughtfully looked at Jarvis and quietly stepped in. The door closed behind him.

"O, I reckon that square will do as well as the others when the time comes," said Jarvis.

"But the time is right now, senor," rejoined Dolores.

Jarvis smiled. "Are your eyes so sharp, senorita, that you can read the day and hour?"

"Not my eyes, senor American, but my ears. I overheard that Don Robledo is here to pick a quarrel with you."

"That's good of him. Who is he?"

"He was here a moment ago."

"Oh, the peevish swash-buckler. Perhaps he will start something he can't finish. What's his game?"

"That is interesting, but I don't think it will prove very important."

"You cannot avoid a quarrel, and he is the best sword in Spain."

"All right, I'll take my chances with pistols."

"Impossible, senor, in this country everyone must use the sword."

"In a fight? Not on your life. But there is going to be trouble I reckon I can clear the place out with a six-shooter."

"Ah, that would mean trouble for you, senor, you would go to prison, and prisons in Spain are not nice places. We do not build palaces for

Individuality Truly Expressed In The Gourlay-Angelus

The power of the Gourlay-Angelus to reflect the individuality of the performer is a clear evidence that it is entirely free from all mechanical effects. With a touch that is human and a technique that is clear and precise, the Gourlay-Angelus is to all lovers of music an exquisite pleasure and continual joy.

The Lure of Good Music

As the performer rests his fingers on the wonderful Phrasing Lever, he feels the pulsation of every note, and by a slight pressure gives the selection his own individuality. The fascination of executing music previously performed only by artists, grows upon a man until he feels a new life opening up around him. Earthly cares are dispelled by the soothing, soft touch, the tone and easy mechanism of the Gourlay-Angelus. He enjoys now a realm of music before unknown.

A Clear Melody

The ecstasy of it all is possible only by the marvelous expression devices on the Gourlay-Angelus. The Melodant emphasizes the melody note of the most complicated theme, and the accompaniment can be either subdued or made predominate according to the musical tastes and interpretation of the performer.

Of Enduring Quality

Of striking importance also is the staunch and enduring construction of this wonderful instrument. The tubing is metal instead of rubber; there are self-opening and self-closing pedals; artistic music rolls with only one simple expression line to read; and many other ingenious devices which investigation will reveal to you.

If you have music in your soul, the Gourlay-Angelus will express it to the delight of yourself and others.

The Queen Receives at Simpson's

A day in the "Queen Quality" section of the store is like a great royal levee to which come the cream of the town, each taking away a token of royal favor in footwear.

What the Great Majority of Women Ask

For in Footwear is a perfect compromise between the useful and the artistic.

We score by meeting that demand, for our dressiest shoe, with elegantly curved French heel, may be relied upon for service; and our heaviest, sporting-wear calf boot is shaped gracefully, with the fact in mind that, after all, a woman and not a man is going to wear it.

When you buy Queen Quality you buy the product of brains.

Authoritative Styles for 1913-1914.

For general purposes, no better choice can be made than our handsome-looking new model in kid, with patent, or in plain dull kid. This is a buttoned boot, easy on the feet, and distinctly stylish. The heel and sole are medium, the weight light, the wear long. In black only. Price $4.50

The prettiest Tan Boot you could wish to see comes with high heel and satin lined, though of strong calf. This type is buttoned, and shows the smart, new toe outline. Be sure to have a shine before the first wear, and your tan boots will never stain. Price $6.00

The maximum of comfort and good appearance are combined in a kid boot with cushion sole, in either the buttoned or laced styles. The sole is Goodyear welted, and the heel medium. Price $5.00

The tapering lines now so fashionable are well shown in a boot of dull kid, with recede toe, and fairly wide ball of foot, giving a perfect fit; medium to high heel and Goodyear welted sole. Price $5.00

In gunmetal, kid or patent, with cloth top, comes a buttoned boot with toecap and medium high heel. Up to date is the new toe shaping and instep curve. Price. . . $5.50

A sporting looking out-door boot has Blucher style lacing, medium heel, thick soles with viscolized surface to prevent slipping. This boot is in gunmetal calf, and may be had also in the buttoned style without the viscolized sole. Price $5.00

A beautiful dress boot has patent leather lower part, without toecap, and cloth top. The new recede toe is featured, and also a medium high heel. In two styles, at $5.50 or $6.00

A recede toe with low heel gives a practical, yet small-looking boot which will appeal to the woman who wants to get the right appearance in a sensible style. This is one of the latest ideas and considered most favorably. The boot is in patent with cloth top, buttoned style and Goodyear welted sole. Price $5.00

A patent leather boot has high toe, kid top and distinctly high heels. This boot would be charming for wear with afternoon gowns or suits. Price $5.00

The High Life Last is represented in a patent leather boot. It has the Balmoral lace, recede toe and Goodyear welted sole; also blind eyelets and medium high heel. Price $6.00

A High Mountain Boot of tan calf is extra heavy and unlined, with low heel and Goodyear welted sole. No woman who goes in for hunting, climbing or the strenuous sports should be without this dandy boot. It is practically weatherproof. Price $7.50

From a new English last is a boot with fairly high top, of calf, heavy sole, Balmoral lace, toecap, recede toe and blind eyelets, medium low heel. This is the kind of boot that never runs over or spreads. Price $6.00

GERMANY EXPORTS MUCH MACHINERY

Electrical Industries and Allied Branches Win Favor in World's Markets.

One of the leading newspapers in Germany, in a recent issue, furnished an interesting review of the German machine and electrical industry in the world's markets of late years. The reviewer notes that in 1882 the number of persons engaged in machine and allied manufactures in Germany was 315,000. In 1895 it was 582,000, and in 1907, 1,120,000 persons in twelve years the number of persons employed had doubled. Since 1907 the increase had been at a still more rapid rate. Evidence of the important position which the German machine and electrical industries and their allied branches have won in the world's markets is seen in the enormous export figures, which in 1912 exceeded $250,000,000, or nearly 8 per cent. of all exports. Five years earlier, in 1907, the total exports of these articles represented a value of $174,000,000, while in 1900 the total was $90,000,000, 8 per cent. of the total exports. Twenty years ago they were $36,000,000, or 5 per cent. of the total exports at that time. On the other hand, German imports of machinery and apparatus show a relative decrease. Germany now takes first place as an exporter of these products, a position which England held a short time ago. In 1909 the latter country's exports were nearly equal to those of Germany, but in 1912 the difference between the exports of the two countries had risen to more than $41,000,000.

0000. England is now in third place, since the United States has advanced its export trade in these products so successfully. That England has become more dependent on foreign countries in this class of manufactures is indicated by the import figures, while the United States buys abroad only a limited amount of such goods. The reviewer attributes the difference between England and the United States to the difference in tariff conditions as well as to the greater efficiency of American factories. The unfavorable showing of England is more noticeable in its relative excess of exports over imports as compared with that of Germany. In 1909 Germany's excess was about $22,000,000 more than that of England, while in 1912 this amount had increased to $100,000,000. The enormous advances of the United States in this trade is also most noteworthy. The excess of exports over imports in that country increased more than 80 per cent. in the three years ending with 1912.

THIEF DROPS "WAD" IN CHICKEN COOP

Kansas Farmer Picks Up Five Hundred Dollars After His Roost Was Robbed.

(Special to The Toronto World.) GREAT BEND, Kan., Nov. 2.—That truth is stranger than fiction is the basis of a story vouched for by Ed. Marx of this city in telling about a chicken thief over in Rice County, who had a job for some moment a few days ago.

One of his neighbors went to his chicken yard in the morning and found that all but a few of his fine chickens had been stolen. While looking around he found a pocketbook on the floor of the hen house which contained a number of letters and $500. He examined the contents thoroughly, and putting the pocketbook in his pocket, went to breakfast. While eating a man drove up in a motor car, and calling him out asked him if he had any chickens for sale. The farmer replied that he had some chickens for sale the day before, but some one had robbed him of them in the night.

The visitor found that a few were left and insisted on going to the chicken yard to see them, as they were what he wanted. He spent most of his time looking over the ground in the house and outside, and finally drove away without purchasing any chickens.

The farmer went to the county attorney at Lyons, showed the pocketbook and contents and asked for advice. He is keeping the pocketbook waiting for the owner to call and ask for his property.

TO BETTER WESTERN SERVICE

Announcement is made by the Canadian Pacific Railway that the near future will see the distance between Calgary and Edmonton covered in five hours' time. At present it takes seven hours to go between the two cities.

UNLIKELY TO REIMPRISON MILLER.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Special)—That R. C. Miller of Montreal, last session's state prisoner, will be subjected to further imprisonment at the coming session of parliament is not believed in official circles here. Miller, it is pointed out, was confined in the lower for contempt rather than on any charge. The case in which Miller was involved is now in the courts.

MR. MCARTHY ON HOUSING.

The Toronto Social Study Club on Wednesday evening listened to an address from Controller McCarthy on "The Housing Problem," as found in Toronto and other cities. The physical and moral danger of the slum districts was particularly emphasized, and a brief outline given of the attempts at reform being made by the Toronto Housing Corporation.

