The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol ➡ (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole ➡ signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ▼ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

A NEW BOOK issued in attractive and original dress from the publishing house of William Briggs, Toronto. As the title indicates the book is composite in character and illustrative of the author's versatility and of his ripper experience of life and of his growing powers in literary craftsmanship.

The spirit of the book, as exemplified in the author's former work and the dedication of this, is inspired by the atmosphere, the story, and the scenes of his native land and the deeds of the small and great folk who have striven to make its name a noted one among the nations.

The literary quality of the book will delight the cultured reader, while the elements of humor, pathos, exciting dramatic situations and strong human interest will commend it to readers of all classes.

CHATEAU DE RAMEZAY

The Chateau de Ramezay

Claude de Ramezay, the 11th Governor of Montreal, appointed 1703, was born in France 1657, came to Canada in 1685, with a number of other young officers, in the suite of Governor de Denonville. He was then a lieutenant in de Troye's company of Marine troops, which later took part in the expedition to Hudson's Bay. His promotion was rapid, being captain in 1687, later colonel, then commandant of troops and finally governor.

In 1687 he took part in the expedition against the Iroquois and in 1690 when Phipps appeared before Quebec, he brought over 800 men from Montreal for the defence of the former town.

History tells of the spirited defence made by Frontenac and his gallant officers, the latter, no doubt, being encouraged by the bright smiles of some of Quebec's fair daughters who, it seems, lost no time in rewarding their brave defenders with their heart and hand. Scarcely had the last of Phipps' fleet disappeared around Point Levi, than de Ramezay led to the altar Melle Marie-Charlotte Denys, a daughter of Denys de la Ronde, one of the oldest and wealthiest families of Canada. His companion in arms, de Vaudreuil at the same time married Louise, daughter of Pierre de Joybert de Soulanges. Could they have seen into the future, their happiness would have been clouded by sorrow, for it was destined that a son of de Ramezay should be the one to open the gates of Quebec to the English in 1759, and a son of de Vaudreuil should do likewise, at Montreal, the following year.

De Ramezay was one of the most prominent men of his time, occupying an official position in Canada for a term exceeding forty years. He was Seigneur de la Gesse, de Montigny et Boisfleurent in France, and in Canada was Seigneur de Monnoir and de Ramezay, Knight of the Military Order of St. Louis, Governor of Montreal and Commandant of all the militia in the country, and was administrator of the Governor-Generalship during the two years' absence of de Vaudreuil in France.

The Chateau was built in 1705. The neighborhood was then the fashionable part of the town, and was occupied by the Baron de Longueuil, the Contrecoeurs, d'Eschambaults, d'Aillebousts and Madame de Portneuf, the widow of Baron Béancourt. Situated on a hill and opposite to the magnificent garden of the Jesuits, this plain unembellished house had an open view to the river front.

Under de Ramezay's regime, 1703 to 1724, this venerable edifice was the hall of entertainment of the illustrious of the country. The many expeditions to the distant fur fields, the voyages of discovery of new lands, the councils of war, the military expeditions, the conferences with the Indians, the annual fairs and fur trading market, attracted to the shores of Montreal, not only the Governor-General, the Intendant, and their suites, but a considerable number of the most important people of the country, including all classes of society. To one and all the portals of this hospitable mansion were ever open. To the lowly Indian and his squaw and to the exalted nobleman and his consort, the noble and beneficent Ramezay and his family showed equal attention. Fearless to the Indian or enemy, his bravery and charity were equally exemplified in the personal care and attention he and his family gave to the suffering citizens of Montreal during the pest which devastated the town in 1721.

De Ramezay died in 1724, and his family sold the Château to the Compagnie des Indes in 1745. The latter retained possession until the cession, in 1763, when it was bought by Wm. Grant, Baron de Longueuil, who, in turn, disposed of it to the English Government for the sum of two thousand guineas. It thus became once again the residence of the Governors and remained such up to 1849.