MEETS NEXT MONDAY.

In the announcement in The World on Tuesday of the meeting of the Equal Franchises League, it was stated that it would be held on Nov. 4. This was an error, and Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, president, states that the meeting will be held on the 10th when Mrs. Martin Falconer will address the members on prison reform.

LEADING PHYSICIAN DEAD.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press)—Dr. L. C. Prevost of Ottawa, one of Canada's leading authorities on gynaecology, died this morning at Saranac Lake, N.Y. He had been ill for about a year with tuberculosis. The late Dr. Prevost was born at St. Jerome, Que., 62 years ago, and was educated in Montreal.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 7.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.

We welcome the change of heart in The Globe yesterday morning on the street railway finances. It does not deny that there would be a $12,000,000 surplus receivable by the city during the next eight years from the present railway company's system.

The great point which The Globe now admits is that the experts judge that after allowing for new lines required in the old city limits, and providing a fully adequate service, the revenue would recoup the city for its outlay.

The next point is that the civic lines have to be operated by the city. Will it be cheaper to operate them as constituent portions of a unified system or as stub lines dotting a disjointed business for the next eight years?

It is quite absurd to say, as The Telegram contends, that Toronto will build in the next eight years 118 miles of new car lines, and that there won't be an extra cent of revenue from the extended traffic.

We do not go beyond supposing that at least the business of the new lines will carry itself, and we believe that statement to be much more conservative than the facts will warrant.

It is sufficient for our argument, if the new lines carry themselves, if, as The Globe admits, and the experts declare, there will be a $12,000,000 (really $10,700,000) surplus for the eight years.

And if the citizens get in addition to this a unified service, a service improved to the standard expected originally by the citizens under the agreement, and, in addition, the city gets back all its franchises and control of its streets, and relief from corporation influence and manipulation, such as the last fifteen years have exhibited, then Mayor Hocken's proposals would seem to be very advantageous to Toronto.

We still await the reports of Mr. MacKay and Mr. Couzens before we can have any final assurance about this, but if they confirm the reports of Messrs. Arnold, Moyes and Ross, we cannot anticipate any opposition from the business men of the city to the proposals.

The Globe closes its article by asking if the mayor, Mr. MacKay and Mr. Fleming would undertake to operate the whole system for the next eight years and turn over $12,000,000 profits to the city in that time, and replies that the question answers itself, and that the thing could not be done.

It makes the following concession: If it could be guaranteed that by 1921 the capital account of the street railway could be reduced by the accumulation of surplus profits from operation in the enlarged area by so much as eight millions instead of the twelve of estimated profits, The Globe would be glad to support the purchase.

Taking for granted that The Globe uses the word guarantee in an academic sense, we believe it should be possible to arrive at this very result. To be particular, the sum is not $12,000,000, but $10,700,000, which has been estimated as surplus, and from this must be deducted the difference between the $22,000,000 to be paid by the city, and the value of the tangible and intangible assets.

This amount is $20,944,478 which leaves $1,055,522, and this sum deducted from the $10,715,533 estimated surplus, leaves $9,659,055. There would thus be a sum of $1,858,081 for accidentals, or to meet any possible losses in operating the new lines in the territory outside the present city limits during the next eight years, and still leave $8,000,000 to the city as the profit for the term.

With a proper street railway commission, conducted as the hydro commission, or the harbor commission, or the Queen Victoria Park Commission is conducted, we believe it is reasonable to expect such a result, and if the further reports justify this belief, we shall have cause to congratulate Mayor Hocken.

SPEEDY AND HONESPIN JUSTICE

The principle upon which these rely

who object to appeals from Canadian courts to the law lords of the privy council, will not be affected in any way by the proposal to have the judicial committee perambulate from place to place in the various dominions. It matters little, whether our Canadian cases are carried to the lords in London for review or whether the lords come over here to review and correct them. Our contention is that all private litigation arising in Canada should be finally determined and decided by the courts of Canada. Surely we have judges in this country competent to hear and determine the disputes which arise among our people. Perhaps some political cases involving the interpretation of the B. N. A. Act can be more impartially or more diplomatically dealt with by British judges, but there is no conceivable reason why our Canadian judges should not be able to apply the law to the ordinary litigation of the country.

Should a man living in Toronto who has lost his leg in a street car accident and recovered a verdict therefor be kept out of his money and subjected to a fresh appeal after four Canadian courts and sixteen Canadian judges have upheld the verdict? Yet such a verdict has been taken to the British board of last referees for review, although upheld by the nisi prius judge, the divisional court, the Ontario court of appeals and the supreme court of Canada.

Moreover, there are already too many appeals in Canada. Every provincial or municipal franchise should be bound to submit all cases and controversies arising thereunder to the final arbitration of the provincial courts. Indeed there should be no appeal from the decision of the highest provincial courts to the supreme court of Canada unless some federal question is involved. In the United States there is no appeal from the supreme courts of the various states to the supreme court of the United States unless the existence of a federal question clearly appears on the face of the record.

There are federal courts of first instance from whose judgments an appeal may be taken to the supreme court if a large amount of money is involved—at present we think $14,000 is the minimum—but the point we are making is that each state settles its own law, and that its courts administer the law, and that the differences which arise between its citizens. And in few cases—perhaps none for years at a time—will an appeal lie from the state supreme court to Washington.

So far as the ordinary litigation goes, we would favor limiting appeals to Ottawa to cases where some federal right was involved and cutting off appeals to the privy council whether that august tribunal sits in London or perambulates through the empire.

BARKING UP THE WRONG TREE.

The Montreal Board of Trade, west of the Georgian Bay Canal built immediately so as to give western grain a "short cut" to Montreal and prevent its diversion from Montreal to American ports. But the board of trade is working at the wrong end. The great port of Montreal is not deserted because there is any lack of water in the great lakes or the St. Lawrence River, but because of the extortionate freight rates charged for the carriage of grain from the wheat fields to Montreal and from Montreal over sea.

If the inland navigation merger is able to control all the vessels on the great lakes and the St. Lawrence it will also be able to control the vessels which ply on the Georgian Bay Canal. The rate upon grain from Fort William to Montreal we venture to say, will be the same whether it goes via the Ottawa valley or via the St. Lawrence valley. Just as the rate is identical at present whether the grain goes all water or partly by water and partly by rail.

Western wheat is manipulated by the banks and the grain speculators and especially by the transportation trust. The grain is held back until after the close of navigation so that the Canadian Pacific may have the terminal and line elevators, and the government in an effort to help the farmer is facilitating the holding back of the grain by building interior elevators.

The ocean grain carriers are in the same pool with the Canadian Pacific and keep away from Montreal. Our lake vessels, all owned by the inland navigation merger and therefore, dominated by the Canadian Pacific transportation trust, carry the bulk of what grain they get to Buffalo.

This year the grain has been more difficult to play because the crop was harvested a month earlier than usual and we are having a late fall. Montreal business men are aghast to find no vessels calling for grain at their port, and little or no grain being received for shipment. They feel something must be done, and they petition the government to construct another waterway. What they should petition the government to do is to break up the gigantic combine, which includes the Canadian Pacific, the inland navigation merger and the North Atlantic shipping interests. So long as this combine exists rates will be fixed and competition stifled, so that what little Canadian grain gets to the seaboard during the summer and fall will go via Buffalo.

The situation in Montreal is indeed serious but it will not be relieved by building the Georgian Bay Canal. The root of the evil is to be found in the extortionate and discriminatory freight taken upon grain levied by the transportation trust. The Canadian Pacific is the backbone of this trust, and the Canadian Pacific today is doing all in its power to cripple and destroy Montreal as a grain port. WELL DESERVED. Very few men have the ability, or having the ability, have the endurance, or having the endurance, have the capacity for retaining public good-will which has brought Ald. Hubbard the fine compliment bestowed upon him on Wednesday.

A record of twenty years' service in the city council was signalled by the presentation of a portrait by his friends, which will be placed in the city hall to commemorate the alderman's long connection with civic affairs. Hon. Adam Beck was among those who voted the general esteem in which Ald. Hubbard is held, and he emphasized the fact that not in Toronto alone but throughout Ontario, Ald. Hubbard's merits were recognized, and this had been evidenced by the fact of his having been chosen for two years as chairman of the Municipal Association of the province.

Besides Mayor Hocken, ex-Mayors Fleming, Oliver and Gentry, joined in the friendly tribute, and his fellow-aldermen and the representatives of the citizens at large and of the city hall officials expressed their appreciation of his high qualities. As Mr. Owens said, Ald. Hubbard is a credit to the city, to the country and to the race from which he has sprung.

LONG DISTANCE REFORMERS. We observe with edification that many Canadian newspapers are hurrahing over the defeat of Tammany. They are all looking forward to the day when land monopoly in Britain will be broken up. They are always anxious for the redress of social and economic abuses in the United States and across the sea. They are unsparing in their denunciations of the coffee trust in Brazil and hasten to comment on government ownership of railways in Denmark.

Indeed they shine in the foreign mission field; they exert to battle those who struggle for public rights and progressive reforms in every country of the world—except Canada. Perhaps it is their activities abroad which prevent them from calling attention to the over-capitalization of Canadian corporations; to the extortionate rates charged for public utility services; to the mergers and combines which make up the transportation trust. They have nothing to say about the empty harbor at Montreal, the low prices paid to the farmer for his grain and the extortionate toll taken from the people of Canada by the Canadian Pacific land-and-water transportation combine.

We venture to think that when the C. P. is diverting its next huge melon and cutting it to the pockets of its stockholders $250,000,000 of assets, which are in equity consecrated to the enterprise, that many of these papers will be so deeply absorbed in questions relating to the public affairs of all mankind from China to Peru, that they will quite overlook what is going on in Canada.

The journalistic Mrs. Jellyby may have an untidy home and neglected children, but her interest never flags for a moment in the natives of Borrioboola-Gha.

The Telegram has returned to its pleasant occupation of lecturing Hon. Adam Beck.

Canada's laws relating to the exclusion of Asiatics probably caused the complaint.

DENIED TELLING OF BRIBE FUND

Syracuse Contractor and Hennessy, the Craft Seeker. Contradicted Each Other.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—George H. McGuire of Syracuse denied on the witness stand today that he had ever furnished John A. Hennessy, former Governor Sulzer's graft investigator, with a list of construction firms which had been "sanded" into giving campaign contributions to Tammany Hall as testified by Hennessy last week.

McGuire, who is a brother of James K. McGuire, former Democratic mayor of Syracuse, and with him a partner in the firm of McGuire and Co., engaging in bonding construction companies and in liability insurance, appeared as a witness in the John Doe proceedings instituted by District Attorney Whitman to investigate Hennessy's charges. Yet sooner had McGuire sworn that he had never specified to Hennessy a single instance of any construction company engaged in state highways or bridge chain work having given up campaign contributions, than he was withdrawn from the stand and Hennessy, taking his place, reiterated his statement and added that he could prove it by others. Hennessy said he had met McGuire in the latter's room in an hotel in Utica on Sept. 12. He produced a list

To be entertained by hospitable Chinese mandarins most interesting, quite instructive but bad for the health of one's digestive organs, remarks Douglas Cartwright in the Wide World Magazine. It was a continual source of annoyance—this over-feeding at length and almost nauseating Chinese dinners, he continues. We could seldom get out of them, however.

SARNIA TO HAVE HOUSING COMPANY

Will Construct Workingmen's Homes for Sale on Easy Payments.

(Special to The Toronto World.) SARNIA, Nov. 6.—Several of the prominent business men of Port Huron are interesting themselves in the forming of a company to build a large number of workingmen's houses here to accommodate those who cannot find dwellings to rent.

Dr. Ostus, one of the men who will use their time and money for the up-building of Sarnia, stated today that the formation of the company is almost complete and that definite plans will soon be made for the erection of a considerable number of houses of the class that is most needed.

The dwellings that the company proposes to build will be medium priced and will be either rented or sold on easy payments, probably $100 down and the balance arranged to suit. This will be a boon to the workingmen of the town many of whom cannot afford the prevailing high rents and cannot buy a home for the reason that at present very few places can be bought except by paying nearly the full purchase price in cash.

There was distributed without charge from the Dorcas room to the needy poor, 3004 articles of clothing and household furniture, and 110 families received aid in groceries from the mission storeroom at 81 Howard street.

ANKLE IS BROKEN. As the result of a fall from the seat of his wagon when the rig jolted over a raised sewer-head, Ernest Humphries, 50 years of age, 76 Dagmar street, was taken to the General Hospital in the police ambulance at 4.30 last night with his left ankle broken.

PR AND AMATEUR HOCKEY CLUBS ELECT OFFICERS

ROWING CLUB IS READY TO PLAY SENIOR AGAIN

Elect Officers and Prepare for Season—Jimmy Murphy Lands Two Good Ones—Hockey News and Gossip.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held at the Toronto Rowing Club last night and the hockey section of the club was organized for the coming winter. It was decided to enter a senior team in the O.H.A. and the players will commence training in the club's gymnasium at an early date.

The officers elected were as follows: Hon. president, Peter Philp, J.P. president, Frank J. Walsh, first vice-president, Dr. C. P. Sherman; second vice-president, Peter E. Small, treasurer, P. Dunlop; secretary, Harvey Sproule; manager, Bert Shortt; committee, F. Fog, J. E. Thompson, N. G. Graham, Mundy, Hendry, Norman Bird.

Harry Scott, the Port Arthur boy, who was leading goal getter in the Maritime Pro League for two years, has been signed up by Jimmy Murphy for his Ontario team. Scott is a fast youngster and is sure that he can make good here and that he wishes to try.

Jimmy Murphy leaves for Montreal tonight, where he will attend the annual meeting of the N. H. A. on Saturday. The schedule for the coming season has been decided and the two Toronto clubs will put up a big fight for the choice dates. The season will likely open on Christmas night.

The Argonaut Rowing Club will talk it over on Monday night at 8 o'clock in the King Edward Hotel, when their annual meeting will be held. The Argonauts will have a strong team in the senior O. H. A. and if any others, it will be decided at this meeting.

The Toronto R. & A. A. Hockey Club will likely have some excursion number. They will play in Chicago, Cleveland and Winnipeg and have now received invitations to play in Ottawa and Montreal.

Guy Smith, the Tecumseh Lacrosse player, will try out with Jimmie Murphy's Ontario this winter. It is altogether likely that Woodstock College Athletic Association will enter a team in the junior series of the O.H.A.

At the annual meeting of the National Hockey Association, Percy Lesueur, the newly-appointed manager of the Ottawa team, will ask for the abolition of the new system in vogue last season. Lesueur claims the fines are far from as strict as most other leagues and he is in a position to make a strong case for their abolition.

President Lichtenhelm of the Montreal Wanderers is after Freddie Lake and Joe Dennison of the Senators. He has offered them a contract for the coming season, but they have declined it. He is now looking for other players to strengthen the Toronto team in the O.H.A. and if the team fails in the idea, and Toronto really wants to play in the city where they will land. He is in a position to make a strong case for their abolition.

Ottawa seeks the opening at home with Canadians. For four years past Quebec have opened at their own expense, while Canadians have opened at home. Ottawa has opened on the road three out of the last four seasons.

Jimmy Murphy, when he let Throp go to the Coast League got something in return. In fact, it looks as if he secured all the best of it, as Jack Macdonald, the left wing player who Quebec created a sensation in hockey circles last year by jumping the Atlantic City team, comes to the Ontario in exchange for Throp. Macdonald is a fast and is just the sort of a player the Ontario needs. He is a fast and is just the sort of a player the Ontario needs.

When the meeting of the N.H.A. committee is held on Saturday it is probable that Quinn and Fremont, the Quebec delegation, will make a motion to the effect that the Stanley Cup trustees be approached with a view to making a change in the world series, which is likely to take place after the close of the N.H.A. season between east and west. The idea is a historical trophy should be the highest honor in the hockey world and that it should not be superseded in importance by any other cup which might be put up by the Stanley Cup between the Pacific coast winners.

Judging by all appearances, McGill will have an unusually strong hockey team this winter in the Intercollegiate. There is lots of material available, and with early practice it is felt that the aggregate will shape up well. There will be new faces on McGill's team this winter, and there is a possibility that Joe Donnelly, the sturdy line-player of the Rugby team, will be one of them. Donnelly played considerable hockey in the Maritime Provinces with St. Joseph's College and St. Francis Xavier's.

Another member of the Wanderers came to terms yesterday. Sprague Cleghorn, whose first contract offered less money than he received last season, being cancelled by the club. It is not known whether any change will be made in the offer, but the fact remains that Cleghorn has decided to throw in his lot with the Wanderers for another season at least. This makes three of last season's players positively signed—Odie Cleghorn, Sprague Cleghorn and Robert and Ernie Russell are the three most prominent players in the club and the only members of the trio who was not offered less money than he received last season.

OFFICIALS APPOINTED FOR ARGONAUT-TIGER GAME

PHILIPS REFEREE RIDDELL UMPIRE

Officials Agreed Upon for Argos and Tigers—Oarsmen Hold Final Work.

The Argonauts and Tigers will rest up today in preparation for the game Saturday at Rosedale that may decide the championship of the Interprovincial Rugby Union. Argos' work last evening consisted of condition work, running up and down the field, kicking and bucking and signal work. Leveson was in uniform and will work some portion of the game. Manager Binkley stated last night that he could not say which three of the four would start behind the line. The officials have been decided upon. They are Eddie Phillips of Ottawa referee and C. T. Riddell of Montreal umpire.

Every reserved seat was sold yesterday. There are still the bleachers to go and 5000 standing room. No one will likely be turned away. Frank Ross, of Hamilton will referee the O.R.F.U. game tomorrow at the Stadium between Hamilton R. C. and Toronto R. & A.