In 1775-6, the Château was the Headquarters for the Continental Army under Montgomery, and in the spring of 1776, there came Benjamin Franklin, Carroll of Carrollton, and Samuel Chase, envoys sent by Congress to influence the French Canadians to join the colonies in the revolt against British rule. Then came Benedict Arnold, who occupied the Château for several weeks.

Lord Metcalfe was the last resident governor, but for some years after his establishment in a new government house the Château was used for departmental offices. When the government was withdrawn from Montreal, the Château served several purposes. For some years the courts were held here, and later the Normal School.

In 1894, the Château was sold by the Provincial Government and purchased by the Corporation of the City of Montreal, and in 1895 the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society obtained the building for the purpose of founding an Historical Portrait Gallery and Museum.

The Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Montreal

In the month of December, 1862, several gentlemen of Montreal, desirous of cultivating the study of Numismatics, some of whom had been meeting informally for a couple of years at the house of Mr. Jas. Ferrier, judging the formation of a properly organized association as the most efficacious means of attaining that end, formed "The Numismatic Society of Montreal." The seal of this society was the obverse of the Canadian bronze cent, with an outer circle inscribed "Société Numismatique de Montréal. Fondée 1862."

In January, 1866, the name of the society was changed to that of the "Numismatic and Antiquarian Society of Montreal," and a new seal was adopted, viz.: a round shield quartered by a Comahawk and calumet, bearing an antique lamp, an Athenian coin with the head of Minerva, a Canadian cent with head of Victoria, and a Beaver; the shield encircled with a garter bearing the words: "Numismatice et Archeologicæ Marianopolitanae Societatis Sigillum."

In 1870 the Society was incorporated by Act of the Legislature of Quebec. The charter members were Stanley Clark Bagg, James Ferrier, Thomas D. King, William Blackburn, Daniel Rose, Henry Mott, Dr. T. Sterry Hunt, A. J. Boucher, Solomon David, John Lawrence, Robert W. McLachlan, Gerald E. Hart, Alfred Sandham, J. L. Bronsdon, L. A. Huguet Latour, William Kingsford, R. J. Wicksteed, and Henry Leggatt.

In July, 1872, the Society began the publication of "The Canadian Antiquarian and Numismatic Journal," but owing to uncontrollable circumstances the publication was suspended from time to time. Up to the present time three series, making a total of twenty volumes, have been published. It was this Society, acting upon the projects of individual members of it, that first suggested the project of celebrating the 250th anniversary of the founding of Montreal and proposed three things in order to shed more lustre on so noteworthy an event. First, the erecting of a monument to the memory of Chomedey de Maisonneuve, the founder of our city; second, the saving of the Château de Ramezay from the destruction with which it was threatened; third, an historical exhibition by which the public might be enlightened regarding the rare and precious things still to be found amongst us and which the Society is endeavoring to prevent being lost to the country for ever.

The Society succeeded in bringing all three of these projects to a successful issue and the result of its labors in the Château may read in the pages of this Catalogue.

The President of the Society—His Honor Louis Wilfrid Sicotte, is descended from one of the oldest families in the Province of Quebec, his ancestor being amongst the founders of the City of Montreal.

Was born at Boucherville, P.Q., Dec. 10th, 1838. Educated at the College of St. Hyacinthe, and was called to the Bar, Oct. 1, 1860.

In his early days he was associated with the late Sir J. A. Chapleau, the Honourable Judge Mousseau and others, in conducting "Le Colonisateur" newspaper. He was appointed clerk of the Crown and of the Peace, 1882, and Judge of Sessions of the Peace, 1897. For many years a member of the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society in which he has always taken great interest and has contributed largely to the increase of its collection.

At the death of the lamented Hon. Judge Baby, he was unanimously appointed President.

ELGIN GALLERY.

This Portrait Gallery is named in honor of the Right Honorable the Earl of Elgin, the last British Governor-General to occupy the Château, in 1849.

PORTRAITS.

1. Bienville, Jean-Baptiste Le Moyne de, born 1680, died in France, 1768. At an early age he entered the marine and made seven long voyages under his brother d'Iberville. Was governor of Louisiana for twenty-seven years and founded New Orleans in 1717.
By Subscription.