McGill Plays S. M. C. Today

The St. Michael's team, who play off with McGill this afternoon at the University of Toronto, will play an exceptionally tight team. Their average weight is 160 pounds. Caught the brainy little quarter-back, is the lightest of the lot, weighing only 136 pounds. Johnny Ryan, who was one of the best outside wings in the series, tips the scales at 141.

ANOTHER MULOCK CUP GROUP WINNER DECIDED

SENIOR MEDS WIN MULOCK CUP GROUP

Defeat Senior School—Knox Tie Up With Trinity—Rugby Gossip.

Senior Meds, won Group A of the Mulock Cup series when they defeated Senior School 11 to 3 yesterday afternoon. The Doctors put up a grand attack of football and were never in trouble. Senior Meds, went thru their schedule without a defeat being registered against them and are now ready for the semi-finals.

Knox tied up Group C of the Mulock Cup series when they defeated Trinity, the leaders, 18 to 8 yesterday. Knox showed a wonderful improvement and had the group leaders on the run nearly all the way.

The Mulock Cup standing to date is as follows: Group A—Won. Lost. To Pt. Senior Meds 4 0 0 Junior School 1 2 1 Trinity 1 2 1 Next game, tomorrow—Senior School at Senior Meds.

Group B—Won. Lost. To Pt. Junior School 3 1 0 Junior Meds 1 2 1 Junior Arts 0 4 0 Next game, tomorrow—Senior School at Senior Meds.

Group C—Won. Lost. To Pt. Trinity 3 1 0 Knox 1 2 1 Wycliffe 0 4 0 Game tomorrow—Trinity at Knox.

Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, play Varsity thirds the return game for the Junior Intercollegiate play Football at Varsity Stadium Saturday morning. U.A.C. defeated Varsity 10 to 8 in Guelph last Saturday and the Blue and Whites must overcome this two-point margin to win the honors.

Varsity will likely be without the services of Resume when they tackle the now confidenty Queen's outfit in Kingston on Saturday. Resume's ankle is still very sore and he has been unable to turn out to practice this week. Dr. Wright gave the squad their final prop last night and made it known he would not be back for anything.

Harbord seniors play Hamilton Collegiate Institute at Willowdale on Saturday at 10 o'clock. The same morning will place Harbord juniors play Picketing College. Harbord is prepared to defend the championship which it won last year as soon as the minor leagues have pulled off their contests. No doubt challenges will be in order. The season would not be complete without the annual tussle between Parkdale and Harbord. Both teams are said to be eager and ready.

Harbord Collegiate defeated Victoria College seconds in an exhibition game, 18 to 1, yesterday. There is some talk of Argos starting Harbord and Victoria seniors at outside wings if they win the Wind Saturday, and let them gallop their tongues out chasing Binkley's yardage on field No. 4 at Riverdale Park. As the result will have a bearing in deciding the winner of the season, the good last game is looked for, both teams being confident of victory.

The following St. Pauls players are especially requested to be on hand by three o'clock on Saturday, Nov. 9, at the annual meeting of the St. Pauls Hockey Club. The following are the names of the players: Brown, W. McCallum, Young, Skinner, Moffat, Walker, Hudson, Smith, Lynch, H. McCallum, Gies, Valentine, Hadden.

St. Pauls team would like to arrange with any senior or intermediate teams for games on Nov. 15 and 22. Address W. J. McCallum, 20 Dupont street, or 1 zone Hillcrest 1908.

The following members of the Ascension Juvenile Football Club are requested to be at Riverdale Park at 3.30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 9, for the annual meeting of the club. The following are the names of the players: Bailey, Bell, Bradbury, Elliott, Fagan, Harris, Morley, Moore, Pogson, Porter, Rose, Clark, Wilson, middle wings, Buisson, Clark; outside wings, Glasford and Galt.

Frank Beiz, the Tiger outside wing, is out of the game for the remainder of the season, suffering from a badly wringed leg, received in yesterday afternoon's practice. Beiz was carried into the club by Harry Fisher tackled Beiz, and the pair went down. Beiz's leg was doubled up, and the players were all of the opinion that they heard something crack. However, the leg was not broken, but badly wrenched.

"You can count this lad out for the season," said Rev. Leslie and Trainer Sim Vaughan when Beiz was carried into the club house.

Beiz was granted from the ranks of the Rough Rider Intermediates and promoted to be a handy man. He was to be promoted to the ranks of Saturday's game against the Argos.

"We will start out against the Montreal team on Saturday with our strongest possible fourteen," said Rev. Father Stanton, honorary coach of the Ottawa City-University football team, last night. "We intend to take no chances. After the first quarter, Father Stanton thinks that the Allies will run up a comfortable lead on the wings' wheels, but at the same time he isn't going to be caught napping. All the seniors were notified yesterday that they would be used against the Montreals for one quarter at least."—Ottawa Citizen.

CHAMP ANNOUNCER SPEAK NO MORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—"Billy" Jordan is to retire as official announcer of the prize ring, after 42 years of service, after the first of the coming year. He will go to the Old Soldiers' Home at Yountville, California.

Fight followers all over the country know "Billy" Jordan. He announced the Jeffries-Johnson fight and almost every other championship event that has been held west of the Rocky Mountains in the last two generations.

Once a good lightweight himself, Jordan is one of the few men now living who saw the famous battle at Frazer, California, Va., in 1848, when Tom Hyer defeated Yankee Sullivan in one hour and forty minutes. Born in Boston he came to California in 1855, went east to fight for the union in the sixties, returned and has lived here ever since.

A Talking Point About EATON-BRAND Suits

Is the fact of their being made just as carefully as any suit made to your order—with the collar and shoulders hand tailored for a faultless fit.

Another talking point are the pure wool materials; woven to our order, exclusive in pattern, and cold water shrunk. Variety in color and pattern is such that you can't help but find something to your particular liking.

Suits at $22.50, in beautiful rich cassimeres, gray and brown, with faint stripes. Design in excellent style, with interlinings of best quality.

CHARLES MURRAY HAD BEEN SURGEON

After His Father's Death, Bus- iness and Art Claimed His Attention. Charles Stuart Murray, well known business man, surgeon, artist and sportsman, died yesterday morning at his home, 61 Highland avenue, in his 64th year, after a three weeks' illness of pneumonia. Mr. Murray was the son of the founder of the King street store which bears his name in conjunction with that of the late John Kay. Born in Limerick, Ireland, Dr. Mur- ray came to Canada with his parents at an early age. After having taken a course in preparatory schools and graduating in medicine at the Toronto University, he took a post-graduate course at Edinburgh. After practicing in England for some time, he spent seven years in the service of the White Star Line. Later he practised in New- ark, N.J., and then came to Toronto. On the death of his father, 20 years ago, he gave up medicine in order to devote himself more closely to his other busi- ness interests, especially the develop- ment of the W. A. Murray Company. Despite the exacting nature of his work, he was able to devote considerable time to painting, and at his home are to be seen the results of his leisure hours. He was a member of the Toronto Yacht Club and the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. Dr. Murray is survived by his widow and two brothers, Major John and Jas. P. Murray. The funeral will take place on Sat- urday morning from his late residence to Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church, Sherbourne street, where the funeral mass will be read at 9:30 o'clock. The body will be taken thence to St. Michael's Cemetery for interment.

McINTYRE HANDED A TWO YEARS TERM

But Defaulting Bank Accountant May Possibly Be Released on Parole. ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 6.—(Can. Press).—William McIntyre, former accountant of the bank of Nova Scotia here, pleaded guilty before Judge Forbes in the county court to- day to stealing $10,000 of the bank's funds. He was sentenced to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary at hard labor, but the judge said he would willingly recommend to the department of justice that McIntyre be released on parole. It is understood a petition will be sent to the minister of justice along these lines, and that the bank author- ities are ready to join in the petition.

POSTING AS A MAN COURTS, WEDS AND LIVES WITH BRIDE

Denver Girl, Two Years in Male Attire, Works as Bartender, Ranch Hand and Painter Before Detection.

KEPT SECRET FROM ALL

is Arrested, Put in Woman's Attire and Bound Over for Court for Next Year.

MEEKER, O., Nov. 6.—After masquerading for two years as a man, and as such courting and marrying the daughter of a Rio Blanco County
ranchman, a comely young woman who gives the name of Helen Hilsher
and says she was formerly a North Denver High School pupil, was arrested and taken to jail, repenting her deception, and praying for her early release.

"It's all like a horrible nightmare
to me now that it is over," said Miss Hilsher. "I'm glad to be wearing dresses again like other girls. I would not go thru it again for a million dollars."

Miss Hilsher came to Meeker two years ago dressed as a man. Her hair was cut short and her face was tanned
from exposure. Her skin was clear, her eyes were bright and her walk
was quite manly. Evidently the result of long practice. She said her name was John Hill, but preferred being known as "Jack" Hill.

Model Bartender.
"Jack" Hill lost little time in going to work, painting the houses of John Davitt, who conducts a saloon and restaurant. From house painter Miss Hilsher graduated to dishwasher in Davitt's restaurant and later was made cook. Davitt and his patrons liked the quiet, good looking and unassuming cook, who never lost his temper and never used profane language. Later
"Jack" was promoted to be bartender in Davitt's saloon and quickly became known as "Davitt's teetotaler."
The patrons of the saloon did not take offense at "Jack" refusing to drink with them, for he minded his own business and apparently never heard them when they talked in a language or related risqué stories.

After a while Davitt's bartender resented "Jack" and "Jack" soon learned to prepare mixed drinks with an adequacy that won unqualified admiration. "Jack" soon learned to prepare mixed drinks with an
adequacy that won unqualified admi-
ration. "Jack" soon learned to
prepare mixed drinks with an
adequacy that won unqualified admiration.

Her Identification.
Three months ago a man named Thompson saw "Jack" Hill on the streets of Meeker. He recognized the face and spoke to "him."
"You are Helen Hilsher of Denver, are you not?"
"I am not," retorted "Jack," who turned abruptly and walked away.

Thompson met Anna Silfka's brother, who began an investigation. The climax came when rumors reached Silfka and he accused "Jack" Hill of being a woman. Another rumor was quickly forthcoming, but Silfka was angry and made threats. Miss Hilsher became silent and began making preparations to go to California. Her arrest followed.

Miss Hilsher's name has been taken to her father's ranch and no
one outside the members of her family is allowed to see her. It is said she knows of her husband's deception and approved of it. She and Miss Hil-sher could get enough money to attend an eastern college. "Jack" Hill was "married" to "Jack" Hill nearly a year ago.

Then Miss Hilsher took the stand
in her own defense and swore that Silfka knew before they were married that she was a woman and not handsome "Jack" Hill, who had been admired by all the girls in town.

"We decided together that we would get married to save me from being annoyed by young women also that both of us could later on appear as men and earn more wages than we ever could hope to earn as girls."
Is Sorry for It All.

"But now I am sure I have had enough of the man business, and would give anything to undo what has been done."
Miss Hilsher wore male attire, she continued, because she wanted to be able to draw a man's wages. "This she did in the capacity of bartender, field
hand, house painter and other roles
common to mankind."
Miss Hilsher appeared in court with her attorney, E. L. Chambers of Colorado Springs, and Dr. C. C. Jones, a woman physician, who gave her address as No. 403 South Emerson street, Denver. The latter declared
she was foster-mother to Miss Hilsher,
and the young "husband," as soon as a suitable time had been chosen, Dr.
Jones who took the first train for Meeker, after obtaining the services of Attorney Chambers, who arrived here with Dr. Jones.

District Attorney J. C. Gearty is out of the city attending court at Glenwood Springs. There Justice Sanderson took it upon himself to act both as counsel for plaintiff, Victor Silfka,
brother of Miss Silfka, and as judge.
"To be sure that I shall make no mistake," said Justice Sanderson, after he had heard evidence in the case,
"I shall bind Miss Hilsher—'Jack' Hill
—over to the September term of district court, which convenes in 1914."
The court's decision announced Miss Hilsher, accompanied by Attorney Chambers and Dr. Jones, departed in an automobile for Denver.

SKETCH OF CLUB
LIFE IN TURKEY

A Military Caste Exists as Well as Hojas or Clergy.

An interesting pen-picture of club life
in a Turkish cafe is given by Sydney
Adamson in a recent number of Harper's Magazine. "Unnoticed, a grave inman springs that released his own shoes, he left them on the floor, and curled his clean boots under him on the divan."

"Men salute him gravely, with right hand raised to the temple, almost in military fashion. Some of the poorer ones stood up to offer him their greeting.
Turks profess to have no caste, only the rich and the poor, and any man may rise to be the grand vizier. Yet, in spite of this, there exists a military caste, and the clergy, or hojas. The man who sat facing me was a cleric of the finest type,
and a man of generous character and distinguished bearing. His features were fine, the gray eyes had a commanding glance. His hands were thin and silver gray, were neatly crumpled, and around
his feet the white turban of his order was carefully wound."

"Over a striped cotton jacket he wore
a long, dove-gray coat, and baggy, gray trousers. His hands were thin and silver
gray, were neatly crumpled, and around
his feet the white turban of his order was carefully wound. Between sips of coffee, he enjoyed a cigarette. Other hojas arrived and greeted him. Then a Turk in European clothes, save only the fez, arrived,
and was greeted warmly by the cleric.
They conversed with much animation,
and it was clear the newcomer
was a man of some importance."

"At the table sat a poorer man, with colored cloths around his waist. A cafe attendant entered from the street with a long stick, on which hung slippers. These are a kind of bread made in large rings and covered with sugar. To my surprise, he laid a slipper in front of each guest on his table, or gave it in his hand. But he passed me the only slipper in the cafe.
One of the hojas called him and whispered a few words. The attendant then brought a slipper and laid it before me on my table. The others began to eat their slippers, and I followed their example.
Soon the same attendant came in with glasses of sherbet made from fresh fruit juice in sweetened water. These glasses
he set before each guest, as he had done
the slippers. All accepted as if this strange and novel matter were of every-day occurrence. No one had ordered these things, and no one declined.

After the sherbet and slippers had disappeared, I threw down a coin to pay for the tea that I had on first entering, curious to see if the slippers and sherbet were to be charged for. They were not. I arose, saluted the company, especially the hoja who had included me in the strange feast, and left the place."

ESKIMOS POSSESS
CODE OF ETIQUET

Have General Reputation for Natural Honesty That is Unquestioned.

The Eskimos have a code of etiquette
that runs something like this, says a writer in The World Magazine:
"If a stranger has nothing, give him anything you have got; if he has plenty ask him for everything."
The generosity or stinginess of a person can be judged by the way he establishes his reputation among the Eskimos. If he withholds the usual presents and pays sparingly for his labor, he is looked upon as a "tightwad."
The Eskimos are promptly converted, so far as he concerns, to the belief that if, on the other hand, he pays the natives well
for unloading his cargo and dispenses liberally, he is known as a "good fellow," and the whole tribe stands ready to do his bidding.

"Of the general natural honesty of the Eskimo there is no question," the writer continues. "During a three-year residence among them I never lost so much as a pin, and frequently had lost articles returned. They would not even take a thing of any value
school grounds without my permission."

Every year I ordered my supplies
in Nome, and had them sent up to the island and delivered to the natives,
and, although some families might be entirely out of food, they never touched a single box of sugar or biscuits, but stored it carefully in the school building, awaiting my return.

Any dishonesty shown has been learned from the white men. I might add that the Eskimo tribes are believed to have a reputation, and when they make their annual visit in the spring
we had to put everything under lock and key, and they never touched a single article of mine. There was not a single case of theft among the natives."

NUTRITIOUS FOOD
IN TABLET FORM

Spanish Inventor of Concentrated Vegetables, Meats, Soups and Sweets.

A Spanish physician is credited with being the latest inventor of concentrated food tablets. The only tablets heretofore that have been a success, says The Chicago Tribune, are those containing a compound of beef, which, when dissolved
in water, forms a bouillon.

The Spanish doctor's tablets are concentrated vegetables, meats, soups and sweets. By the use of five or six tablets of various kinds one can prepare a whole meal in a few minutes. The tablets are light in weight and are believed to be especially adapted for explorers, aviators and for automobilists who are out on long cross-country trips. They may later be introduced into practical housekeeping, if they can be reduced in cost by increasing the size of the containers.

Many of the tablets may be eaten without being altered in form, but according to their inventor, they improve in taste
by the addition of water. They are a dull brown in color and are a soft powder. This powder is compressed with great force into a solid tablet, which is then wrapped in oiled paper and tin foil. Oiled silk will be used to protect those taken by explorers.

Some of the varieties prepared by the Spanish doctor so far as various kinds of soups, tablets, potato flavors, tablet
onion flavor, tablets, apparatus flavor, tablets, beef flavor, tablets, mutton or lamb flavor, and tablets, chicken flavor.
The inventor claims that the tablets are rich in nutrition and entirely digestible.

STUMPS OF TREES
CONTINUE GROWING

Douglas Fir and Cuban Pine Among Those
That Do.

It occasionally happens, especially with trees growing in wet or very moist soils, that stumps of the Cuban pine and long leaf pine continue to grow by laying on annual rings of woody tissue
for a number of years after the trees have been felled, says The Scientific American.

The stumps of Douglas fir and redwood likewise continue to grow in diameter for a longer or shorter period of time. It was observed some time ago in Florida that a good many stumps of Cuban and long leaf pines, felled more than ten years previous, had continued
to form annual rings, new layers of growth.
These annual rings are very narrow,
often only from three to six cells wide,
and are indistinctly visible even under
the high power of the microscope.