2. De Longueuil, Charles Le Moyne, Baron, born 1657, died 1729. Son of Charles Le Moyne, Sieur de Longueuil, created baron in 1700, had great influence over the Indians, served in Flanders as aide-de-camp to Marshal d'Humières; governor of Detroit in 1700, and later governor of Montreal.

3. D'Iberville, Pierre Le Moyne, Sieur, born 1661, died 1706, in the West Indies, his body resting in the Cathedral of Havana, Cuba. Founder and first Governor of Louisiana, a brother of Bienville and of the first Baron de Longueuil. Entered the marine at an early age and became a noted sea fighter; took Fort Nelson in Hudson's Bay. Discovered the mouths of the Mississippi.

Donor, Charles Colmore Grant, 7th Baron de Longueuil.

4. Lanaudière, Charles Tarien de, born 1741, died 1811; was great-grandson of Claude de Ramezay, who built the Château. Entered the army and was wounded in the battle of the Plains of Abraham, being then Aide-Major in the Regiment of La Sarre, although barely sixteen years of age. Went to France after the capitulation of Montreal. Returned to Canada a few years later, when he married Mlle Lacorne de St. Luc. Aide-de-camp to Lord Dorchester in 1775, he contributed not a little to save him from falling into the hands of the Bostonais. Was with Bourgoyne's army, and called upon, together with his father-in-law, Lacorne, to appear before the committee of the House of Commons appointed to investigate the conduct of the general.

Wm. Selby, Esq.

5. Lacorne St. Luc, Luc de Chapt. de. Knight of the Order of St. Louis. Was a man of influence over the Indians. Took Fort Clinton in 1747. Was present at Carillon and at St. Foy. After the conquest, he emigrated, but saved himself from the wreck of the ship "l'Auguste" in the Gulf, and remained in Canada. An Executive Councillor under the new regime. Fought at St. Johns, and accompanied Bourgoyne with a party of Canadians and Indians.

Archbishopric, Montreal.

6. De Levis, Chevalier, born 1720, died 1787. During the time he fought under Montcalm in this country, held the rank of Second in command. He was a most brave and chivalrous general. He took part at the battle of Carillon, where he commanded the right division; as also at Montmorency, where the French repulsed Wolfe. He was absent at Montreal, when the first battle of Quebec was fought; and, therefore, when Montcalm fell, could not take command. At the second battle of Quebec, he gained a victory over Murray. He returned to France after the capitulation of Montreal and as a reward for his services, the King created him a Marshal, Duke and Peer of France.

Marquis de Levis, France.

7. Talon, Jean. Comte d'Orsainville, was the second Intendant of the French Government in Canada. In 1663, was appointed to the office of which he was a bright ornament. It is said everything in Canada prospered under his fostering care; and certainly he did much for the country.

By Subscription.

8. Champlain, Samuel de, born 1567, died 1635. His name is rendered illustrious in the annals of Canada from his services in establishing New France, not only in founding the city of Quebec in 1608, but also selecting the sites for Port Royal (Annapolis), N.S., Three Rivers, and Montreal. He was indefatigable in spreading civilization, repelling the attacks of the Indians, thus saving the lives of the early French settlers; and also in exploring the country and its valuable resources. He prosecuted his enterprises with constancy, and no dangers could shake his firmness. He was a faithful historian, a voyager who observed everything with attention, skilful in geometry and an experienced seaman. He well merited the title of the Father of New France.

H. J. Tiffin, Esq.

9. Imbert. A member of the Supreme Council of Quebec. He returned to France in 1760.

Archbishopric, Montreal.

10. Youville. François-Madeleine, You d', Sieur de la Déconverte, officer, born 1700, died 1730. Married to Marie-Marguerite Dufrost de la Jemerais, foundress of the General Hospital and first Superior of the Grey Nuns.

By Subscription.

11. De Beaujen, Daniel-Marie-Hyacinthe-Lienard, born 1711, died 1755. Knight of St. Louis. Commander General of Fort Duquesne and of the Army at Belle Riviere (Ohio).