"What appears to puzzle the forester most of all is how the roots retain their vitality for such a long time. It is the cambium of the stump and larger roots with a sufficient amount of manufactured food to support the growth of the cambium. The food material can be utilized by the tree, it must be manufactured in the leaves. A chestnut tree, for instance, produces new shoots from the root collar as soon as it is felled and the leaves on these young shoots supply the root system with elementary nutrients. The tree thus continues to live, but the pines do not ordinarily produce stump shoots and cannot manufacture food material for themselves."

It would seem reasonable to conclude therefore, that the roots of these trees are parasitic and are grafted on those of the neighboring trees, which supply the pine stumps with the required amount of prepared food. The roots of closely allied species of trees
often unite, especially in shallow soil,
where the roots of both young and old trees are near the surface and necessarily come in close contact with one another.

The irregularity with which the wood is often deposited clearly indicates that the roots of only one side of the stump
have joined those of the living trees.
Sometimes the roots of the living trees
on one side is more than double that on the opposite side. This new wood produced in often scarcely distinguished from that produced naturally. The fibres or tracheids are usually interlaced and in an isolated state are curved and twisted ends. The markings on the cell walls are similar to those of normally formed tissue. The compound microscope reveals the fact that the cell walls are slightly thinner
and that there is little or no distinction between the early and the late wood in these narrow zones.

ACADEMIC REVOLT
LASTED ONE DAY

High School Boy's Expulsion
Resented by Classmates,
Who Went on Strike.

HUNTINGTON, Ind., Oct. 26.—A revolt
in the high school of Lanier Township, Huntington County, which followed the expulsion of John Kennedy, lasted only one night.

Miss Morey, the principal, was training the class in the art of expression and incidentally developing "club resisters" by having them write their impressions of people and things in the form of essays. They first tried their despotic pen on the principal, who on their own classmates, each selecting some other for the target of his complaint.

Then the principal had them read their essays before the school, and this was more than equal to an amateur night without the book, each making more or less of a hit.

Next the seniors were instructed to write a letter to me when we
of their acquaintance, and it is charged that young Kennedy lined up the avowed enemies of the school, and "teacher" as the subject. When the essays were handed in they were too funny to be read to the class, and the seniors refused to read them. Kennedy was ordered to leave the school. His classmates said they would never return to school, but all were back except Kennedy the next day.

MANUFACTURE OF IMITATION PEARLS

Artificial Process Dependent Upon a Certain Species of Fish.

As the real pearl comes from the oyster, so to a large extent is the manufacture of artificial pearls dependent on a certain species of fish. The complete process, of course, trade secrets, but it is of interest to note that it is from the brilliant scales of the ablet,
or blay, that essence d'orient is produced, and it is with this essence that imitation pearls are manufactured.

The blay is described as "a small fish
with green back and a white belly,"
and the essence is obtained exclusively from the white scales which are covered with a pigment of metallic appearance. They are first treated with ammonia and then with fish glue, a powder being first obtained, and then a paste which can be easily spread on glass.

In the early stages of manufacture,
about 1868, this essence d'orient was applied to shells of plaster, but the temperature and the damp heat of the human body modified the adhesive qualities of the pearl matter and caused the pearls to crack. It was in 1880 that a Parisian, named Jacquin, invented a method of covering small glass balls with the same essence d'orient, thus producing the first practical artificial pearls.

In the north and east of France and Germany, blay fishing is actively pursued. About 4000 are required to produce a pound of scales, which in turn gives a quarter of a pound of the essence.

report that the dredge Port Nelson
had been practically destroyed in Hudson Bay is given an emphatic denial here. It is stated that the dredge is resting on a bed of mud and is not injured in the least.

WORLD'S GREATEST TIMBER RESOURCES

Canada Included in the Category of Large Forest Countries.

In the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, there is a tract of forest covering about seventeen hundred miles from east to west, and a thousand miles in width, north and south. This tract lies north of the St. Lawrence River, and extends northward to Hudson Bay northward.

In the State of Washington, and northward thru British Columbia and Alaska, there is another enormous tract of timber land which is claimed by some to be larger than that in Canada. In the valley of the Amazon, embracing much of Brazil, Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador, Colombia and Guiana,
there is a forest area extending twenty-one hundred miles in length
by thirteen hundred miles in width.

In a consideration of the great forests of the world, says a writer in Harper's Weekly, those of Central Africa must not be forgotten. It contains a forest region not less than three thousand miles in length from north to south, and of vast extent westward to the Atlantic Ocean. In Siberia from the plain of the Obi River on the west to the valley of the Irkutsk on the east, embracing the great plains of river valleys of the Yenesel, Olenek, Lena and Yana rivers, is one great timber belt, averaging more than a thousand miles in breadth from north to south, and fully seventeen hundred miles wide
in the Yenesel district, and having a length from east to west of not less than three thousand miles.

Unlike equatorial forests, the trees
of the Siberian taigas are mainly conifers, comprising pines of several varieties, firs, and larches. The Yenesel, Lena and Olenek regions
there are thousands of square miles
where no human being has ever been.
The long-stemmed conifers rise to a height of a hundred and fifty feet or more, and they stand so closely together that walking among them is extremely difficult.

The dense, lofty tops exclude the pale arctic sunshine, and the straight trunks, all looking alike, are so
so bowdler the eye in the obscurity
that all sense of direction is soon lost.
Even the most experienced trappers
and hunters do not venture in the dense taigas without taking the precaution of "blazing" the trees constantly with hatchets as they walk forward.

FINDS HYPNOTISM
CAUSED A MURDER

Arkansas Jury Pronounces
"Prof." Farrell Guilty of Double Killing.

DUPE SENT TO ASYLUM

Crime Unique in Annals of Criminology—First Case
on Record.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 2.—The jury of twelve farmers who tried
"Prof." A. G. Farrell, aged 40, in the first upon a charge of committing murder thru hypnotism, found him guilty of homicide in the second degree, and at the same time recommended that A.
Turner, his dupe, be sent to an asylum
for the insane.

The jury acted unexpectedly when both state and defense rested cases and submitted the facts to the jury without argument. The jury was out more than forty-eight hours, and was said after the verdict had been returned in court that the first ballot showed seven for murder in the first degree, four for murder in the second degree and one for acquittal. Subsequent ballots resulted in the compromise, which was accepted by the jury, that Farrell would not be appeal and would accept sentence. Sentence will be imposed this week.

Farrell is more than seventy years
of age, is totally blind and his beard and mustache are white. He received the verdict without flinching.

Story of the Crime.
The crime of which Farrell was found guilty to appear in criminology.
His is the first case on record where a man has been found guilty of causing murder by hypnotism.

Turner and his wife and adopted daughter lived at Claremont, Ark. They were from Texas and had recently moved with them a few weeks ago. The lifeless bodies of the women were found in one of the rooms of their home, near Turner's workshop. The red phine, was found on the floor in another room. By his side was a manuscript of a book, which he had been meeting covering two years. These meetings began in the little Texas town where the Turners formerly lived, and in the manuscript was recorded the manner in which the family had been induced to move to Claremont, Ark. The manuscript was the spirit of Turner's dead son, Robert Ingersoll Turner, to appear and advise them in their changes.

A Tell-True Manuscript.
At each meeting the manuscript
showed that Farrell caused Turner's
father to appear and give advice to the family and finally to advise Turner and his family to kill themselves and the householders of war and the trials and tribulations of this earth.
The dead son further advised the
father to appear and give advice to the family. This was done by deed.
The passage in the manuscript
which caused the jury to convict Farrell is as follows: "Prof. Farrell has decided it is best and now we shall go. He says he will get us the stuff for the praying ever since Bob first told us. The deed is ready to be signed. I will not take the faint heartly possession of me when we Pray in the morning for them the best way for us to do was to give him the deed. I will sign the deed tomorrow."

Farrell absolutely declined to comment on the manuscript. He said he said: "The great spirits in the other world have been told of my trials and my tribulations. The dead will speak for me."

TICKLING SHARKS TO CAPTURE THEM

How Tahitian Sea Hunters
Manoeuvre to Land
Their Quarry.

Tickling a shark in order to capture it is a singular practice among the natives of the island of Tahiti. A certain species of shark, known as the "cocoanut shark," is the quarry. The fisher in a canoe gives the following details:

Peering into the clear water, where you can see to a depth of four or five fathoms, you catch a glimpse of a dark shadow among the ferns and corals
of the long, lithe tail of a shark
and of a huge pectoral fin that waves
with a sidewise motion, and sends up
small, airy little ripples to the surface.

The native diver picks up a coil of cocoanut fibre with a slip-noose already tied to it, seizes a knife in his teeth and quietly slips into the water.
It is done with wonderful skill. The native keeps close to the reef, and pulls himself down thru the water by means of the sea growths till he is right over the waving tail. Slowly the black hand stretches out, and starting behind the pectoral fin, begins to touch the greyhound's snout. There is a movement of the body and the fin
sways more rapidly.

Again the hand stretches forward, and as it strikes the fish the other hand hears the slip-knot hanging loosely near the apex of the tail. Then the natives comes quietly to the surface,
and the spectator breathes freely again. Sail is set, the steersman takes the fish, and the diver in England
as the "father of wireless telegraphy."
He was in his 80th year. Sir William introduced both the telephone and talking machine into England and was the inventor of many patents connected with the telegraph and the telephone. For several years he was engineer-in-chief and electrician to the British post office and was at one time
president of the Institute of Civil Engineers.

On the occasion spoken of the shark splashed about in wild frenzy
for moment or two and then settled upon a fish which was desirable. He circled about the surface of the water along with the water bubbling and frothing at the bow, where the keen-eyed natives intently watched the tightened rope. Suddenly it slackened and the diver went over the side like a fish with a shingle in his hand. A minute later the surface of the water was a brilliant red and the native was scrambling back into the canoe. We towed the shark to the beach and measured him. He was 16 feet long.

WHERE LOCUSTS
ARE A DELICACY

Eaten in Arabia Much the Same as During Biblical Times.

Locusts are today eaten in Arabia pretty much as they were in Biblical times. Foreigners as well as natives, declare that they are really an excellent article of food, says Youth's Companion. They are said to be best boiled.

The long, or "hopping," legs must be pulled off, and the locust held by a wing and dipped into salt before it is eaten. As to flavor, the insect is said to taste like green wheat. The red locust is more palatable than the green kind. Some say that the female is red and the male green, but others contend that all are green at first, whatever their sex.

Locusts must be caught in the morning for then they are numbed
by the cold and their wings are damp
with the dew so that they cannot fly.
They may be found in Arabia clustered in hundreds under the desert bushes, and they can be literally shoveled into a bag or basket. Later the sun dries their wings and it is hard to catch them. When in flight they resemble what we call May-flies. They are especially numerous in the spring
after their eggs have hatched, and before the wind.

They devour everything vegetable and are devoured by everything else that is not a predator. They are small, desert larks and buzzards like them.
The camels munch them in with their food, the greyhounds run snapping after them all day long and eat as many as they catch. The Bedouins often give them to their horses.

Two Thousand Troops Surround City and Any Rioting Will Be Sternly Suppressed—Women Begged Hysterically That Governor Ralston Force Arbitration, But Without Avail.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—Indiana's entire National Guard, consisting of more than 2000 soldiers, are encamped in different parts of Indianapolis tonight, ready for duty in the spirit of the employes of the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal Co. Special trains today brought troops under hurried orders, and they were detrained in the suburbs, virtually surrounding the city. Great secrecy was maintained as to the movement and arrival of the militia, and few citizens even knew that they had been called out until late today.
The trains bringing the troops were stopped outside of Indianapolis by officers of the National Guard, and given directions. All companies were held until they arrived until they were of such number that it was deemed safe to bring them into the city. This was done to prevent any clash with the strikers, who, after learning the troops had been called out, were on the downtown streets in large numbers. The troops will not begin duty until early tomorrow morning. In the meantime Indianapolis more nearly resembles a huge military camp than a quiet capital city.

Martial Law Today.
Whether the street cars are to be manned by soldiers, officers in charge would not say tonight. Martial law had not been declared early tonight, but such a proclamation is expected to be issued from the governor's office before morning.

Late this afternoon nearly 300 women, members of the Garment Workers' Union, rushed across the state house lawn into the capitol, and into the governor's office, where they demanded that Gov. Ralston force arbitration in the street car strike, and call a special session of the state legislature. Many of the women were hysterical, and Mrs. Edna Davis, president of the union, declared: "We are willing to take up arms to help win this strike."

Gov. Ralston Answering the Women.
Gov. Ralston, answering the women, asserted that he had no authority to force arbitration, but that he had taken an oath as governor of Indiana to support the constitution and to enforce the laws. He said he was in sympathy with the union men, but could not allow a condition of lawlessness to exist, and it was his sworn duty to protect life and property.

Brig. Gen. William McKee is said to have stated that he knew nothing of the street car strike officially, but had been told there was rioting in Indianapolis, and that he had been ordered to end the disorder. This, he said, he would do.
A suit for receivership for the street car company, which was set for a hearing today, was postponed until tomorrow, because of the illness of one of the attorneys for the car company. A second suit for a receivership was filed late today by Judge Frank Boby, former member of the state appellate court.

No attempt was made by the company to move cars today.

POPULAR WESTERN TRAINS.

Canadian Pacific Railway.
That the traveling public appreciate the improved service to Winnipeg recently established by the Canadian Pacific Railway is shown by the popularity which the new Western train, "The Gate City Express," has received since its inauguration. Leaving Toronto at 2.30 p.m. daily, and arriving in Winnipeg 8.00 a.m. second day, this train is found to at once embody all the convenience of a daylight departure from the Union Station, Toronto, together with an early hour of arrival at Winnipeg. The high-class modern equipment carried on the train includes Compartment Library, Observation Car, Standard Sleeping Car, Tourist Sleeping Car, Dining Car, First-class Coach and Colonist Car.
The present Vancouver Express will continue to leave Toronto at 10.20 p.m. daily, and consists of the same equipment as the "Gate City Express." This train is the best to take for points west of Winnipeg, but for Winnipeg and east the "Gate City Express" is the right train to travel.
Full particulars from any Canadian Pacific agent, or write M. G. Murphy, district passenger agent, Toronto.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Civil War Veteran Believed to Have Been Done to Death.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—County officials are today investigating what they believe to be the murder of John C. Byer, a veteran of the civil war, aged 70, whose badly decomposed body was found in his house about three miles from Cape St. Vincent, on Lake Ontario. He had been dead about a month, according to the coroner, and a considerable sum of money he is supposed to have had on his person is gone.

MIGHT SUBSTITUTE CAFE FOR THE BAR

Quebec Gradually Coming to Stage of Abolition—Report Soon.

QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—The gradual abolition of bars in hotels, the collection of revenue, not by the sale of licenses for a fixed amount, but on a percentage basis, and the reduction of licenses in the cities and towns of the province, it is believed will be recommended in the report the license commission appointed by Sir Lomer Gouin to consider the liquor question in Quebec is now preparing, and which the session of the legislature which opens on Nov. 18 will consider. Legislation dealing with these points is expected to provide an interesting struggle in the house.
The exact nature of the recommendations that the commission will make will not be known until its report is tabled, but it is taken for granted that they will suggest legislation of a most drastic character. It is thought that instead of the bar, hotels will be compelled to establish cafes, with tables and chairs, after the fashion of the European resorts.

EXPERTS AGREE ON POISON THEORY

summoned to the house, and upon arrival found Beemer dead. The next afternoon he was applied to for a burial certificate which he refused to give. From symptoms he was fully convinced that Beemer's death was caused by strychnine poisoning.

Analyst's Report.
J. Rogers, the Toronto chemist who made an analysis of the stomach and liver of the late Frederick Beemer, stated that in the stomach he had found one grain of strychnine, while in the liver he had found traces of strychnine poisoning.

Dr. Jukes Johnson of Toronto expressed no doubt that death had been due to strychnine poisoning.

A juror asked how long it would be after a dose of strychnine was given before it would take effect. The witness replied that the first signs would be shown in from 5 to 25 minutes after, although much depended on the amount taken and the quantity of food in the stomach.

Dr. E. F. Henderson of Toronto was of opinion that strychnine had been the cause of death.

Both Purchased Strychnine.
Dr. Mitchell of Drumbo submitted the poison book in his store, showing that Mrs. Beemer had purchased 12 grains of strychnine in February, 1911. He admitted that Beemer had been in the habit of buying this poison.

Theresa Beemer, the 16-year-old daughter of Frederick Beemer, and the crown's last witness, corroborated the former evidence that Beemer had recovered from his first attack of illness. She stated that Beemer was in the house, but that after her mother's death she had heard her mother say: "Thank God, I didn't buy any strychnine when he wanted me to kill him."

Beemer Was Worried.
Charles Coham was the first witness for the defence. He related a conversation he had with Beemer the latter part of March, shortly before his death, in which Beemer seemed very much worried over his financial situation.

John Milton, a resident of Paris, said two weeks before Beemer died he met the deceased in Montreal. Milton advised him how everything was going, and Beemer replied "Not very well." When asked how that was, he replied: "Well, Jack, it's pretty hard when you consider how I was placed once, and how I am now. There isn't much left to live for. I have lost everything I have got."

Better Dead Than Alive.
George Buchanan of Galt, an uncle of the deceased, said he saw Frederick Beemer one week before he died. Beemer did not appear to be well, and would not eat. When asked what was the matter, he said that the man who had lost everything he had in the world was better dead than alive. He said that he did not own even the plate he ate off. Witness advised him to move to Galt, where he could secure a position with his team, and Beemer said that he and his wife had been talking this over, thinking that the children could be educated there.

Mrs. David Troup, a neighbor of the Beemers, and Mrs. Wright of Galt, stated that the relations between Beemer and his wife were always of the best.

HOLD ENGINEER OF WRECKED EXPRESS

Request of French Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is Denied.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—The minister of commerce today refused the request of the French Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the release on his own recognizance of Dumaine, the engineer of the Paris-Marseilles express which collided on Tuesday evening with a local train at Melun and caused the death of thirty-nine people.
Dumaine was arrested after the accident and the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Railroad Company affirm that it was thru his inattention to the signals that the disaster was brought about.

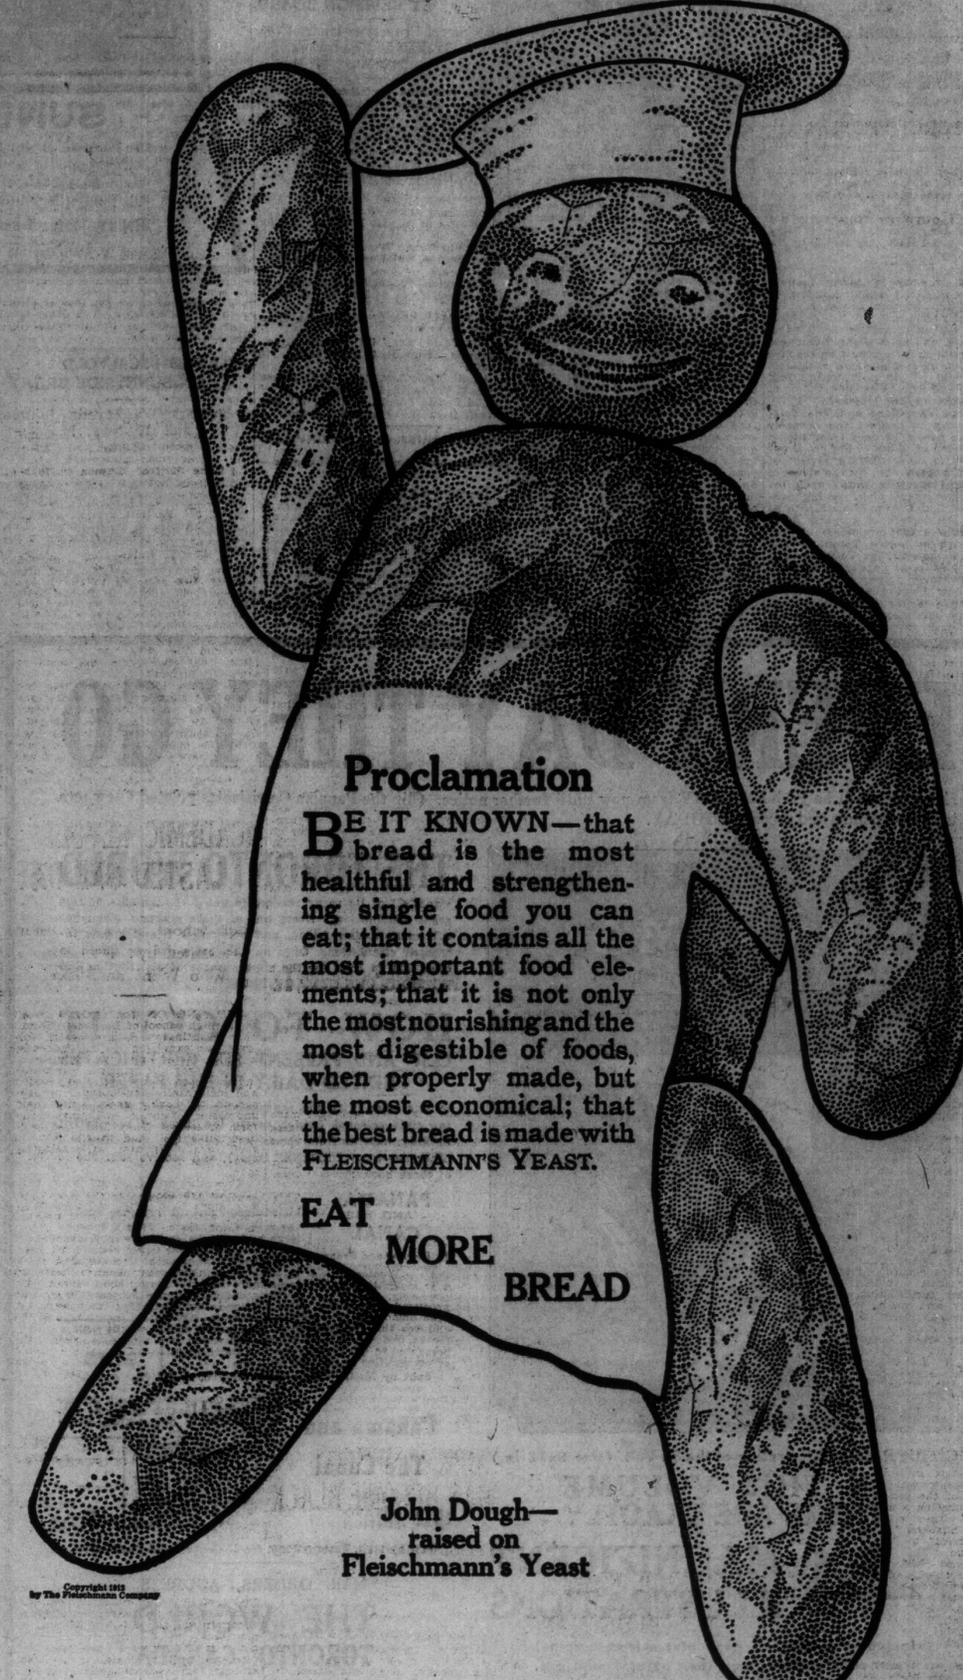

HEAVY TRAFFIC IN MAGELLAN STRAITS

VALPARAISO, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—A record number of steamers passed thru the Magellan Straits in the ten months from Jan. 1 to Oct. 31 this year, according to an official statement issued today. The traffic comprised 221 steamers from the Atlantic and 127 from the Pacific.

byterian Church. The treasurer's report showed total receipts of $9106.11, an increase of $2000 over last year. There were 45 new life memberships during the year. Three short addresses were given—on "Life Memberships," by Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, on Home Missions in the West," by Mrs. Farquharson, and on "Ruthenian Work," by Miss Kuntz.

At the request of the home mission board all the present executive will continue in office until after the amalgamation of the home and foreign missionary societies.

At the afternoon meeting Rev. J. W. E. Milne brought greetings from the presbytery, and Rev. Dr. Ramsey spoke on "A Canadian Ideal." Mrs. Needham gave an address on "The Canadian Immigrants," who she said represent sixty nationalities, and last year increased our population by five per cent. Rev. S. E. Schold followed with an address on "Jews in Canada." The president, Mrs. Logie, addressed the meeting before adjournment.

REFRIGERATOR SHIP DESTROYED BY FIRE

Alcona, Valued at Hundred Thousand Dollars, Sank in Harbor.

CURLING, Nfld., Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—The steamer Alcona, a floating refrigerator for the Gloucester boats engaged in the herring fisheries on this coast, sank in Curling harbor today after it had been swept by flames for eighteen hours. All the crew of fourteen escaped, although some were thrown in the water when the steamer went down.

The Alcona was valued at $100,000. She was owned by the Gordon-Few Fisheries Co. of Gloucester, Mass., and was partly insured. The refrigerator ship had just been put in order for this season's fisheries about to begin, and it will require much time before another boat can be secured to take its place.

PASTOR GETS FAT CHEQUE.

GUELPH, Nov. 6.—(Can. Press.)—Rev. H. E. Abraham of St. Andrew's Church was a surprised man when he opened his morning mail today. One ordinary looking envelope, with a city post mark, when opened showed him that he was richer to the extent of five hundred dollars, a cheque for that amount having been sent him by his congregation as an expression of their appreciation.

WHEAT OVERSOLD IS PIT'S BELIEF

Confident Buying Sends Prices Up—Corn Joins in Movement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Bull activity, based on belief that wheat had been oversold, lifted prices today, the close showing a net advance of 3-8 to 1/2. Covering by shorts sent corn up to a net gain of 1/4 to 3/8. Strength in Canada helped oats here to a net improvement of a shade to 3-4. Provisions rose 1/16 to 3/16 on good speculative buying.

Several of the large buyers early began to take on large lines of wheat, prices having reached an attractive point. Besides acting on an assumption that selling in the last few days had been too steep, bull leaders were influenced by news from India of developments unfavorable to the crop there. This, in the minds of many traders, offset improved conditions in Argentina and generally weak European markets. The market was nervous at first and weakened after a show of strength. Then came the buying rally which carried prices to their peak and held them there until the close.

Lifted Corn Also. Several covering began early in the corn pit, and the market hardened after an easy opening. Speculative buying gave also an early impetus to the uptick in value and showed distinctness throughout, in spite of lower cables and splendid weather in the domestic belt. Southwestern markets were higher and this imparted strength here. Cash houses were good buyers of sales and the strong tone of the market was partly due also to a considerable falling off in primary receipts. Reinstating by traders who were large sellers yesterday was a dominating feature in the uptick made by provisions. January pork scored a net advance under active demand of 1/16 to 1/8.
